THE COURT WILLING TO ABDICATE

TWO YEARS FOR STEALING POSTAL FUNDS

Two years' imprisonment is the punishment meted out to Denis M. Keoho, the postoffice clerk who proved unfaithful to the trust placed in him by the government and the people and appropriated to his own use money that passed through the Honolulu office.

Keoho appeared before Judge Clemons this morning and confessed his guilt, stating, through his lawyer, Frank Thompson, that he had stolen one hundred dollars. Deputy United States District Attorney C. C. Bittling represented the government and asked that a sentence commensurate with the gravity of the crime be imposed. Frank Thompson made a plea for judicial clemency. He stated that there are two kinds of criminals; the kind that commit crime for the sake of the crime itself, and the kind that is merely lacking in moral fiber sufficient to withstand temptation. He contended that Keoho belongs to the latter class.

The man, he said, had been in the postoffice for six years, and up to the time of his recent peculations had borne an excellent record for faithful and loyal service. But he belonged to a race that is too often lacking in strength of character to withstand temptation. He was not bad but only weak. He was not of a high degree of intelligence, and when temptation came his way he fell. Besides, there were extenuating circumstances. The man had three children, and also his mother-in-law and the son of one of his brothers was living with him and being supported by him. Keoho found that he could not support them all on his meager salary of $100 a month, so he fell to the temptation to take money that was not his own. Thompson asked that a light sentence be imposed in view of all the circumstances.

Judge Clemons had great difficulty in making up his mind. For many minutes he turned the pages of law books, thought deeply, and meantime the prisoner, a rather robust youth with a kindly, good natured face, obviously lacking in strength, stood with his arms folded and awaited the sentence of the court. At last the judge suggested that perhaps the prisoner might wish to speak to him in private and tell him things he would not tell in open court.

The prisoner would, so he and the judge retired to Judge Clemons' chambers, where they held a lengthy conference, one of the prisoner's brothers being called in also.

WITHDRAWAL OF ARMY MEN IS EMBARRASSING; MAKE OWNERS PAY FOR WORK

There was a meeting of the mosquito committee of the citizens' clean-up organization this morning in Dr. McCoy's office. At the meeting were Chairman Walter Dillingham, Frank E. Thompson, Senator A. F. Judd, J. R. Galt, Dr. Smith, Dr. Pratt and Dr. McCoy.

The first matter taken up was the scheme to retain, if possible, all the military overseers and inspectors who are at present working on the mosquito campaign. It was announced that further furlough for the soldiers was impossible to obtain.

The committee, however, decided to make a gallant attempt to retain the men who know the work now, and who could not be replaced except by green men. A deputation will call on General Macomb and see what can be done in the matter. Failing the securing of extended furloughs for the present staff, efforts will be made to enlist civilians of good character and standing on the work.

Dr. McCoy stated that the expense for running the campaign in future would be about $12,000 per month. The weekly payroll would come to $2500, and the money would be distributed by the office staff in future.

J. R. Galt spoke about the work that the committee is doing, saying that the property owners should be made to pay for it, after the first cleaning.

There was an informal discussion about the best means of bringing about that desirable state of affairs when the public would not have to pay for the cleaning of the premises of wealthy corporations and private individuals.

Finally, it was decided that the mosquito committee call on Governor Frear and ask that the attorney general be also present at a conference at which the points of law involved would be discussed.

Frank Thompson reported to the meeting that he had arranged for a committee, consisting of Senator Quinn, John Craig and J. L. Young, to take up the work of inspection as regards the gutter proposition. The committee is not yet complete, but it is expected that, after the holidays are ended, the full list will be made public.

IF DIRTY FOOD IS WANTED JUST FIGHT THE ORDINANCE

Dr. Pratt, president of the board of health, in speaking of the police court cases which were tried yesterday, said that if the people wanted dirty provisions it was up to them to fight the county ordinance.

"It is not only to protect the provisions from flies that the screening is needed," said Dr. Pratt, "the indiscriminate handling of food is a menace to the general health. Who knows what disease may be lying dormant in a man or woman's system when he or she paws over a joint of beef or some fish, or anything else? It is very discouraging, and it seems as if some sections of the public need educating a lot regarding the proper care of food supplies."

Chief Sanitary Inspector T. J. J. J.

of Maui has written President Pratt to the effect that the scarlet fever outbreak at Lahaina is about finished, and that conditions are back to normal.

Tomorrow afternoon at three-thirty o'clock there will be a meeting of the board of health in Dr. Pratt's office. Routine matters will be taken up and some low-lying lands may be dealt with.

J. D. McVeigh, superintendent of the Leper Settlement, is hard at work in his office at the board of health building. He will be returning to Molokai after the New Year.

The chief inspector, "Chip" Charlock, is still with Dr. McCoy, and he has been a very busy man for some weeks past.

Parade of Fleet Sailors is Planned For Friday Next

Tentative arrangements for a parade of sailors and marines from the fleet were made this morning. Nothing definite had been made up, it was reported on the California, even the date—next Friday—was not definite, as something might turn up by which it would be deemed necessary to postpone or abandon the parade.

Captain Halstead will have command, and there will be something over a thousand men in line. There will be one battalion of sailors from each ship and a battalion of marines. The naval officials were in close consultation with Captain Carter this morning for a long time. Captain Carter gave the officers the value of his topographical knowledge, and they left for the flagship, where the plans, as to the line of march and other details, are to be matured.

The sight of over a thousand men marching should be a great one, and will be something that Honolulu has not seen for a long time. The naval bands will head the procession.

Beyond the foregoing news, matters are quiet with the fleet. The flagship California, the West Virginia and the Colorado are in port, and the South Dakota and the Maryland are at anchor outside. The Colorado is to leave her berth on the Ewa side of Alakea wharf, and proceed to the new wharf at the foot of Richards street.

The Colorado this morning formed an object lesson to about fifty school (Continued on Page Eight)

PEARL HARBOR DRYDOCK WORK

Work on the drydock at Pearl Harbor is proceeding at a great rate, and Lieutenant Gayler, who is closely connected with it, is looking forward to the completion of the first section by the end of this week.

He said this morning that he confidently expected that the work of pouring the concrete on to the bottom of the first section would be finished by the end of this week. As soon as this is all through, another attempt will be made to pump the water out. This, of course, will be done very slowly and watched closely. When the water is out, the bottom will be exposed for about three weeks in order that the concrete may harden properly. After that there will be another layer of concrete poured on to the present bottom, which is composed of piles and concrete.

He feels certain that the work will be satisfactory this time, and there will be no hitch to mar the completion (Continued on page five)

PEDDLER BRAY UP AGAINST IT

H. J. Bray, the white-haired old gentleman who peddles soap and cheap jewelry round town, and who has come to be regarded as one of Honolulu's characters, was charged in the police court this morning with peddling without having first taken out a $50 license.

Defendant said that he had never been able to get together so much money.

Prosecuting Officer Brown asked for a heavy penalty, stating that, in justice to and in protection of those who paid their licenses, defendant should either be compelled to make out a license or pay the penalty.

Attorney Straus stated that he represented the defendant out of charity and that it was a case either of his client being allowed to peddle or becoming a public charge.

"He has done his best to make a living," said Straus, "rather than appeal to the Associated Charities. He is too old for hard work and he is too much of an American to accept the charity of others. If he isn't allowed to make his living as he has been doing the town will have to take care of him."

The case was continued, bail being fixed at the large sum of $50.

Straus asked for a reduction of bail to $25, but in vain. Bray was released for twenty-four hours, however, in order to enable him to raise the bail money.

ANOTHER DEATH.

There was another death from smallpox among the immigrants on quarantine island. The victim was a child and died last night. That was the only development yesterday or this morning.

This makes the sixth death from smallpox, out of thirty-seven cases.

GERMAN STEAMER DISTRESSED THROUGH BAD COAL IN BUNKERS

The German steamer Wotan bound from Eureka to Fremantle, West Australia, via Newcastle, N. S. W., created a little interest this morning by appearing off port, when she was not expected. She is here to replenish her coal bunkers and her water tanks.

When she was at port this morning, it was thought that she wished merely to be reported all well, but she hung around, and the pilot went out. He learned that she had a bad lot of coal, and that it was totally unsuitable for steaming purposes. The master of the Wotan—Captain Lorenzen—wanted to come in and get a fresh supply, so pilot Lorenzen brought her up and berthed at the Alakea wharf, where she will take on the necessary coal and water.

The situation is apparently a peculiar one, but, with that usual secretiveness affected by sailors, nothing much would be said. The skipper pointed to the coal bunkers with contempt and said something about the quality of the coal. There looked to be no quality at all to the coal, for it seemed to be a small admixture of coal with a large amount of coal dust and dirt. Whether they will pull this stuff out and put the fresh in its place, or whether they have room for the new coal, was not plain, and no one on board would say. Judging by a remark that matters had to be settled first, it would seem that there will be a claim on the suppliers of the material, and that this will have to be kept as evidence.

The Wotan is what is called a turret deck ship. She is about as graceful as a huge box, and looks more like a patent sloop with a funnel and a lot of superstructure. She has on her sides a large cargo of redwood and pine for Fremantle. Her holds, too, are stacked with this wood, making about three million feet altogether. Her speed is not at all phenomenal. From Eureka to Honolulu she took sixteen days, and even with a few days of rough weather, which she encountered shortly after leaving port, this is a long trip.

Everything was all right on board

JUDGE REVOKES TWO SENTENCES

In the police court this morning Hoie and Horio, two Japanese, were charged with fishing in the waters of the harbor with a throw-net contrary to the law. Their catch consisted of japiptio or baby alia.

Judge Monarrat fined them $15 and costs each and later on at the request of Prosecuting Officer Brown, revoked the sentences and fined them $5 each. Brown stated that the defendants had put up $10 bail each and had pleaded guilty on the understanding that a fine of $5 would be imposed. He thought that the spirit of the anti-harbor-netting law was to prevent the stretching of long nets across the harbor to the interference with the propellers of steamers. He didn't think that the use of a throw-net came within the spirit and intent of the law.

SAILORS WILL SALUTE GOVERNOR

Governor Frear has had no word from Washington regarding the governorship, and he does not expect to hear till next week sometime. The chief executive is receiving a deputation from the mosquito committee of the citizens' clean-up organization this afternoon, and some important matters concerning the enforcement of the law against the carrying on of a nuisance will be discussed with the attorney general.

Captain Carter, chief of staff, was a caller on the governor this morning, and the plans for the great sailor demonstration on Friday next were spoken of. It is intended to have a reviewing stand erected at the corner of Richards and King streets, and to make that the saluting base.

Next Monday will be a holiday, and the offices at the executive building will be all closed for the day.

MYSTERY SHIP IS THE BUFFALO

The United States naval transport Buffalo is a mystery ship to many waterfronters. Officially she left early this morning for Shanghai with her helms for the Asiatic squadron, but some of those along the front were told that she headed back to San Francisco, because she took the Molokai channel, instead of proceeding toward Kauai.

That the Buffalo has gone to Shanghai is the official information, and no doubt the captain has gone around the island, preferring that way to going near Kauai. There is nothing ulterior about the course.

JIMMY BOYD ENFORCES LAW

The first arrests under the mullet law were made this morning, Joe Castro and Mrs. Castro being gathered in at the instance of Market Inspector Boyd for having mullet in their possession at the fishmarket with evident intention to sell.

Castro is the ex-prizefighter. He has been ill for a long time and has, for weeks past, been put to it to eke out a living for his family which will shortly be increased.

All during the holidays the fishmarket Chinese vendors sold mullet with impunity notwithstanding that the law took effect on December 1. These well-to-do individuals were winked at, however, and poor old Castro and his wife have been put in jail for an offense which they have committed with impunity for the best part of a month and which they are committing today.

WATER SURVEY MEN TO COME

Engineer Martin, of the water survey department, has completed his field work for the year, and he and the members of his staff will now settle down to the job of compiling the data collected on all the islands.

C. H. Pierce will be in town from Hawaii by Saturday morning, after which he will get to work on the reports of the department. J. B. Stewart, who spent Christmas in Honolulu, will, after a couple of weeks' sojourn on Maui, come to town again for office work. One other member of the staff, W. B. Hardy, of Kauai, will probably be summoned to the city office, as there is a lot of work to be done.

About the middle of February, Chief Martin will sail for the mainland where he will remain for three or four months.

Last night the lava started to rise again and the volcano is exceedingly active.

Later.—After subsiding twenty feet yesterday, Halemauana has now risen fifty feet. The lava is now within thirty-five feet of the rim on the Volcano House side, throwing chunks high enough to be seen from the Volcano House.

Sudden breaks occur in the lava, illuminating the sky like lightning flashes.

The Elks will hold a special meeting tomorrow at eight o'clock for initiation.

VOLCANO ACTIVE; THREE QUAKES

(Special Wireless to The Star.)

HILO, December 27.—The report of the burning of Perret's observatory on the brink of the volcano by the recent rise of lava was untrue.

At one p. m. yesterday three heavy shocks of earthquake were felt in the vicinity of the crater, followed by a twenty-foot fall of the lava in the pit.

PRIZE CONTESTANTS MAKE GOOD SCORES

There have been no changes in the relative positions of the hustlers in The Star's big $3000 prize contest since yesterday, although some of the contestants are standing very close together and the interest, as a consequence, is keen. Probably before the day is over a number of changes will take place. This week, of course, is not a very good one for the candidates for The Star's exceptionally liberal offers, but in spite of the fact that things are generally unsettled by the Christmas season, some excellent scores are being made.

The contest will not last a great while longer, but still there is ample time for some radical changes to take place, so that no one at present near the upper rungs of the ladder may feel at all confident. Most of the workers have received many promises of subscriptions for immediately after the first of the year, so that next week should be a record breaker.

Candidates should not forget that this is the last week in which their votes will bring them books as bonus prizes. Those who have been expecting to get some more of these hand-some volumes should not delay in getting their votes recorded.

KING GEORGE'S APPEARANCES NOT TO END WITH THE DURBAR

KHEDIVE OF EGYPT. — KING GEORGE
COPYRIGHT 1911 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

DELHI, December 12.—King George's official appearances are not ended with the close of the festivities here December 16. Immediately after that date he will go for a hunting trip, but even then he will not be permitted to kill big game as a private citizen does. Just after Christmas he will join Queen Mary in Calcutta, and until their departure on the Medina they will be constantly entertained at public functions. The return trip will be interrupted in various places, as was the voyage out, when at Port Said the Khedive of Egypt and representatives of Turkey made an official call on the travelers.

NEW YORK, December 27.—Della Fox, the actress, is dying. Appendicitis is said to be the cause.

CHICAGO, December 27.—Among those who sat around the table at the special Christmas dinner given to the inmates of the jail here were sixty-seven murderers.

CONSTANTINOPLE, December 27.—Following official conferences yesterday it has been announced that there is no prospect of peace putting an end to the Turkish-Italian war for some time. Official bulletins indicate that the Italians have made no progress whatever beyond their campaign base in the city of Tripoli.

MADRID, December 27.—Further complications for Spain have arisen in Morocco and some anxiety prevails here. On Christmas Day the Rif tribesmen made an attack upon Melilla, killing six of the Spanish garrison and wounding thirty-six before they were driven off. King Alfonso has cancelled all engagements in order to be able to consult at any time with his minister of war over the Moroccan situation, should it be deemed necessary or advisable to dispatch more troops into Morocco.

MANILA, December 27.—The Moro bandits, whom the American troops had driven into the Bud Dajo crater, have surrendered and the uprising is quelled. The Moros were without food for several days and were virtually starved into submission. The number who came in and laid down their arms was six hundred.

NEW YORK, December 27.—Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt has declined to accept the invitation tendered him to attend the peace dinner next Saturday evening at which President Taft will be the principal speaker.

The ex-President, in explanation, states that his views on peace matters and international arbitration are at variance with those recently expressed by President Taft and typified in the international peace treaties draughted under the supervision of the latter. Colonel Roosevelt, who has attacked those treaties in the Outlook, adds, in explanation of his refusal to attend the dinner, that his sentiments are opposed to the purposes of the meeting which is in furtherance of those treaties.

DISCLOSURES IN NATION-WIDE CONSPIRACY OF DYNAMITERS

LOS ANGELES, December 19.—A legation of the Western angles of the alleged nation-wide dynamiting conspiracy. It has been expected that the federal grand jury, which is investigating the number of witnesses here from other cities, but after two women, a man and a boy had appeared before the inquisitorial body briefly, an adjournment was taken until tomorrow afternoon.

The sudden end of today's session came after Oscar Lawler, special government investigator, had received a telegram in code. He declined to discuss the message, but the adjournment immediately followed. Then Lawler and Malcolm McLaren, the Burns detective, who has been here since the McNamara brothers and Orville E. McManigal were brought to Los Angeles last April, and who was with the investigator in the grand jury chamber, hurried to Lawler's private office.

Shortly afterward, Samuel Browne, chief of the county district attorney's detective bureau, who had been sick in bed for several days, appeared in Lawler's outer office and was at once taken into the inner room. The next move was the departure of Lawler, McLaren and Browne for the federal building, accompanied by Larry Sullivan, who formerly was employed as a detective for the defense.

Treading on Destruction.

INDIANAPOLIS, December 19.—Persons who for weeks unknowingly lived near enough dynamite to blow up the neighborhood, and whose children skated over the floors of a vacant house on which nitroglycerin had been spilled, testified in the government's investigation of the dynamite conspiracy before the federal grand jury today.

Witnesses from Muncie, Ind., were questioned concerning what they knew of the renting of a house in Muncie to Orville McManigal in December, 1909. After paying rent for several months in advance, McManigal stored it with boxes and sawdust, in which he packed nitroglycerin. The fact that the rent had been paid and the house, always in darkness, was visited periodically by a stranger, created an element of mystery that still was unsolved after the place, again deserted, was thrown open and school children skated over the floor, upon which appeared grease spots.

Later it was found the spots were caused by nitroglycerin, and experts were called to destroy their explosive power. Among the witnesses from Muncie were Mrs. Elizabeth Hiner, Isaac Grant and a manufacturer who sold boxes to McManigal.

The evidence was traced by the investigators not only to confirm McManigal's confession, which implicated John J. and James G. McNamara, but also to bring out who, if any one, assisted them.

Amidst Deadly Mines.

Other expressions of horror at discovering they had been living near explosives came from members of the family of E. D. Jones, a farmer near Indianapolis. For a long time prior to his arrest on April 22, 1911, J. J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, on the pretext that he was storing old records, kept in Jones' barn a piano box filled with dynamite, from which McManigal replenished his supply. The piano box still had twenty-five pounds of dynamite in it when Jones was apprised of the fact by detectives who visited the place the day John J. was arrested.

It was learned that the witnesses willingly told of the representations under which they rented their places and by whom the rent was paid.

So far as the iron workers' association is concerned, there will be no opposition hereafter to the removal of books and papers taken from their headquarters from one jurisdiction to another. This was announced today, when an attorney for the iron workers withdrew an appeal to the Indiana Supreme Court from an order of the county court to turn the records over to the federal authorities.

"THE CHRISTMAS STAR"

Rev. R. E. Smith preached at the Methodist church Sunday morning in his usual very pleasing and forceful manner, choosing for his subject "The Christmas Star." The sermon in part was as follows:

"When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy." Matt. 2:10. This star which is so beautifully and so intimately associated with Christ's birth is emblematic of a number of most precious truths.

I. First of all, this star which guided the Magi was an emblem of fulfilled prophecy.

Seven hundred years before Christ was born Isaiah gave an accurate description of the promised Messiah, referring to him as the Wonderful Counsellor, the mighty God, the everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace.

Throughout all ages in the Old Testament dispensation God has pointed by the finger of Moses, and Abraham, and Jacob, and David, and Micah, and Isaiah, and Jeremiah, and Daniel to the coming of the promised Messiah, the Saviour of the world.

These prophecies were fully and literally fulfilled when the angel declared to the shepherds: "I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." The fulfillment of these prophecies was celebrated by the joyful anthem of the angels: "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth, peace, good will toward men." The star of Bethlehem which these Magi beheld blazing so brilliantly in the heavens was an emblem of fulfilled prophecy. It told them that faith had been lost in sight, that the expectation of ages had been transformed into a glorious realization, that prophecy had culminated in ripe fulfillment.

The wise men journeying from afar, Guided by a bright, unerring star, Came to the Christ by prophets foretold, And offered frankincense and myrrh and gold.

II. Again, this star which guided the Magi was an emblem of hope. When the wise men left Jerusalem and started for Bethlehem, the star went before them and stood over where the young child was. That star was a star flashing with hope for those weary pilgrims. The birth of Jesus Christ brought more hope into the world than was ever introduced into the world before from all other sources combined. It ushered in the brightest hopes connected with the present life and the glorious hope of immortality in the life beyond the grave.

D. L. Moody, in a letter to his old home in 1862, wrote: "Oh, what would life be without Christ! I sometimes get to looking down on this world of sin, but when I look to Jesus, it makes me look up."

Ah, yes, Jesus inspires the fondest, brightest hopes in this present life. His presence imparts hope in the home, in the kitchen, the dining room, the parlor, the library, the bed chamber where a loved one hovers between life and death. His presence imparts hope in the shop, the counting room, the store, and the office. His presence imparts hope in church life, in business life, in social life, in intellectual life.

Many a man, many a woman, who has battled with some alluring temptation, who has struggled with some terrible trial, who has suffered a rude shock from some terrible disappointment, who has made a brave battle in driving away the wolf of poverty from the door, who has bowed heavily under some great, crushing sorrow, many such have looked toward the star of hope which pointed to Christ and have exclaimed with Moody: "Oh, what would life be without Christ!" Ah, yes, without Him life would be full of darkness, hopelessness, despair. With Him life is full of light, of blessedness, of hope.

III. Again, this star which guided the Magi was an emblem of the world's redemption. This star was an unerring guide to the world's redeemer. It guided the Magi to the Lamb which was to be slain for the world's redemption. It guided them to Him who came not to call the righteous but sinners to repentance. It guided them to Him who was to save the Jew and the Gentile, the Greek and the Barbarian, the bond and the free, the rich and the poor.

IV. Finally, this star which guided the Magi was an emblem of joy. The joy of these wise men is especially emphasized in our text. "When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy." It is certainly fitting that Christmas should be the most joyous festival of all the year. The coming of the Messiah broke the dark night of the world's despair. The hour that marked the Saviour's advent into the world was the most auspicious in the whole history of mankind. In that hour the sunshine of heavenly joy began to beam upon a lost world. Someone has beautifully remarked: "Morning came at midnight when Christ was born." The angels rejoiced, the shepherds rejoiced, the wise men rejoiced—yea, throughout the centuries every person who has come into real fellowship with the Christ our God has been led to rejoice with joy unspenakable and full of glory.

The poet expressed a great truth when he wrote:

"'Twas midnight in my soul till He Bright morning star bid darkness flee."

Ah, yes, when the bright and morning star enters the life which has been darkened and blighted by sin, he expels darkness and introduces light, he expels despair and introduces hope; he expels sin and introduces righteousness; he expels every dark shadow and introduces the sunshine of his blessed presence, he expels sorrow and introduces joy. Wherever a human heart is opened at this Christmas tide for the Christ of Bethlehem to enter there comes from the now glorified Christ a message of deliverance, a message of exceeding great joy.

Let us make this Christmas season one of joy, of brightness, of good cheer. Let the Christmas bells peal forth their glad refrain; let joyful anthems be sung; let sweet music awaken glad echoes in every heart; let the youth be joyous; let the aged renew their youth; let loved ones and dear friends be remembered with love's tokens; let the Christmas trees be burdened; let the family gather about the festive board; let sorrows be buried; let sunshine abound; let the children be gleeful; let them hang the stockings by the fireside; let them engage in frolic and laughter; let good will prevail; let personal animosities be forgotten; let one and all be glad and rejoice on Christmas day.

Thank God that the star which shone for the wise men is shining today for you and for me. It shines to point us to the Christ! It shines to give light upon life's pathway! It shines to inspire hope in every bosom! It shines to lead us to the true source of joy! It shines to reveal Jesus as the one altogether lovely and the chiefest among tens of thousands! It shines to guide us unerringly from the shores of time to the golden shores of eternity! O blessed star of Bethlehem, shine on. Shine on till the Christmas joy finds birth in every human heart. Shine on till the glorious hope of immortality lightens life. Shine on till earth's remotest tribes shall join the song of the angels. Shine on till Jesus—"the bright and morning star"—shall have put every enemy under his feet and triumphed gloriously! Shine on till every knee shall bow and every tongue shall exclaim—"Bring forth the royal diadem, and crown Him Lord of all!"

THE GERMAN CONCERT.

The German Christmas concert at the Lutheran church last night was a great success. It was conducted entirely in the German language. Boys from the training ship Herzogin Cecilie swelled the audience. The program was as follows, the conductor being Mr. Chr. Menke:

Part I. "Verheissung."

Dorische Tocatta, J. S. Bach
Organ: Mr. Chr. Menke.
"Hoch tut euch auf, ihr Tore der Welt" Chr. V. Gluck
Chorus.

Weihnachtspastorale, J. Rheinberger
Violin: Mr. Buchly.
Cello: Dr. Straub.
Flute: Mr. Desky.
Organ: Mr. Menke.
"Sei stille dem Herrn" aus "Elias"
Tenor Solo: Mr. A. Constabel.
"Es ist ein Reis entsprungen"
..... M. Praetorius
Male Chorus.

Part II. "Erfuellung."

Praeludium und Fuge "e moll",
..... J. S. Bach
Organ: Mr. Chr. Menke.
"O holdes Kind" aus dem Oratorium
"Christus das Kind", Dr. Fr. Schneider
Soprano Solo: Miss F. E. Klein.
Cavatina J. Raff
Violin Solo: Mr. Rudolf Buchly.
Stille Nacht, heilige Nacht,
..... Fr. Gruber
Chorus.

Andante "Ave Maria", W. A. Mozart
Flute: Mr. Desky.
Cello: Dr. Straub.
Violin: Mr. Buchly.
Piano: Mr. Falke.
Organ: Mr. Menke.
Doxologie: "Ehre sei Gott in der Hoeh" D. Bortniansky
Chorus.

JUST A LITTLE EARLY

To talk about Christmas out of town is a little premature, but it is well to keep Haliwa in mind. Unusual preparations are being made to entertain those who prefer a day away from home to the bother of planning a dinner and to entertain company. It's rather difficult, too, to manage a golf links in the average yard of a city residence. Haliwa affords the best there is and a tennis court that is all that could be desired by the most enthusiastic welder of the racquet. Keep Haliwa in mind if you are planning to leave town.

GOOD ATHLETIC BILL FOR SATURDAY

A great card of athletic events has been arranged for the delectation of the men of the fleet for next Saturday afternoon.

The races will take place on the Moiliili ground and the program will be as follows:

880-yard race.
One hour endurance race.
Five-mile relay race.
One mile walking race.
The half-mile run will take place at 2 p. m. and the walk at 2:30.

Sergeant E. S. Barry requests that entries for these events be in his hands not later than Friday at 4 p. m.

The gate receipts will be split up into prize money for the winners.

There will be one good prize in every event.

On New Year's Day a fifteen-mile open race will be run, and for this event entries must be handed in to Sergeant Barry before 4 p. m. on Saturday afternoon. There will be first and second prizes in this event.

The baseball game next Saturday will be between the West Virginia and Maryland nines.

Jimmy Fitzgerald will be a starter in the half-mile race and should come very near winning it, as he appears to have regained his old form after a long period of indisposition.

In the five-mile relay race on Saturday he will run against any two men in the fleet, each of them to cover two and a half miles.

STRANGE FISH HOOKS OF OCEANIA

Modern fishing tackle, as displayed in the window of the sporting goods shop, consists of an immense variety of patent appliances, each warranted to be infallible for attracting and ensnaring some particular member of the fish tribe; but the hook, that simple, though important feature, is absolutely unchanged in form during many centuries. Probably the earliest example of a metal hook is one that was found in Switzerland and dates back to the bronze age. There is no essential difference between this ancient hook and the finest ones of steel that are produced today.

To go back as far as the stone age, we have only to turn to the inhabitants of Oceania, because these natives have never progressed any farther in the art of capturing fish than did their ancestors centuries ago. Their hooks are of two main classes, those to be baited and those to be used without a bait. The former are of wood or turtle shell, fashioned either from a single piece or having the point fastened in the shank. Most of these are intended to penetrate the mouth of the fish, although there are others that act as gorges and catch at the mouth or gullet, and thus enable the fish to be drawn up. The largest types are used in New Guinea and Micronesia for the capture of sharks, while the Solomon Islanders have tiny shell hooks for taking mullet.

The Polynesian hooks are generally barbed and some curious specimens have been collected in New Zealand. One of these is made from a section of a dog's jawbone, a single tooth, which has been filed to a sharp point, being left for the barb. In this same country a hook that has been pointed with human bone is regarded as possessing exceptionally fine qualities for attracting the fish.

The best workmanship is exhibited in the hooks which are used without bait and which correspond to our spoons. Pearl or other iridescent shell furnishes the part which attracts the fish, and frequently the shank consists of the ribbed part of a shell, near the hinge of the valve, thereby giving the hook a spinning motion as it is drawn through the water. Many elaborate designs have a wooden shank, neatly carved and inlaid with a silver of haliotis shell, while the barb is of sharpened bone. The extreme delicacy required in accurately piecing together one of these composite hooks may be imagined, and a great expenditure of time and labor is necessary. Hence they have been preserved very carefully and only used on lines of heavy vegetable fiber which seldom break except under extraordinary strain.

MRS. BRITTON, THE ONLY WOMAN WHO OWNS A BASEBALL TEAM, EXPECTS GREAT THINGS OF THE CARDINALS

MRS. HELEN H. R. BRITTON

NEW YORK, December 12.—Mrs. Helen H. R. Britton, who owns the St. Louis Cardinals, is here watching the meeting of baseball magnates. She does not attend the meetings, being represented by President E. A. Steinhilber. Mrs. Britton says that she expects great things of the Cardinals next year and that she thinks Roger Bresnahan as manager has already accomplished wonders with the team. She added that the St. Louis National League Club is her pet and that she likes to be around when anything is likely to happen that will affect the team's future.

BREEDING OF MARCIA FILLY

In response to enquiries elicited by the notice printed in yesterday's Star of three mares in foal to Bearcatcher, and a filly, to be sold at a very moderate figure, the sporting editor takes pleasure in stating that the filly is by Bearcatcher out of Marcia A. She has been ridden a few times and ought to run fast. She will do to race next year.

Marcia A. is by St. Carlo out of Flossie, and is a chestnut. St. Carlo won the Great American at Brooklyn, the Foam Stakes at Coney Island, and ran second for the Futurity. He was a wonderful sire and began, among others: Rignart, Zamar II, Brunsweik, Hahnault, St. Caroline, Count of Flanders, Alencon, St. Hilaire.

Marcia A. was a winner at two and three years old. She has produced Little Margaret, Marienre and Badly Used.

Rignart, her grand-dam, produced Regal, Rowland, Chancellor and Pleasanton. Rignart's great-grand-dam of Marcia A. was the dam of Berrie Franklin.

Marcia A.'s fourth dam, Resene, was the dam of Abdel-Kader and Abdel-Khoroe, and the fifth dam, Alice Cornet, made herself famous by producing the immortal Lexington.

SPORTDRIFT
Jockey Tollins left for Hilo by the steamer Mauna Kea yesterday. He is engaged to ride for John O'Rourke at the coming meeting. He will have a mount in the $1000 mile and a quarter event.

The new President's Cup, presented to the Oahu Country Club for golf competition by James D. McInerney, is now on view in Welmman's window.

Among the cups to be played for by the Country Club golfers during the coming year is the Roederer cup, presented by Fred Waldron.

There will be a New Year's golf tournament at the Oahu Country Club. In the afternoon there will be a reception, tea and dance at the club.

George Freeth is reported to have expressed a desire to manage Duke Kahanamoku Jr. and Vincent Genovesi, the local swimmers, should they go to the Coast next month.

Last Monday in a game of intercollegiate football played on Alexander Field the Maryland eleven bested the West Virginia team 24 to 0.

Last Monday at Leliehua the South Dakota intercollegiate team went down before a service team, 15 to 0.

At Moiliili this afternoon the Maryland nine will cross bats with the Second Infantry at 1:30, and at 3 p. m. the Colorado nine will play a game with the California team.

Kid Howard of Port de Russy would like a match with Harry School at 125 pounds.

FAHY AFTER TWO RACES

Dal Fahy returned to San Francisco by the S. S. Sierra today. He will be back on January 12 and on the following Sunday expects to have a twenty-mile race with Fitzgerald, King and Knoss.

He also wants to have a mile walk while here and is willing to make a comfortable side bet that he can out-walk any man in the Territory at a mile.

Fahy did some good work in long-distance races in Honolulu some time back, and since leaving here has been taking the best care of himself. He says that he is better than ever with the speed and endurance things today and intends to prove it at the earliest opportunity.

Go to it, Dal! The more the merrier.

MAETERLINCK, THE SHY, REFUSES PUBLIC BOUQUETS

BRUSSELS, December 16.—Belgian admirers of Maurice Maeterlinck are bitterly chagrined at the great writer's attitude toward the ovations they have prepared to celebrate his winning the Nobel prize for literature. For many days complimentary demonstrations have been in active preparation in different parts of the country, and letters of congratulation and invitations to public feasts have poured in upon Maeterlinck in his home at Nice.

Ghent has planned a gala performance of some of his principal works; Brussels University wishes to organize a great Maeterlinck reception, and a circle of other admirers have had a medal engraved with his features for presentation to him.

But Maeterlinck will not fall in with any of these proposals. He says the mere prospect of being lauded, mobbed or publicly adressed would lead him to suicide. As, therefore, he won't reconsider his decision, the celebrations will have to take place without him.

MYSTERIOUS BILLY SHOT

PORTLAND, December 18.—"Mysterious Billy" Smith, the former prize-fighter, who last night was knocked out by four bullets from the revolver of Captain A. B. Loomis, the husband of Smith's divorced wife, more than held his own today, and if he pulls through tomorrow, the physicians say, he will in all probability recover.

Smith's splendid constitution, and the fact that recently he has been through a course of physical training, is all that saved the old-time fighter's life, backed by the fact that the stamina of the old ring days still is his and is made apparent by his cheerful demeanor as he lies on his cot in the hospital laughing and joking with the friends who are permitted to see him.

Mrs. Loomis, who was detained as a witness to the shooting, was released today on her own recognizance when it became almost certain that Smith would recover. She exhibits various bruises which she states are the result of a beating administered to her by Loomis yesterday morning. Mrs. Loomis said today that she knew both men were "looking for each other," and that both carried revolvers, expecting trouble.

Loomis persists that while he was armed and had his revolver "up his sleeve" ready for emergencies, he did not fire until a bullet from Smith's gun "pined" under his arm. Witnesses tell conflicting stories as to which of the men fired first, but from all accounts both men got their weapons into action almost simultaneously. Loomis will not be arraigned until Smith's condition definitely is determined.

SAM M'VEY BEAT LANGFORD

SYDNEY, Australia, December 25.—Sam McVey was given a decision over Sam Langford after twenty rounds of milling here tonight. The "tar baby" was pretty well outclassed. He has several bouts scheduled for dates in the near future with Australians, and expects to go from here to England in four or five months.

WINNERS OF XMAS GOLF

A two-ball foursome was played at the Oahu Country Club on Christmas morning.

Eight teams participated and the winners turned up in T. Gill and M. Phillips who won their final match with W. Simpson and W. H. McInerney, 5 and 4.

Following were the results:
Round 1—Ewart and Waterhouse beat Fenwick and J. D. McInerney, 2 and 1; Simpson and W. H. McInerney beat Weight and Reidford, 2 up; Young and Spalding beat Klebahn and Jordan, 1 up.

Round 2—Simpson and McInerney beat Ewart and Waterhouse, 2 up; Phillips and Gill beat Young and Spalding, 5 and 4.

Finals—Phillips and Gill beat Simpson and McInerney, 5 and 4.

There will be a tournament on the Country Club links on New Year's day.

The following games were played in the students' tennis tournament at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday:
Charles Stevens beat Robert Horne, 6-8, 8-4.

Dwight Baldwin defeated Platt, Cooke, 10-8, 8-6.

Tomorrow Marston Campbell Jr. will meet Alexander Anderson in the second round.

The Malles and Kams are now tied in the league soccer race.

KID HOWARD SHOWED CLASS

At Fort de Russy on Christmas day the following boxing bouts were decided in connection with a splendid Christmas dinner and a program of general jollification:

Kid Howard of the Engineers got a four-round draw with Prince of Fort Shafter.

Jack Clark of the U. S. S. Navajo fought four rounds to a draw with Woodward of Fort Shafter.

The exhibitions were both all to the good. In Howard a clever little gloveman was introduced to the local ring. He should be heard from again in the lightweight division.

Clark and Woodward fought a willing battle at 155 pounds. In the recent show at the Orpheum the sailor won by the K. O. route. On Monday Woodward showed improved form and a ten-round go between these two is now being talked of.

In a preliminary to the boxing bouts Smithson and Mealla of the Engineers wrestled a bout, the former taking the match in two straight falls.

Corporal Ora E. Finch acted as master of ceremonies and Mess Sergeant John Wise looked after the refreshment end of the proceedings in a manner which left no room for criticism.

SCHEDULE OF FLEET GAMES

The tentative schedule of fleet baseball games as at present arranged is as follows:

December 30.—West Virginia vs. Colorado.
December 31.—West Virginia vs. All-Hawaii.

January 8.—Second Infantry vs. Colorado, 1:30 p. m.; West Virginia vs. California, 3 p. m.

January 6.—Maryland vs. California; Fort Ruger vs. West Virginia.
January 7.—Second Infantry vs. South Dakota; Colorado vs. West Virginia.

ROOSEVELT AND TAFT.

Mr. Roosevelt does not appear well in his opposition to the President. It was he and he alone who brought Mr. Taft into the open for the Republican nomination three years ago and by dint of his control of the party machine and of his vast personal prestige, forced that nomination. Standing alone Mr. Taft did not appeal vitally to the rank and file as did Governor Hughes; but with Roosevelt behind him the rest had no show. To this large extent Mr. Roosevelt was responsible for Mr. Taft, and he was so zealous for the choice of his Secretary of War that he was quoted as saying to reluctant party chiefs in Congress, that "If you don't take him you may have to take me." This was an alternative which the Republican Congressmen could not meet, for they hated as well as feared the Rough Rider and quickly cast their party influence for the other man, believing that Taft would not become anybody's tool.

After the nomination and election it was expected by the party at large that Mr. Roosevelt would stand by his man. But within six months Mr. Roosevelt changed his mind, though far away. He was visibly piqued. It seems that Mr. Taft had rid his administration of the costly and incorrigible Pinchot; and when Pinchot hurried to Europe to meet Roosevelt there were signs of coming trouble for Taft. The two plotters held a conference from which Pinchot came with a smirk that did not wear off for weeks. When Roosevelt got back from the Old World he did not even call on his friend, the President, but set to work to wrest the control of New York politics from Taft's adherents.

The public conclusion was that Roosevelt had merely put Taft in office to hold the job for four years and to continue his policies and keep his prestige green; and that he took offense because Taft intended to be his own president. This idea was cemented when Roosevelt invented his "New Nationalism," the supposed object of which was to get rid of that phase of the old nationalism which stood in the way of a third term. Defeat only made him open a new bag of tricks. Now that Roosevelt is doing new things to obstruct the President and has openly broken with him again, stating trivial grounds, the impression that the Rough Rider has an overweening ambition and will let no one, not even the man he chose to succeed him, stand in his path, has been increased and now represents the average common sense of the nation. It may be fairly said that unless Americans have changed very much on the question of a third term since Grant's time and on the question of Roosevelt since last year's elections, they will take advantage of the next chance to squelch Roosevelt once and for all. Indeed his course is doing more to renegade Taft than is the policy of the latter's administration.

THE KILAUEA PARK.

It is to be hoped that L. A. Thurston, the public-spirited advocate of the Kilauea National Park, will be able to come to terms with the Bishop Estate about the mauka boundary so that there may be no local opposition in Congress to a park including all the wonders of the vicinity. A national park consisting of only the molten pit and the lava environment would fall as short of adequate area as the Yellowstone Park would if its projectors had been content with Old Faithful. The earlier suggestion here was about the pit and some of the lava fields. The Bishop Estate is conceding more than this but wants to keep other desirable things. The popular idea is to take in all nature's novelties about and beyond the crater, so that the public may be denied nothing it wants to see, and no harm may come from cattle. If the Bishop Estate will meet Mr. Thurston on this point it may soon be easy to acquire a park which will add enormously to the tourist assets of Hawaii without cost to the Territory.

UNIONISTS AND DYNAMITE.

Detective Burns admits that union labor, as a class, does not favor violence, which is probably true in the sense that political parties do not approve of the corruption done by their machines. The trouble is that the labor unions, like the parties, are apt to be run by rings that are rarely controlled or reformed. They are the power behind the voting strength of the organization; the chief factors in naming candidates for office, whom they put under obligations; the self-perpetrated cabals that work secretly and in the dark for their own ends. When they are exposed, the people who have been standing by them, not knowing about their underhanded work, are as righteously astounded as other folks. In regard to labor and dynamite the case stands as the Star said weeks ago: If the 2,500,000 citizens who are enrolled in the labor unions were in sympathy with the McNamara wrecking crews this country would have a revolution.

The public will note the studied attempt to put the responsibility for the abortive part of the so-called anti-mosquito campaign upon the Federal doctors who have acted in turn as advisors to the Board of Health. At the start it was all Currie's doings—in print. Then it was "our brilliant leader, Dr. Blue." Then Dr. Marshall did it all; and now Dr. McCoy has "brought down the anti-mosquito campaign to a $12,000 a month basis, a tithe of what the original work cost." Yet these doctors have had no more than advisory powers under the invitation of the Governor and none at all to order or direct the outlay of Territorial money. Of course the object is, when the Legislature meets, to shift the responsibility for a worse blunder than that of the incendiary Board of Health in 1900 upon somebody who can't be got at. But the people won't forget the fact.

The orange crop of Southern California is again in peril of frosts. There are ways however to save it by building smudges in orange groves on clear nights when frosts are expected, but the device is costly in a land where there is not too much fuel. The mission padres, where they had water under pressure, as at San Diego, used to sprinkle the leaves an hour or two before sunrise, with as good a result. But this, too, in the present time largely reduces profits. In Lower California, 200 miles south of the Southern California line, frosts do not occur, and if the peninsula belonged to the United States that region, under irrigation, might become the most productive of all the California citrus belts.

We are glad to see that the Board of Agriculture and Forestry may amend its proposed quarantine measure against the importation of dogs. There would seem to be no good reason for ruling against the admission of a sound dog from an uninfected port. Indeed such dogs, if highly bred, should be welcomed, as Hawaii has too many mongrels. As Governor Dole pointed out when he vetoed the Lady Dog bill in 1901, the island strain needs improvement. But for the conclusion of the legislature, then manned by natives, that the veto was a ruthless attack on a valuable food product and should be overridden, we might have better dogs now.

Professor Bateman's idea that a republic would be a calamity to the Chinese is the view of a man who knows the people and the ground. He is aware that China lacks almost everything that a successful republic calls for—a common language and patriotism, a real public spirit, an inbred respect for law that does not have to appear with visible force, a common and independent press, easy intercommunication. A republic, attempting to bind together the tribes of China by a constitution could not last six months.

The anti-tipping movement does not need to convert the waiter. Generally speaking he would rather have good wages and shorter hours; for the tip varies with the individual and with the times and must be shared with the head waiters and the cooks, who insist on levying tribute. The real offender is the man who wants to pay for a better or quicker service than his table neighbor gets. He is mostly to blame whooping down the street. That valiant knight, who saw her plight and acted Johnnie on the spot, by that small game won lasting fame, and is embalmed in poet's rot. A thousand jays went on their ways that morning, doing useful things; they mowed their grass like men—alas, no poet of their labor sings! They pushed their plows and milked their cows, and dug their wells and planted trees; no lyre is hit, none throws a fit, embalming laborers like these. They had their day and passed away, and went to sleep in unknown graves. The poet writes of cheap John knights, and o'er some foolish action raves. It's still the same; we hand out fame and boodle to the grandstand guys; and toilers, poor, unsmug, obscure, must cough up when they'd advertise.

for tips and for the abuse which the cafeteria is in the way of reforming at waiters' expense.

Attorney General Lindsay is reported by the organ of the Board of Health as saying that he does not know what the decision of Judge Cooper was on the banana ordinance. That Mr. Lindsay does not know what Judge Cooper held is a sign that he only reads the Advertiser. That supposed newspaper never mentioned the decision, so far as the Star has noted, until this morning. Perhaps the Board's permission was not given before.

Secretary Wilson is right in saying that American tea is possible. But American labor to pick it on a competitive basis with China and Japan, is another question.

HYMAN RAPHAEL—There will be something doing in the line of good sport when the Olympic Club arrives here.

HARRY LAKE—I have been asked why I don't pay my fare on the street cars. How can anybody expect to get a nickel out of a copper?

R. W. BRECKONS—Opium isn't the only business we handle in the United States district attorney's department, but it seems to make the loudest smell.

CHIEF McDUFFIE—Well, we had a strenuous time while the Christmas holidays were on, but everything went off all right—even the police automobile.

"MOOSE" LONG—That show of ours tonight, for the benefit of the King's Daughters' building fund is going to be the real McCoy. The "standing-room only" signs are all ready.

L. S. CONNESS—I do not think it will be necessary to do any talking on the mainland about money for the Hilo street railway. There is money enough in Hawaii for the project.

LIEUT. GAYLER, U. S. N.—The Pearl Harbor drydock is going along fine. We expect to be able to complete the first section by the end of this week, and then we will soon afterwards start pumping.

PURSER SMITH (S. S. Sierra)—I think that more money per capita was spent in Honolulu at Christmas time than there was in any other city in the world. It was astonishing to see how money was spent. Everyone had money to spend, and they let it go.

PURSER SMITH (S. S. Sierra)—I think that a medal ought to be given to those people who have visited the volcano. I think nearly everyone would be agreeable to pay a dollar or so for a medal. This is done in other instances, such as climbing the Alps.

CHANG CHOW—If the civilized world sets up the argument that they want to interfere with the revolution that is now progressing in China for the sake of humanity, I say they are wrong. Intervention by any Power would mean that poor China would be a place of massacre.

employment and only two conditions appear to be necessary for venture, viz., safety of principal and good returns. Investors are insisting upon the latter more firmly than usual.

The financial situation abroad shows further improvement. International friction is passing away. In London financial conditions are better, and less uneasiness is shown over the large amount of new security issues. British foreign trade is exceedingly large in volume, and this should be remembered is the main source of British prosperity. In Germany there has been a very marked revival of trade since settlement of the Moroccan dispute. Banks in Berlin have stood the recent financial strain satisfactorily, and the situation there is gradually righting itself. Remarkable activity exists in the German iron trade, which just now is surpassing all previous records in output. The German steamship business, like the British, is active and prosperous, promising to pay better dividends. The German cotton trade, like that of England and the United States, is being greatly assisted by cheap cotton. All Europe in fact is now enjoying a very fair degree of prosperity. It is hardly rational to suppose that the United States will stay long behind.

This country has been taking an enforced rest cure for nearly two years. Since the panic of 1907 conditions have never been entirely satisfactory. Liquidation, however, has been long and severe. There is less inflation and more soundness than at any time in the last four years. At least a moderate recovery seems justified. Business is already feeling somewhat invigorated and seems preparing to try for a fresh start in 1912. This is shown by the stronger undertone and the development of a more hopeful spirit. The chief drawback at the moment arises from uncertainty at Washington. Big business has not yet recovered its equilibrium from the sudden interference with its former methods of doing business. The country is wading deep in a period of reconstruction of its business machinery, which inevitably means temporary uncertainty as to what the national legislature may do. * * * There are indications of a more conservative spirit developing in Congress, though it must not be forgotten that the temptation, if not necessity, for making an

CONGRESS MORE

Henry Clews, in his weekly circular letter of the date of December 16, continues to be optimistic regarding trade conditions, though he says that there are still some complaints of slackness in trade. He writes in part:

In various directions there are indications of slow but certain improvement. There are still some complaints of slackness in trade and in many instances profits are upon a smaller scale than for several years. At the same time the volume of general trade is fairly satisfactory. There has been no shrinkage of consequence, as proved by well-sustained railroad earnings and bank clearings, and after the season of quiet incidental to the close of the year there is fair assurance of at least moderate recuperation.

By far the most significant element in the industrial situation is the striking improvement in the iron trade. The turn was made about the middle of October. Since then orders have steadily expanded, and this week the big producers of finished steel have been so besieged that in not a few lines capacity is fully engaged for four to six months ahead. Prices are already firmer. In some instances they are being advanced, and the probability is that the close of the year will find about 80 per cent of the country's steel capacity fully employed. * * * The iron trade is still regarded as one of our most reliable trade barometers, and it is quite certain that railroad managers with their exceptional opportunities for observation would not be placing such large orders for equipment unless satisfied that a turn for the better had come. Their action in the matter should be accepted as proof of confidence in the future.

In banking circles there is also a more hopeful feeling. A slight improvement in investment conditions is observable, and this tendency will probably become more marked as the time for the $220,000,000 January disbursements approaches near. There is an abundance of capital awaiting occasional display for political effect will remain until after the presidential election. Two weeks have passed without any harmful demonstrations.

HEYDENREICH'S BLACK EYE
FAILS TO CONVICT DYE

Although for many days Rudolph Heydenreich, commonly known as "Heine," manager of the Young cafe, sported a lovely blue, black, purple and otherwise variegated eye which he claimed was the result of the prowess, bistic ability, suddenness and forcefulness of J. Dye, a baker at the Young, the decorated opile was not sufficient to convict Dye of assault and battery, the offense with which Heydenreich charged him. After a trial by jury in Judge Whitney's court this morning Dye was discharged, the jury, after being out twenty minutes, rendering a verdict of not guilty.

The local money market has shown a slightly firmer tendency, as is usual toward the close of the year, but the return of ease will come after the middle of January, when the domestic money current will commence to flow this way. The low condition of bank reserves, meanwhile, need cause no anxiety, especially as large amounts of American money are still loaned in Europe. Our credit abroad is being further strengthened by the satisfactory condition of our foreign trade, exports still showing large gains over last year.

HUGH GALBRAITH
AS AN INVENTOR

Concealed from the too curious gaze of the public in a gunny sack a new invention was brought to town today by its author, which may bring him even more fame than a Liverpool paper conferred on him by representing him as a returned walf of that famed English port who, in a long residence in the "Sandwich Islands," had forgotten his Irishly imbroged English mother tongue. The inventor is no less a personage than Hugh Galbraith and his invention he calls a fiddle graphophone or a graphophone fiddle. He came in from Wailana to negotiate with Judge Humphreys to act for him in procuring a patent for the original musical instrument.

The virtue of the invention is that it produces the orchestral effects of several instruments when the fiddle is played upon with the bow in the ordinary manner. All that is visible, differentiating it from a common fiddle—well, even though it is only a small thing, can not yet be told.

But Judge Humphreys and a Star reporter can vouch for it that distinct orchestral effects are produced by the graphophone fiddle as claimed by its inventor.

AUTO SCORCHES
RACE DOWNTOWN

Hotel street seems to be a favorite racing track for speeding automobiles.

Shortly before one o'clock this afternoon automobiles No. 815 and 51 were racing down Hotel street at a terrible clip. They were abreast and going at least forty miles an hour, with the occupants of each car urging the chauffeurs "to open her up" further. So great was the speed of the cars that they were enveloped in dust, and anyone fifty yards behind them could not distinguish the fact that there were two flying automobiles in the cloud of dust. They tore along Hotel street, and passed Punchbowl street without slackening speed in the least.

For the benefit of sporting readers, it might be mentioned that the result of the race could not be ascertained. Car No. 51 is listed as being owned by Frank Lewis. No. 815 is a late purchase and its owner is not given in the latest list of automobiles.

LONG RANGE
INTERVIEWING

Honolulu has about the most modern system of journalism to be found anywhere. The Advertiser this morning interviewed Hen Wise, who is in San Francisco, and made him give some interesting facts concerning his theatrical engagement to be started shortly in this city.

As a matter of fact Hen Wise did not arrive in the Wilhelmina yesterday from San Francisco. Mrs. Wise did, and the last time she saw her unhappy husband was on the dock at San Francisco shouting out instructions to her telling what to do while

According to the stories told in court, the trouble was all over chocolate. Heine, it seems, spoke rather sharply to the baker concerning some various kinds of chocolate that the cafe manager had ordered. Cooks are notoriously as short as their pie-crust and Dye resented the words and tone of Heydenreich. One chocolate led to another and several words to a blow. The stories as to which was the first offender differed, but at any rate, the fact came out that there had been considerable of a rumple, from which Heydenreich emerged with a bum lamp and a terrible grouch, which led him to cause the arrest of Dye.

she was here without him. His instructions seemed to be of a negative character. "Do not do a thing until I come down there," he shouted.

Hen Wise got together a company of black minstrels to come to the local circuit, and some of them were as anxious to come that they attempted to jump their contracts. They got on the boat—all of them—but the managers got wind of the hurried departure and had injunctions issued. Those concerned were lifted off the boat at the last minute, and Hen Wise was one of them.

The best way to get an interview, it would seem, would be to see the man himself, and not take the passenger lists for granted.

SUGAR FRAUDS EXCEED $1,000,000

Philadelphia Public Ledger: The federal grand jury, which has been investigating the alleged frauds in the collection of sugar duties at this port, filed its report yesterday in the United States district court, and declared that the customs service in Philadelphia has been demoralized by politics.

The grand jury recommended the institution of civil suits immediately to recover the duties lost through false appraisement. The amount is said to exceed $1,000,000. Suits will be prepared at once, government officials said.

While the report says the jury found that at times throughout the period covered by the investigation, irregularities in weighing, varying in nature from sporadic sharp practices to systematic frauds, have been resorted to at the refineries of the W. J. McCahan Sugar Refining Company, the Spreckels Sugar Refining Company and the Franklin Sugar Refining Company, for the purpose of lessening the duty weights of imported cargoes of raw sugar, it could find no criminal indictment because no offense has been shown to have been committed within a period not exempted by the statute of limitations.

Political pressure or party patronage was the chief cause of the losses to the government, according to the jury's report. Pressure was often exerted upon customs weighers of such a nature as to make them careless in the discharge of their duties. While the jury found no evidence that the assistant weighers had wilfully participated in fraudulent weighing, the assistants had much cause for the feeling that the whole burden of any struggle that might be made to prevent unfair practices by the refineries rested upon them alone. This was due to the fear that their superior officers would not sustain their complaints; and further they feared that charges made against them would meet with serious consideration. This fear, due to politics, is the only adequate theory the jury could assign for the fearlessness with which many of the refining company's employees took advantage of every available opportunity for getting the better of the government weighers.

Refinery Men the Offenders.

Under the evidence the jury finds no direct participation in the frauds either by officers of the sugar companies or by the higher customs officials. The bulk of the findings of fraud in fact fall upon the refining company employees, some of whom, the report says, are no longer in the employ of the companies.

The investigation of raw sugar imports has been carried on by special agents of the Department of Justice at Washington for more than two years. The result of this inquiry was the impounding of a special grand jury on May 25 last to hear the evidence collected and make its report with recommendations. This special jury took up the methods of weighing in the customs service. The following month the regular June grand jury was impounded for the regular work of inquiry into criminal charges. At the conclusion of this list the government began the presentation of evidence before the June jury on the methods of sampling and testing of sugar and on drawbacks relating thereto.

Two separate reports were made by the two juries yesterday. Both were similar in that fraud was found, committed in a period exempted by the statute of limitations.

Frauds Traced to 1894.

Between 1894 and 1897 the June jury found that settlement samples of sugar from which tests were made to determine the grade and thereby fix the duty were systematically adulterated at the Spreckels refinery for the purpose of fraudulently lowering the tests. The McCahan and Franklin refineries were exonerated from this phase of the inquiry.

In relation to drawbacks, the jury found that many samples manufactured at the McCahan refinery from December, 1902, to March, 1910, particularly those manufactured since 1906, have been illegally exported with benefit of drawbacks under false declarations concerning the sugars used in their manufacture. The Spreckels refinery is also accused of the same illegal act from March, 1903, to practically the time of the beginning of the investigation.

W. R. Felter, who for some time past has been bookkeeper for the citizens' campaign, is leaving for the Coast on January 3. He does not anticipate becoming a member of the "come back" club.

EWA SUGAR MILL HAS GREAT FAME

Louisiana Planter: We have just now received some data from Hawaii that is almost startling in its wonderful statement. At the Ewa sugar factory they expect to produce this season 35,000 tons of sugar from about 3000 acres of land, expecting to realize about twelve tons of sugar per acre. They expect to be grinding for about ten and a half months of the calendar year and to grind from 1600 to 2200 tons of cane per day, all the Hawaiian tons being the American 2000-pound ton. At Ewa they had two nine-roller mills with crushers to each. These two nine-roller mills have been converted into an eighteen-roller mill, or a sextuple mill, preceded by a crusher, and the results have been very satisfactory, although the production of the later mills becomes more and more restricted, and yet the final result is indicative of the advantages of the method, which we presume will be continued until proven unprofitable.

After the cane enters the mill from the crusher and passes from the first one of the six mills to the next, the juice of these intermediate mills is pumped back, beginning, we think, at the third mill, the juice being then pumped back to the bagasse entering the second mill. The juice of the various mills is in this manner pumped back until the sixth mill of the series is reached. The bagasse entering this mill is saturated with water to the extent of about 40 per cent of the weight of the normal juice. The water of saturation is boiling hot and this method of working now in process at Ewa is said to yield 97 per cent of the sugar in the cane. The promoters of diffusion never claimed to secure more than 95 per cent, and here the modern cane mill, with these numerous pressures, is now realizing by direct squeezing more than our scientists thought possible, and thus definitely whipping the laws of osmosis and exosmosis out of the field. Certainly the yields of sugar at Ewa are a striking demonstration of what can be done with competent capital backing up the admitted ability, enterprise and opportunities of these good children of the missionaries who have so successfully Christianized these distant South Sea Islands.

The Wilhelmina will sail for Hilo on Friday afternoon at five o'clock, and will have about one hundred passengers. She will leave Hilo on Sunday afternoon at five o'clock and will be in port again first thing on Monday morning.

The Wilhelmina will leave for San Francisco on Wednesday morning, and when she pulls out of here she will no doubt be a full ship. Present indications point this way at all events, for all her passenger accommodation has been taken up, and provision has been made for her to receive 4500 tons of sugar and five hundred tons of cargo.

Hyades Due Next Monday.

The Hyades is being looked for about Monday or Tuesday next from Seattle. She has been on the way a few days now, and it is expected that she will be a pretty full ship, for there was a lot of cargo offering for Honolulu when the Honolulu left there a few weeks ago.

PLEASED WITH HONOLULU.

Spokane (Wash.) Chronicle: After a six weeks' tour of the Pacific ocean and the Hawaiian Islands Louis Michaels, son of K. Michaels of the Spokane Table Supply Company, returned to Spokane Sunday morning enthusiastic over the island possessions.

"I was more than pleased with the islands and business conditions there are good. With not an empty storefront in the city of Honolulu business men are in good spirits and look forward to a good year ahead."

LARGE ORDERS FOR SHIP PLATES

New York market report: Although Pittsburgh mills are running at a high percentage of capacity on plates, the New York district has not received many large orders for this product. Lukens Iron and Steel Company's plant at Coatesville is operating at about 55 per cent, and has received several orders for ship plates from the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company. Plates and shapes for construction of five new boats for this company will total about 30,000 tons, and construction of boats will start at once. Standard Oil Company has ordered a 100-foot tank boat for delivery of kerosene in the harbor. About fifty tons of light plates will be needed. Prices for plates are stiffening, one company reporting $1.20 Pittsburgh, as common. Nothing is being sold below $1.15, according to local dealers.

The W. G. Hall was an early arrival from Kaula this morning with 5,500 bags of sugar, twenty-three empty gasoline drums, six empty oil barrels, one automobile, twenty-six sacks of cocoanut plants, and thirty packages of sundries.

Kinau With Paving Blocks.

The Kinau came in early this morning from Hawaii via ports with nine packages of liquor, fifteen cases of chickens, eighteen sacks of corn, thirty-one packages of hides, eleven sacks of beans, seventy-one sacks of empty bottles, eighty-three hogs, 25,000 paving blocks, and 141 packages of sundries.

Sugar on Kaula.

Purser Logan of the W. G. Hall reports that the following sugar is awaiting shipment on Kaula: K. S. M., 2600 bags; M. A. K., 262; V. K., 1300; G. S. R., 2650; K. P., 7020; L. P., 12,120; K. S. Co., 800.

Enterprise at Hilo.

The Enterprise was at Hilo discharging her cargo from the Sound when the Kinau left there.

PASSENGERS ARRIVED.

Per Kinau from Hawaii, via ports, this morning—E. T. Chase, A. Ruddle, Rev. S. Okura, H. H. Kanihou, T. Rochfort, Ching Lin, Masters M. and A. F. Vettesen, Miss L. K. Hart, J. Cumming, G. B. Schrader, Alma Mills, C. Savage, Koimul, R. A. Gibbs. Per W. G. Hall from Kaula this morning—Francis Gay and servant, Miss E. Gay, Mrs. R. L. Wilcox, P. Glade, Sam Kakekaka, Mrs. H. D. Sloggett, four children and servant, Miss M. I. Wilcox, H. A. B. Fergie, Yee Wo, and fifteen on deck.

Sierra Away to the Coast.

The Sierra pulled out this morning for San Francisco. There was, as usual, a large number of people down to see this popular vessel off, and she left amid the musical strains of Berger's band.

She was not so well patronized this trip in either department. In the cabins there were sixty-one, in the steerage there were seven, and there were only about one thousand tons of cargo under her hatches. The freight included three hundred tons of sugar, three thousand bunches of bananas, and small shipments of rice, coffee, hides and canned pineapples. There were no children at all this trip.

The Sierra is due at San Francisco early next Tuesday morning.

PASSENGERS DEPARTED.

Per S. S. Sierra for San Francisco this morning—Mrs. J. N. Abhay, Mrs. E. Adams, H. Adams, W. H. Bell, Vivian S. Brown, B. Bruns, S. Bryan, Mrs. G. Chubb, Geo. J. Campbell, Geo. K. MARKET IS TOO FIRM FOR SALES

The very firmness of the stock market is what prevented sales today from being even more numerous than they were. Stocks are so firmly held that there is little offering, though the brokers are looking anxiously for them in order to supply the many orders they have on hand. One broker stated this morning that, if the stocks would only come out, some big sales could be consummated, as the orders are already in and waiting to be filled.

As it was, trading was decidedly brisk today as compared with yesterday, 684 shares of various stocks changing hands at prices as good in all cases and better in several than those that prevailed before Christmas.

Wai'alua remained strong at $119.50, three sales aggregating thirty shares being made at that figure. Oahu opened strong at $32.75, at which price seventy shares were disposed of, and then went to $32.87½, three blocks of 100 shares each selling at that quotation.

Two sales of Haiku, of twenty-five shares each, were recorded at 170. Ewa advanced a quarter of a point, sixty shares selling at $32.25. Hawaiian Sugar maintained its former price of $44.50, at which seventy-four shares were sold.

Onomea jumped three-quarters of a point to forty-eight at the opening of the market, then advanced to $48.25, making a total advance for the day amounting to one point. Thirty shares were sold at $48 and five more at $48.25.

Brewery stock also took a jump, selling at $20.75, half a point advance, with $21.25 asked. Fifty shares were disposed of at the market.

CALLING DAYS FOR HONOLULU.
 Mondays: Punahou, College Hill, Manoa, Makiki.
 Tuesdays: Waikiki, Kapiolani Park, Kaimuki, Palolo.
 Wednesdays: Nuuanu, Punahou, Pacific Heights, First and Third Wednesdays above Nuuanu.
 Thursdays: Second and Fourth Wednesdays below Bridge, Fourth Wednesday, Pacific Heights.
 Fridays: The Plains.
 Saturdays: Hotels and town, Fourth Friday, Fort Shafter, First Tuesday, Fort Ruger.
 Sundays: Kaili, Third and Fourth Saturdays, Kamehameha Schools.

Charles Drew, Mr. and Mrs. Marston Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Drew.

Miss Anabel Dole Low is giving a pot luncheon today to twenty of her friends.

Among the invited guests are Miss Nora Swamy, Miss Ethel Bishop, Miss Edith Williams, Mrs. Bruce Cartwright, Miss Agnes Buchanan, Miss Florence Garry, Miss Beatrice Holdsworth, Mrs. Robert Shingle, Mrs. George Beckley, Mrs. August Drier, Miss Tokio Mamioto, Miss Henrietta Smith, Miss Makia Magoon, Miss Blanche Soper, Miss Lillian Buckland, Miss Harlette Hatch, Miss Eunice Pratt, Miss Carol Low, Miss Lorna Jarrett and Mrs. S. G. Vedder.

A very elaborate dinner was given in the private dining room of the Moana Hotel on Christmas night by Lieutenant Commander Wells of the South Dakota and Mrs. Wells.

The room was elaborately decorated in garlands of malle, Christmas wreaths and poinsettias, and the table was most artistically decorated with dainty ferns, poinsettias and Christmas berries. The tree in the center of the table was a blaze of tiny colored electric lights and festoons of larger lights lighted the room.

Those enjoying the hospitality of Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Wells were Mrs. Robbins, Captain and Mrs. Marx, Miss Kathryn Stephens, Paymaster and Mrs. Irwin, the Misses Hogan, Lieutenant Commander Leahy, Lieutenant Beauregard, Lieutenant Commander Douglas, Lieutenant Commander McDowell, Lieutenant Cox, Lieutenant Todd and Dr. Dykes.

GRAND BALL FOR THE SAILORS

Best Hawaiian orchestra music and dancing in the two pavilions of the Alexander Young Hotel roof garden will be features of the merchants' ball to the sailors of the Pacific fleet on Friday evening. With two thousand bluejackets and a large assembly of townspeople to help them to enjoy the occasion, the event ought to be a memorable one.

A reception will be held before the grand march, led by Rear Admiral and Mrs. Chancery Thomas, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Cowles and Brigadier General and Mrs. Macomb. As the navy boys have been both good and generous since their arrival, it is incumbent on Honolulu people in general to give them a big and hearty greeting on the ballroom floor.

On Saturday evening the army and navy unions will give a ball at the Young.

The merchants' ball to the fleet of fleets will be given at the Moana Hotel on Tuesday evening.

On Wednesday evening the crew of the South Dakota will give a ball at the Young.

$2,000,000 WAITING FOR BROKER'S STENOGRAPHER
 NEW YORK, December 19.—It is developed today that Charles H. White, the retired broker, who died on December 7, last year, left his entire fortune of $2,000,000 to Miss Fannie P. Jackson, his stenographer, cutting off his widow and family without a cent.

The will was filed for probate shortly after his death, and a letter addressed by the surrogate's clerk to Miss Jackson was returned today, the postal authorities being unable to locate her.

TO LESSEN THE HOURS OF POSTAL CLERKS
 WASHINGTON, December 19.—Senator Penrose today presented a bill to provide a six-day week, an eight-hour day and extra pay for overtime for mail carriers in city delivery service and for clerks in first and second-class postoffices.

THE TEMPLE OF GRIEF

By E. V. WILCOX.

"A penny for your thoughts," he cried, And woke me from a reverie of grief. The leaden sob within, transformed to faintest sigh, Answered the challenge of the questioner. I smiled—what other course to take? I lied with lips that falsely laughed. I lied with eyes that smiled at him. I lied through grimly grating teeth.

When sorrow, deep as lowest pit of Buddhist hell, Dark as the center of eternal night, Sick as the withering of a withered flower, Sharp as the twinging agonies of death, Wild as the ravings of a maniac, Through throbbing brain its maddened chariot drives, Tears the tired tendons of a sickened heart. We smile, and lie in the proud world's face.

Didst ever see a strong man weep? And thought to cheer him with a flippant word? Rend your garments, ashes on your head, Shun the great highways of the earth, Hide like a criminal in fear, And that till you have tasted grief. Raze every temple built with hands, But spare the sacred holy of the heart.

Joys may be shared and published wide, We shout them gladly to the whirling winds. But grief is hidden in the inmost heart. Like wounded bird, in dark retreat, alone, The stricken soul fights the great fight And dies—or issues forth in chastened victory, Into the arms of some tried friend, Who prayed in silence while the struggle raged.

HOW WE GOT THE NAME AMERICAN

Every now and then some one in the Dominion indulges in an outburst of indignation because the people of the United States call themselves Americans. Surely no Canadian wants to call himself an American. He has an older and a better name—a name that no one else can claim. Moreover, if some 90,000,000 of people decide to call themselves something, it is not easy to see what any one else is going to do about it. A recent reference to this matter in a contemporary led us to look into it historically, and we learn that the people of what is now the United States did not call themselves Americans, but the name was given them by the public men of the United Kingdom. The custom there was to refer to the Colonies of this continent as America and the people as Americans. We find the elder Pitt, afterward Earl Chatham, using both these expressions in Parliament as long ago as 1756. In one of his most famous speeches—that against the employment of mercenaries in the war with the colonies, delivered some years after that date, he said: "My Lords, you cannot conquer America. Were I an American as I am an Englishman, and a foreign force were landed on my shores, I never could lay down my arms."

In the bill which he submitted to the Lords in the hope that it would pass and remove discontent, he uses the word America as descriptive of the colonies, and expressly excepts from it "Acadia, the island of St. John's and Canada."

As long ago as 1744, in a bill dealing with trade matters, "the American colonies" were referred to, and in 1763 the secretary of the treasury spoke of "the revenue from America."

In 1778 Pitt said: "When the resolution was taken in the House to tax America, I was in bed," and he closed his speech by saying: "The Americans are the sons of England." During the debate on the Quebec act in 1775 the thirteen colonies were referred to as America in contradistinction to Canada.

In an anonymous pamphlet printed in London in 1755 on "The State of the Nation," the colonies are called America and the people Americans. Burke, in his famous conciliatory speech in 1775, spoke of the colonials as Americans. Doubtless we might multiply instances if time would permit the necessary investigation or it were necessary to demonstrate the point.

On the other hand, the people of the colonies did not, officially at least, speak of themselves as Americans. In a somewhat hasty examination of a number of official protests against taxation we have been unable to find the term applied by these people to themselves, although in its famous protest the Continental Congress spoke of "American commerce," and the General Assembly of Massachusetts said that "certain questions ought to be determined by 'an American Parliament.'" It is not until after the independence of the colonies was acknowledged that we find the use of the term American becoming common on this side of the Atlantic. Then we read of Washington saying, "The name America is a stimulus to liberty," and Thomas Paine, an Englishman by birth and education, writing in Philadelphia that "the Americans have always stood for liberty."

Speaking for a moment of the name Canadian, we may say that in our necessarily hurried search we find it used just about the middle of the seventeenth century, or a hundred years before we find the word American used as descriptive of a people. It is true that those to whom it was applied were of French origin, and it is quite true that the Loyallists did not call themselves Canadians. It is likewise very true that they would have repudiated the name Americans.

It appears, therefore, that the people of the United States in claiming to be called Americans have not been guilty, as some think, of an unwarrantable presumption, but have good historical precedent for applying the name to themselves, and as they seem determined to do so, and we could not prevent them from doing so if we tried, it is well to know that it was in the British Parliament more than a century ago that the name was given to them, and that it was given at least on one occasion to distinguish them from the people who lived in Canada. —Victoria Colonist.

STAMPEDE ON TO NEW ALASKAN GOLD FIELD

DAWSON, Y. T., December 19.—A stampede to the head of Sixty-mile river is in progress as the result of a rich gold strike there, news of which was brought yesterday by John Matson, who told of getting two and a half ounces of gold, worth nearly $40, from a bedrock space five by eight feet. This is considered an extraordinary run. Many sourdoughs have already started over the 130-mile trail to the new diggings, which are only twenty miles from the Alaska boundary.

Matson says the new creek is twenty miles long, with several tributaries four to eight miles each. The bottom of the valley is 2000 feet wide, the slopes are well timbered and the depth to bedrock is twenty feet. The gold is nearly all in the first two feet of bedrock. The ground is frozen hard.

YELLOWSTONE BUFFALO SUFFER FROM BLACKLEG

HELENA, Mont., December 19.—Blackleg is epidemic among the buffaloes in Yellowstone National Park, according to a report sent to the Interior Department by Dr. E. J. Carrie of this city. He was employed by the government to investigate the deaths of eighteen young buffalo in a herd of 147. Many other animals are infected, he said. He has telegraphed for blackleg vaccine and an assistant veterinarian.

ARMY AND NAVY

SAN FRANCISCO, December 18.—The transport Sherman sailed from Manila on December 11 for this port, bringing the following passengers and officers of the Seventh Infantry: Colonel Daniel W. Corman, Major Charles Miller, Major Charles C. Ballou, Captain Charles G. French, Captain Samuel V. Ham, Captain G. Soudard, Turner, Captain Fred L. Davidson, Captain William Wallace, Captain A. T. Owenshine, Captain William O. Smith, Lieutenants Robert G. Peck, John J. Fulmer, Charles A. Hunt, C. Stockmar Bendel, Irving M. Madison, Charles H. Rice, Henry S. Gillespie, Theodore K. Spencer, Carl C. Jones, John F. Franklin, Charles W. McClure, William E. Morrison, James G. Taylor, Roy A. Hill, Oral E. Clark.

Twenty-fourth Infantry—Major Richard C. Croxton, Captain Charles C. Smith, Captain Arthur M. Shipp, Captain Jas. M. Petty, Captain Morton F. Smith, Captain George W. England, Lieutenants John M. Craig, Jubal A. Early, C. Barrett Glover, Pollo C. Dittie, Horace G. Ball, Robert J. Binford, Bertram P. Johnson, Hugo G. Schultz, Robert C. Cotton, Arthur R. Underwood, Russell P. Hartle, Chaplain John M. Moose, Major Arthur W. Morse, medical corps; Lieutenant Bruno T. Schor, Twenty-eighth Infantry: Lieutenant John T. Donnelly, Thirtieth Cavalry: Lieutenant Eugene Robinson, Sixteenth Infantry: Chaplain James L. Griffe, Seventh Infantry: Captain John R. Barber, medical corps; Lieutenant C. U. Leonard, Eighteenth Infantry: Lieutenant H. A. Meyer, Jr., signal corps; Lieutenant James A. Wilson, medical corps; Captain Arthur R. Kerwin, Thirtieth Infantry: Lieutenant Allen S. Fletcher, Philippine Scouts.

There are 368 enlisted men of the Seventh Infantry, 217 of the Twentieth, twenty-nine sick, thirty-six military convicts, eight casuals of the line, twenty-four of the staff corps and departments. For discharge—130 infantry, 106 cavalry, sixty-five coast artillery, twenty-one field artillery and sixteen engineers. Sixty-six belong to organizations due to return to the United States in three months. Four hundred and fifty tons of coal were put on at Manila.

Troops for Honolulu.

WASHINGTON, December 19.—The Seventh company, Coast Artillery, now at the Presidio, San Francisco, has been ordered to Fort Mills, Corregidor Island, Manila Harbor, sailing about March 5, to relieve the Thirtieth company, Coast Artillery. Engineers' headquarters and Companies K and L, Third battalion, will leave Fort Leavenworth, Kas., sailing on January 5 for Manila, relieving the Second battalion. Company I, Third battalion, at Fort Leavenworth, will leave for Honolulu on March 5 to relieve the Second battalion.

Army Reorganization Bill.

WASHINGTON, December 19.—Representative James Hay of Virginia, chairman of the House military affairs committee, has issued a statement replying to the criticism of his army reorganization bill contained in the annual report of Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff of the army, which was made public yesterday.

Hay declares that General Wood has changed front since he appeared before the committee last summer. He insists that the provisions of his measure to which the chief of staff objects, principally, the consolidation of the quartermaster, commissary and paymaster departments, extension of enlistment term and merging of adjutant generals and paymaster generals in the departments of the general staff will reduce expenses and increase the efficiency of the army.

The Hay bill will be introduced when the army appropriation measures come before the House. Chairman Hay and General Wood agreed that the controversy over the reorganization of the army should go over until after the holidays. On January 3 the committee will hear Secretary of War Stimson and General Wood, who meantime will prepare reports of their views on the Hay bill.

Raleigh on Reserve List.

VALEJO, December 19.—The cruiser Raleigh, Commander Ashley H. Robertson, left Mare Island navy yard today for Bremerton navy yard, where it will be assigned to the Pacific reserve fleet. Commander Robertson brought the St. Louis down from Bremerton to the San Francisco naval training station, carrying members of the Washington naval militia. They are returning north on the Raleigh. The Raleigh was completely overhauled here in the expectation that it would be sent to the Asiatic station with the Cincinnati, which has been ready for service since last February.

Nicholson for Asiatic Fleet.

WASHINGTON, December 19.—Rear Admiral R. F. Nicholson, chief of the bureau of navigation of the Navy Department, will assume command of the Asiatic fleet on April 1. At that time Rear Admiral Murdoch will have completed his two-year term of sea duty. Admiral Nicholson will be succeeded as chief of the navigation bureau on January 1 by Commander Philip An-draws, whose nomination was confirmed by the Senate today.

Merrimac Survivor Dead.

WASHINGTON, December 19.—E. A. Jack, first lieutenant of engineers, retired, of the revenue cutter service, and one of the few survivors of the crew of the Merrimac in its famous Civil War battle with the Monitor in Hampton Roads, died at Alton, Ill., today, according to word received here. He was 71 years old and a native of Portsmouth Va.

War Ships to Meet Balloon.

WASHINGTON, December 19.—The request of Dr. Paul Gans to have American war ships meet the dirigible balloon Suchard on its transatlantic voyage next March probably will be granted by Secretary of the Navy Meyer.

LEISHMAN LOSES COURT TROUSERS

LONDON, December 19.—John G. A. Leishman, American ambassador to Germany, has lost his gold-brided court "pants," and the chancelleries of three countries are upset over the affair. When Leishman was appointed ambassador to Berlin he went to London to visit the court tailor, there to select a court dress that would be suitable for the Kaiser's court ball on December 27.

After several visits to the royal tailor a suitable pattern was evolved and decided upon. When it was finished the outfit was forwarded to Berlin for Leishman's inspection. The coat and waistcoat, cocked hat and sword proved most satisfactory, but the trousers were somewhat tight—so much so, in fact, that it would have been dangerous for Leishman to attempt to make the required courtly bow. They were sent back to London for alterations and were then started back to Berlin through an ordinary agency instead of being sent in the diplomatic mail bag.

The "pants" have not since been heard of.

GREAT KOA FOREST AT THE VOLCANO.

Just back of the Volcano House is a forest of Hawaiian mahogany trees that surprises everyone on inspection. It is from such trees that the beautiful koa furniture is made; a wood that rivals mahogany of the South American countries in brilliancy and which is rapidly supplanting it for interior decoration as well as furniture. It is but a short walk to this grove of gnarled old patriarchs among the tree wonders of the islands. In the vicinity, too, is the forest of ferns which grow as tall as trees and which are used by small farmers as fodder for pigs.

There is a lot to see in the vicinity of the volcano aside from the fire that is belched in the crater. For instance: Stand on the veranda of the Volcano House and one sees at close intervals clouds of steam coming from the cracks in the earth. It is from the underground cauldron-banked in many places is sulphur that has taken on odd shapes, and a pleasure to many who go to the crater is the gathering of specimens of this yellow product. Those who go to the pit in daylight have only to bear to the left of the trail where, under slabs of lava, they will be rewarded by adding to their collection of nature's wonders locks of Pele's hair. This may be found in quantities near where the new road enters the lava. The walk to the crater over the new road is long, but very exhilarating. From the path that winds around the crater one gets a splendid view and is enabled to secure a better idea of the magnitude of the crater and a peep into Kilauwa-ki from the side opposite the hotel. There will be conveyances or horses to take those over the new road who wish to pay the extra toll.

Down on the bank of the crater the thoughts of the pilgrims to this mecca of all tourists will be bent on the here and hereafter. There is plenty in that pit to remind one of the bible, in parts. Men have said it is "morbidly fascinating." It is, to the extent that Honolulu residents have gone to the crater annually for many years, whether there happened to be fire or not. This excursion on Saturday will be providing means to see nature's greatest wonder and the idea of spending the dying minutes of a year on the very brink is worth while. The cost is reasonable and the satisfaction tremendous.

REQUIRE FIREPROOF BUILDINGS.

Montreal, Canada, has adopted by laws by which such buildings as theaters, orphanages, schools with dormitories, hotels, asylums, hospitals and department stores must in future be constructed of fireproof material.

THINKS CUSTOMS MEN NEGLECTFUL

SAN FRANCISCO, December 19.—The special agents of this city are still investigating the scandal in reference to the smuggling of the two hundred cans of opium from the steamer Siberia, a week ago, onto the coal barge, and later the transfer of the opium to Oakland.

It is said that the special agents are working on the theory that some of the customs inspectors are in reality members of the opium ring, and the officials receive bribes to keep their eyes closed when the opium is lowered over the side of the steamers into awaiting boats. Special Agent Tidwell refuses to discuss the result of his investigations so far, but it was learned yesterday that all the special agents of this city have dropped all other work in the attempt to try and locate what officials are guilty of the criminal negligence.

A lengthy report is to be forwarded to the treasury department at once, and it is said that more than one official will later be called up on the carpet and a thorough examination of the affair will be held.

It is generally known around the custom house that several inspectors have been under suspicion for some time, and it is suspected these same inspectors have been in the habit of standing in with the opium ring in this city, receiving from time to time their regular dividends of profits. What makes this argument more convincing to the special agents is the fact that the price of opium has been gradually lowered month by month until today it can be purchased up in Chinatown for $24 a tin.

At one time, when a crusade was first instituted against the opium traffic, the price of opium soared to $40 a tin.

It is also said that a person who carries the opium ashore now only receives $5 a tin for his trouble, while less than a year ago sailors who have been arrested for the crime of smuggling have made confessions in which they have told the court officers they were to be paid $10 a tin for carrying the opium ashore.

Confession Clears Men.

SAN FRANCISCO, December 20.—The recent scandal growing out of the capture by the Oakland police of $5000 worth of smoking opium smuggled into this port on the steamship Siberia and carried to Oakland by Emil Fiedler and David Powers, was investigated yesterday by United States Customs Surveyor Duncan E. McKinlay. The inspectors who were on watch on the Siberia on the night of December 11th were examined by McKinlay in the presence of Special Treasury Agent Tidwell and Customs Agent Smith. The inspectors were Mencke, Crowell, Halliday, Balk, Craigie and Kilemade.

The statements, coupled with a previous examination into the physical conditions surrounding the Siberia at the dock on the night mentioned, convinced the surveyor that none of the inspectors was to blame for the removal of the opium from the vessel. The steamer is 600 feet long and, owing to the darkness that prevailed around the vessel and the coal barge lying alongside, it would have been impossible for the most vigilant officer to have seen the drug transferred from the steamer to the deck of the barge.

There was introduced at the inquiry a confession made to Inspector Joseph Head on December 16 by Emil Fiedler in the Oakland jail. The confession was given only after a very strong appeal by Head, who represented to Fiedler that there was danger of every one of the six inspectors being dismissed from the service in disgrace unless he would make a statement showing how the drug was removed from the vessel. It was to save those men from innocently suffering from the consequences of his act that Fiedler consented to tell all that he knew.

At the close of the investigation Surveyor McKinlay expressed the opinion that no blame should be attached to the inspectors on watch, and that he would recommend that steamers from the Orient should be lighted by electric lights placed on the docks in such a position that all sides of the vessel could be seen clearly by the watchmen at night.

NEW PLAN PROPOSED FOR TRUST CONTROL

WASHINGTON, December 19.—A plan of trust control that would give three complainants the right to institute a joint action in any federal court against an alleged combination and force an investigation by a board of five arbitrators was proposed today by Representative Jackson of Kansas.

Jackson introduced a bill to carry out his plan and outlined his workings in a speech before the House. The Jackson bill would require all corporations doing an interstate business to maintain uniform prices in all localities; would prohibit contracts that compel dealers to handle only one line of goods, and would prohibit banking or financial houses from loaning money to establish a trust or from refusing credit to a rival.

WEDDING CON. GAME IN GOTHAM

NEW YORK, December 19.—A bridegroom, very nervous, and a bride, very diffident, have been getting married frequently of late in various parts of the city to the pecuniary embarrassment of clergymen and to their own advantage. The couple, who, the police say they have good reason to believe, have continued the marriage performance in five boroughs of the city for some time, gave the names of "Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Keller of 247 West Thirty-sixth street."

Rev. W. S. Korney of 33 West Twenty-sixth street complained today that he married Mr. and Mrs. Keller the other day, receiving in payment for a $10 fee a check for $20 on the Greenwich bank. He gave the bridegroom $10 in real money and the check came back marked "no account."

The police are working on the basis that "Mr. and Mrs. Keller" have been married twenty-two times in Manhattan, eleven times in the Bronx, three or four times in Staten Island, a few times in Queens, and, quite appropriately, thirty-five times in the Borough of Churches.

COMEDIAN CHARGES UP

SIXTH AVENUE IN PAJAMAS

NEW YORK, December 12.—Charles Bigelow, the comedian, was arrested early today, charged with intoxication and carrying a concealed weapon. It is not known where Bigelow spent his time after he left the theater, where he is playing a comedy part in "The Kiss Waltz," last night, but at 4 o'clock he was rolling up Sixth avenue, clad in a long coat, a golf cap, suit of pajamas and a pair of shoes. There was a crowd of men following him. He fired one shot into the air just before he was arrested.

Bigelow, when arraigned, denied that the revolver was his, and said someone must have slipped it into his pocket. Magistrate Barlow discharged him.

STATE'S METHOD OF SELLING FRUIT COPIED IN THE EAST.

SACRAMENTO, December 19.—California's method of co-operation in the marketing of fruits is now being copied by the fruit-growers of other states, and even by those of foreign countries. W. D. Bennett, sales manager of the California Fruit Exchange, stated today that a letter has just been received from the Massachusetts Agricultural College asking data on the methods. A few days ago a similar request came from Australia.

"Nova Scotia has a fruit exchange modeled after the California Fruit Exchange," said Bennett "and Maine, Vermont, Virginia and Kansas, to my knowledge, are working to form organizations after the fashion of ours."

$200 FINE FOR MEMBERS OF KANSAS TART PARTY

LINCOLN CENTER, Kas., December 19.—Sherrill Clark and John Schmidt, under conviction for complicity in the tarring of Miss Mary Chamberlain, the Shady Bend school teacher, were sentenced by Judge Grover in the district court today, each being fined $200 and costs. Clark and Schmidt furnished bonds and returned to their homes. The two men were accused, together with A. A. Simms, of being accom-

DECIDES AGAINST ALBERT HORNER

Unless he takes an appeal from the decision of Judge Cooper, rendered yesterday afternoon, it is necessary now for Albert Horner to call at once an annual meeting of the stockholders of Kukaia plantation. Judge Cooper quashed the answer of Albert Horner and Kukaia plantation to the petition filed by Robert Horner for a writ of mandamus ordering his brother to call the meeting.

The fight is for the control of the plantation. Robert Horner, it is understood, wants to turn over his holdings and those of other stockholders to Davies & Co., while Albert Horner is struggling to retain control himself.

children from Moanalua. In charge of one of the teachers they went on board the warship this morning, and were shown over the vessel from one end to the other. Nothing was missed. This is the first opportunity many of the children have had of seeing a real, big ship of war.

The Glacier is still lying at the foot of Fort street. When she will depart has not yet been determined. She is attached to the fleet, and will in all probability proceed back to San Francisco to get fresh stores, and then meet the fleet at some other point, possibly San Diego, whither the five ships proceed from here on or about January 6.

The divers from the West Virginia are still at work on the runway of the marine railway, but what progress they have made has not yet been given out. There will, in all probability, be the usual inquiry on the West Virginia as to how the accident was caused.

The vessels will coal up again after the holidays, and then they will have their bunkers practically full when they leave here for San Diego early next month.

The U. S. N. transport Buffalo left at about half-past six o'clock this morning for Shanghai direct. She pulled out via Diamond Head, taking the Molokai channel. Many people thought that she was returning to San Francisco instead of Shanghai, but the captain evidently had his own ideas of what course he should take.

The Buffalo was formerly the Nitchero, the property of the Brazilian government. She participated in a revolution that took place there in 1894, and passed over to the United States in 1898. She was formerly known as the Brazilian dynamite cruiser, as it was popularly supposed that she carried dynamite guns.

GORDON IS FOUND GUILTY

Kenneth Gordon, aviator, charged with gross cheat, was fined $50 and costs by Judge Monsarrat at 1:35 p. m.

Gordon's offense was passing a worthless check for $15 on John Romaines, manager of the Union Grill. The banking house of Bishop & Co. was behind the prosecution.

Gordon on the stand admitted passing the check but denied intent to defraud. He said that he gave the check thinking that by the time it was presented he would be in funds.

Prosecuting Officer Brown said that he didn't contend that Gordon was a confirmed criminal. In fact from what he could learn he was rather a fine fellow. This little community, however, he said, must be protected from shady check transactions.

Attorney A. L. C. Atkinson defended Gordon with much spirit and strenuously maintained that intent to defraud had not been proved.

Judge Monsarrat adjourned court at noon, asking for more time to review the case.

Attorney Atkinson gave notice of an appeal.

FIFTY FINE FOR LEEPER

In the police court this morning N. D. Leeper, an old offender, was charged with a statutory crime.

Prosecuting Officer Brown asked for a heavy sentence, stating that Leeper had long made a practice of imposing on Hawaiian girls and getting them into trouble.

One of his favorite devices is to invite young girls to eat ice cream with him in a Japanese ice cream parlor.

Judge Monsarrat fined defendant $50 and costs.

BERKELEY BOYS ARE ENTERTAINED

A sociable occasion greatly enjoyed by the guests of honor, judging by their applause, as well as by a goodly number of citizens including Governor Frear, was the smoker tendered by the University Club last night to the members of the Mandolin Club of the University of California.

Clay pipes and baccy and the "makins" of cigarettes were first distributed about the tables. Draught beer and lemonade followed. Kaul's orchestra gave vocal and instrumental music throughout the evening, except that the Kamehameha glee club ably directed by Mr. Cramer sang a few pieces. The visitors appeared to be highly delighted with the native music.

At the conclusion of the regular entertainment Walter F. Dillingham, who was in general charge, introduced Mr. Marchant, who made a great hit in the opera house with his fine baritone, saying he had kindly consented to sing for the company.

Mr. Marchant, accompanying himself on the piano, sang in beautiful style, to heartfelt applause "Mother of Mine," "I Hear You Calling Me" (one of his opera house successes), "A Man's Song" and a requiem.

It was not until 11:30 that the last lingering group dispersed.

IMMIGRATION BOARD HOLDS MEETING

At the meeting of the Territorial Board of Immigration that was held yesterday afternoon, only routine matters were disposed of. The payment of bills was authorized, and some other things received attention.

The proposition to continue to bring in small lots of agricultural laborers from Russia and elsewhere was taken up. It is well known that, from time to time, small parties of Russians and other laborers are coming to Hawaii to join relatives, who already are comfortably settled here.

There are no new developments regarding the Wilkesen immigrants—that is from the Territorial Immigrant station end. It was thought that some of the new arrivals might reach the station by January 1, but that all depends upon circumstances.

FOUR INDICTMENTS.

The Territorial grand jury yesterday afternoon made a partial report to Judge Cooper, returning four true bills, and one no bill. John Robinson and Antonio Matias are indicted on the charge of having assaulted Harry L. Andrews on December 4; J. P. Hussey and Harry Higgins are charged with a crime of desecration. Kato is exonerated from a heinous charge.

REAL ALARM OVER FRUIT FLY IN HAWAII FELT IN CALIFORNIA

From the following article which appeared in the Sacramento Union of December 6, it will be seen that California is thoroughly worked up about the fruit fly in these islands. It is proposed to have the state legislature apply to Congress for funds to fight the pest in Hawaii. The article reads:

Strong resolutions were adopted by the committees on agriculture from both the assembly and the senate yesterday afternoon toward preventing the deadly fruit pest known as the "Mediterranean fly" from entering California from the Hawaiian Islands. Instructions drawn up by State Horticulturist A. J. Cook asking the legislature to memorialize Congress for funds to fight the fly in the islands was quickly acted upon by the committees, which readily saw the evils of the pest gaining a hold in the fruit districts of the state.

To Consult Governor.

The first meeting was held about 2 o'clock and after hearing from the state horticulturist that the only safe method by which the pest could be kept out of the state would be to exterminate it in the islands, the committees authorized Cook to draw up a set of resolutions. The latter were presented and adopted at 5 o'clock and arrangements were discussed for taking the subject of a state appropriation up with Governor Johnson. A meeting between the committees and the Governor on the subject will be held on Friday morning.

There is at present a quarantine on Hawaiian fruits which have been found to be injured by the pests, but Horticulturist Cook declares this alone will not prevent the Mediterranean fly from coming into the state.

"There is always the chance that unscrupulous or careless people will bring the fruit as souvenirs over in their trunks, or in receptacles in which it would be impossible for the inspectors at San Francisco to find them," he declared. "There is only one safeguard for the orchards of the state, and that is to send men and means to the islands to eradicate the pest there."

Immediate Action Needed.

"The Hawaiian people have raised $7500 to fight the fly, but as it bothers only the fruit which constitutes a small part of the shipments from the islands to the United States they are not taking such a keen interest in doing away with the pest as they might. Consequently it is up to us to spend a few thousands to prevent the loss of millions by the orchardists of the state."

The resolutions adopted ask the legislature to memorialize the President and congress to pass the Simmons national fruit quarantine bill, and to include in its provisions that the port of entry and not the point of destination should be the place of inspection and decision.

Horticulturist Cook and the agricultural committees will endeavor to raise at least an equal amount with the Hawaiians to fight the fly pest, and will try to secure as large an appropriation as will be required to forever prevent these Mediterranean fly from reaching the mainland. Vials showing hundreds of the flies discovered in small particles of a large variety of fruits from Hawaii were exhibited to the committee yesterday by Horticulturist Cook, and real alarm was expressed against the pest ever gaining a foothold in this state.

MARCHANT WILL RETURN AND SING

Mr. Marchant told a Star reporter last night that he intended returning to Honolulu before a great while, when, with Miss Withrow, a fine soprano, he will give a concert. All who have heard Mr. Marchant in the University of California Mandolin Club concerts will be delighted with this news. Miss Withrow, who will accompany him from the Coast, is a sister of Miss Evelyn Withrow, the artist now visiting Honolulu with her mother. She is a musician of high repute on the Coast.

Expenses of the anti-mosquito campaign have been brought down to $12,000 a month.

WILSON HOPES AMERICA CAN GROW HER OWN TEA

WASHINGTON, December 11.—"The difference of cost of labor, which would appear to condemn the attempt to establish a tea industry here, does not exist to the extent generally believed."

In discussing the cost of importation of the seed, Secretary Wilson said:

"In establishing a tea plantation there is nothing more important than the selection of the seed, especially when imported. As about only one in every three shipments arrives in good germinating condition, the cost of importation assumes a high figure. When gardens become general in this country the expense of importation will become unnecessary, and even now tea seed gathered from Pinehurst, S. C., costs less than $5 a hundred pounds, as against $50 a hundred pounds for imported seeds."

Of the world's annual consumption, exclusive of the large local use in China, the extent of which can not be determined, amounting to about 700,000,000 pounds, 150,000,000 is produced in China. The recent revolutionary troubles there are bound to interfere to a great extent with this industry and will, in all probability, bring about a readjustment of the tea trade of the world.

While considered a coffee drinking nation, the people of the United States consume annually upward of 100,000,000 pounds of tea, for which $16,000,000 or more are paid. Imports of tea for every fifth year from 1853 to 1908, inclusive, show a general increase in the quantity of tea imported, and it is possible, by establishing a tea industry at home, to greatly increase the consumption, as has been done in Great Britain since tea became a staple of her colonies in the East Indies.

"For its successful growth the tea plant requires a deep, fertile, well drained, friable and easily penetrable loam containing a large quantity of well decomposed organic matter, such as is found in much of the southern territory."

TWO DISTINCT EXPLOSIONS SHATTERED BATTLESHIP MAINE

WASHINGTON, December 14.—President Taft today sent to Congress a brief formal message transmitting the full text of the report of the investigating board which found that the battleship Maine was blown up in Havana Harbor by an external explosion. The board was headed by Admiral Vreeland of the Navy, and included Colonel William M. Black of the corps of engineers of the Army.

It began work on the exposed wreck at Havana on November 20th and found that the injuries to the bottom of the Maine were caused by the explosion of a charge of a low form of explosive exterior to the ship between frames twenty-eight and thirty-one on the port side. This resulted in ignition and exploding the contents of the six-inch reserve magazine.

The more or less complete explosion of the contents of the remaining forward magazines followed.

The board, in its report, emphasized that it found that what is called the port garboard strake—a continuous line of planking running from stem to stern—was "dished upward as much as twenty-four inches from a straight line," that another strake, technically called "C," was displaced "upward and inward for 100 square feet," and that part of the inner bottom plating was "displaced upward," and left approximately six feet above its original position.

The destruction wrought by the two "explosions of distinctly different character" was "found to be much more extensive than had been anticipated." The report, in technical terms, described how plates were crumpled, how some portions of what had once been a great battleship were turned inside out and how parts of the bottom works generally were displaced.

"The debris of one-pounders, six-pounders, six-inch and ten-inch ammunition was found widely scattered through the wreck," the report said. "The location of much of this material bore little relation to its original storage condition. Powder tins were torn asunder or crushed and flattened."

"The condition of the vertical keel and flat keel at frame eighteen was ascribed by the court of inquiry to 1898 to the direct effect of an explosion exterior to the ship in that vicinity."

Because of its better opportunity for a detailed examination of this wreckage, now fully exposed, the present board concluded that the external explosion which ignited the magazines was not in the vicinity of this frame eighteen.

"The protective deck and hull of the ship," the report said, "formed an inclosed chamber, in which the gases were generated and partially expanded before rupture."

The forward portion of the Maine was found pointed to port, nose downward in the mud, and lying on its starboard side. The upper part of that portion of the ship in the vicinity of the forward magazines was swept away. Only about one-half of the bottom was left in position.

The Maine explosion occurred almost fourteen years ago. In that disaster two officers and 264 of her crew perished.

The report, perfunctorily, was ordered printed and referred to the Naval Affairs Committee of the two houses.

BISHOP KENDRICK DEAD, WIFE SERIOUSLY ILL.

LOS ANGELES, December 16.—Death came suddenly today to Right Rev. John Mills Kendrick, Episcopal Bishop of Arizona and New Mexico. The circumstances of his passing are particularly distressing, because Mrs. Kendrick now lies dangerously ill at Oceanside. It is feared she cannot recover. His daughter is also critically ill in Phoenix. Several weeks ago Bishop Kendrick came up from Oceanside to seek medical aid for himself and was taken with apoplexy.

Bishop Kendrick was a veteran of the Civil War, and broke his health in the service of his country. He has done a remarkable work as Bishop of Arizona and New Mexico.

He was seventy-five years of age, a native of Gambier, Ohio. He was admitted to the New York bar in 1855 and entered the Civil War as a first lieutenant of the volunteers in the Thirty-third Ohio Infantry. He resigned a year later because of ill health.

CLOCK NEVER WOUND.

Frederick Bamgarter of New York has made a clock which never has to be wound up. The motive power is furnished by a coil of zinc wire 3000 feet long. Each change of temperature causes this wire either to expand or contract, and the mechanism is so arranged that a change either way will operate to keep the wheels turning.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE AND SENATE RESOLUTION ABROGATING TREATY

WASHINGTON, December 18.—The President in a message to the Senate on the abrogation of the treaty with Russia said:

"By instructions which I caused the Secretary of State to transmit to the American ambassador at St. Petersburg on December 15, 1911, there was given the Imperial Russian government under date of December 17, 1911, official notification on behalf of this government of intention to terminate the treaty of commerce and navigation of December 18, 1832, between the United States and Russia on the expiration of the year commencing on January 1, 1912, the notification contemplated by article 12 of the existing treaty having been embodied in the following note addressed by the ambassador to the minister for foreign affairs:

"Under instruction from my government and in pursuance of the conversation held by the Secretary of State with the Russian ambassador at Washington, I have now the honor to give the Imperial Russian government on behalf of the United States the official notification contemplated by article 12 of the treaty of 1832, whereby the operation of the said treaty will terminate in accordance with its terms on January 1, 1912."

"Your excellency will recall that four years in the last three years fully recognized the fact that this ancient treaty, as is quite natural, is no longer fully responsive in various respects to the needs of the political and material relations of the two countries, which grow constantly more important. The treaty also has given rise, from time to time, to certain controversies equally regretted by both governments."

"In conveying the present formal notification to your excellency I am instructed to express the desire of my government meanwhile to renew the effort to negotiate a modern treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation on a basis more perfectly responsive to interests of both governments."

I am directed by the President, at the same time, to emphasize the great value attached by the government of the United States to the historic relations between the two countries and the desire of my government to spare no effort to make the outcome of the proposed negotiations contribute still further to the strength and cordiality of those relations."

"I avail myself of this occasion to offer to your excellency the renewed assurance of my highest consideration."

I now communicate this action to the Senate as a part of the treaty making power of this government with a view to its ratification and approval.

WILLIAM H. TAFT.

Unanimously Adopted.

WASHINGTON, December 19.—The Senate by a unanimous vote tonight formally ratified President Taft's notification to Russia of the termination of the treaty of 1832. The Lodge Joint resolution, reported by the Foreign Relations Committee as a substitute for the Sulzer resolution that passed the House 300 to 1, was adopted after an all-day debate over Russian discrimination against the Jews of America. The House tomorrow is expected to agree to the Senate measure.

The resolution was adopted at 7:10 p. m. It was introduced for the committee by Lodge of Massachusetts as the measure couched in the language most satisfactory to the Washington administration, which sought to avoid giving offense to the St. Petersburg government. The final action came after two substitutes had been voted down. It was the climax of a notable proceeding in the chamber which guards jealously the traditional powers to make and break treaties. All through the symposium of views, to which many Senators contributed throughout the day, there were citations of historical instances of treaty terminations by executive act.

REPORT OF THE TARIFF BOARD WAS READY WHEN CONGRESS MET

WASHINGTON, December 4.—The tariff board named by President Taft has been holding sessions regularly for some time and had its report ready when Congress met. There have been no public meetings, the board relying for information on the reports of special agents who have visited many countries and on reports from consuls in countries that the special agents have not visited. The members of the tariff board are Thomas W. Page, Alvin H. Sanders, Henry C. Emery, James B. Reynolds and William M. Howard.

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the notice thus given by the President of the United States to the government of the empire of Russia to terminate said treaty in accordance with the terms of the treaty, is hereby adopted and ratified."

A special meeting of the cabinet was convened shortly before eleven o'clock tonight to consider the determination reached by the President. All the members were present except Secretaries Stimson and MacVeagh.

The intention of the president is to notify Russia of the termination of the treaty at the expiration of one year after January 3. Then he will inform the Senate of the step taken and request approval.

The President will go on the assumption that as he must negotiate all treaties and submit them to the Senate for ratification it is likewise within his province to denounce a treaty and request the senate to approve his action. The purpose involves many new and novel points and will precipitate much discussion.

By taking the course indicated, the president will eliminate the House from all participation in the matter. His action will necessitate co-operation only between the President and the Senate. All necessity for perfecting the Sulzer resolution may be nullified by the President's course.

The President indicated his determination to take executive action to force through the Senate tomorrow without modification. Nothing that can be construed as an offense to Russia will be permitted, if the President can help it.

WASHINGTON, December 18.—In his message to the Senate President Taft transmitted a copy of the letter American Ambassador Guild at St. Petersburg had transmitted to the Russian foreign office. In it was expressed the view of the United States that the old treaty no longer met the political principles or commercial needs of the two nations and should be terminated. The American government on a basis more perfectly responsive to interests of both governments.

Every Senator who spoke voiced his advocacy of Congressional action to meet the Russian discrimination. They were unanimous for the termination of the treaty, but showed a wide divergence of views as to the manner in which that should be accomplished. Among those who held conflicting opinions were Senators Shively of Indiana, Poindestexter of Washington, O'Gorman of New York, Stone of Missouri and Williams of Mississippi.

The Lodge Resolution. The resolution presented in the Senate by Lodge reads in part: "Whereas, on the 17th day of December, 1911, the President caused to be delivered to the Imperial Russian government by the American ambassador at St. Petersburg an official notification on behalf of the government of the United States announcing intention to terminate the operation of this treaty upon the expiration of the year commencing on the 1st of January, 1912; and

KNOX PROPOSES REPRISALS AGAINST SOME COUNTRIES

WASHINGTON, December 18.—Secretary Knox has written to Senator Curtis of Kansas a letter giving information compiled by the Government which, in the opinion of Knox, would justify legislation to provide a graduated means of meeting various discriminations by foreign countries against American commerce.

The Senator has framed a bill calculated to meet the situation.

"The problem," Secretary Knox said, "is to provide for the removal, so far as practicable, of such features in the practice of some foreign nations as may be found adverse to our export trade development, and of serious import to those American enterprises directly affected."

Secretary Knox cited some of the more important instances to which the attention of the State Department has been called, "but which properly may not be considered as falling under the classification of 'undue discrimination.'"

Senator Knox's list of countries making discriminations, which, however, he said he did not consider as, properly speaking, "undue," follows in part:

"Belgium—Failure of state railways administration to permit the Continental Petroleum Company of Antwerp, representing a Texas oil exporting concern, to bid for supplying the state railways with lubricating oil of American production."

"Germany—Administrative embargo on American meats, legislation restricting the potato output and so taking the surplus production as to make valueless certain advantages obtained by Americans under contracts with German mines in 1906 and 1909. Export certificate practices, which provide for equivalent of bounties on exports, destructive of American trade in neutral markets; freight rates on state railways much greater east-bound than westbound on the same commodities, materially advantageous to Austria and Russia, as compared with the United States."

"Italy—Manufacturing tax on imported cottonseed oil, distinctively an American commerce."

"Austria-Hungary—Tariff on cottonseed oil, double that applied to any other edible oil with which cottonseed oil competes; unequal and oppressive government measures applied to American investments in Austria respecting conversion of crude oil into refined oil; proposed legislation that would destroy a great part of the American petroleum trade in Europe."

"Bulgaria—Required denaturing of cottonseed oil, when imported, making it unfit for human use."

"Portugal—Practical prohibition of cottonseed oil imports."

"Spain—Imposition of rates on cottonseed oil to rebile the duty applied to competing imports; denaturing of cottonseed oil, when imported."

"Venezuela—Surtax of thirty per cent. ad valorem upon West Indian imports, including Porto Rico, which would seem to be entitled to the same tariff treatment as the states of the Union."

Secretary Knox said the amendment doubtless should originate in the House, and he therefore communicated to the Ways and Means Committee a tentative draft of proposed amendment, which would provide a minimum of five per cent. ad valorem and a maximum of twenty-five per cent, applicable by proclamation when the President is satisfied that "another nation's laws or practices are inimicable to equal opportunity for American enterprise."

HUMPHREY SAYS SHIPPING COMBINE RULES THE WAVES

WASHINGTON, December 18.—Urging before the House rules committee today the adoption of his resolution creating a joint committee to investigate the foreign shipping combine, Representative Humphrey of Washington declared ninety per cent. of the $3,500,000,000 commerce of the United States was carried in foreign ships belonging to pools, combines and conferences.

There was no competition between these vessels, he said, and passenger and freight rates were fixed in advance in Germany.

Rates between the United States and South America, he said, were fixed by agreement in New York.

Further testimony, intended to impeach the veracity of Charles A. White, the former Illinois legislator, who says he was bribed to vote for Senator Lorimer, was introduced today before the Senate investigating committee. John L. Flannigan of East St. Louis, a lawyer and member of the Illinois legislature, denied White's sworn testimony given at a previous hearing in which White declared that Flannigan had declared "it would take a lot of money" to pass certain street railway legislation in Illinois.

"Fabulous capitalization of corporations is the trouble with the business," according to F. W. Kelso, a business man and a economic student of Orange, N. J., who today addressed the Senate interstate commerce committee, which is investigating the "trust" problem.

A special meeting of the cabinet to revise President Taft's wool message will be held in the White House late this afternoon. The message is understood to be short and friends of the President regard it as important.

TAFT BELIEVES THE G. O. P. STILL FIT FOR GOVERNING

NEW YORK, December 19.—President Taft completed here tonight a round of speaking engagements, three in number, in which he touched on peace, politics and Puritanism.

His political speech, scheduled to be the chief address of the evening, was made before the Young Men's Republican Club of Brooklyn, where he told his audience that although there came times "when the old party seems a little weak and staggers from blows received from the inside and out, its principles are strong enough when the issue is drawn to carry on the government."

The President's first speech was made before the Economic Club, where he reiterated his arguments in support of the pending arbitration treaties. From there he was whirled over to a dinner of the New England Society of Brooklyn, before whom he spoke in a humorous vein on his Puritan ancestry.

Until he reached Brooklyn the President had no municipal police protection, with the exception of two bicycle men, who did not join the presidential party until it had left the residence of Henry W. Taft, the President's brother, where he is stopping during his two days in New York.

There was not even a detail of police at the Hotel Astor, where the Economic Club diners held forth, but this was remedied when the President arrived at the two Brooklyn dinners, some one having assigned a considerable squad to duty there.

Before the Economic Club the President had considerable to say about what the senate calls its prerogatives.

Executive Has Advantage. "I like to remind my friends, the senators," he said, "that their powers or prerogatives, or whatever name you may give to the faculties that they get from the Constitution are not any more sacred than is the power of the executive—because the source of the power in each case is the constitution, and, in respect to foreign matters, the executive has the advantage of the senate a little in that the senate can not begin to act until the executive shall say it may."

"In other words the initiative in foreign matters is with the executive."

The President said that if the treaties with England and France could be concluded he had no doubt that they could be made with many nations, "and when we had made them with many other nations then those nations may be induced to make them with each other."

AGAINST TIPPING EVIL.

NEW YORK, December 8.—A campaign against the tipping evil is to be the chief work of the newly organized International Hotel Workers' Union. The union's platform declared for "a living wage for hotel workers," which would render tips unnecessary.

The tipping evil is a relic of patriarchal times," declares a statement by President Paul Velling. He scoffs at the idea that waiters can make fortunes these times, and scores the heavy fines levied by employers on their men. Then he explains the perils of hotel employment. Hotel workers, he says, are more prone to disease than any other workmen except miners. He attributes this condition to the fact that many of them work in overheated rooms, in a smoke-laden and often "alcoholic-saturated" atmosphere. Shorter hours will help alleviate these conditions, he declares, and he advocates a twelve-hour work-day, with one day off each week. Shorter hours of employment and better pay is the solution of the tipping evil, he says.

RESIST CASH OFFERS

TO DIVULGE AGES.

BOSTON, December 8.—Not even for such allurements as a Christmas present of cash and promise of a position will the young women employed by the local telephone company reveal their ages. Recently the directors of the company voted to give the girl switchboard operators a cash present at Christmas, the amount varying according to age. It was announced that this Christmas gift would eventually develop into a pension.

One of the young men secretaries was given the task of tabulating the girls by ages. He began his work among the 150 young women employed in the main office. After a few hours of fruitless questioning he reported to the directors that the task was a hopeless one, as not one of the operators would answer his questions as to the date of her birth. The scheme had therefore been abandoned for the present.

BEGIN THE NEW YEAR WITH THE STAR

A GOOD NEWSPAPER IS A NECESSITY IN THIS AGE. IF YOU HAVE NOT BEEN GETTING THE STAR YOU HAVE NOT BEEN GETTING THE BEST IN THE NEWSPAPER LINE. START THE NEW YEAR RIGHT. DIDN'T YOU OVERLOOK SOME FRIEND ON YOUR CHRISTMAS LIST? A SUBSCRIPTION TO THE GREATER STAR AS A NEW YEAR'S GIFT WOULD GRACEFULLY REMEDY THE OVERSIGHT—AND BE REALLY APPRECIATED. DON'T FORGET WHEN YOU ARE SUBSCRIBING THAT YOU CAN HELP SOME BRIGHT YOUNG WORKER WHO IS ENLISTED IN

THE STAR'S GREAT $3,000 PRIZE CONTEST

YOUR SUBSCRIPTION IS WORTH VOTES TO THE ONE YOU SUBSCRIBE THROUGH. HERE'S WHAT OUR CONTESTANTS ARE WORKING FOR:

FIRST, $750.00 Cash;
SECOND, Fine Building Lot in Kaimuki;
THIRD, Savings Bank Account of $300.00 Cash;
FOURTH, Ticket to Coast & return with pocket money;
FIFTH, Selection of Books, $150.00;
SIXTH, Trip and Week at Volcano;
SEVENTH, Furniture Order, $75.00
EIGHTH, Music Order, $50.00;
NINTH, Hardware Order, $50.00;
TENTH, Jewelry Order, $50.00;

And exclusively for the people of the other islands:

ELEVENTH, Trip from Hilo, Week in Honolulu, and Return;
TWELFTH, Trip from West Hawaii, Week in Honolulu, and Return;
THIRTEENTH, Trip from Maui, Week in Honolulu, and Return;
FOURTEENTH, Trip from Kauai, Week in Honolulu, and Return.

Books as Bonus Prizes

In order that every contest worker may get something for his trouble, no matter how small his effort, the STAR is giving for each 3000 votes turned in, the choice of a beautiful book from a splendid selection of several hundred titles.

These are not cheap books in any sense, but are the same in printing, binding and finish as books for which you pay from $1.25 to $1.50 per volume. Most of the books are by famous authors of modern literature, and in every way are worthy a place in any library.

HOW TO GET THESE BOOKS

Contestants send in their subscriptions in the usual way. They get the usual credit towards one of the "BIG TEN" prizes, but when accumulated votes amount to 3000, you are entitled to one book. There is no limit to the number of books one candidate may secure—every 3000 votes are good for a book. One year's NEW subscription to the DAILY STAR entitles you to a book. This offer opened on November 27th, and votes recorded before that date do not count for books.

SEND FOR THE LIST

The list of these delightful books is too long to be published here, but it will be gladly furnished to anyone sending a request to CONTEST MANAGER, STAR, HONOLULU; or you may find most of the titles in the list which has at different times been printed in the Star's columns.

THE GREAT CONTEST EXPLAINED

The object of this contest is, of course, to increase the circulation of THE GREATER STAR. Having developed the STAR during the past year until it is now the Biggest, Newest, Best Edited newspaper ever printed in Honolulu, the management has determined that every reader of the English language in the Territory shall become acquainted with it. In offering $3000 in prizes (by far the most generous prizes ever offered in any subscription campaign in Hawaii) the STAR expects to get its return in the next year or two in the increased influence it will have attained, and the superior advertising value which its columns will have owing to its great circulation. This is all there is to it.

Our contestants have been nominated by friends, or sent their own names to the CONTEST MANAGER. Every subscription, whether old or new, which they get for any period of time, entitles the one turning in the subscription and money represented by it, to a certain fixed number of votes. At the end of the contest the candidate having the greatest number of votes will get the $750 CASH—the Grand First Prize.

Daily ballot slips printed each day in the Star, count for single votes when cut out, properly filled in, and turned in to the CONTEST DEPARTMENT. Some of the candidates have accumulated a surprising number of votes from these ballots, but of course the big scores are to be made from subscriptions.

Here is the way the subscriptions count in votes—

SCHEDULE OF VOTES IN STAR CONTEST.

Price of—		OLD	Votes Issued on Subscriptions	NEW
1 Months' Subscription	$.75	250 Votes	350 Votes
3 Months' Subscription	2.00	450 Votes	550 Votes
6 Months' Subscription	4.00	1,000 Votes	1,200 Votes
1 Year's Subscription	8.00	2,400 Votes	3,000 Votes
SEMI-WEEKLY STAR.
1 Year's Subscription	$2.00	500 Votes	750 Votes

HERE ARE THE RULES OF THE CONTEST

Rule No. 1—No votes shall be sold, or issued in any way, except as published in The Star or issued for subscriptions.

Rule No. 2—Candidates must make all the entries in the stubs of their subscription receipt books; Oahu candidates should bring their receipt books with them when reporting to the Contest Department; outside candidates should tear the stubs from their books and mail them. Failure to enter dates, etc., correctly in the books will be cause for disqualification.

Rule No. 3—The first reports of candidates must be turned in or mailed to The Star office by Saturday, November 18, and from time to time thereafter as per announcements to be made in The Star. Reports may be made at any time, however, as candidates desire.

Rule No. 4—No employee of The Star is eligible to enter the contest.

Rule No. 5—Votes are not transferable. They go to the candidate who gets the subscriptions, or for whom they are cast. If a candidate withdraws, such candidate's votes are also withdrawn.

CONTEST MANAGEMENT.

The contest is in charge of Mr. Will J. Cooper, commercial editor of The Star. He or his assistants are prepared to answer any question concerning entries, personally or by mail; and will advise prospective contestants, as far as the rules will permit.

HERE ARE THE RULES OF THE CONTESTANTS

Rule No. 6—Nominations of new candidates may be made at any time during the contest, the management reserving the right to reject a nomination.

Rule No. 7—A candidate who makes any other disposition of subscriptions secured than turning them into The Star Office at the times designated for making reports will be disqualified.

Rule No. 8—Candidates on turning in their reports will be given certificates showing the number of votes to which they are entitled.

Rule No. 9—For contestants not on the Island of Oahu a proper allowance of time will be made to give them an equal chance; they must mail their reports or votes by the time Oahu candidates are required to hand them in.

Rule No. 10—Individual ballots, published in The Star every day, must be cast, or mailed, on or before the date of their expiration, as printed on the ballots.

Rule No. 11—No contestant may win more than one prize. Where contestants on Hawaii, Maui, or Kauai win one of the first ten prizes, the special island prize will go to the second candidate in the district.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE AND SENATE RESOLUTION ABROGATING TREATY

ment, with marked courtesy, suggested further that it would be most agreeable to this country if a new treaty could be negotiated to replace the ancient document.

Despite this overture to the Russian government, state department officials tonight practically admitted there is little hope of negotiating a new treaty that would avoid the things that were leading to the renunciation of the old one.

State Department Opinions.
State department officials do not believe the heavy trade between the United States and Russia necessarily would be jeopardized by the abrogation of the treaty, although a tariff war is possible and Russia would have the right to exclude American ships from her ports.

American imports from Russia approximate $14,000,000 a year, principally in hides, wool and skins. The balance of Russian trade in favor of the United States, however, is $21,000,000.

The foreign relations committee was in session nearly three hours today, but the only points discussed were whether the House should be considered in the matter and whether the Senate should act in open session. It was decided to recognize the House by making the resolution ratifying the President's action a joint one, and it further decided to debate the matter in the open. Later in the Senate Senator Heyburn protested against this decision, declaring the matter should be taken up in executive session.

Senator Lodge prepared the resolution of ratification, which the committee approved, and followed the text of the President's note to Russia in the diplomacy of its expressions. There was no suggestion of a violation of treaty pledges as in the House document. State department officials believe the problem presented is insoluble and that the only way Russo-American commerce can be placed upon the treaty basis will be through the complete omission from the new treaty of any matter of residence and travel. This would fail to improve the conditions complained of.

Russian Views Pessimistic.
ST. PETERSBURG, December 19.—Having accepted in an equable spirit the notification of the American ambassador that the treaty of commerce and navigation entered into by the United States and Russia in 1832 would be abrogated on January 1, 1913, officials of the Russian Government are now directing their attention to the question of a new treaty. It is recognized that diplomacy of the most experienced kind will be required, especially on the American side, if negotiations for a new treaty are to proceed satisfactorily.

Agitation in the United States over the passport question and the brief term available for diplomatic action present difficulties to the free and full discussion on the subject.

It is pointed out by Russian officials that the Government's hands are tied by statutes that can not be changed outside of the legislative machinery of the Duma and the Council of the empire, as instituted in 1906. The whole question, in their opinion, seems to be dominated by a misunderstanding of the treaty of 1832, which makes no reference to passports. Article I of this treaty provides for the free entry of all American citizens on the sole condition that they observe the internal laws of the empire. This stipulation is reproduced in all treaties with other powers. Therefore, there has been no question of infringement of the treaty, but actually one of a modification of the internal statutes which can be done only by legislative means.

Involves Other Nations.
Further, it is argued, if the passports involved merely the relations between the United States and Russia, this question might be a matter for diplomatic negotiation. But the Russian statutes having reference to the Jews do not concern American Jews alone, but all foreign Jews. A concession to the United States would mean a concession to all other countries having Jewish subjects. Russia, the officials say, has no wish for a bargain, and they ask "What can America concede to Russia for the abolition of Jewish legislation?"

In responsible quarters the opinion is expressed that the political situation in Russia proper is not favorable to the realization of Jewish hopes. San Francisco Rabbi's Passport Is Turned Down.

LONDON, December 19.—Dr. M. S. Levy of San Francisco is the most recent sufferer in an encounter with the Russian barriers against the admission of Jews. The rabbi is now in London on a world tour, which is to last several months, and he has found that he can not get his passport indorsed in order that he may travel in Russia in the same way as any American citizen not of the Jewish faith.

"The Russian Ambassador told William Phipps, secretary of the American embassy in London, who presented my passport to him to be examined, that he regretted that he was unable to indorse the passport of a Jew," said Dr. Levy. "The Ambassador added that he advised me to telegraph to the Russian Minister of the Interior, setting forth my testimony, and to prepay the reply. I do not think I want to set foot in the detestable, tyrannical country, and certainly I shall not waste a cent in prepaying replies from Russian officials."

"I thought it would be interesting to test the rights of American citizens in Russia, particularly as I have a letter from the State Department, commending me to American officials abroad and written at the request of Congressman Julius Kahn of San Francisco."

TAFT BELIEVES

Special interest attached to the President's speech before the Young Men's Republican Club owing to the organization's recent repudiation of the State leadership of William Barnes Jr., but no reference was made by the President to the situation. The President made his reference to the party's "seeming a little weak" at the outset of his remarks.

"The Republican party has shown itself able, and will show itself able," he continued, "to meet the responsibility thrust upon it. The American people are not going to reject it for something so uncertain, so untried and divergent in its views as is trying to arrest power from it."

Taft Defines Attitude.
"I am not in favor of playing politics for the purpose of putting somebody or some party in a hole," he concluded, raising his voice and gesturing with emphasis. "I am in favor of adopting a policy not to attract voters, but for the purpose of putting the policy on the statutes and enforcing them for the benefit of the country. I do not believe in statesmen for platform purposes, but in statesmen who will put a policy through that will do something for the country, not in those who keep saying that they are going to do it."

"We have a Democratic house and a nominally Republican senate, and I hope I am a Republican executive. I hope we will manage to get some good laws passed, but if not we will have to join issue with the other party and ask the people to allow us to show that we still have the capacity to do the best there is for the country."

Congressman Willis of Ohio said the people of Ohio would "stand shoulder to shoulder" for the renomination of the President.

LIFE ON IRRIGATED FARM IS NOT A BED OF ROSES

WASHINGTON, December 19.—Life on a Government irrigation farm is not the bed of roses which many picture it to be, Director Newell of the reclamation service points out in a paper prepared by him for the Smithsonian Institution.

"This awakening to the fact that irrigation has its thorny side," he declares, "some times comes as a startling shock sufficient to discourage all but the most enthusiastic, and the more faint-hearted seek farther for the promised land."

"Those who remain soon learn that success must be secured by subduing the soil, getting it in good condition, applying water day and night, and perhaps all night, wading around in the mud, or enduring the heat of the long days of brilliant sunshine and the accompanying dust of the arid regions, the troubles with neighbors over division of water, the possible seepage followed by crop losses or ruin from alkali. As a consequence a considerable part of the first settlers on every irrigation system sell out or relinquish their homesteads and seek other fields."

So there was another side to the pretty pictures Director Newell displayed on the screen in Honolulu, showing visions of opulence on the irrigated farms of the Northwest and Southwest.

DANCE OUT THE OLD YEAR.

The management of Haleiwa Hotel will entertain his guests by a dance on New Year's eve. There will be good music, a bright moon and a good time. Week-end at Haleiwa is all that could be desired and they are immensely popular in consequence. There will be a splendid dinner on New Year's day, golfing on the links and tennis in the courts. Those who wish can enjoy the excellent beach and good water in old ocean. If you contemplate going out of town for the holiday secure accommodations at Haleiwa before it is too late.

MRS. STETSON DECLARES
SHE IS TEACHING GENUINE
CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LIFE.

NEW YORK, November 18.—Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, who is accused by some members of the Christian Science church of trying to have herself recognized as the head of the organization and the successor of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, has issued a statement denying that she has any such intention. She wishes to reassert, she says, "the spiritual fact of scientific being that Mary Baker Eddy is the forever leader of genuine Christian Scientists." But Mrs. Stetson says she has discerned in the church materialism which opposes "the teaching and practice of genuine Christian Science," and that every day she is called upon "to uplift the faith and hope of some Christian Scientists who do not understand the present attitude of those by whom the reverse of Mrs. Eddy's teaching seems to be entertained."

PHILIPPINE ARMY POTATO FARM.

The experimental potato farm of the army subsistence department established and operated at Camp Vicars, P. I., is a failure, and it has been abandoned, although the first crop of potatoes raised was of excellent quality and flavor. In the initial stages of the operation of this farm the commanding general of the division considered the enterprise of the subsistence department of raising potatoes for the troops in the division had so far succeeded as to warrant measures to place the farm on a more permanent basis, and with a view to avoid delays and interruption placed it directly under the control of the chief commissary of the division, with Lieutenant J. M. Walling, Third Infantry, in charge of the work as superintendent, responsible for the equipment, animals and buildings, as well as the work. Among the principal causes for the unsatisfactory results obtained were the unsuitability of seed potatoes to the ground, and the soil itself was poor on account of the constant raising of rice (which requires the same constituents for its growth as potatoes do, both being starchy and needing fertilization), and the coag and tule grass roots choked and poisoned the potatoes, making it necessary to get rid of the roots. It is something of a disappointment to the subsistence officers that the farm has not been a success. It was intended not only as a source of supply for those vegetables to the army in the Philippines, but as a demonstration of the ability to raise potatoes in the islands.—From the Army and Navy Register.

HAPPINESS CUT SHORT.

NEW YORK, December 8.—Childhood sweethearts in Germany, but by circumstances prevented from being married until a few months ago, a Williamsburg couple were preparing last night to receive a few friends for a birthday celebration when suddenly their home became a house of mourning. The husband, Bernard Koch, sixty-five years old, was stricken with heart disease and his wife, Catherine, two years younger, died from the shock a few minutes after his attack ended fatally.

ANXIETY IS FELT FOR EMPEROR FRANZ JOSEPH

BERLIN, December 19.—Dispatches from Vienna betray anxiety over the condition of Emperor Francis Joseph, though it is still officially declared that his ailment is merely a bad case of catarrh. It is reported, however, that the emperor recently has shown extreme weariness.

Jones had just run over to see if Mr. and Mrs. Blank would go to the theater with them. Blank was out. Probably he was at the club. Mrs. Blank would telephone. The following conversation ensued: Halloo! Is this the — club? Is my husband there? Halloo! Not there? Sure? Well, all right, then; but hold on. How do you know? I haven't even told my name. "There ain't nobody's husband here—never," was the wise attendant's reply.
