YUAN SHIH KAI RESIGNS PREMIERSHIP

LIVELY WORK CHARACTERIZES THE CAMPAIGN

When seen at noon today Governor Frear gave out the following statement regarding the yellow fever situation:

"All the trees at the infected tract have been cut down and barbed wire fencing is being put up as quickly as possible. A powerful electric light is being installed in the center of the tract, so that all will be bright in the night time. The guards will be able to see everything within the fenced inclosure, and the light will be of great assistance.

"The solitary patient at quarantine island is doing well I hear, and there can be no more cases till next Tuesday, at the earliest. Dr. Currie, who is in charge of the mosquito campaign, called on me this morning and had a talk over the situation."

A tract of land, seventeen hundred by twelve hundred feet, will be enclosed by a ten-strand barbed wire fence. The posts will be seven feet high, and the wires stretched at intervals of eight inches or so from near the ground to the top. A couple of hundred coils of the barbed wire have been ordered by the Board of Health Department, and it is being put up as rapidly as possible.

In many places it will not be necessary to put up posts, as the algaroba trees that are growing in line can be used to fasten the wire to.

The Kalihl Boys' Home is being fumigated today, and the job is a thorough one. Chief Inspector Charles is working night and day at Kalihl, and he thinks that by this evening all the heavy work of cutting down vegetation and carting it away will be finished.

Dr. Currie is being rapidly established in his headquarters in the Judiciary building. Judge Dole's old court is being fumigated as an office, and the mosquito campaign will be conducted from there. If necessary, United States District Attorney Breckons' old office will be added to the suite of Dr. Currie.

Desks and other office furniture are being put in, and Dr. Currie's secretary, John A. Kluge, is busy looking after things. The office will be the center of news for some time to come.

On Sunday morning five hundred men will meet outside the office of Dr. Currie. Fifty non-commissioned officers will also be on hand. Each officer will have a squad of ten men to look after. Forty-eight districts have been arranged for, and as there are fifty squads, two squads will be reserved for emergency work.

Taft Stock Low; Sugar Tariff Safe

That President Taft will not be re-elected and that the sugar tariff will not be disturbed are the two principal convictions upon public questions entertained by Carl S. Smith, attorney, who has long been prominent in Republican politics of both the island and the Territory. As Mr. Smith returned in the Wilhelmina this week from an extended pleasure tour with his family on the mainland, his views on national affairs are at this time creditable with more than usual weight.

CARL S. SMITH.

"I have been gone four months, entirely for pleasure," said Mr. Smith to a Star reporter this morning, "no business connected with my trip at all. I have visited all portions of California from Oroville to Los Angeles. From there I went over to Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Utah, and thence to Arizona, where I spent several weeks.

"The only subject that I found everyone was willing to discuss was politics. To particularize, the people considered Taft the most important topic, progressivism the next and the tariff third.

"I heard nothing that would indicate to me that Taft has the slightest hope in a single one of the Coast states. In California I did not find a single man who was enthusiastic for Taft, and very few who would vote for him."

"Except among the railroad men, a good many of whom I met, the people favor progressivism and a majority of them very strongly favor Wilson as a candidate for President. A noticeable thing about this is that old-line Republicans have forgotten their party affiliations. There was rather lukewarm feeling in favor of La Follette, although a strong predilection for all of his policies.

"Roosevelt is a name you never hear mentioned except as an interesting character in past history.

"The tariff question was the one most interesting to me. I studied it as well as I could by talking to people who spoke intelligently upon the question.

"Everyone wants a reduction of the wool schedule, and the only difference seemed to be as to the amount of the reduction. This has led me to the conclusion that the change of the wool schedule, or any other schedule, is due entirely to the demand of the consumer.

"Acting upon this, I started out to find where sugar stood, inquiring of all classes of people, from the woman who is putting up canned stuff to one of the Utah senators. If there had been any general demand for a reduction (Continued on Page Eight)

SHANGHAI PEACEABLY OCCUPIED

The imperialist army is in a growing state of mutiny and sections of it well armed and supplied, are daily deserting to the enemy. The division in Shikhan have killed their general, the governor of the province and about a thousand Manchus. All authority in the empire is losing its grip. At Hankow the imperial troops are beyond control and peace negotiations are likely to be hindered.

Strong Sanitary Brigade To Assemble on Monday

The matter of arranging for a guard to be maintained for some weeks around the Kalihl district where the case of yellow fever was discovered has been turned over to the citizens' committee. It is possible that arrangements will be made to have this guard detailed from the military service.

At the meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock it is expected to have a report presented by Dr. Currie on the perfecting of a plan for handling the different sections of the city.

Tomorrow it is hoped that sectional maps will be ready to be placed in the hands of the non-commissioned officers. They are expected to assemble to receive their instructions from Dr. Currie on Sunday, and on Monday it is planned to open the campaign in earnest. If there is no hitch in these plans, volunteers will be called for to meet some time on Sunday and offer automobile transportation for carrying the non-commissioned officers to their stations, where they will make reconnaissance surveys of the sections of the city assigned to them, and be able to report back on Monday the number of men required to perform the work in each section.

The direction of this work, as reported yesterday, as well as the general direction of the campaign, will be in the hands of Dr. Currie.

The details of raising finances are now being considered in a general way, but, as before reported, nothing definite will be done on this until the plans have been completed and the estimated cost of carrying out the plans has been determined. The estimates of cost are being worked on by Dr. Pratt, E. A. Mott-Smith and the sanitary engineers.

Tonight a meeting for the Hawaiian will be held at the Kaunakakai church on King street, Palama.

There will also be a meeting for the purpose of enlightening the Porto Rican residents on the subject, which will be addressed by Dr. Carl Ramus, chief quarantine officer. This will be held at Lusitania Hall, tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock, under the auspices of the Punchbowl Improvement Club. J. M. Camara will interpret Dr. Ramus' remarks to the audience.

Tenders for furnishing all labor and material, excepting structural steel, for reconstructing the Judiciary building, are invited by the superintendent of public works. They will close at noon of December 1.

Point of Law Which May Release Murderers Serving Federal Sentences

Anderson Grace, the notorious negro murderer, who has just been delivered to the Fort Leavenworth (Kas.) penitentiary to serve a life sentence, will doubtless gain his liberty, and John Wynne, another local life-terminer, may possibly be set free, if a law point be sustained which has been raised by Attorneys A. L. C. Atkinson and Chas. F. Chillingworth, questioning the jurisdiction of the federal courts over crimes committed in Hawaii on military reservations. The case on which the point has been raised is a minor larceny case of a Japanese named Mitsuanga, charged with theft committed at Leilehua, but the possible results from its determination are large.

The territorial grand jury will have to indict, and the local courts assume the trial of John McMahon, the Schofield Barracks slayer of A. N. Cedarlof, in case Atkinson and Chillingworth can carry their point.

District Attorney Breckons stated this morning that the question is one that has never been passed upon, and one which will have very important results, provided it should be decided against the government.

The question is one which could not have arisen except in a Territory of the United States since the law is clear with regard to the states. Military reservations in the states are placed under the judicial control of the federal government by special acts of the state legislatures, otherwise the constitutional rights of states to legal jurisdiction over all lands within their borders could not be circumvented. Atkinson and Chas. F. Chillingworth, tend that the same thing applies to the Territory of Hawaii, which by its Organic Act is given legal jurisdiction in connection with crimes committed within its borders. The Territory has never, by legislative act, excepted this authority as to military reservations, and consequently, it will be contended, still possesses it and the federal courts have no jurisdiction.

Anderson Grace confessed to a brutal murder committed on the reservation at Pearl Harbor, and was sentenced by the federal district court to life imprisonment. If the point re-

Powers of Board of Health For Abating of Nuisances

(From the New Health Law.)

Section 997. Whenever any member of the Board of Health, or its agents, shall deem it necessary for the preservation of the lives or health of the public to enter any land, building or vessel for the purpose of examining into, abating, destroying, removing or preventing any nuisance, source of foul or noxious odors, gases or vapors, water in which mosquito larvae breed, source of filth, or cause of sickness or disease, or other thing detrimental to the public health, and shall be refused such entry, such member or agent may make complaint to the district magistrate in whose district such nuisance, source, place, or cause is, and such district magistrate may thereupon issue a warrant, directed to any sheriff, deputy sheriff or police officer of said district, commanding him to take, sufficient aid, and being accompanied by such member of said board or agent, between the hours of sunrise and sunset, to repair to the place described in said complaint, and to abate, destroy, remove or prevent, under the directions of such member or agent, such nuisance, source or cause."

Section 1000. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this Chapter, or who shall violate any order made by said Board in pursuance of the provisions of this Chapter, shall, upon conviction, be fined not more than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00), and the court may, in its discretion, order the defendant, under the supervision of said Board or its agent, to carry out at his own expense the provisions of order violated, and no appeal shall suspend or affect such order pending the appeal.

Complaints have recently been made that various property owners have been obstructing the mosquito and sanitary inspectors of the Board of Health in the discharge of their duty, even to the extent of forbidding their entrance upon premises, No prosecutions have yet been reported of these offenders. Despite the fact that the Territorial laws would seem to provide a quick and sure remedy. The foregoing sections of the Revised Laws as amended by the last legislature are quoted for information and warning.

MIKADO'S BIRTHDAY BEING CELEBRATED

His Imperial Japanese Majesty Mutsuhito completes today his fifty-ninth year of life, and in honor of his birthday flags of all nations are flying from the buildings of the city, the flag of Dai Nippon, of course, predominating. All the principal Japanese business houses are closed, as well as the Yokohama Specie Bank. Japanese of all classes have thrown off the cares of business and are giving themselves wholly up to celebrating the natal day of their emperor.

This morning 1500 Japanese students assembled in the hall above Consul General Uyeno's office and sang the Japanese national anthem, as they call it, the "Kim Gaiyo."

Following this exercise, the consul general gave a reception and Japanese men and women thronged his rooms to offer, through him, their congratulations to the Mikado.

From ten o'clock in the morning until about four o'clock this afternoon the students of the Kakaako Primary School and the Nuuanu High School celebrate the day by a series of games and sports at Athletic and Ania parks.

At about 8:40 this evening large quantities of fireworks will be set off on Punchbowl, and this feature of the celebration will continue for about an hour.

The celebration will culminate tonight in a grand reception and ball at the Young Hotel, to which prominent people of all nationalities have been invited. Governor Frear, General and Mrs. Macomb and Admiral and Mrs. Cowles will be with Consul General Uyeno in the receiving line. The Royal Hawaiian band and Kaai's band will be in attendance at the reception and ball.

Dr. Mackall On Poi Shops

Dr. Bruce McV. Mackall, who leaves for the Coast next Wednesday to take up his permanent residence, made a deposition in Judge Whitney's court this morning in reference to the closing of the poi factories last March, during the time of the cholera epidemic. He deposed that he never believed that the poi shops had any connection with the disease, but that they were closed because of the pressure of the Board of Health. Dr. Mackall was city and county physician at the time, and he was virtually forced to resign when it was found that certain poi factories had been permitted by him to resume business without the sanction of the board. The case for which the doctor's testimony is taken, is one of those in which the Chinese poi factory owners are suing the city for damages, caused by the closing order.

MORE POACHERS ARE ARRESTED

W. Mélékule, Joe Rainey, Sebastian Rainey and Kawika have been arrested on a warrant sworn to by Harry von Holt for poaching on the lands of the Oahu Railroad & Land Co. at upper Honolulu.

Defendants were hunting wild pigs. The police department was notified about 2 p. m. that there was a crazy man making trouble at the house of one Souza in Maunaloa valley.

Officers have been sent to investigate the matter.

Court Chairs Are Seatless

There was nearly a tragedy in the police court this morning.

One of the famous bottomless chairs somehow got transferred from the reporters' row to the witness stand, and a diminutive witness, in sitting down thereon, nearly went through the gaping void, and recovered himself with difficulty.

The police court chairs are a scandal and a shame. When used by the heavyweight lawyers and other big men there is little danger of accident, but one of these days a skinny specimen of genus homo will go through a seatless frame and sustain injury which will give him abundant ground for a damage suit against the county.

KAIMUKI IMPROVEMENT CLUB PLANS BIG SANITATION RALLY

The sanitation committee of the Waiata, Kaimuki and Palolo Improvement Club met last night at the residence of Harry T. Mills.

After a lengthy discussion and exchange of notes on sanitary matters it was decided to hold a rally of residents of the district at the end of the car-line on Sunday morning at 7:30 o'clock.

With this in view the following circular is being sent out:

"Dear Sir: If you are seriously interested in the campaign of sanitation and cleanliness now under way in this city, and we feel sure you must be, please attend at the club's headquarters near the end of the Kaimuki carline, on Sunday next, November 5, at 7:30 o'clock, in your old clothes, of course.

"It is intended to make a block survey of the district, with special reference to vacant, swampy and mosquito-breeding lots and places, for the purpose of making an immediate report to the Board of Health and Citizens' Committee, of conditions needing attention.

"The mosquito must go and it will, if we get after it in earnest. This is a matter of community interest and we ask your immediate help.

"Come early!

"THE COMMITTEE OF TEN.
(Sanitation.)

"Daniel Logan, president."

There will be a meeting of the above committee tomorrow at 12:30 p. m. in the offices of H. T. Mills, Kaahumanu street.

FIRST COUNT IN TWO WEEKS

There will probably be some surprises when the first count is published, on November 18, in the subscription contest. There will be much interest in seeing which of the candidates has made the best start. The candidate who leads, will, of course, gain prestige by virtue of the lead.

During the next two weeks there is going to be a lot of hustling on the part of all the contestants, in order that they may make a good showing on the first count.

Tomorrow is the day for mails from the other islands and there will be reports from Maui and Hawaii.

Both islands have some active hustlers, but it is not known yet how much work they have done.

Contestants are reminded that it will pay them to talk up the enlarged Star. Get copies of it and show them to people who don't get it—they are likely to want it when they see it.

The Star is going to improve some more. It is going to be a paper that everyone who is up to date will have to have. It has kept its promises of improvement and enlargement and it will still keep them.

Hayne Again In The Toils

Under the name of James D. Hallen, but with a string of aliases, the man once well-known in Honolulu as Julien D. Hayne was lately again brought to justice in New York, this time for forgery. The former occasion was in 1877, when A. F. Judd and W. T. Rawlins, then students at Yale, gave evidence identifying him as the Hayne of Honolulu fame and thus showing him up as an impostor. He was convicted and served time.

Hayne was a great self-advertiser under more or less false pretenses, as well as a political adventurer, in Honolulu in P. G. times. Once he starred in an amateur dramatic performance of an Irish comedy at the Hawaiian Opera House, announcing himself as the author of "The Isle of Champagne." This pretension of playwright distinction was promptly punctured by someone connected with The Star and in this paper, which made Julien a sad man and, if recollection serves rightly, was the first jolt to the Hayne underpinning administered here. His acting on the stage was barely mediocre, his legs in knee breeches making the chief hit.

Early in his sojourn Hayne was accorded the signal distinction of being made a guest of the Social Science Association, and while being lionized at the meeting he attended he was assured that he might expect to be invited to fill the first vacancy in its limited and exclusive membership. He made a good whack at establishing himself in public favor by giving a dinner to the local press at the leading hotel.

He started The Hawaiian, a very presentable-looking and good-sized monthly, writing the greater part of its contents himself. It was opposed to the Dole government and venomously anti-missionary, and for the few numbers it lasted was meat and drink to the entire push of malcontents. Hayne had a slashing and not ungraceful style, yet was much overrated as a writer by his admirers. An experienced critic would have sized him up as one who would soon write himself out.

Hayne had a gift of the gab for a dozen. There was a wordy duel on the Hawaiian Hotel lanai one night between him and the surgeon of the U. S. flagship Philadelphia, in which religion as well as American-Hawaiian politics figured, and it was memorable to all members of the group that heard it. This conversational bout was afterward referred to by Hayne in The Hawaiian, where he solemnly called a local editor to witness that he had, on the occasion, confronted his antagonist with a certain statement that he seemed to consider unanswerable.

How, or in just what circumstances, Hayne faded out of Hawaii is not remembered, but certainly he did not leave with the prestige of a man of some account which he had attained at the apogee of his advent.

Following is the account of his latest arrest, from the New York World of October 14:

"James D. Hallen, alias Don Josie de Harrara, alias Charles E. Thompson, alias C. E. Lord, debarred lawyer, ex-preacher, ex-convict, revolution monger and soldier of fortune, could not restrain a smile today in Jefferson Market Court when Magistrate Freschi held him in $1000 bail for examination next Friday on a charge of passing a worthless check of $29.85 on Brooks Brothers, from whom on last Saturday he bought a suit of clothes and an overcoat, a pair of pajamas and a dress suit case. John W. Block, a jeweler at No. 11 Maiden lane, who was on hand to press a similar charge, involving a check of $164 which Hallen gave for a diamond ring, was lost in the shuffle, and left the court without an opportunity to press his charge.

"Hallen was arrested last night at the fashionable boarding-house, No. 108 West Eighth street, where he posed as a broker. He was at dinner with the other guests and wore evening clothes. His wife, a handsome, titian haired young Jersey school-marm, whom he married two years ago, without having told her a single word of his remarkable criminal career, was in decolette.

A World's Search.

"At police headquarters this morning, the few survivors of the Byrnes regime thought they were seeing ghosts when Hallen suddenly confronted them. Remarkable Captain 'Jack' Dunn was so badly rattled that it took him some time to recall the remarkable chase around the world after the man, begun in 1893 and ending in 1898, when Detective Sergeant McNaught and Cuff arrested him at Addison, N. Y., on a charge of having forged a mortgage by means of which he swindled Mrs. Sarah Caldwell out of $16,500. The chase began just after he had been saved, by the statute of limitations, from standing trial on eleven indictments for swindling other of his clients.

"The chase ranged across the ocean to England, back to New York, to Jamaica, to Panama, to Lima, Peru, where he posed as a coffee planter; to the island of Tahiti, where he made a pilgrimage to the home of Robert Louis Stevenson; from Samoa to Japan, to China, to South West Africa, where he posed as a Methodist missionary, and thence back to the Hotel St. Denis, where he hid all through the fall and winter of 1897, before going to Addison, N. Y., to his brother's farm, where he was finally arrested.

Half a Dozen Wives.

"Hallen scorned legal assistance at his trial, and drew upon his own experience as a lawyer in defending himself. During the course of the trial a half dozen women turned up, each claiming to have been married to him, each charging that he had swindled her. To most of them he was known as John D. Hayne, and his marriages ranged from Vermont to Florida. He was convicted, and on January 5, 1899, was sent away for eight years. In 1900 he was discharged.

"No sooner out of prison than Hallen was working a new way. He got into the good graces of the Nicaraguan government and sold to Raimon Echazarreta boxes alleged to contain 1,100,000 cartridges. He got $11,000 for the boxes, but when they were opened at Bluefields, Nicaragua, they were found to contain copper junk.

"In March of this year Hallen was arrested in Washington, charged with an attempt to steal papers which would have betrayed the plan of the Mexican revolutionists. But, he managed to beat this case, as he had beaten the one of swindling the Zelaya government.

Proud of Legal Lore.

"In court the only concern of this remarkable man who, during his flight from the New York detectives, had hobnobbed with Queen Liliuokalani and drank tea with an African potentate, was that his young wife, whose tear-stained eyes did not mar her beauty, should not retain one of the many lawyers who practise there. 'Tell her,' he said, 'that I have forgotten more law than they will ever know, and I'll take care of this misunderstanding myself.'

"The young woman, whom he married two years ago, refused to reveal her identity, and didn't care what her husband's record was; 'I don't care what he's done—I love him, and will stand by him,' she vowed.

"Hallen finally did get a lawyer, but did all the talking: 'With the court's indulgence, I should like to confer with my lawyer, and then we may consent to an adjournment,' he pleaded. His urbane manner, his air of deference, had its effect and when the conference was over he declared, as though he was conferring a favor, that he was willing that the case should be put over."

A Family Medicine Without Alcohol

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a tonic and alterative, free from alcohol. What is a "tonic"? A medicine that imparts strength or tone; a medicine that builds up, gives vigor and power. What is an "alterative"? A medicine that alters or changes unhealthy action to healthy action. Ayer's Sarsaparilla does all this without stimulation. Ask your doctor if a family medicine, like Ayer's Sarsaparilla, is not vastly better without alcohol than with it.

POOR CROWD WITNESSED NOVICE BOXING CONTESTS AT ORPHEUM

The amateur boxing bouts at the Orpheum last night were good as far as they went, but two events on the program were cut out owing to the non-appearance of the principals.

The house was about one-third full. No one came in from Schofield Barracks for some reason or other.

The arrangements were good and those who took in the show seemed to be satisfied with the goods that were delivered.

Wright of the Marines, and Prince of the Second Infantry, went three poor rounds, the latter gaining an easy decision. The men are featherweights.

Jim Coope of the U. S. S. Navajo won from Ralph Trier of the Marines. This was in the 135-pound class. Coope was willing but clumsy. At that he kept his opponent breaking ground. Trier came with a rattle in the third, but the rally came too late.

Another lightweight bout was that between Frank Kronk of the Engineers and Theo. Miller of the Second Infantry. The latter caught the judges' eyes after an extra round had been fought. The bout was a good one, but both boys were too tired to go the route.

A Live Contest.

Jim McGrath of the Second Infantry, and Eddie McGuire of the Engineers, put up a good scrap in the welterweight division. Both fought hard, and an extra round had to be boxed before the judges could pick a winner, whom they found in McGrath. There was as much action in these four rounds as is often witnessed in a fifteen-round go.

McGuire had the honors of the first two rounds. The third was all McGrath's, who came up very fresh. In the fourth round even work was done.

In the opinion of many good judges McGrath was entitled to the decision. McGuire's backers want to match their man against McGrath over a longer distance.

The officials last night were: Referee, Mike Paton; Judges, Lester Petrie, V. L. Stevenson, L. Reddington.

Geo. Freeth Gone Away

George Freeth, the well-known swimmer and diver, left for Los Angeles on the S. S. W. H. Herrin last night. The Herrin goes to Caviti.

Freeth returned to Hawaii a year ago and has been working at Watertown ever since.

Before coming back he held a position with the life-saving service at Venice and he will endeavor to get his old job back.

The games of the Oahu Junior Baseball League scheduled for next Sunday will be played at the Moiliili ball park. The Muhocks and Aulas will hook up at 1:30, and the second game be between the Asahis and Palamas.

The Palamas and Beretania indoor baseball teams play a game tonight.

WELLS-WOLGAST BATTLE WOULD HAVE BEEN IMPORTANT BOUT

The news that there is no chance of Ad Wolgast and Matt Wells meeting was a disappointment to many local lovers of boxing who were eagerly looking forward to news of the contest which was to have taken place in New York over a ten-round course tonight.

It would have been one of the most important matches of recent years, and on it a world's championship hinged.

The fact that both men are champions in their class and that they are conceded to be most evenly matched and that the contest would have been an international one added extraordinary interest to the bout and would have marked it as perhaps the most notable of the New York season.

Wells has carried all before him since coming to the States and is proclaimed to be one of the shiftest boxers in the world.

Wolgast has shown, of late at least, that he is a lightweight champion, in every sense of the term worthy of the name.

The bout was to have taken place at the Madison Athletic Club for a purse of $15,000. The men were to have weighed in at 135 pounds at five o'clock on the day of the contest.

According to yesterday's cable, Manager Jones said that Wolgast would never meet Wells as the latter's terms were unreasonable.

At this distance it looks as if Mr. Jones doesn't want to take any chances of being connected with an ex-champion.

It is Wolgast to whom the stigma of being unreasonable and dictatorial in the matter of terms has been liberally applied in the past and when his manager complains of this trait in another it is surely a case of the pot calling the kettle black.

IS BOXING RETURNING TO FAVOR

Physical Culture: There seems to be an inclination in many of the states to return boxing to favor. A recent law has been passed in New York which enables clubs to hold boxing exhibitions. This is as it should be. Boxing is a splendid sport. It is a manly exercise. It eliminates the savagery that is a part of the mental attitude associated with dueling in former days. In the dueling days, if your feelings were hurt, it was your duty to immediately thereafter demand a meeting in which one or more human lives were liable to be sacrificed. It was the spirit of boxing that eliminated this sort of enormity.

In those sections where the use of the gun is prevalent, but little is known of boxing. The athlete and the dirk cannot withstand the influence that is exerted by this splendid sport. If you want to make a real, sturdy, vigorous man out of your boy, teach him how to box. It will add courage, vigor and vitality to his organism. It will give him a splendid supply of the fighting instinct which is so badly needed in this strenuous age, if one is to become truly successful.

Certainly the old evils of commercialism which has ever proved the most persistent obstacles to sport may be in evidence in the professional boxing game. It is really the first duty of those public officials who are invested with proper authority to suppress the exploitation of the act ive participants in this sport by heartless and mercenary grafters masquerading as managers. To prevent the overcrowding of public halls devoted to such contests, and to see that there is no overcharging and extortion of the public, are matters also within the province of individuals or commissions having boxing exhibitions under their control.

Above all, the bettering evil demands utter suppression. Boxing is a sport which can stand on its merits, and can maintain public interest without the glamor of gambling, which, un-suppressed, will wreck the ruin of any sport, as witness horse racing. On the other hand, the game of baseball has attained its popularity and present standing solely because of its comparative freedom from gambling. In itself, boxing tends toward the mental and physical improvement of those interested in it. Automobile races in which lives are lost and serious injuries often result seem to call for no adverse criticism. Flying machines are now paying a fearful toll in loss of lives, but no effort is being made to stop the advancement of this important science, and to my mind physical manhood of unusual character is of far more importance to the race than it results that may be achieved through flying or automobilism. And as a means of building superior physical manhood, boxing is so much above and beyond the two sports mentioned that no comparison need be made.

CURRENT NATIONAL POLITICS.

If Champ Clark is a serious candidate for the Presidency he is promoting a public attitude towards his aspirations which is far from serious.

The American people are not of the sort to run amuck in their quadrennial elections and they make a joke of any man who seeks their support for President by claptrap methods. And Champ Clark, from his days of yellow journalism on, has indulged in more grotesque and fantastic humbug than any other leading Democrat, and is judged accordingly. As a nominee for President he could not be sure of even a solid South.

In fact, to name such a man for the Presidency would inevitably be an act of suicide for the party to blame. No man whose platform is a war with the British Empire—which is what the annexation of Canada would mean—need expect to head the ticket of a sane political organization. And for Clark to propose such a measure after Canada has registered so strong an imperialist vote, is simply to prove himself the wild and untamable gander of national politics.

The morning cable report, which gave the news of Speaker Clark's had break also contained a suggestive interview with Mr. Bryan, who is not so sure that there is going to be a Democratic Ansterlitz. Things look bright to him, but, he says, they have looked quite as bright before. The vicissitudes of his own political career teach him that the Republican party has the habit of sleeping late and then rising when the alarm clock rings, refreshed and ready, quite able to master the situation.

The interview with Mr. Bryan also enables Republicans to note that, "if a Republican is to be elected," the Democratic leader prefers Senator La Follette. A half-Democrat is better than none at all; but the Republicans naturally have a different point of view. Mr. Bryan's choice, now it is known, will help show Republicans what to avoid.

HAWAII'S STAR CRIMINAL.

Julien D. Hayne, ex-while editor of The Hawaiian, an organ of the native party, is again in the toils for passing a worthless check. Mr. Hayne, or Hallen, or Thompson, or Lord or Don Jose de Herrara—for he has many aliases—came here in 1893 and soon fledged out as one of the bitterest of foes of responsible government. Naturally he became one of the gods of aboriginal idolatry. Yet no man was ever known in Hawaii who had so long and so varied a career of villainy. There is no rogue's gallery in the world that lacks his picture; no especially adept piece of crime is committed which, if the author is not known, does not suggest the need of finding where Julien Hayne was when the act was done. He has been often and long in prison.

But whatever of variety appeared in Hayne's career here, he was consistent in one thing and that was his opposition to "missionary" or responsible government. Nothing grieved his sensitive soul so much as the spectacle of the missionary "pilfering" the natives' lands which he couldn't get at himself. In his magazine, which was sent to members of Congress, at Royalist expense, he demonstrated that there could be no official honesty here unless complete local self-government gave "the people of the soil" the right to rule. It seems almost a pity, from one point of view, that he was so soon captured by the mainland police, for he might be invaluable now as an emissary to Washington.

As usual Mr. Hayne, alias anything you please, turns up as the husband of another wife. Wives, especially wives with means, are one of his specialties, in gaining whom he has been most fertile and graceful in expedient.

DESTROYERS OVERRATED.

Mr. Taft's good opinion of torpedo destroyers is not altogether shared by those who have observed their war-trials. Since these boats were invented, they have done little or nothing to justify their existence, save only in the first Japanese night-attack on Port Arthur. Lately in the Italian-Turkish war, the first thing the Italian cruisers did was to pick off the enemy's destroyers at long range. A torpedo boat or destroyer must get close to an enemy to do harm, and in these days of search-lights and accurate gun practice, their chances of making a hit are very small. When far from the point where they can discharge a missile they are under fire and when hit they are broken like eggshells. The Spanish destroyers, Pluton and Terror, which came out of Santiago with Cervera's fleet, were sent to the bottom by a few shots from the little Mayflower. In the China-Japan war the lone Yoshino made quick work of a whole flotilla of hostile torpedo craft. Ten years later, in the great battle of Tsushima Straits, torpedo destroyers do not seem to have cut a figure on either side; nor did they compare in destructiveness, in the whole course of the war, after Port Arthur, with floating mines. In fact, the only Russian sea success was the sinking, by a floating mine, of a Japanese battleship.

It may be that a cloud of destroyers has a certain moral effect, but that could be exceeded by a few submarines.

JURIES AND JUDGES.

The farcical nature of the jury system where every intelligent man has one or the other opinion in a much disputed case and where the search is for twelve men of no opinion about it, is illustrated in the continued exhaustion of venires at Los Angeles. Of course a full jury will be had in time but only Omnipotence knows what it will be like, intellectually or morally. Probably its opinion on any grave matter will not be worth the tally-sheet used in collecting it—a condition, since mixed juries came in which is familiar enough to Hawaii.

The jury system has antiquity and past usefulness to commend it, but, influenced by the modern newspaper, good jury material has become scarce while the rest, which does not read newspapers, is ignorant. Hence the practical impossibility of getting a just jury for a case which, like that of McNamara, has had vast publicity.

In cases like this the nearest approach to justice would come of a board of qualified judges, without jury assistance—the type of cold, impartial men, not subject to recall, who deal solely with the law and the facts.

The Poet Philosopher

"I have a kick coming," the chronic grinch said; then bricks were hurled around his sore head. The pushers and boosters were tired of his game, and all those blithe roosters jumped onto his frame. They rolled him and churned him until full of ache, and then at last burned him alive at the stake. Perhaps they were hasty—some critics may say their course wasn't tasty or quite refreshingly. But what makes men sicker, when starting a boom, than seeing some kicker come reeling with gloom, to file his objections and utter his roar, and spring recollections of booms gone before? And what can be rougher on temper and soul, than hearing some duffer, who worships his roll, object to all measures, to croakings give vent, and balk at all pleasures that cost him a cent? To you, who are spurning the Boosterville sports, because of their burning a grinch, one retort: Some method of slaughter is needed for jays who're throwing cold water on things all their days.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

REV. STEPHEN DESHA—The Republican party will never win another victory in these islands.

J. M. DOWSETT—I do not think that the animal quarantine station in this city should be used as a mule or horse market.

JUDGE CARL SMITH—We had a great time while we were away. One incident was a long excursion on the cold ridge of the Sierras in a pack train.

DR. ELLIOT—The new stock quarantine will be a great help to ship-pers of animals to Hilo. The site is the best possible one, and the station will be well fitted out.

PADDY RYAN—The decisions given at the amateur boxing bouts last night, were all correct. If I had been referee, alone, of the last fight of the evening, I would have given the same decision as the three judges did.

ENTOMOLOGIST EHRHORN—Two rooks which have been cleaned of all mud and earth are safe enough to ship to other ports. Our department however, has the power to stop such shipments should any disease, such as the Pili came one, appear in the soil here.

COUNTY ENGINEER GERE—The Frog lane improvement can't be put through readily if the property owners come through right. It would be a decided betterment of the property of most of them, but where it takes a man's home away entirely, as in one instance, of course compensation is necessary.

FRANK S. DODGE—John Smith is off his base. None of the shack property along the Kaimuki road from the baseball ground to Waiolae belongs to the Bishop estate. We own the Japanese school lot on the makai side of King street and the rice land on the mauka side of Beretania street adjoining the McCully tract. We own Matsumoto's store but it is not a shack but a substantial building. Nothing more belongs to the estate until you come to Huiatse, Peck & Co's stonecrafter.

been going around the city, the following statement, made by Dr. Currie at the citizens' meeting yesterday, will be read with interest:

"There are four physicians in this city who have had experience in yellow fever, Dr. Ramus, Dr. Hobdy, Dr. Kennedy and myself, and each of these men examined the guard Ahupoko and pronounced the case yellow fever."

Dr. Currie further stated, anent the rumors here that there was no yellow fever in town, that in New Orleans after five hundred persons had died from the disease, there were scores of persons who still maintained that there was no such disease in the city.

HUNT COYOTES IN AUTOMOBILE

The experience of an automobile in the West and Southwest is much different from what it is in the East, according to F. H. Stephenson of Dallas, Texas, who has just returned to that state after spending several weeks at the Franklin factory at Syracuse, N. Y., preparatory to becoming a salesman and demonstrator for the Franklin Motor Car Company of Dallas. Automobile drivers in Texas, Mr. Stephenson says, are often characterized by the rough and ready Western spirit and drive accordingly.

"One of the principal sports down in my country," said he, "is hunting coyotes by automobile. You go out on the prairie with your car and stir up a coyote and start after him. They can go 'some,' but the prairie is smooth except for prairie dog holes, and these do not bother an automobile, although they will throw a horse and break his leg.

"You keep your car right after the coyote, and while, a great many times, you may get close enough to shoot anese school lot on the makai side of King street and the rice land on the mauka side of Beretania street adjoining the McCully tract. We own Matsumoto's store but it is not a shack but a substantial building. Nothing more belongs to the estate until you come to Huiatse, Peck & Co's stonecrafter.

CAPTAIN MORSE—For the six years that the American-Hawaiian steamers have been running to the isthmus of Tehuantepec, Mexico, there has not been a case of yellow fever among our employees, although we have an average of 126 men working there every day. The officers of the steamers tell me that they seldom find a mosquito aboard while they are at Salina Cruz, and only occasionally encounter them in the town. The place has been made sanitary in every way.

C. G. BOURIS—The sense of individual responsibility in Honolulu is lacking and I don't believe it is possible to create it. Most people here sit back and wait for some authority to do their cleaning up for them, which results, under our present system, in it not being done. The only solution is to have an iron-clad federal commission step in and take charge, and then things will be done. Talking about mosquitoes, I'm going to bring in a gallon of water from a pond in the middle of the race track at Kaplanai Park, and display it some place as an example of official inefficiency. That little pond has existed to my knowledge for three years, and breeds mosquitoes by the million. It has been pointed out to inspectors time and again but it always belongs in some other fellow's bailiwick and never gets attended to.

John Wynne's case is a little different, his crime having been committed on a vessel in the harbor of Honolulu, but he might also gain his freedom in the same way. From a legal standpoint, the murderer is one which will doubtless attract much interest among the local legal fraternity.

him, it is a lot of fun to keep right after him, turn when he turns, and see if you can run him down. They are quick little fellows, and it is quite a job to follow one when he begins to dodge.

"Automobiles in Texas are given some pretty hard service. A part of the Santa Fe railroad is being built across the state now and the engineers are using a number of Franklin cars. They drive them over piles of dirt and over the new roadbed and make the cars take them everywhere they want to go.

"One reason why cars are driven so much and so hard in our country is that there are such long level stretches, and we often have to go where there are no railroads. We do not have the hills that they have in the East."

Inasmuch as there is no arrangement between the Postoffice Department and the Bureau of Posts of the Philippine Islands for special delivery treatment of mail matter bearing special delivery stamps, postmasters are informed that they should not give such treatment to matter received from the Philippine Islands bearing special delivery stamps of that service and that they should advise the public that matter dispatched from the United States bearing special delivery stamps of this department will not be accorded special treatment in the islands.

TOBACCO TRUST SCHEME WHICH IS WORRYING THE GOVERNMENT

In the following dispatch will be seen the plan of reorganization of the Tobacco Trust, which is giving the government much worry, according to cablegrams of the past few days. On Thursday last the government filed in court its answer to the trusts' petition, in which answer doubt was expressed that the scheme would restore competition. Then on Tuesday Attorney General Wickesham is shown to be extremely anxious over the matter, urging the necessity for reorganizing the tobacco combine to prevent "a national calamity."

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The American Tobacco Company's plan of reorganization was filed today with the clerk of the United States Circuit Court. In addition to outlining the previously published plan of disintegration of the corporation and its subsidiaries pray for an extension of sixty days, or until March 1, 1912, for perfecting the reorganization, ask for modification plan for other relief "should unforeseen difficulties arise in the execution of said plan," and petition for an order enjoining all persons from interfering in any way with the carrying out of the plan. The American Tobacco Company and other defendants to the suit join the petition, with the exception of the Imperial Tobacco Company (of Great Britain and Ireland), Limited; the United Cigar Stores Company and R. P. Richardson, Jr., & Co. The petition is signed by W. Fuller, Lewis Cass Ledyard, Delancy Nicoll and Junius Parker, counsel for the petitioners. Attached thereto is an affidavit of James B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco Company, testifying to the truth of the statements made in the petition and schedules and exhibits submitted therewith.

Separate petitions remain yet to be filed by the Imperial Tobacco Company, Limited, and United Cigar Stores Company, which are represented by separate counsel. R. P. Richardson, Jr., & Co., who have joined the independents in fighting the plan, also are represented by separate counsel.

Control of the Concerns.
A schedule purporting to show the control of the reorganized companies was submitted with the petition. Under the head "Relative ownership of the voting stock held by the twenty-nine individual defendants in the aggregate—both from what they own and what they will receive from the carrying out of this plan—and the public," the exhibit recites:

Voting stock.	By stock owned.	By stock owned by others.
American Tobacco Co., 35.16	64.84
Liggett & Meyers Co., 40.76	59.24
P. Lorillard Co., 40.76	59.24
American Snuff Co., 38.65	61.35
Geo. W. Helme Co., 28.49	71.51
Wayman Co., 28.49	71.51
Conley, Foll & Co., 33.88	66.12
Johnson Tinfoll & Metal Co., 33.73	66.27
MacAndrews & Forbes, 39.77	60.23
J. S. Young Co., 43.87	56.13
B. J. Reynolds Co., 37.53	62.47
United Cigar Stores Co., 37.65	62.35
British-American Co., 34.46	65.54
Porto Rican A. T. Co., 45.31	54.69

Plan of integration.
The fact of the old companies doing business under the wing of the trust, the petition states, will be as follows:

The Conley Tinfoll Company will be divided into two companies, having no interest whatsoever one in the other and neither in a dominant position in respect to the tinfol business.

The florice business, done and controlled by MacAndrews & Forbes Company, will be divided into two entirely independent companies.

The American Snuff Company will be dissolved and its business disintegrated. The American Cigar Company will be disintegrated and it will have no dominant position in any branch of the cigar business.

The business of the American Snuff Company will be divided among three companies independent of the others.

Domination Given Up.

As for domination of the new concerns by the American Tobacco Company, the petition says that under the plan the trust will have surrendered all interest in and control over the tinfol, florice and snuff industries; will have severed all relations with the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, the Porto Rican-American Tobacco Company, the British-American Tobacco Company, Limited, and the Imperial Tobacco Company, Limited, and the United Cigar Stores Company. All covenants with the British concerns named forbidding them from extending their business into America and all agreements not to engage in the tobacco business, made by the vendors and others here, will be terminated, leaving them free to engage in competition.

The annual meeting of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, which was to have begun next Monday, has been postponed, as stated briefly yesterday, on account of the fact that some of the leading members and officers are busily engaged at present in carrying out the mosquito campaign just inaugurated. The association will be convened later by call of the president.

SEALED TENDERS.

SEALED TENDERS will be received by the Superintendent of Public Works until 12 m. of Friday, December 1, 1911, for furnishing all labor and material (other than structural steel) for RECONSTRUCTING THE JUDICIARY BUILDING, HONOLULU.

Plans, specifications and proposal blanks are on file in the office of the Superintendent of Public Works, Capitol Building.

The Superintendent reserves the right to reject any or all tenders.
MARSTON CAMPBELL,
Superintendent of Public Works.

A BENEFACTOR OF RUBBER GROWERS

The history of a cultivated Para rubber tree cannot be written beyond a certain point from actual observation. In the Botanical Garden, Singapore, there are to be found some of the oldest cultivated trees in the world. They have been nursed with extreme care, and their records have been kept as accurately as the temperature of a distinguished fever patient. They have been tapped in every conceivable way, and the yield of each has been analysed and weighed so that their custodians can tell you what each has done under many different conditions. Their record is open to anyone who will take the trouble to study the volumes of the Agricultural Bulletin. No one who has seen these trees and read these bulletins, or who knows the extent to which the Singapore Gardens have been a source from which supplies of the best seeds have been drawn, can fail to acknowledge the immense debt of gratitude that the rubber industry owes to H. M. Ridley. This gentleman, we believe, has never held a rubber company share in his life and he refuses to make money in any of the innumerable ways that are open to an expert of his unchallengeable reputation. He is a scientist of the best type. Sometimes, one can make him tell, with a grim smile, of the time when he was regarded as "Mad Ridley," a crank and a nuisance because he insisted on the importance of rubber cultivation, and begged men of business to put their money and energy into it for the sake of the country. Others began the experiments and some abandoned them, but Ridley has been a devoted foster parent. The industry could not repay him if it would, and probably there are only a few who really know all that he has done, for he has seldom troubled himself to smash the claims of shallow pretenders, though recently he had to give the true story of the introduction of Hevea Brasiliensis into Malaya from official records, in order to correct some preposterous stories in which the pioneers of the industry were ignored.—Straits Settlements Exchange.

Food Commissioner Blanchard is working, at present, on drugs obtained from the various stores of the city. He is making tests of the drugs, and any below standard will be made the basis for prosecutions of the offending druggists.

Poi is also taking up the time of the commissioner, and he is working on the food with a view of ascertaining how much moisture is contained in the stuff. Seventy per cent moisture is allowable, and at least thirty per cent of the food should be solids.

In many cases the moisture runs up far higher than the prescribed percentage, and in those cases, the vendors are prosecuted.

Considerable fight is being put up in connection with some of the cases that are being brought up by Blanchard, and he is determined to see the matter out to a finish.

Next week Blanchard will start out on a personal inspection of the dairies of the city. Milk samples will be taken and the whole matter will be looked into.

TWO ISLAND PRINCESSES

Two of the island princesses that will ride in the picturesque pa'u section at the next Floral Parade have been named. Oahu will be represented by Miss Irma Wodehouse, while Miss Mary Mahoe will ride for Moikai.

The news that Miss Wodehouse is to be Oahu's princess will be welcomed. A splendid rider, she will be in every way a fitting princess. Miss Wodehouse is the granddaughter of the former British commissioner, J. H. Wodehouse, and daughter of J. H. Wodehouse. She is recognized as one of Honolulu's best riders, is a beautiful and accomplished girl and will give distinction to the section.

Miss Mary Mahoe, who has been named the Moikai princess, is also a clever rider. She is the daughter of Judge Mahoe.

Hawaii, Maui and Kauai will all name their princesses within a short time, and Miss Rose Davison, who is in charge of the pa'u riders' section, feels that this division will be more successful than ever before. The same colors will be worn as in previous years, each island being represented by its distinctive colors.

Miss Davison is already hard at work, and her part of the parade is as far advanced as any other section, and farther than most.

STOCKS SLUMPING DOWN THE LINE

Prices of local stocks continue to sag. While there have been no heavy breaks, almost all show the effects of the general depression. It is perhaps significant that the miscellaneous industrials, outside of sugar stocks, while not particularly active, still do not show the general weakness of the market. A number of these have lately shown substantial advances, particularly Hawaiian Pineapple, while Brewery and Hilo Railroad common are also in this class.

The sales reported today were not heavy nor of much importance. Waialua sold for 114, a drop from last sale of 117 1/2. Paia, which for some time has been holding for 175, was today offered for 170, while 165 was bid. Ewa lost two points since yesterday. Oahu was offered at two points lower than yesterday. Panahau was also offered at 23 1/4, two points less than yesterday's asking price.

The chrysanthemum is being used very much just now in decoration. It is noticeable how much finer the cultivated ones are, than those we had a few years ago.

The development of this flower from the time the first wild plants were found in the northern hills of China to the cultivated ones exhibited in flower shows today, seems almost incredible. These same inferior varieties still grow wild in China and Japan, and one can scarcely believe their relation to the fine specimens which occupy prominent places in florists' windows.

The Japanese are responsible for much of this development, having two hundred and sixty-nine distinct varieties.

The petals of the flower were considered a medicine, at one time, and today, if you were to step into the chrysanthemum exhibition at Tokio, you would be offered a cup of chrysanthemum tea.

The Japanese love the eccentric, fantastic shapes of plants and in developing the chrysanthemum have produced many fanciful blossoms, rather than the very large varieties which florists from Seattle to San Francisco seem to have succeeded in producing best. The Japanese have also succeeded in producing hundreds of blossoms on a single stem.

The chrysanthemum is not the national flower of Japan, although the sixteen petaled chrysanthemum is one of the emblems of the Imperial house.

If we were in Tokio today we might go to Dango-zaka and see the most beautiful flower show imaginable. Walking up the inclined walk we would see potted chrysanthemums (planted and trained in most fantastic shapes, and a solid mass of blossoms). There are bicycles, automobiles, junks, men, women, balloons, houses and every conceivable object, each made of a single plant trained to grow in the peculiar design. We might walk until we were tired and not see two plants of colors alike, and yet be immensely interested in each.

After passing these potted plants we should arrive at long platforms elevated like stairs. Here we should find a new world pictured in cut flowers. Mountains, valleys, hills, water, sun, and snow are perfectly represented with millions of tiny chrysanthemums.

Imagine seeing men, women, warriors and animals so deftly arranged of flowers, that you have to examine again and again to believe that it is only of cut flowers.

Historical scenes are so faithfully pictured that parents take their children to teach them history. In the center of this flower show is a little flower theater. In the center of the stage swaying on a pivot is an old fashioned oriental boat. As it turns we discover a forlorn maiden of chrysanthemums looking for her lover. As the boat turns further we see the chrysanthemum lover coming up in his row boat to greet his lady; the angry father, appears clad in chrysanthemums and there is trouble, tears and a compromise. When everything seems to have been settled the sides of the vessel open and stretch out for walls, the roof rises, a score of flower men and women are on the stage and in an instant a thousand electric lights burst forth in a canopy of wisteria which was thrown over the entire audience when the boat opened.

There is no more unique or more beautiful sight in the world, and all made with a few chrysanthemums and bamboo sticks.

Admiral and Mrs. Cowles have leased the Osborne home on Wilder avenue and will occupy it during the absence of Reverend and Mrs. Osborne.

Miss Lydia McStocker was hostess yesterday to the Luncheon Club. Her table of polished wood reflected a big cut glass bowl, which had been placed in the center of the table and filled with the faintest shades of asters, white, pale pink and pale lavender. Small branches of asters were scattered about the table.

The guests of honor were Miss Helen Rockwell and Mrs. Gerald Johnson. Those present, besides the guests of honor and the hostess, were Mrs. Gayler, Mrs. Pratt, Mrs. Roy Francis Smith, Mrs. Ross Kingsbury, Miss Cowles, Miss Kathryn Stephens, Miss Alice Cooper and Miss McStocker.

Reverend and Mrs. Osborne leave here on the Mongolia on the 13th on a trip around the world. They will visit Japan and China, and get to India in time for the Durbar. They expect to reach England in May, and return to Honolulu in about a year.

Mrs. Elliott, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ross Kingsbury, expects to return to California by the transport Logan. Mrs. Elliott has been very much of a favorite ever since her arrival. Many functions have been given in her honor, and it is regretted that her stay has been so short.

The Women's Society of Central Union church gave a luncheon at the Colonial yesterday to which eighty ladies were seated. The real purpose of the meeting was to have an expression of the sentiment of those present as to whether a week-day class in Bible study were desired. Mrs. Gilmore, Dr. Scudder, Mrs. Soper, Mrs. A. all gave short talks. Rev. Mr. Ebersole was called upon to address the meeting. He stated the desire of many ladies to attend such a class, and that if he were to have charge he should plan the work on non-sectarian and non-doctrinal lines respecting all truth, whether in the Bible or out of it, and conduct the class so that orthodox and heterodox would be equally welcome to ask questions or give opinions.

Such a class will be welcome to many thinking women of the community who are seeking after truth.

Of the eighty ladies present, sixty signed cards of membership and others are expected to do so.

The class will meet in the C. U. parish house each Thursday morning.

Those who partook of the luncheon yesterday were: Mrs. Angus, Mrs. C. Andrews, Mrs. Frank Atherton, Mrs. A. L. Andrews, Mrs. Ed Benner, Mrs. W. A. Bowen, Mrs. Baldwin, Mrs. Spencer Bowen, Mrs. Fred Bush, Mrs. Brown, Miss Roshier, Mrs. Rodge, Mrs. Church, Miss Juliette Cooke, Miss Cooke, Mrs. C. H. O. Smith, Mrs. Tarleton, Mrs. V. Thrum, Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Webster, Mrs. W. L. Whitney, Mrs. H. H. Williams and Mrs. Young.

The Herzer concert given last night at the Opera House was a great success. The audience was composed of fashionable and music-loving people of Honolulu.

Mrs. Herzer was at the best and never pleased an audience more than she did last night. Mrs. Lindsay, in her solo from the Cavalleria Rusticana, sang well. Reynold McGrew, whose reputation as a soloist is established, sang the Neopolitan Boat Song.

Miss Fairweather made a successful debut, and it is predicted that we shall hear more of Miss Fairweather's work in the future.

MYSTIFYING.

Mr. and Mrs. Herzer are responsible in a great measure for the musical taste of Honolulu. It is regretted that they are to leave so soon.

Haleiwa will have one of its popular moonlight dances on the lanai Saturday evening. Many of the Lihue crowd are planning to attend.

LAU KIT INDICTED

Lau Kit, lately a clerk in Wichman's jewelry store, was arraigned this morning in the Circuit Court to answer the indictment returned against him yesterday afternoon by the Territorial grand jury, charging him with stealing $1096 worth of jewelry from his employers. He had no attorney and his case went over until November for plea. Judge Cooper fixed bond at $1000, which has not yet been given.

A FINANCIAL GENIUS.

"How did Rev. Mr. Goodman succeed in raising funds for repairing his church?"

"He hit upon a very clever scheme. Realizing that most of the members of his congregation were feeling the slump in business, and knowing that it would be impossible to induce them to subscribe to a rebuilding fund, he took the cushions from the pews and rented them out for the use of his parishioners at the baseball games. The result is that in addition to the money that will be needed to enlarge and repair the church, he has enough to pay off all the outstanding debts."

—Judge.

THE NATURAL THING.

"There," cried Jonathan to a newly arrived Irishman, as he waved his hand in the direction of the Horse-shoe Falls at Niagara. "There, now, isn't it wonderful?"

"Wonderful? What's wonderful about that?"

"Why, to see all that water come thundering over those rocks."

"Faith then, to tell ye the honest truth," was the response, "O! can't see anything so wonderful about that. What is thir to prevent it from comin' over?"—Housekeeper

Session of Supervisors

Action of the health committee in notifying the Board of Health that the municipal authorities would assist in the present sanitary campaign was approved by the Board of Supervisors last night.

November estimates for road work in Honolulu district amounting to $11,500 were passed. Specific work consists of Kahala road, $115; Kailua valley, $170; Nuuanu avenue widening, $3000.

John Lucas wrote asking that the deal with him for land for road purposes in Kaimuki be carried out without further delay. Engineer Gere said there was a misunderstanding about the identity of the lot in question, and the matter was referred to him for a definite report.

To the engineer and the road committee was referred the matter of Makiki stream and culverts, wherein mosquitoes were reported as breeding.

An offer of the Bishop estate of a school site at Watertown, under a five-year lease for one dollar, was accepted.

The C. M. Cooke Estate, Ltd., offered the board twenty-five square feet of land at Beretania and Nuuanu avenues, the former Commercial Hotel site, to make more room for street car operation. It is intended by the estate to erect a business structure on the site.

CULLOM, WEARY, QUITS ILLINOIS

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Convinced of the hopelessness of the task of bringing any sort of harmony out of the present Republican situation in Illinois, United States Senator Cullom today packed his trunk in Springfield and started for Washington.

Whether he will be a candidate for re-election Senator Cullom will not decide definitely until he has returned to the National capital and discussed the matter with friends.

That the venerable Senator is not hankering for the place he admits. He says that he has no desire to enter into a bitter fight to retain the toga. If, however, the people of Illinois want him to remain where he is he will do so, but the Senator makes it quite plain that he does not intend to make a knock-down-and-drag-out fight to obtain re-election.

FISHES EASILY SCARED.

New York Sun: Since the day the aquarium was opened it has been necessary to guard the fishes there against being frightened by thoughtless or careless visitors. People walking along the tanks might rap on the glass with a newspaper to start up a fish that was lying motionless, or a woman might touch the glass with a fan to point out some beautiful fish that had awakened her admiration; either motion would be likely to scare the fishes mightily, for in the depths whence they came, while they may be pursued by enemies of their own kind, they don't see strange giant figures appearing in the water and seeming to strike at them.

Thus scared in a tank a fish may race about and dash its head against a wall and do itself an injury that might result in death.

Within recent years there has been less frightening of the fishes; many visitors come more than once, and among these there are many who know the danger and who tell their friends, so that there is less tapping on the glasses now than there was when the aquarium was new and people didn't know. But it is necessary still to keep a lookout; and one day last week this danger sprang up from an unexpected quarter.

A vendor of toy balloons crossing Battery Park and observing the many people going in to see the fishes thought that this would be a good place to halt. Soon at the aquarium's door he had sold many balloons to people passing out or in who bought them for their children.

On this occasion it was noted that a number of fishes in tanks here and there were darting about excitedly and coincidentally there was observed in the aquarium the unusual spectacle of a dozen or twenty toy balloons held up here and there by as many children, and that made the source of the fishes' excitement very simple; some of the children were holding their balloons too near the tanks or were touching the glasses with them.

Attendants went about and cautioned the parents and so lessened the danger within, while outside the vendor was politely but firmly warned to keep any more balloons from coming in. And then gradually those inside disappeared as the visitors went away, and so that danger was past.

GETS DRUNKER AS GETS OLDER

John Silva finds that his years interfere with his drinking. At least that is what he told Judge Monsarrat this morning when called to face a charge of drunkenness.

Defendant pleaded guilty and said: "Your honor, the older I get the easier I get full. I know that I oughtn't to, but I do. I don't mean to get drunk, but I find myself drunk almost before I know it, and it's very annoying. I have a sick wife home, and she sent me to get some medicine. I worried about her till I got purple, and instead of getting the medicine I got drunk and got locked up."

"How many times have you been convicted for drunkenness?" queried the prosecution.

"I couldn't tell; and that's a fact," replied defendant. "I know I did wrong, but there were exaggerating circumstances, and I beg that the court may take them into consideration."

Prosecuting Officer Brown said that in view of the rare and original hard luck story that defendant had told he hadn't the nerve to ask for anything more than a suspension of sentence for thirteen months, which was done.

"I'm much obliged to everybody," said Silva, with a sweeping bow as he proceeded to pull down his ball money.

"Never mind the thanks," exclaimed Brown; "actions speak louder than words."

tion of the sugar schedule I would have heard it, for the refined product is at the highest rate that it has been at for years, and the canning season is on, and the talk is all toward a reduction of the tariff generally.

"Notwithstanding these facts, I gained a distinct impression that there is no general demand for a reduction of the tariff on sugar."

"I was entertained at the University Club in Salt Lake City and there met a number of Utah beet sugar men. I found them very much alive and apparently well posted on all matters pertaining to their interests. Everyone assured me that a change in the sugar schedule could come up only in one way, and that was through the Democratic leaders in the lower house. They pointed out that the South has never been more united since the Civil War, and a suggestion by Mr. Underwood, or any other Southern Democratic leader, for a reduction in the tariff on sugar would be tantamount to an alarm of political war."

"The South is standing together now as never before. Whatever else happens, Southern lumber, rice, sugar, cotton and iron must remain where they are. If any gentleman from the North should suggest a reduction in any one of the Southern products, his suggestion would certainly be chortled in committee."

"One of the most interesting features of the discussion with the people whom I met was the fact that everyone seemed to know that the Sugar Trust is working zealously for a reduction of the sugar schedule, and this seemed to be enough for the ordinary voter."

"The first time that I gained the impression that any considerable number of people wanted a reduction of the sugar was on my return to Honolulu, where I read the interviews with Mr. Tenney and Mr. Cooke."

To Get Rid of Mosquitoes

(Prepared by authority of the Board of Health.)

YOU ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE MOSQUITOES IN YOUR OWN HOME AND ON YOUR PREMISES.

Read the following carefully, and not only read it, but act upon it:

1. Mosquitoes breed only in water; usually fresh, standing water in artificial places.

2. Some of the places where mosquitoes breed are the following: Cess pools, privy vaults, house gutters, tin cans, bottles, or any containers that hold water.

3. Mosquitoes occur in the vicinity in which they breed. Invasions from long distances are exceptional.

4. The young mosquito "wriggler" lives in water at least ten or twelve days.

5. Although wrigglers live in water, they must come frequently to the surface to breathe.

6. Oil on the surface of the water prevents the wriggler from breathing.

7. Destroy the breeding places and you will destroy the mosquitoes.

8. Empty the water from all tubs, buckets, cans, flower pots, vases, watering troughs, etc., once every four or five days. Clean out your house gutters weekly and see that they have sufficient down pipes to carry off the water and that the gutters have sufficient fall so that there will be no standing water. It would be better to have no gutters.

9. Fill in or drain all pools, ditches, canals, or excavations.

10. Change regularly every four or five days all water needed in chicken yards, kennels, or troughs for watering stock.

11. Treat with coal oil all standing water which cannot be screened or drained (1 oz. of oil will cover 15 square feet of surface). The oil does not affect the water for use if the water is drawn from below. If the area is too large to oil or cannot be drained, put mosquito fish (top minnows) in it.

12. Put wire netting over cisterns, wells, and tanks of water in every-day use.

13. Places in which it is undesirable to place oil may be kept free of the wrigglers by putting in mosquito or gold fish.

14. See that the plumbing about the place is in perfect order. Prevent leakage of pipes or clogging of gutters.

15. Inspect all cesspools; see that they have tight covers and that the vent is screened. Oil privy vaults at least every four days.

16. Clean away all weeds, grass, hono-hono, and bushes about ditches, ponds, and other possible breeding places, since they afford a hiding place for the adult mosquitoes.

17. Clean up vacant lots and back yards of all cans, tins, bottles and rubbish. Trim and cut away all excess foliage.

18. First do away with or treat all places where mosquitoes are known to breed, and then begin work on places where they might breed.

19. As a citizen of your community you should feel a personal responsibility for the destruction of the mosquitoes in your district and seek to cooperate with your neighbors in the work of doing away with breeding places. Inspect and treat with coal oil, gutters, culverts, ditches, man-holes, catch basins, etc., along the street.

20. Where oil is applied to standing water, it must be distributed evenly over the surface and the entire surface covered.

21. Houses should be cleared of all winged mosquitoes by burning insect powder. The mosquitoes will fall to the floor and should be collected and burned.

22. Do not depend upon oiling alone to do away with mosquitoes; destroy breeding places, drain away all standing water. Do permanent work as far as possible.

23. Relief in any community or district depends entirely upon the cooperation of each individual member of the community.

HYDROGRAPHER IS BACK FROM TRIP

Chief Hydrographer W. F. Martin returned from Hawaii and Maui on the Claudine. He reports having put in four days on Maui and the balance of his time on the big island.

"I visited East Maui," said the chief this morning, "and I looked into the work that J. B. Stewart of our department is doing along the line of the big ditch. There are numerous streams flowing down the sides of the mountains in that section, and the ditch trail affords an easy way to follow the line and take observations. There had been very little rain lately in East Maui, and consequently the ditch was taking only about a third of its capacity."

"Sixteen streams are being measured and watched, and the average amount of water will be worked out and kept track of. The work of measuring the water is done at intervals, and high and low water marks are established."

From Maui Mr. Martin proceeded to Hawaii where, 2500 feet above sea level is established the camp of Hydrographer C. H. Pierce. The camp is made up of a couple of tents and a cookhouse. Some Russians do the packing of instruments and heavy stuff.

Sixty stations have been established to measure the flow of streams, and the appliance is simply a board marked off in tenths of feet. The high and low water marks are recorded daily, and the results are then tabulated. At present thirteen miles of country is being covered at the 2500 feet level. It is proposed to extend the scene of operations seven miles more, making a twenty miles observation base. This distance is about all that can be taken care of from a one central camp base.

Mr. Martin feels that the inventory of the available water of the Territory will be of the greatest possible use, not only to ditch companies that may start up, but also to the government that has public water to sell.

A bunch of keys was lost on Merchant street between the postoffice and Port street.

GRATITUDE OF FOSTER CHILD

Word was received at the police station about 11:30 a. m. that a man was going to commit suicide on Liliha street near Vineyard.

Police Officer Nobriga, on arriving on the scene, found W. Keola, a Hawaiian youth 16 years old, trying to break through the door of a room for the express purpose of obtaining a knife with which to cut his throat. He was placed under arrest and taken to the station.

His foster mother, Mrs. Kahiliun-kuni, told the police officer that Keola, who lived with her, had been out drinking all the morning and that when he came home he asked her for ten cents to buy oranges with.

She refused this request, whereupon Keola started in to wreck the nice-looking house, smashing a mirror and several chairs. He told Mrs. Kahiliun-kuni that after having smashed all her property he was going to kill himself with a knife.

LADY COOK COMES TO AMERICA WITH A MESSAGE OF MORALITY

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—Lady Cook, with all her advanced theories on crime prevention and the rights of women, is with us for the first time in several years, and for the second time since she became the leading figure in the early days of the suffragist cause in England.

She has come to deliver a lecture. For the lack of something more comprehensive, the scheduled lecture has been called "The Need of Revising Morals and Laws," but it was readily noticed yesterday, when she held forth at enthusiastic length in her rooms in the Hotel Walton before her audience of reporters, that she conceded before starting that there was need of reform. She has come with remedies for our degenerate morals. She has a thousand and one moral panaceas, and intends to administer them, she said, if she has to crack us on the head in order to open our mouths.

First of all, she contends that our method of living, insofar as the relation of the sexes is concerned, is all wrong. We are lethargic participants in a continuous saturnalia of social immorality. Lady Cook declares that we all acknowledge when plumed down by unheeded facts, that our scheme of social things is all awry. But, she says, we are too hidebound and cross-brained to realize that our salvation is at hand. She would expound the receipt for our emancipation, and let us then work out our own salvation.

She claims that while man is a cowardly liar, woman is even more dangerous. The man, according to Lady Cook, will take refuge behind the woman who has been a party to his sin, but the woman will pave the way for this act of cowardice by rearing her son in ignorance of the great truths of sex and permitting him to learn these truths in the street.

Lady Cook was the beautiful Tennessee Clafin, who, with her equally entrancing sister, Victoria, figured on the first page of the newspapers almost every day in the early 70's. She was a preceptress in the militant suffragist school before our present day leaders of the cause of woman suffrage knew which was the wiser—to procure a husband or enter upon a career.

"Tenny" Clafin is a beauty still. It is, of course, a beauty different from that which made her the heart palpitator of the men 40 years ago, but she is still possessed of those marvelous violet eyes that are just as deep and dance as much as they did then. The natural vivacity is still there, although the little reformer of morals becomes a bit hysterical at times when wrapped in her subject.

She told of the days when she, with such women as Susan B. Anthony and Lucretia Mott, led a delegation of women before the United States Senate, and demanded the right to vote. She rehearsed the scene in the Cooper Institute, when she nominated Lucretia Mott for President of the United States, and Fred Douglass, the negro, for Vice-President. She rehearsed the days when she was barred from her rooms in the Gilsey House, in New York, because she insisted on retaining her unique position as colonel of a regiment of negroes. Her anecdotes are innumerable, but each startling.

"Tenny" Clafin married Sir Francis Cook in England after she and her sister, Victoria, forsake America. She declares that she is none the less an American citizen, and takes refuge in the law, which holds that divorcees and widows of foreigners may come back and assume their old standing in this country.

She says that she intended lecturing here this month, but was advised by many influential men that the time was not just ripe—that the world's series and the political campaign were counter-irritants, and would do much to keep people from hearing her. She intends delivering her message in the Academy of Music some time during the second week in November.

Yesterday Lady Cook said that she believed in early marriages, but that the mother who sent her daughter into the state of matrimony without first telling her all the many things that experience had taught her, was perpetrating a great wrong. She said that she would teach morals in the schools and colleges, and have a little less useless "flubbubbery" in the curriculum. A school of fatherhood and motherhood is needed more than anything else here, according to Lady Cook.

BRITISH RESIDENT COMMISSIONER MURDERED BY AFRICAN BUSHMEN

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The danger of wild Nigeria to venturesome Englishmen have been grimly illustrated by the murder of H. P. James, a British resident commissioner, only twenty-nine years of age, and by the failure of a British punitive expedition sent to avenge his death.

A cable message from Lagos states that the avengers have returned hopeless of catching the murderous tribe. They captured only one man implicated in the murder, but he cheated justice by dying of pneumonia.

Bodies Found in the Bush.
In the bush the punitive expedition found the body of Mr. James and also the remains of three of his native companions. Happily, none of the bodies had been mutilated, and the commissioner himself must have been killed instantaneously, as the base of the skull had been shot away. Another bullet had also gone through the thigh.

Mr. James, who was visiting the southern border of the Forcados district, left Forcados in a steel canoe towed by a steam launch, accompanied by four policemen and twenty beach boys. On arrival at a town called Keno, on the waterside, Mr. James asked the head man to accompany him to the next town, Adagabiri. The head man, without giving any reason, refused.

Accordingly, in the afternoon, Mr. James, with six boys and two policemen, started off in a canoe, followed in another boat by two native chiefs.

The interpreter, who barely escaped with his life, reports that he saw the head man who had refused to accompany the commissioner going ahead of the party in another canoe. In a few minutes the canoes came alongside Adagabiri, and a number of armed natives were seen to come out from behind their houses.

Fire Without Warning.

The interpreter stood up in the boat, signaling to the people not to shoot, but without the least warning they opened fire at short range.

One of the policemen was first hit and fell into the canoe injured, and then one of the beach boys was shot and fell overboard.

"The district commissioner," says the interpreter, "was next hit on the right ear. He fell on me, and I tried to support him, when another shot struck him on the right side and he fell off the canoe into the water."

"I also fell into the creek and swam under water, and as I came up to the surface for breath the natives fired on me."

"By this time the canoe was empty. I saw the second policeman fall into the water."

GREEN OLD AGE.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Frederick Harrison was 80 years of age today and returned from an eight-mile walk at tea-time with a springy step and alert bearing. This is his ordinary daily exercise.

Harrison lives in Kent and delights in his house and beautiful garden. He rose at 7:30, breakfasted at 8:30, was engaged from 9:30 till lunch with papers, correspondence and the autobiographical memories he is writing.

After luncheon he walked till 5:30 o'clock tea, spent a half hour showing visitors around his garden and then rested till dinner. He went to bed at 11. Unbroken sleep for eight hours and interest in every waking hour is Harrison's happy lot at 80. He writes about 1500 words daily.

Monetary Legislation Planned by Aldrich

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Former Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, today submitted to the National Monetary Commission, of which he is chairman, a revision of his plan for monetary legislation. The commission may use it as the basis of its recommendations to congress.

The basic principles of the revised plan are substantially the same as those embodied in Mr. Aldrich's first proposal sent to the commission last January, which, he said, he expected would serve as a basis for national discussion. Important phases which were then unsettled and those which have since been evolved are treated in the recommendations sent to the commission today. Most of the questions are rehandled with great detail as the result of discussions and conferences which have been going on since the plan was first suggested.

Briefly, the plan still provides for the organization of the National Reserve Association, with capital of approximately $300,000,000, in which the United States government and the banks owning shares in the association shall be the only depositors.

The plan of dividing the United States at first into fifteen financial districts remains unchanged. In each district the banks shall form local associations of their own, which, in turn, will be represented in the branches, and, finally, in the central organization through a system of election of directors, which, it is said, will make it impossible for any section or set of bankers to control the whole.

To provide for the $730,000,000 of 2 per cent government bonds now owned by the national banks and used as the basis of note circulation, which are to be absorbed by the Reserve Association, the following plan is proposed:

Upon the application of the Reserve Association the Secretary of the Treasury shall exchange the 2 per cent bonds, which the association will buy from the banks at par and accrued interest, for a new issue of 3 per cent securities, payable 50 years after the date of issue.

The Reserve Association will pay to the government a special franchise tax of 1 1/2 per cent per year on the amount of such bonds. As the government's interest charge on the 2 per cent is not actually 1 1/2 per cent, since the banks pay back a half of 1 per cent as a tax when the bonds are used as the basis of note circulation, this will reimburse the government for the extra interest it will be called upon to pay as a result of exchanging the 2s for 3s.

One effect of the exchange will be to enable the government to provide permanently for a large portion of the interest-bearing public debt at a net interest charge of 1 1/2 per cent. This arrangement proposes a solution of what many financiers declared the greatest obstacle to the plan. It dispenses permanently of the bond-secured currency without loss to the government, and without imposing upon the Reserve Association the ownership of the $730,000,000 2 per cent bonds.

The association will agree to hold the 3 per cents for 50 years, but the secretary of treasury, after five years, will have the option of permitting the association to sell the securities at a rate not greater than $50,000,000 a year. The government may reserve the right to redeem any of the bonds before maturity, to buy any of them at par for the trustees of the postal savings system, or otherwise.

Election of Directors.

Provisions for the election of directors have been changed in the revised plan, with the idea of minimizing the possibility of control by any section or group. There will still be 45 directors, as in the original plan, six members ex-officio, viz: The governor of the association, his two deputies, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of Commerce and Labor and the Comptroller of the Currency.

Each of the 15 financial districts of the country will elect one director; twelve others will be elected by the shareholders, and these 27 will elect to the board 12 additional members, who shall not be officers of banks, but may be directors in them, and who shall fairly represent the industrial, agricultural, commercial and other interests of the country.

The completed plan provides that of the 24 directors in the latter groups, not more than three may be elected from any one district. As an instance, the effect of this provision would be to limit the State of New York, which has about one-fifth the banking capital of the country, and which is the seat of the great financial interests, to four directors among the 39 who are elected.

In the organization of the Executive committee of nine members, upon which, it has been said much of the active management of the association would fall, only one of the five elected members (the other four being the governor of the association, his two deputies and the Comptroller of the Currency, ex-officio) may be chosen from any one district. The whole Board of Directors may reserve to itself any authority it desires, and is not bound to vest the Executive Committee with full control.

The original plan provided that the governor of the association should be appointed by the President of the United States from a list of names submitted by the Board of Directors, and that the President should also have power to remove the governor. The revised plan reserves the right of removal to a two-thirds vote of the board.

Membership Qualification.

One important change is the admission to membership of State banks and trust companies which conform to a required standard. A State bank or trust company, to be eligible, must conform to the same standard as national banks regarding the relation of its capital to the population of the community it serves; regarding the reserves to be held against deposits, and must conform to a certain standard regarding examinations and reports.

Requirements for reserves to be held against deposits are made the same for national banks, State banks and trust companies, but the present reserve requirements of national banks are modified to the extent of requiring no reserves against time deposits, except for the thirty days preceding their maturity.

This provision, which resembles those in the trust company laws of some States, is expected to make it more profitable for national banks to hold time deposits in competition with trust companies. Banks of all classes will have the full use of time deposits without reserve restrictions until thirty days from maturing time, when standard reserves will be required.

A provision that the association shall discount for any member notes and bills of exchange arising out of commercial transactions is further developed in the line of preventing the granting of loans upon securities. The notes and bills eligible for discount by the association are restricted to such notes and bills of exchange as are "issued or drawn for agricultural, industrial or commercial purposes, and not for carrying stocks, bonds or" (Continued on page twelve.)

BEAUTY AND BALLOT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont's political equality headquarters, at 15 East 41st street, is to be also a headquarters for beauty doctored among the fair and unfranchised sex, according to an announcement made by Mrs. Belmont herself in a woman's magazine, Dress, for November.

Mrs. Belmont calls it a "department of hygiene," and its function "human repair work." At the department women who want to vote and be equal with men will be able to get free lectures on hygiene, and, at slightly higher cost, soap, powder and other ablutionary and cosmetic ointments and concoctions conducive to greater pulchritude. In her article Mrs. Belmont laments the fact that French girls far surpass the American girl in the proper care of her person and personal beauty.

FIGHT FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE DEVELOPS STRANGE FEATURES

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The members of the Woman Suffrage party who heard Mrs. Pankhurst speak in the Brooklyn Academy of Music have something to talk about besides the 1911 victory in California and the 1913 chances in New York. Mrs. Pankhurst's talk was decidedly in a minor key. She wore a frock of black satin and she spoke sadly of the lack of laws in various states for the protection of young girls, shocking the women present by declaring that under similar conditions all women would do as does the girl of the streets. She continued:

"I have been studying some of your laws, and I find that the age at which some States as low as 10 years. In several States it is placed at 14, in 24 at 16, and in 12 at 18. But I find added to the law in New York State a footnote saying that it is practically inoperative. In Kentucky the age is 12. There is going to be a suffrage convention there before long, and I am going down to rouse sentiment on this very subject."

The speaker said that American women have as much to gain from suffrage as English women. She made an appeal to the men present to support women in their attempt to get the power to protect their own kind.

She concluded with the argument that as long as women have not political independence men are solely re-

Dr. Neff's Don'ts on Milk.

Don't put remnant of milk from dinner table into receptacle containing main supply.

Don't allow milk to rise above 60 degrees.

Don't allow dirt to accumulate in ice chest.

Don't allow milk to stand on front door step.

Don't use an open pitcher for holding your early morning supply.

Don't allow milk to stand where flies can reach it.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—The care of milk after it has been delivered to the consumer furnished Dr. Joseph S. Neff, Director of Public Health and Charities, with a subject for an interesting and instructive lecture of the course of addresses on food products and methods of handling, which is being conducted under the auspices of the Pure Food Congress at Gimbel Brothers' store.

Dr. Neff spoke yesterday afternoon and after touching on conditions on the farm and among the retail dealers of milk, warned the housewife of dangers imminent after the supply has reached her. He said:

"My department will guard the supply of milk brought into this city from the barn to your doorstep, but we must have your co-operation after it has been taken into the house. You must get busy and keep it clean and cold, as it has been brought to you."

A clear exposition of the dangers emanating from bacteria was followed by the announcement that milk furnishes the best breeding ground for these dangerous disease germs. Moisture, heat and food are the necessary essentials for the spread of germ life, he added, and these are admirably combined in the bottles of milk seen on many doorsteps in the morning.

Dr. Neff said that before many months he hoped to have a law passed governing the sale of milk in this city which will prevent the dealer from leaving milk in any sort of receptacle on the doorstep during the early morning hours. It is his intention to have the milk served at a time when it can promptly be taken into the house.

Many typhoid epidemics have been traced to the milk supply, according to Dr. Neff, who declared also that the spread of tuberculosis has been accelerated by infected milk, and that many other disease prevalent among children have been passed on in this manner. Two charts which furnish part of the city's exhibit at the show were used by the lecturer to demonstrate his points regarding the temperature at which milk should be kept, the one showing the enormous increase of bacteria in milk which has been allowed to rise above 60 degrees, and the other proving that milk kept below this point will remain practically free of germs.

This exhibit, planned by the Health Department, includes pictures of the manner in which milk is infected from contact with filth, through the various stages of handling. It was secured, according to Dr. Neff, at a great expenditure of time and effort.

IT COSTS SOMETHING TO HUNT IN THE JUNGLES OF AFRICA

Hunting in East Africa isn't a poor man's pastime, according to American Consul Alexander W. Weddell of Zanzibar, who has sent some data on the subject in an official report to the Department of Commerce and Labor. The report in part follows:

The sportsman planning a hunting trip in East Africa has the choice of five steamer routes from Europe to Mombassa, the port of the Protectorate, as follows: The Union Castle Steamship Line, direct; the Peninsular & Oriental Steamship Line, with transshipment at Aden to the British India Line; the Messageries Maritimes, direct; the German East Africa Line, and the Italian East Africa Line. First-class return fare from London amounts to about $250, while the cost from Marseilles and Naples is somewhat lower.

The first-class round-trip fare from Mombassa to Nairobi, the starting point for shooting parties, is $28.35. Practically everything except clothing is liable to an import duty of 10 per cent, but one camera, one pair of field glasses, and one telescope are admitted duty free. Original invoices should be produced for goods when ever possible.

The licenses required by a traveler may be any one of four, namely, a sportsman's license, costing 750 rupees, and the Italian East

Merriam's Transfer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Paymaster John H. Merriam, general storekeeper for the navy yard for the last eighteen months, has been ordered to give up that post and report at League Island.

Mr. Merriam has been prominent recently in connection with the enormous technical shortage of the funds of the navy yard on account of faulty bookkeeping. He will be succeeded here by Pay Inspector H. E. Blasco.

Friends of Mr. Merriam deny his transfer is in the nature of a reprimand. The suggestion has never been made that there was anything wrong in his handling of the navy stores. Mr. Merriam himself refuses to discuss the matter.

Serious Accident on Transport.

The transport Logan, arriving from Manila this morning at 8 o'clock, brought in her hospital a seriously wounded soldier, whom it is expected will be removed to the hospital at Fort Shafter. While the Logan was coaling at Nagasaki Private Peter F. Pelowski, Second Infantry, returning to place of enlistment to be discharged, had the misfortune to fall through the safety ropes into an open hatch, breaking his back. He is paralyzed from the shoulders down, and his recovery is doubtful. He enlisted in Pittsburgh, Pa., and his home is at Royal Oak, Mich.

The Logan left Nagasaki on October 23. Had she left a day earlier she would have been struck by a terrific typhoon off the coast of Japan. As it was the typhoon got the start of the transport by about three hundred miles.

The Logan is taking through from Manila to San Francisco 136 passengers in the cabin and forty-four second-class. Four hundred and twenty-one enlisted men are returning in troop quarters. For Honolulu the transport has a ton and a half of freight and will take from here about eighty-five tons. Ten or eleven first-class passengers will embark in the Logan at Honolulu and 150 will be taken on in the troop quarters.

Among those returning to the States from Honolulu are Captain Wallace and family; Major Blakely, Inspector general; Captain Graham, Twentieth Infantry; Lieut. Vaughn and Lieut. Hansen, Fifth Cavalry. Miss Milligan, sister of Lieut. Milligan of the Fifth Cavalry, will leave for the Coast in the Logan.

For Honolulu the Logan brought five bags of mail. She also landed her four stowaways—two Americans and two Filipinos.

The Logan will leave for San Francisco at 8 o'clock tonight.

Berger on Deck.
The Tenyo Maru left for San Francisco at 9:40 this morning, being escorted for an hour previous to her departure by Captain Berger's band. This was their first appearance at the wharves since they returned from their vacation.

The Tenyo Maru is due to arrive at San Francisco next Thursday morning.

Newsboy Arrives.
The schooner Newsboy, with about 750,000 feet of lumber, arrived from Gray's Harbor this morning and was docked at the Bishop wharf. She is consigned to Lewers & Cooke. It required thirty-four days for her to make the passage.

Maui With One Passenger.

The Maui arrived this morning from Kailua with one passenger, J. T. McCrosson. She brought 75 head of cattle, 19 gasoline drums, 20 sacks of coffee and one case of hardware.

Purser Fitzsimmons reports that on the outward trip a heavy swell was running along Hamakua coast. On the inward trip they encountered light winds and moderate swell.

Noeau From Kilauea.

The Inter-Island steamer Noeau arrived this morning from Kilauea with nine deck passengers. She had a cargo of 97 bags of rice and 29 packages of sundries.

Inter-Island Alive to Situation.

The Inter-Island officials are proving that they are alive to the necessity of abolishing all possible breeding places of the atomyia calopus, and today the Mauna Kea wharf and warehouse and offices are being thoroughly cleaned and fumigated. Some other wharves, notably those belonging to the railroad company, would not be injured by a similar treatment.

Tenyo and the Typhoon.

Notwithstanding accounts in our evening and morning contemporaries regarding the typhoon encountered by the Tenyo Maru on her present trip, inquiry develops the fact that the Star's report was correct in stating that the typhoon was encountered by the Tenyo on her last voyage to the Orient and not on her return trip from the Orient.

MONETARY LEGISLATION

other investment securities. This interpretation will exclude brokers' notes for carrying stocks. Banks, under this provision, it is said, will be encouraged to carry their auxiliary reserves in commercial paper, instantly convertible into cash, instead of in call loans on the stock market.

Savings in National Banks.
 National banks will have the right to establish savings departments and to lend not more than 40 per cent of such deposits upon productive real estate, in loans not exceeding 50 per cent of the value of the property. The national bank act now prohibits such loans, but there is a constant demand for them, especially in the West.

Savings deposits in any of the banks in the association shall be subject to 30 days' notice before withdrawal and shall be covered by a reserve of 10 per cent of that required for demand deposits in the same locality.

For the reserves of the association, it is proposed that 50 per cent of its demand liabilities, including deposits and note issue, shall be covered by gold or other lawful money, with a provision that whenever the reserve falls below 50 per cent the association is bound to pay to the government a special tax which increases in rate in proportion to the deficiency. The operation of this in such instances is expected to stimulate an increase in the rate of discount and to bring in gold until the reserves again become normal.

Another new provision specifies that any local association may assume and exercise the powers and functions of a clearing house. In this respect some existing clearing houses are expected to become local associations. All local associations will be required to appoint examiners, which is a development of the movement for local clearing house examiners, now being promoted throughout the country.

One criticism of the first plan was that there was no way to remove a bank from an association. It has been provided that a local association may suspend a bank which fails to maintain its reserves or comply with other requirements of the law. It is also provided that the note issue of the association shall at all times be covered by at least one-third in gold or other lawful money. Any notes, however, issued in excess of $900,000,000 must either be covered by lawful money in full or pay a special tax at the rate of 1 to 2 per cent a year. Any notes issued in excess of $1,200,000 not covered by lawful money will pay a tax of 5 per cent.

Mr. Aldrich, in transmitting the plan to the commission, said that the system of reserves and taxes provided is expected to insure the maintenance of adequate reserves by the association, and otherwise to provide such effective regulation of discounts and note issues as would enable the organization to respond promptly at all times to normal or unusual demands for credit or currency without danger of undue expansion or inflation.

The features outlined are the only substantial changes in the plan as it was submitted tentatively to the commission last January by Mr. Aldrich, although detailed qualifications are introduced at many other points.

Dawes Attacks Plan.
 CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Former Comptroller of the Treasury Dawes opposed the provision for governmental representation on the board of directors of the proposed Central Reserve Association today before the subcommittee of the National Monetary Commission, created by congress in 1907 to devise a new currency system. He also criticized the plan of authorizing the President of the United States to appoint the governor of the proposed banks' bank. Mr. Dawes said:

"I am opposed to governmental representation in the management of the proposed institution because of the opportunity it would give a national administration to inject politics into the affairs of the bank. If we should have another Andrew Jackson President of the United States the danger of politics in connection with the management of the institution would be great. "By the establishment of this bank you create the greatest power in the country. It will control credit, fix rates of interest and be a tremendous influence in commerce. I simply make these minor objections to the Aldrich currency bill in an effort to have it made as near perfect as possible."

George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National Bank, Chicago, endorsed the Central Reserve Association plan, and said that opposition to the measure from small town bankers was disappearing as fast as the details of the proposition were explained.

IT COSTS TO HUNT

poor ($243), a resident's license, at $40, a traveler's license, at $5, or a landholder's license, at $15. Each of these licenses is good for one year, except the traveler's, which is valid for only one month. If a person holds a sportsman's or a resident's license and desires to kill one elephant, $40 extra must be paid, and to kill two elephants $146, but if the second elephant is not obtained a refund of $97 is made. As lions and leopards are classed as vermin no license to kill them is required.

A sportsman may bring his own battery; if not, rifles and guns can generally be hired or purchased in Nairobi. If hired, the expense is $6 to $10 per week according to the value of the gun. Heavy and light cordite rifles, both new and used, can be bought, together with ammunition. Practically any time of year will do for shooting in East Africa, but on account of the big rains it is preferable to plan trips for periods between May and February.

A white guide, familiar with the language and customs, can usually be secured, the wages varying from $105 to $365 per month, with food, equipment, etc., furnished by the head of the expedition. Ponies or mules are usually taken, and they can be either hired or bought outright. Roughly speaking, a good mule can be obtained for $50 and a pony for $160 up.

The expenses in the field, which include the hire of tents, necessary camp furniture, the cost of food, wages, outfit and rations of the necessary attendants, is reckoned at about $185 per month for each member of the expedition—that is to say, each sportsman. This sum does not include liquors, and it may easily be exceeded if luxuries are required. The expenses of a safari vary with the nature of the district visited, and if a foodless, waterless, or otherwise difficult territory is chosen, the cost is increased to a considerable extent. The foregoing figures have reference to a safari starting from Nairobi. The average number of porters, per man, on a two months' trip, is about thirty. Travelers are advised to bring their own personal kit, boots, etc., battery and ammunition, and a good pair of field glasses; everything else can be purchased locally if desired. Several firms make a business of managing safari expeditions.

ILLUMINATING PISTOLS.

Scientific American: During the recent extended maneuvers of the German army there were many night attacks, in which use was made of the newly introduced illuminating pistols.

According to the new regulations, these are to be employed wherever the configuration of the land makes their use preferable to that of the ordinary searchlight. The machinery necessary for the use of the latter device is very inconvenient, and especially in rolling and otherwise difficult country where the main maneuvers take place, it can not be used to advantage.

The illuminating pistols have not this disadvantage, as they are easily transported. Further, the searchlight is useless in valleys and deep lying plains, as their rays shoot over these and leave them apparently in still deeper shadow.

For this reason, such valleys serve as excellent covers at night, against the searchlights. The illuminating pistols have done away with this advantage of shelter, as the cartridges which they throw light up the deepest and darkest gullies.

There are two different sorts of cartridges, producing respectively white and red light. The white ones serve exclusively for illuminating the country, the red ones for signaling purposes between widely separated commands or divisions, even where the distance between them is several kilometers. The illuminating cartridges develop a light that makes everything within 200 meters (656 feet) visible, and lasts eight to ten seconds.

IN LAW TURTLES ARE ANIMALS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—In holding Captain Cleveland H. Downs, of the Ward Line steamship Saratoga in $500 bail for the Court of Special Sessions on a charge of cruelty to animals, Magistrate Freschi handed down a decision determining for the first time in history, it is believed, the legal status of the turtle.

In an opinion of several thousand words Magistrate Freschi decided that within the law the turtle is an animal; without the law it is a reptile.

Captain Downs was charged with permitting the fins or flippers of 65 large green turtles carried as freight on the Saratoga to be pierced and tied to prevent the turtles from crawling over the sides of the ship.

SO REALISTIC.

Mrs. Newrox—And why should you paint me sitting, rather than standing?

Dauber—Why, my portraits are so realistic that a gentleman does not feel at ease to sit down in a room where one of my paintings of a standing woman is hung.—Boston
