TATTOOING IN BURMAH.
How It is Performed—Optum as an Anaesthetic—Designs.
Of all Burmese customs, one of the most singular is that of tattooing the person, from the waist to below the knees, with figures in black ink. Every man in the country is thus adorned, and unless his skin be unusually dark, he looks at a little distance as though he were clothed in a tight fitting pair of black breeches. The custom is said to be falling into disuse, but I have seen very few Burmese without this "mark of manhood," which is conferred upon him when he is about 12 to 14 years old. The operation is a painful one, and I was glad of the opportunity that now offered to see it, though aware that it takes at least two or three days to complete.
Pho Myin, the subject, is lying on a mat quite nude, with a dazed look in his half closed eyes, and breathing heavily.
Moung Daw nods at him meaningly.
"He has taken much opium," he says,
grinning to me.
I am not surprised at it. If the Htowinsayahyee was going to exercise his art upon me for four or five hours, I should follow the Burman's plan and take opium by way of an anesthetic.
The tattooing will show well upon the plump, fair skinned lad before us, and the professor evidently thinks he is a subject to take pains with, as he sits carefully mixing his ink in a joint of bamboo and preparing his weapon. This is a brass rod nearly two feet long and about half an inch thick; it is weighted at the top with a little ornamental figure,
and at the other end has a hollow point divided by two cross slits into four fine pricks. The professor examines the "business end" critically, and, having satisfied himself that it is sharp enough, jacks up his putose and squats at Pho Myin's side. Selecting a spot on the high, he places both feet on it a few inches apart, and stretching the skin tight, draws the outline of the first figure—a tiger rampant—with an inky splinter of bamboo; this is soon done, and relieving himself of a large mouthful of betelnut, the professor settles down to work in earnest. Leaning forward through his widely parted knees, he balances the brass style daintily, and,
clasping it with the finger and thumb of the right hand, makes a "bridge" of the left, which he rests on the surface between his feet. After sliding the instrument through his fingers once or twice, as if to take aim, he makes a start and pricks away steadily with a light firm touch that is wonderfully quick and true.
In less than five minutes the tiger, with its surrounding border, is finished, and the artist removes his feet from the distended skin, and washes off the superfluous ink to see how his work has come out. Everybody presses forward to look at the picture, which shows up in bold relief on the rapidly formed swelling.
Moung Saik exchanges a remark with his wife, and the tattooer resumes his working position to draw the outline of the next figure.
The boy, stupefied with opium, lies insensible to the pain, while one figure after another gradually appears on his skin.
Deep as the points of the style sink, they draw little blood, but the limb swells in a manner that would alarm any one who did not know it would return to its normal size in a day or two. Few ever times intervenes, and in that case the patient waits for a time before the work of illustration is resumed, so it often extends over a period of a week or ten days, during which the inconvenience suffered is considerable. Without the aid of opium the process would be a much longer one. I found that I could not endure the application of the style for more than thirty consecutive seconds without flinching so much as to interfere with the operator's movements; for the skin is pricked over so closely that it becomes too tender to sustain their repetition.
Eight rupees is the usual fee paid to a tattooer for endowing a lad with breeches.
The figures that compose them vary little, consisting as a rule of tigers,
"nagas" (dragons) and "beloes" (devils).
Each one is surrounded with a border of sentences, generally illegible, invoking good luck upon the owner of the skin whereon they are inscribed. The waist and knees are neatly finished off with a tasteful edging of point or scroll pattern;
these sensitive parts of the body are the last to be done, and tattooers have told me that the pain caused frequently arouses the patient from his torpor.

Bismarck's Personal Habits.
Though considerably past 70 years old, Prince Bismarck still works as hard as he did when he was twenty years younger. He never goes to bed until 2 in the morning, and eats a hearty supper shortly before midnight. He rarely rises much before noon, as he has always been a heavy sleeper and is often disturbed during the night by the arrival of dispatches which require instant attention.
The chancellor is becoming a rich man.
The salaries from his offices are by no means extravagant, but added to the revenues of his estates and the profits of his saw mills and distilleries, they bring his income to between $100,000 and $150,000 a year. And, as the prince is notoriously economical, a very large proportion of this comfortable income is actually saved. —New York Tribune.
Thackeray and His Manuscript.
Thackeray took up his manuscript time after time to touch and retouch till his fastidious taste was satisfied. After his death his friends found some sheets of manuscript in his pocket book scored and underscored twenty times over. The world is not so foolish as some sloppy writers appear to think, and appreciates care and finish. As a rule, the work that lives deserves to live. The slap dash style may last for a time, through the wonderful art of puffing, but it soon dies
out. —London Society.

THE TREATY QUESTION.

Regarding the conditions of independent sovereignty on the Hawaiian Islands, the San Francisco Chronicle gives the following succinct account of the whole matter:

In the year 1842 a British naval officer, Lord George Paulet, had taken forcible possession of the Sandwich Islands for Great Britain. In December of the same year the President of the United States addressed a message to Congress advocating the recognition of Hawaiian independence and intimating that this country would make a "decided remonstrance against the adoption of an opposite policy by any other power." In November, 1843, following this remonstrance, the English and French Governments united in a declaration in the following terms:

Her Majesty, the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and His Majesty the King of the French, taking into consideration the existence in the Sandwich Islands of a government capable of providing for the regularity of its relations with foreign nations, have thought it right to engage reciprocally to consider the Sandwich Islands as an independent state, and never to take possession, neither directly nor under the title of protectorate, nor under any other form, of any part of the territory of which they are composed.

The undersigned, being furnished with the necessary powers, hereby declare in consequence that their said Majesties take reciprocally that engagement.

In witness whereof, the undersigned have signed the present declaration and have affixed thereto the seal of their arms.

Done in duplicate at London, the 28th day of November, in the year of our Lord, 1843.

ABERDEEN (L.S.)
ST. LAURENCE (L.S.)

With this declaration the commissioners from the Sandwich Islands returned to the United States in the spring of 1844, and on the 6th of July they received a communication from John C. Calhoun, Secretary of State, assenting to this declaration and confirming "the full recognition on the part of the United States of the independence of the Hawaiian Government."

It is true that this is not a tripartite agreement, in the technical sense of the term, but it is equivalent to one, as is shown by a semi-official leader in the London Times of August 20th, 1843, which made the consent of France and the United States to Hawaiian autonomy a condition precedent to giving up the control of the islands which Lord George Paulet had secured. That agreement has never been rescinded, and the United States is as much bound by it now as in 1843. This should dispose of the historic question, and put to rest any idle fears of our attempting to assume a protectorate over the Hawaiian Kingdom. For forty-five years now we, in conjunction with England and France, have protected the independence of the Hawaiian Government, and what more is necessary or could be asked?

That the above remarks embody the general feeling in the United States there can be no question; and that the exact position is delineated above, is equally certain.

Of course, many changes have taken place in the interests which the protecting powers have in the islands. French interests, if they have not decreased, have certainly not kept pace with the greatly increased interests of either the United States or Great Britain; and while Hawaiian commerce with France or her colonies is very small, German commerce with the islands has increased largely during the forty-five years that have elapsed since the agreement of the United States, Great Britain and France was entered into; yet Germany has no political pledge in the matter of Hawaiian autonomy or protection, though she has now considerable interests in the Hawaiian Islands.

So far as real and practical protection is concerned, that must now devolve upon the United States and Great Britain—the former chiefly upon commercial grounds, and the latter having more political than commercial interests to serve.

From present appearances there is not the slightest hope or fear of political alliance with the United States; but America must continue to control the commerce, nevertheless, because of proximity and in affording the only market for Hawaiian productions. Although not politically joined, in every other sense the islands are American. Indeed any nation that controls the commerce of another has all the moral and material control needed, without the expense and risk of political responsibilities. In this instance the United States government is a party to the protectorate established and which has been in force for the past forty-five years, and with that political foothold Uncle Sam is perfectly satisfied and so is Hawaii nei.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO LETTER.

Per S. S. Australia, San Francisco, October 11, 1889.

(From our special correspondent.)

The Temple of Heaven, at Peking, containing the Dragon throne, has been destroyed by fire. The Temple of Heaven is the most conspicuous building in the Forbidden City, or that part of the Chinese capital which is devoted to the residence of the Emperor, and into which no foreigner can penetrate under pain of death. The inner inclosure, sacred to the Emperor's own use, is about 2,023 miles in circuit, guarded by a wall, surrounded by a deep, wide moat. Here is the Palace of Heaven, the Emperor's private residence, containing the sacred Dragon's throne. Here he sits at morning audience to transact business with his ministers and to receive those appointed to office. No one can enter the building without special license. It has been described as the most imposing and magnificent of all the buildings within the inclosure devoted to royalty, though all accounts of it must be taken from Chinese sources, as no European has ever been allowed in it.

There is a report that the fire was of incendiary origin. It was one of the gates to this building which was buried about a year ago, entailing the loss of many records. That disaster was regarded as an evil omen and was construed as a sign that foreign improvements, including railways, should not be encouraged. The present fire, destroying as it does the most venerated of Chinese buildings, will probably be followed by an increase of conservatism.

The fine ship South America, Conolly master, bound from Iloilo for New York, with a cargo of sugar, was wrecked September 15th, in Struy's Bay, Cape of Good Hope. Part of the crew arrived at Cape Town, seven remained by the ship. The South America was a fine vessel of 1762 tons register, built at East Boston in 1870 and was owned by Henry Hastings & Co., of that city. She was insured for $60,000 and her cargo valued at $125,000 was fully insured.

The revival of trade is making itself felt everywhere in England just now. It began slowly in 1887 and is now in full blast. The foreign trade of Great Britain in 1888 amounted to £618,500,000; in 1887 it exceeded that amount by £24,000,000, in 1888 it increased it by £42,500,000, and in the first six months of this year an increase of £26,000,000 is shown. A rise of nearly £100,000,000 in three years is more than the most sanguine would have hoped during the long period of depression. Emigration and pauperism are both decreasing and capital is remarkably confident with regard to new investments.

The Mobile and Ohio south bound train was robbed on the 25th ult. at Buckatanna, Miss., seventy miles from Mobile. They got $3,000 and just missed securing $70,000 more which was in the express car. They were not captured.

Kingston made one and a quarter miles at Gravesend Park in 2:06, beating Dry Monopole's record by half a second, which was made by the latter at Brooklyn in 1887 in 2:07.

Grover Cleveland has received a set-back for the Democratic nomination for 1892. David B. Hill now Governor of New York who is backed up by the liquor element, has captured the Democratic State Central Committee, and it will be all but impossible for Cleveland to get a delegation from his own state.

Ex Sheriff Flack of New York City, William L. Flack his son, Judge Monell, Thomas Weeks and George D. Hart have been indicted for railroading a divorce for Flack, from his wife, through the courts. They were all in the conspiracy.

A hundred thousand dollar gold brick from the Montana mines is on exhibition at the Chase National Bank in New York. The brick is the largest ever made at a United States Assay office. It was made at Helena and is valued at $100,346.29.

Five years ago the production of petroleum in Ohio was hardly worth mentioning. Last year her production was 10,000,000 barrels, against 16,000,000 barrels for Pennsylvania; and this year it is believed that the production in Ohio will lead all other states.

On the night of the 24th ult. three men held up the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe train ten miles south of Fort Worth, Texas. They compelled the engineer to divide the train and then robbed the express car of $10,000 overlooking about $20,000 more. They have not been captured.

Eimons Blain, son of the Secretary of State was married to Miss Anita McCormick at Richfield Springs, N. Y. on the 26th inst.

The German Government has placed to the credit of the Navy Department 32,000,000 marks, to be expended on new men-of-war. Of this amount 14,000,000 marks are on account of vessels now in course of construction, being the second appropriation for that purpose. The remaining 18,000,000 marks from the first appropriation toward building two new ironclads, three cruiser-cruisers, one cruiser and three dispatch boats.

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the statements made, or opinions expressed by our correspondents.

A Challenge Accepted.

MR. EDITOR: The galled jade winced and now attempts safety in a challenge to me to obtain endorsement. This will be forthcoming and will be first furnished to the Bulletin for publication. The cause for such a vicious personal attack may be found in my accidentally running counter to the (published) editor's political prospects in the coming campaign. It is true I asked for a simple solitary dollar for my report of the first meeting but the editor "bilked" me out of the payment by publishing my article as a communication. The reference to that was both unjournalistic and ungentlemanly and was about equal in size to the little chap who wrote it.

FRANK GODFREY.

Reply to Professor de Freitas.

MR. EDITOR: The letter of the self-proclaimed "Professor" de Freitas published in your number of yesterday morning hardly calls for an answer. There is a point, however, that must be replied to. The "professor" says, referring to last week's funeral, that the St. Antonio Benevolent Society formed in front of the procession as being the oldest of the two societies present. In behalf of the Lusitana Mutual Benevolent Society I wish to state that the "professor" is far from the truth and lacks gratitude and courtesy in so stating, because if the "St. Antonio" took the lead it was at their own request and the "Lusitana" was courteous enough to concede the point, being the most important (though the youngest) of the two; having a membership of over 500, while the other has about 150, besides being the only one known to foreigners here, and, as far as we know, the only one legally organized by the Hawaiian Government.

Thanking you Mr. Editor for this space, I am yours respectfully,
P. A. DIAS,
Pres. Lusitana Mutual Benevolent Society of Hawaii.

A GRAND BALL.

A Fashionable Gathering at the Residence of H. F. Glade, Esq.

The ball held at the residence of H. F. Glade Esq. last evening was a very brilliant affair. The garden which was illuminated with Chinese lanterns, looked like fairy land. The interior of the house was very prettily decorated with flags, maile and ferns.

A large lanai had been built on the makai side of the house for the dancers, and was inclosed with flags and well lit up. This lanai presented a most pleasing spectacle when dancing began at about 9:30. The dresses of the ladies were exceedingly pretty. A large number of guests were present. The invitations issued numbered nearly four hundred and included their Majesties the King and Queen, the Prince and Princess of Bourbon, and not only all the principal inhabitants of Honolulu, but also a large number of visitors from Kauai: Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Glade, Mr. and Mrs. Cropp, Capt. Alborn and many others.

We learn that this ball is given in honor of the Golden Wedding of the parents of Mr. H. Glade. It is no exaggeration to say this was not only one of the finest balls this season, but it was one of the most brilliant ever given in Honolulu. Mr. and Mrs. Glade proved themselves again to be the most excellent hosts and looked after their guests in the most hospitable manner. Every one will long remember the very pleasant time enjoyed at their house.

Among those present were: Mr. F. d'Anglade, Mr. and Mrs. Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. Cannavaro, Mr. and Miss Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. May, Mr. Dowsett, Mr. McKibbin, Captain Mist, Miss Mist, Mr. and Mrs. Ehlers, Mr. and Mrs. Hyman, Mr. and Mrs. Hackfield, Mr. and Mrs. Belle, Mr. and Mrs. Mackintosh, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, Mr. Theo. Purvis, Mr. C. R. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Allen, Mrs. Haalelela, Mr. and Mrs. C. Laukea, Mr. and Mrs. Hatch, Mr. and Mrs. Tenney, Mr. S. M. Damon, Bishop and Mrs. Willis, Dr. McGrew, Miss McGrew, Mr. Wolters, Mr. Klamp, and many others.

The Advancement joins with those present in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Glade all the complements suitable to the occasion.

SUPREME COURT.

OCTOBER TERM.

MONDAY, Oct. 21.

The Court opened at 10 a. m., His Honor Chief Justice Judd on the Bench. The case presented was that of the King vs. R. W. Wilcox. Deputy Attorney-General Peterson read the indictment which, contrary to expectation, charged the prisoner with the crime of conspiracy. Mr. Wilcox pleaded not guilty, after which he seated himself near his counsel, J. W. Kalua and Antonio Rosa. The Government was represented by the Attorney-General, Deputy Attorney General and F. M. Hatch.

The jurors were called by the clerk and sworn in by the interpreter, after which Mr. Hatch, for the prosecution, stated that the charge made to-day against Wilcox was conspiracy. He then commenced to question the jurors separately.

Maile was the first juror questioned and Mr. Hatch soon objected to him on the ground of the juror having relations who had been indicted in connection with the affair, and also on account of appearing as bondsman for others.

Mr. Rosa considered that the degree of relationship should be established. The Court stated to Mr. Hatch that it hesitated to accept the objection on the simple claim of relationship. Finally other objections being offered the juror was excused for cause.

Mr. Ena (by Mr. Hatch) had expressed opinion very freely in regard to these cases; did not consider himself a fit juror to sit in this case; the evidence would not change his mind. He was excused.

Mr. Bipi-kane—Had not formed opinion; could try this case fairly; had not discussed the case with any of the accused; affair has been town talk and had discussed it with others.

Mr. Kamukoo—Had talked about this matter; am not a relative of Mr. Wilcox; had a relative charged with conspiracy; could try this case fairly.

Mr. Gilliland—Had formed opinion relative to guilt of accused; nothing could remove it; could not try case fairly. Excused for cause.

E. Harbottle—Had formed no opinion; had talked about the case; Robert Boyd and Markham both in the affair and both are related to me; could render an honest verdict; knew no reason why he should not sit.

W. K. Holt—Had not formed opinion; had no relatives charged in connection with the affair; could give verdict in accord with the law and evidence.

Amoa—Had read newspaper accounts; had not formed any opinion; had heard that Wilcox acted on behalf of the King; read it in newspaper; did not know of any reason why he should not sit.

D. Kahanani—Have formed opinion; could be changed by evidence; am related to James Kanehane who is charged with conspiracy; not related only surety on his bond; if Wilcox proved that it was done under consent and knowledge of high authority it would lead my opinion. Juror excused for cause.

J. M. Bright—Not related to defendant; have a relative charged with conspiracy; he is husband of my aunt; have no formed opinion; could try case on its merits.

M. P. Robinson—Am not a relative of defendant, have formed opinion and am not competent to sit on this jury; do not think it would be fair to prisoner. Excused for cause.

Lohelani—Had read newspaper accounts; could be guided by evidence and instructions of court.

S. C. Dwight—Not a relative of any charged; could give an honest and fair verdict.

J. Mii—Have relatives charged; Kamukoo and Mahulu are relatives; Mahulu's wife is my brother-in-law's daughter; (laughter). Have not formed an opinion.

M. Kawahiaho—Am related to Kamukoo, who is one charged and am his bondsman; believe what has been said outside is all wind; could give verdict according to the law and the evidence.

P. D. Kellett—Have formed opinion and did not consider it right for him to sit; had a fixed opinion, evidence could not change.

A. N. Gilman—Have formed no opinion; could give verdict according to evidence.

Mii (by Mr. Rosa)—Had talked with different people; did ask the clerk if it was possible to place his name on jury list; asked a number of people if they would not like to be on the list; do not think that he said that he had authority to put them on; gave the name of one now on the jury to the clerk, Bipi-kane. Did not have any conversation relative to guilt or innocence of prisoner; do not know person mentioned, "produce him and then I can tell."

Mr. Rosa now brought forward Joe Helehuhi, proprietor of the Waikiki milkshake, who at first denied knowing him, and did not remember having any conversation, finally remembered both. Another person is now produced and juror admits having conversations but denies having expressed opinion that defendant was guilty.

The Court said that the want of genuineness shown by the juror, and lack of candor in that he does not tell the whole truth right out induces the Court to regard him disqualified.

S. W. Kaikua—Was objected to by Mr. Rosa on the ground that he was a Government school master.

juries on previous cases; would not affect my verdict in this case.

The defense challenged peremptorily Sam Kamaku. The Court thereupon instructed the clerk to draw another juror and the clerk stated that the panel was exhausted. His Honor instructed the marshal to obtain a talesman.

The marshal then called the name of Kalauakua and it being responded to the juror took his seat and was sworn.

Mr. Hatch examined the last juror called on and the answers proved satisfactory to the prosecution.

In answer to Mr. Rosa, the juror stated that people had come to him and told him what had occurred and he also knew what had occurred but he did not express opinion to any one.

At 1:20 the defense accepted the jury. The Attorney-General challenged peremptorily S. C. Dwight and he was rejected, the vacancy being filled by Helehuhi Kapu; the examination of juror was satisfactory to the prosecution and defense.

The Attorney-General now challenged Lohelani, Kean being called as talesman, and soon after Napapahulu received the challenge of the prosecution, Kalauakua being called to fill existing vacancy. This talesman was put through a searching examination by the Attorney-General, finally resulting in the admitting by the juror that he was defective in one ear and therefore the Attorney-General objected on the ground that a juror should hear both sides.

His Honor now stated to the jury that it was the desire of the Court not to have partisans of either side of the jury. They had all been examined carefully and he would say that if any of the jurors felt in their hearts that they could not try the case by the law and the evidence he would wish any such to disclose it by rising.

There was no response from the jurors but Mr. Rosa noted an exception to the remarks thus made by the Court.

At 1:55 Attorney-General Ashford commenced the address for the prosecution, to the jury, saying in substance that they were called here to do the highest duties in citizenship and they were expected to try this case with the utmost impartiality. It was of equal interest to each side that impartial jurors be impartial. If the prisoner is innocent it will most highly subserve the interests of justice that he be acquitted the same occurs if he be guilty that he be convicted. The Crown wants no verdict that cannot be obtained beyond any reasonable doubt. The specific charge now brought is conspiracy. It is a fact well known that Mr. Wilcox has been prosecuted and is under indictment for treason at the present time. But the Government considers that enough blood has already been shed and do not want more lives to be forfeited for the misdoings of that day. In accord with this policy of leniency thus spontaneously put forth the charge against Mr. Wilcox has been reduced from treason, the highest penalty for which is death, to conspiracy the highest penalty for which is only imprisonment. The Government in its ideal character is incapable of feeling resentment against any person or thing, and feeling no resentment there is no desire that the prisoner should suffer further penalty than such as would vindicate the majesty of the law and forbid further occurrences of like nature. The members of the Administration have determined to make a practical exhibit of their disposition to mercy in accordance with this policy of leniency in this case by the charge presented.

The learned counsel then presented an outline of what the prosecution intended to prove ending his remarks at 2:30 o'clock.

At this point His Honor instructed the remaining members of the jury to retire until such time as they would be officially notified, but requested that they make themselves cognizant of the progress of the case by morning visits.

DIRECT EXAMINATION.
Robert N. Boyd (sworn). Know Wilcox a number of years; know of an organization formed by him; the first meeting was at Iwilei; I was there; found three sailors, the man Lutta and two others; do not know the two by name; Loomens was there; Wilcox and I the only Hawaiians present; there the new constitution and oath of secrecy were produced and read; all there took the oath, eight altogether; Wilcox administered the oath; the language during the meeting was English and Italian; meeting was postponed from then until the next Sunday; the next meeting was on top of Punchbowl at 4 p. m. on a Sunday; same parties present at Punchbowl meeting; could not formulate plans to obtain funds; the next meeting held one week after; held at house of Princess Liulioakalani; about 8 p. m.; same crowd was present as at Punchbowl meeting; fourth meeting held at that same place; all but one were present; at the fourth meeting Wilcox said he had means to carry out object; the person who was carrying out the object was Wilcox; he would get it from Chinese; nothing else discussed; the officers were elected at first meeting at Iwilei, Wilcox, president; Loomens, vice-president; fifth meeting was on the 10th of July; held at Palama; I went about 8 p. m.; Wilcox resided there; meeting was held in dining room; the Princess was not then living there; I was placed on guard in the front of the house by Wilcox; I had a revolver; there were about thirteen present; three foreigners, viz.: Loomens, Lutta and a sailor; ten others present; there were thirteen guns elected; Winchester, Springfield and Sharps; saw them in Wilcox's room; I bought two of the rifles from Dr. Brodie; Wilcox gave me the money; I took them to Palama; it was proposed that night to take possession of the palace; the arms were all prepared; it was proposed to have a new constitution and under martial law, and the King was to restore the old constitution; Wilcox told me this privately; the proposition to go was made at this meeting, but it was defeated; meeting adjourned until the next night; it was held at the same place and was the sixth meeting; Loomens was present and was the only foreigner; He Fon was present; J. K. Baker was there that night; Wilcox sat at the head of the table; I insisted that the movement be made that night; John Baker was sworn that night.

To Mr. Hatch—I tried to insist on our going, but the majority objected; we were carrying arms to get into the palace; thought that we could secure the Ministry; the rifles were to be used if necessary; we were to go to the palace and if we found the King there we would get him to sign the new constitution; if the King did not agree I don't know what Wilcox was going to do; meeting of the 20th was held at Palama, same place; when I came in I saw seventy or eighty people gathered there; there were about fifty-five rifles and thirty-six bird guns; Wilcox had changed lodgings and was living in the servant's quarters; distributed lead, powder and caps to people present; I loaded guns with powder and lead; I distributed the bird-guns; Wilcox told me to look after the guards; five guards were posted; Wilcox gave order to start; started between 3 and 4 in the morning; there were three squads; Wilcox told me to take charge of the third squad, but I did not, so went behind with a lantern; when we came to palace Wilcox ordered the gates to be opened; that not being done Wilcox said to get ready, they got ready by pulling back the triggers of the guns; got inside; formed two lines on left hand or mauka side of palace; heard palace soldiers cock their guns. Wilcox then called Parker down and spoke to him and Parker went back; we then got cannon and placed it in position; there was a large lot of ammunition found in different kinds of shells, time fuses and percussion; the cannons were fired during the day; I got shot in the leg by parties in the head and laid down; I also afterwards went to the Bungalow; Wilcox was there all the afternoon; he and others were shifting their positions to escape shots.

CROSS EXAMINATION.
Was not in command; coming to palace Wilcox told me to do so but he went ahead and I was in the rear; we went to Italy together; were there several years at school together; I reported before to Minister Godfrey Brown as a graduate of a naval academy; don't know that the Government asked me to show my diploma; Mr. Brown remarked I was expensive in coming back; my brother told me not to join this organization; between the 11th and 20th of July had a difficulty with my brother; do not remember that he threatened to report me to the Minister of Interior; he knew nothing about the secret society; he blamed me for being so much with Wilcox; I don't remember that he said, "Bobby, I know that you are up to, trying to dethrone the old man"; don't think my education abroad had done me any good; my brother knew nothing about the society; if he had the Ministers and everybody else would; the object was stated at Iwilei meeting; it was not my suggestion that death should be the penalty; do not remember that I suggested the death of Lutta for breaking faith; don't know that the oath was to any party; it was only a pledge, I call it an oath.

At this stage of the proceedings Mr. Rosa stated that he desired to ask regarding the charge of treason which was yet pending over his client. He had understood the Attorney-General to imply to the jury that he proposed discontinuing that charge and go to trial on the lesser charge now presented. He would ask that the charge of treason against his client be cleared of record.

Attorney-General Ashford said that he could not say that he would drop the charge, can't tell when it may be advisable to pursue it. In sailor's parlance he did not propose to discontinue the charge. The life of the defendant was not in danger on this charge.

His Honor did not see what difference it could make at this stage to withdraw the charge of treason.

Mr. Rosa considered that it made considerable difference to his client. He thought on simply the ground of fairness alone the primal charge should be withdrawn.

The Court stated that it was willing to do its duty in every respect, but it did not have the power to order the Attorney-General to nolle pros. charges. His Honor then concluded that the day's proceedings might end here, and after cautioning the jury against converse on the matter on trial permitted them to depart to their homes.

His Honor then called the case No. 97, Manuel Perry, larceny. Appeal from lower Court. Defendant retracts former plea of guilty and pleads guilty, and is thereupon sentenced to ten days imprisonment and a fine of $25.

The Court was then adjourned until Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

POLICE COURT.
MONDAY, Oct. 21.
R. W. Wilcox, charged with conspiracy in the first degree, waived examination and was committed for trial to the Supreme Court. A. Rosa attorney for defendant.

Wm. Mullen, charged with larceny of $72, the property of Ching Him, on or about October 14th, pleaded not guilty and was remanded until October 22d.

Hoan, the Manila man charged with larceny of coin and clothing from a circus teller employee, was further remanded until the 22d inst.

Seven drunks forfeited bail of $6 each. Three drunks were fined $4 and $1 costs each.

Two assumpsit cases were settled out of Court.

FILTER PRESSES.
PAUHAU PLANTATION,
HAWAII, March 9, 1888.
Risdon Iron and Locomotive Works, San Francisco.
Gentlemen—We have used two of your 30-chambered Filter Presses this season. They are convenient, easily handled and are working entirely to our satisfaction. I can recommend no improvement in the design.
Very respectfully yours,
(signed) A. MOORE,
Manager Pauha Plantation.

HENIA, Sept. 28, 1889.
MR. JOHN DYER, Agent Risdon Iron Works,
Honolulu.
Dear Sir: Please ship us one of your 30-chambered Filter Presses, 240 square feet surface, same as the one supplied us last season, which I am pleased to say has given us entire satisfaction. Yours truly,
GEO. R. EWART,
Manager Heela Agricultural Co.

These Presses are made extra heavy for high pressures, occupies a floor space of 11x 4 ft., and presents a filtering surface of 240 square feet. A limited number in stock in
