HALF THOUSAND MEN TO FIGHT WAHIAWA FIRE

Flames Trending Toward Waianae and Waipio---Battle Kept Up Nights.

"Waialua will send up to the Wahiawa fire tomorrow morning 200 men. Waipahu plantation will send 100 men and there will be about 100 men on the ground from the Wahiawa dam. With all these men we will likely make a business of it tomorrow. The fire is more on the Waipio side than on the Waialua side. It is upon the Waianae-uka and Waipio lands. With the prevailing wind it is more liable to go in that direction."

W. W. Goodale, manager of Waialua plantation, gave the foregoing message to the Advertiser by telephone last night. Putting it with other reports below, it may be assumed that a force of about five hundred men will be engaged today in beating back the flames.

At noon yesterday official word was sent from the spot, to the effect that the Wahiawa forest fire was then thought to be about under control. What was feared the most was a change of wind which might give new direction and vigor to the flames. Forester Hosmer received the message from Field Foreman Haughs, who is directing the fire-fighters.

AFTERNOON REPORTS.

Great billowing clouds of smoke and an ugly yellow glare in the northwestern sky yesterday gave notice to Honolulu that the forest fire in the hills that form part of the watershed back of Wahiawa was still burning. From the top of Punchbowl the fire seemed to have almost reached the head of the Kalihi valley, although as a matter of fact it was seventeen miles away, and from Waikiki, where perhaps the plainest view was had, it could be seen slowly eating its way toward the top of the Koolau range, the backbone of the island of Oahu, and a dense curtain of smoke had drifted back on the wind and lay like a curtain covering the upland where is located the Wahiawa colony.

A telephone message, received at the Advertiser office at 4 p. m. yesterday by way of Pearl City, said that the fire was about under control, notwithstanding the threatening appearance of the column of smoke. The fire, at that time, had burned over a thousand acres of land, not all of it being forest. A great part of the burned district, in fact, was pasture land, where the grass was dry as tinder by reason of the long drouth.

The fire, at that hour, was traveling, not very fast, up along the south part of Kaunohua gulch, above the Wahiawa dam. This in the district of Waianae-uka. The fire was burning directly in the teeth of the strong trade wind, which condition made it easier for those who were fighting it.

Every man in the colony of Wahiawa was out fighting fire all day yesterday, and during the greater part of Saturday night as well, and a force of men was sent up also from Waialua plantation. Late in the afternoon these fighters were reinforced by men sent from Pearl City.

The fire fighters were building a trench around and in front of the advancing flames. If this can be completed before any change in the wind comes, the fire will be checked.

The glare of the flames lit up the whole western sky on Saturday night, and again last night.

THE OFFICIAL REPORT.

Ralph S. Hosmer, Superintendent of Forestry, last night gave the following record of the Wahiawa fire to the Advertiser:

"The fire at Wahiawa started on Thursday but when reported here next day it was mentioned as having been got under control by midnight. Byron O. Clark's son and men from the Wahiawa dam had done splendid work in fighting the flames. It appears the fire broke out afresh on Friday afternoon.

"It was Saturday morning when I got word that the fire had started again. I sent David Haughs, the field foreman of the department, out to take charge of the fire-fighting. He reached the place about 4:30 and has been in charge of the work since then.

"Yesterday morning, in company with Byron O. Clark, I called on W. A. Bowen of Castle & Cooke, Ltd., representing both Waialua plantation and the Wahiawa dam, and officially asked him to have laborers turned out to fight the fire, also to notify W. W. Goodale, manager of Waialua plantation, of the emergency. Mr. Bowen sent by Mr. Haughs a letter to L. G. Kellogg, manager of Wahiawa Water Co., telling him to order out all his force.

"I have just heard from Mr. Haughs. He says he got to Wahiawa about 4:30 yesterday and at once went up to where the fire was. He found that there had been 15 or 20 men battling with the flames the previous night. There were between 50 and 60 men at his command yesterday. Mr. Kellogg had furnished about 40 men. W. R. Buick, manager of Leilehua ranch, had come over with eight men and Byron O. Clark was there with about ten men.

ALL ARE CONTENTED IN LEPER SETTLEMENT

Majority of Patients Opposed to Wine and Beer Privileges---High Surf Keeps Many From Landing.

With the band playing patriotic airs and the decks jammed with people who were glad to be once more off the billowy deep, the steamer Kinau pulled into her slip at 11:10 last night after her trip to the leper settlement with the members of the legislature and others. All, with the exception of those who were seasick, agreed that the voyage was an ideal one. In fact the sea was so smooth that it was a great surprise to find the surf on Molokai so high that it was dangerous work maneuvering the small boats and a great number of the passengers did not go ashore at all.

The Kinau sailed from Honolulu at 10:45 Saturday evening and after an easy trip arrived off Kalaupapa at about 4 o'clock yesterday morning. The ship lay off shore until 6:15, when the first boat was sent ashore. It was seen that it was very rough, the surf dashing high on the beach. It was with great difficulty that the boat containing President Pinkham of the Board of Health got ashore.

Seeing the pillkias with the first boat, Captain Freeman decided to seek another landing place and steamed along the coast to Kalawao, where it was also found to be too rough to land. The steamer next proceeded to Waikolo. Here it was also very rough, but nevertheless the House Committee and two other persons got ashore and went overland to the settlement. After landing these people the Kinau went back to Kalaupapa and as the surf had abated somewhat it was decided to risk an attempt at landing the passengers. About seven boatloads, including all the government officials, got ashore when an accident put a stop to the further landing of the passengers. A boat was dashed by the force of the waves against a rock and one man was thrown into the water. A woman was also injured by being hurled against the boat. After this occurrence no more people were carried ashore.

The settlement band was on the beach to welcome the visitors and its music was supplemented by the work of the Territorial band under Captain Berger. After landing, the investigating committee held a session at Pauahi hall and another in the square in front of the superintendent's cottage. At these sessions complaints were heard and suggestions for the improvement of conditions at the settlement were made.

Complaints, however, were remarkable for their fewness. There were no general complaints made, the only ones being about small matters. A request was made for additional medical attendance and another for the improvement of the water system. Some were opposed to the development of more water in order that taro might be cultivated. They contended that more taro patches would lower the sanitary standard of the place. The question of a wine and beer license was brought up and on a rising vote of the lepers present the scheme was opposed by a majority.

The guests then lunched at the home of Superintendent McVeigh and were royally entertained. In the afternoon the various institutions at the settlement were visited and many took the ride to Kalawao. The Kinau sailed from Kalaupapa at about 6:30 p. m. arriving in Honolulu at 11:10 p. m.

One thing that was noted was the regard in which Superintendent McVeigh is held by his charges. One man said yesterday: "He is in reality our father. Before we made complaints to the superintendent and they were not heeded. Now that Mr. McVeigh has come to us any one, Hawaiian, haole, Porto Rican, Pake or any other nationality may go to him with a complaint and it will be investigated." On the whole the lepers were well satisfied with the year.

There were said to be over four hundred passengers on the Kinau, a record-breaking crowd.

QUINN SUNDAY LAW PASSES BOTH HOUSES

The Matter Now Goes Up to Governor to De- fine His Position on the Measure.

The Quinn Sunday law, with the Senate amendments, passed the House on Saturday, and now goes to the Governor for final determination as to whether the more liberal Sunday shall have the approval of both the legislative and executive branches. If it should be vetoed, there is a strong probability that it will be passed in both Houses in despite of that.

The Senate has taken up the County Act with some earnestness, and promises to send it back to the House late in the coming week with so many amendments that the fathers of the measure will have some difficulty in recognizing it. And, after that, will come the conference. There are so many probabilities in the case, indeed, that no prophet can yet predict what will happen to the bill.

LEGISLATURE--TWENTY-SEVENTH DAY.

THE SENATE.

The Senate rushed through its regular order of business on Saturday morning because it had been determined to hold no meeting in the afternoon, and the members wanted to get some work done on the County Act. And, at that, there was not a great deal accomplished, because the Senators ran against the salaries snag. Achi raised the point, which he had urged with some earnestness on Friday afternoon, that the Legislature had no right to fix salaries of county officers. He moved to strike out the item of the salary of the deputy sheriff of Hilo, making the point that for the Legislature to attempt to make appropriations for counties was in contravention of the Organic Act. He likewise raised again the point that the counties were corporate bodies and that for the Legislature to attempt to fix county salaries violated the rights guaranteed to corporations by the constitution of the United States.

He urged that all salaries should be fixed by the County Supervisors, otherwise there would be no county government and the County Act would be invalidated.

GIVEN TO A SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Dowsett feared, with Achi, that the salaries plan in the bill carried the whole danger to the County Act. On his motion, amended by Paris, the whole chapter relating to salaries was referred to a special committee consisting of Dowsett, McCandless, Hewitt, Kalama and Gandall.

Chapter 10, relating to county elections, was passed as in the bill, with the exception that the section referring to the election of the sheriff was

TRENCH CUT ROUND KONA FOREST FIRE

Forester Hosmer heard from Mr. McDougall in South Kona by Saturday's mail, stating that he had cut a fire trail completely around the new fire. Flames had broken out again in the older part of the burned district on the northern side. That part was, however, practically burnt out.

When Mr. Hosmer was on Hawaii he requested the Sheriff to send out warnings against the starting of fires during the continuance of the drouth. He was pleased to see by a Hilo paper that Sheriff Searle had distributed cautionary notices broadcast.

AN OLAA CAULIFLOWER.

Martin Porter, a resident of Olaa, sent to the editor of the Herald on Tuesday as a rebuke for his statement that small farming is not a success in this part of the Territory, one of the handsomest specimens of cauliflower ever seen in Hilo. Its surface measured a trifle more than fourteen inches in diameter and the stalks were tender and juicy. It is said that Mr. Porter is as successful in growing this vegetable as Mr. Lycurgus. Last week the Herald mentioned Lycurgus and his vegetables in connection with the arrival of the Enterprise. It is merely a coincidence that the Porter cauliflower should be sent to the editor of this paper just twenty-four hours after the arrival of the steamer. If Mr. Porter can grow such vegetables and in quantity there is no reason why they should be imported from the coast.—Hawaii Herald.

Mrs. Frear's Browning class will meet at Engle's at 8 o'clock this evening.

HOLDS OUT

for West Point.

The letter following, written by Delegate Kuhio, is explanatory of the competitive examination called by him for boys desirous of entering West Point and Annapolis:

House of Representatives, Washington, January 14, 1905.

Alatau T. Atkinson, Esq., Superintendent of Public Instruction:
My Dear Mr. Atkinson: Replying to your favor of December 24, I find upon investigation that our preliminary examinations for the West Point cadetship should properly have been held last summer.

I have, however, secured from Gen. Ainsworth, the military secretary, consent to have a special examination held at Honolulu on May 1, which will both enable us to go ahead with your present plan of preliminary examinations, and will also save the necessity of having my nominee and two alternates come to the mainland to take any part of their examinations.

It will therefore be satisfactory for you to proceed with the competitive examinations throughout the Territory, having them ready, if possible, to mail the results to me on February 14, or at least on February 21.

I shall also have the nominating of another cadet for the Naval Academy at Annapolis this spring, and I request that if possible the competitive examination for this position be held at the same time and place as those for the military nomination. The official examination of the candidate and the two alternates whom I shall name for the Naval Academy, will be held in Honolulu on April 18.

In addition to the name and grade of each competitor, there should be given also his age, weight and height. If any boy desires to be considered for the Naval Academy, in case he does not win first place for West Point, or vice versa, let him clearly state that in a note to accompany the data in his case.

The results of the competitive examination for the Naval Academy should also be mailed to me if possible at the same time as those for West Point.

Copies of the general regulations for examination and entrance to both academies are mailed you under separate cover, and it would seem desirable that a summary of their general conditions should be published in the Island papers.

Thanking you for your kindness in arranging this competitive examination, I am

Very truly yours,
(Signed) KALANIANA'OLE,
Delegate to Congress.

It will be seen that the clear inference from this was that the lad who passed the best examination would get the prize. Why, otherwise, should there be a competitive examination? No boy would waste his time in preparation merely for the mental discipline of undergoing a difficult examination. He could use it to more advantage in getting ready for something that held out substantial hope of future preferment.

ORIENTAL ASCENDANCY IN HAWAII DISCUSSED

The appeal of Gov. Carter of Hawaii for the admission of more Chinese laborers into the Hawaiian Islands was followed within a few weeks by the publication in Honolulu papers of some interesting correspondence between the Merchants' Association of that city and the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association. The correspondence cast new light upon Gov. Carter's appeal to Congress, and it also furnishes one with valuable information concerning the present developments in the character of the population of the Islands. In so far as the student of Pacific problems considers the future, when the Russo-Japanese war shall be ended and Japan shall enter upon her subsequent career as a great Pacific power, the Hawaiian situation must interest him.

The Merchants' Association of Honolulu, desiring cheaper freight and passenger rates between Hawaii and San Francisco, sought to interest the Sugar Planters' Association in the scheme for better transportation facilities. The sugar planters proved lukewarm, whereupon the Merchants' Association, under date of November 2 last, arraigned them as being indifferent to the question of white predominance in the Islands. The Sugar Planters' Association officially disclaimed any such feeling, but it left the question raised by the Merchants' Association without meeting the wishes of the merchants and without revealing the slightest faith in the cause of white supremacy in so far as it could be based on the factors of business and numbers. Perusal of the correspondence, after noting Governor Carter's appeal in his last annual report for more Chinese immigration, must convince anyone that the sugar-planting interest, which managed the campaign for the annexation of the Islands to the United States, is now thoroughly reconciled to the Orientalizing of the archipelago; and, what is of more significance, it is evident that Oriental, especially Japanese, are rapidly gaining an overwhelming numerical ascendancy. How easily this numerical ascendancy may develop into a local political ascendancy is also made clear.

American citizenship, it follows that in the rising generation in the Hawaiian Islands by far the greater proportion of those destined to be voters are of Japanese and Chinese birth. As there were 9000 native-born Asiatics in Hawaii, according to the census of 1900, it follows that about 6000 of them within a few years will have a voice in the elections and will have political power in the government. In this fact there would be no cause for apprehension if the schools and the surroundings in Hawaii could be depended upon to Americanize the younger generation of Asiatics. But there may be considerable doubt as to the future in precisely that particular. It is certain that the drift now seems to be toward Orientalizing rather than Americanizing the Islands owing to the absence of immigration from the United States, while the stream of new-comers from the opposite direction never ceases its flow. The planting interest, indeed, is now desirous of restocking the sugar lands with Chinese coolies, and it has won the Governor of the Territory over to its view.

In presenting these facts one need not be moved by prejudice against Asiatic immigration nor against the Asiatics themselves. It is impossible, however, not to be impressed by the complete failure of the glowing prophecies made a few years ago concerning the anticipated supremacy of the white race in the Hawaiian Islands. Supreme they are in a governing and capitalistic sense, but the whites year by year seem to be losing ground in other ways. We are being confronted by the fact that Nature really works for the predominance in those islands of Oriental races and that if the political disposition of the archipelago were to be determined by the relative racial aptitude and preference for life there, Hawaii would be Japanese long before it would be American. In the twentieth century this fact may have a bearing upon the relations between Japan and America in the affairs of the Pacific.—Springfield Republican.

WAILUKU COURT TERM

Chairman Kekoikai Sets Republican Clubs Their Task.

MAUI, March 18.—The court of the Second Judicial Circuit, with Hon. A. N. Kekoikai as presiding judge and attorney Ah Heen as acting-attorney general continued in session all the week.

The grand jury, with R. A. Wadsworth as foreman and J. J. Corell as clerk, which has now been in continuous session for eleven days, is expected to render a report today.

The trial jury met on Thursday and has disposed of several cases already. Some of the work of the court is as follows:

On the 10th Lin Kui Fa of Lahaina pleaded guilty to selling spirituous liquors without a license and was fined $100.

On the same day the Awana liquor case from Makawao was discharged.

John da Costa of Makawao pleaded guilty to violating the Wide Tire Act and had his sentence suspended till next term.

On the 11th, S. T. Harry of Wailuku pleaded guilty to riding over a bridge faster than a walk and had sentence suspended until next term.

Nonaku and four other Japanese were found guilty of assault and battery. Nonaku was fined $25, three others $6 each, and the remaining one $1.

On the 15th Dr. T. Uemura pleaded guilty of violating the bridge law and had sentence suspended till next term. Pomakali pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with a weapon and had sentence suspended for six months.

On the 17th Ah Moi of Kipahulu was found guilty of selling spirituous liquors without a license, sentence to be announced today. Kanakahi was acquitted of the same offense, and Ah Sin You's case, for illicit liquor selling at Kipahulu, was nolle prosequed.

On the 15th the grand jury reported no true bill in regard to David Keku-ewa, charged with burglary, and Auwe-okalani of Kanaia, charged with perjury before the Board of Registration.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

The March evening of the Makawao Literary Society took place on St. Patrick's Day at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Lindsay of Paia. A large number of the district's people were in attendance, many of them adorned with green—the ladies ornamented with ribbons and the gentlemen sporting neckties in honor of the good priest.

The following program was excellently rendered:

Selection on the Pianola.
Irish Song—S. R. Wondle.
Solo—H. W. Baldwin.
Selection on Pianola.

Farce entitled "Tell Your Wife," with the following dramatics personae:

Miss Ogden—Miss Steele.
Miss Ellis—Miss Ethel Smith.
Mrs. Joyce—Miss Cunninghamham.
Morton Elwood—W. O. Aiken.
Dr. Joyce—D. T. Fleming.
Mr. Pulsifer—Ed. Peck.

NOTES.

The town clock of Wailuku situated on the steeple of the Hawaiian church is out of repair. The hat was passed round in the courtroom during the jury session last Tuesday and $30 to be used on the clock was collected within a few minutes.

Chairman A. N. Kekoikai of the Republican district committee issued orders during the week for the various precinct clubs to hold meetings to consider which of the two county bills (Senator Achi's or the Cooper commission's) should be recommended to the legislature. Intelligent action in this matter is somewhat difficult owing to the fact that copies of neither bill are available for reference. As far as is known, Wailuku possesses only one copy of the commissioner's bill but none of Achi's. Outside districts have not even this advantage.

It is reported that the Hana store and club buildings are soon to be moved from their present sites to positions nearer the mill of the Hana plantation.

The Maui Lodge of Free Masons held a meeting in Castle hall, Wailuku, on Monday night and will hold another this evening for the purpose of conducting second degree work.

Tuesday evening a Japanese exhibited moving pictures of the present eastern war at Maunaloa Seminary, Paia. These exhibitions are given to raise funds to construct a Japanese church at Paia.

W. W. Hall, president of the Nahiku Rubber Co., has been visiting in Hama-kua, Makawao and Wailuku for 10 days past.

The Ladies' Reading Club met at Mrs. F. W. Hardy's, Makawao, Thursday afternoon. W. W. Jacobs was the author read.

The W. O. Aikens are at "Idlewild" near Olinda.

Barkentine Amazon, now at Lahaina, cleared today for Portland and will probably sail next Monday.

On Monday the steamer Hawaiian left Kahului for Hilo, bearing away 34,200 bags of Maui sugar.

Weather—Cool and dry. The army worms are injuring pastures on the western slope of Haleakala.

A TRAINED NURSE

After Years of Experience, Advises Women in Regard to Their Health.

Mrs. Martha Pohlman of 55 Chester Avenue, Newark, N. J., who is a graduate nurse from the Blockley Training School, at Philadelphia, and for six years Chief Clinic Nurse at the Philadelphia Hospital, writes the letter printed below. She has the advantage of personal experience, besides her professional education, and what she has to say may be absolutely relied upon.

Many other women are afflicted as she was. They can regain health in the same way. It is prudent to heed such advice from such a source.

Mrs. Pohlman writes: "I am firmly persuaded, after eight years of experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that it is the safest and best medicine for any suffering woman to use."

"Immediately after my marriage I found that my health began to fail me. I became weak and pale, with severe bearing-down pains, fearful backaches and frequent dizzy spells. The doctors prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I would bleed after eating and frequently become nauseated. I had an acrid discharge and pains down through my limbs so I could hardly walk. It was as bad as a case of female trouble as I have ever known. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, however, cured me within four months. Since that time I have had occasion to recommend it to a number of patients suffering from all forms of female difficulties, and I find that while it is considered unprofessional to recommend a patent medicine, I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for I have found that it cures female ills, where all other medicine fails. It is a grand medicine for sick women."

Money cannot buy such testimony as this—merit alone can produce such results, and the ablest specialists now agree that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most universally successful remedy for all female diseases known to medicine.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles.

The needless suffering of women from diseases peculiar to their sex is terrible to see. The money which they pay to doctors who do not help them is an enormous waste. The pain is cured and the money is saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Experience has proved this.

It is well for women who are ill to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. In her great experience, which covers many years, she has probably had to deal with dozens of cases just like yours. Her advice is free and confidential.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

THE BIG SHARK DIES LEAVING TURTLE ALONE

Chelonian Seems to Get More Out of Life When
It Has Tank to Itself.

The shark is dead again. That sounds paradoxical, but is susceptible of very simple explanation. The shark at the Aquarium is a kind of impersonality, like the old time kings of France—an abstraction, but a real fish all the time, just as the king of France was an abstraction and at the same time a man, sometimes of extremely human attributes.

It is the aim of the Aquarium people to keep a shark in the big tank all the time, just as it was the aim of the French people to keep a king in the big palace of Versailles all the time—until, one day, they grew tired of the expense and ate him up with all his family. The Aquarium people do not eat sharks, and perhaps never will, and so the parallel ends here.

However, as to the shark being dead again. The shark, as has been said, is a kind of impersonality, an institution; an abstraction. It is the aim to have a shark on hand all the time, and to that end a Japanese fisherman is retained who goes out in his boat beyond the Reef to catch the monster fish. When he does catch one, he tows it down through the surf to the Aquarium. Up to this point it is merely a shark, just like any one of thousands of others in the seas about these islands.

Arriving at the Aquarium, the big fish is hoisted into the tank by means of a skid, and at once it becomes The Shark—an impersonality, an abstraction, an institution. It may live in the tank for a day or a year. It may, as one did, survive for more than 50 days without eating and become an object thereby of added interest to the curious—or it may display the utmost voracity and live only for a few hours.

Whatever its fate or its whim, it is always The Shark. And, as The Shark, it dies and lives and dies, again and again. So, you see, it is entirely proper, in a grammatical sense and as a question of fact, to say that the Shark is dead again.

The shark, it was a rather large one, died on Wednesday. Its successor has not been captured yet, but the Japanese is cruising for it and is apt to come in at any moment. In the meantime, the big turtle is alone in the tank—save for a few small fishes—and seems to get a great deal more out of life than when it had the shark for company.

It was a bright and sunny day at the beach, with a strong trade wind blowing and the waves running very high, and the surf was filled with bathers and canoeing parties who were having the time of their lives. There were some very fine exhibitions of surf riding and coasting, particularly by the large crowd in the surf in front of the Moana.

A TIMELY CAUTION.

Territorial Forester Hosmer desires the Advertiser to say that, considering how very dry it is, all fires should be watched after they are supposed to be out. All persons who want to burn brush or dry grass should be especially careful, Mr. Hosmer urges, to see that the fires are kept strictly under control until completely burned out. They ought to be absolutely sure that no live embers remain in a burned pile of anything before leaving it unattended. It would be better still if people refrained from setting out fires altogether while the drouth lasts, where there is the slightest possibility that the flames may spread to any vegetation not intended for destruction.

TROPICAL IMPORTS.

Tropical products are becoming each year a more important factor in the importations of the United States, and reached in 1904 the highest total in the record of our foreign commerce. A statement just prepared by the Department of Commerce and Labor, through its Bureau of Statistics, shows that the total value of tropical products brought into the United States during the calendar year 1904, including the receipts from Hawaii and Porto Rico, aggregated 465 million dollars, exceeding by 30 million dollars the highest record of any preceding year.

The growth in tropical importations has been very rapid, far exceeding that shown by the general importations. In 1870 the total imports of tropical and sub-tropical products amounted to 140 millions of dollars; in 1880, 242 millions; in 1890, 298 millions; in 1900, 335 millions, and in 1904, 465 millions. Meantime the general imports into the country increased at a much slower rate, being in 1870, 461 millions of dollars; in 1880, 697 millions; in 1890, 823 millions; in 1900, 829 millions, and in 1904, 1,036 millions, exclusive of 36 million dollars' worth of products shipped from Hawaii and Porto Rico. In 1870 tropical products formed 30 per cent of the total imports of the United States; in 1904, they formed 43 per cent. Thus it will be seen that the general imports of the United States have increased during the last quarter century by 575 million dollars, or 125 per cent, while the imports of tropical products have increased during the same time by 325 millions, or 232 per cent. In other words, of the total increase of 575 millions in the general imports of the United States since 1870, near two-thirds should be credited to importations of tropical products.

Even these figures do not show the real increase, because of the great reduction in prices of many of the articles forming this huge total. The value of the sugar of tropical production brought into the country in the past year, for instance, was 114 million dollars, as against 70 million dollars in 1870; but the number of pounds brought in from the Tropics last year was more than four times as much as in 1870. The total number of pounds of tropical sugar brought into the country last year was nearly 5 billions, including that from Hawaii and Porto Rico, while the number of pounds imported from the Tropics in 1870 was less than a billion and a quarter.

The value of the coffee brought in last year was $8 million dollars, as against 24 millions in 1870, yet the quantity last year was 1,117 million pounds, as against 235 million pounds in 1870.

The average cost per pound of the sugar brought into the country in 1870 was about 5 cents, while the average cost last year, including that brought from Hawaii and Porto Rico, was about 2 1-2 cents per pound. In India rubber, however, conditions are reversed, the average cost per pound of the 10 million pounds brought in in 1870 being about 36 cents per pound, while that of the 62 million pounds brought in last year was over 70 cents per pound.

The per capita consumption of tropical products by the people of the United States has also increased since 1870, having been in that year but $3.63, while in 1904 it was $5.69, and this, too, despite the great fall in prices meantime, as above noted. Based upon the high prices prevailing in 1870, the importations of tropical products last year would represent a total valuation of nearly or quite one billion dollars.

The tropical islands of the United States contributed nearly 50 million dollars' worth of the 465 million dollars' value of tropical products brought into the country last year. Over 25 million dollars of this was from Hawaii, nearly 13 million dollars' worth from Porto Rico, and more than 10 million dollars' worth from the Philippines. In 1895 they contributed 19 million dollars' worth to the tropical requirements of the country.

Labor-saving inventions, such as cane-loaders and cane-cutters, become more important to the sugar industry as the prospects for a constant supply of manual labor grow more precarious. This has been realized by the sugar planters for years past, as evidenced by their having long ago hung up liberal prizes for mechanical devices to reduce the labor of cane harvesting. Several kinds of loading apparatus have been brought forth, but the united acceptance of any particular one by the planters has yet to be declared. Cutting machines have also been designed, but it would appear that in these less progress has been made than in loaders. There can be no doubt, however, that American inventive genius, applied in earnest to the problems, will create as great a revolution in sugar-cane farming as it has done in temperate zone agriculture on the mainland.

Plenty of grit and staying power are needed just now by the Hawaiian banana growers, to enable them to overcome the fierce assaults of Eastern shippers in the San Francisco market.

QUINN SUNDAY LAW
PASSES BOTH HOUSES

to the return of ballots to the Secretary of the Territory after counting was referred to the Dowsett special Committee.

Chapter 11, relating to election contests, passed as in the bill, and chapter 12 was under discussion when the Senate adjourned for the day.

In the first part of the session, Bishop introduced a bill to license emigration agents, and Kalama one to prevent the wanton destruction of food ashes. Both passed first reading and were referred to the Printing Committee.

WANTS THE AMENDMENTS.

Achi introduced a resolution asking Secretary Atkinson for a copy of the act of Congress amending certain sections of the Organic Act relating to counties. It was adopted.

Consideration of the County Act was deferred, and the regular order came on the second reading of House Bill 73, relating to the jurisdiction of circuit judges. It passed and will be read for the third time on Wednesday.

House Bill 103, to increase the pay of jurors and fix the rate at $2.50 per day, passed second reading. It will be read for the third time on Wednesday.

House Bill 24 passed first reading, as did House Bill 49.

Senate Bill 41, the bill to create forest reserves, on second reading, was deferred until Monday.

Senate Bill 43, the prison commutation bill, passed second reading, and will be read for the third time on Monday.

Then, on motion of Dickey, the prison parole bill that had been separated from the commutation of sentence measure was read for the first time. It will have its second reading on Monday.

Senate Bill 51, to regulate the admission of attorneys-at-law, was laid on the table.

RECESS APPOINTMENTS.

A message from the Governor gave a list of the appointments made by the Governor during the recess of the Legislature. Consideration of the matter was postponed until Tuesday.

House Bill 81, the statute of limitations, was read for the second time and passed. It will be read for the third time on Wednesday.

House Bill 82, forbidding dismissal of legal causes for insufficiency of bonds, passed second reading and will be read for the third time on Wednesday.

Senate Bill 88, to create a police life insurance and pension fund, passed second reading and went to the Judiciary Committee.

Senate Bill 87, to compel the construction of fire escapes, passed second reading and went to the Public Lands Committee.

Senate Bill 85, giving owners of pastures a lien for pasturage, passed second reading and went to the Judiciary Committee.

Senate Bill 86, relating to the protection of livery stock, passed second reading and went to the Miscellaneous Committee.

From the Conference Committee on the bill to display the flag on school houses, Bishop reported in favor of abandoning the Senate amendments, and the bill passed.

The Senate, at a little before noon, adjourned until Monday.

THE HOUSE.

On Saturday afternoon the Capitol was thronged with friends and relatives of the unfortunates at the Molokai Settlement, anxious to make the trip with the Legislature, and in the lower room at the Makai-Waikiki corner of the building Coelho held court and an eager, throbbing crowd, composed principally of women, pressed forward to advance their claim to passes on the Kinau.

Meanwhile, at the opening of the House's session Kaimo took advantage of the unusually large audience to oppose the Sunday bill, as introduced by Quinn, and as amended by the Senate in minor particulars.

SUNDAY BILL PASSES.

He attacked the bill as originally passed by the House, but was called down by the Speaker, who confined him to criticisms of the amendments introduced by the Senate. The bill carried by 22 to 8 on the following vote:

Ayes—Andrade, Aylett, Coelho, Cox, Lopp, Fernandez, Greenwell, Hain, Harris, Holstein, Kalawala, Kaleopu, Long, Mahelona, Paki, Quinn, Rice, Sheldon, Shipman, Smith, Waterhouse, Knudsen.

Noes—Broad, Kalino, Kaniho, Lewis, Lilikalani, Mahikoa, Nakuna, Pula.

HOMESTEAD LANDS.

An interesting report was submitted by Land Commissioner Pratt who wrote the House that while he wished to assist settlers in every way and would like to comply with the petition of the residents of Kau for the opening of the Hionaa and Kalaiki lands for homesteaders, this could not be done, as Hionaa is under a 15-year lease by the Hutchinson Sugar Company, which lease expires January 10, 1906, and Kalaiki is under a 25-year lease to the same company, the lease expiring September 8, 1906.

"As neither of these leases contains a clause allowing land desired for settlement purposes to be taken from the leased area," concluded the Commissioner, "you will readily understand that nothing can be done in the matter at present."

The House was notified of the assent of Governor Carter to the changing of the name of the Waikiki road to Kala-kana avenue.

The Committee on Education reported that the item for $200 for a tank at Kawaihae school house had been passed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to the Public Works Department asking him to proceed with the work.

The Committee on Education recommended the tabling of Mahelona's bill to repair the Kaawa school house, lately burnt, as soon as possible, for the reason that the Superintendent of Public Instruction had already assured the committee that the work would be attended to with despatch.

CLUB TAX RAISED.

The Finance Committee reported Long's bill to tax social clubs with important amendments. The license fee is raised from $100 to $200 and the following clause is added, a clause to the definition of the purposes of a social club should not be "formed for evading or defeating the purpose of the general license laws of the Territory."

The Committee on Agriculture and Forestry reported favorably on Holstein's bill to protect the Hawaiian goose during breeding season.

The Reference Committee reported on a number of Senate bills recommending their reference to different standing committees. It also recommended the tabling of some of Kaniho's bills. Kaniho objected, moving the report referred back. His motion was lost.

The Conference Committee on Long's bill to promote the display of the United States flag reported favorably on the proposition that the Superintendent of Public Works be allowed to sell flags at cost to the public, a section eliminated by the Senate. The report was adopted.

At 12:20 the House adjourned until Monday.

Miss Prescott's Interrogative.

Editor Advertiser: Why, we all know that the Superintendent of Public Schools of Hawaii is, figuratively speaking, a comprehensive and unbridged dictionary of the entire department, and knows thoroughly every school from Dan to Beersheba. Not a question can be asked him concerning any little school work going on at the foot of any most remote gulch or in any little valley that he cannot tell you all the details, even to where the teacher buys her beef and milk. It is as easy for Mr. Atkinson to keep school and to keep schools going as to put on his hat or to be what he is, a perfect gentleman. It is now second nature with him and he sees, at a glance, the entire situation. He is an expert and even something more than that term implies—he is an enthusiastic artist and a creator of new ideas and new expedients with reference to his department.

Why should a better be changed for a worse, or the idea even for one moment canvassed? We are putting a simple interrogative.

ANNE M. PRESCOTT.

A GRUESOME FIND.

While Dr. Russel was superintending the clearing of land at his place in Olua last Tuesday his men came across the skeleton of a man lying in the timber. By the side of the bones was an umbrella and from this it is believed the remains are those of a Chinese or Japanese. The doctor gave it as his opinion that the skeleton had been there for at least ten years. Sheriff Searle went to the place yesterday where the skeleton was found for the purpose of making an investigation.—Hilo Herald.

ELECTRIC LIGHT AND HOSPITALITY.

CHEERFUL, brilliant light does half your entertaining for you. It helps guests to see a joke as well as a smile.

It enables a hostess to see if her guests are happily assorted. And in a large room it brings people nearer. It annihilates formality just as it does distance.

You can't talk merrily and wittily through shadows. In a half-lighted room, conversation, by an actual law of physics, takes on a sombre tone. Grayness and sadness and quietness seem to be the three melancholy graces that preside over some firesides; but they are never the household deities where electric lights are used, for a kind, clear, vivid light wipes out dingy corners and solemn reflections, and lack of human sympathy.

GOOD TESTS FOR DIAMONDS.

If you doubt the genuineness of your diamonds, or stones which you contemplate purchasing, it is not necessary to submit them to an expert—by studying the following methods of testing these gems you may become your own expert.

For the first lesson, take a real diamond and an imitation. Drop them in glasses of water. The imitation will blend with the water and become almost invisible, while the real one will be distinctly visible, shining out whitely through the liquid. Dry and clean the two stones, and on the flat side of each put a tiny drop of water. On the real the drop will hold its globular form and can be led about with a pin point. The drop on the glass one will spread.

Study the two stones with a magnifying glass. The facets of the false one are even and regular. On the other they are of varying sizes. The reason for this is that a diamond cutter with a good gem will sacrifice symmetry to weight, preferring to leave some slight irregularities in the planes, and edges than to reduce the stone's value. The material in a false stone being of little value, the cutter makes as finished a job as he can of it, the appearance counting for more than the stone itself.

If a real diamond be used as a miniature reading glass, aided by a large magnifying glass, a tiny dot on paper appears clear and clean. Substitute the false stone, and several points, or one badly broken one, will be seen owing to unequal refraction.

Then you can try the familiar experiment of scratching a sheet of glass. Because your stone will scratch does not prove its genuineness, however. Try to break the glass evenly on the scratch. No other stone can cut through the outer skin of a sheet of glass and give certainty to an even fracture like a diamond.

Your true diamond is proof against the hardest file, but the instrument will easily scratch any imitation that has ever been made.

Having scratched your pretty bit of glass till it is worthless, drop it and the diamond into hydrofluoric acid. Before long the glass will be dissolved, but the diamond will suffer not at all.

Then there is still another experiment. Take a bit of stuff with red and white markings, pass the stone to be tested over it, and closely observe the result. If the stone be an imitation the colors will be distinguished through it; if it be a diamond no difference of color will be appreciable.

A genuine diamond rubbed upon wood or metal, after having been previously subjected to the rays of the electric arc, becomes phosphorescent in the dark; this cannot be said of any of the imitations. If the stone to be tried be covered with borax paste, and after being well heated in the alcohol flame, dropped into a glass of water, the proof will be instantaneous. The glass imitation will fly into bits, while the genuine stone will not be affected. Finally, try to crush between two hard plates a diamond and an imitation and learn the difference.

After the diamond, the sapphire is the hardest stone; with her more beautiful sister, she possesses also the quality of resisting the attacks of the file, but she is, however, cloudy in appearance and of a milky hue. The topaz is slightly yellowish and surrenders to the cutting teeth of the file. There are a great number of white diamonds, but a pure, clear, transparent stone without a shade of color is more rare than is often supposed.

Besides white diamonds, there are some which exhibit the shades of red, blue, green, yellow, brown, black and pink. Heat sometimes causes a diamond to change its color, and after a time the color thus acquired becomes permanent. Yellow diamonds, or those commonly denominated "off color," furnish the greatest variety of shades and some of them exceed in beauty all other stones of that color.

Specimens of canary-colored diamonds are by no means rare. They may almost be said to be common. A pink or rose-colored diamond is of great value, and the red diamond, surpassing the ruby in its magnificent coloring, is considered the most beautiful of all the precious stones, being exceedingly rare. The one bought by Paul, Czar of Russia, weighed 10 carats and cost him two and one-half million francs. A perfectly black diamond is almost as rare as a red one.

For beauty the blue stones come directly after the red diamonds. Those possessing the deep blue, and in this respect resembling the sapphire, are indeed most beautiful gems, differing from the sapphire only in quality and by the magnificent fiery colors peculiar to the diamond. The only true blue diamonds come from the mines in India. The varieties of green are not so rare as the blues, reds, blacks and pinks, but those of grass green hue like the beautiful emerald are seldom found. Where they do exist, however, they surpass in brilliancy the finest emerald.

In place of the Brazilian diamond, which of late years has become quite scarce, Cape diamonds of much inferior value and brilliancy are often sold. To be able to distinguish between these gems is an accomplishment possessed by the few.—Columbus Press-Post.

COMMISSION MEN COMBINE

War on Coast Against Island Banana Growers.

HILLO, March 16.—A local banana grower has received a letter from his agent in San Francisco showing the methods adopted by commission men on the coast which is the cause of such small returns. An extract from the letter is: "It's a pretty tough proposition—this banana business now. The Eastern banana people are killing the price on Hawaiian fruit by simply unloading several carloads at the time the S. S. Enterprise arrives and selling their own fruit at very low figures. Their bunches are twice the size of ours and sell at about $1.00 a bunch. This results in knocking the price of Hawaiian bananas down to nothing. Hilo growers should organize and come into this market solid. If they do not they are going to be beaten right along. You are at the mercy of the commission men and things are getting worse." Some shippers last month only realized thirteen cents a bunch and one man's net proceeds on a $300 shipment was $8.00.

SHIP HOLDS THE RECORD.

For a wind-jammer, the ship John Ena, W. A. Madsen, master, holds the record for the best run from Shanghai to the Hawaiian Islands. The vessel arrived off port Wednesday afternoon and was brought to anchor inside the buoy by the tug Chas. Counselman about 9 o'clock in the evening. The ship made the passage from Shanghai, China, to Hilo, a distance of 4,929 miles, in 22 days. A part of the voyage was made in steamer time, 310 miles being made in one day. During the first eighteen days only a distance of 240 miles were made, but during the remainder of the trip nearly 300 miles a day was covered. The daily average for the entire trip was 214 miles a day. The John Ena comes in ballast to load sugar for Philadelphia. On her arrival at the Quaker City, the vessel will have made a complete circuit of the world. Leaving Philadelphia on August 10, laden with 114,625 cases of kerosene, the voyage around Cape Good Hope was made in 144 days. The ship cleared from Shanghai on February 14, and passing the equator enjoyed two Mondays in one week. The John Ena was built in Glasgow, Scotland, in 1892, and for a long time she sailed under Hawaiian registry. She is a steel bottomed vessel, 312 feet long, 48 feet in breadth, 25 feet deep and having a tonnage of 2706. Captain Madsen, who has been in the ship for over nine years, is right proud of the record trip of the John Ena. Upon his arrival at Hilo he cabled the owners of his arrival and received in reply the two words, "Good boy."

NEW CANE LOADER.

W. H. Lambert, formerly superintendent of the Hilo Railway Co., has recently completed a model for a cane loader which, in the opinion of men who know, will be a great addition to the equipment of a plantation. The inventor claims that he can load three bundles of cane, weighing 300 pounds each, per minute. The model shows a machine something on the style of a pile driver. From this is stretched a wire rope 300 feet long and the cane is carried anywhere within that distance to the cars. It is easily moved about the field and it requires but five minutes' work to make the change. Some time ago the Planters' Association in Honolulu offered a prize of ten thousand dollars for a cane loader that would work to the satisfaction of the agents and managers. Mr. Lambert took his invention to Honolulu last week for the purpose of exhibiting it to Manager Renton of Ewa plantation, who is chairman of the committee having the matter in hand. It is said that the Lambert loader will be inexpensive to build.

WILL BUILD NEW MILL.

W. R. Castle, and Attorney D. L. Withington of Honolulu and Prof. Geo. H. Mead of Chicago University, accompanied by his small son, were visitors last week as the guests of Mrs. E. G. Hitchcock on School street. The party were on Hawaii for ten days, visiting the two Kona, ascending Mauna Kea and stopping at Kilauea on the trip overland from Kailua. After leaving Humuulua sheep station, the guide lost his way and led the party ten miles past the Volcano House down into Kau. They arrived, however, at the crater hotel on Tuesday night about dark, much fatigued by their long journey, but descended into the crater to witness the lava flow, which was quite active. All were much pleased with the grandeur of the scenery, both of Kilauea and the higher elevations. They took the Kinau Friday morning for Honolulu.

Mr. Castle has formulated a scheme of building a co-operative mill near Napoosoo to grind the cane of the small individual planters in that vicinity. Mr. Castle has sought to encourage cane growing in the two Kona, believing it means the upbuilding of that side of the island. Hence his purpose to erect a central mill where the output of small planters for miles around could be ground.

Some years ago cane was grown between Napoosoo and Hookena at Mr. Castle's solicitation, and while it was never harvested, Mr. Castle reimbursed all of the owners of this cane, as he had asked them to grow it, thinking that by the time it would be ready to be harvested that there would be a mill ready. Mr. Castle has not given up the idea, and there are men like former Manager Hewitt of Naalehu, who think the plan a good one. He only wants to hear from his brother, J. B.

Castle, who is in the East negotiating for funds, machinery, etc.

W. R. Castle's scheme is to build a sugar mill at Kealahou bay, near Napoosoo, which would be able to grind the cane that could be grown upon the land of the old Kona Sugar Co., and certain lands called Keel, Honanau, Keoken and Kalae, which lie between Napoosoo and Hookena, in South Kona. One of the chief causes of the failure of the Kona Sugar Co. was the inability to get the cane to the mill at a reasonable cost, owing to the long distance that some of the cane had to be transported. Were a mill erected at Napoosoo the cane could be dry flumed at a low cost, because of the steep incline of the surrounding hills.

Should this proposition go through the new plantation would be a large one, as there would be much new land planted to cane in South Kona which was not available to the old Kona Sugar Co. Citizens of North and South Kona are taking keen interest in the project.

HILLO NOTES.

Mrs. C. B. Wells and Miss Wells, wife and daughter of Manager C. B. Wells of the Wailuku Sugar Co., Maui, accompanied by Mrs. C. D. Lufkin and Miss Read of Sacramento, Cal., made up a party to the volcano last week. They are at present registered at the Volcano House and will return by the Kinau on next Friday.

A Scotchman writes to the Herald that Mr. Parkes, whose name was mentioned some time ago in connection with a wrestling match with the Japanese champion, objects to his name being used by Dr. Jones without authority, but that he will wrestle any one in the Territory in any style desired for any sum above one hundred dollars.

The American bark Foohing Suey, Willits, master, arrived Sunday afternoon from Honolulu, making the voyage in twelve days. The vessel lay off East Point an entire week, beating in against adverse winds. She will load sugar for Delaware Breakwater.

There was a large gathering at the armory on Tuesday night, the occasion being an official inspection by Col. McClellan, U. S. A., who came up for the purpose on the Hawaiian. The men were put through the regular tactics and were complimented by the Colonel at the close. The Hilo band was in attendance during the evening.

J. C. Roberts of Washington, Iowa, with his bride, are spending two months in the islands. During their stay in Hilo they were the guests of James Pomeroy and family on School street.

ONE OF THE TRIUMPHS OF MODERN SURGERY—By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in one-third the time required by the old treatment. This is one of the greatest discoveries and triumphs of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by all dealers. #### THE NEW EXCUSE.

"Why, James Henry Phudd!" exclaimed his wife, as he lumbered up the stairs at three a. m., "what in the world do you mean by coming home at this hour and in such a condition?" "Now, m' dear," explained James Henry, carefully, "you just calm y'self. I been wiz Deacon Brown an' Parson Jones, de'catin' new sh'loon on Main street."—Life.

SWELL IRON BEDS

The steamer Hawaiian brought us a big shipment of beds—all the way from the manufacturers in Chicago. Some are all brass, and some colored with heavy brass trimmings. We have fine beds in the Vernis Martin finish.

Cribs, with high sides, and all brass.

JOE KELLEY'S GREATEST CATCH.

HAD TO CLIMB A FENCE TO CAPTURE A HOME-RUN HIT, AND THEN TOMMY DOWD DID THE SAME TRICK ON HIM.

In the language of the seas, it was blowing half a gale. The wind soured mournfully through the treetops and the fleecy mantle covered the earth. It was the night of the weekly meeting of the Fan Club, but only half a dozen members showed up for the season. The Star Rooter, the Elongated Enthusiast, the Fat Fan, the Man Who Never Missed a Game, the Veteran Bleacherite and the Ancient and Honorable were the only ones to brave the blasts for the usual baseball powwow. There was silence deep and long for half an hour, when finally the Star Rooter arose from his leather-covered couch, gently drew the curtain aside, peered out into the night and gasped: "Boys, I guess to-morrow's game's postponed on account of snow."

"Baseball, eh?" chuckled the Fat Fan. "Say, don't you ever get anything else in that thick tank of yours?" The Star snorted. "Baseball?" he almost yelled. "And why not? Ain't Johnny McGraw gone hotfootin' down to Hot Springs to get in trim for the next rag-huntin' expedition, and didn't Clark Griffith, him who leads the Tan, O'Shaners, send a white heat wire to Frank Farrell sayin' he'd be here on New Year's Day? Ain't them signs of the season and ain't it high time for all the followers of the great and glorious to buckle on their armor and get ready? I should say it was. I dunno what right you got to butt in when I make a remark touchin' on the national sport anyhow."

"I thought we all come here to talk over the past on the diamond," interjected the Man Who Never Missed a Game, "and not to get in any argument. I'm tellin' you the chair to-night, and if any member's got any stories to relate about great achievements with the cat and ball now's the time for him to spit 'em out. If not 'he game will be called off on account of the storm and the absences fined 50 cents apiece for not reportin' for practice."

"That's what I was a-sayin'," retorted the Star Rooter. "Soon's as I make a remark about baseball the Fat One over there tries to get in a row with the empire and break things up. I got a good story or two to let out of my kick to-night, and with the permission of the Chair and the promise of Fatty that he'll keep quiet, I'll reel 'em off. If he's mad because it's snowin' what'd he join the club for? A little thing like seven or eight inches of snow never freezes me nor any other good old dyed-in-the-wool rooter."

After this shot at his loyalty the Fat Fan said he was only teasing, and the Chair having granted permission, the Star Rooter began to unfold his tale.

"I wafted into Baltimore once when Hanlon's old Orioles was settin' the world afire," began the Star, "and one day I see the two greatest ketches ever made on a ball field. May be you think that's stretchin' it some, but it's a fact, copper riveted and steel bound. The Birds was a-flyin' at a awful fast clip then, and what a bunch they was to stack up against, to be sure. There was Keeler and Kelley and Jennings and McGraw—say, without a-mentionin' any more names, wasn't that a combination likely enough to make any pitcher sick afore he ever started to warm up? Well, on this particular day along comes old Chris Von der Ahe's St. Louis shines to take a shot at the Orioles, and I might just as well say that Hanlon had that game packed away in salt afore the Westerners got inside the grounds."

"The night precedin' this little bit of pleasantries a cyclone got on a rampage in Baltimore, and cuttin' loose in great shape tore down the left field fence of Union Park. That was a sort of calamity, but early in the mornin' a force of men was set to work jackin' it up, and when it was time for the game to start the fence was raised to a angle, as the scientific say, of about 45 degrees."

That fence would have made a good toboggan slide if it was long enough, but that's neither here nor there. Well, St. Louis goes first to bat, and Tommy Dowd—you all remember Tommy—he was the first man up, and Sadie McMahon was doin' the twirlin' for the Orioles. Two balls and two strikes was called on Tommy, when suddenly he ketches the ball square on the trademark. I looks up to see where the thing was a goin' and as I ketch sight of it curling out toward left field way I softly whistle to myself. 'Over the fence and one run for the Dutchman's outfit!'

"But this was a error for me, all right, and no complaint comin' to the official scorer either. The minute the ball was over the fence, runs with the ball. Of course, everybody expected to see Joseph stop when he reached the fence and let Mr. Ball go over, but that's where everybody, includin' me, was mistaken. With his eye still glued on the sphere, Kelley strikes the boards and he bounces up that inclined plane just like he was a goin' upstairs in a hurry to get to bed. Holy mackerel! My eyes almost popped out of my head. Everybody was a-hollerin' 'Look out, Joe! You'll go over!' but, of course, Kelley never heard 'em. Just as he reaches the top of the fence Kelley swings around, same's as if he was on the ground, trus up one hand, grabs the ball and skiddoes back to Mother Earth."

"Maybe that crowd didn't yell! Maybe it didn't, and then again maybe it did. Why, say, I just got up on my hind legs and howled till I was black in the face, and everybody else done the same thing. Talk about a ketch. That was a lallapaloosa and no mistake. I seen baseball ever since Harry Wright took the Cincinnati Reds around the country, and I never seen anythink like it in my life. Well, St. Louis goes out one, two, three, and when Kelley comes in from the field he gets another reception, the crowd makin' all the noise that was left in 'em. McGraw leads off for the Orioles, and he goes out from short to first. Keeler puts up a fly which the third baseman gobbles, and then up to the plate steps Sir Joseph. He gets the glad hand again, and, of course, he wants to make a hit."

"Seems to me 'Red' Ehert, with his hoochie-coochie delivery, was handin' 'em out that day for St. Louis, and Red he puts on steam and tries to strike Joey out. Kelley, you knows, always lets the first good one go by, and a strike was called. Then he makes a tremendous swing at the ball and 'din' hit nothin'. Strike No. 2. But the third! Say, he lands on the leather with a crack that made the old man's heart go pitty-pat, and 'way she sails just like Tommy Dowd's stinger. 'Way over left field, headed straight for 'over the fence. I just chalks down a run for Kelley on my score card and looks up to ketch a last glimpse of the ball when I sees Dowd doing the same stunt Kelley did. Tommy was mountin' that inclined plane like as if he had wings, and the crowd was a-hollerin' its breath."

"Say, you may take me outside this room and roll me into a snowball—may I never see Johnny McGraw pullin' on the halliards raisin' that pennant next April at the Polo Grounds, if Tommy didn't do the same identical stunt Kelley did. That St. Louis greyhound whips right up to the edge of the fence, wheels around, sticks out a mitt and pulls the ball out of the clouds. Then he slides gracefully back to where the green grass grows all round. You may believe me or not, but that gang nearly took the roof off the grandstand. The racket was awful. You'd have thought another cyclone had hit old Balty. And me a-settin' there like a mummy. I couldn't open my trap. I was so dum-founded. Me a-reelin' baseball at that time about 25 years and then to tumble in on a game and see the two greatest ketches ever made, all in one day. Say, one of 'em would have been worth the price of a season's ticket, but two!"

"Well, I just crosses out the run I had chalked down for Kelley and sat through the game like a mut, and that's no joke. The wind was clean gone out of my sails. When the game was over and the Orioles had breezed in I walks down onto the field to my old friend Hanlon and I says, says I: 'Say, Ed, I never see anything like them two ketches on the fence in all your born days?' And Ed says, 'Nope, old man, and I never will again.'"

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS.

Do Not Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles. A Honolulu Citizen Shows You How to Cure Them

Many people never suspect their kidneys. When they have a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness. When urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disease. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles because they are certain to lead to more serious ills.

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. It cures all troubles caused by weak or diseased kidneys.

John E. Bush of Punchbowl st., this city, is attached to the Hawaiian interpretation staff at the Supreme Court. He says: "I had kidney trouble, and, acting on the recommendation of a friend, who had tried your invaluable remedy, I got some of Doan's Backache Kidney Pills at Hollister Drug Co.'s store. They were just as beneficial to me as they had been to my friend. It is well the virtues of these pills

HALF THOUSAND MEN TO FIGHT FIRE.

"Twenty or thirty men will stay on watch with Mr. Haughs tonight, and about 300 men from Waialua will be on the ground to-morrow."

Mr. Haughs sent the message by the man who brought back the rig. He said he thought about noon that the fire was practically under control if the wind did not change, but everything was so dry that there was danger of a strong wind fanning the embers and driving them in new direction.

"He estimates that the fire had run up the mountain slope for about a mile, and that the swath it cut was from one and a half to two miles wide. The character of the forest attacked consists of kukui, ohia and koa woods."

"The fire is between the forks of the main stream in Kankonahua gulch, back of the Wahiawa colony, where the big irrigation ditch comes out. It had traveled from the southern side of the north fork to the Waialua side of the south fork."

FIFTY CENTS

IN some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion is very rapid. For this reason we put up a fifty-cent size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children. In other conditions the gain is slower—health cannot be built up in a day. In such cases Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment; a food rather than a medicine. It's a food for tired and weak digestions.

Rheumatism

If your muscles are sore, bones ache, joints feel stiff, and if pains dart through your body, it is probably rheumatism. Purify your blood, get out all the rheumatism poison—no need of your suffering in this way.

We have the following letter from Mr. R. J. Kowald, of Manassah, Mo., Australia. Mr. Kowald also sends his photograph.

"I suffered greatly with rheumatism, which laid me up for a long time. I tried a great many medicines, but they were of little or no use. A friend who had taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla induced me to try it. I thought it would be just like all the other medicines. But there was a great and pleasant surprise in store for me, for after taking one bottle I was better. The swelling began to go down, the pains began to leave me, and I felt better in every way. After taking only five bottles I was completely cured. While I was taking the Sarsaparilla I also took Ayer's Pills to keep my bowels in good condition."

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

There are many imitation Sarsaparillas. Be sure you get "Ayer's."

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT FOR EIGHTEEN MONTHS

Different Divisions Well Equipped—Progress of Forestry—Aid From Planter Association and Federal Experiment Station.

What the Government did to promote agriculture and forestry for eighteen months to the end of the year 1904 is told in one of the bulkiest public documents presented to the Legislature. This is a book of 170 pages, being the "First Report of the Board of Commissioners of Agriculture and Forestry of the Territory of Hawaii, for the period from July 1, 1903, to December 31, 1904." The Board's report proper occupies 32 pages, the rest of the volume consisting of reports of officers.

There are five commissioners appointed by the Governor, a sixth being the Superintendent of Public Works—ex officio a member of the Board and its executive officer. On the 1st of January each year one commissioner retires. Through the reappointment of the retiring member (Mr. Thurston) on January 1, 1905, the Board retains the same membership under which it was organized on May 18, 1903, except for a change in the personnel of the Superintendent of Public Works, C. S. Holloway having succeeded H. E. Cooper. The Board consists of L. A. Thurston, president; C. S. Holloway, executive officer and secretary; W. M. Giffard, A. W. Carter, James D. Doje and Jacob F. Brown. The details of work are subdivided among standing committees.

TAKES NEW QUARTERS.

"Upon the organization of the Board," the report says, "it found itself quartered in two rooms in the basement of the Executive Building, dark, stuffy and entirely inadequate in every way." The corrugated iron building at the government nursery on King street—theretofore used as laborers' quarters, and for fumigation and storage purposes—was forthwith renovated and converted into comfortable quarters, at an expense of $4264. It was occupied by the Board in February, 1904, and includes a museum room for showing collections of woods and fruits, a library in which meetings of the Board and other meetings are held, offices for the superintendent of forestry and superintendent of entomology, entomologist's laboratory, insect breeding room, store room and office of clerk and stenographer. Being only ten minutes distant by electric car from the center of the city, and situate in the large yard constituting the nursery, the building is admirably located and adapted to its uses.

THE LIBRARY.

After succinctly stating the powers and duties of the Board, the report describes the library that has been established. This contains approximately 2848 books, pamphlets and magazines on agriculture, forestry and general subjects, and 494 on entomology, a total of 3342. In addition to this the Hawaiian Stock Breeders' Association has deposited with the Board its library of 16 bound volumes and 138 pamphlets and magazines. This makes a grand total of 3496 prints, of which a detailed classification is given.

Besides the Hawaiian Forester and Agriculturist, a monthly magazine started in January, 1904, under the editorship of Commissioner Giffard—of which the report says "it has proved all and more than was hoped for it"—the Board has issued six special publications.

AFFILIATIONS.

"The Board has maintained most cordial relations with the National Bureau of Forestry at Washington, the Federal Agricultural Experiment Station at Honolulu and the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association," the report says. "The latter organization has been, and still is most public spirited and generous in its assistance in support of the entomological division of this Board. It has for years paid half the salary of the superintendent of entomology. During the first year of the past period it paid one-half the salary of three of the four entomologists in the service of the Board. Even now, when it has established an elaborate entomological station of its own, it still pays half of the salary of two of the three entomologists in the employ of the Board."

Of the station maintained by the planters, the report says, "It is an institution of which any community might well be proud."

It is acknowledged that the Federal Experiment Station is practically conducting the work of the agricultural division of the Board, the report saying:

"The value of the quiet but systematic work which is being carried on by this branch of the Federal Government is not fully appreciated in Hawaii. Much of the work of the staff does not produce immediate results; but as time goes on, the value to the Territory of a body of trained men who are devoting their entire time to studying ways and means of promoting diversified industries will become more apparent."

"It must be remembered that although the chief cost of the station is borne by the Federal Government, the benefits derived therefrom inure wholly to the people of this Territory. The assistance heretofore rendered to the station by the Territorial Legislature has shown valuable results and the Board are of the opinion that the agricultural interests of Hawaii will be subserved by liberally assisting the Federal station in the future."

REGULATIONS.

The report mentions five regulations adopted under different circumstances, to prevent the importation of infected plants, and noxious animals, birds, etc., into the Territory.

FORESTRY.

On November 25, 1903, the Board appointed Ralph S. Hosmer as Superintendent of Forestry, on the recommendation of Federal officials. Mr. Hosmer is a graduate of Harvard and of the Yale Forest School, holding the degrees of Bachelor of Agricultural Science from Harvard and of Master of Forestry from Yale. He has also been an instructor in the Yale Forest School. Since 1896 he has been connected with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, serving at Washington, D. C., and in Maine, New York and California. Mr. Hosmer arrived in Honolulu on January 13, 1904, and began work immediately.

District foresters, serving without salary, have been appointed on all the islands, viz.:

Kauai—A. S. Wilcox, Andrew Moore, G. H. Fairchild, F. Weber, J. M. Lydgate, Francis Gray.
Oahu—P. R. Isenberg, W. F. Dillingham, A. M. Nowell, Andrew Adams, L. L. McCandless, C. Bolte, John Herd.
Molokai—G. C. Munro.

Maul—L. Barkhausen, H. P. Baldwin, C. B. Wells, H. A. Baldwin, L. von Tempel, Dr. J. H. Raymond.
Hawaii—E. E. Olding, F. W. Carter, D. Forbes, Geo. Ross, John Watt, Julian Monsarrat, G. C. Hewitt, Franz Buchholz, W. R. Castle, J. D. Paris, John Maguire.

A large part of Mr. Hosmer's time at the outset was required to enable him to become acquainted with the Territory. Yet, up to the date of the report, two forest reserves had been established—one the land of Kaipapa, Oahu, containing 913 acres, and the other an area of 17,000 acres in North Hamakua, Hawaii, lying between Waipio valley and Kohala district. Several other reserves on the four principal islands, were being surveyed.

For want of funds no forest rangers had been appointed and the only care the reserves were getting was that given them by friendly disposed private parties living in the vicinity.

"Many of the Hawaiian forests are in such inaccessible locations," the report mentions, "that no return other than the effect on climate and the water which they conserve can be expected from them; but in other localities there is no reason why, in the early future, a considerable revenue should not be obtained from forest products."

No fencing had been done by the Board for want of an appropriation, but more than 200 miles of wire fencing has been constructed by private owners, to keep live stock out of forests.

Reforestation has been conducted at Tantalus and Nuuanu valleys, Oahu, though at the latter place tree planting was discontinued in 1904, the winds being too fierce there for forest growth. After some of the surviving trees are large enough to act as a windbreak, it is suggested, planting may be resumed there. The forest at Tantalus is doing well. It is seeding freely and the fruiting need for planting elsewhere on the islands. Private tree planting is going on at many places. G. N. Wilcox and a number of planting and ranching companies are named as tree planters on a large scale.

Mention is made of the discontinuance in 1904 of the system of free distribution of trees and plants at the government nursery, and the substitution thereof of a system of importing and locally collecting seeds and plants to be sold at cost price.

A collection of specimens of island woods had been secured, containing 44 varieties, which are cut so as to show both a segment and a longitudinal section of the logs. One-half of each cut surface is polished and half left unpolished.

MR. HOSMER'S REPORT.

Forester Hosmer's own report, covering pages 32 to 63 inclusive, is exceedingly interesting. It is replete with statements of the general principles of forestry and practical advice upon the care of forests and the most advantageous methods of utilizing their products. What is most striking, perhaps, in the report of the Superintendent of Forestry, is the abundant evidence it affords of the mastery he has gained of the details of his jurisdiction in the comparatively short time since he entered upon his duties. The descriptions he gives of the various forest areas throughout the islands indeed form a valuable, and without a readable, contribution to the geographical and topographical data of the Territory of Hawaii.

Concluding, Mr. Hosmer outlines the plans for the ensuing period, mentioning several forest reserves desirable to be established and emphasizing the need of provision to pay men for looking after reserves established. Mr. Pinchot, head of the Federal Bureau of Forestry, has promised to send a man here to help in the work of seed collection and advice and assistance.

"The widespread sentiment in favor of forestry which exists throughout the Territory," Mr. Hosmer's closing words run, "makes the outlook an extremely favorable one, and with an appropriation by the Legislature of an amount which the importance of forestry work in the Territory justifies, the coming year ought to be one notable in the annals of forestry in Hawaii."

Reports from David Haughs, field foreman, and the honorary foresters throughout the group are packed with important information. Mr. Haughs gives the following figures showing distribution of plants from the nursery from Oct. 9, 1903, to Dec. 31, 1904:

ENTOMOLOGY.

The report gives the professional records of the chief members of the entomological staff, consisting at present as follows: Alexander Crow, superintendent and inspector; A. Koebele, consulting entomologist; Jacob Kotinsky, assistant entomologist, and C. J. Austin, inspector's assistant.

Reports appear from R. C. L. Perkins, lately assistant entomologist; G. W. Kirkaldy, acting superintendent for a time; Alexander Crow, superintendent, and Jacob Kotinsky, assistant. Seven pages are devoted to a list of beneficial insects collected by Messrs. Koebele and Perkins in Australia.

AGRICULTURE.

Under the head of agriculture an account is given of the introduction and propagation of the Bluefields banana, showing its superior qualities for export purposes. There is also a reference to the promising experiments being conducted in tobacco culture by Jared G. Smith, Director of the Federal Station. Mr. Smith's own report, occupying 11 pages at the end of the book, contains a statement of the expenditures of the Territorial subsidies to the station. It also treats of tobacco, bananas, mangoes, the avocado (or alligator) pear, citrus fruits, cacao, rubber, plant breeding, silk, coffee, horticulture, and irrigation. Director Smith would like appropriations from the Legislature for the station as follows: Tobacco work, $3000; silk culture, $1500; coffee, $1500; cold storage of fruits, -1000—all per annum a total of $7000; also, for a green house, $3000, and a reservoir, $10,000. All of which would make an appropriation of $27,000 for the biennial period.

SELF CURE NO FICTION!

MARVEL UPON MARVEL! NO SUFFERER NEED NOW DESPAIR, but without running a doctor's bill or falling into the deep clutch of quackery, may safely, speedily, and economically cure himself without the knowledge of a second party. By the introduction of the New French Remedy, THERAPION, a complete revolution has been wrought in this department of medical science, whilst thousands have been restored to health and happiness who for years previously had been merely dragging out a miserable existence.

THERAPION No. 1 in a remarkably short time, often a few days only, effects a cure, superseding injections, the use of which does irreparable harm by laying the foundation of stricture and other serious diseases.

THERAPION No. 2, for impurity of the blood, scurvy, pimples, spots, blotches, pains and swellings of the joints, gout, rheumatism, secondary symptoms, etc. This preparation purifies the whole system through the blood, and thoroughly eliminates all poisonous matter from the body.

THERAPION No. 3, for nervous exhaustion, impaired vitality, sleeplessness, and all the distressing consequences of dissipation, worry, overwork, etc. It possesses surprising power in restoring strength and vigor to the debilitated.

Is sold by principal Chemists throughout the world. Price in England 2/6 and 4/6. In ordering, state which of the three numbers required, and observe that the word "THERAPION" appears on British government Stamp (in white letters on a red ground) affixed to every package by order of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners, and without which it is a forgery.

THE SCHOONER WAS IN DISTRESS.

Another unexpected visitor called at this port yesterday and she also was bound for the Orient. This was the American schooner Wilbert L. Smith, 30 days out from Vancouver with a load of lumber for Osaka, Japan. She put into port in distress, her water supply having become tainted with brine. Fifteen hundred gallons of water were taken on here. The vessel had an eventful voyage down. The only craft sighted was the schooner Rosamond, which was four days out from the Islands on her way to the coast. The lumber aboard the Smith is all of the very finest sort. There are many great beams, 24 inches square and 60 feet long, without a blemish. The captain understands that the lumber is to be used in the construction of docks. Captain Ross was anticipating a fine lot of fresh beef and vegetables on his arrival at this port, but he had not reckoned with the Sunday laws. The result is that the Smith will have to do without such food supplies this trip. Captain Ross said: "This is the first American port that I have visited where I had the money to spend and could not spend it for the necessities of life." The schooner sailed for Japan at noon.

VESSEL'S BUSY NINE MONTHS.

ASTORIA, Or., March 4.—The American barkentine Koko Head, which arrived in last evening from Honolulu, reports an uneventful passage of sixteen days. The schooner is a comparatively new vessel, one of the most handsomely fitted up of her class that ever entered the harbor and a remarkably fast sailer. She sailed from Port Townsend to Alga Bay, South Africa, thence to Natal for orders, thence to Newcastle to load coal for Honolulu, where she remained thirty days, discharging, and thence to the Columbia river, making the entire trip in nine months and eleven days. The run from South Africa to Australia was made in thirty days, reducing the record by three days.

RATES SOARING UPWARD.

The French Bark Francois is now out 183 days from this port for Runcorn, and it is feared that she has met with a mishap. Today her rate was increased to 60 per cent. The British steamer Freshfield, 30 days from Norfolk for Hamburg, went up to 85 per cent, and the British steamer Mars, 35 days from Pensacola for Leer, went up from 40 to 85 per cent.—Examiner of March 9.

DRYDOCK BUSY.

The dry dock at Hunters Point will be busy this week. This morning the mammoth liner Mongolia was put on and will be cleaned and painted. Tomorrow the steamer Mariposa will go on the small dock, and on Friday the steamer Sierra will follow the Mongolia.—Examiner, March 9.

SCHOONER HELD BY MUD.

The schooner Annie E. Smale, which has been lying idle in San Francisco Harbor for over a month, has been chartered and an attempt was made March 8 to haul her off the mud near the refinery. It was unsuccessful, and the tug will try again.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The British ship Senator sailed yesterday morning for Puget Sound.

An unknown ship was sighted off Molokai by the Mauna Loa Friday. This is probably the Tillie E. Starbuck.

The schooner Aloha arrived in port last night after a rough voyage from San Francisco. This is Captain Dabel's first voyage in his new vessel.

The American bark St. Katherine arrived early yesterday morning from San Francisco. She was 32 days on the voyage and did not see a sail during that time. She has a general cargo and will discharge at the Bishop slips.

FROM HILO'S COFFEE SHOP PHILOSOPHERS

"Well, I see the county bill has passed the House," said the Early Riser, "and the next thing to do will be to look for candidates for office."

"Or for pukas in the bill," said the Cheerful Liar. "I do not believe it is one that will hold water, and I do not believe it is intended to. The men behind the guns do not want county government in any form and this bill may not last longer than the one before it."

"I doubt that statement," said the Meddler. "I believe there are some men in the Legislature who are sincere and who will not be gathered under the thumb of the executive." "The only thing to prove that will be the continuation of the bill in force after it passes the Senate," said the Cheerful Liar. "There are some people who do not believe it is right to allow communities to govern themselves and there are those people in this Territory. It may be that a majority of them are the office holders, I am not sure of that point. If we have county government many of them will go out of office so that it is natural that they should want to fight it off. For my part, unless we have the genuine article, we might as well have none."

"Well, that's about what you will get," said the Kicker.—Hilo Herald.
