FUNERAL WILL BE HELD ON MAY 20

That Date Selected for Last Rites for King Edward—Body to Lie in State.

MOURNING SERVICES HELD

Tomb in Albert Memorial Chosen to Receive the Body—Where Royal Parents Rest.

LONDON, May 8.—Yesterday, in practically every church of every denomination throughout the United Kingdom and in Ireland, services of mourning for the death of King Edward were held, and in many of the churches the king's death formed the theme of the sermon.

The royal family attended worship in the chapel royal.

Funeral Date Advanced.

It is thought now that the date for the funeral will be made May 20, any earlier date making it impossible for some of the representatives of the different countries to be present.

The remains will be given their last resting place in a tomb beneath the Albert Memorial Chapel, the magnificent mausoleum at Frogmore erected to the memory of "the good prince," the father of King Edward, by Queen Victoria, in which was later laid the body of that queen.

It has been definitely decided that the body of the dead king shall lie in state at Buckingham palace.

BRITAIN'S QUEEN IS TO BE CALLED "MARY"

Chooses to Be So Designated—The Political Leaders Agree on a Truce.

LONDON, May 8.—Great Britain's new queen is to be officially designated Queen Mary, her name being Victoria Mary.

The new court is to be a simple one, the taste of both King George and Queen Mary being opposed to the display of pomp and to elaborate court functions.

Politicians Declare Truce.

It has been agreed between the leaders of the political parties that a truce will be entered into, to continue during the first few months of the reign of the new sovereign.

ASIATIC JEWS EXPECTED.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The committee on immigration and naturalization today favorably reported to the house a bill by Representative Hayes of California providing that nothing in the statutes shall be construed to prevent "Asiatics who are Armenians, Syrians and Jews from becoming naturalized citizens."

WILL PRESENT CALABASH TO CRUISER SAN GABRIEL

Plans of Local Committee Include Something for Each Day's Stay in Port.

Local Portuguese were gratified yesterday to hear from the cruiser San Gabriel by wireless, for their plans may now be perfected, as certain information may be received from the cruiser's captain which will enable them to complete the program for the ten days' stay.

The local committee have formulated elaborate plans for the entertainment of the officers and crew during their entire stay in Honolulu, every day being devoted to some form of pleasure, ranging from a banquet to be given by Consul General Canavaro to a picnic at Pearl City and a luncheon at Waiolua.

Some of the corporations have come forward with contributions to the entertainment fund raised by the Portuguese residents. As the San Gabriel is the first modern warship of Portugal to visit here, the presence of the vessel is of vast importance to the thousands of sons and daughters of the kingdom of King Manuel.

A beautiful calabash, with gold ornaments, has just been finished and is on exhibition in a jewelry store window. This is to be presented to the cruiser as a gift of all the Portuguese people of Oahu, and will be kept in the captain's cabin along with the ship's silver service. On one side of the calabash is a handsome enamel of gold and silver of the harbor of Woolley Made Main Address on Subject—Hawaiian Pastors Are All in Line.

To a comparatively small but representative audience, John G. Woolley spoke last night on the question that is uppermost in Hawaii today and in a quiet, conversational manner presented the facts of prohibition and temperance. In the morning, at the same church, the Rev. Mr. Wainman addressed the congregation on the same subject.

Previous to Mr. Woolley's address an Epworth League rally considered prohibition, which subject formed, besides, the text of the sermons in nearly all the native churches.

The manner in which Mr. Woolley presented his case for temperance was unexpected by his auditors, and was as telling as the simple truth could make it.

"We are at a crisis," he said, "and finding ourselves called upon to consider an important question we need wisdom. We might consult books on political science and economy and form a judgment in the matter, but there is not enough time. The election comes on July 26. We might consult history, and it would show us that the use of intoxicants was altogether bad from the beginning and never did anybody any good. For this, also, there is not enough time, and many of us could not be able to do it."

"But we've got to be wise, and so we can go back to that wonderful old book of Job and read where he says: 'Where shall wisdom be found and where is the place of understanding? The fear of the Lord: That is wisdom and to depart from evil is understanding.'"

"It is not in our mind to censure the man who drinks very much. What is wanted is not criticism. We might get him to sign the pledge, and that would help and encourage him to better ways, but the best way to do is to cut off temptation and stop the supply of liquor. Of course, there will be plenty of people who will be able to find satisfaction for their appetites, but it will keep it away from the boys who have not formed the habit."

"I wouldn't close the saloon. There can be had cheap food and a rough and ready hospitality for the homeless or friendless man. But I would prohibit drink—leave the soft drinks, perhaps, and the tobacco, but do away with alcohol."

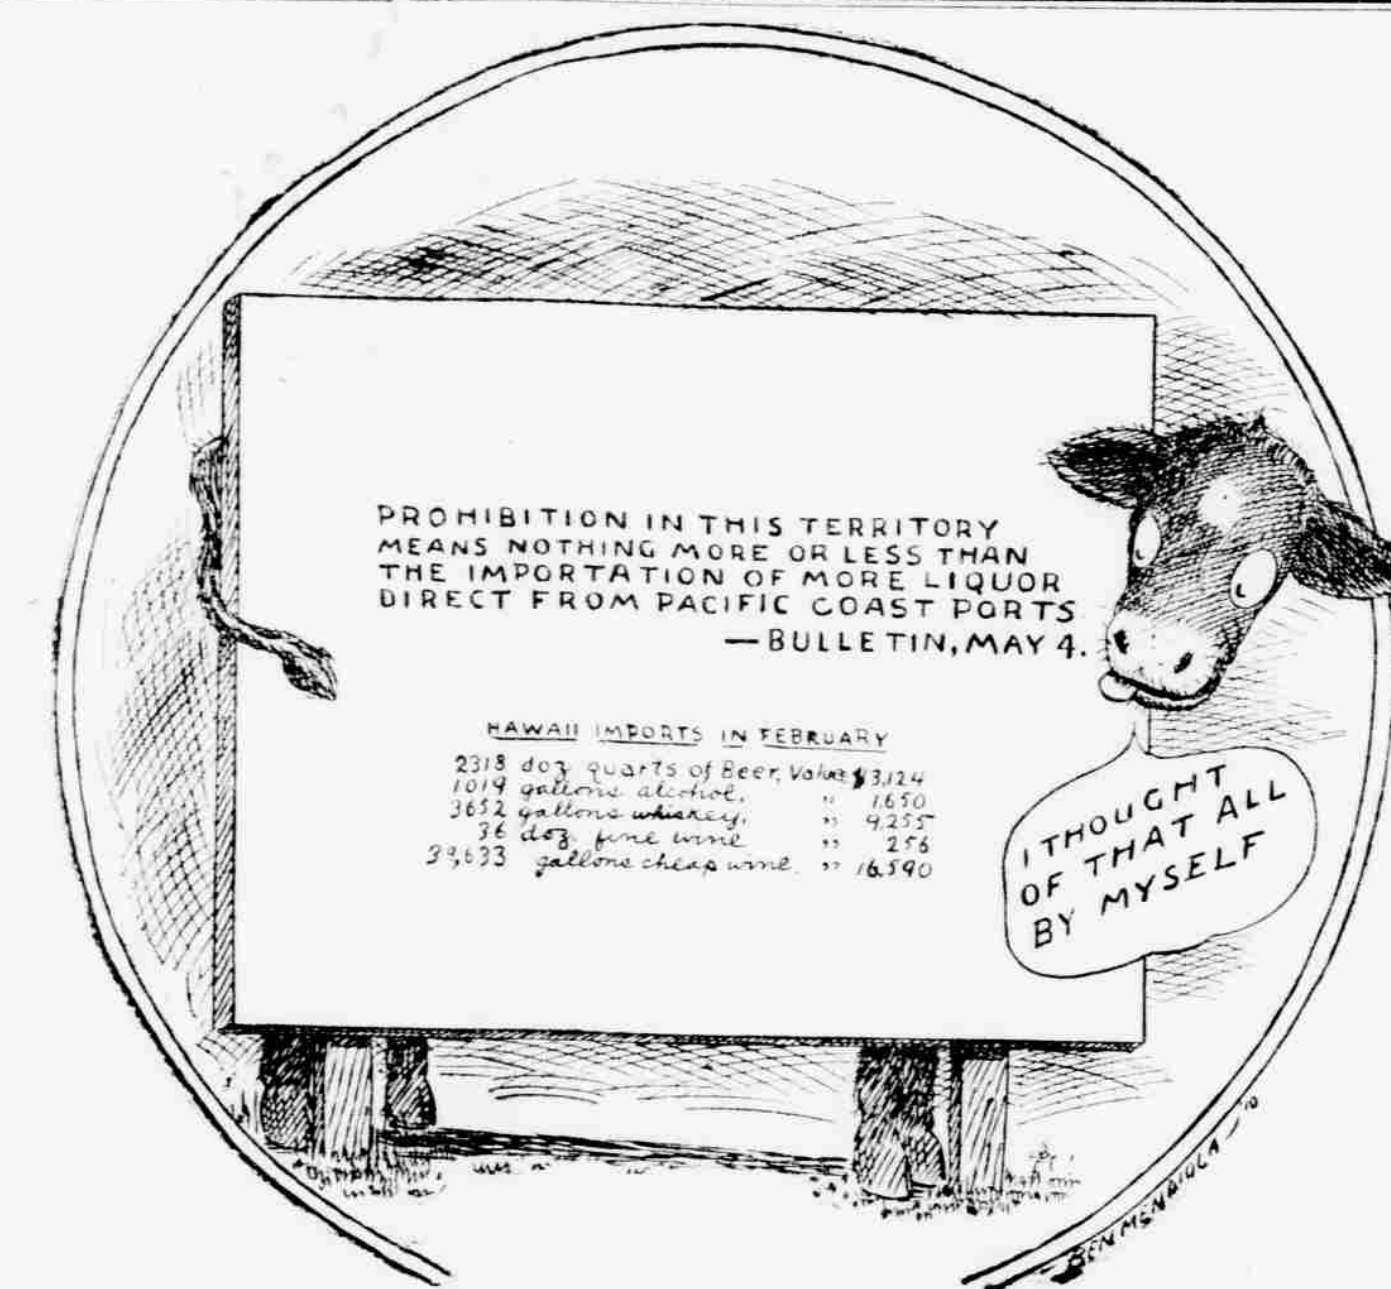

"The saloon keeper, according to the views of many temperance people, is inclined to be a very bad man. But he, too, doesn't need criticism; he needs help. The drinker and the saloon keeper are both the victims of the bad public policy that has existed."

"We owe a duty to the saloon keeper. To increase his license will not help; to put him out and leave somebody else in isn't fair. But put an end to liquor. The saloon keeper would have to turn to other means of livelihood, where he would, perhaps, not make so much money, but it would be cleaner, and as time passed the saloon keeper and his family would enjoy prohibition more."

"The liquor dealer is not in the business on his own motion, but because he holds a license through the people and fundamentally the people are to blame."

"The liquor traffic is bad for the drinker and the drink seller and we are not to do away with it. It is to be a fight—a war, a long war—but we do just what that man Job says—depart from evil. Here's a chance to do that and there's only one thing to do, let it."

SUFFERED MANY HOURS UNTENDED

Mother Lay in Hovel in Iwilei Camp With Her Dead Baby Tossed to One Side.

In the gloomy interior of a lowly habitation composed mainly of Japanese matting and erected in the midst of a score of similar shacks in the Russian village at Iwilei, a child was born on Saturday night. There was no one to attend the peasant mother, no physician, no nurse, and only the rudest of attention could be given her. The child never lived and all night long the dead body lay upon a battered soap box near the pallet of the mother, placed there by the father, Nicolai Cuprien, and all night he maintained a lonely vigil while the mother suffered. In spite of the beneficent organization which is supposed to exist among the Russian villagers as a result of the maneuverings of the now imprisoned Vasilief, the organization did not come forward to aid the family in its grief.

And so, all throughout the morning until late in the afternoon, the dead babe lay on its side, covered with a dirty cloth, while the mother lay near, suffering in silence, and all within the close and poverty-stricken confines of the matting shack, a shack more lowly than others near by, which are now pretensions in comparison by their size, their matting banias, and doors of matting, with windows here and there over which a flap of matting may fall at night.

In the afternoon a marine led a reporter to the shack and lifted the dirty cloth which covered the opening, and pointed to the sick woman. As the light struck her eyes she opened them, eyes in which was the dumb, unintelligent gaze of the goaded ox, eyes which were hard and stony. Her face was as a mask of death, pinched by poverty and pain. Her head was not laid with snowy white sheets and she wore no garments soft and clean, but she lay on a rude pallet and her garments as a patient were these in which she toiled about the dirty camp daily.

The police station was communicated with and the pitiful case reported to county physician, Doctor Mackell, who had the woman transferred to the Queen's Hospital for treatment, while the dead infant was given burial.

May Go to Coast.

Many of the Russians deserted the Iwilei camp yesterday and went to the Coast. It was a rather large number of immigrants that decided to try their fortunes on the mainland, but they have money, some of them being reported to have from $2000 to $4000 in cash.

Those who left the matting camp at Iwilei and occupied the buildings of the former notorious stockade, are putting their rooms into homelike shape.

HALLEY'S COMET HAS RIVALS

Halley's comet will not enjoy solitary glory. At least two other comets are due to cross the path of the earth this year. The first is known as the Temple's second period comet, discovered in 1873, July 3, at Milan. Its period is about five and one half years, and it was rediscovered in 1878, 1894, 1899 and 1904, making its perihelion passage in the last occasion in November.

It should therefore return this coming spring. D'Arrest's comet, discovered in 1861, is the second comet, and is due to return during the summer of this year—New York Times.

KAHUKU AND CRUISER ARE IN QUANDARY

Can Hear Each Other, but Neither Can Make Sense of the Other's Language.

The wonders of wireless telegraphy did not suffice last night in communication between the Portuguese cruiser San Gabriel and the Kahuku wireless station. For some time, they "talked" together, but every appliance that modern science could call into play could not overcome the difference in language and one knows as much about the other as when they started. The San Gabriel operator sent wireless Portuguese, while Maddams linguistic code includes only United States and Morse.

From what Operator Maddams could learn, the San Gabriel will be in port either tonight or early Tuesday morning, but this was about all. The distance, weather, and progress could not be learned.

The Chiyo Maru also called in, saying that she was 249 miles off, and experiencing moderate northwest winds, moderate seas and cloudy weather. She will arrive at three this afternoon.

The Lurline was another boat to call in, reporting herself 165 miles off, in light northwest winds and a smooth sea. She will arrive in quarantine about nine o'clock this morning.

PUNISHMENT MUST FIT THE CRIME

Extreme Penalties Prescribed Must Not Be Imposed Unless Crime Is Extreme.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—Punishment for a criminal offense must be made proportionate to the offense, and extreme sentences can not be passed upon offenders unless the crime of which they may be convicted should be of such a nature as to warrant the maximum penalty prescribed.

Such was the opinion of the Supreme Court of the United States, handed down on Saturday in the appealed case of Paul Weems of the Philippine light-house service, under sentence deemed to be out of proportion to his offense. This is regarded here as a revolution in criminal procedure, and the effects of the decision are expected to be far reaching.

MANY ANXIOUS TO GREET ROOSEVELT

NEW YORK, April 27.—The reception committee which has in charge the welcome home of Theodore Roosevelt in June is being swamped with applications from organizations in many parts of the country, who want to take part in the land and naval parade and other features of the celebration. Mayor Baile of Omaha and 200 citizens have chartered a special train to come to the festivities.

German musical societies with 8000 members, and Italian societies with 5000 more, are among the recent applicants for assignment to some part in the celebration.

WANT GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION

ESSEX, LINDSEY, N. Y., April 27.—At Albany tomorrow will be made the first application in the State for a charter under the commission form of government.

This charter is the one adopted by the citizens of Essex in the new city of Melina, which was formed a week ago by the consolidation of Melina and Fishkill Landing.

Refugee early in the present legal year, session made application for a commission charter, but withdrew the bill. Melina wants the Des Moines form of government.

FOUGHT AGAINST HIS OWN FLAG

Anderson Grace Said to Have Been Once in the Ranks of the Filipino Army.

Anderson Grace, who has been able so far to shroud his movements in mystery, whose whereabouts are absolutely unknown to the police authorities since the day he went to get a drink of water at the quarry, and never returned, has been in the limelight of notoriety on former occasions, and particularly during the "Days of the Empire" in the Philippines, immediately after the Filipino insurrection caused a pouring of United States regular and volunteer troops into the archipelago.

A negro prisoner confined in Oahu prison—Roger James, as he is known here, but Wilmore as he was known in the Philippines—came into national notoriety when he deserted from the United States army and went over to the Filipinos to become a leader among them in fighting against his flag. At the same time Grace is reported to have been in the Philippines, and if all stories are to be believed Grace was also a deserter and a fighter in the ranks of the Filipino armies against his former comrades.

At any rate Grace soldiered in the Philippines, and, according to High Sheriff Henry it was while serving there that he became partially crippled on his right side. While teaming for the government an accident happened while his wagon was crossing a bridge and his shoulder was badly hurt. In another accident two fingers of his right hand were almost taken off and the mutilation of those members will be a means of identification of the outlaw.

Roger James' career in the Philippines was sensational. His crime in deserting to the enemy became one of the most conspicuous stories of the early days of the insurrection. He was captured, finally, and sentenced to a military prison, but escaped. He came to Hawaii, about the time that Grace arrived here, and was arrested on a charge which landed him for a long term in Oahu prison, and it was while serving there that he was identified as the notorious deserter. After his term is finished here he will be turned over to the military authorities for further punishment.

Pretty ceremonies marked the unveiling of the four bronze tablets at the Kawaiahae church yesterday morning, when they were revealed set in their places to mark for all time the names of the four men who did so much for the Hawaiian nation. The Reverends Horace Bingham, Richard Armstrong, Epiphanius Clark and Lowell Smith are those whose memory will be perpetuated by the simple tablets unveiled so reverently yesterday.

ROOSEVELT'S SISTER WILL ARRIVE HERE ON KOREA

Theodore Roosevelt's sister, Mrs. Robinson, will pass through Honolulu about May 21, en route home from a tour of the world. She and her husband will be passengers aboard the Pacific Mail steamship Korea. They have been making a leisurely tour of the Far East and have been received and entertained by many of the leading people of India, China and Japan.

DEATHROLL IS GROWING DAILY

Believed Now That Fifteen Hundred Perished in Costa Rican Earthquake.

EIGHT HUNDRED FOUND

Search by Soldiers Reveals Worse Conditions Than Had Been at First Feared.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, May 9.—The final toll of death as a result of the earthquake that partially destroyed the city of Cartago and brought desolation to neighboring towns and villages has not yet been reached. As the days pass and the work of recovering the bodies of the dead from the ruins progresses, the estimate of the total number of dead has to be increased. The first figure placed the number of those who lost their lives in the destruction on the night of Thursday last at five hundred. Later the number was announced at one thousand and now it is feared the total death roll will include at least fifteen hundred names.

Already the bodies of eight hundred victims of the earthquake have been recovered and given hasty burial, while the half of the ruined districts has not yet been gone over by the soldiery.

BRIAND ADDS TO HIS BIG MAJORITY

French Electors Continue to Give Liberal Party Their Hearty Support at Polls.

PARIS, May 9.—The returns from the voting in two hundred and seventy-six divisions, in the election of a new chamber of deputies, held on Saturday, increase the government lead by over one hundred, leaving the "Republican Bloc" with a majority of one hundred and thirty-two out of the four hundred and ten seats decided. Balloting is yet to be done in one hundred and eighty-seven constituencies.

The results Saturday were: Government, "Bloc," 196; Socialists, 44; combined parties of Right, 36. On April 23, the results were: Bloc, 75; Conservatives, 34; Socialists, 25.

For the 597 seats, the number of candidates in all number over three thousand.

Among the prominent members re-elected are Premier Briand, Secretary of Labor Viviani, Minister of Finance Cochery, Joseph Caillaud, a former minister of finance; Camille Pelletan, ex-minister of marine; Maurice Barres, a member of the French Academy; Lucien Millevoire, Admiral Bienaimé, M. Denis Cochin, the well-known Conservative, at whose home Cardinal Richard secured shelter when expelled from his palace, and Paul Deschamps, the famous orator.

EXPLOSION IN THE CANADIAN CAPITAL

Powder Works Go Up, Killing and Injuring Many—Parliament Building Damaged.

OTTAWA, May 9.—A disastrous explosion occurred yesterday in the powder works of the General Explosives Company, as a result of which fifteen persons were killed and fifty others injured, some seriously. Forty houses in the neighborhood of the powder works are wrecked and the force of the explosion was such as to damage the Parliament building some distance away.

LIBERALS WIN IN SPANISH ELECTION

MADRID, May 9.—The Mendos ministry has been sustained in the general elections held throughout Spain on Saturday, the Liberals winning sixty-nine of the one hundred and three constituencies polled for members of the chamber of deputies. The Mendos government came into power last February and is composed of the members of extreme liberal views.

The San Gabriel is due here tomorrow morning from San Francisco. When the San Gabriel is sighted, Tuesday morning four whistles will announce the fact to the Portuguese colony.

JAPANESE RESENT HAYES BILL AS AIMED AT THEM

The Japanese press is under no illusion as to the nature and object of the Hayes immigration bill, which has so far been approved by the immigration committee of the house of representatives, writes the New York Herald's Tokyo correspondent. Although no mention is made of the Japanese in the above measure, the fact that the Japanese are the real target at which the introduction aims is plain enough by reason of the provision that all immigrants who do not possess the right of naturalization shall be excluded. It is argued, not without some show of reason, that it is a little hard to denounce the Japanese for their inability to assimilate with the Westerners, while at the same time they are deprived in certain States of the right to occupy land for agricultural purposes.

In Hawaii, too, the case is still more striking, for there not one of the seventy thousand Japanese inhabitants can be a voter. How, then, in these circumstances, denied privileges which are freely extended to other nationalities, can the Japanese with any semblance of justice be reproached for their lack of assimilative qualities? The point, therefore, to which the better informed publicists of Japan seem inclined to direct the attention of the government is the paramount importance of securing for Japanese the right of naturalization in the United States. The right of naturalization would carry with it the right to vote, and once the Japanese enjoyed the latter right they would cease to be held in contempt by American politicians.

Emigration Is Checked.

The papers also remind America that Japan has voluntarily adopted measures to check the flow of emigration to the United States, a fact which President Taft himself recognized in his message to congress. Japan has not forgotten the admirable speech delivered by Mr. Root under the Roosevelt administration, when he laid down the principle that international treaties have more binding force than State law, and when he asked Americans to consider seriously the consequences likely to be entailed by constant abuse of the Japanese and by the antipathy displayed in the columns of the American newspapers.

Apart from the right of naturalization, it is contended that Japan must see to it that when the treaty with America is revised the final clause of article 11, whereby the right to legislate against immigration is excluded from the operation of the most favored nation clause, is totally expunged as being offensive to the status of Japan as a civilized power of the first rank. The objectionable clause reads: "It is, however, understood that the stipulations contained in this and the preceding article do not in any way affect the laws, ordinances and regulations with regard to trade, the immigration of laborers, police and public security which are in force or may hereafter be enacted in either of the two countries."

is of linen or wool, or sometimes of cotton, and is stretched on the frame of the loom from top to bottom. The weaver sits before the loom on the ground, either barefooted or in stocking feet, in the posture which all Persians take, whether rich or poor.

The wool, or woollen stuff, is reeled by the rugmaker himself. They are made from vegetables and never fade. Indeed, the colors will outlast the wool itself.

The rugmaker cuts the many colored threads into short tufts, then he twists them into the warp with his fingers, and so forms the wool. He works from the wrong side and very slowly. He seldom follows any particular pattern very closely, but does much as his fancy dictates, which gives each Persian rug a particular charm. When the weaver has twisted a row of wool into the warp, a frame with teeth is hammered down upon it till it is a part of the layer below.

The Persian rugs and carpets vary in texture, some having a loose, some having a close warp, while the pile may be long or short. They are delicate fabrics and not intended to be walked on with heavy shoes.—School Education.

SOME LITTLE BROWN BROTHERS TROUBLESOME

Kohala Midget:—There is a great deal of talk unfavorable to the street behavior of the Filipinos working on the plantations. They are accused of being rowdies, and worse. One lady alleges that a gang of them chased her from Waimala Gulch to Nuhihi. There is a story that an old Chinaman was held up and robbed. We have been told that children are staying away from some of the schools because they are afraid to meet these dreadful Filipinos even in broad daylight. Other disturbances are charged to the Filipinos. It is a state of lawlessness not to be borne. We can not think, however, that the entire body of Filipinos are of this lawless character. It is inevitable that among so many importations, some should slip in who are doing from bad records at home, and expect to live without work here, and defy laws.

But they will be weeded out. Our courts should make short shift of them. But the better class of Filipino laborers should be appealed to make a good name for themselves here. They should not let themselves be terrorized by, nor weakly tolerate, such associates. We have faith in the mass of Filipinos that, insofar as they comprehend our standards of law and order, they will try to cooperate with the community and its officers in keeping the peace.

Our policemen must not allow the hoodlum element among them to terrorize the community.

WILL STRENGTHEN FORCES IN KOREA

YOKOHAMA, April 22.—A Seoul special to Tokio says that the idea of unifying the Japanese garrisons in Korea and Manchuria is to be carried out before long and the garrisons in Korea are to be reinforced. Major General Tanita, commander of the Japanese gendarmes, arrived at Seoul from Tokio on April 18, without first visiting Manchuria, as originally expected. General Baron Okubo, commander of the Japanese garrison in Korea, will be promoted in connection with the reorganization.

Appropos of the above, it is stated that a new organization will be established to unify colonial affairs in Kwantung (Liaoning), Korea, Formosa and Saghalien, with General Terajima as president, and vice ministers of state as members of the commission.

General Const Sakuma, whose military term expires in October next, after being extended for one year, will remain another year as governor-general of Formosa.

WOMEN CARRY OFF MOST ART PRIZES

PARIS.—Women students carried off the majority of the prizes at the recent competitions at the national school of fine arts here. In the section of painting all the medals were awarded to women, as were also the highest honors in the sections of modeling and decorative composition. There are, naturally, no women students of architecture, so the unduly large prize winners in this department were men. Only during the last few years have women been admitted to the school of fine arts, and it must be admitted that they have justified the new departure.

Letters From The People

PROHIBITION REDUCES CONSUMPTION.

Editor Advertiser:—It is safe to say the friends of W. O. Smith, with very few exceptions, are very sorry to see him reported in the Bulletin as being lined up with the whisky forces against prohibition. The arguments there ascribed to him are among those used by the liquor men. They express the same fear that it will result in "perjury, evasion and connected evils"; "that it would be a farce, and would not be effective."

We all know the saloon element is not working for the good of its fellow men. If prohibition did not very materially reduce, wherever it is the law, the consumption of liquor, the liquor interests would be in favor of prohibition, for having no license tax to pay they could even stand quite a reduction in their sales and still be ahead.

Whose judgment and opinion is the best as to whether or not prohibition reduces the consumption of liquor—the men who manufacture and sell it, or the man who gets his information from reports of those interested in discrediting the law? If it does not reduce their sales where it is the law, would they be opposing it?

No one expects prohibition to be entirely effective. To oppose it on that ground is on a par with opposing the laws against larceny because stealing is not entirely stopped thereby.

These islands are well situated for the enforcement of prohibition, not being bordered by States where the sale of liquor is licensed and can be readily run in.

If a man wants to stand for humanity, for what is best for his fellow man, he wants to oppose what the liquor men advocate. If they should advocate prohibition, he should be for license.

There is no division as to the evils of the liquor business. The saloonkeepers are all ashamed of their calling, knowing it to be debasing and degrading to humanity and next to the lowest of all businesses. The best of them get out of it as soon as they can find some other livelihood.

PERSIAN RUGS.

In some parts of Persia the business of rug-making is very extensive, whole families and tribes being devoted to it. There are no schools nor classes for learning rug-making; everybody makes rugs because their fathers and mothers made them, and they seem to know how by instinct.

Of course the loom is an important piece of furniture in a Persian rug-maker's home. It usually stands on the porch or under a tree in the courtyard. The frame is made of rough branches of trees with the bark left on. The warp

Both games at Athletic Park yesterday were of the shut-out variety and only for the timely run of the "King of Spain" in the ninth inning of the first game, the Japs would have ended their game with as clean a sheet as was ever handed any one in a prize package at a country fair.

Gibson of the Marines was the candy kid throughout the game and his offerings always proved puzzling. The team support, too, was about perfect and was a repetition of the good work done in their Saturday game with Barry's Beauts.

The weather was ideal for baseball and with the diamond in excellent condition some fast work was done on the parts. En Sue, in the second game, worked like a Trojan to pass a score over the plate for his team, but time and again he was forced to retire on some clever fielding work of his opponents. The Portuguese team came back into the game determined to make up for their poor showing of the Sunday before. Freitas in the box, was a good change and Teves proved himself to be more at home around short, than he had been at second.

Joseph on first, amused the fans with a very clever piece of unintentional juggling.

In the third Apan knocked a high pop fly which Joseph attempted to field. A muff and the ball bounced into the air again. In trying to recover the ball, Joseph hit it again with his glove, knocking it back over his head and into Deponte's hands who had come over from second to cover first base. The runner was declared out.

Louie Soares went up against a swift one in the intermission between games that almost put him out of the running. Louie had just stepped out of the clubhouse and while walking across to the bench was struck on the jaw by a ball. He dropped on the spot. Though suffering great pain, Louie stuck to his job and played a star game.

The summary of the innings in which runs were made is as follows:

First Game.

In the second inning Sinclair safe on Kami's fumble, went to third on Gibson's two-bagger, came home on Shor's single, Gibson reached home on Makin's grounder which Franco muffed. Peyton flew out to pitcher and Makin was out on a doubleplay to first. Williams fanned out.

In the ninth Ross struck out, Kami binged, went to second on third base's wild throw, stole third; Walker fanned out; Espinda hit to short who was too anxious to throw and Kami romped home; Wakita struck out.

Second Game.

In the third Soares flew out to center, Joseph singled, Mike Freitas reached first on third's wild throw, sending Joseph to third and home on En Sue's muffed fly of Madeira. Teves out short to first, Ornellas doubled and sent Mike and Madeira home, Souza out short to first.

In the fifth Joseph flew out to pitcher, Mike safe on short's error, out on second on Madeira's hit to center. Teves safe on Apan's bad throw to first, Ornellas hit to right and a wild throw to John Lo sent Madeira and Teves home. Souza out on foul fly to catcher.

YACHT CHARLOTTE C. WINS KALAKAUA CUP

Challenger Captures Trophy in Race With Gladys by Sixteen Minutes.

The yacht Charlotte C. won the race against the Gladys yesterday morning by a margin of sixteen minutes and fifteen seconds, thus securing title to the Kalakaua cup which has been held by the Gladys for several years. The time made by the Charlotte C. was 3 hours, 27 minutes and 35 seconds, while the Gladys took 3 hours, 43 minutes and 50 seconds to go over the course from Diamond Head to Pearl Harbor and return. The Charlotte C. started at 9:15:25 and finished at 12:43. The Gladys started at 9:15:40 and finished at 12:59:30.

Hawaii Behaves Well.

The wind was favorable for the cruise and the yachtsmen who sailed the two boats proved themselves to be expert navigators. The yacht Hawaii, while barred from participating in the race, being over the tonnage limit, made an exhibition cruise along the same route, taking a more outward course. She made a magnificent showing with all her sails set and tore off time in a way that promises well for the big transpacific race in which she is to sail against the Coast yachts. Charles Wilder gave a demonstration of expert maneuvering with all the sails set and all those who witnessed the Hawaii ride the waves were greatly impressed by her behavior.

Owners Sails Yachts.

George Crozier sailed the Charlotte C. in the race while the Gladys was in charge of Tom King and O. Sorenson. James Jaeger, the commodore of the club, went out in the launch Kulanu II as starter, his craft acting also as stake boat. He said after the race that the crews of both yachts showed themselves to be good sailors by the way in which they rounded the turns. The regatta committee, consisting of Kerr, Dankhase and Archie Robertson, acted as judges.

Must Challenge for Cup.

The yacht holding this handsome royal trophy which was awarded to the Gladys years ago by King Kalakaua in contest with the Bonnie Dundee, can not, according to the rule under which the prize was won, propose a race in competition for the cup, but must await a challenge from some other yacht. Mr. Crozier, it was said yesterday, is the first one who has ventured a challenge and now he may remain the proud possessor of this royal favor until some other daring one heaves in sight.

ASAHI SECURE FIRST LIEN ON CONSUL'S CUP

The Asahi secured the first lien on the $25 silver cup put up by the Japanese consul-general for the best two out of three games between this team and the Banzais, winning at Aala park yesterday afternoon. The score was 11 to 3 at the finish.

The game was called at one o'clock, when Vice-Consul Ida pitched the ball to Secretary Soveida, who stood ready with a bat and drove the leather into the field to the players.

The Asahi had it all their own way throughout. The fifth inning was a regular relay race for the winning team. Six men completed the circuit while the Banzais were fumbling the ball. The second game will be played at Aala park next Sunday.

Both teams were made up of Japanese, and there were several hundred of their own countrymen lining the diamond and rooting enthusiastically throughout the game, yet with all the cheering, joshing and jostling not a Japanese word was spoken. English sufficed to relieve them all. Following is a summary of the game:

Blanchard vs. Baseman, Thursday, 12:50 p. m.

DEFEATS FORT RUGER BOYS IN TUG-OF-WAR

Fort Shafter snatched the scalp of the Fort Rugerites in the tug-of-war contest at the skating rink last night. It was an easy victory, for it was literally one yank and the contest was won. The Fort Shafterers were a husky bunch, and got the best grip on the pavement, and that told the story quickly.

CAVALRYMEN ELEVEN; ARTILLERY NOTHING

It was a regular marathon baseball game at Schofield Barracks yesterday afternoon when the Fifth Cavalry nine put it all over the Coast Artillerymen from Fort Ruger to the tune of 11 to 0. The gunners left their scientific rifle pointers at Battery Harlow, for they couldn't shoot. The only batsman who made good at all, got only as far as second base. Pitcher Kamna of the troopers pitched a heady and strong game throughout. He was supported behind the bat by Robertson.

When the Artillerymen got off the train in Honolulu en route to Fort Ruger they seemed to be walking in their sleep. As a whole they would not acknowledge themselves to be a ball team. Finally one of the players mustered courage to admit their identity and mumbled the result of the game, although he had not revived sufficiently to recall any of the details. He brightened up long enough, however, to tell how Daly, the centerfielder, made a grandstand play and then lapsed into silence again. Daly was chasing a high ball and in reaching for it he did a diplop and landed on his back, but rose triumphantly with the ball in his hand.

This is the first time the Fort Ruger boys have met the horsemen and they take some consolation in the hope that they may be able to turn the tables next time, which will be about five weeks hence.

ROOSEVELT'S PROMOTION.

Robert P. Porter, of the editorial staff of the London Times, speaking at a banquet given recently in Tokio by the members of the International Press Association, pointed out the differences between the oriental and occidental journalists, at the same time referring to the dignity of the profession. He said: "I was reading the other day an article by an eminent Japanese editor on the newspapers of Japan. Among other things the author said that Japanese journalism was a 'nursery for statesmen,' meaning I suppose that the occupation in journalism prepared men for statesmanship. In England and America journalists are apparently not so modest as Japanese editors. The leading editors in those countries would probably tell you that their newspapers make and unmake statesmen. Statesmen in those countries are promoted to editorial chair, but editors who have once tasted the joys of building up and tearing down the political reputation of statesmen rarely themselves venture into the arena of statecraft where they would metaphorically speaking, be subjected to the shafts and arrows of the editorial pen. Take for illustration a notable example of a statesman becoming editor—that of Theodore Roosevelt. Ex-President Roosevelt with his world-wide reputation stepped from the White House into the editorial chair and has become the associate editor of a well-known and influential New York magazine. I have in my possession two letters which Mr. Roosevelt wrote to me last year. One of these letters was dated 'White House, February 26th, 1909, and the second one was dated 'The Editorial Rooms of The Outlook, March 8th, 1909, Theodore Roosevelt Office.' "Here then we have an instance of a distinguished statesman stepping from the presidential chair at Washington to the editorial chair in New York four days after his term of chief magistrate of a nation of one hundred million of population had expired. Surely this incident will furnish an encouraging if not an inspiring thought to the members of this association and impress upon us the growing influence and dignity of our profession."

MISSIONARIES IN KOREA.

The leading papers of Japan are discussing the influence of the Christian missionaries in Korea, statements being made in some that the missionaries are working to foment political trouble against Japan throughout the Hermit Kingdom, while others have taken up the cudgels for the foreigners and their converts. The Nichi Nichi is the leading antimissionary organ, in its issue of April 4 stating that:

There is every reason to believe that the foreign missionaries in Korea have either directly or indirectly instigated, and are still instigating, the Koreans to start an anti-Japanese agitation. Close observation reveals the fact that the anti-Japanese Koreans are chiefly Christian believers, and for this reason it may be inferred that some of the foreign missionaries, while engaging in propagating religious beliefs, are stirring up the minds of the Koreans against Japan.

Recent official investigation of the strength of the missionary movement in Korea show that there are now 316 foreign missionaries, 1927 native missionaries, and over half a million professing converts in that country. Of these foreign missionaries, those working under the auspices of American boards greatly outnumber all others. The official figures are: Presbyterian (American), 101; Episcopal (American), 78; Gospel Society (British), 2; French Roman Catholic, 57; German Roman Catholic, 2; Canada Presbyterian, 14; Australian Presbyterian, 13; Russo-Greek Church, 4; English Bible Society, 3; Salvation Army, 8; Young Men's Christian Associations, 6, and others, 27.

A Japanese writer discussing the increase in the death rate in Japan, points out the increase in alcoholism as one of the main causes. The statement made by Count Okuma that there must be a betterment in moral conditions throughout the country before there can be a betterment in health conditions is taken up by the writer and its truth emphasized by his review of the vital statistics. It is stated that ten million Japanese are affected with tuberculosis. The close relationship between the use of alcohol and tuberculosis is recognized in Japan, evidently.

The Japan Times notes that the number of American tourists now in Japan is thirty per cent greater than ever before. Remembering that a large number of the tourists are persuaded to go there by American steamship company agents rather than to stop off in Hawaii, we can hardly share in the Times' gratification. Our patriotic steamship owners delight in carrying Americans to Japan, but shudder at the idea of allowing Japanese steamers to bring any here. When patriotism can be made to work for one coming and going, it is a great thing and worth shouting for.

A section of the Anheuser-Busch brewing plant has been destroyed by fire and the plant will be shut down until the damage has been repaired. According to the argument of the Bulletin, the shutdown of the brewery should increase the consumption of beer in St. Louis.

Every voter in the Territory has seen enough in his own experiences during the past two years to make him a prohibitionist if he would only stop and remember.

C. W. Ashford concludes that to vote for prohibition is to take a gambling chance that some good will result. Even so, it's a good bet.

Peaceful Life of Nature

Theodore Roosevelt, in May Scribner's—The game is over on the alert against the lion, the greatest of foes, and every herd almost every individual, is in imminent and deadly peril every few days or nights, and of course suffers in addition from countless false alarms. But no sooner is the danger over than the animals resume their feeding, or love-making, or their fighting among themselves. Two bucks will do battle the minute the herd has stopped running from the foe that has scared one of its number, and a day or so later they have resumed with order, in the brief interval between the first and the second alarm, from either or lion, Zebra will make much noise when one of their number has been killed; but their fight has vanished when once they have taken their bearings.

Peace by violence, death by cold, heat, by starvation—these are the normal conditions of the state, and the natural course of the wilderness. The settlements, the battle about the peaceful life of nature, in our parks, the utter senselessness, although all these would have to do would be to look at the birds in the winter woods, or even at the tree in a cold morning or cold evening. It is a hard and cruel world for the lower creatures, and for man also, what the settlements call a "state of nature." The savage of today shows us what the fabled age of gold of our ancestors was really like; it was an age when hunger, cold, violence and iron cruelty were the ordinary accompaniments of life. If Matthew Arnold, when he expressed the wish to know the thoughts of earth's "vigorous, primitive" tribes of the past, had really desired an answer to his question he would have done well to visit the homes of the existing representatives of his "vigorous, primitive" ancestors, and to watch them feasting on blood and guts; while as for the "gentle and pure" feelings of his imaginary primitive maiden, there were those of any race, civilized creature who accepted marriage by purchase or of convenience, as a matter of course.

WHAT THEY CAN DO.

The Friend.—In a public discussion on the temperance question a few months ago at Chicago, between the mayor of Milwaukee defending the liquor business, and Mr. Drake, his opponent, the mayor asked: "What is it the partisans of the West do to this and sell their grain to the breweries?" Mr. Drake replied: "In their case they will use more horses and less fuel."

IF ANYTHING GOES WRONG, BLAME IT ON MR. HALLEY

Evidence is multiplying. It's a fact there's no denying. About the comet they are lying. And thereby hangs a tale: It's been foisted by all nations. Each day brings new accusations; if proof is not forthcoming, Some one ought to go to jail.

Pretty tough on Mr. Halley And his little hot tamale, But they'll keep it up, by golly, Until he knocks them flat; For, according to the paper, It seems to be the caper, To blame things on the comet, And let it go at that.

—Skyline Sonnets.

Looks as if they were rubbing it in on the poor old comet, doesn't it? Everybody knows that it keeps bad hours, but that's no reason why it should be blamed for everything. Comets, like human beings, have their faults, and when it comes right down to brass tacks, the only legitimate fault to be found with Mr. Halley's electric sign was its failure to get here on time. Folks had been expecting it for months, and its failure to show up gave its traders a splendid opportunity to libel it. But until it takes the stand in its own behalf it will continue to take the blame for everything that goes wrong. Just as well that Mr. Halley has not taken the trouble to deny the countless charges against him. If he started in to do so, he would have a pretty busy summer, because persons who never tell the truth when they can avoid it, are finding out that the comet makes a pretty good "goat." No one will ever know how many thousands of men it has saved from making early morning explanations. When they have found themselves on their own doorstep after an uneasy journey in the dawn they have stayed the rolling pin with the statement that they have been delayed through watching for the comet.

REVELATIONS IN SACKVILLE LETTERS

Evidence Tending to Show That England Lost America Through Craft.

LONDON, April 23.—Many letters and papers, never hitherto published, relating to the American War of Independence are included in the report on the manuscripts of Mrs. Stopford-Sackville, who has been issued as a Yellow book, and completes the re-issue of Appendix III. to the ninth report of the Historical Manuscripts Commission. Lord George Sackville, to whom many of the letters are addressed, was secretary of state for the Colonies from 1775 to 1782, and consequently received most important dispatches. These show quite conclusively that England lost the American colonies through craft.

One of the most interesting of the documents is from Admiral Rodney to Lord George Germain, dated December 1780, from St. Lucia. In this he says the war could have been brought to a speedy conclusion long ago, and with honor to Great Britain, had those persons who were entrusted with the command of her fleets and her armies preferred their own, their King's and country's honor to lucrative and factious motives. He continues:

"Nothing but the natural affection an Englishman bears or ought to bear to his King and country irritates my mind when I behold her treasures squandered, her arms inactive, entrusted with the most important and honorable confidence of their sovereign and his ministers, paying not the least regard to the sufferings of their country, but retarding the completion and extinction of the rebellion to make the fortunes of a long train of boches, who sucked the blood of the State, and whose interest prompts them to promote the continuance of the war, and by every means in their power continue to discomfit every active measure, and instead of having an idea of speedily concluding this unhappy war, their common discourse turns upon what may occur in the two or three ensuing campaigns."

A Bribe for Washington.

Evidently there was thought at one time in England of trying to bribe Washington with a dukedom, for in a long paper by Sir John Dalrymple, "Thoughts on Instruction to the American Commissioners," dated 1778, he states:

"From all accounts of General Washington's character, there is a resemblance between his character and General Monk's, for he is silent, keeps his mind to himself, has plain understanding and is a man of principle. I should have said his kingdom to his personal application to Monk, delivered by one of Monk's own friends. Might not the ministers of the King himself, write a private letter to Washington to remind him of the similarity between his situation and Monk's design him to ask terms for America, but and not, and then why should a duke be given to Monk and a revenue to support it, in order to give dignity to the man who gave himself up to his own power to save his country?"

One bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy goes a long way toward relieving suffering humanity. failed the people, congress would step in.

Morning Sermon.

In the morning, prohibition was preached from the same pulpit, the Rev. Mr. Wadman repeating the precepts which he advocated on his first arrival here, some five years ago. At that time he gave a sermon on the desirability of prohibition which attracted a great deal of attention, but he was assured that the people were not yet ready for it.

Yesterday morning he again advanced those precepts when the people were ready for it—ready to listen and preparing to act. Mr. Wadman was the first president of the antislavery league and his work in the Islands during the time that he has spent here, he summarized yesterday.

Mr. Woolley spoke in the evening under the auspices of a committee of three young men of the church board.

Temperance Elsewhere.

The opening of the campaign for temperance dates probably as much from yesterday as from any date, for the first concerted action against the saloon and the vices which follow was then taken. Temperance was preached from the pulpit of the Kawaiahaeo and other native churches; and in smaller gatherings of church societies.

The plans for the week have not been scheduled, but special arrangements will be made by which the orators in the temperance cause will have a chance to address the varied populations of the city on the coming crisis in Hawaiian temperance movements.

EXPOSURE OF COOK WAS PEARY'S DUTY

Explorer Says Conscience Bade Him Tell World of Colossal "Fake".

NEW YORK, April 27.—At a farewell luncheon tendered him at the Brooklyn Club, Commander Robert Peary, who sailed for Europe yesterday, explained why he attacked the claim of Doctor Cook on his return from his polar trip. He said: Three weeks before I got back to civilization I had the fullest information of what had been done by another in the Arctic region and when and where and what would be claimed by this man. The telegrams I sent which gave rise to criticism were sent deliberately and after full consideration. That was my position.

"I knew that a deliberate attempt was to be made to defraud the country, morally and financially, and as an officer of the United States navy, I felt I must give warning to the country, and that I owed it to myself to give warning that I might escape a charge of being an accessory to the crime. My position is still unchanged and will not be changed hereafter. Before the steamer Kronprinzessin Cecilie sailed yesterday, Commander Peary said: 'I will be away about six weeks. I expect to be back in New York on June 10. I will deliver my first lecture in London on May 4.'

Commander Peary's London address will be delivered before the Royal Geographical Society. On that occasion the society will present a gold medal to him and a silver medal to Captain Bartlett, who is accompanying Commander Peary. In Rome on May 20, the commander will receive another gold medal. The greatest geographical society of Europe will honor the explorer during his visit. In addition to those in London and Rome he is to speak to the societies in Paris, Belgium, Brussels, Vienna and Edinburgh. He also will deliver addresses in Budapest, Glasgow, Leeds, Aberdeen and other cities.

BEFORE WE CAN

use them, iron and gold must first be got out of the ore. The same principle applies to cod liver oil. Its virtues are not in its fatty matters; much less in its sickening taste and smell. No consumptive, or sufferer from any other wasting disease, was ever greatly benefited by the so-called "plain" cod liver oil. The shock it gives to the nerves, the repulsion and disgust it excites in the stomach, the outrages it commits upon the senses of smell and taste, are enough to spoil any medicinal potency that may be in it for the majority of people. This—to say nothing about its being indigestible. Yet there has always been reason to believe that, among the elements which form cod liver oil, there existed curative properties of the highest value. But it was necessary to separate them from the nauseating waste material with which they were combined. This was successfully accomplished in WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION and in this effective remedy, made palatable as honey, we have the very heart and soul of pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. These constitute a tissue builder, a blood purifier, a health renewer beyond comparison. Disease yields to it with a completeness and rapidity which astonishes medical men quite as much as it delights their patients. In all wasting conditions, Scrofula and Blood Disorders, La Grippe, Influenza, etc., it never fails to relieve and cure. Dr. E. J. Boyes says: "I have found it a preparation of great merit. In a recent case a patient gained nearly twenty pounds in two months' treatment, in which it was the principal remedial agent. It cannot fail or disappoint you. Sold by all chemists everywhere."

PROHIBITION IN THE CITY PULPITS

(Continued from Page One.) Absentees were named by members of the anti-prohibition club on the point that prohibition does not prohibit, which Mr. Woolley answered in the same substance as he has addressed.

Another point that was raised was the possible effect of the legislature in passing a prohibition law if the people voted for it in the plebiscite, but this Mr. Woolley answered shortly and decisively, saying that if the legislature

GETS NOTHING FOR LOST LEG

Damage Suit Brought Against Kekaha Sugar Company Is Thrown Out.

The supreme court handed down an opinion Friday in the matter of Manuel Garcia, by his next friend, Antonio Garcia, versus Kekaha Sugar Company. It appears that the boy, who was suing for $15,000 damages, loses his case. The decision, written by Chief Justice Hartwell, was:

"The text of the opinion is as follows: 'The plaintiff, a minor, brought by his next friend this action to recover the sum of $15,000 for personal injuries resulting from negligence in stopping without warning and at an unusual place a train of open flat cars, on one of which the minor was riding, and from defective appliances, guards and couplings. The defendant's demurrer to the declaration on the ground that 'it appears that the cause of action attempted to be set forth is barred by limitation of the time by reason of and under the provisions of Act 113 of the Session Laws of 1907,' was sustained, and the plaintiff electing to stand by his declaration judgment was entered for the defendant the plaintiff excepting thereto as well as to the order sustaining the demurrer.

"The claim of the plaintiff is that Act 113, which limits the bringing of such actions to one year after the cause accrued, is subject to the provision (See, 1907 R. L.) of the general statute of limitations (See, 1907 R. L.) by which if a person receiving personal injuries is within the age of twenty years the time of six years therein limited for bringing his action does not begin to run until he reaches his majority.

"The argument in substance is that the statute which makes this provision for disability is not expressly repealed by Act 113 and is not repealed by implication since, as the plaintiff claims, there is nothing in the provision for disability which is necessarily inconsistent with Act 113. A large number of cases are cited to the effect that repeal by implication are not favored, which is true, in the meaning that the implication ought to be quite clear, but our statute, with this modification, fixes the rule on this subject.

"The repeal of a law is either express or implied; it is express when it is literally declared by a subsequent law; it is implied when the new law contains provisions contrary to, or irreconcilable with, those of the former law." See, 21 R. L.

"Act 113, S. 1, 1907 enacts: 'Actions for the recovery of compensation for damage or injury to persons or property must be instituted within one year next after the cause of action accrued, and not after. Provided that actions, on such cases, which accrued prior to the approval of this Act, if otherwise barred thereby, may be brought within one year after such approval and not later.'

"This last enactment on the subject does not purport to amend Sec. 1971 R. L. and is inclusive of all cases therein mentioned.

"The argument of hardship to the minor in not being allowed until he becomes of age to bring his action presents a question of legislative policy which we are not at liberty to consider.

"Exception considered."

T. M. Harrison for plaintiff; C. B. Hemmings (Smith, Warren and Homen way on the briefs) for defendant.

Miller-Chapman Case.

The supreme court also handed down an opinion in the old matter of Moses Miller versus William Chapman, overruling the exceptions of the defendant and sustaining the trial judge, the case was an action to quiet title.

HILO HAS A BIG KICK TO REGISTER

Quarantine Is Hurting Tourist Trade and Disturbing the Big Island.

HILO, May 4.—Hilo has a very big kick to make, and she is making it with no little vigor. Because she had four cases of contagious disease, the last one on March 22, the whole island of Hawaii is still under a federal quarantine, and Hilo is suffering very severely. Her tourist trade has fallen off one-half and her big new hotel is nearly empty except for the regular boarders, for the average tourist has lively fears of a quarantine. He fears quarantine more, as a rule, than he fears a disease which may bring it about.

The quarantine is a federal one. The local agents of the territorial board of health took prompt action when the outbreak of disease occurred. They quarantined and cleaned the block in which the trouble was, and after a week without further pillage, they called off the quarantine. But the United States Marine Hospital Service declared a quarantine of the whole island, for sixty days. According to the custom of the service, sixty days is the time limit for quarantine, and Hawaii is awaiting the expiration of sixty days since the last case, though the period of danger passed in five days.

In the meantime the Clandine has been withdrawn from the passenger service, as far as passengers leaving Hilo are concerned, and as she does not dock in Hilo, those coming from Honolulu have to come ashore in boats and get ashore by a leap on to the wharf. The Hilo wharf has no steps, and the landing is worse than that at most of the little ports where passengers are sent ashore in boats.

A feature of the quarantine much criticized is its application to the Kona side of the island. Kailua, for example, is really farther, in a practical sense, from the locality that was affected on March 22, than is Honolulu. It is easier to get from Hilo to Honolulu and takes less time, for the ordinary traveler, than to get from Hilo to Kailua. Yet because of a few cases of disease in Hilo six weeks ago, citizens of Kailua are in quarantine just the same as those of Hilo. One effect has been to cause a complete stoppage of inter-island deck travel from Hawaii.

Enle Sam is not paying many of the expenses of this quarantine. This is another peculiar feature of it which arouses criticism. The intending passengers must be examined and passed by a physician before they are allowed aboard a steamer, and they must pay for the examination themselves, outside of Hilo. The doctor is allowed to collect a "reasonable fee" at all places except Hilo, which is a port of entry and has a salaried federal quarantine officer, for examining passengers. The fee is $2 or $2.50 at the various ports along the Kona and Kauai coast.

There is no complaint about the size of the fee, for often the doctors have to make a considerable trip to examine passengers. But there is a complaint that the federal authorities do not pay the doctors for the expenses of the quarantine, which nine people out of ten think is wholly absurd anyhow.

To Hilo fees are charged for fumigations of oriental baggage, and other large shipments. Passengers are examined by the federal officer, however, without charge to them. There is no difficulty about getting passage or leaving the island.

By Authority

RESOLUTION NO. 310.

RESOLVED, by the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii, that the Appropriation Bill for the half yearly period ending June 30, 1910, be amended to the following effect, to start from April 1, 1910:

From the balance of item "Maintenance of Schools," in hand March 31, deduct $1,800.00.

Amend the appropriations for roads and bridges to read as follows:

	General Road	Fund	Tax Total
Honolulu . . .	$6,700	$4,000	$10,700
Ewa	1,700	1,500	2,600
Waimanalo . . .	350	—	350
Waihiua	1,100	950	2,050
Koolaula	1,700	700	1,800
Koolapoko	1,300	500	1,800

Presented by Supervisor Daniel Logan.

Dated, Honolulu, T. H., April 5, 1910.

I do hereby certify that the foregoing Resolution was duly presented to the Mayor on Wednesday, April 29, 1910, for his approval and that he did not, within ten days after being so presented to him, return the same with his disapproval.

WORLD'S NEWS DAILY

What the Retail Merchants of Honolulu Offer This Week

THE CLARION, Corner of Fort and Hotel Streets.—The twenty-dollar suits offered at this place are said to be every bit as good and tailored in an efficient manner by experts. There has certainly been a run on this store and it would not have occurred had the garments been less attractive.

BENSON, SMITH & CO., Ltd., Corner of Hotel and Fort Street, Makai.—
The manufacturers of toilet powders have switched from the conservative and modest violet and are using equally delicate fragrances for their talcum powders. Benson, Smith & Co. have a stock of the newest odors, in convenient containers.

M. MCINERNEY SHOE STORE, Fort Street just above King.—Here the ladies and gentlemen of Honolulu will find a large stock of pumps and shoes for dancing. The receptions to be tendered the officers and men of the San Gabriel demand good footwear and McInerney is prepared to furnish the public with just what is needed.

LEITHEAD AND WOODWARD,
1263 Miller Street.—Anyone who ever tasted genuine applejack will enjoy that made and sold by the Arctic Soda Water Works, of which Leithead and Woodward are proprietors. The leverage is as pure as mountain dew with a fragrance as sweet as the heather.
The company will deliver aerated water to residences at any time.

ASSOCIATED GARAGE, Merchant near Bishop Street.—Headquarters for first-class automobiles is here. The Pierce Arrow is just now having a swing of popularity of the sort it has enjoyed on the mainland ever since it was introduced. The Associated people have other makes for less money and they are willing to give demonstrations at any time.

KAIMUKI LAND CO., LTD., Second Floor, Corner Fort and King Street.—
So many lots have been sold in the Kaimuki district by this company that it would appear to the layman as though there would soon be none left.
Prospective buyers are taken to the property and given an opportunity to see the great improvements being made there and to select a lot if the place suits them.

SAYGUSA, Nuuanu Avenue, above Hotel Street.—Ladies feel the need of a parasol nearly every day in the year and to those who are without one this establishment is recommended for the large assortment. Besides parasols there will be found in this store embroideries and silk crepes of many shades and patterns.

ROYAL HAWAIIAN GARAGE, Opposite Hawaiian Hotel.—Just a word to the owners of automobiles. The Morgan and Wright tires sold by the Hawaiian Garage are said to be superior in every way to those of any other make. All sizes are kept in stock at the garage where automobiles are for sale and where repairs of any sort are made to those needing them.

SCHUMAN CARRIAGE CO., Ltd.,
Merchant Street opposite Bishop Street.
—The great Flanders automobile is to be sold at this establishment on arrival this week. It is said to be a superior machine and will sell here for something under a thousand dollars. That price should appeal to men of moderate means.

A B C STORE (Lansing St.), King street, near Maunakea street.—The ever popular five and ten cent counters are to be found in this store laden with household goods and utensils. They are all standard, and it would appear to be a very good time to replenish.

E. O. HALL & SON, LTD., corner of Fort and King streets.—A contraption for removing labor from bread-making is the feature offering at this store for this week. The Universal is said to be just the thing to make bread, costing less so pleasant an occupation that the cooks who operate in houses where they are to be found insist upon baking bread all of the time. The product of the machine is excellent.

H. F. WICHMAN & CO., LTD., Fort street below Hotel street.—Ladies who wish to be just right in the matter of calling cards will find what they want at Wichman's. The artists who do the engraving are among the best to be found on the mainland, and the work turned out in the establishment compares with the best shown anywhere.

JAMES F. MORGAN, Kaunakakai street.—Dealer in high class securities and real estate. There's always something doing at Morgan's, and the property sales through that establishment are enormous. If there is anyone in the city looking for a good purchase who has not been satisfied, he had better see Morgan.

M. MCINERNEY, LTD., corner of Fort and Merchant streets.—Besides having a window appropriately dressed in memory of the late King Edward VII., the McInerney store has been filled with buyers of clothing suitable for the fashion of the Portuguese Emperor San-t'edual. The clothing in this establishment is appropriate to all seasons, and the person who has a suit here is sure to be well dressed.

MANUFACTURERS SHOE COM-PANY, LTD., Fort street, above Hotel.
—White Oxfords for sale in a feature of this store this week, and they are said to be the best. As the season for white shoes approaches, there would seem the time to buy this sort. A dollar seems very little money to pay for good shoes, but these are guaranteed sound, durable and easy.

SACHS DRY GOODS STORE, corner
Fort and Beretania streets.—At this store suits for ladies are offered at the popular price for this time of the year. And there are other articles equally attractive in price. Ladies' trimmed hats up to patterns at $1.75 and higher, and also these goods are offered at special prices. A good English and French serge, of a rare good quality, at the price of one dollar and fifty cents.

SILVA'S TOGGERY, LTD., Elee's Building, 122 King street.—Two well dressed men were attracted to the store this morning for a suit and a pair of trousers. They were well dressed men, and they were well dressed men. There is a large stock of suits and trousers in the store, and they are well dressed men.

VON HAMM-YOUNG CO., LTD., Alexander Young Building.—Just what automobile to select would be a problem to one who contemplates buying.
There is a large assortment of first-class machines on sale at this establishment, and one may have assistance from those who know as to the one to select. The garage is supplied with the best appliances and the best expert repairers, who will handle any automobile difficulty.

PRATT THE LAND MAN, Merchant street near Bishop.—Has some desirable properties for sale in all parts of the city. There is no land in the city better than that for which Mr. Pratt is agent, and his reputation for square dealing is enough to warrant his having a large patronage.

HUGE LOCOMOTIVE.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—The largest locomotive in the world has just been completed at the local branch of the American Locomotive Company. This is one of the type known as the Mallet articulated compound, and is one of six now under construction for pushing service on the Carbonate division of the Delaware and Hudson railroad. The weight of this engine is 44,000 pounds, not including the tender, and on a straight level track is capable of hauling 100 loaded cars of 50 tons capacity each. There are 16 drive wheels, eight on each side. The firebox is as large as a good-sized living room, and has a grate area of 400 square feet.
