THE TREASURY STATEMENT.

The financial report which appears officially in this morning's ADVERTISER deserves, and will no doubt receive, the careful attention of those who take an intelligent interest in our public affairs. It contains a full and, so far as we can see, a sufficiently detailed statement of all the receipts and disbursements of the Hawaiian Treasury for the year ending March 31, 1889, being the first half of the current biennial period.

The only exception we note to the report being a complete statement of receipts and disbursements, is in the case of the Postal Savings Bank, the amount credited to that source, namely, $398,025.98 being, not the gross amount deposited, but the net increase of deposits over withdrawals for the period named. We mention this fact, not in the way of criticism, but to guard against possible misunderstanding on the part of those by whom the report might be read hastily.

The facts in the case of the Savings Bank may be stated thus; the people of this country have, within the last year, loaned the Government, in various small sums, through that source, nearly four hundred thousand dollars. We also find $34,500 credited to "Loan Fund," which we suppose means that bonds to that amount were sold, before the increasing receipts from the Savings Bank rendered it unnecessary, and therefore inexpedient to sell any more bonds. Adding these amounts together, we find that the Treasury has actually received from loans during the twelve months, $432,525.98.

It must not be understood that the Government has really run behind, or increased its indebtedness to any such amount. The cash balance in the Treasury, which on the 1st of April 1888 was $109,465.00, was on the 31st of March last, $387,565.16, being an increase of cash on hand of $278,099.56, which includes the balance on loan account. There has also been paid debt falling due to the amount of $6,900. Adding these two last amounts together and deducting them from the cash received from Savings Bank and Loan Fund, we get the actual increase of the debt, which is $147,526.42.

Adding together the receipts from all sources, except from Savings Bank and Loan Fund, we find them to be $1,222,147.85. Adding together the disbursements for all purposes, except payment of debt falling due, we find the amount to be $1,469,674.27. Deducting then the former sum, which may be called current receipts, from the latter, which may be called current disbursements, we get the same balance as above, namely, $147,526.42. This is simply another way of arriving at the same result.

We are not enamored of debt at any time, especially when it is increasing. We believe it, however, to be a well settled principle of public policy, that the borrowing of money by governments, when judiciously done, for proper purposes, and with due regard to the resources and probable future development of the country, is not only justifiable, but often eminently wise. Our present debt is not very large in proportion to annual income and the capabilities of these islands. In view of the unusually large amount which has been expended for useful public works and permanent improvements, to say nothing of more or less "dead horse" from former administrations, we do not consider an increase of less than one hundred and fifty thousand dollars in the national indebtedness within the past year, to be any matter for alarm or dissatisfaction.

The receipt of nearly a million and a third dollars in one year from current sources, exclusive of loans, is very satisfactory and hopeful. The general popular confidence in the stability of affairs, and in the national solvency and good faith, which is manifested by the rapid increase of the Postal Savings business, is equally encouraging.

Our space does not admit of any lengthy analysis of the figures of the report. We note, in closing, only the following: The total amount of the appropriations of all kinds, including conditional, for the biennial period, was $3,397,131.93. Of this, $37,000 was for debt falling due, and $243,000 for interest on public debt, and commissions and expenses connected with paying the same. The half of the above would be $1,698,565.96. The amount actually disbursed in the first half of the period is, as above stated, $1,476,574.27, or a little less than eighty-seven per cent. of the same.

WHALING ADVENTURE.

A Whale Runs Off with a Schooner.

News was lately received by mail in San Francisco from Port Townsend that the fishing schooner C. H. White had returned from a halibut cruise in the North Pacific. On arrival her master, Charles Johnson, related an exciting adventure with a whale that occurred a few days before the vessel arrived in port. The captain made the following report: "The vessel was anchored on Flat tery Banks, seventy miles from shore, with all of the crew out in five dories catching halibut, when a school of five black whales came alongside. One of the school got entangled in the vessel's cable, the anchor parted, and the vessel, in tow of the monster, was taken at a rapid rate to the westward, the only persons aboard being the captain and the cook, who were unable to stop his progress.

"The whale became exhausted and brought the schooner around in a circle within fifty miles from where they started. The windlass was rigged and the vessel hauled along side of the whale, where he measured over eighty-four feet. With one turn the cable became disentangled on the whale's flank, and the whale disappeared beneath the water.

"The captain and cook hoisted sail and returned for the boats, where the crews were safely found twenty-four hours later. The experience was the most exciting that has ever occurred off Flat tery Banks. The story is vouched for by all of the crew."

The Latest Illustrations of Self-Government.

On Monday, March 4th, the man who had been the ruler of more than sixty millions of people retired from office with no jar, no irritation and no tumult. Four years ago he was elected by a mere scratch. Less than eleven hundred more votes cast adversely in the State of New York would have defeated him. But the people acquiesced in the count, and accepted the result which put one party out of power and brought another in. Monday the man stepped out and another was installed in office who had been elected by the party that was defeated four years ago. He comes in as a ruler of nearly or quite sixty-four millions of people. His authority extends over forty-two States, counting those lately admitted, and five Territories that have the prospect of becoming States.

In all the world there has never been a more remarkable illustration of self-government than that which has been furnished, not only by recent events, but by the constitutional history of the country for the last hundred years. In a few weeks it will be a full century since Washington was installed as the first President of the United States. There had been a long period of self-government before that event. But the last century has afforded the most striking examples of "a government of the people, by the people and for the people." It is a fortunate circumstance that there are always two or more parties contending for supremacy. Each will be pretty sure to uncover the defects and weaknesses of the other. They will search each other as with "lighted candles."

Drunkness is the mother of misdeeds, the mother of mischief, the root of wretchedness, the vent of vice, the subverter of the senses, the confounder of the capacity, raising a storm in the tongue, billows in the body, and shipwreck in the soul; the loss of time, the corrupter of conversation, the discreditor of carriage, the infamy of honesty, the sink that swalloweth chastity, the infirmity whose physician is ignominy, and the madness whose medicine is misery. —[St. Austin, translated by John Trapp.]

Prohibition vs. Dull Times.

MR. EDITOR: Please publish this "lengthened out a bit sermon." Perhaps it will enable the retail merchants of these Islands to see what makes the "dull times" and little trade about which we hear so much complaint—that is, to see if the thousands of dollars that now fall into the rumrunner's till, could be devoted to the purchase of shoes, hats and other clothing; meat, bread and other food; books, papers and other civilizing influences; lumber, nails and other building materials; houses, land and other property, etc., thus contributing to legitimate trade and increase of wealth, comfort and business, we would hear but little about hard or dull times.

JOHN M. HORSER.

LENGTHENING EVERY DAY.

Said a merchant yesterday: "Do you know that prohibition is changing the character of business in the interior towns? Whenever prohibition has been adopted the money formerly expended for whiskey is devoted to something else, and this has given rise to larger general business, and in some instances, new business. One country merchant told me this week that he sold fifty pairs of children's shoes where he formerly sold one. The fathers used to drink up the shoe money and the children went barefoot. He says also that he sells quantities of women's hats and bonnets, and never sold anything of the kind before prohibition was adopted. The husbands had no money, so the wives made their own bonnets out of calico and splits; now there is no gallon jug under the bed, and women have decent head gear, and even ribbon. That is a solid fact, and is a whole sermon if you choose to lengthen it out a 'bit.'—[Mobile (Ala.) Register.]

A POINTER FOR THE REV. FATHER M'GLYNN.

The avowed aim of Messrs. George and McGlynn is to abolish poverty, but while they think the best way to accomplish that most worthy object is to tax increased in the interior towns, that a Prohibition law with a Prohibition party to enforce it would be infinitely more valuable in aiding the poor and alleviating their wretched condition. To sustain our view we present a few facts in connection with landlords in Atlanta, Ga., where Prohibition has been tried for over a year now, and let it be remembered, tried under conditions very adverse to its success.

Mr. Talley, of Atlanta, another real estate man, says that he rents from 600 to 800 houses, and that he had to issue from four to five distress warrants a month, while during the past eighteen months he has issued only one.

Mr. Hargrave, of Atlanta, was a strong anti-Prohibitionist, so strong that he wouldn't let anybody talk to him on the subject. He says: "My distress warrants used to average thirty-six to the year, and I haven't issued one in twelve months." When asked why he continues to be an Anti, he replied: "I am not; I am a red-hot Prohibitionist."

Mr. Scott, of Atlanta, who did not vote for Prohibition, says: "I used to issue as many as twenty-five distress warrants a year. Now I issue only one a year." "Then, how can you vote with the Anti?" he was asked. "I am not an Anti; I'm going with the Prohibitionists."

Mr. Roberts, of Atlanta, is a square man and an intelligent man. He says: "My testimony is the same. I formerly issued two or three distress warrants every month, and I have not issued one in twelve months."

Mr. Kioran, of Atlanta, was an anti-Prohibitionist in the last race. He says: "I was an anti-Prohibitionist on principle." Personal liberty man, I suppose, "but I work from sixty to 100 men, and I have seen a change that, as a home man loving my fellow-man I dare not disregard, and I am for Prohibition."

Mr. Boyd, of Atlanta, a large employer of labor, says: "The garnishment, next to the distress warrant, is the most inhumane form of debt collection. It means that the law lays a hand on a man's wages and holds them in its grasp, though his little children may clamor about his knees and cry for bread. Now, where there were twenty necessary before Prohibition, there is at present only one."

Mr. Grant, of Atlanta, is a man of profound convictions. You can cut him up into postage stamps, and he would not deny a thing he thought was right, and he was one of the most violent of the anti-Prohibitionists. He said: "I work 220 men, and I see what Prohibition has done for them, and I believe my duty requires I should let it alone. My former house to the poor and down there they live better, their houses are better, they have shoes where they were shoeless, and have plenty to eat where they formerly barely lived. Formerly I have had thirty garnishments at once in my shop; since we have had Prohibition I have been running seven months, and I have not answered one single garnishment."

Mr. Henry W. Grady, of Atlanta, in reference to these testimonies, says: "Is there any possible answer to them? Is there any industrial, any social, any economic revolution that has been worked since this world began that would account for the diminution in this most vicious and intolerable of legal enactments? Have you thought about what a distress warrant is? Have you ever thought about a woman being turned out of her house, and her children and her children's children? Can you picture a man who lives in comfortable homes filled with light and warmth and books and joy—can you think of these people—human beings, our brothers and sisters—the poor mother, brave though her heart is breaking, holding her little children about her—and the father weak but loving, and loving all the deeper because he knows his weakness has brought them to this want and deprivation—and little children, those of whom our Saviour said, 'Suffer them to come unto Me, and forbid them not,' then asking, 'Mamma, where will we sleep to-night?'—can you picture that, and then their marching up and down the streets—this pitiable procession—through the unthinking streets, by laughing children and shining windows, looking for a hole where, like the foxes, they may hide their poorer heads? My friends, they talk to you about personal liberty, that a man should have the right to go into a grocery and see the pitiful procession—now stopped—parading up and down our streets again. They talk to you about the shades of Washington, Monroe and Jefferson. I would not give one happy, rosy little woman, uplifted from that degradation—happy again in her home, with the cricket chirping on the hearthstone and her children about her knees, her husband redeemed from drink at her side—I would not give one of them for all the shades of all the men that ever contended since Catiline conspired and Cesar fought.

Boston's Death Record.

The Boston Daily Herald publishes a number of charts, comprehensively setting forth the mortality of the city during the past few years, and showing the gradual, but steady, falling off in the number of zymotic diseases in the city. In 1872 the death rate was 32 per 1,000 of population; in 1888 it was less than 25, and consumption, pneumonia and bronchitis alone account for more than 28 per cent. of the whole number. Recent disease stands third on the list of fatal maladies, consumption and pneumonia being an easy first and second—surpassing diphtheria, bronchitis and cholera infantum. The death rate among children under five years of age has fallen from 42, in 1872, to 35 in 1888 and the city now boasts a record which it claims is without a parallel among all large cities.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The schooner Leali is on the Marine Railway.
 The steamers due today are: C. R. Bishop and J. A. Cummins.
 The steamer W. G. Hall will leave next Friday morning for windward ports.
 The barks Newbury, G. N. Wilcox and Annie Johnson, and barkentine Discovery are now loading sugar for San Francisco.
 The barks Colusa and W. B. G. Gifford, and barkentine S. N. Castle are very likely now on their way from San Francisco to this port.

The steamer Pele sails this evening for Waimea, Kaula, with 150 tons coal and 60 tons railway iron, the latter from the bark G. N. Wilcox.

The bark Pakwan is now due from Newcastle, N. S. W., with coal for this port. She sailed from Newcastle together with the Annie Johnson.

The steamer W. G. Hall arrived on Tuesday afternoon from Maui and Hawaii with 54,000 bags sugar, 235 hides, 34 bags coffee, 19 bags rice, 10 head cattle, 2 head pigs, and 63 packages sundries. Reported fine weather all along her route, and rainy weather at Kona and Kail.

POLICE COURT.

Fine for Furious Driving.
 Hecla and Welfen had each $5 to pay for drunkenness at Tuesday's sitting.
 Otto Lundroff, driver of a milk wagon, was charged with furious and heedless driving, and was defended by W. A. Whiting. It was proved he was not driving fast, but as he was not looking where he was going, the pole of his wagon hit a policeman walking on the middle of the street. Fined $5.30.
 Two cases were remanded.

Goals to Newcastle.

It seems almost like "carrying coals to Newcastle" to take wheat from this port to Australia, but that is being done at the present time. Owing to the partial failure of the Australian wheat crop, grain is now being sent from here there in considerable quantities. The ship Reeper sailed for Sydney on Tuesday with 41,776 cents wheat, value $64,753, and the British ship Brynhild, 1400 tons, and the American ship Gatherer, 1436 tons, are now at Port Costa loading wheat for the same port.

The Oceanic Company's steamer Zealandia will carry considerable wheat among her cargo for Australia. Yesterday three more schooners, the Anna Matilda, Albertine and Hercules discharged their cargoes of wheat into her. After the Anna Matilda had discharged her cargo, the Albertine hauled alongside the port, ahead of the Hercules, which had come into the ship ahead of her. Then Captain Jensen of the Hercules got wrathful and a fight seemed imminent. The receiving clerk and others interposed to prevent trouble, and finally the Albertine hauled off, and the Hercules discharged first—S. F. Call.

The Quarterly Journal of Inebriety gives, as the most noticeable feature of progress toward sobriety in England, the great decrease of intoxicants used in work-houses, stating that during the last four years there has been a reduction of more than twenty-five per cent. while in twenty-four work-houses of England and Wales intoxicants are absolutely prohibited.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

A Chinaman was arrested yesterday for larceny.

Ducks were flying overhead in large numbers last night.

The electric light wires are being extended to the poles on King street, Palama.

A steady rainfall set in yesterday afternoon and continuing made a wet night.

Foreign and native jurors are required to attend the Supreme Court at 10 o'clock this morning.

Hawaiian Trains Co.'s corrected time tables are now ready for delivery at their office, King street.

Eight or ten appeal cases were entered in the Clerk's Office of the Supreme Court yesterday from the Police Court.

The Court room was crowded yesterday afternoon and evening, particularly the latter, during the addresses of counsel to the jury.

There will be three annual sales tomorrow. Mr. Morgan will sell the stock of Mr. Eckart, clocks, watches and jewelry, at 10. Mr. Levey will hold his regular sale at the same hour, and at 12 will sell damaged goods, etc., from cargo of bark G. N. Wilcox.

A notice is posted in the Supreme Court room, saying: "Defendants in all undried criminal cases now on the calendar of the present term will be called on the opening of Court on Saturday, for the purpose of having their cases continued until the July term, 1889."

OUR ISLAND HOME.

Our Kingdom of the Sunset Isles,
 By Heaven's favor blessed,
 The land where peaceful Plenty smiles,
 The Garden of the West,
 From every fruitful lowland slope,
 To every mountain dome,
 A nation's pride, a people's hope,
 God bless our island home!

Rich rugged land of hill and dale,
 By flag was first unfurled,
 When Lamer's hand had raised the veil
 That hid thee from the world.
 In thought and deed, unwearied still,
 Thy children labor on;
 Right glorious will the day fulfil
 The promise of the dawn.

May willing hands in every need,
 Be raised for thine and thee;
 And God protect from foreign greed,
 Our Kingdom by the sea.
 We love thee well, thou garden fair,
 Amidst the ocean's foam,
 Be this thy children's constant prayer,
 God bless our island home!

BARKS AND SHIPS.

The Utility of the Varied Vessel Riggings in the Harbor.

"Why is it that most of the vessels that come to this port are barks rather than full-rigged ships?" was put to the harbor-master yesterday. "Because a bark takes less material in the way of canvas and can be managed with two less men and makes nearly as good sailing time."

"On the same principle, then, do we have schooners in order to lessen the number of the crew and thus curtail expenses?"
 "No, a schooner is not built that way for that reason, as it will require as many men as a bark, but because the former can sail closer to the wind than the latter, which is a great advantage in beating against the wind. While a ship or bark can sail within six points of the wind, a schooner can sail within five. Again, in tacking with a schooner, the man at the wheel simply throws the vessel around and she is on the other tack before a ship or bark has fully gotten ready to tack."

KLEIN.

The Samoan Correspondent Will Not Go to Berlin.

John C. Klein, the correspondent at Samoa, visited Washington twice in a recent week, having been summoned by the State Department for the purpose of testifying in relation to the outrage committed by the Germans while he was there. He also explained his connection with the events leading up to the battle of Kagulu. His testimony completely refuted the charges made by the Germans against him of having fired upon their sailors and ordered the soldiers of Mataafa to do so. The affidavits of Klein and three of Mataafa's soldiers who were with him at the battle, made before the United States Vice-Consul Blacklock at Apia, will be taken by the Berlin Commission appointed by the United States. Klein had three private interviews with Blaine. The correspondent will not go to Berlin, at least for the present.

The Napoosoon School.

The new schoolhouse at Napoosoon, Kona, Mr. J. W. Smith, of Kaula, contractor, is about completed. The building is an object of great interest and admiration to the native residents, who all pronounce it "makaiki ki." An aged native woman came round one evening and sang Hawaiian melodies in the exuberance of her delight at the beautiful structure being erected for the benefit of the "Hawaiian children." One of the principal Hawaiian residents who has grandchildren in the school has said that, although they had been attending the English school at Napoosoon some five years up to November last, he never heard them sing a word of English, but now they are practicing each other in English every day.

SUPREME COURT.

Eighth Day of the Crim. Con. Case—The Jury Retire Near Midnight—Verdict for Plaintiff for Two Hundred Dollars.

In the case of Kahanani vs. Asford the defense rested and Mr. Creighton began addressing the jury in English at 2:05 p.m., Tuesday. Mr. Kahanani followed in Hawaiian at 3:52, speaking until 6 o'clock, when the Court took recess until 7:30. At the latter hour Mr. Rosa began his closing address for the plaintiff, speaking first in Hawaiian and then in English and closing at 10:15. Mr. Justice Dole began charging the jury immediately, and they retired at 11:20 to consider their verdict.

His Honor stated that the law encouraged this class of cases, as a preventive of personal vengeance and bloodshed. It afforded reparation to the husband for the loss of his wife's affections and of family life. It furnished an outlet for the wronged husband's feelings of vindictiveness over his family troubles. The law allowed actual damages in the pecuniary loss proved, also punitive or exemplary damages for the loss of his wife. In the first case the damages may be arrived at as actual, in the latter they must be calculated by the jury according to their judgment upon the evidence. They were to decide the case not according to what the community thought, nor according to what they thought, or the counsel said, but according to the testimony, but according to the evidence. It was necessary in a case of this kind to prove marriage, which had been fully done. They were not required either to trouble with the matter of matrimony, as that was fully admitted. The defense was only for the mitigation or reduction of damages, or the prevention of a verdict of damages on the ground of continuance of the proscription. If continuance was proved these defenses would be inconsistent. Should no continuance be found proved, then a verdict must be given for plaintiff. In that case the damages should be mitigated or not according to the evidence affecting that consideration.

His Honor dealt with written instructions asked for by counsel on both sides, granting some, modifying others, refusing others. Exceptions were noted on both sides. It was charged that damages might be found, if notwithstanding occasional spats, the couple generally lived happily together, but defendant interfered with their relations. On the other hand, the jury were instructed to find a verdict for the defendant if plaintiff was believed to have consented to, or soiled her bed for, the defendant, the improper conduct of his wife. Careless as his part to use proper means of preventing illicit relations, after he had known of or suspected such, would be in mitigation of damages. The defendant was, however, not before the jury. His Honor referred to the voluminous testimony taken, too much so for him to go over it all, but he gave them the usual instructions in the law of weighing evidence.

At 12:10 o'clock this morning the jury returned a unanimous verdict of two hundred dollars damages for the plaintiff. The damages sued for were $10,000.

AT CHAMBERS.

Before Chief Justice Judd, on Tuesday, April 23d, the trustee's first account of estate H. R. H. Likelike M. Cleghorn, deceased, was presented. Cecil Brown for trustee, Hon. A. S. Cleghorn, and the latter in person. The account showed receipts of $8,272.99, and expenditures of $10,557.17, leaving a balance due to the estate of $2,284.18. The account was ordered approved, the Court directing that a surplus, when it appears, be applied to the credit of the minor, H. R. H. Victoria Kaulani Cleghorn.

The Chief Justice on the same day, the same parties present, heard first account of Hon. A. S. Cleghorn as guardian of H. R. H. Victoria Kaulani Cleghorn, his daughter, a minor. Receipts were $7,801.35, expenditures $5,844.82, leaving a balance of $1,956.53 for the benefit of the ward. The account was approved. The Court recommended the saving of something if possible, while at the same time supporting the ward in keeping with the dignity of her position. The guardian stating he was about to send his ward to England, to probably not return before the second succeeding winter, to spend most of that time in getting an education, the Court approved of that project and agreed that, if necessary, during that time the entire income may be spent for her, also suggested sending along such of the estate jewelry as may be deemed appropriate for her to wear during her absence.

THE GASOLINE EXPLOSION.

Conclusion of the Inquest on Eugene Zoell—The Jury Find a Want of Due Care in Handling the Explosive.

The inquest into the death of Eugene Zoell, who with two Chinese was fatally injured in the Beaver Saloon explosion on February 11th, which began on the following day and has been continued from time to time, was concluded yesterday. Mr. H. J. Nolte, proprietor of the restaurant above named, added his testimony to that taken previously, when the jury after deliberation rendered the following verdict:

"That Eugene Zoell came to his death on February 12th, 1888, through burning, the burning having been caused by the explosion of escaped gasoline at the Beaver Saloon on February 11th, 1888. They are moreover of opinion that the cause which led to the explosion was a lack of due care in the handling of so dangerous an explosive."

Mr. Nolte, in describing the circumstances of the casualty, said Zoell had been attending to the filling of the gasoline tank during the previous two years, and just before the explosion he had noticed one of the Chinamen doing that work, a few moments later hearing Zoell sharply rebuking the Chinaman for the way he was doing it. Mr. Nolte was not in a position to right matters, after discovering that something was wrong, before the explosion came with serious injury to himself.

In selecting the seventy foot water line cutter yacht as the type of vessel best adapted to win in American waters Lord Dunsraven has displayed greater wisdom than his predecessors who have challenged for the America cup. Many British cutters of this class have done very well on this side, and one—the Madge—swept everything before her a few years ago.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
 Absolutely Pure.

For quick raising, the Royal Baking Powder is superior to all other baking powders. It is also the purest and wholesome and of the highest leavening power. It is always uniform in strength and quality and never fails to make light, sweet, most palatable and nutritive food. Breads, biscuits, cakes, etc., are raised with Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot without distressing results to the most delicate digestive organs. It will keep in any climate without deterioration.

Prof. H. A. Mott, U. S. Government Chemist, after examining officially the principal baking powders of the country, reported:
 "The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in many tests made both for that company and the United States Government."

Because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.

MURRAY &amp; LANMAN'S FLORIDA WATER

The Universal Perfume
 For the Toilet, the Bath and the Handkerchief.

In view of the attempts made recently by some unscrupulous dealers to fast upon the public a worthless imitation, bearing the name of the genuine, we call attention to the distinguishing marks of the genuine Murray & Lanman's Florida Water.

Each bottle of the genuine article bears on its neck the Trade Mark, which appears alongside the name of the genuine, and on each end of the pump, which is wrapped around it, appears in faint water mark letters the words "LANMAN & KEMP, NEW YORK."

If either be lacking reject the article as spurious.
