LINK BALKS AT TRENT REFUSES THE QUESTION MARK

As Shy as His Leader About Any Views He May Have on Public Questions.

McCandless Has No Answer to Questions as to His Stand Against Immigration.

CALLS RYAN FOR ARGUMENT

Democratic Figurehead Seems All for Self and Voices No Party Policy.

Pausing a moment on Oahu Isle, to catch his political breath between "doing" the Islands of Hawaii and Kauai in the one-man fight against immigration, Link McCandless was yesterday afternoon seen, perspiring and loudly eloquent, in the Democratic headquarters in the Waverley Block.

In spite of the fact that Democracy here has no newspaper of its own in which to quote the undaunted land-lover and anti-immigration candidate for the office of delegate to congress, Mr. McCandless did not appear at all enthusiastic about getting his name or his views published in a daily.

"I have nothing to say more than I have already said," declared Link, striding up and down and still sweating with the exertion of holding the strings of his campaign in one hand and gestulating with the other. "I talked to one Advertiser man yesterday. Why do they send around again today for?" he asked.

The Democratic leader was given an opportunity to answer such questions as the general public is interested in having answered from the lips of a man who is at the head of the Democratic party and who is standing on a platform which proclaims that Hawaii must kill immigration in the bud, but has preferred to ask, rather than to answer, questions, and stated that Delegate Kukio was the man of whom answers should be expected.

"Why do you advocate a law which would prevent the Portuguese on Punch-bowl from having a preference right to the homes they have built—why do you want to exempt city property from preference rights in your land scheme?" he was asked.

"There is nothing contemplated against the welfare of the Portuguese," declared Link. "The disposition of the lands is up to the Governor and the land commissioner. I have said all that is required for me to say in previous interviews, and I have nothing more to say. Ask Kukio what he expects to do for the poor people, or what he ever accomplished. Ask him some of these questions."

Link was very emphatic as to what he considers will be his chances for election. He says he is practically already elected, and that it stands to reason that the votes will go his way, Japanese votes and all.

Bill Jarrett happened to be at headquarters at the time. "You can say Link and Jarrett are sure," smiled McCandless.

Asked what was being done with reference to the promised Democratic paper, Link said that was in the hands of the Democratic county committee and Mr. Rivenburgh, the party's manager, and that he knew nothing of what plans were being made. In another sentence he said that the party didn't have any money to run a newspaper.

"It has been stated," burst out Link, finding a subject on which to speak upon which no questions had been asked, "that I had been an annexationist. It has been said as if it were sought to be used against me. How about annexation on the other side, among your Republicans—Thurston, Shingle, Cooke and a lot more?"

T. J. Ryan entered the holy of holies of the Democratic party. He handed out a tract, which Link immediately proclaimed to contain unanswerable arguments in regard to questions asked him in public and otherwise. He drew attention to the paragraph which declares:

"The amendment proposed in the bill, line 25 on page 6, and lines 1 to 10 on page 7, concerning preference right, is not as it should be. Please note the language: 'The commissioner with the approval of the governor may give, etc.'"

R. H. Trent, the Democratic city and county treasurer, again a candidate for office, and who has opposed to him R. W. Shingle, choice of the Republican party, refuses to be interviewed on the immigration or any other question.

Just before the Democratic convention was held it was popularly believed that Mr. Trent would not consent to stand on a platform which was opposed to immigration. The Democratic convention adopted the anti-immigration platform, and Mr. Trent came out boldly and stood upon the plank and waved his hands and shouted his cheers as enthusiastically as any man in the convention who was on Link McCandless' payroll to pass such a platform. But Mr. Trent, who is usually one of the most talkative of men, ready to give his opinion on almost anything, has adopted the rule that "Silence is Golden," for he has failed to open his mouth on the immigration question. Efforts have been made by The Advertiser to induce Mr. Trent to declare himself to the voters, for whose ballots he is canvassing, and make his own position in the present political fight, known. He resisted an effort to draw him out yesterday, and declared steadfastly that he did not care to talk, and would not be interviewed upon the subject. He jokingly said he had not been given authority for release upon political subjects by the boss of the Democratic party. It was suggested that as McCandless was back from Hawaii he might get the latter's permission to talk.

TREASURER TRENT.

Who has nothing to say about anything.

Mr. Trent is showing himself a "diplomatist" in the manner in which he evades answering any questions with a reference to the political issues of the hour. So far the voters of the county, Republicans and Democrats alike, who put him in office two years ago, as well as four years ago, do not know upon what issues he is asking for support this campaign. Republicans who gave their votes to him two and four years ago have, therefore, swung their votes over to Shingle, whose views on the immigration and other questions are an open book. Mr. Shingle has declared himself positively and unequivocally opposed to any issues which mean the undermining of the main industry or any other industry of the Islands such as McCandless has interjected into the political situation.

FOREST FIRES DESTROY TOWNS AND LIVES

WINNIPEG, October 6.—Forest fires raging in the province and along the American border have destroyed the towns of Williams, Pitt, Gracetown and Cedar Spring, Minnesota. Five lives have been lost in the raging flames, and the foresters and special forces so far are unable to check the advance of the fires in the timber.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 6.—Prince Tsai Hsun, head of the Chinese navy, sailed on the T. K. K. liner Chivo Maru for Honolulu and the Orient. He is returning from a short visit to the United States, in the course of which he inspected the navy yards.

TOTAL REGISTRATION EXPECTED TO SHOW 7200 VOTERS ON THIS ISLAND

Two days more in which to register—today and tomorrow.

At ten o'clock sharp tomorrow night the Board of Registration will close its books.

Up to date the total registration for the two districts is 6910, or 670 less than the registration of 1908. Chairman Chillingworth expects the figures to run to about 7200, or about 1000 more than two years ago.

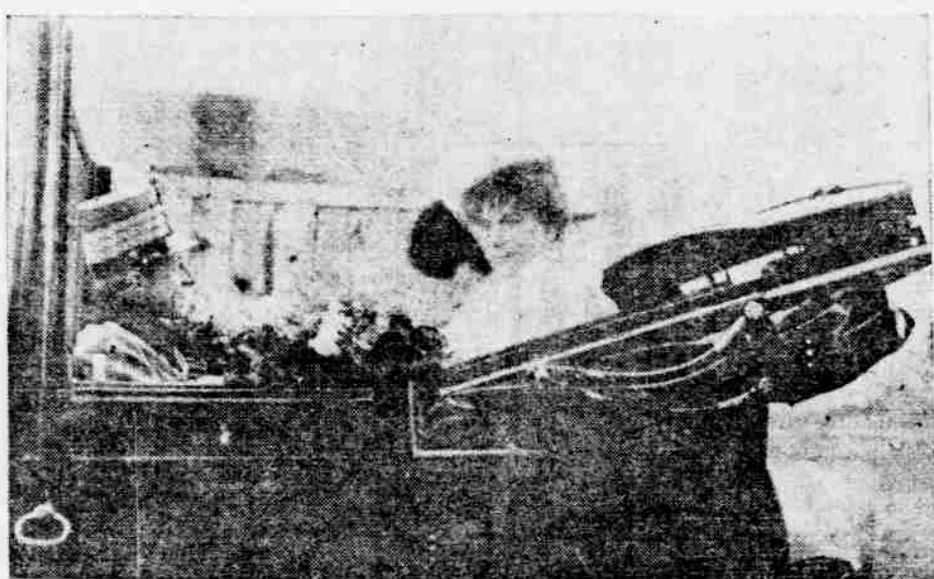

The fourth district is yet behind the fifth, and while there seems to be some assurance that the fourth will have less voters than the fifth, yet the fourth political workers are equally certain that the fourth will maintain the lead.

The board went to Leilehua yesterday and registered twenty-eight voters.

Today the board will keep the office open as follows: 7:30 to 9:30; 12 to 1:30 and 4 to 6:30.

On Saturday the morning hours will be the same as today, but in the afternoon the board will sit from 4 to 10 o'clock, closing at the latter hour, and not at midnight as previously announced.

THE KING AND QUEEN OF SPAIN, Whose thrones rock with the force of the fall of that of Manuel.

SPAIN RECOGNIZES NEW REPUBLIC

Not Without Some Uneasiness Herself on Account of Restless Troops.

MADRID, Spain, October 7.—Following a meeting of the cabinet here yesterday the premier caused to be issued an official announcement to the effect that the Kingdom of Spain will assume toward the new Republic of Portugal an attitude identical with that taken by other world powers, recognizing the Portuguese republic as a full-fledged member of the family of nations, providing that government, just coming into existence from the wreck of the monarchy, proves to be stable.

Reports from Valencia state that the troops at that point have been showing signs of uneasiness. The officers of the soldiery under arms at Valencia have communicated with the government headquarters here, stating that they have observed indications of a revolt, but there is believed to be no immediate cause for alarm and that the excitement among the military in certain sections on account of the successful revolution in Portugal will not endure.

The military heads, however, are on the alert for any possible outbreak, and the palace is under heavy guard.

At the first sign of an attempted revolt the government will act in force, the troops in the main, it is believed, being loyal and to be depended upon.

It is not thought that the restless displayed in some quarters during the drafting of troops for the Moroccan campaign has to any extent affected the military as a whole. Every precaution is being taken.

MORGAN WORKING ON MERGER PLAN

Ready to Advance Proposal to Have Local Commercial Bodies Unite as One.

Amalgamation of the chamber of commerce, merchants' association and commercial club will shortly be brought again to the attention of these organizations on the recommendation of President Morgan of the chamber of commerce who is now on the Coast, where he is interesting himself in the details of the proposed merger of the mercantile organizations.

Secretary King of the San Francisco Merchants' Association informed Mr. Morgan that all arrangements had nearly been made for the consolidation, the only matter in abeyance being the placing of a value and proportioning the division of the property of the Merchants' Exchange. Mr. Morgan states in a letter that he had a consultation recently with W. M. Giffard who told Mr. Morgan that he was strongly in favor of the local merger proposition and would certainly vote for it.

The merger of the local mercantile interests, which has so far not received much encouragement, was proposed on the ground that the business interests would be better represented on a strong, centralized consolidation where the allied industrial and financial interests would be better served. Mr. Morgan's visit to the Coast has undoubtedly fixed his determination to bring the matter to an issue to be taken up at an early meeting of the chamber of commerce.

PREMIER CANALEJAS OF SPAIN, Whose Policies the Clericals Threaten to Revolt Against.

PORTUGUESE WORK COMES TO STOP

Immigration Agent A. J. Campbell Goes On to Spain to Secure Immigrants.

Immigration from Portugal, or at least the Islands of Madeira and St. Michaels, may be brought to a temporary sudden stop owing to the change of government from a monarchy to a Republic, and already A. J. Campbell, agent of the territorial board of immigration, is on his way to, or has already entered, Spain in the quest of recruits.

A short time since the board of immigration received an intimation that Campbell's mission to the Azores was not all that was anticipated and that although he had not met with any opposition, to speak of, from the government, yet he had received very little encouragement, and the indications pointing to very little enthusiasm on the part of the Islanders to emigrate to Hawaii, he departed for Spain to size up the situation.

It would seem that Campbell's change of base is jumping from the frying pan into the fire. The political unrest in Portugal which probably had an effect on his mission, has reached its crisis, but in Spain it is very different. The authorities are taking measures to repress any revolutionary outbreak, and the story of organized revolt from there, should any come, will probably be much bloodier. Under the circumstances, it looks as Mr. Campbell had a difficult row to hoe at the present time, and that, after all, he may have to look to Demerara on the South American coast for Portuguese laborers who may wish to change because of the depression in the sugar industry in Guiana.

Neither the Governor nor the board of immigration is in receipt of any definite information as to Mr. Campbell's present movements, and the Governor is not exactly in a position to say whether Campbell's visit to the Iberian nations will or will not be successful.

WILL OPEN BIDS TOMORROW NOON

Construction of Y. M. C. A. Building May Commence Within Ten Days.

Bids for the construction of the new Y. M. C. A. building are to be opened by the building committee of the association at noon tomorrow, and if the lowest bid comes within the amount of money at the disposal of the association, it is probable that ground will be broken within the next ten days and the work of construction rushed ahead as rapidly as possible.

Paul Super, superintendent of the local Y. M. C. A., stated last night that he believed the bids would be within the amount of money available. Certainly he hoped so. If not, then it may be necessary to revise the plans and again advertise for bids.

EUROPE'S NEWEST NATION CENSORS REPORTS OF HER INFANT STRUGGLINGS

Headed by Poet President and Acknowledged a Member of the Family of World Powers, the Republic of Portugal Prefers to Fight in Silence to Secure Her Government.

PARIS, France, October 7.—There is a dearth of detailed information concerning the events following the revolution which has overthrown the Portuguese monarchy, for all dispatches from Lisbon are most rigorously censored, these now in power refusing to allow the dissemination of news without first becoming acquainted with the facts sought to be published, and reserving the right to suppress facts or to limit dispatches to what they deem advisable to be made known.

Therefore the exact situation is unknown to the world, and whether the young republic has secured a firm hold or whether further struggle must come is at present impossible to declare.

Dispatches from Lisbon yesterday announced that the republic had been established, but with what certainty is a matter of surmise. It is thought that there are still powerful forces to reckon with before it can be said that the new government is safely inaugurated.

Joachim Theophile Braga, the famous man of letters and politics, statesman and poet, is named the first president of the new republic and the world powers have sent notes announcing their recognition of the new regime, according to official dispatches from the Portuguese capital, though details are meager and the hand of the censor is evident.

Lisbon, however, is reported quiet and is well guarded by the soldiers of the republic. It is not believed that there will be any further violence.

Mmanuel and Mother Safe.

GIBRALTAR, October 7.—The de-throned boy king of the fallen monarchy of Portugal, Manuel, accompanied by his mother, arrived here safely yesterday aboard the yacht Amelie. Upon landing they were driven to the residence of the governor.

CANAVARRO HAS NOT BEEN NOTIFIED

Consul-General Canavarro, representing Portugal in the Hawaiian Islands, has received no particulars of the establishment of the Republic of Portugal. He is disposed to the belief that the consular corps may not be changed to any degree, as the consuls are regarded as employees who have no adherence to any particular party. They are employees selected and commissioned to carry out the wishes of the "government," and the government, to them, is merely whoever happens to be in power. Premiers may come and premiers may go, the cabinet may change, but the consular corps generally remains the same.

The consul-general will remain the accredited representative of the Portuguese government, now for the republic, as he was before for the monarchy, but is awaiting some news from the Portuguese minister to Washington.

Mr. Canavarro, however, is of the belief that the new government may take stock of its consulates and go over them with a fine tooth comb. The government may come to the conclusion that although there is a large Portuguese colony here, increased from time to time by emigrants from the Portuguese islands near Portugal, they may not be so much need for a consul-general or consular representative with a big salary, and may decide to have merely a consular representative, following the plan adopted for Hawaii, by France.

PRINCE ESCAPES ASSASSINATION

Tsai Hsun, En Route to This Port, Threatened With Revolver.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 7.—Shortly before Prince Tsai Hsun, who has been visiting the States to study American naval methods, was to board the Toyo Kisen Kaisha Chiyo Maru for Honolulu and the Orient, bound home to China, an attempt to assassinate him was made by one of his own countrymen.

George Fong, who is a member of what is known as the Young China Association, drew a revolver in the crowd at the Oakland mole as the prince was passing and took aim at the Chinese visitor.

The prince was guarded by United States secret service men and Secret Service Officer Moffett sprang upon the would-be assassin before he could pull the trigger. Fong was overpowered by Moffett and the loaded weapon taken from him, the young man being hurried away to prison while the police restored order in the excited crowd.

Meanwhile Prince Tsai Hsun proceeded, under reinforced guard, to make his way to the Chiyo Maru, getting safely aboard.

When put through the examination service of the police, George Fong broke down and made what purported to be a complete confession, though whether he is telling the truth remains to be seen.

Fong stated that he had planned to assassinate Prince Tsai Hsun "to remove one of China's oppressors."

He declared that he alone was responsible for the attempted murder and that the effort to take the prince's life was in no way a conspiracy on the part of the association of which he is a member.

WILHELMINA CASE STILL UNDECIDED

Defense Moves for Discharge
Without Introducing
Testimony.

The hearing in the case of the twenty-four members of the crew of the Wilhelmmina who are charged with breaking quarantine came to end yesterday, so far as the prosecution and defense are concerned, when, after the prosecution had presented its case, Attorney George A. Davis declined to put on any witnesses, but moved for the discharge of the prisoners on the ground that no case had been made out against them. Commissioner Judd was not quite satisfied on one point and expressed a desire to ask Doctor Ramus a few questions in regard to the orders he gave the stovedores. As Doctor Ramus had gone to Hilo with Secretary Mott-Smith, the hearing was continued until two o'clock next Monday afternoon, when it is probable that the commissioner will render his decision.

The last witness put on by the prosecution was the night watchman who stood at the foot of the gangway while the Wilhelmmina was lying alongside the wharf. The watchman testified that certain persons passed up and down on passes signed by Doctor Ramus; further, that the stovedores, several shifts of them, went up and down without let or hindrance and without passes. No other persons, he said, were allowed to pass. It was also testified that the very nurse who took care of the smallpox patient was allowed to go ashore on a pass. The testimony showed, also, that all the members of the crew had been vaccinated before the vessel came alongside the wharf.

All this testimony for the prosecution Attorney Davis took as being in favor of his men, and he promptly moved for their discharge on the ground that it had been conclusively shown that no real quarantine existed; that although some members of the crew might have been forbidden to go ashore, other persons were permitted to do so. Such discrimination, he said, demonstrated that there was no real quarantine; unless the vessel were quarantined in strict accordance with the rules of the marine hospital service, she was not in quarantine at all, and consequently the crew could not possibly have broken quarantine.

The refusal under the circumstances, he said, to allow the crew to go ashore was clearly discrimination, and, as such, was a violation of the constitution. Davis also claimed that it had not been shown that the men had been properly instructed that the vessel was in quarantine. They had not been mustered and had not been informed individually. He therefore moved for their discharge. Commissioner Judd, as stated above, said he would like to ask Doctor Ramus what orders, if any, he gave the stovedores who were allowed to go aboard the vessel. And as Doctor Ramus had gone to Hilo, he would like to continue the case until his return. This was accordingly done, and the matter will be decided next Monday.

RHEUMATISM THE MOST COMMON CAUSE OF SUFFERING.

Rheumatism causes more pain and suffering than any other disease, for the reason that it is the most common of all ills, and it is certainly gratifying to sufferers to know that Chamberlain's Pain Balm will afford relief, and make rest and sleep possible. In many cases the relief from pain, which is at first temporary, has become permanent. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaii.

A FAIR EXCHANGE.

Large sums of money are no doubt realized from simple speculation, but the great fortunes are derived from legitimate and honest business—where the goods furnished are worth the price they bring. Certain famous business men have accumulated their millions wholly in this way. Prompt and faithful in every contract or engagement they enjoy the confidence of the public and command a class of trade that is refused to unstable or tricky competitors. In the long run it does not pay to cheat or deceive others. A hand may be advertised with a noise like the blowing of a thousand trumpets, but it is soon detected and exposed. The manufacturers of WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION have always acted on very different principles. Before offering it to the public they first made sure of its merits. Then, and then only, did its name appear in print. People were assured of what it would do, and found the statement truthful. To-day they believe in it as we all believe in the word of a tried and trusted friend. It is palatable as honey and contains all the curative properties of pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. It aids digestion, drives impurities from the blood, and is effective in Anemia, Debility, Lung Troubles, Influenza, and all Wasting Complaints. Dr. Louis W. Bishop says: "I take pleasure in saying I have found it a most efficient preparation, embodying all of the medicinal properties of a pure cod liver oil in a most palatable form." It is a scientific remedy, and a food with a delicious taste and flavor. One bottle convinces. Sold by chemists.

FEDERAL SITE AGAIN IN AIR

Rudolph Spreckels Proposes New Block as Location for the Building.

A new proposition for a site for the proposed federal building came up yesterday, when Rudolph Spreckels, in a conversation with Governor Frear, suggested the property owned by the Spreckels estate and bounded by Merchant, Queen, Alakea and the proposed extension of Bishop street.

Mr. Spreckels, Governor Frear stated yesterday afternoon, made this proposition only tentatively. He said that if the Mahuka site were not satisfactory and were to be abandoned, and no other site offered itself, he thought the property above mentioned would make a good site for the federal building as soon as Bishop street shall have been cut through, according to present plans, to the waterfront.

It has already been decided to cut Bishop street through, the government having agreed to pay Spreckels the sum of $20,000 for the land needed for the extension.

The area of the block suggested will be virtually the same as the block in which the Mahuka site is situated, and the land would be a good deal cheaper. There is already $350,000 appropriated for the purchase of the Fort street lots adjoining the federal building site acquired, but the owners of the property refuse to sell for that amount and it will be necessary to resort to condemnation proceedings to obtain it. The Governor and the Delegate have already recommended that condemnation proceedings be started. As he stated yesterday, he is decidedly opposed to the Mahuka site unless the entire block shall be obtained. And, says the Governor, it will take a long while to get the land that way, especially if any of the owners take an appeal.

Has Made No Move.

"When I came into office," said the Governor yesterday, "I considered the question of the site of the federal building as settled, and although I was always in favor of the Irwin site, I did not feel like making any move in the matter after I became Governor."

Asked as to what action he was likely to take, Governor Frear said he did not know that he would take any action. He would like to know how the public feels in regard to changing the site again. As to how this expression of opinion is to be obtained, the Governor suggested that a mass meeting might be called, or the commercial bodies might take action, or, perhaps, a postal card vote might be taken.

The Mahuka site, Governor Frear thinks, could probably be sold for nearly enough to purchase the entire block proposed by Mr. Spreckels as a site for the building.

The entire proposition, so far, is in the air, and the administration would like to get an expression of opinion from the public that is to use the federal building whenever it is finally constructed.

INFORMS THE SPIRIT OF THE DEAD ITO

Unique Message Sent by Teruchi When Annexation of Korea Was Completed.

"Make a report on the treaty of annexation of Korea to the spirit of the late Prince, your father." This was the unique telegram sent by Viscount Teruchi, governor general of Korea, following the publication of the proclamation of annexation, according to advices received by mail from Tokio.

A special envoy will be sent by the Japanese Emperor to the grave of the late Prince Ito to announce the amalgamation. Imperial messengers will also be sent to notify the fact at the shrines of Ito and at the tomb of the founder of the Japanese dynasty and of the reigning Emperor's father.

Due to Ancestors.

A special despatch from Seoul to the Hochi says Viscount Teruchi attributes the annexation to "the virtue of the imperial ancestors, to the deeds of the monarchs from Empress Jinga, who first invaded Korea, to Prince Ito, the former governor." The farewell respect of the Korean Emperor was a pathetic document. It ended with the statement: "Do not think we have abandoned you. Our desire was but to relieve your straitened conditions, to secure the peace of the Orient and the weal of the people of Korea, who are verging upon starvation." The Mainichi Dempo publishes the inner history of the annexation movement, which Prince Yamagata has been pressing for several years. The coup was to have been arranged when Prince Ito made a tour with the ex-Emperor of Korea. This trip was the reverse of Japanese expectations as it aroused Korean patriotism, and following a sharp debate with Prince Yamagata the late Prince Ito resigned his post at Seoul. He was induced to return, and finally before his journey to Manchuria, where he was assassinated, a meeting was held with Prince Yamagata and Marquis Katsura at which annexation was decided upon. Viscount Sone, successor to Prince Ito at Seoul, who died a few days ago, opposed the movement as premature, but the other officials had made up their minds and secretly steps were carried out toward annexation with the result that the proclamation was issued at the end of August. Japanese press opinion, while wholly favoring the event, points out the problem forced upon Japan in financing the new territory. Mr. Takekoshi, the historian, who recently predicted war between Japan and America, writes opposing the event. He says naval expansion in view of the completion of the Panama Canal by 1914 and the probable expiration of the alliance with England at that time was more necessary. The Chinese vernacular press denounces the annexation as tyranny toward a weak neighbor. Some of the Shanghai vernacular papers urge the Chinese government to prepare for defense against Japan in discussing the happening in Korea.

PUTS PUNS STRAIGHT ON A. A. U. QUESTION

Dr. Hand Explains to Students
What Rules Were Intended to Overcome.

Doctor Hand took an examination in A. A. U. problems before the students of Oahu College yesterday morning and passed under the eligibility rules. The boys put about six leading questions up to him and he answered like he had attended twenty periods a week on athletics alone. The students first wanted to know if membership in the A. A. U. would prevent Oahu College from competing with schools that do not join? Doctor Hand's reply was "Yes. If a school refuses to join it is the same as admitting that it is crooked in athletics and does not wish to abide by fair rules."

"Would it prevent individuals of the school from representing other organizations such as the Punahou Alumni Club and the Myrtle Boat Club as they do now?" was the next query from the Puns.

"If individuals are members of the A. A. U.," Doctor Hand responded, "they can be members of as many clubs as they can afford, but they can not represent those clubs in athletics unless those clubs are in the A. A. U. and they can not represent more than one club in the same event within one year from the date of their last performance." Doctor Hand explained that this rule was to prevent what is known as club jumping so that a man could not change over to another club and play against his own team in the same series or come into competition twice against the same opponent in the same series. The A. A. U., however, has a special college clause, the doctor said, permitting members of school teams to play with other organizations during the vacation period.

The third question was: "If Oahu College does not join the A. A. U., but individual students take out membership cards, will those students be permitted to play on Oahu College teams?"

"Yes," replied the doctor, "on baseball, basketball and football teams, provided the teams they play against do not belong to the A. A. U., that is, provided that none of the players with whom or against whom he is playing are paid players." The idea of this rule is, as Doctor Hand explained, to prevent members of the A. A. U. from playing against their own organization in participating in games with non-members.

"How would failure to join the A. A. U. out here affect the amateur standing of Oahu College graduates when they go to the States?" was the fourth query fired. To this Doctor Hand answered:

"If the A. A. U. is organized here and an individual refuses to support it, he will be asked the reason why, and it will be up to him." Hand then explained that a man might have a legitimate reason as for instance, the doctor said, he might only participate in baseball and football, which as a sport does not come under the jurisdiction of the A. A. U., and if he could satisfy the A. A. U. board of governors that he had not taken part in games with professionals or received money himself for playing and there was no one to dispute his record, the A. A. U. might take him in when he went to the States.

The fifth question put was: "If schools and colleges on the mainland do not consider it to their advantage to join the A. A. U., why should the Honolulu schools do so?"

"All schools, secondary schools and colleges either belong directly to the A. A. U., to the collegiate branch of the A. A. U., or to the Public School League which is affiliated with the A. A. U."

The sixth and last question to which Doctor Hand was called upon to respond was: "As football and baseball, two of the three sports in which schools are most interested, are not in the jurisdiction of the A. A. U., what would their status be as compared with track athletics over which the A. A. U. does claim jurisdiction, (Article IX of the constitution)?"

"The A. A. U.," Doctor Hand said, "does not claim jurisdiction over baseball, basketball or football, but they do claim jurisdiction over the player, as regards the kind of prizes and as to whether he receives pay for playing or plays with or against professional players."

After the question and answer class adjourned, Doctor Hand discussed the Interscholastic League situation, which has become somewhat strained of late, with President Griffiths and a group of students. The difference in grades between the schools here competing together in athletics is chiefly responsible for the difficulty in formulating rules of eligibility which will maintain a fairly equal basis between the schools.

The courses at the Kamehameha Schools take the students through two years of High School work; the Oahu College courses are the same as the High School with a postgraduate course additional for students preparing to attend the Jazs universities in the States, and the College of Hawaii takes in the college courses beyond the High School. To put the boys of all four schools on an equal footing for athletics under these conditions is a difficult proposition. The rules of eligibility adopted by the Interscholastic League, of which the Puns, Kams and Higs are members make a four years limit for an athlete to compete in athletics representing any one school. The postgraduates at Punahou are also barred. The Public School Athletic League which takes in the high schools and is a branch of the A. A. U. in the States, puts an age limit on the student athletes of this class. Figuring that boys should not compete against men the eligible limit has been fixed at twenty-one years. As soon as a student reaches this age he is barred

BROKE NEARLY EVEN ON BIG YACHT RACE

Club Appoints Committee to Negotiate Merger With Autoists
After Hearing Statement.

The Hawaii Yacht Club came within twenty dollars of breaking even on the last transpacific yacht race, according to Treasurer Harry Ryeroff, who read his report on the club's finances at the directors' meeting last evening in the Commercial Clubrooms. The aggregate amount donated by the public-spirited citizens of Oahu, Maui, Hawaii and Kauai was $3657.10. The transpacific race, including the reception to the visiting yachtsmen and entertainment while in Honolulu came to $3675.78, the difference amounting to $18.68. The cost of fitting out the Hawaii for the race, provisioning and all the expenses of the trip up to the Coast and back totaled $2997.98. The reception and entertainment of the crews of the Sweetheart from the South Coast Yacht Club of San Pedro and the Mollison of the Aeolian Yacht Club of Alameda, including the Moana Hotel ball and luncheon cost $431.70. When the local yacht was fitted out for the long journey the yachtsmen figured that it was better to have too much of everything in the way of yacht equipment than not enough, and Treasurer Ryeroff reported last night that the excess stock on hand at the present time was worth $246.10. The official accountant further reported $222.29 in cash on hand and in the bank to the credit of the Hawaii Yacht Club.

After the reading of the treasurer's report the directors took up the proposed merger of the automobile club with the Hawaii Yacht Club, and following some general discussion over the scheme Charlie Wilder and L. M. Vetlesen were appointed a committee to take the matter up with the automobile people. John R. Galt, who is a member of the automobile club, spoke in favor of the proposed consolidation some time ago, and suggested that each club appoint a committee to work the thing up together. "Talking won't do it," he said, and the yachtsmen took the same view last night.

After considerable discussion about what might be done with the McGraw placed at Aiea, provided it could be secured, Commodore James Jaeger took down the files of The Advertiser and read: "Charlie Wilder says when the treasurer of the Hawaii Yacht Club makes his report on the finances of the organization, so that I may know where we stand, I am going to get busy on the consolidation scheme, and there will be something doing."

"That settles it," said the commodore. "It's up to you to go ahead." Harry Ryeroff then made a motion that L. M. Vetlesen and Charlie Wilder be appointed to take the matter up with the auto interests, and it was settled right there.

There was some uncertainty as to who the officers of the automobile club were, but Mason P. Prosser and John R. Galt were spoken of as having shown some interest in the plan, which all hands seem to think would infuse new life into the automobile club and further stimulate yachting activities. It is probable that the yacht club committee will get in touch with these two enthusiasts right away. Vetlesen had charge of the transpacific yacht race arrangements at this end, and he was a live wire on the job, while Wilder is no slow one. The directors of the yacht club seemed quite pleased with their choice of a committee, and adjourned perfectly satisfied that there will be something doing.

from competing in the school boy class; also if a student fails to pass in two or more studies he is barred from participating in athletics until he has made up his standing.

A boy may go from one school to a higher institution and continue in athletics, but the A. A. U. rules will not permit him to go from one school to another, entering in the same grade as he was classed in the school he left and enter right into the athletics. If he jumps from one school to another, provided the two schools compete together in sports, he is required to abstain from athletics for a period of one year. Doctor Hand suggested that similar rules be adopted here in the Interscholastic League. He seemed to think that the St. Louis College, the Kamehameha Schools, Oahu College and the McKinley High School should form the Interscholastic League; that the age limit be adopted; that boys failing in two or more studies be barred from athletics until they had made good and that the league appoint an inspector to examine the records of each school every three months to see that the boys playing on the school teams are passing in their studies and then, with the A. A. U. organized here, questions that could not be adjusted by the league might be appealed to the local board of governors of the A. A. U.

After his visit to Oahu College yesterday Doctor Hand expressed the opinion that the Interscholastic League ought to join the A. A. U. instead of the schools individually when it came to perfecting the organization under the A. A. U. charter which would probably be some time in December. The application for admission into the A. A. U. will be sent off on the steamer Mongolia which sails for the Coast tomorrow so as to be sure that it reaches the headquarters of the A. A. U. in New York in time to be presented in proper form at the annual meeting on November the fifteenth.

RICE AND EN SUE ENTER TRACK MEET

Will Run Against Old Coast Man and Leilehua Cavalry
Sprinter.

Bill Rice, the champion sprinter of the Islands, En Sue, who has tied the world's fifty yards record, and Pat McDonough, who claims the Pacific Coast hundred yards championship, entered last night for the hundred yards dash which is to be one of the events of the track meet at the league grounds one week from next Sunday. McDonough has been here for some time training down on his weight and he claims now to be in perfect condition. He issued a challenge to race anybody, Bill Rice preferred, and Rice went out on a still hunt for him last night which did not last long. The three hot-footers ran into each other on the street and signed up at once.

Rice was a little uncertain about the race being considered an amateur affair as the Kaoo-Jackson fifteen-mile race which is one of the features of the program for that day, is to be run for a purse. As the other events are all for medals and the competitors claim to be amateurs Bill decided that he would not become tainted if he participated, although the A. A. U. whitewash would make him spotless again if he transgressed before its jurisdiction extended down here. Trooper McDonald, the crack sprinter of Leilehua, has also entered for the hundred yards event. Pat McDonough and Bill Rice have also entered for the two-hundred and John Carey and Rice are down for the eight-hundred. Another event on the program is a base running race open to all ball players who wish to compete.

The main event, of course, will be the fifteen-mile race between Kaoo and Nigel Jackson. The old champion is training for the long grind and the Oxygen Kid stretches himself over the trail every night. Dissolving Jackson's chances against the Wailua Horse, it was said last night that the kid was showing up pretty strong in his training and he might be a surprise. The entry book for the track events will be open at E. O. Hall & Son's until the day of the meet and then entries will be accepted on the grounds.

OPENING OF TENNIS TOURNAMENT LIVELY

Manoa Valley Evening Games
Attract Large Social Gathering.

The opening of the six nights tennis tournament on the Manoa Valley court last evening was a dazzling success. There were not chairs enough in the neighborhood to accommodate all the guests who assembled to witness the play. The thoroughfares round about were lined with automobiles, and the life and light loomed most brilliant amid the encircling gloom. Not a drop of rain oozed down to dampen the ardor of the joyous throng, and the zephyrs wafted gently lest they whisk the ball away.

H. E. Savage mowed down F. E. Greenfield 10 to 4 in the opening stanza of the tournament, and the radiant are light twins never flickered while the execution was going on. Then A. M. Nowell ran away with F. E. Steere by the same score, 10 to 4. The third set was more protracted, between Capt. W. W. Low and Noel Deerr. The captain finally landed a 16-to-14 set, and doubles were next in order. Nowell and Jack Guard defeated Johnnie Waterhouse and W. H. Babbitt by a score of 10 to 6.

Four acts of the evening's performance then being concluded, the leading lady, Hawaii's champion queen of the tennis courts, Mrs. Ethel Coulter, appeared with Dick Cooke in the grand finale against Mr. and Mrs. John Waterhouse. The two Cs won out, 10 to 2. This concluded the festive function, and the merry gathering gradually faded away. This evening there will be a repetition of the scenes enacted last night, with an entirely different cast of characters to play the leading roles. The schedule of games for tonight is:

Tonight's Matches.

Gerald Irwin vs. W. D. Singlehurst, seven-thirty p. m.

W. T. Schmidt vs. Atherton Richards, eight p. m.

Miss Paty and Babbitt vs. Mrs. Clive Davies and D. W. Anderson, eight-thirty p. m.

W. T. Schmidt and L. J. Warren vs. W. D. McCallum and M. Macintyre, nine p. m.

R. A. Cooke vs. H. S. Gray, nine-thirty p. m.

TO REVOLUTIONIZE THE WORLD'S NAVIES

Internal Combustion Engines Will Put Dreadnought Type of Battleship Out of Commission.

LONDON, September 16.—The naval history of the world will probably be changed within the next few years through the building at Hamburg of a 9000-ton Atlantic liner with internal combustion engines. As a result, the fleets of dreadnoughts and super-dreadnoughts which are now being created may be obsolescent almost as they reach the water. Naval competition will continue, but it will be competition on new lines—so new that no change since the abandoning of sails for steam will have made a similar upheaval in the working of ships. For oil-engines, if they come, mean the supersession of a great part of the engine room staff, the elimination of the stokehold and its human population, the doing away with coal trimming and the great space required for coal storage, and the driving of a battleship through the seas by a small band of glorified chauffeurs.

How near that prospect is it would be unsafe to prophesy. The advance made in the last few years is amazing and is scarcely realized by practical engineers themselves. An article in Cassier's Magazine, which is intended to give the latest information about the propulsion of cargo boats is devoted to prove that internal-combustion engines, developing 1000 horsepower, are a practical proposition. The engines of the new German liner will be 3000 horsepower. At a single step then the limits of what can be achieved have been trebled. Before another year is out it is probable they will be extended ten times.

Apart from the questions of efficiency there are big economies to be made by employing oil engines. In the first place the engines will be lighter and smaller in all probability although that is not an advantage of material consequence. As the oil engine utilizes something like forty per cent of the heat energy of the fuel and the steam engine less than 20 per cent, the saving in daily cost while at sea would amount in the course of a year to hundreds of thousands of dollars. The weight of fuel required is only about one-fourth of that necessary when coal is employed. Here again the economy can be reckoned in the thousands of dollars. The saving in space is scarcely to be believed by anybody who has not been in the interior of a liner or a battleship. There are no rows of boilers, no stokeholds, no bunkers, with their hundreds of tons of coal. The oil fuel can be carried in tanks in the depths of the ship, acting as ballast, requiring no army of trimmers to keep the balance of the ship or to convey the fuel to the engines. A single pump set in motion by a turn of the hand will feed the fuel straight to the engines. Finally, with oil fuel there will be no smoke to betray the presence of a vessel to the enemy.

With the same displacement the battleship of the future will be able to carry more or heavier guns, because of the saving of weight in engines, boilers and fuel. These guns will have a wider sweep because no funnels will restrict their action. Between decks she will be vastly more roomy, affording better accommodation for the crew. When she is moving in place of an army of toiling stokers and engineers there will be a tiny company of the latter and their attendant greasers. The inferno of the stokehold will be unknown. Half as many men again will be available for fighting the ship, or crews may be reduced if more gunners and sailors are not required. Oil vapor and electricity will provide the motive power for all the machinery. If an accident comes in battle the number of men doomed to almost certain death will be but a fraction of those who would perish today.

The battleship, as she rides on the water will have no funnels to be shot away, so reducing her efficiency. She will present a smaller mark, while the whole of the machinery will be so low in the ship as to make disablement by a shell a remote event. Instead of coaling in laborious and dirty fashion in harbor and on sea the fuel will be pumped quietly from the store tanks. The coal lighter will be replaced by an oil-tank steamer carrying sufficient fuel for a whole fleet and delivering it to the battleships through a hose, while steaming ahead at full speed. When the call for urgent action comes there will be no waste of hours in getting up steam, no lying for weeks under banked fires. The switching of an electric motor will start the engines within a couple of minutes of the demand for power. It is possible that this dream battleship will be faster than the fastest of her type now afloat. All must depend upon the still unexplored possibilities of the internal combustion engine.

YALE FOOTBALL SQUAD RECRUITS TO FORTY-FIVE

LAKEVILLE, Connecticut, September 29.—By the addition of half a dozen new arrivals, the Yale football squad has been increased to forty-five. Childs and Robinson were the most notable newcomers. Childs played tackle part of last year's Harvard game and Robinson was picked for halfback for the big games, but did not play. Childs will not remain at Lakeville because of scholarship trouble. Savage, end rush and the team's best kicker, has not reported for the same reason. Kilpatrick and Corey will not report till the squad returns to New Haven.

Morning and afternoon signal practice, accompanied by drill in the rudiments, has been ordered, and the cool weather made long work possible. The varsity lineup: Center, Morris; guards, Fuller and Paul; tackles, Childs and Tomlinson; quarterback, Howe; halfbacks, Daly and Field, and fullback, Baker.

Philbin, who was tried at end on the varsity Friday, went back to halfback on the second eleven, and Walter Camp Jr., played fullback on the second eleven. Scrimmaging will not be tried till next week.

CAMPAIGN PROSPECTS.

The Republican party of Honolulu never faced a more encouraging situation than that now presented at this early stage of the campaign. Every sign points to practically a complete Republican sweep. The offices lost to the party through the nominations in the past of unpopular candidates or candidates whom the people could not accept are now in a fair way to be recovered.

Due to the immense success that has attended his work in the past three congresses principally and to the blunders of the Democratic candidate incidentally, Kuhio will receive a majority on this island much larger than the substantial one he received in 1908, when he beat McCandless by over eight hundred and Notley by nearly seventeen hundred, out of a total vote cast of 5737. This year the vote will be considerably heavier, the registration being expected to show seven thousand voters. Out of the seven thousand, Kuhio, according to present appearances, will poll nearly four thousand. On the outside islands, there is not one where he will not have a substantial majority.

These encouraging reports are giving the Republican city candidates the feeling that it is due the party on their part to make the victory a complete one. The ticket ensures not only a harmonious campaign but a campaign that can be carried on thoroughly and systematically. There is not only confidence on the part of each candidate in himself, but confidence on the part of each candidate in every other man on the ticket. The party today is a working whole.

John C. Lane, with the backing of the business community, which desires to see a harmonious board of supervisors, will defeat Fern, who has only his glad hand to recommend him for another term. The board will go Republican straight, because the candidates are not only strong enough in themselves to command the straight party support, but are strong enough in their standing in the community to ensure the greater part of the independent vote.

Under the usual circumstances, Andrew Cox and Jarrett would run a neck-and-neck race, with the odds in favor of Jarrett. Under the present circumstances of this campaign, Jarrett will receive none of the plantation support that might otherwise go to him. He will suffer from the fact that he follows McCandless and gives his strength to the platform and policy that would result, in the event of success, to the serious injury of plantation and other business interests. Jarrett will be defeated by Cox, while Simerson will be elected deputy sheriff over Rose, going in with Cox on the Republican wave.

For the same reason that Jarrett is doomed to defeat, after having shown himself a capable official, R. H. Trent will be beaten by R. W. Shingle. In this case, Trent's vote will be smaller than that of Jarrett. He is a business man, with intimate business relations with sugar men and sugar stock investors and his acceptance of the McCandless anti-immigration policy and his silence in view of the gross misrepresentations made throughout the country by his leader has not only amazed many of those who worked for him in the past, but has in a measure disgusted them. On the other hand, Shingle has never straddled a single issue of the campaign nor accepted any "vote getting planks" to which he could not conscientiously subscribe as a business man and a Republican. His attitude before and after the convention, has been one that inspired confidence in his straightforwardness. Against this, Trent's policy of silence has no chance. The next treasurer will be R. W. Shingle.

D. Kalaokalani Jr. and James Bicknell are certain of election. Their chances are some of the "cinches" of the campaign.

The Democratic senatorial candidates are jokes, and jokes in mighty poor taste. Few voters will waste time considering them and the election of Judd, Kaleiopi, Brown and Chillingworth are certain unless Kalaokalani, on the Home Rule ticket, should develop strength sufficient to beat one of them in the count.

The Republican representative ticket is particularly strong. Last election, with the party split through internal strife and the ragtag attempting to control, two Democrats slipped in. Dan Kamahu and Ed. Like defeated Mailehua and Mikalemi in the fifth. Neither of the elected ones accomplished anything, although both were conscientious in their work. The record they made, however, gives no one an excuse to vote for them again, although they are the strongest on the Democratic ticket in their district. The Republican party, in nominating the representative candidates they have and in refusing to nominate some of the candidates that offered themselves, frankly acknowledged the errors of the past and fairly declared their intention of doing the proper thing for the future. This is the attitude that the voters will encourage by giving each of the men named good, substantial majorities.

The active campaign in the city commences next week. It should be a campaign of education and the various meetings should be attended by those whose presence will ensure educational addresses to the Hawaiians on the parts of the candidates. This year the Republican party has given the independent voter no excuse to depart from straight party lines except in one case. With that one exception, the ticket may be voted straight by straight voters, without fear of being a yellow dog supporter.

The Advertiser is not a "Straight Ticket" advocate for the sake of the straight ticket, but this year it is, like the majority, mighty close to a straight ticket supporter.

THE PUNCHBOWL LOTS.

L. L. McCandless is not disposed to enter into any explanation of the fact that his proposed land law for Hawaii, which he induced Congressman Candler to introduce at the last session of congress, would, if passed, practically debar the Punchbowl Portuguese of any chance they might have to acquire title to the homes they have made for themselves, but his trusty lieutenant, T. J. Ryan, of Hilo, is quite willing to talk on this subject, as on any other. He is so anxious to be heard, in fact, that he challenges the editor of The Advertiser to debate the matter of the Punchbowl lots in public.

Fortunately the public can be spared any such a debate. Neither Mr. Ryan, nor Mr. McCandless can explain away the fact that the McCandless Land Bill goes out of its way to except the dwellers on city lots from any preference rights, nor can any words of theirs make the Democratic platform mean anything but the one thing when it says:

"WE PLEDGE OUR CANDIDATE FOR DELEGATE TO CONGRESS TO NEVER CEASE IN HIS ENDEAVORS UNTIL THE PUBLIC LAND LAW OF HAWAII IS FURTHER AMENDED SUBSTANTIALLY AS SHOWN IN H. R. 21425, introduced in the house of representatives at Washington, D. C., February 19, 1900, and locally known as the Candler land bill."

This means that McCandless, if elected, will attempt to change the present land law to make it like the one he has been touting as the great solver of all land troubles.

Now, in connection with preference rights, which Kuhio, after years of work has finally secured on behalf of the Punchbowl Portuguese and others situated like them, what does this McCandless Bill provide?

Here is the section:

That any person qualified to enter public lands and who was residing upon public land in the Territory of Hawaii April 30, 1900, and who is residing upon the same land upon the date of approval of this Act WHEREVER SUCH LAND IS MORE USEFUL FOR AGRICULTURAL THAN CITY PURPOSES shall have a preference right to enter such land in accordance with the classification and area prescribed in section six of this Act.

In view of the bill itself and the solemn platform pledge, it is quite unnecessary to debate with Mr. Ryan. It is quite unnecessary, also, for the Democratic candidate to devote time announcing his aloha for the Portuguese. His bill and his platform mean only one thing: They mean that IF McCandless is elected, THE PUNCHBOWL PORTUGUESE, WHO ARE SAVING UP THEIR MONEY TO BUY THEIR HOMES, MIGHT AS WELL QUIT, BECAUSE WHEN THE KAPOLOANI ESTATE LEASE IS ENDED MR. McCandless, OR ANY OTHER MAN WITH MONEY, MAY BID AGAINST THE ONES WHO BUILT THE LITTLE HOMES AND BUY THEM AWAY

FROM THE ONES TO WHOM THE REPUBLICAN LAND LAW NOW SAYS THEY SHALL GO

The McCandless bill would make the sale of the Punchbowl lots open to everyone, while the Portuguese would not only have to bid on the land itself, but on the houses they have once paid for, on the grapevines they have planted, on all the improvements they have made and paid for.

McCandless may love the Portuguese as much as he says he does in his speeches, but why does he stand pledged, if elected, to take away the chance they have now under the Kuhio bill to buy their homes?

DEMOCRACY A BLIGHT.

"If we should have a Democratic administration it would surely spoil the prospects of our sugar plantations and rice plantations. It would not be long before you would see the land formerly planted with cane and rice ruined. . . if the Democrats should come into power and introduce their free-trade policy the wages will certainly be reduced. There is a danger for us all, and a danger that we must look out for. As for the Republican party, suffice it to say that its aim is for the progress of the country."—Link McCandless, in 1900.

Every word of this is true. But why not tell the cowboys on the ranches that the Democratic free-trade policy would also admit Australian beef and mutton free of duty to the injury of the Hawaiian ranches, cheapening the value of our livestock and lowering the wages of the cowboys.

People on the Big Island, in Kona and Hamakua should remember that Link's Democratic free-trade policy will wipe out the big tobacco industry that has recently been established.

It will also cheapen the price of the wool raised on the Parker Ranch and elsewhere, which is now shipped to the mainland.

"Our immigration laws should be further improved, to the constant promotion of a safer, a better and a higher citizenship."—William McKinley, in his inaugural address on March 4, 1897.

Portugal appears to have gone Republican by a large majority.

MANY DIVORCES MAY BE VOID

Judge Robinson's Decision in Waiwaiole Case Has Very Important Bearing.

Judge Robinson yesterday rendered a decree which is of the greatest importance to all those who may have committed divorce or who may be contemplating the rash act.

The decision, rendered in the case of Kamaka Kaiahi versus W. C. Waiwaiole, is in effect that the certification of the high sheriff to a libel and summons in which no appearance is made by the libelee is void. Heretofore it has been the custom of the high sheriff, serving the papers, to certify to them himself in making his return. The judge holds that this will not do. In effect this would seem to mean that only the judge can certify to the papers and therefore that all divorces granted where only the high sheriff certified are at least open to question as to their legality.

Clem Quinn represented the libellant in the case at issue. Special appearance was entered for the libelee, who is in jail, serving a ten-year sentence for shooting the woman. The libelee demurred to the jurisdiction of the court on the ground that the libel and summons was certified to only by the high sheriff and not according to the law, and the judge sustained the demurrer on that ground.

LINK BALKS AT THE QUESTION MARK

There is too much of that principle, "May give, May do this, May do that." This is the ruling principle of the present law relating to public lands in Hawaii. I suggested that the words: Shall have, Shall do this; shall do that, be given more prominence throughout the law. The amendment should read: "Any citizen of the United States over twenty-one years of age or person who has declared his or her intention to become such, as required by law who has, or whose parents are dead, have improved any parcel of public land and resided thereon not less than five years immediately preceding the date of application shall have a preference right to purchase, or otherwise enter public land on the terms on which like surrounding lands is offered, so much of such parcel and such adjoining land as shall reasonably be required for a home, at a fair price."

This, it may be interpolated, appears a trifle incoherent, while it differs radically from the "preference rights limitation clause" in the Candler Land Bill which McCandless is pledged to work for until his dying day, or whatever the Democratic platform has it.

Not Running the Campaign.

As to schemes or plans for the conduct of the Democratic campaign, Link modestly disclaims any responsibility. He says the management of affairs is all in the hands of the committee and Mr. Rivenburgh. The committee is represented by Rivenburgh. As a matter of fact Link is running his own campaign and is not bothering much about the chances of anybody else on the ticket, so far as he manifests any desire to speak of others on the ticket. He sweepingly declares that the Democrats will get in most of their candidates and lets the situation go at that, quickly reverting to his assurance that he will be elected, that the islands are strong for him and that the great issue upon which he expects to win is "anti-immigration."

T. J. Ryan, the literary end of the Link campaign, says again in his little tract, and McCandless points it out triumphantly:

"Here is what McCandless said at Washington, D. C., before the house committee on the Territories: 'On December 29, 1909, the Pacific Commercial Advertiser, (Republican) a daily newspaper published at Honolulu, in its leading editorial said: 'Hawaii's land laws, as at present operative, are probably the poorest land laws in the world. Through them the legitimate land seeker receives no encouragement in an attempt to found a home and through them the land grabber and repeater are the ones favored.' However, The Advertiser as well as all the other newspapers published in Hawaii in the English language remain studiously silent as to how and where the proposed amendments will materially benefit the poor man or better the law as it now stands without amendment. The reason is easily understood. They can not show it."

Poor Place for Promises.

It is difficult to avoid the impression, when interviewing McCandless that he knows little or nothing about land laws, past, present or future; his remarks or arguments, if they may be so called, being chiefly confined to abusing Republicans, denouncing immigration for the sake of denouncing it, and without reason; and promising to be elected.

One can't make promises in an interview, and promises, from all reports, are what mainly constitute Link's speeches to the Hawaiians in the country districts. A newspaper interview naturally calling for common sense reasons, Link necessarily falls down on an interview.

Great Parade Planned.

On the night before election day in November the Republicans will hold a grand torchlight parade, which will be one of the biggest affairs ever given in Honolulu, outrivaling even the great night parades of the first and second campaigns in the Territory.

Treasurer Shingle of the county central committee, who yesterday took hold of the active management of affairs of the campaign committee, in the absence of Chairman Atkinson, laid the foundation of plans for this parade yesterday when he called upon Colonel Jones of the national guard to take hold of features of the parade and get ready.

Torchlights by the thousands will be ready for use if necessary. It is likely that most of the business houses will participate, and the whole parade will be a demonstration in favor of Delegate Kuhio and the whole Republican ticket.

Off to Haunala Tomorrow.

The Republicans will invade a pet kuleana of Link McCandless tomorrow. A grand rally of the whole windward Oahu countryside will be held at Haunala, at which Republican voters will be present from Laie, Kahana and several other villages along that shore. All the candidates will be present the whole list going from Honolulu across the Pali by motor. The cars will leave Republican headquarters at eleven o'clock in the forenoon.

Another Registration Kick.

C. H. Chamblin, an engineer on the Oahu Railway line, has a big kick against the registration board. He has attempted three times to register and failed because the board was not in its office to attend to the work. Last Saturday at quarter past four o'clock he visited the rooms, but the chairman was absent and he couldn't register. He went to the office yesterday shortly before noon, but was told to come later. He inquired if the board would sit in the afternoon and was told it would be in session at four o'clock. He went there at four o'clock and waited until quarter past, but the board failed to show up. Chamblin is afraid he will lose his vote, and doesn't feel in the mood to hire an auto to chase the board up. He wants to know why the board advertises certain hours for business and then fails to keep them.

Board at Leliehua.

The registration board went to Leliehua yesterday at noon in an auto to register about thirty-two citizens, who have heretofore had no opportunity to get their names on the book.

The board made a special visit to Watertown and cleaned up the delinquents there, and may make hurried visits to other places where employees are unable to leave their work to come to town.

MASSACHUSETTS DOES NOT GO INSURGENT

BOSTON, Massachusetts, October 6.—The Republican State convention here did not go insurgent, in spite of repeated rumors that it would join the ranks of so many other States. It endorsed the administration of President Taft and declared itself in the "regular" ranks by endorsing the Aldrich-Payne tariff bill. Eben Draper was nominated for governor.

WHY DON'T KAMS PUT OUT FOOTBALL TEAM?

Why don't Kamehameha Schools turn out a football team? say the students of the other schools. They have plenty of good material and would stand a swell chance of beating the High School bunch, and they might get away with the Pans. Some of the boys said last night that they heard that Captain Godfrey was opposed to putting out a team this year, and they wondered why.

CHILDREN OF A CITIZEN BARRED

Sons of Honolulu Chinese Not Allowed to Land in America.

In rendering a decision yesterday denying the application of Koon Ko and Koon Heen, two Chinese boys, for a writ of habeas corpus to release them from the immigration station and permit them to land in America, Judge Robertson decided a new and very important point.

The applicants, while admitting that they were not born in the United States, claimed to be the son of a Chinese merchant of Honolulu who is a citizen of the country, and they claimed that as the sons of such citizen, they should be entitled to land.

This contention was overruled by Judge Robertson. Attorney George A. Davis, who represented the applicants, says the ruling is a close one and this is the first time, to his knowledge, that the question has ever come up. He thinks it ought to be reviewed by a higher court and wants to carry it to the circuit court of the ninth circuit at San Francisco. Whether he does so or not, however, depends upon whether or not the applicants or their friends come through with the necessary expense money—for it takes money and a good deal of it to appeal a case from the United States district court.

The syllabus of Judge Robertson's opinion is as follows:

Chinese Exclusion Law.—Finding of inspector of immigration conclusive: The decision of an inspector of immigration, made after a fair hearing and, which was not appealed from, that a person of Chinese descent is not entitled to land, is final and conclusive.

Same.—Fair hearing, what is: Under the facts set forth in the opinion, a hearing held to have been a fair one, and not the mere semblance of a hearing.

Citizenship.—Naturalization: Hawaiian citizenship by naturalization did not extend to the nonresident minor children of the person so naturalized, nor were such children, while still nonresident, made citizens of the United States by the provision contained in Section 4 of the Organic Act of Hawaii.

In concluding his opinion, the judge says:

"It is clear, therefore, that, even if Lum Sing was naturalized as he claims to have been, and if the petitioners are in fact his sons, they are not citizens of the United States. They were never citizens of the Kingdom of Hawaii, for there was no provision in the law under which Lum Sing claims to have been naturalized by which Hawaiian citizenship acquired by naturalization could have extended to nonresident alien children.

"Nor were the petitioners made citizens by the terms of Section 4 of the Organic Act (31 Stat. L. 141) which provided, 'That all persons who were citizens of the Republic of Hawaii on August twelfth, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, are hereby declared to be citizens of the United States and citizens of the Territory of Hawaii.'"

"It is not contended that the petitioners have any right to enter the United States as persons of any exempt class under the provisions of the Chinese Exclusion Acts.

"The writ is dismissed and the petitioners are remanded to the custody of the respondent."

FORTUNATELY IT DIDN'T HAPPEN

What if a Portuguese had walked into the office of Federal Court Clerk Augustus Murphy and had applied to become a citizen of the United States at any time between the news of the revolution and overthrow of the Portuguese monarchy and the news received yesterday that the world powers had recognized the Portuguese republic?

Murphy, usually finger-tipped with technical and other information, would have been at a loss to know what to do.

How could the applicant have fore sworn allegiance to King Manuel when King Manuel was a prisoner in the Palace of the Necessidades?

How could the applicant for American citizenship have fore sworn allegiance to the republic of Portugal when there wasn't any such republic?

Murphy would probably have told him to wait till he found out what he was fore swearing before he started to swear. Then, if the applicant had been in a hurry, he might have sworn anyhow.

Be Sure You are Right, Then Go Ahead.

Lakeview Oil Company No. 2 is only 1¼ miles from the biggest oil well in the world. We are surrounded by 10 big oil gushers. Our big gushers will come in about December 1 and expect our stock well then be worth from $5 to $10 per share. Our price is now only 40c per share. Any man who wishes to better his condition should buy some stock now. It is a good gamble and confidently expect it will put us on easy street. Don't let this opportunity pass. Hackfeld, Kennedy and lots of our wealthiest people of Honolulu are heavily interested in oil property about four miles north of us—they certainly investigated carefully before doing so. Don't you think you are perfectly safe in following their example?

OUR CANDIDATES

M. C. AMAMA.

M. C. Amama, candidate for supervisor on the Republican ticket, who has been a Republican since the organization of the party here about eleven years ago, was born in Honolulu, December 11, 1872, on the site of the present Hau Tree, Waikiki, the property being then owned by his grandfather, Wailehua, a well-known Hawaiian of his day.

Mr. Amama first attended the Royal School, and then the Chinese school in the rear of the Fort street church, conducted by Frank Damon. Later he went to the Fort street school, and then passed on to St. Louis College, taking up the study of Chinese in the meantime, and therefore not graduating from the college.

After leaving school he entered the tax office under Jonathan Shaw, immediately after the overthrow of the monarchy. He remained there four or five years, and then entered the service of the First American Bank of Hawaii, now the First National Bank. Under J. W. Pratt, he again entered the tax office as deputy tax assessor and collector.

He conducted the Chinese newspaper, Sun Chung Bo, Ltd., the organ of the Bow Wong Society here, and at present is the collector for the trustees of the estate of B. P. Bishop.

He assisted in the reorganization of Company E, National Guard of Hawaii, and became its second lieutenant, serving five years.

He is now secretary of the Republican club of the thirteenth precinct of the fifth district, of which Harry von Holt is president and J. R. Galt treasurer.

This Minnesota Woman Was in a Serious Condition with Rheumatism but Was Cured by Home Treatment.

Mrs. J. P. Christofferson, of Dodge Center, Minn., where she has lived for thirty years, gives sufferers from rheumatism the benefit of her experience with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as follows:

"A few years ago I was severely afflicted with rheumatism which was brought on by exposure to cold. The pains were in my arms and legs. My right hand was crippled so that I could not use it and my elbow was affected also. My shoulders were so sore that I could hardly touch them. The joints of my feet were so swollen and painful that I could just hobble around. There was a numbness in my hand and it seemed as though it was dead. I could put it in hot water without feeling it. I felt miserable all over. My back ached continually. I could not rest at night without taking drugs to deaden the pain.

"I was treated by a doctor for a time but could not see that his medicine helped me. My sister wrote me about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I began using them after I had been sick for over a year. I felt that they were helping me after a short trial. The numbness gradually left my hand and I began to use it. I could see that my blood was in better condition and I was able to get around without effort. In a few weeks I was able to do my housework again and have never had the rheumatism since."

The connection with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by supplying up the blood, so that it can nourish and strengthen the weakened system has made hundreds of cures in the most severe disorders. This record of cures should merit a trial for the remedy which is guaranteed free from opiates and is entirely harmless.

Send today for a copy of the new edition of our free book, "Diseases of the Blood." It shows the symptoms, and recommends treatment for most diseases caused by insufficient or impure blood and also illustrates what the tonic treatment has accomplished in such cases. Sending for the booklet does not put you under the slightest obligation to try the treatment.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

MATSON DENIES
LUTTED STATEMENT

Tells What Lakeview No. 2 Is and States That He Refused to Endorse It.

To Whom It May Concern:—It has recently come to my notice that certain misrepresentations are being made by certain parties in Honolulu in connection with the use of my name in the matter of exploiting and selling certain oil stocks in the Hawaiian Islands. I desire to supplement my previous published notice to the effect that the use of my name in any manner whatsoever in this connection is totally unauthorized. I have particular reference to an advertisement appearing in The Pacific Commercial Advertiser under date of August 30, 1910, reading as follows:

"Your Opportunity.

"About four weeks ago I sold a business man of this city some Lakeview No. 2 oil stock. He wrote to a friend in San Francisco to investigate, see Captain Matson and find out whether this stock was any good. The reply came on the Sierra Friday, saying it was first-class, gilt-edge, good investment. Today he doubled his first purchase. I urge you to buy. It is a safe proposition. A few shares would put you on easy street. The profits from oil is a fairy tale. Ask John D. Rockefeller. Shares, now thirty cents, will be forty cents after September 1. This is your grand opportunity. Read this all over again."

"J. Oswald Lutted, Fort street, next convent; general delivery."

I desire at this time to absolutely refute any inference which might be drawn from the foregoing statement that any one has ever approached me to investigate the matter or to offer any opinion as to the value of said stock, and any intimation that I have endorsed this as a good investment is therefore a falsification.

For the information of the public I might offer the following statement:

The Lakeview Oil Company of Midway, a part of the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company, among its various properties controlled under agreement with the original locators Section No. 26 in Township No. 32 South, Range No. 24 East, and under date of April 5, 1910, leased this section (640 acres) for twenty years to Chas. F. Off, R. D. Wade, George S. Safford and E. S. Shattuck. The lessees were to pay a bonus of $60 per acre for the lease, bonus to be paid out of the first production oil, and further they were to pay a royalty of one-eighth of the gross production, and were accorded in the lease an option to purchase the land at $1000 per acre when patents to the land were issued by the United States government.

Subsequently, it appears that the aforementioned gentlemen subleased the west half of the southwest quarter of the above mentioned section to a company organized and known as the Lakeview No. 2 Oil Company, which was entirely contrary to my understanding when originally leasing the whole of Section No. 26 to them.

On June 20, 1910, I received a letter from a Mr. J. Oswald Lutted, informing me that he had become a stockholder in the so-called Lakeview No. 2 Oil Company, and indicating to me that he expected to leave for Honolulu shortly with the end in view of disposing of some of the stock of that company in Honolulu. He also requested me to favor him with a written endorsement of the proposition as a whole, which I absolutely declined to do, refusing to lend my name for any such purpose. I was naturally very indignant at the suggestion, and also annoyed at the action of Mr. Off and his associates, to whom I had originally leased Section No. 26, and who had evidently entered into some subleasing arrangement for a one-half of the southwest quarter section to parties under the name of the Lakeview No. 2 Oil Company.

From the foregoing, it will be seen that Lakeview No. 2 Oil Company is operating under a sublease of a lease taken from the Lakeview Oil Company of Midway, and, as the royalty to the Lakeview Oil Company of Midway is 12 1/2 per cent. of the total production, presumably the Lakeview No. 2 Oil Company will also have to pay an additional royalty to the original lessees as above indicated.

I have taken the opportunity of notifying directly by letter both Mr. Chas. F. Off and Mr. J. Oswald Lutted of my position in this matter, and I now reiterate that any attempt on the part of any one to use my name in any matter whatsoever in the exploiting and selling of oil stocks in the Hawaiian Islands is totally unauthorized.

FREAR PROTECTING THE HOMESTEADER

Governor Frear states that he is considering several applications for licenses for flumes and railway rights-of-way on the Island of Hawaii. Among these are applications by Tepekeo Sugar Company and Kohala Sugar Company for leave to erect cane flumes, and an application of the Waialea company for a right-of-way for its railroad.

Governor Frear is anxious that whatever is done shall be for the benefit of present and prospective homesteaders. He wants them assured of plenty of water for domestic purposes and of the right to reasonable transportation facilities. If the licenses asked for are granted, it will be with these reservations. The Governor says he wants to make sure that the flumes and railways are for the benefit of all the occupants of the land. He wants, in other words, to make them public utilities so far as the residents of the sections mentioned are concerned.

TRANSPORT TWO DAYS LATE FROM PHILIPPINES

Sheridan Utilized to Tow Warren Off the Beach of Mindoro— Leaves for Frisco.

United States army transport Sheridan yesterday morning arrived from Manila by way of Nagasaki and Marike, sailing for the mainland States shortly before six o'clock in the evening.

The big troopship was two days late arriving here, on account of remaining back in the Philippines for the purpose of assisting in the work of getting the transport Warren off the beach on the shores of Mindoro. The Warren was pulled off in the morning of September 14, mine planters and naval tugs assisting in the big pull.

The Sheridan did her best to make up for lost time in tripping it from Manila to Honolulu, arriving here just less than twenty days of a run, docking at the Alakea wharf before eleven o'clock yesterday forenoon. She left the Philippine metropolis at noon on September 16. At Nagasaki, Japan, she filled her bunkers, leaving there for Oahu on September 23.

Aboard the Sheridan are seventy-one people in the first cabin, twenty-eight in the second-class and three hundred and six enlisted men of the army and twenty-four from the navy and marine corps, forty-one civilians and ex-soldiers and a dozen military prisoners.

One hundred sacks of United States mail were transferred at Nagasaki for transportation by an Empress liner, the latter vessel beating the Sheridan to the United States. This mail will reach Vancouver on Sunday, whereas if it had waited aboard the transport it would be the last of next week before San Francisco would see the mail from the Philippines.

Mrs. John J. Pershing, wife of Brigadier-General Pershing, commanding the department of Mindanao, is a passenger, accompanied by her three children and their governess, J. W. Ferrier, special deputy collector of customs at Manila, is on a six-months' vacation. Passengers who left here in the Sheridan for the Coast were Paymaster Hornberger, U. S. N., and Mrs. Hornberger, Lieutenant-Colonel Bullard, U. S. A., General McCaskey and wife, and several discharged soldiers.

Among the passengers who left the Philippines for the homeland on the Sheridan is Charles A. List, a clerk employed in the office of the depot quartermaster, U. S. A., in Manila. List has been transferred to the office of the depot quartermaster in Philadelphia.

This is the second time List has visited the Philippines, having gone here in the insurrectionary days as a soldier in 1899 in Company M, Ninth Infantry, being discharged with the rank of sergeant.

Mongolia in Today.

While the local agents, H. Hackfeld & Co., have received no definite wireless information from the master of the Pacific Mail steamship Mongolia, it is expected that the big transpacific liner will arrive here from China and Japan ports this afternoon and that she will be dispatched for San Francisco tomorrow morning or early in the afternoon. About a score of Honolulu people will take their departure for the Coast in the Mongolia.

Tourists Homeward Bound.

Aboard the Mongolia, due today from the Orient, are the Examiner tourists, homeward bound. They passed through this port, it will be remembered, and are now headed for the States, Manila having been one of their ports of call, which port they left on September 10.

Even as the Hawaiian band in Honolulu always plays at the departure of a bunch of prominent folks, or folks who are not prominent, for that matter, so did the Constabulary band play at Manila when the "Examiner" party left the Philippines. There was a banquet given at the Metropole on their last evening in the old Spanish city. Former Governor Stoddard of Arizona made a speech on behalf of his fellow travelers, voicing their appreciation of the reception tendered by the business and social leaders of Manila.

Captain Kitt Exonerated.

Captain Kitt, according to the Manila Times of September 14, explains that the harbor at Shimidzu is very shallow and that in an effort to steer clear of a sand spit the vessel ran into a mud bank. Little damage was caused and the liner was able to back off the bank under her own steam.

The accident caused a delay of three days in the Mongolia's sailing, but the retention of Captain Kitt in the command of the vessel is an indication that the owners agreed with the verdict of the inspectors that the general commander had exercised all possible care on the day when the boat ran aground.

Mention for Admiral Rees.

It is stated that Rear-Admiral Corwin P. Rees, retired, but still in charge of the United States naval station here, will probably receive the compliments of the navy department for the manner in which navy coal has been handled from the eight colliers which have been or are still dumping their big cargoes of fuel here. Discharging has been accomplished at the record rate of 1800 tons a day. The eight vessels referred to, which have packed over 55,000 tons from the Atlantic coast, are the Masunda, Volnay, Katharine Park, Seisdon, Kilehatten, Romera, Danara and Torsdal. Of the colliers still in port, the Masunda will have completed the discharge of 5800 tons by noon today. She will go from here to Nansam for bunker coal and will then go to Portland to discharge and will finish in six days. She has no orders as yet but will probably go to Newcastle. The Torsdal will soon get away for Ocean Island to load guano.

Steamers Heliopolis, Michigan and Alberta and the ship Erskine M. Phelps are en route here from the East with navy coal.

Fleet Coming in November.

Confirming the information given some weeks ago in The Advertiser, to the effect that a portion of the Pacific fleet would come here this fall, it is now announced that the following vessels will be in Honolulu harbor in November: West Virginia, South Dakota, Colorado and Maryland, constituting a division. The men-of-war mentioned will arrive here after completing target practice in Magdalena Bay and returning first to San Francisco.

W. G. Hall Is Held.

Steamer W. G. Hall leaves this afternoon for Kauai ports, having been held to take Kauai people who arrive aboard the Oceanic steamship Sierra which gets in from San Francisco this morning. The Hall, otherwise, would have sailed for the Garden Island yesterday afternoon.

Sails for Newcastle.

The British steamship Katharine Park yesterday morning sailed for Newcastle, having completed the discharge of her coal cargo from the Atlantic Coast for the local naval station. She sailed in ballast.

Santa Maria Gets Away.

The oil tanker, Santa Maria, yesterday sailed for Port San Luis for another cargo of oil, having finished discharging a load of fuel oil here. She arrived here two days ago with a full cargo.

Sierra Due Today.

Oceanic steamship Sierra will arrive early this morning from San Francisco with mail, passengers and general freight. At eight o'clock in the evening of Wednesday the Sierra will proceed in the following messages: 340 miles from port; fresh easterly winds; sea smooth; fine clear weather; all well; barometer 30.30; air 71; will be off port early Friday morning.

On His Own Next Time.

Clark's tour will never again be made in a boat of the Hamburg-American line, according to definite information recently received. Clark took a great crowd through here on the Cleveland of the Hamburg-American line. Future tours will be in vessels of some other company, so it will be many a day before Honolulu sees another H-A liner.

Shipping Notes.

Steamer Claudine sails at 5 p. m. today for Hawaii and Maui ports.

Schooner Columbia is en route to Kahului from Grays Harbor, having sailed October 4.

Barkentine S. G. Wilder sailed from Mahukona on Wednesday for San Francisco.

Steamship Ardmore, now discharging coal at the Bishop wharf, will go to Ocean Island for guano.

The Dix, due Monday from the Orient, is bringing six thousand tons of Japanese coal for this port.

Genial Tommy Dunn remains as pay clerk at the naval station under the new regime. Paymaster Hornberger left on the Sheridan yesterday for the mainland to await orders.

Paymaster H. E. Stevens and family will occupy the Ehinger residence on Manoa Heights during their stay in Honolulu. Paymaster Stevens comes from the Boston Navy Yard and succeeds Paymaster Hornberger at the local naval station.

Aala Gang Broken Up—Victim Captures One of the Toughs.

Aala Park's thugs felt the iron hand of the detective force last night when two members of the gang of young desperadoes were arrested by Chief McDuffie and his men for beating up a Chinaman. Hardly had the officers placed the two fellows in the tanks than a hack stopped in front of the station and a young Portuguese garage mechanic stepped out, holding tightly to the collar of a young tough, whom he delivered into the hands of the chief, as an extra contribution from the same gang. The mechanic bore the marks of a fight, and his story showed that he, too, had been a victim of assault by the gang.

Aala Park suffers from want of lights to make the dark places useless for night prowlers, bench warmers and gatherings of young criminals. A Chinaman takes his life in his hands when he walks through the dark places; for members of the gang are certain to jump him. The Thomas Square gang has ceased to be heard since the police raided them with clubs, fists and rocks and drove them out.

Henry Chalmers, who is on probation for shooting craps, and Tom Medeiros, who was recently fined for assaulting a Korean and was fined $10 in police court are the two fellows arrested by the chief. Yee Yin, an inoffensive Chinese residing near the Kamehameha Schools, went into the park early in the evening and sat on a bench. The toughs immediately began to worry him, ordering him off the bench and shoving him, until he demanded that they let him alone, whereupon Chalmers struck him in the face. The Chinaman ran away and went to the station. He led the officers back for the purpose of identifying his assailant. Yee Yin went ahead and as he passed a stone wall on which some young fellows were sitting, one of them called out: "Do you want some more?" and one clambered down and started for Yee Yin only to fall into the bear-like embrace of Chief McDuffie. Yee Yin

H. Guerrero who works at one of the garages, went into the park with a young lady and occupied a bench. A gang annoyed the couple and finally when they left the gang pelted them with rocks. Guerrero took the young lady home, and was pelted as he was leaving, but he rushed the crowd, took one a prisoner and in spite of attempts to rescue him, Guerrero got him into a hack and carried him to the station. Several more arrests will follow today. The boy captured by Guerrero is Kipapa.

McDuffie will now proceed to rip the gang and break it if he has to send every member to prison.

GET THE RIGHT WOMAN.

The federal authorities, including Internal Revenue Collector Drake, United States District Attorney Breckons and Marshal Hendry, took another flying trip around the Island day before yesterday in search of the Japanese woman they understood was running a blind pig. This time they got her. The woman arrested last Sunday turned out to be the wrong one and it was necessary to release her. The one caught Wednesday was the right one. She owned up and made an offer in compromise. So it is probable that she will get out of her present difficulties by paying a penalty as provided for in the internal revenue regulations.

Secretary Wood's weekly letter to the promotion committee, submitted yesterday, follows:
By the Larline this week we shipped a number of cases containing several thousand copies of our different folders for distribution on the Pacific Coast. These will finally reach every town west of the Rockies from Nome to San Diego. By the Mongolia we will send out several thousand special cards, addressed to those whose business it is to come in contact with the traveling public; following this work, about the first of November, with our Floral Parade poster campaign. We already have scores of friends on the Pacific Coast talking Hawaii, men and women who are working for us with as much enthusiasm as though they were paid agents. They have visited the Islands, enjoyed their stay here and lose no opportunity in suggesting the trip to others.

SKILLED LABOR SCARCE ARTICLE

Promotion Committee Informed That Finishers Are Not on Hand.

Skilled mechanics of the citizen class are not to be had in Honolulu today, according to reports made at the promotion committee meeting yesterday afternoon. Finishing carpenters are not to be had, and contractor Oudekirk was authority for the statement to a member of the committee that there are only about twenty white finishers in town. Norman Watkins stated that even roughest carpenters are at a premium. He gave as an instance of the need of this class of labor that the fertilizer building at Iwilei was not finished when expected owing to the fact that citizen roughest carpenters could not be had. There were some Japanese, but citizen labor only was wanted.

W. H. McInerney stated that the proposed coffee exchange proposition was being worked out by local people and he believed that in the near future it would be launched. This is the scheme fathered by Mr. McInerney for taking up with coffee growers the proposition of putting all their product into the exchange for distribution. The scheme goes so far as to have the Hawaiian coffee tagged by the government, so that when it reached the consumer it would be officially labeled as the pure product. The exchange is intended to give the grower more pay for his product than he at present receives from distributors.

Mr. McInerney reported having received a letter from his brother James relative to a visit he had made to the Hawaiian exhibit on the Boardwalk at Atlantic City. It was a great success from an advertising standpoint, but not so certain. The management of the Marlborough-Blenheim hotel was a blow to the success of the entire exhibit. Mr. McInerney commented on what he considered the small size of the glasses of pineapple juice sold in the exhibit, as compared with the large glasses of orangeade furnished by the California people, but Mr. Wood explained that the orangeade was largely composed of water and they could afford to give larger glasses.

The committee went over a number of surfboard riding pictures submitted by local photographers. The committee wishes to use a typical surfing picture for a permanent advertising poster of the promotion committee, and the members are looking for a picture which shows the greatest action in the riding of the waves.

There was some discussion over the reason why the Army did not use beef slaughtered in the Islands, but procured its supplies from the mainland, shipped here chilled in refrigerators. The question will be asked of the army authorities and some action on the part of the parent bodies may be suggested by the committee, to have some of the supplies furnished from here.

Doing Much Advertising.
Secretary Wood's weekly letter to the promotion committee, submitted yesterday, follows:
By the Larline this week we shipped a number of cases containing several thousand copies of our different folders for distribution on the Pacific Coast. These will finally reach every town west of the Rockies from Nome to San Diego. By the Mongolia we will send out several thousand special cards, addressed to those whose business it is to come in contact with the traveling public; following this work, about the first of November, with our Floral Parade poster campaign. We already have scores of friends on the Pacific Coast talking Hawaii, men and women who are working for us with as much enthusiasm as though they were paid agents. They have visited the Islands, enjoyed their stay here and lose no opportunity in suggesting the trip to others.

At a mail passes without letters being received requesting us to send our folders to some friend or acquaintance of the writer. Such messages as the following from George E. Brown, secretary of the board of trade of Little Rock, Arkansas, are most encouraging: "It may interest you to know that we are recommending the 'Crossroads of the Pacific' as a winter resort."

Queen Is Too Old.
Regarding the proposed excursion from Los Angeles, Frank Wiggins, secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, writes under date of September 23 as follows: "Regarding Honolulu excursion, the committee reported favorably to the board of directors to run an excursion to Honolulu, as per my previous correspondence to you on the subject, but the board refused to accept the steamer Queen, and asked for a proposition on a more modern and larger vessel, and up to this date have received no word from the Pacific Coast Steamship Company. I am confident that if they would allow us to go ahead, we could get up an excursion without any trouble, but they absolutely refuse to consent to the use of any old boat. If there is any change in the situation I will wire you immediately."

"I am rushing this off so that you can have the information as far as I can give it. We are as busy as bees, and rushed to death. Thanks for yours of the 8th giving quotations from Hilo."

Seattle Excursion Certain.
Regarding the Seattle excursion, the manager, W. W. King, writes under date of September 22 as follows: "Mr. Yandell turned over to me the papers enclosed with your letter of September 8 in relation to our proposed excursion to the Hawaiian Islands."

"We want to impress upon you that we can not deviate from our schedule owing to the fact that the Prince Rupert will have to return for the regular run of the Grand Trunk service, not later than March 4, therefore, our schedule will be as follows: Leave Seattle 2 p. m. February 2, leave Victoria the same date at 11 p. m., arriving at Hilo on the morning of the 11th. Take train and stage to the crater and remain in that vicinity until afternoon of February 12 (the stay in Hilo will be prolonged if you so advise), leaving Hilo not later than midnight February 12, arriving at Honolulu on the morning of February 13, remain in Honolulu and vicinity until February 23, departing from there in the afternoon of that date direct for Victoria. We would thank you to arrange your plans and give full publicity to the above."

"I note that the rate quoted the Los Angeles Chamber of $20 provides for three days stay at Hilo, includes rail and stage fare and hotel expenses at Hilo and at the crater. So that there will be no misunderstanding, I would ask you to obtain from the Volcano Stables and Transportation Company a rate for not less than 175 nor more than 250 people to include the rail fare and stage fare and the stop at the crater all of which must be performed between the morning of February 11 and the afternoon of February 12, if we hold to present schedule, as the schedule provides for the departing from Hilo at midnight February 12. Wish you would ask them to put their rates in writing, so there will be no misunderstanding; also advise them not to include any hotel expenses at Hilo as the ship will be at the disposal of the passengers during their stay there and those who remain ashore at Hilo are at their own expense. In view of the contemplated crowds that may assemble in Honolulu in attendance upon the Floral Parade carnival, I would ask that you make reservations at the various hotels to accommodate our party on the morning of the 13th until the 23d, during the ten days stay at Honolulu. The shore expenses are to be born by the excursionists and is not included in our rate, and if you will have the various hotel proprietors advise you in detail their rates and mail me sufficient literature, I will arrange the distribution of same on the Prince Rupert before arrival in Honolulu. There is no question but that we will have a full ship of representative business men and their wives, as the bookings are coming in very rapidly."

"I want to avoid as much as possible any misunderstanding as that always mars the pleasure of an excursion. This week Mrs. Headlee is giving lectures in Vancouver; she is doing very good work and creating lots of inquiries. I would ask that at least 5000 copies of folders be sent on the next direct steamer to this office as the present supply is getting very low. Between now and the first of January we can use at least 10,000 copies of your folders."

MEDICINES MADE FROM ROOTS AND HERBS.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they depended upon medicines made from the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that standard remedy which is made from roots and herbs for woman's ills, had its origin in this way. For thirty years it has been relieving its promises written on the label of every bottle by curing thousands of women of feminine ills. It's a good, honest medicine.

HISTORY WILL REPEAT ITSELF OVER AGAIN

McCandless Overlooks One Thing in His Campaign—All the People Are Not Fools.

When McCandless reaches Kauai on a stumping trip he will no doubt find conditions there about the same as they are in his last campaign, according to the advice from that island. Several days ago, Henry Jaeger, the Kauai contractor, laughed at the idea that Link would make any gains there this year. He stated that Kauai is certainly in the big majority list for Kuhio and Link will find out that he has spent money for no good purpose there.

It will be of interest to remember that the Garden Island gave McCandless when he went over there last time, two years ago, when he was just as confident of victory as he now. The Garden Island, the chief of Kauai, this cheered him.

"History repeats itself, and Link McCandless, the Democratic nominee delegate to congress, is just now making a proof of this axiom. After the Civil War, demagogues who needed votes of the franchised negroes of South to obtain means whereby to these softness voters, were wont to travel about the country promising to give them to get forty acres of government land and a mule as a present. These are exactly the same tactics pursued by McCandless, though possibly he is forgotten to speak about the mule.

"It is a very attractive bait. Everybody has a wish to be the owner of a piece of land, where he is absolute master (that is to say, to the outside world; in the bosom of the family, of course, the situation is a little different). But there is one thing that Link does not take into consideration, and that is that Hawaiians are not ignorant negroes, but that even at the time, reconstruction they were too far advanced to swallow such obvious fakes as it they did swallow the liquid promises that went with it.

"It shows a contempt for Hawaiians and the intelligence of the race to give them with such a dish of cream. The promise looks attractive, so as the delicacy referred to, and both are nice when they are swallowed, even taken in large quantities they are not satisfying, consisting mostly of fat and too much of either is nauseating.

"The Hawaiians know that a green in congress is a cipher the first years of his presence in that assembly. During that time he would be completely incapable of accomplishing anything. And when that time was up, would be forced to private life, should he ever succeed in getting elected.

"On the other hand, the voters know that Kuhio has done a good job that he is capable of getting things through. He says that he is going to try to induce congress to amend the Organic Act so as to allow changes in our laws, they know that he is not making more than he can accomplish, and he will bring all his efforts to an accomplishment."

Work is to be started next week on the double-tracking of the King street line of the Rapid Transit company, nearly all material for the same being on hand. The double track will extend from Punchbowl street to the Palama fire station.

Owing to crop shortage, the Honokaa dividend has ceased. The plantation manager estimated the crop would be 10,000 tons, but the actual production was 7500 tons, a shortage of about 2500 tons. For this reason the monthly dividend has been suspended.

In confirmation of The Advertiser's story of the Leilehua and Pearl Harbor work contemplated by the war and navy departments, to be commenced in the near future, the Lord-Young company has received an intimation that $600,000 will shortly be available for commencing work on permanent buildings at Schofield Barracks.

U. S. Senator C. J. Hughes of Colorado, who is visiting here and whose broad acquaintance includes men identified with the Western Pacific Railway, says that reports that the Harriman interests are in control of that railway and that that would prevent any chance of a rate war between the Pacific Mail S. S. Company and the Toyo Kisen Kaisha are false.

MRS. PERSHING WOULD LIKE TO COME HERE

"We have not heard much about coming here for station, but I can assure you we would be very glad to come," said Mrs. Pershing yesterday as she bade goodbye to District Attorney Breckens at the naval wharf yesterday. Her remark was made in response to an inquiry as to whether she had heard whether her husband, General Pershing would be ordered to command the newly created department of Hawaii.

Mrs. Pershing, accompanied by her three children, is en route from Manila to the mainland to visit her parents. Her father is Senator Warren of Wyoming, hence District Attorney Breckens' call upon her at the wharf, as the Sheridan was preparing to leave for San Francisco.

WORLD'S POPULATION IS FIFTEEN BILLIONS

Eight Hundred Million Men Now Play the Game of Civilization.

LONDON, September 30. — The changes in Europe since 1801 show some remarkable reversals in states and politics. The Europe of 1801 counted 175,000,000 inhabitants; its population today exceeds 438,000,000. The population of France, which ran to over 33,000,000, exceeded then in number, cohesion and living strength that of any nation except Russia, which, however, counted only 36,000,000. The population of the British Isles was only 16,000,000, not quite half that of France. The German empire counting its 300 states, often at war with each other, had in all only 25,000,000 people. Italy was only a "geographical expression" at that time, but the whole peninsula in ten duchies comprised only 17,000,000 people. Austria and Hungary together numbered only 25,000,000. Outside of Europe at that time the world was either a desert or unknown.

The population of China had risen from 59,000,000 at the dawn of the Christian era to 333,000,000 in 1795, but no other figure was quoted for Asia. Africa was to the civilized world a mere outline. In America the official "census" of 1790 reported 4,000,000 inhabitants, which rose, according to the census of 1890, to 5,208,483. No precise figure was given for the rest of America, nor was anything known of the population of Oceania, Australia or New Zealand.

Today the political condition of Europe has changed with the change of population. France, which 110 years ago was the first and in a sense the only power of Europe, today is of comparatively small account. The population of Europe has risen from 175,000,000 to 438,000,000—an increase of 263,000,000, or about 150 per cent. France has increased only from 33,000,000 to 39,000,000, an increase of only 18 per cent. In 1801 France was in population one-fifth of Europe; today it is less than one-eleventh. The population of Great Britain exceeds 45,000,000, an increase of 29,000,000, or more than 180 per cent.

The German empire has grown from 25,000,000 inhabitants of rival and jealous states in 1801 to a homogeneous strength of 65,000,000, an increase of 40,000,000 since 1801—the increase alone exceeding the population of all of France today—and of 26,000,000 since 1870. The population of Germany has increased 152 per cent since 1801. Austria-Hungary has more than doubled its population, which now numbers 50,000,000 and Italy, with 34,000,000 inhabitants, has nearly doubled. Spain counts 20,000,000. Belgium and the Lowlands exceed 14,000,000, in place of 5,000,000 in 1801. Russia has increased in living strength by 200 per cent and numbers 138,000,000 people. Japan has come out of the seas with 65,000,000 inhabitants to take an important place in the world.

In America, of course, progress is more marked. Canada has 7,000,000 people; Brazil 18,000,000 to 20,000,000; Peru, 3,000,000; Chile, 3,500,000; the Argentine Republic, 6,000,000; Mexico, 16,000,000, and the United States, characterized as "a miracle of vitality, energy, prodigious industry and world-embracing commerce," itself is a veritable New World, with nearly 100,000,000 inhabitants.

The world has made great progress since 1801 and progressed in every nation except one France, which claims, and some years ago justly claimed, to be the land of progress, enlightenment, and of the growth of ideas and the expansion of thought has remained in those 110 years almost outside the world's advance. In 1801 less than 200,000,000 men counted in the play of historical or political events. Today nearly 500,000,000 men know, how to wield the same weapons, to use the like implements and instruments in the struggle for life. A census tomorrow would disclose a world's population showing the prodigious figure of 15,000,000,000. The conditions in France have been attributed to irreligion, race suicide, etc., but the real causes must be left to her own people for elucidation.

WALTER CAMP WRITES ON THE NEW FOOTBALL RULES

The chief difficulty of the spectators in following a football game from the side lines when played under the new rules will be the forward pass, according to the belief of Walter Camp of Yale, who has written his impressions in Outing for October. Mr. Camp says: "The spectator must see whether the man making the pass is at least five yards back of the scrimmage line, and the backfield—except the two ends—at least one yard back. Incidentally he must determine whether the ball goes over twenty yards past the scrimmage line, which is the outside limit of the forward pass.

"Interesting points to bear in mind are the prohibition of the defensive players against interfering with offensive players who have passed the line of scrimmage until the forward pass has been caught, or, in case of a kick, until the offensive player has advanced twenty yards into the territory of the defense. The man making a tackle must have at least one foot on the ground. The runner with the ball must not be pushed or aided in any way by his teammates.

"In brief, if the spectator expects to understand what is happening on the field, nearly every play has fine shading of restriction which must be carefully watched."
