TWO THOUSAND INSURGENTS SURROUNDED AND FEARING ANNIHILATION NEAR ADRIANOPLE—SEVENTY THOUSAND TROOPS ARE CONCENTRATING ON THE SCENE—SITUATION IN BEIRUT IMPROVING.

Associated Press Cable to the Star.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 9.—Two thousand insurgents are surrounded by Turkish troops near Adrianople. Their position is such that their only alternatives are surrender or annihilation.

Turkey is concentrating 70,000 troops around Adrianople, and massacres are feared.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—Admiral Cotton, who is in command of the American squadron at Beirut, reports to the Navy Department that the situation there is improving very much.

Only Six Unwounded In This Battle

A SMALL FRENCH FORCE IN ALGERIA HAS A TERRIBLE ENCOUNTER WITH THREE THOUSAND MOORS—SIXTY-SEVEN KILLED AND FORTY-SEVEN WOUNDED IN A FORCE OF 120.

Associated Press Cable to the Star.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—A French convoy of 120 men in Algeria have repulsed a force of 3000 Moors after a fierce engagement in which the French had over half their men killed and every man but six wounded. The Moors lost a large number killed and were finally beaten back, but not until of the 120 in the French force 67 had been killed and 47 wounded.

RUSSIA WON'T LET GO

Associated Press Cable to the Star.

TOKIO, Sept. 9.—The statement has been semi-officially confirmed that Russia proposes to postpone her evacuation of Amur, which was scheduled for October 8th. She is said to advance the claim that she cannot leave at such an early date without danger to her interests there. The news has caused a revival of war talk.

THREE JUDGES ARE AT WORK

DE BOLT, GEAR AND ROBINSON ALL ENGAGED WITH JURY TRIALS.

Judge De Bolt received the first jury verdict of the present term of court this morning, in an assumption case which took but little time. George A. Davis in the same case, made his first appearance as a practitioner since the late unpleasantness. Davis did not take an active part, stating that his client had not given him any instructions and that he only appeared as counsel of record and because he was retained to file an answer.

The suit was that of the A. Harrison Mill Company against the Waiwala Beach hotel company for $750.56. Judge Stanley appeared for plaintiff. A jury verdict for the plaintiff was brought in by the following jurors: James A. Auld, Louis Warren, M. D. Parkhurst, P. M. Lucas, J. Kuwana, E. C. Holstein, G. C. Potter, B. Guerrero, Isaac Adams, F. B. Angus, L. H. Dee, E. E. Mossman.

At 9 a. m. tomorrow Judge De Bolt will call the following cases for the purpose of having them set down as "ready for trial" or for other proper disposition, namely, Numbers 127, 129, 131, 133, 137, 139, 141, 143, 145, 147, 149, 151, 153 and 155.

Judge Robinson denied a motion for a new trial in the case of R. M. Fuller vs. the Rapid Transit Company in which a judgment of $2,250 for plaintiff was rendered. A jury was secured for the case of the Kapiolani estate vs. L. A. Thurston, as follows: R. N. Mossman, C. Warren, Will E. Fisher, William Ringer, W. W. Goodale, L. H. Miranda, E. Hanapi, C. S. Holloway, A. Kahoali, J. K. Clark, John Kidwell, F. J. Turner.

Judge Gear, after charging the Grand Jury, called the criminal calendar and began the trial of John Doe alias Yuen Yin and Richard Roe alias Chong Yuen charged with receiving stolen goods, with the following jurors: Sol Keoloe-wa, T. Wolff, A. A. Montano, F. J. Robello, E. K. Rathburn, Carl Willing, G. A. Ordway, D. Kawanakoa, James Ahola, George Woolsey, Jesse P. Makainai, J. P. Cabel.

In the cases of the three soldiers who went away while under indictments for burglary, Deputy Attorney General Peters asked that Carleton's bail of $500 be forfeited and said that the other cases would be nolle prossed. Before entering a nolle prosequere he would file copies of the correspondence between here and the mainland, explaining why the men were not brought back. The matter was postponed to Friday. Judge Gear ordered the following cases

GOVERNOR WILL RETIRE

SANFORD B. DOLE SAYS THAT IT IS AND ALWAYS HAS BEEN HIS EXPECTATION TO RETIRE FROM THE GOVERNORSHIP AT THE END OF HIS TERM—MAY PRACTICE LAW.

Governor Dole stated this morning in answer to a question that he expected to retire from the governorship at the end of his term, and had always so expected. The cable from Washington published yesterday, which was the occasion of the inquiry made to the executive, was not at all new to the governor as far as its statements regarding him are concerned.

"I have always expected to retire," said the governor, "and of course I still so expect."

The governor was asked as to his plans after leaving the head of the Territorial government and stated that he might return to the practice of the law, but had as yet no definite plans made.

Governor Dole was appointed by President McKinley and became governor when the Territory was organized, on June 14, 1900. His term of four years will therefore expire next June. He will then have been at the head of the island governments for eleven years, through a most important and lively period of the country's history, and through two and into a third form of government.

JURY CHARGED

JUDGE GEAR TELLS THE GRAND JURORS THAT THEY SHOULD INVESTIGATE ONLY SUCH MATTERS AS ARE BROUGHT TO THEIR ATTENTION BY THE COURT OR THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Judge Gear's charge to the grand jury this morning shuts out the legislative vouchers and the Kohala ditch propositions, unless they are brought up by the Attorney General or the jurors already have knowledge of them. There was no direct mention of either matter, but the judge took occasion to instruct the jury against taking up any matters except those which the court or the Attorney General presented, or which might come to their knowledge in the course of other investigations.

"It is not the duty of a grand jury," the court said, "to go into private grievances and mere rumors. You are not to allow private parties and attorneys to come before you with complaints. Such parties are usually actuated by malice and anxious to satisfy private revenge. The proper place to take such complaint is to the attorney general, or to the district magistrate. When neither the court nor the attorney general presents a matter and when no warrant is sworn to by an aggrieved party, it may safely be inferred that public justice will suffer no injury if the matter is ignored."

"The court knows of no special circumstances to be called to your attention at present. You are an inquisitorial body and have a right to inquire into public offices and institutions, though I understand that there is some question in the mind of the attorney general about that. If there are any special matters the attorney general will bring them before you and not private parties. The statement has been made in the press that certain persons want an investigation of some alleged rights which they claim have been violated. I don't know how far this is a public bluff, but it is not proper for persons to air their grievances in that way. The proper way is through a district magistrate if there has been any violation of law."

Judge Gear read from a charge of Chief Justice Field, regarding the duties of grand jurors. The instructions were to the effect that the jurors should call for evidence in defense of an accused, if they believed that such evidence, explaining away a charge, existed. Further instructions would be given later, said the court, if occasion arose.

Col. Sam Parker was appointed foreman of the jury and Louis J. Kennedy bailiff. The jurors were given the Supreme Court room and excused till this afternoon to allow time for preparation of the room.

W. S. Fleming, of the Attorney General's office, will advise the grand jury. A special commission as deputy attorney general has been given him, with a view to avoiding any question as to his authority.

MOKOLII SINKS IN THE HARBOR

Steamer of Wilder Company Goes Down to Bottom Last Night—Is Thought Somebody Opened Sea Cock.

With colors flying and on an even keel, the old steamer Mokoli went down last night in the harbor, in the presence of a good sized crowd on the Wilder wharf, who had been vainly trying to save the vessel. It is thought that somebody played a scurvy trick on the Wilder S. S. Company by letting out the sea cock and causing the vessel to sink. There is no trace of the miscreant at present, although the matter will probably be reported to the authorities.

The Mokoli has been lying alongside the Wilder wharf on the Ewa side for some weeks. The work of dismantling her has been in progress during that time. Most of her superstructure had been cleared away and the vessel had been stripped almost clean to the main deck. So far as her hull was concerned, the vessel had been as tight as a drum. She had not made any water while at the wharf, nor had she leaked during the many months that she laid out of commission at the Ewa end of the harbor. There was considerable machinery on her, and the company desired to get this out and dispose of the hull and various parts of the little craft.

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon she was all right and not making a particle of water. During the early part of the evening, however, somebody is thought to have gone aboard her and pulled out the sea cock which let in the water at a rapid rate. The watchman at the wharf discovered that the vessel was making water and rapidly settling.

THE ASSAULT ON THE PRESIDENT

ONE ACCOUNT PUTS ROOSEVELT IN IMMINENT DANGER FROM WHICH HE NARROWLY ESCAPED—ANOTHER INDICATES THAT WHILE A SERIOUS MATTER IT DID NOT REACH THE DANGER POINT.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 2.—Shortly after 10 o'clock last night Henry Weilbrenner drove to Sagamore Hill in a buggy. He was stopped by the secret service operative on duty. Weilbrenner said he had a personal engagement with the President and desired to see him. As it was long after the hours when visitors are received, the officer declined to permit him to go to the house. The man insisted, but the officer turned him away.

Soon afterwards Weilbrenner returned and again insisted that he be allowed to see the President, if only for a minute. This time he was ordered away and warned not to return.

Just before 11 o'clock the man returned a third time and demanded of the officer that he be permitted to see the President at once. The officer's response was to take the man from his buggy and put him in the stables, where he was placed under guard of two stablemen. A revolver was found in the buggy. Later Weilbrenner was brought to the village and locked up. He is five feet, five-eighths of an inch high, 28 years old, and evidently is of German descent. He resides in Syosset, about five miles inland from Oyster Bay. He was well dressed in a suit of dark material and wore an old-fashioned derby hat. It is thought by the officers that Weilbrenner was accompanied by two other men, as their footprints were found in the mud alongside of the buggy tracks. In view of this fact, the officer on duty telephoned to the village for assistance and was soon joined by two other Secret Service men.

While Weilbrenner talked rationally to the officers last night, it seems evident from his conversation today that he is demented. He said that he had received a telegraphic communication from the President, bidding him call at Sagamore Hill. Weilbrenner's buggy was taken to a local livery barn. When asked what had become of the rig, Weilbrenner replied: "Oh, the President has taken care of it. That's all right."

Weilbrenner is regarded by those who have seen him to be a dangerous lunatic. At Syosset it is learned that the man is the son of a truck farmer and is one of three boys. He has two sisters. The family is respectable and is held in general esteem.

Weilbrenner several years ago had a nervous attack which rendered him mentally helpless for a day or two, but his family supposed that he had been quite restored by medical treatment. Since then he had manifested no symptoms of mental aberration. He had no socialistic or anarchistic tendencies, so far as known, never having been interested in questions of that kind. He was employed on his father's farm.

NEW YORK, September 2.—A special to the Herald from Oyster Bay says: No one better than President Roosevelt realizes how near he was to death at the hands of a crazed would-be assassin late last night.

Attracted by the noise of a disturbance in the grounds surrounding Sagamore Hill, Roosevelt stepped out on the porch. Less than 100 feet away in a buggy stood Henry Weilbrenner, a young farmer of Syosset, L. I. with a revolver aimed directly at the President as he stood silhouetted by the light from his library. Within the fraction of a second a bullet would have been sped on its way had not the man's revolver been knocked from his hand by a Secret Service agent.

The President saw one of his guards dash a revolver out of the hand of Weilbrenner, who an instant later was seized by the collar and dragged from the buggy in which he had driven up. He saw another guard rush to the first guard's assistance and the two join in overpowering the stranger. He saw all two guards after a moment toss the stranger back into the buggy and drive away toward his carriage house.

At the same time two men, who have not yet been captured or identified were prowling about the grounds, while the President was left entirely unguarded in his house, all the secret service men having hurried to the spot when Weilbrenner was overpowered.

Realizing that something was wrong the President called for some one. His shout was heard by John Seaman who had already been awakened by the noise made by two men crossing his porch. Seaman ran to the secret service men, where they were surrounding Weilbrenner, warned them of the presence of the other two men in the grounds, and, with one of them, rushed to the side of the President.

Re-enforcements were hurriedly summoned from the village, and a search of the grounds was made, but the two strangers whom the gardener had heard prowling about his cottage could not be found.

JUDGE FAVORS WHIPPING POST

"I wish that there was a whipping post," said Judge Lindsay this morning indignantly, to Alexander Craig, a defendant charged with assault and battery. "I wish it were possible to send you to a whipping post so that you could get a good flogging. Jail is too good for such a brute as you are. I sentence you to serve ten days in jail at hard labor."

"Thank you judge," humbly replied Craig, evidently pleased with having escaped a heavier sentence.

Craig pleaded guilty to a very brutal assault. According to the testimony, he took his shoe and beat his eight-year-old son about the head and face in a shameful manner. The child was badly injured, and its face severely cut and bruised. The little fellow was too sick to appear in court.

A FRIVOLOUS CHARGE.

Senator Burtin has not been making the best of records at home. He has been engaged in schemes which show him in the light of a very foolish and glib man, or else a man who lent himself and his name to people who were anxious to fleece the unwary. Everyone remembers the get-rich-quick scheme which the senator wrote so interesting a letter about. The correspondence did not show the senator in the best of lights, and left one in doubt as to what category of mankind the senator should be classed under.

The Kansas senator is again coming to the fore, and this time with another letter. He seems to be somewhat unfortunate in his correspondence. According to the statement the senator has written to Senator Foraker a letter which has practically charged Mr. Gehr with having bribed the Territorial officials upon the Kohala ditch matter, and the Territorial officials with having received bribes.

That the senator came here in the interests of one of the competitors for the ditch proposition, is well known. He arrived here ahead of the Senatorial Sub-Committee and went to Kohala, ostensibly on a shooting trip, but really to gather information as an advocate in the Senate for one of the rival competitors. He failed to pass the scheme through the committee. Mr. Gehr is reported to have the intention of bringing the matter before the grand jury, and it will probably be fully aired.

There is no need for any one to take up the cudgels for Governor Dole in this matter. His record stands too high for his character to be affected in the slightest by such a charge as is alleged to have been made by the Kansas senator. Governor Dole's character in such matters is above suspicion, and such a charge, if really made, would at once put the governor's bitterest enemies in the ranks with his staunchest friends. The governor may be open to criticism as to his judgment, as to his policy, as to his valuation of men, but as to his integrity there cannot be a breath or a whisper.

The fight for the water franchise is a bitter one. Such a fight in other places would probably have resulted in conduct such as the senator from Kansas is ready to charge, but the senator has been evidently misled by anxious experience. Bribery among officials has not been a method of procedure which has had any success here.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

To send a polo team to the Coast is a good suggestion. It shows that we are not entirely eaten up with the spirit of commercialism and utilitarianism. All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. And Jack should have his play while he can enjoy it. There is no satisfaction in getting the play time when the muscles are stiff, the breath short, and the zest gone out of life. Youth is the time for vigorous play, old age is the time for leisure and thought.

In order to make sport interesting, the element of competition must come up. Thus we have the great competition in baseball, in football, in yachting. College competes against college, university against university, state against state, city against city, and even nationality against nationality. Sport, properly conducted, sport for its own sake, sport to bring forth the peculiar skill of those adapted for it, is an excellent thing for a community. It gives the youth something to strive for which is not merely material. It arouses an enthusiasm for something different to mere dollars and cents, it cultivates an interest in physical skill and physical development which is of advantage to the whole mass of human kind.

For a tropical community we have retained our vigor remarkably. Few places within the tropics support the sports of the temperate climate so earnestly and thoroughly as we do. We keep up a regular season of baseball, of football, of boating and of yachting. In all these our young men show their vigor, and when they leave their island homes and go to the mainland, they take no mean place as sportsmen and athletes.

However well our youth have done in the various sports mentioned, there is perhaps no form of sport in which they have done better than in polo. Of all games polo is probably the most picturesque, and it is one which requires the keenest of judgment and the highest of skill. It is a game which has been used for international contests, and for us to pit a team against the teams of the mainland will be a wonderful advance in the sporting line. It will be expensive, but men can not spend money better than in fostering true sport, and the Hawaiian team which goes to the mainland will carry with it the hearty good wishes of our sportsmen and of the community at large.

CIVIC ERROR.

Every now and again there is an upheaval of citizens against the professional politician, but the excellent citizens, who enter into such a social and political protest and inveigh against the politicians and their folly and wickedness, do the most extraordinary things on election day. In "Phases of State Legislation," an instance is quoted.

A young member from New York did as hard and effective work in a peculiarly bad legislature as had ever been done by any one. The more disreputable politicians relied upon it to pass some of their worst schemes and protect certain members from their own misdeeds. Demagogic measures were brought forward. Certain wealthy corporations attempted, by unscrupulous means, to pass laws in their own interest. The young member fought hard, exposed the politicians, defeated the corporations, pointed out the weak points in the demagogues and earned for himself the hatred of the politicians, the demagogues and the wealthy and unscrupulous corporations.

He earned the gratitude of all honest citizens. High class papers spoke well of him. The advanced thinkers and the cultured people were loud in his praise. When election came, and the young man was opposed, all this praise, and this high-speaking amounted to just what it was—words. When it came to voting other interests had to be attended to, stocks had to be looked after, yachting parties had to be attended, business cases were paramount, quail shooting was in season, and the election was lost. It sounds very much like a tale that was told nearly two thousand years ago, when certain guests who were bidden to a wedding found all kinds of excuses not to come. One had bought a yoke of oxen, one had married a wife, and so forth.

It is this half-hearted support, this neglect of plain duties, this dealing with wind and nothing else which loses for the citizens who have high ideals, the opportunities of success which are constantly in their hands and which they are as constantly losing. And it is also in this way that they lose the best of their material, which gets wearied of words and which hungers to see activity and energy and self-sacrifice, and cares nothing for empty sound. The lesson is applicable here.

We receive the usual budget of horrors from Macedonia. Thirty thousand Bulgarians are said to have been massacred at Monastir. From the number of alleged massacres that have taken place at and around that spot during the last six months, the population must be wonderfully thick in that vicinity. The really important piece of news is that Turkish troops will follow the revolutionary forces into Bulgaria. That will bring about actual war between the two states. As long as the Turkish troops remain in Macedonia they are operating in their own territory.

The postal frauds continue to bring up more indictments. There must be enough people indicted to keep the courts quite busy attending to the postal cases alone. There seems to be no end to the corruption in that Department. It is a good instance of the corrupting influence of a person in a prominent position, and the weakness of those who come in contact with such a man. It is but another proof that the "means to do ill deeds makes ill deeds done."

The Congress at Bogota may be considering a new canal treaty. That is one thing. Whether the President of the United States will consider it is an entirely different thing. The Colombians may have entirely lost their chance of being on one of the commercial highways of the world.

Looking after visitors who arrive by the steamers began in earnest this morning. The work is a very needful and a very necessary one. We shall soon establish a record in this direction and it will add very much to the attraction of the trans-Pacific route.

It is good practice to send a company of the national guard to one of the other islands. The trip of Company F to Hilo will make the officers understand the needs of their men when being moved about. Many things may be understood theoretically which require the test of practice to prove whether they are useful or not. In a scattered community such as this, the ability to move the Territorial guard quickly and effectively from island to island is a very essential portion of the military training.

There does not seem to be any diminution in the school population of the city. The school statistics show a steady increase among the Portuguese children, in spite of the statements that there has been such an exodus of these people to the mainland. The natural increase supplies any vacancies that may have occurred.

There is not likely to be a repetition of the spiriting away of soldiers who are indicted for crime. The military authorities in California have no desire to protect their men from the consequences of their own ill doing.

Our Circuit Courts have their work laid out for them. At Christmas, however, the calendar will look somewhat lighter than it does now. There will be some very important cases to be tried, among them E. M. Jones for a double murder.

Admiral Cotton who, with his squadron, has been receiving social honors all over Europe, has a very different piece of work cut out for him at Beirut. It must be a considerable contrast from the illuminations and festivities of Kiel, Portsmouth and Lisbon, to the somewhat lively fires by fanatic Mussulmans. The admiral's reception on the Syrian coast is a very different one from that accorded to him in Europe.

Superintendent Cooper is said to have complained because no cable was sent to the Mainland press announcing that he had been asked by the House of Representatives to withdraw his resignation. King Peter is in it up to the neck. He has had four dozen officers arrested for an alleged conspiracy to assassinate the assassins of Alexander and Draga, and most probably to assassinate himself as an associate of assassins. It is lucky that lynotype machines are used or the font of so might run dry when attempting to describe the political conditions of Serbia. Poor King Peter, he will end his days with a knife in his ribs or a revolver bullet through his heart.

The Man Who—

The man who thinks that the world is soup and that he's the only fork in the service had better get a spoon. Soup and the world are hard to conquer with a fork.

The man who breaks two soft-boiled eggs into a cup and thinks that because the first two were good the third must be also, has another guess. Over-confidence ruins the best of us.

The man who apologizes to the telephone girl for disturbing her slumbers when he rings for a number, gets the reply that he is "No gentleman!" It is too bad that politeness is not classed as a virtue. The line was busy anyway.

The man who "aspires" to be a poet just because his "nearest and dearest" told him that his "Ode to a Stilson Wrench" was a marvel, ought to be warned. There are several kinds of "Marvels."

The man who will buy anything but a Douglas—Ah, there is no one so uninformed as that!

TO PAINT THE PRINCESS.

Concerning Mattea Sandona the artist who came here "y" the Ventura to paint a portrait of the Princess Kawanakoa, the San Francisco Bulletin has the following to say:

"Sandona possesses an unusual power in delineating a likeness and preserving on the canvas something of the personality of his subject, in addition to the technical accuracy of features and details. His paintings of General Shafter and James D. Phelan were notable pieces of portraiture; that of Mrs. Fremont Older won much admiration when it was exhibited at the Bohemian Club and later at the Hopkins Art Institute. It is a charming study and the simple, graceful pose is noticeable.

"Another attractive portrait is that of Miss Doris Jeffrey. In the Princess David the artist will have a subject somewhat different from those he has formerly portrayed. During his stay Sandona will do several other pieces of portrait work in the islands. Some of the results of his Hawaiian trip may be exhibited in this city on the artist's return, which will not be for several months."

SEAWORTHINESS OF VESSELS.

The Department of Commerce and Labor has issued a circular calling attention to regulations made pursuant to Section 4462 of the Revised Statutes, as amended by the Act approved February 14, 1903. The principal regulation provides that on the entry of an American sail vessel of over 700 tons gross tons, the Collector shall ascertain the date when her certificate of inspection will expire. If the certificate will expire within 30 days from the date of entry, or if the vessel has no certificate, the Collector shall notify the local inspectors. He shall also notify the master to apply for inspection before clearance, in order that the vessel may be found in condition to warrant the belief that she may be used in navigation with safety to life. The new regulations go into effect September 1.

so he notified Captain Clarke, the port captain of the Wilder company. Captain Clarke hurried to the wharf and got a force of men at work trying to bail out the water. The water was rushing in too fast, however, and although a little pump on the vessel was also called into use, the vessel could not be kept afloat and sank. She is resting on an even keel close to the wharf. The masts, smokestack and davits are showing above the water.

The Wilder company will not abandon the wreck but will take steps to get the machinery and other material from the Mokoli. The trick which is thought to have been responsible for the sinking of the vessel, will cause the company an extra outlay of money however.

The Referendum In Oregon

The people of the state of Oregon, in June of last year, approved of an amendment to the constitution providing for the application of the initiative and referendum. This was made effective by act of the Legislature of the present year, which requires the submission to popular vote of particular proposals on petition of 5 per cent of the qualified electors. Laws enacted by the Legislature do not become operative until 90 days after their approval by the governor, during which time any act of the legislature specified in a petition of 5 per cent of the voters must be submitted to a popular vote, and can obtain force thereafter only on the indorsement of a majority of the people in the special election.

It is noticeable that not one of the acts of the legislature of this year was thus brought into popular question. Whether this was due to the presentation of a clean and popular record on the part of that body or to the general indifference of the people, is a question; but apparently the former explanation comes nearer being correct. The only serious attempts undertaken to get up a referendum election were made by corporations in two cases and by some labor unionists in another. The latter had become stirred up against the Lewis and Clark exposition company because of a strike, and they objected to a law appropriating $500,000 on behalf of the state. But they were able to obtain only 3900 signatures to a petition for a referendum election, where 4336 were required.

Two other acts of the legislature started a referendum movement. One provided for the construction by the state of a portage railroad around the cascades of the Columbia river. This was for the purpose of giving eastern Oregon farmers a lower rate to tidewater, and affected especially the Oregon railroad and navigation company, hitherto controlling the one means of getting around the cascades. The company, under the direction of E. H. Harriman, sought to bring this law to a popular vote, but it succeeded in getting only about 4000 names to its petition within the time limit of 90 days. Another act which aroused the corporation provided for the payment of charter and annual license fees on the part of corporations, graduated to the amount of their nominal capital. This law is obviously very burdensome to the organizers of mining and other wildcat companies which start off with little or no paid-up capital, but a most impressive amount of paper capitalization, and they set out to bring it before the people for disapproval at a special election. But they could muster only 3222 signatures to their petition for a referendum, in a required total of 4336. So ended the referendum movement as far as concerned the acts of the last legislature.

Some one recently wrote from Oregon, in reference to these cases: "The advocates of the initiative and referendum have just had a narrow escape from having it turned against them by the corporations; and the people of the whole state, including the most ardent advocates of the new measure, breathe more freely now that it is assured that there will be no referendum election this year." Just where the narrowness of the escape came in is not clear. Success on the part of the corporations and labor unionists in securing referendum elections on the three measures noted by presenting petitions from 5 per cent of the qualified voters, would not, of course, necessarily mean success in carrying the elections. That is where the tug of war would come, and not in getting signatures to petitions—never a difficult matter. It is made apparent, by the failure even to obtain the required number of petitioners, that the Lewis and Clark exposition enterprise and the two acts affecting corporations meet with general popular approval, and would have been supported in a popular vote had the complainants managed to bring about a referendum. And it is also to be inferred, from the absence of referendum petitions against legislative acts favorable to special corporation interests, that no such acts, at least of a glaring kind, were passed by the legislature, and that quite probably the mere existence of machinery for effecting an immediate popular veto had a restraining effect upon the legislature. The further development of this most interesting Oregon experiment in the direction of pure democracy should command national attention.

FIRE-PROOF CARS

Postal Department Sees Necessity of Different Mail Coaches.

The wreck of the limited express from New Orleans near Lynchburg has revived suggestions of improvement in the equipment of railroads for the carrying of the mail which are likely to receive the careful attention of the Postoffice Department and later of Congress. In this case the two mail cars were burned, the Pullman sleeping cars being detached and drawn away from the burning portion of the train before they were injured.

The subject of building fireproof cars of steel has been considered from time to time, but no marked progress has yet been made in putting such a plan into effect. Fifteen years ago a Boston inventor built a passenger car of steel, and it was used on the railroads of the country as an experiment. The cars built of steel are about 40 per cent heavier than those constructed of wood, and for that reason chiefly such construction was never pursued.

In the case of mail cars, however, railway engineers recognize special and urgent reasons for either steel construction or some other method by which these cars may be rendered fireproof. The passenger coaches and sleeping-cars are generally some distance ahead of the locomotive. In the case of mail-cars they are nearly always ahead of the passenger cars and so near the locomotive that they are frequently burned when there is a wreck. There have been many cases in which the postal employees in these cars have been burned to death before they could make their escape. It frequently happens that the mail is destroyed and in that way irreparable injury is done. Many valuable papers that could not be replaced by any amount of expense or labor in that way have been burned, to the great injury of their owners.

These special dangers confronting the mail cars have made of great importance the proposals for their building of fireproof material. This matter has not yet been taken up in any specific way by the Railway Mail Clerks' association, but it is believed to be a subject that will concern them in the future. The life of a railway mail car is said to be twelve years, so that little more than that time would be required to replace them by fireproof construction, should such a course be decided upon. The mail cars are the property of the railroads over which they are operated, but the government has always taken the initiative in suggesting the manner of the building of these cars. They are now made extra strong, and the safety of the mail clerks is correspondingly increased. If they were made fireproof the result would not only be a saving of life, but of vast quantities of mail matter that are now annually consumed by the flames.—Washington Star.

THE SMART POSSUM.

Will Haymart of Earl, Mo., tells a touching story of a tender-hearted possum he captured the other day. Haymart was hoeing corn when his attention was attracted by the barking of his dog in a neighboring wood. He went into the wood, and found the dog had treed an old possum with three young ones. He decided to take the young ones for pets, "and don't you know," he says, "that as I took those little possums away from their mother, tears ran down that old possum's face as free and as plain as tears ever ran down the cheeks of a human being?" Haymart hadn't the heart to part them, so he took the mother along, and placed them all in a slatted box. Here the mother gave further indications of an intelligence and feelings almost human. During the four days of her captivity, Haymart says, she never ate a bite. Having, in this way, reduced her flesh sufficiently, one night she slid through a small crack in the cage and "is now," Haymart thinks, "without doubt back in the woods again."

HOW SHE HAD IT MADE.

Miss Giddy (vivaciously)—My new gown is a dream—very light gray voile. He (practically)—Ah, yes; very pretty, I'm sure. But doesn't gray soil easily? Miss G. (leaping before she looked)—Oh I had it made with a broad black girdle.

THE FERRIS CASE

In the Executive Council this morning the case of murderer George E. Ferris was discussed. The transcript of testimony taken in the attorney general's office, being new testimony which was not produced at the trial, was read to the members of the Council and occupied most of the meeting. No decision was arrived at, but it is expected that one will be reached very soon. Ferris is still unaware of the fact that his appeal to the Supreme court was lost and that he is under sentence of death. He will be informed when the governor announces his decision, which way it is.

AMONG SERI INDIANS.

Mexican officers who were sent to Tiburon Island to discover, if possible, traces of Captain Dana Porter and his party, have found nothing to show that the Seri Indians killed the American scientists. Captain Porter, it has been believed, went among the Seri Indians last spring. These people are in almost constant warfare with the Indians on the mainland, and always exhibit the greatest animosity toward aliens, whether Indian or Caucasian.

POULTRY HOUSES.

Poultry houses can be built in many ways, can be made cheaply or at great cost, just as you like, but there are three important points which should never be lost sight of: The open or partially open side should face south, they should be on high ground so as to have dry floors, and they should admit the sun's rays during a considerable part of the day.

YOU CAN'T KEEP A DOLE DOWN

A NEPHEW OF THE GOVERNOR BREAKS AN IMPORTANT COLLEGE SPORTING RECORD AT STANFORD AND IS TO BE GIVEN A MEDAL FOR IT—HE IS ONE OF THIRTEEN CHILDREN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1.—Norman Elliott Dole, a senior at Stanford University, is to be given a beautiful gold medal by the University for having broken a Pacific Coast amateur record at the intercollegiate field day at Berkeley April 18th of this year.

Norman Dole is the fifth son of George Dole of Riverside and is a nephew of Ex-President Dole of Hawaii. He is one of thirteen children, ten sons and three daughters, all of them athletes and composing what is without doubt the greatest family of college athletes in America, the third son, Charlie Dole, having been the greatest individual athlete ever at Stanford University and having taken third rank in competition for the individual amateur athletic championship of America.

The feat that won Norman Dole this record was the most sensational individual athletic accomplishment in the record of the remarkable Dole family. It is not only broke the Western, the intercollegiate, and the Western college records for the pole vault, but it turned the final tide and won the field day for Stanford, completing the first defeat of the kind the University of California had ever known in all the eleven years of track contests.

Norman Dole vaulted without a fault gradually up to and then easily over the bar at 11 feet 7 1/2 inches, breaking the record by many inches, and might have gone several inches higher, for he seemed fit for the trick.

During his three years at Stanford he has kept up the family tradition and won varsity points against California every year. As a high school youth in Riverside he was a star football, baseball, basket ball, and track athlete. He has a high jump record of 5 feet 8 inches.

The presentation of this medal, the only one to be conferred by the club this year, will be made the occasion of a formal Stanford gathering at the University Club, probably about the middle of September. President Wheelan of the University Club will make the presentation speech. A large number of athletes will likely be assembled.

The medal is of heavy gold, with all the lettering inlaid in cardinal enamel, the Stanford color, and the wreath effect near the bottom is done in bright green enamel. On the reverse side is engraved "Norman E. Dole, Eleventh Annual Intercollegiate Field Day, April 18, 1903."

LISBON, Sept. 9.—The King of Portugal has been made a British admiral.

The complimentary appointment of King Carlos I of Portugal to the rank of admiral is not the first honor bestowed upon him by England during his present visit as a guest of King Edward. Last year he was made commander of one of the British regiments that fought in the Peninsula war. He has always been on the most cordial terms with Great Britain, this being his second visit since his accession to the throne.

He is second cousin to King Edward, his father having been cousin to Queen Victoria. He is a successful and well loved monarch the state of Portugal having been much improved during his reign. He speaks seven languages fluently, a first rate tennis player, yachtsman, diver and rider. He has a taste for art and music and has been awarded a silver medal in the Paris Salon.

Boston Negroes Declare That the Educator Does Not Represent the Race.

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—The Suffrage League of Boston, a negro organization, tonight adopted resolutions declaring:

"Inasmuch as Booker T. Washington has glorified the revised constitutions of the South, has minimized the 'Jim Crow' car outrage; has attacked the wisdom of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments to the Constitution; has deprecated the primary importance of the ballot; has preached to the colored people silent submission to intolerable conditions and makes his people a byword and laughing stock before the world, he is not a fit leader for the colored race, and no President who recognizes him as a political leader should receive the colored vote of the North.

"Therefore, since President Roosevelt has given him charge of the appointment of all negroes of whatever state in the Union, and has made him the negro adviser as to all policies affecting colored Americans, in the interests of our race we call upon President Roosevelt to dispense with Mr. Washington as our political spokesman."

HER HEART WAS TRUE TO TAYLOR

A PHILADELPHIA HEIRESS WHO MIGHT HAVE MARRIED
A SCION OF EUROPEAN ROYALTY IS ABOARD THE KOREA ON HER WAY TO YOKOHAMA TO MARRY AN AMERICAN LIEUTENANT.

Among the passengers on the Korea en route to Yokohama is Miss Catherine M. Colfelt, who is on her way to marry Lieutenant Earl Taylor of the United States Army. The marriage will take place in Yokohama on her arrival there. She is an heiress and a beauty. After having discouraged the homage poured at her feet by the royal family at the court of Athens, Miss Catherine Colfelt, granddaughter of James McManes, the politician and financier of Philadelphia, whose millions eventually will revert to her, has started on a semi-circuit of the globe to join the man of her choice, Lieutenant Earl Taylor, an American, and an American army officer. Miss Colfelt's home is in Philadelphia. She has spent much time abroad. She was presented last year to the Queen of Greece. At a court ball which followed she was an honored guest. Prince George of Crete and Prince Andreas of Greece vied with each other for the privilege of dancing with her. Their attentions occasioned much comment. Miss Colfelt has long known Taylor. It was the memory of this young officer that made the attentions of the royal suitors distasteful to Miss Colfelt, and after discouraging them by all the means in her power she left Athens and returned to Philadelphia, where she became engaged to Taylor.

THE PROTEST IS WITHDRAWN

KICKERS IN SIXTH PRECINCT OF
FOURTH LIE DOWN—THE SEC-
OND'S CANDIDATES.

The Fourth District Republican committee met last night to take up the protest of W. H. Coney, H. Kruger and Dr. C. B. Cooper against the election of Lorin Andrews and others as delegates to the county convention from the sixth precinct of the district. Cooper and Kruger had withdrawn their names from the protest, as stated yesterday and the withdrawal of Coney was received during the meeting thus disposing of the protest.

A petition was received from the eighth precinct, protesting against the action of the judges in striking the names of C. A. Long and J. J. Belser from the list of voters because they had not signed the club rolls prior to election. Long stated that the rolls had been kept away from him and Belser, but Charles Hustace, president of the club, stated that the rolls were on the secretary's desk and that the protesters should have found it out and signed. The decision of the precinct judges was sustained in the matter.

The second precinct of the Fourth district yesterday endorsed J. W. Pratt for assessor, A. M. Brown for sheriff, W. T. Rawlins for district attorney and H. E. Murray for county clerk.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Apparently wherever Ferry, the "Human Frog" has been he has delighted his audiences. The Hobart Mercury has this to say about his appearance in that colony.

"Ferry has been a much-heard-of man in this State for a long time past, and the theatre was packed to the doors yesterday evening by a highly expectant crowd. Everyone had heard Ferry described as a marvel of the age but no one was prepared for the wonderful exhibition he gave. It was quite unique and far exceeded any contortional display ever given here. The stage was so arranged as to make an admirable representation of frogland, and when Ferry came hopping out it was hard to realize that a human being was really before the spectators. The surprise of the people increased to amazement as he gambled about and uttered froggy noises, but the climax was not reached until he mounted the pedestal and perched on a life stand three inches in diameter. Seated there he went through a long series of marvellous contortions, twisting and bending his body and limbs in a manner that can hardly be credited, and which baffles description. Everything was done with ease and grace, so that there was nothing repulsive about the display. The spectators applauded again and again, and when he hopped off the stage the applause increased to an ovation. Ferry came back and swung himself up to a bar suspended from the roof and, hanging by his arms, went through some more surprising feats with remarkable dexterity. He then removed his head piece and was cheered to the echo. The applause was maintained until he twice returned and bowed his acknowledgments. Ferry cannot be too lavishly praised and no one should miss the opportunity of seeing him tonight."

Ferry appears at the Orpheum tonight and again Saturday night.

ALGAROBIA MEAL.

A Quantity of Beans Sent to Test a Mill.

Senator Isenberg says that his expectations for his plan of grinding algarobia beans for horse and cattle feed are higher than ever. A San Francisco firm offered him a mill which they guaranteed would grind the beans in a satisfactory and economical manner. But in order to test the quality of the mill and determine whether it would do what was claimed for it, he shipped a large quantity of the beans to San Francisco to be ground there by the mill as a test. The expense of this is of course a great deal less than to bring the mill here first and then test it. Senator Isenberg is now awaiting the results of this experiment. He says that he expects to hear in a very short time. In the meanwhile he continues to buy up the beans, and now has about 15,000 bags of them. The drier they are the more readily they will grind up, without deteriorating in quality.

DECISION IN THE RIO CASE

COMPANY'S LIABILITY LIMITED TO $24,977.93—CLAIMANTS GET 85 PERCENT OF THEIR JUDGMENTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Judge De Haven of the United States District Court has handed down a decision fixing the awards to be given to claimants against the Pacific Mail Company for damages arising from the loss of the steamer City of Rio de Janeiro, which was wrecked as she was entering the Golden Gate on the morning of February 22, 1901. The steamer was never recovered, the only property saved being two life boats valued at $150.

As it was shown that the disaster was due to the carelessness of the pilot, the steamship company was held liable alone for what had been saved from the wreck. The freight pending amounted to $24,977.93, and when the value of the property recovered was added to this it brought the total amount up to $24,977.93. By the decision of the court the liabilities of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company were limited to the amount, which will be distributed pro rata among the claimants, who will receive about 85 per cent of the amount sued for.

Judge De Haven's decision said in part:

"It is manifest that the damages must be greater where the deceased left wife or children than if he had only left collateral heirs. As to the claims for losses of baggage made by the administrators of the estate of Sarah W. and Naomi Wakefield, and of Letitia Aldrich Wildman, the evidence as to the actual value of the baggage is not very satisfactory, but the claim is grossly exaggerated. The claim of W. E. Dodd for baggage is disallowed, because of no evidence as to its value. Clara Barwick's claim for damages on account of the loss of her husband, Edward Barwick, must be disallowed, the evidence showing that Barwick was employed as a butcher on the Rio de Janeiro and was therefore a fellow servant of the pilot and master, through whose negligence the steamer was lost. The claims made in behalf of Samuel Bell Wakefield and F. W. Wakefield, brothers of Miss Naomi Wakefield and sons of Mrs. Sarah Wakefield, for damages on account of the death of their mother and sister, will be disallowed. I do not think the evidence shows that either of these claimants sustained any pecuniary damage by reason of the death of their mother or sister."

The following damages were awarded: Sarah Jehu, for the death of her daughter, Sarah Howena Jehu $1,200; Kate West, for personal injuries resulting in loss of time and for loss of baggage, $750; B. C. Hawes, administrator of the estate of Naomi Wakefield, for loss of baggage, $1,000; Ruth Miller, executrix of the estate of Sarah Wakefield, for loss of baggage, $1,200; Maria Gussoni and Felice Gussoni, $5,000; Francis Ripley, loss of baggage, $400; William F. Aldrich, executor of the estate of Letitia Aldrich Wildman, $2,200; $1,100 thereof on account of loss of baggage and $1,200 for the use and benefit of Virginia Foot Aldrich, mother of the deceased, for damages resulting to her from the death of such deceased; Sarah Guyon, administratrix of the estate of Henry Guyon, $7,000 damages on account of the death of said deceased; Russell Harper, damages in the sum of $2,000; William Brander, $400; Richard P. Henshall, administrator of the estate of A. W. Dodd, $2,500, $1,500 for the use and benefit of Mrs. G. A. Renhof, sister of the deceased, damages sustained by her by reason of his death; Richard H. Henshall, administrator of the estate of William A. Henshall, $6,000 damages occasioned by the death of said deceased; Lawrence T. Wagner, guardian of Frank Woodworth, a minor, damages on account of the death of the father of said minor, $2,000.
