TREASURE TROVE FOUND; UNEARTHED AT PUUOMALEI

Old Coins Discovered In Pineapple Field---Spanish, Mexican, French And Peruvian Money Turned Up By Worker's Hoe---Will Hunt For More.

A treasure trove story came true, as a rare event, but that's what has happened—at least to a degree—at Puuomalei, Makawao, recently.

In 1865, or thereabouts, an old German watchmaker named George Ventzel owned Puuomalei—now the property of W. O. Aiken.

It is stated that he being an eccentric man, distrustful of banks and lacking faith in human nature, buried $5000 in coin somewhere on his Makawao premises. It is also related that soon after the concealment of his treasure he made a visit to Germany during which he died in the year 1866.

As this story has been well-known at Makawao, many unsuccessful attempts by different persons have been made to recover the money during the past forty-eight years.

But, on last Friday, December 7th, "the unexpected happened" and Joe Ferreira, a Portuguese in the employ of Mr. Aiken, while hoeing in a recently-plowed pineapple field—knocked up with his hoe an ancient coin and then another and another until he had collected thirteen silver pieces which with great excitement he took to Mr. Aiken—and then upon further search by all hands, six more were discovered. Since then despite many efforts and much digging only two additional ones have been unearthed making the total number twenty-one.

An interesting circumstance of the discovery is that the hiding place of the silver is situated upon the highest part of the land, the top of the hill called Puuomalei.

Most of the coins are French five-franc pieces, some are Spanish, one is Mexican and one Peruvian. The oldest dated 1790 is a Spanish real with the name of Carlos IV stamped upon it. Several of the French coins were issued in 1811 and 1812 in the time of Napoleon, first consul. Another French piece bore the name of Louis Philippe, the "citizen king" who abdicated in 1848.

The Mexican dollar was found three feet under the surface in a sort of pocket made by the roots of a kukui tree.

It might be imagined that Ventzel was a numismatist as well as watchmaker but the explanation of the matter is that prior to the issue of the Kalakaua dollars, halves, quarters, dimes during the reign of Kalakaua all kinds of money passed current. American, English, Spanish, French, Mexican and others. On Maui here, Capt. Thomas Hobson, then owner of the Kahului railroad, issued copper cents and redeemed them at the rate of twelve and a half cents in silver.

Mr. Aiken has written inquiring as to the present value of the coins that he has found and it is unnecessary to state will not as yet abandon the search for the balance of buried treasure.

Filipino Is Nearly Killed

"Once more the 'Little Brown Brother' is in the limelight, and the Sheriff is out hunting for some of Taft's friends. A Filipino has been battered almost to death and is now in the Paia hospital, with but poor chances of recovery.

It appears that on New Year's Eve there was a gathering of Filipinos at Hamakuaapoko. All went well for a while till the wine began to circulate at a hot pace. Then trouble started, and the end was that several Filipinos are said to have attacked a countryman and almost killed him.

The attack on the man who was nearly murdered was witnessed by a number of people. The Sheriff has one man in custody, and expects to get the others today sometime.

Special Music On Sunday

There will be special music at the Wailuku Union Church on Sunday evening and it will be as follows: Duet from Stabat Mater "Power Eternal God and Father," to be sung by Mrs. Louise Chaffin Jones and Miss Caroline K. Scholtz. "Falls now the Even," an anthem to be sung by the choir. Both pieces of music are unusually beautiful.

James Campsie Now Manager

Several changes among plantation managers are announced. James Campsie, late head luna of the Hawaiian Agricultural Company, Pahala, Hawaii, has been appointed manager of Olowalu, Maui. Mr. Gibb goes to Hawaii to become manager of the Hutchinson Sugar Company, vice Carl Wolters, resigned.

James Campsie is well known in these islands. He has worked on several plantations. Kauai, Oahu and Hawaii fields are equally well known to him. He is a brother of W. Campsie, who once was employed on Wailuku plantation.

Campsie's late position as head luna at Pahala has been filled by Fred. Martin, one of the most experienced and popular overseers on the islands.

Dowsett Quits Maui Ranch

Alexander C. Dowsett has resigned his position as manager of the Kahikinui Ranch. "Alaka," as he is known all over the group, will go to Oahu for a while.

The news of the resignation of Dowsett came as a surprise to the many friends of the rancher. It was thought that he would settle for many years on Maui.

It is not known at present who is to succeed Dowsett, but it is rumored that a man is to be imported from Hawaii.

How England Won Trophy

Davis Cup Play Shows That Australians Had Weak Team On Courts.

Since Maui is such a stronghold of tennis, and everybody is interested in the game, the following story of how Australasia lost the Davis Cup, will be read with interest.

The Davis Cup is booked to take its first sea-journey for four years; and whether it will have to do a quick return depends mainly on Irishman Parke being soon lynched, roasted, hanged or otherwise disabled. For Parke is the real cause of the disaster. The destiny of the Cup really depended on whether Norman Brookes could beat him; and the Australian Napoleon of the game couldn't manage it. The doubles were regarded as a certainty for Australia; Brookes was looked to to beat Dixon, and it was somewhat of a foregone conclusion that Heath couldn't stand up against either of the Englishmen. In the struggle that mattered, Brookes won the first three strokes. Then Parke woke up with a bang, and put the acid on Brookes, who was regarded as acid-proof, to the alarming extent of 8-6, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2. Brookes didn't seem to have even a look in; he stood and wondered at the drives the Irishmen brought off. Their deadly accuracy was something new to him, and he was demoralized. Australia's tail showed a downward curl. It all was not lost yet. Rod Heath faced the music with Dixon. Heath won the first set—and lost each of the other three (4-6.) So the Englishmen had one leg in the Cup, so to speak. The doubles didn't take much arguing. Brookes and Dunlop romped away from Beamish and Parke by 6-4, 6-1, 7-5, and that kept England's second leg momentarily out of the way. On the final day Brookes met Dixon, and Parke faced Heath. Both were almost foregone conclusions, and only lasted three sets. Brookes took his match 6-2, 6-4, 6-4; and that left Parke and his Heath to worry out what was to happen to the Cup. Parke decided and by winning (6-3, 6-4, 6-4) collected the Cup for England. A. B. Jones (N. S. W.), the emergency Australian, made Brookes, who must have been upset after the first day, still more uncomfortable on the second day. Lowe (Eng.), who had donkey-licked Rice just previously in the Vic. tourney, clashed with Jones in an exhibition match, and Jones emerged from the wreckage on top (6-4, 6-2.) It must have made Brookes wonder why he hadn't dropped Jones into the big match and kept Heath out.

As mentioned last week, the Englishmen's weak point is their service, as the following list of service games shows:

	Won	Lost	Double faults.
Brookes	30	12	6
Heath	15	21	9
Dunlop	5	2	0
Parke	30	14	6
Dixon	17	18	26
Beamish	5	2	2

Thus the Englishmen served 34 "doubles" to Australia's 15, Dixon (Eng.) being responsible for 26. It was Parke's drive and nothing else that brought Brookes his Waterloo, and incidentally shifted the silverware to other quarters.

Paia Tennis Players Win

Big Mill Crowd Lose By Small Margin As Regards Games.

On New Year's day, at Paunene, there was a tennis tournament in which the Paia team met the home bunch. The result was a win for Paia by a score of 95 games to 83. The home team went down in defeat by the small margin of 12 games.

As far as sets went, the Paia players took 11 to their opponent's 9.

There was a good attendance at the Paunene courts, and the efforts of the players were rewarded with hearty applause. The full scores were as follows:

Thomson-Sawyer (P) beat Bevins-Hebert (Paia) 6-3, 6-2. Thomson-Sawyer (P) beat Bowdish-Collins (Paia) 6-1, 6-4. Lindsay-Collins (Paia) beat Baldwin-Walsh (P) 6-2, 6-4. Rosecrans-Richardson (Paia) beat Baldwin-Walsh (P) 6-2, 6-1. Young-Campbell (P) and Mellor-Burns (Paia), one set each—6-5, 3-6. Bevins-Hebert (Paia) beat Young-Campbell (P) 6-3, 6-4. Mellor-Burns (Paia) beat Taylor-Lougher (P) 6-0, 6-5. Taylor-Lougher (P) beat Bowdish-Collins (Paia) 6-5, 6-1. Lindsay-Collins (Paia) beat Savage-McClaren (P) 6-2, 6-1. Savage-McClaren (P) beat Rosecrans-Richardson (Paia) 6-5, 6-5.

Another match may be played some time in the near future.

Many New Year Dances

There were several dances during the holidays, and both at Wailuku and Kahului the lovers of the light fantastic had a good time.

On New Year's Eve the dance given in the Kahului Gymnasium, was a great event. The big crowd that attended had a good floor, good music and good refreshments. The dance was kept up till the small hours of January 1.

Host Field, of the Maui Hotel, gave an enjoyable private dance on New Year night. Those fortunate enough to be present had a good time.

There were many private "hops" in Wailuku, and the strains of music were to be heard everywhere. Good cheer was in evidence all over the town and the old year was seen "out" to the best of advantage.

Many Masons Attend Church

There was a solemn and impressive service at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Wailuku, last Sunday morning. The Masons attended in a body and there was a good attendance besides.

The Masons met at the Wailuku depot, and then forming into marching order, proceeded to the church.

After service the Masons again fell into fours and marched back to the depot where automobiles were waiting to convey them to their homes.

HONOLULU HAD GAY TIME RIGHT THROUGH HOLIDAYS

Concerts, Dances And Horse Races Kept Citizens Busy--- Rumored Changes In Departments--L. L. McCandless Got Big Wad Of Money For Water.

(Special Correspondence.)

HONOLULU, Jan. 2.—Following in the course of my remarks about water last week it is meet for me to remark that Link McCandless on Monday received the sum of one hundred and seven thousand dollars in part payment for his interest in the hui of Waikane. I understand there is a balance of one hundred and forty three thousand still to come to him. But even this sum does not seem to change his political heart and through his henchman, Barron, he is throwing the hooks into Fire Chief Thurston with some hope of getting him removed from office.

This reminds me of an incident I heard repeated this morning. It seems that Thurston during several conversations with the mayor asked to be retained in his office as the head of the fire department. The mayor made no promise. Whether that set Charlie guessing, or whether the talk that came from the street disturbed him, I know not but the other day there was a petition presented the mayor requesting that Thurston be continued in office. It was, I believe, signed by all of the merchants in the city. Yesterday I learned that Thurston called on the mayor and presented a written application for the office and Fern received it and said he would have time later to consider the matter. Within an hour from the time of that meeting with Thurston the mayor is reported to have said that he had told Thurston frankly that he would not appoint him and that he had thrown the petition signed by the leading merchants of the city into the waste basket. This is proven incorrect—Fern was talking for effect. Personally I do not believe he would dare do anything of the kind and if he did so it seems to me that it is up to the merchants to show their opinion of Fern by sending another petition asking him to get out of office and allow someone with greater respect for his superiors to take his place. Hearing Barron offer to bet one hundred to seventy five dollars that Thurston would go out constrains me to believe there will be a racket and the public will have an opportunity to let the mayor see just what they think of him.

CONCERTS.

Honolulu has been treated to a couple of concerts by the famous violinist Maud Powell. Those who enjoy the fiddle say the music was enjoyable and their opinion seems to be shared by many for when I passed the opera house shortly after seven o'clock Monday night there was a queue long enough to turn the managers of other shows in the city green with envy. I suppose Bob McGreer would have turned green but for the fact that he has a company at the Bijou, the Brissac

McBryde Will Go To Coast

McBryde, or Tripp, as he is known in the Army, will go to the mainland with his Company. The youth who deserted from the Fifth Cavalry, and made his home in Wailuku, was returned to the military authorities some time ago. As the Fifth Cavalry is returning to the Coast, McBryde will go along too.

It is said that the youth held several positions on Hawaii before coming to Maui. He worked in Hilo and in the Kohala districts.

Sheriff Crowell went down to Honolulu during the week and gave evidence as to the arrest of the deserter.

Banks Have Good Year

Both the First National Bank of Wailuku, and the Lahaina National Bank have issued statements of their financial condition as on December 31, 1912. The showings of the banks are very good, and the stockholders have every reason to congratulate themselves on having such excellent managers in charge of affairs.

The Wailuku institution sent out a New Year's souvenir to all its customers and friends. A neat purse, a card and a paper-cutter, were the articles presented. The gifts are very acceptable ones.

New Books For Library

The following interesting books have just been added to the Maui Library Association:

A famous book by Professor Walter Rauschenbusch, entitled "Christianity and the Social Crisis," a book of most attractive short stories by Laura E. Richards "The Golden Windows," "The Daughter of Heaven" by Judith Gautier and Pierre Loti; "A Psychological Study of Religion," by James H. Leuba; "Sociological Study of the Bible," by Louis Wallis. A number of these books were secured through sources other than the membership dues, which this past year, have been spent largely for new fiction.

The Hamakuaapoko, Makawao, Paia and Lahaina circles have been made up, and the books begin in this circles these week.

K. of P. And New Officers

Aloha Lodge No. 3, Knights of Pythias, has installed officers for 1913. The list is as follows:

W. A. Sparks, Chancellor Commander; J. T. Fantom, Vice Chancellor; E. J. Walsh, Prelate; C. Hansen, Master of Work; D. L. Meyer, Master of Finance; H. Streuback, Master of Exchequer; S. Scott, Master at Arms.

Trustees—D. H. Case, G. A. Hansen and L. M. Baldwin.

Doctors—W. F. McConkey and Wm. Osburn.

The Aloha Lodge is a very strong one and there is a big membership list.

Sugar and Coffee Tariff.

THE Los Angeles Times hits the nail on the head in the following editorial:

When the duty on coffee of 3 cents per pound was taken off and coffee placed on the Free List, Brazil immediately levied an export duty on coffee, and the only effect of this Tariff reduction was to reduce Uncle Sam's yearly revenue about $12,000,000, while the people paid the same price for coffee and still pay it.

We imported from Brazil in 1911, 651,148,172 pounds of coffee for which, owing to government manipulation at Rio Janeiro, we paid 15 3/8 cents per pound as against 11 cents in 1910 and 6 3/8 in 1908. The activities of the Brazilian government in adjusting exportation of coffee to the demand and to production are such that it is not probable that placing a duty on coffee would affect prices here or would be of much service in stimulating production in Hawaii and Porto Rico, where coffee can be grown to advantage. A bounty on coffee for a period of a few years might induce such additional planting in our insular possessions as would in time render us independent of foreign production of coffee. It is the opinion of expert coffee growers that the climate of the Imperial Valley is such that coffee might be grown there.

The removal of the duties on sugar here would probably result in Germany and Russia withdrawing the bounties they now pay on beet sugar exported from those countries. Our farmers would then discontinue growing sugar beets. The United States would lose its present revenues from duties on sugar. The people would not get sugar any cheaper. The Louisiana sugar planters would lose, and the only beneficiaries of free sugar would be Germany, Russia and the American Sugar Refineries Company.

The more the intricacies of a readjustment of the Tariff are studied the more apparent it becomes that such adjustment ought to be made on a scientific and not a haphazard basis.

Horse Racing.

IT seems as if a revival of horse racing in Hawaii is in full swing. That is good, as long as all crooked work is kept out. It was crook racing that killed the "sport of Kings" in Honolulu years ago. Horse racing, when conducted properly is the best sport in the world. What red-blooded man can resist the call of the fluttering silk and the thundering hoofs, as the "field" straightens out for the home stretch? Then the rush for the wire, and a whirlwind finish. That is the sport that sets the blood coursing through the veins of the spectators.

But the sport must be controlled with an iron hand. Stewards and other officials who fear nothing, should be in charge. The Jockey Club should give these officials unlimited power, and once a "crook" is caught, he and his horses should be "warned off" for life.

There is no reason in the world why horse racing should not flourish here. We have the moneyed men who can, if they wish, race for the sport of the game. We have smaller men who can keep a few good horses, and race for what there is in the game. The totalisator should be introduced and, in that way, the bookmaker can never get in and spoil everything by his crooked dealings.

Reappoint Thurston.

IF there is one man in office at the present moment, who should be retained, irrespective of his political faith, it is Fire Chief Thurston. The chief has been a success from the minute he joined the service up till the present time. That he will, if given the opportunity, continue on his clean hardworking way, is certain.

Chief Thurston knows his work and he has always had the confidence of the public. That much cannot be said for some of the men who seek the job.

Thurston has helped his men in every way. He erected cottages—when nobody else would—in the vicinity of the fire station. He contented himself with less rent than any other owner would. The men are glad to be near their station and yet men of the "Soap Box" variety have the gall to twist things around and try and make people think that the fire chief forces his men to rent the cottages. Leave Thurston where he is and be safe from fire.

Honolulu and all Hawaii will soon be further linked up with the outside world. The plans of the United Wireless Company to construct a new wireless station, have advanced so far that bids are being called for the erection of the plant. With the cable and federal wireless service already in the field, the new wireless concern will still further link up Hawaii with the United States and the Orient.

The day of romance has not yet passed and hunts for hidden treasure are still carried on. At least one treasure trove has been unearthed on Maui, and the story of the discovery at Makawao will be read with interest. The Makawao correspondent of the MAUI NEWS had a story sometime ago on the subject. The sequel is deeply interesting.

Auto Notes.

A Cadillac car, 1913 model, was completely victorious recently in a unique contest at Riverside, Cal., a coasting event in which 32 cars, representing 21 different makes, were entered and which was watched by 7,000 people. The cars were sent down a grade with power shut off, gravity supplying the energy. Besides providing Riverside and attractive holiday and considerable excitement, the contest had its value from the standpoint of motor car demonstration and comparison because, all other things being equal, lack of friction is the factor that enables a car to win such a contest, or, in other words, to "roll" the farthest.

The victorious Cadillac captured two prizes, winning the Grand Prize, or A. N. Sweet cup, for coasting the greatest distance, irrespective of class, and also the "Bull Moose" cup, or first prize in its class. Thus it was victorious over all cars regardless of weight, some cars being heavier and some lighter, the weights ranging from 1700 to 4400 pounds.

"The third annual convention of the Cadillac motor car dealers, which closed Friday, December 13th, was the most successful we have ever held," said Sales Manager E. C. Howard at the close of the session. "A large proportion of our dealers were here and expressed themselves as more than satisfied with the benefits derived. Many interesting and instructive addresses were delivered bearing upon various phases of the retail motor car business. The value of service to the motor car user was the subject of emphasis all along the line because with the approach of perfection in manufacture the motorist is more and more appreciative of close personal attention tendered him after he has purchased his car. When he buys an automobile that dominates its class he takes for granted a high standard of quality and efficiency. The Cadillac dealers in their gathering laid stress on the point that in addition to what he expects he must be given just as high a grade of active, co-operative service while the car is in use.

There were over 200 dealers at the Cadillac convention. It has been figured out that the average distance traveled by these dealers was 500 miles apiece, or a total of 100,000 miles. This is equal to four times around the globe.

"With regard to our business in motor cars,—that is the carriages in distinction from trucks,—our sales for this time of year are today the greatest in our history, at this season. We have upwards of 500 unfilled orders to customers on the books of the company. That does not mean to dealers, but sold directly to users."

"The general business of the country, according to all information that comes to me, was never better: never apparently in a more sound condition, nor ever before of a greater volume."

"This condition prevailing today, with a certainty of coming democratic administration, is, I state, peculiar and absolutely not in accord with similar records in the past."

Fine Rains Have Fallen

Good rains have fallen right along the coast of Maui. Hana reports a fine fall, and the other stations from that place into Wailuku, also report rain.

Wailuku had a good soaking during the week, and the rain has been pretty general.

The roads generally are in good shape—that is where they are macadamized. Some of the "dirt" roads up country have not been improved by the rains.

Town Looks Much Brighter

There is a much brighter look around the corner of Main and Market streets of an evening now. The well lighted Maui Theatre brightens up one corner and a little higher up, the Island Electric Company has a show room lighted up in a way that does credit to the town.

Manager Bond, of the Electric Company, is displaying a fine assortment of electric appliances and the effect is dazzling. The company is stocking all sorts of electric cooking apparatus and there is a growing demand for the articles.

The "Silent Servant" is a wonderful automatic stove that takes care of a dinner and sees that it is delivered on the tick of time. The display is well worth a visit.

Honolulu Had Gay Time.

players, that excel any performers seen here in many years. In "The Third Degree" the company excelled and proved by its easy balance the ability required to handle such a production. This week "The Blue Mouse" is the attraction and should draw from all classes for it has sufficient French suggestion of naughtiness to give zest to the appetite for the earthy. Just now the town is singularly blest with attractions.

PICTURES.

Good old P. C. Jones, from the land of prudes, actually voiced his displeasure at a reprinted cut of a negro boxer in the Advertiser the other day. P. Cushman is a dear old soul but so imbued with the ideas that infested Salem a hundred or more years ago that he should get away from wicked Honolulu, where the tastes of the people are crude and vulgar. I expect to hear of his following the step of the Bostonese of a quarter century ago when they demanded the removal of statuary from the parks and museums. I think someone had garments made to cover them.

FEBRUARY 22.

Great preparations are being made for the celebration that is to take place February 22. From Kona will come the big canoes that are said to be similar to those used as war canoes in the days of Kamehameha. They are to be in the water pageant depicting the arrival of the great chief from Kona. There will be ten Hawaiians as chiefs and body guard to Kamehameha and each will be over six feet tall. There will be races of every description at the beach and in the harbor, the A. A. U., I believe have decided to set their meet forward for this occasion. There will be girls races for twenty five and fifty yards and a hundred yards if there can be secured the necessary number of competitors. The name of Miss Walker of Kona is mentioned here as the young lady who can win from Miss Stacker over the short course and by that I mean fifty yards or twenty five. The records made that day would be official and would be established as of the islands so the races would be worth while.

The dividends on Oahu stock have been cut to fifteen cents a share, and the stock is beginning to show the effect of it. Holders of it at par will receive nine per cent; those who paid at high water price are losers. Nine per cent would be considered easy money by persons living any where but in the shadow of Carnegie steel works or the cane fields of this territory. How long it will continue at nine is not thought out. If the tariff is interfered with to any great extent there will no doubt be another and more substantial drop. In the meantime we are just sawing wood, but not much.

"CLOSE"

It Robert W. Cathcart secures the position of collector of Internal Revenue for this district the United States will have in its service a man who will save, and save by every means known to the prince of economists. But Robert will not get it, I trow, for that very reason. The government, nor the people, will not bother with a man so close that he would be his own hair cutter if the thing were possible. I remember the time the fleet came here and the sailors took the wrong road for Waikiki. There was a request made for a sign at the turn of the road out King street. It was left to Cathcart and the result was the top from a cracker box with letters so small that they can scarcely be seen. It was his idea of economy. But of course he has his good streaks and his ideas sometime lead to saving to the public. I believe he revolutionized the matter of purchase of coal so that the County gets long tons when long tons are charged and full measurement in the lumber transactions.

CHANGES.

In the turnover of the county to the democrats I understand Caldwell, the road supervisor, will be one of the first to go but for what reason is not made clear. Perhaps Barron has some heeler for the place. And that reminds me that I am doing for Barron just what I object to the newspapers doing: Keeping him forever in the limelight. If it were not for the publicity given him by the Advertiser he would still be content peddling enlargements of photographs with frames marked down to $1.38. He has been so frequently quoted that he has swollen to an enormous size and I doubt not that some of the Hawaiians believe he is the whole party. His connection with Link's candidacy probably aided in his defeat for the man of affairs in Honolulu does not wish to be represented by anyone whose advisor never got above the position of street peddler.

FINE CARNIVAL.

The street carnival last night was one of the most enjoyable affairs ever given here under the same conditions. Bishop street was a scene ever to be remembered and the dancers kept things going to music by a regimental and the Hawaiian band until long after 1913 was ushered in with horns, whistles and bells. Electric lights faced the Young building, the park was lighted by electricity in special designs and the trees on the side of the street were a mass of fancy electric bulbs. It may become an annual affair, this "Mayor's Dance" and will be patronized more and more as time passes. People of all classes took part last night. Confetti and horns in the hands of young and old kept the people on the jump.

PERSONALS.

Carl S. Sarlsmith was brought to Honolulu on the Honolulu yesterday suffering from an ailment not too clear to the persons who surrounded him on the steamer and saw that he reached the hospital safely. Yesterday morning his condition was such that no one was allowed to see him; just now I learn he had an attack of tonsillitis with complications. R. R. Elgin, who died on Monday was known widely on the islands. He came here about the time annexation and for a time was general ticket agent for the Hilo Railway. Lately he has been agent for the Hawaii Railway, a position which he resigned to take a trip around the world.

Lahaina News.

New Year's Day was celebrated in a spirited manner, according to the usual programme. The Pioneer whistle, the church bells, and gun firing made things lively at midnight. Much powder was burned, and serenaders sang appropriate carols. New Year's calls were in order, and gifts galore were exchanged.

Senator Alfred N. Hayselden and family were in town on Tuesday, and received a warm welcome from their many friends.

It is understood that plans are being considered for a new building for Lahaina store.

PRACTICAL RELIGION.

The Rev. Madison C. Peters may run grocery stores to hit the high cost of keeping alive, but the Rev. Isaac Herland goes more to the point. He has a restaurant at No. 5 North Moore street, just off West Broadway, and there a hungry fellow can get enough food to give him indigestion for less than a quarter.

GLARE ON WOOLWORTH GLASS.

For an hour or so after noon, when the sun hits the Woolworth building, crowds going up Broadway can't look dead ahead without blinking their eyes, so strong is the reflection of the little old earth's heating plant.

A SIGHT AT DAWN.

The big town's biggest building looks tall all right in daytime, but if you want to see it at its best go down to Park row and get a glimpse of it at dawn. It looks like the tallest thing that ever happened, and in the half light the tower resembles the old classic structures of Rome and Athens as they appear in an artistic mist.

SUBWAY STRATEGY.

A bunch of girls who work in Wall Street got tired of being strap hangers in the Subway, so they used their fluffy heads and found a way to get seats for the ride to Harlem. They walk down to Bowling Green, where usually, even in the evening rush hour, there are enough places for them. But now they are angry with one another because several of them told other friends about the scheme, and when they march down to the Battery at night they find a big group of stenographers not in their secret circle using this way of avoiding being jostled about on the way home. So many girls employed in the financial district try the trick now that there aren't enough seats to go around.

FEMALE LONGEVITY.

Women are living longer than they did twenty-five years ago, but the doctors aren't agreed on the reason. Though all admit it isn't due to the spread of the suffrage movement, they are widely divided in their opinions about it. Statistics compiled in England show that the expectation of life of a woman of 50 is a year greater than it was in 1875, while that of a man is only a few months greater. One school of doctors, who believe that death is due entirely to a wearing out of brain tissue, says the greater longevity of women is due to the fact that they don't use their brains as much as men. On the other side of the scientific fence is a group of doctors who insist woman lives longer now because she is more sheltered than man, doesn't have to face the wearing competition of business that he has to endure and that she spends most of her time at home, which is more airy and healthful than the offices where men work.

ABOUT DULUTH.

Duluth is the queerest city in America. Some one has described it as twenty miles long, a mile wide and half a mile high. That is not a bad description. The hills come down almost to the shores of Lake Superior, the great unsalted sea. The Zenith City, made famous by Proctor Knott's speech, stretches on the hillside for twenty miles. It is the greatest out-door town in the world. You can catch trout and shoot bear, mouse and deer within the limits of the city. One fall recently after a forest fire thirty black bears were killed within the city limits. The girls and boys enjoy themselves in winter by traveling about on skis. They go ten or fifteen miles into the country and then ski back. Winter campfire parties are as common as bridge parties are in the East.

HIGGEST EVERYTHING.

Duluth is boastful. It has the biggest elevators, the biggest shipping, the biggest boat club and the second biggest wholesale house in America. Its business is immense.

This season it has handled 50,000,000 tons of ore and 100,000,000 bushels of grain. Its harbor is a wonder. There is a natural breakwater that is like a darning needle, for it is seven miles long and only a few hundred yards wide. It is made of the sand and salt brought down and piled up by the waters of the St. Louis River. Within this breakwater the shipping is done.

BASEBALL NOT A HIT.

Most of the population is made up of Scandinavians and Canucks. For a city of 85,000 it takes less interest in baseball than any community of its size within the Republic. It is hard to interest the flaxen-haired people in curves, sacrifice hits and the art of bunting. They are great, however, on wrestling. Duluth's boat club makes a specialty of canoeing. It has 1,500 members, and, as most of the members are heads of families and membership includes the whole tribe, the club has perhaps 5,000 active supporters. What skiing is in winter canoeing and motorboat racing are in summer.

A SENTENCE WITHOUT MERCY.

Said the stern, the merciless judge, said he: "By the verdict of the jury your life is forfeit. I sentence you to ride on the New Haven till!"

"Mercy! Mercy!!!" shrieked the condemned wretch.

MEDICINE FOR BLACKMAILERS.

A cheap lot of blackmailing crooks seems to be annoying President-elect Wilson and Vincent Astor with maudlin and threatening letters. A long black-snake whip to begin with and a big square-toed heavy boot at the end seem to be about the size for the leather-headed letter-writing louts.

ST. PAUL, CITY OF CAVES.

St. Paul, Minn., like Scranton, Pa., is a city of caves and tunnels. A large part of the business section of St. Paul is built on rock—limestone—and below that white sandstone. The sandstone is soft, and hundreds of caves and tunnels have been dug. Running back from the cliffs above the Mississippi are scores of caves, some of them several blocks long, in which mushrooms are grown. The mushroom industry is very large. St. Paul is one of the largest primary mushroom markets in America.

JAMES J. HILL'S LIBRARY GIFT.

James J. Hill has given $250,000 as his contribution to the new St. Paul Public Library, which is to be erected in Rice Park, opposite the Federal building, next year. Mr. Hill has specified that this quarter million be devoted entirely to the reference department. The city is to erect the main building. The present St. Paul Library is a monument to the sagacity of some far-sighted citizens who years ago erected a public library which paid for itself in the first two years, and ever since then has been producing a substantial revenue for the library fund. The site is one of the most prominent down-town business corners now, and the building has stores on the first floor which, without interfering with the work of the library, have produced a large revenue.

SCHOOLS FOR WIVES.

In seven of the school buildings of St. Paul there are schools for wives. These classes are under the direction of a remarkable body known as the St. Paul Institute, an organization of citizens to provide intellectual and cultural advantages for everybody, whether beyond the school age or not. Most of the pupils hurry through their housework in order to get to school on time and not miss their lessons. They receive instruction in millinery and dressmaking, cooking and various trades in which women take part. There are classes, too, in hygiene and physical culture. These school buildings really are social centres, for in addition to the instruction the institute provides many entertainments there, such as musicals, festivals, dramatic readings, motion picture shows and travel lectures.
