WILL FORCE THROUGH REFORM

CUPID TO DEFER HIS TRIP TO WASHINGTON

Prince Cupid announced this morning that, contrary to reports that he had intended calling on the Sierra for the coast Saturday, he had decided to remain at home for at least two or three weeks and would not leave Honolulu until just in time to reach Washington Dec. 9. The delegate declined to discuss his plans for the coming session of Congress beyond saying that he expects to be very busy.

LINK WOULD CUT DOWN PAY ROLL

Leaders Name Steering Committee on Coming Legislation

PLAN TO WORK WITH GOVERNOR FEAR

Harmony in the Ranks of Law-makers Is Chief Aim of Party Now

The Republican party in Hawaii is not dead. Its loss to the contrary notwithstanding, it is very much alive, and yesterday afternoon the executive committee of the central committee met at the headquarters of the First Street, and appointed a steering committee which will work in conjunction and harmony with Governor Frear, push through the many vital reforms in the coming legislature. Goals of this contemplated changes are the direct result of the investigation conducted by Senator Fisher, and others and the original of the year by the attorney general among the leaders of the U. S. A.

Just a week after the election, and before the local Democracy had wound up the financial tangles of the recent campaign, Link McCandless began carrying his plans for the control of the local board of supervisors. Instigation of his scheme came to light when he declared that he would favor a great reduction of the salary roll of the various city departments, a reduction that would, he insists, save the city $15,000 on her tax roll within coming two years of Democratic administration.

In this connection the Democratic candidates for delegates to Congress is reported to have scored the fire department as unnecessarily expensive, by pointing out what he claims to be the fact of the difference between the insurance rates in Honolulu and those in existence in Walkers, the local town being 100 per cent. per annum higher than those of the Main City.

Link is also quoted as declaring that there is a vast amount of unnecessary application of work in the various departments of the city, notably in those of the Auditor and the Collector, where it is asserted that two thousand sets of books are kept where but one is needed. Instances of this kind, he declares, are to be found in practically all the city departments, and he proposes to force the incoming board of supervisors to begin work with a big bang as soon as it assumes office.

A meeting of the Democratic candidates was called yesterday afternoon and the bills for the work done during the campaign presented. Most of the accounts, it was found, had already been settled, and the few outstanding were provided for, the total amount being divided between leaders of the party pro rata.

DEPARTMENT AGAIN SELECTED FOR IMPORTANT ARMY TESTS

War Strength Machine Gun Company Organized at Schofield Barracks to Develop New Ideas Which May Have Important Bearing on Whole Theory of Infantry Combat—Lieutenant F. P. Jackson President of Problem Board

Again the Department of Hawaii is to play a leading role in the improvement of military science. Schofield Barracks has been selected as the place for the development of a new type of machine gun fire, and within the next few days some extremely interesting problems will be worked out, the results of which will undoubtedly have great effect on the whole theory and practice of infantry combat.

The machine gun platoons of the First and Second Infantry, and the Fifth Cavalry, are to be combined in one war strength machine gun company, and problems of attack and defense will be solved with full ammunition. Only once before in the history of our army has such an organization been formed, and so startling interesting were the results that it was determined to continue the experiment at the place best suited to the line of investigation. At Schofield Barracks are three organizations with machine gun platoons, and it is therefore possible to combine them at a minimum of expense. There is plenty of government ground available for the maneuvers, which is an important consideration seeing that a deadly ball of lead will actually be thrown during the progress of the problems. Therefore, out of the entire army, the Oahu organizations have been picked to work out the new ideas of machine gun effectiveness.

First Lieutenant Franklin J. Jackson, Second Infantry, is president of a board of three officers now engaged in planning the problems, and he will be in direct charge of their execution. The other members of the board are Lieutenant Groninger and Lieutenant Key, who commanded the machine gun platoons of the Fifth Cavalry and First Infantry respectively. The selection of so young an officer to direct this important work is due to the fact that Lieutenant Jackson is a machine gun expert, and that there are few officers of any army more thoroughly familiar with the theory and practice of machine gun fire.

The idea of a war strength machine gun company is comparatively new, and the only one that has been organized before was commanded by Captain John Henry Parker, infantry, at School of Musketry at Monterey a little over a year ago. "Machine Gun" Parker, as he is known through

Mother and Daughter of Passengers Suffer from Effects of Bad Food, They Declare

Adding to the charges of insanitary conditions and neglect at the Federal quarantine station during the stay of Maluku passengers there last week two more of the passengers have given signed statements to the authorities in which they declare that the mother will be carried to the hospital immediately.

Mrs. Walker and her daughter, Anna Walker Sweet of Pasadena, Cal., today stated that the hardships they had to undergo on Quarantine Island had been a severe strain on their health.

"We were taking an ocean voyage on the advice of our physician," they said this morning, "and because of the increased conditions of the quarantine station here, we have suffered seriously."

Mrs. Walker, an aged lady, says she was prostrated after having been forced to walk in the hot sun from Quarantine station to the station. Her daughter made personal complaint to the Federal quarantine officials that the food given them was unpalatable.

The foregoing statement was given to the Star-Bulletin today:

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin,

Sir: As among the first class passengers who were detained at the quarantine station at Honolulu, my mother, Mrs. Walker, and myself wish to endorse what has already been said in your column over the signature of our fellow passengers—and also add our personal protest.

Subsequent events prove that the detention for longer than 45 hours was an injustice for which both the shipping company and the quarantine officials were responsible.

Let me make myself quite plain in

TERRITORIAL EXECUTIVE WOULD CUT OUT PARTISAN POLITICS

That partisan politics should be eliminated from city and county affairs, and that the incumbents of municipal offices should be selected on individual merit rather than because of their party affiliation, is the opinion to which Governor Frear has given voice.

He is making a study of the direct primary system, and while he has not delved sufficiently into the subject to say it is likely that in his message to the legislature next February he will urge the establishment of the new feature. Whether it will be advisable as a system for the entire Territory, he does not attempt to say, but he is inclined to think it should be given a trial, by applying the primary to the city and county of Honolulu as an experiment, and if it proves satisfactory here, be taken up at some later time by the Territory.

It is probable that in his message the Executive will advise the adoption of such laws as will bring the direct primary to Honolulu at the same time that the commission form of municipal government, which he will recommend, would go into effect. Included in this subject, he says he likely will advise a change in the fiscal year of the city and county, which at present corresponds with the calendar year, but conflicts with the Territory's calendar year, which begins in July.

With all these changes, he has in mind the simplifying of the city's government, fixing power and responsibility more definitely, abolishing unnecessary offices and creating more uniformity and co-ordination between the city and Territorial governments.

As yet he has been unable to give much time to the study of the commission form, most of the time he has had for considering legislative matters being given to a review of data collected on the mainland concerning the public utilities commission and the working men's compensation laws on both of which, as previously stated, he will make recommendations to the legislature.

Discussing the direct primary today, the Governor said he has copies of most of the statutes providing this feature in the various states and communities. So far virtually all have proved satisfactory, though he particularly admires the one in vogue at Berkeley, California. He believes the California preferential primary is quite good despite the fact that its strict enforcement by the courts in the heat of the recent campaign proved the rock upon which the California Taft party's hopes were shattered.

So far most of Governor Frear's work on legislative subjects has been of a preliminary nature, and he will not settle down to the actual writing of his message until late in January or early in February. The legislature convenes the third Wednesday in February.

DREAD OF GENERAL WAR IN EUROPE DIES AWAY

Sublime Porte Reported To Be Ready To Open Negotiations Direct With the Balkan Allies

(Special Star-Bulletin Cable)
PARIS, France, Nov. 13.—The Powers have agreed to present the boy's proposal for mediation, requesting the Allies to formulate terms which they will agree to peace. This in the first case may result in the Powers to stop the war, but it is taken as indicating that the Allies will allow some latitude in their demands for indemnities which would be declared.

(Associated Press Cable)

LONDON, England, November 13.—The British Foreign Office informed today that the dread of a general European war, following upon any break in the Balkan States, is fast dying away under the circumstances. It was announced that the emissaries of the various Powers are in a state of great alarm to avert trouble than they have been for many days, and that Russia has been appealed upon to use her influence with Turkey to adopt a more reasonable attitude toward the demands made by Austria.

Traitors In Turkish Army

(Special Star-Bulletin Cable)

BERLIN, Germany, Nov. 13.—According to discontinued reports the war front, today, there is rare truce in the war, and the Turkish army and the upper classes of officials in Constantinople. It was declared today that the monarch required to the government with sand instead of ammonium that the modern rifles are for the most part dead. The soldiers report the infantry and corps are said to be as dead and as quiet as they are not fit for use.

(Associated Press Cable)
TURKEY, November 13.—Allied Powers agents of Russia today announced that it is believed the war had ended and night the position of the Russian forces in Constantinople was declared to be hopeless and the Sultan Pasha upon to meet the allies directly instead of sending his agents through the intervention of the Powers. There are now no negotiations with the Balkan Allies at issue.

Call Asquith Traitor

(Special Star-Bulletin Cable)

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 13.—Amid scenes of wildest fury ever seen in the lower house of parliament, Speaker Lansbury, in a speech to-day, he decided in favor of Prime Minister Asquith, who had been defeated. The Unionists made a valiant effort to keep the cabinet in office, but were beaten, and the members screaming out that Asquith was a traitor, and Asquith the minister in the most scathing terms.

Would Refuse Johnson Bail

(Associated Press Cable)

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 13.—President Wilson, however, filed his brief in the case of the pugilist Jack Johnson, held in Chicago on several "white slaver" charges. Mr. Lammot duPont, the lawyer in the case, said Johnson, who is not indicted, believes it would be "impossible to admit Johnson to bail." The Black Eagle will therefore probably have to remain in jail indefinitely.

Fifteen Die In Wreck

INDIANAPOLIS, Indiana, November 13.—Fifteen men, women, and children were killed near here this morning when a greased freight train slipped through an open switch and struck a freight train which was standing on a siding. Information of the disaster reached neighboring towns and medical and other assistance was at once turned to the scene, but too late to save the lives of many of the injured.

JUDGE ROBINSON'S TRIP TO COAST SAVES HIM HIS SIGHT

Saved by his three months' vacation from a blindness that was creeping insidiously upon him and from which he would have suffered for at least two years and completely incapacitated him for work, Circuit Judge William J. Robinson arrived in Honolulu on the transport Sherman, and today disclosed to his astonished friends the narrow escape the vacation had given him.

For several months before he left the bench last summer the jurist had been troubled by his dim eyesight. He was inclined to attribute the fault to weakening eyes and too much night reading. But when he reached San Francisco, on the first leg of a vacation trip that was to take him on a long hunt through the Rocky Mountains and up into Yellowstone Park, he decided to have his eyes examined by an oculist.

The specialist informed him that cataracts were slowly forming over both eyes, and that in a few months more they would be so far advanced

OFFICER FOR HAWAII

Army headquarters in the Young Hotel hummed this morning with the usual bustle and press of official business that accompanies the stay of a transport. Several officers who are either returning from leave, or who are coming for station here, put their names on the officers' register, and there were also a number of army men passing through to Manilla who paid an official call on General Macomb.

A well known officer who paid his respects to the department commander is Colonel Henry P. McCain, of the adjutant general's department, who is on his way to Manilla to fill the post of adjutant general of the Philippines Division. Colonel McCain was acting adjutant general of the army following the resignation of Major General Ainsworth.

Officer of G. S. Here.

Major Arthur S. Conklin, general staff, who will be stationed at department headquarters, reported for duty this morning. The detailing of a general staff officer is another instance of the growing military importance of Hawaii. Although departments are not allowed chiefs of staff, Major Conklin, who will be to all intents and purposes chief of staff of this department, His official title, however, is assistant to the chief of staff of the Western Division. There has been no general staff officer here since Captain C. C. Carter was forced back into the line by the famous "Manchu" order, more than six months ago.

Major Conklin belongs to the coast artillery. He won his majority July 7 of last year. He graduated from West Point in 1893, and first entered the infantry, transferring to the Seventh Artillery in the year of the Spanish war. Major Conklin is a New Yorker by birth and is a son-in-law of General McCaskey. He brings his family with him to Honolulu and has taken up quarters at the Pleasanton Sherman Gates at 6.

The transport is scheduled to sail at 5 this evening. For Honolulu the Sherman brought 32 first cabin, 9 second cabin and 60 steerage passengers. One first, 53 second and 54 steerage are bound for Guam, while for Manilla the figures are 38, 36 and 37.

MONSARRAT BACK ON POLICE BENCH

Five weeks' vacation spent on the mainland ended Sunday with Judge Monsarrat, who, returning as a passenger in the United States army transport Sherman last evening was ready for business in the administration of justice at the district court this morning.

A small calendar consisting of ten days occupied the attention of the court.

Judge Monsarrat spent the greater portion of the time while away from the islands on the coast and in San Francisco. He finds himself much improved in health.

that nothing could be done for two years, or until they had fully developed and could be cut out. During this interval he would become completely blind.

But the discovery had been made in time. Work on the affected orbs was started at once. The hunting trip was given up, and Judge Robinson spent his entire vacation in or near the Golden Gate city, within easy reach of the specialists who were treating him. The trouble is not yet entirely eliminated, but his recovery has advanced to a point where it is only a question of time and careful, continuous treatment to restore full strength to the eyes.

This trouble did not seriously interfere with his holiday, however, he asserts, and in proof he explains that he weighs eighteen pounds more than when he left home. He feels fit for hard work now and expects to plunge into it next Monday, when a new jury venire has been summoned to appear. He may dispose of a few probate matters the latter part of the present week.

T. J. Ryan, who made a hot-toe race for auditor, declines to follow the form of statement prepared for candidates. He is honest enough to insert ahead of nomination fee these items: Subscription to Democratic county committee, $11; subscriptions to Democratic precinct clubs, $2. The other items are personal expenses, $4; printing and advertising, $21, and public meetings, $6—the whole, including $2 nomination fee making $89.

John W. Cathcart, elected city and county attorney, put up $117.75 for his run, thus: Nomination fee, $25; personal expenses, $25; printing and advertising, $67.75.

David F. Notley for supervisor lost the race and stakes of $120, these being the items: Nomination fee, $25; personal expenses, $50; printing and advertising, $40; public meetings, $5.

Abraham Fernandez, who also ran for supervisor, spent: Nomination fee, $25; personal expenses, $11.50; printing and advertising, $15; total, $51.50.

John Markham, elected supervisor:

Nomination fee, $45; personal expenses, $40; printing and advertising, $19; public meetings, $10; total, $94.

H. H. Pflueger, defeated for supervisor, expended $16 in personal expenses and $12 in printing and advertising, making with nomination fee, $52.

Chas. G. Bartlett was good to the printer in his unsuccessful race for supervisor, his statement being: $25 for nomination fee, $40 for personal expenses and $197.75 for printing and advertising, a total of $352.75.

Joe B. Ende, who also ran for supervisor, expended $125, made up of nomination fee, $20 for personal expenses and $78 for printing and advertising.

Wm. H. McClellan, elected supervisor: Nomination fee, $25; personal expenses, $40; printing and advertising, $20.50; public meetings, $15; salaries of watchers, $5; total, $155.50.

WILL FORCE REFORM

Rawlins, of Honolulu. Chairman R. W. Shinnig will be an ex-officio member of the committee.

The main object of the steering committee, as its name indicates will be to draft bills embodying the reform ideas set forth in the platform adopted by the convention. As yet it is impossible to say what measures will be taken up first, but it is believed probable that a bill doing away with the present land board and providing for the creation of a land and water board will be the first on the list. The program laid down is probably the most progressive ever contemplated in the Territory.

To Work With Frear.

Much stress is being laid upon the intention of the committee members of consulting Governor Frear upon all measures it proposes to take up. It is understood that Mr. Frear is now at work upon a number of measures along practically identical lines as those which the committee intends following, and its members believe that they can make better progress by working in close harmony with the executive. The general plan to date, is to have the committee draft such bills as it sees fit, submit them to the Governor for his suggestions and criticism, and if deemed proper accept his ideas, or incorporate them in the measures.

While of course it is impossible to make any definite statement of the exact terms of the measure for creating a land and water board, it is undertaken that it will follow closely the lines laid down in the Republican platform adopted by the G. O. P. convention, and will provide for governmental supervision of all agreements concerning the conservation, distribution and sale of water for use on the public lands, by a board which will be appointed only by the advice and consent of the Senate. The measure will also contain provisions for amending the present land laws along the lines of the platform, which proposes that individuals and corporations be restricted in their control of government lands.

Either in this or in a similar measure, which the committee will propose in the plank in the platform calling for the construction of proper roads in the Territory from the sale of public lands.

Immigration Question.

Still another important legislation contemplated by the committee will be that incorporating the platform called late guarding of the funds for the carrying out of the present immigration laws of the Territory, and providing for stricter regulations governing the class of immigrants brought into the Territory.

One of the measures which the committee will present will be along the lines of one of the ideas advanced by Governor Frear in an interview given to the Star-Bulletin yesterday afternoon, in which the Governor declared himself in favor of an employer's liability law, as suggested by the Republican platform.

Still another piece of legislation proposed by the committee will be a law calling for compensation for property destroyed by the authorities in the course of such a campaign as that waged by the Board of Health in the mosquito fight, provided that the Supreme Court shall hold that the destruction was unauthorized by law, or the necessity of the case.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Men's League will be held in the office of J. M. Galt at the Hawaiian Trust Company at four o'clock this afternoon.

OF JAPAN HERE TO WRITE BOOK

Kiyoshi K. Kawakami, one of Japan's most noted contemporary men of letters, is in Honolulu on an important mission of investigation. He is here in pursuit of material for a new book, "Japanese America" and conditions in Hawaii, particularly conditions of Japanese labor and social conditions, will play a large part in the book.

Mr. Kawakami is accompanied by his wife and their three children. He is married to an American girl. A pretty romance resulted in their wedding some years ago. Kawakami, a brilliant young author, fell in love with and wedded and won her.

Today Mr. Kawakami is at Mid-Pacific Institute. He will be in the islands for some months studying conditions here, and his book will constitute an unofficial report on the status of Japanese in Hawaii that will be widely accepted as conclusive on the subject.

ON TO "NEW BUSINESS"!

Republican party leaders are to be heartily commended on their early preparations for the next session of the legislature. The defeat of many sterling candidates for legislative office in this island has been disheartening, but it will not be disastrous if the party sets out determinedly along the lines of progress marked in its territorial platform.

Those good candidates who were defeated will not find their usefulness ended with election day. Their presence in party councils is needed more than ever; their work is needed; and their first course will be to help the party out through its promised legislation.

The Republican party has definitely committed itself to the passage of a direct primary law, and good faith demands the passage of the measure at the next session of the legislature. It is time too early now to begin the drafting of a direct primary bill. The defeat of the direct primary bill two years ago, as well as certain plans referred to as "administration measures", was because the legislature was incapable. The Bulletin has no sympathy with sneers at the capability of the last legislature; certainly House next year will be no improvement on House of 1911, and in some respects will be behind that body in intelligence, energy and ability of the leaders to handle technical matters of legislation. The direct primary bill was the House and was beaten in the senate only by powerful influences "downtown". It is far from an ideal bill; it was drawn largely by theory rather than actual experience and therefore those behind it were in no position make a determined fight in its defense when Senate began its series of assaults.

The Republican party has sustained a defeat at Oahu, and its best program for the next two years is to win the confidence of voters of all shades of belief by strict adherence to progressive measures. The formation of a steering committee, organized to see to the drafting of progressive legislation and to lead the party program for the next six months, is the right step to take. Furthermore, the party leaders announce that their program is to be framed in conjunction with Governor Frear, and that is a promise. There is no necessity of dwelling on the fact that the government and many of the party leaders are not close together. It is true. Indeed, the administration and the party at large are both likely to fail in carrying through progressive legislation. Hard work-united work, alone-will give the party a record in the next legislature which it can go before the voters of this territory two years from now for support.

Governor Frear has suggested a number of very important measures that he will recommend in his message to the legislature. It is doubtful, at this writing, if his suggestion of a commission form of government for Honolulu will meet with full approval among the leaders of the party. Opposition is bound to arise sincere opposition, too. But the differences of opinion should be straightened out before the legislative convenes. The Republican party must go into the next legislature with a program on which all can unite, and for which all can fight.

The steering committee must be, and, this paper believes, will be progressive and not reactionary. It must lead into the thickest of the battle for such progressive measures as the direct primary and public utilities commission bills. And the men who did not succeed in their candidacy this year will be valuable in lending support to those in the House and Senate.

Secretary Fisher's oft-quoted story is apt just now. The Republican party need not waste time in reading over the minutes of the meeting that ended gloomily on the night of November 5. It will go on to "new business" and the business in hand just now is that of getting ready to put progressive Republican measures through the next legislature.

COUNTRY CHURCH ADAPTABILITY

Side by side with the development of the school as a community center in many spots on the mainland is going the development of the church and its intention to grapple with the living problems of country life. Brought face to face with the problem of holding back the rush to the cities, the rural church has shown amazing capacity for making an appeal to communities on the other than distinctively religious grounds.

A recent number of The Playground, a publication devoted to recreation work, contains surprising facts concerning this "church extension" work, if it may be so called. The awakening of the rural church to grapple with the living problems of farm life is full of inspiration to those who dwell in cities as well as to those who live in the country. Many have thought of the playground and recreation problem as a city problem. Playgrounds and recreation centers in the open country are now an established fact. More than that, the rural minister is having a large part in the rural recreation movement.

Some of the stories of the evolution of semi-conscious rural churches into potent social centers read like romances. A rural church organizing baseball teams! The rural minister an athletic coach! The summer business meeting of one church held between dances at a barn dance! Card parties ending in hymn-singing and even in prayer meetings!

In many instances the rural minister renders his largest service by co-operating with others in making the rural school the recreation center where all without regard to creed unite, sharing in the common community comradeship.

WAR AVIATORS PROVE WORTH

The practical value of aviation in war-time has been given its first try-out under conditions of aerial battle in the field, and to judge by the enthusiastic comments of critics, the military aeroplane has proved a triumph.

The first opportunity for war aviators to show their skill and their usefulness has come in the Balkan imbroglio, and the airmen of Bulgaria have been the daring scouts that largely made possible the victory of Bulgaria over Turk. During the days when the Bulgarian army was driving the main Turkish army back to the line of fortifications around Adrianople, and finally into their supposedly impregnable stronghold, the air-scouts of the advancing army were circling high above the enemy's lines day and night. The result was that scarcely a movement of the Turkish troops escaped instant notice and hardly had an order for a sudden maneuver been given to the Turkish regiments than it was known to the Bulgarian staff and soon checked.

The Turks' endeavors to put the aeroplanes out of commission proved mostly fruitless, although one aviator who swooped too low over the Turkish camps was killed. In the main, however, the aviators were in little danger from gun-fire.

Bulgaria is far behind France, Germany, Austria, Italy or England in military aviation. If the Bulgarian birdmen are successful in scouting, there is no reason why the aeroplane has not conclusively demonstrated its value in war-time. Perhaps the showing made in this European war will stimulate Congress to support the United States army aviation corps a little more actively.

The San Francisco Examiner advertised that on election night it would announce whether Roosevelt or Wilson carried California by sending up a bomb of one color for Teddy or another for Wilson. They were still counting in California this morning and Roosevelt was 24 votes ahead, with several precincts missing. The Examiner is still waiting to send up that bomb.

Pearl Harbor is rapidly approaching the point where it is the city's biggest plant. With a payroll of $40,000 a month, with a permanent population of employees, the big naval undertaking has already become a great factor in a bigger Honolulu.

Charles A. Stanton is one of the liveliest boosters Honolulu can boast. He may be relied upon to say a good word for this city and territory wherever he goes, and when he comes back he is sure to be found in the center of some kind of activity.

Even with a commission form of government for Honolulu, as Governor Frear proposes, it is going to take some time to get those six Democratic supervisors out of office.

Some of the local Republicans feel almost as badly as if they had bet money against the Democrats. But of course it couldn't be that.

Greece has almost wiped out the sting of 1897, when the Greco-Turkish army collapsed before the Turkish onslaught.

LETTERS ON TIMELY TOPICS

THE MEASURE OF A PUBLIC OFFICIAL

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin,
Sir:—Having been requested to put some of my impressions in print, and knowing of no more expeditious method of reaching the intelligent public than through your columns, I respectfully crave a little space.

The position of superintendent of public works of Honolulu can only be honestly filled by a man who has the following qualifications: fully Practical experience in carrying out municipal direction in the manner necessary to produce results commensurate with the money of the people expended through this channel.

Familiarity with ideas of others who know the country, and really make it what it is; which such a man can only do by having resided here many years, and have learned the many differences between this and other parts of the United States.

Through knowledge of the various costs of material and labor required to make improvements and keep in repair and condition within limits of expense, all that his advice is called upon to guide and direct. And the moral fiber to resist political influence; financial gain (directly or otherwise); and the pure power of a master who can put his ability in front of himself, hiding egotism.

No one is more naturally schooled in discipline that will qualify a man with the ability necessary to fill the job than an architect who has had experience with workmen and construction.

As far as I have observed, no one has stuck to the upholding of Honolulu since it has been American more tenaciously and with more telling showing than Mr. H. L. Karr, whom it seems to be conceded is the leading man in that line here.

It is possible that he has been approached on the subject, and cares more for the glory and profit following his private successes, than for "slaving for the dear public".

Please, Mr. Editor, let those who are interested in the subject know more about it.

KAMAAINA.

Honolulu, Nov. 12, 1912.

WILSON AND THE PHILIPPINES

Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin,
Sir:—One of the opposition charges against Wilson in the late canvas on the mainland was that the Filipinos would be given complete autonomy or be left to themselves, in the event that he was elected and both houses became democratic. I find his views pretty clearly stated on this question in his book, "Constitutional Government in the United States," 1908. The following is a part of the chapter:

"Self-government is not a mere form of institution, to be had when desired, if only proper steps be taken. It is a form of character. It follows upon the long discipline which gives a people self-possession, self-mastery, the habit of order and peace and common counsel, and the stern law which will not fail when they themselves become the makers of law. The steadiness and self-control of political maturity. And these things cannot be had without long discipline."

"The distinction is a vital concern to us in respect of political choice of policy which we can make, and make very soon. We are dependent to deal with and must deal with them in the true spirit of our own institutions. We can give them a pure constitutional government. A government which they may count upon to be just, a government based upon some clear and equitable understanding, intended for their good and not for our aggrandizement; but we must ourselves for the present supply that government. It would, it is true, be an unprecedented operation, severing the process of Runnymede, but America has before this shown the world enlightened processes of politics that were without precedent. It would have been within the choice of John to summon his barons to Runnymede and on his own initiative enter into a constitutional understanding with them, and it is within our choice to do a similar thing, at once wise and generous, in the government of the Philippine Islands. But we cannot give them self-government. Self-government is not a thing that can be given to any people, because it is a form of character and not a form of constitution. No people can be given the self-control of maturity. Only a long apprenticeship of obedience can secure them the precious possession, a thing no more to be bought than given. They cannot be presented with the character of a community, but it may confidently be hoped that they will become a community under the wholesome and salutary influences of just laws and sympathetic administrations; that they will after a while understand and master themselves, if in the meantime they are understood and served in good conscience by those set over them in authority.

"We of all people in the world should know these fundamental

MRS. HALL WILL SING AT CONCERT

The Honolulu Symphony Orchestra Society will present as a soloist at its concert at the Opera House next Tuesday night a soprano born in the islands and who has received her musical education here—Mrs. Charles L. Hall.

Mrs. Hall, who is a pupil of Mrs. Bruce McV. Mackall, was educated at Kamehameha school and is credited with marked artistic temperament combined with a subtle Hawaiian quality of tone. All of her musical education has been received here. She has a lyric soprano voice developed evenly throughout, not especially to favor high tones. She sings with ease and those who have heard her have commented on her wide range of ability, as her repertoire includes English, French, Italian and Hawaiian. Mrs. Hall, say the musical critics here, should be an example of greatest encouragement to local students.

The symphony concert next Tuesday night will have an attractive program. Among Mrs. Hall's numbers are "Recit" and Air "Ballottis" from Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci," "Gavotte" from Puccini's "Manon," and "Chant de Bacchante" by Bemberg.

MRS. DILLINGHAM DROPS ACTIVE Y. W. C. A. WORK

The monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Y. W. C. A. was held last night at which officers were elected for the coming year. Mrs. B. F. Dillingham informed the board that she would be unable to continue her work as active president, and she was appointed honorary president. Other officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Harmon Beck, first vice president; Mrs. A. F. Cooke, second vice president; Mrs. W. C. Weston, third vice president; Mrs. Arthur Jones, recording secretary; Mrs. Charles Pitts, corresponding secretary. Mrs. A. F. Cooke was appointed to take the place of Mrs. Hobdy, who, as chairman of the physical committee, did much to arouse interest in the classes.

Mrs. Esther Ericson, the general secretary of the association, read a report which showed a marked increase in the membership, the total now being 255. There are 23 members in the educational classes and 110 in the physical culture classes. Two hundred and twenty-seven girls have attended the four social affairs that have been given by the association at the Homestead on King street, and the total attendance at the regular services during the past month was ninety-seven.

[Special Staff-Item Correspondent]
HILO, Hawaii, Nov. 11.—At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors Saturday the matter of poor construction of Front street was taken up on the motion of Chairman Jim Lewis. Owing to the absence of two members, as the result of the resignation of Norman Lyman and the fact that Henry Beckley had been compelled to return to Kohala on business, the matter was made a special order of business to be brought before the Board at the next meeting. According to several members of the Board the person responsible for the bad work will probably be summarily removed from office.

LIBERTY BILL IS MONEY-MAKER

Without question the three acts now "holding the boards" at the Liberty theater are presenting one of the most refined, artistic programs ever seen, or heard, at this house, and are a credit to the Consolidated Amusement Company, which, it was at first feared by local theater managers, would lower the standard of their programs as soon as the recent merger of the various theaters became a fact, but with such acts on the bill as the Pia Trio, Marta Golden and the three European gentlemen with the "musical" names, certainly no complaint as to the quality of vaudeville can be made; the class of pictures shown at the Liberty recently have not been anything exceptionally brilliant, both in fact and figuratively speaking, although the present program contains one picture that is extremely interesting, it being an American "Vita-gram" weekly and contains a score of highly interesting subjects, particularly scenes of the New York World's Fair picnic, the Yale Princeton 1911 football game, and several other views that hold the watcher's attention of European manufacture, and usually depicting happenings of European interest, but as a whole, the present Liberty bill is well worth while, particularly the vaudeville.

PLAN A PRACTICAL MEMORIAL TO DEAD

It has been suggested that had there been a "pulmoter" to be secured at Waikiki beach as soon as his body was found, that the life of the late Robert Sinclair, who was drowned at Waikiki last Saturday, might have been saved, and the buying of one of these machines for use at the beach is now being discussed by his friends. The idea is to install the machine as a memorial.

During the last nine months a Hilco concern has saved two hundred lives by the use of a pulmoter. The pulmoter produces artificial breathing of oxygen and will restore any one who is apparently drowned, electrocuted, or asphyxiated, who has the least bit of life remaining. If such a machine is secured for use at the beach, it is thought that the local physicians will at once familiarize themselves with it and there would always be someone at Waikiki beach could use it in case of drowning.

The expense of the pulmoter will be covered by the friends of Sinclair.

Most of our so-called good intentions are base imitations.

LINK'S DEFEAT A MOST COSTLY ONE

It cost Delegate Kubis $261.50 to obtain his re-election, while L. L. McCandless spent $4,706.40 in his futile effort to defeat the Delegate. These are the figures placed on file at the Territorial Secretary's office, showing the campaign expense incurred by the leading candidates for this office. It is understood Kalaniamalo's campaign actually cost much more than the amount he sets forth as his own expense, R. W. Shingle being quoted a few days ago as saying that the Republican Territorial central committee donated $1,000 to aid his cause.

McCandless' statement itemized, is as follows: Nomination fee, $25; wireless message, $48.50; traveling expenses, $1424.50; personal expenses, $115; helpers and clerical expense, $200; public meetings, $375.50; postage, $11.50.

Kubis' expenses are detailed as follows: Nomination fee, $25; personal expenses, $141.50; printing and advertising, $5; stationery, postage, rentals, public meetings, etc., $90.

Joel C. Cohen, who ran as independent candidate for the Senate and has since joined the Democratic party, relates his expenses as follows: Newspaper advertising, $100; nomination fee, $25; expense of meetings, $147; auto hire, $22.50; bill posting, $5; personal and traveling expense, $100; a total of $519.50.

Norman Watkins, elected to the House of Representatives from this island, spent $90.75, divided as follows: Nomination fee, $25; personal expense, $40; printing and advertising, $10.

John H. K. Johnson, candidate for Senator, spent $100 of some of the amount in nomination and personal expenses, $10 for printing and advertising, and $10 for the nomination fee.

James H. Bond, candidate for the House, spent $100, spending $32.50 for printing and advertising, $25 for personal expense, and $10 for the nomination fee. Thomas R. Ah-Leong, candidate for the Senate, spent a total of $44.50, $10 for nomination, $10 for personal expense, $10 for printing and advertising, and $4 for the nomination fee.

Community Extension Work at Y. M. C. A.

W. G. Hall, manager of the Cotton Mill Company, led the third of the week-of-prayer meetings at the Y. M. C. A. this noon, and spoke upon the subject of "Community Extension Work."

Community extension work is a term applied to that new form of religious work which the Young Men's Christian Association has demonstrated during the past few years, especially in such places as noon-day meetings in schools and factories, and Bible classes in various parts of the city conducted by the association buildings.

Meetings in recent years have been held in many novel places and it is astonishing the extent to which these meetings have spread to men. A hundred men will pay close attention to a straight gospel talk, given on the floor of their own shop, whom you could not get to church in an auto mobile.

Community extension based on the philosophy that if the members will not come to Mohammed, Mohammed will go to the members, under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. last year, 131 different associations in the United States and Canada conducted 1,118 such meetings with a total attendance of 1,167,225 men. These meetings were held in shops, factories, car barns, school houses, fire stations, hotel lobbies, streets, and a wide variety of places. In fact any where a group of men were together long enough to give fifteen minutes' attention to some point and a short discussion. About 1,000 of these meetings were held in the community rooms, library, shop, Cotton Mill, the Marine Transit car barn, Chinatown, and at the various military posts with excellent results.

The Men and Mission campaign has one committee, the community extension committee, promoting this work of which W. G. Hall, who led the meeting this noon, is chairman. Y. M. C. A. ADMITS
MANY NEW MEMBERS

The membership committee of the Young Men's Christian Association met at twelve-thirty today and favorably passed on the names of seventy-two applications for membership to the association, 51 men and 15 boys having applied since the last meeting of the committee on October 10.

Chairman Ed. Jones read an encouraging report for the month of October, showing a growth of from 1,121 members on October 1 to 1,171 on October 31. In the boys' department the membership has increased in that time from 232 to 262. The Seniors grew from 384 to 387, and the business men a department from 82 to 91.

Plans were discussed for increasing the membership of the association steadily throughout the coming year in order to reach, by the first of next year, a goal of over 1,300 members. An effort will also be made to increase the membership of the Japanese association to 200, making a grand total of 1,500 members of the Y. M. C. A. in Honolulu.

FAVOR McCANDLESS

Dispatches from Hilo declare that the portions of the Big Island are opposed to Mr. Waller's candidacy for the governorship, and are inclined to favor Link McCandless. Their ground for the objection to Waller is that he is "too much like Fagan," while they assert that they believe Link would give them, and the territory a more energetic administration. Among those who have come to the front with their opinions are such men as Harry Irwin, who declares that he will not run against Link, Campaign Manager McGuire, David Swallow, the labor leader and supervisor-elect, Dr. Archer Irwin, and E. D. Corbett.

PARCELS POST
LAW EXPLAINED

Every businessman should be interested in the talk that is to be given by Mr. Cheatham before the Honolulu Ad Club tomorrow noon, on the workings of the new parcels post law, which will go into effect the first of the new year.

Mr. Cheatham has made a thorough study of this new law with a view to learning its particular application to Honolulu and Hawaii. His talk will be illustrated by a map showing the routes provided by the law, and the charges for sending packages through the mail.

This talk will be given at the weekly luncheon of the Honolulu Ad Club held in the upper restaurant of the Palm Cafè.

A general invitation is extended to businessmen of the city who are interested in the operation of this law to attend. The lunch starts promptly at 12 o'clock and the luncheon talk at 12:30. Following the talk a general discussion is invited.

COMMUNITY EXTENSION WORK AT Y. M. C. A.

W. G. Hall, manager of the Cotton Mill Company, led the third of the week-of-prayer meetings at the Y. M. C. A. this noon, and spoke upon the subject of "Community Extension Work."

Community extension work is a term applied to that new form of religious work which the Young Men's Christian Association has demonstrated during the past few years, especially in such places as noon-day meetings in schools and factories, and Bible classes in various parts of the city conducted by the association buildings.

Meetings in recent years have been held in many novel places and it is astonishing the extent to which these meetings have spread to men. A hundred men will pay close attention to a straight gospel talk, given on the floor of their own shop, whom you could not get to church in an automobile.

Community extension based on the philosophy that if the members will not come to Mohammed, Mohammed will go to the members, under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. last year, 131 different associations in the United States and Canada conducted 1,118 such meetings with a total attendance of 1,167,225 men. These meetings were held in shops, factories, car barns, school houses, fire stations, hotel lobbies, streets, and a wide variety of places. In fact any where a group of men were together long enough to give fifteen minutes' attention to some point and a short discussion. About 1,000 of these meetings were held in the community rooms, library, shop, Cotton Mill, the Marine Transit car barn, Chinatown, and at the various military posts with excellent results.

The Men and Mission campaign has one committee, the community extension committee, promoting this work of which W. G. Hall, who led the meeting this noon, is chairman.

QUEEN CITY OF OTTOMANS IS ARROGANTLY INDIFFERENT

War Apparently Makes Little Change in Constanti- nople's Life

With the armies of the allies concentrating upon Constantinople, that famous Turkish city is the center of interest in European affairs. The New York Sun's Constantinople correspondent gives a vivid description of the conditions which the outbreak of the war produced in the Turkish capital. Apparently the Turks are paying little attention to the danger that threatens their nation. Says
the Sun's correspondent:

Constantinople in war time is outwardly much like Constantinople in time of peace. No flags arch the narrow streets, no cartouches or flaming posters adorn the shop windows, no street hawkers sell buttons and emblems with appropriate sentiments attached. Were it not for the unusual activity of the newsmen—there are few newshawks—it would be difficult to note that anything special was going on. The "second edition" is almost unknown, and in the present crisis has been utilized but once, to announce the bare fact that Montenegro had declared war. Second editions might become more common if the flat of martial law did not necessitate special permission for their issue.

"A squad of very young looking soldiers may be seen walking up and down the main street of Pera, the European quarter of the capital, but they seem extremely indifferent to everything and would do discredit to the Boy Scouts. A line of cannon and artillery wagons jounces over the uneven pavement and drowns out all other noise and confusion; but this is characteristic of Constantinople in time of peace. Officers and soldiers are everywhere, but so they are in Constantinople's duller times. If you look for anxiety or danger or exultation in their faces you look in vain.

They are the same quiet lot of handsome, cultured officers, neat looking gentlemen from the better Turkish homes and endless groups of ignorant
uncouth peasants from Asia Minor, many of them superb specimens of bodily strength and all of them ready to throw away their lives at the word of their Caliph.

"Three great assemblies took place recently in the vast open area near the mosques of San Sophia and Sultan Ahmet, by Byzantine times the site of the Hippodrome. The first, was made up of a thousand students and their friends and was naturally an enthusiastic affair, but compared with their Bulgarian neighbors its zeal was lethargic. The next morning the enemies of the Committee of Union and Progress held a monster meeting. They represented the "reactionaries," the ultra Liberals and all others who had been oppressed by the recent four years of tyrannical rule of the community, in a slight way they represented the present Government. The afternoons
the adherents of the fallen committee held a similar great meeting. It would be hard to distinguish between the two. Each was a compact mass of warmly clothed Constantino-politans, mostly Moslems. As they walked through the streets after their meeting and tramped three or four stones paces miles to make a manifestation before their Sultan they did not make a noble impression of patriotism. And when they had passed Constantinople resumed its ordinary appearance as the great market place of East and West.

"But if Constantinople is largely void of war signs, three or four sections of the capital nevertheless tell a different story. The immense open plateau of the War Department in Stamboul presents a turmoil of war preparation—tons upon tons of supplies and weapons, regiments upon regiments of troops called in from the great barracks throughout the empire,
still upon file or wobbly lined recruits
still wearing their padded, ragged clothes of Anatolia, or go to the great Taxim barracks on the outskirts of Pera. There the cavalry of Turkey is assembling and distributing.

"For three days last week public carriages innocently driving by were held up, examined and impressed on the spot. The passengers might continue their journey as best they could. The hapless driver received a paper for forty per cent. of the value of his carriage and must get his vehicle home for himself. A day or two later whips were found to be scarce.
A couple of soldiers were stationed at a strategic point and whips were seized without ceremony or explanation
from the hands of the bewildered drivers. Some of them got angry, to no purpose, but most of them were so grateful to be in possession of their horses that they drove along uncomplainingly. The elegant brougham and span of the French embassy happened
by, and an ignorant soldier straightway treated the haughty coachman as he did all the rest. Fortunately a policeman saw the mistake, rescued the whip and returned it to the stupefied coachman before there was time for diabolical "incident" to be created."
Adrianople the conditions, as pictured by the newspaper men situated there, are vastly different. The feelings of the opposing races, reheated to fever point and the declaration of war on the part of the allies did but give voice to the hatred that has been smoldering for generations.

This city which bore the brunt of the advance armies of the Balkan allies to Constantinople and was thus the very center of the great struggle of this modern war, has had a part in military history such as has been allotted to few cities of its size and importance in the world. Its whole history from the time of its foundation through its rebuilding by Hadrian and its conquests by Goth, Ottoman and Slav has been a story of captures, reprisals and bloody engagements beneath its walls and of bloodshed and fire within its own gates. Moreover it has been so closely connected with conquests and defeats of the Ottoman armies that its commercial and financial success has depended upon the rise and fall of the star and crescent.

Adrianople lies in the valley of the Maritza, the most important river of eastern European Turkey, at a point where the river is joined by the Tundzha, which flows from the southern slopes of the Balkans, and the Adra, coming east from the Rhodopes. To the south is the low level valley of the Maritza, through which the river rushes, a mighty current deep enough in the spring and winter to carry boats from the Aegean to the quays at Adrianople and at places so broad as to resemble a lake. On the other sides the town is surrounded by low lying hills backed, especially to the north, by high mountains.

The town is divided into two parts
by the Tundzha, which is spanned by an ancient stone bridge. Many of the fine buildings of which the town formerly boasted have been destroyed either by war or by fire. In their places are modern schools and institutions of the Turks "subject races."

The palace of the Sultans, which stood near the outskirts was partly demolished by Suliman Pasha to make quarters for himself and his soldiers at the time he was in command of the army here during the Russo-Turkish war. The Mosque of Selim which is considered one of the most beautiful specimens of Turkish religious architecture and the dome of which is said to be larger than that of St. Sophia at Constantinople, seems to have escaped the ravages
from which the others have suffered.
This splendid dome with its four at-
