THURSTON WILL NOT RETURN.

That Gresham Letter Has Arrived Via Japan.

SECRETARY STATES HIS GRIEVANCE

Letter Upon Bowler's Appeal to United States—Is a Naturalized Citizen of Hawaii—Cannot Bear Allegiance to Two Governments—Will Not Interfere

"Minister Willis called on the Minister of Foreign Affairs on the 30th of April, and read to him a letter from Secretary Gresham dated February 21st last, which he said had been sent to Japan by mistake, intimating that Mr. Thurston is no longer personally acceptable to the Administration at Washington as Hawaiian Minister.

"The ground is that Mr. Thurston had allowed a representative of the press to read private letters to Mr. Thurston from Honolulu concerning conditions and sentiments there, portions of which were made public.

"These letters also contained criticism upon the policy of the Administration toward Hawaii which were not published, but came to the knowledge of Mr. Gresham."

The above is the statement given out by Minister Hatch yesterday afternoon after the meeting of the Executive and Advisory Councils. The communication was discussed by the Cabinet at its morning session, and a meeting of the Councils was called at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The session was a short one, and no definite action was taken upon the matter.

The letter of Secretary Gresham regarding the Bowler case was also placed before the legislative body. This document reads as follows:

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, WASHINGTON, April 5, 1895. ALBERT S. WILLIS, Esq., Honolulu, H. I.

SIR: It appears from your No. 88 of February 25 that on the 22d of that month, J. F. Bowler was convicted before a military commission sitting at Honolulu for participation or complicity in the disturbances or uprising in Hawaii early in January and sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for five years and to pay a fine of $5000; that he now claims protection as an American citizen; and that the Hawaiian authorities assert he is not entitled to such protection because he is a naturalized citizen of that Government.

When Mr. Bowler left this country and went to Hawaii does not appear, but on March 18, 1885, he voluntarily took an oath to support the constitution and laws of the Hawaiian Islands and bear true allegiance to the king, without expressly renouncing or reserving his allegiance to the United States. Section 432 of the statute prescribing this oath (Compiled laws of Hawaii, 1884), provides that every foreigner so naturalized shall be deemed for all purposes a native of the islands and subject only to their laws and entitled to their protection, and no longer amenable to his native sovereign while residing in the kingdom, nor entitled to resort to his native country for protection or intervention; that for every such resort he shall be subjected to the penalties annexed to rebellion, and that having been thus naturalized he shall be entitled to all the rights and immunities of a Hawaiian subject. I am informed that the Supreme Court of Hawaii has held that the taking of this oath operates to naturalize the alien and admit him to full citizenship. It is not claimed that since 1885 Mr. Bowler ever returned to the United States or resided elsewhere than on the islands. This Government has never held to the doctrine of perpetual allegiance, on the contrary from its organization, it has maintained that the right to throw off one's natural allegiance and assume another is inalienable. "Expatriation," said Attorney-General Black in 1859, "includes not only emigration out of one's native country, but naturalization in the country adopted as a future residence." The effect of naturalization is to place the adopted citizen in the same relation to the government as native citizens or subjects. The right of the Hawaiian Government with his consent to adopt Mr. Bowler as fully as if he had been born upon its soil is as clear as his right to expatriate himself. He manifested his intention of abandoning his American citizenship by taking the oath to support the constitution and laws of Hawaii and bear true allegiance to the king, and, so far as known, he manifested no contrary intention before his arrest. That oath is inconsistent with his allegiance to the United States. By taking it, he obliged himself to support the government of his adoption, even to the extent of fighting its battles in the event of war between it and the country of his origin. He could not bear TRUE allegiance to both governments at the same time. The President directs that you inform Mr. Bowler he is not entitled to the protection of the United States; that in similar cases you will be guided by the views herein expressed and that you furnish the Minister of Foreign Affairs with a copy of this instruction.

I am, sir, Your obedient servant, W. Q. GRESHAM.

TOO MANY JAPANESE LABORERS. The Question Becoming a Critical One in British Columbia.

VANCOUVER (B. C.), April 18.—Over 500 Chinese and Japanese arrived in British Columbia by the steamer Empress of Japan. Of these nearly four-fifths are Chinese, but a number are on their way through to the Havana plantations and elsewhere. Most of the Japanese, however, are intending to seek employment in British Columbia, where the rapidly increasing number of these coolie immigrants is causing no little disquietude in labor circles, as the Japanese labor is restrained by no poll tax and will work almost as cheaply and more intelligently than the Chinese. They are consequently too rapidly ousting white workers from employment, in the lumber yards, on the river and coast steamboats, in mining, in the river and coast fisheries, and now, also, in small farming and market gardening.

It is, therefore, beginning to be felt that before long, unless the coast district of British Columbia is to become a little Japan, some restriction must be legislatively imposed upon the immigration of Japanese coolie labor, although nothing but friendliness is entertained for the intelligent middle class Japanese settler in Western Canada.

One tentative was taken by the British Columbia Legislature last session in passing a measure preventing Japanese, when naturalized, from obtaining the provincial franchise, lest otherwise whole electorates would be swamped by an Oriental vote. This, however, only partly meets the needs of the situation in a province where even ordinarily paid white labor at present find insufficient employment.

SAILS FOR THE DEFENDER. To Be Made of Specially Woven Duck of Selected Cotton.

BOSTON, April 19.—The second suit of sails for the Defender, the boat now being built at Bristol for the defense of the America's cup, will be made by Wilson & Silsby of this city, the sail-makers from whose hands came the canvas of the Colonia, Jubilee, Pilgrim and Navahoe. In the contract for building the boat it is provided that the Herreshoffs shall furnish one suit of sails and the syndicate another. The Herreshoffs are themselves making the suit which they are to furnish, while the order to the Boston sail-makers is from the syndicate.

The suit will be made of specially woven duck from selected American cotton. Only the best obtainable material will be used. The exact sail plan of the Defender is given as follows: Mainsail, 4500; topsail, 1325; two jibs, 2300; club topsail, 1848; spinnaker, 7128. Total, 19,101 square feet. The dimensions of the balloon sails have not been determined upon. The foresail is included in the figures for the two jibs. It will be seen by this total of 19,101 square feet that it eclipses the sail area of any racing boat yet built.

NOT UNLIKE THE SIAMESE TWINS. A Chicago Birth Unparalleled in Medical Annals.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Nature was not quite decided whether or not she should give twins to Mr. and Mrs. Koehler of 342 East Forty-second street, and the result is a pair of baby girls whose bodies are strangely united. The new comers present a phenomenon which has no parallel in medical annals. These babies are joined diagonally from the lower part of the spinal column to the upper part of the pelvis.

It is believed the bones known as the sacrum and coccyx are identical in both bodies. Another singular feature of the case is that the children, though joined at the back, are able to face to the front owing to some elasticity of the ligaments and flesh at the place of juncture. They have each a complete quota of organs and the limbs are separate and distinct.

Peculiar Japanese Custom.

A peculiar Japanese custom was brought to light last night by a celebration in a Japanese family on Maunakea street. It seems that when a Japanese boy reaches the age of 6 months a feast is given. The house was decorated with flags and lanterns. Many Japanese were present to do honor to the six-months-old. When a girl reaches the same age, or any other age, she is completely ignored.

GUARDIANS OF PUBLIC HEALTH.

Sanitary Committee Condemns the Old and Unsightly Fishmarket.

NO MORE SCARLATINA IN HILO.

Resignation of Dr. Allen at Hana. Four Brothers for Boys' Home. Cholera in the Pescadores—Dr. Castle May be Appointed to Kalihl Station.

The regular weekly meeting of the Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon. President Smith occupied the chair. Doctors Day, Emerson and Wood, members Ena and Lansing, Dr. Wayson and Health Agent Reynolds constituted the attendance.

Weekly reports of Dr. Monsarrat were read and approved. Regarding the Act to Mitigate, that report showed total number on list to be 111; natives, half-whites and all others. The police department reported considerable increase of Japanese women engaging in questionable occupation. Complaint was also made concerning disreputable Chinese women located in different portions of the city. Discussion brought out the fact that no Japanese or Chinese women were registered under the Act to Mitigate. The Board thought if these women carried on that kind of business they should be properly registered. The advisability of confining these characters to certain localities was discussed, but no action taken.

R. W. Meyers, agent at Kalau-papa, wrote concerning matters at the settlement. His suggestions were carried out regarding certain requests, etc.

A communication from the settlement was read touching the matter of procuring additional sisters for the boys' home. The Bishop of Panopolis will leave by Thursday's steamer for a visit to France. While there he will secure the services of four lay brothers for the boys' home, it being found preferable to employ these.

Permission was granted to Rev. M. C. Kealoha, a native minister at the settlement, to pay a visit to Honolulu.

Ellen Lyons petitioned for privilege to go to Kalauapapa and take away the infant child of her daughter, the mother being on her death-bed. The matter was deferred until word could be received from Agent Meyers about the matter.

Dr. Oliver's quarterly report, ending March 31st, was read and filed. The President thought Dr. Oliver was not explicit enough in rendering his reports, and unduly negligent in replying to letters. Dr. Wood said he had failed to receive replies to letters sent to the settlement physician.

Dr. T. Allen, Government physician at Hana, Maui, tendered his resignation on account of ill-health cepted the propositions I myself laid down in my original letter, and have placed no restrictions on my actions, I must, with sincere regret, signify to you my inability to take up the work as I had at that time hoped to be able to do.

Conditions which had not then appeared have since my letter so modified my views and influenced my conduct that I would be acting unjustly to your Government and to myself were I to proceed further in the matter.

I wish you all success in the noble work you have projected, and shall follow with a more than usual interest the results that may come from your Laboratory.

I know my apology cannot compensate for the time and trouble this has cost you, but I must offer my assurance that it is alone the distance between us which has caused the delay.

Most respectfully yours,
ALBERT B. HALE, M. D.

A letter from Deputy Sheriff Hardy, at Hilo, stated that the two cases of scarlatina were progressing favorably and no new cases reported.

The Hawaiian Foreign Office transmitted a clipping from a Yokohama paper stating that cholera had broken out in the Pescadores, together with official notice governing foreign commerce.

The Sanitary Committee presented the following report, which was adopted and a copy ordered sent to the Minister of the Interior with a recommendation from the Board that the evil be corrected as soon as possible:

HONOLULU, May 1, 1895.
MR. W. O. SMITH, President Board of Health.

Sir: The Sanitary Committee beg to report that on the 25th of April, last, they carefully inspected the fish market and found the same to present conditions dangerous to life and detrimental to public health, not to mention the fact that the whole structure and the conditions surrounding the establishment are an offense to good taste.

The situation is as follows:
1. The footways and floor of the market are largely composed of earth or macadam and are sunk a foot or two below the level of the street and sidewalk adjoining, i. e., Queen street. A portion of the surface, that fronting on the harbor, is rudely boarded over, resting on sleepers which in turn are supported by posts, or piles sheathed in copper. In some parts this rough flooring rests directly on the earth, but as this inclines to the water of the harbor there is a considerable air space left vacant between the floor itself and the earth or water below.

The roof, covered with corrugated iron, is a hazardous, irregular, ramshackle affair and is reported to leak badly in rainy weather. The conveniences for displaying the various articles for sale are rude counters or tables made of wood, which have evidently done service for years. The general appearance about the stalls, tables and counters convinced us that there was no lack of disposition on the part of the lessees to keep their places tidy, well swept and as clean as circumstances would permit. At the same time it was evident that, with the structural disadvantages to be contended against, there was no possibility of securing genuine cleanliness.

Inspection of the space beneath the wooden floor mentioned above showed it to be the deposit of rotting garbage and filth and the source of unwholesome odors. The earth beneath the flooring and water under or near the same is also foul with litter and filth.

We recommend:
1. That the filth and garbage under the flooring, above described, be removed and the place be disinfected and hereafter kept as clean as possible.

2. That, if a market is to be kept up at the present site, the floor of the same be raised to a suitable height, at least that of the street; and that it be made of concrete and provided with suitable drain and gutters for flushing and draining the same.

3. That as an alternative to this proposition the present site be abandoned, and a market that shall be suited to the wants and aesthetic demands of this metropolis constructed in some other part of the city.

The income from the rental of stalls in the market is now about $450 a month or $5400 per annum, or an income of 8 per cent on a capital of $67,500. Such being the fact it seems as if the Government was not only under obligation to make a move and do something, but would find it a paying investment to establish a suitable market at once in Honolulu.

Very respectfully,
N. B. EMERSON,
THEO. F. LANSING.

There was other business to be transacted, but on account of a special Cabinet meeting at 4 o'clock, President Smith asked for adjournment.

Punahou Field Day.

The Punahou College boys are doing some hard practice for the field-day sports to take place on the college grounds May 17th. Following are the principal events: Pole vault, hurdle race, mile run, quarter mile run, 100 yards dash, high jump, running long jump, obstacle race, putting the shot, hammer throwing, horse tournament, bicycle races, slick pole and greased pig.

Combined Band Concert.

The public is to be treated to another musical event tomorrow evening. The Hawaiian and Philadelphia bands will give a combined concert at Hawaiian Hotel at that time. A select programme is being arranged, and the occasion will undoubtedly prove an enjoyable one.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED.

Attorney-General Says a Pleasant Word for Mr. Robertson.

Attorney-General Smith delivered a letter to A. G. M. Robertson yesterday accepting his resignation as Deputy Attorney-General. Mr. Smith pays the following compliment to Mr. Robertson: "It is with regret that I accept your resignation, and I take pleasure in expressing my appreciation of the faithful and efficient manner in which you have performed the duties which have devolved upon you. Wishing you every success in your private practice, I remain, etc."

Mr. Robertson will continue in office until the close of the May term of court, after which he will move into a new office in the Cartwright building.

LEAGUE BASEBALL MEETING.

Stanford University Team Not Coming Until Middle of Season.

Disposition of Gate Receipts—Secretary—Ship Still Vacant—First Game Next Saturday—Star and Unknown.

At the meeting of the baseball league yesterday noon the principal business was the disposition of gate receipts for the season of '95. It was decided to allow the association the privilege of keeping, until the end of the season, as a guaranty for the playing of all the scheduled games, the gate receipts for the first three games. Of the games following, 40 per cent. will be delivered to the two teams competing—25 per cent to the winners and 15 per cent to the losers. The remaining 60 per cent. will go to the association.

It was also decided to adopt the '95 baseball rules.

The letter from Stanford University regarding arrangements for a tour of that baseball team to Honolulu was not acted upon. The boys thought it would be best to postpone consideration until the middle of the season, which time the Stanford team prefers for a trip to the Islands.

The office of secretary is still vacant, no successor to J. G. Spencer being chosen.

Following is the personnel of the teams to open the season Saturday: UNKNOWN. POSITIONS. STAR. George Woods.....Lionel Hart Chas. Alwold.....Harry Wilder Chris Willis.....John Ganzell J. A. Thompson.....E. Wodehouse T. Pryce.....Sam Woods A. Miranda.....W. Wilder A. Duncan.....D. McNicholl T. White.....George Angus L. Miranda.....Chan Wilder Substitutes—C. Brewster, Oliver Carter, M. Hopkins, Geo. Clarke (regular 3d base—injured).

A LIVELY FRACAS.

Chinaman and a Native Engage in a Rough Scrap.

A very lively fight between a Chinaman and a native occurred last night at about half-past seven near the King street bridge. The fighters were inside a ring of about three hundred people, who shouted "police, police," but failed to give any assistance.

In some mysterious manner the native was spirited away and the Chinaman left alone in the center of the ring.

Just at this time the police came to the rescue. The Chinaman, realizing that some one ought to be arrested, pointed out two native boys who were standing in the place left vacant by the fighter who escaped. Accordingly the two were locked up. The Chinaman succeeded in smearing blood all over his face, hair and chest. Investigation showed two cuts—one above the right temple a little larger than a finger-nail scratch, and another about the same size on the forehead.

It has been the repeated experience at the police station to have Chinamen make almost a murder out of a few scratches.

THE SAMOAN MINISTER.

A Man of Importance and the Leading Laundry of the Island.

"We were strolling about one of the Samoan Islands," said a naval officer to a representative of the Star the other day, "looking about for something interesting. We met many people who did not seem to know anything and could not answer our questions. Finally we found a man who seemed to appear better informed than the others and had the appearance of being a man of some importance. Though not a native, he had, no doubt, been long on the islands, as his appearance indicated. He wore parts of a German and parts of an English uniform, and I am not sure that he did not have some American clothes on."

"You look like a man of some importance here," one of us said. "Perhaps you can tell us something about the country we wish to know."

"I am a man of some importance here," he replied. "I am minister of agriculture and labor. If I can give you any information I will do so with pleasure."

"Well, he answered a number of inquiries and then said: 'I see by your uniforms you are Americans. I am always glad to meet Americans; but that was not what I wanted to speak to you about. You will probably be here for some time, and I wanted to tell you that my wife is a first-class laundress, and we would be glad to do the washing for the officers of your ship. I can assure you that it will not be done better by any one in the island.'"—Washington Star.

HOW ARE PEOPLE HURT BY STRONG DRINK.

Alcohol injures the body; its health, the heart, the blood, brain, nerves, kidneys, the strength, the skill, the appetite, taste; injures the mind, judgment, reason, disposition, character, affections; hinders the work of the Holy Spirit, stifles good convictions, hinders all good influences, as well as conversion; or, if one is a Christian it hinders his growth in spiritual life. In the end it unfits one for society, for respect here, or for Heaven hereafter. It destroys one's self respect, his better purposes, his friendships, his hopes, and wrecks body, mind and soul. Of those who were once beautiful boys and girls, it makes such dreadful looking creatures that mothers would shrink from having them come near, or touch their babies; of those who were once innocent babes, it makes men and women who are guilty of all kinds of crime. It takes the father from his home, from his wife, his children and from his business into the saloon; puts hate where there was love, poverty where there was plenty, sorrow where there was joy. Hate such an enemy as strong drink; fight such a foe as alcohol, and let the friends of temperance know where you stand.—Selected.

The Jews do not in their feasts for sacred purposes, including the marriage feast, ever use any kind of fermented drinks. In their oblations and libations, both private and public, they employ the fruit of the vine—that is, fresh grapes—unfermented grape juice and raisins as the symbol of benediction. Fermentation is to them always a symbol of corruption, as in nature and science it is in itself decay, rottenness.—Dr. S. M. Isaacs.

It is preposterous to fight against alcohol in other places and welcome it on the Lord's table.—Gerrit Smith, Y. W. C. T. U.

WALLACE R. FARRINGTON, EDITOR.
THURSDAY, MAY 2, 1895.

WITH Senator Morgan a Democratic Presidential candidate and Ex-President Harrison leading the Republicans, annexationists would not have to trouble themselves with parties to obtain their ends.

THE purity of purpose announced by the Independent, the new morning sheet, would indicate that some new missionary power has been silently at work upon the political characters of numerous men about town. Independence in this particular instance reminds us, not of the days of '76, but of the late arrival from Ireland who, when asked what his politics were, made the quick response, "O'm agin th' gover'm't."

FOREIGN naval fleets in Chinese waters are particularly large at the present time. Russia has sixteen vessels there with more on the way. Great Britain has twenty-eight, France twelve, the United States eight, Germany seven and Italy three. Notwithstanding this show of power these nations have been noticeably quiet and allowed Japan to conduct things according to her own sweet will.

THE prospect of more and larger steamships coming into the Honolulu harbor brings to notice the great necessity of improving the wharfage accommodations. The Coptic on the last trip was obliged to anchor outside over night and at least three times during the present year incoming steamers have been delayed by inability to dock until an outgoing steamer had left the wharf. The addition to the Pacific Mail dock is an improvement that cannot long be delayed.

GRESHAM ON CITIZENSHIP.

One of the most interesting features of Secretary Gresham's letter on the Bowler case is the remark upon the oath of allegiance which is undoubtedly intended to have a bearing upon the oath to the Republic. The words "even to the extent of fighting its battles in the event of war between it and the country of his origin," are merely an echo of the order to protect no one who had taken part in local politics. If all Americans who have taken part in any of the armed conflicts of Hawaii are not disfranchised by the United States it will not be the fault of the public documents sent out from present officials at Washington.

If the word of Secretary Gresham is to be taken as law, as it will have to be during his term of office, the American taking the oath of allegiance today is like a man without a country. The Hawaiian Government tells him that it is pleased to have him take the oath as proof of his kindly interest in the Republic, but it cannot allow him the rights of a naturalized citizen in consequence of his action.

On the other hand Secretary Gresham announces that the individual who has laid himself liable to fighting the United States forces, cannot expect anything from his native country. Thus the unfortunate individual is left to suffer the dangers of both countries and in event of misfortune, protect himself as best he can. The tenor of the latter part of Gresham's letter cannot be mistaken, but it will be noted that this is his own individual opinion and he brings no authority to his support.

NOT JUSTICE, BUT POLICY.

After all it appears that Secretary Gresham has a dislike for Minister Thurston, though the official document announcing that fact did lose its way and go wandering through Japan on a tour of contemplation before being brought to the notice of the Hawaiian Government. Although such documents are not every-day affairs in this country, the contents have not caused any whirlpool of excitement threatening to swallow anything or anybody, up to the present juncture.

Minister Thurston, having preceded the correspondence, is in the position of a free citizen, who, in view of what has been said of him by a high official of a nominally friendly nation, has refused to further trouble that gentleman with his personality. Little or nothing need be done at present. There is no urgent necessity of the Hawaiian Minister being in Washington for three or four months to come, and there is plenty of time to study developments and perform some fine work in diplomacy that will aid the Hawaiian cause quite as much as a fiery retaliatory movement. The situation, as it is thrust upon the country, will be accepted, and Minister Willis will undoubtedly remain in Hawaii, so far as anything the officials on this side may do or say to him. Mr. Thurston will take up his abode in this country, and he, with others, continue the work of furthering the cause of good government and annexation on this end of the line, while his successor endeavors to keep within the good graces of the present Premier of the United States. It would appear that the successor has the worst of it, but some one must do the disagreeable work. Under the circumstances the question is not what is justice in the affair, but rather what is the best policy.

Any one who reads Mr. Ashford's sayings to San Francisco reporters must read between the lines to understand that he does not mean half that he is reported as saying. Mr. Ashford was long enough in Hawaii to convince the people that he can tell the difference between "a 'awk han a 'au saw," and that he understands full well the value of silence. He has about as much intention of heading a filibustering expedition as he has of returning here and standing as a candidate for office. C. W. is a little joker and the interview with the reporter in 'Frisco was one of his jokes. When Mr. Ashford left here, his main thought was to do something in the behalf of his brother. The people here who know him will not believe that a filibustering expedition is in the line of assistance to that person.

Some time ago, we purchased a lot of European wire and immediately afterward some parties circulated a report that the quality had been affected by some unknown cause and that it was not up to the standard of the American product. We had a half dozen coils of the wire tested at the Iron Works and it showed a tensile strength of 2760 pounds. When this report was published in this column, the wire was sought after by plantation managers and individuals from Niihau to Hawaii. The other day, to oblige a skeptic, we ordered a hundred coils of American wire from the Coast and as it reached the store, we sent a half dozen coils to the foundry to have it tested. The result showed a tensile strength of 768 pounds or about 2000 less than the European article. We violate no confidence when we tell you that this American wire will not be sold by us. We have an abundance of the European article and can supply all sizes and in any quantity. This wire with the steel stays and galvanized washers comprise the material necessary to use in making the celebrated Jones' Locked Fence than which no stronger, cheaper or better fence was ever made.

Our new stock of Dietz Oil Stoves are going as rapidly as can be expected with times as hard as they are. That it is a good stove, no one who has ever tried them will deny. They are absolutely safe, because there is no possible way by which they can explode; they are free from unpleasant odors, because they are made on the most approved plans; they are economical, because directly you are through cooking you extinguish the flame. Twenty-four dollars invested in one of these stoves will save you a pot of money in twelve months.

The Australia brought us the latest thing in tea strainers; they fasten close up to the spout and the leaves are bound to be caught in the strainer. Handsomely nickel plated and we sell them for fifty cents.

We are having a run on the Alaska refrigerators, because they are the best ever brought to Honolulu. We sold one to a lady who had been taking twenty pounds of ice a day. When we assured her that she could reduce the quantity half the amount, she laughed at us. It was just ten days after she commenced using it that she came in and reported that she now buys just half the quantity of ice she formerly did.

The Beauty

OF SOME PIANOS

Is only "case deep." It is much easier to make a handsome case than it is to put music into it. A tolerable mechanic can do the one—the other requires the best thought of a musical artist.

The Kroeger Pianos

All have handsome, tasteful, durable cases; but in their factory constant, careful, studious attention is given to the production of a perfect and lasting tone. The beauty and honesty of a Kroeger begins with the varnish on the case, and goes straight through to the iron plate that holds the strings. We'd like to show you the inside of a Kroeger.

STRANGE CASE OF MR. JOHN LITTLEJOHN.

Paine's Celery Compound CURES When Ordinary Remedies Fail.

The position of the physician who deals with the nervous and the feeble, the pain-worn, the hysterical, the sleepless, is one of the utmost gravity.

Prolonged strain of mind and body, or of both, is apt to result all too quickly in sudden collapse.

One of the greatest physicians the world has ever seen, who was for years the most prominent man upon the faculty of Dartmouth, realizing the extent of the physician's responsibility, set about to discover a remedy that should build up the nervous system, and cure the ills that result from impoverished blood and diseased nerves. He discovered that greatest of all remedies, Paine's Celery Compound, and submitted the formula to fellow physicians.

There was no secret about it. The formula from that time until now has been furnished, whenever asked for, to reputable physicians, and they have time and again examined it, and knowing that it is good, have recommended it to those who are sick.

No other remedy was ever so highly endorsed, and so generally used and recommended by physicians.

Dr. William Horne, who for a dozen years has been one of the most prominent editors, and of writers for, medical journals, writing in May of last year, said:

"I have been using Paine's Celery Compound for six weeks for myself and wife. I am like all graduated M. D.'s, opposed to all proprietary remedies. I was induced to try the Celery Compound after reading Commodore Howell's letter. I feel conscientiously inclined to testify to the building-up qualities of the Celery Compound. I am just finishing the sixth bottle. I have recommended the Compound to many."

"For five years I have been afflicted each season with excessive nervousness; so sensitive was I that any little noise caused me to start and flutter. This extreme nervous condition induced an unpleasant affliction of eczema, a partly nervous disease with me. For five seasons I have been full of itching, red eruptive spots. Three weeks ago, this condition came upon me again, but with much more excessive nervous prostration. I commenced taking the Paine's Celery Compound. My unpleasant nervous condition is entirely gone. I sleep well and have a good appetite. My dyspepsia is gone and I easily digest all I eat."

"I enclose the case of Mr. Littlejohn of Janesville Wis."

"Some four years ago last June, Mr. John Littlejohn complained to me of a peculiar sensation in his head and neck, right side. I examined him closely and told him he had a blood clot at the base of the brain, I thought, or a small tumor pushing upon the nerves at the base of the brain. I recommended him to one of the best physicians, Dr. J. B. W. He went and the doctor made his diagnosis. I saw the doctor the next day, and he said he had found some undue pressure at the base of the brain. Dr. W.'s diagnosis was the same as my own, although we had neither of us known anything about the other's diagnosis. There was some unsteady twitching of the facial muscles on the right side, and especially of the right eye."

"Mr. Littlejohn seemed to be completely unbalanced and 'jerky,' and quite unsteady. This is a truthful statement of Mr. Littlejohn's condition. He tried every conceivable remedy, by the recommendation of some eight or ten physicians in Janesville, Chicago, Milwaukee, and other places. All the treatment failed to relieve him. I recommended Paine's Celery Compound."

"He tried it, and by a steady, persistent use of the Celery Compound, he completely cured himself of the worst case of extreme nervous prostration and excitement that I ever saw. Mr. Littlejohn informs me that he has spent over $5,000 in doctoring, without good. He thoroughly tried Celery Compound. It completely cured him."

Mr. Littlejohn himself writes:

"I have been a traveling man for a great many years, and the exposure and worry that follow business transactions, caused me to break down with nervous prostration so that for several days they thought I was dying. Besides this, I had the creeping paralysis in my left arm, hand, and side, so that they were almost entirely useless, and I had a most severe case of catarrh to the extent that it almost destroyed my eye sight and ruined my hearing. I had no sense of taste whatever for two years. I had all this so that I was used completely up for five years, so you can judge of my condition. After all of these doctors failing, I finally cured myself by using Paine's Celery Compound."

Is there a sick person who can afford not to try a bottle of this wonderful remedy?

If the new craze for spangles continues, it will not be long before we shall rival the splendor of the old time circus rider, for the tiny round disks are set upon everything. Ribbons have glittering designs wrought upon them, collars, cuffs, waists, vests, lapels, hats, bonnets, cloaks and capes, to say nothing of slippers and fans, are all more or less elaborately spangled. SPANGLED AND MOIRE GOWNS.

tricate figures sewed upon them. The spangles cost 40 cents per 1,000, and then the pattern is marked in outline, and a small bead is threaded in to make them hold. An interlaced ring or chain pattern is very effective. The Greek key design is often seen, but Persian designs are rather often produced. Some of the white or light silk, muslin gowns for young ladies for full dress are simply studded with them. There are silver and gold, jet and copper and others representing enameled colors, blue, green, red and amethyst. They certainly add brightness to the costume, and when costumes shall have tempered the sight of them a little we shall doubtless consider them just the prettiest things in the world. The use of them on velvet, however, is inexcusable and cheapens it. Silks—that is, those silks of good, solid body—do not look well spangled, while satins do.

A pretty evening dress for a debutante was of white net, with a silk embroidered edge to the skirt and sleeves. The under-dress was of white taffeta, and the whole of the net was sewed with silver spangles and a cut steel bead in the center of each. The whole was trimmed with rich silvery white ribbon. The gloves were of a faint pink, for this season white gloves are worn by none but brides.

A rich brown moire gown was trimmed very effectively by spangles. The skirt was plain and demitrain. There was a velvet belt, but the whole of the corsage was of maize silk muslin plisse, with tiny flowers arranged with the different colored spangles. Down the two front seams there were bands made by spangles of copper and gold, ending in fancy tassels. Down the center of the waist and across the shoulders there were similar ones. These were wrought on ribbon first. Yokes made of light material and spangled are very taking when stretched over contrasting color, and this is often seen.

I notice among the newest spring and summer goods the always pretty nun's veiling in all the newest colors. I do not remember to have ever seen it in currant, gooseberry, aubergine or any of the rich browns until now. It surprised me to see how rich an appearance could be produced by that simple material when shown in these rich colorings. Nun's veiling is one of the few stuffs that take the perforated embroideries well, and many patterns are seen. White beige is a new goods, principally seen in combination with some bright under color, through which the perforated pattern allows it to flash its brilliancy. Many young ladies affect white wool gowns, and they are very refined and vastly more elegant than showy colors, and they keep clean quite as long as the others. I recollect one that took my fancy very much. The skirt was plain in front and drawn to a small bunch of gathers in the back, where there was a rosette of cream white satin ribbon. The waist was a plain French one, but there was a yoke shaped collar outlined with thick gold soutache braid. The sleeves were medium sized gigots, and there was a white silk mullet stock, with the usual complement of rosettes and loops.

The crepons are more varied, if possible, than ever, though the demand for the finest ribs and crinkles is still unabated. One

WHITE BEIGE GOWN AND CREPON HOME GOWN. Of the newest patterns has a ground of ecru, resembling canvas, over which are wrought lines in high relief of two or three delicate tints, all interwoven. These lines form large plaids. It appears thus like canvas, with a particularized fishnet over it in large meshes. Some others have high raised dots and flecks of bright colors contrasting sharply with the neutral tinted ground. These raised figures, instead of detracting from the rest of the weave, serve to render it more attractive. Personally I never have liked crepons at all, but it appears that no lady is satisfied unless she has a crepon gown of some kind. The light mohair woolsens and brilliancies are all shown in crepon weaves, and the summer silks show crinkles of various depths and effects, but the rage for crepon weaves has never caused feminine allegiance to swerve from the fine woolen diagonals, and we see them in hundreds of varieties or patterns. The wide wale diagonals in black and the diagonal chevrons are made up into elegant spring suits. The basket and canvas effects come next, and all of these make handsome tailor suits. The chevron weave is a favorite and when made of the soft mixed colors is deservedly so. Small silk tailor buttons to match the color are used quite freely on the tailor gowns, there sometimes being three dozen set on the skirt, nine on each side of the two front seams. Then three or four more are put on the upper portion of these seams to close the placket and the pocket. Clusters are also frequently set upon the waist. These buttons should not be over half an inch in diameter and a trifle smaller if obtainable.

I saw a pretty new silk gown made with the crepon effect. The ground is of taffeta glaze in fine broken stripes, which give it a mottled appearance. Over this at irregular intervals is thrown a series of high crinkles in a darker color. The effect is very curious, but pleasing. This gown was made with a plain blouse, with a velvet stock and draped belt. The sleeves were puffed at the top and very long over the wrists, where they buttoned snugly. The skirt was turned over a flat band of velvet. Perhaps there were ten different colors and shades in this dress, but the prevailing tone was a soft indigo blue.

Indigo, by the way, is a very popular color in all sorts of materials; also in millinery. Cornflower blue is in for another season, with all the heliotropes. One of the prettiest little fads is to have a fancy bow made of narrow ribbon in at least three shades of purple plumed to the corsage or on the mite of a muff that one carries simply to have a place to keep the hands. Very few women know what to do with their hands any better than men do, and as they don't like to carry bundles, and parasols are not in yet, muffs give them what they want.

Speaking of parasols reminds me that they are to be called sunshades this season, and they will be much smaller than heretofore and overwhelmed with silk muslin, mull and chiffon. The handles will be of natural woods, and as far as possible will be of such woods as have a natural perfume, such as cedar, sandal, etc. Some are called "iris," but if I am not mistaken there is no kind of a woody stalk about any iris. Still there may be since there is the parasol handle, and it does smell like iris root. I might mention that all the sunshades shown as novelties have puffs on the top, but no handles. I saw several of moire, black or colored, and these were lined with white florentine silk. They had no lace or fringe and were scarcely half the size of those of last summer. It is possible that the new shade and summer hat are intended to replace them.

These hats are enormous and copy the Gainsborough and Gismonda by turns. They are covered with high modeling plumes and flaring bows and baskets of flowers. The bonnets and some styles of hats are lower, but very much wider than before. The bows stretched out on each side are in some cases ridiculously large. To see a woman's profile her bonnet is tiny and lovely. Let her turn her face toward you, and you think her bonnet is a collegate boat and the bows the outstretched oars. Some hats or bonnets are really shaped like boats. Others are called sabots, or wooden shoes. They turn up sharply over the forehead, but naturally there all resemblance ends, except such as is given by the wide paddle shaped bows. The straw hats are shown in such a variety that there is no giving a glimmering of them all. But for trimming the ostrich plume, generally black, and flowers, with the wide, low bows, will be the principal things. Camellias, both white and red, and crush roses of three or four colors will be worn, and the cornflower, white, pink and blue.

The sailor hat is still among those for young persons and probably always will be. Those of this season have low crowns and quite wide brims. The old fashioned leghorn "flat," with its flexible brim, is shown for summer. Trimmed with suitable flowers, ribbons and fluffy white plumes, it will make poetic and becoming headgear for romantic maidens in pretty white gowns.

Dresses suited for warm summer afternoons, where the fair wearers can have the benefit of green grass and shrubs as background, are being made up now and laid by for their day of need. One I saw just before it was laid in its violet scented box. It was of ashes of roses wool and silk grenadine. Around the bottom of the skirt there was a double quilling of satin ribbon of the same shade. The waist was Russian blouse style, with three rows of gold passementerie down the front and one row down each side of the front seam on the skirt. On these were set four rosettes of gray crepe lisse. Two more were on each sleeve, two on the waist and two on the stock. The sleeves were looped up, leaving the forearm bare. Gloves might be necessary if this gown were worn now, but bare wrists will be very comfortable when this delicate and refined dress next sees the light.

The challis, or, as some write it, challe, dress is a pretty one and will look so girlish and dainty that many girls should copy it as closely as possible. The skirt is fitted in front and laid in loose godets in the back. The color is a faint shell pink, with a figure of tiny fading leaves without flowers. The waist is a full French blouse. Across the bust and over the shoulders and also around the neck and belt is laid dark green ribbon sewed over with coppery and green spangles, and down the waist from the strap to the belt are strings of spangles. The sleeves in the model are short puffs, but loose blisphems would be very much more comfortable.

In silks for this summer the taffeta glaze, or rustling taffetas, will be best liked. They are light, firm and fine and can be found plain, striped, figured, brocaded and printed. Indeed there is absolutely no limit to their styles, designs and colors and also qualities. This I may say—there has never been a season in my recollection where good silks were so cheap.

Ladies' Column.

Did you notice that we made no mention of the arrival of the goods purchased for us by Mrs. FREIMANN while on her recent trip East?

There was a reason for it, and a simple enough one too, if you will only stop to think.

You knew and everybody else knew that we were going to bring something into this market that was new and catchy. There was no need to advertise it, the judicious buyers of Honolulu watch the arrival of our goods, they know that if there is anything nice to be had we get it, in fact that we set the pace on New Goods, Stylish Goods, at prices that are just right.

ARE COMPANIONS FOR LIFE.

D. W. Corbett and Miss May Waterhouse Man and Wife.

Only a Few Invited Guests in Attendance—Beautiful Floral Decorations. Many Valuable Presents.

The marriage of Miss May Waterhouse and D. W. Corbett was solemnized at the residence of the bride's father, Senator Henry Waterhouse, at 8:30 o'clock last night in the presence of over one hundred guests. Rev. H. W. Peck, assisted by Rev. Dr. Birnie, performed the ceremony.

While Mrs. A. F. Judd played Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bridal procession marched into the room. In front were Master Albert and Miss Elsie Waterhouse; next came Misses Mary and Anna Rice, followed by the bride and groom.

The reception which followed was very pleasant, the residence being thrown open to the guests. Refreshments were served in the dining room.

The boys branch of the Y. M. C. A., over which Mr. Corbett presides, was well represented, showing their appreciation of his work among them.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with many kinds of flowers, conspicuous among them being carnations. A great many of these were strewn upon the piano, nearly hiding it from view. A large vase of calla lilies occupied a prominent position.

The bride and groom received a number of valuable and useful presents, but no display was made of them.

Mr. Corbett, the groom, is one of the most accomplished and deserving young men in the Islands, and he is to be congratulated on securing so charming and lovable a companion for his journey through life.

Mr. and Mrs. Corbett will leave by the Miowera for an extended honeymoon journey, visiting Montreal, where Mr. Corbett formerly labored in Christian work, thence to Eastern American cities.

HAZARDOUS UNDERTAKING.

Captain Slocum to Go Around the World in a Sloop.

Captain Josh Slocum is having built at New Bedford, Mass., a sloop called Spray, in which he intends going around the world. The sloop is constructed of white oak timber and Southern pine planking fastened with screw bolts, of which there are 1000 altogether. She is forty feet long, fourteen feet beam and of thirteen tons burden. Captain Slocum says there is nothing foolhardy in a trip around the world in such a craft.

If he can make satisfactory arrangements in New York, Captain Slocum will cross the Isthmus of Panama; otherwise he will proceed to the straits of Magellan, thence on the South Pacific trade winds through the Indian ocean to the Red Sea. Through the Suez canal and the Mediterranean, he will strike for the Bermudas, then home. He figures that he will be away about two years. On the long stretches he will be alone. He will collect any valuables that cross his path. He has a good eye out for war clubs and other valuable curios of the South Sea islanders. He hopes to find in the Gilbert group five natives, the survivors of a party of twelve he rescued in mid-ocean when captain of the Northern Lights. That was twelve years ago, and they will be very glad to see him. They now live in the kingdom of Buckarooroo, which name is not to be found in the geographies.

Captain Slocum will stop at Honolulu on his voyage to the South Seas. He was in the China-Japan trade for a number of years, and often put into this port.

The captain is making this voyage principally for the object of making money by correspondence. He has already closed bargains with the New York Sun, Louisville Courier-Journal and other newspapers.

BILBAO'S TREE TOWER.

It is Over One Hundred and Fifty Feet High and is One of Spain's Oddities.

One of the most interesting architectural oddities of Spain is the tree tower now being erected in Bilbao, the capital of the Basque province of Biscay. The province is populated by a rugged race, the descendants of the Visigoths, who, under the leadership of Alaric, sacked Rome in 410 A. D. and overran Italy and Spain. For many centuries they fought the Spaniards, but in time became patriotic Spaniards themselves. One of the landmarks of Bilbao was the "Arbol de Guernica," the trunk of a great tree that stood in the market place. Like the hardy Basques, it braved the storms, and for many centuries it looked down upon generation after generation. Finally a bolt of lightning felled it to the ground.

Bilbao was grief stricken at the loss, and to reproduce the old landmark and rear an imposing monument typifying Basque patriotism Don M. Alberto de Palacio, an eminent engineer, designed the unique tower of iron and glass that is now in course of construction. It is over 150 feet in height and is designed to represent the shape of the old tree. The foundation shows the iron roots gnarled and knotted and protruding from the soil.

Bridges across the basin lead to a hall 60 feet in diameter and 20 feet high, the walls of which are the iron trunk of the great artificial tree. Above is another roof 45 feet in diameter and surrounded by a graceful gallery adorned with the arms of the Basque provinces. From the top of this room the tapering trunk of the tree rises 120 feet into the air and is encircled again and again by a stairway emblematic of the ivy clinging to the oak. At the very top is a dome representing the crown of the old tree and containing a gallery. The dome is surmounted by an allegorical statue, and on the iron branches are electric lights.

DIAMOND HEAD, May 2.—10 P. M.
Weather, clear; wind, fresh, NE.

The Kinau sails tomorrow.

The Prosper leaves for the Sound today in ballast.

The James Makee is expected from Kauai today.

The Irmgard moved to the Kinau wharf yesterday to load.

The ship Harry Morse and the schooner Lizzie Vance left for the Sound yesterday.

The Alice Cooke is discharging at Brewer's wharf. She will load sugar after the Irmgard.

The Kinau was alongside of the Oceanic dock yesterday discharging; most of her sugar went into the warehouse.

The steamer Hawaii arrived yesterday with 5386 bags of sugar and fifty head of cattle. The sugar was transferred to the Ceylon.

The bark P. P. Rithet moved to the railroad wharf last night to complete loading. She will probably sail this afternoon for San Francisco.

A jury will sit on the 7th inst. to determine whether or not a road shall be built from the Oceanic dock to Brewer's wharf. People who have business on the water front are all in favor of the proposed road.

The schooner Ka Moi arrived from Laysan Island yesterday with a cargo of guano for Hackfeld & Co. The little schooner made the round trip in about twenty-two days, which is considered a remarkably good run.

While Officer Patterson and Engineer Kant of the J. A. Cummins, were discussing the merits of Vandoom's ship chandlery yesterday, a hawser tied to the R. P. Rithet tautened and struck the engineer with enough force to throw him off his feet. He escaped injury.

FOR OCEAN STEAMERS.

Enough Food Laid in to Last the Vessel Two Voyages.

To people who do not understand the careful way in which every emergency is looked out for on a first-class passenger steamer, it may have been a matter of some surprise that the passengers on La Gasconne did not run out of provisions and suffer from hunger before the ship made port. Almost everyone has a general idea that an ocean steamer is provisioned and coaled in excess of what there is any probability of using, but few persons know to what casualties of this kind are provided for. When La Gasconne sailed into New York harbor she was more than nine days overdue; that is, if she had crossed the ocean at her usual speed, and had turned round and recrossed it, without making a landing, she would ordinarily have reached the other side before she actually did reach this one, while delayed by her broken piston. Even taking this into consideration, there is every probability that she had provisions enough aboard when she landed her passengers to have lasted them some time longer. A big ocean steamer, as a general rule, carries enough coal in her bunkers to run her engines, and enough provisions in her lockers to feed her passengers, while crossing twice. Here is a list of the surplus provisions which are carried by the Canarder Pavonia: 790 bottles of wine, 280 of spirits, 2,500 of ale and porter, 1,800 of assorted waters, 75 gallons of vinegar, 10 pounds of cigars, 10 of tobacco, 230 of tea, 500 of coffee, 510 of dried fruit, 392 of refined flour, 2,400 of moist sugar, 10 barrels of bread, 57 of flour, 3 of rice, 2 of barley, 4 of peas, 3 of oatmeal, 5 of pork, 26 cases of canned meats, sundry small stores and 700 tons of coal.

While there is not one voyage in a hundred on which these provisions will be used, the hundredth time is vital, and on the care that is taken in provisioning a ship may depend the lives of all the passengers and crew. One of these great ships, when everything is working well, is the perfect idealization of everything that is powerful and independent; but let her engines break down, and no half-disabled fishing smack, staggering along under a rag of a storm trysail, is more helpless. On such a ship as La Gasconne, the sail which she carries is not more than enough, if it is enough, to keep her head to the wind, and the progress which such a vessel could make under sail even before the wind, would not be fast enough to carry her passengers into port before they were all starved to death. Fortunately, however, there is almost no break in the machinery which cannot be repaired while under way; but, as was the case with La Gasconne, it may be impossible to repair it so as to get any great speed out of the vessel, and that is where the extra provisions come in. The provisions and coal, especially the coal, are also of use in giving assistance to vessels in distress.

Aluminum For Torpedo Boats.

President Alfred E. Hunt of the Pittsburgh Reduction Company expects to sail for Europe on April 27th to confer with the representatives of several foreign Governments with a view of securing torpedo and naval contracts. He is willing to be quoted as saying that his company hopes to supply our own Government with aluminum for three new torpedo boats, and he called attention to the recent change in the legislation governing their construction, permitting, in the discretion of the Government's naval officials, the use of steel or other metal, the "other metal" being understood to refer to aluminum. The parts for which aluminum is especially well adapted include angles, plates, castings, beams, channels, and other sections. The company already furnishes our Navy Department with various aluminum articles, and the use of the metal by our Government is rapidly growing.—New York Maritime Register.
