Busy Day Planned For Visitors On Maui Tuesday

Committee Announces Definite Program and is Working Out All Details of Entertainment for Angelenos.

"Aboard S. S. City of Los Angeles, September 14.—To A. W. Collins, president Maui Chamber of Commerce. Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is coming 286 strong. I hope to meet you next Tuesday."

"Frank Wiggins, Secretary."

"Maui, September 15, 1922.—To Frank Wiggins, Secretary Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce: Messages of greeting received. Maui looks forward with pleasure to welcoming you and the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce party on Tuesday, Aloha."

"Maui Chamber of Commerce." These messages have been exchanged between the two civic bodies.

With more than 300 passengers aboard the steamer City of Los Angeles is expected to be in Kahului harbor early Tuesday morning on her first trip from Los Angeles to the Islands. She is a former German ship now United States government owned and operated for the Shipping Board by the Los Angeles Steamship Company. Her passengers are chiefly members of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and their families on an excursion arranged by that organization to link Southern California and the Islands in closer bonds. Besides the mainlanders it is expected that the governor and about a dozen other prominent Honoluluans will be aboard the steamer when she reaches here as they have planned to join the visiting party at Hilo and welcome them to the Islands.

Committee Completes Plan. Plans for the entertainment of the visitors were further perfected at a meeting of the entertainment committee in the Chamber of Commerce rooms yesterday afternoon. Lorrin K. Smith, member of the Tourist Bureau for Maui, is to go to Hilo tomorrow night and the committee asked him to return on the steamer with the visitors. He had planned to return on the Mauna Kea Monday, and be on Maui when the party arrived. Will J. Cooper and Mrs. Cooper, formerly of Maui, are with the party.

As determined by the entertainment committee a reception committee will board the steamer in Kahului harbor before the passengers come ashore Tuesday morning. That committee is composed of J. J. Walsh, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, Worth O. Aiken, chairman of the committee, E. R. Bevins, W. A. Clark, Judge D. H. Case, H. K. Duncan, L. K. Smith, if he is not already aboard the steamer, and J. H. Gray, secretary of the Chamber. J. J. Walsh is to introduce Judge Case and the latter is to bid the visitors welcome. On the barge that takes the committee out there will also go a bevy of young girls whose duty it will be to decorate the visitors' hats with Maui No Ka Oi hat bands.

Many Cars Needed. While the visitors had expected to hire automobiles there are not enough.

Muddled Love Affair Leads to Death of Young Honolulu Girl

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

HONOLULU, Sept. 14.—Mrs. Lalla McCallum, divorced wife of motorcycle police officer Lono McCallum residing at 2440 Hollinger avenue, is being held for investigation in connection with the death of Miss Goldie Gahan, a 22 year old girl who was shot twice in the left breast and died almost immediately while seeking admission into Mrs. McCallum's home in search of the latter's former husband, last night. A triangle situation has existed among the three people for more than a year.

Mrs. McCallum said she was awakened by the rattling of the door to her home and upon approaching the door to investigate found the Gahan girl there, who said "Open the door, I want to see Lono."

Mrs. McCallum ordered the girl away but says she continued shaking the screen and reaching under her shawl produced a shining article which Mrs. McCallum said she thought was a revolver. She shot twice and then telephoned the police station and requested that an ambulance be sent out but Miss Gahan was dead when it arrived.

A shiny metal can opener was found tied to the bottom of Miss Gahan's shawl and a hole in the screen showed where she had started to cut her way into the house when Mrs. McCallum fired.

Police records show that Mrs. McCallum had complained several times previously that Miss Gahan had threatened her life.

Fair Preparations Go Forward Steadily And Take Real Form

For the Fifth Maui County Fair to be held in just four weeks, plans and preparations are going steadily forward with little "fuss and feathers" and comparatively little talk for the department heads as well as Director Harold W. Rice have, most them, been through the mill before. They are preparing or have already prepared the rules and regulations governing exhibits in their departments, classes, varieties, etc., and generally making good headway.

Very few cups will be offered this year. Director Rice is convinced that cash awards and ribbons are generally more appreciated than a cup which is only a useless souvenir. In the fruits and vegetables departments useful articles for gardening will be quite freely offered.

At the outset it was suggested that Children's day be on the first day of the fair instead of on Friday as formerly. That proposal met opposition from the schools, however, and has been abandoned. Thursday, October 12, the first day of the fair will be Japanese Day and Friday the second day will be the big day for the school kiddies.

Should a proposal that has been undertaken by Lorrin K. Smith, Maui representative on the Tourist Bureau, succeed there will be visitors from Los Angeles to the Fair. The steamer City of Los Angeles is scheduled to arrive in Honolulu, October 13, on her second run to the Islands and Smith proposes that she stop at Maui on her way to Honolulu from the coast so that her passengers may have a chance to see the resources of the Islands, or at least of Maui, all in one excursion.

In the livestock department W. A. Clark and his committee are well along with plans. Clark says there will be a larger list of entries than he expected when he accepted his assignment to head that department.

In the fruits department Judge Case already has quite a number of fine specimens in cold storage. He looks for a better exhibit than ever in that department.

Recent rains have made Grant Bailey, in charge of the floral exhibits department, wear a smile. The relieving of the drought means much to his department. He will have arrangements a good deal like last year in that department with special days for certain cut flowers and leis and with the potted flowers on display all three days.

Around Molokai Trip Is Popular

Early Demand for Tickets for Tomorrow Good; Excursion Is One That Has Pleased Oahu Folk Greatly.

Around Molokai on the Kilauea to the Saturday plan of a large number of Mauiites who are welcoming the innovation of the first excursion of the kind ever put on for this Island by the Inter-Island Company, the plan having been brought to a consummation by Lorrin K. Smith, Maui member of the Tourist Bureau. He reports a good advance sale of seats up to yesterday noon.

At the outset Smith said that there must be 100 passengers or the trip would be abandoned and money refunded to ticket buyers. Yesterday he said that number was more than assured. At that time the sales of tickets up country had been better than in Wailuku and Kahului but that the sale in those two places seemed to have just taken a start. He looked for larger sales here today. Tickets may also be secured at the Claudine wharf tomorrow morning prior to the sailing of the steamer at 8:20. She is expected back in Kahului harbor by 4:30 in the afternoon.

Round the Island by water excursions were inaugurated by the Inter-Island Company this summer in Honolulu. The first was around Oahu. That was followed by around Molokai which was even more of a novelty and was more successful than the around Oahu trip, so successful as to call for a second Molokai run. Now it is proposed to give Maui folk a view of the neighbor Isle of which most of them have seen only one side.

A good luncheon and good music and an explanation of the sights by W. J. Coelho are included in the excursion.

MAKES SHORT VISIT

Charles A. Traugher, who had been away from the Islands for more than a year at Manila, in China and at Vladivostok returned to Honolulu recently and stopped to see his family on his way to Mare Island where they will shortly join him.

Traugher is an officer on the U. S. S. Albany and has been with that vessel in Pacific waters but now will be stationed at Mare Island.

Mrs. Traugher was formerly Miss Ida Kahoonahano of this Island and has many friends here. She and her sons Alvin and Raymond will leave for the coast on the first transport next month.

Attorney Bevins Suspended For Three Months; Edings Dissents

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

HONOLULU, Sept. 15.—In a majority opinion handed down by the Supreme Court this morning in the proceedings brought by Harry Irwin while attorney general asking the disbarment of E. R. Bevins, county attorney of Maui, it was ordered that Bevins be suspended from the practice of law for the period of three months and that his license to practice the profession be suspended for that period.

The majority opinion was concurred in by Justices Perry and Banks and says in part: "We think that utter disbarment is not called for under the facts that were presented to the court, for the defendant is still a young man, but we feel that mere censure would not be adequate in the circumstances of the case."

Justice Edings gave a dissenting opinion and recommended the complete exoneration of Bevins on the ground that the charges were not supported by the evidence.

Written by Justice Perry

The majority opinion of the court, written by Justice Perry, consists of 35 typewritten pages. It reviews the entire proceedings at length, taking up and commenting upon each of the several charges against Bevins contained in the information. The syllabus of the majority opinion, which sums up the court's findings in the case, is as follows:

"An attorney is no less liable to disbarment or suspension for misconduct because it occurs in his administration of the office of county attorney or because impeachment proceedings lie against him for removal from office."

"Disbarment and suspension of an attorney are intended, not as punishment to the offending attorney, but as protection to the community in which he is licensed to practice."

"A county attorney who, in the presence and hearing of the grand jurors assembled in court to receive instructions concerning a criminal prosecution about to be instituted by the attorney general of the territory or one of his deputies, makes an address attacking the course of the attorney general or his deputy in instituting such proceedings without consulting him (the county attorney), and does so for the purpose of influencing the grand jury to indict the person about to be accused of crime, is guilty of infidelity to his clients, the county and its people, and violates his duty as county attorney and his duty as an attorney at law."

Violation of Duty Cited

"A county attorney who, when informed by a defendant about to go to trial upon an indictment that he is ready to plead guilty and to tell the court the whole truth as he knows it, advises such defendant to plead not guilty and to 'fight the case,' and says to the defendant that the attorney general or his deputy who is conducting the prosecution will make every effort to secure a conviction, is guilty of infidelity to his clients and violates his duty as county attorney and as an attorney at law."

"A county attorney who accepts employment as counsel, and a retainer, from a plaintiff in a civil action depending upon the same state of facts constituting a prima facie case of the offense of gross cheat against the defendant in the action, violates R. L. Sec. 1915, and his duty as county attorney and as an attorney at law, and is guilty of infidelity to his clients."

"An attorney may properly continue until final judgment to act in an action of ejectment in behalf of a defendant who insists, in his dealings with the attorney, upon the truth of his (the client's) statements and evidences concerning his understandings of a certain interview and transaction, even though citizens of high reputation in the community have testified to a diametrically opposite understanding of the same interview and transaction."

Present System Rapped

In commenting upon the Kealakaa case, which forms the basis for one of the charges against Bevins, the majority opinion says that "it is indeed regrettable that the law as it stands at present permits a county attorney to attend to civil business other than that of his every day clients, the community and the county he represents. This very Kealakaa case constitutes an illustration of the evils and embarrassments permitted by the existing system. If the respondent, as county attorney, had not served as attorney for Kealakaa in these civil suits, he might conceivably have deemed it to be his duty upon the very same state of the evidence to institute criminal proceedings for perjury against Kealakaa."

The opinion continues:

"Our findings under the third charge, relating to Botelho vs. Brown, under the fourth charge, relating to Waiwaiale, and under the sixth charge relating to the speech (by Bevins) in the presence of the grand jury, are in the effect that the respondent in each of these instances was guilty of infidelity to his client, the county of Maui. It was his duty in each of the cases mentioned to protect to the best of his ability the interests of his standing client, the county, and to do nothing in conflict with that duty."

"In attempting the prejudice the grand jury as to cause it to fail to find a true bill against Thompson (in the alleged cattle stealing case) he violated his sworn duty. In advising Waiwaiale not to carry out his purpose of pleading guilty and of telling the whole truth to the court as he knew it and in further advising him to fight the case because the attorney general's department would use every effort to 'stick him,' he violated his sworn duty."

Serious Derelictions

"These were serious derelictions of duty, not to be lightly treated. As already stated, it is not the purpose of the judgment in a proceeding for disbarment, where the respondent is found guilty, to punish him. The sole purpose is to protect those with whom he may come in contact as attorney and who may become his clients."

"Utter disbarment under the facts of this case, we think, is not called for. Mere censure, on the other hand, would be inadequate, as it seems to us, to properly safeguard the interests of the public."

The judgment of the court is that the respondent be and he is hereby suspended from the practice of the law for the period of three months from this date and that his license to practice law be suspended for the said period of time."

Justice Edings says, in his dissenting opinion, that from the evidence adduced in the case he is unable to reach the conclusion arrived at by the majority of the court. The third charge, based upon the Botelho case, he says, "is absolutely unsupported by a scintilla of evidence." Justice Edings also discusses the fourth charge, based upon the Waiwaiale case, and the sixth charge, relating to the statement of Bevins before the Maui grand jury. With regard to the latter charge, the justice points out that the statement of Bevins did not influence the grand jury, as it returned "true bills" against the defendant in question.

The dissenting opinion concludes: "I am further of the opinion that the charges contained in the information have not been supported by evidence and therefore the respondent should be exonerated."

How Case Arose

The proceedings against Bevins grew from a series of complications that date back more than two years. Edgar Morton, complaining against Charles Thompson, went to the attorney general's office and reported that the friendship between Bevins and Thompson made it desirable to have another prosecuting officer. Irwin came over and presented certain cases to the grand jury including the Thompson case, and this action having been taken and at the time stated his objection. Enos Vincent was made special prosecutor in the Thompson case.

Later there grew up strained conditions between Judge Burr and Bevins and in June two years ago Burr sought to suspend Bevins from practice. This followed the action of Bevins the previous day of asking delay in the case of Cleofe Ruiz, a Porto Rican accused of murder, because, he asserted, there was no competent interpreter present. At that time Burr presented the matter to the attorney general's office and ordered Bevins suspended from practice pending action by that office.

Bevins went to Honolulu and there a writ of habeas corpus. He secured a writ of habeas corpus. Returning to Maui he was refused recognition in court by Judge Burr and then brought mandamus proceedings in which he won, the court holding a circuit judge had no power to suspend a license granted by the supreme court.

Later Bevins was asked to certify to the witness fees of those who gave evidence in the Thompson case. He refused to do so on the ground the proceedings were conducted by the attorney general's office and he had no knowledge of the correctness of the claims. Enos Vincent brought an action in mandamus and Bevins replied. Afterward, on the pleadings in that proceeding and on the matters alleged by Judge Burr the attorney general's office brought the proceedings for disbarment.

The hearings were held for about three weeks in Honolulu last month and many from Maui were subpoenaed as witnesses.

Americanism Will Be Keynote Sounded at Legion Convention

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

HONOLULU, Sept. 15.—Resolutions and recommendations to be submitted to the American Legion convention which opened yesterday include one asking the endorsement of the foreign language school rules and the recommendation that the legislature provide an officer to supervise the language schools. The Legion thanks the Japanese schools for their courtesy in taking care of the overflow of pupils from the Honolulu public schools.

A declaration was made against dual citizenship and it was recommended that the Territory seek joint action with the Federal officials making the certificate of Hawaiian birth acceptable outside of the Territory.

Women Delegates Chosen

The Legion Auxiliary officers chose the delegates to the New Orleans convention in October, and the following were named: Mesdames Dorothy Harper, W. R. Farrington, Jorgen Jorgensen, Philip Rice and Frank Midkiff. Mesdames R. Hapgood of Kauai, Irwin Spaulding, S. S. Foy of Hilo, W. H. Tobin and C. H. Glasspole were named as alternates.

The American Legion Convention opened its sessions at Luke Field yesterday.

Major General Summerall, commander of the Hawaiian division of the United States army, speaking before the convention urged that respect be shown the law especially prohibition, adding "The enforcement of the Eighteenth amendment and the laws on which it is based would tend immeasurably toward the betterment of this country." He said "The uniform which you honored has lost its caste among the people and even among some of its wearers. It was honorable then, its worthy of that honor now."

Cooperation An Aid

Governor Farrington in an address expressed his appreciation for the Legion's cooperation on the school question.

"The public school is the cornerstone of our liberties and fundamental of our hundred percent Americanism that the Legion stands for. The integrity of the American public school demands that children who are accepted as citizens and are therefore to be reckoned a factor in the control of our civic destinies, shall be educated in the American public schools or private institutions following the same national ideal," said Farrington. He told the Legion "Your committee has been most effective suggesting ideas to the school department."

False Economy Useless

The governor deplored the attempted economy being made in the schools, and added "False economy threatened the public schools of the Territory. While such conditions prevail we are a long way from our one hundred percent. A weak, cowardly dollar policy of false economy is one of the greatest dangers threatening the public schools. As American citizens we must provide the ways and means for schoolhouses and teachers so that all children will be comfortably housed as well as to be taught the English language."

Auxiliary Meets

Yesterday the women's auxiliary of the Legion heard the report of the delegates to the Kansas City convention and also the reports of the standing committees on Americanism, welfare, legislation, and immigration. Superintendent Vaughan MacCaughy will be heard by radio broadcasting late today which will be followed by the appointment of a nomination committee for the selecting of departmental officers and the naming of national committee-woman delegates to the second annual convention to be held at New Orleans on October 16.

Praises Girl Scouts

MacCaughy, addressing the Legion, praised the girl scout movement which he said would reorganize the whole school program because it recognizes the interests of the children. He added "There is an imperative need for the scout movement here. In no other place in the world is half of the school children attending alien schools, taught by alien teachers, and where the alien culture is the basic purpose. This must be cleaned up."

Committees To Report

Mrs. C. H. Glasspole, reporting the work done by the immigration committee said "While we do not approve of the custom, the picture bride is a fact and a special committee appointed to investigate into the needs of 450 or more women who come here would find much to do."

The welfare committee report said all army transports had been met during the year and an average of 20 convalescent soldiers from each had been taken on automobile drives and that flowers and reading matter had been distributed among the men unable to leave the ships.

BONUS PLAN CONTINUES

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

HONOLULU, Sept. 14.—The trustees of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters Association voted to extend the existing plantation wage and bonus scale for one year from September 30th. It will be subject to change at any time without 30 days notice.

End of Railroad Strike Is Nearer By Chicago Plan

Secretary of Labor Announces Virtual Settlement but some Eastern Heads Still Refuse To Meet Strikers.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—President Smith of the New York Central lines agreed to meet the shopcraft officials today.

Five other Eastern railroads announced they would not meet the strikers.

President Underwood of the Erie Railroad, declared the strike to be "crumbling."

Settlement Seen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Secretary of Labor Davis today announced a virtual settlement of the railroad strike affecting 35 or 40 per cent of the railroads. The announcement is based on reports from the Chicago meeting of the general policy committee of the railroad shopmen's union. Davis stated that the settlement means the whole industrial machinery of the country is ready for a forward movement unprecedented in economic history. He also said "American industry will overcome the last obstacle in the way of the greatest economic revival the country has ever known."

Depend on Warfield

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—The executive council of railway shopmen today stated "The statesmanship of S. Davis Warfield, president of the Seaboard Airline was responsible for the settlement."

Warfield telephoned to B. M. Jewell, president of the railroad shopmen's union, and arranged further conferences after the New York conference broke up hopelessly on August 25. Jewell departed for Baltimore a week later and laid the basis and returned to line up the unions while Warfield sought executive support. The terms include all strikers, except those guilty of violence, returning to work at present wages within 20 days after the completion of agreements. An arbitration commission consisting of six representatives of shop workers and carriers will settle disputes.

Smyrna and Brusa In Flames; Turks Commit Outrages

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

SMYRNA, Sept. 15.—Turkish irregulars, controlling Smyrna, are firing on and terrorizing the population. British marines are withdrawing, leaving protection in the hands of French and Italian troops, nationalist guards, and American sailors.

The cities of Brusa and Smyrna have been fired. The flames at Brusa were extinguished by the Turks before but little damage was done.

Horrible Massacres

LONDON, Sept. 15.—One to two thousand Christians were massacred by the Turks at Smyrna before the fire. Many outrages are charged in semi-official reports. Greek messages from Athens say that among the other outrages, the Turks are carrying off many girls, among them pupils of the American girls' college, it is alleged.

A British admiral at Smyrna warned the Turks that if the massacres continued the Turkish quarters would be bombarded.

Miss Mills, the head mistress at the American college at Smyrna, said a sergeant of the Turkish regulars started the conflagration, according to a dispatch to the Times. Miss Mills said the sergeant was seen entering the house carrying cans of petrol. It is reported from Athens that thousands were massacred at Smyrna before the fire started. Damage is estimated at 15,000,000 Turkish pounds.

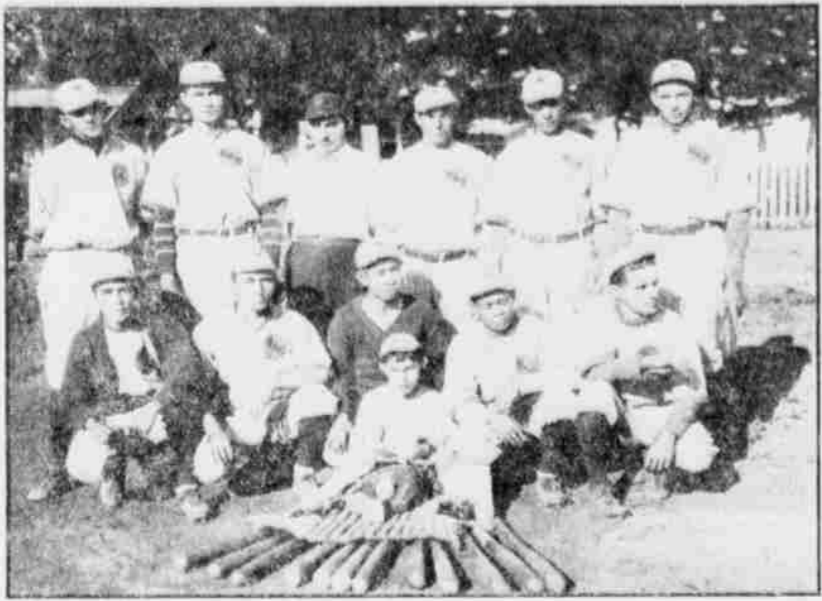

An American destroyer, arrived at Pireau, Greece, reports that the Turks entered the British consulate at Smyrna and killed an official of the assembling archives, according to a Ruter News Agency dispatch from Athens. Postmaster Wilkinson is also reported murdered as well as other Englishmen.

It is believed the British Consul-General Sir Harry Lamb escaped on a warship.

Luau Tickets—It is announced by the committee in charge of the luau for the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce excursionists that tickets may be secured from Eddie Tam at the Baldwin Bank, Kahului, and at a booth at the Commercial Building immediately before the luau Tuesday afternoon.

New Tailor Shop—In the Enos Building at the corner of High and Main streets, in the store formerly occupied as the Pioneer Store, there was opened this week a new tailoring establishment known as the Mal Union Tailor. There is an entirely new line of fabrics in stock and the owners advertise that they will guarantee fit and satisfaction. They have equipped their establishment in a thoroughly up to date manner.

The Haiku team of the East Maui league who copped the pennant of that circuit by defeating Paia two straight games in the title series.

No need to tell they are champions, the look on their faces is enough. But they earned it and well had it coming.

This year is the first that a baseball league was formed to play in the up-country district and the success that accompanied the venture speaks well for an East Maui league in coming years. Six teams were entered in the league although the last to come under its fold, Kula, started late but made a fine showing under the handicap. The other five teams were Haiku, Paia, Pauwela, Japanese Athletic Club and the Filipino Athletic Club. The Paia team, runners up in the series, won three straight games towards the end of the season and tied with the champions for high honors. Each team had won seven and lost three games. But when the three game tray to settle it once and for all rolled along, the Paia boys lost sadly to the champions.

The junior leagues are turning out some good finished players to take their places in the ranks of the Maui major league.

Frank Nunes has acted as scorer of the league during its season and it is through his courtesy that Maui News has been able to give its readers thorough accounts of the games.

Maui Teams Will Play On Molokai

"No" From Lonely Island No Set Back; Makaiwa Sets Sail For Kamalo Tomorrow Morning

Maui slipped one over on Molokai. Molokai wouldn't play Maui a game of baseball on Sunday afternoon, at least it is to be judged so, for when W. H. Engle, manager of the American-Chinese team wired to the Lonely Island asking for the game, the answer came back short and snappy. In fact it consisted of just one little word of two letters, "No." And the wireless agent at Lahaina added "Collect one dollar."

But regardless there are two teams, now, instead of one, and the trip will be made if the Makaiwa stays afloat as long as 4 a. m., Saturday morning.

The Honorable Sam E. Kalama, it is said, will maneuver the right wing and Engle will captain the left. Twenty sturdy ball players and business men will board the Makaiwa tomorrow morning at four o'clock and sail will be set for Molokai. Fishing and feeding fish will occupy the four hours to be squandered ere the Makaiwa hoves to at Kamalo. Then let joy be unrefined.

On Kalama's team will be A. Paschoal, Scholtz, Haole, Peter Souza, Frank Kalua, A. Do Rego, Eddie Tam, F. Bai, J. I. Silva and George Wilhelm.

Under Engle's guidance, F. Hamamoto, Kenji, H. Wong, William Cummings, K. Yanagi, F. Do Rego, L. Do Rego, S. Yanagi, D. Wong and K. C. Wong.

If Molokai puts up a team following the arrival of the Maulites the inter-island game will be played. Otherwise the two Maui teams will engage in battle. A Garcia will accompany the players and act in the official capacity of umpire.

But regardless there are two teams, now, instead of one, and the trip will be made if the Makaiwa stays afloat as long as 4 a. m., Saturday morning.

The Honorable Sam E. Kalama, it is said, will maneuver the right wing and Engle will captain the left. Twenty sturdy ball players and business men will board the Makaiwa tomorrow morning at four o'clock and sail will be set for Molokai. Fishing and feeding fish will occupy the four hours to be squandered ere the Makaiwa hoves to at Kamalo. Then let joy be unrefined.

On Kalama's team will be A. Paschoal, Scholtz, Haole, Peter Souza, Frank Kalua, A. Do Rego, Eddie Tam, F. Bai, J. I. Silva and George Wilhelm.

Under Engle's guidance, F. Hamamoto, Kenji, H. Wong, William Cummings, K. Yanagi, F. Do Rego, L. Do Rego, S. Yanagi, D. Wong and K. C. Wong.

If Molokai puts up a team following the arrival of the Maulites the inter-island game will be played. Otherwise the two Maui teams will engage in battle. A Garcia will accompany the players and act in the official capacity of umpire.

Maui slipped one over on Molokai. Molokai wouldn't play Maui a game of baseball on Sunday afternoon, at least it is to be judged so, for when W. H. Engle, manager of the American-Chinese team wired to the Lonely Island asking for the game, the answer came back short and snappy. In fact it consisted of just one little word of two letters, "No." And the wireless agent at Lahaina added "Collect one dollar."

MORE ON SCHOOL TRANSPORTATIONS

Over on the Big Island children that have been furnished transportation will not receive it this year. The Hawaii Board of Supervisors have spent the money available for transportation of school children and do not know where to get more. They asked the Governor and he told them he did not know where funds for the purpose could be secured. Such is the news that appeared in a Hilo newspaper last week. On the Big Island the situation is the more serious in that it had been carrying on transportation for some time and has abandoned old schools or not built new ones in consequence of its transportation policy.

From a number of sources recently Maui News has been asked to urge upon the board of supervisors the furnishing of transportation in several sections where it has not been introduced but seems undoubtedly to be needed. To ask this would be useless for the board has only enough funds for transportation purposes to carry out the present program through next year and no further funds can be made available before January 1, 1924.

There is not a proper understanding on the subject of school transportation and funds therefor. Ordinarily there is no provision for the use of school tax money for such a purpose. The school budgets of the department of public instruction provide nothing of the kind. In the last biennial school appropriation bill there was inserted a provision under which on Maui $5000 was to be raised and used for that purpose. The next legislature can provide the same amount, a larger amount or nothing as the case may be.

make it something of a campaign issue in the next three weeks. When their votes are solicited they can ask the candidate if he will vote for transportation to and from school for their children. If there are not more funds available after January 1, 1924, it will be the fault of citizen parents of school children between now and the primary election.

Meantime no additional transportation routes are possible.

MEET THE VISITORS

It is a formidable list of coming visitors that Maui News publishes today in the roster of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Excursionists, a list that is something more than two columns in length. There are more of them than were numbered in the World's Press Congress party that was here last Fair time and Maui has the problem of looking after them. They have come to see Maui and they are to be shown over it. There would be cars hired for them if there were a sufficient number available but the number of cars that can be rented is limited and a large number of others will be needed. Those who have not been seen or spoken to by the committee and are willing to drive the visitors about should lose no time in notifying C. E. Morris or E. R. Bevins of the fact. Seven passenger cars are desired in the first instance but these will be supplemented by five passenger cars.

In addition to the car owners there will be needed also some twenty or thirty citizens, not necessarily car owners, to ride with and act as guides for the visitors who will be assigned to the rented cars. It is important they should have some one to show them about and give the necessary explanations. Maui wants to make a good impression and Maui does what it wills to do.

Plans as outlined for the entertainment of the visitors are excellent. There are the sight seeing trips and at the close of the day a luau that promises to be "some sumptuous affair," and a "Night on Maui" entertainment feature. It will be the first luau for the great majority of those who are coming and it will be one that those who attend others in Honolulu will find to have been the best. As for the Hawaiian night, there is no Island that can stage one quite so well as can Maui. The luau and entertainment will be one that Maui Chamber of Commerce members and their wives will enjoy attending as much as will the visitors.

Maui made good in furnishing transportation for its Press Congress visitors and now Maui must make good again next Tuesday.

It is a graceful courtesy that is to be extended to the teachers of Maui Sunday in holding special services for them and arranging for their transportation to and from Makawao in the morning and Wailuku in the evening. If those who have cars which they and their families do not fill when motoring to church on other Sundays, there are teachers, no doubt, who would welcome the opportunity to attend and worship any and every Sunday.

A little filling in of ruts on the Iao Valley road will make the ride up the scenic valley more comfortable and enjoyable for the 300 Southern Californians next Tuesday.

Next week sees the start of the campaign. The candidates will go first to Kalaupapa, come back to Maui, then back to Molokai, thence to Hana and then to Central Maui. They have a strenuous trip before them but that's something one must expect in politics.

THE OPTIMISTIC PESSIMIST

What one gets out of life depends on what one puts into it. He who tries to get something for nothing fails inevitably in the long run.

In the pursuit of health a new cult advises repeating over and over many times daily and many days a formula: "Every day and in every way I am growing better and better." A very little change in the formula will make life brighter and happier if one will persist in the view that "Every day and in every way the world is growing better and better."

The man who always waits for orders before acting is still waiting when old age overtakes him. One does not have to be "a mind reader" to know what is expected of him without having always to be told.

Sunlight is said to be half a million times stronger than moonlight but they have not yet figured out its comparative strength with that of moonshine.

It takes some folk who say they have nothing to do an awful while to do it. On the other hand the busy man manages to find time to do something he did not have on his program.

There is a new theory that glands shape one's destiny. On the other hand as one thinks and so affects the sympathetic nervous system so are the glands consequently affected, which brings one back to the biblical quotation "as a man thinketh so shall he be."

Alcohol has been extracted from coal gas by a scientist, says a report, that announces he secured 1.6 gallons from a ton of coal. Great Caesar's ghost, next one may see a class addicted to the coal eating habit arising.

More persons always have something to say than something to do.

The man who goes to the top is he who does things immediately they are called to his attention. The one who lags behind is he who has to be reminded repeatedly and then spurred on to action.

What a man has done in the past is of most importance in considering what he may be expected to do in the present and the future if occasion for action arises. Therein lies the difference between the has been and the is now.

For a short definition of the "flapper" this is offered: "A young girl who bobs her hair, her skirts, her hose and her respect for past customs."

Recent rains have been worth thousands upon thousands of dollars to those engaged in agriculture on Maui on a large or small scale. They have been called unseasonable but they have proved mely and past records show that good rains at this season are not unusual.

Maui has not been told what proportion of the proposed $50,000 advertising fund for the Islands she will be expected to raise but it known how much is needed to enlarge and improve the rest house, out $2000 more than is in hand, is the estimate.

Every important business concern on Maui and in Maui County could become a member of the Chamber of Commerce under the membership plan of that organization. The individual membership should also be increased. Numerically there is room for a considerable increase in strength for the civic organization.

Maui Chamber of Commerce members who will be in Honolulu the end of the month need not be bashful in applying before leaving home for credentials as delegates to the Civic Convention.

Before the coming of the Angelenos let it be understood that Maui is not ripe for subdivision nor ready to be taken into the corporate limits of the Angel City.

Wooden ships that cost the government $300,000,000 to build have been sold for $750,000. The dollar invested in ships of that character has certainly been deflated, when its purchasing power is 40 times greater now than in the war times.

A big lava pool is reported to be forming on the floor of Kilauea crater. Pele must have heard there is a big crowd of visitors coming and started preparations to give them a warm reception.

Henry Ford threatens to fire any one of his 70,000 employes upon whose breath is detected the smell of liquor. Some new jobs, breath testers, ought to open and it is suggested that women would be the most successful candidates.

Such "Victories for the Wets" as the one recorded in Wisconsin does not mean that the Eighteenth Amendment is about to be repealed nor even that legislation mitigating its "severity" can be enacted.

Picked baseball players from Maui left for Honolulu Wednesday night to contend for the Islands championship. They will go against aggregations that have had the opportunity of playing many games together and become welded into human machines in team work and so the Maui boys are handicapped. But the fans know the Valley Isle bunch will do their best and win or lose, home folk are with them.

In Honolulu the Democrats are seeking a Moses to lead them through the wilderness of the primary campaign. Asch's name is Julius and not Moses and he says he hasn't the time.

It is a wise move on the part of the board of supervisors to seek funds for the securing of the necessary road building equipment for the Kailua-Hana road. That is a project that will come directly to the fore-front with the establishment of the pineapple industry on a huge scale on the other side of Haleakala.

HOW TO TELL RUST RESISTING IRON

Every sheet of Armco iron is stamped with the blue Armco triangle. That is the sign of rust-resisting iron. The blue triangle means 99.84 per cent purity, and that's why this iron resists rust. Rust attacks impurities in iron. Where there are no impurities rust can lay only a light corrosion on the outside. Specify Armco for all iron needs.

There is an Armco product for every purpose where iron is used.

DREAMLAND
ADVENTURESThe Slumber Sprites
By DADDY
Copyright 1921, by Public Ledger Co.

Jack and Janet go with Chip and Chipper Chipmuck to the underground nest in his winter sleep. They tease Sleepy Woodchuck until he wakes up. He changes them to Slumber Sprites and takes them with him to show them where he goes when he goes asleep.

CHAPTER II

Strange Companions

JACK and Janet were surprised when they found themselves in the forest on the banks of the broad river. They had no idea their travels underground with Sleepy Woodchuck and Chip and Chipper Chipmuck had brought them so far. This place seemed many miles away from the north woods where they had sought the summer bird that was singing spring songs in the autumn. Sleepy Woodchuck pointed across the river to the steamship at its docks.

"There is a ship about to sail for Egypt, to the land of the Nile, where the summertime never ends."

"Egypt!" hissed a voice. "Egypt! I have wicked cousins in Egypt! I would like to visit them during my winter sleep."

Jack and Janet were startled by that voice. They looked around quickly and what they saw startled them more than what they had heard. A snake was gliding from a crack among the rocks.

"Oh!" cried Jack and Janet together, and they gave a mighty jump. That jump brought a third surprise, for it carried them up among the branches of the trees. They had forgotten they were Slumber Sprites and as light and airy as smoke.

The same thing happened to Chip and Chipper Chipmuck. They leaped when they heard the snake hiss, and their leaps carried them even higher in the tree than Jack and Janet.

The snake, a beautiful dark serpent stared up at them as if in astonishment. Sleepy Woodchuck sat down and laughed and laughed.

"He! He! He! Don't you remem-

"How do you do, Colonel Croaker?" he hissed

ber what I said?" he gasped between laughs. "We are Slumber Sprites now, and nobody can harm us, not even my old enemy Mr. Black Snake. He is a Slumber Sprite, too, and a jolly good chap in the wintertime, even though he keeps us scurrying and hiding in the summer."

"Hiss-s-s!" Why should I harm you?" asked Black Snake. "I have left my appetite sleeping with my body safe in my cave. When I do not need to eat, I can be friends with all other creatures."

Jack and Janet didn't know whether or not to believe Black Snake. He looked rather dangerous to them, particularly as they were now chipmunk size. As they stared doubtfully at him, they saw a frog coming hopping out of the dead grass at the river's edge. They knew snakes liked frogs liked to gobble them. They expected to see Black Snake grab the frog before he could hop another hop. But Black Snake didn't. He just bowed politely.

"How do you do, Colonel Croaker?" he hissed. "I haven't seen you since that day last summer when I almost had you for dinner."

"Croak! Croak! I'd rather see you now," croaked Colonel Croaker. "I was sorry to disappoint you at dinner, but I had a very important engagement."

"Hiss-s-s!" I was sorry, too," hissed Black Snake. "But I am glad now. We can have a jolly winter together, and perhaps I can have you for breakfast or lunch next summer."

At that Black Snake and Colonel Croaker grinned at each other in very friendly fashion. Their grins made Jack and Janet feel much better. If the frog wasn't afraid of the snake they didn't think they should be. So they jumped down from the tree landing as lightly as a falling leaf.

"Croak! Croak! Did I hear you saying something about going to Egypt?" croaked Colonel Croaker. "I have a cold in my throat, and my doctor advises a mild climate for the winter while my body sleeps in the mud. If you are going to Egypt I would like to join your party."

"Come along! The more the merrier!" barked Sleepy Woodchuck. With that Sleepy Woodchuck ran down to the river's edge and started across the water.

Jack and Janet expected to see Sleepy Woodchuck sink or swim. But Sleepy Woodchuck did nothing of the kind. He just ran over the water as though it had been frozen into ice.

Celtic Scroll Dance

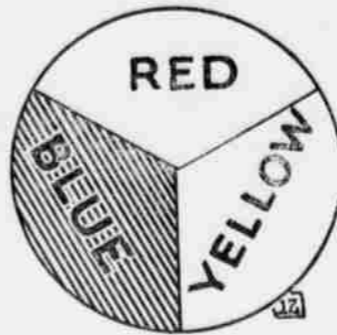

This ancient outdoor dancing game dates from Druidical times, when it was played at the May festivals in Ireland and Scotland. The winding scroll or "serpent" was usually danced around an oak tree (the oak was the sacred tree of the Druids) or around one of the May-feast bonfires.

The dance begins to slow music, the partners marching in a straight line, two by two, to a given point, when they re-form into single file, the boys or men carrying green branches. The leader, holding his branch high, so that all may see it, then moves around a tree or other fixed object, but at a considerable distance, so as to make a wide circle. All the others march after him, keeping step to the music. When he has made the round of one circle he begins again, this time approaching the tree in a smaller circle. When this is rounded the next circle is narrower, and so on until at last he reaches the tree and all the other players are wound around in a spiral or scroll.

With each round the music should be played more rapidly, until, when the scroll is nearing completion, the dance is in gallop-time. Then the leader calls, "Unwinding!" and the end player, facing about, becomes leader, marching off, followed by the others, in constantly widening circles, each danced to slower music, until the large ring is reformed, when all partners join hands as at first, and march in processional dance.

No. 12—Cool Colors

Blue—the third of the so-called primary colors—is known as a "cool" or "receding" color. It is called "cool" or "receding" because it creates a quieting impression of coolness and repose and because blue or bluish surfaces seem to recede or go away from you. For example, on a blue surface with a red pattern, the pattern stands out and comes at you; on a red surface with a blue pattern the pattern seems to sink in and go away, while the background comes forward.

All other colors in whose composition blue is the prevailing element belong likewise in the "cool" class and share the "receding" qualities according to the amount of blue that enters into their make-up. Thus, green, in which there is more blue than yellow, is a bluish or cool green, and violet in which there is more blue than red is a bluish or cool violet.

In rooms with walls of a warm or advancing color, the walls seem to come together toward you, according to the degree of warmth in their coloring. Cool-colored walls seem to recede. Hence, warm-colored walls make a room smaller than it really is; cool-colored walls make it seem larger.

Robert W. Chambers' Romantic Novel Of History Here

America's first big historical motion picture, the Great American Picture, "Cardigan," based on the well known novel by Robert Chambers, America's foremost author, will have its initial presentation here at the Wailuku Hippodrome next Sunday evening.

"Cardigan" is one of the biggest historical pictures ever produced. It is 100 per cent American in theme—authorship—producer—direction—players and distribution. It is said to be the biggest, finest, ablest, most spectacular historical romance and drama ever screened on the soil of our own country. It was produced by Messmore Kendall, supervised personally by the author and directed by John W. Noble. Everybody in town will go to see it, like it, talk about it and praise it. It has tremendous power as an educational film, but also has the necessary element to make it a wonderful romantic drama.

It tells a romantic love story between an Irish youth and a ward of an English governor who in 1774 tyrannizes the subjects in America, and threads its way through the outbreak of the American Revolution. It is of such impelling power that it raises an audience to the highest pitch of excitement and when it was shown for the first time at the Capitol Theatre in New York, where it ran for two weeks, the audience cheered for ten minutes.

It has been pronounced the most authentic picture dealing with American history and has received the endorsement of the National Committee of Better Films, many prominent educators, ministers, public officials, spirited citizens and thousands of others.

It covers all the heights in the early period of the Revolutionary War, and shows in detail the work of some of America's patriots who gave their blood so that America might be the free country it is today. John Hancock, who is seen in the picture delivering a fiery oration to the Minute Men, brings a thrill to the audience when they are reminded that he lived to sign the Declaration of Independence. Then there is Patrick Henry

"THE CRIMSON CHALLENGE"

who delivered the historical recitation which contained the never to be forgotten line "Give me Liberty or Give me Death." Last is Paul Revere, whose famous ride is known to every real American. The battles of Lexington and Concord are shown and as the final parting shot the Red Coats are beaten into a retreat.

"Musketeers" Close At Hipp Tomorrow

"The Three Musketeers," said to be the greatest play in which Douglas Fairbanks, the versatile movie star actor, has ever featured will close its Maui engagement at the Wailuku Hippodrome theater tomorrow night.

This photodrama in which Fairbanks really plays a dramatic role, is a massive 12 reel production based on the France of the seventeenth century. To see it is a revelation of the highest art in motion picture production and an education as well.

DOROTHY DALTON GUN TOTER

Dorothy Dalton got all the exercise she wanted in "The Crimson Challenge," her new Paramount picture showing at the Maui theater next week. Besides doing a lot of horseback riding and a number of chase scenes in which she ran down the villain, mounted on a fast horse, she found that merely to carry around two larger six-shooters in a heavy cartridge belt with holsters was no easy task.

"They feel as if they weighed a ton," said the star, "in the role of Tharon, she has a 'vigorous Western part—a girl who can shoot with either hand, ride like a puma and fight with the roughest of them."

"But I'm more at home on the quarter-deck of a bronco," she laughed, "than on a ship, as in 'Moran of the Lady Letty.' At least I don't get seasick from horseback riding as I did on the old sailing ships used in that picture."

Bessie Marie Dix adapted this thrilling drama of the Far West from Vingie E. Roe's story. Jack Mower is leading man.

"THE GREEN TEMPTATION"

William D. Taylor, director, James C. Van Trees, cameraman, Betty Compson, star, and all the members of the staff, had an intricate and difficult day during the filming of "The Green Temptation," a new Paramount picture, showing at the Maui theaters next week.

The scenes filmed on that particular day included several complex double exposures with dissolves. The scenes show Miss Compson in the various styles of dress she wears in the picture, but what the audience will see are her reflections in a big cheval mirror while she herself stands apparently unchanged before it. The idea is that she sees her reflection in the glass in a review, as it were, of the different characters—Genelle, the Apache; Cora, the danseuse; Columbine, the Red Cross nurse, and so on.

The difficulty in making these exactly to match and give the proper effect was a trial for director, cameraman and star. Miss Compson had to change costumes over and over again several times during the day.

"HED'IN WEST"

Bill Perkins comes home from war, and finds that he cannot get his old job back, or any other for that matter. He knows he has an uncle in the west somewhere, and learns that his uncle's ranch is located on the route of the Government Air Mail. He stows away in the fuselage of a mail plane, and drops off at the ranch in a parachute.

His uncle has died while he was away, and unaware that the ranch has been willed to him, started to work as assistant cook on the place. He becomes the bitter enemy of the crooked foreman, and falls in love with the pretty daughter of a neighboring ranch man.

He breaks up a gang of rustlers, discloses the foreman as its leader, and through the aid of an attorney in a nearby town, proves his claim to the ranch. He and the ranchman's pretty daughter are married, and live happily ever afterward.

"Paramount" Week Throughout Maui Starting Sunday

Four Paramount picture plays will be thrown on the screens of the Maui theaters in the coming week. Each one a feature in the "Silent drama," the program is one believed to be yet unequalled in the local chain of theaters.

Probably the greatest of them all will be that showing Jackie Coogan in "My Boy," Coogan, and his work in the greatly heralded film "The Kid" will be remembered by all the Maui folk who took the opportunity to see that production at the Kahului theater a short time ago.

The play "Cardigan" is also a Paramount picture. It is the first screen drama to be pictured that had as its theme real American history. It is a story of an American lad and lassie in a battle for America's independence. Of course romance enters and is seen in pleasing glimpses throughout the play.

"THE SLEEP WALKER"

In 1915 Florence Roberts, famous stage star of "Zara," "Sapho," "The Eternal Magdalene," deserted the boards temporarily for a single picture. Since that time she has not appeared before a camera until her recent work with Constance Binney in "The Sleep Walker."

She talks interestingly of the changes from open stages and poor equipment to the present glass-roofed plants, modern to the last degree.

"Those old open air stages were attractive to the eye," relates Miss Roberts, "but in rainy weather they were an abomination. While we were filming 'Sapho' rain drenched a bedroom set—and I had to work all day beneath soaked bed clothes. The result was a spell of sickness which sent me back to the stage."

"Nowadays, however, every provision is made for the comfort of the player. The camera work and direction has improved many times. Seven years ago films had not grown out of the experimental stage and errors were to be expected."

It is interesting to note that Elmer Harris, who supervised "The Sleep Walker," wrote the scenario of "Sapho," Miss Roberts' single previous motion picture.

SCREEN COMMENT

The greatest picture program ever offered opens next Saturday on the local circuit. Just glance over it and I am sure that you will agree that never has a finer line up of pictures been offered in one week. When you get your choice of four feature Paramounts, that's going some.

"The Three Musketeers" closes its Maui engagement next Saturday at the Wailuku Hippodrome, and judging from the advance sale at the Maui Drug Co., it looks as if it will close to capacity business.

Those that have not already booked their seats had better do so before their favorite seat is sold.

You will be pleased to see that the little star, Jack Coogan, opens at the Kahului Theater in "My Boy" next Tuesday. Those that saw him in "The Kid" will not want to miss this as his work in this production is considered even better than "The Kid." Jackie's salary and contract for this production was $75,000.

Betty Compson, Dorothy Dalton, Constance Binney, Jackie Coogan, Douglas Fairbanks, Betty Carpenter and Buck Jones are the stars that will be seen during the coming week in a full feature program.

Story Of Work Of Translations Of Bible To Be Told

The amazing story of the translation of the Bible that is going on today will be the unique theme of the hour, this coming Sunday, in the Union Churches of Makawao and Wailuku. There is nothing parallel to it anywhere else in the world's history. During the last year alone, a distinct translation was brought out in some new tongues at the rate of one a month! Some 600 living languages now have the scripture available in them.

Some years ago in London, Mr. Jones saw the famous bible of the little Welsh maid, Mary Jones, as it now lies open in a show case of the great British and Foreign Bible society which was founded because of her need of that book. Lying beside her Welsh Bible is one in the speech of Madagascar—stained with the blood of the owner who was put to death for his faith.

Here are being made Bibles for the blind, large books in many volumes they are, and all in raised type, 7000 pages to make up a single Bible, and taking six feet on a shelf! And yet there are 30 of the most prominent languages of the earth that now contain the entire Bible in Braille or Moon type so that those who sit in darkness may see a great light.

The way of the translator has not been easy. Some primitive tongues, the Hawaiian for example, have not the range and wealth of words and ideas that the original speakers of the Bible moved in so easily. Some of the ideas were crowded into tight shoes! The result is sometime amusing.

The made-to-order language, Esperanto, has had many editions of the Bible already published in it. The new official Russian script adopted by the Bolshevik government is found in another Bible.

Under the shadow of the Chinese wall are these books offered for sale among the snows of Tibet, and where the Ganges pours into the Bay of Bengal. The tireless Bible agent is in the top of the Andes, and among the lakes of Canada, threading his way thro the forest of the Amazon, and passing along the endless leagues of the Australian wastes. "Their line has gone out thro all the earth and their words to the end of the world." The address is entitled, "The Word in the World," and gathers up the humor and the pathos, the efforts and the crowning success of this most marvellous of enterprises.

The day is being observed in special recognition of the teachers, and the public is invited to join in these two services, and assure all who have newly arrived on Maui of our hearty welcome and support.

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT OF ATTORNEY

I, Mrs. Amelia do Rego, of Wailuku, County of Maui, Territory of Hawaii, do hereby appoint and constitute Mrs. Virginia Purdy of Paia, County of Maui, aforesaid, my true and lawful attorney with full power to collect all rents due and receipt therefor and any other business that may be necessary to be conducted in my name, stead and behalf.

Molokai Notes

East and Central Molokai had good showers in the past week.

Pineapple tops are being rushed to both ends of the island, to Kahala and Puuhoku.

A. H. Hobart, low bidder for the survey of Keauanui harbor as a location for the proposed new Molokai wharf, is expected this week. Advocates of the site claim it is the only logical location for a central wharf for Molokai.

The new parsonage for the Kaluaaha church has been completed and the minister has moved in. The social hall is expected to be completed this week and will fill a long felt want.

Molokai is looking forward to crowds that will tax its housing capacity next week with a church convention and visits from the campaigning Republican candidates.

NOTICE

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I hereby give public notice that on and after this date I will no longer be responsible for any debts contracted by others in my name without my consent and warn all persons against giving credit to any persons for goods purchased in my name with out my specific authority.

Dated Maui, September 8, 1922.

Books for the Schools—Shipments to about half of the schools or books for the school branch libraries were made from the Maui County Free Library Tuesday and Wednesday and before the middle of next week it is expected that the supply for all the schools taking books will go out. The number allotted to the various schools has been increased over last year and about 1500 volumes are being distributed at this time.

Writ Is Quashed—Judge Case on Wednesday ordered quashed the writ of habeas corpus for Joe Abrey which attorney Eugene Murphy secured some time since. Abrey pleaded guilty of violation of the prohibition act in Magistrate Pacheco's court in Makawao and was fined $500. Murphy asked a mitigation of sentence and it was heard before Judge Burr and the decision sustained. He brought habeas corpus proceedings. In quashing the writ Judge Case held it should have come up under an appeal and the proceedings undertaken were not the proper remedy.

Dramatics Postponed—Owing to the shortness of time for rehearsals the production of "Clarence" by the newly organized Maui players for September 30 at the Kahului Theater has been postponed to a date to be announced later. Mrs. P. H. Ross is business manager of the new organization and Mrs. T. B. Linton has charge of the production. It is intended that the performance shall be for the benefit of the Woman's building fund.

Paul Low Summoned—On the complaint of Attorney Eugene Murphy a summons was issued to County Engineer Paul Low charging that on Tuesday afternoon of this week he violated the traffic ordinance by failing to give a signal before cutting in front of another car, thereby endangering the occupants of such other car. Murphy alleges that Low cut in front of the car in which he was riding with A. K. Okamura and that a collision was narrowly averted.

Large Party Takes Trip Through Tunnel

Headed by J. H. Foss, civil engineer of the Maui Agricultural Company as the personal conductor of the party, about 125 persons made the trip through the Wailuku Ditch extension tunnels which runs from Makiko quarry to Halehaku gulch, about five miles, the greater part of the distance under ground. They had been warned to wear old clothes and so were prepared for some wetness and for still more moisture returning home. However, they were well rewarded for the trip which was interesting and enlightening on an important irrigation project.

The underground limited, which carried the party, was headed by a Ford locomotive and made the round trip in about three hours.

Foss is planning another trip, with another party, next Sunday.

Will Not Completely Demolish Old Wharf

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
HONOLULU, Sept. 14.—The harbor board announced their decision that the old wharf at Lahaina will not be entirely demolished but that portions will be retained for small craft and navy maneuvers.

It has been persistently rumored that when the breasting buoys were in place and other suggestions relative to the old wharf carried out the harbor board would demolish the old Lahaina structure. One of the suggestions was the building of a shed on the Mala structure which has not yet been done. Practically all the more important suggestions have been or will be acted upon by the board.

The foregoing dispatch sets at rest the rumors that the Lahaina structure was to be completely demolished.

Palaces On Bosphorus Are Now Rented Out To Wealthy Tenants

CONSTANTINOPLE — (Associated Press Mail)—The Sublime Porte is considering seriously the note from the Allied High-Commissioner regarding the reduction of government employees, and it is expected that action will be taken which will make good the monthly deficit of 500,000 Turkish pounds in the wages to government servants.

In addition the Sublime Porte has decided to abolish the Legations and Consulates in various neutral countries. Orders have already gone out for the closing down of Legations and Consulates in Madrid, Berne, The Hague and Stockholm. Several government buildings of secondary importance will be evacuated and rented to private concerns. Some palaces on the Bosphorus will be rented to millionaires.

The economy measures provide also for the reductions in the salaries of schoolmasters, hospital nurses, and office boys; the abolition of superfluous government offices and the retirement of a large number of army and navy officers.

The Finance Ministry has decided to withdraw worn paper-money notes from circulation. The government, together with two delegates of the Ottoman Public Debt, is devising a plan to this end. Worn paper-money of two and a half, five 20 and 25 piastres notes will be withdrawn from circulation and replaced by metal pieces of equivalent value. No more metal money than the amount of paper money withdrawn will be struck.

for rent machines to accommodate so many and C. E. Morris and E. R. Bevin are in charge of transportation arrangements. They will engage all the seven passenger for rent cars that they find fit for the service and will secure volunteers with private cars. Their problem is a big one for they will require about sixty cars in all. They will also secure volunteer guides to accompany visitors who are in the rented cars. Each car will be numbered and each visitor has a number to designate the car to which he or she is to be assigned.

Sight Seeing Trips

On entering the cars the party divides, half going out into East Maui and half over to West Maui. The latter party will again divide, half of the cars going up Iao Valley before proceeding to Lahaina and the other half making the Valley trip on their return from the leeward side.

At noon all of the cars are to deliver their passengers at the Grand Hotel where a buffet luncheon is to be served. After luncheon those who took the East Maui trip will go to West Maui, following the same plan as in the morning of dividing for the trip up Iao Valley and the visitors who made the Lahaina trip in the morning will go to East Maui.

In East Maui the drive will be through the cane and pineapple countries with visits to the canneries and a way up the lower slopes of Haleakala to Makawao and out Hamakua-poko way, if the guests so desire.

Polo Game Asked

The Polo Club has been asked to put on a match Tuesday afternoon and it is expected that arrangements to do so will be completed tomorrow. The party in East Maui could see the match and perhaps some even if not all of those who go to West Maui in the afternoon could reach Sunnyside in time.

Then Comes Luzu

At 6:30 there is to be a luncheon in the Commercial Building on the Fair Grounds which is being arranged by W. A. Clark and H. K. Duncan. Members of the Maui Chamber of Commerce and their wives who desire to attend the luncheon may secure tickets at $1.50 each. The committee has secured the services of Mrs. Becky Wilkinson to assist. At the luncheon J. J. Walsh, vice-president of the Maui Chamber of Commerce, will address the visitors in welcoming words and then act as toastmaster, the most prominent members of the excursion party and of the party from Honolulu being called upon.

Tickets for the luncheon can be secured from Eddie Tam, Baldwin Bank Kahului or at booth at Commercial Building Tuesday evening.

Real Hawaii Shown

The luncheon ended, which will probably be about 8:30 there will be an adjournment taken to the Territorial Building where a "Night on Maui" will be presented. Mrs. A. Garcia has been asked to stage a show similar to those presented under her direction for the Hawaiian Women's Club and the Companies of the Forest.

The committee will meet again at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon to make sure that all arrangements have been perfected.

Morals In England At Low Ebb Reports Wesleyan Leader

LONDON, Aug. 2 — (Associated Press Mail)—The Rev. John E. Wakerley, the new president of the Wesleyan Conference, denounced the immorality existing today in English society both high and low, in his presidential address.

On the same day that his utterances were published here, there appeared a dispatch from New York in which the prevalence of vice and immorality in America was denounced by the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

American readers may be interested in learning that according to Dr. Wakerley, English morals are apparently quite as bad as American morals.

"Human life by many is held very cheaply," was his indictment. "There is scarce a day when you do not open your paper upon some sordid story of the slaughter of some innocent."

"The standard of morals between the sexes in many places is very low. The sacredness of the marriage relationship is openly pooh-poohed; lust tramples truth, integrity, and domestic happiness beneath its feet. 'You have increased the number of your judges in the courts which deal with domestic tragedy because of the number of people who have sought relief in that direction. When you have done that, you have only touched the fringe of the evil.'"

"Your cities have no monopoly of vice. Get rid of the impression that because your villages are picturesquely placed they are therefore homes of deep spirituality. Alas! it is not so."

"You have frequently in what you think your fair village life a low moral sense, which is indicated by an unworthy estimate of womanhood. 'We have been reminded in the last few weeks that materialism is trebly bankrupt in philosophy, in the natural sciences, and in practical life, and that the only alternatives are a continuance of the present chaos till it ends in a crash, or a return to a spiritual view of the universe.'"

Naturally Endowed

The woman said she wanted a book to give her little boy on his birthday, something useful and instructive.

"Here's an excellent one on 'Self Help,'" said the clerk. "Self help!" she exclaimed. "He doesn't need any instruction in that line—you ought to see him at a party."—Boston Transcript.

Lifting Embargo Is Alarming Australia

SYDNEY, N. S. W.—(Associated Press Mail) A great deal of apprehension exists in Australia regarding the lifting of the embargo upon German goods which took place August 1. Three days before this date the steamer Maimyo, which had loaded at Hamburg and was the first vessel to come here from Germany since 1914, landed a portion of her cargo at Melbourne.

A storm of public protest and threats of all sorts of action by the customs authorities ceased when it was discovered that the official origin of most of cargo was Czechoslovakia which made them immune from prohibition. Some German goods in the cargo were landed here on the day the embargo was lifted. They comprised pianos and toys, marked at prices considerably lower than those current here. Eleven other vessels were listed to land at Hamburg for Australian ports during August.

The federal conference of returned soldiers here adopted recently a resolution urging the federal government to pass legislation which would prevent the dumping of German goods and protect Australian and British manufacturers. Another resolution provided for a nation-wide campaign to pledge Australians to purchase Australian-produced goods exclusively.

Restless Ocean Made Lasting Memorial to Antipodean Soldiers

SYDNEY, N. S. W.—(Associated Press Mail)—Naming of the Tasman sea, the waters of which touch Australia and New Zealand the "Anzac" sea as a lasting memorial to the soldiers of both countries who took part in the landing at Gallipoli, which was the genesis of the word Anzac, has been suggested here.

It was pointed out that Australia and New Zealand, although separated geographically, are linked commercially by the Tasman sea and that the designation "Anzac" to the body of water would typify the link that unites the two Dominions. With "Anzac" sea on the maps of the Pacific, it is believed that all school children throughout the world would be told of the battle of Gallipoli. It has been suggested further that the formal change of name might be made a special feature of next Anzac Day in both Australia and New Zealand.

INDIVIDUALITY COUNTS

Even in little things it counts. A gift, however slight is the more valued if there is a touch of the personal with it. That is never more true than in Christmas Cards. Any one can buy a card in a store at holiday time but to select your own design and have it engraved with your own name shows thought goes with the remembrance. Orders placed now will insure early delivery for the Holidays.
