Sanction Is Given But No Liability Is Assumed For Funds

Sanction for the proposed game of football between the Maui High and Honolulu Military Academy elevens was given by the football committee and the sports committee of the Maui County Fair and Racing Association last night at meetings of those two bodies but no financial responsibilities in connection with such game will be assumed. If the team is brought over it is for the High School team to raise the funds in case the gate receipts prove inadequate to meet any liability.

Opposition to the proposed game was voiced in the meeting of the football committee on the ground that the H. M. A. team is the weakest in the Honolulu interscholastic league and would not be a good drawing card. Further an application for games from an "All-Star Interscholastic Team" has been received and there have been indirect advice that the Kaim School championship team wants games. The matter of bringing one of those teams to Maui for games with one or more of the senior league teams or a senior league team and the Maui Hi's will be taken up by J. Garcia, chairman of the sports committee, in Honolulu when he goes over to the capital city at the end of the week.

After considerable discussion sanction of the game proposed to be held with H. M. A. on December 16 was given the stand taken being that junior football should be given all possible encouragement. However, no definite guaranty is given Maui by Hilo for the high school game at the Crescent City and it was not clear to the committee why Maui should do more than Hilo in an interscholastic series.

POSTPONED GRID GAME THURSDAY

The postponed football game between the Paia and Lahaina elevens of the Maui senior league will be played on Thanksgiving Day, November 29, at the Kahului Fair Grounds gridiron.

Both teams have been materially strengthened by the few additional days for practice and preparation thereby assuring a game that will be hard fought from start to finish.

Paia will have its original lineup in Thursday's game, according to a statement by Manager Joe Meinecke. The Buff and Blue is expected to be strengthened by the return of three star players who have been on the sick list.

Engle Made Member Sports Committee

Some changes in the personnel of the sports committee and its sub-committees were made at a meeting held last night at which football and the future general policies of conduct of the sports committee were the chief subjects considered.

William H. Engle was named a member of the sports committee thus filling the vacancy in that body occasioned by the death of A. W. Collins. Engle has taken an active interest in sports this year especially in baseball and football and was prominently identified with the arranging of the All-Maui baseball league and was manager of the champion American-Chinese nine. This fall he has taken hold of football and is chiefly responsible for the Waialua eleven having been organized.

In the sub-committees of the sports committee two changes were made. Ed Delmer was named chairman of the tennis committee, formerly headed by A. W. Collins. Edey is chairman of the entertainment committee to succeed J. H. Gray who tendered his resignation when he became secretary of the Fair and Racing Association several months ago. Engle will put on the annual New Year's fancy dress ball.

Gridiron Fan Picks Junior "All-Stars"

From a Maui High School student, evidently an enthusiast of the get-in-and-kick-'em-in-the-face gridiron game which is now at its most popular stage on this island, comes a speculative all star junior football team.

That the writer, who for reasons of his own wishes to remain unknown, places his hopes and predictions in all good faith is evident in the fact that his own name does not appear in his aggregation of "All-Stars."

He says, "The best of the junior league players, taking into the selection the players from the Waialua and Haiku junior elevens and the Maui Hi's championship squad and taking into consideration their every merit from all angles of the game are to my mind, Walker, Venhuizen, Watson, Weight, Ald and Fujiohshi from the High School; Boy Hart, George Wilhelm (Maikali), Do Rego and Sterling Hebert from the Waialua team and Tavares from Haiku."

This is how he would line them up: Hart, center; Wilhelm and Walker, guards; Venhuizen and Watson, at tackle; Weight and Do Rego at ends; Ald, quarter; Fujiohshi and Tavares at halves and Sterling Hebert at full.

If any other junior sport fan can think of a better one let Maui News know and the subject will be given Haiku junior elevens and the Maui

Maui Hi Annexes Gridiron Title

(By Clarence Pereira.)
Maui Hi's gridiron eleven has annexed the title of junior football champions for the island of Maui. The last and deciding game of the junior series was played Saturday afternoon at Wells Field in Waialua and the Hi squad romped off the field an easy victor over the Haiku junior team to the tune of 15-0.

The forward pass played an important part in Saturday's game, both the high schools touchdowns coming from the overhead play.

Score Early
In the first quarter Tavares on the Haiku team was tackled and dumped behind the Haiku goal line for a safety. There was no further scoring in this period and the quarter ended with the score, Maui Hi's 2, Haiku 0.

Tommy Ald's Maui Hi's general starting the schools steam roller going in the second stanza when he pulled a beautiful pass out of the air and dashed across the Haiku goal. A place kick added the extra point. Score at second quarter, Maui Hi 9, Haiku 0.

Tight Play
The third quarter was a tight battle with neither team having the slightest advantage. Both squads played their mightiest, the schools squad to hold the lead they had taken in the early moments and the Haiku team in a grand effort to swing the tide of the battle.

L. Weight scored the final touchdown for the school. With but a short minute to play before the timer would blow the ending whistle the speedy man at end tucked away a forward an airing.

and time during the contest across the Haiku goal.

They Starred
Starring brightest for the winners were Leslie Weight at end and Donald and Tam Sing in the backfield. For Haiku, Mitka, Adu and Tony Tavares were the brightest stars.

It is considered probable that the High School squad will journey to Hilo during the coming week and meet the Hilo Hi's in a game there. The High School will wind up their season at home with a game against the Honolulu Military Academy, it is thought.

American Prize Ring System Finding High Favor With Germans

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

BERLIN—Boxing has become so popular in Germany that the American system of matinee programs has been adopted. Some 10,000 "fans" crowded the Sports Palace at each of two recent bills, and it was stated the demand would have been even greater had it not been for the fact that the bouts were staged in the evening and many suburbanites were kept away by the difficulty of getting midnight trains home.

Big Bout

Americans here are interested in the outcome of a challenge which Hans Breitenstraeter, Germany's heavy-weight champion, had lodged with an American boxer, Samson, who provided the sensation of the evening in his Berlin debut recently. Samson is reported to have been a sparring partner of Jack Dempsey, and to have made good showings against such fighters as Tom Gibbons and "Kid" Norfolk.

Samson surprised the spectators by showing a speed and an aggressiveness greatly contrasting with the sluggish maneuvers of the native talent. Although twenty pounds lighter than Hugo Podzahn (175), a Bavarian of considerable ring experience in Germany, the American knocked his opponent down so often in the two opening rounds that the latter's seconds saved their fighter from the other eight rounds by throwing in the towel. Breitenstraeter, who was at the ringside, immediately issued a challenge to the winner and it was accepted.

Comic Events

Americans who attended this program found highly amusing two others bouts on the bill. In one of these a flabby, 159 pound boxer who has become somewhat of a local favorite, as German pugilistic standards go, put up a comic-opera opposition to a lighter man, enraging many enthusiasts who had been expecting a stiff battle. After stolidly stalking about the ring for eight rounds with little or no guard to ward off a rain of punches which lacked knock-out effectiveness the favorite blantly walked over to his corner, giving up the fight. He was greeted with a bouquet of roses from an admirer.

A Dutch boxer, understood to have a fair reputation behind him, figured in the windup as a substitute for the Italian Spalla who was prevented from appearing because of illness. After keeping the audience and a huge German opponent impatiently waiting ten minutes for him to enter the ring, the Hollander appeared, attended by an imposing retinue of assistants. His opponent landed several stiff blows early in the fight, and thereafter the visitor fled in panic from one corner of the ring to another until the towering German caught up with him long enough to secure a knock-out in the first round. The crowd sympathized, laughed, and protested in turn.

Seek "Master Mind" In Jewel Robberies Throughout Europe

LONDON—(By Associated Press Mail)—The police are seeking in this city the head of what is said to be a remarkable group of international criminals. A veritable "Napoleon of Crime" is believed to have established his headquarters here. He is alleged to command a well organized band of international crooks, every one of whom is a past master of every form of nefarious graftsmanship known in the underworld. They include men of education, scientific attainments, and social charm. Under the leadership of their mysterious chief they are credited with conducting burglaries, cracking safes, and committing costly jewel robberies that baffle detection. They are declared to work in accordance with plans of campaign prepared by the master mind with all the skill of a great military strategist. Several papers print this story with varying degrees of sensationalism. Of late there has been an increasing number of jewel robberies. As a result an insurance company which insures a good deal of valuable jewelry has increased its premiums charged on this class of risks by 25 percent. J. W. Bell one of London's leading assessors, says that many recent big robberies have been so well planned and executed that the police can do little more than suspect the authors. "The people who engineer these crimes are not the common, ordinary type of thief," Mr. Bell says. "There is more than one real raffles in existence today. They haunt society gatherings, and in the hotels they are popular guests."

"I know one man who has a town address, a country house near Bourne-mouth, and two fine motor-cars, who is more than suspected of complicity in some of these great robberies, but up to the present time there has never been the slightest chance of connecting him with any of them."

"He is of good appearance, always well-dressed, and would, in the ordinary way, be accepted as a guest at the houses of wealthy people."

"I know one instance in which a director of thieves is reputed to be worth $150,000. Another successful director is a woman who has a university education, and is a cultured and charming personality. "The victims, both in hotels and at private houses are often watched and shadowed for days before a suitable opportunity for the robbery occurs. It may easily cost $1,000 or $1,500 to meet the expenses of a successful haul, and the big thieves require frequent robberies to maintain themselves."

Too Familiar

The teacher asked: "You do not want to go to Heaven?" and Hail answered: "No, thank you." Teacher asked why, and Hail replied: "It has not been long since I came from there."—Asa Bennett, in the Wilmington News.

Considerable lava has been noticed in the crater of Kilauea since recent earthquake shocks. According to P. T. Phillips, manager of the Volcano House, past performances have indicated that there may be a "good show" at Kilauea for Thanksgiving Day.

The most pronounced tremor in recent years was registered on the island of Hawaii last Monday morning, according to kamaainas of Hilo. It was felt in all portions of the island but no material damage was reported.

THANKSGIVING DAY

Typically American is Thanksgiving Day, the holiday which is to be observed on Thursday. It was born of the Puritanism of the early settlers and is but one of many good things those Puritans left as a legacy to the un-Puritanical American of today.

Times have changed since the settlers wended their ways over leaf-strewn, frost-bitten earth to a roughly hewn church where they sat with rifle on their knees or at their sides and listened to the long dissertations that were the religious vogue in those times.

Little enough cause, it would seem to those of today, looking back into those by-gone days, had those settlers for thankfulness. However, they found the causes even amidst the perils, privations and hardships of those days and they gave thanks for the blessings and favors that came to them and then was the precedent established that has been followed ever since.

Thanksgiving Day is an occasion for looking only upon the bright side of life, for optimism. It is a day for rejoicing, not mere silent rejoicing but for the expression of the gratefulness man feels to the Deity from whence comes every good thing for the share of the abundance that has fallen to him.

Dark and gloomy as may be one's aspect of life, if one will but look for causes for thanksgiving they will be found aplenty. Each and every one, reckoning what he has given and expressed for the good and for the ill of others and for the world and humanity, will find he has received far in excess of his deserts if he will be fair with himself in reckoning up such accounts. There is much more of what is called good than of what is called ill in the world. Times and conditions grow better, not worse. There is reason for devout thankfulness and for an expression of it to the source from which have come all the blessings of the year and of past years.

This country has most occasion of any nation for thankfulness for none other in history has been so blessed and so fortunate. And each and every citizen, a sharer in such blessings and good fortune, has similar cause to feel and express gratitude therefore. And every alien, every stranger within the gates of America, has cause for deep thanksgiving at being permitted to share in all the benefits that surround him.

Here in Hawaii there are many religions but each of them recognizes some source of good and all can unite in expression of gratitude to that source on the peculiarly American holiday, Thanksgiving Day.

KEEP UP THE PACE

With this issue there closes an epoch for Maui News. It has outgrown its field as a weekly and as a semi-weekly publication and with its next issue it goes out to its readers as a daily newspaper. Each afternoon it will carry to them the news of that day, from the outside world as well as the home news.

More ambitious than a newspaper ordinarily is willing to face is the project, embracing, as it does, a carrier system for the more populous sections of Central, East and West Maui. This community is a scattered one. Carrier routes will be widely separated and the area a carrier has to cover will be large. Places more than 20 miles away will be reached. At this time it is not possible to cover all the territory that is desired but the routes will be extended and the delivery service given to others as fast as is warranted. Meantime those who are not yet reached by carrier will still receive their papers by mail as formerly.

Aside from the difficulties attached to a delivery system the project is one which might cause hesitancy where the spirit of community interest and pride was less manifest than on Maui. Since there will be no morning paper on Maui the afternoon paper will have no one to bear any share of the expense of wireless service and thus it happens that it will buy the largest telegraph service of any newspaper in the Islands since it has to secure all of the afternoon field service and a part of the morning field news as well. Also, it has to secure not only the wireless from the mainland but also the Honolulu news.

Back in Arizona the editor of this paper while editing dailies used to look upon a prosperous weekly newspaper as the ideal occupation for an editor. There is time to gather the news with little effort and ample time for the preparation of editorial copy. He wanted to edit a weekly. He left Honolulu to come to such a field in Maui.

Even when one secures something he thinks he has wanted he is not long satisfied, it seems. In a short time the editor and management recognized that Maui was entitled to something more than a weekly newspaper could offer and at the end of a year Maui News had Associated Press service and had become a semi-weekly. The "ideal situation" had been abandoned. But the semi-weekly was not all that Maui should have and so plans were laid and have been carried out to give the best Island of the group a home daily.

In taking this step the management has realized that for the time, at least, a daily newspaper will not be so profitable as the semi-weekly. However, so splendid a community as Maui has a right to expect the best it is possible for it to secure and to supply its wants is the province of Maui News. Community good comes first. Hence Daily Maui News makes its appearance next Friday afternoon. It will not be a larger paper at the outset but it will carry the news of the day on that day and will get such news to its readers from 12 to 48 hours sooner than it will be possible to secure it from the outside papers. On Friday, the publication day when it was a weekly it will carry special features and be larger than the other issues of the week. To that extent only will the Friday paper be a "weekly" issue of the Daily Maui News.

PAST NOT BURIED

It takes little to stir up a spirit of animosity in some parts of the South even today, more than half a century since the opening of the "bloody Chasm." In Montgomery, the capital, and other parts of Alabama there has been caused a great to-do over the planting and up-rooting of a Roosevelt memorial tree.

The tree was planted with the consent of the governor in the capital grounds by Boy Scouts as a memorial to Roosevelt, "their leader." The Daughters of the Confederacy afterward passed a resolution that declared that while the action of the Scouts was commendable the selection of the capital grounds as the place for the tree was a mistake. They sought the removal of the tree and called upon the governor and the scout executives. The governor refused to act but said he would consent to such removal if the Scouts council would agree. The latter is said to have regarded the incident as closed. Later unknown persons uprooted the tree and then the tempest was let loose.

It was unfortunate that the effort was made to locate the memorial tree near the site where Jefferson Davis took bath of office as president of the Confederacy. Probably it was thoughtless, however, and the fact it might revive old prejudices was overlooked. It is Turkey has long been the land of women. It is now permitted to import wine at only 20 percent ad valorem duty and that may be expected to produce song. But who besides a Turk wants to live in such a land of wine, women and song.

This is the season of the year when the night hawk is in his glory for the days continue to shorten and the nights to lengthen.

Good judgment is the most valuable part of the capital one invests in his business.

In the old days "family skeletons" were carefully concealed in home closets. Now they are flaunted on the front pages of metropolitan dailies and Sunday supplements.

No matter how many coats of paint and enamel are given the car they do not take the knock out of the engine. No matter how much polish and politeness a man puts on if there is anything wrong with his moral and mental make up, the knocking will manifest itself.

What one doesn't say often amounts to more than what is said. One should think how he would like to have the words uttered about himself.

After all the phonograph has its advantages. One does not have to wear one's voice out persuading it to sing and better still one can stop the song at will without hurting its feelings.

It has been remarked that in these shorter days just before one is out of bed it is time to go to work. But the days will grow longer after the twenty first of next month.

unfortunate that such prejudice still is dormant in the hearts of the Daughters of the Confederacy and others even after North and South have fought shoulder to shoulder in a common cause in the World War.

At the same time it must be remembered that Roosevelt the man while the idol of many was by no means the idol of all. He roused antagonisms in his own party even. He is said to have used especially bitter language in reference to Davis which the Alabama people resented and had not forgotten. If he roused antagonism in his own party so did he with the opposition. It was courting trouble to plant the tree on that site. Yet after all, how small and mean is it all, how small a matter the planting of a tree to the memory of a dead man. How much better had a monument to Davis stood beneath the shadow of a Roosevelt tree.

And another point of view. The whole controversy is so utterly not worth while. Roosevelt has been president and has won his admirers but that does not give such admirers the right to demand from others an admiration for the man which such others do not feel. There are Republicans who have not forgotten that Roosevelt made possible the election of Wilson and that he placed his own determination to rule first in his conduct in first securing the nomination of Taft and then breaking the ties of friendship with the executive.

The clear lesson is that it is well to respect the wishes and the prejudices of one's neighbors and that failure to do so is courting trouble unnecessarily for in this instance any other site than the one selected would have met with no opposition.

Honolulu theater managers are prohibiting smoking in their theaters on their own orders since they could not prevail upon the supervisors to issue the orders. As yet Maui has not shown any inclination to start anything.

Civic Conventions have an excellent purpose and it is to be hoped that Maui will be well represented in Honolulu Thursday and Friday of this week. It is to be regretted that so little enthusiasm on the subject has been manifested.

HANDY FOOTBALL

This game is played with a basketball on a ground measuring not less than eight by sixteen yards. Three yards from the boundary line at each end of the field another line is drawn upon which the players line up. There should be one neutral leader to act as umpire and referee for both teams. Each team selects a kicker, who stands two yards from the central dividing line. The rest of the players line up on the line described above. The leader stands close to the center of the side lines. Handy football is a strenuous game, as its object is to kick the ball over the heads of the opposing players.

The leader starts the basketball by tossing it so that it will touch ground in the space between the two opposing kickers, both of whom immediately rush for the ball and try to kick it over the heads of the opposing team. The players on the line-up are not allowed to intercept the ball except with their hands—hence the name handy football. They are not permitted to kick it, shoulder it nor grasp it, but can only bat it with their hands without leaving their places on the line. Whenever a kicker succeeds in kicking the ball across the enemy's line-up his team scores five points, and the teams change sides for the next round. Every infraction of the rules scores a point for the opposing team. Game is won by the team first reaching fifty points.

THE HOME IN GOOD TASTE

By Harold Donaldson Eberlein

No. 34—The Useful Chest

Household furniture is intended to serve only three physical purposes. First, it is meant to sit or lie upon; second, it is meant to put things on; and, third, it is meant to put things in. All furniture belongs to one or another of these three classes. Certain pieces, however, combine two of these functions. Among such pieces the chest is one of the most important. You can sit upon it, and you can put things in it.

The practical-minded people of the Stuart or Jacobean period made full use of the chest in both capacities. It was one of the most useful as well as one of the commonest articles in their houses. The chest can be just as useful today as it ever was. The simplest kind of chest was just a box with a hinged lid, but chests were also made with various arrangements of drawers, and likewise with doors that opened in front. The chest was, indeed, the ancestor of many later pieces of cabinet-work.

Some chests were as plain as pipe-stems, others were ornamented with paneling, with carving, or with applied moldings, and occasionally color was added. Many of the early American oak or pine chests, with applied ornament, are very beautiful.

DREAMLAND ADVENTURES

The Magic Fairy Cap
By ARTHUR W. STACE

Copyright 1921, by Public Ledger Co.

CHAPTER IV

The Bluebell Caps

"Cheer! Cheer! Cheer!" sang the birds happily. "Jack and Janet have saved the son of the Fairy King from Black Dragon and Hairy Ogre. They have won the magic fairy cap. Cheer! Cheer! Cheer!"

But Jack and Janet were too much puzzled to cheer. They gazed wonderingly at the humming bird they had rescued from the spider's web. Why did the birds call him the son of the Fairy King? Were the birds mistaken, or were they telling stories? And why did the birds call the snake a Black Dragon and the spider a Hairy Ogre? The snake was scary enough itself, and so was the spider, but Jack and Janet thought a dragon and an ogre would be much worse.

The humming bird, still resting in Janet's hand, looked into their troubled faces and smiled.

"Why, the bluebell look like caps!" cried Jack.

"Do not fret or worry," he whispered. "Things will look much different to you when you wear the magic fairy cap."

That made Jack and Janet wonder more than ever about the magic fairy cap. If they had won it, when were they going to get it?

The humming bird seemed to read their thoughts.

"The magic fairy cap grows among the lovely flowers in the charming dell," he whispered. "Go back and you will find it."

Jack and Janet didn't like to go back to the dell. They had been only too glad to escape from it after fighting the snake and the spider.

"Just a little more bravery," urged the humming bird. "Just a little more bravery to gain the prize you desire." The tiny creature fluttered toward the dell as if to guide them. Janet seized Jack's hand and they followed.

The humming bird flitted across the dell and hung poised over a slender stalk from which hung two pretty bluebells. But these bluebells, instead of being all blue, were streaked with pink.

"Why, these bluebells look like caps!" cried Jack.

"Perhaps they are the magic fairy caps," whispered Janet. The humming bird danced in the air as if to say "yes."

"They are just flowers," said Jack. Nevertheless, he plucked the bluebells. One he placed on Janet's head and the other he stuck on his own head.

The bluebell caps when he plucked them were too small to fit even a doll. Now a surprising thing happened. The caps seemed to grip the heads of the children, fitting them perfectly.

At the same instant Jack and Janet felt their eyes jerk open and they saw things they had never seen before, prince hovering above them on gauzy wings.

"I told you things would look much different to you when you wore the magic fairy cap," laughed the fairy prince in a tinkling voice.

Then they knew him. He was the humming bird. But now they saw that the only things about him that really looked like a humming bird were his wings. His head and his body were like those of a very tiny handsome young man.

Just then Jack and Janet saw something else—something that made them cry out in alarm.

What that something was will be told in the Friday chapter.

Crosses Pacific In Crude Chinese Junk

VICTORIA, B. C.—(By Associated Press Mail)—A tiny Chinese junk scarcely larger than the fishing boats that sail the North Pacific waters recently nosed her way through the fog hanging over the Straits of Juan De Fuca and made her way to anchor in the harbor of Victoria, peacefully ending what is said to have been one of the most daring voyages across the Pacific Ocean.

Captain George Ward grew tired of life on the China Coast and decided to return to Victoria. So he gathered a few tools and the necessary timber and fashioned himself a twenty-three ton ship on the lines of the Chinese fishing junks in which he proposed to sail the 5,300 miles of ocean between him and the port of his desire. He signed on a fearless crew of three Chinese, two of whom had never been outside the waters of Hongkong harbor, and with his Chinese wife as mate and his nine year old son as cook and cabin boy, he cast off June 21 and proceeded down the river "towards Victoria," as his log expresses it.

Such was the start of the 51 day's voyage which, according to the skipper of the frail craft, was the roughest trip he ever made. He tells of being driven into the Bering Sea by typhoons that all but swamped the little vessel, of their rudder being twice carried away and of rigging a jury rudder that cut their speed down to practically nothing; of calms that followed the gales when the great rollers pounded his ship mercilessly. Some days said the captain they would make fair headway only to be driven back again the next.

Then to crown all, when they were just outside the Straits of Juan De Fuca, the great hulk of a Japanese steamer bore down on them through the fog. For a moment Captain Ward thought a collision inevitable. He threw the tiller hard over and the junk swung around in her own length as the towering steel hull and by not four feet away.

Only once did they doubt that they would reach Victoria, said the captain. And as for making the trip on a steamer, well this is Captain Ward's opinion of them in his own words: "Steamers, bah! I hate 'em!" Not so the Chinese crew, however. One way passage aboard the junk was enough for them and after a short visit in Victoria they took passage home on a liner.

Girl Deep Sea Diver Seeks Spanish Loot

LONDON—(By Associated Press Mail)—The profession of deep sea diving, which anyone would classify as a calling particularly fitted for men, has been successfully invaded by woman. Margaret Naylor, an English girl, is acclaimed as one of the most efficient and daring wearers of the helmet in British waters.

She has gained a wide reputation during the last two years, and more recently for her efforts in the recovery of treasure from the sunken Spanish galleon lying in ten fathoms of water near the shore of Mull, an island off Scotland. There, in the cozy little harbor of Tobermory, and less than a hundred yards from the beach, lies one of the great treasure ships of the Spanish Armada. The boat was one of the many vessels launched by the ambitious Phillip, in 1588, for his attempted conquest of England.

So certain was this monarch that he would add the British Isles to his already large domains, that he actually sent on his jeweled regalia in advance. It is believed today that the richly bejeweled crown is lying somewhere in the sixty feet of water among the wreckage of the Admirante de Florencia, which Miss Naylor has succeeded in negotiating.

Although the task presents many problems which would cause anxiety to divers of the stronger sex, Miss Naylor shows no fear. She had had one or two narrow escapes from death in the course of her experience, without being in any way deterred from tackling the risky business again.

Miss Naylor recently made a trip to the southern coast of England and obtained some excellent specimens of undersea plant life. She nearly lost her life when her feet became entangled in a ladder which she was using, and only her presence of mind enabled her to free herself and be hauled safely to the top.

Artificial Eyelashes New Parisian Foible

PARIS—(Associated Press Mail)—A superb set of silky eyelashes, secure, for all time and impervious to loss through laughter or tears, may be had in Paris for a price, or rather two prices, the cost in francs charged for the operation and the pain which this same operation entails.

There are Parisian women who gladly pay both. The lashes are sewn into the edges of the lids by a deft surgeon, and take root there after about twenty days. Seen close at hand, they show no scar or rim around the lid to betray the surgeon's touches.

Fifth Of Norway's Citizens Bootleg

CHRISTIANA — (By Associated Press Mail)—Illicit dealing in liquor in prohibition Norway has proved such a profitable trade that it is estimated twenty per cent of the population is actively engaged in rum smuggling. The excitement and adventure involved appeal to many people, and are by no means a small factor in causing them to enter the business. The competition in the trade at sea is so great that ninety-six per cent alcohol from Germany is bought at thirty cents a quart on the boats and sold ashore for two dollars. The greater portion of this stuff is rank and contains a large percentage of wood alcohol and other poisonous ingredients. Once ashore this liquor finds a ready market at many times its value, and it is sold under the eyes of the government in all of the cities and towns of the restricted districts. The press of Norway agrees that the situation is little short of a public scandal, but it is not able to offer any suggestions as to how the revenue department should cope with the law violators. Meanwhile the government is losing millions of crowns, as the liquor brings no revenue into the state treasury.

G. O. P. Defeat Due To Printing Error

ISLAND POND, Vermont, Nov. 16.—(By Associated Press Mail)—Vermont politicians are still discussing an incident of the recent primary when the discovery of a ballot error enabled a hand picked slate for which only 70 votes were cast to defeat the Republican candidates named on the official ticket for Essex County officers.

An attorney in this village, which is the home of Congressman Porter H. Dale, made note of the fact that instead of being printed on separate ballots as the law requires, the Republican and Democratic county tickets appeared on a joint ballot. At a hastily summoned conference late in the day he and some of his friends who had refrained from voting drew up a ticket of Republican candidates none of whose names appeared on the official ballot. They then went to a voting place and the attorney called for a Republican ballot. When he was given one of the joint ballots, he called the attention of the election officials to the error and convinced them, after looking up the wording of the law, that the ballot was not legal.

It was agreed that the ballot be cut in two. Shortly before the polls closed the slitting process was completed and on the Republican half the attorney and his friends wrote in the names of their candidates. When the votes were counted it was found that 70 had been cast for this ticket and one for the regular slate, and the election officials declared that these were the only legal Republican votes cast in the county.

AMERICANS MISSING IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW, Nov. 5.—(By Associated Press Mail)—Scattered about Russia are about 46 "lost" persons whose relatives claim for them American citizenship and for whom search is being made by representatives of the American Relief Administration.

Since the A. R. Late in September there were about 100 other persons awaiting completion of the necessary repatriation operations. In many cases these require weeks and often months, owing to various routine matters connected with passport requirements.

Lisbon Aroused Over Political Slayings

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 15.—(By Associated Press Mail)—Two recent political assassinations in the streets of Lisbon have aroused the people of this turbulent city. The authorities are accused of failing to afford protection to individuals, and the newspapers are calling upon the government to do something, else Lisbon will become more and more isolated from the provinces where already the city is regarded as a dangerous center of disorder.

The latest crimes took place within three days of each other, and in the heart of the city. Neither victim is expected to live. One was a leading civil revolutionist known under the nickname of "Avante." He is accused of having denounced some of his former comrades who advocated very extreme measures. He was crossing the street at night, near the docks, when an automobile suddenly stopped near him. Two men jumped out, one stabbed him with a dagger, and then both fled in the car.

The other victim is Sergio Principe, a Lisbon merchant, who is accused of forsaking his old ideals in favor of the working classes, and who is said to be today the secretary of the Patronal Association, an organization recently opposed to the Syndicates and the Unions. Principe also was stabbed while walking on the street in front of his store, and his assailant escaped. Both men had received letters of warning, written in blood, and signed "The Red Legion."

For the dancers there will be served coffee, doughnuts, punch, cake and other good things and also on sale there will be dainties which will make an acceptable addition to the Thanksgiving dinner table next day.

Good music is promised, and the previous entertainments by the organization insure an enjoyable ushering in of the holiday.

Many Used Machines
Sold Under Hammer

Numerous used cars, ranging in type from the lowly Ford to a fully equipped hearse were auctioned on Saturday at the Maui garage. The auction was held under the direction of C. D. Lukin, trustee for Maui stockholders of the now defunct, Newton Automobile Exchange.

Many of the machines were knocked down at an extremely low figure and today several Wailukuites were to be seen trying out their acquisitions on nearby county roads.

W. F. Crockett swung the hammer and ran the sales off in short order. He was aided by Mr. Lukin who explained the merits or defects of the various vehicles as they came up for sale.

U. S. Jazz Invades
"Dear Ol' Lunnun"

LONDON, Nov. 16.—(By Associated Press Mail.)—The recent influx of American jazz bandsmen to supply music for the constantly increasing numbers of Britishers who have succumbed to the fox trot has had the effect of spreading considerable alarm among English musicians, many of whom claim to have thereby lost their jobs.

Recently there have been numerous representations to the Home Secretary alleging that American musicians have been allowed to enter England in violation of the Alien Restriction Act. It is claimed that a large number of American jazzers have come here posing as students or tourists, while they already have contracts in their pockets calling for large salaries, some as high as sixty pounds a week.

Musicians' unions are considering a campaign to boycott all hotels and music halls employing alien jazz players to the exclusion of the British. The unions claim to have the support of the British Legion.

The craze for American jazz dancing in London has reached wide proportions as is witnessed by the large numbers of advertisements in the daily papers listing instructors in latest ballroom dances, and the many places furnishing jazz music.

BUTTER PAYS RENT

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—(By Associated Press Mail.)—A novel method of evading the uncertainties caused by the fluctuations of the mark has been adopted by a woman farmer in the small East Prussian town of Marienkirche. She leased 35 acres of pasture to another farmer for a yearly rental of 6,500 pounds of butter.

The income of this land before the war was about 4,000 or 5,000 marks a year, whereas the 6,500 pounds of butter correspond at present to about 400,000 marks.

NEW LAUNCHING PLAN

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

LONDON.—Life boats arranged on deck on rails, so that they can be run to that part of the ship from which launching is possible, are features of the new steamship Mecklenburg, claimed to be the last word in safety ships, which has just made her maiden trip between Folkestone and Flushing.

In many cases of disaster at sea it has been found impossible to launch all of the boats on a ship because of the list. By this new device this difficulty is said to be overcome.

The couple were married on November 15 at Lahaina by Rev. Frank N. Crockett at his home. The ceremony was very simple only the bride and groom and the necessary two witnesses being present.

The bride is a well known island girl and has a host of friends and acquaintances on this island and in Honolulu. The groom is attached to the editorial staff of Maui News.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Following a dinner which had been extended to Eddie Tam elsewhere a dance was tendered to him at the Grand Hotel Saturday night on the occasion of his birthday, the hostess being Miss Rebecca G. Young.

The makai side of the large dining room was used for the dance and Chinese lanterns over the electric bulbs cast a soft and pleasing light upon a festive scene on the dancing floor.

Among the guests were Mesdames Rose Kepolait, J. G. Pratt, Ben See, E. N. Anthony, Antone Garcia, William D'Esmond and Richardson, Messrs. and Mesdames: J. R. Paris, C. E. Crockett, A. P. CALIFORNIA-STANFORD DINNER

Former students of California and Stanford met and dined together on Saturday evening and sang college songs and told reminiscences of the college days. There were 26 of them who sat about a big, round table in the private dining room of the Grand Hotel. In the party there was about an equal division in numbers of former college men and former co-eds.

On entering the dining room the ex-collegians spied in the center of the table a California bear with his front feet proudly resting upon a red axe. From Bruin's mouth there hung a sign upon which had been told the story of the great annual game on the gridiron between the two colleges, California 28, Stanford 0. However, the defeat of their alma mater did not cool the enthusiasm of the Stanford crowd and they sang their college songs with a vim and vigor that was reminiscent of days that are past. Then California answered in kind with the songs of that college.

Table decorations were in the college colors and all in attendance said that the dinner must be only the first of similar meetings to be held not less often than once a year.

SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Saturday evening the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Linton was celebrated in a somewhat novel manner at the home of Mrs. Millie Hair at Hamakunoko, the guests not knowing the occasion of the gathering until in the midst of the dinner which was followed by bridge.

Twenty-five was in evidence all through the delightful affair. It was held on the 25th of the month, there were twenty-five guests present and the figures entered into the occasion in other ways as well.

The surprise came in the course of the dinner when Mrs. Hair played a wedding march. While she played Miss Doris Hair entered carrying an elaborate wedding cake on which there burned 25 candles which surrounded a miniature bride and groom. Behind Miss Hair, Mr. and Mrs. Linton followed, Mrs. Linton wearing her bridal veil. The happy couple were showered with congratulations and good wishes and the evening passed most delightfully.

Cigarette Smoking
Harmful To Women?

LONDON.—(By Associated Press Mail.)—The enormous increase of cigarette smoking among women, says the medical correspondent of the London Times, calls for some protest by the medical profession. He declares the habit in many instances is passing beyond a pleasure and becoming a vice.

"The absorption of nicotine, which is the danger element in the matter," the correspondent proceeds, "produces a condition of nervous distress which is frequently painful to observe. From this proceed palpitations and exhaustion and outbursts of emotion. Woman's delicate nervous organism was certainly not intended to endure large doses of this poison. Her functions as a mother cannot but be interfered with when she indulges in it to excess."

It is the habit of many English women and girls to smoke cigarettes in public, and not a few may be seen in restaurants and hotels smoking long, slender pipes. Women's organizations and social improvement societies have begun a crusade against this "elegant and unwomanly practice."
