HAWAII'S POLICE METHODS UNDER HOT CRITICISM

Reimbursement For Telephone Rent Provided After All Day Discussion.

Wide Latitude to Talk Which Leads Up to General Survey of the Police Methods All Around.

Sheriff Lorrin Andrews, of Hawaii, was the subject under discussion almost the entire day in the House after the conclusion of the morning business. It was a day for the Kicker's Club, and a majority of the members of the House took a shy at the sheriff. The matter came up on the proposal of Vida, who is the chairman of the Police Committee, to put in the unpaid bills appropriations an item for the reimbursement of the Hawaii police for the pay of telephones in their houses.

The discussion took wide latitude, Kaniho even wishing to add a rider providing for the dismissal from office of Andrews, but this was, of course, ruled out of order. The levy for uniforms likewise drew out a deal of discussion and there were compliments paid to the police of Kauai and Maui by members from those islands, simply to show the contrast between them and Hawaii and Oahu. This island came in for some criticism, but not of the sort that was given to the big isle.

The rest of the time was devoted to the discussion of Paele's plan for an examination of the lepers on Molokai, to see if some should not be released, and the passage of the expense bill. Under the latter head there was a laugh created by the bill proposed by Kealawaa, the rapid fire member from Hilo, who wanted to appropriate $18,000 for session expenses, $13,000 for the House and $5,000 for the Senate, repealing the Senate bill which made their appropriation, but it was decided to be too late, as the measure was already law and the money under it has been paid in part.

The Senate discussed for a moment the bill of the House for its unpaid bills, there being exception taken to the fact that the prices for the Senate's printing were so much lower than those of the House, where no bids were asked, and then some of the senators thought there should be provision for the event of the failure to make good of the County Bill. The result was the putting of the eighteen months' appropriation measure over for committee consideration.

IN THE HOUSE.

Better feeling existed when the House met yesterday morning and the first thing done was the withdrawal by Mr. Fernandez of his resignation. On the suggestion of Speaker Beckley all reference to the matter was stricken from the journal of the House.

Chaplain H. Manase presented a petition setting forth that he is now and has been serving as chaplain at Oahu Prison, without compensation since the death of the Rev. J. Waiamau, who received $25 a month, and long before that time as assistant chaplain. He asks an appropriation of $25 a month for twenty months. Sheriff Brown endorsed the petition that the auditor refused to grant warrants against pay of guards and lunas. This went to the Miscellaneous Committee.

Wright presented a resolution directing the Sergeant-at-Arms to remove a flower vase, which stood half filled with water on the desk of Harris, as it was breeding mosquitoes. The Speaker would not entertain it.

Paele proposed a resolution appropriating $50,000 in the Loan Bill, for the erection and maintenance of a government hospital at Kealahou, Kaneohe.

DOHRMANN SPEAKS TO MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION

Sound Sense On the Subject Of Advertising a Place of Tourist Attractions--What a Business Organization Can Do To Advance the Interests Of a Community.

Promotion of tourist traffic by judicious advertising all over the mainland, maintaining a continuous representation at Washington to secure appropriations and benefits for the Territory, perfecting the improvement of the city's streets and architectural attractions, obtaining good municipal government upon the basis of a business enterprise, preventing an abuse of the credit system, checking the abuse of charitable subscriptions, and improving the commercial conditions of Honolulu, were the pertinent points of an able address made yesterday afternoon by F. W. Dohrmann of San Francisco, before the Merchants' Association. Mr. Dohrmann was introduced by President George W. Smith. After paying his respect to the memory of the late W. W. Dimond, with whom he had been associated in business, and whom he succeeds as president of Dimond & Co., Mr. Dohrmann spoke of the improvements of Honolulu since his visit here three years ago, and he noted that many of his suggestions made then had been acted upon by the Association.

"It seems strange that in almost every large city in America," said he, "the association that stands for public improvements and the advancement of better government is nine times out of ten a commercial organization. That is not strange in a commercial city, but I was surprised a few months ago on the occasion of a visit to Washington, D. C., to find a business man's organization which held a large meeting while I was there and before which I was called to make an address. Even there in the least commercial city in the United States, the organization stood for public improvements."

"It seems that the merchant is especially able to see both sides of a

QUESTION OF A DAY

Baseball Men To Decide As To Play.

Many Men Missing On Account Of the Parade.

Mailes and Elks May Decide to Forfeit Rather Than Play Weak Teams.

Whether or not there will be baseball at Punahou Saturday will be decided at a deferred meeting of the League to be held this evening, at Elks club. Two clubs yesterday wanted to postpone the games of Saturday, or in the event that a majority of the League adhered to the expressed determination to insist upon the play, the Elks and Mailes gave notice that they would forfeit their games.

It was to settle the question of the play on Decoration Day that the special meeting was held yesterday afternoon. There were representatives of each team and Trustees Isenberg and Whitney present. Brooks of the Elks moved that the games be postponed from Saturday until later in the season. Lucas, Maile Ilima, seconded. Brooks said in support of his motion, that the fact that each of the weaker teams, judged by play up to the present time, would lose invaluable men, should be considered by the League, and some consideration shown. The fact was brought out that Gorman of the Elks would be absent, and of the Mailes five men, who though not on the regular team have been booked for the game of Saturday, would be absent, taking part in the parade.

Managers Wise and Carter of the Kama and Punahou, respectively, urged that the teams knew of this date when the schedule drawing took place, and should have made their protest then, and not now interfere with the schedule as regularly agreed upon and inaugurated.

Brooks suggested that the games would be almost farcical, with weak teams going against strong ones. In fact he said he would rather forfeit his game, than to have the supporters of the team and the public at large go and see the play, when there were such a number of men out.

The vote on the motion to postpone was four to six, those voting to postpone being the Elks and Mailes, and those against, the Punahou and H. A. C., which will play against them, and the Kamehamehas.

Immediately George Lucas, of the Mailes, said that in the interest of giving the people good sport he would file notice that his game would be forfeited. F. M. Brooks made the same statement for the Elks. There was a long discussion, Trustee Whitney saying that Decoration Day was usually observed by the people, and he thought there should be no sports on the day. Capt. Kiley of the Mailes, adding that five years ago the games were called off. Both Trustees urged postponement.

Manager Carter, of the Punahou, said that while he was in favor of the integrity of the schedule, he did not want to press the matter and suggested that there be an adjournment until this evening, for further discussion to see if there could not be an adjustment. The adjournment was then had.

The managers of the two teams which expressed their determination to forfeit agreed that it would be better for the sport that they do not go on the field with weak teams, and perhaps disgust admirers by the poor game put up.

It is now promised that the new grounds for the League will be ready for play on June 13th. The fencing is going on rapidly, and the grading is about completed. As soon as possible the games will be transferred. This date would mean that only two more games may be played on Punahou campus.

The Astors at Court.

William Waldorf Astor has never recovered his social footing in London since he snubbed one of King Edward's friends by turning him out of doors when he came to the Astor residence without invitation, having been brought there by one of the guests, with whom he had been dining. But the royal cold shoulder does not extend to the expatriated American's son, for young Waldorf is quite popular at court. He was even included among the small number of "personal friends of their majesties" who were invited to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the king's wedding.

HONOLULU MUTUAL BURIAL ASSOCIATION

At a called meeting of the board of control of the Honolulu Mutual Burial Association held in the parlors of the Townsend Undertaking Co. yesterday, those present were H. E. Waity, Rev. W. H. Rice, H. C. Brown and J. H. Townsend. Arrangements were made for the annual meeting on July 15th next.

The report of the secretary of the growth and working of the Association was very satisfactory to the board. The membership has reached 433, and new members are received nearly every day.

It is the belief of the board that most of our citizens will connect themselves with the Association when they understand the benefits derived from it. Seven members have been buried by the Association, each one receiving a respectable $100.00 burial, that only cost the deceased $2.50. There will be no assessment this year.

The Cat in the Adage.

"Through their fondness for fish, house cats have learned to prowl around the bay front and capture unsuspecting mullet that come too near the water's edge."—Calhoun County News.

One of the strange things in nature is the fondness of the cat for fish and its fear of water. There is no animal, not even those which prey upon fish and are adapted by nature to catching them, like the otter and muskrat, which is fonder of fish than the ordinary cat. There is no animal which dislikes the water more. State Press has seen a cat which loafed around a live box, where minnows were kept, and which would watch the surface of the water as closely as if watching a mousehole, and if a minnow came to the top it would be quickly slapped out of the water by the paw without even wetting the latter. This is not a fish or cat story, either.—Galveston News.

Wished to be prepared: "I'm hungry, sir," said the beggar; "won't you give me enough to get a meal?" "Here, my good man," said Mr. Pompus, "here's a penny for you." "Oh, thank you, sir. By the way, have you got a pepsin tablet about you?" "I always get dyspepsia when I over-eat myself."—Tit-Bits.

White Rock Water Has No Peer!! It Is Used By King Edward

Since the King's illness he has been recommended by his physicians to dilute his wine, and at the Guildhall Luncheon on Saturday last two bottles of effervescent spring water, called "White Rock" were placed beside His Majesty's plate. The water comes from a natural spring in the western part of the United States called Waukesha, and is very brilliant and pleasant to the palate. It was sent to the King as a present by a friend, and His Majesty used it in place of the usual Roshach or Apollinaris.

TWO GREAT NAMES

WERE linked together when the STEIN-BLOCH CO. linked theirs to that of PRIESTLEY'S Cravenette rain-proof fabrics. The

is undoubtedly the most perfect rain-proof garment that has ever been produced. They have taken a fabric of merit and have put it through a treatment that it is impossible for any other tailors to do. You must not forget that though the "Cravenette" fabric is rain-proof, that the moment it is cut up and sewn together in a garment,

UNLESS THE SEWING AND GENERAL TAILORING IS PROPERLY DONE, it will leak at the seams. And, another thing: If Cravenette cloth is poorly tailored, it will never do the double service of a top coat as well as the rain coat that the makers of the fabric intended it for. Therefore, we recommend the to men who wish to have the best and most reliable rain-proof over-garment that we know of.

Koolau, Oahu. Tabled for consideration.

FOR NEW BILLS.

Mr. Kealawa gave notice of his intention to introduce the following bill: "An Act to appropriate money for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the extra session of the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii of the year 1933, from the Public Treasury, and to repeal Act 2 of the extra session of 1933."

Mr. Chillingworth gave notice of the following bill: "An Act making special appropriations for the immediate use of the Treasury Department."

TO INSPECT LEPERS.

Paele introduced the following joint resolution, which was adopted by 25 to 1.

"Whereas, there are many persons now at the leper settlement on the island of Molokai, who have not been microscopically examined by the Territorial bacteriologist and the bacilli leprosa have not been demonstrated by such scientific process to exist in said persons, although listed as lepers; and,

"Whereas, that only the presence of such bacilli leprosa in any alleged leprosy person would justify such person being declared and classed a leper; and,

"Whereas, it is necessary to examine microscopically those alleged persons under the charge and supervision of a committee from the present Legislature, and find out whether such alleged leprosy persons have the leprosy bacilli in their systems, or whether any of them had once had the disease of leprosy, but now, is not a person in a condition to spread the disease of leprosy which alone justifies segregation; therefore be it

"Resolved, That said committee have full authority and power to select one or two medical experts on leprosy to accompany them to the said leper settlement, and with the assistance of the president of the Board of Health or any person appointed by him, to examine the said alleged leprosy persons at said leper settlement, and to discharge and release all persons who have not the bacilli leprosa in their systems, or in condition which will not spread the disease of leprosy by being at large."

The resolution originally contained the following, which was stricken out after Speaker Beckley had explained that money could not be appropriated by joint resolution:

"Resolved, That the sum of $2,000 be and is hereby appropriated to defray the expenses of the said committee."

EXPENSE BILL ADVANCED.

The second reading of the new expense bill brought up a question from the chair as to whether or not the committee had asked the Governor as to his readiness to accept the measure as now submitted. Chairman Andrade rose to say that as chairman of that committee he would say that he had not seen the Governor, had not considered it necessary, but had drawn the bill in accordance with law, and the Governor could sign it or not as he chose. The bill was passed under suspension of rules.

ON UNPAID BILLS.

The House went into committee of the whole on the unpaid bills. The report of the sub-committee on the high lift pump contracts was received, the committee setting forth the history of the contract and saying that there was a legal obligation to carry through the terms of the agreement. The appropriation was therefore recommended. The report of the committee was adopted.

TO REPAY POLICE.

On motion of Vida there was presented for insertion in the bill an item of $1344 for rent of telephones for use of police on Hawaii. He explained that Sheriff Andrews had taken the money from the salaries of police officers, saying that there was not sufficient appropriation to pay all expenses. Continuing he said that a volcano trip had been charged up as police service.

Chillingworth seconding this proposal rectified the course of Sheriff Andrews in Kohala especially, where police were docked but the money paid them after the Police Committee had called attention to the shortage in pay. Kealawa said that a letter just received from the captain of police at Hilo told how out of his last salary of $100 he received only $75, some one else getting the $25.

Oili maintained that the proper course was to force the Sheriff to pay back the money he had thus held out from the salaries of police. He could not, he said, vote for the appropriation.

GOES AFTER ANDREWS.

Beckley said the proper thing was for the government to repay the money and have the Attorney-General prosecute the Sheriff for the money taken from police salaries. He called it plain embezzlement for him to take money out of pay of police and use it to pay telephone. He said it was clearly law breaking for the Sheriff to make police sign vouchers for a higher sum than they really believe. He said Maui had had this man and passed him on to Hawaii, as a relic.

Vida said that he thought Andrews should be prosecuted to recover monies taken out of salaries for uniforms. Fernandez said he had seen service under Cesar Andrews, and had frequent disputes over these deductions, which practically caused his resignation.

MONEY PAID SCHOOL BOY.

Beckley said that he wanted to call attention to the case of the Deputy Sheriff of South Kona, whose salary had been fixed by the Legislature at $60 a month. Andrews had warrants for $25 a month drawn against the incidentals fund, made in the name of young Yates, a school boy, now messenger for the House. This, Beckley said, was only one ten thousandth of Andrews' queer actions.

Fernandez explained that Andrews did not get the money himself but simply paid it over to the telephone company.

SOME DOCKING HERE.

Kaniho began to tell how on this island police salaries were docked and the money used to pay a non-commissioned policeman. He said he would move to amend with a paragraph to ask the Attorney-General to remove L. A. Andrews from office.

Kou, the silent, endorse Vida, and said that in Koolau a jailor was appointed but no salary provided, and in order to pay him $15 each was taken from the salaries of the two police to pay this man.

GANDALL WANTS DELIBERATION.

Gandall asked as to complaints ever having been made, and wanted to know why protests had not been made. Vida answered that Andrews had told some of the officers that if they exposed his system of docking he would fire them, and as poor men they had to keep their jobs. Gandall said only one side had been presented. He did not oppose the appropriation but he wanted to warn members to be careful. He did not want to see action looking to the request for Andrews' resignation except after close investigation.

Wright interrupted to ask if Gandall had ever seen Andrews and there was a long colloquy, Gandall saying he was not defending Andrews but condemned police who would keep silent rather than lose their places. The committee rose and reported progress and the House then took a recess until 2 p. m.

When the session was resumed Gandall continued to assert that only one side had been heard, that there must be a second side and that no allegation was made that the official had converted the money to his own use. He maintained that the officers who permitted their salaries to be docked and did not protest to the High Sheriff were culpable. He called upon the members to weigh carefully the question of asking that an official be removed without further evidence being taken.

NO DEMAND FOR REMOVAL.

The Chairman ruled out of order the amendment of Kaniho asking for the discharge of Andrews.

Kealawa had read the letter from the captain of police of South Hilo, saying that while his salary was $100, but that he only received $75.

Pulua said the practice was one which came down from the time of Marshal Hitchcock, of docking salaries for uniforms and went into a long explanation of the police methods. He digressed to the Hackfield wharf and other subjects and wound up with a demand for the passage of the item. He likewise explained to Andrade that the policeman signs a voucher, on which a warrant is issued, the officers being compelled to pay back the amount claimed as due the department. Andrade said the fact that the policemen consented and acquiesced in the payment, there was a new phase to the case. As to Andrews, he said, he had been branded as a thief, a felon; everything that was bad. This was not fair to Andrews, he said, for he should have a hearing.

MONEY FOR UNIFORMS.

Vida read a letter showing that Andrews had refunded uniform money collected in Kohala in March and said it was unjust that the police pay $5 a month on the fund and perhaps get only one uniform, worth perhaps only $20.

Hala argued that the uniform money should be repaid and Kalama argued as to the difference between systems to the credit of Maui. Kaniho was afraid that some man who had been discharged might not get his money and Vida had read an inserted in the bill a list of the officers who were to receive $48 each for refunding of rates. The item was then inserted in the bill.

GANDALL PRAISES KAUAL.

John Gandall rose to a question of privilege, saying every island had had a champion but Kaual, and he proceeded to tell how on that island everything went on peaceably and quietly and he wished to publicly commend the Sheriff of Kaual for his course. Kaniho suggested that the remarks of Gandall be communicated to the Sheriff of Hawaii and that he be requested to guide his actions accordingly. The committee then rose and reported. Kealawa then introduced the bill of which he had given notice in the morning. The bill appropriates $18,000 for expenses, $5,000 for the Senate and $13,000 for the House. The bill also

IN THE SENATE.

Senator Achi presented a report of the Judiciary Committee on the House unpaid bills with a substitute bill. The report is as follows:

Honorable C. L. Crabbe,
President of the Senate.

Sir: Your Judiciary Committee to whom House Bill Number 4 was referred, respectfully report as follows: Your Committee has consulted with the Clerk of the House who states to your Committee, that the House needs the money for translation and printing the journal of the regular session, the cost of which will be as follows:

Printing the English Version
say, 1200 pages at $2.10.....$2,520.00
Printing the Hawaiian Version
say, 1300 pages at $2.10.....2,730.00
Leaving a balance for Translation of say.....1,150.00

Total.....$7,000.00
The Clerk of the House further states, that the contract for the above work is being given.

He also states that the translation of the Journal may cost between $1,750.00 and $2,000.00, being at the rate of fifty cents per folio.

Your Committee changes the wording of the Bill in order to meet the objections made by the Governor in the Bill for $12,000.00 and herewith recommends that the House Bill Number 4 may be amended to avoid the objections made by the Governor in the other Bill; a copy of the bill so amended is hereto attached and made a part of this report.

Respectfully submitted,

W. C. ACHI,

P. P. WOODS.

Senator McCandless objected to the adoption of the report at $2.10 a page for printing when the Senate had its work done for $1.35. He thought the House was too liberal with the people's money. If the Senate was to permit the House to do as it pleased why should the Senate amend any bills that came from the House. The legislature should be more careful with the public money than if the members owned it themselves. He said he would rather pay the money out of his own pocket than allow $2.10 when the work could be done for $1.35.

Senator Achi said the House was responsible for its own acts, and that the contract had been made. The Senate paid its clerk $10.00 and the House gave its clerk $12.00; and the same way with other officials. The cost of translating was figured at $2250 while the committee allowed but $1750, and then the Senate had no right to cancel any contract of the House. There was already feeling in the House and this should not be increased or the public would suffer by the refusal of the House to continue its sessions.

The report was adopted and the substitute bill passed second reading, 9 to 2. Ayes—Achi, J. T. Brown, Baldwin, Nakapahu, Kaohi, Kaiue, Kalaueka-

A NEW BILL.

Senator Dickey introduced a bill to appropriate $4,000 for paying the expenses of the tax bureau up to June 30th, 1933. He stated that the item had been omitted from the emergency bill and the money was needed to pay the cost of books for the board of equalization. The bill passed second reading.

THE HOUSE-EXPENSE BILL.

The Senate bill appropriating $13,000 for the expenses of the House passed second reading. To be read a third time today.

President Crabbe reported the printing of Senate Bill No. 9 making appropriations for eighteen months.

EIGHTEEN MONTHS BILL.

There was some discussion over an item for traveling expenses of registration boards, Crabbe saying the government should pay all expenses. No action was taken.

The item, expenses third circuit court $3750, was increased to $5000. There was a long discussion over the expenses of circuit courts until Dickey arose and said that the counties were to bear all the expenses in the courts, and all these items should be stricken out. Then the fight started again and a motion to increase Judge Little's court from $7,500 to $9,000 was lost.

The item of $375 traveling expenses of district magistrates was stricken out. The item, $6,000, for defending fishery cases was also cut out.

An item of $8375 was inserted for incidentals tax office, also bureau of conveyances $1350 on motion of Dickey who said they would be needed if the county law is declared void. Achi said the legislature should show its faith in the county act and if it failed the Governor could call a special session of the legislature. He said all county items should all be stricken out. Dickey said he didn't want a special session. Paris favored a peremptive to any possible failure through lack of the county law going into effect. McCandless suggested that a rider could be put on the six months' bill to carry the appropriations through for two years.

Finally Achi moved to strike out all the items in the courts which should be paid by counties. Then upon motion of Kaohi the bill was referred to a committee to segregate county and Territorial items. The chair appointed Achi, McCandless, Dickey, J. T. Brown and Nakapahu.

Adjournment for the day was then taken.

PUBLICITY FOR CRIME.

Quite often of late the Advertiser has heard in a roundabout way of burglaries in Honolulu of which its police reporters could get no clue at the station house. Last Saturday night, for example, a Beretania street cottage, not far from Thomas Square, was entered in the early evening and some valuable jewelry stolen. A robbery of servant's quarters on Nuuanu street was made during a recent evening. Scarcely a week passes without bringing news of some burglarious depredation which, out of deference to the wishes of the police, the victims will say little of to the press. It is not likely that the papers hear of more than half these affairs; it is probable that, despite a contrary impression, burglary in Honolulu is very common indeed.

The scheme of keeping such things dark rests upon the idea that publicity would defeat the ends of justice. But to our mind publicity would work just the other way. If a thief has a valuable bit of plunder the less it is advertised the better he is suited. He can then dispose of it the more easily. He is less likely to be detected by his neighbors or sold out by men of his own class. Let a fine gold watch be seen on the person of a doubtful character and if the fact that a gold watch has lately been stolen is known to the public, one has no trouble in arriving at conclusions. It may be said that publicity must put the thief on his guard; but he is on his guard already and can keep there if he only has a stray detective to contend with. He would find it harder to stay on guard against the whole public including those on whom he might wish to work off his plunder.

We say it deliberately—ten criminals are captured through publicity to one who is captured by detective skill. Since the press became universal "the world has no nook nor corner where the guilty can hide himself and say that he is safe."

Seeing how small is the number of criminals arrested here in proportion to the number of crimes, would not publicity for all or nearly all grave offenses, in which the offenders are at large, be a good thing? Would it not result in more arrests? At least would it not dispel the fancied security of the town and by putting people on the alert make crime more difficult?

A CRITIC OF OUR CAVALRY.

The criticisms of American cavalry, attributed to General Baden-Powell, the hero of Mafeking, may be taken in good part. Some of them are merely diverting, the results of too hasty observation; the others point at defects which are remediable. None of the criticisms are malicious; all are made from the standpoint of good will.

The British officer says, for example, that our troopers are fed on too much and rich food and do not have enough gymnastic exercise to give them strength and endurance. Doubtless the embalmers of beef critics will be edified by this tribute to the high quality of the army fare. As to strength and endurance, it is probably true that soldiers the world over are not as well built up in garrison as they are in the field; but if the sound constitution is there the soldier in active service soon pulls himself together. The history of the Indian campaigns of the American cavalryman speaks for his adaptability, to say nothing of his achievements in the Civil War and the Philippine campaigns.

General Baden-Powell is not far out of the way when he says that our present troopers have never been seasoned by hard service. The majority of those who went into the Philippine war in 1898 and 1899 have now served their terms and are out of the army and their places are taken by raw recruits. But if trouble should come, a great many of them would volunteer again. Probably enough cowboys could be had from the West to make as large and as effective a cavalry force as Gen. Baden-Powell ever saw. He must remember that America has its Cossacks as well as Russia and that they are not all on parade in the peace establishment.

Our foreign critic complains that American cavalrymen do not take a sea bath every morning as British cavalrymen do. This is a serious matter, especially so to the troopers in post in Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico. Gen. Baden-Powell evidently forgets that American soldiers do not live in a tight little island where, when a man wanders out to stroll in the park he is likely to fall off the edge into the sea. Here the ocean does not trespass on every back porch. But it will cheer General Baden-Powell to know that if the American cavalryman cannot always go into the sea himself he is quite capable of driving the enemy there.

Senators McCandless and Achi need no majority on their side to show that a $1.25 job of printing is not worth $2.62. If the rest of the Senators approve of that sort of economy, so much the worse for them.

THE WORLD'S MORAL IMPROVEMENT.

There is no intention in this article of cutting into the apple of discord between legislation and moral suasion on questions, outside of criminal law, which affect the well being of individuals and organized society. But it is in order to invite attention to the enormous moral improvement that has been manifested in the world during the last century, which, however due to selfish as well as altruistic considerations, is equally conspicuous and equally beneficial. The necessities of mankind, in all the teeming relations of modern progress, have compelled and enforced better rules of life, and have raised the level, moral as well as intellectual, of the units and aggregates of communities and nations.

The partition of Poland could not be repeated in the Twentieth Century. The reconstruction of Finland, in order to bring the Finnish people within the grasp of the Russian octopus, though bad enough in itself, and involving a breach of an Imperial oath, was not an attempt to exterminate a race, and was vigorously denounced throughout Christendom, and as a consequence perceptibly modified. The rebellions and attempted revolutions of 1848, though political failures, largely increased the measure of personal freedom and wholesome legislation throughout Europe, and contributed to the consolidation of Italy, the formation of the Republic of France, and the vast development of constitutional law, through which eternal principles control personal tyrannies. Our own Civil War was conducted and ended for the suppression of rebellion and the final establishment of national unity, but, intense and protracted though the conflict was, it was pervaded and followed by the amenities of civilization.

These are conspicuous and suggestive examples of the outcome of modern education and experience. But, even more marked is the progress of the world in relation to individuals and society. As examples, the vice of drunkenness has diminished and the purity of women is more effectively protected. A hundred years ago, and until a much later period, naval and military officers, at least many of them, of all recognized nationalities, when off duty, commanded respect by the hardness of their heads and their amorous successes. Now, in every known service, conspicuously in the United States and in Great Britain, officers, who become intoxicated or who misuse their opportunities, are not only liable to reprimand and dismissal, but are despised by their associates. A hundred years ago, the social value of a gentleman was distributed into grades, from the man who could absorb one bottle of port to the heroic imbibler of four, and he who could not drink hard liquors besides was regarded as a fledgling. In these days, a drunken guest at a dinner party, even of stags, is thoroughly disgraced, and, where both sexes are represented, gentlemen usually rise with the ladies. In governmental departments, in railroad systems, in important business enterprises of every description, the rule of sobriety is enforced, and, through all the strata of population, to a considerable degree is voluntarily observed. There are many places in which even cigarettes are tabooed. The unwritten law has been adopted or revived, that, under the pain of exclusion and degradation, wives, sisters, and daughters are shielded and guarded, not only by their natural protectors, but by every man who is not a reprobate and an outcast.

The world advances morally and spiritually, as well as materially, and the intricacies and complexities of the Twentieth Century demand and receive the sanction of the Moral Code. Now, as in all past history, the pessimists are mere obstructions in the upward march.

CHERUBS TO THE RESCUE.

It appears that the woes of Porto Ricans who came here sick, impoverished and starving and are now healthy, well-paid and well-fed, have so worked upon the sympathies of home friends that the latter are collecting funds to bring the enslaved ones back. The work, it seems, of getting the passage money, has been entrusted to children, or "cherubs," as the Spaniards call them, but we feel at liberty to presume that when the youngsters gather enough worth having, it will be taken over by the noble band of philanthropists who now urge on their work. Porto Ricans Americanize fast and they cannot be oblivious to what is known as the "charitable graft."

As to the "slaves," a recent inquiry has shown that they are so much better off than their countrymen at home, as to make it unlikely that they would go back to Porto Rico if they had a chance, even at the solicitation of "a legion of cherubs conveyed in rays of light through the regions of the Pacific." There are, however, some of the "slaves" whom the taskmasters of Hawaii will ship back if the cherubs will send on the funds and the courts permit. They are the people who have quietly shuffled off their bondage after the manner of slaves in these parts and have come to Honolulu from the plantations to prey upon the inhabitants. The sooner these go back the better for all concerned—except Porto Rico's honest citizens.

But we have no hopes. The task of raising money enough to carry 4000 people 5000 miles or even 500 people 1000 miles is likely to prove too burdensome even for "the relation of the beautiful angels who, with their wings of gold, wish to fly to distant Hawaii to liberate the unhappy peons who are suffering there."

Sisal prices, like those of every other agricultural commodity, are affected by politics. The four worst years sisal ever had were those of Cleveland and "tariff reform." True, the tariff does not directly apply to sisal, but when Cleveland checked manufacturing industry in the United States sisal and its products suffered with other things. Even the Cleveland campaign brought down the price, which reached a minimum of $62.50 in 1894, $50 in 1895, $55 in 1896, $67.50 in 1897. The minimum price in the last four years was $35 in 1900, $107.50 in 1901, $155 in 1902 and $150 in 1903. The maximum price was last year's, $212.50.

OIL FUEL.

[The Official and Commercial Record.] The substitution of crude oil as fuel, in place of coal, in Hawaii is proving an unqualified success. On Maui the Haku, Paia, Hawaiian Commercial and Kihel plantations are using oil. On this island Kahuku, Waiialua, Oahu and Honolulu are using it and Ewa will be in a few weeks. In this city the Young Building is burning oil, and at the beginning of this week the Rapid Transit Company converted all of its furnaces into oil burners. So far as reported, the change is working satisfactorily on all of the plantations, with a uniform reduction in cost of approximately 30%.

In addition to the saving in dollars, oil fuel has three distinct advantages over coal. First, it requires much less labor to handle it. This is a serious consideration on the plantations, where every labor saving device and process should be fostered, as a means of meeting the demand for labor. Any machine, device or process which enables one man to do the work of two, even though its operation costs as much as the two men do, is a distinct advance, as it reduces the requirements for laborers by 50% in connection with that particular work. This is an important consideration now, and it may in the future prove most vital.

Second, it is a clean fuel. Instead of a grimy, dusty and disagreeable spot, such as the regulation coal firing room is, where oil fuel is in use, the fire room becomes a show place, as clean as a parlor, while the one fireman wears a "bliss shirt" and a standing collar, if his tastes run that way.

Third, it is smokeless. Not comparatively so, but absolutely smokeless. If any smoke issues from the smoke stack it is proof positive that there is some defect in the burner used, or in the arrangement of the furnace. An inspection of the Rapid Transit furnace and smoke stack will demonstrate this fact to any one who desires to prove it.

This last named advantage is of great importance in Honolulu. With only soft coal available, even the few fuel using concerns in town were becoming a serious nuisance to all in their immediate neighborhood. A few more years of development would have made us a small Pittsburgh, so far as the smoke nuisance is concerned. No smoke producer in Honolulu can hereafter plead that he cannot prevent it.

With cheapness, economy of labor, cleanliness and abolition of smoke in its favor, there does not seem to be any reason why oil should not, at an early date, entirely supersede coal in Hawaii, as a power producing fuel.

Its early adoption here is evidence of the progressive spirit of our people and their ability to keep step with the age.

PERSONAL.

During the heat of the recent troubles in Venezuela, when the coast was blockaded and starvation was staring fifty per cent. of the people in the face, Stephen Bonsal was surprised to find President Castro enjoying himself at a picnic at La Victoria, where champagne was flowing like water. "I did not succeed in concealing, nor did I very much try to conceal, my astonishment at the scenes which met my eye," he says. "I had certainly thought to find our ally otherwise engaged. 'But why should you wonder?' said Castro, noting my surprise; 'our part is played. We have picked the quarrel, and now, blessed be the Monroe Doctrine, our role is finished, and the fighting must be done by el tio Samuel. All the papers in the case I have given to your minister, who goes to Washington as my attorney.' 'Yes, viva la Doctrina 'Monroe!'" exclaimed Tello Mendoza, the witty mulatto whom Castro has made secretary of the treasury. "It spares us sleepless nights, and gives us time for picnics."

James Whitcomb Riley, the popular author and poet, confesses to a fondness for social life, but says he feels at a disadvantage at social gatherings; that people are disappointed in him. "I don't see well, or remember names. Therefore I'm an ungainly member of society. I have been catching the next train for so many years that I have had but little time to devote to the social side of life, and am, in consequence, a confirmed novice in all the gentler graces. Only a few evenings since, somewhere, I pronounced 'don't you' with the 'ch' sound to it, and—Well! You must imagine, for I can't describe the overwhelming, suffocating sense of my humiliation when my attention was drawn to it. And horror on horror's head! the same evening I was detected in the act of pronouncing programme just as the word is spelled!"

The Empress Eugenie was never really popular with the French, not even during the first years of the Second Empire, before she began to meddle with affairs of state, and in many incisive ways the Parisians heaped ridicule upon her. A curious little pamphlet with text and illustrations about the new empress was sold in Paris at the time of her marriage. This pamphlet was entirely complimentary and harmless. The biting humor of it was on the title-page, which the vendors went about crying in the streets: "The portrait and virtues of the empress, all for two sous!"

A happy faculty: Young Tutter (to hostess)—"I have had a very pleasant evening. But then I always manage to enjoy myself no matter where I am."—Life.

Pains in the Back

Are symptoms of a weak, torpid or stagnant condition of the kidneys or liver, and are a warning it is extremely hazardous to neglect, so important is a healthy action of these organs.

They are commonly attended by loss of energy, lack of courage, and sometimes by gloomy foreboding and despondency.

"I had pains in my back, could not sleep and when I got up in the morning felt worse than the night before. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and now I can sleep and get up feeling rested and able to do my work. I attribute my cure entirely to Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. J. N. PERCY, care H. S. The Inspection.

Orders were issued yesterday for the National Guard inspection and drill to take place at Camp McKinley tomorrow morning. The inspection by Major McLellan is the first preliminary step towards the War Department assuming control of the Hawaiian National Guard.

The following is the order issued by Colonel Jones:

Headquarters First Regiment National Guard of Hawaii.

Honolulu, Hawaii, May 27th, 1903.

General Orders No. 35.

By order of Colonel Jones.

(Signed.) JOHN SCHAEFER,
Captain and Adjutant.

Major McLellan will also probably in the near future visit Hilo and Wailuku for the purpose of inspecting the companies in those places.

According to the order issued by General Miles, through Adjutant General Corbin, Major McLellan will determine:

1. The strength of the various organizations, making full returns thereof, including classification of officers and men present and absent as shown by the official returns, verifying absentees from duly certified lists, together with a report as to whether or not all the officers and men are regularly enlisted.

2. A return showing all United States rifles and carbines on hand, with all attachments and equipments, ammunition or parts of ammunition, therefor.

(a) A separate return showing all United States magazine arms, with bayonets, bayonet scabbards, gun slings, belts, and such other necessary accoutrements and equipments as have been issued since December 1, 1901.

(b) An estimate showing the number of United States standard service magazine arms (rifles and carbines), with bayonets, bayonet scabbards, gun slings, belts, and such other accoutrements and equipments, including sabers, pistols, and horse equipments, as are prescribed for the regular army of the United States, required for arming and equipping the organizations, based upon the numbers reported in return herein required from inspectors, the quantity on hand (serviceable and unserviceable), and the quantities to be supplied to complete equipment.

3. Whether the organizations are sufficiently armed, uniformed, and equipped for active service in the field.

4. Whether the organizations during the year ending June 30, 1903, have participated in practice marches, or have gone into camps of instruction at least five consecutive days, and have assembled for drill and instruction at company, battalion, or regimental armories or rendezvous, or for target practice not less than twenty-four times, and shall have been inspected at some time during the year under the authority of the State or Territory by an officer of the militia thereof, or by an officer of the regular army under authority of the Secretary of War.

IROQUOIS OFF FOR CABLE ISLAND

Leis and alohas from friends, music by Berger's band, tooting of whistles of steamers combined yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock to give the United States Naval Tug Iroquois a fine send-off as she steamed out of the harbor for Midway Island. On the bridge, if such the top side of the wheel room on the tug can be termed, were Captain Rodman and Lieut.-Commander Pond gorgeously decked in leis, and Ensign Stitt and Midshipman Arwine, and everybody was busy waving adieu to a host of friends, including quite a delegation of the fair sex, and many Territorial and Federal officials. Seldom has a craft of the size of the Iroquois started out on a memorable cruise under such favorable conditions. For half an hour preceding the departure of the tug the Territorial band played on the dock, and when the vessel pulled out from the slip, "Aloha Oe," "Auld Lang Syne" and the "Star Spangled Banner" floated out harmoniously to the officers and crew. The Iroquois carries a crew of thirty-five men, her complement for active service. The tug will reach Midway Island about Wednesday.

CONTRACT FOR NEW OCEANIC WHARF

The contract was let by Supt. Cooper yesterday to Henry de Piles for the building of the new Oceanic docks. The contract price is $12,300.

Work will begin immediately upon the demolition of the old structure which is almost falling down of its own accord. The piling for the new wharf is already on the ground and also the lumber which will be used for the wharf shed. Mr. de Piles notified the Department that he would begin construction immediately.

During the work upon the docks, the Oceanic steamers will probably use the quarantine wharf.

AUSTRIAN VESSEL TO VISIT THIS PORT

The Austrian ship Francesco Guiseppi I, which in early life was known as the British ship Falls of Afton, has been chartered to load a general cargo at London for Portland and Honolulu. She arrived at London, April 15, and is expected to sail early in June. The trip by way of this port is a long one and the vessel will not reach here much before November. Honolulu has been visited by Austrian steamships, but seldom, if ever, has it had an opportunity to harbor a sailing vessel flying Emperor Joseph's flag.

VEGETATION ON MIDWAY ISLAND

A good start has been made in preparing Midway Island for human habitation. The report made by Gardner C. J. Austin shows that a total of over 10,000 trees and plants have been sent to the island from here. Of this number there were 1705 palms, 1513 fruit trees, 3136 shade trees, shrubs and vines, and 4426 forest trees.

Wisconsin Sails.

Promptly at 10:30 yesterday afternoon the Wisconsin steamed out of the naval dock slip, with the tug Fearless towing her, and the big battleship was soon headed out of the channel en route to Yokohama. The vessel was handled easily. Pilot Saunders being on the bridge with Captain Sebree. The Fearless pulled the stern of the warship around toward the Ewa end of the harbor, and this done it was quick work getting her started off. There was an entire lack of fuss and feathers about the management of the big fighting machine, and it was also another indication of what could be done in Honolulu's harbor.

Shipping Notes.

The R. P. Rithet is fumigating, and may take in sugar today.

The schr. Lunsman is preparing to load for Laysan Island.

The Alden Besse began taking on sugar at the Oceanic dock yesterday. Her cargo will be about 22,000 sacks.

The Alameda should arrive here this morning from San Francisco with seven days' later mail and newspaper files.

Hiram (after a trip to New York)—"They don't carry the mail in mail bags there, Mandy."

Mandy—"How do they carry it—in baskets?"

Hiram—"Lor, no; they just put it into rheumatic tubes and it goes itself."

question, to give and to take, to make allowances, as his calling requires him to do, and I think that must be the reason why commercial organizations have been very successful. In Chicago they have a civic organization with a merchant at the head of it, one of the managers of Marshall, Field & Co. The professional man at the head of such an organization is not so valuable as the merchant, for the professional man sees only one side of a question. He is trained for that purpose, and if he cannot get people to go his way, he refuses to play in the other man's back yard.

"I would like to analyze what the missions of the Merchants' Association are. It is our interest to see that commerce and trade are fostered and advanced. The questions that constantly come up in trade require looking after. Tonight at a banquet in San Francisco they will discuss "Credit." Then a paper will be read on the "Merchant in History," giving views on the value of the merchant in the history of nations.

"One of the smaller missions of the Association is to determine what subscriptions and donations shall be made by the merchants for charity. We have found it necessary to co-operate with the charitable organizations in San Francisco to come to some sensible conclusion as to who shall call upon the business men for assistance. In Chicago there is a charitable association which collects from the business men $150,000 a year, and expends half in salaries. We have found that professional solicitors in San Francisco have absorbed $1,200 out of $1,500 of the collections. They would go to a kindergarten association say, and offer to get up a benefit for them and give them $300 clear, for the use of their name. They would sell say, 1500 tickets, and after turning over the $300 agreed upon, keep $1,200. These people come to the merchants all the time. Of course it is hard for a merchant to withstand a sweet, pretty young woman, but there must be a limit. We cannot do this with the regular church organizations.

"We have stopped the blackmail which was levied upon the merchants in the name of charity.

"The next thing is to stop the trading-stamp abuse. San Francisco was tied up for a while by these trading stamps and the merchants were all paying tribute to the ones who planned the system. I would strongly recommend to you when any such a thing comes to you, that you nip it in the bud.

"You must create trade and make your attractions known, thereby assisting in drawing people here. Take Los Angeles for instance. They have advertised the city everywhere and people are constantly streaming into it. They put up four new hotels last winter, but even then they were not enough to accommodate people.

"It has occurred to me that your Merchants' Association should plan commercial excursions to the islands. The way would be to communicate with all of the leading commercial organizations in the States, interesting them in the islands, and say if the first excursion comes off next spring, that will be time enough for you to prepare. If only you got one man from each city you would be doing well, for his disinterested views on your beautiful place will be the advertisement you want to bring others. Co-operate with the steamship companies and other transportation lines, for it is their bread and butter, and get them interested in the scheme. To bring people here, you must do something of this kind.

"One thing which the Merchants' Association can do well is to co-operate with the municipal government. When our association started ten years ago we had one of the worst municipal governments, as a whole, it was possible to create. The system was so bad that it seemed a hopeless task to try to reform it. Still by co-operating with the officials, we put them on their good behavior and were able to accomplish much more than if we had posed as moral reformers, cursing them, and then going to our homes without doing anything. We got a new charter. The administration was placed on a business basis and civil service obtained. All this took a number of years, and I think that our municipal government is now one of the best in America. Your Merchants' Association should plan for the government's needs. It is a science. I would recommend to you to follow this matter up.

"The question of what part in politics shall the Merchants' Association play. We have always considered our mission to be non-partisan. We believe that a municipal government is a business organization and try to free our officials from partisanship in the conduct of their office. In regard to the moral mission of the Association I would like to say that many people have started out to reform a city in a moral way. They mean well, but I have yet to find the first association that stands for a crusade of that kind. I would advise this association to confine itself to practical reforms.

"Formerly it was assumed that the only mission of a municipality was to protect life and property, regulate transportation, and that was all. A later view of the function of the government, the foundation upon which European cities have been built and made attractive, is that everything that offends the senses of its citizens, is a proper subject for consideration of a government, whether it be anything that affects the air we breathe, or creates things we see, so long as anything of that kind is offensive, it is a proper subject for investigation.

"The Merchants' Association should beautify and make attractive our surroundings and enable us to enjoy life. This can be done by making the city sanitary, with streets well paved, and with a regularity of style of architecture.

"You should put this motto on your banner: "Carry into your plans the desire and purpose to hold high, good, earnest, honest, able, practical citizenship. A good citizen from that point of view can do more towards making his surroundings better and pleasanter than if he were a millionaire, bestowing gifts on every hand."

In answer to a question Mr. Dohrmann said the Association should see to it that a continuous representation is maintained at Washington for the purpose of obtaining benefits due Honolulu and the Territory. It is by such effort that the best advantages are secured in the way of appropriations.

It was the same way with the dredging of Honolulu harbor. He said it was the duty of the Federal government to dredge and improve the harbor, but the Federal government was always slow in starting, and efforts would have to be made at Washington to secure an appropriation for this harbor. Otherwise in order to maintain commerce and trade relations it was the duty of the local government to keep the harbor open and attractive to shipping. The Federal government had greatly improved Oakland harbor, as it did all other harbors, and if Honolulu had been overlooked by the national government, it was a shame.

"The Hawaiian Islands are the best paying acquisition to the United States," said Mr. Dohrmann, "considering the short time they have belonged to the Union. If you have not received an appropriation for the improvement of your harbor then you have certainly been wronged. The Federal government should appropriate $200,000 for that purpose."

A vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Dohrmann for his address.

President Smith read a letter of condolence from the Merchants' Association of San Francisco on the death of the late W. W. Dimond, and expressing hope for a successful career for the local association.

GEAR AGAIN REVERSED

Caustic Comments In Da Silva Case.

Fisher Need Not Pay the Fire Claims Warrants.

Supreme Court Decides Auditor Need Not Pay Subrogated Claims.

Judge Gear came in for another little scoring from the Supreme Court yesterday in the matter of the estate of Jose da Silva, the record of which the court says "teems with irregularities." This was a case wherein deceased left a widow for whom Thos. Fitch was the attorney-at-law, no other heirs appearing. The money was ordered paid to Fitch by Gear. Some time afterwards a sister of the deceased appeared on the scene and Geo. Davis claiming to represent both the widow and the sister got Gear to order Fitch to pay the money (only $257) into court.

The Court in an opinion by Frear, Galbraith dissenting, reverses Gear's order and says why the attorney in fact (Davis) should act for both widow and sister, if their interests were adverse does not appear. Why the final order of distribution should be modified or revoked for the purpose of fixing the fees of the attorney-at-law also does not appear, and what the Judge had to do with those fees, which were a matter of private arrangement also does not appear.

Davis was also ordered to pay into court $229.16, but Gear revoked this order on the ground that he was authorized to keep the money as attorney in fact for the sister, of which transaction the court remarks, "Why the money should be ordered paid to the attorney in fact of the sister before the proposed further hearing as to whether she was entitled to it, and before any adjudication to that effect does not appear.

The court holds that Gear lacked jurisdiction in ordering Fitch to pay money into court and says in conclusion: "What authority was there to order a third party to pay into court a sum of money of his own in a case in which he had no interest and to which he was not a party, and the fact that the order was also to await further proceedings, did not make it interlocutory so as to preclude an appeal. A judge cannot order people at random to pay money into court to await his pleasure. The attorney was clearly entitled to the possession of the money as against the court, and an order depriving him of that possession would be final for the purposes of appeal as much as an order depriving him of the possession of a tract of land belonging to him would be. There was moreover no intimation as to what was to be done with the money or what further proceedings it was to await."

DECISION AS TO FIRE CLAIMS.
The Supreme Court rendered decisions in three cases yesterday in all of which Auditor Fisher was sustained in his refusal to pay fire claims wherein there had been a subrogation of the claim. The three cases were the appeals of J. F. Colburn, Royal Insurance Co. and En Syak Aseu. In the latter case the court says in its syllabus:

"A claimant is not entitled to a warrant for the entire amount upon a certificate from the Fire Claims Commission that a certain amount is the correct award, when the certificate also states that that amount is correct 'as per record of judgments' and that it was 'made subject to the interest of another claimant.'"

The auditor had refused to pay any of these claims for ten per cent of the award while there were other claimants upon the same certificate. Now the matter of subrogation of fire claims will have to be brought into the equity courts and the rights of the respective claimants ascertained.

THISTLES AND DANDRUFF.

An Interesting Parallel and a Valuable Deduction Therefrom.

Cutting down thistles no more relieves the land of thistles than does scouring the scalp cure dandruff. In each case permanent relief can come only from eradicating permanently the cause. A germ that plows up the scalp in searching for the hair root where it saps the vitality, causes dandruff, falling hair, and baldness. If you kill that germ, you'll have no dandruff, but a luxuriant suit of hair. Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation in the world that cures dandruff, falling hair and baldness by killing the germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Struck Against an Egg.

The servants at Harbor Hills, the country residence on Long Island of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, have gone on strike against a menu consisting of eggs three times a day. According to the complaining domestics it was omelettes, egg sandwiches, boiled eggs, roasted eggs, stuffed eggs or some other variety of the same dish in Lent and out of Lent, until finally the chef was petitioned to change the menu. The man who presented the memorial was discharged on the spot, and then all the other servants but two went on strike.

Ring From Mrs. Sage's Coffin.

An interesting story appeared recently anent Russell Sage and his old-time rival—who has just died—for the hand of Mr. Sage's first wife, one of the "Emma Willard girls," a graduate of Mount Holyoke seminary. In commenting upon the story to a friend, the present Mrs. Sage, who was a school chum of the first wife, said that not long ago the old graveyard where her predecessor had been buried was torn up, and Mr. Sage went there to superintend the removal of the body. He stepped over the fence, and as he did so a coffin was borne past him. A wedding ring rolled out at his feet. It was that of his former wife. The present Mrs. Sage, who has much sentiment in her makeup, thought it a beautiful omen.

D'ALBERT A MASTERFUL VIOLINIST

Ripples of melody fell cascade-like from the bow of d'Albert, the violinist, at the recital given in Progress Hall last evening under the auspices of the Kiloana Art League, the artist's renditions displaying marvelous skill and versatility. The recital was doubly pleasing in that it introduced to a Honolulu audience two new musicians who won favor from the moment they first appeared upon the platform. These were d'Albert himself, and Mr. H. W. Baldwin, a baritone. The applause which followed each selection of these artists demonstrated their popularity. At the close of the concert, when half the audience was rising, the other half applauded the violinist to such an extent that he was almost compelled to respond to an encore. Miss Hartnagle also won new honors, for hers is a voice so seldom heard that the audience derived additional pleasure in listening to several pretty selections.

Progress Hall held a large audience last evening, and it was one which seemed to enjoy good music. The program, of course, was largely given over to Mr. d'Albert, and the various violin selections gave him an opportunity to display all his technique and versatility. At times his bow went rollicking over the strings in the wild abandon of a caprice, and again was soberly restrained to the measured cadence of a sonata. In classic and in lighter music d'Albert was equally at home, and the quality of the melody was clear and decisive, showing complete mastery of the instrument.

The violinist opened the recital with Greig's Sonata, op. 45, attacking it with decision, and then carried his audience along with him in the varied moods of Allegro molto ed appassionato, Allegretto, and the latter, exclaiming in his interpretation of the latter.

Miss Hartnagle was heard to advantage in her singing of La Gitana (Bolero) by Luigi Arditi. Her voice, rich and full of dramatic vigor, was well attuned to the strains of the gypsy song, and for an encore she sang a quaint little ballad. Mr. d'Albert won generous applause when he finished the "Spanish Dance" by Rehfeld, a composition so gently and expressively handled as to seem almost the voice of a child on his violin.

Mr. H. W. Baldwin won instant favor by the singing of Elliott's "Song of Hybries the Cretan," a composition with a martial effect. Mr. Baldwin possesses a voice of resonant and tuneful vibrancy, especially rich and full in the upper and lower notes. For an encore he sang "It Was a Dream." The "Hindoo Song" was sung prettily by Miss Hartnagle, and she was followed by d'Albert in the closing numbers of the program, showing himself at his best in the Allegretto, Andante and Varizone Finale.

Mrs. Whitney, Miss Hopper and Miss Castle, were the piano accompanists.

Visitors to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition next year will find that St. Louis has a code of slang all its own. For example, a person who is spoken of here as a "dead one," is in St. Louis a "crane." The St. Louis version of the expression "the real thing" for a pretty girl is "a swell doll." A "crown guy" is a policeman, a "gittney" is a nickel, and "Mug's Landing" is the Union Station.

"Sure, Murphy was wrong, an' he knowd he was wrong an' he owned up jolke a little man." "Did he, now?" "Yis, but he licked the other man firrst!"—Puck.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Program Prepared By the Grand Army.

Soldiers, Young and Old Will Take Part.

Exercises at Nuuanu Cemetery. Walter G. Smith Will Make An Address.

The program for the Memorial Day Exercises to be held tomorrow at Nuuanu Cemetery was completed yesterday by the committee of the Geo. W. De Long Post, No. 45, G. A. R. The parade this year will not be as large as usual, because of the inability of the various civic societies which have been invited, to turn out. Only the Grand Army men, the National Guard and the soldiers from Camp McKinley will participate.

It is the intention of the various organizations which will take part to form at the Elk's Hall, which is also the Grand Army headquarters. No line of march has been arranged as yet, but it will probably be along Beretania street to Emma, up Emma to Vineyard street then on Vineyard to Nuuanu avenue and on out to the cemetery. The exercises are scheduled to take place at two o'clock, and the program will be as follows:

Edward's Modest Daughter.

King Edward's three daughters seem to be devoid of personal ambition and to be quite willing that their sister-in-law and their aunts, Helena, Louise and Beatrice, should represent royalty in their stead. So far from profiting by the rise in rank which their father's accession gained them, the Duchess of Fife and her sisters prefer to stay away from functions where they would precede Queen Victoria's daughters, so it is not often that these illustrious ladies meet in full state array. One parliament opening and the coronation have seemed about enough for them. It is scarcely likely that the Duke of Fife's daughters will make royal matches, and in all probability they will become British peeresses and have a far more pleasant life than if they turned into German princesses and had to follow a foreign spouse to his own country.

Advantageous Tips.

One of Sousa's bandmen is quite a humorist. He was once a participant in conversation where the subject of tip-giving arose. The bandman said that in Germany, where the waiters are satisfied with very small tips, he always gave a gold piece. "Because, you see," he added, "when you give a German a gold piece he falls in a fit and then you can take it away from him."

AGAINST THE TIDE.

Rowing against the tide is hard work, even when the boat is light and the rower strong. Every stroke takes away a little strength. The lungs work hard to keep the blood supplied with oxygen. Objects on the shore seem to move past with disheartening slowness. Arms and back ache, and courage fails. The sick person, with a sluggish liver, bad blood and worse digestion, is like a man pulling against the tide. His struggle to keep alive is heartbreaking. His merciless mirror shows a pale, haggard face, with sunken cheeks and eyes, either dull or shining with the brightness so often noticed in consumptives. He needs treatment but no lasting benefit may be expected from that which is overgrown with the moss of tradition. The effective and reliable cure is WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION of the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. It is palatable as honey, and as a remedy for wasting diseases it stands in the front rank in the march of medicine. It stimulates the sluggish organs of secretion, purifies the blood, promotes digestion, revives a natural appetite and builds up the whole system. Sufferers from Nervous Debility, La Grippe, Bowel Complaints, Throat and Lung Troubles, etc., testify to its transcendent value. Dr. E. J. Boyes says: "In a recent case a patient gained nearly twenty pounds in two months treatment in which it was the principal remedial agent." For the misery of disease it gives the happiness of robust health. One bottle convinces. Effective from the first dose. Look it up. "You cannot be disappointed in it." Sold by chemists here and everywhere.

THE TERM IS ALMOST PAU

Jurors In Both the Courts Were Excused.

Robinson Dismisses the Wide Tire Case.

Holds That Evidence Was Insufficient—No Extension of Present Term.

The work of the May term of Circuit Court was practically concluded yesterday, and there will not be another term until September under the new law. There will be no extension of the present term which ends Monday, the attorneys in a petition to Judge Robinson having requested that this be not done.

The criminal calendar has been cleared of all cases ready for trial, and there are hardly half a dozen remaining upon the calendar. It was the intention to begin next week with the trial of civil cases, but in view of the request of the attorneys this was abandoned.

Both Judge De Bolt and Judge Robinson excused their juries yesterday after thanking the members heartily for their assistance during the past term.

THE WIDE TIRE CASE.

The case of the Territory against John Correa, which involved the question of the application of Act 25 of the statutes of 1898, which regulates the width of the tires of wagon wheels, to such vehicles as are used by the Pacific Transfer Company, was the last case tried yesterday before Judge Robinson and a jury. When the testimony for the prosecution was completed, Henry E. Highton, for the defendant and for the Pacific Transfer Company, moved the Court to direct the jury to acquit, on two grounds, first: that the Act could not be enforced, because it was ambiguous and uncertain in not presenting the point where the axle should be measured in order to determine what the width of the tires should be, and, second: because it was inapplicable to light wagons, such as are employed by the Pacific Transfer Company and other express concerns, which are not concerned in the transportation of heavy merchandise. Samuel A. Macy, the police officer who made the arrest, testified that the possible carrying strength of the wagon, driven by the defendant, John Correa, in his opinion, was about fourteen hundred pounds and that average loads would be a thousand pounds.

Mr. Highton claimed that the wagon of the Pacific Transfer Co.'s driven by the defendant, was properly used for a lawful purpose, in a lawful vocation, and with no possible injury to the public streets or to individuals, and, therefore, within the protection of the fifth and fourteenth amendments of the Constitution of the United States. He contended further that there was no evidence to show, even if the statute could be otherwise sustained, that the axle had been measured at the point of its greatest weakness, which was all the act could have meant, if capable of being constructively defined. Mr. Highton was broad and clear in his admissions of the regulating power of the legislature, in proper cases, and did not claim that the law in all its parts was insufficient, but acknowledged its potency in protecting the streets and highways against heavy drays and trucks, which required tires to prevent injury to thoroughfares.

Deputy Attorney General Peters made a full argument for the prosecution, to which Mr. Highton replied, Judge Robinson then granted the motion and instructed the jury to render a verdict for the defendant, which was done. Judge Robinson did not consider it necessary to pass upon the constitutional questions, but placed his decision on the ground that the evidence would not support a verdict of guilty.

This case has excited considerable interest among transportation and express companies, doing the lighter work of the community, for the reason that the alteration of wagon tires is very expensive, and, as they claim, unnecessary.

THE YIM QUON CASE.

Judge De Bolt sustained the demurrer in the case of Yim Quon charged with forgery and the indictment was dismissed. The court held that a receipt was not included in documents which constituted forgeries under the Hawaiian law.

American "Centenarians"

The United States census for 1900 finds 3,536 persons in the United States who are 100 or more years of age. The value of these figures may be questioned, and perhaps may be best estimated by the fact that 72.8 per cent. of the whole number are negroes, many of whom have no reliable evidence as to the date of their birth. They are but 11 per cent. of the total population. It seems improbable, too, that this country should have over 3,500 when Germany, with a population of nearly 35,000,000, has only 778, and England, with 32,000,000, only 146, and France, with 40,000,000, has only 212.

CRUSOE'S ISLAND.

The story of Robinson Crusoe has been read and reread, and we have all followed the adventures of De Foe's hero with deep interest. But what had "Man Friday" been doing before he and Crusoe met. We are told of his wanderings over the lonely isle, of his methods of living, of his dolce far niente life. The question has often been asked whether or no Friday left any record unknown to Crusoe that might enlighten the future ages. Recently an expedition composed of De Foe enthusiasts set out for the purpose of searching for the island, and strange as it may seem their efforts were rewarded. Among other relics was found a weather beaten sign bearing the legend "The Douglas Patent Closet never leaks." On the lower corner was cut "Bath the plumber." There is no record in the story that Crusoe knew of Friday's find.

HAS DRAWN THREE PENSIONS

Mrs. Ashton, of New Albany, Ind., has been the wife of four veterans of the civil war, and has been granted pensions as the widow of three of them. Commissioner Ware has been investigating her case, and finds that it is without parallel. Her first husband served four years as a private in an Indiana regiment, and contracted rheumatism, from which he died in 1876. Two years later she applied for a pension, which was granted, and she continued to draw it until 1882, when she married another veteran, and her pension stopped. Husband No. 2 lived for five years. Upon his death, she made her second application, and was granted a pension as his widow, which she continued to receive until she married for the third time, when the pension bureau was promptly notified of her third matrimonial venture, and her name was again dropped from the rolls. In 1889, for the third time, she applied for a pension, representing that husband No. 3, who was a captain, had died from wounds received in the service. Her name was again added to the list without delay, because experience had taught her how to prepare her application and the evidence to sustain it; but in 1896, along came Major Ashton, also a Union veteran, who invited her to share his fortunes, and again she reported her new matrimonial alliance to the pension office. Husband No. 4 is still living.

CHERUBS WITH GOLDEN WINGS PASSING THE HAT

Sonorous Appeal For the Rescue From Hawaiian Slavery of the Noble But Victimized Porto Rican Laborer—A Rare Document.

Following is a pronunciamento from Porto Rico which we reproduce in all its originality of English:

Honolulu, T. H., May 27, 1903.

Editor Advertiser: Following I beg to submit a translated clipping from "LA DEMOCRACIA," Caguas, Pto. Rico, hoping, that you will kindly give it a space in your paper.

L. B. N.

A commission of scholars from SAN JUAN have initiated the beautiful and christian idea to open a suscription for the purpose of bringing back the Puerto Ricans, who immigrated to Hawaii.

There has been a great deal written about this theme and valuable authorities have supported it in nearly all the news papers of the island, although their efforts have not proven successful up to the present time. Today it is our youth, the intelligent youth, which tomorrow is to succeed us in the progressive push of our task, which is strengthened by such a patriotic action. Truly, it would be highly shameful, should we fail to pay attention to these children,—when above their bright garment of youth and innocence, shines this beautiful task, even greater than christian charity,—extending their little hands to us in solicitude of alms, for the unfortunate victims of Hawaii, for the slaves of an unjust contract which we did not understand to benumb.

I encourage these enthusiastic and noble youths in the pursuance of their task.

Not alone in the capital, but that they also establish committees of equal disposition in all the towns of the island and that not only the scholars contribute with their offerings but also active and diligent parties should walk the streets and public places and should call at every door, door, saying:

"The men of tomorrow approach the men of to-day, demanding the redemption of some slaves. These slaves are Puerto Ricans. The children are showing us, that in reality exists the true patriotic love and if with our collections we will be able to liberate those who suffer, we may be proud, that they are our sons and to live under the blue sky of our beloved fatherland."

Do not be fainthearted. The angels have always been carriers of success and "GOD", who smiles at the angles, will bless the work of the Puerto Rican children, who, under matter of content and pleasure, will go like a legion of cherubs, conveyed in rays of light, through the regions of the Pacific, for the purpose of bringing liberty to their countrymen there in those solitary islands.

I am certain, that, if this last attempt will not be successful, then there will be no more redemption for our brothers in Hawaii.

But no; those who undertake it now, in their own debility have the valor, so their attempts may bring fruit and their valor be irresistible.

They must not stop to consider a moment, not allow themselves to be detained an instant.

Look at the thousands of pupils who actually attend our schools and calculate, one cent pro head, how many cents can be gathered and if to them we add those from fathers, brothers, friends and parents, most assuredly the idea will become a reality within a short time and we may expect the possibility of returning to their fatherland, the unfortunate of Hawaii.

We do not expect large contributions, but only as much, as without any sacrifice one may be able to give.

Daily we celebrate balls, shows and festivals, daily we expend hundreds of dollars in fire-works, daily we make expenditures for things which are even of no relative importance. Why must we not contribute to such a sublime action, the redemption of a slave and above all, if this slave is a PUERTO RICAN?

This noble plan, supported with energy by the brothers PANAGUA in their respective schools, is a title of glory which they acquire and which crowns them with honor.

Behold here a relation of the beautiful angels, who with their little wings of gold, wish to fly to the distant Hawaii, to liberate the unhappy peons, who are suffering there:

"Bartolo Paniagua; Rafael Paniagua; Marina Paniagua; Emma Roberts; Ignacio Enturio; Francisco Silvestre; Isabel Arbona; Maximo Aybar; Isabel Rivera; Mercedes Pons; Elisa Pereyo; Monserrate Plaza; Carmen Marrero; Bernabela Ramos; Homobona Nieves; Antonio Montesino and Jose Tomas Rosello."

Well, FORWARD! and prove that you are men,—being children,—since so many men prove themselves children, being men.

If you succeed in pulling those unfortunate Puerto Ricans out of their misery and slavery, I declare you "HEROES".

So! be Heroes!

GENESILLO.

THE SHAH OF PERSIA'S DIARY.

Extracts from the diary of the Shah of Persia, who has quite recently been visiting England are amusing.

The shah was mightily impressed by the greatness and incorruptibility of the London police, and wrote concerning them as follows: "The English police gentlemen are men of the greatest culture and honor. Unlike those of many countries, I have been informed that the police of England and the United States are almost incorruptible, and that it is impossible to bribe them except by the touch of gold. These officers carry themselves with great dignity, but there have been occasions on which they have shown commendable alacrity, and have even been known to be present when the public peace has been threatened by certain unseemly and riotous citizens."

The shah has a very poor opinion of the English climate, if one may judge from the following extract: "It is very necessary for the people of England to wash thoroughly and frequently in order to clear themselves from the constant fogs and rains that fall upon them. So much do the people of Britain love water that they sometimes wash twice daily. Even the members of the royal family and the great nobles find pleasure in this somewhat childish occupation."

This despotic monarch's opinion of English women's charms and accomplishments is hardly altogether flattering: "An English lady is very fair to look upon. Her skin is soft and clean, but her figure is unnatural and angular. She has certainly not the pleasing vivacity of a French lady, neither has she the captivating boldness of an American lady, of whom many are in London. An English woman is passionately fond of all animals, and is often devoted to her husband and children."

The shah was mightily impressed at the great wealth of some of the English people: "Many private individuals," he writes, "are almost as rich as the king himself. It speaks very highly for King Edward's kind-heartedness to say that he never resents this great wealth existing among his subjects, neither does he punish them in any way for this apparent presumption."

Does it Pay to Maintain Quality?

Our success and acknowledged leadership in the spectacle business answers the question. Our patronage is in fact, a lesson in that it evidences public fidelity to the optician who safeguards his patients by the quality of his work.

ALBANIANS CONCEALING AMMUNITION.

The preparations for a rising have been extensive and deliberate. The rebel bands are carefully drilled and organized, each having its standard-bearer. The offices carry Russian magazine rifles, and the men the Berdan weapon. Arms and ammunition have been smuggled into the country as holy relics.

OUR FIRST BILLIONAIRE

John D. Rockefeller is now classed as a billionaire, and reported to be the richest man in the world. Before the South African war Alfred Beit of Kimberley was, according to an English list published in 1900, the world's only billionaire. Li Hung Chang of China stood second in the list with $500,000,000, and John D. Rockefeller third with $250,000,000.

Only 7 others were given fortunes of over $100,000,000. Prince Elim Demidoff, of Russia, $200,000,000; Cornelius Vanderbilt, of New York, $125,000,000; Andrew Carnegie $120,000,000, and William K. Vanderbilt, John Jacob Astor, William Rockefeller, and William Waldorf Astor each $100,000,000.

Lord Rothschild, of England, was credited with $75,000,000, and Alphonse Rothschild, of Paris, and Baron Albert Rothschild, of Vienna $70,000,000 each. The English Dukes of Devonshire, Bedford, Norfolk, and Buccleugh each had $50,000,000.

Alfred Krupp, gunmaker, had $45,000,000, Claus Spreckels and P. D. Armour each $40,000,000, Collis P. Huntington, George J. Gould and J. Pierpont Morgan each $35,000,000, and Marshall Field, Harold McCormick, W. L. Elkins, and James J. Hill each $25,000,000, all of them ranking in wealth with Russian and Austrian princes.

Fifty years ago the millionaires were confined mainly to the princes and dukes and bankers of Europe. The American millionaire came with the era of development of railways and the mineral and manufacturing resources of the country. Since the census year of 1890 there have been great changes. Mr. Rockefeller having quadrupled his wealth and the South African millionaire having lost ground. Many Americans who were simply hard workers twenty years ago have advanced to the rank of millionaires.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A well-known English lady novelist, whose enemies accuse her of taking herself somewhat too seriously, was entertaining a party of her friends, and conversation ran largely upon her new book. One young man in the circle had not read the work. "Accordingly, on rising from the table, and by way of abstracting himself from the talkers who were still worrying their conversational bone," says the London Outlook, "he fixed his eyes on a female portrait which adorned the drawing-room wall. Coming softly behind him, the lady novelist significantly said, 'I think I know what you are thinking—that that picture reminds you of Fredericka.' 'Of Fredericka,' replied the young man blankly, 'what Fredericka?' 'My Fredericka,' returned the novelist, with surprise, for her latest heroine bore that name. Then the unbeliever pulled himself together. 'No,' said he, with a judicial head shake, 'that is not my notion of your Fredericka.' And he plumed himself on having got well out of the hobble. But it was yet early for self-gratulation. 'Come, then,' returned his hostess, seductively, 'come and sit down here beside me, and you shall tell me what your notion of my Fredericka is.'

"I Can Handle Any Man My Size"

HOW OFTEN THAT IS SAID BY MEN WHO HAVE BEEN cured of Nervous Debility by the Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt! They say it every day. Men who have been weak, gloomy, irresolute and who had no confidence in themselves at all, are now holding up their heads in pride, with the knowledge that perfect strength is restored; that they are as good as any man that walks, and better than any man of their size. You know you are weak now and wish you could say that you were as good as any man of your size. You can if you will use this grand incinerator.

Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt
DR. McLAUGHLIN—Dear Sir: In regard to the belt I purchased of you, I will say it is the only cure that I have ever found. I have gained 15 pounds since I began your treatment and feel like another man. I can work and have the energy to do my work. Yours very truly,
C. H. DREWRY, Korb, Cal.

They come every day from everywhere. There is not a town or hamlet in the country which has not cures by Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt.

Now what does this mean to you, dear reader? If you are not what you ought to be, can you ask any better proof to make you try it? Is there a remedy which is as simple, as easy to use, as sure to cure and as cheap as Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt? I have not seen one. You must try it. In justice to yourself and those who look to you for their future happiness, try it now. Act this minute. Such a matter ought not to be delayed.

It's as good for women as for men. Worn while you sleep, it causes no trouble. You feel the gentle, glowing heat from it constantly, but no stinging, no burning, as in old style belts.

Call to-day, or send for my beautiful book, full of the thing a man likes to read if he wants to be a strong man. It is sent sealed free. Cut out this ad.

CUNHA AND ELSTON ARE CHAMPIONS

Won Mens' Tennis Doubles After Hard Fought Match.

After holding the championship in men's tennis doubles for four years, Adams and Brock lowered their colors yesterday to Cunha and Elston, after a match on the Pacific courts, which in many points was as fine tennis as one wants to see. The sets were fast, the victors winning by the hardest kind of work, and after the best sort of play.

The first set went to Cunha and Elston, due in large part to the fast service of Cunha, who had both the eye and stroke, and with the excellent work of Elston at the net, they took the set by 6-2. The second was fought from the first, the score advancing until four games all, when the victors pulled ahead and won, 6-4. There were many plays which drew the sharpest applause from the spectators, who were treated to service, smash and volley of first order.

The concluding set was even harder. The score 5-5 shows the gameness with which the losers fought to the end. Brock seemed a little off in form here, his net work being hardly up to the standard which he himself has set in the past and Elston improving. Adams played an excellent game. The play was watched by a large gathering of spectators, and there was enthusiasm all the way.

The match for the ladies' single championship between Miss Horner, present holder of the title, and Mrs. Elston, winner of this year, will be played Monday on Beretania courts. At 5 o'clock that afternoon the ladies' doubles drawing will take place at Pearson & Potter's, the first games to be played Tuesday on both courts.

THE FLAG SHOULD BE AT HALF MAST

Editor Advertiser: Allow me to state that your correspondent, C. T., doesn't know all about flags.

The army regulations require flags on Memorial Day to be at half-mast from sunrise until noon—until after the salute is fired.

GENERAL BOUM.

Editor Advertiser: The G. A. R. regulations require the flag to be kept at half-mast all day on the 30th of May. The occasion is one of mourning. I hope the ships will dress accordingly.

COUNCIL APPROVES ELECTRIC CAR LINE

The Executive Council yesterday approved the proposed route of the Rapid Transit line along Queen street and the waterfront. The line is to run from King and River streets to Queen street, along Queen to Fort, on Fort to the Esplanade, and thence to Alakea, and up Alakea to Punchbowl.

The council also approved an exchange of land between Judge Perry by which the latter gets the Walluie fish pond, in exchange for land needed for widening Punchbowl and School streets.

MUSIC AND LAUGHTER.

Joshua Whitcomb and Specialties at Orpheum Tonight.

Joshua Whitcomb, the first play ever written by Denman Thompson and the success by which he first made his hit with the public and laid the foundation of his financial prosperity will be played this evening at the Orpheum by the Elford Company.

Corrigan plays the title role and is ably backed by the rest of the company. The story, dealing with Joshua's adventures in Boston is full of comedy with touches of pathos here and there. It is thoroughly enjoyable and the company have all congenial roles.

The piece as produced is almost a musical comedy. Everybody sings, the company warbles medleys while the individual song birds do their specialties. Cinderella and Happy Hooligan is announced for tomorrow's matinee. Corrigan plays the unfortunate individual whose troubles figure in the Illustrated Journals and Baby Maitland is Cinderella.

Yacht Races Earlier.

So that the contestants may get home in time for dinner without trouble the yacht races of Saturday will be started at 2 p. m. instead of 3 o'clock as at first suggested.

Little Clarence—"Pa, what is a volcano?" Mr. Callipers—"A volcano, my son, is a cramped and feverish mountain which belches forth fire, smoke, lava, statistics, adjectives, and 'copy' for the magazines for two years or more after the first eruption, and beggars description every time it is described."—Puck.

Old customs in new dress: Miss de Style—"She received a great many calls New Year's Day." Miss Gunbusta—"Very popular. I presume." Miss de Style—"Oh, no; she works a switch-board in a telephone office."—Ex.

Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Co., New York. Gentlemen: We thank you very kindly for your prompt attention in sending one of your men to open our safe this morning. We also wish to congratulate you upon the quality of your burglar-proof safe, as the burglars who entered our place must have worked all night and could not open the doors, and left without accomplishing their purpose. When the detectives arrived this morning to inspect the work they claimed it was done by professional cracksmen and told us that if it had been a safe of any other make the burglars would have got in by the way they worked on our safe. We thought we would write you this good news as we consider ourselves fortunate. We remain, Yours respectfully,
