PEARL HARBOR INTEREST GROWING

Delegate Writes Of Hawaii Affairs

Washington, D. C., Jan. 24, 1908. Editor Evening Bulletin: For some time past, I have been negotiating for a date on which the whole Pearl Harbor question could be heard by the House Naval Committee. Last week there was opportunity offered for a brief hearing but we declined that and insisted that Pearl Harbor was sufficiently important to be given a more extended hearing. Today I am advised by the Chairman that my secretary and I are to be heard next Tuesday forenoon; I have also asked that Mr. Hatch be heard by the committee.

In a recent interview with the head of one of the Bureaus of the Navy, he informed me that the President would within a few days send to Congress a special message, recommending strong fortifications for Hawaii, and the immediate development of Pearl Harbor.

The message has not been sent as yet, but its transmission will probably be cabled to you before the arrival of this letter in Honolulu. If the President sends such a message, and in it speaks as vigorously for Pearl Harbor as he has recently in conversation with a number of Congressmen, his action will afford needed influence on the House Committee's course in framing the Naval bill. From extended personal conversations with the Naval Chairman and members of the Committee, it appears that they are generally in favor of a naval base at Pearl Harbor, but they fear that the exceptionally large sum asked for additional naval vessels this year will crowd out any item to provide for a new naval station.

Only yesterday Chairman Hawley renewed his notice to the House that appropriations would have to be scaled down to prevent a large deficit for the coming fiscal year; it is apparent therefore that our efforts will have to face that additional handicap this year.

We have already had two days' hearings on my bills before the Committee on Territories, and we are to have one or two days with them next week. Mr. McClellan, Mr. Hatch and I have been asked to appear before the Committee on Industrial Arts and Expositions next Monday when the bill will be considered providing for exhibits

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX ARRIVES Famous Writer Comes To Honolulu For Two Months' Stay

"The villain still pursues," etc., was the laughing remark of the famous writer, Mrs. Robert Marus Wilcox (Ella Wheeler) when she saw the reporter for the Bulletin, formidably armed with pad and pencil, coming her way on the big liner Mongolia this morning. Ella Wheeler Wilcox, as she is known all over the world, or Mrs. Robert, as she wishes to be called in private life, is, with her husband, on her regular winter trip to the various lands of sunshine. They will remain in Honolulu for about two months, being booked to return on the Manchuria.

"Just a year ago yesterday," she said, "my husband and I were taking the steamer from Egypt on our way to Italy. We go away each winter, away as far as we conveniently can, from the land of snow and ice, and Hawaii, the Paradise of the Pacific, had long appealed to us, and this year we decided to make the trip."

Brooks Is Still Fighting

Going To Shanghai For Wilfley Evidence

The fight against Judge Wilfley of Shanghai, which is keeping the combatants traveling over a ten thousand mile course, brought F. M. Brooks to Honolulu this morning. He is a passenger in the Mongolia on his way back to Shanghai.

"When I arrived at Washington," said Brooks this noon, "I found that Lorrin Andrews had already filed charges against Wilfley with the State Department. Owing to the political situation the handling of the matter is rather slow, but we intend to fight it out. The general feeling among the Congressmen and officials at Washington is against Wilfley. They feel that he has overstepped his authority. On the other hand it is possible that he will be whitewashed in order to avoid the scandal which would follow if he should be convicted of the charges. If this is done, we will have him regularly impeached before the House, the papers necessary for this proceeding having already been prepared.

"I intend to press the suit I have filed against Wilfley before the Honolulu courts. It was intimated to me that Wilfley was ready to compromise in so far that he would drop his fight against Andrews and myself, but we do not intend to avail ourselves of this, as there is a matter of principle involved.

"I am now going back to China to get depositions which will be necessary both in the case in Washington and in my suit here. I may go back to Washington with these depositions, or I may send them on to Andrews, who will then conduct the case at Washington. I understand that Wilfley has filed an answer to the charges which I made against him. I am glad of that, as that will make him out a liar in Shanghai. I will come here later to conduct the case against Wilfley myself, but I will not take advantage of him, and will allow him the time which it is necessary for him to take before he can come here."

The Mongolia brought two fine Franklin touring cars for E. O. Hall & Son.

The application for a receiver for the State Savings bank of Butte, Mont., has been continued to Feb. 17 by Judge Bourquin, who asserts he believes it will be able to resume by that date.

Thomas Bates, who ran away from his home at Springfield, Mass., in 1852, has been found by his brother in the state soldiers' home in Tennessee. The wanderer will be given a comfortable home with his brother.

Tell Of Our Churches Is Suggestion Made By Bishop Moore

BISHOP MOORE, WHO ADRESSED COMMERCIAL CLUB

Bishop Moore of the Methodist Episcopal church gave a noon-day talk before the members of the Commercial Club today during the lunch hour.

The dining room of the club was fairly filled with members and their friends and the words of the Bishop were very much enjoyed. Bishop Moore was seated at the circular "Governor's" table at the makai end of the dining room, with him were President George W. Smith, Mr. Trent, Rev. Mr. Wadman, Rev. Mr. Crane, Fred Macfarlane, Judge Weaver and other members of the Board of Governors.

Bishop Moore is a powerful speaker and was most cordially received. He has just returned from a tour of the islands and has been pleasantly impressed with the business as well as the moral progress of the islands.

The lunch-hour talk is a feature to which the Entertainment Committee of the Commercial Club is giving considerable attention, it being the plan to thus bring the members and their guests in touch with officials, prominent people of the town and guests of the city. The speaker in every instance selects his own topic. One of the main thoughts of the speaker was that Hawaii in its promotion should let the people of the mainland know of the churches.

President Geo. W. Smith introduced Bishop Moore, who was greeted with applause. Mr. Smith remarked that the unusual mail day accounted for the room not being filled.

The Bishop in opening said he was glad to see the business brawn and brain of the Territory in its own habitat. He had been using his opportunity while here to observe those things which a minister of the Gospel was interested in; still he was aware that the commercial features were a complementary part, and he was glad to have the privilege of meeting such a large gathering of representative business men. He remarked he had been here three times before and thought that he was as well informed as the average through passenger, still he had to confess that all his former impressions

ALASKA MAN TO BOOST FOR HAWAII

Great Place For Alaska People To Spend Winter

Among the passengers going on the Korea to San Francisco are Mr. J. F. Kennedy and wife, who have been visiting the islands. Mr. Kennedy speaks very highly of Hawaii's tropical city as a refuge for the Klondykers during the winter months. In speaking of the commercial possibilities of the two Territories, Mr. Kennedy thinks the islands ineluctable in comparison with Alaska. He claims the Yukon river to be navigable twenty-four or twenty-six hundred miles with tributaries five to six hundred miles to the head waters.

"The Yukon river valley is all the way from 700 miles wide down, and is as productive as any country we have for many classes of vegetation. I have

YOUNG MAN DIES ON THE THOMAS

Was Sick Before He Left Manila; Finally Succumbs

Pat Cull, a second-class passenger in the employ of the Quartermaster's Department of the United States Army, and who was returning from the Philippines after a two years tour of duty, died on the 24th of January at sea on the Thomas. Very little was known about the man. He was an Irishman and was comparatively young, being between 35 and 40 years. He was sick, it is said, and seriously so, when he came on the vessel, and as the days went by, he gradually became worse until he finally passed away.

The United States Army transport Thomas was the first big boat to enter the harbor this morning. The Mongolia was expected the first thing, but

SIGHT OF CHILD MOVES PRISONER

Man Denies Fatherhood But Cannot Resist Baby's Plea

The methods the officers of the law use to get the truth from prisoners accused of violation of the law are often interesting, and the results are not infrequently pathetic. But justice is supposed to be blind and not tainted with sentiment.

In one corner of the Marshal's office in the Judiciary building this morning sat a man in the garb of a laborer, holding on his knee an extraordinarily pretty half-white child, a little boy of perhaps three or a little less. Occasionally the man drew the child to him with a convulsive although furtive movement, as if ashamed of the affection he could not help exhibiting. And yet, not half an hour before, the man had flatly disowned the child and denied his fatherhood.

The man was Frank Turner, a line-man in the employ of the telephone company. He was arrested this morning by an officer of the United States Government on a charge of fornication. Like so many other men who have shamefacedly sat in the

GOOD SOCKER GAME YESTERDAY

The soccer game between teams of the High School and Kam players was pulled off satisfactorily yesterday afternoon at the Kam campus. The first kick off was at 4:15 p. m., rather later than the time announced for the commencement of play. From start to finish the Kam players had the ball almost continually in the High's territory. At the last part of the first half a free kick was allowed the Kams from the 10-yard line. Captain Kamatopili footed the ball fairly into the goalkeeper's hands and soon after the half ended with no score. At the starting of the second half Murray of the Kams kicked off. Team work then came into play on the Kams' part and a trio of Kams—Kamatopili, McKenzie and Akana—made a concerted play which brought the ball to goal from center in about nine seconds, the play being aided by Murray.

This win places the Kams to the line with the Punahous and their next meet will be undoubtedly interesting. Kamatopili and Akana were the star players in this game for the Kams, while Andrews scintillated for the Highs.

There is a kick against the order of events as placed on the Kam track program. The participants consider that it is not right to have a 100-yard dash, then a one-mile relay after the finals of the 100 yards, as the committee has planned.

The Kam boys paid a visit in goodly number to the big shark at the Aquarium yesterday.

The standing of the teams in soccer play is as follows:

Team	Played	Won	Lost
Kams	3	2	1
Punahous	3	2	1
Highs	3	0	3

SCHOOL SPORTS

On Friday next, the 7th inst., the deciding game in soccer will be played on the Kam's campus, between the Punahou and Kam teams. If the Punahous win they become champs for 1908; if the Kams win then the Pins will have to obtain a record, by beating the Highs, to contest again.

Stanley Livingston, the popular teacher at the Kamehameha Schools, has decided to help the boys out in their track practise. Mr. Livingston uses his own time for this good work, the trustees not having provided an athletic instructor.

I very seldom do any descriptive writing, but, of course, I will be making mental notes all the time I am here, and probably will write some."

"I have all my magazine contracts for the coming year fulfilled, and think I deserve a little rest. I am looking forward with a great deal of anticipation to my stay in the islands, for I have always heard so much about their wonderful beauty. In all my travels around the world, I have never as yet found a more beautiful spot than Jamaica, but, from all reports, Honolulu and the various islands must be a close rival. At any rate, I am willing to be converted. This is my very first trip on the Pacific ocean. I have been in California a number of times before, but never on a sea trip on this side."

Through an error it was stated yesterday that Geo. A. Davis assisted J. J. Dunne in the trial of the Stanley Dollar case. Davis tried the case as the sole counsel for the plaintiffs before Judge Dole and got the decision which was confirmed by the Circuit Court of Appeals.

TAFT AND HUGHES RUNNING EVEN

Former Lieutenant-Governor Anderson of the State of California arrived here this morning on the Mongolia, and he will remain here for a month or so, resting and enjoying himself. He has just returned from a trip in the East, and did not have an opportunity to see Governor Pardee, who was expected to also arrive today on the Pacific Mail liner, before he left the States.

"Governor Pardee could not leave California at this time on account of press of business, the nature of which I do not know," said Mr. Anderson, "and I am not prepared to say when he will be able to make his proposed trip to the islands. I was so rushed to get ready for my own trip, after just returning from the East, that I had no opportunity to see him."

"As to the political outlook in the East, there is not very much to say. I think it is about a stand-off as yet between Hughes and Taft for the presidency. Hughes has forged to the front very rapidly indeed in the last few months and he is making his quiet power felt considerably all over the country. He is one of those quiet, unassuming men who do things in an effective manner, with of course Taft has a wonderfully large following, due, I think, to the supposed influence of President Roosevelt, all over the United States. The clouds on the political horizon are just beginning to melt away, but they have not as yet lifted to an extent where the shining face of the most probable candidate for the Presidency may be discerned."

"While there has been some talk about nominating Governor Pardee, of California, for the vice-presidency, I do not think that he is at all seeking the position, nor does he want the nomination. However, I wouldn't like to be quoted positively as saying that this is true, for I am speaking more from personal opinion than from actual knowledge. There is no doubt but that, if the honor should come to the West, Pardee would be able to hold his own, and he is a very representative man, too. But I hardly think that matters will shape themselves in this manner, and I am pretty sure that Pardee is not exactly reaching for the plum."

TELLS OF OUR CHURCHES

ions had fused into a phantasmagoria of bathers, tourists, flower girls, so that it seemed as if he had been on a trip through fairyland.

This trip he had more time to see the islands and had been permitted to see Oahu, Maui and Hawaii pretty thoroughly. In courtesy, the Kinau beat all boats, except one, he has ever seen.

The speaker went on to describe the scenic beauties of Hawaii, especially the Volcano, Maui, the sugar mills and the O. R. & L. Co., giving a tribute to the business foresight of B. F. Dillingham.

He had met the Hawaiian business men in their homes, had seen the sugar and coffee plantations, which furnished another phantasmagoria of industrial impressions. He believed that the best way to promote the archipelago would be to keep up the reputation for honest dealing which the Territory had built up, and which includes even the curio dealers.

It should be best to devise ways to keep the strangers here, and in this matter the outside islands should not be forgotten.

The Volcano was worth going far to see, even when it was not in eruption, where a pit of hell could be seen which "had made me form a pious resolution in regard to my future life." Any man who had seen these sights must become an apostle for Hawaii.

Men should be induced to stay here and they might remain permanently. He thought that many new industries would be developed and it was through these that the future of Hawaii would be strengthened.

The speaker was profoundly grateful for the hospitality shown his own and other churches, though he remarked his surprise that no mention had been made of the Methodist church in Hawaii's promotion literature. He thought that Hawaii should advertise her churches, and advised that the more churches could be brought here the more interest would be awakened in Hawaii. There is a great number of church people who could be brought to an interest in Hawaii through the church literature.

Bishop Moore gained a round of applause when in closing his remarks he said he hoped the yacht Hawaii, which he went to see yesterday, would win her race, and he expressed the hope that Hawaii should win every good race in which her people were entered for the betterment of mankind.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM SUDDEN DEATH

Roy Graham, the young son of W. M. Graham, had an exceedingly close escape from death last evening in an auto accident. The boy was crossing down Kapolioli street on a bicycle. As he crossed Beretania street, Manager Hertsche of the Young and Mena Hotels came along in his automobile bound for town.

Hertsche swung his car across the car track to avoid running into the boy, but in spite of this the machine struck the wheel and rider. The boy caught the radiator of the auto and pluckily hung on to it. In this position he was carried as far as the club-house for the employees of the Rapid Transit Co., where he was shaken off and fell to the ground.

Gerrit Wilder, who happened to come along in his machine, picked Roy up and took him to his home, where he is now receiving treatment. He was bruised considerably but is not believed to have been seriously injured. The wheel was practically demolished.

WILL GIVE AWAY KAWAIAHAO SITE

The Castle Estate will soon add another large donation to the already large list of gifts which have been made by it to the public of Honolulu. The Estate has decided to give the large piece of ground on King street, where the Kawaliaho Seminary and the Castle Home now stand, for some public purpose, though the precise nature of this has not been decided upon as yet.

It has been rumored during the last few days that the Castle Estate intended to give this property as a site for a town hall, but this appears to be incorrect.

"No, I have not heard anything about that," said W. R. Castle this morning when questioned in regard to this report. "However, the Estate, some time ago bought the ground where the Kawaliaho Seminary stands, and when this institution has been moved to Manoa on the completion of the new buildings there, it is the intention to give the site, as well as that of the Castle Home, which was moved to Manoa a short time ago, for some public purpose, on a vote by the Estate, but the purpose for which it will be given has not been decided upon as yet."

"It has been suggested that the site be used for the new children's hospital, but I do not know whether it would be suitable for that purpose, as the land is rather low and water can be struck by digging down a very few feet."

Dr. L. E. Cofer, of the United States Marine Hospital Service, returned today on the Pacific Mail liner Mongolia. He was met at the wharf by Captain Otwell.

M. Yano, a prominent Japanese, is a through passenger on the Mongolia. He has been in the United States on business.

A. M. Thomas, a revenue agent, accompanied by Mrs. Thomas, arrived today in the Mongolia.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Wilcox came down on the Mongolia today. Geo. Rodiek, accompanied by wife and two children, returned on the Mongolia today.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rice arrived on the Mongolia today. Manager E. K. Bull, of Waihaha plantation, returned today on the Mongolia. He is looking well.

WEDNESDAY FEBRUARY 5, 1908

Entertainment of the fleet means one of two things—a monster affair consolidated in twenty-four hours, or a set program that will stand repeating. The latter sounds more feasible.

These Sam's soldiers very much enjoyed the pie-feeding under the trees of the Capitol. The Navy boys are largely from the great national plebeian. This, with a water carnival, would furnish two good items for the program.

If the town of Honolulu wishes to send the men of the fleet into transport of real joy, it will supply a thousand saddle horses and as many driving rigs and turn the boys loose—after providing the necessary baskets to assemble the remains.

When beet-sugar quotations hold two shillings higher than for the same period last year, it is the best guarantee that the promise of good sugar prices is no speculative dream. The price in the American market cannot long remain far below parity.

Dwellers of Makiki are not to be blamed for protesting against the extension of an ill-kept cemetery in their section of the town. The Makiki cemetery grounds are so poorly cared for that they are an eyesore. Extension suggests making a had matter worse.

JAPANESE-AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP

Application by Japanese residents for certificates of Hawaiian birth should not be cause for surprise. The wonder is that there has not been an earlier and larger demand.

Whether for purposes of proving American citizenship or as a guarantee of perfect freedom of travel, the certificate is a good thing for the Japanese born in Hawaii to have.

The Bulletin does not anticipate that there will ever be Japanese exclusion legislation passed by our country. There is certain, however, to be restrictions placed from time to time on Japanese leaving their own country, and a close watch kept at American ports, that the spirit and the letter of the restrictions may not be defeated.

Whatever happens in the future regarding the Japanese alien, it is an established fact that the Japanese born in the Territory of Hawaii will have all the privileges of travel and citizenship if he elects to take them. It is therefore a very sensible proceeding for the parents of Japanese youth to provide the certificate and establish the record of birth.

The certificate is also of the greatest importance if, as will be the case with a steadily increasing number, the Japanese youth born here elect American citizenship and participate in the governmental affairs of this country. A certificate of birth will prevent any wrangle over eligibility to the rights and privileges at the polls or in any matters pertaining to government and holding property.

It is far better for all concerned that the thoughts of citizenship be shaped during the early years of the Hawaiian-born Japanese. The child who has been classed as a possible citizen from his early school days will make a safer and better member of the American community than one who has grown to maturity with no thought of citizenship and then looks the matter up at a late hour and qualifies perhaps because someone wants his vote.

The former will be more liable to use his rights for the good of the community and the country than will the latter.

GOOD ORCHESTRA, EDUCATIONAL

There is more joy in the appreciation of good music than in the performance. The orchestra player cannot hear his own instrument. And the close proximity of like instruments about him renders it impossible for him to hear the orchestra as a whole. His greatest pleasure comes in the knowledge of interpretation for others. It is the privilege of the auditor standing at a distance to drink in the exquisite tones, shades of expression, and ecstasies of harmony,—and to hear the story.

The man who pays for the privilege of listening to the great Thomas orchestra or the famous Boston Symphony orchestra buys the goods below cost, for the maintenance of these splendid organizations comes largely from private means. The same can be said of the Honolulu Symphony orchestra, except that the latter has yet to find its individual "angel," the support being mostly from its members as a whole.

The educational value of a good orchestra to any city is inestimable. To encourage those whose zeal and talents are freely given for the betterment of the musical taste is to the city's greatest interests. This can best be done by a large attendance at each concert. The Symphony orchestra assures a musical success tomorrow evening. It is up to the public to make it popularly so.

GOVERNOR PARDEE COULD NOT COME

Detained By Business Shortly Before the Time of the Mongolia's Sailing.

"It was only at the last minute that Governor Pardee found that he would be unable to come to Honolulu," said J. Walter Scott, of the San Francisco Promotion Committee, who arrived here on the Mongolia. "Business of a pressing nature demanded his immediate attention, and though he was all broken up because of his inability to leave, it was impossible for him to do so at that time. His trip is off, and he will not be able to come at all now. Among those in our party are the following: P. H. Barnard and daughter Jessie of Chico, Mrs. Corlaine Rideout, Mrs. Melissa, Mrs. Potter, Miss Nellie Hughes, and J. Walter Scott, wife and daughter."

The about party will remain here for some time. Among other notables on the Mongolia are Mr. Miller, vice president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, and Mr. Hland, who is general passenger agent for the same company. They are now on their way to Japan and China, looking over the situation, it is said, with a view to establishing another steamship line across the Pacific.

JAPANESE HOTELS CLOSE THEIR DOORS

Four of the Japanese hotels, namely: the Kiushiyu, Haramoto, Kanjo and the Meijiya, have closed their doors. This is due to the fact that immigrants may no longer emigrate from Japan to Hawaii. There are yet remaining about eighteen of this class of hotels. Most of these will be able to continue their business for a while, but it is feared that many of them will eventually be compelled to go out of business.

Some of these hotels have opened billiard halls where the guests and their friends may spend their time. It is said that the proprietors are making money from this business.

The passage of the emigration restriction law in Japan has deprived the hotels of their best trade. The outside-district Japanese do not come to town often. Without newly arriving immigrants the hotels are in a bad way. The last hotel that closed was the Kanjo hotel at the corner of Smith and Pauahi streets. M. Kawahara was the proprietor.

B. M. Thomas, United States Internal Revenue Agent for the western division, arrived today on the Mongolia. He comes to check up the local internal revenue office, reorganize it and formally transfer it from Walter F. Drake, Acting Collector, to Walter F. Drake, Collector. The transfer will probably be made on the 10th of this month.

It is rumored in New York that R. A. McCurdy, ex-president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, who has been abroad since the insurance scandal, is on his way home.

A Jaeger was a passenger in the Mongolia, which arrived from San Francisco.

POWERS SAYS HE IS NOT GUILTY

Tells How His Hack Ran Over Japanese Child

John Powers, the hack driver who ran over a Japanese child a few days ago, appeared before Judge Andrade this morning to answer to a charge of manslaughter. This was brought against him as a result of the findings of a coroner's inquest which was held last evening. Powers stated to the court that the accident had not been through his fault. He asked that the case be continued until Saturday in order that he might employ a lawyer, and this request was granted.

"Mrs. Richards took my hack at about 12:30 p. m.," said Powers this forenoon. "We drove up to Dowsett lane, where we picked up another lady. Then we went up Auld lane, where there was a man. I only stayed there a few minutes and came back with the ladies in the hack."
"When we came back there were six or eight children playing in the lane, which is very narrow at that place. I slowed up until the children were out of the way. When the road was clear and there was no danger I started my horse up at a trot. The child must have run right under the horse; I think that it must have wanted to run to its home. The horse became frightened, but I stopped it within fifteen feet. I asked the Japanese who came out, whether the child had been hurt, but he wouldn't talk to me, so I went on."
"I have been driving a hack in Honolulu for nine years and this is the first time that I have had an accident or that there has been any charge of heedless driving against me."

TRIAL OF MRS. COITA BEGINS BEFORE LINDSAY

Rodriga Augusta Coita was put on her trial this morning before Judge Lindsay and a jury on the charge of violating the territorial liquor laws. Her offense specifically, according to the indictment, consists in having sold or furnished liquor without having a license to do so.
Mrs. Coita is being defended by Antonio Perry. Perry interposed a demurrer to the complaint, but this was overruled. Perry then moved that the prosecution be compelled to elect upon which charge the woman should be tried, claiming that the indictment charged her both with selling and furnishing liquor, and the furnishing might consist in her having given away liquor, out of the goodness of her heart. Judge Lindsay denied this motion, also. A jury was then selected to try the case.

MR. OZIAL ROUNDS.

A Resident of Welland Finds Relief in Pe-ru-na.

Mr. Ozial Rounds, Welland, Ont., a retired lumberman and a resident of Welland for half a century, writes:
"For fifteen years prior to 1900 I was a sufferer from hay asthma and chronic diarrhea. I grew weak and emaciated and was tortured with insomnia. I was treated by eminent physicians but, if anything, was worse than ever. In fact, I was in as miserable a condition as a man could be."
"However, I chanced to try Peruna and noticed an improvement. Thus encouraged, I continued, and after taking several bottles of your precious Peruna, I was entirely well and a wonder to myself and friends."
"If, at my advanced age, 83 years I have obtained such good results from Peruna, after so many years of needless suffering, there can be no doubt of its efficacy in the treatment of younger persons."

ANOTHER CHARGE AGAINST KEKAUOHA

Mormon George Accused Of Conniving At An Escape

The arrest at Kaneohe yesterday of a Chinese boy named Awa by the Federal authorities appears to promise more trouble for George Kekauoha. Awa is arrested on a charge two years old. The complaint is that in the summer of 1905 a small boy whose sister was in charge of a postoffice in Koolauloa stole a lot of postage stamps and sold them to a Chinese named Ah Kong, alias Awa.

A subpoena was issued for Awa by Marshal Hendry and it was given to Kekauoha, then Deputy Sheriff, to serve. When the day of the hearing arrived, Awa was not on hand, and Kekauoha when telephoned, to said that he had been unable to find the Chinese.

Later in the year a warrant was issued for the arrest of Awa on the charge of receiving the stolen property, but it, too, was returned unserved. Awa remained at large until yesterday, when he was arrested by the U. S. Deputy Marshal. It is believed that George Kekauoha knew his whereabouts all the time and warned him of his threatened arrest. In fact, it is said, the man ran a bake-shop near Kekauoha.

PARADE COMMITTEE IS DOING GOOD WORK

The Floral Parade which is to take place on Washington's Birthday is getting to be the common talk of the day. A meeting of the heads of committees was held at the office of Chairman Gartley yesterday. Every one reported progress. The committees are negotiating to get the baseball grounds as the reviewing place for the parade. D. P. R. Isenberg, the president of the Baseball Trustees, will be seen in a few days with a view to securing his consent for the use of the grounds. After these matters were discussed it was decided to ask Mrs. Frear, wife of Governor Frear, to distribute the prizes. Queen Liliuokalani will be invited to be a guest of honor in reviewing the parade.

Harry von Holt has consented to act as marshal of the parade. Chas. E. Chillingworth, who was marshal last year, will be asked to assist Mr. von Holt.

In order to facilitate the arrangements for the parade, the committees decided to publish their telephone numbers and addresses. Those who desire to communicate with the heads of the committee will kindly look up the following:

- Automobile section: George R. Carter, Judd building, telephone 630. Carriage section: A. J. Campbell, Treasurer's office, Executive building, telephone 718. Pa-u section: Judge Andrade, County offices, telephone 123. Riders other than pa-u: W. A. Greenwell, postoffice box 349. National section: S. M. Ballou, Judiciary building, telephone 718. Inquire from clerk Supreme Court. School section: A. F. Griffiths, Punahou College, telephone 570. Island princesses: Gerrit P. Wilder, telephone 12. Chairman of committee: A. Gartley, Hawaiian Electric Co. office, telephone 290.

WOMAN'S BOARD MEETING.

At the meeting of the Woman's Board, which was held in the board room of Central Union Church yesterday afternoon, the FBI island affairs were discussed. Miss Ida McDonald read a most interesting paper on the present day life of those islands and a general review of the history of the group from the days of cannibalism to the present.

ALASKA MAN TO

(Continued from Page 1) seen," said Mr. Kennedy, "a 2 1/2 pound turnip and an 1 1/2 pound cabbage head, grown in 89 or 90 days, and for small fruits it exceeds any part of the United States. Barley and oats mature well and potatoes grow to an immense size there. And there is already more copper undiscovered there than in all the rest of the United States put together. And for coal, it is estimated there is more coal in 200 miles square near Unalaska than the balance of the United States, and as for timber, it is along in line with British Columbia and Washington. And Alaska earned 160,771,537 pounds of salmon, valued at $11,843,521, not mentioning the numerous other fish in abundance. The gold output in about $37,000,000 when working steady.

"Besides all these advantages we have one of the very best summer climates on earth and for scenery we have got the world badly beaten. Any person who doubts my description of Alaska, a country which will be flooded with one of the best white immigration on earth in the next ten years, should be sure and take in the Yukon-Alaska exposition at Seattle in 1909.

"Yes, I think the Territory of Hawaii is a good little annex to the United States, but if we had them all annexed to Alaska we would be fixed right.

"I shall encourage winter tourists your way," said Mr. Kennedy, "but for a summer's trip, Alaska cannot be beaten. And all young people seeking fortune where there are plenty of opportunities afforded to become wealthy, should not miss the opportunities afforded there."

Mr. Kennedy thinks it probable he will stay the balance of the winter in southern California. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy have been stopping at the Majestic Hotel while in the city and speak very highly of the management of the hotel.

The complainants claim that they are the owners of two lots fronting on this street, and that they stand to suffer by the closing of the highway.

SIGHT OF CHILD

(Continued from Page 1) same corner into which he shrunk, his offense, according to the complaint against him, consists in living with a woman whose child is his child but who is not his wife. Turner, when questioned this morning as to whether he had any children by the woman, flatly denied that he had.

And just at that moment, the little boy appeared in the doorway, looked about him in a half-frightened manner until he saw the man, and, with a childish exclamation of joy, ran and leaped into his arms. Two big tears slowly crept out from under the man's eyelids and rolled down his cheeks, and he hugged the baby to him. The officers did not need to ask again whose the child was.

And yet—for human nature is contradictory—it is charged that Turner has beaten the woman and half starved the child. He waived examination this morning and was bound over.

Navy and Marine Corps, and about fifty officers, besides civilians, nurses, discharged and sick men. The Fifth Cavalry is on board on its return from the Philippines.

The Thomas will probably leave San Francisco on the 5th of next month, on the return voyage to Manila, arriving at Honolulu on or about the 13th of March.

MARVELOUS STORY OF KOREA

This is the subject of Bishop Moore's address at Central Union mid-week service, 7:30 this evening. Korea is politically subject to Japan but religiously she is forging ahead of her conqueror. The story of how her people are assimilating the spirit of Christianity sounds more like fiction than fact. No people ever have exhibited the power of the Gospel more wonderfully. Bishop Moore has had the advantage of residence in Korea and is able to marshal the two essentials—full knowledge of the subject and consummate power of presentation. The public is cordially invited to be present.

The Central Federated union at a meeting in New York called on the officials of Greater New York to furnish work for the great number of men now idle in the eastern metropolises.

One thousand New York saloon-keepers at a meeting agreed to close their saloons if the brewers insist on increasing the price of beer 50 cents a barrel.

KONA PROJECT PROVIDES GOOD HOMES AND PROFIT

"Having been requested, by many who wish information about the Kona Vineyards Co., Ltd., I will give to the public a few points on the Company's plans," said H. T. Moore, treasurer of the new Kona enterprise.

"The company has an agreement for 950 acres of land, which is located at South Kona, County of Hawaii. This agreement is on record and is open to public inspection at any time. Of this area there are from five to six hundred acres which are splendidly adapted for the cultivation of grapes, vines, pineapples and other fruits. Five hundred acres of the tract will be cut up into five acre lots and given to the stockholders—who may own five or more shares of the company—for a term of ten years. The owner of the shares (who is, really, the fruit farmer) may plant the land or may make arrangements to have the same fully planted and cultivated, but must do so in two years. Vines, or such other proper fruits as the company may desire will be planted, and the farmer will deliver to the company, during the term mentioned, all fruits so raised, and, at the factory, will receive payment on the following scale of prices:

"White grapes $30 per ton; black grapes $25 per ton; Hawaiian pineapples (all sizes taken), bananas and oranges $15 per ton; other fruits $10 per ton.

"At the expiration of the term of ten years the farmer (shareholder) is entitled to purchase his lot in the following way: He selects two persons, the company nominates two others; these four select a fifth person and these five are a valuation board passing on the price of the land. Their report is final and binding on the parties in interest and payment is to be made, for the land, during the ten years following its appraisal. This may be, at the option of the farmer, by cash deposits or in fruit delivered to the company's factory.

"I may state here that it has been fully demonstrated that from $400 to $600 worth of fruit can be annually raised on an acre of land similar in quality to that of the Kona company. Other fruits can be grown in between the rows of vines and grapes. My estimate refers to the product of and from an acre after the third year of planting.

"Cultivation, after the ground has been prepared, is not costly, and consists, mainly, in cutting and pruning. Viticulture and scientific fruit growing will be taught those persons who are not presently versed in the culture—this without charge.

"Upon this showing it will be seen that a stockholder is not only entitled to share in the dividends of the company—from its winery and distillery—but is enabled to secure a valuable and improved homestead in the healthiest part of Kona—the garden spot of Hawaii. He is not compelled to permanently reside on the land, for he can have it planted, cared for and worked by another person, just as the orange orchards of Southern California were developed for those who were investing but who, at the time of agreement, did not care to reside upon their holdings. Kona is the finest place in this Territory for rest and for recreative purposes. This cannot be denied, and the plan of this corporation will enable the business man, investor and the farmer to reside under his own 'vine and fig tree.'"

GOLF COURSE TO BE IMPROVED

The Annual Meeting Held and Officers Elected to Serve for Coming Year.

A large and enthusiastic gathering of golfers attended the meeting of the Honolulu Golf Club which was held in the rooms of the Scottish Thistle Club last evening. A good showing had been made during the past year, and the report of the secretary showed that the improvements made to the course would enable the golfers to enjoy a still more enjoyable season this year.

The following officers for the coming year were elected: Captain, Frank Halstead; vice captain, M. R. Jamieson; secretary, D. W. Anderson; treasurer, H. H. Walker; committee, above officers, J. D. Gaines, J. D. McInerney and E. O. White.

Secretary D. W. Anderson's report was as follows: Gentlemen:—The year ending December 31, 1907, has, without doubt, been one of the most successful, both financially and otherwise, in the existence of the Honolulu Golf Club.

The number of members during the year was 86. This year we have, so far, received two resignations and five applications for membership. * The thanks of the club are again due to the Hon. S. M. Damon for his great generosity in permitting the club to play over the golf course and for his keeping up the course in such fine shape and for the many improvements which have been made by him during the past year on the clubhouse and on the course.

Further alterations and improvements which will extend the course considerably are at present in progress, the two special features of which are the lengthening of the fourth hole by taking the teeing ground back to about 145 yards from the top of the hill; and the extension of the fifth hole to about 540 yards, with suitable hazards throughout.

The ground has been laid out and hazards located by A. MacLaren and the work will be carried out under the able supervision of Donald MacIntyre.

The course as it stands today is in fine condition, and with the completion of the proposed alterations will rank as one of the finest nine-hole courses in the world, both as regards variety of play as well as beauty of location.

During the past year there have been six club competitions, as follows, viz.:

- (1) April 14. Foursome competition. Won by F. Klebahn and W. G. Wilder.
- (2) Medal play, May 19. Won by E. O. White; 86 less 4—82.
- (3) Dogey competition, August 11. Won by J. D. Gaines.
- (4) Match play tournament. Won by E. O. White.
- (5) Foursome competition, October 20. Won by C. I. Weight and F. Armstrong.
- (6) Medal play competition. Scratch prize, won by Austin White, 83. Champion for 1907. Handicap prizes won by E. Munro, 100 less 15—85, and C. Weight, 100 less 15—85.

In addition to the above-mentioned club competitions, several tournaments for the White Rock trophy have been played over the course during the past year.

ORPHEUM TONIGHT

Tonight's performance will be the final one of "Other People's Money," which has proved one of the most delightful plays presented here this season. Tomorrow night the first performance of "The Great Conspiracy" will be given. This is a society melodrama. Its characters being mainly New York society and club people. The story is an unusual one, the villain and his accomplices tapping the Atlantic cable and sending to the United States a report that two European nations had declared war against this nation. The object of the conspiracy, the influencing of the stock market, is accomplished, and the villain grows wealthy, only to meet fitting punishment at the conclusion. The play abounds in comedy and is up to the standard of the melodramas that have been holding the boards at the Orpheum during the past few weeks.

On Monday night next the first performance of "The Squaw Man" is to be given. This is one of the greatest plays of recent years and should not be missed.

Ambassador Griscom in Rome presented King Victor Emmanuel with a number of the new American gold coins, $10 and $20 pieces, for the King's collection, which numbers 60,000.

ROMAN CATHOLIC FAITH INCREASED DURING YEAR

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 21.—There are 13,877,425 Roman Catholics in the United States, according to the advance sheets of the 1908 Willstus Catholic directory, published in this city. These figures show an increase of 788,092 over last year. Including the Catholic population of the Philippines, which amounts to 7,000,000, and adding the 1,000,000 Catholic population of Porto Rico and the 35,000 Catholics of the Hawaiian Islands, the entire Catholic population under the American flag amounts to 22,918,898. All figures are submitted to the directory published by the various archbishops and bishops.

NEWS OF THE WORLD AS TOLD IN MAINLAND DISPATCHES

New Zealand Wants Ships

CONSUL AT AUCKLAND WRITES OF SENTIMENT IN ISLANDS OF SOUTH

Consul-General William A. Prickett, writing from Auckland, tells of the regret in New Zealand over the suspension of the steamship line from the United States to Australasia and the need for such a service.

The United States and New Zealand are particularly interested in first-class intercommunication. Their trade, which has increased nearly 300 per cent in the last ten years and now exceeds $10,000,000 annually, demands a fast mail, passenger, and cargo service to and from San Francisco at intervals of not more than three weeks. The boats in this service should be as good or better than those of any line now plying between Europe and Australasia. This line, for obvious reasons, should touch at Honolulu and Pago Pago and carry the American flag. Such a fast mail and passenger line from San Francisco to Sydney, calling at Auckland outward and inward, would be of great value to New Zealand, and also to the United States, for the following reasons: First, if the boats were not less than 10,000 tons burden, capable of making an average of 16 knots an hour without forcing, with up-to-date cabin accommodation, there would certainly be steadily increasing travel from Europe by this route, incidentally leaving considerable sums of money in the United States; second, the trade of the United States with Australasia, now amounting to over $40,000,000 per annum, would be conserved and increased. There are great possibilities in future trade with these British commonwealths, considering their large areas, abundant prosperity, and increasing population. Third, a great international route like this passing through our most important Pacific port would greatly aid the development of our whole Pacific coast, and, fourth, the United States would have the needed regular communication with its possessions in the Samoan Islands.

ADVANTAGES TO BE DERIVED.

If the United States wishes to secure the important advantages mentioned it should act before a permanent satisfactory service shall have been established via Vancouver. New Zealand is not getting the accommodation it needs, for the Vancouver service is slow, does not touch at Auckland, and mail connections have to be made via Fiji outward and Sydney inward. Since the withdrawal of the Oceanic line there have been many complaints from the merchants of Auckland and other parts of New Zealand. Now that the boats have been taken off it is realized that more strenuous efforts should have been made to retain the service. That the merchants of Auckland are anxious for a better mail service as soon as possible was evidenced at a recent meeting of the Auckland Chamber of Commerce. A motion was carried "that the chairman be empowered, in the name of the chamber, to make representations to the Government in the direction of securing an improved service."

A service such as has been described, making it possible to make the voyage from London to Auckland in twenty-six days, and from San Francisco to Auckland in sixteen days, would have to be subsidized sufficiently to guarantee the owners from losing money at the start. After a few years it might be necessary only to pay for the actual cost of the transportation of the mails.

In forwarding the following abstract from a Panama newspaper, former Vice-Consul General F. L. Rockwood, of Bogota, suggests that the idea advocated by the European manufacturers would be less effective than to have a warehouse with stock to fill orders.

It has been hinted to us that the English manufacturers and merchants are considering a movement to extend their trade in a more formidable and advantageous manner with the South American Republics. The idea is to establish a sample house in Panama of all the articles manufactured in Great Britain and having a competent traveling agent, who will visit the South American cities to exhibit samples and to receive orders from the merchants, which will be attended to at shortest notice.

We are confident that if England were to give her attention to the South American trade there would be no rivals to compete with and she would hold a complete monopoly of the trade in these parts, especially in textiles, printing materials, and machinery. If what we heard is correct, it is to be hoped that the sample house will be established in this city as early as possible, which will be a great boon to the merchants of Panama and the other Central and South American countries.

Has Greetings From Czar

WRITER FOR NOVOE VREMYA TOURING AMERICA FOR NEW IDEAS

New York, Jan. 6.—"The Czar of all the Russias sends to his American brothers greetings of peace and good will, and asks of them justice and friendship in return for Russia's kindly feelings toward them."

Mme. Goriachkowskaja-Alexeeva, a distinguished Russian literary woman, has been especially sent by the Novoe Vremya, the official organ of the Czar, to carry this message, and to return to the Czar with reports on the social and political conditions here, with especial reference to Russian emigrants. Mme. Alexeeva has been in New York six weeks studying conditions in the Russian and Jewish quarters and is now preparing her report. She is a charming woman of twenty-eight and has been travelling in many countries with her baby and her husband, who is a military medical court councillor.

She converses fluently in several languages and was for three years sub-secretary to the Grand Duchess Alexandra Petrovna, the aunt of the Czar. She finds that Russian emigrants are much worse off in America than they are at home.

"I am in America both to teach and to learn," said Mme. Alexeeva to a World reporter yesterday at her home, No. 249 East Seventy-second street; "the many articles that are constantly appearing in the American papers against Russia are a source of much grief to the Czar, who admires America intensely. He cannot understand why it is that when Russia has stood as the friend of America for so many years there was nothing but hate for Russia and sympathy in America for Japan in the late war. Ready to Aid America."

"The feeling among Russians of all classes for America is so different that when there were rumors of a war between the United States and Japan 100,000 common soldiers and 6,000 officers at once volunteered their services to fight for the Americans. And should America have need of them they are still ready to come to your aid at once. They would have the Czar's support in doing so. He is sure that the American hatred is because Russia has been misrepresented to America by all the Socialists and the ignorant emigrants who have crowded to your shores. As a matter of fact, there is no real revolution in Russia, and has not been. There is a considerable number of professional agitators and assassins who arouse the students and Socialists, impractical visionaries often, to believe the time has come to strike for liberty."

"The Japanese war made the Czar realize that his domain was too big for one man to control with justice to all its needs, therefore he called the first Duma. It accomplished nothing. The most serious effort of the second was to plot the death of the Czar. What the third will accomplish remains to be seen.

Look for a Model Here. "We look to America in many ways to show us the model for our own government. Only one thing seems to Russia as yet unsolved in America. That is the real centralization of the nation. The elections which tear the country to pieces every four years are always preceded by financial panics and crashes. Millions of dollars are spent, and in the end, what? Either the same man is elected or one who does not change the Government one bit."

"We look to see America outgrow all that and have a central government whose head does not change every few years, and a central banking system. Then they really will be 'united States.'"

Mme. Alexeeva will remain in New York some weeks. She will visit the Immigration Bureau at Washington and other parts of the country.

MONEY ASKED TO MAKE NAVAL CHANGES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—Rear Admiral Capps, one of President Roosevelt's investigating board, told the House Naval Affairs Committee today that some of Reuter's charges were true, but that in the main the American plan of naval architecture was supreme. He admitted that in the ammunition hoist arrangement there was danger and advocated a complete change in the hoists of all battleships. Following this admission he asked for an appropriation of $750,000 to enable the Department to make these changes and install new uninterrupted hoists.

A bone found in the supposed path of the tiger reported at large near Petersburg, Ind., is said by a physician to be from the thigh of a young child.

MITCHELL HAS RETIRED

JOHN MITCHELL, PRESIDENT OF UNITED MINE WORKERS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 21.—At the nineteenth annual convention of the United Mine Workers of America today, 1000 delegates were present. President John Mitchell submitted his annual report, in which he referred to his services as president for nine years and seven months and regretted that he was forced to retire on account of ill-health. In the afternoon he was forced to accept a gift of $2700, tendered him by the miners of Montana and Wyoming as a token of their appreciation in bettering their condition.

Senator Of Oklahoma Kingdom Has Come

BLIND SENATOR IS CENTER OF MUCH ATTENTION AT CAPITAL

Nobody about the halls of Congress is more asked about by persons in the galleries than Senator Gore of Oklahoma, the blind Senator. He is absolutely blind, but by years of training he manages to put up such an excellent bluff at acting like other Senators that it is difficult to convince a spectator that he cannot see. He sits at his seat and pays the most careful attention to the proceedings, as he must rely on memory to do for him what eyesight does for others. His memory is marvellous. Senator Gore writes almost all his own letters, and spends much of his time, when not required to follow legislative proceedings, doing this work. His method is interesting. He lays a piece of paper on his desk and then along the left-hand edge of it lays a little ruler on which are a series of small knobs, at intervals representing the distance between lines of writing.

He writes a line, and it never runs up hill or down, opposite the first knob on the ruler. Then he moves his guide finger down one knob on the ruler and starts at the next knob; and so on. His handwriting is vastly better than that of the average statesman with two good eyes. He needs no letterpress copies, because he remembers everything he writes by hand.

After he became a Senator, Mr. Gore spent considerable time learning the Senate chamber. He practised walking from the various doors to his seat, and now does it so perfectly that he can go about the chamber with comparative ease and certainty. From any entrance he walks straight to his seat without difficulty or hesitation, and so accurately that nobody watching him, and not knowing him to be blind, would suspect it.

The Senator's wife has been his chief assistant in his work as a public man. She knows his politics and affairs as well as he does, she reading to him many hours a day, and he is thoroughly informed. Thus far he has been on his feet several times incident to introducing bills, etc., and has never failed to acquit himself as well as any other member of Congress. They say in Oklahoma that he is a whirlwind as a talker, but as yet he has not made a speech.

When Oklahoma came in there were vacancies possible in the two-year and four-year classes, and Senators drew lots to determine which got a full term and which only two years. Senator Owen, who is wealthy and has two of the best eyes in Congress, had luck. He drew the full term, and Gore a short one. The latter, however, is a candidate for re-election, and there is almost no question about his election to succeed himself for a full term.

Kingdom Has Come

THAT IS WHAT PROF. ELKIN SAYS IN HIS LATEST MESSAGE

People of Honolulu who remember Prof. Elkin of Kamehameha Schools will be interested in his latest views given to the public:

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 23.—A prediction that Americans are soon to be citizens of the dream of ages and that our democracy is to blossom into a "Kingdom of Heaven on Earth" is made by Professor W. B. Elkin of the University of Missouri. He has recorded his opinions in the American Journal of Sociology, the January number of which was issued yesterday from the University of Chicago press. The prophecy is made in an article, "The Problem of Civilization in the Twentieth Century."

The author believes that in the century the earth will become many times more fruitful, the population of the globe will increase many-fold, transportation will be cheapened and finally "a heaven and new earth will appear."

Before arriving at these Utopian conclusions Professor Elkin insists that many changes must be made in the country's organization. He insists:

1. That every village and city must have a public physician who must not only cure people, but keep them well.
2. That the Government must supply lawyers who will give legal advice free.
3. That the clergy must take a brace and quit imitating.
4. That the colleges should print and edit the newspapers.
5. That insurance should be a function of government.
6. That railroads should charge no more than one-fourth of a cent a mile.
7. That the cook question must be solved by gigantic eating clubs.
8. That labor must keep on organizing.

Small Arms Practise

AMERICAN ARMY AND NAVY MEN SHOWING GREAT IMPROVEMENT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—An interesting report on small arms practice in the Navy has been made public by that department. It is shown that during the season of 1907 remarkable progress was made. The average points per man was practically double that of last year and the percentage attaining high classification has advanced enormously. The interest taken in the firing by officers and men was a potent influence and was noticeable in short range firing and at the longer ranges, particularly in team competitions.

The total number of officers and men firing diminished from 10,583, the preceding year, to 9206, but the average points per man was increased from 15.15 to 30 plus. The percentage qualified as sharpshooters or marksmen increased from 35 to 9.80. The percentage qualified as first class or better increased from 3.8 to 20.2; second class or better, 3.4 to 39.7; third class or better, 31.2 to 59.5, and fourth class or better from 82.6 to 88.4. The percentage unqualified diminished from 17.3 to 11.5. Considerable money was distributed among the crews of the various vessels, the Maryland, Missouri, Colorado, Kearsarge, Iowa, West Virginia and Cincinnati receiving the largest amounts. Two silver cups have been offered by the department as trophies for excellence in small arm marksmanship, one for the Pacific fleet, the other for the Atlantic fleet. Definite rules will shortly be issued governing the award of these trophies. On the recommendation of the Commander-in-Chief of the Atlantic fleet the Atlantic fleet trophy was awarded to the Missouri.

At the national competition this year the Navy carried off the highest honors, the Navy team winning the national trophy in the team match, and the national individual and national pistol matches, together with the military championship, going to members of the Naval Academy team. In his report, Lieutenant Harris Laning, captain of the Navy team, gives a dramatic description of the final stage of the great team match, in which were entered forty-eight teams of twelve men each, representing the regular services and the National Guard of nearly every State and Territory. At the completion of the firing at the 800-yard stage, Massachusetts was leading with 2990 points, against 2985 for the Navy. Captain Laning here takes up the story: "On Friday morning the final stage, 1909 yards, was started promptly at 8. The Navy team had drawn target No. 44, while Massachusetts, with whom we were fighting for first place, drew No. 45. The final tussle lay on these adjoining targets, and for three hours the strain was intense, as it was shot for shot on these two. A large crowd stood behind the line and watched the struggle, which has seldom, if ever, been equaled in a big match. The conditions were by far the most trying in all the match and were well calculated to test not only the skill of the contestants, but the nerve and cool judgment under a heavy strain. Massachusetts started in with a lead of five points over the Navy, which lead their first two pairs increased to twenty-nine points. Things looked rather blue for the Navy team at that time, for with only four more pairs on each team to fire a lead of twenty-nine points is hard to wipe out. The Navy's third pair, however, were equal to the occasion. Lieutenant Hilary Williams and Midshipman Stephen Donaherty went to the line and making, respectively, 45 and 42 or 87, out of the possible 100, gained nineteen points on the corresponding pair from Massachusetts, who were only able to make 68 between them. King and Elgenman and Woodward and Lewis followed in succession and still further cut Massachusetts' lead to only four points, when the last pair of each team came on the line. It fell to the Ensign I. F. Dorch and Midshipman C. T. Osburn to make the final stand that won the match. These two young officers came to the line with the utmost confidence, and under the awful strain, with the eyes of nearly all the contestants on them, made, under the most trying conditions of the day, 41 and 37, respectively, a total of 78, while the last pair of the Massachusetts team could only net 71, leaving the Navy team the winner in the match by three points."

Captain Laning ascribes the winning by the Navy team to "the steady consistent shooting of every man at each range." He further notes: "And the credit for the victory should be shared, too, by the alternates and other members who did not fire in the match, but who were at all times eager to do any of the drudgery work that had to be done to build up the team. It was the team spirit that made the Navy team; it was the Navy spirit that filled the team at that critical time when every effort had to be put forth to save the day. It was a pleasure to feel that such a team could be brought together and molded into such shape in so short a time. With the exception of the United States Naval Academy, the Navy team was perhaps the youngest in average age in the match. It was made up of men of whom 50 per cent. were new to the game this year and yet who, by their persistent and conscientious effort, were able in three months of training to outshoot the best of the old-time teams."

ST. PETERSBURG, Russia, Jan. 18.—The importance attached by the Russian Admiralty to the lessons to be learned from the voyage of the American battleship fleet under Admiral Evans, is shown by the fact that a navy officer, Commander Alex. Diatchkoff, is following the fleet around the Horn, traveling from port to port by any means he can obtain. He adopted this course only after his repeated requests for permission to join the ships had been refused.

It is reported that Diatchkoff succeeded in getting on board one of the American warships at Rio de Janeiro and the entire incident of this officer's activities had been a source of some friction between the Russian Foreign Minister here and the Admiralty. When Baron Rosen, the Russian Ambassador to the United States, was instructed to ask for a permit for Diatchkoff to join Admiral Evans, he declined on the ground that he knew his request would be unfavorably received at Washington. Thereupon the Russian Admiralty, after further correspondence with the foreign office, instructed Diatchkoff to apply personally to Secretary Metcalf. This the officer did, but in vain. He was thereupon ordered to follow the fleet as closely as he could, making use of private steamers.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 18.—No attempt is made at the Russian Embassy to conceal the fact that Commander Diatchkoff is following the American battleship fleet for the purpose of observing its methods during its long voyage and to obtain many valuable lessons to be learned from a close study of all the conditions pertaining to it. Baron Rosen said that he had never seen the Commander, who had not visited Washington while in the United States. He was met in New York by Colonel Nebosin, the Russian naval attaché, who took him at once to Norfolk, where he was introduced to Admiral Evans and various officers of the fleet. He then hurried back to New York, where he boarded a ship for Rio de Janeiro, to be present when the fleet reached there. Baron Rosen said the Commander expects to go from place to place where the fleet stopped, so that he may learn what there may be of interest from a strategic standpoint that may be worth reporting. Baron Rosen said he had not made any application for Diatchkoff to accompany the fleet, nor had any one identified by the Embassy, so far as he was aware, for it was not the practice for Governments to permit foreigners to accompany their fleets on long cruises.

RUSSIAN OFFICER TAKING TOUR OF OBSERVATION ON THE FLEET'S ROUTE

Brazil Is Friendly

GREAT GOOD WILL SHOWN THE AMERICAN OFFICERS AND MEN

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 22.—On a day like mid-August in New York, with a light breeze blowing across the hills about Guanabara Bay, the United States battleship fleet sailed at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The hills about the harbor were crowded with half a million Brazilians as the ships steamed slowly out in single file, escorted by sixteen warships of the Brazilian navy.

A thousand steam whistles sounded farewell as the armada headed towards the Straits of Magellan. Preceding the fleet about four miles was the German cruiser Bremen, bound for Buenos Ayres. She has been anchored about 400 yards from the Minnesota for the past ten days. The fleet was ready to sail thirty-six hours ago, but waited for the arrival of the mails from the north and the carrying out of the official program. President Alfonso Penna of Brazil visited the Minnesota and was received by Admiral Thomas, Admiral Evans, when the fleet sailed, was seated in an armchair on the bridge of the Connecticut. He has received no callers during the stay of the fleet here. His illness is only rheumatism, aggravated by the climate of the tropics. Today he said:

Course Safe, Says Evans

"I wish emphatically to deny all reports of an accident to the fleet or to the machinery of the Minnesota. The conduct of the men while here has been exemplary. Although we now enter upon the most difficult part of the cruise, friends and relatives should be heartily reassured that there is less chance of accident to those on the fleet than to be on merchant steamers. There is absolutely no danger of mines. All the narrow portion of the course has been thoroughly dragged."

Interviewed, Baron Rio Branco, Minister of Foreign Affairs, today said: "I cannot imagine any circumstances under which your country could go to war, but you may be assured that our friendship is real. In the event of your country becoming involved in any difficulty, I think it highly probable that Brazil would be willing to sell you her three Dreadnaughts now being built in England. One will be delivered in June and will equal any battleship in the world."

Aerial Navigation. The beginning of aerial navigation by the United States Navy may be accomplished at Magdalena Bay, Rear Admiral Evans today said: "Before we left Hampton Roads, Rear Admiral Chester informed me he would try to send one of Mr. Alexander Graham Bell's aeroplanes to Magdalena Bay to meet the fleet in March. I promised him all possible assistance and if the aeroplane is sent I will conduct a series of experiments."

Whether aerial navigation will become feasible for military or naval purposes I cannot say, but I believe it should be investigated and if a practical flying machine is developed we will be in line of progress. I hope Mr. Bell sends the aeroplane."

STANFORD MEN MAD. Stanford University, Cal., Jan. 23. Much astonishment, with no little indignation among the members of the student body, was caused here this afternoon by the news that Edward A. Cunha, '07, one of the leading and most popular men on the campus, had been arbitrarily dismissed from the university for the remainder of the term on account of difficulties that grew out of E. P. E. Troy's mass meeting at Palo Alto on Thursday night of last week.

Cunha, who is registered from San Jose, is an ex-president of the Associated Students, and he is the present graduate manager of the daily "Palo Alto," the organ of the students. Printed accounts of an altercation between Cunha and Professor A. C. Whitaker of the department of economics, an altercation that occurred at the Troy meeting, led up to the dismissal of the student.

Nellie Ingham, a young working girl, brought from England by her father twenty-two years ago and left in care of a farmer near Sioux City, Iowa, is heiress to the big estate of John Ingham, gentleman, of England.

The new whitehead torpedo developed a speed of thirty-one and thirty-two knots in tests off Newport, R. I., of a consignment recently purchased abroad.

The will of Peter Cummins, New York, bank president, gives $50,000 to the Presbyterian hospital to endow in perpetuity a room or beds for employes, or depositors of the bank. Several relatives are ignored and will attempt to break the will.

JUST ENGAGED.

"Oh, Edward, we'll have to hurry! I've got to do my hair up over again. Have you got the right time?"
"No-o-o! I've just been having it, though!"

HELPS FOR THE HOUSEHOLD

Devil's Food

Boil together in a porcelain lined saucepan a half-cup each of grated chocolate, sweet milk and brown sugar. When as thick as cream, take from the fire and set aside to cool. Cream a half-cup of butter with one cup of brown sugar, add two well-beaten eggs and two-thirds of a cup of milk and vanilla flavoring. Into this mixture beat the boiled portion of the batter and add two cupfuls of flour sifted with a large teaspoonful of baking powder. Bake in layers and put together when cool, with boiled icing, covering the top of the cake with the same.

Fruit Cake

Cream a cup of butter with two cups of powdered sugar, add the well-beaten yolks of six eggs and beat hard. Stir in two and a half cups of sifted and prepared flour and a half-pint each of seeded and chopped raisins and cleaned and stemmed currants, with a quarter-pound of shredded citron—all the fruit plentifully dredged with flour. Last of all, add a tablespoonful of brandy. Turn into a deep tin, well greased, and bake in a steady oven until a straw comes out clean from the thickest part of the loaf.

Rolls

One cup of brown sugar, two-thirds of a cup of butter, one and one-half cups of flour, two well-beaten eggs, one pound of English walnuts, chopped; one pound of chopped dates, one teaspoonful each of cloves and cinnamon, one teaspoonful of baking soda dissolved in a little hot water. Dredge the nuts and dates with flour, mix the ingredients well and drop from a teaspoon on buttered tins and bake.

Eggless Johnny Cake

Two cups of buttermilk or sour milk, three cups of yellow cornmeal, two cups of flour sifted, with one and one-half teaspoonfuls of salt and a teaspoonful of baking soda, three-quarters of a cup of melted lard (melt this in the tin in which the cake is to be baked, thus greasing the tin). Beat the batter hard, and bake immediately.

Layer Cake

Cream a lump of butter the size of an egg with one cup of sugar. Beat three eggs light and add them to the sugar and butter mixture, and work in a cup of flour sifted with a teaspoonful of baking powder. Bake in two layer tins.

Crumb Cake

Cream a lump of butter the size of an egg with a cup of brown sugar and a teaspoonful of cinnamon and one cup of flour. Before going further, take from this mixture a large spoonful for frosting for the cake. Add to what remains a teaspoonful of cloves, a cup of sour milk, a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a tablespoonful of hot water, a cup of seeded raisins, and, if needed, more flour. Put into a pan, sprinkle the top with the reserved frosting and bake.

"Ketch Cake"

One egg, one cup of granulated sugar, one-quarter cup of butter. Beat all together well until light and creamy, then add a half-cup of milk into which a half-teaspoonful of baking soda has been stirred. Now stir two heaping tablespoonfuls of cocoa into one and one-half cups of flour, and beat this into the batter, adding, last of all, one-fourth of a cup of hot water. Bake in two layers and, when done and cool, put white frosting over and between the layers.

Mock Venison

Soak a leg of lamb in buttermilk or vinegar—preferably the former—and leave for two days. Wipe very dry and cut in the mean incisions about an inch in length, and put in each hole a half onion, add a little pepper and salt. Put the meat in the pan, pour a half-cup of boiling water over it, and roast until brown, then pour about the roast a half-pint of cream, and simmer for about ten minutes before serving.

Baked Liver

Put two pounds of calf's liver in a pan and sprinkle with pepper and salt. Cut up two carrots and three medium-sized tomatoes and put with the liver, add a little spice, then make a dressing of stale bread-crumbs seasoned with sage, put this in the pan with the liver, add a pint of water, cover the pan closely and bake for one and one-half hours without taking off the lid.

Southern Sweet Potatoes

Peel and slice two pounds of par-boiled sweet potatoes and put in a buttered pudding dish. Pour over them a sirup made by boiling together two cups of water and one cup of brown sugar. Dot the potatoes with bits of butter and bake in a moderate oven.

FIRELESS STOVES

Fireless stoves or self-cookers, as they are variously known, have been in use in Germany for a number of years, so that they may now be classified as successful. The earlier types were merely boxes constructed with double walls, or by secret processes built so as to retain heat when sealed. These cookers, which are still on the market, are used as follows: After a thorough heating, food to be cooked (stewed or boiled) is placed inside the box, sealed, and left for a sufficient time, when it is opened, and the food, cooked by the retained heat, is ready to serve.

Recently a company has improved upon the apparatus and produced a fireless stove that not only cooks, but fries and roasts. Profiting by past failures and successes the company has perfected a cooker that, although on the market but a year, has already proved very popular. Frying and roasting are accomplished in the new cooker by the use of a heated stone. The stone is thoroughly heated in an oven, over gas or any fire, and placed in the cooker with the steak or roast. The box is sealed up and left for an hour or so, as required, then opened, and the food is fully prepared and hot. In the double boxes all three processes may proceed at one time without care or difficulty.

The owners of the patents on this latest apparatus claim that the sales in the coming year will exceed 50,000 cookers in Germany and Switzerland.

THE DIABOLO MADNESS.

Diabolo has caught the world—fascinated it, hypnotized it. The whirr of the little two-headed top, the twang of the string, the shrieks of delight at success and the unprintable exclamations at failure, have made the people of the earth brethren all.

"One touch of nature makes the whole world kin," and one try at diabolo initiates another candidate into the Order of the Diabolese, which has its chapters north, east, south and west, on mountain, plain and sea.

What is diabolo? Possibly it might be less amiss to ask, "Why is diabolo?"

To answer the first query the superficial observer might say casually: "That's the new game everybody's playing." But he who views all innovations with the measuring eye, who sees in each merely a development of something which has gone before, looks back into the misty past and knows that a new cycle is complete and that another amusement has found another reincarnation, so to speak.

Away back at the dawn of the last century, to be exact, about 1812, when America and Great Britain were warring on the seas, all France got the diabolo craze. Some benefactor of the eternally bored had dug up out of the files of the past a game which he called "Le Diable." It is said by some to have been played in Europe 200 years before that, and others who go back still farther find that it was known in China even centuries before. At any rate its absolute origin was not considered important enough to call for a monument to the inventor, so history merely brands it as an ancient pastime and lets it go at that.

The Frenchman who started the 1812 craze for Le Diable used two sticks, a bit of string connections the tip of each and a bobbin-like affair which he spun and tossed on the bridge of twine made taut by extending the sticks which he held one in each hand. France became so infatuated with the game that the craze inspired articles in the papers and cartoons which are to be found in museums at Paris to this day.

According to C. B. Fry, the great English cricketer, a French engineer, M. Gustav Philippart, came across the ancient implements for Le Diable a few months ago. He took the old-fashioned bobbin, and from it made a sort of two-headed top, cut with geometrical care to make the game one of precision. Then he gave his discovery to the country and to the world, called it "diabolo," and the world today is diabolo mad.

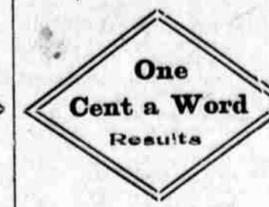

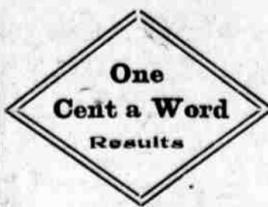

Judgments were entered in the Supreme Court yesterday, fixing income tax assessments as follows: C. F. Hart, $52,642.46; Hamakua Mill Co., $81,719.95; Pioneer Mill Co., $356,598.46; Waiakoa Sugar Co., $325,655.49; Lihue Plantation Co., $338,722.59; Honolulu Iron Works Co., $285,105.32. The figures represent the net income subject to taxation. The cases of Laupahoehoe Sugar Co. and Union Mill Co., were taken under advisement. The court adjourned until 10 a. m. Thursday.

Reargument in the case of Father Valentin and Hawaiian Trust Co. against Maria K. SALT-WATER FLY-FISHING

The passes leading to the harbors of the west coast of Florida are popular with fish of many species. Instead of fishing in ice-cold streams you walk out in the warm surf and cast among the breakers, or stroll inside the pass, on the shore of the bay, in quiet water choose from the gliding forms the biggest channel bass and cast, tempt, and budge him with a fly, thrown before, behind, all round, and straight at him, until you rouse him to inquisitiveness, growing interest, earnest desire, and furious determination. This will end in a wild rush for the fly whenever and wherever it touches the water, and your fish is hooked. You must mind your eye as the rod bends double, it isn't a brook trout or a black bass that you have on your line, but a powerful creature that may wear you out before you land him. Your line is steadily running seaward and your patience with it, but nothing can be done beyond keeping all the strain you dare on the rod. Perhaps when 50 feet of line are out and only just 50 left, just when you are losing hope, the fish turns and makes for the shore. Then you must run up the beach like a scared rabbit, wind in line as fast as you get a chance, letting it out only when you must. Always supplement the action of your rod with your legs and if, in an hour or two, or three, the fish gives out first, you can decide in accordance with common-sense requirements, whether your fifteen or twenty pound capture is to be netted or released on parole.—A. W. Dimock in Country Life in America.

ED LORD IS SATISFIED WITH HIS BIG WINTON

The following appeared in the sporting columns of the San Francisco Examiner:

E. J. Lord of Honolulu writes to Charles M. Brown, manager of the Winton Motor Carriage Company, this city, as follows: "My car is here and certainly is a beauty. Am using it right along and believe there will be a number of them sold here from the sensation my car has created. It looks fine and runs better than I look." Mr. Lord, it is to be remembered, purchased a Model Six-Ten Six Winton at the time of the Winton Coast-to-Coast show here in San Francisco. The machine was delivered to him some time ago and he writes this after having given it a thorough trial.

1907 DISTINCTIVE YEAR IN PUGILISM

The year 1907 had two distinctive features which make that year remarkable in pugilism—one is the astonishing lack of certainty as to who are the legitimate holders of championship titles in the different classes. The other is the surprising manner in which new pugilistic stars, such as Tommy Burns, who is the undisputed holder of the world's heavy-weight championship, and Owen Moran, Billy Papke and Paaky McFarland, who have developed their claims as possible championship holders.

AMATEUR LINES ARE STRICTLY DRAWN

New York, N. Y., Dec 26.—The result of the row among athletes over the appointment of Matthew P. Halpin as manager of the American team to take part in the Olympic games at London may result in the selection of a large number of college athletes for the team. Several members of last year's Athens team announce that they will not go to London with Halpin as manager, and the committee declines to remove him.

The recent suspension of Ralph Rose of San Francisco, the great weight thrower, on charges of professionalism leads those interested in athletics to believe that the amateur athletic union is going to be stricter than ever before in enforcing the rules against professionalism, and several other well-known athletes are believed to be slated for suspension.

It is said that the colleges are prepared to raise sufficient money to send their athletes abroad, and the men naturally have more time at their disposal than athletes engaged in business. It is the general opinion that fully two-thirds of the members of the team will be college men.

American athletes are discussing the peculiar position in which they are likely to be placed by an unexpected action of the Canadian Athletic Association. It is said on good authority that the Canadian association will reinstate Longboat, the Indian runner who was suspended by both the Canadian association and the amateur athletic union on a charge of professionalism. The reason given for this action is that the Canadians desire to enter a team at the Olympic games in London next summer. Longboat doubtless will prove a winning card at the meeting in London.

It is not likely, however, that the amateur athletic union will remove the suspension against the Indian, in which case no American athlete could enter the race against him in London.

Amateur oarsmen are busy figuring on the makeup of the crews which President James Pilkington of the national association of amateur oarsmen will select to take part, as the representatives of America, in the races which will be part of the Olympic games at London next summer. Several New York oarsmen are candidates for places on the crews and it is said in rowing circles that Philadelphia oarsmen are sure to capture several places.

At Strahbeck, Prussian Saxony, chess is a part of the regular school curriculum and every boy and girl carries a board and men.

COLLEGE NOTES

Gleaned From Doings In The Largest Colleges

The Harvard Varsity eight will meet the midshipmen of Annapolis for the first time on the water this year. The race with Annapolis will take the place of the Columbia race on Harvard's schedule. The baseball nine will also journey to Annapolis the same time as the crew and play a series of games with the midshipmen.

The following reports of attendance at the big football games in the East shows how popular intercollegiate athletics are with the public: The Yale-Harvard game at Cambridge drew 40,000 people; the Yale-Princeton game at New Haven had 25,000 spectators; Harvard-Carlisle at Cambridge about 28,000; Pennsylvania-Cornell at Philadelphia about 26,000; Annapolis-West Point at Philadelphia, 27,000; Pennsylvania-Carlisle Indians at Philadelphia drew 22,000; Princeton-Carlisle at New York, 20,000; Pennsylvania-Michigan at Ann Arbor, 19,000.

The University of Chicago athletes have already begun to condition themselves for the big relay carnival to be held at the University of Pennsylvania in April. Coach Staggs is in Florida on his vacation, but will try the novel scheme of instructing the men by correspondence. During his absence Hugo Friend, the champion hurdler, will have charge of the maroon athletes.

The University of Wisconsin will not be able to contract football games with the big teams for next year, unless the athletic treasury is replenished. Coach Hutchings says that at least $4500 is needed before next year to carry out a successful football season.

The rumor that Harvard has broken rowing relations with Cornell was groundless, and the crimson crew proposes to meet the champions some time this spring.

Guy Haskins, the intercollegiate champion half-miler, miler and cross-country champion, won the cross-country championship for the middle Atlantic Association recently.

Over fifty candidates have reported for training for the crew at Columbia University. Owing to the football rule, Columbia takes a nap during the fall.

There is still more talk in the East about the proposed game of football between Harvard and Princeton. More than likely the big colleges will clash next fall.

SOME ODDS AND ENDS OF BASEBALL GOSSIP

There was a time not so long ago, before the present style of scientific baseball was developed, when the first baseman was considered the least important player in a fielding sense on a team. All that was expected of him was to cover first base, catch thrown balls and slug opposing pitchers. The catcher, too, was not rated so very high in those days. So long as he was a stone wall backstop, could nail base stealers and slug the ball he was secure in his position. Whether he had the brains to play inside ball did not bother managers much so long as he possessed the mechanical skill of backstopping, throwing and hitting. How times have changed! Now the catcher and first baseman, barring, of course, the pitcher, have nearly all the work to do in the field; they play the game and must do most of the thinking and scheming for their side. The catcher in particular must play the thinking part nowadays; a brainy catcher makes a team play winning ball, or rather, no team is a winner in modern baseball that doesn't have a heady catcher. Then, next to him, the first baseman has the most mechanical work and the most thinking to do. No longer is first base the easiest position to play; it is now next to catching and pitching the hardest to fill. As Bob Englaub, the Boston American League first sacker, was gusted as saying a short time ago:—"Time was when an old catcher with his wing gone could play first base and get away with the job, but that's not so now. It takes a real ball player who has everything that any other member of the club has, and then some, to make good in the big league. Jiggs Donohue, Harry Davis, Hal Chase, and so on. They are all high-class ball players. I tell you that the old style of first baseman, slow on his feet, unable to throw to third on anything like a line, and a miserable fielder of bunts and fast grounders, couldn't hold a job in baseball today. Rossman is a good first baseman too. He is only a young fellow and has improved with experience and years, but so far as I know, the only weakness he had was on slow-hit grounders. He can hit, and his work in the World's Series showed his class and courage. It takes a lot of quick thinking by a first sacker when the ball is coming to him from an infielder like a shot and a fellow all covered with spikes is tearing down to the bag. If the ball is thrown in toward the runner a fellow has got to get busy. If he has time he can go across the bag and take it on foul ground with his right foot on the bag, but if he hasn't time, then there's trouble. He's got to reach out right against the runner's body and hook the ball with his mitt in one hand and then tin can out of the way. If he leans over toward the runner for a low one, with the intention of getting it with both hands, then look out for trouble. The chances are that the runner's knees will give him a deadening joint in the head. In one of the Chicago games I had that kind of a play on Quillen. His knee hit me full in the mouth and knocked me cold. For a week the muscles of my neck hurt me as though I had tonsillitis. It's a wonder he didn't break my neck. One of the hardest balls to catch coming from a fielder is one that comes just waist high. If a fellow tries to reach down for it, the ball lands on the heel of his glove and bounds out before you can say Jack Robinson. So it is necessary to stoop and catch a ball of that kind as you would a high ball. With Wagner, who throws like a shot, and is the hardest thrower I ever saw, the case is complicated in the extreme. He often throws just at that height, and if I tried to catch it as I would a low ball the little upshoot its speed gives it would make it impossible. So I take no chances and go down after nearly every one he throws. When three infielders have a first baseman in whom they have confidence on account of his ability to dig the ball out of the dirt, grab it from either side, or pull it out of the clouds, they work at a big advantage. If an infielder has to pick up a ball, steady himself, sight the bag and throw directly overhead to make sure of getting it where the first sacker can catch it, such left-hand hitters as Crawford and Cobb, for instance, will beat the throw. It's necessary for a club to have a first baseman to whom the fielders can throw the ball anywhere within reach, with an assurance that he will get it. Instinct has a great deal to do with getting low throws that come on the bound. As an infielder is getting hold of a grounder, I instinctively either raise or lower my hands to receive the ball. That is before the throw. Sometimes I'm wrong, but you would be surprised to know how often my hunches are right. Then, too, luck plays a big part."

When does an automobile stop? That is a queer question to ask, and some would say there is no sense in it, still it is of such importance that it took up considerable time of the supreme court of Minnesota, and that court goes on record as deciding the question.

The case was as follows. A Mower county motorist got the signal to stop from the driver of a team, and merely disconnected his motor, leaving it to run while the machine waited. A runaway resulted and the auto driver later appealed from a $700 damage verdict. The lower court held that upon the signal the operator must stop not only locomotion, but the automobile and all its works. The supreme court doesn't see it that way. Under the decision the vehicle is stopped when it ceases to make progress on the road. The gasoline still burns and pops, the small still rises to heaven and the inner wheels whirl, but when the fence posts no longer whiz past the vehicle is stopped.

The Minnesota law in the case made and provided is section 1277 of the Revised Statutes, which says: "The operator of any such vehicle (automobile or motor cycle) propelled upon any public highway shall stop the same on signal from any person driving horses or mules on the road until such horses or mules have passed."

In this case the machine stops without stopping the machinery; which is the opposite from most machinery in everyday use.
