

ONE BIG FLIGHT AND THEN MUCH RECRIMINATION

several respects. From the statements of both sides, it appears that there was a lot of lively discussion on the field at Waikiki yesterday while the crowd waited for a flight.

Masson's Manager's Statement.

Manager Adossides and Aviator Walker made a long statement to a representative of the Star this morning in defense of Masson's failure to fly at Kapiolani Park yesterday, as follows:

"Scully's statement is absolutely wrong. Masson never refused to fly. Masson has a world-wide reputation, and the mere fact that he flew in yesterday morning from Lihue, the first time that he was in the seat of that machine, showed that he is a flier, and is not a fake, as stated in the paper. Never mind about Walker's reputation. He was not in this at all, as he did not contract to fly out there.

"People ought to know that Scully came around to this hotel—the Young—on Friday night, and said: 'If you fellows don't fly in from Lihue on Sunday morning the people of this town will hold me responsible for it. They call me already fake, etc. Try and do your best to make the flight, because if you do not do it you would not get your money. I have secured a liquor license for the park on Sunday, and that is where I expected to get my money, besides the subscriptions.

Adossides said that Masson was prostrated this morning, after the experience of yesterday and reading the published account which laid all the blame on him. Scully declares that Masson failed to fulfill his contract in

CHARLES H. BROWN INDIGNANT; WAS TREATED LIKE OPIUM BROWN

"I'm going to sue Collector Stack. It with me? That reflection upon my intelligence is alone worth heavy damages," said Charles H. Brown this morning. "He had me and my baggage searched for dope. It was the most outrageous thing I ever heard of.

"I went to Molokai to buy as old iron the remains of the machinery of the old American Sugar Company, from the Molokai ranch. My dealings were with George Cooke, and all was satisfactory, and I hastened back to Honolulu, arriving on the Likelihi. Mr. Cooke gave me a box containing flowers, for Mrs. Judd, which I was very glad to carry.

"On landing I was met by a customs officer, who wanted to know if I was Mr. Brown. I pleaded guilty, and he said he had instructions to search me, whereupon I told him to get busy. He searched. Aside from the bother, it was an insult to my intelligence. If I was dealing in opium instead of scrap iron, do you suppose I would have had

CONCENTRATE THE FLEET AT PEARL HARBOR

(Associated Press Cablegrams to The Star.)

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Secretary Meyer, before the House Committee on the Expenditures of the Navy, said that Pearl Harbor will be the Gibraltar of the Pacific with the fleet concentrated there. With the army strongly fortified in the Philippines, it would be impossible to land a strong foreign force on the soil.

HAVEMEYER'S BIG DEAL.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The President of the National Refining Company testified that Havemeyer was given $10,000,000 of stock, which has since paid $2,500,000 in dividends, for combining three refineries into the National.

FRAUDS ON THE REVENUE.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Extensive customs frauds in cutlery have been discovered.

HAMMOND IN LONDON.

LONDON, June 19.—United States Special Ambassador Hammond has formally entered the city.

PORTUGUESE REPUBLIC RATIFIED.

LISBON, June 19.—The Constitutional Assembly has ratified the edict proclaiming the republic.

ARMOUR MUST STAND TRIAL.

CHICAGO, June 19.—United States Judge Carpenter has ruled that Armour and other packers must stand trial for violation of the Sherman act.

SKELETON FROM THE MAINE.

HAVANA, June 19.—Parts of a human skeleton have been found in the wreck of the Maine.

MORNING CABLE ABSTRACT.

PARIS, June 19.—Two aviators were killed and four injured yesterday at the start of the air race from Paris to London and return. A million people were present. One aviator, Captain Pictau of the army, was burned to death and thrown to the ground by the explosion of his motor.

WAYNESVILLE, N. C., June 19.—Four shackled convicts were killed and twelve unshackled ones hurt by the collapse of a mountain bullpen where they were confined.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Postmaster General Hitchcock, in a statement issued yesterday, declares that many railroads are greatly overpaid for carrying the mails and asserts that by a reorganization of rates he hopes to save nine million dollars to the postoffice department.

BATAVIA, N. Y., June 19.—Robert Fitzsimmons, the noted pugilist and ex-champion heavyweight fighter of the world, was severely injured here yesterday by the overturning of an automobile in which he was riding.

MEXICO CITY, June 19.—It was rumored here last evening that changes in the cabinet of Provisional President Francisco Leon de la Barra are probable within a few days.

LONDON, June 19.—Millions viewed the Coronation decorations along the streets here yesterday. So great were the crowds that at times the traffic was suspended.

Almost A Fight Between Joy And The Umpire

As the aftermath of yesterday's ball game between the Stars and the Native Sons, Umpire Bill Hampton and Barney Joy had hard words in the Stars' dressing-room, almost coming to blows. In fact, it was only the intervention of Tony Marcellino and the others in the room that prevented Joy from striking Hampton. During the game, Kuaili ran for the plate, following a hit by Hamauku to centerfield, which was thrown in by Hayes a little wide. Joy took the ball, but Kuaili was ruled safe by Hampton. It was a close decision, but the umpire was probably right.

However, several times later in the game Joy took occasion to cast aspersions on Hampton's decisions, and Hampton allowed him to do so, instead of benching him. When the game was over Hampton went into the Stars' dressing-room and asked Joy if he still thought Kuaili was out. Joy did so, whereupon Hampton branded him as a perverter of the truth and Barney lashed out.

Tony Marcellino took the blow of his arm and stepped between the men. Then Joy claimed that Hampton had always soaked him when he got a chance, when again Hampton challenged Joy's veracity, and again Joy struck out, but this time Marcellino bundled Hampton from the dressing-room, informing him that on the field he was paramount, but after the game he had no right to enter any of the club-rooms to argue with players.

Hampton took up his gear and left, probably not to referee again. It will be a pity if Hampton drops out of the game, but the umpires could easily be stricter than they are and thus keep better control of the players.

SATURDAY A LEGAL HOLIDAY

A committee of the Central Improvement Club waited on the governor at two o'clock today and asked him whether he would declare clean-up day a legal holiday. He did so, and will embody in his proclamation a desire that the day be observed as a work day in contradistinction from a holiday. The members of the committee were Messrs. E. A. Mott-Smith, Emil Berndt, A. F. Judd and B. von Damm.

Wouldbe Wife Murder Receives Long Sentence

John Watson, a stalwart native laborer of Kaneohe, was this morning convicted of assault upon his wife with intent to murder. Judge Cooper sentenced him to imprisonment at hard labor for not less than five nor more than ten years.

Mrs. Watson, Dr. Moore and Deputy Sheriff R. W. Davis testified for the prosecution, their evidence showing not merely a murderous but an extremely barbarous assault upon the woman. She was wounded in the hand and her body and limbs were covered with bruises and other marks of violence, including abrasions both diabolical and unmentionable produced with the handle either of a hatchet or a sickle which were in evidence. The sickle was found under a bed on which a pool of blood appeared and the rude weapon was stained with dried blood when discovered by the officer.

At the close of the case for the prosecution S. F. Chillingworth, attorney for the defendant moved for a directed verdict of acquittal on the ground that intent to murder had not been proved, because if Watson intended to kill his wife he could easily have affected the purpose with the weapons at his hand which had been produced.

Judge Cooper promptly denied the motion and then Mr. Chillingworth called the defendant to the stand on his own behalf. Watson gave a detailed story of the trouble with his wife which ended in his arrest.

Asked on cross-examination to account for the bruises on his wife, he said that when she fell she struck upon an iron wheelbarrow. He accused his wife of undue familiarity with his brother and other men.

FOR AN EXHIBIT AT BALTIMORE

Governor Frear, either in his official capacity or as honorary president of the Hands-Around-the-Pacific Club, will shortly call a general meeting of all of the public service organizations of the territory to discuss the sending of a Hawaiian exhibit to the "See Europe If You Will, but See America First" convention to be held in Baltimore next January, the governor of Maryland having officially extended the invitation, word of which was sent by Governor Frear to the Hands-Around.

MUST DISCOVER THE PARASITE

Questioned as to whether any steps were about to be taken in regard to the combating of the Mediterranean fly, Governor Frear said this morning:

"No method has been decided upon as yet and at present clean-culture seems to be the only way of diminishing the pest."

Byron O. Clark, asked for his views on the matter said:

"The Mediterranean fly has come to stay, you may rest assured as to that. The only thing to do is to find a parasite and it takes money to find that and none seems to be available.

"Eliminative and restrictive measures may be followed with some degree of success. The fly will never be got rid of if it isn't kept under control and it will never be got under control unless a parasite for it is found.

"They say that there is no parasite for the Mediterranean fly. There is undoubtedly one if it can only be found. Parasites of other pests which have afflicted the islands have only been discovered comparatively recently."

NEAR RECORD TRAVEL DAY

The crowd carried by the Rapid Transit Company yesterday was not a record, though 42,000 people availed themselves of the street car service. However, on February 23d last, when the floral parade was given, about 2000 more people used the street cars and put up the record number. All the cars in the possession of the company were used yesterday and during the afternoon were

JOSH TUCKER IS PROBABLY IT

Governor Frear has today sent a number of probable appointments to the Republican Central Committee for approval.

These include the appointments of land commissioner, fence commissioners, license commissioners and prison inspectors.

It was stated on good authority this morning that the only candidate for the position of land commissioner was Joshua Tucker, and there is little doubt that he has been named by the governor for the responsible office.

SOUSA'S BAND COMING HERE

News was received by the S. S. Makura this morning that Sousa's band will pass through Honolulu by the Makura on September 12.

The manager, Mr. O. G. Clarke, hopes to give Honoluluans a chance to hear at least a few selections by the famous band, though as yet no arrangements have been made by any of the local impresarios.

The members of the band will necessarily have but a short time in port, and Manager Clarke is desirous of letting them get as full a glimpse of Honolulu in the time at their disposal as possible.

all crowded. Towards evening the cars were not so full, but down at Kapiolani Park hundreds were forced to let car after car go by before being able to get a seat.

NO EVIDENCE AGAINST CHONG

W. S. Chong, chief steward of the American-Hawaiian steamship Mexican, who was pursued from port to port under a warrant for smuggling opium, was released this morning by United States Commissioner George A. Davis, there being scarcely a particle of evidence to hold the man.

Harbormaster Coburn of Port Allen, Kaula, was the only witness produced at the preliminary examination of Chong before the commissioner, and he testified to nothing indicative of the defendant's guilt.

On June 7 Marshal Hendry wirelessly to Sheriff Crowell of Maui to arrest Chong at Kahului, as the marshal had a warrant for him. The answer was that the Mexican had sailed for Hilo at three o'clock. Then a message was sent to Sheriff Pua of Hawaii, who arrested Chong at Hilo. Deputy Marshal David Sherwood went thither in the steamer Claudine and brought Chong to Honolulu, where he has been held awaiting trial ever since.

SHOT DURING GAMBLING RAID

(Wireless to The Star.)

HILO, June 19.—During a gambling raid at Laupahoehoe Saturday a Japanese was shot and killed. The deputy sheriff in reporting the case stated that the Jap had broken his neck while attempting to escape through a window. The coroner's jury returned a verdict that deceased was shot by some party unknown.

MR. JORGENSEN ON KAU DITCH

Jorgen Jorgensen, of the Hawaiian Irrigation Company, who has been in town for about a week, frankly admitted to a Star reporter that his visit to Honolulu at this time had something to do with the presence of Edward Pollitz, president of the Hutchinson Sugar Plantation Company, with reference to the building of the Kau ditch. He stated further that he was doing some preliminary work on the project, and that he did not expect any difficulties in the construction of the ditch which he would not be able to overcome.

Mr. Jorgensen has had extensive experience in the construction of various ditches such as the great ditch on Maui and principally the Hamakua ditch furnishing a water supply to what is familiarly called the Hamakua plantations.

SOLDIER SHOT IN IWILEI HOUSE

A soldier was shot and killed today just before 3 o'clock by a Frenchman at Iwilei. The shooting occurred at the home of a woman named Blanchard. The Frenchman found the soldier at the woman's home and shot him. He also shot the woman, who has been taken to Queen's Hospital.

EXCITEMENT ON THE SANTA RITA

The Santa Rita, an oil steamer, eight and a half days out of Port San Luis, made port yesterday afternoon. She comes here with 45,000 barrels of crude oil to the Union Oil Company. She is berthed at the railroad wharf, and it is expected that the whole of the oil will be pumped out by tomorrow afternoon, thus permitting her to leave again either tomorrow night or early Wednesday morning. She will then return to Port San Luis for orders.

Inquiries on board this morning developed the information that the trip down was an excellent one. It was fine throughout, and nothing unusual occurred to mar the trip. But stay—there was. Captain Boyd and some of his officers had a bath. Now this, on the face of it, does not seem extraordinary. But it was not the regular kind. A large swimming tank was fitted up, and in this the men would disport themselves during their spare time. Owing to the coldness on leaving the Coast, warm water was procured from the condenser—water that otherwise would have gone into the Pacific direct, but it was sent the same way via the water tank. One morning Captain Boyd and Chief Officer Jordan were swimming about enjoying themselves in a childish manner, when suddenly one of the tapes, or something gave way. The next thing was, the astonished crew saw several naked bodies struggling on the deck, and being hurried along by the heavy volume of water that had been let loose. The crew giggled as the Marathon of naked forms began hustling for their respective rooms. Captain Boyd was somewhat handicapped by the fact that he had the farthest to go in the daylight, for he had to scamper up the steps to the bridge deck to his room, and he was in full view the whole way.

Chief Officer Jordan has since had fitted up a fine spacious tank that can now be swum in. It is twenty-five feet long by fifteen wide, with a depth of water of about five feet. It is about as good as any on even the transpacific liners that call here. Chief Officer Jordan is an ardent photographer, and he has an excellent snapshot of a big sea that hit the Santa Rita on one of her trips from here to the Coast. Judging by the volume of water over her deck, it would seem that she would never recover. The picture is a splendid one and has some wonderful details in it.

The Santa Rita holds the record for the biggest shipment of oil in one bottom ever taken into Seattle. She took in 50,000 barrels on her last trip. This is only 5,000 more than she has for Honolulu.

Kinau From Kauai.

The Kinau arrived yesterday from Kauai with 8,000 bags of sugar, sixty-three bundles of hides, 160 bags of rice, 100 bags of bran, sixty-eight empty barrels, fifty cases of honey, twenty-one sacks of coconuts, six cases of pears, one crate of chickens, four bags of potatoes, six cases of fresh fruits, fifteen cases of papers, 116 packages of sundries.

Australia's Fleet Gains Distinction.

The surprise of the battle practice of last year, says the London and China Express, is the fact that the much derided Australia Squadron took premier honors with a really creditable average, and some very fine shooting amongst the individual ships. The China Squadron had to content itself with the third place, and the honor of having the second best ship at this practice, the flagship Minotaur, Monmouth, and the Kent, whose average scores per gun were 131.4, 106.5, and 103.9 points respectively, was decidedly poor. The scores of the Australia Squadron were:

NURSERY RHYMES FOR CHILD WORKERS.

The Child Welfare Committee struck an original note in its recent New York exhibition in aid of the young. The committee touched the hearts and consciences of visitors by illustrated rhymes on the walls, indicative of the kind of little folk who work at home under sweatshop conditions. The verses effectively supplemented the familiar photographs of the Consumers' League, showing a host of children of kindergarten age in the act of making artificial flowers, and a baby of four pulling bastings from men's clothes. Here is one of these catchy little revised affairs:

One of the surprising things about society is its power of patience, and another of the not too infrequent exclamations is just why it should be compelled to tolerate those occasional specimens of effrontery who back to shreds all semblance of good breeding, and torture whatever is left of it in others.
after their ignominious attacks to scramble in and play a part, even in the most pitiable of minor roles allotted to the members of the "beau monde."

And no aggregation of people who witness the performance can surely be more amused than society itself whose view of these aspirants is magnified by a much closer and more intimate range.

Like the incapable players of tragedy, whose antics falsely inspire mirth in their audience, and who prompt amusement, and compassion in their fellow-players, these social actors, more in condolence than contempt, are suffered to remain in a sphere unsuited to them, and through this medium of tolerance they assiduously work their labored and affected way into a world which always has and always will exclude them as efficiently from its real inner system as though they had never been permitted a peremptory peep into its rose-lighted corridors!

To stand thus in the humble shade, overshadowed in society's esteem by those who so much more appropriately occupy places on the social heights, seems to sane conceptions poor satisfaction and remuneration, after the nerve-wracking efforts these climbers have exerted to "get in."

A card, prompted by whatever motive to anything from a small bridge party where they can be, without embarrassment, "let in" to a large reception where they cannot be decently "left out," usually is sufficient incentive for another season's indefatigable effort.

Presumption and hypocrisy are the two ordinary assets to the stock in trade of this bartering parasite!

Whose real character, diplomatically screened from the more observing of the smart set, pierced by the more discerning eyes of the mediocre public lies exposed in its bare deception and ignoble unworthiness!

As a certain pointed adage seems to assert that all the people cannot be fooled all the time, it is a self-evident corollary that even society will some day be wiser concerning the methods of some of their so-called "friends," who will in turn awaken to the astounding realization that although deception may be practiced by some in society, it is not tolerated in any outside of its own select ranks!

SOCIAL NEWS OF THE DAY.

A very enjoyable week-end party was that at which Miss Mary Lucas entertained at Waiatale over Saturday and Sunday at her country home at Niu.

This charming spot is a great favorite with the young friends of Miss Lucas, and a very merry and informal time was enjoyed.

The picnic party was another compliment to Miss Gladys Pearne and Miss Fitzgerald of Oakland, who have been inspirations for many delightful occasions during their visit in Honolulu.

Among those present were Miss Gladys Pearne, Miss Fitzgerald, Mrs.
C. I. Berger, Miss Violet Makee, Mr. and Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Monell, Miss Minna Berger, Miss Neumann, Miss
Harriet Lucas; Messrs. Ed Hedemann, George Fuller, Bert Clark, Ted Cooper, Guy Macfarlane and Bob Mc-Corriston.

Very elaborate were the appointments for the banquet at which the graduating class of McKinley High School entertained at the Moana
Hotel on Saturday evening.

The tables, arranged in dumb-bell form, were artistically arranged in the private dining room of the beach hotel, which was decorated for the occasion by many palms and white asters.

A canopy of festooned ferns and asters was draped overhead, and caught to the corners of the room.

The centerpiece, fashioned of white asters and lace maldenhair, was arranged in the design of dumb-bells, and in between the flowers and ferns tiny pale green electric bulbs shone.

Those who gathered round the festive board were Miss K. Woodford, Annie Kong, Choy Kee, Hazel Cunningham, Yuk En, Mary Lee, Goo
Em, Esther Sousa, Tai You, Dolly
Gertz, Katsianal, Emma Franca, Eva Hawkins, Pearl McCarthy, Pearl
Berry, Howard Case, Clarence Dyer,

Mrs. Augustus E. Murphy is entertaining at a tea this afternoon at her home on Victoria street in honor of Mrs. George Lycurgus, who will leave shortly for San Francisco.

Seventeen friends of the guest of honor have been invited.

The members of the Minutes' Club, who are all prominent in the younger set, are planning a delightful house party for July Fourth.

These young girls will motor over the pali to Mrs. B. M. Allen's home at Kaneohe, on the windward side of the island, where the day will be spent in out of door recreations.

Among the distinguished parties to arrive in the Korea was that of ex-
Governor and Mrs. Fort of New Jer-

And another:

Ba! Ba! Black sheep,
Have you coats of wool?
Yes, sir! Yes, sir!
Six bags full.
Three for the factory,
Two for the home;
And one for the saddened boy
Who sews all alone.

There are many on this order:

One little child made Irish lace,
One little child made flowers,
One little child made willow plumes,
And one sewed silk for hours,
And all of them worked in a close, hot room
Through the day's bright, sunny hours.

"Mary" breaks into print again:

Mary, Mary, stylish and airy,
Where did your willow plumes grow?

With backache and sighs
And very sore eyes
Of these little ones all in a row.

How many "Marys" are there, asks
The Youth's Companion, who saw that exhibit and will continue with a clear conscience to wear willow plumes and gorgeous gowns until the child-labor laws are amended?

HOW TO FIGHT THE ISLAND PESTS.

In dealing with the pests that afflict the fruit and vegetables of Hawaii the first thing to do is to restore the balance of nature. These islands had no agricultural pests in the beginning. They arose out of the sea fresh and clean and purified by fire. Ocean birds, alive and dead, helped to give them seeds and soil. Erosion helped to cover the bare rock. Cocoanuts, ended far voyages by rolling up the new-born beach and taking root. In the course of centuries savage islanders from the far South, navigating double canoes, found this group and landed with their clean taro and sweet potatoes, their chickens and their pigs. Not an insect so far as we know, not a worm, not a single creeping or flying enemy of crops or fruit could be found in all the land.

Then the white man came and his commerce. That brought the mosquito, the spider, the centipede, and various bugs and insects including the housefly, but it did not bring the natural enemies that kept their numbers in check. As commerce became great and modern, the melon fly, mealy bug, leaf-hopper, cutworm, Japanese beetle and the dreaded Mediterranean fly entered this peaceful field and multiplied. They thrived as they never had in their own homes; they no longer struggled for existence against parasitic foes. Here they found perhaps the only place in the world where the balance of nature is utterly upset—where we have the bane but not the antidote.

It follows from this state of things that, if we can import the parasite for every pest, we may vastly simplify the problem before us. This is the way and the only way that California saved its vast citrus industry. California did not cut down its orange and lemon trees, which would have been like burning the house to get rid of the rats. Instead, it sent Mr. Koebele abroad for the ladybugs that preyed on the scale, with the result that the citrus crops were saved. Hawaii did the same and with the same success in the matter of parasites which killed the sugar cane pests, and but for a blunder or a swindle in the last legislature, and an unconscionable indifference among bureau officials, Hawaii would now be in the way of dealing with its fruit and melon pests with the same scientific thoroughness.

Let us not talk about cutting down fruit trees or sawing away their beauty until we have reduced the pests to a minimum by the natural method. After that has been done or while it is being done, we may act by other means in a way that will not ruin or disfigure our trees to start with. There is money enough. The Shippers' Wharf Committee could make good the $15,000 parasite appropriation which the Legislature botched, by a simple stroke of the pen. The Federal Experiment Station here would pay the salary of a man now in the Philippines, to go to India for parasites, if we would pay the expenses. The money to meet this cost could be raised in an hour if we wanted it badly enough to ask. Experts of national repute, like Koebele or Comptere, are not busy now and could doubtless be had for wider quests. And yet people are hanging back and throwing up their hands and talking about spoiling the trees to get rid of the free and unattacked pests which now devastate the crops. We could keep the trees and control the pests too if we went into the fight as the sugar men did.

THE CASE OF SUMNER.

Poor John K. Sumner! A few years ago he had a fortune of $110,000. He began giving powers of attorney to manage it, and soon his estate was reduced to $30,000. Sumner's helpful friends had got $80,000 from him in fees and commissions. One day, fearing for the remainder of his fund, the old man called on one of the editors of this city, who had done something to help him in print and asked for advice.

Said the editor: "This city has three or four trust companies. You know the oldest and the strongest. Here are the names of certain lawyers or law firms that have been here a great while and have established reputations. Some of them are your personal friends. All of them are honest. Take your pick. Go to one of the trust companies or one of the law firms and put your affairs in its hands for a term of years. You will have to pay a reasonable commission but the remnant of your fortune will be safe."

"I'll do it," said the old man, taking the list of companies and firms from the editor, and then, as by long custom, he thrust his hand deep in his pocket and was about to offer coin for the advice. His nephew, "Wallie" Davis, was present and seemed anxious.

"Not one cent," replied the editor. "Put your money back and remember that the best financial advice you ever had in your life cost you nothing."

John Sumner went his way and did something else. He couldn't possibly have done worse. What he lost by that venture the Star does not know, but if he had $30,000 afterwards the public wouldn't believe it.

The last power of attorney but one was given to John Marcellino, who seems to have done better by the old man than some of his more distinguished predecessors. The existing power of attorney, which is irrevocable and gives the holder complete authority over the remaining property, is now held by Elias L. Jones, a half-white employee of the Rapid Transit Company, a good conductor, second on the list, but absolutely without business experience or knowledge. Excepting Sumner, there could hardly be found easier game for legal beasts of prey than Jones.

We have sometimes thought that courts, as instruments of justice, could have found some way to protect poor old Sumner if they had really tried.

AMERICANS AND CORONATION DAY.

Honolulu Americans are not indifferent to Coronation day, and our British friends who so often remind us that cousins of the blood should get together then are right about it. But once more we must remind islanders of British birth that their American neighbors don't want to intrude. Early the local papers voiced their sympathy and their willingness to take part, but when British subjects organized here for their town ceremonies on Coronation day, no Americans were asked to take part. Instead, the Consul mentioned Japanese, "Great Britain's allies," as the invited participants. This was not done in any spirit of hostility to us; indeed, we took it to mean that the Consul did not want his countrymen to be put in the position of having to ask the Americans to help them make their special day a success. But under the circumstances the Americans had to stand out; and this paper, which was the first to suggest that they should take part, at once dropped the subject.

However, every American of Anglo-Saxon blood will wish the British residents of the Territory a fine day for their ceremonies and a good time generally, and as the ancestors of George V were once the kings to whom their own forefathers acknowledged loyal service, Honolulu Americans will, in their hearts at least, repeat the British hope that their Majesties, the reigning King and Queen of Great Britain, may have a long and happy sovereignty.

Is there any holiday more important to Hawaii than one for a general clean up?

There would be mighty little dummy homesteading on the Fairchild plan.

In view of the daily fatality the aviator who doesn't fly shows sense.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

I'm tired of Jack London's tales of death in the Arctic snows, where the blizzard cavors and wails, and freezes the pilgrim's nose.

WEARINESS I'm tired of his Yukon flood, the husky and sled and barge; I'm tired of his tubs of blood, and butchers who roam at large. I'm tired of the Curwood folk, who slaughter and howl and screech; I'm tired of the bowie stroke, I'm weary of Rex E. Beach. I've soured on the cowboy camp, where the gun men make their plays; I'm sick of the cows that tramp around on the plains and graze. I'm tired of the gifted sleuth, so skillful and smooth and wise, who digs up the hidden truth from its grave in a stack of lies. I'm tired of the stories coarse of life in the crowded flat; of narratives of divorce, and "studies" of this and that. I blow in my fifteen cents for a popular magazine, and sit by my garden fence and read till I'm sore and mean. The stories of smut and mud, the stories of vice's chain, the stories of tubs of blood, all give me a convex pain. The yarns of the dive and slum, the stories of fashion's sins, the stories of thief and bum, of Wallingford guilt that wins, all give me a dark green ache deep down in my troubled mind. Ah me, that a man would make one book of the good old kind!

WALT MASON.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

A. J. CAMPBELL—I was away ten months, and six is more than enough to be absent from Hawaii.

DR. CLARK—Why is it that a full grown man looks so sheepish when anybody sees him drinking a glass of ice cream soda?

EMIL BERNDT—The shippers' wharf trouble has been settled in a way to please everybody, and the tax will be kept up.

JOHN COFFEE—The airship was a splendid sight as it passed Waikiki, sailing over the ocean, on its way to Kapiolani Park.

PERCY M. POND—I think there ought to be a Fourth of July celebration with an address suggested by themes of local patriotism.

ELIAS L. JONES—I will see that John K. Sumner is able to keep body and soul together from the little that is left of his once large estate.

JOHN KIDWELL—Good looks? With a man or a woman as with a horse or a dog, it's usually a matter of breeding, cultivation and food.

WILLARD BROWN—I believe that we could get along with fewer licenses, but we act as a board and are doing pretty well not to increase them.

JUDGE EDINGS—There are just as good times in Honolulu now as there were when we were a lot younger. If we don't share them it's because we are getting old.

R. J. BUCHLEY—The aviator passed over my place yesterday morning. I don't know how high in the air. We heard the chug-chug and got out in time to see him.

CAPTAIN TRIPP—I recall a time when the police made a big haul of opium and locked the tins in a cell for evidence. When the court called for them they were found to contain nothing but poi and molasses.

T. H. GIBSON—When Superintendent Pope returns from the mainland I shall in all probability take a vacation. I have only had ten days' holiday since 1899, and don't know what a vacation feels like now.

JOHN SMITH—If the Sunday Advertiser will print a picture, "Side-lights" of the "authoress" who has lately withdrawn from its staff, she will probably show up with cocked hat, a cocked eye and both feet on the desk.

DEMOSTHENES LYCURGUS—Passengers arriving from Hilo on the Wilhelmina yesterday morning had a splendid vision of the airship flying to Waikiki. It was a most marvelous sight and I am sorry to see the aviator roasted for not flying more.

matter with the fish market officials seeing that the passages between the stalls are kept clear of fruit peelings and pieces of t-leaf stalk which at present are allowed to menace the safety of patrons of the market?

R. H. KEARNS—I went to Kaimuki looking for a lot yesterday. The only ones which looked good to me, however, were not for sale, being held by people who were willing to let their land lie and wait for the expected boom in real estate.

TOM HOLLINGER—I hear that John O'Rourke has got a pretty smart pacer in Hilo Boy, and the race between him and Maui at Kahului on July 4 should be a crackerjack. It will take a good one to beat Maui if he is as good now as he was this time last year.

JOSHUA TUCKER—There seems to be much speculation as to who is to be the new land commissioner. I don't know who the prospective candidates are, but I do know that I am being kept busy right up to the hilt. There are complaints from Haunala of the closing of a right of way by certain haoles and I am going down there in a short time to show the offenders that the Hawaiians have some rights in the matter, and that those rights include rights of way. I have nearly cleared up the matter of the titles of the Haunala homesteaders, and it won't be long now before the long-delayed deeds are issued.

THE EAGLES' CELEBRATION

This week is an eventful one in the history of Honolulu. There is Coronation Day, Civic Day and Clean-up Day, and the Eagles' Day, or Eagles' Night, as you like it. Eagles' Day happens to fall on the same day as Coronation Day, that is, on Thursday next, June 22, and in the evening at the big Bijou Theater there will be the most versatile lot of vaudeville and other delightful entertainments ever pulled off in this City of the Sea in one evening.

All the friends of the Eagles are invited, and everybody loves an eagle, the emblem of the national bird and the symbol of lofty sentiments and high aspiration.

Only fifty cents is required for admission and the show will be worth more than double the price.

"Fun in a Boxing School," a smart sketch, is alone worth the cost of getting in. In this scene Mike Paton, sport and promoter, actor and boxer, will supply 88 per cent of the fun.

The soldier boys throughout the city and suburbs will especially enjoy the fun and can catch last cars and trains to their camps or posts.

The Land of Puupueo

MANOA VALLEY.

Mr. Henry E. Cooper, the owner of the land of Puupueo, has placed in our hands for sale a number of desirable house lots which we are now prepared to offer to intending purchasers.

If you want to build where you can have a perpetual view of both mountain and ocean we have seven lots from which you may select ranging in price from $1300 to $1650.

If you prefer to be where you can step directly from your lot to the Rapid Transit cars and still have an uninterrupted view of the valley and mountain we have sixteen lots ranging from $1200 to $1750 from which you may take your choice.

If you would like a less expensive lot and still have all the advantages of this location we have four from $850 to $1050.

If you would like to erect a mansion and desire a large lot we have two at $7500 each.

If you want to have an opportunity to plant an orchard and otherwise indulge in the luxury of a small farmer, we have several acre lots that possess all the advantages at a moderate price.

Remember that this land is served by the Rapid Transit, telephone and electric lines and water from the Makiki springs is piped directly to all the lots and the mains of the Gas Company have been recently extended to the property.

The title is perfect and warranty deeds will be given in all cases. The use of the property is however restricted to residential purposes.

Terms of payment the most favorable.

BETTER FEELING AS TO BUSINESS

Dun's Review, May 27: Improvement in business sentiment still holds, but it is more manifest in the East than in the West, and in the securities market than in the principal industries. There is, however, to be noted some expansion in the demand for cotton goods, retail trade in particular showing more activity, and the hope is expressed that the limit of curtailment of production has been reached. Larger sales are noted in the shoe trade and leather and hides are more active. In iron and steel a decided cut is made in the price of steel bars, and there are further concessions in the prices of pig iron. This has had an unsettling effect, not only in the iron and steel trade, but to some extent in business generally. Crop prospects continue to improve and this fact constitutes the strongest basis for the future in a gradual expansion of industrial activity as the year advances. Meanwhile the banks keep piling up additional cash resources, and their capacity for credit expansion is greater than in many years, while the admission of trust companies into New York Clearing House strengthens the financial situation to an extent that is scarcely appreciated, but which makes this one of the most important banking developments in years. While railroad earnings during two weeks of May decreased 0.4 per cent. as compared with last year, bank clearings this week make substantial gains, the increases being 1.9 per cent. over 1910 and 6.1 per cent. over 1909 outside of New York, and 12.0 and 9.8 per cent. respectively, in New York. In all of the leading industries the growth of export trade is still a striking and favorable feature of the situation; and, again in New York, during the latest week, the ex-

LATEST NEWS OF OIL WELLS

San Francisco Chronicle, June 13: The Lakeview gusher, for some reason unknown, suddenly quit producing the emulsion of mud, water and oil, which it had been turning up at the rate of about 10,000 barrels a day, and began to produce clear oil with but two per cent water content, at the same rate. The increased production helped to bring up the total production for the month very greatly.

During the latter part of the month the California Midway gusher, one of those which made so great a disturbance last spring in the Sunset field, "came back" strong and produced steadily at the rate of 20,000 barrels for some days, according to reports received from persons at the well.

June 9: Several weeks ago the Honolulu Oil Company brought in another fine well, one mile from the great gasser, finished at a depth of 3,200 feet, producing oil at twenty-six gravity. Beame. The well is located on section 12, 32-24, the first well to be drilled in that section. It came in with an initial production of 3,500 barrels per day, which could have been greatly increased had the company so desired.

ports exceeded the imports, though that is chiefly an import city; exports were $15,370,511, or $392,570 in excess of the imports, in the corresponding weeks in 1910 and 1909 the excess imports were $3,363,051 and $5,024,132, respectively. The business situation, therefore, as a whole, presents a number of elements of improvement, and while the increase in actual transactions is very slow, and in some places not discernible in any appreciable degree, an advance has undoubtedly been made.

NOTICES FROM CLEANUP COMMITTEE

There will be a general meeting of all committees and workers of the Cleanup Day undertaking, on Wednesday evening, June 21st, at rooms of the Merchants' Association, Young Building (Rooms 45 and 46). Time, seven-thirty o'clock. Reports from all committees and district leaders will be expected.

Wanted—Wagons, Carts, Drays.
All merchants or business houses having teams and vehicles which they are willing to lend for Cleanup Day will confer a favor on the committee by sending list of same to B. von Damm, chairman cartage and implements committee. This should be done at once.

Help Wanted.
Business houses are urged to support the work of the Cleanup Day committees by supplying as many workers (laborers, clerks, etc.) for next Saturday. Please send lists of same at once to Wm. Wolters, 1119 Fort street.

Good Men For Big District.
District No. 5, embracing almost all of the downtown business section, bounded by Liliha street, School street, Luso street, Alapai street, South street, and the waterfront, is in general charge of Col. F. B. McStocker. The sub-district managers so far announced are A. W. Carter, William Henry, officer of San Antonio Society (to be named), Harry Denison, Dr. Katsuki, Dr. Haida, Mr. Ah Hee, R. H. Trent, F. E. Steere and J. C. Quinn.

Notice to District Captains.
Make requisitions before Wednesday noon—
For wagons, carts, etc., on G. H. Gere, city and county offices.

For lime, whitewash, disinfectants, etc., on E. I. Spaulding, chairman, finance committee, at Bank of Honolulu.

For laborers, on Wm. Wolters, chairman, committee on hired labor, 1119 Fort street.

For automobiles or carriages, on Dr. W. G. Rogers, chairman on transportation, Young building.

For clerks or interpreters, on W. W. Kwai Fong, of committee on clerical help and interpreters, at Bank of Hawaii.

Already at Work.
Reports made at the meeting Saturday night, from Japanese and Chinese sources, were to the effect that these nationalities in all parts of the city are already at work, with their cleaning, and expect to be able to pass a severe inspection on next Saturday. It was stated that the Japanese papers have been promising to publish in big type the names of all Japanese whose places are not in presentable condition by Saturday.

Sunday a Busy Day.
Most of the district leaders spent a busy day yesterday in going over their districts, subdividing them into sections, and appointing section lieutenants to assist in the work. As a result there is now a very good general idea of the magnitude of the work to be done, and all agree that it has not been under estimated. J. A. Gilman, who is sharing the burden of cleaning up the Waikiki district, including Moiliili, with Mayor Fern, reports that seventeen subdivisions of the district have also been made.

M. F. Peter, who will look after district No. 7B, on the Ewa side of Kalihi stream, also spent all day yesterday in going over the ground, and reports the matter very well in hand. Senator Judd, who is taking very deep interest in the whole work, and who expects to make his observations and the clean-up idea generally a means of educating the community for a very extensive system of sanitary legislation for the next Legislature, has named a dozen or more lieutenants, and has them already busily at work in district 7A, which includes Puunui, Kunawai and Nuuanu.

Col. J. W. Jones, who has charge of district 6B, which takes in Pauoa, part of Punchbowl, and upper Fort street, has appointed section leaders as follows: H. H. Walker, F. H. Armstrong, J. W. Waldron, O. L. Sorenson, Chas. S. Waite, A. McIntosh, A. W. Neeley, H. L. Kerr. Others are to be appointed.

Notice.
The Transportation Committee for "Cleanup Day" requests that those who will furnish automobiles, carriages or other vehicles for transporting workers, inspectors and lunas on "Cleanup Day" report same to the chairman, Dr. W. G. Rogers, 34 young building.

District 3 Meeting.
A meeting of the clean-up committee for District No. 3, which includes Manoa valley, south to Beretania and east to Manoa Ridge, will be held at the residence of George G. Guild, Lower Manoa Road, third door from Kamehameha avenue, at 7 o'clock tonight. Residents in this section are invited to be present.

WEAK SISTERS MOST ACTIVE

Olaa and McBryde, "the weak sisters," almost exclusively held the board at today's session of the Honolulu exchange, 200 shares of Olaa in lots ranging from 115 to 15 shares selling at $4.02½ and 105, McBryde in lots ranging from 40 to 5 shares at $6.62½, neither being changed from previous quotations. Between boards 85 shares Olaa had been sold at the same price.

Olaa sold down a quarter point at $31.25 in sales of 50 shares between sessions and 11 shares on the board. Hawaiian Commercial is unchanged with five shares at $39.25 reported. O. R. & L. Co. 5s sold a dollar down at $109.50 for $500 on the board.

The Hawaiian exchange reports five shares Hawaiian Pineapple at $37, and 10 Pineapple Products at $20.

UNCLE SAM'S NEW DREDGE

By J. A. BRECKONS.
(Special Correspondence of the Star.)
WASHINGTON, June 3.—A new type of dredge for operations in heavy seas has just been designed by the Navy Department, and its work will be watched with interest. The dredge is to be constructed for use in the Coos Bay harbor, on the Pacific Coast, where the heavy seas will not permit the use of the ordinary type. The plans have been drawn with a view of making the boat able to resist the heavy wave motion, and it is believed the completion and trial of this new type will result in establishing an entirely new kind of dredge for sea harbors with drifting sands.

The new dredge is to cost $350,000, and bids will be invited some time during the present month. The specifications will call for completion within twelve months.

NEW TALENT FOR THEATERS

By the Makura this morning there arrived a lot of fresh talent for the Honolulu Amusement Co. Since E. W. Congdon took command, the class of shows has undoubtedly improved beyond recognition, and he only awaits the time when he has been able to weed out the present "off" turns, for him to have even better shows. This morning those old favorites Harney and Haynes arrived by the Makura, after a successful tour of Australia. Harney and Haynes were very successful at the Park Theater towards the end of last year.

The Wirth family also came on the Makura, and they will open at one of the theaters here as soon as possible. The Wirths are an excellent combination, and will undoubtedly assist in the raising of a higher standard—something that Congdon is aiming at all the time.

BY AUTHORITY.
The Board of License Commissioners for the City and County of Honolulu will hold a meeting at the Executive Building on Friday, July 21, 1911, at 4 p. m. to consider the application of John Keahipaka for a second-class saloon license to sell intoxicating liquors at Waialua, Oahu, under the provisions of Act 119, Session Laws of 1907.

All protests or objections against the issuance of a license under said application should be filed with the Secretary of the Board not later than the time set for said hearing.

The R. M. S. Makura arrived from Sydney, via Brisbane and Fiji, this morning, exactly a day ahead of schedule time. Purser Barnett reports having had an excellent trip across. She had a fairly large passenger list for Honolulu, and her through accommodation was nearly all taken up. She also brought a lot of freight here, namely, Seventy-five cases brandy, fifty-six packages gin, sixty-seven cases jam, 300 crates onions, 740 sacks dried blood, 123 boxes frozen butter, twenty-five cases tinned butter, forty-one cases arabic, five cases salted beef, two bales lather, one case saddlery, eleven packages of sundries and a quantity of stores for Fanning Island.

On the run over an enjoyable time was spent. The usual concerts were given, at which the vaudeville artists coming to the Honolulu Amusement Company, assisted. Yesterday was the anniversary of Mrs. Cushing, a society lady of Pasadena, and it was fittingly celebrated by a birthday dinner tendered to her.

The Canadian Indians who went to Australia to show there got out just in time with their fares. They are returning by the Makura and a collection was taken up on board, when the sum of $160 was obtained.

The Makura leaves again tonight at eleven o'clock for Vancouver.

Wilhelmina Leaves Wednesday.
The Matson liner Wilhelmina is due to leave for San Francisco on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock.

The agents notify that cargo will not be received at the railroad wharves after three o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Do You Want Long, Heavy Hair?

Then treat your hair well. See that it is properly fed. Growth of every kind demands proper food. Starved hair splits at the ends, turns prematurely gray, keeps short and dry. Then feed your hair. Feed it with proper food, a regular hair-food. Feed it with Ayer's Hair Vigor. Thus help nature all you possibly can toward giving you rich, heavy, luxuriant hair. Ask your doctor about your hair and about Ayer's Hair Vigor. Follow his advice.

The Stars Whitewashed-- Japs Win Close Game

The first series of the Oahu Baseball League now lies between the Native Sons and the Japanese, with the chances in favor of the Native Sons, for on the results of yesterday's play the Native Sons are still one game ahead of last year's champions and there is only one game to be played. Thus, the best the Japanese can do is to tie the Native Sons by winning from them next Sunday, in which case another game, or short series of games, will be necessary to decide the series. The Stars and the Portuguese lost yesterday, but both games were fairly good, though slow, that between the Stars and the Native Sons being the better of the two, though the Stars were subjected to the indignity of a coat of whitewash.

Bill Rice Makes Star Plays.

Though errors decided the game in favor of the Native Sons, Bill Rice, champion runner and all-round athlete, pulled off a couple of stunts which really prevented the Stars from making a bid for victory. He certainly made good yesterday, though his batting was nothing to boast about. He was up four times, fanned twice, walked once and flew out, but he did splendid work in the field. His star play in the second, when he deliberately muffed a fly in the garden to bring off a double play was magnificent, while his spectacular catch in the ninth was perhaps the best catch seen on the diamond this season. In the second the Stars had Sumner at second and Joy at first, with no outs, and Apau to bat. Apau sent out a long fly to the left field, which Rice dropped as the sphere hit his glove, picked it up without an instant's delay and whipped it to third as Sumner raced along the base line. The ball beat Sumner and he started back to second, meeting Joy there as Markham relayed the ball to Hamauku. Joy bolted back towards first, and Hamauku sent the ball to Dreier, who put out Joy and whipped the ball over to Markham again in time to settle Sumner. It was a great play and had the fans all on their feet. Then in the ninth, with Apau on first and one out, the Stars had another chance. N. Hoopli was put in to bat for O'Sullivan on the off-chance of his handling out a hit. He met the ball fairly and it soared between right and center field, with all the chances in the world of falling safe. But Rice raced across the field like a hare and got under the ball when it was about a foot from the ground. That practically ended the game, for Apau was put out less than a minute later trying to steal second. In the eighth, Sumner handed out a long fly to the left field, which Rice caught running backward. Rice was only on the bases once, but he got to third, remaining there as Kauli struck out and Hamauku flew to center. In the fourth the Stars had a chance with two outs when Sumner and Joy handed out hits, but Apau's grounded settled their hash.

Errors Decide Game.

Though the Stars and the Native Sons made three errors each, those made by the Stars were all costly errors, while those made by the Native Sons were without cost. Ah Toon, Ah Tin and O'Sullivan were the offenders on the Stars and their mistakes decided the game. It was in the third that Ah Toon and O'Sullivan fell down, when the score sheet was clean. Dreier gained first on a hit to center field, but advanced to second on Ah Toon's failure to take center field's throw. Then, with two out, W. Desha hit to center field and O'Sullivan broke down, scoring Dreier. In the sixth the second run was added, and that after two outs had been registered.

tered. Kauli grounded to third, but Ah Tin threw so badly to first that Kauli was able to make second. A hit by Hamauku, the only hit he made in the game, scored Kauli and put the Native Sons two up. And at that the tally remained until the finish.

Teams and scores:

Native Sons—Rice, lf; W. Desha, cf; Kauli, ss; Hamauku, 2d; McIntyre, rf; Markham, 3d; Raphael, c; Dreier, 1st, and Milkaa, p.
Stars—Kan Yen, ss; Ah Toon, 1st; Miller, 2d; Ah Tin, 3d; Sumner, lf; Joy, c; Apau, p; O'Sullivan, rf; N. Hoopli, rf, and Hayes, cf.

Big Hitting in First Game.

Mighty smiting characterized the game between the Japanese and the Portuguese, which was won by the Japanese by the odd run in seven. There were fourteen hits made during the game and of these four were two-baggers and two others hit the right field fence for singles only.

After scoring two runs in the third the Japanese seemed to have the game safe, but the Portuguese by some hard hitting took the lead in the sixth inning, only to lose in the ninth when Akana scored on Walker's two-bagger.

Hits Score First Runs.

Hits by Louis and Brito put them up in the third inning with no outs, and a wild pitch by Pedro gave them an additional base each. Zerbe handed out a hit and scored Louis, while Lino's failure to hold the pitcher's throw enabled Brito to get home. Errors by Correa almost resulted in another score to the Japanese in the fourth, but play was of a very slow nature up to the sixth.

Portuguese Score Thrice.

The Portuguese let loose in that inning and fairly trounced the hide off the ball. Freitas and Lino died before reaching first, but Madeiro and Bushnell handed out two-baggers each, the latter scoring Madeiro. Then Deponte handed out a fly over first, which Franco tried to take, but failed, and Bushnell crossed the plate, Deponte making second.

Pedro singled to the left field and Deponte scored, but the fun continued as Souza flew to centerfield and Walker muffed, and Olmos grounded to third and made first on Asam's error. The Japanese were way up in the air and the bases were full. However, Correa couldn't do anything better than ground to pitcher and the inning ended with Pedro being forced out on third.

The Portuguese fans almost went mad with excitement, but they calmed down as Akana made first on a hard drive which struck Umpire Chillingworth, and came home on Franco's two-bagger to the right field. There was nothing doing up till the ninth, when Akana again opened the inning, walking to first, getting second on a wild pitch and scoring on Walker's two-bagger to centerfield.

Teams and scores:

Mainland Fighters Give Fifth-Rate Exhibition

"Make them fight!" "Give him a racket!" "He won't hurt you, Patsy!" "Put the soldiers back in the ring and let us see some fighting!" "Kiss him, George!"

These are a few of the remarks made by the fans at the Orpheum Theater on Saturday evening while Kid George and Patsy McKenna were hugging each other round after round in the fifteen-round "fight" they were supposed to put up, and they indicate just how poor an exhibition the men gave. George got the decision at the end of the bout and of the two he was sixth, after Referee Paton told the men to fight, as poor an exhibition of fighting as has been seen here for many a day was given.

Wild Swings Rattle McKenna.

Kid George electrified the crowd by connecting with a wild swing on McKenna's head, and Patsy backed away. Then George essayed an avalanche of blows, right swings alternating with wits. While McKenna endeavored to escape some of George's blows landed, and shook McKenna so badly that all that was necessary to complete the bout was one more blow. George could not land another, however, for his haymakers were wide of the mark and Patsy was saved. The fight was practically won, but the chance was thrown away.

Nine Tiresome Rounds.

For nine more rounds the bout lasted and for most of those rounds McKenna actually forced the fighting, his one object being to get into a clinch and paste George on the kidneys. The continual rapping on the one spot began to have its effect on George, who, however, kept poking his left into McKenna's face, filling his left eye. In the thirteenth George did a marathon to keep clear of McKenna, and in the fourteenth he winced under the rain of blows on the kidneys.

Mike Paton Hooted.

At this stage of the bout Mike Paton brought down the wrath of the crowd on his head by parting the men, when McKenna was flaying George's kidneys, and he was hooted as seldom has been by a Honolulu audience. The fight ended with the men clinching, George much the fresher. The decision had a mixed reception, but some of the fans left thinking that the decision given was a draw.

Preliminary Bout a Corker.

How great a difference there was between the main event and the preliminary! The first bout might well have been staged as the main event, in which case the crowd would have left satisfied with the entertainment.

Williams Finishes Strong.

Williams and Kradalak certainly put up a fine bout and should be rematched, though Williams came through too strongly at the end for the Lellehua boxer. For three rounds Kradalak had the better of the fight; the fourth and sixth were fairly even; Williams took the fifth, seventh and eighth, getting the decision on points. Williams won on an uppercut which landed flush on Kradalak's face in the seventh round, and which so rattled the Lellehua lad that it was all he could do to weather the round. He was all but out, but his pluck was indomitable and he came back as willingly as he could, actually carrying the fight into Williams' camp in the last round in the vain hope of being able to stem the tide of defeat.

Classy Boxing Shown.

Straight left pokes scored numerous points for Kradalak during the early rounds, but Williams maintained an imperturbability which augured well for his ultimate success. He tried to land right swings, but Kradalak ducked so well that all Williams' attempts were futile, and it was not until Williams put in an uppercut in the fourth that he checked the piling up of points by Kradalak. Both lads fought with vim and confidence, giving and receiving as fast as they knew how. Kradalak made a great showing, but he was up against a lad who was in almost perfect condition, one who could afford to take all that was coming to him until his opponent tired and then wade in and win. And that is just what happened, but the eight rounds were chock full of incidents. It was certainly a splendid exhibition, winner and loser alike thoroughly meriting the hearty applause they gained.

Dick Sullivan Stung.

Dick Sullivan can hardly be blamed for the showing of the mainland fighters. He put them in to fight and saw to it they did their best, but beyond that he could not go. Mike Paton, at the opening of the sixth, told the men to get in and fight, but apparently they couldn't do any better than they did. McKenna is game and took quite a deal of punishment, but the men are not class enough to justify them posing as boxers of ability. The slather-and-whack soldier fights are to be preferred to such a bout as was staged on Saturday night between Kid George and Patsy McKenna.

SPORT NOTES

Good Polo Practice.

Four polo teams were made up at Moanalua on Saturday afternoon and five periods were played, the teams wearing the blue caps winning each game in which they played. This team was composed of R. Shingle, G. Denison, G. C. Potter and R. Atkinson and scored in all seven goals against one put in by the reds against them. The blue beat the reds one-nothing and played a tie with them later on, one all; beat the whites two-nothing and the yellows two-nothing. The other teams were: Reds—H. Damon, Lieut. Rogers, L. Smith and C. Lucas; Whites—L. Smith, R. McCorriston, U. Lemon and Lieut. Rogers; and Yellows—W. Rycroft, H. Jones, Lieut. Andrews and R. M. Sumner. The players are steadily improving and the new ponies are taking to the games well.

A. A. U. Again Change Plans.

Realizing that there was little chance of the proposed field and track meet set for July 4th by the A. A. U. being anything like a success the committee met on Saturday and decided on another change, reverting back to the proposed aquatic carnival which was abandoned when the board of Health regulations against swimming came into force. An effort will now be made to pull off this carnival on August 12. It is sincerely to be hoped that the A. A. U. will meet with success this time. Amateurism never yet killed a sport, which cannot be said for professionalism.

Ball Games Start Late.

Yesterday's ball games were half an hour late in starting, and both games dragged on for more than an hour and a half. When the play is sparkling all the while it is appreciated by the fans, but when play is slow and dreary the initial delay counts for something. It is up to the league management to see that the games start on time, or else cut the innings down to five or six. The Juniors rattle through their games under an hour, and in this they offer an object lesson to the Seniors.

Juniors Play Snappy Ball.

Sunday mornings games in the Junior League were both snappy and clean, a triple play and a double being pulled off in the game between the Aalas and the Chinese. Palama beat Muhock, 4-2, and Aalas beat C. A. U., 3-2. Palama and Asahis head the table, the first mentioned with two wins and the Asahis with one win. The Aalas and Muhocks have been beaten once and the Chinese twice.

Pearl Again Wins Yacht Race.

Four of the small boats were out for the race for the Campbell Crozier Cup yesterday afternoon, but once again Luther Hough steered the Pearl to Victory, winning by several minutes from Ivy, Elizabeth and Galloping Mary, in that order. The Florence was out to start, but had the misfortune to rip her mainsail and did not take part in the race. This is the second victory for the Pearl, her success being due in large measure to capable handling by her skipper.

Final Cricket Practice.

Saturday afternoon Captain R. Anderson's team won from Vice-Captain Jordan's team by seven runs after a close and interesting cricket game. The match marked the final practice before the Coronation Day match, which will be played on Thursday on Alexander Field, commencing at one o'clock.

Clean-Up Day Plans Are Maturing Well

Satisfactory reports were received from most of the committees at the final arrangements meeting for Clean-up Day, on Saturday evening. An exception was the report of the finance committee, which merely told the workers that little or no money would be forthcoming from the Board of Health and suggested that the district leaders make a canvass for funds.

President Mott-Smith, of the Board of Health, followed up the report with remarks, saying that a memorandum, attributed to him in his official capacity, appended to the report was in fact a statement of the finance committee.

In an earnest manner he urged that Clean-up Day was dependent mostly on the voluntary work of the people, and although its inception was largely due to the Board of Health, he was in it as one of the people.

H. T. Mills, at the conclusion of Mr. Mott-Smith's remarks, offered the following resolution, which at a later stage was taken up and, having been seconded by Senator Judd, was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, Clean-up Day should be in all its phases a thorough one, and must have the support of all persons as well as the officials of this city and Territory; and

"Whereas, The beneficial effect of a complete cleansing of Honolulu will be felt on the mainland; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the Governor of the Territory of Hawaii be requested to declare a public holiday as of and for June 24, 1911, and that the Governor, in such proclamation, earnestly request all residents to use this special day as a serious, working day for the health and sanitation of our city."

Finance Report Unacceptable.
A member whose sentiments were echoed by several others, expressed disappointment at the indefiniteness of the finance committee's report. It was too late in the day to expect the district leaders to make a house to house canvass, when every moment up to Clean-up Day would be filled with strenuous work of preparation. Most people had had scratching to pay their taxes, besides which there were constant calls on them for charitable and other objects. This was not a money campaign in the beginning, but one of voluntary work, yet the executive committee had been promised a considerable fund. There would likely be need for some money for special work, hence the offer of funds was very acceptable. The committee had been appointed to report on what funds might be expected, but had done nothing in the matter. However, money or no money, the workers were going to make Clean-up Day a success. The speaker concluded with a motion that the report of the finance committee be laid on the table and the committee urged to make further efforts, which met with no opposition.

Appeal to Citizens.
W. F. Wilson presented a report of the special committee to prepare a statement of the purpose of Clean-up Day, for distribution in different languages. This was in the form of the statement itself in placard form and in English, Chinese, Japanese and Portuguese, the English version being as follows:

CLEAN-UP DAY.
Saturday, June 24.
has been selected by the Oahu central improvement committee for a grand clean-up of Honolulu. On that or any day previous all citizens are earnestly requested to make a thorough clean-up of their own home grounds and premises. It is asked that rubbish and garbage of every description be gathered together and deposited in containers placed on the street near the sidewalk, so that same may be afterwards carted away in the wagons which on Clean-up Day will go the rounds of the streets throughout the city.

Particular attention to be given not only to cleaning up the ground surrounding stores and dwellings, but also to clear away all rubbish that

TWO MEMORIAL SERVICES HELD

The Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias held their memorial services yesterday, both being very impressive and well attended. At the services of the former, held in Odd Fellows Hall, the name of the late J. Mort Oat was the only one on the tablet for the year. The eulogy was by Brother W. C. Parke.

The program opened with the reading of the proclamation by Brother L. Petrie and closed with a prayer rendered by Brother Robert Elmer Smith. The ritual, which was read by Petrie, was followed by the roll call of the dead by Brother La Pierre. Those who contributed to the musical program were Sister M. W. Tschudi and Sister Allee Nicholson at the piano; C. Miltner, in two violin solos, and Sister F. O. Boyer, Sister Hazel J. Crane and Arthur Wall, vocalists. Clyde Baldwin rendered the violin accompaniment to Sister Boyer's solo. The address of the day, "Our Living Dead," was rendered by Rev. Robert E. Smith.

Knights of Pythias.
The Knights of Pythias held their session in the Opera House, under the auspices of Oahu Lodge No. 1 and Mystic Lodge No. 1, K. of P. The names of Ward S. Bartlett, Pedro A. Dias, T. W. Carroll, James H. McKeague, Robert M. Fuller, David Davison, P. C., and R. A. Duncan were those honored.

Mrs. Hugo Herzer, Brother A. B. Angus and G. W. Dyson were the soloists of the afternoon.

Brother Ed Towse, P. C., was the orator of the day, and Brother A. Deering, P. C., the eulogist. The officers of the day were: Chancellor commander, Bro. A. B. Angus, assisted by Bro. S. Decker of Oahu Lodge No. 1; vice chancellor, Bro. Wm. Jones; prelate, Bro. G. A. Meyers; master of work, Bro. W. H. Gill; may be found in gutters and under buildings.

The hearty co-operation of every one in Honolulu—man and woman, boy and girl alike—is respectfully solicited in making our city the capital of a real and healthy "Paradise of the Pacific."

OAHU CENTRAL IMPROVEMENT COMMITTEE.

Remember the Day—June 24. Satisfactory Reports.

Reports were received from the committees on districting, on cartage and implements, on transportation, on interpreters and clerical help and on hired labor, which showed that a good foundation for effective work all round had been laid.

Also reports were heard from various leaders, including Mayor Fern, who gave some good suggestions. According to these the greater part of the work of cleaning up will be completed in some districts before the day arrives, which will assure the release of an army of workers for more backward districts on Saturday.

Information Wanted.

It was requested that district leaders report the needs of their district, in the respective subdivisions of work named, on or before Wednesday to the following committeemen: City and County Engineer Gere, cartage and implements; Wm. Wolters, hired labor; Dr. W. G. Rogers, transportation.

The meeting adjourned to Wednesday evening at 7:30, at the Merchants' Association rooms, Alexander Young Hotel.

Koreans Interested.

V. H. Nhee, editor of the local Korean newspaper, has written the press committee chairman thus:

"Dear Sir: I herewith acknowledge the receipt of your card, and promise to see that the Korean community is kept informed of the purpose of Clean-up Day.

"Yours respectfully,

"V. H. NHEE."

It was a family quarrel, charges of assault, threatening language and vagrancy arising out of a squabble.

ONE BIG FLIGHT

by the sale of the liquor. If you fly in, I will get the public whether you make another flight or not. What I want is to get the people out there.

A Question of Wind.

"There is a clause in the contract to the effect that if the wind exceeds a velocity of, I believe, eighteen miles an hour, we need not fly. The wind velocity yesterday was from twenty-five to thirty-five miles an hour. The conditions were such that if Masson went up he would have been killed. But Scully refused to listen to any logical explanation.

"At Leliehua, we got the machine ready, and Masson climbed into the seat. He simply asked how much gasoline there was in the machine. I pleaded with Masson not to make the attempt to reach Honolulu without a trial landing. He once circled the ground and then soared up to a height of 5000 feet and sailed away for town. When he had done that, Scully said, 'That is all I want. Now we will have the people.' That seemed to please him. I pointed out that when we got to the park the machine might be smashed. Scully replied, 'Even if it is, it doesn't matter now. I will have the people there all day.'

Scully Wanted One Flight.

"We found the machine in perfect order, and he said: 'Give me one more flight at nine o'clock in the morning and you won't have to do another thing, and you will get your money.' He had already told us at Leliehua that we would get our money for the flight in. We promised that he would give him a flight, provided that the wind velocity lessened. Masson got into his machine around 3 p. m. with the determination to fly over the city, although he knew that it was dangerous to do so. They went to crank the propeller, but it would not start. Aviators are very superstitious people, and they have to be. If the motor does not start it takes the heart out of the aviator. The wind was increasing all the time, and it was utter folly to make an attempt to fly. We requested Scully to make an announcement to the people that we would not try for some time. From our observations we thought that the wind would not go down before late in the afternoon, say five or six o'clock, by which time we were sure that we would be able to make a trial. We also pleaded for a rest for Masson.

Masson Wanted to Fly.

"Scully began to get mean, and said, 'If you don't make a flight you won't get any money,' so they kept making announcements from time to time. After Masson had had lunch I met him and started to give him some advice as to how he should fly, for he fully intended to make the trial in the face of all the danger. Masson said, 'Don't talk to me! I am going back to fly.' So I didn't say another word. We went back to the field and saw the mechanic, who has had a lot of experience, having been with all the leaders in aviation, and he told Masson that it was suicide to attempt to fly in that wind. This mechanic had seen four aviators killed. Masson replied that he didn't care, he was going to try to fly. But it was impossible to get the machine off the ground owing to the rate of the wind. This the people fully appreciated.

"Scully came over to me and said: 'Walker, I am going to state myself plainly. If you don't fly you won't get any money.' I said, 'Do you want to have a murder on your hands?' He replied that it would not be murder. I then told him that I would not try to teach him his business, so he should not try to teach me mine.

Broke Contracts, Says Scully.

"We had already paid the aviators a thousand dollars before they were entitled to it," said Manager Scully, in reply to the reports that financial difficulties were in the way of flights yesterday. "Under our written contract with them we didn't have to pay them till the flights were over, but they needed the money and we advanced a thousand. I guess that was a mistake.

Masson's Final Offer.

"Scully then asked Masson whether he would fly, and Masson replied that he could not under the existing conditions. Masson said that he did not refuse, but he could not do so with the wind at so high a rate. Masson then said: 'Mr. Scully, I will fly for you tomorrow morning over Honolulu. I will stay over the city half an hour, and all the people who have been down here today will be able to see if the whistle is blown so that they will know I am in the air.' Scully replied, 'Fly now, or nothing doing!' Mr. Masson reiterated his statement, and Scully told his announcer to tell the people that Masson refused to fly. I argued with Scully and asked him to tell the proper reason and say that it would be death for Masson to leave the ground. He turned to his announcer and told him to announce what he had told him. Scully's announcer then told the people what Scully had told him to. The crowd, of course, became very angry. Scully had kept them for hours against our wishes. They wanted to close in on the machine, and this seemed to be encouraged by some of Scully's people, who yelled jeering remarks at us. One man jumped up and said, 'Now, bow to Masson.' I stood up and said, 'Ladies and gentlemen, Mr. Masson doesn't refuse to fly, but for him to go up now would be suicide, and I do not think that anybody wants to see a funeral. Mr. Masson will fly over the city and show the people that he is not a fake, but the wind conditions are such—'

"Then the crowd started to yell, and drowned my voice. I intended to refer to the balloon man who was blown out to sea, and never heard of again.

"Masson's flight in the morning was worth more than the money we would receive. We told Scully that we would help him to draw the crowd all we could. I would like to state that a biplane can get off in a wind much better than a mono-plane, due to the fact that a mono-plane is lighter and frailer. People, of course, do not realize this.

"The idea with Scully was, of course, that if the people left the ground Scully would not make so much money on his liquor license, as it was Sunday only. As for Scully's statement that we have broken every contract, that is wrong. The only alteration was flying from Leliehua on Sunday instead of on Saturday, and that was with Scully's full consent.

"We are still willing to fulfill our contract. Masson intends to fly to Leliehua from Honolulu and circle the city, giving everybody an opportunity to see him fly. There will be an exhibition at Leliehua for the boys.

"Masson's treatment, as well as that to the other members of the party by the promoters has been very poor indeed, and it would seem that the promoters only wanted to make money through their liquor license."

Aviators Broke Contracts.

"The aviators broke their contracts in several respects. In the first place"—and Scully showed the written agreement—"they were to have machines here by June 17, and failed to do so. Then they were to have a monoplane and a biplane. It is perfectly definite in the contract. All they had was one monoplane. The other machines were held up by some sort of an attachment, as I understand it.

Why There Was No Flight.

"I guess the reason there was no flight yesterday was that I would not agree to an entirely new condition, that I would pay for any damage to the machine. I proposed to the airship men that at least one flight be made at about nine o'clock, before the wind rose. I suggested one ascent, and a flight over the city, so that the people might see the airship, and if the wind had made later flights impossible it wouldn't have been so bad. I was then asked to guarantee to pay any losses caused by damage to the monoplane. There was nothing of this in the contract. I asked what the damages might amount to. They told me one wing of the machine was worth $250, and of course I couldn't make any such guarantee. This was in the presence of a crowd of witnesses, and I have the contract to show that I was not called upon to make such a guarantee."

Drink Sales Unimportant.

"There was nothing in the sale of drinks," continued Scully, "and no reason to keep the crowd for that purpose. The sales didn't amount to much at any time. We sold temperance drinks and the Japanese soda water wagons did nearly all the business. I paid no attention to the matter. I put in all my time on the field trying to persuade the Frenchman to fly."

REASONS FOR FEAR OF OUR FRUIT PESTS,—BILLION DOLLARS A YEAR DAMAGE FROM PARASITES

"A billion dollars a year is the cost to the United States of the various insect pests in the country, most of them imported from foreign lands," said Representative Ed Towse, who has been studying the past business since he became chairman of the House committee having to deal with such subjects. "At least that is the estimate made by Charles Lester Marlatt of the bureau of department of agriculture in the National Geographical Magazine."

Marlatt advocates some very strict legislation to keep out pests, and his article illustrates the attitude which California has taken toward Hawaii on account of the introduction here of the Mediterranean fly. It is in part as follows:

Foreign Origin of Many of Our Insect Pests.

"Fully 50 per cent of the important injurious insect pests in this country are of foreign origin. Among these are the codling moth, the Hessian fly, the asparagus beetle, the hop-plum louse, the cabbage worm, the wheat-plum louse, oyster-shell bark louse, pea weevil, the Croton bug, the Angoumois grain moth, the horn fly or cattle, and in comparatively recent years have been introduced such important pests as the cotton-boll weevil, the San Jose scale, the gypsy and brown-tail moths into New England, the Argentine ant into New Orleans, and the alfalfa-leaf weevil into Utah."

"While it is true that certain classes of injurious insect pests, such as the house fly and other household insects which may be similarly carried in ships' cargo or in the packing of merchandise, have been imported, and still will be, in spite of any quarantine law, however rigid, it is essentially true that the great mass of the foreign insect enemies of orchards and forests have come in on nursery and ornamental stock, and might have been kept out, in large measure, if an efficient quarantine had been in operation."

"The codling moth, or apple worm, occasions a loss, in cost of spraying trees and injury to fruit, of $16,000,000 a year; the San Jose scale, similarly in loss of product and cost of treatment of trees, $10,000,000 a year; the Hessian fly, the most important enemy of wheat, probably causes an annual loss of $50,000,000, and in some years this loss has reached the enormous total of $100,000,000. The cost to this country of the cotton-boll weevil, from the very conservative estimate of Mr. W. D. Hunter, amounts to about $25,000,000 a year. All these were imported."

"The Argentine ant is destroying citrus orchards in Louisiana, and has spread to the orange groves of Southern California; the alfalfa-leaf weevil, probably introduced on packing of nursery stock from Europe, has destroyed hundreds of fields of alfalfa in Utah, and is spreading to adjacent states."

"The gypsy and brown-tail moths in Massachusetts and portions of other New England states are now costing those states, in expenditures merely in efforts at control, not counting damage at all, upward of a million dollars a year. In addition to this, the national government is appropriating $300,000 a year to aid in controlling these pests along the highways, and by this means check their more rapid distribution. In spite of these efforts and this enormous expenditure, these insects are slowly spreading, and great damage is done yearly to woodlands, private grounds, and orchards. The dissemination of these two pests over the whole United States, as is extremely likely under present conditions, would entail a like cost throughout the country—a tremendous and unnecessary charge on our fruit and forest interests."

"Very careful estimates, based on crop reports and actual insect damage over a series of years, show that the loss due to insect pests of farm products, including fruit and live stock, now reaches the almost inconceivable total of one billion dollars annually. The larger percentage of this loss is due to imported insect pests, and much of it undoubtedly would have been saved if this country had early enacted proper quarantine and inspection laws."

Danger of Additional Pests.

"Great as is the number of foreign insect pests already imported and established in the United States, there remain many others with equal capacity for harm, which, fortunately, have not yet reached our shores or crossed our borders; or, at most, have infested only a limited part of our domain."

"Our increasing business relations with China and other Oriental countries adds enormously to the risk of the importation of new pests. We know very little of the injurious insect pests of those countries, and particularly of China, but the importation of new stock in the last year or two, from China especially, has demonstrated the existence there of many pests which have not hitherto been known. The power of harm of these new pests is abundantly illustrated by the San Jose scale, which is one of the earliest of the Chinese insect pests to reach us, and undoubtedly came to this country with some ornamental nursery stock sent from north China."

"Among the known foreign insect fruit pests which it is very desirable to keep out of this country are the Morelos fruit worm, which is an important enemy of citrus fruits in certain parts of Mexico; the olive-fruit worm, which occurs throughout the Mediterranean countries where the olive is grown; the mango-seed weevil, which has been found in imported mango seed during the present year; several fruit-scale pests known to occur in China, Japan, and other Oriental countries, which have records for harm quite as great as the San Jose scale; the gypsy and brown-tail moth to regions in this country where they do not now occur, and many other equally dangerous insect enemies of fruit trees, forest trees, and farm crops, known to occur in foreign countries."

"In addition to the danger of importing those insect pests is the risk of bringing in new and dangerous plant diseases. Two illustrations of this danger only will be mentioned, but there are many others equally important. First may be noted a new disease of the potato, known as the 'potato wart,' which there is grave risk of establishing in this country. This disease, once in the soil, destroys the potato tuber and prevents the culture of this staple. The disease was

ALLIGATOR PEARS NOT AFFECTED

The local agents of the Matson Navigation Company are going to take immediate measures with the view of having the embargo placed on the alligator pear by the California authorities, removed.

A representative of the company said this morning that there was no reason why the alligator pear should be placed on the tabu list, as there was no pest which attacked it with the exception of the mealy bug, which only affected the leaves and branches. He said that the embargo would cost Honolulu alone thousands of dollars, and that the agents of the company were going to do their utmost to have it removed.

A representative of the Island Fruit Company said that last year Wells, Fargo Company shipped the best part of 2,000 dozen pears away from here and that they expected to have shipped considerably more this season.

"The new restriction has killed the business dealer than a nail," was the way he put it.

A local fruit grower, commenting on the Mediterranean fly, said that it was at present useless for anyone to plant any kind of citrus plant here, as the fly would destroy the fruit without the shadow of a doubt.

HERR VON SCHOEN.

Herr Von Schoen, the eminent diplomat who represents Germany at Paris, is one of the best known foreign agents in the world and has recently shown his great abilities by the manner in which he avoided trouble between Paris and Berlin over the present conflict in Morocco. He is a close personal friend of Emperor William and has served in the Imperial Chancellor's department with marked success.

HAWAIIAN SINGERS SERENADE THE GOVERNOR OF CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO, June 1.—Under the urge of Island memories and the stir of their emotional temperament, the band of Hawaiian musicians who appear at the Pantages this week last night set out a serenading trip about the city and proceeded to weave the spell of the tropics about those whom they favored with their midnight melodies.

Among those serenaded was Governor Johnson, who invited the Hawaiian band in to enjoy refreshments with Secretary Al McCabe, the governor providing a "spread" for the singers.

and Leader Ellis of the musicians. The still, warm night carried the strains of song and instrumental melody for blocks, and many drowsy heads lifted from their pillows in momentary belief that they had suddenly been carried to the South Seas.

Among those serenaded was Governor Johnson, who invited the Hawaiian band in to enjoy refreshments with Secretary Al McCabe, the governor providing a "spread" for the singers.

ARMY AND NAVY

The field officers' quarters and the six sets of company officers' houses that are being built at Fort Ruger, Diamond Head, under the supervision of Captain F. B. Edwards, constructing quartermaster, U. S. A., are progressing rapidly. The framework has joined the solid foundation laid. The cement stucco and roof, with interior finishings, will necessarily take a longer time. But thus far the building has made wonderful and successful progress. Captain Edwards does not allow grass to grow under his feet. It is probable that the officers of the Coast Artillery Corps, stationed at Fort Ruger, will eat their Thanksgiving dinner in their new sets of officers' quarters.

A Change in Orders.
Unless new orders were issued, the first and third battalions of the Twentieth Infantry, now serving in the Philippines division, with station at the Cuartel de Espana Intramuros, Manila, P. I., did not leave their station on Thursday, the 15th, for this port, as was anticipated.

It was planned for the second battalion, Twentieth Infantry, at Fort Shafter, to join the two battalions of their regiment en route to the Coast early in July, but taking into consideration the six months' delay order, it is possible the members of the Kahuiki reservation will be here until the beginning of the new year.

Major Walcutt Going.

Major Charles C. Walcutt, Jr., who has recently reached his majority while serving in the Fifth Cavalry as troop commander of Troop P at Schofield Barracks, has been assigned in his new grade of rank to the Twelfth Cavalry. Regret is felt that the Fifth Horse is to soon lose Major and Mrs. Walcutt, Jr., from their line and the brigade post, where they are both universal favorites. Major and Mrs. Walcutt, Jr., will leave for the Coast on the Sheridan next month.

General Bullis' Death.

Bad news has reached this military district of the death at the post hospital of Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas, of Brigadier General John L. Bullis, U. S. A., retired.

General Bullis was known throughout the service. During his long and bravely honorable military career he was always actively to be found in the front ranks whenever duty called or there was someone he could help with his kind heart and ever-ready purse. A widow and three daughters survive General Bullis, Mrs. Bullis being the eldest daughter of the late General John Withers of United States and Confederate armies fame. The youngest daughter, Octavia, is a student at the University of Texas, at Austin. Anita and Lydia Bullis are young daughters at home with their mother.

Troops on the Border May Stay.

In conversation, an army officer just recently from the scene of patrolling the frontier of the Rio Grande and camp of maneuvers on the borderland of Texas and Arizona, said most impressively that in his opinion and observation of the unsettled condition of affairs there, that the United States troops would not be hastily sent back to their stations, or removed from the border river.

He said the immense value, merely in the convenient position of Uncle Sam's boys to the scene of trouble, has been a wonderful stay and influence for good on the disturbing elements, that could hardly be realized by people not actually near the count-

This officer continued by saying that he made no predictions, for the unexpected could always be looked for, but that a very wise ruling has gone forth from the War Department to the effect that all movements of troops or regiments, previously ordered, were to delay for six months before carrying out the orders given, from their respective dates.

It was a little feared that the worst was yet to come on the borderland, but taking the old French proverb, the expected will probably not happen.

INDEPENDENCE OF PHILIPPINES IS WHAT ISLANDS' DELEGATES TO AMERICAN CONGRESS WORK FOR

By J. A. BRECKONS.

(Correspondence of The Star.)

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The Philippines will come in for a considerable share of attention at the hands of the next session of Congress if the number of bills and resolutions introduced or announced may be taken as an indication. One of the latest reports is that Representative Cline of Indiana will greatly modify his resolution providing for the independence of the islands. The modification, it is said, would gain much additional support and eventually work out the independence of the Philippines.

Representative Cox of Ohio has introduced a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for details as to what the maintenance of the islands has cost us. The figures are guessed at as around a billion dollars, but until a report is made it will be impossible to reach anything like a reliable estimate. Democratic members contend that much of the increased naval appropriations have been caused by the Philippines, and assert that without the islands our military operations and expenses would be greatly reduced.

In an effort to develop public sentiment, the delegates from the Philippines, Benito Legarda and M. Quezon, have been making speeches before various bodies during the past few months, and are keeping up the work by appearing whenever opportunity offers. Mr. Quezon is now making a tour of New England commencing, lecturing on the islands and incidentally spreading the gospel of independence as he sees it.

HOW THE PIONEER AVIATOR IN CHINA CAME TO HIS DEATH

North China Herald, May 13.—The pioneer of aviation in China, M. Rene Vallon, met death on the Race Course on Saturday in circumstances which have cast a deep gloom over the entire community.

Throughout the race meeting a visit from the aeroplane had been daily anticipated, but the weather was against flying. There was an improvement on Saturday, and it was announced that following upon the races there would be one of those aviation meetings which had been so popular at Kiangwan. At five o'clock all preparations had been completed at Kiangwan for the flight, and rising into the air M. Vallon set off for Shanghai. The afternoon was dull, with occasional glimpses of sunshine, and there was little wind stirring. Higher, probably, than he had ever flown before in this district, M. Vallon rose, until when above the railway station he is estimated to have been at least 1,000 feet up. From here he steered his course in a circle, taking a wide sweep, and approaching the Race Course from the northwest. By this time he had been observed in the Settlement and from every quarter eyes were focussed upon him.

The seventh race of the afternoon had just finished when those in the enclosure caught sight of the biplane approaching, and in a moment all interest in the winner had disappeared. Far above the heads of the throng Vallon came, certainly between 500 and 900 feet in the air, and traveling at a tremendous pace. The biplane has a speed of between seventy and eighty kilometers an hour, and it was a grand sight to see the machine speeding through space. Soon the whirr of the motor could be heard, and in a few moments he was sailing high over the Race Club.

The Accident.

At this moment a great cheer rose from the crowd, every eye being fixed on the aeroplane with the gallant aviator sitting there quite cool and unmoved. In a line above the home straight he passed, then circled away to the south and round the track. Soon he was again over the Race Club, and in the meantime he had descended somewhat, but was still about 600 feet from earth. The picture was fascinating, and the crowd was thoroughly enjoying the spectacle, cheering ever and again, when suddenly there came a sickening sensation.

For a second time the aeroplane had flown along the home straight, but now when within fifty or a hundred yards of the turn it was observed to quiver. It seemed to descend a short distance rapidly, as if the aviator were planning down, then there was a slight cant to the right, followed by a heavy lurch to the left. For a moment it looked as if the aeroplane were to recover itself, but this was not to be. The machine hung for a second or two; then, the life plane swinging down and pointing to the ground, the great structure crashed down. With increasing impetus as it neared the ground the machine struck with a horrid thud, the planes doubling up as if crushed by a sledge hammer. It was all over.

For a second or two the crowd stood motionless, horror-stricken at the spectacle, and then there was a wild rush for the ruined aeroplane. The police, followed by men and women, leaped the barricades and tore along the track as fast as their feet could carry them, all anxious to render assistance if that were still of any avail. There was, however, little hope that M. Vallon had survived the awful fall, and a glance showed that death had been instantaneous. The crowd surged around the wrecked plane, urged on by a morbid curiosity, and the few police on the scene had their work cut out to cope with them. There was only a sufficient number of police on the ground to look after the gates in the ordinary course, and they were much too few in number to keep the crowd back. Assistance was, however, obtained from a number of bluejackets who were present, and who, on being requested by the authorities, readily backed up the police in their efforts to maintain order. Terribly crushed by the fall, the body of the dead aviator was immediately laid on a stretcher, and as quickly as possible removed from the course. As it passed through the gate of the Race Club a huge crowd of Chinese assembled and proceeded to follow it to the mortuary. Fortunately the offer of a motor car was made at this juncture by Mr. H. S. Honigsberg, and the body was taken away in this.

What Happened.

The cause of the accident can, of course, not be stated with certainty, but it is more than probable that the currents of the air, treacherous in the extreme and more dangerous to the aviator than the currents of the sea to the navigator, were responsible for the tragedy. It was pointed out that the wind on Saturday was of a most uncertain quantity. One theory of the accident is that in rounding the bend M. Vallon was caught in an unexpected current, and descended somewhat to try to avoid it. It, however, swept the aeroplane off its balance and then the awful fall took place. The theory is also advanced that the current of air sweeping past it made what has been termed a "hole" in the air. This would immediately cause the nose of the plane to dip, and the propeller would then be driving the machine full speed to the earth. Whatever was the cause, this seems certain. The aeroplane went over on its side, and M. Vallon was flung out. He alighted on his feet, was flung over on his left side, and the shock to his heart caused instantaneous death. When picked up it was seen that the watch he wore at his wrist, now covered with earth and the face broken, had stopped at thirteen minutes past discovered in Hungary in 1886, and has since spread over portions of Europe and into England, where it is causing great alarm. It has also established itself in Newfoundland, and it is especially from this source that the danger to the United States comes. There is no known remedy for the disease, and its existence in the soil practically puts an end to potato culture. Its introduction into the United States would result in the loss of millions of dollars annually.

FRUIT PESTS

"The other disease is the 'white-pine blister-rust,' which has caused enormous losses in Europe, particularly to nursery stock. This disease has, during the last year or two, been imported on nursery stock into a good many of our states and into the province of Ontario, Canada. Earnest effort has been made to stamp it out at these points of introduction, and it is hoped that this work has been successful. If this disease becomes established in this country it will result in enormous losses in our pine forests.

"Both of these diseases are examples of dangers which can be prevented only by an absolute quarantining of the infected foreign districts, so far as importations therefrom to this country of these particular products are concerned. In other words, these diseases are often not discoverable by inspection, and cannot be destroyed by fumigation. The pine disease may be present in the pine for two or three years before giving any visible demonstration. The potato-tuber disease may be in imported potatoes and similarly escape detection.

Efforts to Secure Legislation.

"The necessity for a national quarantine against foreign insect pests and plant diseases has long been recognized, and during the last fourteen years, especially, a strong continued effort has been made to secure such legislation. This effort has been blocked very largely by a small body of importing nurserymen, who, careless of the consequences to the country at large, feared some slight check on freedom of their operations. The main body of nurserymen have interests identical with the fruit growers and are in favor of protective legislation, and The National Nurseryman, the principal organ of the nursery trade of this country, has taken positive stand in support of such legislation.

"The entire value of the imported nursery stock, as declared at customs, which is thus menacing the safety of this country, is about $350,000 annually—scarcely more than the government is now appropriating to assist in the effort at the control of the gypsy moth alone in New England.

"Some of this imported stock is of ornamentals neither new nor peculiar, and is merely brought in because of cheaper production abroad. A large percentage of it is seedling apple, pear, cherry, plum, and quince stock. It is held by importing nurserymen that particularly the cherry, plum and quince stock is better grown abroad than at home. Nevertheless, until recently all such stock was home-grown, and probably the bulk of the apple seedling stock is still home-grown. Admitting the necessity of the importation of some seedling stock, it is all the more desirable to have means to thoroughly inspect, and, if necessary, quarantine such stock.

"The first concerted effort to obtain a national quarantine and inspection law was due to the introduction in the East on nursery stock of the San Jose scale in the early 90's. The failure to reach an agreement as to suitable legislation among the nurserymen, fruit growers and entomologists prevented anything coming from this effort, although several bills were introduced in Congress from time to time. In the meanwhile the San Jose scale became so widely distributed by transportation on infested nursery stock that quarantine against this insect was no longer practicable, and the country is now being taxed, and probably will be for all time, many millions of dollars annually in consequence of the absence of any law under which strong hold could have been taken of this danger at the outset.

Criminal Carelessness.

"The present effort to secure legislation resulted from the discovery two years ago of the introduction of enormous quantities of brown-tail moth pests, full of hibernating larve, on seedling fruit stock, chiefly from northern France. With these were occasional egg-masses of the gypsy moth. During the years 1909 and 1910 such infested stock was sent to no less than 22 different States, covering the country from the Atlantic seaboard to the Rocky Mountains. During the first of these years no less than 7,000 winter nests of the brown-tail moth, containing approximately 2,800,000 larve, were found in shipments to New York State alone—seed material enough to infest the whole United States within a few years.

"So far as possible, this stock sent to the different states has been examined and the brown-tail moth nests removed and destroyed by the state authorities; or, where these were not available, by the agents of the Bureau of Entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture. It is by no means certain, however, that all of the infested shipments have been located and freed.

"The State of California for the last twenty years has enforced a quarantine at the port of San Francisco, which is the only port in this country so guarded. During these twenty years a great many dangerous insects and diseases have been detected and stopped at this port, to the enormous gain of the fruit interests of California, and, indirectly, of the whole country.

"Some of the more recently developed fruit districts in the great Northwest and some of the more newly opened Canadian provinces, profiting by past experience, have established protective quarantine regulations, which should for a long period give these regions a tremendous advantage over older fruit centers in lessening the cost of production.

"It is useless now to dwell on what could have been saved to the agriculture and natural-forest resources of this continent if our forefathers had been wise enough to have early established and intelligently enforced inspection and quarantine regulations against the Old World to exclude plant diseases and insect enemies. That would have been conservation in its most practical form. The past cannot be remedied, but the future can be safeguarded, and that is the present opportunity. The first step towards securing the desired legislation is to arouse a public realization of the need. The moment this need becomes generally felt, the legislation will be forthcoming."

GLORIOUS NIGHTS—AND DAYS.

These nights are beautiful down at Haleiwa. The moon adds much to the splendor of the scenery and the weather is all that could be wished for. Those who were at the hotel last Saturday night when the moon was full report a delightful time. The management assured the public that every day brings something new to the guests at Haleiwa and for the reason it is the popular place for tourists and local people at all times.

IN FAVOR OF

MACOMB PLAN

President Mott-Smith of the Board of Health, speaking of General Macomb's proposition to fill in an area between Ala Moana and a line to be established about 1000 feet makai of the road, for the formation of a park and boulevard extending from the Marine camp to Kailhi stream said:

"The scheme is truly a great one and would be of the greatest importance as far as the health condition of Kakaako, Kowalo and the Kailhi district are concerned. These districts have always furnished a very trying health problem.

"If the improvements suggested seaward of Ala Moana are made there would be afforded a beautiful recreation ground and a breathing-place for the people, of inestimable value.

"The filling in of the low-lying land mauka of Ala Moana and the setting aside of a large tract of land for a park which could be used as a parade-ground would also be a splendid thing. Indeed, General Macomb's whole proposition is assured of the hearty co-operation of the board of health, and that means a practicable co-operation as well as a sympathetic one."

PIONEER AVIATOR

five—the moment of his death. The suggestion that the sudden collapse of the biplane may possibly have been due to defects in its fittings has been put forward by Mr. Aveyard, chief engineer to Messrs. Telge and Schroeter. Mr. Aveyard had occasion thoroughly to examine the biplane at Kiangwan on Friday afternoon, and having formerly been engaged in the British army balloon factory at Aldershot, is able to speak with some expert knowledge. He points out that the frame of the biplane was rather badly damaged in transit from France, and new parts had to be obtained. When examining the machine Mr. Aveyard particularly noticed the wires. When the biplane is in motion the tension upon all its parts is so great that only high grade piano wire will bear the strain. Ordinary steel wire, however, purchased in Shanghai, had been used. There were "kinks" plainly to be seen. It seemed to him, also that the wooden frame work was in places rather badly fitted together. The sockets into which the rods, holding together the planes, are fixed did not appear sufficiently deep, thus weakening the joints in a part of the machine where strength is essential. Three possible explanations thus suggested themselves. One, that M. Vallon may have lost control of the descending plane. Secondly, collapse of the pieces which had had to be fixed temporarily to the ends of each plane. Thirdly, the failure of the material used in refitting the machine to stand the pressure. The strain on the whole frame is at its highest when the machine is being turned.

THE MAHUKONA

HARBOR WORK

Preliminary work on the Mahukona harbor improvements is being done by Governor Frear and he hopes to have his plans ready for the approval of the harbor commission by July 1.

There will probably be an exchange of land which will do away with the friction between the government and the Mahukona Railway Co., and by virtue of which the company will use the north side of the harbor and the public the south side.

The company plans extensive improvements in and about the harbor and from the first of July will tackle the betterment of landing facilities hand in hand with the government.

At least that is what Governor Frear confidently hopes.

JUST WHAT ITS NAME IMPLIES.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is all that its name implies. There has never been a case reported of cramp colic, cholera morbus or dysentery where this remedy was used that it did not give prompt relief. It is as good for the child as for the adult and all danger from cholera infantum will be avoided if this medicine is promptly administered. For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

WHY CENTER

WAS PLUCKED

Acting Superintendent of Public Instruction Gibson, questioned as to the matter of Midshipman Center being "plucked" at Annapolis for deficiency in English, said:

"It may have been Center's fault or the trouble may have been with the High School's system, though I hardly think that the latter is the case, as the school's strong point has always been English, and its weak one, if any, science.

"Center may have been one of those boys who while more than usually good at mathematics could never get on better than fair terms with the English language. A vice-versa condition of affairs is frequently met with in our schools."

STREET LINES

ON PUNCHBOWL

Governor Frear said on Saturday that the work of adjusting the preferential rights of the Punchbowl settlers is going ahead satisfactorily and that it is being rushed as fast as possible.

"We are working with the idea of having as few shifts of residences as possible. New streets are being planned and we hope to be able to set aside a plot of land to be used as a recreation ground by the inhabitants of the district."

"PUNAHOU ALUMNI DAY."

All Punahou Alumni, undergraduates and their families and relatives are cordially invited and urgently requested to attend the usual annual exercises of the Punahou Alumni to be held on the Oahu College grounds on Friday, June 23rd at 3:30 p. m. A reception will be given ex-president W. C. Merritt who has kindly consented to give a few reminiscences of Punahou life during his incumbency. This will be of special interest to all, particularly those who attended Punahou under Mr. Merritt. Other short addresses will be given, following which a baseball game will take place between members of the Alumni and the College team.

HOMESTEADING A TOUGH JOB

Deputy Attorney-General Smith returned Saturday from his tour of investigation of the Kaiwika homesteads.

His report has been handed in to the Governor but is not available in its entirety at present.

One thing Mr. Smith is emphatic about and that is that the means of access to the homesteads are wretched.
He rode a horse but notwithstanding was unable to follow the roads owing to the deep mud and had to ride through cane fields in order to get to the homesteads.

Whether the homesteading at Kaiwika is of a bona fide nature, or whether the homesteaders are doing their best, could not be ascertained from Mr. Smith but he appears to have come to the conclusion that the Kaiwika land is a pretty tough place to homestead owing to a combination of climate, bad roads and poor soil, the land only being suitable for cane raising.

As another individual put it this morning, and he knows the homesteads well:

"Roughly speaking about the only homesteaders who are staying on their lots are those who have no ambition at all."

From the above observations it would appear that homesteading in the Kaiwika district isn't all it's cracked up to be.

GRADUATION AT HIGH SCHOOL

The graduating exercises in connection with the McKinley High School are to be held tomorrow night, starting at eight o'clock. There are fourteen students who will receive their honor certificates and also a big list of those who have graduated. The school is closing a very successful year's work.

In order to obtain an honor graduation a student has to maintain an average of ninety per cent, or better, during the school course and also to qualify for character and personality.

The salutatory is to be given by Annie Fo Jin Kwong, and the valedictory by Signa Mae Catherine Wilkander.

Rev. Robert E. Smith, of the Methodist Church, will give the invocation,

NEW RICE MILL.

The K. Yamamoto Rice Mill is the largest as well as the finest in the islands. All machinery is of the very latest pattern. The famous Tengu Rice is cleaned at this mill. With the large cleaning capacity they are able to handle considerable outside particular work which they guarantee.

"Cheer up, there are plenty of men in the world."
"Yes, but not at this summer resort."

Keep Cool

Coolness and comfort are just as important features of your summer shoes as correct style. You can get all these features in the new Regal Oxfords we are showing—and take our word for it, they are the smartest low-cuts produced this season.

REGAL OXFORDS

are built on special Oxford lasts—not ordinary high-shoe lasts, like other ready-to-wear oxfords. They never slip at the heel or gape at the ankle, but fit smoothly and evenly at every point. Regal quarter-sizes make it easy to get your exact fit.
