LINCOLN'S ASSASSIN

AN OKLAHOMA SUICIDE IS SAID TO HAVE BEEN THE MURDERER OF THE GREAT WAR-TIME PRESIDENT—REMAINS IDENTIFIED AS THOSE OF THE FAMOUS ASSASSIN, JOHN WILKES BOOTH.

Associated Press Cable to the Star.

ENID, Oklahoma, June 2.—An unknown suicide here has been identified as John Wilkes Booth, the man who assassinated Abraham Lincoln. The identification is positive, by persons who claim to have known the murderer of the war-time President.

The positive statement that the dead man was Booth has caused great excitement. After shooting President Lincoln Booth escaped from the theater where the murder was committed and is supposed to have been traced and shot, but there have been many questions raised as to whether he was really killed, and it has often been claimed that he made a final escape. The murderer was a brother of Edwin Booth, the actor. Investigations are being made to verify or disprove the statements of those who claim to identify him.

House Of Reconsideration

HEARS PRAYER IN ENGLISH FOR THE FIRST TIME THIS SESSION—CHAPLAIN PRAYS TO BE GIVEN THIS DAY THEIR DAILY BREAD AND SHORTLY AFTERWARD BOTH SENATE AND HOUSE PASS $7000 EXPENSE BILL.

The House of reconsideration continued slow and cumbersome work on salaries for the six months after July 1. Prayer was said in English for the first time. Up to this morning the chaplain, Rev. Manase, has always prayed in Hawaiian, and there have been no interpretations for the benefit of those understanding only English. Today, however, the chaplain said "The Lord's Prayer" in English.

The conference committee on the bill for expenses of translating and printing the House journal reported in favor of amending the bill and title by adding the words "preparation." This, it is supposed, will enable the House to pay some typewriting and other bills out of the $7,000 appropriated. The conference report was signed by Fernandez, Aylett, Achi, Isenberg and Harris, and was adopted by the House, passing the bill on third reading.

On motion of Haia the deputy sheriff of Hana was raised $5 per month for the six months. Pali wanted an increase of $270 for six months' salary for a deputy sheriff at Honouliuli. After half an hour's discussion the proposition was deferred. Kaniho tried to cut the Molokai sheriff from $450 to $400 for the six months, saying that there had been a petition against him, but was voted down.

Pay of police for Maui, $10,950, was referred to the Maui delegation and the Kauai items were all passed without debate, as follows: Salary of Deputy Sheriff of Kauai, $750; Salary of Deputy Sheriff of Kawaihau, $420; Salary of Deputy Sheriff of Hanalei, $420; Salary of Deputy Sheriff of Koloa, $420; Salary of Deputy Sheriff of Waimea, $600; pay of Police of Kauai, $6,600.

Oahu guards, $14,970, was passed, the Deputy Sheriff of Koolaula-poko and Koolaula being given $450 each; Waialua and Ewa $600, and Waianae $300. The item of $2,400 for detectives' services was passed with a proviso by Vida that it be apportioned among the islands.

Oahu police pay, $51,630, was referred to a committee consisting of Pulaa, Fernandez, Kalama, Vida, Kupihea and Knudsen.

The Man Who Raised The Flag

LIEUTENANT COMMANDER A. G. WINTERHALTER, WHO AS ADMIRAL'S MILLER'S FLAG LIEUTENANT RAISED THE AMERICAN FLAG IN HAWAII, AUGUST 12, 1898, IS HERE AFTER SERVICE ON ASIATIC STATION.

Lieutenant Commander A. G. Winterhalter, who is through passenger on the Korea going to Washington has scores of friends in Honolulu who are glad to see him here again. He was Admiral Miller's flag lieutenant in 1898, and took a prominent part in raising the American flag on August 12, 1898, in token of the complete annexation of Hawaii to the United States.

For the past three years he has been in service on the Asiatic station, the latter part of the time in command of United States naval vessels, patrolling the Yangtze-Kiang, looking out for American interests, and Americans whether they are there as travelers, or after the Al-mighty dollar. This service is almost of a diplomatic character, requiring very high qualities. As a result of this service Commander Winterhalter has acquired an immense amount of intimate knowledge concerning the physical conditions, and possibilities of China, that make him probably one of the best informed men on the subject in the country.

In the early summer of 1900, Commander Winterhalter was sent to Newcastle-on-Tyne to superintend the completion of the Albany, a vessel bought, while undergoing construction, by the United States. During this summer he did some cruising in the Mediterranean, going as far as the Piraeus. From November, 1900, to March, 1901, he was at Cavite. From that time to June he was at Hongkong in command of the Bennington when he was given command of the river gunboat Helena and began service on the Yangtze-Kiang. From December last until the beginning of this month he was on duty with the squadron under Admiral Evans, at Manila, and during this time he carried out the difficult task of taking a squadron consisting of the little captured Spanish gunboats Elcano, Villalobos, Callao and the collier Pompey during the height of the monsoon season, from Cavite to Hongkong.

All three of these gunboats have interesting incidents in connection with them. Elcano was the second in command of Magellan's expedition which circumnavigated the world, and commanded after Magellan's death. The Spanish have always felt proud of him and have always had a vessel in their navy named after him. Villalobos was also a commander in the Magellan expedition.

COOPER ANSWERS MANDAMUS

TELLS WHY HE THINKS THE BOARD OF PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS NEVER WAS LEGALLY CREATED—ACT 31, THE COUNTY ACT, IS DECLARED NOT TO HAVE BEEN LEGALLY PASSED BY EITHER HOUSE.

The return to the writ of mandamus secured against Henry E. Cooper by S. B. Dole et al. constituting the Board of Public Institutions, was filed this morning before Judge Gear, by George A. Davis and Kinney, McClanahan & Bigelow. It sets forth some of the reasons why Cooper refuses to proceed under the county government act. After admitting the preliminary facts set forth in the petition for a writ the return says:

"That he admits that four of the Territorial officers hereinbefore mentioned met at the Capitol in Honolulu on May 1st, 1903, as set forth in Paragraph V. of said Alternative Writ, and that they purported to organize a Board of Public Institutions, but denies that such Board was a legally organized Board for the reason that the action of the said officers was void and a nullity in that the law purporting to create such Board was null and void and contrary and repugnant to the 'Act to provide a government for the Territory of Hawaii,' hereinbefore mentioned.

"That he admits that the facts as represented in Paragraph V. of said Alternative Writ are true, but alleges that the meeting herein referred to was and is a nullity and of no force and effect whatsoever for the reasons hereinbefore set forth, and that all acts and things done and transacted at said meeting and especially the moving, seconding and carrying of the motion referred to in Paragraph VII. of said Alter-

TRANSITION PERIOD WAS ALL RIGHT

NATIONAL SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS THE SUPREME COURT OF HAWAII IN THE CASE OF OSAKI MANKI-CHI—HOW THE JUSTICES AT WASHINGTON ARE SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN DIVIDED.

For the Territory—Justices Brown, White, McKenna, Day and Holmes.

For Osaki Mankichi—Chief Justice Fuller, Justices Brewer, Harlan and Peckham.

The above is probably the division of the United States Supreme Court, as calculated by attorneys who are familiar with the views of the justices, in the appeal of the Osaki Mankichi. According to a brief cable received from Washington the court, unless it decided the case on jurisdictional grounds, has sustained the majority of the Supreme Court of Hawaii—Chief Justice Frear and Associate Perry—in a line of decisions that have been in constant contest since 1899. In the libel case of Volcano Marshall and later in all the so-called transition period cases. Frear and Perry have stood firm on the proposition that the constitution of the United States did not follow the flag to Hawaii and was not extended to the islands by the Newlands resolution, in toto, but was only made applicable when expressly extended by the Organic Act. In the Republic vs. Edwards, decided on the same day as the Volcano Marshall case, the Supreme Court of Hawaii, with Frear not sitting, rendered a decision the other way and Edwards went free, while Marshall went to jail. It now appears that both should have gone to jail.

For one of the murderers whose case was involved, the decision means practically life imprisonment. This is George Wade, whose application for writs of habeas corpus and releases under them were pushed to the point where the Territory was forced to bring a new charge against him, in order to hold him. He was serving twenty years for the murder of Vincent, steward of the steamer Australia. As a means of holding him, he was placed on trial last year for shooting Detective Harry Evans when the latter went to arrest him. He got ten years more, and now it may be that both convictions and sentences are good.

The alignment of the nine Supreme justices is taken from the positions of the old members of the court in Downes vs. Bidwell, the most noted of the insular cases. Fuller, Harlan, Peckham and Brewer dissented in that case and are thought to have done so in Osaki Mankichi, while the two new members of the court, Justices Holmes and Day, have gone with the other three, in such event.

"The decision," said Chief Justice Frear, "is probably in line with the administration's views and policy pursued so far. If the court had gone the other way, it would have made the government of the Philippines and other new possessions a very difficult matter. As it is, assuming that the court went into the matter and did not refuse to take jurisdiction matters may go on as they are. It means that Congress may legislate for territories and new acquisitions according to what it may deem good policy, without being bound down to strict compliance with the constitution."

About a dozen local cases depended on the Osaki Mankichi case, while a number more would have been brought, to secure the release of prisoners convicted before the Organic Act went into effect, if the Territory had been overruled. As it is all the appeals will be stricken from the calendar at the next term of the Circuit Court, and the sentences imposed will have to be served. Trials in Hawaii without grand jury indictments and convictions by majority verdicts, before June 14, 1900, are held to have been legal.

The legal contest over Osaki Mankichi and others was a very bitter one here. The cases first came before Judge Gear, who granted writs of habeas corpus. Attorney General Dole decided to appeal and with Deputy J. W. Cathcart, conducted a constant fight against successive writs of habeas corpus, arresting the defendants as soon as they were discharged. In one case High Sheriff Brown was given nominal punishment for contempt, for arresting a defendant within sight of the court. The matter finally came before Estee, who decided the same as Gear.

The decision at Washington is of importance to Hawaii in that it saves a lot of retrials of cases, but it is believed to be of far more importance to the Philippines and to the nation at large, as defining the power of the administration in government of new territory.

Gentlemen: We thank you very kindly for your prompt attention in sending one of your men to open our safe this morning. We also wish to congratulate you upon the quality of your burglar-proof safe, as the burglars who entered our place must have worked all night and could not open the doors, and left without accomplishing their purposes. When the detectives arrived this morning to inspect the work, they claimed it was done by professional crackmen and told us that if it had been a safe of any other make the burglars would have got in by the way they worked on our safe. We thought we would write you this good news as we consider ourselves fortunate. We will send the door to your factory this afternoon and kindly see that it is repaired and returned to us as speedily as possible. We remain,

Yours respectfully,

MILES FAVORED TO LEAD FORLORN HOPE*DEMOCRATS CONSIDER THE ADVISABILITY OF NOMINATING GENERAL FOR THE PRESIDENCY

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The idea that General Miles is the most available man for the Democratic Presidential nomination next year is taking a firm hold of many of the more conservative men in both factions of that party in the East. These men are realizing that no candidate who is hostile to either faction can hope to make a creditable showing in the campaign, to say nothing of his chances for election. They say it would be suicidal to nominate anybody bearing the Bryan or Cleveland brand. Not only would he be defeated, but that defeat would be so overwhelming as to demoralize the party.

Obviously, they argue, some man who is not identified with either faction and yet who stands well with both should be nominated and such a man is General Miles. The Miles boom probably will not assume any special significance until after his retirement in July, but after that it is the plan of some of the prominent Eastern Democrats to try to present his claims in a way to command serious attention. Miles himself it is well known, would gladly accept the nomination. He is not in sympathy with the present administration and has done what he could to annoy it for some time past. His Philippine policy suits the Democratic party exactly and as the last of the great fighters produced by the Civil War he would be expected to have strong drawing qualities. Miles only, of all men mentioned, is without entangling alliances and can bring the Democratic factions together on common ground, insuring a vigorous campaign. At least that is what conservative leaders are beginning to think.

MCCORRISTON-HUDSON.

A very pretty wedding yesterday afternoon in Makiki.

There was a very pretty wedding yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Jane McCorrison, Makiki. It was that of Miss Frances Della McCorrison, daughter of Mrs. Jane McCorrison, to Charles Woodbury Hudson. The house was prettily decorated in pink under the supervision of Miss Stella Love, a cousin of the bride. The bride was attended by her sister Miss Bella McCorrison as bridesmaid. Thomas O'Brien was the best man.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Libert, Pro-Vicar and Bishop-elect for the Hawaiian Islands. A large number of very handsome presents were sent to the young couple, who, after the ceremony and amid showers of rice left for Waialua where they will remain for several days. They will make their home in Makiki. The bride is a young lady who was born in the islands and has a large circle of friends. The groom holds a responsible position with the Hawaiian Electric company.

DISMISSED FROM OFFICE.

Associated Press, Morning Service. VICTORIA, June 1.—Premier Prior has been dismissed from his office owing ing to the bridge-contract scandal. Richard McBride has formed a new ministry.

Premier Prior's cabinet has been in trouble for some time over bridge contracts that were let to political bosses and the land grants made to the Canadian Pacific Railway. The opposition charged that these contracts and grants were made by the whole cabinet and the latter claimed that only the commissioner of Lands was responsible for the trouble and that he acted without consulting the cabinet.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

The Mankichi case has been decided by the Supreme Court of the United States in favor of the Territorial Supreme Court and the Territorial government. It was not the case itself which was so important, but it was the principle which had so serious a bearing upon so many cases which had been tried and in which various criminals had been convicted.

The cases were known as the "transition" cases. It looked at the time as if all criminals tried between the annexation resolution and the organization of the Territorial government, were going to escape justice. The view taken by the Circuit Court was that these persons had never been legally convicted and therefore should be retried or set free. There was quite a clash between the courts and the executive officers of justice. The lawyers of the Territory were divided in their opinion, and in fact every one was arguing either one way or the other.

Mankichi's case was finally put in such shape that it could go before the United States Supreme Court with the result that the contention of the Territorial authorities is sustained and that those criminals found guilty during the transition period, will have to serve out their sentences. That there is much to be said pro and con is shown by the division in the court. Five judges were in favor of the decision and four were against it.

STRIKES.

It is almost impossible to write clearly of strikes. In these islands we have been very fortunate from the fact that we have not had to deal with the matter, but where it touches the whole body politic as it does in the United States, in England, in France, in Germany and in Holland, it is one of the most serious of problems that can be put before administrators of public affairs. The man who can put an end to a strike is one of the heroes of mankind. The military hero overthrows, the civic hero, who can get the ear of the worker builds up and does inestimable good to his state.

The subject of strikes comes forcibly before us. A telegram from the mainland says that ninety thousand textile workers in the city of Philadelphia were idle yesterday. It is a far more serious condition of affairs than the floods of Kansas. These people are not under any acute depression and yet they deliberately say they will not work. It is the privilege, truly, of any man to refuse to work. If he prefers to starve, theoretically the state allows him to starve. But unfortunately a man may refuse to work and also may refuse to starve, which may be illogical but which is really a fact. The state comes in and, if it can, it jails the non-working theorist. Then the state produces the tramp, who is the curse of the United States.

The history of strikes might be interesting, but the result of strikes are more interesting still. Take them by and large from the earliest date of strikes—somewhere in the early thirties—and there never has been one which has not advantaged again the very hand struck against. The beginning of strikes seems to be actuated by noble purposes, but on each side there are always ignoble ideas, and base purposes.

The month of May closed with the most industrially disturbed condition of the labor market both in the East and on the West coast, which has displayed itself for some time. The strength of its display shows that the line of argument to be taken, is stronger than mere words. There is assuredly action going to be taken by men who are idle in their thousands.

In the first week of May 100,000 men struck, as against 50,000 in the last week of April, and Bradstreets shows that in all, forty per cent of the strikers reported since January first came in the first fortnight of May. Of course weather conditions have something to do with this. There are not so many strikes in winter as there are in summer.

The leading cause of this unsettlement of labor has come from the desire of increased wages. It is a serious step to take and sometimes a disastrous one. Calculated out in dollars and cents it is very problematical whether any strike with the object of increasing wages has ever paid. In New Zealand, where the laboring man has practically all political power in his hands, the question of strikes has been considered, and a regular system of arbitration has been by law established. To strike in New Zealand would be a punishable offence. But wages are constantly being adjusted and readjusted in that community.

Besides striking for higher wages which may be regarded as justifiable, though it may be paying too much for one's candle, there have been purely union strikes which seem utterly unjustifiable. Thus for instance, there was a strike of two unions of carpenters, one against the other, the purpose of the strike being the extermination of one or the other union. The amount of suffering entailed in such a struggle seems both unjustifiable and unnecessary. On the other hand there was just as unjustifiable lockout by building material men who locked out the teamsters, the employers giving as a reason the effort of the combined unions to put it in their power to tie up building industry.

Looking over the mainland, and considering labor conditions, one is inevitably brought to the consideration of the evils of strikes. There is ample work to be obtained, but from one cause or another large masses of men remain idle. Idle men mean empty cupboards. Moreover the habit of idleness grows, and other habits, the concomitants of idleness also grow. Thus strikes leave an indelible scar upon the industrious community which it takes a long time to eradicate. There should be a better method of settling industrial disputes than the strike. It is too costly to the worker, and too unsatisfactory in its results.

It is somewhat a grim joke which came over the wires yesterday. "Situation in Topeka improving. Twenty bodies found." Did the finding of twenty bodies show an improving condition?

The House was in an economical mood yesterday, and cut salaries with a merciless hand.

The passage of the emergency bill, which was delayed for so long, has put a good deal of money into circulation. Several of the Departments have been running on credit, and merchants in town have been waiting for their money. When the unpaid bills act is passed, there will again be a distribution of funds which will ease up the situation considerably. The paying out of the million of dollars in fire claims must also have its effect. There is no doubt that the financial situation was seriously strained, but the strain is not so great now as it was two or three months ago. Granted, as many people maintain, that much of the money for fire claims goes into the hands of the banks, and of capitalists who have made advances upon the warrants, that money will not remain idle in the bank vaults, but will be out seeking investment, and many small schemes which have languished because no money was to be borrowed, will now

District Attorney Breckons would like to be home just now. Cheyenne would have one more ardent supporter of Roosevelt to shout hurrah! as the President goes about among the boys.

Rios is now a rebel leader, some short time ago he was a ladrone. As he has been tried for eighteen murders and will assuredly be hanged, it must make very little difference to him under which title he is strung up. One does wish, however, that the Philippine correspondents would inform the public as to the difference between a rebel and a ladrone. Perhaps he is a rebel when he is hanged and a ladrone when he is free.

An eight-hour day has caused a cut in wages in Arizona. This is a very practical way of showing objection to short hours. It has been tried in several parts of the mainland.

Disease has followed the floods in Kansas, and these various afflictions will carry off far more people than ever the waters hurried into eternity. Insufficient food, overcrowding in a small space, and the rotting carcasses of domestic animals which line the shores will all add their quota towards bringing about a great deal of sickness.

The dengue fever has affected nearly every branch of the public service and has practically tied up several of the private houses and firms. Dengue in prison, attacking both guards and prisoners has been the latest form in which this slight but annoying disease has displayed itself. The worst of it is that one attack of dengue does not give immunity, but it comes again, and again.

Were it not for the great care taken by the Marine Hospital corps we might be alarmed lest some contagious disease should come to us from the Orient. Besides the care displayed by the medical officials of the federal government, there is another cause of safety. No steamer dare give a false report or suppress any information of a suspicious nature. When this was a weak independent government such things might be done, and indeed were done, but now that we are a part of the United States matters are very different. Suppressed facts undoubtedly laid upon us the burden of the cholera epidemic, which came to us from a through steamer, and years ago the tramp steamers brought us small-pox in the same way. However we may rest easy now, our port is well guarded.

A let up among the Chinese interested in the Chinese fund has come. There will probably be quite a little sum which will never be called for, just as there was something over from the savings bank funds.

The question of keeping up the lighthouses has always been a disputed one since we became a Territory. They ought to be supported and kept in order by the Federal Government. But the Federal Government cannot

One of the most beautiful sights ever seen in California was observed at Corona this month, when a vast cloud of butterflies passed over the place. They flew about five feet from the earth and the mass was half a mile wide and several miles long. Its It.

When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for us to gracefully place our feet on the elastic neck of the "fake," we, as loyal followers of upright conduct, do so enveloped in a large smile of satisfaction. Not with the evil idea of suppressing the "fake" article for if it is allowed to exist it not only suffers by comparison with the real thing but also enhances the value of the genuine. Now, for instance, place side by side the real and the "fake." Take any two articles of known value. As an example any closet in the world and the Douglas Patent Closet. Comparison? There is one but oh my! Bath handles the Douglas.

TAX COURT
APPELLANTS WIN

SUPREME COURT DECIDES CASES OF BREWER AND COMPANY AND CASTLE AND COOKE.

The Supreme Court yesterday decided the tax appeal cases of C. Brewer & Company and Castle & Cooke, in both cases sustaining the firms in their appeals from the valuations of property made by the Tax Appeal court. Justice Galbraith dissents in both cases. The decisions, written by Justice Perry contain some important rulings on questions of taxation. The law as stated in the syllabus is as follows:

"Enterprise," as used in the third paragraph of Section 320, C. L., means 'the combined property which forms the basis of an enterprise.' Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co. vs. Shaw, 10 Haw. 624, followed.

"Under the term 'combined property' as used in that section no property is made taxable which is not included within the definitions of the terms 'real property' and 'personal property' set forth in Sections 318 and 319.

"The stocks and bonds of private corporations are not taxable under existing laws of this Territory.

"Sugar plantation agency contracts are 'contracts' within the meaning of that word as used in Section 319, and taxable, but neither promissory notes nor accounts receivable are such 'contracts' nor are they taxable.

"Where by reason of the skill, experience and integrity of the officers and servants of a corporation, its good will and the unity of ownership and the unity of use of its various items of property, the value of the tangible property of such corporation is increased, such increase of value is nevertheless the value of such tangible property and the latter is taxable under our statute at such increased value.

"When the combined property forming the basis of an enterprise for profit consists in part of taxable and in part of non-taxable property and by reason of unity of ownership and unity of use and other intangible elements the aggregate value of all of such combined property is increased, such increment of value in so far as it is due to the non-taxable property is not taxable; and when the increment of value of the taxable property is due wholly to its unity of ownership and use with the non-taxable and not to the unity of ownership and use of its own parts—when, in other words, the taxable property, considered independently of the non-taxable, is of no greater value when combined use as an enterprise for profit than the total of its separate parts—such increment is not taxable.

"In ascertaining the aggregate value of all the property owned by a corporation the amount of the debts, if any, of the corporation should be added to the selling price of the shares of its capital stock.

Brewer and company's return was at $107,038.15, while the assessor made the valuation $1,121,137, taxing the "business enterprise," or good will, of the corporation as an asset. The tax appeal court approved the assessor's method of making valuation, but reached different figures, making the total $629,717. In the case of Castle & Cooke similar points are decided, with the additional point that goods purchased without the territory, and not within the Territory at the date of assessment, are not taxable under the laws of the Territory.

Justice Galbraith, in an opinion in which a number of mainland cases are quoted, declares in favor of the assessor's and tax appeal court's method of assessment.

DWARFED TREES OF JAPAN.

The Method Used Was For a Long Time a Mystery.

The Japanese are a mysterious people, and do many interesting and beautiful things with their hands, and one of their most interesting arts is the dwarfing of trees and plants. The method of doing this was a secret for centuries, but it is now known that it is done by a skillful and long course of pruning and regulation. Albert Maumene has written on the subject, and the Revere Scientific speaks of his work and says that it is well known that the art of dwarfing the largest trees is part of the education of the Japanese upper classes—that it has its schools and celebrities. Young persons of fortune devote to it the time that our young women give to the piano, which shows a comprehension of the things of the artistic life quite different from ours. For the Japanese, in fact, the garden is the outside parlor; the parlor, the inside garden.

The skill of their gardeners consists not in making beautiful flowers simply grow and flourish. Their ambition is greater: trees grown in pots should recall by their appearance those that grow on the mountainsides, on the edges of ravines, and, while remaining small, their majestic forms and original outlines must be preserved. The cultivation of these trees is a work both of time and patience. This dwarfing, or, to speak more exactly, this atrophy of plants is the result of physiological causes which are themselves the consequence either of the processes of culture employed or of the environment of the plants. We must take account of these two influences at once in the formation of the illipitum trees of Japan, for the Japanese climate plays a preponderant part in predisposing vegetation to remain dwarfed. Great altitude, dry heat, persistent cold, insufficiency of nourishment, cramping of the roots, lack of food in the youth of the plants, winds that bend or break the stem—these are some of the elements that determine the arrest of development of the plants that every one has observed in excursions to the mountains, among the rocks of the coast and in arid places in general. "A conifer whose top is cut off," remarks M. Vallot, "is arrested for a time; if this operation is performed anew every time the tree begins to recover the time of arrest will become longer and longer, and the tree will remain knotty, deformed and dwarfed."

All the cultural operations, whether on the subject or on its nourishment—such as continued trimming, twisting and turning of the branches, transplanting to small pots, cutting away roots, that can paralyze the vital functions, obstruct the circulation of the sap or lessen nutrition, will provoke a stoppage of growth, showing their effects in a very noticeable reduction in height and sometimes in deformation of the plant, and thus prepare it for dwarfing. This would be merely a matter of time and perseverance, if the Japanese did not also use esthetic feeling and a certain art in the making of their pygmy trees. The same subjects, though less dwarfed in their branches, may be met at each step on mountainsides, in the fissures of rocks and in all situations where plants struggle for existence against the elements. The processes employed by the Japanese are thus not so unnatural as some have affirmed.

The conifers are the plants that are chosen preferably for the formation of these pygmies; besides these, the oak, the plum, the bamboo and the cherry trees are species that take kindly to dwarfing.

POLICEMEN SENT TO JAIL.

S. Kapano and J. Kipihua the police officers who were accused of having stolen a quantity of eggs from Camarino's old place on King street Sunday morning and enjoying a feast with them, were before Judge Dickey this morning to answer to charges of larceny. Kipihua pleaded guilty and received 2 weeks in jail while Kapano fought the case, was found guilty and given four weeks in jail.

FEW GOING ON KOREA.

There was a big list of passengers booked to depart on the S. S. Korea for San Francisco, today but the vessel arrived with room for very few passengers. Many of those at the head of the list who would have been given preference in the matter of booking, dropped out however owing to the vessel having had a case of small-pox aboard. The list of outgoing passengers or the vessel will not be made up until this afternoon.

HIS OPINION.

HOW THOMAS' JEFFERSON LOOMS.

(Charles J. Noyes, Republican, former Speaker of the Massachusetts House, in the Boston Herald.)

Many marvel at the cordial unanimity and enthusiasm with which those of widely differing political bias honor Thomas Jefferson. I do not. To me there is nothing strange in the regard paid to that noble and Catholic soul, Jefferson, who thought, wrote, spoke and lived for humanity. He was loyal to conscience and truth as he saw it; his service was given to all time and not to his age alone, to every spot where was pressed the foot of man, not for his own land only; his words find responsive echo today in the hut of poverty, in the field of toil, in factory and workshop, as well as in palace of millionaire and home of leisure. The child of necessity and want and the favorite of fortune alike read his words with grateful recognition of their universal application—feel that he was in touch with every kind and condition of men.

His view was not wall in by sectional lines or party distinctions. He recognized neither the limitations of class or creed, nor those of personal ambition or selfish policy. Had he been more orthodox to some of the narrow and bigoted opinions of his own time, he had been accorded a larger place among his contemporaries. But out of these environments, in the clearer atmosphere and on the broader plain of our enlarged landscape, he towers among the rest, as above a row of circling hills some lofty mountain peak lifts its radiant, snow-covered, sun-kissed summit to be forever the eagle's favorite haunt and the last resting place of the day's parting glory.

What a salutary example and inspiring lesson he is to the timid time-servers and shifty politicians of our day!

He will hold his place among the world's immortals as the author and finisher of that great charter of human rights and foremost architect among the builders of free institutions, when those who now speak and act in hollow mockery of his example, and selfish servility to his glory, are but forgotten dust. His is a safe name for these to juggle with for popular favor; but his loyalty to conscience and his sublime courage to resist popularity when it demanded sacrifice of manly independence are and will remain to them unknown virtues.

Well may such men as Senator Hoar praise Thomas Jefferson; it is a giant measuring a giant; a patriot doing worthy honor to a patriot. It is the political hero of one age paying tribute to that of another. Smaller minds may wrap themselves in the mantle of Jefferson; it will but serve to hide them.

EVOLUTION OF THE AMERICAN RIFLE.

The new United States army rifle is a remarkable evolution in small arms since the old Springfield single-loader had its day. Practically 12 years covers the period of this development, although the experience of the Spanish and Philippine wars has naturally made the progress more rapid since 1898 than before that time. When the Krag was made the basis of the army magazine rifle, there was more or less criticism, but it was poorly conceived. The ordnance department has never regarded any model as necessarily a finality, but has ever been bent on improvements. Consequently modifications have been numerous and steady, and there is no reason why, with this constant application of experience and inventive genius, the United States service magazine rifle should not be equal to any in the world.—Springfield Republican.

THE LATE RABBI GOTTHEIL.

From the New York Times.

Dr. Gottheil did not pose as a teacher of novel or extreme ideas, but was content to be the guide and friend of the congregation which he served and to instill in the members love and veneration for the faith in which they were born. He belonged to the old school, to the class of which Wise, Einhorn, Lilienthal and Marzbacher were shining lights. Like them he strove to make Judaism attractive to the rising generation by eliminating Orientalisms and useless ceremonies from the ritual, and, like these men, he knew where reform ended and where destruction began, and he never overstepped the line.

In the days when some people thought that the "new movement" would jeopardize the life of the congregation and cripple American Judaism, when it was feared by timid Jews that the extremists would conquer and that agnosticism would supplant reformed Judaism, Dr. Gottheil showed no fear. His faith was firm, and his friends, Lewis May, Jesse Seligman, Lazarus Rosenfeld, Moses Schloss and other leaders of the congregation at that time, saw the congregation grow in strength under the guidance of the gifted rabbi. His work in those days attracted attention outside of the Jewish community and earned for the rabbi of the Temple Emanu-El a high place among the learned men of the metropolis.

Notwithstanding his prominence in the ranks of reformed Judaism, Dr. Gottheil was a sincere Zionist. He was heartily in sympathy with the movement, and believed firmly that its success would be of inestimable benefit to the Jews of the world. This conviction on his part made him a unique figure in American Judaism—on one hand the pastor of the foremost reformed congregation, by which hundreds of similar institutions shape their course, and on the other affiliated with the ultraorthodox, who regard the services in a modern temple as sacrilegious and the abrogation of old-time customs as destructive of the faith. Both classes will unite in mourning over his loss, convinced that he was sincere and that the world has lost a useful citizen by the death of Gustav Gottheil.

A FOOLISH OLD IDEA.

It was once thought that a "medicine" was all the more beneficial for having a nasty taste and smell. We now know that such an idea is perfect nonsense. There is no more reason why medicine should offend the senses than why food should do so. Therefore, one of the greatest chemical victories of the past few years is what we may call the redemption of cod liver oil. Everybody knows what a vile taste and smell this drug has in its natural state. No wonder most people declare they would rather suffer from disease than take cod liver oil, and the emulsions are quite as foul and abominable as the plain oil, no matter what may be alleged to the contrary. Now it is one of nature's laws that a medicine which disgusts the nose and the palate, and also sickens the stomach, can have no good effect as a medicine, because the system cries out to be delivered from it. In WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION the desired miracle is wrought, and we have the valuable part of the oil, without the other. This effective modern remedy is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, extracted by us from fresh cod livers, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. The palate accepts it as it does sugar, confectionary or cream. Taken before meals it goes to the very secret stronghold of digestive disorders: prevents and cures Nervous Dyspepsia, Scrofula, Throat and Lung Troubles and all diseases due to impurity of the blood. Dr. G. C. Shannon, of Canada, says: "I shall continue its use with, I am sure, great advantage to my patients and satisfaction to myself." Has all the virtues of cod liver oil; none of its faults. Effective from the first dose. Sold by all chemists.

GREATER THAN CAESAR.

A prominent official of the United States Steel corporation being asked about an alleged conference between himself, J. P. Morgan and the structural iron workers relative to the strike of 5000 employees of a certain bridge company, was moved to ask the very pertinent question, "What has Mr. Morgan got to do with it?"

The reply was that Mr. Morgan is financial sponsor of various bridge companies of various cities that have vast amounts of securities which are "placed" with the public. Of course, any disturbance in the steel trade might affect the value of these securities by injuring trade. Therefore they must consult with Mr. Morgan before considering the question of justice to their workmen.

It is often declared by those who half-way apologize for despotism that a benevolent despot is the most perfect monarch. It is only the bad one that is to be detested. Mr. Morgan has become a sort of royal supervisor of great corporations and they allow him to take their business relations with their employees out of their hands because of the "undigested securities" involved.

Mr. Morgan has thus become greater than Caesar, a sort of duke of Alva. Men are but his instruments. The question of whether the workmen receive justice and are enabled to give their children sufficient bread is all subservient to the matter of securities.

Why should such a man care for Congress and politics? He has the upper hold on the people without them, and the corporations are but his slaves. How long shall this man rule over us in a Republic?—Boston Globe.

LOST A PATIENT.

Dr. Whitney of Spokane, Wash., had a pleasant experience last month. A young German named Max Kraft went to his office to consult with him, and while waiting for the doctor to dispose of another patient, he hanged himself to the doctor's door knob.

BANANAS SCARCE.

Owing to the extreme scarcity of bananas the United Fruit company has decided to alternate their Jamaican service with Port Limon, Costa Rica, their steamers thus leaving Jamaica and Port Limon every fortnight. This arrangement will be only a temporary one. The scarcity of bananas is due to the largely increased demand and the drought, which, however, is now breaking.

All Run Down

When your vitality is low, you are miserable all the time. Your nerves are weak and your appetite is poor.
You have no ambition, and you are languid and depressed all the time.

What you need is a good strong tonic, as described by Mrs. H. Austin, of Wellington, New Zealand. She sends her photograph and says:
"I was so weak and tired all the time that I could not sleep at night. Or, if I did sleep, I was as tired in the morning as when I went to bed. I was all run down. I then tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla. After taking two bottles I found myself greatly improved, and soon I was completely restored to health. I think it is a great family medicine."

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

There are many imitation "Sarsaparillas."
Be sure you get Ayer's.

You will improve faster by using Ayer's Pills with the Sarsaparilla. Take just enough each night to have one good, free movement of the bowels the day following.

HARD TIMES FOR ANDREWS

HOUSE ENDS LONG DISCUSSION
BY MAKING HEAVY CUT IN HIS SALARY.

The House yesterday afternoon resumed consideration of the six months' salaries bill. The Attorney General had harder luck than in the morning, for the dispute over his salary ended in his being passed at $1,800 instead of $2,250.
There was a mix-up over it, however,
and no one supposed that the decision was permanent.

During the discussion Paele moved to place the salary at $1,500. A motion to make it $2,000 was voted down, also a motion to insert the item at $2,250 as in the bill. Then after a lot of discussion over parliamentary rules Kumalai's suggestion of $1,800 was approved.
The House adjourned after passing a number of police items.

FIND A CURE FOR LOCKJAW

UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRO-FESSORS CLAIM TO HAVE EF-FECTIVE REMEDY.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Dr. Samuel A.
Matthews has discovered a cure for lockjaw. This was the announcement made today at the University of Chicago, where successful experiments with the new remedy have been completed. The medicine is a compound of calcium chloride, sodium chloride, sodium sulphate and sodium citrate and is applied through copious hypodermic injections. It also is said to be a cure for uraemia and morphine poisoning and for locomotor ataxia in its early stages, although it has not been found altogether effective where the disease is advanced.

The discovery is the result of the practical application of the theories advanced by Professor Jacques Leo and Albert P. Matthews of the University of Chicago that the action of inorganic salts had an electrical and revitalizing effect on the system. Having prepared his solution of salts, Dr.
Matthews tried its efficacy upon rabbits which had been inoculated with tetanus toxin, which produces lockjaw. In some cases the salts were injected several days after the little animals had been inoculated. It was invariably effective.

Application of the remedy to rabbits which had been given large doses of morphine restored the animals to health. In a recent application of the solution in the case of a man suffering from uraemia the large injection so stimulated the kidneys and nerve action as to throw off the poison and the man's life was saved.

DIED.
GROVES—At Wailuku, Maui, May 29, 1903, Mrs. Louise Groves, a sister of Eugene Duvauchelle.

WRIGHT—At Newcastle-on-Tyne, May 10, 1903, Mrs. Thomas Wright, formerly of Honolulu. She was buried at Stainerop, May 13. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright had a large circle of friends and acquaintances in Honolulu, where they lived many years. He was a blacksmith by trade and conducted a shop on lower Fort street for many years. For a long time they conducted Wright's Villa at Waikiki Beach, now known as Waikiki Inn. During their management of the place it was a popular bathing resort. They lost a son in an outling accident in the mountains, and this saddened Mrs. Wright's life, and no doubt contributed largely to her ill health. Mr. Wright was an almost idolatrous worshipper of Gladstone whose political views were his, and was an enthusiast in the matter of athletic and other out-of-door sports. They left Honolulu for England in the early part of 1899.

NEW LIBRARIAN.
Miss Hillebrand, the new librarian of the Honolulu Library assumed charge yesterday. Miss Burbank retiring to take a vacation which will be spent on the mainland. Miss Hillebrand will introduce the Congressional Library system of card indexing. She was born in Honolulu her mother being a sister of Rev. Dr. Sereno. She is a graduate of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn and has had library experience in New Weuler, Racine.

HARVEY AS A MONOPOLIST

MANAGER OF HARPER PUBLISHING HOUSE RETAINS MOST OF LEADING ENGLISH WRITERS.

LONDON, May 16.—Literary people are interested in the latest American methods in the publishing business. Colonel George Harvey, head of Harper and Brothers, arrived here a month ago and to all appearances he has acquired practically all the literary products of England that an American publisher would consider worth having. At a recent literary dinner, without a single exception, and without the knowledge of any other person present all those present had been retained to write exclusively for the Harper publications.

Harvey has made a contract with Maurice Hewlett and Joseph Conrad that all their future work will be printed in publications managed by him. All that Gilbert Chesterton has done, or will do in the next five years, has been acquired by Harvey, who, pursuing the same methods, has also contracted for all the work of Anthony Hope. Another book of international interest, by E. F. Benson, along with his subsequent writings, has also been gathered in. The same arrangement has also been made with George Gissing. Even Alfred Austin, the poet laureate, has joined the distinguished group, and his new play, which is to be produced next month by Beerbohm Tree, will be published simultaneously by the Harper house.

Other writers whose work has been contracted for by Harvey are: Thomas Hardy, Eleanor Glynn, Mrs. Humphrey Ward, Gilbert Parker, Archibald Colquhoun, Austin Harrison, Hugh Clifford, John Churton Collins, Miss Brad-don, Marie Corelli, F. A. Anstey, Hal Caine, B. L. Farjeon, Frederic Harrison, H. W. Luey, Max Pemberton, Michael Davitt, George R. Sims, W. Pett Ridget and Sydney Brooks.

SHAW ON THE TARIFF.

It is the opinion of Secretary Shaw that the tariff duties protect the trusts from bankruptcy. If the duties were removed there would be ruin. Here is what he said at a banquet of the Kikapoo Club in Peoria:

The democratic demand for a revision of the tariff as a remedy for monopolies is not a new invention nor a recent discovery. I would like to have our democratic friends who are advocating this remedy explain whether they would remove protection temporarily or permanently from monopoly produced goods. Shall the protection of the tariff be removed until the alleged monopoly goes into bankruptcy, and then be restored, or shall it be removed permanently and our industries, one by one, turned over to foreign competitors?

What trusts would be bankrupted by the removal of duties? Would it be the window glass trust, which with a protection ranging from 30 to 100 per cent and more, has more than doubled the price of window glass? Would it be the American steel and wire company, one of the constituent concerns of the United States steel corporation, which, with a protection ranging from half a cent to one cent a pound; has much more than doubled the domestic price of wire nails, while exporting about one-tenth of its product at prices nearly 50 per cent lower than those charged to domestic consumers, and is making profits of some $15,000,000 a year? Would the plate glass trust be ruined by the reduction of its protection, ranging from 50 to 140 per cent, by which it has been enabled to raise prices 150 per cent? Would the makers of wood saws, sewing-machines, typewriters, shovels, wire rope and other concerns who sell to foreign countries at prices from 20 to 50 per cent below the prices paid by domestic consumers be driven into bankruptcy by a reduction of duties?

Secretary Shaw insists that a "wise measure of control" is preferable to "any measure of destruction in dealing with the trusts." A Congress republican in both branches has just spent nearly three months in discussing "wise measures of control." As Mr. Shaw survives the record of legislation during the last session, does it strike him that any of the so-called anti-trust laws enacted are really measures of control? Do they not leave the trusts and combinations practically as free as ever?

It is evident that in going to Iowa for his secretary of the treasury President Roosevelt did not appreciably diminish the public stock of great minds in the boundless West—Springfield Republican.

MRS. POTTER PALMER.

Widow's Charms Attract Attention From Head of Little Kingdom.

NEW YORK, May 24.—A cablegram to the Journal from Paris says: The Prince of Monaco has been paying such marked attention to Mrs. Potter Palmer of Chicago that the report has gained general credence that the engagement of the couple will soon be announced.

The Prince on two occasions recently came to Paris from Monaco for no other reason than to pay his respects to Mrs. Palmer. His highness is continually expatiating on her charms. The Prince of Monaco has been somewhat unfortunate in his matrimonial affairs. His first marriage was annulled, and he was divorced from his second wife only a year ago.

PARIS, May 25.—Mrs. Potter Palmer pronounces the story of her engagement to the Prince of Monaco as absurd.

AS EXCITING AS CROQUET.

Like a leisurely whirlwind—but still like a whirlwind—sweeps from the Middle West a new game of cards, known as "finch." It has already caught in its coils the Methodists of Michigan, and has resistlessly overwhelmed Brooklyn, N. Y., so that "bridge" is as though it had not been. It is played with a prepared deck of 150—why not 156, so as to use up three packs, we know not. In fact, "finch" is still a mystery further eastward than Brooklyn, N. Y.

F. A. Smith, known to his familiar as "Parson" Smith, superintendent of Wilder & Co's lumber yard leaves by the Alameda for a vacation trip to the coast. He has not been away from the islands for twenty-two years. He is 34 years of age, but hale and active. James T. Denman, formerly Superintendent of Schools of San Francisco, and for fifty years connected with the public school system of California, arrived from Manila by the Korea yesterday. He will remain in Honolulu a short time, the guest of Mrs. Philip Weaver, matron of the Lunalilo Home, whose husband was a relative of his.

TO ESTABLISH STEAMER LINE

GENERAL MANAGER OF GLOBE NAVIGATION CO. EN ROUTE TO MANILA.

Among the through passengers on the S. S. Siberia is G. F. Thorndyke, the general manager of the Globe Navigation Company. While in Honolulu yesterday, Mr. Thorndyke conferred with Norman Watkins the local agent of the Globe Company. Mr. Thorndyke authorized Mr. Watkins to continue to maintain the office of the company at this place.

Mr. Thorndyke stated that his company had not by any means abandoned their Honolulu-Seattle line. The company had been considering the advisability of purchasing a steamer especially suited to the Honolulu business. A number of vessels had been inspected by the company's agents but none of the vessels offered had been quite up to the mark. It is not improbable that the company will build a steamer especially equipped for handling the business. The intention is to secure a vessel that is fast and one that is well able to carry about 5,000 tons of cargo. The company also favors the addition of passenger accommodations to their vessel. The exact date when the Globe company would resume the Honolulu business was not stated by Mr. Thorndyke.

He is en route to Manila. He goes for the purpose of looking over the Philippine field with a view to establishing a direct line from the Sound to Manila. Should the line be established, several steamers will be operated by the Globe company. The Manila line would probably be run independent of the Honolulu line. Mr. Thorndyke expects to remain some months in the Orient.

DAUGHTER ASSAILS MOTHER'S HONOR

NAMES HER AS CO-RESPONDENT
IN ACTION FOR DIVORCE—HUSBAND NOW DOING TIME.

An alleged condition of domestic depravity has been placed on record by the filing of a libel for divorce in behalf of Rosa Machida Keola against James Keola, in Judge De Bolt's court.

She alleged that she and the defendant were married by Father Clement in 1893. Two girls were born of this wedding. The woman alleges that on February 23 of the present year she caught her husband in a highly compromising position with her mother, Julia Edwards. The alleged adultery was alleged to have been committed in the Aala block.

Libellants says that as soon as she discovered the relations between her mother and Keola, she refused to further live with him. Mrs. Keola also caused his arrest and in the district court in March, he was sentenced to serve four months imprisonment.

Mrs. Keola claims that ever since his incarceration, Keola has been vowing vengeance on her. In fact he has intimated that he would do her bodily injury after his time was up. She asks that the bonds of matrimony be severed and that he be required to pay suitable alimony for the support of herself and the children.

A FAREWELL PERFORMANCE.

Elleford's Bid Goodbye Tonight.—Attractive Special Program.

The Elleford's make their farewell bow to Honolulu audiences for another year closing their six weeks season this evening with a special farewell bill. The company has proven to be all that was promised for it and is now established as a year attraction. This evening three bills will be presented, a one act domestic comedy entitled the Open Gate, Boucicault's two act Irish comedy of "True Irish Hearts" and the funny sketch of Senator McFee in which Jessie Norton and Elleford take the leading roles. The entire company appears during the evening.

There is little doubt of a crowded house to say goodbye to the company all of whom have become favorites and are now nightly greeted with personal applause as they appear. Elleford promises to bring down a new repertoire and an equally good company next season.

A GAME EXHIBITION.

Manager Cohen Announces Interesting Boxing Event.

A program which promises unusual merit has been arranged for the Saturday night boxing tournament at the Orpheum. The preliminaries, from the youngsters to the heavier men, have all appeared before with the exception of the Hawaiian, Hulul, said to be strong and speedy and many take as much interest in the Harris, Kaminsky and Latham contests as they do in the main event.

There will be four preliminaries, all between game contestants and admirers of the game are sure of plenty of entertainment for their money. The Millett-Mattex contest is creating a great deal of talk, some newcomers having spread news of victories won by Mattex in the Colonies and the mainland that he himself has said nothing about. Both men strip about the same and are close of an age so that there should be a game exhibition. Interest is heightened by the fact of their styles being diametrically opposite.

HOUSE EXPENSE BILL PASSED.
The Senate passed the House expense bill for $13,000 this morning on third reading. An attempt was made to cut the item to $10,000 but it failed. Only Senators Dickey and McCandless voted the final passage of the bill.

THROUGH 86 TUNNELS.

There is a nice little railroad in South America that can beat even the Boston and Albany for comfort and rapid travel. It is 55 miles long, runs between Caracas and Valencia, and in that distance crawls through 86 tunnels.

Sculptor Trentanove's bronze bust of the late Senator Cushman K. Davis has arrived in Washington from Italy. The sculptor is on his way to this country to be present at the unveiling of the work over the grave of Senator Davis in Arlington.

Keep Cool

In hot weather there is nothing so refreshing and delicious as a glass of our soda. Soda to be good must be made right, served right and taste right. There is a vast difference in quality. People walk several blocks to get our soda. There's a reason for it. They are sure of a delicious beverage not a lukewarm, sickish drink. Ours has vim, snap and fizz that makes soda popular.

Our water ices seem to take the popular fancy. We serve a different one every day. These are made from fresh fruit.

We have a large store and large soda counter. Don't feel that you must hurry. Make our store your headquarters when down town. We have plenty of chairs. Use them. Use our telephone, leave your packages here while shopping. Remember, we cordially invite you to do this and are pleased when you make use of our store.
