LETTERS—During the past week of two months thirty persons afflicted with this disease have been brought to Honolulu for examination. They were sent to Malakal on Thursday last.

CHALLENGE—The Challenger got outside the reef, at Wednesday, and sped on shore to the leeward of the entrance to the harbor dredging for specimens and, and adjusting her compass.

BASE BALL—The regular game for the Championship will be played this afternoon on the plains between the "Pacifiers" and "Whangdooles," commencing at half past three. As both clubs seem to be in good practice, a closely contested game may be expected.

NAVY—The U. S. S. Porpoise, Admiral Almy sailed from Malakal Bay (Mauia) on Tuesday last for Hilo, Hawaii. H. D. M. S. Requin, Admiral Oglethorpe, arrived at Kaulakaka Bay on Wednesday last, from Hilo. It was expected that she would visit

ALMOST A FIRE—On Tuesday afternoon last the dwelling of Mr. Herrick on Garden Lane, came near being burned down. A child had been left in the house and, in some way got matches, setting fire to the bed, which quickly spread to the side of the building. Fortunately the fire was extinguished by some natives, who happened to be near at the time, but not until considerable damage had been done.

to the foot streets, which was purchased some time since by the Goto Temples, is rapidly being demolished to give place to a new and substantial building, which will hereafter be known as Goto Temples Hall. The old main building was formerly a notorious retail grog shop, but has lately been occupied as a tenement. The long building adjoining the main building will be a great improvement to that neighborhood.

A FRESH ERUPTION ON MAUNA LOA.—By the arrival last evening of the steamer Kilauea from Hawaii, we learn that shortly after sundown on Wednesday evening last, the summit crater of Mauna Loa was discovered to be in a state of great activity; all that night the reflection on the sky of the immense body of fire that alternately reddened and paled as the lava jets rose and fell, is said to have been magnificent beyond description. In crossing the channel to Maui on Thursday night, the light of the volcano was very plainly to be seen from the deck of the steamer. The summit crater of Mauna Loa can hardly be expected to erdow, but it is quite probable that the great body of lava which is pent up in the mountain will make a vent for itself on the side, as it has done on several previous occasions, and that it will herald a new flow.

—H. B. Mc. Intosh's discovery ship Challenger, which has been in our port a few days, called on the proceeds first to Tahiti, and will, as she sails, continue her deep sea soundings. She will after a short stay in the Society group, sail for Valparaiso, at which port she is expected to remain till the end of November. She will then proceed down the South American coast, through the Straits of Magellan, touch at the Falkland Islands, and subsequently visit the interesting Island of Tristan d'Acunha. This curious spot is mid ocean, first settled by a runaway soldier, named Giese, from the British frigate Leopard, who got a wife at the Cape of Good Hope, and who peopled the island with his children and grand-children to a number nearly one hundred, is now a British coal station, and its present Governor is named Green. The Challenger, after leaving Tristan d'Acunha, will proceed to Amsterdam Island, thence to the Cape de Verde Islands, and thence thence to England, where she is expected to arrive some time about next June.

MA Editor.—Dear Sir:—The subject of the Hawaiians using intoxicating drinks is attracting the attention of the whole community at the present time. I will venture to relate a little accident that happened yesterday in Honolulu, leaving your readers to draw any conclusions they may see fit from the facts. Yesterday afternoon, on passing down Ka-huanui street, I saw a Chinaman head a native two bottles, which he hid under his pea-jacket, and then he turned into a lane, where he put in the same place.
 I followed the two natives, and saw him take a horse and rode off. On the corner of Nuuanu and King streets, I gave them the notice of the police, and they fled. I followed them for some distance, and two of brandy were found under the jacket of the natives. The Chinaman admitted giving the liquor to the men, but added that he gave it to them to get them to work. He was taken to the police-headquarters. Our statute is very explicit. If any person who shall sell or furnish to a native Hawaiian intoxicating liquor shall be fined, &c. Now, if the Chinaman is not guilty of this crime, he is surprising, then I would like to know what it is. The excuse that they were taking it to his house is a very poor one. The Chinese man, who was the Chinaman tried, but the officer declined to have me do so. All those familiar with the Hawaiians in Honolulu know that it is through the class of Chinamen that the natives obtain their food and clothing. The nation. If they can furnish it to them in our public streets, and escape by saying that "I was not doing it" is my house by my mother, I will have no more to say. The natives are the ones who are the streets that are made to protect them. I have seen these wretches, blotted from the Statute book, or let us have them executed so as to punish the law-breakers who have been so long in the land.

I remain, yours truly,
J. PORTER GREEN.

WAILUKU, AUG. 18, 1895.

After a lapse of three years, a re-visit to the exhibition exhibits, on the whole, some material improvement. There is much more planted in cane, and the

MILK STONES IN HIS JOURNEY FROM 1620 TO THE PRESENT YEAR.

1620—Lands on Plymouth Rock and sets up for himself.

1621—Keeps Thanksgiving in no danger of over-eating.

1622—Builds a meeting house.

1623—Proclaims a Fast Day.

1624—Cuts down a May pole at Merry Mount,

as a rebuke to vain recreations.

1625—Is crowded for accommodations, and stakes out a new farm at Connecticut.

1626—Makes war on the Antinomians, and the Pequot Indians, and whips both.

1627—Starts a college.

1628—Sets up a printing press.

1629—Goes into a Confederacy—the first Colonial Congress.

1630—Sets his face against the unchristian

custom of wearing long hair, "a thing unclean

and uncomely."

1631—Is rebuked for "intolerable excess and lavishness of apparel," and is forbidden to wear

gold and silver lace, or other such gewgaws.

1632—Coins pure tree shillings, and makes the business profitable.

1633—Prints a Bible for the Indians.

1634—Buys a "hang up" lock and occasionally carries a silver watch that helps him guess the time of day. About this period learns to use forks

at table—a new fashion.

1635—Is scared by witches again at Salem;

but gets the best of them.

1636—Founds another college, which at last settles down at New Haven.

1637—Prints his first newspaper in Boston.

1638—Constructs another platform; this time

at Saybrook.

1639—Begins to sip tea—very sparingly.

1640—Puts a letter in his first post-office.

1641—Eats a potato, and takes one home to plant in his garden as a curiosity.

1642—Is inoculated for the small-pox—not without remonstrances from his conservative neighbors. Begins to sing by note on Sundays, thereby encountering much opposition, and opening a ten years' quarrel.

1643—Manufactures tinned ware, and starts

the first tin peddler on his travels.

1644—Sees Faneuil Hall built. The cradle of liberty is ready to be rocked.

1645—Builds an organ, but does not permit it to be played in the meeting house.

1646—Buys a bushel of potatoes for winter's use; all his friends wondering what he will do with so many.

1647—Puts up a Franklin stove in the best room, and tries one of the newly invented lightning rods.

1648—About this time begins to wear a collar to his shirt. When he can afford it, takes his wife to meeting in a Chaise, instead of on a pillion,

as heretofore.

1649—Shows his dislike to stamped paper, and joins the "Sons of Liberty."

1650—Tries his hand at Type Founding—not yet successfully—in Connecticut.

1651—Buys a home-made wooden clock.

1652—Waters his tea in Boston harbor, plants liberty trees wherever he finds good soil.

1653—Lights Boston streets with oil lamps; a novelty (though "Noy Lights" have been plenty for some years).

1654—Brother Jonathan—as he begins to be called in the family—declares himself "free and independent."

1655—Buys an "Unbrille" for Sandvay;

and whenever he shows it is laughed at for his efficiency.

1656—Starts a cotton spinning factory.

1657—Has been raising silk worms in Connecti-cute, and now gives his minister (not his wife) a home-made silk gown; buys a carpet for the middle of the parlor floor.

1658—Invents the Cotton Gin, and thereby raises the value of the Southern plantation.

1659—1800—Wears pantaloons occasionally,

but not when in full dress; begins to use plates

on the breakfast and tea table.

1660—Has the boys and girls vaccinated.

1661—Pries to burn a piece of hard coal from Philadelphia. A failure.

1662—Sees a boat go by steam on the Hud-

"But it is spelled with two g's, and any

"Well, I know a darn sight better than that!"

he exclaimed, striking the table with his fist.

"I don't care what you know!" she squeaked.

"I know that there is two g's in a buggy."

"Do you mean to tell me that I've forgotten

how to spell?" he asked.

"It looks that way."

"It does, eh? Well, I want you and all your relations to understand that I know more about spelling than the whole caboodle of you strung

on a wire!"

"And I want you to understand Jonathan

Coffin, that you are an ignorant old blockhead,

when you don't put two g's in the word buggy—

yes you are."

"Don't talk that way to me!" he warned.

"And don't shake your fist at me!" she replied.

"Who's a-shaking his fist?"

"You were!"

"That's a lie—an infernal lie!"

"Don't call me a liar, you old bazaar! I've put up with your meanness for forty years past, but don't call me a liar, and don't lay a hand on me!"

"Do you want a divorce?" he shouted, springing up; "you can go now, this minute!"

"Don't split in my face—don't you dare do it or I'll make a dead man out of you!" she warned.

"I haven't split in your freckled old visage yet,

but I may if you provoke me further!"

"Who's got a freckled face, you old turkey-buzzard?"

"That was a little too much. He made a motion as if he would strike, and she seized him by the necktie. Then he reached out and grabbed her right ear, and tried to lift her off her feet,

but she twisted up on the necktie until his tongue ran out.

"Get go of me, you old fiend!" she screamed.

"Get down on my knees, and beg my pardon,

or I will not!" he replied.

"You argued and argued and struggled and the peaceful ear was struck by the overturning table

and had her back broken, while the clock fell down and the pictures danced around. The
