MANAGERIAL NICKNAMES.

Why Frohman, Hayman, Lederer, Grau, Gilmore and the Rest Are Never Outed by Their Right Names

If you were asked to name widely known theatrical managers of New York you would probably answer "The Frohmans, Al Hayman, George Lederer, Oscar Hammerstein, E. G. Gilmore, Theodore Moss, Mr. Grau, Mr. Savage," and so on.

Were you to ask the same question of a little knot of actors on the shady side of the Rialto they would probably tell you that the best known were "C. F.," "D. F.," "Al," "G. W.," "Old Man," "The Governor," "Noah," "Mrice" and "Pop."

Perhaps you don't know that "Pop" runs English opera at the American Theatre, "Old Man" used to have the Olympia and is at present operating the Victoria, "Noah" owns Wallack's, "The Governor" manages the Academy, "Al" heads the theatrical syndicate and "Mrice" directs grand opera at the Metropolitan.

That goes to show that you only know these high and mighty of the local theatrical world from reading their names on bill-boards or programmes.

The fact is that while these gentlemen are respectfully addressed as Mr. So and So by their employees, they all go by nicknames among their friends in front, or among actors and stage hands behind the scenes, and, without a thought of disrespect, are seldom called by their right titles.

WHY MR. DALY WAS "OLD HATS."

When the late Augustin Daly was in managerial life he was never by any possible chance called by any other name within Daly's than "Governor"—that is, every one in the theatre so addressed him behind his back and to his face. You never heard any one say to him, "Mr. Daly, some one wishes to see you." It was always, "Governor, Mr. Blank has called," or "Governor, shall we ring up?"

The only professional exception to this was on the outside of the theatre, where flippant actors used to refer to him as "Old Hats," on account of Mr. Daly's long familiar neglect of his head-gear. For years he wore one peculiar style of hat long since out of fashion, half Derby, half "soft" hat, and often so old and rusty in appearance that actors used to swear it was the old original "title" in which he entered the profession.

But it was not. Mr. Daly liked the departed style, and when his old-fashioned hat became thoroughly worn he would deliberately order a hatter to make for him another one just like it. Hence "Old Hats."

THE FROHMANS' NICKNAME.

No one about the Empire, Garrick, Madison Square or other theatres run by Charles Frohman speaks of him by name. From the box office in front to the back of the stage it is always "See if C. F. is in his office." And at the Lyceum his brother, manager of the Fourth Avenue house, is always referred to in the same initial style, being known always as "D. F."

Mr. Gilmore, of the Academy of Music, would probably be surprised if he overheard the people about the place call him by name. It's always "Ned, what'll you have?" from his intimates, and "Here comes the Governor" from the employees.

Mr. Hayman, of the Knickerbocker, and other theatres too numerous to mention, is a dignified business man, bank director and what not, as well as theatrical manager, but he is always "Al" to his coterie of friends, and even signs his checks "Al Hayman," and is so mentioned on the house programme.

How Mr. Savage, of the American Theatre and head of the several Castle Square opera companies, came to be called "Pop" no one seems to know, but in the recesses of the box office, in the shadow of the wings or in the dressing room "Pop" it is.

"OLD MAN" HAMMERSTEIN.

If you drop in at the Victoria and ask for Mr. Oscar Hammerstein the man you address will tell some one to "see if the old man is in his office." It is not that Mr. Hammerstein is a patriarch or in the least like unto Methuselah. He got the nickname from having his sons associated with him, and "the old man" was thus distinguished from the other youngsters, for very much of a youngster at heart is Mr. Hammerstein, despite his applied cognomen.

Drop in at the Broadway Theatre, and if you hear some one talking of "Sandy" they are speaking of Mr. Jacob Litt's right bower, Mr. A. W. Dingwall, just as the people across the way at the New York or Casino, who speak of "G. W.," are referring to the London and New York manager, Mr. George W. Lederer.

INITIALING THE MANAGER

In fact, initials seem very popular for some unexplained reason. Mr. Henry B. Sire, of the Bijou, and associated with Mr. Lederer, at the New York, being known as "H. B.," Mr. A. M. Palmer, manager of Mr. Richard Mansfield, as "A. M.," and so on. Mr. Mansfield, by the way, is known, when out of hearing, as "Dick."

Mr. Theodore Moss, the veteran manager of Wallack's, is called "The Governor" by those about him, though he is sometimes spoken of on the Rialto as "Noah," because of the untold number of years that he has been prominent in theatrical direction.

It is said that when the Ark was floated and time began to hang heavily upon the hands of the assembled company, Mr. Moss proposed to get up some amateur theatricals, which greatly enlivened the tedium of the long, wet evenings. Indeed, it is added, that the affair was so successful that he afterwards determined to go into the business, which he did, and has followed it ever since.

This may not be so, but the hale old manager still sits at the door of Wallack's looking as young as he did forty years ago, and giving credence to the story of how he came to have the nickname of "Noah."—New York Herald.

Fred Harrison the proprietor of the Hawaiian Marble Works, is ready to supply his patrons and friends with tomb stones suitable to all tastes, requirements and purses. His office is in the new buildings next to the Occidental on the corner of Alakea and King streets.

WAR IS HELL.

That the "Peace Congress" would accomplish nothing was a foregone conclusion, and if the Czar was in earnest he must feel disappointed in his policy which should have had the support of humanity, but was premature and utterly Utopian. The people of the civilized world will some day decide that peace is preferable to war, and when the people close their pockets and refuse to kill each other, wars will be eradicated from the pages of future history.

Dr. Bilz, the great German statistician, has compiled the following interesting figures for the benefit of "expansionists" and men with "fight" in (the other men's) eyes: The Crimean war cost $1,700,000 and 750,000 lives; the Italian war cost $300,000,000 and 45,000 lives; the American civil war cost $7,400,000,000 and 800,000 lives; the Schleswig-Holstein scrap was paid with $35,000,000 and the loss of 30,000 men; the Austrian Persian war following next cost $33,000,000 and 45,000 lives were lost; the Franco-German war cost altogether $3,500,000,000 and 215,000 men were killed; the Turco-Russian war cost $1,250,000,000 and 600,000 lives.

The figures of Dr. Bilz talk louder than the arguments of any statesman at a peace conference.

Who is to Blame?

During four days a dead horse was lying at Kalihi, near King street, to the nuisance of the neighborhood and passers-by. The stench was extremely offensive, and the sight of the carcass partly chewed up by dogs and pigs abominable. The police were notified but it was none of their business; the owner of the horse could not be found and he very likely wouldn't bother about removing the pest-breeding remains; the Board of Health finally decided to do something, and at noon yesterday the carcass was taken away, after having filled the atmosphere with bacteria, microbes and other ingredients for epidemics and doctors' bills. The taxpayers pay a large amount of money every year for defraying the expenses of the Board of Health and its numerous agents. Some of those having tolerated a "whiff" from that dead horse would like to know whose duty it is to remove dead animals from the public roads.

L. B. Kerr, the Queen street merchant, is about to depart for Europe, and will make a great effort to clear his stock during the next 30 days, and to do this will offer Big Bargains in all departments. The goods are all new and stylish, having been bought of the leading European manufacturers. Those paying this establishment an early visit will profit by it. All are cordially invited.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

River street is now becoming another fashionable resort for denizens similar to those on Pauahi street. It seems a pity that so public a thoroughfare should be permitted to become so desecrated and disgraced. The authorities should take prompt action in the matter. This special class of vice should be hidden and not displayed.

Bishop Ely of the Anglican Church has deeply stirred the wrath of the total abstainers of England by a recent eulogy of beer. "As was the wine of Judea, so is the beer of England: God's gift to make glad the heart of man," says the prelate. In a few years, possibly, the same encomium will be placed on Hawaiian rums, okolehao and light wines and brandies. We have the soil and the climate and soon will have the manufacturers, the disposition and the laws.

The Olsa squatters evidently think that they are dealing with "unsurveyed" lands of the United States instead of the surveyed lands in Hawaii which are being disposed of by the Hawaiian Government as the agents of, and with the express approval of, the authorities of the United States. The bona fide purchasers of the lots to be sold on November 1st will have the protection of both governments and the "Squatters" will have to retire minus their cash and reputation. They should then sue the lawyers who have wrongly advised them.

It is difficult to make many in our community understand the vast difference in character between the Italians of the North and of the South. The latter are as dangerous to a foreign country as they are a nuisance and a source of disturbance to their own, while the former are a totally distinct race with honest, manly and toilsome attributes. In the second generation they, like the Portuguese, will make excellent citizens and materially aid in the development of our fruit industries which, when the Nicaragua canal is completed, will be extremely valuable to this country and to California for export to Northern Europe.

There should be ample "patriotism" enough among those who have risen from financial mediocrity into purse-proud wealth, through the indelible crime of betraying the country, to pay their own expenses for lobbying at Washington to consummate their steal. If Government officials desire to be continued in office let them pay for it as other beneficiaries do on the Mainland—for the good of the party. The people's money should not be used for "commissions" without their consent and the Council of State is not representative of the people but of a self-appointed administration possessing more power than the Monarchy ever had.

There are probably very many who will concur in the remarks of Senator Burrows, who is reported to have said: "It is my judgment that, if the war in the Philippines is still in progress next year, and the end is not then in sight, the situation will be to the disadvantage of the Republican party. The only hope, I might add, is in a speedy change of conditions in the Philippines. Unless the war in the Philippines speedily ends, it will be an important political factor, and its continuance will make the outlook for Republican success uncertain, to say the least." Hawaii has not a vote but the Republicans can contribute to the campaign fund.

We are pleased to see that Professor Richards has adopted the views of THE INDEPENDENT, set forth sometimes ago in regard to the use of the name of Pauahi street. Mr. W. O. Smith answered our remarks by claiming that the name Pauahi street was derived from the fact that it was there the great conflagration in 1896 ended, the words pan ahi meaning the end of fire. To settle the matter without any difficulties we suggest that in the future Richards street be known as Pauahi street and the main fame of the slums be purified and known as Richards street. Who are the owners of the properties on that street anyhow? Has Mr. Richards the courage to tell us?

If our ad interim Government should prove to be honest and determined in their avowed policy of restricting Japanese immigration after the current quarter there is yet some hope for Hawaii, for the planters will be constrained to look elsewhere for laborers and while so doing will have to make better terms both as to accommodation and wages. As lies tracked home invariably turn upon the liars, so we believe the untruthful portion of the statements sent broadcast throughout Europe will rather benefit than retard the Planters' agents when they are officially contradicted. It is but human nature when a liar has been discovered to impute to him the incapacity for telling the truth under any circumstances, and consequently even the facts of occasional cruelty of lunas, the abuses of the docking system and the insufficient domestic arrangements will be disbelieved as forming only another portion of the major lie. The planters have now even a better opportunity than ever before of making fair propositions to a class of laborers who will in time become a peasant or yeoman race of the country and give it stability, no matter whether they come from the Mainland or from the toiling masses of Europe. Stop Asiatic immigration at any rate before the country is ruined politically and socially.

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

Walter: 32 runs, 0 wickets, 11 overs, 1 maiden, 55 balls, average —; Watson:
41 runs, 7 wickets, 18 overs, 3 maidens, 90 balls, average 5.9; Wilson: 17 runs, 2 wickets, 7 4-5 overs, 1 maiden, 39 balls, average 8.5.

"Long stop," although it matters little, drifts into two errors. The scorer has no right to interfere with the umpire's decision. He should report inaccuracies to the captain of the team, who, in turn, can call the umpire's attention to inaccuracies or carelessness. In the matter of the "hat trick," in England most certainly, the hat was formerly awarded, whatever may be the custom now, only to the bowler who took three wickets in three consecutive balls. Such at least was the custom in Country Clubs and Public Schools when the writer was a player twenty-five years ago, for he has won a hat on more than one occasion.

WALLACE JACKSON, Prop.
1282-14

Red Light as a Curative Agent.

Our forefathers believed there was virtue in red light, especially in the treatment of smallpox. Not long ago there was a "blue light" craze, when the pendulum swung to the other extreme. Now we are on the return swing, it appears, says the Literary Digest, a German authority having pronounced in favor of the red end of the spectrum. Of course light of all colors is present in ordinary daylight, so the benefit, if any, must proceed from the exclusion of the rays other than the red.
Says the Lancet:

"In our conscious superiority to our forefathers we have been used to look with contempt on their practice of treating cases of small-pox by means of red light in the form of red blinds, curtains and coverlets, but with our present knowledge of the chemical and physical action of the different rays of the spectrum and the influence of light and darkness on life in its highest and lowest manifestations we may have felt a suspicion that, whatever the theory of the medieval physicians, their practice may have had a scientific basis. In the last number of the Zeitschrift fur Krankenpflege we find that it has been tried, in the treatment with remarkable results, in the treatment of measles. A child eight years of age, having sickened with an attack of measles of more than usual severity, was on the second day brought under the influence of the rays of least refrangibility, the windows being fitted with red blinds and a photographer's lamp with an orange yellow globe being used for artificial light. In three hours the rash had disappeared, the fever had subsided, and the child was playing cheerfully complaining only of want of light. The blinds were consequently removed, when three hours later the medical man was summoned to find that the eruption and fever had returned and the child was weak and prostrate.
The red light having been resumed the rash disappeared in little over two hours, as did the fever, this time permanently. In two more days the cough had ceased and the child was well in every respect. The brother and sister and a fourth patient infected from the first case were treated in the same way and with like success.
In the great epidemic of smallpox in 1871-72 some cases were reported as having been kept in dark rooms with great benefit, especially as regards the pustulation and pitting. Clearly what virtue there may be in this method lies in the exclusion of actinic rays and the substitution of red orange light for total darkness has obvious advantages, as in the case of photographic manipulations."
