Bank Preparing For Two Fine Buildings

Work To Start Soon At Lahaina And Wailuku—Postoffice May Get Home In New Wailuku Building—Both Fireproof Structures

As soon as the plans are prepared, which is being done in Honolulu, the erection of a handsome business building will be commenced by the Bank of Maui, Ltd., at Lahaina to replace the one destroyed in the big fire two weeks ago.

The new structure will be of concrete and absolutely fireproof. Besides providing accommodations for the Lahaina branch of the bank, it will also provide commodious quarters for the Len Wai & Co. general merchandise store, which occupied a portion of the bank's property before the fire, and was one of the heaviest losers in the conflagration.

C. D. Lufkin, manager of the bank, has been in Honolulu all this week making arrangements for the new building, and also for the new bank building which the bank is to build at once in Wailuku. This structure, as already reported, is to be an attractive concrete structure. Before leaving for Honolulu on Monday evening Mr. Lufkin stated that the cement needed for both the Lahaina and the Wailuku buildings had been purchased from the Maui Agricultural Co., and is ready for delivery.

Postoffice May Get Quarters
It is reported that it is possible that the Wailuku bank building may be built with view of providing accommodations also for the Wailuku postoffice, which is looking for a new home. It had been expected that the present bank building would be available for this purpose, but it is understood that some objection to this plan has been raised by the Church of the Good Shepherd, which owns the property.

Dr. Wayson Comes To Investigate Typhoid

Outbreak In Hana District Causes Medical Men Worry Lest It Spread To Central Maui—Wayson Says About 30 Cases

The typhoid outbreak at Kipahulu and the Hana district is causing considerable uneasiness on the part of physicians on central Maui, who fear that it may be carried here and a new epidemic started in this section. A single carrier of the disease, it is stated, might spread the dread malady through any camp community in which he should stop.

The board of health was also uneasy about the matter and Dr. W. T. Wayson, of the board came up last Tuesday by the Mauna Loa and made a personal investigation. He returned to Honolulu the following evening. Dr. Wayson said there had been about 30 cases in the district.

Buick Takes Liberties With McKay's Tin Lizzie

Last Wednesday wasn't one of Judge McKay's lucky days. The bad luck started when his gasoline supply gave out on the road near the Maui Soda Works, and it continued almost immediately when a Buick car said to belong to the Maui Shimbun, came along and butted the Judge's Lizzie clear across the road, incidentally doing various unpleasant and expensive things to the fliver's works.

Luck was not altogether against the Judge, however, for Mrs. McKay had just stepped out of the machine before the crash came.

The Shimbun car had tried to go between the Judge's car and another machine, which the Judge had just flagged in hope of borrowing a little gas, and its driver's judgment had proved bum.

Funeral Of Mrs. Tavares

The remains of Mrs. A. F. Tavares, which were brought home from Southern California this week by her husband who was called there some weeks ago on account of her death, will be interred in the Pookela cemetery, Makawao, a week from next Sunday—January 26. Services will be held at the grave at 3 o'clock, and friends of the family are invited to be present.

Territorial Fair Is Again Taking Shape

S. A. Baldwin To Represent Maui In Place Of Rice—June Fixed As Time Of Big Event—E. H. Paris To Be General Director

(Special to Maui News.)

HONOLULU, Jan. 14—Plans are actively under way for Hawaii's second territorial fair, which the Fair Commission has announced will be held in the same period as last year, June 9 to 14, this permitting the inclusion of Kamehameha Day. Though it is early and preparations are too incomplete to permit definite announcement of the celebration's scope, the members of the Commission express the hope that it may be made even larger than the first.

This means that the Commission has set a high mark, for the first more than lived up to predictions, proving the biggest thing of the kind ever witnessed in the islands.

Many of the difficulties the board had to surmount in its initial effort will not confront it this year. Among them was the choice of a suitable location, a feature that delayed work on grounds for many weeks. It is likely Kapiolani Park will be used again, though this is not absolutely certain. If the same grounds are utilized, possibly most of the same building plans can be adopted.

E. H. Paris, manager of the Schuman Carriage Company, has succeeded George H. Angus as chairman of

Singles Handicap To Start At Puunene Soon

Tennis seems to be growing more popular on Maui. Besides a great deal of informal playing going on constantly on practically all of the courts of central Maui, various tournaments have been played recently and are being arranged for.

The next important event in this line is a big singles handicap tournament on the Puunene Athletic Club courts, entries for which are now open. The list will close next Thursday, January 23. Entries are being received by D. C. Lindsay, William Lougher and Dr. Sawyer.

The H. P. Baldwin cup doubles tournament, which has been on for some weeks, is now ready for the finals which, however, will not be played until sometime in February owing to the absence of one of the players on the mainland.

Baldwin Nix Win
In the semi-finals of the H. P. Baldwin cup tournament, played last Saturday afternoon between John MacLaren and Miss Webb against W. A. Baldwin and Miss Anetta Nix, the last named couple won but only after playing five hard sets.

The match was witnessed by a good sized crowd and created much interest and enthusiasm. The playing of both women players was particularly creditable. The score stood—6-2, 2-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4.

The teams for the finals will be Eddie Eam and Mrs. J. R. Paris and W. A. Baldwin and Miss Nix.

School Boy Struck By Auto Has Lucky Escape

Willie, the 11-year old son of Auto Inspector P. J. Goodness, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury last Monday morning, when he was struck by a car driven by Mrs. W. A. Clark. The boy was caught upon the bumper on the car and carried about 20 feet along the road. At the Malulani Hospital, to which he was hastily taken, it was found that his injuries consisted chiefly of a badly bumped head and various bruises, none of which proved serious, and he was able to be out again the following day.

The accident occurred when the boy stepped from his father's machine, in front of the county clerk's office, on his way to school. He did not see Mrs. Clark's machine which was approaching from the rear and attempted to pass the Goodness' car on the right hand side.

The supervisors have authorized Chairman Kalama to take up the matter of a telephone extension from Uluhalakua to Kanaia, with the telephone company.

Cockett's Politics An Important Matter

Supreme Court Upsets County's Suit Against W. T. Robinson Because Judge Edings Didn't Test Pia's Affiliation At Trial

Because Pia Cockett may have been a republican instead of a democrat in the latter part of 1916, the County of Maui this week finds itself without title to a part of the land used in the opening of Wells street, past the court house. It may have to start the condemnation proceedings all over again, and the question is even raised as to whether or not it can even do this for the reason that the street is already built and a jury of award would be unable to view the property as it existed before the improvement was made.

Supervisor Cockett's political complexion plays this important part in the matter for the reason that the supreme court this week, by a decision rendered, holds that, if it can be shown that he had been converted from the error of Bourbonism prior to the time he sat down with D. C. Lindsay as a jury commissioner and selected from the list of voters of the county the 150 men from whom were subsequently drawn the jurors who sat on the condemnation case in question, then, and in that event, the said jury was invalid, and the aforesaid condemnation verdict not worth the paper it was written on.

The law provides that the two jury commissioners shall be of opposite political parties. Pia Cockett was named for this work by former Judge Edings as a dyed-in-the-wool democrat, but the Judge's color-test was on the bum, for Cockett, to these many months, has been luxuriating in the republican flock, snow-white and un-dyed.

LAHAINA FIRE WORK OF REVENGE NOW BELIEVED

That the fire at Lahaina two weeks ago was not only started by burglars, who broke into the Sing Lung fruit store, stole a number of watches and about $8 in coin, but that the crime was committed by members of the gang of young bandits who robbed the Len Wai Co. store and planned to rob the Lahaina bank, is now the firm belief of Sheriff Clem Crowell, who has been working on the case ever since.

Partial confession has been secured from a number of boys more or less directly implicated, and the circumstantial evidence is all but conclusive against two of the gang.

Indications point to the possibility of the fire having been started as a malicious revenge against the bank officials against whom the hold-up gang had plotted.

Disclosures since the fire indicate that an exceedingly dangerous gang of young desperadoes was broken up when the police arrested the perpetrators of the Len Wai store robbery.

Japanese Hurt When Auto Bumps His Wagon

In trying to pass a wagon ahead of him, and at the same time an automobile approaching from the opposite direction, T. B. Linton, of the Maui Book Store, driving an automobile, bumped the wagon with force sufficient to topple the Japanese driver off his seat and to send him to the hospital for repairs.

The accident happened on Tuesday morning opposite the entrance to the Wailuku Soda & Ice Works. After the collision the horse of the Japanese ran away and Linton's car swung across the road and smashed into the fence and hedge where it came to a stop, somewhat the worse for the encounter. It was still navigable, however, and able to convey the injured wagon man to the hospital where he is still confined suffering from various contusions. His injuries are not expected to be prove very serious.

Linton, who was learning to drive, had not yet secured his driver's license. He was accompanied by Richard Welch, who was coaching him.

The Japanese, who suffered in the collision is named Kato, a vegetable grower living on Vineyard street.

Plan To Hold Civic Convention And Fair

County Fair And Racing Association Annual Meeting On 28th May Settle Matter—Plan To Make Grounds Civic Center Of Maui

Plans for holding the second Maui County Fair next fall together with plans for entertaining the territorial Civic Convention which is to meet on Maui this year, will probably be the main topics of discussion at the annual meeting of the Maui County Fair & Racing Association, to be held on Tuesday, January 28. Notices of the meeting are being sent out to members this week.

There is a strong demand, now that the war is over, for the holding of another fair, next fall, and for making the fair an annual event thereafter. If this is decided upon definitely at the coming meeting, it is probable that plans will also be made for beginning work very soon of filling in the low lands at the Kahului fair grounds, rebuilding fences, and possibly the erection of other buildings which will for a part of the fair ground equipment which is ultimately intended, but which will not be possible all in one year. The idea is to develop the grounds as finances permit, to make them suited as a civic center for all of Maui, in which it will be possible to hold almost any kind of gathering, public reception, etc.

The plans finally contemplate, be-

K. Of P. Members Install Officers And Entertain

Following unusually impressive installation ceremonies at the castle hall of Aloha Lodge, No. 3, Knights of Pythias, last Tuesday evening, the members of the lodge and their ladies enjoyed a most pleasant little supper at the Grand Hotel, followed by several hours of dancing, cards and other social diversions.

The new officers of the local lodge were installed by Deputy Supreme Chancellor W. H. Smith, of Hilo, who came down for the purpose. His handling of the work was very highly praised by members of the lodge who were present at the installation. The new officers of Aloha Lodge are—

J. H. Pratt, chancellor-commander; J. Patterson, vice-chancellor; J. C. Blair, prelate; Alfred Martinson, keeper of records and seal; M. J. Moura, master of finance; P. H. Ross, master of exchequer; H. S. Perry, master of work; R. A. Wadsworth, assistant to master of work; Wilson Montgomery, master at arms; J. A. Hannon, inner guard; L. M. Baldwin, outer guard; trustees, Dr. Wm. Osmer, D. T. Carey, J. T. Fantom, physicians, Dr. Osmer and St. Sure.

Convicts Escape From Hana Jail Are Retaken

Three of the members of the territorial convict gang sent over from Honolulu to work on the Hana wharf road approach, broke jail on Tuesday evening of last week, and were not rounded up until early last Sunday morning when they were cornered in a cave at Ulaino, in the Nahi-ku district and captured. The runaways were a Korean named Choy, and two Hawaiian. They were evidently trying to make their way to central Maui.

The capture is credited to a trusty named Akina, who with a number of other prisoners were assisting the police to locate the runaway men.

WAILUKU TO PAY DIVIDEND OF 1 PER CENT MONTHLY

Wailuku Sugar Co. has announced that it would begin paying dividends on the 25th of this month at the rate of 1 per cent and would continue the same until further notice. Wailuku started out at 1 per cent last year, but discontinued after five months on account of the effects of the drought of the previous year.

California City Schools Good At Cost Of Country

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 31—(By Associated Press)—Greater support from the state for elementary schools in California was urged in the biennial report made public by Edward Hyatt, state superintendent of public instruction. A tendency to shift the financial burden of caring for the schools from state to county and county to district has made California rural schools merely "training schools for the larger centers" with "a constant coming and going of inexperienced teachers," the report said.

"The state apportionment to elementary schools has increased 45.5 percent in the last twelve years," it was pointed out in "generalizations" of Job Wood, Jr., a statistician of department, included in the report, "while the county's support has increased, cost of education has been rapidly shifting from the state to the county and the district. In the larger centers the big cities have been interested in low county tax rates for the reason that county funds are distributed to all districts of the county. Because of this the cities are willing to have a heavy district tax and a lower county rate.

"The district tax will not suffice to meet the demand for trained teachers. In many mountain communities the valuation of property is so low that the tax limit allowed by law for special taxes would not produce $100 a year."

The report states "there is no surer way to build up the city and deplete the country than to have long terms of school with trained teachers in the city and short terms with inexperienced teachers and low salaries in the country."

Pointing out that the state gives out on a "teacher basis" $250 per teacher and apportions the remaining money of the state school fund on the basis of the average daily attendance of the previous year, the report shows that from 1910 to 1918 the rate per pupil on average daily attendance has fallen from $10.16 to $8.23.

"It will be noted," the report continued, "that there has been a great increase in the enrollment in high schools during the past twelve years, the number of schools increased from 179 to 311 and the teachers from 1,189 to 4,811, or 305 percent; enrollment of pupils from 27,578 to 126,915 or 362 percent; the receipts increased from $3,756,655.46 to $13,847,614.44, or 869 percent.

"When the total receipts are divided by the total enrollment of 1907 we have $136.22 per pupil or a falling off on receipts of $31.40 per pupil. This is most excellent, showing as it indicates plainly that the greater the number of pupils the less the cost per individual. The total expenditures for high school has been increased from $2,529,680.79 to $11,432,328.35 a gain of $8,902,647.56. This makes the cost per pupil enrolled in 1918 $73.89 while in 1907 it was $65.01, or a gain of $8.88. The valuation of property has risen from $6,626,200 in 1907 to $29,703,443 in 1918 or a gain of 428 per cent."

Maui Red Cross Ships Clothing To Siberia

Splendid work, and work destined to save lives and to relieve immeasurably human suffering, has and is being done by the women of Maui enrolled under the Red Cross banner. Mrs. F. F. Baldwin, who has general charge of the work on this island, in reporting recent accomplishment, says—

"The Red Cross shipped six cases of finished work for Siberia on Wednesday. The work was all so well done. Maui has kept up her splendid record.

"The suffering for want of clothing is tremendous in Siberia. Not only among adults, but the children suffer more. It is beyond our imagination. Will those having layette work at home please finish it and return to their unit within the next two weeks, as the Red Cross will then be able to ship another case.

"Among the articles shipped this week were—

140 hospital shirts.
87 pillows and pillow cases—this is junior work.
85 pajamas.
168 sweaters—of these 65 were made in Kula.
74 pairs of socks.
19 mufflers.
12 helmets.
13 wristlets.
1 case of complete layettes."

Bertram Aiken Tells Of Trip To France

Maui Boy In U. S. Tank Corps Writes
Interesting Letter Of His Experiences—Had Exciting Experiences
Was In Hospital At Time Of Writing

Hospital No. 7,
Langres, France, Nov. 24, 1918.
My dear Dad:

It's been sometime since I've written you and it probably would have been longer had not the "Xmas letter" episode started but nevertheless I've not forgotten you.

Our camp is at Langres about 80 miles South of Metz and near the city of Dijon. It is really not in Langres but in Bourg which is practically a suburb, Langres is a town of 75,000, and Bourg is about 200. We are billeted in French homes, and their homes consist of stable, barn, chicken house, pig pen and their own rooms all under the same roof. Most the buildings are built entirely of stone and are all the way from 100 to 500 years old and any one of them will probably last another 500.

It is very pleasant here when the weather is dry and sunshine, but a worse mud hole could not be found when it rains. The scenery through the hills and valleys is beautiful and cannot be compared with anything in the states. Their roads are fine being well built and nearly all are lined on either sides with trees.

The railroads have excellent road beds but the French coaches and cars get my goat, also the engines with their shrill, screeching whistles. There are thousands of U. S. engines and box cars here and it looks good to see an American train go by.

In coming over, we were on a British transport belonging to the Orient Line and her name was the H. M. S. "Orontes." She was of about 9000 tons and carried about 2,200 troops. We sailed from 57th street pier at New York City on Sept. 25th. We slept in hammocks and ate at tables below decks. We ran into the roughest seas known for 20 years and had a fierce time of it. We came near hitting the rocks off Ireland and one boat in the convoy did, her name was the "Otoronto."

Did you hear about it? We made port at Liverpool, England on the afternoon of Oct. 7, and laid in the Mersey River all that night, landing the next morning. They marched us to the railroad station and we boarded one of their little trains. I thought we were in for slow riding, when I saw the size of the blooming little engines but we all got surprise for they certainly traveled at a fast rate of speed. Also there are no railroad crossing as the roads either tunnel under or bridge over the rails. England has very beautiful scenery but everything was so small it reminded me of our yards and gardens at home.

We stopped at noon at Derby and the Red Cross fed us. At about 8 P. M. we landed at South Hampton and marched about two miles to a British rest camp situated at South Hampton commons. We were there two days so I had a chance to see the town and it certainly was interesting.

Everything was darkened at nights for fear of aeroplane raids and powerful searchlights kept plying their long shafts of light through the darkness. The tramcars got my goat and reminded me of a New York sight-seeing bus, with their two stories.

The money proposition puzzled a lot of us but it did not take us long to learn the value of the different coins.

We crossed the English Channel of the night of Oct. 10, landing at Cherbourg in the morning. After hiking five miles we came to another British rest camp where we spent ten days, and during the whole time we had miserable wet weather.

The first thing that impressed us in France was the wine shops. Every other house has a wine room and it seemed like the people live on the stuff. After being in Cherbourg a week, they marched us to the railway station and loaded us on box cars. We left in the afternoon and rode for four days and nights before reaching Langres. We were side tracked for hours at a time as the Red Cross trains always have the right of way. Everything here as in England travels on the left hand side and it sure seems funny to us.

On the way across France we had a chance to see something of the town of Le Mans, Tours, Bourges, Nevers and Dejon, and several other large cities. I for one saw more of these cities than the rest as I got left at a small station called Verze and it took me six days of chasing around all the big cities to finally find my outfit. There were two of us and we had a regular time riding the passenger trains and eating on the diners.

Well, after reaching our base training camp we went into intensive training and got ready for the front. They shipped us up along about the end of October and I had a chance to "go over the top" several times. We were in a sector about 20 miles south west of Metz. I had some thrilling experience and narrow shaves.

On the fourth day I was there I took sick with a fever and came back to the camp infirmary and they shoved me right in bed, fed me salts and pills but I seemed to get worse. After about a week of it I broke out with a rash and they proclaimed it measles. They shipped me here by ambulance and I am now at camp hospital No. 7, which is in a small town called Humes, have been treated fine ever since being here and am feeling better every day. I have a good bed in a warm room and the food is the best I've had since leaving the States.

I had to be awfully careful and not get the pneumonia, which so often follows measles and nearly always proves fatal. We are greeted every morning with a heavy frost and the weather is getting colder every day. Well, the armistice has been signed and things are about over. We are all mighty glad for you can't imagine what awful conditions exist in and around "no mans land."

Some of the boys will be going back soon but I hardly expect to see Hoboken again before spring or early summer. I will probably go direct to Cleveland and work there as I have nothing else in view.

I have got so I can speak French a little and get along fairly well with the people, at least I can make them understand, if I want to buy anything. They are very enthusiastic in getting our francs and centimes and

Big Boss Bigelow Pays Surprise Visit To Hana

Superintendent of Public Works
Lyman H. Bigelow paid a surprise visit to Hana this week to see how things would be going on the new wharf at that place when he wasn't expected. The Advertiser tells of Mr. Bigelow's plans as follows:

Unheralded so that he might better learn how work is progressing on the Hana wharf project on the Island of Maui, Lyman H. Bigelow, chairman of the harbor board, yesterday slipped down to Hana on the Claudine. "If I tell them I'm coming," the chairman said, "they get things all shined up in readiness for my arrival. By not informing them of my trip I find how the work is being done when they think the boss is not coming."

Chairman Bigelow will return to Honolulu Thursday. The harbor board meeting scheduled for Wednesday has been postponed and will be held on Thursday.

LA TOUCHE, Alaska, Dec. 30—(By Mail.)—(By Associated Press.)—Excellent quarters have been built about two miles from La Touche for the accommodation of incoming steamer passengers who are quarantined before being allowed to land here. No sign of the influenza epidemic has yet reached La Touche.

HAINES, Alaska, Dec. 30—(By Mail.)—(By Associated Press.)—Twenty-six tons of boronite, copper, ore, the second shipment of the kind from the Rainy Hollow mining district, have at last found their way outside to the Tacoma, Washington, smelter. For weeks the copper ore was held up by government food regulations which gave right of way to shipments of fresh fish.

charge us double what they do their own people. Since being here I've been able to save about seven hundred francs, (about $140 American.)

It's wonderful to see the aeroplanes around. We have quite a few here on patrol duty and you can hear them at all hours. Up at the front they use a lighter model plane and it certainly is wonderful to see a real duel. One of our boys brought a "Jerry" aeroplane down with a 37 M. M. in the tank. Jerry sure blew up an awful lot of our tanks with his "17's" and got some of the boys with their anti-tank rifles—about an 18min.

One thing that most of us are crazy for is sweets. The army gives us jam once in a while and we go at it like animals. One can buy chocolate at the Y. M. C. A., some times but its not like you get in the States. The French have little or no sweets and what you can buy costs a fortune.

Every now and then we see automobiles coming back from the front and its an interesting sight to see how they are camouflaged up. Have you heard anything from Colville Robinson? I've written him twice but never have received an answer.

The boys here seem to think the tank corps will be going home soon, well I hope so for army life is not what it is cracked up to be and there is no place like the good old U. S. A. I am pretty weak and letter writing tires me so I'll close here. Wishing you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

I am, your affectionate son,
BERTRAM S. AIKEN.

Maui Folk's Part In Schofield Society

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. William Engle was hostess for four tables of bridge, complimentary to Mrs. William Cameron of Honolulu. After many interesting rubbers of bridge the guests were served with delicious refreshments. Mrs. James T. M. Pearson held the high bridge score for the afternoon and received dainty silver salt spoons. A box of fancy place cards was given as a guest prize to Mrs. Cameron.

Those who were present at this delightful affair were: Mrs. Harry Hamilton Morehead, Mrs. William Cameron of Honolulu, Mrs. William S. Chillingworth, Mrs. Helen Armstrong of Honolulu, Mrs. Frederick A. Glud, Mrs. Frank Caum, Mrs. James T. M. Pearson, Mrs. Lawrence Patterson, Mrs. Seth William Webb, Mrs. Fred Moore, Mrs. Robert Forrest of Hilo, Mrs. Frederick Clowes, Mrs. Rebecca White and Miss Rebecca White of Los Angeles, Mrs. Clarence Carter, Mrs. George Y. Bennett, Mrs. Arthur G. Silverman, Mrs. William Bibee, Mrs. William Paty, Mrs. William Hardy Hill, Mrs. Robert M. Lindsay, Mrs. James P. Kahibaum and Mrs. Edmund Ideler.

Capt. and Mrs. Fletcher G. Sanborn have recently moved to their new station at Fort De Russy.

Mrs. William Cameron of Honolulu is the house guest of Lieutenant and Mrs. William Engle at their quarters in the 2nd Hawaiian Infantry cantonment.

Mrs. William Engle and Mrs. William Cameron were the luncheon guests on Thursday of Mrs. Frank Caum at her attractive quarters in the 3rd Engineer cantonment. A few rubbers of bridge formed a pleasant diversion for the afternoon.

Mr. William Cameron of Honolulu spent the week-end at Schofield Barracks as the guest of Lieutenant and Mrs. William Engle at their quarters in Castner.—Star-Bulletin.

WYOMING "DRYS" WOULD HURRY UP PROHIBITION

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 22—(By Associated Press.)—In the hope of hastening the advent of prohibition in Wyoming, petitions are being circulated in many counties of the state which addressed to the boards of county commissioners and which ask that these boards refuse to grant any licenses for the sale of liquor during 1919. The recently adopted constitutional amendment will make Wyoming "dry" on January 1, 1920, and the backers of the petitions point to the fact that the amendment carried by a vote of three to one, as proof that a large majority of the people of the state desire prohibition and will approve steps toward that end during the intervening year.

At the forthcoming session of the state legislature prohibition workers will also seek to have a law passed which will restrict or prohibit entirely the sale of liquor pending the time that the constitutional amendment becomes effective.

GIVE HONOLULU HER INDEPENDENCE

Perhaps the strongest argument against a reapportionment of legislative representation, which would put the control of the Islands into the hands of the Oahu delegation, is that it would be going backwards instead of forwards.

Before annexation, and for some time after, the Islands were in effect merely dependencies of Honolulu. They were ruled in large matters as well as small from Honolulu. The wishes of the country districts could never be carried out except through the red tape and indirect and oftentimes indifferent action of the territorial offices in Honolulu.

County government has materially changed, and is still further changing this old system, and everybody except a few pessimistic reactionaries believes it has been a success.

The theory of majority rule is sound. A majority in a city should absolutely have the right to initiate and carry out the affairs of the city. But to insist that a city majority shall rule a rural minority, is a perversion of the principles of democratic government.

Honolulu seeks to obtain a majority in the legislature because, under the present system she has been hampered by the territorial government. She is right to resent control by the outside districts of her income and expenditures. She should have a charter that would let her plan her own course, levy and collect her own taxes, and make or break in expending them as might be.

It would seem that a spirit of willingness to tend to one's own affairs, and to let the other fellow do the same, on the part of both country and city, would make a settlement of all these old jealousies easy. The first step towards this will be to give Honolulu her head, and at the same time full responsibility for her own finances, schools, public works and other institutions.

A CASE OF GRIN AND BEAR IT

"The proposal that the chambers of commerce of the outer islands should help out in paying expenses of the Honolulu chamber's Washington representation looks like a fair one. The other islands benefit from Mr. McClellan's work and there seems to be no good reason why they should not pay for it. Doubtless they will agree in this."—Advertiser.

There is nothing unreasonable in the Honolulu chamber's attitude but there is irony in the fact that Mr. McClellan's services should be needed at all. If Hawaii had a representative in the capital instead merely a delegate who prefers to spend most of his time on the beach at Waikiki, the commercial bodies would not need to employ a man to look out for Hawaii's interests. Mr. McClellan has always done good work for the Islands and is doing good work now, but practically everything he is doing is what should be expected of our official representative, who, unfortunately chronically fails to function. But Maui has no kick coming. She is as responsible for Kuhio as is Honolulu.

THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

For the first time in the history of the world a great nation is to go on the water wagon. By the ratification by three-fourths of the states, the United States is soon to make this revolutionary experiment. It is a supreme example of the right of a majority to impose its will upon a minority, and of a free people to limit the freedom of individuals where such freedom works to the detriment of the whole.

The principle is not new but never before has it been applied on so vast and far-reaching a scale. In the wiping out of what, since the beginning of history had been considered a matter of personal choice, the people of the United States have given a new meaning to popular rule.

It is no snap judgment based on a mere emotional tide of enthusiasm that can change the constitution of the United States. Instead it can only be by steady growth of conviction on the part of the nation. We are a prohibition nation by the will of all the people. The voice of the people is the voice of God.

G. Motoyashi had his little red automobile out yesterday afternoon and it was all to the merry as he hurtled through the town until he got careless and spoiled it all. He did it by putting his foot down on the cut-out and holding it there. A cop pinched Motoyashi and he will explain in police court tomorrow.

No, don't get ready to send a box of cigars to the police force. This happened in Honolulu. Wailuku police actually like muffler cut-outs and can't understand why the law should forbid their use.

Honolulu's Red Cross Shops (two) closed this week after three months work, with net returns of nearly $10,000. Maui's Red Cross Shop ran a little over one month and cleared considerably over $2000. Based on a comparison of population the women of Maui have reason to be proud of their record.

Congress is considering legislating against the display of the red flag. It probably hasn't heard from the auctioneers yet.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 30—(By Associated Press.)—The heavy droning of an airplane propeller sounded overhead. Mother, father, and the adult caller ran out on the lawn to see the flyer. In the meantime small William and Franklin, aged respectively 7 and 5, paid not the slightest attention but continued playing with their blocks.

"What's the matter with those youngsters of yours?" asked the caller "don't they take any interest in airplanes?"

"Would you run outdoors because an automobile was passing-by?" asked the father. "Those kids have seen airplanes all their lives."

The commission. Other members are H. P. Agee, of Oahu; James Henderson, Hawaii, and S. A. Baldwin, Maui. The last named is a new member, appointed by the Governor since last year's fair to succeed Harold Rice. A. H. Case, who like chairman Angus was called into military service and compelled to relinquish membership on the fair board, left Kauai's representation open, a vacancy which remains to be filled.

The Commission believes an entertainment program can be developed that will prove as attractive as that of last year.

Whether the Army will participate remains to be determined. The Commission, as well as the excitement-loving public, heartily appreciated the spectacular share which the soldiers took in the 1918 celebration and the great material assistance given by both Army and Navy. The board at an early date probably will ask the Hawaiian Department to lend its cooperation again.

L. A. Henke, of the College of Hawaii, who served as chairman of the livestock committee, has consented to continue in that capacity. He will be assisted by practically the same membership as before, with the valuable additions however, of Harold Rice, of Maui, Robert Hind of Hawaii, and it is hoped, of Alfred W. Carter, of Parker Ranch.

A special effort is to be made this year to win Mr. Carter's active support. As manager of the ranch containing the largest herd of registered, purebred Hereford cattle in America his assistance would prove invaluable in staging the livestock show.

The same live-wire publicity committee that served last year, with Charles R. Frazier as chairman, has been appointed and is planning a thorough-going, interest-winning campaign. The preliminary campaign already is under way, urging all who intend to place exhibits to begin planning at once.

This applies particularly to farmers, livestock men, merchants and others whose displays require months of preparation for proper exhibition.

CORDOVA, Alaska, Dec. 26—(By Mail.)—(By Associated Press.)—Construction of three tank barges to carry oil from Katalla to Cordova, if built and put into operation next summer as planned, will mark the first tank barge line to be established in Alaska.

Specifications of the barges, which are planned by an oil company call for tank capacity of 600 barrels each. It is proposed to build the barges either of wood and steel or concrete, with decks for use in carrying freight.

Up to the present a small launch has been utilized in carrying oil supplies to Cordova from Katalla.

The World's First Uniform Tires

TODAY for the first time motorists have the opportunity of getting uniform mileage tires. Up to now men had to depend on "luck." One tire would run between 5,000 and 10,000 miles. Another would fail under 1,000.

Not so with Miller. For 99 in 100 Miller Tires outrun standard guarantees. Less than one per cent ever call for adjustment. Miller has triumphed by ridding their tires of "human variables." Order a pair of these team-mate tires today. Run them on opposite wheels and prove that they wear alike as we say.

Correct Lubrication for the Ford Engine

The Ford automobile engine, illustrated here, like all internal combustion engines, requires an oil that holds its full lubricating qualities at cylinder heat, burns clean in the combustion chambers and goes out with exhaust. ZEROLENE LIGHT fills these requirements perfectly, because it is correctly refined from selected California asphalt-base crude.

"Zerolene is the Best"

—Say leading motor car distributors, because the records of their service departments show that ZEROLENE, correctly refined from selected California asphalt-base crude, gives perfect lubrication with less wear and less carbon deposit. Most cars are now lubricated with ZEROLENE because their owners have learned through experience that there is no better oil.

ZEROLENE is the correct oil for all types of automobile engines. It is the correct oil for your automobile. Get our lubrication chart showing the correct consistency for your car.

OUR ISLAND CONTEMPORARIES

Reapportionment is in Sight

When the legislature convenes next month a bill providing for reapportionment of legislative representation, on the basis of citizen population of the several islands, will be introduced, according to a statement made by H. Lincoln Holstein, who, as usual, will be speaker of the house of representatives.

Further than that, it will be introduced by Mr. Holstein himself, he says.

This is a matter upon which Mr. Holstein is to be sincerely congratulated. Only a few weeks ago he was reported as being violently opposed to reapportionment, and was quoted as saying that he considered it would be unfair to the outer islands.

Mr. Holstein, since that time, has evidently reconsidered. Undoubtedly, he has looked up the law as set forth in the Organic Act of the Territory, and has concluded that the Act, without any possibility of misunderstanding, specifically directs that the legislative representation of the several islands shall be reapportioned after each census. If Hawaii is not openly to flout the law, these directions must be obeyed. The Territory of Hawaii cannot afford to be a law breaker.

When Speaker Holstein makes up his mind to put a bill through the legislature, he usually puts it through. So it may be taken for granted that the reapportionment bill will be passed and become law.

Undoubtedly, there will be bitter opposition on the part of a few members of the house and senate who think more of petty politics and political jobs than they do of law. But they have no argument on their side. If the bill is placed squarely before the legislature, it can have no option but to pass it. And with the able assistance of Speaker Holstein it cannot be doubted but that it will be passed.—Pacific Commercial Advertiser.

Wanted: A Welfare Bureau

Hilo has made an important new departure in the incorporation of an Island Welfare Bureau, headed by some of the most influential interests and men of that town, for the purpose of inaugurating and conducting needed charities, relief work, etc. The plans and purposes of this bureau are broad enough to cover almost every needed reform, or interest of a growing community extending to such widely different matters as the guidance of legislation, and the encouragement of thrift.

Some such bureau is an institution that Kauai ought to have. In the interest of efficiency, that the ground may be covered intelligently and thoroughly, so that there may be no gaps and no overlapping, the charitable and welfare interests and efforts of the community, should be co-ordinated and harmonized. As it is now, in most communities, charity and beneficence, more or less, go kind of hit or miss.

At Christmas time some particular Sunday School or some particular interest or institution in the limelight gets the attention and some other just as worthy and just as needy is overlooked.

Welfare work left to private initiative is apt to be spasmodic, uncertain, and more or less mistaken. A welfare bureau, with an assured continuous existence, and with an intelligent knowledge of the needs of the field, would be in a position to render reliable, regular service, such as may not be expected from private initiative.

Furthermore such a bureau would command the respect and confidence of the public. As it is now, some kindly disposed individual or interest comes around with a subscription paper for some needy charity. Presumably it is all right, and that the money will be wisely spent, but there is no assurance of it. And because of the more or less problematic quality of the enterprise, the donor gives less liberally than he otherwise would.

With a thoroughly responsible bureau handling the finances and conducting the work, more funds would be available and more work would be done.

The Hilo Welfare Bureau is a step in the right direction; it is a step that Kauai ought to make.—Kauai Garden Island.

Cut it Out

Speaker Holstein gets funny ideas at times. The proposition that $50,000 should, in these times when three-quarters of the world is in want be expended on a memorial for the Hawaiian soldiers who fell in battle, is absurd enough to make those dead heroes clamber out of their graves, or from the beds of the oceans, and tell Holstein what to do with any surplus territorial funds. Fifty thousands dollars would go a long way to feed starving women and children in Armenia and would prove to be a real monument to the Territory of Hawaii. One thousand dollars, wisely expended on a marble slab to be placed in one of the Honolulu public squares would more than equal the necessity to honor the noble dead of this Territory—and the dead would rest easier, also.—Hilo Herald.

The First Essential

The Japanese press of Honolulu, as The Advertiser pointed out recently, has gone off half cocked in regard to a conspiracy some of the papers think they have unearthed to eliminate the Japanese language schools of the Territory. There is no such scheme on foot.

It was a letter from A. F. Judd, published in this paper, that seems to have given the Japanese press the notion that their language schools are to be suppressed. How such an idea could have been gathered from what Mr. Judd wrote it is hard to see. But in another letter published today he definitely denies any such intention.

Mr. Judd is entirely correct in his contention that the teachers of the Japanese language schools should "possess ideals" of democracy and have a knowledge of the English language, and American history and methods of government. Any other kind of teachers would be dangerous and ought not to be tolerated.

Moreover, the teachers of the Japanese schools like those of all other schools in the Territory, should be directly under the supervision of and amenable to the department of public instruction.

This does not mean that they should be able to pass the same examinations as teachers in the public schools or possess the same kind of certificates to teach. That is not necessary and it would not be fair. But they should not be left to teach how and what they please without responsibility to some supervisory authority. It is just such laxness in regard to German schools throughout the United States that caused trouble recently.

We want to know exactly what the Japanese children are being taught in the language schools. We want to be assured that it is in line with American ideals. We want to be sure that Americanism is taught first and above everything else. The only reason for a Japanese school is to teach the Japanese language and Japanese history. The other things the children can and should learn in the territorial schools.

Mr. Judd truly says that "the biggest thing today in the territory is the building up of a vital American citizenship." And if, as he says, this is being retarded by the special Japanese language schools as they are now conducted, they must be reformed.—Pacific Commercial Advertiser.

Encouraging Law Breaking

Law breaking is being openly and blatantly advocated by some of the island papers that ordinarily one would not think of associating with anything savoring of disregard of the law. And, unfortunately, those papers that are urging that the law be violated appear to have the support of a certain more or less influential element of their clientele.

Whenever reapportionment of legislative representation is mentioned in The Advertiser, those who value personal or sectional advantage above justice and law fairly froth at the mouth. The Maui News, for instance, which along other lines is safe and sane and which generally stands squarely for enforcement of law, appears to go completely off its head whenever it is suggested that the legislature, elected to make laws, itself obey the law.

The News tries to begot the issue by holding up before its readers the weaknesses and faults of Honolulu, as if that were the matter at issue. Because our roads are poor, our supervisors squabble among themselves, gambling is winked at by the authorities who should check it, the News would have the legislature add one more sin to the calendar by refusing to obey the specific provision of the Organic Act which provides for reapportionment of legislation on the basis of citizen population.

We of Honolulu are willing to admit that we are a long way from perfect. Some of us are ashamed of the way our city is run just at present. We hope that the time will come soon when we shall more nearly approach the ideal. Indeed, there is already a rattling among the dry bones. The citizens of Honolulu are beginning to wake up, to realize their shortcomings and to take steps toward a general municipal house cleaning. Some day we may be almost as chemically pure as is the city of Wailuku.

But in the meantime, we fail to see that because we are not perfect is any reason why the members of the legislature should be urged to be law breakers.

Undoubtedly there is going to be a lot of jockeying with the reapportionment bill when it is introduced in the legislature by Speaker Holstein. It is to be expected that those of the members of house and senate who value temporary political advantage above their oaths of office will try to kill it, while others will use it for trading purposes, if they are given the opportunity.

Thus far, unfortunately, few of the members of the Oahu delegation have put themselves on record as to what they intend to do. It is earnestly to be hoped, however, that they will not allow themselves to be bluffed out of a stand for right and law by any threats of any coalition that may be formed against them. Better to go down with colors flying than to refuse to fight for what they know is right.

It is to be hoped, also, that that part of the island press which is now advocating disregard of law and order will come to a better understanding of its duties and will not make itself accessory before the fact of a contemplated crime.—Pacific Commercial Advertiser.

HUNS IN MEXICO CAUSED MUCH TROUBLE DURING WAR

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 1.—(By Associated Press.)—Revelations made in Washington that Germans virtually controlled the wireless stations in Mexico was not news to American officials on the border here. It was known for two years that the Germans had an elaborate system of wireless communication in Mexico and news of German victories would be received in northern Mexico as soon as it reached the United States, the wireless stations relaying it throughout Mexico. Much information of military value was also known to have been sent through Mexico to Germany by these wireless plants. The German manned wireless stations in Mexico caused much interference to the American army wireless operators by filling the air full of wireless waves, operators at Fort Bliss said. Many military messages were picked up by the American border wireless stations.

NOME, Alaska, Dec. 31.—(By Mail)—By Associated Press.)—Nearly all of Nome's Asiatic colony of Siberian Eskimos picked up and left just before the ice closed the Bering Sea for the winter. The Eskimos were camped all last summer on a sand spit near here.

The Twins, a small sail boat owned by three Eskimos carried the colony back across the international line. Before the natives left they dragged The Twins up on the beach and calked her with rags, sacks, and even tin cans.

DENVER FIREMEN MADE CHRISTMAS TOYS TO HELP

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 29.—(By Associated Press.)—For a time every fire station in Denver was a toy shop, the firemen having turned toy makers when they were not responding to alarms to help the Junior Red Cross Christmas bazaar.

The firemen specialized in the making of doll furniture and their department at the bazaar looked like a furniture store catering to the wealthy circles of Lilliputian society, displaying velvet-cushioned chairs, hardwood sets, triple mirrors and numerous other pieces of work that show unusual skill on the part of the makers.

Every fireman had a hand in the work. Those who were not expert wood workers—for the work required exceptional skill—did the sand-papering and painting and assisted the others.

Millionaire Bride Will

Reside In Islands
Mrs. Grace Guggenheim, divorced wife of William Guggenheim, youngest son of the late Meyer Guggenheim, the multimillionaire and David B. Michener, the rancher of Chico, California, who were secretly married at Chico on December 26 are to reside in Honolulu, according to newspaper accounts which reached here last week. In the settlement of the divorce suit, Mrs. Michener was granted $1,250,000. Her maiden name was Grace Brown, of Pinckneyville, Illinois. She married Guggenheim in 1906. The bride and groom met at a dinner party Christmas day. The following day during an auto ride he drove straight to a minister's house and the marriage took place.

Accused Of Killing Daughter

Held For First Degree Murder
HILO, January 9.—Hannah Warren, the Hawaiian woman who was recently accused of contributing to the death of her daughter, Emma, several years ago, was indicted today by the grand jury, arraigned before Judge Clemm Quinn of the circuit court, and placed in jail.

She is charged with first degree murder and was not admitted to bail, this being refused by the judge. Her plea to the charge has been reserved.

The dream of a relative of Hannah Warren's told to the authorities of Hilo, led to the discovery of the grave of Emma Warren at Eighteen Miles, beyond Hilo, and also the discovery of two witnesses who were present eleven years ago when the body of Emma was laid away in the lonely grave. For years it was thought that Emma had merely gone away from home and people had forgotten that there was such a member of the family.

The body was exhumed and in the grave was found a rusted knife which Deputy Attorney General Joseph Lightfoot took to Hilo to be examined by the territorial analyst. Witnesses told of beatings which Hannah administered to her daughter and of a particularly cruel beating which she received the day she was buried. Her condition, according to the witnesses, was horrible and her face and body showed evidences of cruel treatment.

The case was put in the hands of the grand jury, and after eleven years, the mother was declared by the jury responsible for the death, and accused her of murder in the first degree.

Soldiers Would Take Homesteads

Thirty Hawaiian soldiers at Fort Armstrong, most of whom are from Hilo, filed applications on Monday for homesteads in the Waiakoa homestead tract, Hilo, soon to be opened for settlement. It is reported that other men in the service will also apply.

Ask Daniels To Come

Joseph Daniels, secretary of the navy, will be asked to visit Hawaii next summer, following his trip to the Pacific coast. The secretary is planning to make a trip to the west coast to inspect the naval bases. Since the station at Pearl Harbor will be one of the most important of these bases, the Chamber of Commerce will take steps through its Washington representative and through the delegate to urge Mr. Daniels to come here.

Kauai Teachers Have Rough

Time Getting Back To Jobs
Because the Inter-Island company changed its schedule and refused to send a steamer to Kauai from Honolulu on Friday afternoon, following New Year's, and for the added reason that they knew there would be no excuse accepted by the school department if they failed to be at their desks the following Monday morning, five women teachers of Kauai schools, chartered Young Brothers gasoline launch "Sea Scout," and thus got home after 21 hours of most acute misery in a rough sea. They left Honolulu Saturday afternoon and arrived at Nawiliwili Sunday afternoon. They suffered from sea sickness and were kept drenched by the waves most of the journey.

Those in the party were—Miss Gillen, Miss Sidlowski and Miss Ashe, of Lihue, and Miss Johnston and Dorsey, of Koloa.

Waldron Home After Period

Of War Work
Capt. Fred L. Waldron, president of Fred L. Waldron, Ltd., former president of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce and one of the big businessmen of the city, returned home today after spending two weeks in France as a Red Cross worker.

Mr. Waldron was on the high seas seven days out from New York bound for Liverpool when the armistice was signed, and when he finally reached Paris the great need for Red Cross workers was practically over. However, he filled the position of a captain in the Red Cross service for two weeks in Paris, then secured an honorable discharge and started for home.

Honokaa And Pacific

Will Drop Dividends
Honokaa and Pacific sugar will again be out of the dividend class of plantations this year, although the 1920 prospects are bright. Both of these plantations were hard hit by the drought of last year and the year before. Last year their combined shortage of sugar yield was 7600 and 3000 tons this year.

On account of all the plantations now being on the system of closing their books at the end of December, few, if any, will be ready for their annual meetings this month, nearly all being bunched in the earlier days of February.

Mineral Products Starts

C. G. Dockus has received a cablegram from Robert Anderson, manager, giving the following very encouraging information regarding Mineral Products Co.: "Magnesium carbonate production began on the 5th and continues producing steadily. Started making holler blocks on the 7th. Quality is satisfactory. Overcoming minor mechanical difficulties incidental to new plant, and will be producing on a commercial basis shortly. Chemists Pike and Balcom agree."

Fly Cannot Hurt These Tomatoes

The federal experiment station will distribute to all who want them a new kind of tomato plant evolved here under the direction of J. M. Westgate, in charge of the station. This new plant will grow tomatoes which resist the melon fly, which is so destructive to other brands of tomatoes here.

James H. Cowan, now in France as a soldier in the engineers, was the man who did the work of developing the new tomato. He expects to be back after peace and his position here is being held for him.

Discharging Soldiers Have

Places Waiting For Them
Each soldier of the two regiments now serving at Fort Shafter and Schofield Barracks who receives his discharge on and after Monday next at the Lihue post, will have an opportunity, immediately upon receiving this document, to purchase his ticket to his home, no matter if it is to take him by rail to Kahuku, Oahu, or by steamer to Laupahoehoe, Hawaii; Kahului, Maui; or Lihue, Kauai, says the Advertiser.

Instructions have been received at army headquarters from the war department permitting the Inter-Island Steamship Company, Oahu Railroad Company and the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, to have representatives on duty in the post on discharge days to advise with the men, particularly concerning their transportation home and their future employment.

The three organizations will also be permitted to interview all the men late this week or in advance of "discharge day" to explain why they will be on duty when discharges are handed out and thus simplify their work on this day of discharge.

Honolulu Red Cross Shop Closes

Approximately $10,000 has been netted by the Red Cross Shop, which closed its doors yesterday for the last time, after an exceedingly successful business experience. Practically all the goods in the shop were sold out at private sale before Auctioneer E. L. Schwarzborg started yesterday to clear up the last of the goods and the fixtures, all of which brought a fair price, says the Advertiser of the 14th. A feature of the sales of the last week was the price brought by the old postage stamps, over $200 being secured for what was left of the donations by A. Frank Cooke and others.

When the Red Cross shop opened last September, under the direction of Mrs. F. F. Hedemann, assisted by Mrs. E. D. Kibbourne and a committee of prominent women of Honolulu, there were two headquarters, one at the corner of Beretania and Nuuanu Streets and the other in the engineer storehouse on Queen Street, near Bishop Street.

Plans For Soldiers' Memorial

Sentiment expressed at a special meeting of the war memorial committee held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the chamber of commerce rooms, was largely in favor of a memorial which shall express dignity and typify Hawaii's participation in the great war, providing a monument is decided upon later when the ideas of all societies, civic organizations and of individuals as well are received by the committee and classified.

If it is to be a memorial hall, and there were a few at yesterday's meeting who favored a hall alone, it should still express something typical of the Islands and reveal in its architecture and adornments, main features relating to the participation of island men in the war.

There were suggestions that Hawaii's memorial to the fallen soldiers might be appropriately expressed in both a monument and a memorial hall, but sentiment appeared to favor largely a monument, if only one form of memorial is to be erected.

James D. McNerny, a member of the committee, suggested it might be a fitting memorial if a monument some thing on the order of the Statue of Liberty, but typifying Hawaii be erected on Sand Island.

Senator John D. Wise was selected chairman of the executive committee and Mrs. A. A. Young as secretary. Others present at the meeting were Mrs. Walter Macfarlane, Mrs. Julius Swamy, James D. McNerny and Charles R. Hemenway.

On Monday afternoon next another meeting will be held by which time the committee hopes to be in receipt of expressions of opinion from the leading civic organizations and societies in Hawaii, and when representatives of such societies will be present to participate in the discussion.

It was the vote of the committee that all island organizations shall give serious consideration to the memorial project.

Whatever is done, some expression of opinion is wanted from each and every organization.

Miss Tenney In Coblenz

Miss Wilhelmina Tenney, who has been serving in France for the past two years in canteen service, is now in Coblenz, attached to the 62nd Aerial Unit, still doing canteen service. She is now in one of the "farthest east" organizations of the American Army.

Suspected Murderers Arrested

Two Filipinos have been taken into custody at Papaaloa on the Big Island suspected of having been implicated in the murder of Matsumoto at Ookala, who was killed three weeks ago. The prisoners have not yet been identified.

No Present Relief In

Passenger Congestion
Not much relief can be expected from the T. K. K. steamship Co., for several weeks to break the present passenger congestion at this port. According to L. E. Bemiss, local manager for the Japanese line, there will not be another passenger vessel of his line leaving here for San Francisco until February 16 when the Siberia Maru is due from Yokohama.

The Korea Maru which is now on the drydock in Japan, is due to arrive here on February 22. The Shin-yo Maru is due here on January 29 from San Francisco. Both the freighters Anyo Maru and Kiyo Maru are expected here during the early part of February, but these vessels do not carry passengers to San Francisco as a rule.

The Sachem leaves today with her cabins crowded and all of the passengers accommodations on the Ventura sailing tomorrow, have been booked. The Lurline is due here Thursday, but it is doubtful if she can take any passengers to the Coast.

More Freedom Wanted For Honolulu

The Honolulu board of supervisors has appointed a committee consisting of Supervisors Mott-Smith, McClellan, and Arnold to prepare bills to be presented to the coming legislature. The most important is a bill which would give Honolulu wider latitude in apportioning the taxes.

Liquor Imports Suspected

Reports that have been received at the office of the United States marshal have given rise to the belief that ship's officers and arriving passengers have been smuggling bottles of liquor ashore. It is announced that action is to be taken to investigate these reports and put a stop to the practice if the reports are found to be true.

Report On Leper Inquiry

Still Not Ready
The report of the special committee of the Honolulu chamber of commerce, which co-operated with a similar committee of the territorial board of health in an inquiry on charges of laxity in administration at the Kalaiki Detention Hospital and Kalaupapa leper settlement, will not be ready for submission to the chamber for sometime.

The committee has been taking additional evidence from lepers at the local station and is also receiving reports from the members of the committee, as well as one from the Hawaiian Medical Association, the latter dealing with the recommendation of federal administration of the leprosy situation.

The committee has been in existence several weeks and it was expected its report would have been completed and made public before this. It probably will be ready before the legislature convenes.

Out Door Circle Elects

The following officers of the Honolulu Outdoor have been elected for the ensuing year—

President, Mrs. A. G. M. Robertson. Vice-President, Mrs. C. J. McCarthy.

Second Vice-President, Mrs. Erie Knudsen.

Treasurer, Mrs. Z. K. Myers.

Secretary, Mrs. W. L. Moore.

The chairman of standing committees elected are Mrs. E. A. Langton-Boyle, publicity; Mrs. George French, ways and means; Mrs. Edgar Wood, educational; Miss Kulamann Ward, Kalakaua Avenue; Mrs. James Bicknell, civic center, and Mrs. Lorrie A. Thurston, bill boards.

It was announced that 56 new members have been elected to the Circle for 1919.

:: B. B. C. Gives Health, Strength, Pep And Nerve Power ::

That Remarkable Remedy

B.B.C.

Endorsed by many leading physicians and people in public life.

B. B. C. is a marvelous reconstructive tonic. It infuses the system with the iron force of health and vitality of youth, building up the body stronger than sickness and disease, and that is all there is to it. If the body is strong and normal and the organs of it well regulated and performing their functions, there is no sickness. B. B. C. does that very thing—builds up your body and makes it stronger than the ailments that assail it and they are beaten and utterly routed, and health is the result. That's why rheumatism, blood impurities, sick headaches, nervous depressions, sleepless nights, anemic and run-down condition, biliousness, torpid liver, constipation, kidney and bladder ailments give way to an extended course of B. B. C. even in cases of long standing and the body vibrates with health. The extraordinary merit of B. B. C. is proved by the many prominent local people who have testified to that effect. B. B. C. is a bottled liquid, therefore far superior to tablet remedies which lose their strength and are often soiled in handling.

B. B. C. is sold by all druggists, plantation stores and dealers. $1.25 per bottle; 6 for $7. We pay shipping charges on all $7.00 cash orders. B. B. C. Headquarters, 161 King St., below Fish Market.

FOOD RELIEF IS KEY TO EUROPEAN SITUATION

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, January 13—President Wilson's message, in solemnly urging congress to appropriate $100,000,000 for food relief in Europe, said that Bolshevism is steadily advancing westward and is poisoning Germany and cannot be stopped by force. He said food relief was the key of the whole European situation and the solution of peace. A message from Henry White, member of the American peace commission in France, to the state department said—"Starting westward the advance of Bolshevism has dominated the entire European situation above all else and it is of utmost importance that President Wilson's request be granted."

ANARCHY IN SOUTH AMERICA SERIOUS

(By The Associated Press)
BUENOS AIRES, January 13—Isolated instances of shooting in connection with the general strike, continued during Sunday night, including an attack on police station which were repulsed. Papers say more killed than police admit. Some socialists claim the casualties were 1000. Dellelaine, the military dictator, has forbidden labor organizations to meet.

The anarchists' federation has disclaimed connection with the lawlessness which is ascribed to foreign agitators. The rioters set fire to the central wool market.

Thousands of civilians are volunteering in the common defense and 200 agitators have been arrested.

The food situation is increasingly critical. The government forces have announced 250 killed and 700 wounded, but a ranking naval officer has suggested that double this number would be nearer correct.

AT THE THEATERS

Gladys Brockwell in "The Devil's Wheel"

Charles Kenyon has given Gladys Brockwell a corking good story to interpret and she carries the part of the Apache queen with flying colors. "The Devil's Wheel" is told in five of the most entertaining reels of the silent drama. Edward Le Saint has directed with the eye of an artist, and no scene has been left unturned in production. An excellent photodrama, "The Devil's Wheel" ranks with the best five reels produced by William Fox and will be received as such by motion picture audiences.

The strength and purpose of the story is perhaps the most salient feature of this offering. It is unusual strong in plot development; the action moves from introduction to climax without a hitch, excepting in the latter reels, where cutting would improve the story as presented for review.

Gladys Brockwell works like an artist and interprets the ways and mannerisms of the Apache girl with a true artistic touch given her every action. Miss Brockwell is an excellent type for the part. There is not a moment during the run of the picture that an audience will feel that Miss Brockwell is out of place in the Apache world. And with the same finished work, she presents the role of the modest, unsophisticated daughter of the marquis. Her versatility is demonstrated in this picture and her presence is felt throughout the run.

William Scott in the role of the "Stag," a leader of the Apache gives a performance that will elicit praise from any audience. He affords excellent support to Miss Brockwell. Bertram Grassby executes the heavy villain role with appreciation. Mr. Grassby is a striking type and carries the heavy part with assurance. Lucille Young typifies the girl of the underworld. T. D. Crittendon, Pietro Buzzi and Andrew Robson are seen in supporting roles.

Charles Ray in "The Claws of the Hun"

John Stanton has long desired to enlist, but his mother, who is ill and fearful, exacts a promise from him not to enlist because she could not resist his departure. He is called a slacker by his friends and when his sweetheart, Jane Novak, treats him coldly he is in despair. In his father's safe reposes the formula of a high explosive entrusted to him by the United States Government, and Stanton learns and frustrates the plot of several German spies to obtain possession of it. When Stanton's mother comes to a full realization of Hun espionage in this country and of the necessity of combating enemies abroad as well as at home, Stanton is permitted to refute the charge of being a slacker by enlisting.

"Old Wives For New"

A wide difference of opinion is bound to exist concerning the ethical status of the Artercraft picture made by Cecil De Mille from "Old Wives for New," a novel written by the late David Graham Phillips. The story has one fundamental weakness that even the skill of the director could not hide—hardly any of the characters command the spectator's respect. Charles Murdock, the man whose family affairs make him the most prominent person in the story, has but little moral stamina, and is surrounded, principally, by well dressed men and women of no morals at all.

To those who know life the sincerity of the author is apparent. Managers of moving picture theaters who are not opposed to showing their patrons views of sordid passion and giving them a clear insight into the ways of immoral women and faithless husbands will have the satisfaction of knowing that the acting and general production of the picture could hardly be bettered. The cabaret scene is too insistent in establishing the moral laxity of its female guests, and other scenes of the same nature would stand cutting without the slightest danger of the spectator not comprehending their meaning.

Barely outlined, "Old Wives for New," tells how a man finds himself unhappily married and falls in love with another woman before he obtains a divorce from his wife. Before he finally succeeds in giving the second Mrs. Murdock the protection of his name he gets entangled with a third woman, and is only saved from infidelity by a telephone call asking him to hurry to the side of his business associate, who has just been shot by his mistress. At the finish Murdock's wife also marries again, his son and daughter are discovered arranging their own matrimonial plans and the entire family start out on separate roads to happiness.—Advt.

Nothing Much Doing

Mrs. John Schwartz, 303 Pleasant Street, received the following letter from her husband, Private John A. Schwartz, Machine Gun Co., A. E. F.:
Somewhere in France,
July 24, 1918.

Dear Wife and Daughter:
Will write you a few lines to let you know I am well and hoping to find every one at home the same.

We had a battle with the Germans and drove them back five miles. We took a lot of prisoners, artillery and machine guns, and are still driving them back.

It is the first battle I have been in, but I didn't get excited and escaped without a scratch. It was an awful artillery and machine-gun fire.

News is scarce, so will close, hoping to hear from you soon.

Seattle To Have Cathedral For War Memorial

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 31.—(By Associated Press.)—A $500,000 Victory Memorial Cathedral is to be built in Seattle by St. Mark's Episcopal Church in memory of the American men who served and died in France, according to an announcement made by Rev. Ernest Vincent Shaylor, rector of St. Mark's Parish. Architects are working on the plans, the announcement asserted.

Twelve windows in the cathedral, according to preliminary plans will be named in honor of twelve of the nations Allied in the war with the United States. Bronze tablets bearing the names of Seattle men who fell in battle are to be placed in the building. A Victory Tower with chimneys has been proposed.

Steps being taken for the construction of the cathedral are believed the first definite plans made in the state for a memorial. Throughout the state moves are being made to erect memorials but most of the plans are still in a tentative state.

In Spokane the women's clubs may plant trees on school lawns in memory of the soldiers and sailors; Bellingham's Father's Club is leading a movement for the erection of a memorial clubhouse; Grays Harbor residents are talking of purchasing a bronze tablet bearing the names of all men from the harbor country who died in the service; the Chehalis Citizens' Club is planning a $200,000 community center building and the Olympia Young Men's Christian Association has named a committee to plan a memorial.

Several Seattle organizations are planning memorials, the University of Washington Alumni may erect a monument in honor of the undergraduates in the service; the Municipal League is heading a movement for the erection of a memorial hall, and committees from the Chamber of Commerce and the Y. M. C. A. are working together planning for a memorial. Suggestions have been made that the committee consider erecting a $1,000,000 state or reconstruction hospital.

Filipino Sneak Thief Caught—Had Loot In Hat

Juan Revela, Filipino, has confessed to Sheriff Crowell that he burglarized two houses in the Wailuku mill camp, last Monday night, from one of which he got $69 in cash, and from the other a quantity of jewelry. The Sheriff had happened to see the Filipino in the vicinity of the robbed houses earlier in the evening, and had him arrested on suspicion. The loot was found in his hat. Revela sought to implicate two other Filipinos, Maximo Dairo and another known as Marcellio, but both proved alibis. Dairo is being held however, for suspected connection with the affair.

The houses robbed belonged to Japanese. The Filipino had previously gained access to the houses by appearing with some pieces of wearing apparel which he offered to sell at such ridiculously low price that the bargain was snapped up and at the same time information had been given as to the hiding place of the household valuables.

Believe Wireless Will Remain With Navy

A general inspection of the Inter-island wireless system is being made by officers of the U. S. navy department, and the report is current in Honolulu that this is likely to be followed by the permanent taking over of the system.

Lieut. J. A. Balch, with two assistants, was on Maui on Wednesday inspecting the Lahaina station. He visited Wailuku for lunch, leaving a hour later and the same evening from Lahaina by a government vessel.

The wireless service of the Mutual Telephone Co., of Honolulu, was taken over by the navy as a war measure, but the impression is now general that it will never be turned back to the company.

Fishermen Charged With Dynamiting Are Released

Kaiya, Hamada, and Nakamura, Japanese fishermen residing at Kahului, were arrested on Monday evening by the police and charged with dynamiting fish in Kahului harbor. In the trial before District Magistrate McKay the following day all were released, the court holding that the evidence of the police was not sufficient.

The men were alleged to have been exploding heavy charges of explosive from the breakwater on the east side of the harbor.

Pertinent Paragraphs

In an article contributed to the Hawaiian Forester and Agriculturist, C. S. Judd, superintendent of forestry, describes the Hawaiian sumach, which grows on various parts of all the islands. Because of the strength of the wood combined with light weight and its lasting qualities, Mr. Judd proposes developing the tree, if possible for commercial purposes, particularly as fence posts, to which it is said to be especially adapted.

The Maui industrial accident board will hold its monthly meeting in the Wailuku district court room next Tuesday morning, January 21.

A mail was expected from the mainland this week by the transport Sherman, which arrived in Honolulu on Tuesday, but none came. It was stated that the postoffice in San Francisco had been advised that the vessel would probably not stop at the islands but go direct to Vladivostok. In spite of this fact the transport brought a number of passengers for Honolulu.

For the first month since the war began to pay a part in the transportation problems of the islands, Maui is to receive no freight shipments from the mainland during the present month, according to present indications. A shipping board vessel is however expected to arrive with cargo early in February.

Commemorating the 15th anniversary of his connection with the Bank of Maui, Joaquin Garcia on Wednesday evening entertained the directors of the institution with a sumptuous banquet served at his home on Wells street. Mr. Garcia has had a similar celebration to mark each 5-year period of his career as a banker.

The coroners jury sitting in the case of the death of Kono Kuido, the Japanese driver of the Wailuku Sugar Co., who died following a fall from a cart, which passed over his body, returned a verdict last week, of accidental death.

In the matter of the estate of Keohe Kalei Manuhia, in the 2nd circuit court, yesterday, Judge Burr granted an application of the executor, W. F. Crockett, for permission to sell certain real estate in the Wells park addition for the purpose of meeting some claims of creditors.

SALMON RETURN TO ALASKA AFTER VOLCANIC ERUPTION

CORDOVA, Alaska, Dec. 30.—(By Mail.)—(By Associated Press.)—Salmon returned this year for the first time in full numbers to some of the Alaska waters which were gutted with lava and ashes by the eruption in 1912 of Mount Katmai, said to be one of the world's greatest volcanoes.

After the big eruption and its attendant disturbances, salmon disappeared from the nearby streams for several seasons. Gradually they returned. By next year, it is thought here, nearly all the streams affected will be alive with fish again.

At Afognak, which lies on Afognak Island across Shelikoff Straits from Mount Katmai, the Bureau of Fisheries of the Department of Commerce has a station. This year the bureau reported a successful collection of salmon eggs was made at the close of the spawning season, the total amounting to close to 54,681,000. "This catch constitutes the largest take of the sockeye species since the Katmai eruption and seems to indicate the complete recovery of these waters from the disastrous effects of the eruption," read a bureau statement.

Fisherman arriving here from the waters near Katmai said the Indians this year were catching salmon in streams from which they were driven six years ago by the big "smoke pot" of the volcano is known on the nearby islands.

FLOUR NOW BEING MADE OF ALASKA GROWN WHEAT

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Dec. 19.—(By Mail.)—(By Associated Press.)—Alaska flour ground from Alaska grain is being turned out at a Fairbanks mills for Alaska consumption. Nearly all the flour used this winter in Fairbanks and other interior Alaska points comes through the local plant.

The mill, which has a capacity of sixty barrels a day, has handled nearly all the wheat crop of the Tanana Valley, one of Alaska's best agricultural sections.

Officials of the United States Agricultural Experimental Station here estimate that the Fairbanks region of the Tanana Valley during last summer's short season produced 250 tons of oat and wheat hay, ten tons of seed oats, 30 tons of wheat, 450 tons of potatoes, and 80 tons of carrots. Even tomatoes did well, many under glass.

The question of Cockett's partisanship was raised during the trial of the case before Judge Edging, in which Ellen K. Robinson and her husband, William T. Robinson, two of the property owners affected by the opening of the street, sought to upset the amount awarded by the condemnation board. Judge Edging at the time refused to allow the plaintiffs to submit proof that Cockett was a republican and not a democrat, and gave judgment to the County. It was appealed on this point, among others, and the higher court has just sustained it.

The amount allowed the Robinsons, which they considered inadequate, was something less than $400. The eight or ten other property owners whose land was taken for the street, accepted the awards made them and are not parties to the suit.

Light Type Of Grip Now Prevalent On Maui

An unusual number of cases of influenza, grip, or severe colds are reported on Maui at the present time by physicians, who are inclined to believe, however, that it is no more than the usual run of this kind of malady which in noted on Maui about this time every year. There have been no deaths. As a precaution, against possible development of a more malignant contagion, doctors urge that all cases of illness, even though seemingly slight, be reported.

ALASKA EXPECTS BOOM TO FOLLOW END OF WAR

JUNEAU, Alaska, Dec. 31.—(By Mail.)—(By Associated Press.)—Men already returning north to man the Alaska industries which they left crippled when they dropped their work and hastened to the states in answer to the calls of war and war work. Officials are confident that by next spring the sunshine of promise will again brighten the path of this almost nameless territory.

Here at Juneau enough men have returned to enable the Alaska Gastineau Mining Corporation to add another shift to its big gold stamp mill at Thane, near here. For nearly a year the mills have been operated but eight hours a day on account of the labor shortage. By spring the company expects to be running twenty-four hours again.

Enough men will be here early in the year, it is believed, to reopen the Julian (correct) Mine, a property near Juneau which has not been operated since 1917. A Belgian syndicate which owns the mine has cabled that it will put a full force at work within a few months.

Towns in south-western Alaska, hard hit by the rush southward last year, are preparing for the tide immigration which they think will set north again in the spring.

There is talk of opening new government town sites at Talkeetna and Chickaloon, points on the railroad being built by the government between Seward and Fairbanks. Several coal mines are located at Chickaloon while Talkeetna can be made a supply base for the Ophir, Iditarod, Kuskokwim and lower Innoko placer diggings.
