AS TO THE RECOGNITION.

Both of the Government oracles have spoken on the question of the kind of recognition given by the United States Minister to the Republic of Hawaii. With its usual dogmatism the Advertiser refuses to admit that there is such a question. It matters not to that paper that Minister Willis's communication was cautious in a marked degree, and that the recognition he did give the Republic was distinctly referred by him to his Government for ratification or otherwise. The Advertiser's grounds for its position are that the Harrison administration fully recognized the sovereignty of the Provisional Government and entered into negotiations with it, and that the Cleveland administration "accredited two Ministers to it and specific assurances were given to the Government, through the usual diplomatic channels, that its sovereignty was fully recognized." Why not tell the whole story? On the receipt of the Queen's protest at Washington the treaty of annexation, embodying the "negotiations" cited, was tacitly refused to be ratified by Congress. This was under the Harrison administration. When Cleveland took office he withdrew that treaty from the Senate and instituted an investigation in Hawaii of the Queen's charge that the forces of the United States had been the potent agency in the overthrow of her Government. Previously the Harrison administration had overridden the sovereignty of the Provisional Government by the action of Minister Stevens in proclaiming a protectorate over the islands and hoisting the American flag over the headquarters of the Provisional Government. Then, when Mr. Blount, first as special Commissioner and next as Minister Plenipotentiary, had sent in his report and retired from the post, it was officially announced in Washington that the conclusion of the United States Government from the special investigation was that the change of Government in Hawaii had been accomplished by "fraud and force," and that the duty of the United States Government was to place affairs in Hawaii in the same position, as near as possible, as they had occupied prior to the interference of the United States forces.

To effect this purpose Minister Willis was duly authorized and he requested the Provisional Government to surrender authority and power to the Queen's Government. When the Provisional Government refused to obey this request the Minister so reported, and upon receiving his report the President referred the whole matter to Congress. The decision of one branch of Congress—the Senate—has been made known. It contains no authorization to the Executive to recognize any Government here which cannot obtain the support of a majority of the people of the Hawaiian Islands in a free vote without constraint or restriction. In the Senate resolution it is the people of the Hawaiian Islands who are recognized, and not a carefully sifted minority of the people. This, being in consonance with the tenor of the instructions to both Commissioner Blount and Minister Willis, has perhaps a deeper significance than the rulers of the Republic of Hawaii are anxious to discover.

The Advertiser concludes its discussion on the subject in the following judicial decision fashion: "The law makes the right of a Government to exist dependent simply upon the fact of its existence. To travel outside the bare fact is to appeal from the code of law to that of ethics, and the code of ethics as such is not administered of earthly courts." Waiving comment upon the implied admission here that the Republic of Hawaii cannot be defended on ethical grounds, it may simply be remarked, in reply to the foregoing, that President Cleveland has appealed to the code of ethics in his deliverances upon the Hawaiian question. He has declared to the world that a great moral as well as political wrong has been committed by the representatives of his powerful country against a weak and friendly nation. Moreover, he has proclaimed that, if that wrong be permitted to go unredressed, indelible national disgrace will attach to the United States of America.

As to the Star's attempt to controvert the position of this paper, it is simply unanswerable because it is utterly incomprehensible. Its rhetoric is for the most part too confusing and too confused to convey any idea of the author's plan of campaign. The only thing clear in the column of words, in large part of incoherent orthography and indeterminate prosody, is that the writer tries to redeem the dullness of insufferably bombastic diction with an occasional dash of puerile personalities. This feature his daily diminishing circle of readers doubtless accord him the privilege of solitarily enjoying. There is a faint gleam of intelligible argument, however, near the close of the space-filling and intellect-wringing rhodomontade. This is where the article cites the credentials of Minister Willis as being "under the usual form and usage extended only to de jure Governments." Comments already made herein upon the Advertiser's article ought to be sufficient answer to this claim. Suffice it to say, in addition, that if President Cleveland understood himself as accrediting Minister Willis to a Government de jure, or of right, he strangely stultified himself, at the same time, by empowering the same Minister to inform the same Government, at the earliest opportunity, that he regarded it as established through a great wrong committed by representatives of the United States, and for that reason to request that it relapse into the innocuous oblivion from which it should never of right have emerged. Being unable to find adequate support for its position in the wording of the Senate resolution itself, the Star has recourse to a citation of the tone of the Senate debate upon the question. It cannot reconcile the speeches of some of the Senators to the view that they were referring merely to a de facto Government. The speeches of Senators are not, however, the guide to the Executive in interpreting the answer of Congress to its reference thereto of the Hawaiian question. Rather is it the official utterance of the Senate which goes upon the journals of that body. That utterance does not recognize the Provisional Government or any permanent Government that body might set up. It does recognize "the people of Hawaii" as the supreme power to determine the destinies of the Hawaiian Islands. All the precedents and traditions of the Government of the United States show that its policy has ever been, when a revolutionary change had occurred in the Government of another country, to recognize the new Government no earlier than it proved to have the confidence and support of the people of that country. The right of minority rule, as preached in Hawaii, is as repugnant to the cardinal principles underlying the American Commonwealth, as is the "divine right of kings."

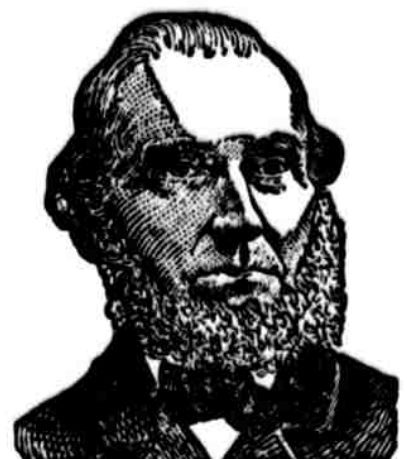

Gold Comfort for the P. O.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—It has sometimes been held that the use of language is to conceal, not to convey, one's meaning. I suppose it is on this theory that the gentlemen who have usurped the government are jubilant, or appear to be so, over the resolution of the Senate. Being well versed in the arts of diplomacy they may be right in reading into the resolution a meaning which certainly does not lie upon the surface. But those who are not so versed, and suppose that the Senate says what it means and means what it says, will be unable to extract from the resolution much comfort for the Provisional Government.

The Senate first lays down that of right it belongs wholly to the people of the Hawaiian Islands to establish and maintain their own form of government and domestic policy. From this it is clear that the Senate considers that at the present moment the people of the Hawaiian Islands have no established form of government, and recognize their right to establish and maintain what form they please, and that right belongs not to an oligarchy, but to the whole people. The recognition of this right by the Senate would seem to leave with the administration the duty of providing that the whole people enjoy the exercise of that right from which they are now debarred. The usurpers say, "No!" for the next clause forbids any interference. Are they right? The words are, "That the United States ought in no wise to interfere therewith." With what? With the P. G? No. With the right of the whole people aforesaid. The Senate had under consideration the position of the people of the Hawaiian Islands from January 17, 1893, to the present time, and in this sentence (1) condemns the action of Stevens, and (2) makes it the duty of the administration to set the Hawaiian people free from that interference with the right recognized in the first clause. It is obvious that to recognize the Constitutional Convention and its results would be a perpetuation of the interference perpetrated by Stevens, and condemned by the Senate. But it is asked: How can the administration act without violating the principle of non-interference laid down by the Senate? The answer is: The principle laid down is that of non-interference with the right of the people, not of non-interference with those who are depriving them of that right. Unless the United States is to continue in the face of the resolution to interfere with the rights of the Hawaiian people, the administration must interfere with those whose interference with the rights of the people is derived from the United States. The rights of the people being to establish and maintain their own form of government, the administration must protect them in those rights by removing all hindrances (1) to a free vote of the Hawaiian people, whether they desire to establish a republic, or an oligarchy, or a monarchy, and (2) to the exercise of the right to establish the result of such vote. Such is the plain meaning of the resolution in the view of gradually growing worse. Three years ago I got down so low that I could scarcely walk.

I looked more like a corpse than a living being. I had no appetite and for five weeks I ate nothing but bread. I was badly emaciated and had no more color than a marble statue.

Hood's SARSAPARILLA was recommended and I thought I would try it. Before I had finished the first bottle I noticed that I felt better, and after the second bottle I could eat anything without hurting me. Why, I got so hungry that I had to eat 6 times a day. I have now fully recovered, thanks to

National Cane Shredder

PATENTED UNDER THE LAWS OF THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVE BEEN APPOINTED SOLE AGENTS FOR these SHREDDERS and are now prepared to receive orders. The great advantages to be derived from the use of the NATIONAL CANE SHREDDER are thoroughly established and acknowledged by Planters generally.

The large number of Planters using them in the United States, Cuba, Argentine Republic, Peru, Australia and elsewhere, bear witness to the above claim.

The use of the SHREDDER very largely augments the quantity of cane the mill can grind (25 to 50%), also the extraction of juice (5 to 12%).

It is a great safeguard, making known at once the presence of any pieces of iron, stakes from cars, or anything which would be liable to damage the mill, and allowing ample time to remove same before damaging the mill.

The SHREDDER is very strongly made, and from the manner of its operation it cuts or tears these pieces of wood or iron without often breaking the SHREDDER; and if anything breaks, it is simply some of the knives or cutters, which can be quickly and economically replaced. The SHREDDER, as its name indicates, tears the cane into shreds of varying lengths, perfectly opening it and allowing the mill to thoroughly press out the juices without requiring the immense extra power necessary to grind or crush the whole cane.

The SHREDDER spreads the shredded cane uniformly and evenly to the mill rolls, and does away with the necessity of spreading the bagasse by hand between the mills, where regrinding is in use. No greater amount of boiler capacity is required to operate the SHREDDER than that which was sufficient for the mill, for the above reasons. We furnish full working drawings for the installation of our SHREDDERS, enabling any competent engineer to successfully install and start them.

In ordering SHREDDERS from us, please send small sketch, showing the diameter and width of the mill rolls with which SHREDDER is to be connected, also the side (either right or left hand as you face the delivery side of the mill), upon which the mill engine is located, also the height from floor line to center of front mill roll shaft, and distance center of shaft to front end of bed plate. These SHREDDERS are now being used by the Hilo Sugar Co. and Hilo Mill, Kohala, where they are giving great satisfaction.

Prices and further particulars may be had by applying to

HOMES

PEARL CITY

Oahu Railway & Land Co.

OFFERS THE PUBLIC

Another Great Opportunity

To Secure Homes in One of the Most Delightful Localities to be Found in the Paradise

of the Pacific.

As a healthy resort - Pearl City has already established an enviable reputation. Many good citizens in this community have experienced the wonderful effect produced by a few days sojourn in that dry, cool atmosphere, and give grateful testimony to the relief they have almost instantly gained from severe and long continued attacks of asthma. Physicians acquainted with the climate of Pearl City recommend it as a natural sanitarium.

THE WATER SUPPLY IS AMPLE!

And can be increased to meet the needs of a population equal to the largest city in the world.

Prof. A. B. LYONS of Oahu College is our authority for stating that the water supply is the purest yet discovered in this country.

Special Inducements to Early Settlers:

For ninety days from date we will sell LOTS ON SPECIAL TERMS favorable to bona-fide settlers. For a term of three months from date, lumber and all building materials will be supplied, and delivered at Pearl City at much lower price than ever before obtained.

For further particulars, call at this office or on any of the lumber dealers in this city. Those who now own lots as well as those who propose to become residents of that growing city, will do well to embrace this opportunity. Those who avail themselves of this offer, within the time named, will be entitled to, and will receive the following benefits:

For a term of ten years, this Company will carry such residents and their families from Pearl City to Honolulu in the morning (arriving a little before seven o'clock), and from Honolulu to Pearl City in the evening (leaving Honolulu station a little after five o'clock), for ten cents each way, a rate less than one cent per mile. The rates on all other passenger trains running during the day or night will be 1 1/2 cents per mile first class, and 1 cent per mile second class.

A good school is about to be opened in the Peninsula, in the fine, large, new school-house erected by Mr. J. T. Waterhouse. Residents living at Pearl City heights, (above Pearl City station) and those having homes on the Peninsula, will be allowed to ride free on regular trains between Pearl City stations to and from the Peninsula.

Those who want to continue to send their children to schools in Honolulu, can have transportation on all regular trains to and from Pearl City, for the purpose of attending school, at five cents each way for each pupil. This is equal to 24 to 36 miles ride for ten cents.

Equal inducements for those desiring to secure homes in this country have never before been offered to the public.

This Company has been requested from abroad to name the price of all their land in that locality.

Should a clearance sale be made to a syndicate, no opportunity like the present would again occur for the purchase of homes at Pearl City.

Neapolitan airs, "Santa Lucia," "Addio Ma Bella Napoli," "Funiculi Funiculi," etc.

Sailing on the beautiful Bay of Naples, with massive Mt. Vesuvius and ancient Pompeii in the background, passing charming Castellamare and Sorrento with dreamy romantic Capri in the distance, the effect of this exquisite music on the water with these surroundings is so heavenly, that one feels they could listen to it forever.

While in Florence in the spring of 1890, I was treated royally by the mandolinists of that city, and through the kindness of Count Leonida Giovanetti, was made an honorary member of the "Circolo Mandolinista Regina Margherita" - mandolin clubs are termed Circolo in Italy.

This Circolo is the largest and finest in Italy, and is under the Royal patronage of the Queen Margherita, who is an enthusiast and expert performer on the mandolin. It is composed of 70 mandolinists, mandolas, lutes, harps and guitars, and practices weekly under the direction of Signor Riccardo Matini, one of the foremost musicians of Florence, who kindly gave a special rehearsal for me.

On the eve of my departure from Florence I was tendered a farewell banquet at the famous Capitani restaurant of Florence. Each guest brought his instrument and all performed on their mandolins, mandolas and lutes.

Signor Bellonghi Matini, Bizzari and Munia performed a Haydn quartette on the mandolin, mandola and lute. It was a revelation of the possibilities of the mandolin. One could hardly believe that such classical music could be performed so exquisitely on these instruments.

As a souvenir of my visit to Italy and as a remembrance and token of their esteem Signors Bellonghi, Matini, D'Agosti and Calace have composed and dedicated to me, several of their original compositions.

The mandola is a sort of big brother to the mandolin, occupying the same relation that the viola does to the violin. It is somewhat larger in size than the mandolin. Played as a solo instrument or accompaniment to the mandolin it is rich and beautiful. In some parts it produces exquisite effects, sounding somewhat like the human voice.

The lute is almost unknown in America and has only been lately revived in Italy. I have the only lute in America. The modern lute is somewhat different from the ancient. The ancient instrument had eight single strings while the modern lute has five double strings. The other three strings are superfluous and not used in modern music.

The lute has the deep, rich, resonant tone of the violoncello, in fact when not seen by the listener, it can hardly be distinguished from the cello. The lute is about as large as a concert-sized guitar. Its head, neck and body are shaped like the mandolin.

In Europe titled amateurs give the mandolin prominence in their exclusive drawing room musicales and receptions. The Princess Maud of Wales plays the instrument and has set the fashion among her ladies. While in Paris in April, 1890, I attended a concert given by Signor Pietrapertosa, under the patronage of Baroness Rothschild. Tickets of admission were ten francs ($200). All the "haut noblesse" of Paris was there, so you can imagine how popular the mandolin is in Paris.

That the mandolin is becoming the instrument facts cannot fail to show. Where, ten years ago, one could hardly purchase a mandolin in New York, now, every large city in America numbers its players by the hundreds.

Some idea of the growing prevalence of the mandolin in America can be gained from the fact that mandolin clubs, mandolin orchestras and distinguished mandolin soloists are heralded everywhere.
