SMALL BOYS HELD FOR DEATH OF PLAYMATE

HOLLAND OF PUNA
Will Test
THE LAND LAW

The local land law will be before the courts as soon as it is possible to get it there, to determine what at least one settler has to do in order to get his title to land on which he settled.

Dr. John Holland of Puna is one of those in the vicinity of Hilo whose title to land has been held up by the Territorial authorities, and yesterday he consented to have the matter brought before the courts for a ruling. Holland is one of many but whether his contentions and the consequent decision will settle the case for the others remains to be seen.

Holland took up a forty-acre lot of land in Puna three years ago under a right of purchase lease. He built a home on the place and since settling has expended something like $3000 in improvements. The land was taken up while the Puna plantation was in operation and Holland was the physician for the district as well as the plantation.

When the plantation was given up, Holland opened an office in Hilo. But he retained his residence in Puna, voted there, paid taxes there and fulfilled the natural obligations of residence.

The Territorial authorities now tell him that he has not fulfilled the residence clause. "Williams, the land agent, tells me," said Holland, "that my body must have been on the place for two years during the period. So here's the brilliant proposition I would be up against according to the interpretation of the land residence clause. I must stay on the place whether the plantation is kept up or not exactly two years to the day. I suppose the law as they interpret it contemplates a man and his family existing on the beautiful pure air after the population and business have taken their departure.

"I don't know anything about the other fellows but I do know that I have fulfilled all sensible and reasonable requirements of residence. The land office asks me to make affidavit that I have actually been on the place twice 365 nights. I can't do this because as a matter of fact I don't know, I do know that I have kept up the place and am paying taxes on it and hope to keep it for a residence. I keep an office in Hilo to be sure. The population of Puna just at present is not of sufficient size to give a living for a physician. The Territorial government seems disposed to punish me for the misfortune of Puna. Perhaps the Supreme Court will decide that that is the kind of a land law we have in Hawaii. If so, the sooner the better. Then we'll be able to know for a certainty whether it is the desire and intent of the local lawmakers and law interpreters to favor Americans taking up land, or in other words carrying out American ideas in handling public land."

Constitutionality
Questioned Of
Local Election Law
TO RAISE POINT IN KANEALII CASE

Judge Edings, who conducted the Fernandez election contest against R. Adams before the Supreme Court yesterday, this morning expressed his conviction that the contest, in view of results developed upon the opening of the ballots, was an absolutely hopeless one.

"In the first bag we opened there were seven rejected votes for Adams and fourteen for Fernandez," said Edings. The other bags showed a still smaller majority of rejected ballots for Fernandez above the number of rejected Adams ballots. Even if the ballots had all been held to be legal, Fernandez could not have gained enough to set off the majority returned to Adams at the election.

In the meantime, Judge Edings is also the counsel for Kanealii, the candidate on Kauai, for Supervisor-at-Large, who also had an election contested. (Continued on Page 8.)

BOY FOUND DEAD:
HIS MATES HELD

Leave Comrade After Shooting But Deny Being Present

CONFESS TO SHERIFF BROWN
THAT IT WAS ACCIDENTAL

TWO HAWAIIAN YOUTHS ARE BROUGHT FROM HONOLULU PLANTATION—MATTER INVESTIGATED.

Sheriff Brown and Assistant Sheriff Vida returned from the Honolulu plantation in the Alea district last night, having in custody two boys, John Kaukane and Mikilimi, about 14 years of age, who are being held while the death of John Kawai, one of their playmates, is being investigated. Kawai was found with a bullet wound in his head in the Mikilimi home on the plantation last Friday morning by a Japanese who looks after the place. The left side of his face was powdered and from the evidence gathered, which the sheriff thinks was probably due to an accident, the weapon was close to the youth's head when the fatal shot was fired.

During the absence of the elder Mikilimi, who runs a launch between Puna and Alea, the Kawai boy and the Mikilimi boy had been occupying the house. The three boys were seen to enter the house Thursday afternoon. Kawai's body was discovered the next morning. The strange part of the affair is the fact that after the shooting the two other boys became so frightened that they left the place immediately for Puna. Until yesterday they denied all knowledge of the shooting, claiming they had nothing whatever to do with it. Late yesterday, however, they confessed to Sheriff Brown and related how the accident happened.

According to the boys the trio had a revolver of a 38-caliber when they entered the house. It only had one cartridge in it. While young Mikilimi was trying to cock the weapon and the other two were watching him eagerly, the gun was accidentally discharged, the bullet lodging in the left side of Kawai's brain. Dr. Cooper, who examined the body, is of the opinion that death was almost instantaneous. The other pair left the dwelling immediately and headed for Puna. Friday morning the father of the Mikilimi boys was notified of the affair and returned to his home at once. Afterwards the boys were missing for some time. They denied their part of the accident until yesterday.

Kaukane, another Hawaiian boy about the same age as the others, and the Japanese employed about the place, will be summoned as witnesses in the case. Kaukane and Mikilimi will be held until the Grand Jury investigates and decides just what action should be taken in the matter.

In building their fortune too many people want to start at the roof.

CRIMINAL LIBEL
AGAINST CONSUL

The Grand Jury Indicts Editors For Attack On Saito

ARTICLES RESULTING FROM
DOUSE AFFAIR ON MAUI

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS GIVEN BY KINNEY FOR RELATIVES CALLS FORTH BITTER SENTIMENT.

Proprietor and Publisher Shiozawa and Editor Ozawa Tokichi of the Hawaii Shimpu were this afternoon arraigned upon indictments returned against them by the Grand Jury. Both are charged with criminal libel on account of articles which appeared in the Shimpu September 23 and September 25 in which the alleged receipt on the part of Consul Saito of $500 in connection with the Douse affair was very unfavorably commented upon. There are two indictments against Shiozawa and one against Tokichi. The defendants had their bonds set at $500 each. Their plea was set for next Monday.

The indictments, besides giving a full review of the circumstances relating to the contents of the articles, contain copies of the articles themselves. In the article of Sept. 23 the rumor is related that Consul Saito secretly received from W. A. Kinney, Douse's attorney. It further states that inquiry about the Shimpu with Attorney G. A. Andrews, Andrews said it was probably H. P. Baldwin, who had contributed the money and retained Kinney, who had asked him to put off the trial for a time in order to pacify the enraged Japanese, and for this purpose it was understood that Kinney had already made the Consul grasp $500 to give to the survivors of the man Douse is alleged to have killed. It was feared, however, that the Japanese might be bought out by the workers of the accused, and for this reason the prosecution would be pressed.

The article further states that as the case involved an important question for all the "brethren" Saito should make public any proposition made to him. As so "receiving $500 and feigning ignorance without investigating whether or not there was any survivor of Yamagata to quiet the Japanese at Puna and interpose therein, in order to concoct a scheme to fatten the bosom, is grossly inexcusable and impudent. Therefore, should the circumstances require, the money should be snatched away and thrown back to Mr. Kinney. Now to foreigners it is not extremely shameful that the ignominy of the Consul always originates from monetary matters."

The article of Sept. 25 is a violent attack on the Consul and his connection with the Douse case, samples of which are quoted: "Was it understood that the Consul's official right can interfere with an individual's right to do away with public as well as private suits just according to will? Or is it intended to commit a thievery on the spot of fire, taking advantage of quarrels of others?"

SMALL FIRE IN

Union Street Blaze In Sisal Mattress Factory

COYNE'S THIRD BURNING;
NO INSURANCE CARRIED

FLAMES BORN OF WIRES AFOL FOR A MOMENT THREATEN BUNCH OF OLD SHACKS. PROMPT ACTION.

Fire broke out in the sisal mattress workshop of the Coyne Furniture Co., on the Ewa side of Union street, near Hotel, about 9 o'clock this morning, through the falling of a telephone wire across an electric wire, sparks starting the flames among the inflammable material in a more or less loose condition in the little shack.

A Japanese in the employ of the furniture company was at work in the shop when the blaze started and he at once rushed across the street to alarm Mr. Coyne. The Japanese states that he saw the telephone wire break, fall out of the electric line and produce the sparks that resulted in the fire. Mr. Coyne hastened to the scene and he and his employees, with buckets of water, at once endeavored to extinguish the flames. Meanwhile an alarm was turned in from Box 21, corner of Hotel and Fort streets, opposite Benson-Smith's drug store, and the department headquarters being but a block away, on Beretania and Fort streets, responded in double quick time. Acting Chief Deering closely followed. (Continued on Page 8.)

SANITATION SYSTEM

James Steiner, proprietor of the Island Curio store, does not pretend to be a politician, but he is full of an idea which he believes should take form in the next Legislature and is strenuously urging it wherever he thinks the seed may fall on good ground. He is out for free sewer and garbage systems.

"With the gathering of garbage with out cost and free sewers," said Mr. Steiner this afternoon, "the streets of Chinatown would take on a different appearance. Many people are too poor to afford garbage fees and sewer rates and the majority of Orientals care more for a dollar than decency."

He was really an epileptic man and is in jail here. Captain Mchela has been requested by the Naval Department to send them information about Moore.

For the purpose of placing the matter before the United States High Court, Captain Mchela, C. S. N., is engaged in compiling a list of the wrecks of vessels that have occurred in the vicinity of the Hawaiian Islands. The hope is to strengthen the chances of securing additional lights, buoys, etc.

The ejectment suit of R. Maku vs. F. Strauch, trustee, is being tried before Judge Robinson. The plaintiff is trying to oust a centerline named Mchela Maku, from premises on Vineyard street, where she has lived for sixty years. The following jury has been selected: Henry Davis, F. E. King, H. S. Swinton, Charles Girdler, Joseph K. Clark, F. P. Fernandes, Benito Guerrero, W. A. McGowan, William Green, Jacob S. Bailey, Hiram Lolomoku and Patrick McGrath.

A man decided in less than a minute yesterday to go to Manila. He was standing on the Naval wharf when someone inside said they wanted another fireman on the Sherman. Bella voice rhyming and the boat was just about to pull out. Even the gang plank had been taken down. The man had not even thought of making the trip but when he heard some one say a man was wanted he couldn't resist the temptation. The assistant engineer was there in a second and from a port hole a bargain was reached and the man pulled aboard as the transport started to steam away from the wharf. The man was left off here from the Mongolia and is a former member of the Barcelona crew.

CIVIC FEDERATION WORKING ON PARKS

The following committee report was presented at a meeting of the executive committee of the Civic Federation yesterday afternoon:

Honolulu, T. H., Nov. 15, 1935.
To the President and the Executive Committee of the Civic Federation, Honolulu.

Gentlemen:—The committee on parks, streets and public works beg leave to submit the following report: Certain matters have been referred to this committee by the Executive Committee: 1. The advisability of placing cans for rubbish at various points on the city street, especially at the Post Office. 2. The investigation of provisions in the Charles R. Bishop Trust in regard to parks, and money to be spent on parks.

1. The chairman of this committee has conferred with Postmaster Pratt in regard to placing a can for rubbish at the Post Office. He desires that we wait until he completes repairs now being made on the walks in front of the building. The kind of can desired is being investigated.

2. A letter from the secretary of the Bishop Estate informs this committee that there are no funds in control of the trustees of the Chas. R. Bishop Trust from which to furnish aid for park purposes. We are informed that, by an amended trust deed, provision for assistance to parks, originally contained in the Trust, has been rescinded.

The committee takes pleasure in reporting that an appropriation of $500 has been made by the Board of Supervisors to bring out here Mr. Charles Mulford Robinson of Rochester, N. Y., for the purpose of laying out a comprehensive park system for Honolulu. Your committee got in touch with Mr. Robinson through correspondence in regard to the sign board evil. He expressed a desire to come out here and as he made the very reasonable offer to come out here and do the work planned for $500 it seemed to be an opportunity to get a first rate man at a comparatively small cost. The committee decided that it was desirable first to work for such a comprehensive park plan and secondly to try to get this particular man out here to take up the work. While no one here has a personal knowledge of him, he has been on special missions to Europe for Harper's and the Atlantic Monthly. He has made similar plans for Buffalo, Detroit, Colorado Springs, and other cities. He has written two, at least, standard books on this question. He has the heavy recommendation of such men as Secretary Mayo Foster of the Civic Improvement League of St. Louis. Under the circumstances, it seemed best to take active steps to get the appropriation and to bring him out here. Mr. John Lucas championed the measure in the Board of Supervisors, and to him a large measure of the credit is due. The committee wishes to call attention to the fact that this is just the beginning and that the final success of the project will depend first upon getting a feasible and attractive park plan and secondly upon gradually building it. Both of these ends will require the united support not only of the Civic Federation, but of all who are interested in the improvement of the city.

The committee wishes to call attention to the large amount of interest that exists among the officials of the administration and among individuals in civic improvement. It hopes that all persons, official and unofficial, may cooperate in this good work. Respectfully submitted,
A. F. GRIFFITHS,
Chairman, Committee on Parks, Streets and Public Works.

Other members of the committee are F. J. Lowrey, G. W. Smith, F. S. Dodge, R. S. Hosmer. Money was appropriated for the cans for rubbish to be placed near the Post Office. It was voted that the Federation affiliate with the American Civic Association.

BUHLER'S PLAYERS HAVE WON HONOLULU CROWD

For a stirring play "The Three Musketeers" has few superiors, and the manner in which Richard Buhler's players presented Dumas' thrilling romance before a packed house at the Orpheum last night won the unstinted admiration and enthusiastic applause of the audience. Each man and woman in the piece was where he or she belonged, throwing a spirit into their parts that brought out the strength of each powerful situation.

Buhler, as D'Artagnan, the main spirit of the play, the gay and gallant soldier of love and adventure, had the hearts of the people from the start and his every appearance called forth glad plaudits.

Gleason's Richelieu was most effective and he earned the crowd's demonstration of satisfaction. Wilkes, Lowell and Auerbach, as musketeers, were excellent. Earl made a good Buckingham and Drum played the king with success.

As Anne of Austria, Miss Fowler revealed great talent and exhibited a convincing charm of manner.

As Lady De Winter, Miss Hayward was forceful and at her best, commanding great appreciation. Miss Chandler, as Constance, was sweet and winning.

"The Three Musketeers" will be repeated tonight and another crowded house is assured. The symphony orchestra furnishes most pleasing music. Little Miss Chandler's singing and dancing between acts always delights.

OVER A MILLION

It is expected that about $1,163,387 will be turned into the Treasury as taxes this year. Last year the amount was $967,800, so that the increase will be approximately $195,587. The tax office gives out the following figures: Total collections for ten months ending October 31, 1935, were $230,570. Total collections for Honolulu from November 1 to November 15, inclusive, were $447,815. Total collections for the outside districts of Oahu, from the 1st to the 15th, inclusive, were $163,385. Approximate collections for the outside districts are $981,779.

NATIVE SONS HAVE FUN WITH SOLDIERS

A new sport has developed at the Naval docks when transports are in: The native boys having fun with the soldiers. It is just the reverse from what it used to be. Soldiers crowded on board are always anxious for a bite of fruit. The Hawaiian boys stand off from the side of the vessel and amuse themselves by trying to hit the soldiers with apples, etc. Uncle Sam's men protect themselves, or try to, by catching the apples, or whatever is thrown, and putting them away in their knapsacks. About two dozen native sons amused themselves yesterday in this manner just before the Sherman pulled out. Then in turn the boys entertained the soldiers by swimming and diving.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1905

The most appropriate response to the Snodgrass resolution is, perhaps, that they know not what they do.

The Porto Rican 21 hours in which to decide whether to resist the Powers is like a woman convinced against her will.

Opening up the subject at hand gives information on how some men voted that was missed in the haste of the first count.

While the Territorial Treasurer glories in the results of November 15, everybody else in the Territory feels especially poor.

Koolau has something other than the old line gossip to talk about. Which is often hailed as a God-send in country districts.

Carrying the land laws up to the Supreme Court will furnish a test of the necessity for putting Hawaii's land laws on an American basis.

To an outsider there is much to suggest that certain portions of the Japanese colony are anxious that the Japanese editors reside in jail.

St. Petersburg will be praying for blizzards since nothing more can invent will so successfully check the howling and unreasoning pomposity.

It is time to be on the watch for sneal thieves, hypocrites, pharisees and wreckers when the morning paper says anything even slightly favorable of the county law.

Russia's promise to give land to the peasants is somewhat in line with what is contemplated in Hawaii where a peaceful revolution is on the boards if not already started.

Life insurance exposures and the general discoveries of the times show that the way of the philanthropist is hard when they prove to be wreckers able to keep out of jail.

The Car is not the man to receive sympathy. He has turned the entire job of governing over to De Witte. The former autocrat is only a hopeful though trembling observer.

Should the Canadian line finally put on larger steamers another improvement Honolulu will earnestly recommend is a schedule providing longer stay at this port of call.

King Kalakaua, adored by friends and sneered at by enemies, was admitted the only King of his race who made a mark around the world and "made good" wherever he went.

Again the Chamber of Commerce is talking of giving the "small fellows" a chance to say something. Should there be any other result than talk, a periodical discussion will have a revolutionary phase.

The Garden Island referring to the impressiveness of the recent Kanai Grand Jury report, calls special attention to the names of the gentlemen signed to the report. What of the names, if the facts be as stated?

Citizens of the Isle of Pines have always wanted to be Americans. They have always opposed their enforced allegiance to Cuba, and apparently have confidence in the present day process, don't that small communities can start independent governments without fear of more serious results than American favor and later annexation.

Some members of the Christian church by their secretary pro tem Snodgrass have demonstrated one of two things. That they are among the people of the earth who can be fooled all or part of the time; or that Christianity is sometimes used to cloak support of a personal spite campaign, for that is what the morning paper's gambling outcry is.

BUYING THE CAN

The Philanthropists cannot fail to "view with pride" that such a glorious institution as the Civic Federation executive committee has taken up its suggestion of placing containers about the streets for the collection of waste paper. This indicates that some members at least of the organization have some sense.

This paper is somewhat mystified, however, that these gentlemen should take money from the funds of the organization to purchase the one can which it is contemplated to place at or near the post office, presumably as a receptacle for the wrappers and envelopes now thrown on the ground and scattered by the wind. Why this extraordinary philanthropy?

Purchase of this can and of other cans to be placed in other parts of the city is well within the province of the County. It seems rather peculiar that the philanthropists ready to have the county pay $500 to secure the suggestions of a particular—no excellent move—should take upon themselves the purchase of the pioneer can for waste paper.

There is no occasion for saluting the County with expense if philanthropists want to do the buying and thereby reap everlasting glory. It is doubtful, however, to the point of certainty, whether the waste paper can will amount to anything more than a monument to philanthropy unless the County takes hold of the proposition, develops a good idea and looks after it.

Possibly, the leading lights of the Civic Federation have been able, by that remarkable foresight sometimes claimed, to know in advance just how the Supreme Court will decide on the authority of the Supervisors to make and enforce ordinances. If the matter has been talked up out of court, in a "general way" of course, the gentlemen may be right.

At the same time it seems much more reasonable and practical that the gentlemen of the Civic Federation should enlist the good offices of the County instead of taking the whole burden upon their own shoulders. The County has the men of a department that could include the waste paper cans in their rounds of town cleaning. Since the County has funds for making streets, a portion of those funds could be very properly expended in the purchase of cans that will aid in keeping the streets clean. Then, should the Supreme Court decide according to the wishes of those who sometimes act as if informed in advance, an experiment in the power of public spirit to keep waste out of the streets would be on.

It is an experiment worth while from every standpoint because it is in line with making the town more attractive, of building up Honolulu and not leaving it to the dyspeptic indifference of the Knockers.

ANOTHER APPEAL
ATTEMPT DEFEATED

The defense in the case of Moss Melon vs. Pioneer Mill Co. this morning renewed its strenuous efforts before the Supreme Court for the purpose of arranging for an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. On the bench were Justices Wilber and Harvill, and Judge De Bolt taking the place of Chief Justice Frear.

E. B. McClanahan, representing the Pioneer Mill Co., presented a motion asking for a stay of the sending of the remittitur to the Circuit Court for thirty days in order that he could present a motion for a writ of error to the United States Court. Ashford argued against the motion. McClanahan offered to completely indemnify the plaintiff in any manner that the court might see fit, but the motion was finally denied, the court holding that it had not the power to grant it. The defense in this case is working strenuously in the face of many defeats to get an appeal to the United States Supreme Court, and it is not to be supposed that its efforts have as yet been exhausted.

Keanu Causes Arrest
Of Entire
Koolauloa Road Gang

CHARGED WITH MALICIOUS INJURY

News arrived from Koolau this morning of a new and very drastic intermezzo in the road overseer row which is at present raging between Supervisor Paele and Road Overseer Keanu, the latter having had the whole road gang arrested for tearing down the work it performed and of which he was in charge.

Keanu was originally appointed by the Board of Supervisors. As such he with his gang of men were engaged in the construction of certain cement work on a bridge at Punaluu, Koolauloa. Supervisor Paele did not like the work and discharged Keanu without authority by the Board, as was related in the Bulletin a few days ago.

Paele placed a man, named James Kahiona, in Keanu's place and ordered him to tear down the cement work done under the supervision of Keanu. Keanu came to Honolulu and sought legal advice.

Yesterday Keanu electrified the quiet countryside of Koolau by a radical step. The destruction of the cement bridge work he had done in Punaluu evidently greatly riled him and he proceeded to take revenge. He consequently went to Judge Nainoa at Laie, the District Magistrate of Koolauloa District, and swore to a warrant for the arrest not only of James Kahiona, but for the entire gang of road workers, numbering eight men, on a charge of malicious injury. The warrant charges the men with having maliciously destroyed the cement work at the Punaluu bridge, the damage thus having been done by them being estimated in the sum of $165.

All the defendants were arrested yesterday. Their bonds were set high, no less than $500 for each man. Their cases have been set for hearing before Judge Nainoa next Saturday.

REPORT BY GRAND
INDICTS KELLETT

The Territorial Grand Jury this forenoon made its first report since the opening of the present term. The report was merely a preliminary one, no written report being filed.

Fourteen indictments were filed. They were all placed on the secret file with the exception of one against P. Hanson Kellett, Jr., the defaulting clerk of Judge De Bolt's court, who embezzled the funds in his hands as executor of the estate of M. A. Harrell.

Kellett was present in court, having come over from Kaneohe, where he is now staying. He asked that he be arraigned immediately, which was done, the defendant waiving the reading of his indictment. Deputy Attorney General Peters asked that the case be placed on the calendar in its regular order. This was done. Kellett's bond was fixed by Judge Lindsay in the sum of $2,500, this being the amount of his former bond. He was allowed two hours in which to secure his sureties. Kellett's plea was set for next Monday at 9:30 a. m.

Among the indictments which are still on the secret file it is probable that some will be found against Publisher Shiozawa of the Hawaii Shinto and other Japanese newspaper men, charging them with criminal libel in connection with articles written against Japanese Consul Mikki Saito and his attitude in the Dume case. The Grand Jury spent considerable time in the investigation of this matter. The rest of the cases are probably all of minor interest.

APPEAL ALLOWED

Chief Justice Frear this afternoon signed the necessary papers in an appeal to be taken in the suit Albertina Polyblank vs. David Kawaunaka and Kuhio Kalaniniano, to the Supreme Court of the United States.

CRIMINAL LIBEL.

"How obscure are his ways; with no reason for the receipt of money. The question of Yamagata killed by burning, is a matter concerning the rights of all brethren generally, not only being the question of Yamagata alone, but also a big question of all the countrymen."

"But Mr. Saito, the Consul, received the money from our enemy, and he intends to ignore the rights of Seventy Thousand Brethren upon an excuse that it was so requested by Mr. Kinney, the attorney for Dume. It is not known when Mr. Mikki Saito became naturalized to America, nor when he became an American tout of this and that, to act as a go-between in such a case, how many hundreds besides Five Hundred Dollars has been received from Mr. Kinney as a fee in advance for successful compromise?"

"Pshaw. Vulgar Fellow. The more that is heard the more hateful does the beast become."

PLENTY NEW PEOPLE
IN TOWN

SAYS JOE COHEN

"I tell you there are lots of new people in town, and I am in a position to know," said J. C. Cohen, whose activity has given the town the splendid season of the National Stock Company. Cohen made this same remark when his last company was here.

"Up there at the box office I get to know the people of the town pretty well and it's a fact that during this and the last theater season at the Orpheum a lot of new people showed up. Some of them are tourists. I find that the visitors like to see a show when away from home. But the largest proportion is people who are working here. They say a lot of people have gone away. That's right enough but others have come from somewhere to take their places.

"We've got a lot of people here yet, white people I mean, and most of them will spend money to see good shows. I'll tell you another thing. When I was at the coast, business men said we ought to have more shows here and urged me to bring down a company. These same fellows haven't been to the Orpheum just the same. No, I'm not kidding, our company is doing a good business, but it just shows you a thing or two about who talks and who upholds the town."

INJURED BY LUMP OF COAL

Sisun, a Japanese working in the hold of the ship Abner Colburn at the old Inter-lanai wharf, unloading coal, was struck on the back by a huge lump of coal this morning and badly injured. He was taken to his home in the Iwilei district in a hack. After loading a bucket it was being hoisted among the masts to be pulled over the side into a chute when from high in the air the lump fell over the bucket's side and fell, hitting the Japanese workman. His injuries are not necessarily fatal.

Few more curious places for a church could be found than one at Southern Delahere, which stands in the middle of a farm yard. The only means of entrance is by passing through the yard.

At noon the Royal Mausoleum was decorated by appropriate ceremonies in honor of the dead king. This afternoon a paina or luau will be given at the residence of Prince Cupid, Paualeiani, Waikiki, when the prizes will be awarded and donated to the successful contestants in the yacht race.

The judges for the miniature yacht race were E. A. C. Long, E. K. Lilikani and M. K. Keohokaloie. A. M. Keoho acted as the timekeeper and starter.

From 10 o'clock this morning until nearly 1 o'clock this afternoon the bay was dotted with owners of the little yachts and the admirers in row and sailing boats plying from one end of the course to the other.

In different parts of town the Hawaiians decorated with leis and observed the birthday of the late king in a fitting manner. Tonight there will be other celebrations of a quiet kind.

The Australians are the greatest tea drinkers in the world, annually consuming seven and three-fourths pounds a head. In England the consumption is about six and three-fourths pounds a head, and in the United States only one pound two ounces.

OTHER CELEBRATIONS IN HONOR OF LATE KALAKAUA

FIVE TAKE PART IN CONTEST.
FIRST PRIZE IS WON BY THE WHITE STAR, BY HALL.

In spite of the drizzling rain which is said to have marked the birthday of King Kalakaua for years and years past, the miniature yacht races took place today in Honolulu harbor. It was to have started at 10 o'clock, but owing to the lack of necessary breezes the contest was not begun until some time later. The usual course was followed, starting from near the light house, out by the can buoy and around the bell buoy and back past the judges.

The White Star, by W. A. Hall, time 1:22, passed over the imaginary line first. La Hoomano, by George Shaw, came in second, time 1:24. The Walikahulu, by A. Kalehau, time 1:29, arrived third, and the Pihaiakulu, by Kalahikiola, time 1:32, was the fourth one. There were five contestants in the race besides those mentioned, including the Healan, by W. Kana'wai. The best time this season was five minutes better than the winner of the first prize last year.

For three seasons in succession John Lili has won the handsome prize including the "Kapiolani Cup" and the "Kapiolani Cup" For some reason he did not enter the race today.

At noon the Royal Mausoleum was decorated by appropriate ceremonies in honor of the dead king. This afternoon a paina or luau will be given at the residence of Prince Cupid, Paualeiani, Waikiki, when the prizes will be awarded and donated to the successful contestants in the yacht race.

The judges for the miniature yacht race were E. A. C. Long, E. K. Lilikani and M. K. Keohokaloie. A. M. Keoho acted as the timekeeper and starter.

RUSSIAN RAILWAYS.

At the time of the breaking out of the war with Japan the various railway systems of European Russia comprised a little more than 31,000 miles of road open for traffic and the Asiatic lines were 5,153 miles.

Of the European lines the Government owned and operated 24,311 miles, while 10,872 miles were owned and operated by public companies, and with 1,298 miles of short local lines, made up the total.

The whole network consists of twenty-eight lines uninterruptedly connected with each other and eleven isolated lines, nineteen of the former (69 per cent.) operated by the Government and nine (40 per cent.) by public companies.

For many years the Government has operated its lines at a heavy loss, which, however, gradually decreased from 30,000,000 rubles deficit in 1889 to 11,500,000 rubles in 1901. The cost of construction of all the Russian railways, not including those in Finland, is estimated at 5,250,000,000 rubles, or about 99,000 rubles per verst.

The gross receipts of the railways (except those of Finland) for 1901, the latest year for which there are complete returns, were 596,802,000 rubles, while the expenditures were 416,087,000 rubles. In that year there were employed on the Russian railways a total of 615,384 men, who received in wages an aggregate of 202,075,471 rubles, an average of a little more than 328 rubles per man.

RELAPSE INTO BARBARISM.

An appalling criticism of the London of today is made by Charles Edward Russell in the November Everybody's. In the Foreword to his new series of articles, "Soldiers of the Common Good," Mr. Russell says: "And it will appear as a strange and awful fact that in the first of the countries we are to consider in these papers the influence of civilization has become so weak that in the centers of great modern cities, surrounded by wealth and sumptuous display, millions of men and women are daily and visibly relapsing into barbarism. After a long descent from the race most talked about and boasted of, and after all the aids of the most advanced modern life, the fruit there is the type of a dreadful creature, deformed in body and mind, cursed with inherited disease, helpless and hopeless, bringing into the world other creatures more wretched than himself, darkening the glass of civilization with the sinister portent of his haggard face. It will appear that this product of city life in England is increasing so rapidly and becoming so threatening that natural commissions are formed to consider him and how to mitigate the plague of him, and yet he increases, and yet all the excellent plans and schemes that help others and lighten other burdens never reach him nor diminish his numbers nor take from the national life the shadow of his presence. It will appear, I trust, that he is the natural and perfect product of the system of unchecked and insatiable greed, of the system of class and caste which forms England's problem as it forms ours, and that these systems having proceeded much farther and existed much longer in England than in the United States, it is possible for us to stop now and consider whether we really wish to erect Steuways and Clerkenwells in our own cities."

HONESTY THE BEST POLICY?

An extremely plain statement of the absence of ethics in matters of high finance is made by Mr. Lawson in the November installment of "Frenzied Finance" in Everybody's.

"As a matter of fact," he says, "syndicates are organized in Wall Street by successful bankers or capitalists—men who have made a great deal of money—not by men notable for their personal virtue and moral purity. In fact, the latter qualities never enter into the consideration of those who chip in to this form of blind pool. The head of the 'syndicate' may be a slick operator who takes full advantage of the traditional secrecy connected with the syndicate, to turn over to his partners only such part of the gains of a particular venture as will insure their good-will for his next. The attraction for the others is not his 'honesty,' but the privilege of sharing the profits he is due to capture. He can charge what he pleases for promotion costs; he can appropriate to himself such stock bonuses as may fall to his syndicate; he can give out that the operation has proved a loss—no one is the wiser, and the rule prescribes that accounts, whatever they be, are to be considered necessarily correct. Detection of robbery being impossible, there has grown up the tradition that syndicates are inevitably pure. I described to my readers early in this story how Mr. Rogers and William Rockefeller erected the fifth-floor Amalgamated structure and housed a number of most distinguished capitalists into believing that they were all in on the ground floor. Later the checks handed out to the participants were considerably less than the actual share of profit due each."

Books, Bookish People and Things

"The Christian Register," Sept. 23 and Oct. 5. The Christian Register Association, Boston, Mass. $3.00 a year.

"The Religion of George Friebl-Hoar" is a very interesting contribution. Dr. S. S. Hale has an "Ordination" sermon and also writes on "Drunkness."

By the way, there is no more earnest and reasonable temperance movement than that of the Unitarian Temperance Society of Boston. Their publications sent free are written by such persons as Hale, Channing, Mary Livermore, Brooke Hereford, Canon Farrar and Mrs. Phelps Ward. Charles F. Dole (cousin of S. B. Dole) is president of the Society, and has some stirring addresses on "Temperance: The New Movement," "What Converted Me," and so on.

"Don't Drink," "Don't Smoke," by A. A. Livermore, are worth reading even by those who consider themselves too advanced for the older (and better) ideas about personal habits.

After all is said and done, despite its seeming "broadness" and "larger view," the laxer way is not found leading up to higher things. It has not in it the spirit of—

"Look up and not down
Look out and not in;
Look forward and not back—
Lend a Hand!"

As for tobacco, no man is really clean who uses it. And while not touching on the harm it may do to a man physically, the habit may be called beastly selfish.

Barring the few "women" who say that they like a tobacco-scented breath, is not such an emphysema an insult to a wife?

For a constant user of the weed becomes saturated and can no more eliminate the odor from his person than he can get rid of his nose. If a man has no wife and is considerate enough not to seek one, yet he mingles more or less with men and women and exposes them to his malarious person. Still, this is a small matter by the side of the effect such a selfish indulgence has on the character. Wine drinking is really the lesser evil of the two.

"Browning's Magazine," October. Browning, King & Co., New York. "What to Wear," by J. H. True, is very suggestive. "Gracefulness is the predominating characteristic of the Fall and Winter fashions in men's clothing," he writes.

"In the body coat for more formal wear—like afternoon weddings, calls of ceremony, the promenade, church and so on—there is a choice of two models—the English cut-away, closing with three buttons, and the Prince Albert. The latter is, of course, the more formal garment. The mode calls for a greater length than has prevailed for a long time. The skirts of the Prince Albert fall to a point considerably below the knees, producing that long, graceful effect, which is just now the desideratum."

The Prince Albert is no doubt the most graceful coat ever made, but it takes a certain familiarity with good society and the best customs to make it liked.

By country "jakes" and rusticity generally, it is considered as peculiarly ministerial, but it is no more so than it is political in Washington. But it has its own place on the individual and for occasion, and where it is properly worn the swallow-tail cannot take its place. The latter is amusingly affected by out-of-the-way, primitive communities.

"The Delineator," November, 15 cents a copy; $1.00 a year. The Butterick Pub. Co., New York.

A very excellent number. There are interesting fashion notes, travel sketches, poems and stories. Articles on such subjects as "The Rights of the Child," "Good Looks," "Safe Foods and How to Get Them," "The Kitchen," "Art Students and Successful Work," made the publication of great value.

"Cattle Tuberculosis" is the name of a book published by Wm. R. Jenkins, New York. The same house has also issued Neumann's "Parasites and Parasitic Diseases of the Domesticated Animals."

Bank That Failed Held Politicians Paper

Pittsburg, Oct. 23.—John B. Cunningham, receiver of the Enterprise National Bank of Allegheny, Pa., has discovered that notes for about $600,000, held by that bank for money lent by T. Lee Clark, the cashier, who committed suicide, are missing. Whether these notes were destroyed or whether no notes were taken for loans, Cunningham does not know, but he is of the opinion that they were destroyed or taken from the bank. These notes, the directors of the bank suspect, contain the names of politicians. From what has been learned from Clark's past, it appears that he had no system of recording loans, much less of informing his directors about them and getting their approval of the securities.

William A. Seidling, a director, today said the directors had learned several weeks ago that the bank had notes signed by State politicians, among them, it is said, one signed by United States Senator Penrose. Clark, however, had denied that he had any obligations containing Penrose's signature. Some of the directors believe they will find these notes were destroyed by Clark when he decided to take his life to shield his name and his friends.

On the application of two stockholders in the National Cable and Wire Company, the corporation of which Clark was president, a receiver was appointed today for that concern. The company was organized with a capital stock of $10,000, which subsequently was increased to $500,000, half of which was preferred. Preferred stock to the value of $154,000 is outstanding. The company makes insulated wire for the transmission of electricity, and last year did a business amounting to about $50,000. By reason of Clark's suicide, the bill relates, calls have been made for demand loans amounting to $15,000, which the company is unable to meet. The receiver will operate the plant.

Fred. Gwinner, president of the defunct Enterprise National Bank, when asked today what the shortage of the Enterprise would amount to, said:

"It will be very large; much larger, in fact, than we first supposed. From what I know now it will reach $1,500,000. None of the directors or officers, not even myself, had any idea that it would reach such an enormous sum as that. The directors have determined, however, that, no matter how great the shortage, it will be paid and the bank will reopen for business. We hope that before a month elapses it will be in operation and will eventually hold up its head and occupy the proud position that it formerly commanded."

TALK WITH C. L. WIGHT

On his travels and his impression gained by three months' trip through the Philippines will appear in SATURDAY'S BULLETIN.

The BUSINESS MAN'S HANDY INDEX, published in the Saturday Bulletin and the Weekly Edition, gives a concise and complete resume of all legal notices, calls for tenders, judgments, building permits and real estate transactions. Evening Bulletin, 75 cents per month. Weekly Bulletin, $1 per year.

WHAT IS THE "HONEST" GAMBLER?

They do not "keep books" in the most financial circles, bluntly explains Mr. Lawson in "Frenzied Finance" in the November Everybody's. "That eminent business man," he says, "swinging great interests, should be in the habit of slipping their money into a crack and, in the hope of gain, be absolutely blind to what happened to it. It may seem incredible. In the recent life-insurance investigation in New York, one of the high officials of the Mutual Life Insurance Company explained that all parties to any of the scores of five-million to one-hundred and five-million syndicates in which is corporation participated, accepted blindly the checks turned over to them by the promoters of the syndicate, and not only knew nothing of what had been done with their money, but never saw even an accounting of the transaction. It was the custom of 'the Street,' he said, 'to assume the honesty of the big banking-houses which managed these syndicates, and he did not believe such trusts were ever betrayed. This latter assumption is part of the Wall Street flimflam. You will hear of the sturdy 'honesty' of some notorious gambler; you will find a faro dealer nicknamed 'Honest' Abe White. All such designations are no more than advertisements—a part of the paraphernalia of the pea-and-shell performance, the prosperity of which depends on persuading the victim that he is having a square deal."

STATE OWNERSHIP TRIUMPH.

In the Foreword to his new series of articles, "Soldiers of the Common Good," Charles Edward Russell says, in the November Everybody's:

"At the same time in another new land the movement toward state ownership and state control that has lately swept over Europe has been carried to the farthest limits. I am to tell how New Zealand has contended with our problems and what kind of answers she has found for them in a system by which the government owns and operates railroads, telegraphs, telephones, banks, insurances, how it prevents strikes by compulsory arbitration, helps workmen to find employment, and conducts a paternal supervision of every citizen from the cradle to the grave. I am to tell what has come of this, and what life is like in a country where there are no strikes, no lockouts, no contests between labor and capital, no very rich men, none very poor, no disturbances, no riots, no rancorous politics, no 'pulls,' no jobs, no trusts, no Wall Street, no Standard Oil, no Ogden Armour, no unpunished crime, no bribery, no grafting, nothing to fight about and nothing to do but to live and die. The condition of New Zealand has been held up as the ideal and ultimate state to which all modern progress inevitably tends. These papers are to tell how the New Zealand system works in practice and what it really does and fails to do."

A ROTHSCHILD FUNERAL.

Vance Thompson, in Everybody's Magazine for November, describes, in "The Rothschilds of France," the pagantry of Baron Arthur Rothschild's funeral.

"The Baron Arthur," says Mr. Thompson, "was a weakling; he was unregarded in his lifetime; the newspapers said he died by his own hand; but his funeral served to illustrate the family magnificence and social power. All traffic was stopped in the main thoroughfares of the city through which the procession passed. For hours the heart of Paris ceased to beat. Business ceased. Trams and buses were arrested. Hour after hour the long funeral crept through the boulevards while Paris looked on in wonder. The same Paris had seen the old poet, Victor Hugo, borne to his grave in a pauper's cart. The dead Baron went with medieval pomp, though he was but a nephew of the house. Came first three coaches with the rabbits. Then the hearse, with great plumes, drawn by eight horses, in sable clothes. Then the house servants; butlers in white silk stockings; others in gilt chains and liveries; valets, coachmen, footmen, stable lads; butlers, masters of bonds and horses in pink; guards and beaters of the preserves, and, conspicuous, the huntmen, leading in leash the Baron's favorite hounds—and the hounds leaped in leash and bayed; followed, too, his farmers and the peasants of his fields; and with all went the family, and in a mile of carriages, the aristocracy of France paid homage: with such pomp the Baron was taken to his grave; and the earth was laid upon him and he slept.

"Such anecdotes are really documents of the social life of the epoch."

The Empress of Germany's private wedding present to her relations always consist of a very plain travelling clock, for she values chiefly among all other virtues that of punctuality.

CANAL IN 1915

WHAT'S WHAT ENGINEER ROUDOLPH IS PREDICTING

ONE OF CONSULTING ENGINEERS TELLS OF WHAT HAS TO BE DONE—EIGHT HOUR RULE WAS A MISTAKE.

Washington, October 24.—The 15th man Canal Commission today made public a letter written by Isham Randolph, a member of the board of consulting engineers of the Panama canal, to Zina R. Carter, president of the sanitary district of Chicago, which embodies the views of Randolph concerning canal matters. He has recently returned from a visit to Panama with other members of the board, and his opinions are interesting, and, in view of the publication of this letter by the Commission, may be considered semi-official.

In his letter Randolph says: "What we do know is that it can be done; that Americans can do it and that in as short a time as so stupendous an undertaking can be put through. Hence we may reasonably look for the passage of the great ocean freights from the Caribbean to the Pacific before our calendars are headed 1915. How much before this depends, of course, on the success of the canal. This is no easy triumph for the builders, who must contend with and overcome difficulties not encountered in our temperate zone.

"First, there are climatic difficulties which my investigations force me to believe have been magnified. The question of proper housing has been a problem, but its solution is progressing, and it has had to wait upon the lumber, which must come from the States. The French left behind some 2500 buildings which are being made habitable. When the equipment is on hand and the organization perfected at least 24,000 men will be required in the various departments of industry.

"The source of supply for labor so far has been Jamaica. The efficiency of this labor is as low as 25 per cent, taking an average laborer in our latitude as the unit. This is due in part to the fact that the supply is not equal to the demand, and an independence is thereby induced which tends to worthlessness. If a foreman undertakes to make them do a fair day's work they quit and move on to the next camp where they know that a job awaits them. The introduction of the eight-hour system on the isthmus seems a lamentable mistake and one which adds about 25 per cent to the labor cost of the work.

"The whole line is cluttered up with abandoned French machinery, the cost value of which is said to reach $30,000,000. This machinery is valueless and out of date.

"I cast no reflections upon the work of the French. They left behind them evidences of engineering skill and successful battles with difficulties which convince me that if the honest workers had been sustained and the vast sums which were diverted into robber channels had been legitimately applied, it might today be the mission of the United States only to enlarge the Panama canal.

"On my last day in Panama, after hours of tramping in the rain and through the mud of the Culebra cut, and laborious climbing up the hills, I arrived with the others of our party at a Government hashhouse. We went in unannounced and ordered dinner. There was no delay in serving and there was a reasonable variety of well-cooked, wholesome food.

"The hospitals are a source of pride to our people. You will, no doubt, have seen statements which purport to have come from members of our board of consulting engineers forecasting our success. Our report, or our reports, should we fail to agree, will embody our conviction as to the best type of canal, its probable cost and the reasonable time within which we believe that the waterway can be constructed. Until we are ready to make our official statements we are not giving out individual statements."

The Chicken as a Pet

To one fond of birds, the pleasures of chicken raising are most seductive. The chicken in its youth is perhaps a trifle ethereal in its lines of beauty, but as it grows into a buxom hen it takes to itself a comeliness which we admire—when cooked.

To become a chicken farmer you need a back yard, an old barrel, a roll of wire netting. We have the netting as well as about everything else in the line of Poultry Sundries.

AORANGI STOPS EN ROUTE TO VANCOUVER

Delayed by the loading of a heavy cargo of sugar as the R. M. S. Aorangi arrived early this morning and docked at the Bishop wharf about 8 o'clock. She was due yesterday afternoon. She brought six passengers for Honolulu and a small amount of freight. The Aorangi took on about seventy tons of coal here. She expects to get away at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon but will probably be late in starting. She carries about 50 through passengers, and a full cargo. Thirty Japanese were taken from here in the steamer.

In her hold she has 1,200 tons of sugar for the Vancouver Sugar Refinery and freight for Vancouver and Canadian points. The Aorangi left Sydney on the afternoon of October 30th. She arrived and departed from Brisbane on November 1st. About ten hours were spent at Suva loading sugar. From the last named port to Honolulu she experienced moderate trade winds with moderate sea and excellent weather. The Aorangi passed the R. M. S. Mowara at 11 o'clock on the night of November 3d.

Passengers for this port were as follows: Percival Leonard, Miss V. Leonard, Miss Sybil Lee, F. T. Penny, A. McKee, J. Linquist.

OFFERED IN EVIDENCE

At the N. Y. Life Insurance Co. investigation before Commissioner Campbell in the Capitol yesterday afternoon Judd offered in evidence a letter from Mr. Wickett, which ran in part as follows:

Oct. 13.
W. M. Harris, Esq., Inspector of agencies,
Dear Sir:—I called you this morning as follows:
"Investigation postponed Nov. 15. Bone of contention, destruction of original policy. Commissioner insists this be produced, otherwise matter exceedingly serious."

The letter goes on to tell about the issuance of the subpoena and the publication of the matter in the newspapers. It then goes on as follows: "but everything can be settled with complete exoneration to the New York Life if that original policy can be sent out here before November 15. I certainly cannot believe that the company destroyed it entirely."

"The Attorney General, after the commissioner had allowed us the postponement until November 15, stated that the question as to whether the New York Life's license would be taken away or not, rested on one or two things: The production of the original policy, or if it is lost, an explanation which will be satisfactory to Commissioner Campbell."

It is stated on what is said to be unquestionable authority that Kalua Island, twenty-five miles south of Port Simpson and facing Tuckers Inlet, is to be the site of Laurier City, the western terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

CLAUDINE LANDS THIS MORNING

The steamer Claudine arrived at 4:30 o'clock this morning from Maui ports. Saturday she discharged cargo at Lahaina and Kahului. Mail and passengers were also landed at Hana. From there the boat went to Opele Gulch and remained until Monday.

The Claudine was unable to land at Keanae and Nahuiku on the outward trip on account of a northwest swell that was running at the time. Yesterday she attempted to land at Nahuiku but found the sea still too rough for work. Freight on board for Nahuiku and Keanae were kept on the ship and returned to Honolulu.

SUPERVISORS MEET ON MONDAY NEXT

SMALL FIRE IN CITY'S CENTER.

Following the chemical wagon, which was first at the fire.

It was steadily and finely raining at the time and only those who had to be on the streets were out of doors, but the alarm in a few seconds called out an immense crowd of citizens and citizens. It is long since a fire occurred, so near to the heart of the city, and the place of the blaze was a dangerous one. The sidewalks were quickly crowded and Hotel street was jammed with the curious throng. Windows and balconies were likewise alive with "rubbering" residents. The police experienced no difficulty, however, in handling the crowd and maintaining the fire lines.

When the engines and hose carts arrived flames were leaping hungrily through the cracks of the old rotten-boarded, tin-roofed, bill-board fronted shack immediately adjoining the Union street back stand. Within the blaze looked vigorous and had the flames extended either to the rear or mauka much damage would have been done and the half of a block might have been destroyed.

It would have taken but little encouragement for the fire to have reached back to Miller's restaurant, taken in the green-fronted barnlike structure with the three brass balls, Peters' messenger service headquarters, Guy Owens' electrical establishment, and so on, along to where Sterling the painter, used to be located, including a bunch of ugly frame structures. But the chemical crew shut out any probability of any such city cleaning work by the flames and within 15 minutes there was no sign of a spark.

Bales of sisal were hustled into the street, where the broken bales flamed up only to be soothed with a mummy stream from a ready hose. Telephone and electric linesmen arrived early and cut out connections so the firemen could work without risk. To extinguish the fire it was necessary to tip up the shack a bit.

When the fire was discovered a bunch of breakfasters turned out of Miller's restaurant, smelling smoke, and the pawnbrokers, near by, hurried cheap jewelry and Hawaiian souvenir coins, a pistol or two and some binoculars into their safe.

The damaged shack is the property of William Wolters. There was no insurance on the building or on Coyne's effects therein.

This is the third fire in Coyne's experience. When he was in the Progress block some floss, ignited by a cigarette, it is said, caused a blaze, and it was not many months ago that Mr. Coyne's residence was destroyed by fire.

The firemen deserve credit for the rapidity with which they extinguished the flames.

CONSTITUTIONALITY QUESTION OF LOCAL ELECTION LAW.

test on his hands. Edings is preparing his brief in this case. In this connection he intends to spring a point, which bears on the constitutionality of the election law itself.

Edings' point will be that the election law is unconstitutional because it does not allow for adding to the official ballot the name of any man, outside of the candidates whose names are printed on the ballots. Thus, if the voter wishes to vote for a man whose name is not on the ballot, he is not allowed to do so. This, Edings will hold, is in contravention to the constitutional rights of the voter to vote for whom he pleases.

An odd feature of the count of the ballots in the Fernandez case yesterday, which was observed by those who were engaged in the counting, was that a number of the ballots which were held to have been legally cast, and which were found in the bunches of non-rejected ballots, were marked in such a way that they should under the law certainly have been rejected.

Some of these ballots had the crosses marking the voter's choice of candidates far inside of the line. Others showed crosses, which had been partially erased and substituted by crosses elsewhere. This kind of ballot would certainly come under the ban as being marked for identification. A still queerer proposition is that several ballots were found among those which were accepted, which bore absolutely no mark of any kind, being absolutely blank. These ballots were presumably counted, but for whom they were counted remains a mystery.

A jury has not as yet been secured to try the Takada murder case. All the forenoon was spent in examining jurors on their voir dire.
