Urge Governor To Appoint Movie Censor

At a recent meeting of the Social Service Association of Kauai much discussion was had regarding the moral effect of improperly censored motion pictures, with the result that the association through a resolution, has requested Governor Wallace R. Farrington to appoint a censor to pass upon all the pictures coming into the territory. The resolution follows:

Resolution. Whereas, the evils of improperly censored motion pictures upon the people of our island and upon children, especially, are apparent, and, Whereas, we know that the class of films exhibited on our island posters and promotes immorality and crime in some instances; and, Whereas, we believe that the objectionable pictures can be definitely eliminated from circulation through action by the proper authorities, therefore, be it

Resolved, that we, the members of the Social Service Association of Kauai, urge upon the Governor of the territory definite action such as has been recommended by other bodies similar to ours and by individuals in the position to know the facts to-wit: The appointment of a competent censor of all motion picture films brought into Honolulu for distribution and display through the islands; and that such censor be empowered to forbid the exhibition of all films which in his judgment may be harmful to the morals of the people especially the young.

Be it further resolved, that copies of this resolution be presented to Governor W. R. Farrington and to the press of Kauai and Oahu.

ESLIE, H. WILCOX, President, Social Service Association, Kauai. ROYAL G. HALL, Secretary, Social Service Association, Kauai.

Circuit Court Has Few Cases At This Session

The first session of the Circuit Court of the fifth district is now under way. Tomorrow arguments will be heard in regard to demurrers to the indictments drawn last meeting of the grand jury.

Demurrers have been filed by Attorney Kalukau in regard to the indictments charging Felix de los Reyes, Francisco D. Penado, Mariano Meran, Rufino Luching, Kasimiro Aragona and Lucas Aragona, with robbery in the first degree. The demurrer states that the indictment is ambiguous and fails to allege directly that the defendants committed the offense of robbery in the first degree. If Judge Achi sustains the demurrer it means that the grand jury will be called back to bring a new indictment. If it is overruled the defendants will be brought to trial at once.

The first case on the calendar is the territory vs. Eduardo and Santiago Corombo charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. This case will be tried on Monday 20th. The new jury for 1922 will be called for the first time for this case.

Other cases on the calendar for this term are the territory vs. Louis Rego, Rego is charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Joseph Celestro on April 10, 1921. This case was postponed from the session of last year.

An appeal from the district court of Kawaihau in the case of the territory vs. Kasimiro Aragona is also on the calendar. Aragona is charged with having threatened to break Attorney Henriques' neck. He was found guilty and put under a $500 bond to keep the peace. He is appealing from the decision. Just at present he is sojourning in the county jail, being held in connection with the Hanalei robbery case.

Another appeal case is on the calendar, being an appeal for mitigation of sentence by Alexander Barido, Pedro Velasco and T. A. Samonte Jr., charged with assault and battery. The men pleaded guilty in the district court and were sentenced to six months in jail by Judge Hjorth.

Charles Wilson and James Charman, charged with burglary, will also be tried in this session.

Wm. Waterhouse Winner Safety-First Essay Contest

To William Waterhouse of the Kauai high and grammar school has been awarded first place in the Safety-First essay contest, which has just closed on the island of Kauai. His essay has been forwarded to Honolulu for competition with essays sent in from each county within the territory.

During the first few weeks the grammar school children of America have been writing essays on the subject "How I Can Make the Highways More Safe." In each county these essays are submitted to a committee, which selects the best one and forwards it for state or territorial competition, final winner to be sent to Highway and Highway Transport Education Committee, Washington, D. C., which is offering prizes for the best essays, as follows: 1st, Gold watch and trip to Washington, all expenses paid; 2nd, Gold loving cup; 3rd, Silver loving cup. Besides these national prizes in each state and territory three prizes will be awarded: 1st, Gold medal and $15; 2nd, Silver medal and $10; 3rd, Bronze medal and $5. Any pupil of grammar school grade, 14 years old or under could compete.

The Kauai committee, composed of Miss Elsie Wilcox, Mrs. Frank Crawford, and Rev. Royal G. Hall has completed its work of going over all essays submitted on this island and has announced that the winner for the county of Kauai is William Allen Waterhouse, aged 12, of the eighth grade, Kauai high and grammar school. His essay has been forwarded to Vaughan MacDonagh, superintendent of public instruction for entry in the territorial competition. The committee has given honorable mention to the essays submitted by Ethel Wildfield of the Kilauea school and Ah Sun Dang of Elele school, and expresses regret that no more than one essay could be selected, for many were very interestingly written and illustrated and worthy of much praise.

Much Interest Taken In Sugar Course At Kapaa

The course in sugar training at the Kapaa school is showing several of the earmarks of success. The children are taking a huge interest in it. Many of them that formerly thought in terms of a future bookkeeper's job are now beginning to see that there is probably more in a good training in the basic industry of the territory.

The course is not laid out or designed to teach the children all there is to know about the production of sugar cane. The designers of the program know that they can get more of that in a short time in the field than they could ever get out of books. But the history of the industry is given, the possibilities of further development are shown and many of the sidelights that the ordinary field men never get are being thrown on the subject.

The Kapaa school has a small model nine-roller mill. The children study this and see just how the juice is taken from the sticks and turned into sugar. A. H. Case, chemist of the Grove Farm plantation, described to the children in detail each and every step of the manufacture until the cane enters the mill until sugar comes out in bags and the by-products are all made up. The by-products of such things as the molasses, ashes, alcohol, etc.

The Kapaa school has entered the Honolulu Star-Bulletin's garden contest again this year. It has a good garden in which most of the vegetables are raised that are required for the domestic science department of the school where many luncheons are prepared each day. The children do all the work in the garden and are getting a great deal of good, practical experience in it.

The manual training department of the school is in a thriving condition. The work has grown so that the present facilities are inadequate. A new shop is to be put up by the county, the work to be started in the very near future. This work will be done by the county carpenters, but all the repair work that has been done about the school and the school cottages in the last year has been done by the children. Before he graduates each boy will be required to make some special piece of furniture and each girl will have to make her own graduating dress.

KAUAI TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION TO HAVE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

The local teachers association will have in the future an executive council consisting of the regular elected officers and one representative from each political district in the county. This council will meet from time to time to consider important matters concerning teachers and the schools. It is impossible to hold meetings more than once each year for all teachers and this council will be able to serve the association during the year. President Raymond has appointed the following members on the executive council: Miss C. A. Thompson, Waimea district; Miss Janet Hastie, Koloa district; Miss C. K. Jordan, Lihue district; Mrs. C. Lai Kawaihau district; and Mrs. L. L. Patterson, Hanalei district. These members will serve until the next annual meeting of the teachers' association, with the following elected officers: Mrs. Maude C. Sisson, vice president; Mrs. H. Wedemeyer, treasurer and Mrs. Lucy Wright, secretary.

Mrs. Hagood of Keala was a passenger for Honolulu by the Claudine last Saturday.

Judge Lyle A. Dickey spent several days in Honolulu last week. He returned by the Claudine last Friday.

C. J. Holt went to Honolulu last Thursday, taking with him two inmates for the insane asylum. He returned Friday.

Ernest Spillner Wins First Prize In Thrift Contest

Ernest Spillner, a 12-year old student in the seventh grade at the Makaweli school, won first prize in the thrift essay contest which has just been completed on Kauai. Second Prize was won by William Lydgate of the Kauai high and grammar school. Two girls, Margaret Nichols of the Elele schools, and Dorothea Sloggett of the Kauai high and grammar school tied for third place and will split the cash prize. The first prize is $5, to be used as the nucleus of a savings bank account. The second prize is $3 and the third prize $2.

Some excellent essays were written for this contest. In many cases it was very difficult for the judges to decide which essay should rank above the others. Some of the articles were better than others in literary style and composition. Some that were rather poor in style had very good thrift points in them. So the judges tried to balance the points and select the winners accordingly.

There are a number of honorable mention essays, some of which will be printed. Leading this list are the essays of Vincent Fernandes and Caroline Ebeling of the Makaweli schools; Yutaka Moriaki of the Hanamaulu school; Masakazu Kanezama of the Kekaha school; Fred Kruse, Joseph Apao and Tain Oi Ching of the Waimea school; Ah Sun Dang and Mew Chan Hee of the Elele school; Lincoln S. Kanai of the Anahola school; Susumu Nosey of the Hileia school; Fred Mendes and Daisy Rapozo of the Kapaa schools and Annie Chong.

Baldwin Will Accept Nomination If He Is Wanted by Republicans

Senator Harry Baldwin has promised to accept the nomination for the delegateship if it is the desire of the Republican party that he should do so. This is the news that comes from Honolulu this morning and the chances are better than even that by this time the full strength of the party is centered on him.

Kauai Delegates Uninstructed.

The Kauai delegation departed for the convention last Saturday. They were about evenly divided as to choice between Baldwin, Lyman and Wise.

According to A. Q. Marcellino, delegate from Makaweli, the Kauai delegation went to the convention uninstructed and were prepared to throw their strength to the man selected.

The Kauai delegates attending the convention are W. H. Rice Jr., H. D. Sloggett, A. Menefoglio, Henry Aki, Manuel Cost, W. O. Crowell, S. K. Kaeo, L. D. Larsen and N. Hoopili.

NEW HOME FOR DEAF AND DUMB PLANNED

Several buildings including dormitories, laundry and servants' quarters costing $125,000 will be constructed at Waikiki, Honolulu, for the deaf and dumb in the near future. At present there are a number of deaf mutes who are being cared for at home on the slopes of Diamond Head, formerly the residence of Cecil Brown. The funds for the construction of the new buildings will be obtained through the sale of bonds.

THE HELE LOAS UP THE RIVER

Considering how interesting and enjoyable the trip up the Waialua river is, it is surprising how many there are who have lived here for years and have never made it.

When are We Going Up the River?

Remembering last year's successful Heleloa outing thither, there have been many inquiries. When are we going up the Waialua in a boat? "Just as soon as the weather is favorable," has been the leader's reply. And that time at length came, combined with a beautiful full moon, the other day.

The Tardy Ones Block the Wheels.

With the store corner as the rendezvous, some 25 of the club gathered there and waited for the last late contingent, waited impatiently, with many murmurings of discontent and much emphatic criticism of the people who are always late. The delay ran into a half an hour, when someone had the wit to inquire of one of the rent car chauffeurs there, and he replied, "Oh that car went through long ago, before you all came! And it's at Waialua now." That's the way some people understand a rendezvous!

Sure enough, they were waiting at the bridge, and were wondering where the rest of the party were. Profuse explanations and apologies cleared the air.

Up the River in a Fair Wind.

The Waialua poi factory flotilla was there, and all ready for the trip. It consisted of a sturdy motor launch and the No. 1 barge, outfitted roughly with benches and Chinese stools. The motor boat was assigned to the steering passengers, the noisy and adventurous contingent of youth that couldn't keep still and couldn't keep quiet, while the more staid and proper took cabin passage in the barge. It was a question which was the more restless and the more noisy bunch.

Up the River With a Fair Wind.

With a fair wind astern and the motor boat ahead, they sped up the river rapidly, with many expressions of delight over the picturesque views on either side, which unfolded about like a gigantic moving picture film. Marooned at the Head of Navigation.

When they reached the head of navigation on the south fork at Kona, a veritable "mumuku" typhoon swept down the high hills to the south and drove the flotilla helplessly into a lee shore, the motor boat propeller got wound up and choked in the long grass, so that it wouldn't function, and for a half an hour or more it looked as though the party was marooned there for a day—with the commissariat department left behind makai.

By dint of much patient submarine work the propeller was finally cleared and strenuous efforts were made to tow the barge out into the stream and head her around makai. But the wind blew with such violence that this was impossible and even the motor boat became unmanageable.

Oriental Patience and Profanity Get Them Off.

The Chinese admiral was at his wit's end and nearly at the end of his blasphemous Chinese vocabulary when there was a lull in the wind, the motor boat recovered courage, the barge responded to the pull and they were off.

Take Your Choice—Swim or Hike.

The next landing was the Waialua poi factory, on the north fork, where, heretofore, large quantities of poi were made for the local market, but which now lies idle because the lease from the government of all taro lands is expiring. Some of the party who were blessed with bathing suits, elected to remain here for a swim in the quiet waters of a secluded spot in the river, while the rest took a hike up along the ditch trail to Kahuaholo, a mile or so makai. The trail runs along the bank of the ditch with the rushing river below and with fine overhanging trees above, at every turn disclosing beautiful vistas and bits of charming picture, that called forth many expressions of surprise and delight.

Once a Populous Hawaiian Village.

Kahuaholo was once a populous Hawaiian village, to which a monster grove of stately mango trees attests. More recently, it has been the home of Japanese moonshiners—now it is utterly deserted. Just below this may be seen the ford crossing of the river, where a century or so ago the government road ran instead of makai where it now is.

A Novel and Interesting Industry.

With much interest the company inspected the poi factory, the great wooden tank with a furnace under it, for steaming the taro, the facilities for washing it and the power-driven grinder, like a monster sausage machine, where it was reduced to poi. With even more interest, they took a peep into the every day life of the Chinese themselves, some of whom looked as though they had come out of the Ark with Noah and were waiting patiently for his return. For a few moments they watched the cook prepare the coming dinner, with its various strange and nameless viands, but the only thing they saw that appalled, by sight or smell, was the great steaming pot of savory rice, and for this they regretted they could not accept the invitation of the dried-up, smoked, and wizened old cook, "You likee kaukau—all likee!"

Hungry by Suggestion.

This reminded them that they were hungry, and that their own kaukau awaited them makai. So they climbed aboard and steamed down the river.

Hot Supper—An Efficient Commissariat.

Choosing a sheltered and secluded spot in the coconut grove, fires were speedily made, and in a short time rice, Vienna sausages and coffee were prepared by the efficient commissariat, and these hot viands, taken with sandwiches and other delicacies of various kinds, made an excellent supper to which everyone did ample justice.

Around the Evening Bon-fire.

When the shades of evening drew deeper, a big bonfire was started, around which the party spent the evening, singing songs, and telling stories, largely Hawaiian, suitable to the local surroundings, until the moon arose, and their watches reminded them that it was time to go home and "put the children to bed." Reluctantly they gathered up their belongings, or such of them as they could find, and departed with many cordial expressions of satisfaction over the afternoon's outing, and the hope that there would soon be another.

Income Tax Facts

The new requirement of the income tax law that returns shall be made of gross income of $5,000 or more regardless of the amount of net income upon which the tax is assessed, necessitates careful computation on the part of the taxpayer. "Gross income" includes practically every dollar received by the tax payer during the year 1921 in salaries, wages, commissions, rents, royalties, interest on bank deposits, cash dividends on stock, "or income from any source whatsoever." "Net income" is gross income less certain deductions provided for by the act, including all business expenses incurred in the conduct of a business, trade, profession, or vocation.

Certain expenditures, however, are not deductible as a business expense when made for the purchase of articles more or less permanent in character, or for permanent improvement of property. For example a merchant would not be allowed to deduct the amount expended in the erection of a new store, or a farmer the cost of a new tractor or threshing machine, since such investments are held to be capital investments. The law expressly prohibits the deduction of family or living expenses, such as rent for a dwelling, cost of food and clothing for the family, education of children, servant's wages, and similar items. Amounts spent during the year 1921 for any of these items are not deductible.

FINE BANANAS

Mr. Lydgate, who is quite an intelligent connoisseur of bananas, has just harvested a bunch of Malas Oas, which weighed 65 pounds. An inferior grade of these bananas sell in Honolulu at ten cents a pound, which would make this bunch worth $6.50. While not suitable for eating raw, they are most delicious cooked.

The only bananas suitable for the foreign market are the common Chinese variety, but for our own home market the rarer Hawaiian varieties are very much finer and very much more valuable, and they should be cultivated more generally.

TIP TOP-ICS

"GIRL OF MY HEART"

Shirley Mason, in her latest Fox production, "Girl of My Heart" a screen adaptation of Frances Marion Mitchell's story "Joan of Rainbow Springs," is the feature offering at the Tip Top Theater Saturday. Miss Mason has gained an international reputation for her character interpretation and this picture is said to surpass her previous attempts.

The story is of a girl inmate of an orphanage who is ousted by the trustees for a petty offense and passes on to various experiences, including life among the Indians. The subsequent details are skillfully handled and bring the story up to the dramatic and unexpected climax.

"THE LAND OF HOPE"

After five years of successful starring in society dramas, Alice Brady has temporarily forsaken plays of this type for a series of three dramas of humble life. The first of these is "The Land of Hope" which will be presented at the Tip Top Theater Sunday evening. Miss Brady plays the part of a little Polish immigrant girl who seeks her fortune in America, along with a little company of people from her native town, including her childhood sweetheart.

The role of the Polish boy is handled by Jason Robards, who played juvenile lead with Frank Bacon in "Lightrun" for two years, but resigned to enter motion pictures.

STORY OF "THE BLOT" CAN BE FOUND IN MOST CITIES OF THE U. S.

The story of "The Blot," Lois Weber's celebrated production, which will show at the Tip Top Theater next Tuesday, is one that is enacted every day of the year in every city and town of the United States.

The same story takes root in every metropolis and there is not a community in the country without "the blot" of Lois Weber's story.

Every township has its Professor Griggs, Mrs. Griggs and all the other characters in this human interest drama of every-day life. "The Blot" is a situation that is realistic inasmuch as it is vital to our method of living, our habits, our daily routine.

Lois Weber selected as a theme for her story a situation that the people of the country will understand and appreciate.

Ernest Spillner Wins First Prize In Thrift Contest

Hing, Charles Kila and T. S. Chock of the Hanalei schools.

The four prize winner essays follow:

FIRST PRIZE

"THRIFT"

By Ernest Spillner, age 12, Makaweli school, Grade 7.

The 17th of January, marking the day of the birth of Benjamin Franklin has been set aside as National Thrift Day and the week of January 17th to 23rd as National Thrift Week. It is designated to stimulate the individual to think straight and act wisely in regard to money matters in the realm of earning, spending, saving, investing and giving.

Thrift is the foundation of our home, school and government. To be thrifty, means to save a part of what you earn and waste nothing; also estimate ahead, before you buy anything, how much you are going to buy and not buy more than what you earn.

National Thrift Week, which begins January 17th, Franklin's birthday, offers an opportunity not only to honor this great American, but to profit by carrying it out in a practical way his teachings in the art of saving and the use of money. A growing savings account should be a part of everyone's financial arrangement. If you are not a regular saver, follow Franklin's advice about living on less than you earn by opening and keeping up a savings account.

Benjamin Franklin was a man wise in the ways of living. He always saved a part of what he earned and yet he was never stingy, but shared with others.

Thrift means:

1. Earn some money honestly each month.
2. Put your best efforts in your work.
3. Estimate ahead how you are going to spend your money.
4. Spend carefully and sensibly.
5. Avoid waste.
6. Keep out of debt.
7. Save part of what you earn.
8. Start a bank account.
9. Invest in government securities.
10. Share with others.

We should all practice thrift. We should strive to be thrifty and waste. Money gained make heavy purses. Spend time and money wisely.

Benjamin Franklin's philosophy was of the practical sort that meets every-day problems. He saw the part which money plays in most people's lives is a very important one. A man should save part of what he earns to lay by for use when he is old and cannot work very well.

SECOND PRIZE

THRIFT

By William Lydgate, Kauai High and Grammar School, grade 7, age 12.

"Great oaks from little acorns grow," said one of the ablest statesmen and geniuses of his time. Thrift is one of the most difficult things to accomplish if one is extravagant. To start a bank account is one of the best ways to accomplish it.

The secret of thrift is to invest money wisely and to economize. A slogan much used is "Waste not, want not."

1. Do not take more food on your plate than you want.
2. Don't buy more food than you want. This applies also to money. A person who has plenty of money and is reluctant about putting it into his bank account is very apt to spend it foolishly.

Thrift may be applied in many ways, not only in money, but in lives. If a country tries to preserve the lives of its citizens it will naturally help the country to reach a thriving state.

Thrift is not a small thing. Pick up a daily news paper or magazine, glance through the advertisements and even the reading matter and you are always sure to find a line or two about thrift. It is everywhere in daily life, joy and pleasure, and even in hardships.

But first let us find the real meaning of thrift. Glancing through a dictionary we may find the following definition: "Thrift—a thriving state, economical management," etc. Mark you, a thriving state. Do you think that can be reached at one leap? No. Temptation is too great. It takes character, will power, to keep from spending money foolishly, if one has been used to doing so. Did the United States become a thriving and powerful nation at one jump? No. It took many years of painful and skillful management on the part of brilliant men to make it a powerful nation.

If you wish to be thrifty, do not try to accomplish it at once, go slow, and above all SAVE. Extravagance is the key to ruin.

N. B.—This and the following tied for third place and the prize was split, going half to each to each contestant.

THRIFT

By Dorothea Sloggett, age 13, grade 7, Kauai High and Grammar School.

From the 17th to the 23rd of January is National Thrift Week, and if we all try to save along every line we find how easy it is to form the "thrift habit." One of our greatest men, Benjamin Franklin, was born on the 17th of January, 1706, and because he was such a believer in thrift we started this campaign on his birthday.

Every dollar you spend contains several cents of a possible capital. Start a bank account with only one dollar.

These are some of the things Honolulu has been observing for the last week:

- Budget Day.
- Make a Will Day.
- Share with Others Day.
- Pay Your Bills Promptly Day.
- Own Your Home Day.
- Life Insurance Day.

Sometimes thrift is going without, sometimes spending. It is never stinginess, for stinginess is selfishness and the greatest givers are thrifty.

There are three qualities of thrift—carefulness, economy and judgment.

Carefulness means being careful with your money, not spending it on things you really don't need.

Economy means saving your money; when you buy don't buy lavishly.

Judgment means to judge and figure out how much to use, to buy with economy and carefulness.

Why do business men practice thrift in business? They know it is the basis of success!

Tied for third prize.

THRIFT

By Margaret Nichols, age 14, 8th grade, Elelele school, Kauai.

One of America's greatest men was the starter of thrift. That man was Benjamin Franklin. He wrote many good sayings about thrift. One of them was like this: "For age and want save while you may; no morning sun lasts a whole day."

This is very easy to understand. There are many ways in which we may be thrifty. Thrift does not mean just to save a few pennies now and then when you could save more. Thrift means to save in every way possible. To save in your food, in your clothing, in your money and many other ways. By saving in these things we mean not to buy more food and clothing than necessary and let them spoil, this would be wasting, not saving.

In many large cities there are many people that go to the restaurants at certain times to get leftovers that the restaurant does not need. Sometimes they get coffee, bread, meat and many other things. This is called the "breadline." These people are in the breadline because they did not know how to handle their money when they had it. They spent foolishly.

There is also the "bank line" where people go to deposit their money for in time of need, such as old age or sickness. These people are in the "bank line" because they know how to handle their money and know the value of it.

Thrift is one thing that most schools are teaching the children. Many small children get money and spend it for anything they see; they do this because they do not know the value of money. After they have spent their money they see that they have not bought anything they wanted, and again that shows that they should know the value of money. A story that would illustrate this, is the story of Franklin when he bought a whistle.

Thrift applies to adults as well as children. There are many adults who have not learned the value of money. They spend foolishly when they are in need of clothes or something necessary.

School Notes

KAPAA SCHOOL

John Midkiff spoke to the school pupils in the seventh and eighth grades this week on fertilizers for sugar cane. He discussed about the foods that a plant like the sugar cane needs. The lecture was the fourth in the series of talks to the upper grades on the story of sugar in Hawaii.

We had for a visitor, the man who writes our paper, Mr. Hopper.

Miss Hansen was here Friday with her Girl's Reserve. These girls will give an entertainment for the school in the near future.

We have some new pupils from Oahu in the upper grades. Children seem to be travelling about lately as we have lost some and gained new ones in their places.

Our new printing machine is busy in the office every morning. We are publishing some of the stories taught in the lower grades.

Our enrollment last Friday was 739 pupils.

We wish that the wind would give our young plants a chance in the garden. The corn though is looking as fine corn should.

Lumber for the new shop building is now on the ground. It will be built none too quick for us. The old shop has served for years. The roof is full of holes and the wood in general is rather rotten. The new shop building is surely needed.

Our wind gauge needs oiling all the time this weather.

The teachers are busy studying the proposed pension law. This new bill for teachers pensions will require all to pay three percent of their salaries each year if made law.

Some of our teachers saw the wonders of Waimea Canyon last week end. They say it is a grand canyon. The wild animals in the district were not molested as they did no shooting on the trip. The teachers who made the trip were Miss Schuchholz, Miss Murphy and Miss Erwin.

Neil Locke spoke to the boys on Friday morning.

Our humorists turned out the following for last week:

A wash woman applied to a man for work and he gave her a note to the manager of a certain club. It read as follows:

"Dear Mr. ———, this woman wants washing."

Shortly afterwards the answer came back: "Dear Sir, I dare say she does, but I don't fancy the job."

Teacher—Johnnie, how many bones are there in your body?

Johnnie—There are 208 bones.

Teacher—Wrong. There are 207.

Johnnie—I swallowed a fish bone this morning so that makes 208.

Captain—All is lost. We cannot save the ship.

Moses—Do you hear what he says. The ship is going to sink.

Ikey—Vell, let it sink. Vot do we care, ve don't own it.

LIHUE SCHOOL

On Monday, Mr. Locke came and spoke to the boys 14 years old and above.

This morning in the morning exercise a boy in grade 7A gave a talk about Abraham Lincoln and Miss Colbert read Lincoln's Gettysburg address. Mr. Bayless gave a speech to the 5th, 6th 7th and 8th grades. He talked about Lincoln's boyhood. It was very interesting.

Our school is going to have a school carnival at the armory on March 10th. We are going to have a dance of the nations, fortune telling, minstrel show and all sorts of good things.

WAIMEA SCHOOL

Dr. Southwell, the school dentist, makes the following report of work done in January: He has worked for 35 pupils and has made 22 treatments, 16 extractions, 13 cleanings, and has put in 226 fillings. Most of this work was done for the eighth grade.

Every boy who has the yard space at home has signed up for the Star-Bulletin home garden contest. The school gardens are up and doing well.

Rev. Royal G. Hall will address the school on Friday, 10th, on the Life of Lincoln. Rev. Hall made the school last time on Roosevelt's birthday and gave an instructive and inspiring talk at that time.

Several swings, bars, trapeze, teetrotters and other playground equipment were put up last week.

Preparations are complete for the vaudeville of March 11th. It promises to be a night of thrills and amusement. The acts are new and each one should be a winner.

CLEAN MOVIES

The Kauai Social Service Association has sent a communication to Governor Wallace R. Farrington, recommending that a competent censor be appointed to prevent vicious and demoralizing films from being sent broadcast through the territory.

The Social Service folks say that some of the films sent to Kauai foster and promote immorality and crime. And they are dead right when they say it. Many of the Orientals who look to their American neighbors for an example must get a wonderful idea of us. About the only insight they have of our homes is what they get through the movies. And if they get the idea that we lead the lives that they constantly see pictured before them on the screen, what good does it do for us to preach morality to them? They probably think: "What you do speaks so loudly that we can't hear what you say."

The censorship, advocated by the Social Service Association, is really the only way to stop these rotten films. The Kauai showmen can't do it. They don't see the pictures until they get here. Then they have to show them or have no show. But a censor in Honolulu can prevent the films from being sent out.

This proposition has been put up to Governor Farrington and we believe that he will take a decided action in the matter. We know that he would if he ever stopped in one of our country movies on the night when some of the trashy shows were being staged.

THERE ARE TWO SIDES

We have done considerable preaching during the past year against the disloyal community spirit and pernicious habit some people have of buying from mail order houses the very things they can secure in the stores of Kauai and at as reasonable prices.

But all the time we are doing such preaching we want our home merchants to remember that there are two sides to the question. It is not right for residents of this island to buy elsewhere. We all know that. But at the same time you should not expect your home paper to be continuously fighting your battles if you do not yourself believe in the power of printer's ink strong enough to use a little of it. In most instances people who buy by mail do so with a full knowledge of what they are doing. But in many cases they buy things they do not know, and are not being told, that they can get the same thing here at home. In a lot of instances they would buy the things they order by mail if they saw those things advertised in the home paper.

The sooner the merchants of this county wake up to the fact that they are doing business at a disadvantage so long as they are not advertising their wares, while the mail order merchant is flooding the land with attractive and alluring catalogs, the better off they will be. We propose to continue to preach against trading away from home, because we know trading away from home is not right. But at the same time we could preach a much stronger sermon if the paper in which that sermon appears carried the advertising messages of local merchants every week.

HOPE IN FAILURE

Much alarm has been expressed about business the past year, so the recent report of R. G. Dun is of interest. It shows that there were 19,652 business failures in the United States in 1921. To the average citizen this sounds bad. But not when it is known that the report for 1915 showed 29,596, and with a smaller number of firms doing business. The 1921 per centage of failures, to the total number of firms doing business was about one to each one hundred. So long as the American business can remain 99 per cent sound in spite of the after-effects of the world's biggest war, there is no reason for crepe hanging. The present year will show its share of breaks and receiverships, because there are still some firms operating under unsound principles. But the per cent of fatalities should be smaller than in 1921, and for the big majority the outlook for success is bright. It is especially so for the firms that produce economically and offer good values.

It's alright to junk our ships, but if we could junk our hardships it would be a lot better.

Many a man who doesn't profess to love art admires pictures on our federal bank notes.

THE THRIFT ESSAYS

The winners in the thrift essay contest have been selected and the prize winning essays are printed in this issue of the Garden Island. Some of the honorable mention essays will be printed later.

A very casual reading of these essays will show that the children really got some thing out of thrift week. The methods they mention of saving are legion. And in many cases they are methods that the children will probably remember and put into practice, to some extent at least.

The men and women who went around to the schools and gave thrift addresses certainly left their marks. Without looking at the name of the school it was usually very easy to tell which school an essay came from, once one or two from that institution had been read. The children very closely followed the speakers' ideas, incorporating them in their own words into their essays.

The children who entered this contest are to be congratulated. All the essays were good. Many of the honorable mention articles were almost as good as the prize winners. Possibly another set of judges might have selected the winners differently. And many essays that are not mentioned in the honorable mention classes are good enough to print. We wish there had been twenty-five or thirty instead of three.

THEY ARE DEAD WRONG

We believe that the senator who said "The papers of Michigan were bought with Newberry money" is either lying or badly mistaken. Not that we are defending Newberry—we care nothing about him either way. But we do know enough about the honesty of newspapers that no man is going to buy enough of them to put him in the senate. He might win one over here and there, by the use of money, but to say that "the papers" were purchased is a statement as broad and unbelievable as to say "the preachers" were purchased and the churches corrupted. There are a few black sheep in the newspaper world. But men who have formed the opinion that they were all alike and who started in to buy or bribe them soon found that crooked editors are mighty few and mighty far between. It has been tried, and every time it failed. That is why we are sure the senator who said "the papers of Michigan" were bought is either deliberately lying or he is very badly mistaken.

THAT IS OUT

We read in a book where the male birds sing less sweetly after the young are hatched than he did before. Maybe it is because he is too busy rustling up grub.

Sauer kraut juice is said to make women beautiful. Now watch for a bulge in the cabbage market.

If we had to pay for all the advice we got there would be a lot less money and a whole lot less advice in circulation.

The man who thinks business men are all robbers seems to know so much about crooked ways that he may bear a little watching himself.

We see in the paper where four circuses have combined. That is all right if it means three less steam calliopes.

Sometimes it seems to us that every man knows just how the other fellow ought to do things.

Speaking of reductions, we wish Henry Ford would start selling white paper and printing ink.

That was quite a party they had at Boston that time, but we failed to find where they used any wood alcohol or raisin jack.

The engine chokes when the car goes too slow. What Kauai needs is an appliance to choke a few fellows who drive too fast.

We notice they're still singing "Beulah Land" without changing that line about "I've reached the land of corn and wine."

The old maid who tries to divide 1922 by four now wishes that she had done her Leap Year shopping in 1920.

Quitcherbellaikin is a slogan a whole lot of Kauai citizens should learn the meaning of now that prosperity has commenced to show her head around the corner.

The membership of Don't-Worry clubs is usually made up of fellows who don't pay their debts.

A news item reports the finding of gold in sand from a Buffalo street. But we don't notice a crowd hurrying east from California.

The outstanding feature of the market for bonds during recent months has been the heavy buying for permanent investment.

Notwithstanding that this demand has resulted in a substantial advance in prices for bonds in general, the present outlook indicates a gradual trend toward the level which prevailed some years ago, particularly as applied to issues of the better grade, which still yield a liberal return.

It is doubtful if it will be possible for several years to purchase bonds at prices which will yield the return now possible.

The Lihue team defeated the Kauai high school at the armory last Saturday night in the fastest game of basketball ever played in Lihue. The final score was 37 to 34 and it was a battle from start to finish.

The high school started out like a house on fire, rolling three baskets before the Lihue boys rolled one. The Lihue boys braced a bit but the high school boys kept right on going. The first quarter found the high school in the lead with 14 to 8 score.

Play in the second quarter was fast and furious with the high school holding the advantage. The Lihue forwards seemed to have quite a bit of difficulty finding the basket, while the high school forwards were dropping them in from all angles. The score at the end of the first half was 22 to 14 with the high school on the long end. The high school rooters were jubilant and keep singing and cheering their team on.

Christian replaced Wedemeyer at center for Lihue at the beginning of the third quarter and Lihue took a decided brace. They started forcing the play for the first time and began to creep up on the high school. The score at the end of the third quarter was 28 to 24 with the Kauai high school in the lead.

Lihue fought for all they were worth in the last period and after five minutes of play had the score tied at 32 all. The high school got a field goal putting them in the lead but almost immediately after Christian dropped one through that tied it up again. Lane shot a goal that rolled around the rim before dropping through, giving all the Lihue rooters heart failure. This put Lihue two points in the lead. A free throw that was converted just as the whistle blew gave them one more point.

The game was fast and inclined to be rough but the roughness was due to over-anxiety and there was no personal element in it. The school boys certainly threw a scare into the Lihue team and played great basketball all the way thru.

Some of the fans that saw the game was under the opinion that Lihue was over confident and did not rate the high school boys very high, but such was not the case. The Lihue team was worried before the game started as they knew that the high school has made a great deal of improvement in the last few weeks.

Christian was the Lihue star, getting five baskets in the last half and bolstering up the offensive of his team in great shape. Lydgate, Camura and Ernest Wedemeyer all starred for the high school on offense, while Cheatham was the defensive star, holding Fernandez to two baskets.

The Sunrise and the Kapaa teams started the Lihue Junior League with a perfect score, both winning their games. The Sunrise won their game through a forfeit, although they were leading at the time the game was forfeited by the score of 9 to 3.

It was in the fifth inning of their game with the Filipinos that the row started. One of the Filipino players hit a home-run in far right field, but in his anxiety to score missed second base. The umpire saw him cut out the bag and the shortstop of the Sunrise did also. He called for the ball and touched the bag and the runner was called out. The Filipinos then got arbitrary and stated that if the Sunrise did not allow the run they would not play any longer. The umpire and the Sunrise refused to grant the concession and the Filipinos picked up their bats and left the field.

If the Filipino players think that they are going to get very far with such school boy tactics they are quite mistaken, as such actions will not be countenanced by the league officials one minute. The league officials should give the Filipinos one more chance but tell them that if they forfeit one more that they are pau with the league. There is no room in Lihue for athletes who refuse to be governed by the rules and the sooner the Filipinos find it out the better it will be for them and their sports.

The Kapaa team had very little trouble with the Hanamaulu team although Hanamaulu fell for the offerings of Fred Fernandes in the first inning and four runs were batted in before the smoke was cleared away. After that inning Kapaa started in and made a runaway of it.

TENNIS

Some very good tennis was played at the Sloggett court on Sunday afternoon when Caleb Burns and Jim Corstorphine met Frank Burns and K. C. Hopper in some doubles. Caleb Burns and Jim Corstorphine won two out of three, 6-3, 8-6, 4-6. The Burns Brothers will make a mighty strong team in any doubles tournament that is pulled off this year as they show they have played together quite a bit and have very good team work.

SHOMIZU WINS SINGLE SETS; LOSES DOUBLES

Zenzo Shimizu, the Japanese tennis star, who arrived in Honolulu by the Taiyo Maru last week, exhibited his tennis skill at the Bereania courts when he played against the Hawaiian champions.

The first set was played against William H. Hoogs. Hoogs had 4-1 on the Japanese wizard, who finally won out 7-5. He beat VanDyke Johns 6-1, giving Johns the fourth game. In the doubles the visitor did not do so well even with William M. Ekland, Hawaiian champion, as his partner. Hoogs and Johnson won the first set 6-4 and the second set 6-2.

The Japanese tennis player accompanied by his bride, continued his voyage to San Francisco on the Taiyo Maru. Shimizu is connected with the Mitsui firm in New York.

Important Changes
In Volley Ball
League Schedule

The Kauai Public School Athletic League has just issued its schedule for the volleyball contests of the spring term. The schedule, as given below, presents some radical changes in the grouping of schools and in the number of games to be played, with a view to bringing about competition between more evenly matched teams only and to allow more time for the development of secondary teams within each school.

The effort to train up more children at each school will not be confined to practice games only, for every school is being asked by the league to try out the athletic badge tests of the Playground and Recreational Association of America.

Every child in the grades above the fourth can enter. The first group of tests only will be tried out this year. These consist of boys in the pull-up, 4 times; standing broad jump, 5 ft. 9 in.; 60 yard dash, 8 3-5 seconds; and for the girls in a standard all-Indian club race or potato race in 30 seconds and 4 seconds; basketball goal throwing, 2 goals, 6 trials, and balancing, 24 ft. 2 trials. Upon the completion of this work the annual field day in June will round out the work of the year.

GOLF

A handicap tournament was held at the Wailua golf course Sunday morning and Caleb Burns turned in low score. He turned in gross 62 which is a mighty good score for a man playing his second game of golf. Dan Arcia had a fifty, Miller a fifty-three Corstorphine a fifty-three and Spalding a fifty-one. Of the sub-golfers, Englehard had a sixty-one, Bodrero a sixty-one, while Casey Hopper startled everyone, including himself, by turning in a fifty.

Did you ever wonder why there are four feet on a bath tub? It doesn't have to go anywhere.

The builders of the PEMBROKE Bath Tub tried to figure it out and couldn't. So the PEMBROKE was made without feet. And it created an immediate impression of solidity, cleanliness and beauty. The PEMBROKE built-in tub affords no chance for dirt to accumulate. It is flush with floor and walls. PEMBROKE built-in tubs are the last word in bath room efficiency, comfort and beauty.

HAWAII EDUCATION ASSN.

A territorial association of teachers was organized last year at Honolulu. During the school vacation last December, the second territorial convention of this association was held at Hilo, Hawaii. At the present time teachers from Hawaii, Maui and Oahu are members. Kauai has made a start with all the local principals as members.

The objects of this Hawaii Education Association is to first affiliate with the National Education Association of America, and then develop and maintain the best American standards and ideals of education in the Territory of Hawaii.

The teachers on the island of Hawaii have joined with a one hundred per cent membership, Maui almost as great and Oahu has many members. Kauai, as stated, has all the principals members.

It has been felt for years that the many island teachers associations should be united in some territorial organization and this new association meets that need and offers to all teachers the opportunity to join forces for mutual benefits.

OLD HAWAIIAN GETS SKULL CRUSHED NEAR WAIALUA SAND PITS

An unknown Hawaiian was instantly killed by having his skull crushed in. The deed was done near the Waialua sand pits, or at least the evidence of it were found there. But whether the murder was committed or the tragedy was the result of an accident, no one can say. For the thing happened many years ago and now only the bleaching skeleton found on the sands is left to tell the story.

At the Waialua sand pits, near what an engineer would call a "borrow pit" where they are getting sand to fill in parts of the road bed of the railway, many skeletons have been unearthed in the past few months. The one found last week was unusual only in the fact that it had its skull crushed in. A great dent was above the right temple, with the fracture running down into the temple, shows that death must have been instantaneous. No man could get such an awful blow as that and live to tell the story.

Going along the shore, about a mile and a half Kapaa side of these pits, one runs into veritable heaps of human bones and skeletons. The old Hawaiians living near seem to know nothing of them. Perhaps that was one of the old battle grounds where many a brave man lost his life. Perhaps it was only a cemetery and the shifting sands have left these bones exposed to the elements. But, be the location what it may, be the bones those of princes or paupers, all the names and all the faces are now forgotten. And, regardless of former pomp or former serfdom, all now lie silent and equal.

FIFTEEN YEARS EXPERIENCE IN SETTLING AND MANAGING ESTATES

American Legion Section

LEGION CHIEF REFUSES TOGA

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 3.—Hanford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, has refused an appointment to the United States Senate seat vacated by Senator William S. Kenyon, Republican, of Iowa, upon his appointment to the bench of the eighth district U. S. circuit court of appeals, according to a statement made today by Col. Washington Bowie Jr., at an American Legion executive meeting. MacNider was present but refused to comment on the statement.—Associated Press.

No Legionaire can fail to take interest in this decision made by his national commander. MacNider places a higher value on his present post than a seat in the United States Senate. It is obvious that in times of peace a law maker's task is but to express the will of the people, tempered by the policies of his political party. MacNider as commander of the largest organization representing men and women in all walks of life in the nation has the far greater task of welding together public opinion that is national in its scope and not hampered by sectionalism, partyism, race or class. And this national public opinion will be the guide of the law makers regardless of what party is in power.

What the American Legion is to the nation, the post is to the community; and the post can accomplish its worthy mission only thru your efforts. The average American has the reputation of being indifferent to how his country is run. It has always been a matter of party policies with him. For the first time in the history of the country the peace time problems can be influenced by an organization that is national in character. As a Legionaire yours is not a privilege to be treated lightly. MacNider's valuation of his post as head of the American Legion as above that of a seat in the United States Senate, depends upon your performance. It is your duty to see that Kauai Post No. 2 lives up to the ideals of the American Legion. You can accomplish this only by attending meetings and taking an active part.

A DUD

A jury brought in a verdict of $8,887 for Jones, who had only sued for $1,000. The judge set aside the verdict as excessive.

Some days later, Jones' lawyer met the foreman of the jury on the street.

"How, in the name of sacred cats did you reach such a conclusion?" he asked the foreman.

"I don't quite understand it myself," was the reply, "but it was all O. K. We agreed for the plaintiff. But everybody had his own idea of the amount. One feller said $1,000, another said $50, another said $500 and so on. So we struck an average; each man put down what he thought was right and I added them together. I know there seems to be something wrong with the verdict, but I'm hanged if I see what it is."

The above anecdote was filched from the Bursts and Duds page, where it would have been well up a high average of humor, but it is unfair and insulting—probably impossible. It misrepresents the average jurymen as a stupid individual. But most of us would have laughed at it, because we are not generally inclined to take juries seriously. Amusement rather than interest is too often the attitude of citizens towards jury service. It is to forget that for lack of a capable jury an innocent man may lose his liberty—or his life.

Alvin M. Owsley, national director of Americanism for the American Legion, has called attention to the duty of jury service. He points out that every good American should make use of his franchise and prevent miscarriage under the jury trial system.

The better the jury, the better the justice. If we withhold our most able service from the administration of justice, we may be consenting to the administration of injustice. To regard jury duty lightly, or apathetically, permits of a mental attitude contrary to the Legion's program for the upholding of law, which is based on justice, and order, which is impossible with injustice.—American Legion Weekly.

John Doe, Legionaire, Kauai Post No. 2. Dear Buddy:—

This is your section and we want it to contain what interests you. So it is up to you to let us know what is going on.

If you should strike oil, get a

Twin Six Packard as a gift, inherit a million or so, or become the father of triplets, which is of course not impossible, we know you wouldn't blow about it. But none the less, your comrades will be eager to know of your good fortune and will want to be on deck to congratulate you and get a free drink, so it is up to you to drop the good news—casual like—to any of the gang named below and they will see that it gets into print.

Of course, you are not going to get hung, hold up a bank, or commit murder, but according to the newspaper headlines nine-tenths of all these little stunts are now being pulled by ex-service men, so if we are to believe these makers of public opinion, it is not at all impossible that one of your buddies will be in on a party of this nature and we'll expect you to put us next.

There is but one thing that we insist upon, and that is authenticity. (Don't blame the last word on us. We had it down "truth," but Charlie Fern substituted authenticity. He said Webster says they mean the same thing. I guess Charlie met a lot of them educated guys when he was flying.) Anyway truth—authenticity is what we want. If we say a thing we don't intend to take it back the next time we get into print. Getting things wrong in the papers sure gets a bird into a lot of trouble. My grandpa attended an annual dinner of the Confederate veterans once and he got up and tells them how he won the war. It was a good speech, according to grandpa. The toastmaster referred to the old veteran as a "battle scarred veteran," and the next day the paper had it a "battle scared veteran." That was 20 years after the war and pretty far back to remember whether the toastmaster or the new paper bird was authentic, but anyway grandpa told him to change it. The next day the newspaper said he was a "bottle scarred veteran." That couldn't be because the war was fought in the United States and not France. All this happened in the hills of Georgia and concluded in the usual manner. That afternoon after they had buried the newspaper editor they sent a telegram to New York for a new one.

Maybe that couldn't happen here, but we could get in dutch if we said something that wasn't so, and we don't intend to take nothing back, once we've said it. If we print that some fellow has been hung when he hasn't he might get sore about it. The best we can do under the circumstances is to say that he was cut down before becoming deceased. If we come out with the fact that one of you is engaged, which we will be glad to do, as all the fellows will want to get the dope to offer their sympathies, and it turns out to be a false alarm, don't expect us to deny it in our section. The only possible thing would be a compromise to the effect that the Jane had jilted you.

So give us the straight dope. Remember our motto: Tell a girl you love her if the moon effects you that way, but don't put it in writing or you'll be walking some infant to sleep a year from now.

Yours truly,

SUCCESSFUL HOMESTEADERS

Among the Waialua homesteaders, one of the most promising, under even present adverse sugar conditions, is that of the Perreira family. With a thrifty, industrious, hard working band of sturdy boys, they have been able to do most of the work on their farm themselves, and they have a fine crop of cane just coming off with another plant crop to follow next year.

By way of side issue to their cane culture, they have a banana department which promises well. They have 500 thrifty trees now growing and will plant 500 more. These are located in a rich, sheltered valley, where they will do uncommonly well.

They also have a fine market garden where they are raising fine vegetables, sweet potatoes, etc., which, taken with a cow, goes far toward reducing the expense of living.

They have the right idea of homesteading and they will make a success of it.

CADILLAC CORRECT LUBRICATION CHART

ENGINE—7. Daily, or very 100 miles, pour fresh Zerolene No. 5 in to crankcase through filler pipe until oil level gauge on crankcase registers full. Avoid overfilling. Best results will be obtained if the oil level is maintained between half full and full marks on the gauge. To get a correct reading of the oil level gauge, the automobile should be approximately level and the engine not running. When engine is running the oil pressure indicator on dash should show pressure which will vary with the speed and temperature of the engine. If no pressure is registered, the indication is lack of oil in crankcase, oil pump not working properly, or some obstruction or break in oil passages. The engine should immediately be stopped and the trouble located and remedied.

At regular intervals, as recommended by the manufacturer, or, in the absence of such instructions, every 750 miles, the oil in the crankcase reservoir should be entirely renewed in the following manner: First, remove the drain plug in bottom of crankcase, allowing all old oil to drain. This should preferably be done when the engine is warm, as the old oil when heated will drain faster and less of it will adhere to the inner surfaces of the crankcase. Next, replace drain plug and pour four quarts of Calol Flushing Oil into crankcase through filler pipe. Then start and operate the engine under its own power at a moderate speed for from one to two minutes, by which time all oil passages and inner surfaces will have been cleansed by the action of the flushing oil. Again remove drain plug and when certain that crankcase is thoroughly drained, replace plug and refill crankcase reservoir with fresh Zerolene oil as specified. Approximately six quarts are required. When filling the reservoir through filler pipe, care should be taken that no dirt or other foreign substance is carried into engine with the fresh oil.

Every 2000 miles it is advisable to remove lower crankcase and thoroughly clean the oil screen.

FAN HUB BEARING—1. Every 50 miles apply a few drops of Zerolene No. 5 through oil hole at base of flange on fan shaft.

STARTER GEAR SHAFT. Every 500 miles use oil gun to force Zerolene Transmission Lubricant "A" into center of shaft. Access to same may be had by removing small cover plate on front floor boards.

ELECTRIC GENERATOR AND STARTING MOTOR—10. Every 500 miles apply a few drops of Zerolene No. 5 to oil cups at each end of armature shaft.

CLUTCH THRUST BALL BEARING—33. Every 1000 miles use oil gun to fill ball race with Zerolene Transmission Lubricant "A." Access to same may be had by raising front floor boards and removing clutch cover plate.

TIMER AND DISTRIBUTOR—8. Every 2000 miles remove small breather cap on side of housing and fill with Zerolene cup grease.

STEERING GEAR HOUSING—31. Every 1000 miles remove plug in upper part of housing and use oil gun to fill housing with Zerolene Transmission Lubricant "A."

TIRE AIR COMPRESSOR—35. Whenever the pump is to be used, apply a few drops of Zerolene No. 5 to oil holes on each side of cylinder of pump.

UNIVERSAL JOINTS—12-39. Every 500 miles remove grease plug in front and rear universal joints and with grease gun fill joints with Zerolene Cup Grease. These joints hold only a small amount of grease, and as they are constantly in action and transmit all driving power from engine to rear axle, it is important that they are kept well lubricated.

TRANSMISSION—11. Every 500 miles remove oil level plug on side of transmission case, and, if no oil runs out, use oil gun to inject Zerolene Transmission Lubricant "A" until it begins to overflow through opening. Then replace plug.

Every 2000 miles remove drain plug from bottom of case and allow all old oil to drain. Then remove cover and wash all gears, shafts, and interior of case with Pearl Oil (kerosene). When transmission is clean and thoroughly drained, replace drain plug and fill to correct level with Zerolene Transmission Lubricant "A."

REAR AXLE HOUSING—23. Every 500 miles remove oil level plug in rear housing, and, if no oil runs out, use oil gun to inject Zerolene Transmission Lubricant "A" until it begins to overflow through opening. Then replace plug.

Every 2000 miles remove rear cap on housing and wash gears and bearings with Pearl Oil (kerosene). Wipe out all old oil and kerosene from bottom of housing with clean rags. Do not use waste. Replace cover on housing and fill with Zerolene Transmission Lubricant "A" to proper level.

Note:—As bearing in both transmission and rear axle are entirely lubricated by splash from revolving gears, hard grease should never be used in either place.

WHEEL BEARINGS—6, 18, 28, 41. Every 2000 miles remove wheels and wash bearings and hubs thoroughly with Pearl Oil (kerosene).

Repack bearings with fresh Zerolene Cup Grease and replace wheels, being careful to get proper adjustment on wheel bearings.

SPRINGS. Every 500 miles, or whenever springs squeak, clean off all dirt and old oil and apply small quantity of Standard Household Lubricant along the edges of spring leaves. A small brush may be used or the oil applied by means of Standard Household Lubricant Handy Can with spout attached.

GREASE CUPS. When empty, fill grease cups should be refilled with Zerolene Cup Grease.

Daily, or every 100 miles, grease cups on following parts should be turned down two complete turns: All spring bolts (3, 9, 15, 22, 24, 30, 38 and 45); steering knuckle bolts (5, 26); cross steering rod pins (4, 27); steering gear drag link (25).

Every 500 miles grease cups on following should be turned down two complete turns: Brake rocker shafts (14, 17, 21, 37, 42, 44); torsion rod front bracket (13); torsion rod rear pin (16); drive pinion shaft housing (40); water pump shafts.

GENERAL LUBRICATION. Every 500 miles apply a few drops of Zerolene No. 5 to all joints and small working parts not otherwise provided with lubrication, such as timer drive shaft bearings (8), brake and clutch pedal shaft (34), steering wheel (36), spark and throttle connections, brake clevis pins, etc. Care should be taken that all oil holes and passages are free from dirt so that clean oil may reach the surfaces to be lubricated.

Schedule of Lubrication. Daily, or every 100 miles: Engine, spring bolts; steering knuckle bolts; cross steering rod pins; steering gear drag link.

Every 500 miles: Fan hub bearings; starter gear shaft; electric generator and starting motor; brake rocker shafts; torsion rod front bracket; torsion rod rear pin; drive pinion shaft housing; timer drive shaft bearings; brake and clutch pedal shaft; steering wheel; spark and throttle connections; brake clevis pins; universal joints; transmission; rear axle housing; spring.

Every 750 miles: Drain, flush and refill engine crankcase.

Every 1000 miles: Clutch thrust ball bearings; steering gear housing.

Every 2000 miles: Transmission; rear axle housing; wheel bearings; timer and distributor.

Note:—When daily average temperature is below 45 deg. F., Zerolene No. 3 should be used instead of Zerolene No. 5.
