

THE schooner Rosamond from San Francisco arrived yesterday after a rather slow passage of twenty days. Captain Ward expected to make port here in fast time as he was clean off the dry dock when he left San Francisco, but baffling and light winds retarded him. The Rosamond brought the usual cargo of general merchandise and a big deckload of horses. She will get quick dispatch and hurry away for the Coast again with sugar as fast as possible. The little schooner Emma Claudina took a month to make the run from Eureka and Captain Mikelsen reports that with the exception of a good breeze the day he left the Coast he did not get any wind until two days before reaching port. The steamer Colon left for Port Los Angeles early yesterday morning with one passenger, Charles Bellina, who is on a trip to look out for some stock that he is soon to import. The Colon will not go to San Francisco, but return direct from Port Los Angeles with another lot of Porto Ricans. She will be back in about twenty days. Neither the S. N. Castle nor the bark Hesper sailed yesterday. The former will get away this morning and the Hesper probably this afternoon. Captain Sodergren's wife will accompany Captain and Mrs. Ellis on the voyage north. The steamer Maui arrived early in the morning from Hawaii with a big cargo of sugar which she is discharging at the railroad wharf. About noon the schooner Philippine left for the Sound and several of the island steamers got away for Hawaii and the Garden Isle.

Rule of the Road.

The launch Waterwitch has gone into the towing business and her troubles have commenced. Yesterday she and the Fearless had a race for the schooner Emma Claudina which was reported off Diamond Head. The Waterwitch had a lead on the Fearless and Captain Brokaw of the tug did not know that the Waterwitch was after the schooner. As the Fearless was the overtaking vessel the captain blew one whistle to signify his intention to pass on the starboard side of the launch. The Waterwitch paid no attention to the signal until it was given again and then Captain Young answered it. A very few seconds after he answered it his little vessel and the tug nearly collided. Captain Young says that he kept on his course and the Fearless cut into him and Captain Brokaw says that after the Waterwitch gave the answering blast he changed her course so as to cut across his bows. That little vessel was not cut in two was a matter of luck.

Captain Young of the Waterwitch has made a written charge against the Fearless claiming that the tug did not obey the law of the road. Collector Stackable will investigate the matter. As the Waterwitch has applied for a license to do towing she is allowed to do the work until she is given her license. When that is granted she will have to carry a regularly certificated captain and engineer.

As taken from the latest rules and regulations of the United States navigation laws the rule in the case is as follows:

"In the following rule the words 'Steam Vessel' and 'Steamer' shall include any vessel propelled by machinery."

"Rule VIII. When steam vessels are running in the same direction, and the vessel which is astern shall desire to pass on the right or starboard hand of the vessel ahead, she shall give one short blast of the steam whistle as a signal of such desire, and if the vessel ahead answers her one blast, she shall put her helm to port; or if she shall desire to pass on the left or port side of the vessel ahead, she shall give two short blasts of the steam whistle as a signal of such desire, and if the vessel ahead answers her two blasts, she shall put her helm to starboard."

"The vessel ahead shall in no case attempt to cross the bow or crowd upon the course of the passing vessel."

Relay Race.

On next Sunday morning there is to be a relay race in the water in which two teams from the Heanani Boat house will compete captained by R. B. Kidd and Dan Rinear. There will be ten swimmers on each side, each to swim one hundred yards, and the one on the other, one of whom will swim two hundred. The course will be starting from the Heanani boathouse to the dolphin off Marine railway, to the navy wharf number two, to a point on the Pacific M. W. wharf, to the Little League wharf, the lighthouse there will be a relay from the light house to the main end of the quarantine wharf will be two more relays and two to the fish at the pontoon of the Heanani house. The race will start promptly at one o'clock. Captain Kidd will swim the last two relays for his side, against Jack Atkinson and Captain Rinear of the latter's team. This was the only condition under which Kidd would consent to enter.

Considerable speculation there is on the result of the race.

Consular Duties.

Under a recent ruling by the Treasury Department, sailors shipping in American vessels at foreign ports, may ask for and be granted their discharges at this port in case the shipping articles are not accompanied by the proper consular certificate. Shipping Commissioner Boyd lately received the following letter in answer to his inquiry as to the matter:

"Treasury Department, Bureau of Navigation, Washington, D. C., April 15, 1901.—Sir: Referring to your letter of the 2d instant, this office has to state that there should be a compliance of consular officers whether in Australia or otherwise, with the requirements of section 4512, Revised Statutes, respecting certificates of articles of agreement with seamen. The attention of the honorable the Secretary of State has been invited to the matter by the Department, and he has been requested to advise, accordingly, consular officers of the United States, whether at Australian ports or elsewhere."

"Respectfully,

"E. T. CHAMBERLAIN, Commissioner."

"United States Shipping Commissioner, Honolulu, Hawaii."

When a seaman ships he signs for a certain length of time or for the trip. When shipping in a foreign country it is customary for the American consul at the shipping port to acknowledge the shipping papers and the ship's articles. There are two forms of certificates necessary. One certifies that the sailors in question have signed the ship's articles under the conditions and for the voyage intended. The other in addition to certifying that the articles have been signed reads further that:

"And I do certify that the said * * * each for himself acknowledged that he had read or had heard read the said agreement and understood the same, and that while sober and not in a state of intoxication he signed it freely and voluntarily for the uses and purposes therein mentioned."

"Given under my hand and the seal of this Consulate the day and year first above written * * * Consul."

Under the ruling, although a sailor might have shipped at an European or Australian port for the round voyage he might ask for his discharge at any intermediate port in United States territory where the vessel should go in case the American consul at the shipping port had not properly attended to his duties.

The Californian's Big Cargo.

[From a Staff Correspondent.] PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 1.—The Philadelphia Press this morning is to the following:

"With the first cargo ever transported from San Francisco or Honolulu to this port by a steamship, the Californian, Captain Morrison, arrived here triumphantly yesterday. She has on board 8000 tons of sugar from San Francisco and Hawaii, valued at about $500,000, one of the largest cargoes of the kind that has ever been received here. On January 19 she left San Francisco and on February 14 she steamed from the harbor of Honolulu."

"The Californian is one of the first two vessels built for the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company for service between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. In outward appearance she is unlike any other production of American shipyards. No other steamship afloat has such facilities for handling freight. There are eight derrick booms at each mast and, as she is lighted throughout by electricity, clusters of incandescent lamps can be carried into the holds for night loading. She carries a crew of forty-nine all told."

"For a time she was in the Government service as a transport, and made several trips across the Pacific. The Californian was built at San Francisco by the Union Iron Works, and is a vast improvement on the British tramp steamer type. This craft is designed solely for the carriage of cargo and is only of medium speed."

Safety of Travel by Sea.

Our friend Morris Phillips, in the Home Journal, writes intelligently on the subject of ocean travel. "Friends occasionally ask: 'Are you not afraid to cross the Atlantic so often?' 'Afraid?' No, not a bit of it. I don't trust to 'blind luck' exactly. I select the best time of year for crossing; I choose a good, stout, not too old ship (not necessarily the swiftest), and I make sure that the commander is a man of experience and steady habits; then I leave the rest to Providence—and, so far, I have always reached my destination. I have experienced some storms called 'terrible,' but they never terrified me. Moreover, official statistics published in England show that but one life was lost last year out of every 149 persons employed in the British merchant marine. As for passengers on board ship, the loss of life was next to nothing. That is to say, of the vast number of passengers carried on British ships, running into the hundred of thousands, only 116 persons lost their lives through shipwreck. And there are always 1,200,000 people floating on the seas of the world. Great Britain last year employed nearly a quarter million men in her merchant navy. Of these 1,503 were lost by wreck and 205 by other accidents. The statistics show a larger death rate on sailing than on steam vessels, though on either the rate is surprisingly small. It would seem from the figures that old ocean has been pretty effectively robbed of its terrors."—N. Y. Marine Journal.

Foreign Born in the Navy.

In compliance with a request of John D. Zimmerman, of Topeka, Kan., the Navy Department has compiled statistics of the number of foreign-born enlisted men in the United States Navy in the Spanish-American war and at the beginning of the current fiscal year, says the Army and Navy Register. In the Spanish war there were 2,379 foreign-born petty officers in the navy, of whom 1,697 were naturalized citizens of the United States and 478 had declared their intention to become citizens. There were 4,879 foreign-born men of other ratings, of whom 1,576 were citizens and 1,551 had declared intentions. There were also 142 foreign-born apprentices then in the service. The native-born enlisted men in the Spanish war consisted of 4,050 petty officers, 9,472 other enlisted men and 1,884 apprentices. The totals are: Native born, 15,496; foreign born, 7,422; total in service, 22,918. By percentages the native born comprised 66 per cent. of the whole number, 80 per cent. were citizens of the United States and of the remainder 25 per cent. had declared their intentions to become citizens. On June 30, 1900, the end of the last fiscal year, there were 4,539 petty officers in the service, of whom 57.3 per cent. were native born, 33.6 per cent. naturalized, 6.5 had declared intentions, 1.5 were aliens, resident in the United States, and 9 per cent. were non-resident aliens, while 90.9 per cent. of the whole number were citizens of the United States. There were then 9,548 other enlisted men, of whom 64 per cent. were native born, 19 per cent. naturalized, 9 per cent. had declared intentions, 3 per cent. were resident aliens and 4 per cent. non-resident aliens, while 93 per cent. were citizens of the United States. There were also 2,685 apprentices, 93 per cent. of whom were native born and 7 per cent. foreign born. More than 68 per cent. of the whole enlisted force was native born.

AMERICANS TO DEVELOP COFFEE PRODUCTION

New Island Possessions Are Especially Adapted to its Growth—Government Interested.

[From a Staff Correspondent.]

WASHINGTON, May 15.—All the coffee consumed in the United States can be grown in the islands which have been acquired since the outbreak of the Spanish war. This is the conclusion reached by the Bureau of Statistics of the Treasury Department after a careful study of the coffee-producing capabilities of our new insular possessions. The islands in which coffee can be successfully grown are Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines. Porto Rican coffee, in the markets where it is well known, is regarded as the best in the world, and it is the conclusion of the Bureau of Statistics that when the coffee plantations have been developed in the Philippines and Hawaii all of one million dollars or more which the United States sends abroad every week for coffee can be expended among the inhabitants of our own islands. Porto Rican coffee has long commanded high prices in the European markets, though it has been comparatively little known in the United States.

The developments of coffee culture in Hawaii during the past few years have been very satisfactory both in quality of the coffee produced and the prices realized. The Philippines product is of a high grade, and the fact that the physical conditions and climate of the islands are very similar to those of Java, the greatest coffee producing island of the world, suggests great possibilities to those who desire to see American money expended under the American flag.
The fact that the United States is by far the greatest coffee-consuming country of the world, and is steadily increasing her consumption, suggests that American capital and energy may turn their attention to this promising field now opened in the islands where American enterprise can safely enter upon business undertakings.

Our coffee importations during the nine months ending with March, 1901, amounted to 617,344,000 pounds, with a value of $45,218,900, a sum nearly $5,000,000 in excess of the value of the coffee imports of the same months of the preceding fiscal year, indicating that for the fiscal year the total value of the coffee imported into the United States will be about $60,000,- 000.

Our coffee importations are drawn chiefly from the following countries:
Brazil, from which we imported in nine months of the present fiscal year 505,581,576 pounds; other South American countries, 47,461,000 pounds; Central American countries, 25,674,000

ARMY OFFICIALS VOICE THEIR INDIGNATION

Complain Bitterly of the Quarantining of Transport Kilpatrick by Honolulu Health Board.

WASHINGTON, May 5.—Indignation prevails in army circles over the treatment of the transport Kilpatrick by the Board of Health of Honolulu.

So strong is the feeling created that if the friends of the officers and men on board the transport could have their way the local Board of Health of Honolulu would be abolished and a Federal quarantine would take its place. The Kilpatrick, which was bound from San Francisco with 840 regulars and 40 women and children aboard, reported at Honolulu that she had two mild cases of small-pox aboard. She was ordered to lie out side of the reef at the local quarantine which is a hot berth. In order to give the men a chance to breathe fresh air and get a little exercise General Sanger, inspector general, who was senior officer aboard, asked permission for the troops to disembark and go into camp at an isolated point several miles from the city. He agreed to thoroughly fumigate the clothes of the men and to keep them under strict guard, so as to prevent stragglers while on the journey, and to station a double cordon around the camp so as to prevent any of the men from stealing into the city. The Honolulu Board of Health was, however, inexorable, and the ship's passengers were compelled to remain aboard and sweater while the transport was taking on coal and supplies. The action of the board of Health is indorsed by the city, which within the past few years has passed through an epidemic of the bubonic plague and cholera, and older residents recalled the dreadful mortality suffered when the small-pox prevailed. In view of the precautions which the army detachment agreed to take and the further fact that the two cases of small-pox were mild, the refusal of the Board of Health to grant permission to land is deeply regretted in army circles and has been the subject of bitter comment.

THOSE WHO CRY WOLF.

Senator George R. Carter is showing himself to be a Linsellin Club statesman of the first magnitude. In the Senate, Wednesday, the gentleman declared that the grand jury was simply going to apply a coat of white wash, adding that it was known in advance what could be expected from the complexion of the jury. Strange to say, this exceedingly well-informed man also denied that Governor Dole had ever sent any communication to the Senate charging bribery on the part of the members of the Legislature.

Mr. Carter, from his attitude, is willing to have his name go down to history as having been a member of a Legislature that was guilty of bribery. Governor Dole charged that members of the Legislature had been guilty of bribery. He did not specify what members but made his charge sweeping and general including in the charge every member of both houses. Coming from the chief executive of the Territory the charge was a most serious one. If not disproved the future historian in writing the history of Hawaii would say that the First Legislature was openly charged with bribery by the Governor of the Territory and the charge was never denied. Such a stigma would not only rest upon the members of the Legislature, but upon their children and their grandchildren. Fifty years hence the descendants of Senator George R. Carter might justly be accused of being children of a Senator who was a member of a bribe-taking Legislature or might even be charged with being children of a bribe-taker, and they would have no way to disprove such a serious charge made by the first Governor of the Territory, unless these charges are sifted to the bottom now.

And so far as the work of the grand jury has gone we would like to ask Mr. Carter who is doing the whitewashing. Governor Dole, Attorney General E. P. Dole and Secretary Cooper, all of whom claimed to have information of bribery, have refused to answer questions propounded by the grand jury. Why have they refused? Is it because those guilty of the alleged bribery are connected with the family compact and must be protected at any cost? Or is it because they have absolutely no knowledge of any bribery ever having been committed and are now seeking to prevent exposing their animus and spite in making such charges by refusing to answer the questions of the grand jury?

Editor Thurston of the Advertiser has charged repeatedly in his paper that bribery has been committed and has expressly called attention to alleged free lunches at Nolte's. And yet as soon as the grand jury was summoned he sent his sneak reporter away to another island and the editor himself, when called to the stand before the grand jury, took refuge behind the statement that he is an attorney, and this despite the fact that he declared in open court last August that he had retired from the practice of law. If he stated the truth when he made that statement to the court then why should he not testify before the grand jury if he knows any facts concerning the bribery he has charged? Is it not more nearly reasonable that the charges in his paper were false and he knows they were false, and that it was to prevent an exposure of their falsehood that he sent his reporter out of the jurisdiction of the court, and he himself refused to answer the questions before the grand jury?

Whether or not there was any bribery of members of the Legislature during the session recently closed the Republican does not know. It does know, however, that charges that bribery did exist have been made; that a grand jury composed of the best citizens of this Territory has been summoned to investigate these charges and the very men making the charges are now trying to hide behind every possible subterfuge in order to prevent being shown up before the public as knaves of even greater disrepute than the most contemptible bribe-taker that ever played checkers with his nose.

In his speeches in western Texas and New Mexico President McKinley set an example that members of the Dole administration in Hawaii would do well to follow. The President took special pains to give his ideas of the position of a public official to the people. President McKinley quietly and courteously, but none the less effectively, rebuked every effort to treat him as the government. Every supplicatory address directed towards the President as the government, the dispensing power, was promptly corrected with the reminder that the President was merely the servant of the people called for a temporary time to execute the people's will; that although he is the President and represents the government as its executive head he is not the government; that the government is with the people and its three branches are the people's agents. Governor Dole and some of the members of his administration, notably the Secretary of the Territory and the Attorney General, have been very prone to talk about the government as though they were the government instead of being mere agents of the people to execute the people's will. The Republican commends to them a careful reading of President McKinley's addresses.

Senator Russel suddenly finds that much dignity attaches to a member of the Territorial Senate when summoned to appear before the grand jury. Members of the United States Senate have more than once been summoned to appear before the grand jury of the District of Columbia and they have without exception obeyed the summons. In the famous sugar investigation in 1894 a number of senators were summoned before the grand jury convened by Justice McComas, but none of the Senators felt that their pride or dignity had been offended because of the fact of having been summoned. And what is more every one summoned obeyed the summons without a question or quibble. But then there are many things about American institutions and American government yet to be learned in Hawaii.

The Chief Executive of the Territory of Hawaii might learn a lesson in official propriety and as to signing his name by reading the correspondence that passed between President McKinley and Governor Jennings of Florida following the great fire at Jacksonville. Governor Jennings did not try to ape the President of this great nation by merely signing his name to his telegram as the President does, but very properly signed his message, "W. S. Jennings, Governor." But then, of course, Governor Jennings does not consider that he holds a higher, or at the least equal, rank with the President of the Nation. Therein he differs from one Sanford B. Dole.

Governor Jennings of Florida seems to have overlooked something. He failed in his message to President McKinley to speak of the State of Florida as "the government" and the United States as the "central government." What could the Governor have been thinking about? He should come to Hawaii and take lessons in the proper terms to be used.

The Associated Charities of Honolulu seems to be of the same service in spending money, so that only a very small per cent of it goes to the actual relief for the poor, as its sister societies on the mainland. As an organization to divert money from the causes for which it is pretended to be used commend us to the Associated Charities.

Since the ignorant Porto Ricans are being brought here for the benefit of the sugar plantations why should not the plantations provide school facilities for the young of these ignorant people? Considering the manner in which they are foisted on the Territory it is but right and just that the plantations should be at the expense of educating them.

The Philadelphia Press in its account of the arrival in that city of the steamship Californian, after her long run from Hilo, overlooks the most important fact of all in connection with the long run around the Horn—that is that the Californian was manned by an Hawaiian crew.

Will some one kindly inform us what is the object of that organization known as the Associated Charities?

It's in the Climate.

Two natives of Hawaii engaged in a discussion of a tropical nature in the northwestern part of the city, says the Salt Lake, Utah, Tribune of recent date. The finishing touches to the discussion caused several abrasions of the skin on the faces of the two, but the timely arrival of Officer Barlow prevented complications of a more serious nature. The two were taken to the police station, where they gave the ample names of Abraham Nahulu and John Nawahine. They were charged with drunkenness and locked up until they had become sober, when both were released upon furnishing $10 bail each.

AMUSEMENTS.

"QUO VADIS."

The management of the Elfeldorf Company may well be proud of their reception at the Orpheum last night; and too, the management of the Orpheum Theatre may be proud of the fact that they have secured so excellent an organization as the Elfeldorf Company. The production of "Quo Vadis," the dramatization of Sienkiewicz's immortal book, was a surprise to most of the people in the theatre last night—and the house was crowded to the doors. From what had been said of the company by the coast press all expected a fairly good performance, but it is doubtful if anyone believed that a stock company, playing at popular prices, would be equal to giving such a rendition of a classical play like "Quo Vadis" as that represented at the Orpheum.

Many patrons and well-wishers of the house felt that a mistake had been made in selecting such a play as "Quo Vadis" for the opening night. It was believed that with such a clientele as usually patronizes the Orpheum—a melodrama like "The Fatal Card" would have been better suited both to the audience and to the company. But the production of last night proved the wisdom of selecting "Quo Vadis." The audience was not the typical Orpheum audience of one year ago. It was a representative theatre audience of all people of Honolulu, many who have not been in the Orpheum before for many months being present. That they felt themselves well repaid was evidenced by the hearty applause and marked attention given to the work behind the footlights.

The company is a good one throughout, being exceedingly well-balanced. To those who have read Sienkiewicz's story they expect a giant in the role of Ursus, but in a stock company like this a giant for the part of Ursus would be useless for any other part in the fifteen plays in the company's repertoire. However, Joseph Robert Bell, Carl Berch as the arbiter elegantiarum, Petronius, did some of the best work seen here in a long time. His voice and manner reminds one very much of that sterling actor Mason Mitchell, who made such a great hit in the same character with Frohman's company in New York. Nero is not a pleasing character, but it was well-played by Albert Watson; particularly did he rise to the heroic in the last act. Tom Bates, who was for many years an old Coast favorite but who has devoted himself to stage managing in recent years, can still act well his part. As a character actor Mr. Bates has stood high in his profession for many years, and his rendition of the difficult part of Calpurnius showed that he had lost none of his oldtime art. Frank Wyman is another old stock actor who was well fitted in the character of Tegellinus.

The women parts were fully as well balanced as those of the men. It is not necessary to particularize over the work of Miss Norton, Miss Laird or Miss Wiene. It is enough to say that all did well. The work of Little Lillian was especially good, and all the minor characters were well rendered. Nor must mention of the special scenery be omitted. The Orpheum stage is small but it was a really marvelous showing of stage settings with such limited room.

Altogether it was a well-balanced performance throughout and if the Elfeldorfs but do equally as well in all the other plays in their repertoire, with popular prices prevailing, they should be greeted by just such crowded houses as that of last night for each remaining night of their engagement.

"Quo Vadis" will be given again tonight and tomorrow night.

In Secret Session.
Yesterday's meeting of the Board of Health was made an executive session. It was explained to reporters that the proceedings of the meeting, so far as results were concerned, would appear in the communication to the Legislature that the meeting was called to formulate. The members felt it desirable to have utmost freedom in discussing men as well as measures in connection with the estimates for appropriations of the biennial period.

Arrangements were completed at Chicago May 6 for the formation of a combination of the eight leading publishers of popular music in the United States.

BERRY'S SEMI-MONTHLY REPORT ON BUSINESS

WHETHER the reported inactivity of business is due to hot weather, or some other cause, is hard to say, at the present time. Certain it is that the statements of our Mercantile friends are not bright. There seems to be a slump in all lines. Stocks are still declining, real estate is more quiet than for many months, house rents are diminishing in value, and a general falling off is indicated in all directions.

We do not wish to create the impression that conditions are at all alarming, but keen competitors, new business ventures, and numerous opening-seekers, all have their influences in inducing the present status.

What, if any effect, on the staples of this market will be caused by the reported Pacific-line combine, is still in the mist. Prices may, or perhaps, can, be kept up for freight and transportation charges, and the consumers materially affected, but we have, as yet no such indications.

Nine Hundred Thousand Dollars have been turned over, since our last report, by the U. S. on account of the Hawaiian debt. Three hundred thousand of this was in "Greenbacks," which are not receivable for customs duties. Some seem to prefer the standard coin. But as this kind of currency is generally received throughout the civilized world, without discount, we can probably stand it here.

It seems to be generally agreed among the retail merchants that all credit shall cease, where debtors fail to comply with the rigid rules of monthly settlement. We predict that when business becomes established on this basis, exemption laws will not be found to be amiss.

Three bankruptcies have taken place since our last report, two for Hilo one for Honolulu. All small concerns, and liabilities, accordingly.

WANT TO PLACE THE LOAN IN AMERICA

Chinese Minister Conferring With New York Financiers About the Money for Indemnities.

NEW YORK, May 9.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: American capitalists may be asked by the Chinese government to subscribe to the loan it will have to negotiate to pay the indemnity to be exacted by the powers.

Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister, and New York financiers have been in communication on this subject. The communications are entirely unofficial and have therefore been kept very quiet. Nevertheless it has developed that the idea has been favorably received in New York. It is of course, impossible to say what the outcome will be, as international politics will have an important influence upon the placing of the loan, but intelligent Chinamen favor obtaining subscriptions from the United States.

The Chinese government is well aware that provided the "open door" be conceded the United States at this moment would not go beyond a formal protest in case of the division of China. The situation would be changed, however, if Chinese bonds valued at millions of dollars were held by American capitalists.

All that the Chinese minister has done has been to make inquiries and American financiers have given an indication of what they are willing to do.

Foreign representatives in Peking will undoubtedly bring strong pressure to bear in behalf of the placing of the loan in their respective countries. Mr. Rockhill is not expected, however, to join in such a movement. It is within the range of possibilities that China, in order to satisfy all the powers, may decide to place in each country a loan equal to the indemnity due the particular nation. In this event the share of the United States will probably be less than $20,000,000, and perhaps only $12,500,000 in case its proposal for each power to reduce its indemnity demand should be adopted.

PEKING, May 8.—The foreign ministers today decided to address a collective note to the Chinese Government informing it that a joint indemnity of 450,000,000 taels (about $335,000,000) would be demanded, and asking what method of payment is proposed. A reply is expected at the end of the week, which will probably propose to meet the indemnity by raising the customs tariffs.

It is considered likely that the powers will insist on some such measure in return for concessions on the part of China in the shape of a total abolition of the likin, the placing of import duties on a gold basis, really free navigation of Chinese waters and the removal of impediments to navigation and the tax at Wosung.

The Ministers were unable to agree as to the desirability of opening the whole empire to trade and residence, some holding that it would be asking

China to assume too great responsibility, and under the present system of government it would be impossible to guarantee the safety of the numerous foreigners who would flock into the interior of the empire were it entirely opened.

LONDON, May 7.—The rumors that the relations between Germany and Russia are strained on account of slights on the part of Count von Waldersee are discredited at the Foreign Office, though it is admitted in Downing street that the majority of the powers are considerably irritated by the Field Marshal's numerous expeditions.

FIRST BEET SUGAR FACTORY IN ARIZONA

PHOENIX, A. T., May 6.—The first beet sugar factory to be established in Arizona is to be placed at Paoenix. Plans have been completed to secure a 1,000-ton factory and refinery to be built here by New York parties, who are interested with the Oxnard Company, which controls half a dozen plants in California, Colorado, New Mexico and Utah. It is understood that the plant here will be a unit in a great system which is being quietly organized in contemplation of an ultimate contest with the sugar trust. The people of this valley have subscribed a bonus of 2,000 acres, required by the promoters of the plant, and work will begin in a short time on the factory, which is to be located northwest of this city. The plant will begin operations with machinery for the reduction of 1,000 tons of beets per day, and its capacity will be increased as rapidly as the area under beet cultivation is increased.

Tests made at the government experimental station, near Phoenix, have proved that the soil of Arizona, and particularly of the Salt River Valley, is peculiarly adapted to sugar beet culture. Experiments in this soil show that beets average from ten to fifteen tons per acre, and that the product carries from 11 to 16 per cent sugar.

A Very Remarkable Remedy.

"It is with a good deal of pleasure and satisfaction that I recommend Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Druggist A. W. Sawtelle, of Hartford, Conn. "A lady customer, seeing the remedy exposed for sale at my shop, called to me. 'I really believe that medicine saved my life the past summer while at the shore,' and she began so enthusiastic over its merits that I once made up my mind to recommend it in the future. Recently a gentleman came into my store so overcome with colic pains that he sank at once to the floor. I gave him a dose of this remedy which helped him. I repeated the dose and in fifteen minutes he left my store smilingly informing me that he felt as well as ever." Sold by Benson, Smith & Co., General Agents Territory of Hawaii.

EQUALITY OF CITIZENS JUDICIALLY DECLARED

States concluded that it was the right of the defendant to have a subpoena duces tecum issue to President Jefferson. And in delivering the opinion of the Court Chief Justice Marshall among other things observed as follows:

"Much has been said by the attorneys of the United States and the disrespect to the Chief Magistrate and to those who occupy high official position. These observations will be truly answered by the declaration, that this court feels many, perhaps, peculiar motives, for manifesting as guarded a respect for the Chief Magistrate of the Union as is compatible with its official duties. To go beyond these would exhibit a conduct, which would deserve some other appellation than the term respect."

"It is not for the court to anticipate the event of the present prosecution. Should it terminate as is expected on the part of the United States, all those, who are concerned in it, should certainly regret, that a paper, which the accused believed to be essential to his defense, which may, for aught that now appears, be essential, had been withheld from him. I will not say, that this circumstance would, in any degree, tarnish the reputation of the government; but I will say that it would justly tarnish the reputation of the court."

"Might I be permitted to utter one sentiment, with respect to myself, it would be to deplore, most earnestly, the occasion which should compel me to look back on any part of my official conduct with so much self-reproach as I should feel, could I declare, on the information now possessed, that any person accused of a grave crime is not entitled to summon an official to appear in his defense, no matter how high his official station may be."

"It was alleged in this case that the duties of the President of the United States, the duties which he owed the Nation as a whole, were so great, so manifold and of such great importance to the community, that while it might promote justice if he were called upon to testify before the Grand Jury or before a Court in a particular case, yet that the ends of society would suffer and there would be no one to fill his high station while he was absent from the seat of national government appearing before a court to testify, and if he could be summoned before the United States Court at Richmond to testify, he might be likewise summoned to testify by courts in remote parts of the Union. That was answered by Chief Justice Marshall as follows:

"If upon any principle, the president could be construed to stand exempt from the general provision of the constitution, it would be, because his duties, as chief magistrate, demand his whole time for national objects. But it is apparent, that this demand is not unmitigated; and, if it should exist at the time when his attendance on a court is required, it would be sworn on the return of the subpoena, and would rather constitute a reason for not obeying the process of the court, than a reason against its being issued. In point of fact it cannot be doubted, that the people of England have the same interest in the service of the executive government, that is, of the cabinet council, that the American people have in the service of the executive of the United States, and that their duties are as arduous and as unmitigated. Yet it has never been alleged, that a subpoena might not be directed to them. It cannot be denied, that to issue a subpoena to a person, filling the exalted station of the chief magistrate, is a duty which would be dispensed with much more cheerfully than it would be performed; but, if it is a duty, the court can have no choice in the case."

Now gentlemen, following the precedent set by Chief Justice Marshall in the case of the President of the United States, against whom the Chief Justice held a subpoena might issue, I say to you that it is your right, your privilege, and your duty and one that you ought not in anywise to avoid or to evade or shirk, to summon before you the Secretary of the Territory of Hawaii, and if you deem it necessary, any other official of the Territory of Hawaii, and the other gentleman named by your Foreman, swear them again, require them to answer such questions as you deem it proper that they should answer material to the investigation which you have in hand, and if they decline to do so you will report the matter to this Court."

The duty of making laws for an intelligent, a civilized, a property owning and a tax paying people, is as great a responsibility as can be imposed upon any citizen. The honor is so great, that it can hardly be estimated or measured by mere words. The honor is so great that the pay is generally treated as inconsequential. If men who are elected at the hands of a free people to serve them in a law making capacity are to be stigmatized by wild rumors or by slanderous statements, it will come to pass that no citizen will be willing to accept a station of that sort who does not care to be stigmatized himself by having a sweeping charge of bribery preferred against him by some one in high official position and published to the world in the newspapers; nor does he desire, nor will any self-respecting man permit his wife and his little children to be stigmatized by such charges.

If any man occupying the high position of a law-maker is so corrupt and so base and so lost to all sense of honor and all sense of duty as to sacrifice his manhood and corruptly violate his oath of office, it would seem that no punishment for such a one could be too great, and it will be your duty to promptly indict any one whom the testimony may justify you in indicting for having committed the offense of bribery.

If, on the other hand, those charges are mere wild charges and rumors, slanderous statements, it will be your duty to expose the authors in your report to this Court of such statements so that the stain and the stigma which rests upon a co-ordinate branch of the government as a whole may be removed.

You will not of course find any indictment upon hearsay testimony. No person ought to be put to trial for a criminal offense or arrested and brought to the bar of a criminal court and forced to give bond, or failing to give bond be locked up on a criminal charge, unless the testimony is sufficient prima facie to warrant such proceedings being taken.

However, you may hear, there is no law to forbid your hearing hearsay testimony. If it comes to your attention that A says that B told him of the commission of this offense, you may send for B and so on until you complete the alphabet. It is sometimes necessary for the Grand Jury to receive hearsay testimony, in the first instance, in order that they may trace these things to their fountain source, follow the tracks. And if the Governor of this Territory or the Secretary of this Territory or the Attorney General of this Territory has the right to appear before the Grand Jury and say, I decline to testify for the reason that my testimony is hearsay or is incompetent, then every Chinaman and every Japanese and every man no matter how humble may be his origin, has the same privilege, because in this Court room and in that Grand Jury room I trust and I know all citizens are on an equal footing; position, wealth and color are not to be considered.

It is not for a witness to determine the competency and value of his testimony, that is entirely in your hands, you are the judges of the competency of that testimony, and you are the judges of the weight which should be attached to it. And you are to receive such testimony and demand such testimony, and this Court will require that you have such testimony as may enable you to properly pursue your investigations. You will send for these gentlemen; and I instruct you particularly to inquire of Mr. Thurston as to whether or not his confidence arises out of a criminal matter, his connection with a criminal case. For instance, if an attorney is defending some man who is sued on a promissory note, and he should learn from some different source that the man whom he was defending on a promissory note had committed the crime of murder, it would not be a privileged communication. The mere fact that he happened to sustain relation of attorney and client with the same man charged with some crime would not exempt him, and I so charge you with reference to Mr. Thurston.

I will issue such process as may be necessary to enforce your rights and enable you to perform the duties and privileges which this Court has imposed upon you and which the law has imposed upon you.

Beware of a Cough.
A cough is not a disease but a symptom. Consumption and bronchitis, which are the most dangerous and fatal diseases, have for their first indication a persistent cough, and if properly treated as soon as this cough appears are easily cured. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has proven wonderfully successful, and gained its wide reputation and extensive sale by its success in curing the diseases which cause coughing. If it is not beneficial it will not cost you a cent. For sale by Benson, Smith & Co., General Agents Territory of Hawaii.

HARANO ADVISED TO CONNECT WITH WORK

Pathways Leading to Iwilei Becoming

THE COMPANIONSHIP OF ONE
"RAINIER" PROVES QUITE DISASTROUS.

Tamara Up For Three Counts For Gambling—Porto Ricans Are Released—Tanaka Relieved of Surplus Coin Because of Che Fa.

Harano, the Japanese charged with conducting and maintaining a disorderly house at Kakaako, on Friday, May 17, 1901.

When the case came up for trial yesterday morning before Judge Wilcox at the Police Court, there seemed an unsufficiency of evidence against the Japanese to connect him with the abetting and proprietorship of the questionable resort.

Two witnesses, San Sani, a hostler, and Osayo, a Japanese belle of somewhat shady reputation, rendered several lines of very much befogged testimony concerning the Harano premises. When they had finished it would have required considerable guesswork upon the part of a spectator to properly figure out whether Harano was operating a rescue mission or a young ladies' boarding school.

Harano was thereupon discharged, but advised to change his present occupation, that of loafing around, and connect promptly with the active end of a good job of work.

Che fa tickets proved the downfall of Ah Yet, charged with maintaining a lottery. Ah Yet secured a pointer that he was up against a businesslike proposition when he was brought before the court, hence pleaded guilty. A fine of $15 and costs was assessed.

It was Maids' turn to contribute to the territorial expense account and he anted up to the tune of $5 and costs, as a recompense for over-indulgence of confidence in the noble animal by leaving his horse standing in the streets without being securely fastened.

August Kiri, charged with indecent exposure Wednesday evening on Hotel between Bethel and Fort streets, was fined $2 and costs.

The blockading of the narrow confines of the Iwilei road by the back of Sack Yau, for a period exceeding fifteen minutes, resulted in the arrest of the Celestial. Sack Yau denied the allegation in toto that he had anything to do with the barricade. However, he acknowledged ownership of the vehicle and admitted that it had been taken to a repair shop for trimming and had been returned by the workmen and left in front of his premises. Sack Yau was advised to secure a Chinese translation of Section 338 of the Penal Laws which relates to the blocking of public thoroughfares, and have the same duly pasted in some unoccupied space in his headpiece where it would be accessible for immediate reference. He was informed that the commercial value of such advice had been established by law, so that his bill would be made $5 and $1.10 costs.

Fook Tia paid $5 for ascertaining the time limit allowed vehicles standing in the streets of Honolulu. Tanaka was $15 poorer when he tore himself away from the justice dispensary. A few telltale evidences of the fa contests found upon the person of Tanaka settled his case. The fine was paid.

The McGowan lamps were dimmed the other night. At any rate the luminaries attached to Mr. McGowan's chariot of commerce were not in the best working order. A lynx-eyed minion of the law descended upon the vehicle, which was ensnared in the blackness of night, and the driver was notified that his appearance in court was essential if future peace and happiness were taken into account. Mr. McGowan explained the why and wherefore of his being tangled up with an unlighted vehicle. He was afterward released with a reprimand. A hearing in the assault and battery case brought by Mrs. A. G. Nichols against Mr. A. G. Nichols was deferred until this morning.

Thrice did Tamara, a Japanese, appear before the court to answer to a variety of charges in which she formed a substantial basis. In the first instance the defendant was found not guilty of the charge of assisting in maintaining and conducting a che fa lottery.

When the second count bobbed up Tamara pleaded guilty and was assessed $50 and $1 costs.

The third count also proved disastrous to the Tamara purse, for it resulted in his parting with $15 additional good gold coin. Tamara breathed a sigh of relief when he found himself again in the balmy sunshine.

Jas. Williams, Frank Marshall and Henry Walker, Porto Rican laborers charged with vagrancy, were discharged upon promise to make a determined hustle for healthful manual labor.

Messrs. Simpson and Rainier—witnesses due apologies to a popular beverage—pleaded guilty to the charge of drunkenness and were fined $3 and costs each. Simpson believed that in his case there were extenuating circumstances, claiming that one ran great risks in trotting along in company with "Rainier" without catching a distant glimpse of his finish. The fines were paid and Rainier was advised to take out a light wine and beer license if he persisted in running at large.

The Bribery Investigation.
Besides the Great Men who didn't want to but had to, there appeared before the grand jury yesterday a number of scarcely less distinguished witnesses. There were John A. McCandless, late Superintendent of Public Works; Walter G. Smith, editor of the Advertiser; Edmund Norris, editor of the Independent; and Lt. Col. C. J. McCarthy.

Kiri Came Back.
August Kiri had scarcely left the confines of the police station yesterday before he became seriously involved in the cup that not only cheers but inebriates. In fact Kiri was hilariously jagged before the sun went down. He was again gathered to the cooling recesses of the jail and will face a charge of drunkenness this morning.

ANOTHER EXPOSITION INVITES HAWAII IN

The South Carolina, Inter-State and West Indian.

AT CHARLESTON NEXT WINTER

COMMISSIONER KNAPP VISITS
HONOLULU TO SOLICIT AN EXHIBIT.

The Fair Will Open Directly After the Close of the Pan-American at Buffalo—Preparations are Well Advanced—Catch Tourist Trade.

J. F. Knapp, special commissioner on the South Carolina Inter-State and West Indian Exposition, arrived here in the Sierra. The Republican office was favored with a visit from the commissioner yesterday.

The South Carolina fair with the long name will be held at Charleston, S. C., Dec. 1, 1901, to June 1, 1902. It will draw many exhibitors from the Pan-American at Buffalo. Mr. Knapp's primary mission to Honolulu is to procure the Hawaiian educational exhibit from thence. In addition he will look for so much of the returning Paris exhibit as may be suitable and available. Also, for such a fresh exhibit of products as the two commercial organizations of Honolulu may be induced to have assembled. Byron O. Clark's offer of services for getting up an exhibit for Buffalo, published in this paper some days ago, might be embraced with advantage if still held out.

Mr. Knapp says: "On my way here I interviewed the proper authorities of the States west of the Mississippi and nine out of twelve of them will transfer their Buffalo exhibits to Charleston."

"What Hawaii aims at is, I presume, the tourist traffic. By having representation at Charleston you will reach the Florida and Southern California tourist trade. This connects with Charleston by four great routes—the Seaboard Air Line, the Southern, the Atlantic Coast and the Plant System. A reasonable estimate of the Southern traffic is 50,000 tourists for the season."

The preparations for this Southern fair the coming winter, Mr. Knapp says, are as far advanced as were those of Omaha and Buffalo at corresponding periods in advance of the opening. From the printed matter he furnishes it is ascertained that the principal buildings of the Exposition will be eleven in number. Their styles of architecture, judging by the illustrations, are as handsome as the finest of all preceding great fairs. About one-half of the site containing 160 acres will form a natural park of endless beauty. The directorate of the Exposition includes the commercial magnates of South Carolina.

The Exposition will reveal to the world the marvelous development of the South in the last quarter of the Nineteenth Century.

Mr. Knapp's visit thus early affords ample time for the business community of Honolulu to give due deliberation to the question of having the Territory's resources for health, pleasure and profit exploited at Charleston the coming winter.

A NATIONAL PAWNSHOP.

The Operation of the Institution in the City of Mexico.
Correspondence The New York Evening Post.

The question of pawnshops in Mexico really affects the prosperity of the people, as with a majority the pledging of articles is not an incident in their lives, but the most natural thing to be done to meet an emergency. The act is repeated as often as the need of a little extra money arises. A multitude of families among the poorer and middle classes live in this way—never knowing what it is to be free from a state of bondage.

Answering the demand for such loans, an abnormal number of pawnshops exist in the City of Mexico and over the entire republic. From 18 to 25 per cent. is demanded. At regular intervals advertisements appear in the daily papers announcing that in certain pawnshops the articles must be redeemed or they will be placed on sale.

That rateros, as Mexican pickpockets are called find a ready way to raise money on the spoils in these places is certain, and the police are given authority to make thorough raids when necessary. A government pawnshop, the "Nacional Monte de Piedad," was founded in 1775 by the rich and kind-hearted Pedro Romero de Terreros, Count of Regla, owner of the famous old mines of Real de Monte.

Seeing the suffering endured by many worthy people for the lack of small sums of money, he endowed this institution with $300,000. To give credit on small sums of money, at the lowest possible rate of interest, to the very poor has proved a good work.

The capital has increased to $1,750,000 in round numbers. In 1888 $1,155,681 was loaned; in 1899 over $2,200,000, and the loans for 1900 were half a million more.

In spite of the crisis through which it passed a few years ago, so firm is its basis and so great the confidence inspired by the honesty of its administration that in 1900 the personal deposits in the savings department were $600,000.

From its original conditions, the Monte de Piedad has not been able to aid the poorer classes of people. The necessity for having loans perfectly secured admits of its receiving only articles of a determined value, on which only such moderate sums may be loaned as can be lost without evil effect if the owner fails to redeem. The national government and the administration of the institution have tried several times to extend its benefits to the very poor, and at one time, several years ago, established branches in the principal parts of the city. In them the loan was made easier of accomplishment, though the rate of interest was higher. On account of the crisis referred to, these branches or succursales were withdrawn. One by one they have been re-established, until now there are four in widely separated parts of the city.

Notwithstanding these national pawnshops the ordinary shops, Empeno y Baza, flourish by extending loans on the most insignificant articles conceivable, demanding to the last centavo the highest rate to be gotten from the miserable creatures who will pawn anything, no matter how necessary to the family, in order to get drink, or to have a few centavos to gamble with. Rules are made governing these places; inspections are made, but little advance has been the result in rectifying the inevitable evils. Those who have the good of the poorer classes at heart long for the day when there shall be more thrift. The national pawnshop is as yet the only remedy in sight to offset the evils of the Empeno y Baza.
