LEGISLATURE ADJOURNED SINE DIE AT MIDNIGHT

SENATE'S AXE OUT FOR VETOES

Sixty strenuous days of legislation by the Senate and House closed at midnight by overriding every veto of the Governor that was received. In instances of salaries and current expenses items were passed or sustained but on the whole it may be said the session closed in a storm of Executive dissension in sundry measures.

SENATE—SIXTIETH DAY.

The clerk read the communication from the Secretary of the Territory relative to signing certain bills as follows:

Senator Smith reported from the Judiciary committee and recommended tabling Senate Bills Nos. 37, 55 and 34. Senator Knudsen reporting from the special committee recommended tabling Senate Bill No. 102.

Consideration of the several vetoes was deferred, except in the case of the Grab bill which was called and the veto sustained on vote of 9 to 5.

The medical bill, amended beyond recognition passed third reading.

The clerk read a veto from the Governor of Senate Bill No. 103, relating to certain claims, one for Maka and one for Luweiko. The latter passed over the veto.

Senator Coelho presented resolutions calling for reports from heads of departments.

The nominations for License Commissioners for Hawaii and Kauai were then confirmed.

MORE SALARY.

Senator Lane introduced a resolution to the effect that members hereafter will be paid $1000 for a session of ninety days and mileage at 10 cents a mile each way. The resolution was adopted and the Senate took a recess until 2 p. m.

Afternoon Session.

Sensors Knudsen, Smith and Kalam were appointed a conference committee to confer with a like committee from the House on the medical bill.

VETOES.

The veto message of the House Bill 213, relating to division of the license fees between territories and counties, was taken up for consideration and deferred on motion of Senator Dowsett.

The income tax bill veto, which the House had considered and passed, was then considered. Senator Chillingworth moved to table and the motion carried.

Senator Lane moved to sustain the veto of the leper hospital bill and the motion carried.

Senator Chillingworth reported, from the conference committee, on the kerosene oil bill, No. 61 as amended and the bill passed.

Senator Lane, from the printing committee, reported expending in printing and translating $2,306.60. The report was filed.

SCHOOL BILL.

Senator Dowsett reported on Senate Bill No. 16, relating to the appointment of school committees in counties recommending that the bill be tabled. No second. Motion to indefinitely postpone lost. Motion to table both report and committee also lost. Senator Dowsett then moved to pass on second reading. Carried.

House Bill No. 217, relating to repayment of license money wrongfully collected was tabled on motion of Senator Dowsett.

Senator Hayselden moved to reconsider the veto of the "Grab Bill" but was ruled out of order. He stated that he desired to go on record as being in favor of the bill.

The Governor sent in a veto message of the second Pound bill at 3:27 p. m., and was passed over the veto 12 to 3.

NOMINATIONS.

At the same time he returned an amendment to the list of nominees for positions on the Board of License Commissioners, first withdrawing the names of L. Tenney Peck and Mark P. Robinson who declined to serve, the new nominees being Joseph A. Gilman and Carlos A. Long who, with C. G. Ballentyne, will serve for four years. The complete list is here given:

THE HOUSE AND THE GOVERNOR

The House adjourned sine die this morning a few minutes after midnight, the closing session being marked by expressions of good-will and friendship among the members and the beginning of a pretty row between the Governor and the Legislature. Had the hands of the clock not crept around to the closing hour or had the session a few more days to run there would probably have been some warm words passed between the Governor and the members, but as it is it seems as if a lawsuit between the Territory and the counties must result.

This is over the House bill turning over to the counties one-half of all the amounts collected in police court fines and license fees. The Governor had vetoed the bill and suggested improvements, a bill to effect which reaching him a few days ago. In the meanwhile the Legislature waited for the signing of this before they sustained the veto on the other, but thinking that all was all right the veto was sustained. Then it was found that the Governor intended to pocket veto the remedying bill and the House demanded the return of their communication sustaining the veto of the previous one, reconsidering their vote in the meanwhile. The Governor promptly refused to send back the communication asked for.

At the close of the session last night Speaker Holstein was presented with a gold headed cane by the members of the House as a mark of their appreciation of his work.

HOUSE—EVENING SESSION.

The House was jammed last night for the closing hour's business of the session, every available place being filled. The Speaker's gavel fell at 7:50, after the band had serenaded the members for nearly an hour.

LAST COMMITTEE REPORTS.

Rawlins had another still-born resolution to report on for the Judiciary committee and the corpse was laid on the table. The Education committee presented a list of recommendations, which were filed. A communication to the Journal committee from C. R. Buckland gave the latest information about that much talked-about book. There have been fifty-four days' minutes received and typewritten and 190 pages are in type and the proofs read. Buckland estimated that in all there will be 3000 typewritten pages and 1750 printed pages. The book would be completed within the time allowed.

FINANCES OF THE HOUSE.

A report of the House expenses taken from the Territorial expenses was read, showing a total of $16,198.54 spent in all, leaving a balance of $13,801.46.

MORE BILLS SIGNED.

Senate Bill 92, Act 123, providing for a memorial to commemorate the signing of the first constitution.

House Bill 117, Act 123, relating to the method of marking ballots.

House Bill 238, Act 130, the Lahaina electric franchise bill.

House Bill 242, Act 131, providing for the disposition of the net profits of the Lahaina Seminary.

Senate Bill 61, Act 132, to regulate the storage of oils.

SESSIONAL SALARY BOOST.

The resolution asking for a boost of the members salaries to $1000, which had been brought to life after once being voted down, was brought up by Kaleo, who urged its passage. Kaniho rose to explain that he had not changed his mind regarding the question. He saw no virtue in any change of salary which would cut out all pay for extra sessions. He expressed the belief that he would probably be a member of the next House and might have to pay his own expenses in case of an extra session, which on a poor man like myself would be a hardship. The change would be a good one if the part concerning free extra sessions be cut out. The resolution was really an effort to shut poor men out of politics. He moved the indefinite postponement of the resolution.

Kaleopu moved the tabling of the resolution, the sense of which he doubted. To pass it would mar the session's record. This session has shown that the Hawaiians have been able to show themselves capable of doing the public work expeditiously and economically. He regretted the introduction of such a resolution, which might be taken as an attempt of the Hawaiian members to grab the public's money. Pail seconded the motion and refused the unanimous consent for Sheldon to talk on the resolution.

The ayes and noes were called the

HELD UP THE WIRELESS

Trouble With Telephone People on the Big Island.

The Wireless Telegraph Company has been held up on the Island of Hawaii by the Hilo and Hawaii Telephone and Telegraph Company owing to an increase in the rental of the poles and for office service in receiving and transmitting messages.

When the wireless people began operations the question of a private wire was agitated because of the publicity given messages on the regular line. On all long distance wires in the country subscribers and when one rings up, the "rubber necks" start business and the more instruments taken from the hooks the more difficult it is to hear what is being told you by the person on the other end of the wire.

When it was decided to grant a subsidy to the company there was a clause in the grant to the effect that all government messages were to be transmitted free, which was something of an imposition, and an overland Morse system be maintained between the tower on one end of the island of Hawaii and Hilo. After many months the wire was strung on the poles of the telephone companies but little was done toward instructing the operators into the mysteries of the dots and dashes in telegraphy so that part of the system soon became obsolete but the wires remained on the poles. The charge made by the Hilo company was fifty dollars a month for telephone service, and this has been regularly paid according to Manager Cross. Last month he was notified that after May 1st, the rate would be increased to seventy-five dollars a month or no service.

When President Scott of the telephone company was in the city the other day he saw Mr. Cross and notified him that the higher amount would be insisted upon. But in the meantime the Wireless people had opened a regular office for the receipt of messages for transmission and had a telephone installed. Mr. Cross claims that as a subscriber to the Hilo service the company operators there must receive and transmit any message offered. Yesterday some one, supposedly a person with influence, got a message through from Hawaii to Honolulu but later when a message was sent from Honolulu to Hilo word came back that the wire was down and nothing could be sent through.

Since the service was established it has been of great benefit to the community, barring the fact that messages have been at times disclosed when they have been sent with the expectation that they would be kept private. The plan has been in the past, or was some years ago, to repeat all messages at a station midway between Hilo and Pukoo. In doing this there was more or less delay as the operators in the telephone office would be unable to catch the words on their ear drums owing to the rubbernecks. Sometimes the voice of the operator would be raised so high in receiving and repeating that the social guests on the veranda of the office could hear what was being said without half trying. There were defects in the Hilo office which could have been remedied by the use of the Morse system that was never thoroughly put in use and which should be used if the company is to continue the service.

The result of the refusal of the Hawaii company to take the messages and the attempt to force payment will be watched with interest. Sugar factors are interested for they are kept informed by that means of the movements of vessels and the conditions at the mills and on the plantations.

MAY DAY FESTIVAL

Stately Pageant on the Grounds of Oahu College.

The May Day fete given yesterday afternoon by the students of Oahu College, on the Punahou campus, far exceeded, in every way, all that had been anticipated, accustomed as the public are to the thoroughness and excellence of the college undertakings. To begin with, the crowds that came were beyond any estimate that had been made. It is thought that there must have been nearly five thousand persons upon the campus throughout the afternoon. The ordinary street-car service could not begin to handle the traffic, and finally at least double the service—all the available cars and force of extra motormen and conductors were called out. For at least two hours before the hour announced for the pageant to move—2:30 o'clock—there had not been standing room, and car after car passed, without halting, as there was not even space in aisles or on the foot-boards for the traditional "one more." As to the pageant, itself, although the program was long and varied, yet it conveyed the mere announcement, no hint of the brilliancy of color and the grace of movement, that made it a series of tableaux, all blending into one perfect and harmonious whole.

THE CAMPUS.

The day seemed specially ordained—such as a real May Day should be—with clear skies, sunlight and soft breezes that just stirred the foliage of the algaroba trees, and no more.

At the gates of the campus were mounted police in their best uniforms, giving it quite the air of a royal function in keeping with the dignity to which the Lord and Lady of the May were justly entitled.

The grounds were never more beautiful, the sward like velvet, dappled with light and shade, with flags and pennons fluttering everywhere. On the main building were large American and Hawaiian flags, suspended from the upper balconies, and covering nearly the entire front. The early arrivals scattered themselves about in groups, Americans, Hawaiians, Japanese and Chinese, fraternizing as they do nowhere else in the world.

A spectator remarked: "What a strange sight! Hawaiians, Americans and Chinese, all uniting in the celebration of the old English May Day festival—a thing that could never have been foreseen by the singers of madrigals centuries ago."

The procession moved, as such a stately spectacle should, at moderate pace, crossing the campus, and passing to the left, then turning to form about the green where the first of the series of dances—that around "the wreathed May-pole," was to be given. Leading the way were the mounted heralds, all in blue and yellow—the Oahu colors. They rode well and carried their pennons as well-trained heralds should.

Those on foot walked with a jaunty step, as became their gallant youth. The court jester in his parti-colored garments, cap and bells, might have stepped out of a historical picture, and he preceded, as was his just and ancient right, the Lord and Lady of the May, with their gorgeous suite—lords and

STEAMER TO RUN UNLESS AT LOSS

W. M. Giffard Points Out How Merchants May Help the Enterprise.

"The most telling work that local merchants can do to make it an object for the O. S. S. Co. to keep the S. S. Sierra on the San Francisco-Honolulu run, is, when ordering goods from the Coast, to stipulate that they be shipped by the Sierra."

So spoke W. M. Giffard to a reporter yesterday.

"So far it is impossible to speak definitely regarding freight prospects," continued Mr. Giffard. "The sugar season is nearly over but that won't affect the situation appreciably. The American-Hawaiian boats take most of the sugar away from here while our own sugar is largely shipped direct from the other islands."

"We shall expect to handle bananas, pineapples and other island products, but it is the freight coming from San Francisco that will count."

"A passenger boat must have freight in order to make both ends meet, for whether the passenger list be large or small. The expense is going on all the time."

"As to whether the Sierra will be kept on the run or not, all I can say is that she will continue on her schedule unless she operates at an actual loss."

MARINE

The O. S. S. Sonoma arrived from Sydney, Auckland and Pago Pago early yesterday morning, docking at the Oceanic wharf at 8:10 o'clock, the S. S. Alameda having been shifted to the foot of Fort street in order to make room for the Colonial boat.

The only passengers for Honolulu were: Mrs. Mary Stuart and two children, and J. E. Pythian.

The imports included: 20 ribs beef, 25 carcasses lamb, 400 carcasses mutton, 118 cases butter, 100 cases onions and 6 cases of merchandise from Sydney and Auckland. From Pago Pago there were four cases of onions.

The Sonoma sailed for San Francisco at 6 p. m., taking about twenty-five first-class and a number of steerage passengers from here.

ALOHA ALAMEDA.

At 10 a. m. yesterday the O. S. S. Alameda left the foot of Fort street for San Francisco, with the band playing and an unusually large crowd waving farewells. The vessel took fifty first saloon and a hundred steerage passengers from here. Among the departures were Dam Expert Schuyler, Editor Dent Robert and wife, Capt. Barneson and Hibbard of the San Francisco shipping firm of that name, Capt. Ritchie, late of the ship Loch Garve, Mrs. Z. S. Spalding of Kauai, and Dr. Rowat who is going to Canada for a vacation. There should be an interesting race up to the Coast between the Alameda and the Sonoma, which sailed at 6 p. m.

STRUCTURALLY WEAK.

According to New Zealand papers expert engineers who have been traveling on the boats of the Oceanic Steamship Co., have reported in regard to the Sonoma, Sierra and Ventura, that the foundations for the engines are structurally weak. The Wellington Times of April 17 says that the engines and boilers are to be lifted out and the foundations or engine base of each vessel is to be strengthened sufficiently to stand the vibration of the powerful engines possessed by these steamers.

PORTUGUESE LEAVE.

About a hundred Portuguese left by the S. S. Alameda for the Coast yesterday. More than three times this number had intended going but a great many of them objected to going into quarantine for twenty-four hours and having their baggage fumigated.

PILIKIA STOKERS.

of quarantine regulations and some trouble was experienced in replacing them. Five substitutes were eventually found, however. Only first-class passengers were allowed to leave the vessel.

ladies in waiting, and slender, graceful pages. This group was especially effective and true to traditions.

THE MAY-POLE.

One of the prettiest features was the May-pole with its decorations of blue and yellow streamers, ready for the dancers, drawn on a cart by a pair of dun colored oxen whose horns were tipped with flowers, and that gave a most realistic character to the part assigned them, by bowing loudly as they were driven upon the green, with the cracking of whips, to the spot where the pole was to be set up. Minstrels, choros, troops, hobby-horse—which delighted the children—the flower girls, the black costumed chimney-sweeps with their blackened faces, Titania and the Fairies, all gauze and spangles, floating locks and diaphanous wings, passed slowly by. Then came the pretty milkmaids, the spanish dancers, the French dancers, the actors in "Pyramus and Thisbe," Robin Hood and his band in Lincoln green, with bows, arrows and staves, and the quaint Morrice-dancers, whose dance and dress were both accurately reproduced.

The May pole set in its place, the children—twenty-four little girls—wove the ribbons in and out to the playing of the minstrels seated on the grass, as they probably sat in the first May Day fetes of bygone ages. The little tangles, which did not confuse or embarrass the dancers were also probably a frequent incident in the real dance. The various features of the program were given in different parts of the campus, all the dances excepting the first, were given on the platform or sward, in front of Pauahi hall, where "Pyramus and Thisbe" was also presented.

THE FAIRIES.

Titania with her attendants in their filmy costumes, winged and sandaled, sang joyously and were not less graceful than the May-pole dancers. The chimney-sweeps were favorites from the first moment they stepped into their places, singing with such spirit that the services of the leader were not required, and that hard-worked director was allowed a brief moment of rest. One chorus was a traditional song of the English sweeps three hundred years ago and more, the refrain running: "Shoul and a shoul and a shoul I rule, Shoul I Zacker racker, Ske-bib-a-rall-bool, Ske-bib-a-rall-bool."

The Robin Hood scene, with the Merry Men in their suits of Lincoln green, bows and staves under the greenwood tree, was most realistic. In this, Friar Tuck was admirably enacted by Reynold McGrew, who sang in praise of "The nut-brown ale," in fine voice and with real dramatic effect. Indeed, Friar Tuck, wherever he appeared, was a conspicuous and engaging figure. In this scene the wrestling and single stick contest were well done, and the dialogue was spoken clearly and with excellent rendering.

The Rose drill with its company of girls carrying garlands of pink, white, crimson and yellow roses was a brilliant bit of color, while the French dance by Margaret and Helen Center, the dancers beautifully costumed in blue, would have been creditable to professionals.

The Morrice-dance was another faithful reproduction of an old English dance in favor before the days of Queen Elizabeth. It had the slowness and the elaborate curtsying, almost, of the minuet, and the costumes of the boys and girls who took part in it added much to the effect of the quaint figures.

The actors in Pyramus and Thisbe had been capitally coached, and not the least deserving of praise, was the young Chinese, Ah Loy, who threw himself into the part of "Moonshine" with great zest.

THE SPANISH DANCE.

This was a series of graceful evolutions—a true Spanish dance, though castnets were lacking, in which fans were wonderfully employed through all the languorous movements which characterized it. It was especially suited to the young Hawaiian girls who are graceful by nature. The costumes of the dancers, orange and scarlet, with glittering necklaces, full skirts, short jackets, fringed with gold, loose blouses and flowing scarfs, were very brilliant, and the Spanish dance had the effect of bringing the pageant to a close in a blaze of color.

The success of the elaborate entertainment must be attributed to the combined efforts of parents, teachers and pupils. But Mrs. I. M. Cox, however, must take precedence, for having originated the fete and carrying it through. Miss Winne was second in command. The drilling of Titania and the Fairies was done by Miss Shaw and Miss Sorenson; the chimney-sweeps by Miss Gregg, the Morrice-dance, rose drill, French and Spanish dancers were rehearsed by Miss Borden, Robin Hood and his Merry Men, by Miss Hart, the players in Pyramus and Thisbe by Misses Dodge and Johnson, while the leader of the Minstrels was William Achi Jr.

The chorus singing under the direction of Mr. Frederick Hastings, was excellent, the result of long and patient drilling as was evident. The minstrels, also, deserved special praise. They were an organization wholly of students, and furnished all the instrumental music given throughout the fete. Proper recognition is also due Miss Brown, who played the piano accompaniments.

The mothers of the children made the greater part of the costumes, an enormous task of itself—one lady contributing 700 roses for the rose dance, all manufactured by her own skilful fingers.

The posters which were displayed in the windows of the downtown business houses previous to the fete, and which were especially good, were designed and made by Moses Heen (3), Cordelia Gilman, Vera Damon, Alice Spaulding (2), Maude Jones, Florence Gurrey, Irene Aiken, Minnie Cantin, Kenneth Winter and Jessie Shaw.

The decorations, of which mention has been made, were supervised by Mr. Reed and Miss Brown. But one complaint was made. Persons crowded into the building reserved for specially invited guests, and those superintending the entertainment.

A request has been made to repeat all available parts of the program in the Opera House within the near future, which will probably be done, giving those an opportunity to see and hear who could not do so, at the original production.

THE REPORT ON LANAI

Findings of Committee in Favor of the Big Deal.

HOUSE—SIXTIETH DAY.

Morning Session.

The information that the Municipal bill and the Liquor bill had been signed by the Governor was communicated officially to the House by Secretary Atkinson as the first matter of business yesterday, the closing day of the session.

The House was in a particularly good humor, general satisfaction with themselves and with the world in general beaming from each member's face. During the reading of the minutes the Representatives busied themselves in clearing out their desks, bundling up copies of bills and reports and searching for any stray letters and notes which might have been checked in a drawer and the destruction of the same neglected.

THE SIGNED BILLS.

The bills signed by the Governor yesterday morning were:

Senate Bill 42, Act 118, incorporating the city and county of Honolulu.

Senate Bill 91, Act 119, to regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors.

House Bill 219, Act 120, amending Chapter 17 of the Revised Laws.

House Bill 235, Act 121, to provide a sinking fund for the redemption or purchase of bonds issued by any county of the Territory.

THE LANAI REPORT.

A long report from the Committee on Public Lands on the Lanai deal was presented. The document was a lengthy one of fifty-eight pages, the reading of which occupied over an hour and the clerk had to call upon the interpreter to help him out.

GIST OF THE REPORT.

The gist of the report was: "That the areas of first class agricultural and first class pastoral land, and second class pastoral and waste lands, which appear in the report of Mr. Jared G. Smith, have been verified by it and found to be a fair estimate of the areas of the classifications of these lands. As to the valuation placed by him, your committee is of the opinion that if there was a guarantee of a water supply for the use of the same it would be a fair figure. But under present conditions, we think it too high. There is only one running stream on the island and the water therefrom is being claimed by the owners of the kuleanas in Maunaloa; and under our laws they have vested rights that cannot be divested. If this claim did not exist the cost of pumping and lifting this water to an elevation that would make it possible to be used for irrigation on the lands in the basin, would be prohibitory to the rich and more so to the would-be homesteaders.

"The proposition of conserving water from the rainfall, will necessitate a big outlay of capital which very few people can well afford to undertake, when it is estimated that only 1,400,000,000 gallons can be collected in this way and the largest areas that can be irrigated by this amount of water is only 1600 acres.

"In making a valuation of these lands the matter of water supply and the cost of conserving the same cuts a very important figure.

"Your committee has endeavored to arrive at a fair valuation as it found the condition of things on the island, as follows:

1500 acres 1st class agricultural land at $10 per acre	$15,000
12,000 acres 2d class agricultural land and 1st class pastoral land at $5 per acre	6,000
50,000 acres 2d class pastoral land and waste land, at $75 per acre	22,500
	$97,500

[The above figures do not tally and are evidently incorrect.—Ed. Advertiser.]

"From the evidence that your committee has before it, and from its own personal investigation, it is satisfied that the government has received full value for its Lanai lands.

"In this particular case the facts, circumstances and evidence have perhaps justified the exchange of large areas of public lands for other lands held by private parties, but your committee strongly urges and submits that it cannot be accepted and adopted as a precedent for the future disposal of the public domain within this Territory. The conditions are applicable only to the matter under consideration and cannot and should not be used in the future as a justification for a similar transaction.

Your committee feels that the best interests and the future development of this Territory demand that the public lands hereafter to be disposed of should be divided into small holdings or parcels in order that the mass of limited means may be able to acquire them. The offering of large areas in many instances requires that the intending purchaser should be in a position to stand a large outlay of capital, and those who are desirous of and are in a position to purchase a smaller area are discouraged and prohibited from so doing by that fact. Under the Organic Act (Section 73) all matters pertaining to public lands are placed in the hands of the Governor and Commissioner of Public Lands, and their actions are not reversible by the legislative body. Your committee therefore returns herewith House Resolution No. 18, together with all documentary evidence and testimony taken before it and which is hereto attached and made a part of this report."

Jared Smith, who accompanied the committee as an expert, reported as follows:

"The best portion of the agricultural land which I saw was what is called the 'bench,' a level, treeless plateau extending for a distance of four miles southeast from the ranch headquarters. This bench averages about one mile in width. It is intersected by four deep gulches rising in the main watershed and extending in a southwesterly direction so that the portions of the plateau between the gulches are nearly rectangular in form. This bench contains about 1500 acres of Government land on Kamoku, Kalulu, Kaunolu and Kealiaapuni. In addition about 350 acres of this bench land are on the privately owned lands of Kealiaapuni and Palawai and about 450 acres on Kaohai.

"The 1500 acres of bench land on the Crown and Government lands above mentioned is as good agricultural land as exists anywhere in Hawaii. The rainfall at Kaele at an elevation of from 1600 to 1750 feet amounts to from 30 to 35 inches per annum. This location is to the westward of the main ridge and is less sheltered than any other portion of the bench. That portion of the bench farther to the south-east, as far as Palakoaie gulch, judgments from the character of the vegetation, receives a very much higher rainfall. The soil is deep, red, loam, comparatively free from stones and of good texture. I would say that there are at least 1200 acres of land suitable for pineapple cultivation. The annual rainfall is sufficient for this crop judging from the nature and appearance of the vegetation existing on this bench land. The rainfall here is higher than it is in Kula on Maui. The soil is deeper and apparently of very excellent quality. I believe also that there is about a thousand acres of land that would grow good tobacco, if it were desired to plant that crop instead of pineapples.

"Wherever there is a rainfall of 20 to 30 inches in Hawaii, enough water for domestic purposes is obtainable from roofs. Even if it were desired to grow crops which require irrigation, a tunnel not over 4000 feet in length would bring the water from Maunaloa headwaters to the Kona side of the island. I would estimate the value of the bench for either pineapples or tobacco at $35 per acre and I believe that the bench land alone, for the purposes of pineapple or tobacco cultivation could be sold on this basis of valuation.

"Below the bench extending along its border from the ranch house to Palakoaie Gulch and bounded on the southeast by Kamao and thence extending towards the northwest a distance of about 7 miles, is a broad level or slightly rolling plain. I would estimate the well grassed portion of this plain as about 9000 acres, about 7000 acres of which forms a part of the government lands of Kamoku, Kalulu, Kaunolu, Kealiaapuni and Paawili. The whole of this plain is covered with a close turf which indicates that there is probably 25 inches average rainfall. The character and density of growth also indicate that the rainfall is well distributed throughout the year. There are no evidences of heavy rainfall, that is to say there are no gulches or washes showing erosion as a result of torrential rains. The rainfall in this region is probably derived from valley showers from the clouds that pass over the mountain. About 2000 acres of this plain are second-class agricultural land and capable of utilization for the cultivation of sweet-potatoes, peanuts during the winter months, occasional crops of corn and watermelons. From the grazing standpoint, the carrying capacity of this whole plateau or basin could be doubled or tripled by planting Rhodes grass and Paspalum dilatatum, to replace the pillpillula and manienie. Sufficient roof water could be obtained for domestic purposes. The soil is red, apparently very deep and free from rocks. This basin land plateau would be worth at least an average price of $15 per acre for grazing purposes alone. The probabilities are that all or the most of this plateau would be suitable for the cultivation of sisal. The land is of much better quality than that in the vicinity of Sisal on the island of Oahu. The rainfall in this portion of Lanai is also much higher than in the district of Oahu where sisal is now being cultivated. A further advantage lies in the fact that there is no rock and the land is free from kolu, lantana and other noxious shrubs.

"A considerable strip of land below the plain which divides the bench from the basin, is suitable for agricultural purposes and would be worth considerable more than the average price of the whole body, and would compensate for areas worth less, in striking an average valuation.

"Second Class Grazing Land. Under this division would fall almost the whole of Kamao and the makai portions of Kealiaapuni, Kaunolu, Kalulu and Kamoku on the kona side of the island; also on the windward side of the island probably the whole of Paawili, Kaunolu, Mahana and Paomai, although we examined only a portion of the mauka portion of Paomai and Mahana. All of this country is good grazing land. The makai portions of the Kona government lands have the heaviest growth of pill grass that I have seen anywhere in the islands.

"There are probably 5000 acres of second-class agricultural and first-class grazing land on the portion of the island which we did not see. The second-class grazing land, approximately 30,000 acres, would certainly be worth $1 per acre, averaging good and bad.

"Recapitulation. The government land on the island of Lanai consists of about 30,000 acres of second-class pastoral and waste land worth $1 per acre, $30,000; 12,000 acres of first-class grazing and second-class agricultural land worth $15 per acre, $180,000; 1500 acres of first-class agricultural land worth $35 per acre, $52,500, a total of $262,500.

"The Watershed. The main watershed of the islands is about four miles in length, extending northwest to southeast. The ridge is a continuous one unbroken by passes and is quite precipitous on either side. The highest point it has an approximate elevation of 3400 feet. Maunaloa gulch, which contains the only living water on the island, rises directly north of the highest point of the ranges. Another deep gulch rises from the north slope of Haelele. The deepest gulches are all to the windward and appear to have been of volcanic origin while those on the kona side of the range show erosion and appear to have been formed by water action. I estimate the watershed as about 3000 acres, over 2000 of which are included in the government lands. I noted that clouds covered the mountain in the vicinity of Puuuli, the greater portion of the two days that we were on the island. The rainfall on the portion of the range between Haelele and Puuene, probably averages more than double the rainfall at Kaele, the ranch house quarters. Assuming that there are 2000 acres of government land on this mountain watershed and that the rainfall is 50 inches per annum, 2,500,000,000 gallons of water are annually precipitated. I was informed that the stream flow in Maunaloa gulch amounts to 50 gallons per minute at the location of Mr. Gay's pump in the upper portion of the valley. In addition the rainfall of the watershed on Kealiaapuni, Palawai and Kaohai, probably amounts to 50 per cent as much as the rainfall on the government land.

"I would say that the possession or ownership of this watershed or mountain range on the island of Lanai, is absolutely essential to any form of agriculture on the island.

"Previous to the land exchange consummated in December, 1906, the Government owned two-thirds of the whole watershed including the whole of that portion where the only living stream of water on the island originates. This watershed is the key to the whole island; its ownership by private land ownership on the island at the mercy of the owner of the watershed. Looking at the question of ownership from a private standpoint its possession would be worth any sum which a man could afford to pay.

"From my knowledge of the value of water here in Hawaii, I would place the valuation of the government lands on the principal watershed of Lanai as cheap at $100,000. The mere fact that only the crudest water development has been undertaken, bears no relation whatever to the actual present or prospective value of the government lands.

"This valuation of the main watershed of the island, added to that of the agricultural and grazing lands as previously itemized, would make the government lands on the island of Lanai, worth approximately $360,000.

"Without access to the watershed none of the lower lands can be divided up for closer settlement. The conservation of 1 per cent. of the total rainfall on this mountain range would give an annual supply of about 40,000,000 gallons of water available for agricultural and domestic purposes. It may be too optimistic to say that 1 per cent. of the total rainfall is capable of conservation but I hold this out as an illustration of what might be done towards the development of the water resources of this island, a development which would not require consideration of the elevation of any portion of this water by mechanical means.

"As to the number of families which the government lands on the island of Lanai would support, I would say that the 1500 acres of first-class agricultural land if properly subdivided, would maintain from 40 to 50 families; the 2000 acres of second-class agricultural land about 20 families and the remaining 10,000 acres of first-class grazing and second-class agricultural from 20 to 40 families and the 30,000 acres of second-class pastoral land would support 30 families. This estimate is made under the assumption that the ownership of the main watershed would remain vested in the government and that its forest and water resources would be conserved for the benefit of the owners of the agricultural and pastoral lands.

"In my opinion the question of the ultimate disposal of the government lands on Lanai has passed out of the hands of the Legislature. The only points now to be judged are questions of law should the case be appealed to the United States Supreme Court, but if upon final review there should be a reversal, and also, if those who control the land policies of Hawaii should be so disposed, I am of the opinion that the agricultural and grazing lands of the island of Lanai could be made to support a population of at least 1000 people.

"JARED G. SMITH."

FIRST VETO SUSTAINED.

The vetoed Leper Suspect bill was the first of the three vetoes to be dealt with, Kaniho making the motion to override. The bill was, thought the Kohala member, the most important bill ever introduced in the House. It was a much better measure than the substitute bill prepared by the Governor. Two matters of importance touching leprosy had been brought up in the House. One was the Wallace resolution, introduced by Moanuali, the other the present bill.

"Our resolution regarding Dr. Wallace was turned down and refused by the Board of Health," continued Kaniho, "for the only reason that the members resented our being anxious to do everything possible for the lepers.

"Which is most important, measures helping railroad companies or measures helping the poor and helpless wards of our Territory? On the stump we promised to do all that is possible for these people and we must live up to our promises and our oaths. I move that we override the veto of the Governor."

Sheldon, the father of the bill, explained how the substitute bill had been brought in and the absolute necessity for it. He warned the members, speaking in Hawaiian and addressing his remarks principally to the Hawaiian representatives, that the whole leper question must be handled carefully and judiciously or the matter would be taken over by the Federal government and be wholly out of their hands.

Kaleo wanted the original measure, not the substitute, under which bill anyone can be cited to appear by whoever may have a spite against him. There was no need for any such a law regarding suspects as anyone could tell from appearances whether a person had or had not the disease. What was required was a law to allow those who had the disease to appear for a hearing before a magistrate.

The veto was sustained on rollcall by a vote of 14 to 12.

RAWLINS AROUSED.

The Medical bill came back from the Senate but its own father wouldn't own it. Rawlins had introduced it but moved that the House give him a unanimous support in refusing to concur in the amendments.

"That bill passed in this House early in March and was sent to the Senate. Here it got thirty straight votes, I wonder what the Senate thinks the intelligence of this House is, when they send back a bill with fifteen sections cut out when the bill only had sixteen sections and then try to softsoap the House by amending something that never was in the bill. Here they have held that bill for forty-two days. They killed it once, then brought it to life and send it back in this shape on the last day of the session.

"Rather than see the bill pass as it is I would see it killed. The bill left the House with thirty straight votes behind it and I ask for those thirty straight votes to refuse to concur in the amendments."

Rawlin's motion carried and a conference committee was named.

COUNTY POUNDS ESTABLISHED.

The veto of the bill establishing county pounds was overridden by a vote of 27 to 1 and it is up to the Governor to sign the bill abolishing Territorial pounds or leave the country with two sets of pounds in existence.

COUNTY REVENUE VETO.

Rice spoke on the veto of the first bill dividing licenses and police court fines between the Territory and the counties, favoring sustaining the Governor. If the bill were made law as it was it would be a blot on the work of the session as the provisions of the bill were indefinite and confusing. He could not support the bill even at the risk of a pocket veto of the remedying bill.

Kaniho objected and wanted to override roughshod so that the counties could get their money. He was just launching into a tirade against vetoes in general when the sergeant-at-arms butted in with his megaphone to announce the arrival of another veto.

The veto of the license and fine bill was sustained.

LAND COMMISSION.

The Senate joint resolution, calling for the appointment of a Land Commission was carried through third reading, the Democratic-Home Rulers opposing.

TWO CLAIMS DISALLOWED.

The message from the Governor was to the effect that he could not allow the claims of R. Maka, for $2500, and of F. R. Lueweiko, for $1500, in Senate Bill 103, Unpaid Claims bill. Both items were styled excessive and out of true proportion even if allowable at all. These two items went in the Senate bill on recommendation of the House Miscellaneous committee and represented the principal work of that committee during the session.

Kaleiupu said the Senate has overridden the veto in the F. R. Lueweiko item and sustained it in regard to R. Maka. He thought the Senate had treated the House unfairly in this and moved therefore that the House sustain the veto in regard to Lueweiko and override it in regard to Maka.

Sheldon said that two wrongs never made a right and asked that both items be carried over the veto.

Kaniho moved to sustain the veto on both items.

On a veto the Maka veto was sustained and the Lueweiko item carried over the veto.

Afternoon Session.

After kicking back and forth from Senate to House and House to Senate seeking for someone to father it, the resolution to increase the sessional indemnity of members to $1000 a session was presented yesterday in the House, coming down as Senate Concurrent Resolution 9. This calls for a ninety-day session, a mileage fee of ten cents a mile for members, and no compensation for any extra session. This had passed unanimously in the Senate.

"Who will move the adoption of the resolution?" asked the Speaker.

Rice dared it. He said that there were no holdover members of the House to benefit by the change and he moved that the Senate resolution be adopted.

Kaniho asked if he could believe his ears that there would be no pay for an extra session. On being told that his ears were credible he promptly moved the indefinite postponement of the resolution. He said he would not bind down any future legislature and deny them the inherent right of drawing down extra pay for an extra session.

Pali moved to defer action until 8:30 in the evening, but no one seconded this.

Kaleiupu said that nothing had occurred during the session to besmear the record of the House and the adoption of this resolution might besmear it. Such action might be looked upon as an attempt to grab money from the treasury, while the same object could be gained through the Delegate at Congress.

"The morning paper, in its editorial column this morning, complimented this Legislature on the excellent record it had made, but towards the end of the article it said that something might be done in the closing hours to smear that record. Has that time come?" asked Kaleiupu.

The Speaker then asked the members to carefully consider whether they were justified in passing the resolution. They themselves would not be affected, but their successors would be.

"It seems to be applied to Hawaiians, I don't know why, that they are grabbers of the public money. For that reason, as well as others, I second the motion to indefinitely postpone," said a member.

Rice rose to withdraw his motion. He said that he had not expected any strong opposition and had made his motion in courtesy to the Senate. He asked leave to withdraw it and substitute one to table the resolution.

Sheldon favored the resolution. He reminded the members of the hard work they had gone through and asked which one of them did not consider that he had earned that amount of money. The adoption of the resolution would not make a law but would merely express the sentiment of the House.

The measure had been long discussed, continued Sheldon, and he had supposed that the members were unanimous on it. He had not considered that the record of the House would be besmirched by the vote to adopt. If there had been a ninety-day session much of the work would not show such signs of haste.

The rollcall on the resolution, which was asked for by Pali, gave fifteen ayes and fifteen noes, the resolution failing to pass. The House divided as follows:

Ayes: Akau, Alawa, Coney, Correa, Gomes, Kahana, Kaleo, Kalana, Mahoe, Moanuali, Nailima, Nakaleka, Rice, Sheldon and Silva—15.

Noes: Castro, Hughes, Joseph, Kaleiupu, Kaniho, Keouli, Leleliwi, Long, Pali, Pao, Quinn, Rawlins, Waiwaiole and the Speaker—15.

MORE BILLS SIGNED.

Notification of the signing of another bill was sent in by the Secretary, this being House Bill 216, Act 124, relating to Insurance corporations and companies.

PETITION 1 COMES BACK.

Rawlins, on behalf of the Judiciary committee, presented a report on House Petition 1, asking that the rights of Waiwaiole, Joseph, Kaluna and Nakaleka to seats in the Legislature be investigated. The report stated that the allegations made against the members, that of holding government positions, were unfounded and that the members were legally elected. After some discussion the report was adopted.

Rawlins dug up another resolution to report on, this being Long's famous Anti-Treat Law, on which the Judiciary committee had been asked to draft a bill. Rawlins explained that he had studied up on law and had decided that the only one applicable in the question was the law of nature, under which if a man did not want to treat another he did not have to. He begged therefore, with the consent of the introducer, to return the resolution.

Long gravely explained that he had not pressed his measure because he had not wanted to confuse the various temperance and liquor measures before the House and he regretted that now the time was too late.

The Speaker asked if the measure would not be a violation of the Constitution of the United States, to which Rawlins explained that it was the constitution of man that the committee had been consulting.

Hughes said that if anyone had a kick coming in the matter it was he. He had fought single-handed at first for Local Option, while his colleague, Mr. Long, had sat by like a clam. Now, too late, he burst forth as an ardent temperance advocate.

Several other members took occasion to josh Long, who blushed bashfully behind his newspaper. The report of the committee was adopted.

The Education committee cleared its hands of bills by recommending the tabling of the bill to abolish the Office of Commissioner of Public Instruction and by presenting a report on the Hadley School incident, the same that had been presented in the Senate.

SUPERVISOR'S MILEAGE.

Rawlins reported on the legality of paying mileage fees to county supervisors, the opinion of the Judiciary committee being that the supervisors could vote themselves mileage if they felt so disposed, but the matter could be properly tested in the courts.

SENATE'S MONDAY WORK.

A veto of Senate Bill 115, the bill abolishing the Territorial pounds, was presented. Rice moved that the bill become law in spite of the veto and Kaleiupu moved to sustain the veto.

"It is the Senate that did all the monkey work in these bills," he said in explanation.

The veto was overridden by 27 votes to 3.

SOME SALARIES VETOED.

A veto was presented of Senate Bill 30, the Territorial Salary bill, the Governor repeating his assertions that the appropriations are much in excess of the estimated revenues carrying $268,972 more than the present period. The bill had raised in all 89 salaries, the ones objected to being those for night librarian of the Supreme Court library, medical inspector at Hilo, government physicians under control of the Board of Health, Portuguese interpreter in the Circuit and District Courts, Health and Sanitary Inspector, Honolulu.

Kaleiupu asked to defer. He did not want the House to act and then let the Senate sustain one or more items and cut out the rest.

Kaniho moved to override and do it now. He thought the House ought to go ahead and let the Senate take whatever action it wished.

The vote was deferred however.

MORE VETOES ARRIVE.

The Maui County Bond bill got the axe, the Governor expressing an opinion that it was improper to require the President's approval of any bill passed by the Territorial Legislature. This matter went over until the evening.

HOSPITAL ITEMS OBJECTED TO.

Another veto affected several items in House Bill 74. One of these was for the repair of the Judiciary building, $50,000, which the Governor thought too much to spend on an old building. The House passed it over his veto. Other items were those for the proposed Kalih hospital, and the hospitals at Maunaloa, Lihue and Elele. These items also passed in spite of the veto.

THE THOUSAND LOOKED GOOD.

Kaleo moved to reconsider the vote on the Senate resolution to make the sessional pay an even thousand. On first vote the motion was lost but a standing vote being called for thirteen were found ready to reason about it, while only twelve stayed put. Five members did not vote. This matter also went over until after dinner.

THE LAST RESOLUTION.

Kaleiupu presented a resolution authorizing the Speaker and the chairman of the committee on accounts to pay all claims against the House and to approve vouchers which shall be paid by the clerk out of the balance of the legislative appropriation. This was adopted.

RI UNKED IN SILENCE.

The Judiciary and Health committees have their last bills, briefly asking that they be tabled. One was to prevent Territorial and County officials from practicing law and the other to abolish the compulsory vaccination law.

RECONSIDERATION OF VETO.

There was a warm fight precipitated by a motion of Kaleo that the House reconsider its action in sustaining the veto on the bill to divide the police court fines and license fees between the Territory and the counties. It had been learned that the Governor intended to pocket veto the remedying bill and as a result the Senators were swarming about the lobbies to incite the House to action.

The House had already notified the Governor and the Senate that the veto had been sustained and there was a long and heated debate over the possibility of getting these communications back. Kaleiupu led the fight to demand their recall. Kaleo's motion carried and the reconsideration vote put down for 7:30.

The House adjourned at ten minutes past five.

A MORNING PAPER.

WALTER G. SMITH EDITOR

GOLD STOCK BUNCO.

This paper's belief that the Nevada gold stock boom is made of thin air has often been expressed; and information, which now and then comes from the mines, strengthens it. "A bonanza," said one of the initiated, "is a hole in the ground owned by a liar," and bonanzas are so plentiful in Nevada now as to put the veracity of the inhabitants under a very black cloud.

It may be set down as an axiom that, when a man has a good mine, with millions actually in sight, he wants to keep it. He is not selling shares in his good luck for ten cents, or fifty cents or for any other sum which does not bear a proper relation to the treasure on view. Assuming that he has value to show, capital is easily enlisted without going into the share market for it. Profitable ore-bodies are rarely on the market until they begin to peter out. Then we hear much about ground floor entrances and see much window-dressing.

Most of the Nevada stock offered is based on the suppositious value of a "prospect." A prospect may have gold in paying quantities, but the chances are that it has not. If gold were to be found in every "prospect" the metal would soon cease to be valuable. It is the scarcity of the yellow stuff which makes it worth so much and also the amount of human labor it takes to separate it from the rock in which it is fused or imbedded. But to read the prospectuses one would think that every gopher hole in the desert had a loose million in it. Perhaps such a hole will get its million yet, but not from below.

The easiest way to make money at mining is to sell stock. It is the way most of the mining fortunes have been made. There are very few authentic cases where fortunes have come of buying such stock, even if a real bonanza has been discovered; for in instances where the manipulators find, to their surprise, that they have a good thing they are likely to spread false reports and close down the works, for the sake of buying back outstanding stock for a song. The buyer is always at a disadvantage. He is the "sucker" upon whom others thrive.

And the farther away one goes from the mines or from mining interests, with stock for sale, the more suckers are to be found. Hawaii, of late, has been looked upon at Goldfields, as a pond full of them.

END OF THE SESSION.

The last important acts of the Legislature were to pass the municipal bill and sustain the Governor's veto of the grab bill. We are no more persuaded than formerly that Honolulu or the Territory needs more government, but as that policy has been adopted by the majority there is little left to say. As for the grab bill, that was the one measure redolent of graft to which the Legislature had, perhaps reluctantly, committed itself, but the Senate has made proper reparation in the final vote.

Getting through on time is hardly to be expected of a Hawaiian Legislature—or of any other, for that matter—but this one has kept within the limit. Washington, as well as Honolulu and Hawaii, will appreciate this departure from the old way and welcome it as the sign of an improving sense of responsibility here.

The action in regard to the Local Option bill was regrettable, but some amends were made by passing a pretty good liquor bill and especially by putting the say in regard to licenses in the hands of first-class commissioners.

The friendly spirit shown by both houses to the small farmer is a propitious sign of the times. He is coming to his own by and by and the time will be brought nearer by some of the measures passed, especially that establishing a college of agriculture.

Dividing praise and blame puts the largest mark on the credit side. On the whole the Legislature of 1907 has done well. It has set a high mark for the Legislature of 1909.

PTOMAINES.

Ptomaine poisoning is getting to be common in Honolulu, as any doctor of large practice will vouch. The cause of it is partly canned goods—especially those bought in cheap groceries—and partly the wrong way of keeping foods that would otherwise be safe. Strangely enough, a host of people do not know the danger of leaving the contents of a can within it after the can has been opened. A tin of frozen oysters will be cut into, a few "Blue Points" taken out and the rest left where they absorb the poison which contact with air makes active in the tin. This is a very prolific source of ptomaines. Every can should be completely emptied of its food when any is removed at all. That is the only safe way.

Another danger to avoid is the consumption of lobsters which have been alternately frozen and thawed—such lobsters as are kept on fishmarket slabs by day and put into cold storage by night. To safeguard fish-eaters from ptomaines the absolute freshness of the food is demanded. There is peril, too, in the want of cleanliness of cooking utensils. Back in 1893 the entire Provisional garrison here was poisoned by the ptomaines in its frying pans.

Much will be done by the Pure Food law to eliminate groceries which are not up to the health standard, but after all, the best safeguard for the people is personal vigilance.

BUDDHIST INFLUENCE BAD.

An interview with a well known Japanese, which appears in these columns, will prove deeply interesting both to the planters and to Christian workers. The latter have always deprecated the plan of building Buddhist temples on the sugar estates and the planters may be expected to do likewise if the conclusions of the Japanese observer, about the bad effect of Buddhist teachings, are correct. It appears that the Buddhist priests are reactionaries, and that they are urging the little brown field hands to ignore western ideas and wrap themselves in the ancient prejudices and superstitions of their race. As a result, plantation managers often find them insubordinate or in the frame of mind to make demands which are impossible to grant. It is the testimony of the Japanese whom we quote—himself a public teacher of usefulness, not known to this journal as a Christian—that the influence of the missionaries, which the Buddhist propaganda interrupted, was of great value to the planters, in that it gave the Japanese a western viewpoint and made them amenable to western ways.

The talk about a third term for President Roosevelt fails to take account of the emphasis with which he has declined to consider one. Here is his personal statement dictated to the newspaper correspondents at the White House, on the night of election day, November 8, 1904:

On the fourth of March next I shall have served three and a half years, and this three and a half years constitutes my first term. The wise custom which limits the President to two terms regards the substance and not the form, and under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination.

There might be an emergency of war which would lead a man like President Roosevelt to change a decision so clear-cut as the one just quoted, but we can imagine no lesser reason. The President is a man who tries to give everybody a "square deal" and those who know him best do not believe he would encourage presidential hopes in his personal and political friends and then secretly plot to undo them for his own advantage. That is not the Roosevelt way.

Red tape is likely to hinder the progress of the Panama canal more than frequent changes in the management. So many papers have to be signed and countersigned before a clerk can draw a pen or the laborer a pick, that it takes an interminable time to finish a day's task. Everything goes slowly on government work, and the larger the task the more deliberate the method.

While congratulations are going about why not bestow some on the Governor? He has done his full part in making the legislative record a successful one.

We trust we are not premature in announcing Nagaran Fernandez as a candidate for the Republican nomination of mayor of Honolulu.

The Honorables worn by most of the members of this Legislature mean something.

JACK JOHNSON WEARS JOHNSON

There Being No One Else to Fight in Australia He's Going Home.

Colored pugilist Jack Johnson, wearing "some punkins" passed through yesterday on the S. S. Sonoma, en route to San Francisco. He's going home because there are no more good big men to fight in the Colonies.

Brer Johnson went to "Stryler" to force a meeting with "Boshter" Bih Squires, but Newcastle William lit out for "Frisco" without satisfying the dingo's ambition, and the cullid gemman is hot on Squires' trail.

Johnson had a couple of fights in cornstalk country, meeting and defeating Peter Felix and Queenslander Laing, the two best men outside of Squires in the Antipodes.

Squires isn't exactly flush when he went through here the first time. During his stay in Australia he bettered himself financially and is returning home with a roll of bills that it would strain an ordinary man to jump over. He is also taking back with him some costly jewelry and a solid gold cigarette case, presented to him by admirers at the other end. Sam Allen, the well-known bookmaker, came through with the coffin-nail holder.

Johnson made a decided hit in Australia, his gentlemanly bearing and sportsmanlike traits gaining for him a host of friends.

Like other celebrated pugs have done of late, Jack had a bout with "Kid" Cupid and came off second best, his engagement to Mrs. Toy, a charming Sydney lady, being announced just before he left the country.

Johnson put in his shore time yesterday around town with friends. His ex-manager Al McLean is also aboard the Sonoma, but, in the words of the song, "they don't speak to one another now." Al and Jack had a dispute over money matters and the pair agreed to disagree, an assault and battery seance going with the decision.

"The best I can say of my treatment in Australia isn't good enough," said Johnson. "They sure are princes over there. Sixteen thousand people saw me fight Felix. I'm going back again in about a year. Squires is a nice fellow and a wonderful fighter at his weight. He's not big enough for the American heavies, however, with the exception of Kaufman, whom I think he'll beat. I'm going to challenge the winner of the Burns-O'Brien battle on May 10 at Los Angeles. If I'm not taken up I'll go after Squires for he's the boy that's going to draw the big money and I am pretty sure of getting on a match with him eventually.

I went to Australia to fight him and I'm going to camp on his trail till I get a match. As soon as I land in "Frisco" I'll go on the stage on a $300 a week contract—which was what I was getting when I left for Australia.

"The trouble with McLean was that he wanted fifty per cent. of my winnings. I was willing to give him a quarter of what I made but couldn't see why I should do the fighting and him to get just as much out of it as me. And you might say that I'll give $1000 to anyone who can prove that I left Sydney owing a cent there or anywhere else. I'd have stayed there longer if there had been anyone else worth fighting.

Traveling with Johnson are F. W. Thatcher and J. W. Birdsall, two New South Wales sporting men, and J. Allen of New York.

BECHERT'S BOAT WON THE RACE

The Bechert and Girvin crews, both made up of members of the Myrtle Boat Club, raced in the harbor yesterday afternoon.

The Bechert combination won by four lengths. They got away at the start and the further they went the greater their lead became. The Girvin boat spurred toward the end and made up some arrears but eventually fell back badly.

The crews were as follows:
Bechert's Crew—F. F. Bechert, stroke; A. F. Bechert, No. 3; G. C. Bechert, No. 2; I. Spalding, No. 1.
Girvin's Crew—A. Ewart, stroke; G. Crozier, No. 3; L. Underwood, No. 2; C. Girvin, No. 1.

The course was from the first channel light up to and into the railroad slip.

On Friday Bechert's crew will row against Hughes' crew which will be as follows:

C. Paddigan, stroke; R. Hughes, No. 3; K. Brown, No. 2; G. D. Center, No. 1.

SOPHOMORES BEAT JUNIORS

An inter-class baseball game was played at the High School yesterday, between nines representing a combination of the Sophomore and Freshman classes and the Junior class. The game lasted but six innings and was won by the Sophomore-Freshman combination. The score was 16-14 in favor of the combination.

Neither side made any especially fine plays, the only remarkable feature being a home run by "Dick" Gilliland.

The line up of both teams follows:
Junior—R. Gilliland, c; O. Soares, p; M. Perry, 1b; W. Chan, 2b; Umetara, 3b; S. White, ss; Sam Wright, rf; Young Tong, lf; Hung Yau, cf.

Soph.—Fresh—Kyoshi, c; Achieu, p; Saffrey, 3b; Akana, 2b; R. Chillingworth, ss; Ingalls, 1b; Rice, cf; Davis, lf; Marcellino, rf.

This is but the beginning of a series of inter-class baseball games which the Highs expect to pull off. The next game is scheduled to be played next Friday.

HARVEY USES STRAIGHT POWDER

The shoot for the weekly challenge cup of the Hawaiian Gun Club took place yesterday afternoon, at the Kaaka traps, the result being as follows:

J. W. Harvey, 19 out of 20.
J. E. Whitney, 18 out of 27.
Dr. F. J. Call, 17 out of 24.
Previous winners have been:
J. W. Harvey, 18 out of 20.
D. L. Austin, 18 out of 20.
I. Spalding, 17 out of 21.
Dr. F. J. Call, 20 out of 30.
S. A. Jordan, 21 out of 30.
Dr. F. J. Call, 23 out of 30.

There were more than seventy players on the Country Club links last Sunday.

Bruner will probably be the Honolulu ranch's selection to run in the big Hilo stake race.

McInerney & Co. have presented the Country Club with a cup to be competed for by golfers.

Jockey McAuliffe is considering an offer to ride a Hilo owned horse in the $1000 Merchants' Stakes on July 4.

The Riverside Baseball League season opens at Aala park on Sunday. The first game will be between the Chinese Alohas and the Japanese Athletic Club and the second game will be between the Palamas and the Chinese Athletics.

Outwardly the eyes may be perfect—inwardly they may be deformed, causing overexertion of delicate nerve and muscle appendages with consequent headaches, indigestion and numerous other bodily ills.

We do not always fit eye glasses and spectacles to make you see better, but to make you see more easily—to rid you of head or eye aches, to improve your general health.

Delicate Wash

---Goods---

ILLUSTRATED STORY NO. 25.

The ladies' thin, delicate wash goods—such as shirtwaists, skirts, negligees and underclothing—are not worn out on your person. It is the continual washing.

It is the laundry.

It is not so much the way your clothing is handled, but it is the soaps, bluing and starches that work ruin. Now, because we launder hundreds of these garments weekly we naturally know the best materials to use to give the best satisfaction to our patrons.

We would not think of using soap containing a bit of lye on ladies' clothes.

We would never dream of using the common bluing of commerce.

We know by the analysis starches that contain acids and we do not buy them.

We keep studying and experimenting all the time in a scientific way how to launder.

Don't you think it would be safe to intrust us with your work?

The Greatest Doctor on Earth

Nature is the greatest doctor on earth. When she can't cure it is because she needs aid. Now, most people have an idea that this aid is drugs, and when they get sick or suffer from pain of any kind they proceed to dose their stomachs with the stuff that is sold for medicine. That doesn't help any; in fact, it does a great deal of harm. The dose that you put into your stomach is poison and poisons weakens the organs and nerves of your body. What Nature needs is electricity.

When your stomach, kidneys, liver or digestive organs get out of order, it is because they lack the necessary electricity to enable them to perform their regular functions. The breaking down of one of these organs nearly always causes other trouble. Nature can't cure then, because your body hasn't enough electricity to do the work, so you must assist Nature by restoring this electricity where it is needed.

My Electro-Vigor does this while you sleep. It saturates the nerves with its glowing power, and these conduct the force to every organ and tissue of your body, restoring health and giving strength to every part that is weak.

Electro-Vigor is not an electric belt. It is a dry cell body battery, and makes its own power.

When I began your treatment my whole system was broken down. I had kidney and bladder trouble, rheumatism that always follows kidney trouble, weak stomach, varicose and general debility. Drugs did me no good. As for results of the use of Electro-Vigor, I will say that I am well and hearty, every organ works properly, and I have no pain. J. L. COLWELL, West Butte, Cal.

The papers passed yesterday by which George Tourny conveyed the Progress building to the Japanese Government for $75,000. Though the deal was made some time ago it required the ratification of the Government of Japan. In the meantime the building has been altered and fitted up for the office and residence of the Japanese consul general. The first incumbent to occupy his country's own consular home in Hawaii is Miki Saito, who has held this position for several years past.

BUDDHIST PRIESTS TO BLAME FOR TROUBLES

A prominent Japanese said to the Advertiser yesterday:

"The labor troubles at Alea were due to the Buddhist priests. Things went much more smoothly on the plantations when the Christian ministers had their own way, for the ministers liberalized the Japanese by teaching them western ideas. Then some of the plantations started in and built Buddhist temples. The result, to my mind, has been bad for labor. The priests invariably teach reaction, calling it patriotism. They inculcate the old ideas and superstitions and that makes it hard for the Japanese to adapt themselves to anything western, including the rules of a plantation. There is something of Japanese kahunalism taught also. In any kind of trouble, now, the Japanese laborers consult their priests and often get the worst kind of advice. At Alea they did not care for the white doctors but left everything to their Buddhist teachers, who told them to demand three days of rest for prayer against the sway of the God of Sickness—praying that he might leave the plantation. The Japanese were all stirred up and ready for anything. I believe the planters would find it to their advantage to leave religious instruction on the plantations to the Christians."

WORKS WONDERS

A Wonderful Compound—Cures Piles, Eczema, Skin Itching, Skin Eruptions, Cuts and Bruises.

Doan's Ointment is the best skin treatment, and the cheapest, because so little is required to cure. It cures piles after years of torture. It cures obstinate cases of eczema. It cures all skin itching. It cures skin eruptions. It heals cuts, bruises, scratches and abrasions without leaving a scar. It cures permanently.

Jacob Heasong, farmer, living at the corner of East Twenty-eighth street and Keely avenue, Portland, Oregon, says: "In recommending Doan's Ointment to those who suffer from hemorrhoids I can only repeat the statement I made some three years ago. I had suffered from this trouble for some years, and in hot weather it was a great worry to me, I could not sleep at night. Other preparations having given me little or no relief, I finally began using Doan's Ointment and it required only a few applications to bring soothing and healing relief. The facts above stated are as I told them just after my first trial of the remedy. I think just as much of the preparation today."

Doan's Ointment is splendid in all diseases of the skin: Eczema, piles, hives, insect bites, sores, chilblains, etc. It is perfectly safe and very effective. Very frequently two or three boxes have made a complete cure of chronic cases that have not yielded to other remedies for years.

Doan's Ointment is sold by all chemists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box, or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Ltd., agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

MAUI.

First Class for Four Years—George Copp, L. von Tempsey, J. N. S. Williams.

Second Class for Two Years—C. D. Lovekin, D. C. Lindsay.

HAWAII.

First Class for Four Years—J. A. McGuire, John Mohr, A. W. Carter.

Second Class for Two Years—R. A. Lyman, Jr., Joseph Pritchard.

Board of Trustees, Hawaii Library—Alonso Gartley, Doremus Scudder, W. F. Dillingham.

Senator Coelho moved that the Maui nominations for license commissioners be confirmed. Carried.

Trustees for Hawaiian Library were, on motion of Senator Lane, taken up singly. He opposed the nomination of Mr. Gartley on the ground that he had been confirmed a day or two ago as one of the Regents of the Agricultural College. Senator Dowsett spoke in favor of a Hawaiian on the Board and on motion action was deferred until 8 p. m.

Senator Hayselden introduced a resolution to the effect the hold-over members have the choice of seats at the next session.

TO THE PRESIDENT.

Senator Dowsett handed a bouquet of beautiful roses to the members in a few remarks complimentary to themselves for the expeditious way in which the business of the Legislature has been conducted. He lauded President Bishop for the fairness of his rulings and in appreciation of this fairness presented on behalf of his colleagues as a token of respect a handsome silver set of three pieces. The affair was quietly done and was undoubtedly a great surprise, as was shown by the President's inability to respond, a pleasure which he said he would have later.

The Senate then took recess until 8 p. m.

CLOSING HOURS.

Senator Bishop, before calling the members together, acknowledged the memento presented him in the afternoon in a few words, thanking the Senators and officers of the Senate for their efforts and praising their actions. He took occasion to say that he had not once been called upon to discipline any member.

Secretary Atkinson entered the hall immediately afterward and handed the President a bunch of vetoes, on House Bills No. 61, 215, 131, 30, 74, 114, 115, 213. Until the veto of Bill No. 74 was reached action was deferred in every instance. Senator Coelho moved to reconsider this without further delay. The motion carried and the items were taken up singly, each passing over the veto by a unanimous vote.

Next came the veto of the Maui loan bill. Senator Kalama moved to reconsider.

Senator Knudsen from the Accounts committee reported the expenditures as follows:

Out of Territorial appropriation $8199 18
Out of Federal appropriation 6589 12

The Deferred Claims bill veto was then taken up and passed.

President Bishop made a few remarks complimenting Senator Kalama for his success as Vice President. Kalama declined to acknowledge and Senator Coelho paid a compliment to Senator Smith, which was acknowledged by Senator Smith in kind, emphasizing the statement that personal matters were never looked after. He thanked the press for courteous treatment though not always correct.

The clerk then read the names of the nominees for trustees of the Hawaiian Library.

This was the rock upon which the Senate split in the afternoon and consideration had been deferred but the Governor would not yield from his determination to appoint those.

Senator Chillingworth moved to confirm. Senator Dowsett opposed for the reason that he would like to have a Hawaiian.

Senator Smith regretted the fact that the Governor had overlooked the Hawaiian people in the selection made. Dr. Scudder is a man of learning and experience and one whose duties here in the Territory take him all over the islands.

Senator Hayselden followed on the same line and then Senator Smith asked that the Senate confirm Dr. Scudder instead of Mr. Dillingham on the score of experience. On a vote the name of Dr. Scudder was not confirmed. Lane moved to confirm the nomination of W. F. Dillingham.

Carried. This disposed of this message.

Senator Hayselden appealed from the ruling of the Chair in the matter of a reconsideration of a veto vote on Bill 132, better known as the "Grab" bill.

President Bishop would not recede from the stand taken in the afternoon and ruled the Senator out of order in bringing the motion so late.

Senator Smith asked Hayselden to make a new motion.

The President ruled Hayselden out of order when he acted on Senator Smith's suggestion.

Senator Chillingworth supported the President. Senator Dowsett read from the Organic Act a clause bearing on the case. The vote sustained the ruling of the Chair on a vote of 8 to 6.

MORE PRINTING.

Senator Lane introduced a resolution calling for printing the Municipal Act, 1500 in English and 4500 in Hawaiian, the same to be turned over to the Clerk of the County of Oahu, the expense of printing to be charged to Expenses of Legislature, 1907. The resolution was adopted.

SALARIES.

The veto of the several items in the Salary bill appropriations was then taken up and the items taken up singly. The first to meet defeat was that for sanitary officer and Government physician, Hilo, $125. In this instance the veto was sustained. The other items passed over the veto.

Relative to the statement in the veto that the Senate had increased the appropriation by $268,972 Senator Dowsett said this was scarcely correct for the Governor had increased the appropriation himself $156,000 in salaries for teachers.

The veto of the bill appropriating $140,000 for purchase of Pauoa water and $1500 for extension water service, Kamuela, was taken up. The items were considered singly. Word had been received that the House had sustained the veto on the Pauoa item and Senator Lane moved that the same course be followed by the Senate. The veto was sustained but the Kamuela item passed.

KAUAI'S GLORY.

The veto of the bill for the appropriation of $11,000 for wharves, Kauai, was taken up after it had been sustained by the House. Senator Knudsen's motion to pass notwithstanding the veto, carried.

A QUANDERY.

Fifteen minutes was spent discussing a concurrent resolution calling upon the Governor to return to the House a communication to him relative to the report of the House sustaining veto on House Bill No. 213. The motion to lay the resolution on the table lost and Senator McCarthy moved the resolution be adopted. This carried on a vote of 8 to 7.

DIVISION OF TAXES.

Consideration of House Bill No. 213 relating to a division of taxes, was then begun. There was no debate on the Lane motion to reconsider and the bill passed over the veto.

The reports of the dam committee were not acted upon, the Senate believing it preferable to allow the matter to end by the House adopting the report of the majority.

The consideration of the veto of Senate Bill No. 115 resulted in its being passed over the veto.

At 11:36 the President appointed a committee to wait on the Governor and inform him that the Senate was ready to adjourn sine die at 11:55 p. m. Assistant Clerk Lyman read the journal for the 60th day. The President interrupted him long enough to state that two items in Bill No. 30 had been omitted from the copy prepared for the Governor's signature. Three minutes remained in which to insert in the bill the appropriation for government physicians and general health officer, and the clerk was ordered to make the interpolation with a pen.

This was accomplished by Clerk Sawidge and the bill was returned duly signed.

The committee reporting to the Governor returned with a congratulatory message and the session of the Legislature for 1907, at midnight, adjourned sine die.

result showing one switched vote against the resolution, the vote being: Ayes 16, noes 14.

AND STILL THEY COME.

The Unpaid Claims bill, carrying $16,000 was vetoed in toto. The Governor announced that the whole bill was weighted with unauthenticated items of which the chairman of the Finance committee could give no definite information and one of which, at least, was duplicated.

Rice moved the overriding of the veto, which carried unanimously.

SCHOOLS FOR KAUI.

The Kauai item switching $11,000 from schools to wharves was next attacked. Coney moved to sustain this veto and Rice seconded the motion. This item had been the cause of a fierce fight some days ago, but the Kauai member had received a new light, even Sheldon being agreeable. The veto was sustained, Silva being alone in favor of overriding.

PAUOA SPRINGS BOTTLED.

The $140,000 item for the purchase of the Pauoa springs was gouged out of another bill and also a $1500 item for the extension of the waterworks system at Kamuela, Hawaii.

Kaleo was true to his old love and moved the overriding of the Pauoa veto. He told a tale of a grasshopper with several broken legs which the brother hoppers had carried to a place of safety.

"Let us act like grasshoppers," urged Kaleo and the members did, for they hopped away from his proposition as far as possible. He talked until Kaniho motioned him to sit down and give him a show.

Kaniho seconded the motion and commented on the Governor's zeal for the Nuuanu dam and the pumping stations and his great desire to kill the Pauoa item. The vote sustained the veto, being fourteen to fourteen.

Kaniho moved the overriding of the veto on the Kamuela item, his motion carrying.

MORE LAWS.

Another batch of signed bills was reported from the Secretary. These are:

House Bill 204, Act 136, encouraging construction of irrigation systems.

House Bill 197, Act 137, encouraging the extermination of mongooses.

House Bill 202, Act 138, relating to the holding of real estate and corporate stock of banks.

MEDICAL BILL KILLED.

The special conference committee on the Medical bill reported having failed to come to any agreement with the Senate conferees and asked for a tabling of the bill. This report was adopted.

REVENUE DIVISION.

Castro, who was to be the first speaker of the evening on the program arranged for the proper closing ceremonies and fireworks, was called upon by the Speaker, but was headed off by Kaleiupu, who demanded an immediate decision on the reconsideration of the veto sustaining the veto of the bill to divide the revenue from police court fines and licenses between Territory and counties.

Kaleiupu urged strongly the passage of the bill, laying all responsibility for whatever the consequences would be upon the Governor for threatening the pocket veto of the remedying bill.

Rice urged extreme caution. He reminded the House that in the event of the bill becoming law in its present shape it would cripple the Territorial finances.

"Before next February this Territory will be registering warrants," he warned.

Sheldon wanted to defer until some message would come from the Senate or a possible one from the Governor.

Hughes also urged delay. If the vote be taken later all the responsibility for the bill would rest on the shoulders of the Governor.

Kaleiupu urged the vote again and gained his point, the roll call showing ayes twenty-eight, noes two. The two were Rice and Long. A resolution asking the Governor to return the other bill was then passed.

CLOSING SPEECHES.

Castro made an eloquent address on the work of the Legislature, emphasizing the spirit of harmony which had prevailed from the time the Speaker's gavel first fell until the present. The members had fulfilled their duties as they had found them and carried out their pledges as best they could, shirking none of their responsibilities. He paid a graceful compliment to the Speaker and congratulated his fellow members that no class legislation had been passed. Castro closed his address by praising the Hawaiian members for the good work they had done.

KALEIOPU IS PROUD.

Kaleiupu was proud of the Legislature's record and said so. He reviewed the expenses and work of past Legislatures and compared them with the present one. The present Legislature refuted whatever have been said concerning the lack of ability of the Hawaiians to govern themselves. He congratulated the Speaker, giving him the credit for much of the good work done. He asked the members of the other islands to take the aloha of the Oahu members to their constituents.

A MINORITY MEMBER.

Mahoe, one of the minority and the eldest member of the House, congratulated the House on having completed their work within the sixty-day limit, something which many had deemed impossible. All party feeling had been set aside and the common good considered. As an ex-member of the Legislature under the Monarchy and being now serving a second term since annexation, he congratulated the members and also the Delegate to Congress. The venerable member invoked the blessing of the Almighty on the members and asked for them long and useful lives.

ANOTHER VETO CONSIDERED.

The veto of the Maui Bond bill was taken up, Pali moving to override and Nakaleka seconding the motion. The roll call was: Ayes, twenty-eight; noes, none, the motion carrying.

HUGHES EMBARRASSED.

Representative Hughes was greeted with applause from the other members when called upon by the Speaker. He confessed being embarrassed and nervous but showed neither in the excellent address delivered. He characterized the present session as one of honesty and industry and setting a high mark for future members to follow.

He feared that some of his down town political friends would say he had wheels in his head for saying this, but he felt both sane and sober and appealed to the records to back up his assertions. The work accomplished would place Hawaii on a better footing with the mainland and raised the Territory still higher on the ladder of Americanism and earned a greater share to a place under the one great banner of the Republic. To Governor Carter, who had prepared the early work of the session, and to Prince Kuhio, who had kept the spirit of harmony alive, the thanks of the House were due.

He referred fittingly to the good work of the twenty odd Hawaiian members of the House and also spoke in praise of the representatives of the press who had reported the House proceedings. The press had been critical but fair and deserved the thanks of the members.

GOVERNOR REFUSES.

A communication was received from the Governor declining to return the House communication informing him of the sustaining of the veto on the revenue division bill.

"I consider the action of the House as final," wrote the Governor. The communication was silently received and placed on file. As a concurrent resolution was in preparation ordering the Governor to return the bill forthwith interesting developments were expected.

ELOQUENT KANIHO.

Kaniho, the Cannon Ball of Kohala, the orator of the House, spoke as the leader of the Democrats of the House. He made a witty speech, judging from the appreciative laughter of the Hawaiians present. He compared the harmony of the present session to previous ones in which he had sat, when members threw chairs and ink bottles at each other, giving much of the credit for this to Chaplain Lono.

To the clerk, stenographer, sergeant-at-arms and to many members he extended praise and congratulations, including the janitor in his distribution of bouquets. The interpreter was also thanked for his good services, enabling him to kill some of the bad bills other members had introduced.

He included the reports of the Honolulu papers in his congratulations and could only say in regard to their criticisms of himself, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

To the Delegate and to the Speaker he handed special bouquets and to Rawlins, who had been his strongest opponent, but who had been found always ready to give valuable advice and who had done good work as chairman of the Judiciary committee.

The Governor came in for a share of praise and the leaders of the societies present. He assured them that the only road to success in politics was honesty.

Kaniho was warmly applauded and at the conclusion of his speech the majority of the Hawaiians in the audience departed.

GOVERNOR STILL REFUSES.

An answer to Concurrent Resolution 13, asking the Governor to "forthwith" return the communication regarding the division of revenue bill veto, was received at 11:15, the Governor still refusing to return anything for the reasons stated in his former communication.

Kaleiupu asked if the clerk had officially informed the Governor of the overriding of his veto on a reconsideration, being told that he had and that the bill was now law notwithstanding the veto of the Governor.

SENATE BILL 30 VETO.

The House overrode the vetoes on all the items frowned on in Senate Bill 30, the Territorial Salary bill except that for the government physician in Hilo, who was cut out and the veto sustained.

THE LAST COMMITTEE.

Rice moved that a committee of five be appointed to inform the Senate and Governor that the House had concluded its business and was ready to adjourn sine die, the motion carrying. Kaleiupu objected to the committee acting before all the various communications had been sent out regarding action on all the vetoes. He was told that such would be done and the committee was named, consisting of Rice, Paoo, Nakaleka, Alawa and Nallima.

Rawlins was called upon to make the closing speech of the session. He began by thanking the House for killing House Bill 94, the Medical bill. This bill was dead and he was no mourner at the funeral.

Of the session just closing he said that it would be remembered as marking an epoch in the legislative history of the Territory. The House may have had some shortcomings but every man had worked to the best of his ability and he was proud to have been a member of the Legislature of 1907. It had been a pleasure to mark the harmony and good-will among the members.

He referred particularly to Lono's Negotiable Instrument law as a mark of progression and paid special compliments to the Speaker, the man at the helm, who had steered the House through all the shoals and rocks. As an expression of the good-will of the House and on behalf of the House, he then presented Speaking Holstein with a gold headed cane, "a big stick."

"With this, Mr. Speaker, goes the aloha of every member of this House, whom you have helped and with whom you have worked for the best interest of Hawaii and our native land."

Speaker Holstein spoke feelingly in response to the address of Rawlins and in thanks for the presentation. He thought the people would recognize the fact that the Legislature had been a business-like one in its economy and progressiveness. All this was due to the members, not the presiding officer.

"I want to thank you one and all for the support you have given me and I can only hope that you will return, one and all, two years from now to work again on the lines of progressive Americanism, not forgetting that, as Hawaiians, you will add to your patriotism by showing a devotion to the

HOBRON ESTATE FULLY SETTLED

Cash and Stocks Distributed—
Mrs. Kaa's Fight—General Court News.

Judge Robinson approved the accounts and ordered the discharge of Thomas W. Hobron, administrator and trustee of the estate of the late Thomas H. Hobron in succession to the late Frances E. Hobron, executrix and trustee, also discharging the estate of the executrix from all further responsibility.

Receipts of four separate accounts since a date in September, 1902, foot up $279,626.10 and payments $253,285.25. The final account included in the above is to September 11, 1906, and balances at $132,057.87.

The accounts show that the three beneficiaries of the estate—T. W. Hobron, Mary H. Smith and Annie Bailey—each received within the period of administration, which was about four years, $56,568.50, or a total of $169,705.50, and in the distribution of the estate each of the three received stocks approximately as follows, a difference of a share here and there between one and another to make even being shown: 33 Alaska Packers' Association, 3 E. O. Hall & Son, 47 Hawaiian Electric Co., 19 Waimanalo Sugar Co., 34 Koloa Sugar Co., 204 O. R. & L. Co., 88 Paia Plantation, 22 Hawaiian Agricultural Co., 14 C. Brewer & Co., 9 Wailuku Sugar Co., 9 Wailuku Sugar Co. script, 133 Inter-Island S. N. Co., 25 Honoum Sugar Co., 90 Mutual Telephone Co.

TO DISSOLVE INJUNCTION.

In the case of Albert B. Carter et al. v. John C. Lane et al., Jessie K. Kaa, one of the respondents, by her attorney, C. W. Ashford, moves that the injunction, so far as it affects her, may be dissolved.

In an affidavit she says the injunction has prevented her from collecting rents and from paying interest on a certain mortgage, a suit to foreclose which has in sequence been filed. She says Edgar Henriques and persons acting at his instigation have taken possession of the homestead and installed a large number of Spanish immigrants therein. Lessees of rice lands have gone to China without paying their rent, Mrs. Kaa says, and the lands have been entered upon by Jas. B. Castle and others, either individually or acting as and for the Koolau Railway Co., under some pretended authority from Henriques. Owing to these causes she says the premises, especially the homestead and dwelling, have become dilapidated and decayed to a greater extent than ever before, and are in urgent need of care and repairs.

She is advised that, in order to assert her rights as trustee under the will of Margaret V. Carter, it is necessary to bring an ejectment suit against those withholding the premises from her possession and control, but is further advised that she cannot bring such an action, with safety to herself as to expenses, while the injunction stands in its present form.

AN UNUSUAL CASE.
Dr. D. L. Akina, Chinese, was put on trial before Judge De Bolt yesterday for attempt to commit abortion. Deputy Attorney General F. W. Milverton appeared for the Territory and Geo. D. Gear and A. S. Humphreys for the defendant.

The jurors accepted were Job Batchelor, Jr., A. D. Bolster, James R. Pearce, Chas. Simpson, Jos. Morse, Joe Davis, Jas. Arcla, John Duncan, Robt. W. Cathcart, E. Erickson, B. H. Clark and R. G. Moore.

The prosecuting witness, with an infant in arms, was on the stand all day. Dr. T. M. L., a graduate of St. John's College, Shanghai, and son of the former interpreter, Li Cheung, acted as Chinese interpreter in place of Chang Kim, detained at home by illness. Willie Crawford was coaching the Territorial attorney with the result that interpretations were at times challenged.

The case on trial is unusual in the courts of these islands.

DIVORCE CASES.
Judge Robinson granted a divorce to Gulstane K. Poepeo against Mary Napua Poepeo on the ground of desertion for more than three years.

Divorce summons in the case of Landridge Louis Vierra against Manuel Louis Vierra is returned unserved, as it is believed the libelee is now living in California. They were married in 1899 and have three minor children living. The cause alleged in the libel is failure of the husband to support his wife and children.

Abraham Nakea sues for divorce from his wife Mary, who was married to him in 1882, on the ground of desertion for more than three years.

THE FEDERAL COURT.

Judge Dole sentenced Lee Sa Kee to one hour's imprisonment for a violation of the Edmunds Act. Under mistaken advice that another man's wife was fancy free because the Chinese marriage ceremony did not hold—which it did—he married her. The court took the circumstances as extenuating.

Henry Tierra was discharged from bankruptcy.

Albert Woodward was sworn as bailiff of the grand jury.

COURT ITEMS.
Judge De Bolt yesterday signed a decree confirming the report of W. A. Wall, commissioner, and directing him to execute and deliver the necessary deed, to carry into effect his recommendations for division of property between Maria Barete, widow, and the other heirs of the Barete estate.

The First National Bank of Hawaii by its attorneys, Castle & Withington, appeals to the Supreme Court from Judge Robinson's decree in the foreclosure suit of H. Hackfeld & Co., Ltd. vs. J. M. Monsarrat et al.

Trustees of the estate of S. C. Allen, deceased, have brought a suit to foreclose a mortgage against Namokuono Ewaliko and Nakapalehua Ewaliko. The mortgage was given on Sept. 23, 1901, to secure a note for $1500 payable in two years with interest at 8 per cent., and the property consists of three house lots on Kuakini street and a piece of land containing one acre and 298 square fathoms at Pauoa, Honolulu. Summons was served on the wife, Nakapalehua, but the officer was informed that Namokuono Ewaliko is dead.

Louis Kahibaum by his attorneys, Thompson & Clemons, discontinues his suit for $1000 against Christian C. and Alwine Conradt, with Auditor J. H. Fisher as garnishee.

There is a lesson in the work of the thrifty farmer. He knows that the bright sunshine may last but a day and he prepares for the showers which are so likely to follow. So it should be with every household. Dysentery, diarrhoea and cramp colic may attack some member of the home without warning. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which is the best known medicine for these diseases, should always be kept at hand, as immediate treatment is necessary, and delay may prove fatal. THAT GIRL FROM TEXAS A WINNER

The popular Elleford company continues to receive crowded houses. The piece last evening was the comedy drama "The Girl From Texas" and proved to be a most interesting one and full of laughs and mirth-provoking situations. The characters are well drawn and true to life and they were not overacted, which is a common fault with a great many companies. From the title of the play one would think that it was wild and woolly but it is otherwise, being simply a vehicle to show the endeavors of an aspiring aunt to marry her niece into the nobility. Miss Luce favored with a new and pleasing speciality and the Osborns repeated their tough turn and La Vigne "Day by Day."

Miss Metta Chamberlain was the Girl from Texas and made a capital part out of the free, independent American girl, while True Boardman made an admirable Archie Winthrop. George Hernandez as Geoffrey Caryl was good, as he always is. One interesting part was that of Henry Weatherford, known as "Howling Hank." It was given a free and easy interpretation by Clarence Ferguson. In the role of Sir Blakesley, Lloyd Edwards made the most of his opportunity and did some clever work. William Marion who generally does the villains showed careful study of the character part of Wilson, the old butler, and the balance of the cast acquitted themselves creditably. The same bill will be given tonight and at the matinee Saturday, "The American Girl." Mr. La Vigne will sing tonight the latest popular success: "Where the Silvery Colorado Winds Its Way," with beautiful illustrations.

It is rumored that a new indictment may be found against J. Lor Wallach, and one worse than anything he has been up against before.

OFF FOR GOLDFIELD.

Willie Wayman, for sometime past in the employ of the Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Co., as statistical clerk, leaves shortly for Goldfield, Nevada, where he has a prospect. Mr. Wayman is popular with the company and with the employees, and as an evidence of the latter they have presented him with a beautiful watch chain with K. of P. charm. The presentation was made last night and the recipient was surprised genuinely. Peter Tosh made the presentation.

A string of legislative camp followers were discovered at a desk in the Capitol yesterday trying to initiate the conger-eel flourish in Secretary Atkinson's signature.
