Wilcox Compliments Cartoons---Quinn
Goes After Municipal Plank--- What Independent Majority Will Do.

Handbills issued yesterday, announced a big mass meeting of the Independents at the home of Joe Aea, Waikiki, last night. The large yard was lighted by means of torches and the speakers addressed the audience of not more than seventy-five--including women and children--from the lanai of the cottage. R. N. Boyd, as chairman, called the meeting to order and introduced Joe Clark as the first speaker.

Mr. Clark asked the question: "Shall we have these haole rule us now as they did in the past? Did they look after our affairs when they were in power? Did they give us the right to vote?" He then went on to talk of the sufferings of 1890 and laid this at the door of the haole.

Referring to Samuel Parker, the speaker accused him of being the man who, through weakness, lost the independence of Hawaii. He then referred to the matter of the use of the Hawaiian language in the Legislature, stating that the Legislature can elect its own officers and with the Independents in the majority, an interpreter could be appointed.

Mr. Clark promised to remedy the Sunday laws in case he should be elected. Equal rights would be given to every one. This was followed by promises to build school houses for poor children and to change the recently enacted law relating to the burial of the dead four miles out of the city.

At this point D. Kalanokalanui, the regular chairman of the evening, appeared on the scene and introduced J. K. Nakokoo who started out with the proposition that the Republicans and Democrats were the devils in the country. He advised his hearers to keep on the watch and upon their approach to shout out the watchword: "Here come the devils." The speech was brought to a close with an appeal to the natives to vote for Wilcox, the man who would work for their rights.

When Jim Quinn was introduced, he jumped up like a man about to defend himself against attack and, after a few preliminary remarks, shouted out: "There are no people as patriotic as the Hawaiians. It is not your fault that you are citizens of the United States but now that you are, you have the ballot, the greatest weapon man possesses. Can we thank the Family Compact, the Republican party, for this. No, we must thank Wilcox and a fair minded Congress. The Republicans say they have money and can buy your vote. Show them they are liars. We can carry Hawaii, Maui and Kauai and, with the help of God and you people, we can carry Oahu.

The speaker here referred to the plank in the Republican platform relating to a reimbursement of Liliuokalani for all her losses, stating that this party was only throwing dust into the eyes of the natives. The plank was a vote catcher and there was no intention whatever to push it. This was the work of the Family Compact, the Republican party.

Just here, Quinn came very much excited and made the statement that he would challenge any four speakers to show the natives one reason why they should vote on the side of the Republicans. If any reason could be given he would be willing to vote for them. "The gall of these people to ask you to vote for them when they have subjected you to all kinds of hardships," shouted Quinn.

A lot more in the same strain and the speaker came to the matter of trusts and the claim of the Republicans that their party was the party of the poor man. Quinn finished with an explanation of county and municipal government and stated that the Republicans were against this because it would give the people the power of appointing their own officers.

D. Kalanokalanui Jr. appealed to the natives to show their patriotism by sticking together and putting it to the people on the independent ticket. It would not do to allow the missionaries--the people who had subjected them to all manner of ill--to continue in power. "Haven't we had enough slurs cast at us," asked the speaker. "Do they take us for dogs that their millions can buy? When they invite you, eat their food, drink their wine and then vote according to the dictates of your own conscience."

W. H. Kallimal spent about ten minutes telling of the soothing breezes that blew over Waikiki, of the fragrant odors of the lipoa and the waving coconut trees. He produced no arguments but followed up his flowery language with jokes and puns on the names of natives on the independent ticket. Pointing to an old native fisherman seated near by he shouted: "There is one of our number who has gone over to the Republicans. Brothers, when he goes out to haul in his net, stand on the beach and watch him. Do not help him. If he wants help, let him get it from the haoles."

Kallimal finished by saying that Wilcox was the only man for Congress. Prince David was an all and, as such, he should remain in Hawaii. Therefore the natives should not vote for him. Samuel Parker was also needed here for, without him, the meat supply might suffer.

D. Kauha, a young Hawaiian preacher, retrained from using strong language against the missionaries, among whom he was brought up and trained for the ministry. He confined his remarks to the conduct of the Legislature, stating that the Hawaiian language could be used by the members. An interpreter could be appointed by the majority which would undoubtedly be made up of the Independents.

Robert Wilcox's appearance on the lanai was greeted with cheers and the natives gathered more closely about him in order to catch every word. His oratory was convincing and his points were received with cries of "poi! poi!" "kokua," "mahalo" and the like. Unlike the other speakers, Wilcox did not confine his derogatory remarks to the Republicans but included the Democrats in the same fold with them.

Referring to J. F. Colburn, Wilcox accused him of being a traitor to the Queen. Now he was showing Prince David forward to run for Congress. Prince David, the man who was sitting on the piles of money made by King Kalakaua. He was nothing more than the plaything of Colburn and McLanahan, the latter the man from whose clothes the smell of the sea had not yet passed away. The Prince was simply bait used to catch the Hawaiian vote in order that the ends of Colburn and a few others might be furthered.

It was at this point that Wilcox referred to the question as to whether or no this man was popular to the masses. If there was any love in the heart of the President of the United States for the Hawaiians why did he not appoint a man as governor who would have been acceptable. No, he must put in a fitting representative of the missionaries, a man who had never let pass a chance to down the Hawaiians.

As to the matter of the coconut tree cartoon in the Advertiser of a few days ago, Wilcox turned the meaning completely saying it meant that he and his associates were up a coconut tree eating the fruit, drinking the milk and throwing the husks down to the Republicans and Democrats howling below.

S. K. Pua and R. N. Boyd were the last speakers. Their remarks were along the same lines as those of the preceding speakers.

MORE LITIGATION ON WAIALUA LANDS

B. F. Dillingham Brings Equity Suit Against Wahiawa Co.

RESTS HIS CASE ON AGREEMENTS WITH HOLTS

F. J. Testa Appeals from Judgment of District Court---S. K.
Kane Wants to Pay
Ward's Debt.

Benjamin F. Dillingham by his attorney in fact, W. F. Dillingham, brings a bill in equity for specific performance against the Wahiawa Sugar Co., Ltd. It is claimed that Jas. R. Holt Jr. and eight others of the Holt family entered into an agreement on August 27, 1898, bound by the consideration of $500 paid to them by the plaintiff later, to execute a lease to the Oahu Railway & Land Co., of a tract belonging to them in the district of Waiialua, known as the Halemano Ranch lands, containing an area of twelve thousand acres, the lease to be at an annual rental of $3500 payable in advance for the first five years, and after the first five years, in lieu of rent, the lessors were to receive two and one-half per cent of all sugar, molasses or other products of sugar cane and of all other crops produced or manufactured for sale on the premises, crops and improvements to be paid by the plaintiff.

Within the time named in the agreement plaintiff accepted it and became bound thereby. He had requested James R. Holt and the others to execute a lease to the Waiialua Agricultural Co., Ltd. They had neglected and refused, and they still neglect and refuse to execute said lease or any lease in accordance with the agreement.

Plaintiff further says that the Holts on April 1, 1899, executed a lease to John Emmelhuth of the same lands for the term of 49 years from May 1, 1893, and that Emmelhuth well knew at the time that the Holts had made the agreement to lease the lands to plaintiff, and that the agreement was valid and binding. Further, that John Emmelhuth about February 26, 1900, assigned the lease to the Wahiawa Sugar Co., the defendant in this suit, and the defendant accepted the lease with full knowledge of the agreement in question.

The plaintiff prays that defendant may be summoned to answer this complaint, but not under oath, and may be ordered to execute to the plaintiff a lease of the interests acquired by it from the Holts.

Service of summons is returned by Deputy Sheriff Albert McGurn as having been made on the Wahiawa Sugar Co. through its president, A. E. Nichols.

F. J. Testa has appealed from the judgment of Lyle A. Dickey, second district magistrate, for $136.15 against him at the suit of Maria Julia Almeida. The claim was for $116.13 for rent, which defendant admitted was correct on the face but claimed a reduction for the time the premises were in quarantine.

S. K. Kane, guardian of Isaac J. Robinson, minor, petitions for leave to expend part of the principal to pay the ward's share of the debts upon the Robinson estate.

Olsen Is Sent to Jail for Assault

There was quite a row at about 10 o'clock last night at the corner of Nuuanu and Vineyard streets. Some sailors got into trouble with a lot of Japanese and it looked for a time as if there would be serious trouble.

It seems that a crowd of Japanese had been to a party in one of the alleys near by, some of the men were being carried out in a state of intoxication. A number of sailors, among whom was Matt Olsen, took it into their minds to see the fun. Olsen approached one of the women and took hold of her. The woman screamed for help. Her brother rushed up and was immediately knocked down by Olsen.

Just at this time Special Officer Ah On happened to pass along in a hack. He arrested Olsen, a man twice his size, and put him into his hack. The sailor cried for help and his companions gathered around the hack. Fortunately, George R. Carter came along. Sizing up the situation, he immediately ran to the assistance of the police officer and Olsen was finally landed at the station house.

In the Police Court this morning, Olsen denied everything said by the woman and the other witnesses for the prosecution but he was pretty well sized up by Judge Wilcox, who sentenced him to thirty days' imprisonment at hard labor, stating that the assault of women on the street must cease. The case was an aggravated one and the sentence would have a good effect not only on the defendant but on other men who might feel disposed to treat other women in a like manner.

TOSSUED'S CAPTAIN SICK.

The French bark Tossued, 130 days from Nantes, France, for Portland, Or., in ballast, hove in sight off Diamond Head this morning. Captain Lorenzen went out to meet her and found that the reason for the vessel calling at this port was the illness of Captain Lorenzen. She was brought to an anchor off the bell buoy and Captain Lorenzen returned to port. The master of the vessel will be brought ashore this afternoon to consult a physician. Until after this consultation has taken place, it cannot be said just when the vessel will proceed on her voyage to Portland.

QUESTION OF JURISDICTION

Strong Array of Legal Talent Against Marshall.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY BAIRD
FILES NEGATIVE BRIEF

Latest Federal Authority Cited to Show that Remedy is Writ of Error and Not Habeas Corpus.

W. H. Marshall's petition for a writ of habeas corpus is before Judge Estee in the United States District Court today solely on the question of jurisdiction.

J. T. De Bolt opened on behalf of the petitioner in the affirmative. He will be entitled to make a closing speech.

Attorney General E. P. Dole replied in support of the negative, concluding just before the noon recess.

Judge A. S. Hartwell has the floor after recess, taking the negative.

District Attorney J. C. Baird waived his turn after the Attorney General, contenting himself with filing a brief. He opposes jurisdiction. His brief begins by saying:

"In this matter the jurisdiction of a Federal court is invoked to annul the sentence and terminate the imprisonment imposed in a criminal case that was prosecuted under the laws of the Republic of Hawaii. But one other republic was ever annexed to the United States, and that was Texas. A search of the books fails to disclose any decisions arising out of that annexation that bear directly upon the present question. It must be recalled that Texas was admitted into the Union as a State possessed of a complete State constitution and statutes.

Mr. Baird goes on to tell of a case where one of these statutes was assailed on the ground that it violated section 10 of Art. I. of the United States Constitution, but where the Supreme Court held "that the restraints imposed by the constitution of the United States upon the legislative power of the several States could affect them only after they became States of the Union, under the provisions of the Constitution, and had consented to be bound by it; whereas, Texas was admitted as a complete State and its constitution and laws accepted as they stood at the date of admission."

The brief points out how the conditions differ in respect of Hawaii, the Newlands resolution making the laws of Hawaii "not free of the supervisory control of the Supreme Court of the United States as were the laws of Texas."

But in this proceeding it is sought to shorten the way to liberty by bringing up the petitioner and the record on habeas corpus. The statutes on this point are quoted, which declare that, while the supreme, circuit and district courts of the United States have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, "the writ of habeas corpus shall in no case extend to a prisoner in jail, unless where he is in custody in violation of constitution or of a law or treaty of the United States."

The District Attorney states the bases of the present application, and says: "The question thus squarely presented is: Has this Court jurisdiction to inquire into the cause of the restraint of liberty of this petitioner?"

In answer to this question he cites the latest decision of the United States Supreme Court on the question, it being on a case from North Dakota. There the Court was not disposed to consider the constitutional points raised, saying: "We have frequently pronounced against the review by habeas corpus of the judgment of the State courts in criminal cases, because some right under the constitution of the United States was alleged to have been denied the person convicted, and have repeatedly decided the proper remedy was by writ of error."

After citing an authority the Supreme Court went on to say that instead of discharging, the Federal courts would leave the prisoner to be dealt with by the courts of the State, and that after a final determination there the Federal courts would even then generally leave the petitioner to his remedy by writ of error from the Supreme Court.

Justice McKenna, who rendered the decision, added: "The jurisdiction is more delicate, the reason against its exercise stronger, when a single judge is invoked to reverse the decision of the highest court of a State in which the constitutional rights of a prisoner could have been claimed, and maybe were rightly decided, or if not rightly decided, could be reviewed and reversed by a writ of error from this court."

Mr. Baird says this decision, being the latest expression of the Supreme tribunal, is binding on this court.

Mr. Baird quotes a host of authorities to show that the prisoner's recourse is only to a writ of error from the Federal Supreme Court.

SALMON PRICES HIGH.

The Tacoma Ledger of Sept. 27, says: "F. Sherman are now receiving the highest price ever paid on the Sound for silver salmon. Fresh fish dealers and canners are bidding against each other for the late run, and a result the price has been forced higher than even sockeyes commanded. Thirty cents is the average paid, but it is reported that several fishermen have received even better offers for their catch. It is probable that if the competition remains keen the price may go even higher than it is at present."

The average silver salmon weighs about eight pounds, so the price paid fishermen is practically a cents a pound. In previous years there have been times when sockeyes sold at this figure, but the price has never been paid for silver salmon before this season.

On the Columbia river canners and cold storage men have paid as high as 8 cents for Chinook salmon during the season. The Chinook is worth more to the canners and cold storage men for certain trades than either the sockeye or the silver salmon. It is a better fish for salting. The Chinook can be salted and shipped in brine to better advantage any other salmon.

On Grays harbor Chinook salmon have been bringing a big price during the entire year. About two tons of Chinook salmon were shipped this year from Grays harbor going to Germany. In some markets the "royal Chinook" is better market than other fish and sells more readily.

Trouble at Iwilei.

There was trouble out in Iwilei Saturday night which resulted in the arrest of a white man who gives no other name than that of Charles. It seems that the fellow got on a drunk, stole a rifle from another white man and retreated himself under the bed of one of the women who live in the corral out there. He was discovered and arrested. The owner of the rifle was found and his first inclination was to have Charles arrested on the charge of larceny. However, he thought better of this and refrained from pushing matters further so that the fellow got off with a fine for drunkenness.

ACROSS SIBERIA WILDS

TRIP CAN BE MADE AT COMPARATIVELY SMALL COST

Vladivostok to St. Petersburg in Thirty Days—Detail of the Trip
Given by American Consul
---New Tourist Route.

The American tourist ever watchful for new fields of travel is turning his attention to the Siberian tour. It is now possible to traverse the wilds, made famous by descriptions of Siberian prisons, in a modern railway coach and in reasonably short time. W. R. Holloway, United States Consul General at St. Petersburg gives the following account of the itinerary and cost of the all rail trip from Vladivostok to St. Petersburg:

Daily trains start from Vladivostok to Chabarovska with a dining room car in which, for a moderate price, travelers can lunch, dine, sup, have tea, coffee and wine. The prices are limited by a tariff approved by the administration. The daily board is from 3 to 5 rubles ($1.50 to $2.50).

The price from Vladivostok to Chabarovska is: First class, $8.50; second class, $5.10; third class, $3.09. The distance between Vladivostok and Chabarovska is 716 versts (482 miles). Trains start from Vladivostok in the morning at 9:25 o'clock and arrive in Chabarovska the next day at 1:20 o'clock. Time, 28 hours.

The journey from Chabarovska to Blagoveshchensk and farther to Sretensk (2,136 versts or 1,423 miles), via the River Amur and the Shilka. There are 108 steamers on the basin of the Amur, four transport boats, and two steam long boats belonging to private companies and to the Minister of Ways and Communications. The steamers of the Amur company are preferable. These steamers leave Chabarovska every five days and go from Chabarovska to Blagoveshchensk in six days.

The board is two rubles ($1) per day for one person. Travelers receive, at 8 o'clock in the morning, tea with bread and butter; at 12 o'clock a dinner consisting of two dishes of meat and pudding; at 4 o'clock, tea; and at 8 o'clock in the evening, one dish of meat and tea.

From Blagoveshchensk to Sretensk the steamers require eight days and run even in case of low water. The fare from Chabarovska to Blagoveshchensk (918 1/2 versts) or 618 miles, is: First class, $11.48; second class, $6.88; third class, $1.55. From Blagoveshchensk to Sretensk (1,197 1/2 versts) or 805 miles; the fare is: First class, $14.97; second class, $8.98; third class, $1.99; luggage per pound, .60.

From Sretensk the journey is by rail. The trains leave Sretensk Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, at 6:40 o'clock in the evening and arrive, via Tshit, the third day, at Muksunov, on the southeast bank of the Baikal.

Travelers cross the Baikal at 4 o'clock, connecting with a train on the other bank, the distance to Irkutsk being 62 versts (41 miles), and from Sretensk 1,175 versts, or 781 miles. For this distance passengers pay 19 rubles ($9.50) including the passage through the river Baikal, in first class cabins; the second and third class on the boat pay a few kopecks less.

Between Irkutsk and St. Petersburg there are daily trains with all three classes of carriages, making the journey (5,597 versts) in twelve days.

The fare is: First class, $34.75; second class, $20.85; third class, $13.99. Besides these daily trains, an express train starts from Irkutsk to Moscow once a week—on Fridays. The journey from Vladivostok to St. Petersburg (9,922 versts) or 6,677 miles, can be effected in about thirty to thirty-five days. The journey from St. Petersburg to Vladivostok is effected in six days less (twenty-four or twenty-nine days), because steamers go down the Amur in less time than up the river. The fare, including the steamboat with board, is: First class, about $125; second class, $85; third class, $45.

Ice Plant for Dawson.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Some interesting facts regarding the situation at Dawson are contained in the report of Consul J. C. McCook, under date of August 22. He says there has been an abundance of wild blueberries, currants, raspberries and cranberries this summer. The cattle herders on the hills and a few Indians gather the berries and bring them to Dawson, receiving $1 and $1.50 per quart.

The idea of building an ice plant in Dawson seems like "carrying coals to Newcastle." The lack of ice in summer, however, has been seriously felt and a contract has been given for an ice machine to be placed in a cold storage warehouse. The cost of ice this summer has been 5 cents per pound or at the rate of $100 per ton.

From a political standpoint Mr. Hutchins' maiden effort is a peach.

The suggestion of an ice plant for Dawson savors decidedly of unnecessary luxuries. Expeditions to the North Pole will be taking refrigerator plants next.

Query to Mr. Hutchins—If Bryan's silver policy is carried out will insurance companies accept the payment of premiums in depreciated silver at its face value?

The Advertiser's apology for its attack on National Committeeman Sewall is a weak affair, at once a misrepresentation and a cowardly plea for justification of personal spite.

If a shining example of the good fellowship of political antagonism is wanted, one has only to follow the occasions when Delegate Parker and Prince David meet at the same rally.

That new Bulletin press troubles the declining days of the Advertiser daily. It certainly devolves upon the Advertiser to state plainly where the money came from to purchase that new press.

The local Democratic scholar who wants "imperialism" explained is in the same boat as Democrats in the States. They are fast coming to the decision that "even William J. Bryan himself doesn't know what it means."

C. J. Hutchins' country bids fair to be "going down to deep damnation" if, as he says, Bryan is to be elected President. Bryan is the first candidate for President, except possibly Jefferson Davis, who ever upheld men who are shooting down American soldiers.

Already the Independent party has taken up the municipal plank policy outlined by the Advertiser. If George Carter and his associates feel that the municipal issue can be evaded they sadly fail in their estimate of sentiment of the voting population.

J. O. Carter says he is a Democrat on account of his study of Grover Cleveland's career. No one knows better than Mr. Carter, however, that the past Democracy of Cleveland and the present Democracy of Bryan are as far removed as black from white.

It may be taken for granted that both the Republican and Democratic tickets will both be considerably scratched.—Star.

Not by Republicans who possess any degree of party integrity. This integrity the evening cuckoo lacks entirely.

As a lawyer Mr. McClanahan declares Congress can pass a law making Hu-wall a colony. As an American citizen Mr. McClanahan knows that such a step will never be considered and if it were would never be accomplished except by means of the fallacies proposed by Bryan's party.

By dint of hard work the Democrats in rally assembled are able to get a fair audience in the Orpheum and the Independents about forty voters at Waikiki. These gatherings in comparison with crowds that always assemble to greet Republican speakers is a good example of which way the political tide sets.

With all the appeals which may be made to party loyalty there are elements of weakness on both tickets.—Star.

What individuals on the Republican ticket constitute elements of weakness? The "fusionists" do not possess the slightest degree of that political blessing known as courage of conviction.

It was a liberal Congress that granted the Hawaiians manhood suffrage says Candidate Quinn. That's true, and Candidate Quinn is also aware as is every citizen of the United States that the liberal Congress was a Republican Congress. It makes no difference what Smith, Hartwell or anyone else may have argued in favor of a restricted franchise, the Republican party gave the franchise and the Republican party stands for the protection of the franchise. Anyone who disapproves or will oppose this policy is outside the Republican ranks.

"It is one of two things for the Hawaiians to decide. It is whether they want to join the Republican party that seeks an empire, or the Democrats."—C. J. Hutchins at the Democratic rally last night.

This is what United States Senator William M. Stewart of Nevada said at a rally held in Chicago when he publicly announced his intention to vote for Wm. McKinley.

"I followed Mr. Bryan four years ago, but I do not propose to follow him into treason against the flag and the Constitution it represents. Mr. Bryan proposes to surrender to Aguinaldo."

"The Democratic party says it is not too late, but says it will step in and tell the world we wrong these people. Let us place our protecting arm over the Filipinos and establish for these people a government for themselves."—E. B. McClanahan at the Democratic rally.

If all this be true, the Democratic party is in duty bound to return the Louisiana purchase to France, California to Mexico, Hawaii to its former status as an independent nation, and Porto Rico to Spain. The logical conclusions of Democrats followers prove that party to be dishonest with itself.

There is a splendid field opened up for Hawaiian fiction, and we are waiting for the coming Hawaiian novelist. When he or she comes, it will not be from the ranks of the malihinis, but rather some one who has lived a Hawaiian life and inherited the Hawaiian traditions rather than one who has merely assimilated them from casual contact with Hawaiian ideals.—Maui News.

What the kamaaina can do is yet an unknown quantity. E. P. Dole in his latest book has dealt with Hawaiian traditions and character in a manner that the kamaaina may equal but not excel.

Democrats preparing to shed tears over the bier of the Hawaiian sugar industry if the Philippines are held becomes a funny farce comedy in view of the fact that one of the Democratic foundation principles is free trade with all foreign countries. As regards sugar, the Democratic plan is to allow the sugars not only of the Philippines and Cuba to go on the American market free of duty but they would also include the sugars of Germany, Austria and every other nation producing beet sugar or cane sugar throughout the world. This is the Democratic doctrine and has been for the last forty years. This party proposes to wipe out the protection given American industry and American laborers under the laws passed by the Republican party.

Malaga district of Spain offers a system of taxation on automobiles that may appeal to the candidates for the Legislature casting about for ways and means of furnishing funds for the Territorial treasury:

The better class of private automombiles will pay, cities having a population of 100,000 or more, a tax of 80 pesetas, or about $11.58, for each vehicle, and for each seat, including that of the conductor, 9.40 pesetas ($1.36.)

In cities having from 20,001 to 93,999 inhabitants, a tax of 40 pesetas ($5.79) for each vehicle will be charged, and for each seat of the same 4.76 pesetas (69 cents.)

In other places of less than 20,000 people, the taxes are 20 pesetas ($2.89) for each vehicle and 2.35 pesetas (34 cents) for each seat.

Automobiles for travelling along the public roads will pay, for each kilometer (0.62 mile,) 4 pesetas (58 cents), and for each seat and kilometer of travel, 0.25 pesetas (3.5 cents.)

Haole and Malihini Appeals to the Dear Natives to Remember Their Friends—J. O. Carter Alone
Calm in Speech.

The Orpheum Theater was well filled with the Democratic ratification meeting last night. Many ladies gave a gay and pleasant tone to the rally. Jos. O.
 Carter received an ovation as he came on the platform. Besides him were seated there: Col. C. J. McCarthy, chairman Territorial Central Committee; C. H. Bishop, a Kauai candidate;
 C. J. Hutchins, S. K. Kalua, C. W.
 Booth, W. J. Mossman, Frank Harvey,
 Abraham Fernandez, E. B. McClanahan,
 F. J. Testa, J. D. Holt, Jr., J. M.
 Camara, E. C. Macfarlane and S. W.
 Spencer.

S. K. Kalua, the first speaker, was cheered at every period as he addressed the assemblage in the Hawaiian vernacular.

Abraham Fernandez, candidate for Senator, followed, also in the native tongue. His remarks were received with applause and cries of "Sure."

J. O. Carter, candidate for Senator, was received with uproarious applause.
 Mr. Testa interpreted his English into Hawaiian. He came before them to speak the words of truth and sober-ness. The conditions when he last spoke to them, in the reign of Kalakaua, were greatly different from today. Their flag was gone and he was sorry for it, but as a good citizen he was prepared to make the best of circumstances. Some advised Hawaiians to stand apart. He could not advise this. They were there, Hawaiians and whites, and loved the land, and were in duty bound to stand together for the best interests of the whole country.

Some had said, when he had accepted a nomination from the Democrats, that he turned his face away from the Hawaiians. It was not true. He had been among them as a boy, as a young man, and now he came before them with gray hairs, and his friendly feeling toward them was as warm today as it had ever been. He was a Democrat because of his reading, because of his observation, and because the administrations of Grover Cleveland had made him one. He had decided for himself.
 They should do so for themselves. If they followed him into the Democratic party he should be much pleased. The Democrats had shown their friendly disposition toward the Hawaiian by placing their young chief, Prince David Kawanakoa, at the head of their ticket.
 It would be their duty to see that ticket in the hands of as many Hawaiians as possible. Although he was a Democrat he was not one whit less loyal to the Independents. Mr.
 Carter was liberally applauded all through and at the close of his address.

S. W. Spencer, candidate for Representative in the Fourth district, spoke in Hawaiian. He caused a roar at conclusion by explaining 16 to 1 as sixteen votes to David for one to either Parker or Wilcox.

J. M. Camara included in his greeting, on coming forward, his Republican friends. By a slip of the tongue, a little later, he brought down the house by saying he was entirely in favor of the platform of the Republican party.
 He got out of it by saying the Republicans had been in his mind as a source of amusement for the reasons they gave for asking the votes of the people.
 The Democrats were to be credited with securing the franchise for the Hawaiian in Congress when Republicans tried to prevent it. If elected he would oppose any attempt to increase the Territorial taxes. If these were raised it would go hard with the owners of small homes. It was a mistake to regard him on the ticket as a representative merely of the Portuguese colony. If elected it would be as a representative of all races in the Fourth district. The other day an advertisement had been published calling a Republican "full dinner pail" meeting, but the man at the head of their ticket was one of the principal members of the meat trust. Yet they asked the people to vote for him. (A voice—"He's the man.") He hoped when the votes were counted the evening of November 6 that Parker's name would be second on the list, with Prince David at the head.

Frank Harvey spoke in native without interpretation. His remarks made the house ring with hilarity.

E. C. Macfarlane, candidate for Representative in the Fourth district, was well received. In the limited time allotted to each speaker he thought national issues might be left alone.
 There would be enough in the new conditions to tax the thought and energy of every man for guiding the affairs of this Territory into proper channels. There was no doubt a time coming when the native Hawaiians would be an important factor in Amer-
