The last mail brings no further tariff news of a decisive character. The latest advices stated that the Senate committee would be ready to report in a few days, so that the next boat may possibly bring us decisive tidings.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE MINORITY REPORT.

The Minority Report of the Foreign Affairs Committee presented by Noble Baldwin, the full text of which has been published in these columns, is in many ways one of the most notable reports which has been presented to the Legislature. The situation was a peculiar one. The majority report was a violent partisan document, not merely abusive in its terms, but actually unparliamentary in its language. Under these circumstances it would have been no wonder if the minority report had shown something of the same want of temper and measure. But nothing of these qualities is visible in this report, which is conspicuous by its moderation, fairness and candor. The report amounts, indeed, to a complete vindication of the foreign policy of the late Ministry, but it is so, not through any ingenious or elaborate argumentation, but because it is a calm, complete and objective statement of the facts. It is the first exhaustive statement of the kind which has been laid before the public, and as such deserving of the most careful attention.

It was very fitting that this triumphant vindication of the Cabinet's policy, just on the point in which it had been so bitterly attacked, should have come on the last day of their official career. It constituted, so to speak, their obituary, and was a worthy one. That in its character as a vindication, it was unanswerable, was virtually conceded by their opponents themselves. The report was read in the morning and in the afternoon a resolution of want of confidence was brought in, which was silent on all the accusations of the majority report, silent as to all the facts contained in the minority report, and which based itself on a new foundation.

We have no space here for any recital of the facts so well marshalled and reviewed in the minority report. They ought, by this time, to be pretty well known to all that portion of the public which occupies itself in any degree with political questions. We ought to be able to expect that the misstatements of fact and hollow misrepresentations which have been so long current would finally disappear and be forgotten now that their work has been accomplished. But that is still too much to hope. Future campaigners will probably still refer to past attempts to "sell the country's independence," and the Bulletin will still occasionally expatiate on the folly of binding ourselves not to make treaties without the consent of the United States.

We are of course not aware what the policy of the present Ministry will be, on the subject of treaty relations with the United States. There is probably danger that nothing at all will be done. We cannot help regarding such a contingency as a misfortune for this country. The alarm which was lately felt and still is felt in this country with regard to the tariff on sugar, is only a fresh proof of the perilous situation of a country whose fortunes all hang upon the issue of a single venture. This is a condition of affairs which free trade with the United States would inevitably do much to relieve us from. Indeed, free trade with the United States is perhaps an indispensable pre-requisite to the development of certain industries in this kingdom, that of small fruits for instance. Everyone knows what reciprocity has done for the sugar industry. There is no reason why it should not do as much for other industries.

The United States Government is firmly committed to a protective policy and while we believe that tariff reform and tariff reduction are justly making progress and will continue to do so, yet it should not be forgotten that those movements are not directly aimed at the protective principle, and are not likely to affect it for very many years to come. It is far from certain that the United States Senate will pass the McKinley bill with its free sugar and bounty clause. If it does not do so, there will never be a more favorable opportunity for pushing some treaty similar in its provision to that already proposed, than is offered now when all the branches of government are controlled by a party peculiarly friendly to these islands. Our expectation would be not that these islands would share in a bounty, but that if any such treaty already existed with this country the probability that the United States would ever attempt to protect its own sugar industry by a bounty, would be sensibly diminished. On the other hand there is no likelihood that the United States will leave their own sugar industry unprotected so that it seems pretty clear that with such a treaty as that proposed, the sugar industry of this country would be as safe as treaties can make it.

There are persons who imagine that the planters would be solely or chiefly benefited by closer treaty relations with the United States. This is an error due partly to the want of reflection, partly to the natural jealousy which the poor feel toward the rich. We are not disposed to censure this severely. The wealthy is not spotless, and it is as true now as it was eight hundred years ago that it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. But the notion that the rich profit solely by the treaty is a very great mistake. A blow to sugar will hit the poor first and hit them hardest. Long before any planter has missed a dollar from his dividends, the native fruit sellers on the corners will lose half their sales.

We believe that the present Legislature is friendly to close treaty relations with the United States, and that a majority of it would be favorably disposed to a free trade treaty based substantially on the draft already made public. To their attention and to that of the thoughtful public we commend the following considerations.

There are two things which free trade with the United States will do. It will tend to insure the safety of the capital now invested in sugar, and it will facilitate the transfer of that capital to other industries, if sugar should cease to be profitable.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO LETTER.

Per City of Peking, San Francisco, June 14, 1890.

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

Receiver Reddy Ousted.

The Supreme Court rendered its decision in bank on the 9th in the case of Theodore A. Havemeyer and others against the Superior Court of the city and county of San Francisco, known as the great sugar case.

The issue was on an application for a writ of prohibition to the Superior Court, Department No. 6, commanding and directing said court and Judge and the receiver of said court to desist and refrain from acting upon a certain order appointing said receiver.

The court goes on to state that the importance of the case not only as regards the interests at stake, but also in respect to the questions of law and practice which it involves, will justify, if it does not require, a detailed statement of the facts.

In the month of November, 1888, the people of the State of California, on the relation of the Attorney-General, commenced an action in said Superior Court against the American Sugar Refining Company, a California corporation, for the purpose of forfeiting its charter.

The corporation appeared and answered the complaint, and after trial the judgment of said Superior Court was pronounced declaring its forfeiture and imposing upon the corporation defendant a fine of $5,000 and costs of suit.

The judgment was rendered January 8, 1890, and on the same day, at the instance of the attorneys representing the State, a rule was issued and served requiring said corporation and its attorneys to show cause on the 18th of January why a receiver should not be appointed to take charge of the estate and effects of said defendant corporation and distribute the same according to law, or to preserve the same pending an appeal hereof, if such an appeal was taken, on the ground that the said corporation had been dissolved and had forfeited its corporate rights.

On the 18th of January the corporation filed its notice of appeal, and filed the required bond.

On the 17th of February the Judge of Superior Court No. 6 made the order for the appointment of a receiver.

On the 18th of February the Supreme Court issued its alternative writ of prohibition against William T. Wallace, Judge of Superior Court, and the receiver, commanding the latter to refrain from executing the commands of said court.

The whole case was submitted, and the practical effect of the judgment of the Supreme Court as handed down to-day is to release the refinery from the control of the receiver and all orders of the Superior Court made subsequent to the final judgment.

The decision rendered, therefore, does not affect the final judgment in the case, which decreed a forfeiture of the charter and imposed a penalty of $5,000.

An appeal from the final judgment is now under advisement by the Supreme Court.

After a lengthy argument covering eighty-five pages of typewriting the Supreme Court concludes, and after quoting a decision in a case which is being quoted, states that "the following propositions applicable to this case are fully supported."

"First. If a writ of jurisdiction is apparent on the face of the proceeding in the lower court, no plea or preliminary objection is necessary before suing out the writ of prohibition."

"Second. If the proceeding in the lower court is not on its face without the jurisdiction of such court, but is so in fact by reason of the existence of some matter not disclosed, such matter ought to be averred in some proper form in order to make the want of jurisdiction appear."

"Third. But this is not essential to the jurisdiction of the Superior Court to grant prohibition. It is only laches, which may or may not be excused according to circumstances."

"Accordingly we find frequently a failure to plead in the lower court was excused for the reason that it appeared that the plea would have been rejected if made. The whole question in fact was one of practice only, not of jurisdiction, and the objection which most frequently prevailed to the granting of the writ was not that the application came too early, but that it came too late."

"The rule we have adopted is founded upon the same considerations and directed to the same end. Our jurisdiction is ample to arrest by prohibition any proceeding without or in excess of the jurisdiction of the Superior Court, but by statute we are forbidden to do so; so when there is a plain, speedy and adequate remedy in ordinary course of law, and by the practice which we have adopted and prescribed for ourselves, we will not issue the writ until the objection has in some form been made in and overruled by the lower court, and the whole foundation of the rule being the respect and consideration due to the lower court, and the expediency of preventing unnecessary litigation."

"Applying these principles to the present case we find that the petitioners were not in their character of purchasers of the specific property described in the order appointing the receiver parties to the quo warranto or the rule to show cause why the receiver should not be appointed, and in that character they had no opportunity to object until after the receiver appeared at the refinery armed with the order of court authorizing him to take it into his possession."

"As stockholders of the corporation, however, it is contended, and may be conceded, that they were virtually defendants in the quo warranto and parties affected by the rule to show cause."

"But it clearly appears that in that character they made every objection that could be made to the order asked which did not refer to any specific property. They filed an affidavit showing that there were no creditors of the corporation, and a certificate showing that all the stockholders had requested the directors to close up the business of the corporation. They also brought to the attention of the Court the fact that an appeal from the judgment of the forfeiture had been taken and perfected."

"All these objections went to the jurisdiction. They were all argued, all maturely considered and all overruled in a carefully prepared opinion."

"What more could possibly be necessary in order to authorize us under any rule prevailing to examine and decide upon the objections so made and overruled."

"The Court proceeds thus: 'It is unnecessary to enter into any detailed discussion of the testimony as to the completeness of Mr. Reddy's possession at the time the writ was served. It is the time when the writ was ordered, not the time when the writ was served, that fixes the extent of our power to interfere with the proceeding in the lower court. But even this is immaterial in this case, for we have shown that so long as property in the hands of a receiver remains subject to further judicial action which may be arrested by the prohibition, the remedy will be made complete by ordering its restoration.'"

"So far, therefore, as the prohibition is concerned it makes no difference if we assume that Mr. Reddy had complete possession at the time we ordered the alternative writ."

"It is only with respect to the proceeding for contempt that the facts relating to the possession of the receiver are material."

"On the question of contempt involved in the case against Judge Wallace and Receiver Reddy, the Supreme Court will render a separate opinion as soon as possible."

In the meantime the Supreme Court ordered "that an absolute and peremptory writ of prohibition will issue in accordance with the views herein expressed."

The opinion is written by Chief Justice Beatty, and is concurred in by Justices Sharpstein, McFarland, Patterson, Works and Fox, Justice Thornton being absent from the State.

Col. Spreckels in San Francisco.

Claus Spreckels is in the city and will probably remain some time yet.

His present trip from Philadelphia was undertaken with two objects in view—the selection of a site for a new beet sugar and to take a general view of the situation in the market.

The plant for the beet sugar is already in the city, having arrived two days ago. While no location for it has yet been decided upon, one will be selected before fall and the necessary buildings erected in time to take advantage of this season's beet crop. The capacity of the new plant will be about the same as the one at Watsonville, and the sugar produced by it will, as in the case of the latter mill, be refined at the local refinery.

Regarding his beet sugar projects Mr. Spreckels said that he still had confidence in them, but would feel more assured if the House had not declared for free sugar and for the payment of a bounty to domestic producers.

"The whole question," said he, "has been talked over again and again, and there is nothing to be added to what has already been said. The removal of the duty on raw sugar is not calculated to inspire much confidence in us at the islands, while the reduction of the duty on refined sugars places all American refineries in a decidedly unfavorable position. Still this has all been said before, and I do not know that the subject needs any special comment at this time."

"Everything is going along nicely in Philadelphia, and the new Spreckels Sugar Refinery Co. will have all that it can do to fill its orders. All that I have to say further is that I am glad to be back, and that I never feel more at home than when I am here."

Foreign News.

Canada has notified the Victoria seal schooners that no protection will be given them in the Behring Sea. The sealers have paid no attention, but have purchased a fast steamer to convey sealers as taken from a rendezvous at Sand Point to Victoria.

A dispatch from London says: The colonial governments of Australia have all passed the necessary acts providing funds for the construction by the British Government of several ships of war to be devoted exclusively to the defense of the Australian colonies. It is also proposed to establish inter-colonial free trade through Australia.

Whether imperial federation, as advocated by Lord Roseberry, comes or not, all signs point to the certainty of an Australian union that will present on the opposite side of the world a copy of the United States of America. The Australians are much dissatisfied with the course of the British Government in permitting other European nations to gain a foothold in Polynesia, and with a fleet at hand, their remonstrance might take vigorous form.

At the dinner given him by the Savage Club on the 7th, which was attended by nearly 400 picked professional men of London, Stanley for the first time approached frankness in describing his relations with Emin. He told a number of stories throwing the most odious light upon Emin's disinclination to leave the Equatorial Province. In substance his story was of an Egyptian officer, whose wife Emin had taken away. The officer wanted to kill Emin and his recreant wife, but was prevented by Stanley.

In the French Chamber of Deputies on the 10th Ribot, Minister of Foreign Affairs, read France's note to Egypt. France contends that the time has arrived when England, in accordance with the many declarations and self-congratulations of her Ministers and for the prosperity and security of Egypt, ought to evacuate the country.

At a meeting of the Budget Committee of the Austrian delegation on the 13th Field Marshal Baron Kauer, Minister of War for the whole monarchy, stated that the peace of Europe was not secure, and therefore a considerable increase in the army was necessary. The cost of the increase would amount to from 90,000,000 to 100,000,000 florins.

A Suggestion.

Mr. Editor—At the meeting of American citizens held last evening, quite a discussion arose as to having a ball Fourth of July evening, many being opposed on account of not being able to go to Remond Grove and get back in sufficient time to attend a ball in the evening, which brings forth the following suggestion, viz., Why not have the ball on the evening of the 3d, thus enabling those who want a ball to go as early as they wish, and if not too tired next morning they can take their family to Remond Grove and enjoy the day at the picnic, baseball, tennis, boat rowing, and more dancing, furthermore giving the ball committee a chance to enjoy themselves, which is often not the case when they have to work all day on the Fourth decorating, etc.

This has been done many times before, and why not have it on the evening of the 3d.

Meeting of American Residents at the Hawaiian Hotel.

Pursuant to a notice by the American Minister Resident, a large number of citizens of the United States resident here, met in the dining room of the Hawaiian Hotel yesterday evening, to make the necessary arrangements for the proper celebration of the Fourth of July.

Hon. John L. Stevens called the meeting to order, stating that all present understood its object. The first business was to designate a chairman.

Hon. W. F. Allen was appointed chairman and Mr. E. F. Bishop secretary.

The chairman said the usual method was to appoint a committee of twenty-one, and that is subdivided.

The names of a previous committee were read.

J. G. Spencer thought they ought to get some young man on the committee this year.

B. Ordenstein agreed with the last speaker. He wanted to see a good roaring celebration this Fourth.

E. F. Bishop moved the committee be named by the meeting. Carried.

The following committee was then selected: Alex. J. Cartwright, chairman, W. F. Allen, J. H. Paty, B. F. Dillingham, H. F. Hebbard, Geo. W. Smith, A. Herbert, F. L. Winter, G. E. Boardman, J. G. Spencer, A. W. Richardson, H. A. Parmelee, W. H. Cornwell, W. H. Hoogs, J. W. Pratt, J. H. Soper, T. C. Porter, E. F. Bishop, J. Ross, J. A. Gilman, C. H. Arnold.

On motion of B. Ordenstein a recess of fifteen minutes was taken to allow the committee to retire and arrange a programme.

On re-assembling the chairman read the report of the committee which recommended that the literary exercises, picnic and sports be held at Remond Grove, that there be salutes and a ball in town in the evening. The committee also reported the following sub-committees:

Finance—J. H. Paty, W. F. Allen, G. W. Smith, H. A. Parmelee, B. F. Dillingham.

Salutes—H. F. Hebbard.

Literary exercises—T. C. Porter, A. W. Richardson, H. A. Parmelee, J. G. Spencer.

Sports and picnic—W. H. Cornwell, W. H. Hoogs, J. Ross, J. A. Gilman, H. M. Whitney Jr., J. H. Soper.

Ball—E. F. Bishop, F. L. Winter, A. W. Richardson, J. W. Pratt, G. E. Boardman, J. H. Soper, A. Herbert.

J. A. Mehlertsen asked if the picnic was for the benefit of the public or the Oahu railway.

E. F. Bishop said the committee had not for one moment considered the railway. He did not think their charges would be exorbitant. The committee had no idea of shutting out anyone. He thought the remarks about the railway was a slur on the committee.

J. G. Spencer said heretofore a lanai to hold the exercises had cost a great deal of money. There is a lanai already built at the grove which would save large expense. The railway company will charge fifty cents for round trip tickets. There is a good ball ground there.

F. B. McStocker said there would be a good many people who would not go to the grove, and how were they to be amused. He moved to amend so that the exercises be held in the city.

J. A. Mehlertsen did not want the committee to think he was throwing out slurs. He agreed with the last speaker.

B. Ordenstein wanted a picnic. It might be held at the grove, but the exercises and ball should be in town. If everything was to be held at Pearl river, it would not be the wish of the community. On the 4th of July it was better to select a place in town.

B. F. Dillingham favored holding the exercises in town.

C. T. Rodgers thought the celebration ought to be at one place.

J. W. Winter said if there was a baseball game at the grove it would keep the people there until 5 o'clock. He would like to know how the railway company could get all the people home. It would take until 9 o'clock in the evening. He made a motion that the baseball match be referred to the sports committee, which carried.

Hon. W. H. Cornwell moved that the meeting leave the whole matter to the committee of twenty-one.

J. H. Fisher moved that the ball be abandoned and the money spent in some other way.

J. G. Spencer moved that dancing be carried on at the Grove when the people felt like it.

E. F. Bishop did not like the idea of having to give up the ball. A great many looked forward to it, and it was the only place during the day when certain guests could be received.

B. F. Dillingham favored a ball at both places.

M. E. Grossman objected to abandoning the ball. It gave pleasure to the greatest number, and was the best part of the day's celebration.

On the motion being put, it was decided to have a ball.

H. F. Hebbard—I resign from the committee of twenty-one.

J. H. Fisher moved the ball be in the Rifles' Armory. (Applause.)

Hon. C. J. McCarthy seconded the motion. Last year the committee selected the Hotel for the ball, but they must remember that all the Americans here did not belong to the swallow-tail party. There was a split, and another ball was held the same evening in the Arion Hall.

The motion to hold the ball at the Armory was put and carried.

E. F. Bishop—I decline to act on the ball committee.

J. G. Spencer said there seemed to be a split at the meeting. If they were not American enough to be harmonious they ought to give up. A vote of thanks to the Hotel for the use of the dining hall was passed after which the chairman declared the meeting adjourned.

Police Court.

Hog and Poultry Remedy

A Certain Cure for the Diseases of

HOGS AND POULTRY

1st. It puts your pigs in first-class condition.
2d. It stops cough, and regulates the bowels.
3d. It will keep sows healthy during pregnancy, and superinduce a sound progeny.

4th. It will arrest disease in every instance, if administered before the vital parts are beyond the reach of aid.
5th. It destroys worms and hastens maturity.
6th. It is a thorough preventive. Feeders who use it all the year round have no disease among their swine.

7th. It will repay its cost many times over in the extra pounds of pork it will make without extra feed. Hogs treated with it will gain two or more pounds, while others are gaining one. The reason is it regulates the digestive functions and enables the animal to convert every particle of food eaten into pork, involving no waste. Hundreds of testimonials from breeders in England, Germany, Scotland, Ireland, the United States, New Zealand, and Australia.

TESTIMONIALS:
"Dr. Hass' Hog Remedy is a certain preventive of disease, making pigs thrive well and gain flesh fast."
(Sd.) J. N. WALTON, Birmingham, Eng.
(Curveyor to H. M. the Queen and H. R. H. the Prince of Wales.)
"Our experience has shown that Hass' Remedy will prevent disease in hogs and that the increase in flesh by its use more than covers the cost."
"GILLILAND, HACKWORTH & BUCKLES,
"Coffeyville, Kansas.

"A good investment as a pork producer, to say nothing of its preventing disease."
"L. R. WOODS, Leona, Kentucky."
"I do not think it safe to be without Hass' Remedy to prevent disease. After a thorough test I am sure it is a valuable medicine as well as a pork producer."
"B. F. DORSEY, Breeder Perry, Illinois."
