

DAVIS CAUSES MERRIMENT

SHIES A FEW BRICKS AT THE JUDGE ON MAUI

GARIBALDI WILCOX APPEARS AND MAKES STATEMENT THAT HAULES DESTROYED CHINA-TOWN ON WINDY DAY.

The Commission convened at 10 o'clock, Delegate Wilcox giving way to an urgent appeal of George Davis for five minutes' talk. Others in waiting were W. O. Smith, Kalaupokalani and Kalaupokalani, Curtis P. Iaukea, Emil Ney, W. L. Hayward, Isaac Neale, N. W. Holl and Mrs. Kaahanaui Kawaihewa, the two last named being connected with a land case, Judge Frear, L. A. Thurston, A. S. Humphreys, A. C. Gehl, Mr. Silliman, Samuel Parker, Judge Dickey.

George Davis stated that last June he went to Maui as Deputy Attorney General where Judge Kalua was presiding. The Judge was unable to charge or administer the oath to the grand jury. At his request Davis attended to these matters and made up other charges. The local government was cognizant of the man's incompetence. Judge Kalua was first appointed by Governor Hale and his cabinet and later by President McKinley. Mr. Davis declined to make statements concerning Judge Kalua's habits, but cited him as "incompetent and corrupt."

When the appointments to the Supreme bench were made, two were appointed from Maui. Davis was one of them. He had never been in court. These were Chief Justice Frear and Associate Justice Perry, both first appointed by the Republic. Every judge appointed in those days was from Hartwell's office. He himself was the first departure and had W. O. Smith in the country at the time. The witness did not think he would have been appointed. He qualified his charge against Justice Frear as a man of considerable general competence. Judge Perry was never engaged in litigation before his appointment.

Witness wished to see the Organic Act amended so as to limit the number of judges for this circuit to two. His opinion was first contrary to this, owing to the state of the docket. The court should be divided into civil and criminal classes so that both could sit at the same time. The salaries of the two district judges should be at least $4,000, owing to the range of their jurisdiction. He criticized various laws now in vogue. He cited that he had been fined and imprisoned during his law career. Fortunately he had a good friend, now dead, Senator Cushman Davis, whom he appealed with a resultant letter to the Attorney General and a promise of investigation. The witness had not pressed the matter further. He urged that the Senate should closely scrutinize all bench appointments.

Questioned as to the method of filling vacancies witness opined that S. B. Dole, Judge Hartwell and W. O. Smith had abetted the continuance of Judge Perry and wished to interfere with unanimous jury verdicts and also to make bench appointments for life.

On temporary filling of vacancies, the calling in of a member of the bar should be repealed by a change in the Organic Act. A man for example charged with murder or a case involving thousands of dollars was liable to be judged by a man called in without an oath and frequently without a conscience.

Senator Mitchell requested the witness to refrain from argument. Davis asked for a change of administration as the present one had been in office too long for the peace of the territory.

W. O. Smith, as amicus curiae, asked Mr. Davis whether he knew Judge Kalua was corrupt. Witness stated that he had been so informed, and was convinced. Mr. Smith asked if he had not last week agreed with the Bar Association's memorial and if the appointment of Judge De Bolt had not something to do with his change of mind. Mr. Davis said it had something to do with it, but not all. On re-

He Believes Fusion Not Possible Now

Colonel Cornwell says: "I predicted this move in the executive committee some days ago to Colonel McCarthy after I have received proof of the bad faith the Home Rulers were keeping with us in the matter of nominations on the other islands. I think the Democratic party will be a free lance after the meeting we are to hold this evening. We do not care to be thrown down twice, especially after the Home Rulers came to us for fusion in the first place. We did not seek them. I do not think any Democratic names will go before their convention today."

"Wilcox has shown himself incapable of controlling his own party and after Senator Blackburn sees the story of the fusion, I do not think the Home Rule party will have much support forthcoming from the Democratic party. I am not in favor of reconsideration. We will meet tonight to settle the matter. The issue is practically finished and fusion to all intents and purposes dead."

A number of native Republicans have expressed their opinion that with fusion broken all the native Democratic vote would go to the support of Prince Kuhio.

He thought that legislation could be amended and like some of his friends, he had changed his mind in the last two days. As the law exists today he thought three judges necessary.

Senator Mitchell stated that he had advised Judge Kalua of the charges against him and that the Commission would give him an opportunity to be heard. W. O. Smith stated that Judge Kalua could not be here until Friday, that he was an educated Hawaiian, graduating from the highest schools and had acted acceptably as circuit judge, few of his opinions being overruled. He admitted that the judge had personal habits which did not, he thought, reflect his judicial record. Corruption charges had been only general and he thought in fairness some one should speak for him. Why had he not been impeached?

Senator Mitchell then read the specific charges signed by J. L. Coke, A. N. Kekuana'ola and G. B. Robertson. Davis chuckled here and attempted to say something about "Now friend Smith," but was stopped by Senator Mitchell. These charges included the Woods case and charged Judge Kalua with malfeasance and gross intoxication on the bench. W. O. Smith was asked as to his knowledge of these matters. Senator Frear here joined the Commission after George Davis' five minutes had lasted to forty-five. W. O. Smith asked if a copy of the charges had been sent to Judge Kalua. Senator Frear stated that the charges were only filed yesterday. Senator Burton stated that these charges should be filed with the Department of Justice and that the Commission was not the body to specifically take up the matter. He appreciated Mr. Smith's appearance in Kalua's behalf.

George Davis tilted on the question of a lawyer filling a vacancy on the bench. Senator Mitchell stated that, should the Commission not hear from Judge Kalua a copy of the charges would be sent to him. George Davis commenced to get rather warm and pointed his remarks too forcibly for the satisfaction of the Commission which intervened.

Chief Justice Frear made a statement concerning the appointment of members of the bench to fill vacancies on the bench. He thought the system had many objectionable phases, but wondered if there was any better alternative. "Conditions were more normal now than they had been in times past when the chief justice had been ill for a year and he himself absent on official business on the Hawaiian Commission under appointment from President McKinley. The witness then went into the history of the entrance of the provision in question into the constitution. This was in 1892 and was amended in 1896 to admit substitutes being called when two members of the bench were disqualified. This was seldom used. Asked whether he thought the phrase-

KIDWELL'S TITLE IS MADE CLEAR BY COURT

DECREE BY JUDGE ROBINSON IN METCALF CASE—GEORGE MARKHAM ANSWERS A SUIT—WANTS TRIAL BY JURY.

Judge Robinson has filed a decree in the suit of Frank Godfrey as trustee for Thomas Metcalf, vs. John Kidwell. After reciting the facts found it is decreed "That the conveyance made by Thomas Metcalf on April 14th, 1899 to John Kidwell (while Thomas Metcalf was a minor) and the subsequent conveyance made by Thomas Metcalf on February 4th, 1901 to John Kidwell (after Thomas Metcalf became of age) were each and both intended by both Thomas Metcalf and John Kidwell to convey and each and both did convey to John Kidwell no other or greater interest than an undivided one-half of that certain tract of land situated in Manoa, Honolulu, Island of Oahu, containing an area of 36.10 acres and known as 'Wailele' and that the fee of the other undivided one-half thereof is against said John Kidwell, vested in Frank Godfrey as trustee for Thomas Metcalf."

This suit and the decree arose out of the definition given by Hawaiian law to the term "lawfully begotten children." In 1896 Theophilus Metcalf by his will gave the property in question to his son Frank for life, remainder to his lawfully begotten children. Frank Metcalf died leaving two children Emma and Thomas. They supposed they were equally the heirs to this property and Thomas conveyed his interest to Kidwell thinking it was a half interest only. But the Supreme court in a case before it decided that Emma was not lawfully begotten, while Thomas was and therefore entitled to the whole of the property, but that his conveyance to Kidwell by the terms used conveyed it all to Kidwell. Thus suit was brought to reform the conveyances so that Kidwell would only get half the property.

In the suit of J. F. Hackfeld vs. P. E. R. Strauch and others, George Markham, one of the defendants has filed his answer in which he denies that plaintiff or any other person except himself was seized in fee simple of the land in dispute, Apana 5, Kula-ana 121, at the time to which the suit relates. He asserts that in 1899 Joseph P. Mendonca, one of the defendants, brought action against Markham for possession of this property, to which action Markham set up the defense of adverse possession, and that this action is still pending in the Circuit Court. Therefore if Markham is obliged to submit to a decree in this case he will be deprived from his right to a trial by jury as to his title to the property, and therefore he asks that the plaintiff be restrained from further prosecuting this suit until the other is determined.

The Organic Act justified such a provision, witness knew it was the intention of the Hawaiian Commission, that he was present at committee sessions when the question was discussed. "Is it not possible," said Senator Mitchell, "for all the judges to be eliminated and replaced by lawyers?" Judge Frear and Senator Burton discussed the point. Senator Mitchell put a case in point where one judge of the tripartite court failed and finally only three of them. Could not the two members of the bar who had been called in fill the vacancy and eliminate the bench for the bar?

The witness stated that were the act so construed, the legislature could remedy it. It was an unusual case. It was admitted an objectionable possibility, but doubled the existence of a better alternative. He said that the provision was not sui generis that in many states lawyers filled vacancies and in Georgia the preliminary lawyer's oath was esteemed all that was necessary. He thought a third circuit judge necessary, and that facts spoke louder than opinions, even the opinions of the two present judges. Senator Burton tried unsuccessfully to get the witness to say that Judge Humphreys and Gear willfully misstated when they said that two judges could loaf half the time and went over the same ground as taken up, with Mr. Case.

Justice Frear did not think legal matters here compared with the main land, and cited the number of cases in the islands. These had not been disposed of. At present there were over 300 cases on the Circuit Court docket. He thought the question of reduction of judges should be left until the cases were caught up with.

Senator Burton again returned to the statements of the two judges as not being overworked. Judge Frear again cited figures and thought that testimony of former circuit judges should be taken. The calendar of this year showed 400 cases as against 300 last year. He differed in opinion from the testimony of the judges.

George Davis entered the lists as to the constitutionality of the lawyers filling vacancies on the bench. He endeavored to ask if Justice Perry had ever practiced law, but Senator Mitchell ruled it out as improper despite the attorney's "why not."

Attorney Silliman asked the opinion of the Justice as to appeals to the Supreme Court of the United States. The witness stated that the present conditions were in accord with the majority of the bar and with the Hawaiian Commission. He gave the action of the present laws. Senator Mitchell gave a supposition instance of a man in Oregon suing a man in Hawaii, not being a question of inter-state matters, but between state and territory. At present the case must be brought in the territorial court and so decided. Judge Frear thought same qualifications might be made in that case.

George Davis asked if the Justice was

GEAR SAYS THE FIRE CLAIMS ACT IS INVALID

THE AWARDS OF THE COMMISSION ARE SUBJECT TO REVIEW BY THE COURTS—THE LEGISLATURE EXCEEDED ITS POWERS.

Judge Gear decided today that the proceedings of the Fire Claims Commission were subject to review by the courts and in two cases directed the Commission to amend its awards.

In these decisions Gear holds that the statute creating the Commission could not take away the power of the Circuit Court to act by the writ of mandate and in so far as it has attempted to do so it is unconstitutional.

The two cases decided are The Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company vs. the Commissioners, and the Sing Chong Company against the same. In the first case the Sing Chong Company filed a claim for $11,816.92. The Commission found that the value of the property destroyed was $7,877.95. The insurance companies had paid $3,257.19 and been subrogated to their right of award to that extent. The Commissioners held that the Sing Chong Company having been paid $3,257.19 by the insurance companies was only entitled to the difference $4,599.85, and made award for that amount, subject to subrogation. No award was made to the insurance companies.

Gear says: "The question presented is whether the Commissioners can be compelled to remedy this in any way." The Attorney General, while contending that the court has no authority or right to act in the premises on the ground that the legislature has determined the jurisdiction of this court; for if the legislature has the power to constitute a court whose judgments shall be final, and not subject to review in any way by this court, then this proceeding must be dismissed for want of jurisdiction.

"It seems to me, however, that that part of the act which makes the judgment of the Commission final and not appealable, is contrary to the Organic Act of this Territory, and must therefore be held to have been beyond the power of the legislature."

"By the terms of the Organic Act the judicial power of the Territory is vested in a Supreme Court, Circuit Courts, and such inferior courts as the legislature may from time to time create."

"There can be no question but that the power sought to be conferred upon the Commission is a judicial power."

"I am of opinion therefore that this statute cannot take away the power of this court in the civil and criminal cases, and in so far as it has attempted to do so, it is unconstitutional."

"The next question is as to whether or not the Commission has neglected or refused to act when by law it should have done so."

"I am convinced that the Commissioners and a plain duty to perform to give the insurance companies the amount paid them. The writ in this case asked for will be granted commanding the Commissioners to amend their award to petitioner so that the same shall be for the sum of $1,500."

In the other case the Commissioners are directed to amend their award so as to free it from subrogation.

Water Front Lights Will Make Trouble

Island captains do not take very kindly to the suggestion of having the Water Front lighted extensively at night. They are not adverse to the general proposition for they appreciate the necessity of affording some sort of warning to "Poor Drunken Jack" against falling into the harbor after dark, but they insist that some discretion should be used in the manner of lighting the harbor.

Practically all of the steamers from the other islands enter the harbor early in the morning and if the water front be illuminated with electric lights, it will make navigation for those vessels very dangerous. As the lights are placed at the present time, they are very confusing to masters and it is very difficult to pick up the red and green lights with the aid of which the masters bring their boats into the harbor.

It is suggested that if the additional lights are installed, the shades be placed on the sea side so as to prevent the reflection blinding the island captains. On more than one occasion, captains have found themselves considerably out of their position, owing to the confusion resulting from being partially blinded by glare from numerous electric lights along the front.

HOME RULER FAVORS HONEST MEN THIS TIME

MEETING OF HOME RULE CONVENTION DELAYED BY ABSENCE OF WILCOX AND OTHER LEADERS—CAYPLESS IN DOUBT.

The Home Rule convention for nominating legislative candidates for the Fourth and Fifth Districts, Island of Oahu, was slow in getting together this morning. Indeed for a time there seemed to be doubt whether there would be a convention at all. Wilcox and Kalaupokalani were apparently riveted to the session of the Senatorial Commission in progress at the same time and apparently paid no attention to the matter or form of the convention. Wilcox has not been absent from a single session of the Commission's sittings.

Jesse P. Makinai, vice-president of the executive committee however decided that there should be a convention at the time called. To such of the delegates as came to headquarters before 10 o'clock this morning, he announced that the convention would be held at Waverley Hall on Bethel street at 10 o'clock.

Makinai instructed the delegates before the convention met, that the candidates for senators from this island would be nominated first, at the general assembly of the delegates at Waverley Hall and that afterwards the delegates to the convention would divide up, those from the fourth district meeting in Waverley Hall to nominate candidates for Representatives from that district and the delegates from the Fifth District meeting at the party headquarters to nominate candidates from that district.

The delegates began to assemble at Waverley Hall soon after 10 o'clock and by half past ten nearly all of the 87 delegates composing the convention were in their seats. At 10:30 o'clock Kalaupokalani sent down word to vice-president Makinai that he was engaged before the Senatorial Commission and would be so engaged for half an hour and directing that the convention await his arrival. This was announced by Makinai to those assembled and was acquiesced in without question.

But after a while when Kalaupokalani still did not come, some of the delegates began to be impatient and there were proposals made to go ahead with the work of the convention without waiting for Kalaupokalani. Finally this impatience reached a point where Apua offered a resolution for a committee of three to wait on Kalaupokalani and ask him to send word at what time he would be able to come to the convention.

During the wait for Kalaupokalani the delegates discussed candidates among themselves, the electioneering getting to the point that Palau took the floor and made a speech in which he urged the delegates that when they selected their candidates for senators and representatives they should select the best men; men of character and education, men of force, who would do them some good and who would not take bribes; who would not fill their pockets at the expense of good service to the public.

There was objection to the resolution to send a committee to Kalaupokalani. Some said he was in attendance on the Commission to see that the people of Hawaii got the full benefit of the visit of the commission. Others insisted that the convention should at least know when he could come to reside; that a temporary chairman was needed to preserve order while they were discussing the resolution. Some one proposed Palau for such temporary chairman but there was objection all over the hall. The discussion kept on in vain. The vote of the proposition was 11-10. Umanua opposed it saying Kalaupok-

TALE OF STORM AND WRECKAGE

BARK ANDROMEDA ARRIVES IN HELPLESS CONDITION AFTER ENCOUNTER WITH A CYCLONE.

The Norwegian bark Andromeda, Captain Rotter, arrived in port yesterday afternoon in an almost helpless condition. Her main mast was gone and her fore and mizzen topmasts were also missing. She had been forced to put into this port in distress while en route from Iquiqui, Chile, to Eureka. The vessel left Iquiqui July 25 in ballast. On the night of August 29 when in Long. 125 west, Lat. 13 North, she encountered a cyclone which started from the north and gradually worked around to the westward and finally ended by blowing from the southward. As soon as it became evident that a storm was gathering, sail was shortened only the two lower topsails, the fore-sail and staysail being set. The main lower topsail was the first to be carried away and was soon followed by the other sails.

The vessel became practically unmanageable. Her ballast shifted to port, causing the boat to list to that side to a terrible degree. The sea seemed to increase in fury and finally Captain Rotter decided that the only hope of saving the vessel was to let the main mast go. The main rigging on the starboard side was cut and within a few minutes, the mast toppled over into the sea carrying the mizzen topmast along with it. The fore topmast was also released by cutting the stays.

With these heavy sticks gone, the damage of the boat capsizing was diminished. An effort had been made previously to this time, to shift the ballast which had listed to port, but without success. The gale finally abated in fury and when daylight arrived, came the task of clearing away the wreckage and getting the vessel righted in order to resume her voyage. Four of those aboard had been injured during the night. Captain Rotter's foot had been hurt by running a nail into the flesh. Second Mate Hanson had sustained a sprained ankle as had one of the other sailors, while the carpenter had a broken rib.

ROAD MACHINERY.

Road machinery consisting of a grader and a roller especially adapted for dirt roads was received by the Alameda and has been shipped to Kaula for the use of the road department. More of the same type for the other islands has been ordered. It is believed that with this machinery the cost of building and repairing dirt roads can be greatly decreased.

NEGRO TO BE SOLD.

A negro is to be sold into a year's servitude for vagrancy in Kentucky if a master can be found to bid for him. In default of a purchaser it is said that the officials will be somewhat puzzled what disposition to make of him. The place is Shelbyville, which has a pleasing Uncle Tom Haver in its name.

ABOUT OLD MAIDS.

Women insure against being old maids in Denmark. If they marry, before 40 what they have paid in goes to the less fortunate, and these last are pensioned for the rest of their lives on a scale proportionate on what they paid in.

Pulse Beats.

Put a finger on your pulse.
Do you feel the throbbing beats come strong and regular, or are they weak and uncertain? A weak pulse means a weak heart and retarded circulation of the blood. It means stomach trouble, indigestion, pain in left side, dizzy spells, shortness of breath, palpitation, fainting or sinking spells and breaking down of the entire system. If your heart is weak and your pulse irregular begin at once to guard against the coming breakdown by takingDOCTOR MILES'
Heart Cure,

The Great Heart and Blood Tonic.

"I had much pain about the heart, palpitation and irregular pulse, and for nearly three months had to be propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I had frequent sinking spells when it seemed as though my heart had stopped beating entirely and the most heroic measures were necessary to revive me. I had no appetite for food and lost flesh rapidly. Seeing that my doctors were doing me no good I took the advice of an old friend and began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. The good effects were so apparent that I kept on with it, and I am satisfied that I owe my restoration to that valuable remedy."

BEFORE SENATORSMEMORIAL FROM CHAMBER OF COMMERCE—1895 PRISONERS WANT REDRESS FOR ALLEGED FALSE IMPRISONMENT.At the afternoon session of the Senatorial Commission the memorial of the Chamber of Commerce was the first matter taken up. The paper was presented by Vice President C. M. Cooke, who was later questioned by Senator Burton. The inquisitor tried to get Mr. Cooke to acknowledge that the desire to keep the control of Territorial lands arose from political reasons rather than from a wish to do the best for the country. Mr. Cooke did not see it that way and thought a change would not be beneficial.Daniel H. Case, secretary of the Bar Association, presented a memorial from that body asking for a third judge.
Senator Burton and the witness indulged in a cross reminiscence of Kansas counties and the latter admitted finally that there might be a doubt as to the constitutionality of the act of the legislature appointing the third judge.Senator Burton asked if it was not a matter of common notoriety that the legislature has hung fire on the matter until a certain appointee was named and then had gone ahead and elected him. Mr. Case said that he had never heard of such a thing. W. O. Smith rose to defend the constitutionality of the legislative act, stating that Congress had acted with a copy of the Hawaiian statute in front of them and had neither enlarged or modified its terms. Senator Burton then left his chair and conferred with Judge Humphreys for a moment, the latter taking a copy of the Hawaiian enactment, studying it and then speaking with Senator Burton again. The senator then challenged W. O. Smith who in the course of examination stated that the matter had been discussed by many brilliant lawyers in a congressional committee."You are mistaken there, you must be mistaken," said Senator Burton.
"I was present at the committee meeting myself and heard the discussion," replied the witness.
"I have read the record," interpolated Judge Humphreys, "and there was not a word in it to that effect."
"You will have to show me the record," said Senator Burton to Mr.
Smith, "I cannot believe that statement."
"You can ask Attorney General Knox for one," said the witness.
"O yes, but I don't have to," concluded the Commissioner."Two judges can do all the work and half the time," interjected A. S.
Humphreys. "Then why haven't they done it," answered Mr. Smith taking his seat.
The rice planters were now given the floor. J. W. Girvin making the statement that the islands had 11,000 acres of rice land producing 55,000,000 pounds of rice, valued at $2,282,000 selling price.
Aho and Wong Loong came forward and gave details of rents, labor scale and general cost of production. A duty of two cents on uncleaned and two and a half cents on polished rice was asked for in the memorial and reiterated by the witness. The present low tariff and lack of labor were the chief grievances.Harry Juen brought forward a memorial in connection with the imprisonment of certain American citizens during 1895 and their damage claims now at Washington. The Commission advised the petitioners to consult an attorney as they were not prepared to open the political acts of that period before the Commission. John A. Cummings also presented a memorial which was admitted as a portion of his evidence. It was not read and the Commission apparently believed it to be relative to the queen's claim, but the paper describes the rebellion of '95 and states that the Hawaiians are Americans by arbitrary act which they were powerless to prevent.BREADFRUIT FOR LEPERS.
Commissioner Wray Taylor is expecting to shortly make a shipment of 600 breadfruit trees to Molokai as a supply for luxuries for the inhabitants of Kalaupapa and a possible resource against any shortage of palai in the future.

CASH AND EXPERIENCE.

There has never been any disposition to deal unfairly by the ex-Queen. Each platform, whether Republican or Home Rule or Democratic has had a plank in it with reference to a subsidy to that lady, and it has been voted. There was singular unanimity expressed yesterday, by men of very divergent views, upon the question of the United States giving the ex-Queen some definite compensation. In matters of detail there is a divergence of opinion, but the general principle is admitted.

Whether the compensation should take the form of a lump sum paid down, or whether it should be in the form of a pension is a matter which will be discussed in full committee and will be reported to Congress. Some of those who expressed their opinions before the Senatorial sub-committee think one way and some think another, but the settlement does not rest with them, but will be considered and weighed by Senators and Representatives in Washington. The only thing which will probably militate against the granting of the lump sum, will be the question as to how much of it will really go to the Queen and how much to the various lawyers who have represented her. Congress is chary of granting money for lawyers' fees. There has been so much experience in this line that possible contingent fees are carefully considered and guarded against by Congress. A pension would cut down the legal expectation materially.

A remark made by Senator Mitchell at the commencement of yesterday's proceedings will be of immense value and will have a wide-spread effect. In refusing to admit evidence with regard to the revolution of 1893, he said that "since no question as to the restoration of the queen to the throne could ever come up, the Commission had decided that it was not necessary to inquire into causes which led to the overthrow and of the part, if any, taken by the United States in the matter. All that evidence was a matter of record."

This is an authoritative statement from the Chairman of the Senatorial sub-committee, and should put a stop to the false statements which have been freely circulated by interested parties that the Queen would be restored. Delegate Wilcox has been credited with making these statements, which may or may not be true, but that the statements have been circulated cannot be contradicted. The Star has the evidence of a gentleman intimately connected with the Hawaiians, to whom they freely talk, and with whom they have actually argued the point. Such an idea led to unrest, and this authoritative statement should put a complete and final end to it.

President McKinley in a speech at Waterloo, Iowa, speaking of the Philippine Islands said: "We will not take down that flag, representing liberty to those Islands. * * we will not withdraw it, because the territory over which it floats is ours by every tenet of international law." What he said of the Philippines applied to these Islands. It was never the intention of McKinley to lower the flag upon these Islands. It has never been the intention of President Roosevelt.

How President Roosevelt has felt upon expansion and the absorption of overseas territory by the American flag is best shown by his own words, which ring out as follows: "Throughout a large part of our national career our history has been one of expansion. The expansion being of different kinds at different times. This expansion is not a matter of regret, but of pride. It is vain to tell people as masterful as ours that the spirit of enterprise is not safe. The true American has never feared to run risks when the prize to be won was of sufficient value."

With such words, and such a policy laid down by two Presidents, it was clear to any one how hopeless restoration was. But the idea of it has been kept stirred up. With Senator Mitchell's final word on the matter, the case may be regarded as closed for all time, or at all events for all historic time. None the less will the United States be willing and ready to do a graceful act to the ex-Queen, and will do it the more readily and gracefully in that the Queen has herself accepted the situation, whatever interested parties may not have accepted.

REDUCING FRICTION.

The Democrats and the fusion scheme have been turned down. The fifty dollars a week which the fusion-loving members of that party have been paying into the Home Rule treasury has gone where the wind blows twelfth. It is the old story of the Yankee and his partner. The Home Rulers have the money and the Democrats have the experience. But who would have thought that these astute politicians would have been so completely taken in, and would have been played alive as it were by Wilcox.

To swallow Wilcox, after denouncing him, as he had been publicly denounced was a bitter pill. This mere fact turned the main body of the true Democrats away from the fusion leaders, and they assuredly would not have voted for the Wilcox ticket. Indeed many Democrats had stated their intention of refraining from voting, and others had determined to vote with the Republicans. Still there was a section of the party which was willing to face it if it could, and was willing even to swallow Wilcox and its own words in order to be allowed a seat in the Senate and a few seats in the House of Representatives.

But all these hopes are dashed now,

"This is a private room," said the Senator, when the lawyer butted in uninvited and the follower of Themis had to ungracefully retire. Perhaps the scene occurred in Washington and perhaps it may have been in some other city, but the lawyer who got the snub will know, and so do all who were present.

An order for Hawaiian bananas from Fiji is some what of a novelty. Fiji has taken to exporting bananas on a large scale, and some of the product goes as far north as Victoria. Hawaiian bananas have a reputation on the Coast, and no doubt inquiries have been made for them from Victoria, hence the order from Fiji.

Judge Robinson does not find the lawyers as ready with their cases as they should be. There was a howl about a congested calendar, and now that there is a chance of the calendar being cleared off, the howlers do not appear to be on hand. Judge Robinson is honestly trying to expedite legal business. It will certainly not be his fault if the calendar is again congested.

Fifty times across the Pacific Ocean, and fifty years of sea service is a record of which any man might be proud, and Captain Carey deserves the greatest of credit for his record and his career. Captains of modern vessels have an enormous responsibility upon their shoulders, and only the very best men can fill such positions. In half a century Captain Carey must have seen some strange changes in shipping methods and he has had his share in the advancement.

Okolehau, according to Roy S. Chamberlain, Collector of Internal Revenue, is no longer made from the ti root, after the recipe of the old Australian boys who taught the Hawaiian the art of distilling liquor from that plant. The work is almost entirely carried on by Japanese and a few Portuguese who use honey, sweet potatoes, hops and a general fermented mess. Mr. Chamberlain ought to know the inner workings of the moonshiners, since it is his business to break up the nefarious trade. Nevertheless the Star opines that some okolehau stills can yet be found in the Kohala mountains and other inaccessible places.

The Republicans are allowing no grass to grow under their feet. Stephen Desha, Paris and John Baker are out on the stump and have met with marked success. On Monday night they were in Waipio valley and today they will join forces with Prince Kuhio. Those to whom the wish is father to the thought are trying to represent that the Republicans are not meeting with enthusiasm. But the accounts which come in from all sources show that the Republicans are met with the wildest of enthusiasm, their speeches are listened to with the greatest attention, and the voters are thoroughly with them. The Republican party on Hawaii is now strong and will make a record mark against Wilcox. It is not any longer how by a few votes Wilcox can be beaten, but it is how great a majority will be rolled up in each island against him. Moreover not only will Wilcox be defeated but his nominees will go along with him. It does not do to play the ally when one does not happen to be an ally.

not in favor of life tenure. The witness answered "No." Neither would he favor local election of judges. Other questions of law were brought up and cases cited by Attorney Hillman and L. A. Thurston on appellate conditions and decisions. George Davis said it was a great pleasure to have the chief justice under examination. Mr. Hillman stated he had not taken that view of it. Attorney General Dole and Judge Gear arrived at this point.

George Davis asked why he had never been called to the bench on a vacancy, asking if he had ever heard of any dishonorable act in his career, that he had been here eight years.
This caused much laughter and the commission sneezed the inquiry.
Judge Gear stated that both he and Judge Humphreys had never been called in, having been on the bench a year.
Justice Frear stated that Judge Gear had been absent a great part of the time, which was one reason, his being busy another reason, or being disqualified another. Judge Gear claimed that attorneys had been asked without circuit judges being asked. The chief justice did not think this had been the case without reason.

Delegate Wilcox brought up the case of N. W. Hilo, Mrs. Kaahannui Kawaiho and Kalaaukalanui, who had paid rent on land since 1892. This land had been taken from them to exchange property in advancement of an acquired monopoly of a Rapid Transit Company as against an old car service.
The land had been given to the Ka-pianui estate in exchange for road widening. The delegate asked that these exchanges, sent to Washington for approval should not be so approved, and wanted the Commission to act, the road widening being unnecessary.
He cited the case of the Hackfeld wharf and claimed that the next legislature would be subject to corruption in an endeavor to make good the promise of the governor for repayment of $100,000 by Hackfeld & Company for their wharf.

He presented a memorial and stated that the white people had long wished to burn down Chinatown and selected a windy day on purpose to get rid of a "sore eye." This he believed to be the truth. He thought the claimant should be paid as the poor people suffered, that the whites had squandered $800,000.

Senator Mitchell asked him point-blank as to his belief for the reason of burning Chinatown, whether it was an honest attempt to get rid of the plague.
The delegate said he was absent trying to get a franchise for the Hawaiians in Washington while one of their present Commissioners tried to disfranchise them. He thought the plague was made an excuse for burning the town.

He asked that 40 acres be made a homestead and that the land laws of the United States be extended locally.
He objected to the Governor's recommendation of a site for public buildings.

He read the portion of the President's message regarding homestead laws. The mass of the people wanted it but the sugar men wanted no Americans, only themselves, and coolies.
They wanted a rich man's country.
The government was giving away land without advertising, and referred to the old grand division of lands under the monarchy. That the planters had nearly all the government lands under long leases and that tales of long leases under the monarchy were all stories.
The big corporations fenced up their land and controlled it. He wanted homesteads of forty acres divided as soon as leases ran out and asked for an investigation by the home government. Coffee, growing on the higher altitude, could replace cane as an industry. He quoted Manager Renton's figures on acreage expense at Ewa Plantation at $294, and Dr. Stubb's quotations of $750 an acre production.

The witness cited other sugar reports showing various yields on dry and irrigated lands. Senator Foster was surprised to hear that ten tons of cane was ever produced here. The witness was not against the sugar industry. Figures on taro and rice industries were also brought forward to show the valuation of the lands and the small rentals, according to actual value, accruing to the natives.

"The government if left alone would release to the sugar people and were against farmers. This climate was and white men would work in the cane fields if they were paid. Chinese were better than Japanese who took labor from Hawaiians."

He brought up the leper question again. He asked the government to take charge of the government and admit lepers from the mainland, not the Philippine lepers however. Judge Humphreys prompting, the witness stated that lepers were fed on rotten salmon, rotten food given, rotten clothes, and that the local government sought to retain control in order to aid their favorite to unload rotten goods on the leper and handle the $300,000. That leprosy was spread by vaccination, that the natives were all scared by the government and by the Board of Health, appointed by political favoritism.

Senator Mitchell suggested that speeches be relegated to the delegate's campaign methods. The light house, harbor dredging and revenue cutter were touched on and dismissed briefly by the Commission as thoroughly looked into already.

The poor man, the witness concluded, "would have no benefit after leaves concluded. The government would auction these lands in large lots and they would revert to the sugar men."

Prompted by A. S. Humphreys, the witness stated that the government was exercising illegal right of "eminent domain" in respect to the Rapid Transit Company, and that the Hack-feld wharf matter let out without action.

W. O. Smith questioned the witness as to documentary evidence in a case of Dr. Raymond cited by him, and Judge Humphreys interrupted, but was asked to wait by the commission.

Dr. Wood reverted to Mr. Wilcox's statement of the Board of Health's choosing a windy day for the fire. Mr.
Wilcox said that a Chinaman had told him so.

F. M. Hatch next appeared. Attorney Croighan giving place. He thought there was a great necessity for three judges in the First Circuit. He stated that translations lengthened the time of hearings, that entire terms were taken up without civil cases being taken up. One day for a trial was not an average.

Senator Burton returned to the statements of Judge Humphreys and Gear.
Mr. Hatch differed in opinion looking at it from a practitioner's and not a judicial standpoint.

THE GEISHA GIRLS

WOMEN TRAINED TO ENTERTAIN PEOPLE.

All Are Given "Flower Names"—The Part They Take in Life in Japan—Custom Will Die Out.

"Geisha" the professional girl entertainer of Japan, is by no means to be confined with "Geinin." The word Geisha really means actor, "gei" meaning a play or entertainment of any sort; and "sha" means a person. For instance, Isha means physician and so on.
The word really means what "actor" does in English, but it has come to mean only those girls in Japan who are trained to entertain by dancing and singing to the shamisen and koto, the usual musical instruments for light entertainments; and they are also trained to converse agreeably on topics of the day. "Geinin" on the other hand, while it really means the same thing as Geisha, has now come to be applied to artists, in a higher sense.

The name thus given to a class of women, though it seems a perfectly respectable one, does, in fact, sound otherwise to the ears of a Japanese. It is not in their occupation, in a legitimate sense, that Geisha are undesirable. They have in a well-disciplined home, but in a certain unpleasant reputation that is naturally due to the circumstance of their calling.

The Geisha are trained to entertain men, and not their own sex. They are the professional entertainers of the cities of the empire and are well paid for their services. The women of Japan unlike those of western countries, have little part in social functions, and the enjoyments of the men are not shared by their wives and daughters. When a man or a party of men wish to arrange some social entertainment they expect the amusement of the occasion to be furnished by pretty and altogether charming Geisha. Generally these affairs are held in tea houses and it is customary to engage certain Geisha, who are generally known by what would be called in the western world their stage names. These are names of flowers, gems, seasons, or indeed anything of great beauty and attractiveness, and are generally known as "flower names." Such names are O Kiku San, which means the "Honorable Miss Chrysanthemum," or O Tama San, which is the "Honorable Miss Jewel," or O Haru San, the "Honorable Miss Spring." The "O," which means "honorable," is used only before words of one or two syllables.

"Miss Camellia," for instance, would be "Tsubaki San, merely."

These girls are possessed of wonderful charm and play havoc with the hearts of the young men of Tokio and the other cities. Many of them marry distinguished men, and the wives of some of the most prominent men in Japan today were Geisha. They are especially alluring to the young college men of Japan. Some of the universities have found it necessary to make very strict rules in regard to the students conversing with the Geisha and some forbid it entirely.

The Geisha make a very pretty show in the gay life of the cities, as they are trained to hear themselves well and be vivacious at all times, and they dress luxuriously and in exquisite style. They have the principal boxes at theaters and at all public places. But they have no social rank. They do not form, as is too often supposed by westerners a class of demi-mondaine, as that class is known in London, Paris and New York; but they are considered as entirely too free in their manner to be admitted into good society.

It is probable that the Geisha will disappear before the enfranchisement of women in Japan. Formerly the Japanese woman was not permitted to take part in social entertainment, and the function fell to the professional entertainer. Men found the Geisha far more amusing than the women of their own acquaintances in society, and this led to the creation of this peculiar class.
Now that education is accomplishing for women in Japan what it has accomplished for women in France, England and America, it is evident that the day of the Geisha is passing. It needs only an opportunity for development to show that the museum, the Japanese girl, can be as entertaining and as interesting as the most charming Geisha of Kyoto—which has attained the bad eminence of producing the most beautiful and entertaining Geisha in the Japanese empire.

lani would come as soon as he could out

A crowd of Home Rulers lingered in there being also a few democrats. It is a full Home Rule nomination list is looked for.

The convention is in session this af-

MEMORIAL OF THE CHAMBER

Statement presented to the Members of the Commission of the United States Senate by the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu, T. H. September 23rd, 1902.
Gentlemen:—It is with pleasure that the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu cordially endorses the statement presented to your Commission by the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, the Merchants' Association, the Bankers of this city and the Builders' and Trades' Exchange, so far as they relate to the Commercial interests of this Territory.

LABOR.
In connection with the suggestions made to your Commission as to the employment of Chinese labor on the Platations of Hawaii, under certain restrictions, we respectfully draw your attention to the fact that Governor Taft recognizes the importance of Chinese labor to the Philippines and the proprietors of the same. It is the Territorial Commission with power to regulate the entrance of Chinese labor. The Philippines have a large native population, in which respect they hold an advantage over Hawaii; so, if it is an assured fact, that to the Philippines the Chinese immigrant is a necessity, he is certainly doubly necessary to this Territory, entirely dependent, as its plantations are, on foreign labor.

The remedy proposed for the relief of the labor situation in the Philippines is the admission of Chinese, as plantation laborers only, under sufficient bonds and a proper system of identification which will guarantee the return of such labor to China after a certain specified time. This, Gentlemen, is what has been suggested to you by the Planters' Association of Hawaii, and we recommend its adoption in this Territory, feeling assured that all the business interests in this Territory will, thereby directly and indirectly be benefited.

HONOLULU HARBOR.
The proposition for light-houses, presented by Secretary Cooper, cannot be too highly commended, more especially the one on Makapuu Point and one on Molokai as these will mark this channel which is the great avenue of ocean travel. Regarding the improvement of the Harbors of this Territory, we beg to remind your Commission that the opening of the Isthmian Canal, connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, will render the port of Honolulu of vastly more importance to the Federal Government than it is today, and that it is now none too early to begin preparations for enlarging and deepening this harbor, in order that the vast amount of shipping which will make Honolulu a port of call may be accommodated just as soon as the canal is open. We anticipate that, with the opening of the Canal, the shipping at this port will be largely increased and that vessels of all nationalities will touch here on their way to and from the Orient.

HAWAIIAN SILVER.
In the judgment of this Chamber the recommendations of the Bankers as to the redemption of Hawaiian Silver cannot be put into effect at too early a date. We urge the prompt passage of Senate Bill 2219.

FIRE CLAIMS.
We unqualifiedly endorse the statements made by the Merchants' Associations of Honolulu regarding the Fire Claims. This indebtedness on the part of the Territory was incurred in an attempt to suppress the Bubonic Plague in the quickest and most effective manner, and the greatest care has been exercised in adjudicating the above claims, which could not be paid by this Territory except by largely increasing the Territorial taxes. The earning power of the people has been so seriously affected by the present conditions of trade consequent on the difficulties of the sugar industry, and considering also that the Organic Act has since prohibited the issuing of bonds of the Territory for such a purpose, that to now pay the Fire Claims would be an unportable burden.

COFFEE.
As your Commission has expressed a desire to be supplied with further information regarding the coffee trade and its possibilities we beg to furnish the following facts.

The exports of coffee from Hawaii to the United States in the last two fiscal years have been as follows:

Year ending	Pounds.	Value.
1901	2,119,542	$29,318
1902	1,082,994	114,340

These figures show a decrease in exports of one-half within a year, owing to low price of coffee on the Mainland and the difficulty of securing reasonable labor for our coffee plantations.
It is the bulk of the coffee (viz. 900,000,000 lbs.) used in the United States, and, in proportion to the benefit derived by Brazil from this trade, the return made by that country is very small, her total purchases in the States last year amounting to only about $10-000,000. The character of Hawaiian coffee is dissimilar to Brazilian. It is of a milder, but, to the connoisseur, more acceptable, it cannot be expected altogether to take the place of the stronger coffee, its fine character and the fact that it is grown on American soil should entitle its cultivation to that encouragement which a duty or a bounty would afford.

The extent to which the coffee industry on these islands can grow under such fostering care is difficult to arrive at, as no proper estimate can be made of the amount of capital obtainable for the establishment of coffee estates, nor the amount of labor which —even under a partial suspension of the Chinese Exclusion Act—for their cultivation, but it is certainly safe to say that the area under coes would be largely increased and as rapidly as the conditions admitted of, and as this industry is one in which the small farmer can engage, with its revival an increase of this most desirable class of agriculturalists may be expected.

We submit these facts to show that some aid is necessary in order to stimulate the production of coffee on Hawaii, either in the form of protection or of a bounty, as well as by a provision for a sufficient labor supply.

HAWAIIAN TRADE.
It has already been stated by the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association that the trade between the United States Mainland and this Territory is the largest done with any country of the size and population of Hawaii, a fact which is statistically beyond question, and an the prosperity of this Territory increases, so must of necessity its trade with the Mainland manufacturers and merchants. It follows, therefore, that apart from the benefits to be gained by our local population from the prosperity of our staple industries, the advantages derived by the Mainland from such prosperity are considerable and not to be overlooked.

No record exists of the imports from the Mainland since June 1900, but for the five months and fourteen days to June 14, 1900, the importations from the Mainland were valued at $8,609,820, being at the rate of about $18,785.00 per annum, and these figures convey some idea of what our trade with the Mainland can be brought to under favorable conditions.

The value of the exports from Hawaii for twelve months to June 30, 1902, was $24,754,922, all of which went to the Mainland, excepting $54,363 which was exported to foreign countries.
The exports have been, of course, mainly made up of sugar, but some rice, coffee, fresh fruit, honey, hides, wool, etc., etc., have also been exported.

It is proper to mention here that fresh and canned fruits come in made articles of export to a much larger extent than at present were our labor conditions more favorable. For example, the canning of pineapples, which has been carried on here to a limited extent, is sure to become a large industry, if he can have the necessary labor, for the Hawaiian pineapple is most highly esteemed for its size and flavor which have commanded for it a higher price in the Mainland markets than other canned pineapples.
Sisal is another infant industry which is commanding attention. The plant grows well and readily here, and, without a doubt, large quantities of the valuable fibre could be raised here with the necessary labor to do the decorating and preparing thereof.

SHIPPING.
A fact worth mentioning is that all of the exports from Hawaii to the United States are now carried by American vessels, and this can be said of no other country that trades with the Mainland.

For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902, the tonnage and number of vessels entering Hawaiian ports in the "Coastwise" trade—that is, the trade with the Mainland—was 917,089 tons, represented by 593 American vessels.

Foreign vessels entering the ports were 210, of a tonnage of 399,049. It will thus be seen that the total shipping entered at all the ports of the islands for the year was 803 vessels of 1,316,138 tons, which indicates, as well as anything else can, the extent and value of the trade of this little mid-Pacific group.

NEW BUILDINGS.
We ask your consideration of the great need of this Territory for Federal Buildings. There should be new postoffices in Honolulu and Hilo. In both places business has far outgrown the accommodations. The quarters now used by the Federal Courts in their various departments are totally inadequate. Persons held for offences against United States laws, or as witnesses, have to be placed in the already overcrowded Territorial prisons. No such place as a general house of detention exists. The business of the United States Courts is already large and must inevitably increase in the immediate future.

HEALTH MATTERS.
The necessity for establishing and maintaining at the port of Honolulu a most modern and effective disinfecting plant for use on steam and sailing vessels, and also of a thoroughly equipped quarantine stations, is no doubt, manifest to you.

As diseases, when epidemic, gradually extend to other countries along established lines of travel, this port should be prepared to care for any infected vessel which might arrive; taking therefrom and caring for any sick persons without endangering this community, and cleansing the vessel before allowing it to proceed on its course to mainland ports.

At the greater part of the vessels from the Orient now stop at this port on their way to San Francisco and other Coast ports this place becomes a "buffer," as it were, between the East and the West, and efficient quarantine work here becomes a matter of great importance to the Pacific Coast as well as to this community.

Officers of the Marine Hospital Service, we presume, have made this matter plain to you and indicated what the special needs of this department are.
It is a pleasure to state that the Marine Hospital Service and the Territorial Board of Health have worked together, thus far, in complete harmony in health matters.

LAND LAWS.
In the opinion of this Chamber it is deemed that any radical change of the land laws as now existing in this Territory would be subversive of its best interests.

MENTS.

surate with the amounts collected.

Respectfully submitted.

THE PROFESSOR COULD NOT READ

AND WAS REFUSED REGISTRA-TION—RESULT OF THE LAW.

Professor M. M. Scott, the principal of the High School, one of the best known of Hawaiian instructors, and the man who has taught probably more young minds to shoot than any other person living in Honolulu, was refused registration yesterday by the Board because he could not read. Out of justice to Mr. Scott and veneration for his reputation for learning, Lorrin Andrews promised to give the disgruntled educationalist another chance.

Desiring to exercise his divine right of franchise Professor Scott went into the registration office yesterday to be registered. Knowing Professor Scott's reputation for erudition, Mr.
Andrews did not require Professor Scott to undergo the test of demonstrating his ability to read and write.
Just behind Scott was a native man.
Something in the native's manner caused Andrews to insist on the test.
The native man was found to be unable to read so he was rejected.

"Here you, what for?" ejaculated the rejected voter. "You make me try to read, you no make that haole. Make him see if he read too."

So realizing the justice of the man's kick, Mr. Andrews called on Professor Scott to undergo the test.

"Can I read?" said Professor Scott.

"Why certainly, what do you wish me to read to you?"

He was handed the Organic Act and requested to read a portion of that law.
To the astonishment of the entire Board and the embarrassment of Scott, the professor could not read. He held the book up and through his face expressed learning and thought, and his eyes showed concentration and intelligence, his lips moved not.

"What's the matter, Mr. Scott?"

Gently inquired Mr. Andrews. "Have you lost your tongue?"

"No," answered the Professor, "but I have lost my glasses, which is just as bad. I guess I cannot read this fine print today."

And beaten by a lack of glasses and not a lack of knowledge, Professor Scott had to retire from the Board to hunt up his glasses, so he could return and get another chance to pass the legal test of registration.

CRUDE OIL FOR FUEL PURPOSES

OVER TWELVE HUNDRED INVEN-TIONS MADE—NOT SATISFAC-TORY FOR HOUSEHOLD USES.

The patent office is doing a very lively business in looking into inventions for burning oil for fuel purposes, both for the production of heat and power.
There have been granted up to date 1, 280 patents for using oil as fuel. For the use of gas and vapors 2,700 patents have been issued. The office is now receiving weekly applications for patents of these two classes to the average number of twenty-five, of which about fifteen are for crude oil burners for household purposes, locomotives, steamboats and manufacturing plants.

There are two main lines of invention to be utilized for these purposes which have been patented for many years.
One is for supplying the oil mixed with steam for combustion and the other is for turning it into vapor and burning it in that form. These two plans for utilizing oil for fuel are at the base of inventions that are recorded in the patent office and which are coming in there daily. When the problem has been worked out so that oil may be used conveniently for household purposes it will probably be done by improvements on existing devices.

Since the beginning of the coal strike there has been a very perceptible increase in the interest manifested by inventors toward this class of devices.

The main idea connected with the burning of oil for fuel purposes was worked out fifteen years ago, and an attempt was made to put them in practical operation. The oil supply was by many regarded as doubtful of continuance, and there was a good deal of uncertainty felt in regard to the price at which oil could be bought if the supply should continue. It was necessary that a feeling of confidence in the stability of the trade should exist before the expense of providing for burning oil should be entered upon. The New York Central railroad tried the experiment, but practical difficulties were encountered and they gave it up. Oil cost them about $1.25 a barrel and coal was not then as dear as it is today. Oil of Texas being produced in enormous quantities at 30 cents a barrel, and coal having been increased in price, the whole problem is placed on another basis, and inventors are working energically to devise some practical plan.

The inquiries of people other than inventors at the patent office is also an indication of the widespread interest that is being taken in the solution of the problem of using crude oil of Texas as fuel.—Washington Star.

PASSENGER INSURANCE.

The French government has adopted a system of passenger insurance on state railways. The purchase of a seat ticket confers the right to $2000 in case of death or permanent injury, from $500 to $1000 for minor injuries, and five francs a day while the injured person is unable to work as the result of an accident of any kind within the precincts of the railway. A passenger may buy any number of tickets up to 10.

BRITISH VIEWS ON AMERICAN TRADE

COMMENT ON THE REPORT OF COMMERCIAL AGENT—VIEWS OF ENGLISH NEWSPAPERS.

LONDON, September 10.—The publication of the report of Secretary Mour-Bell, commercial agent of Great Britain in the United States upon American trade, especially Mr. Bell's comment on the reduction in American exports, has resulted in a number of lengthy expressions of editorial opinion.

The Daily Telegraph makes a careful analysis of Mr. Mour-Bell's facts and deductions, and reaches the conclusion that the decrease in American exports is merely a warning to Britishers. "American attacks upon European and colonial markets have been weakened for the moment only," says the paper, "and will be resumed with immensely augmented force."

Mr. Bell's favorable comments on the action of the United States Steel Corporation is not raising the price of steel in spite of the demand for that article causes the Daily Telegraph to say: "This is a signal combination of nerves, daring and firm judgment which stamps the personality of the great American man of business. Mr. Morgan and Mr. Schwab entirely decline to fulfill the pessimistic predictions of our traditional economists. The managers of the $1,000,000,000 combine have chosen the better part with perfect forethought."

This moderation and tacit support of the economic benefits of the McKinley tariff, the Telegraph holds, makes it still more difficult for President Roosevelt to deal with the trusts.

Mr. Bell's statement that the railroads and shipping interests are combining so that when the supply exceeds the demand the surplus can be carried to Europe more economically than ever before, causes the Daily Telegraph to say:

"If forewarned was ever forearmed, British manufacturers have reason to lay Mr. Bell's warning seriously to heart and work while there is yet time at the task of completely modernizing our industrial apparatus, which alone can enable us to hold our own when the vast forces of American production are concentrated once more upon the competition in foreign trade."

"The Standard takes a similar line of argument.

Sir Joseph Lawrence, president of the machinery trust, is quoted as saying:
"There is no doubt that the United States and Germany have shot ahead of us enormously in the iron and steel industry, but it does not follow that England is going to the dogs. Most of our firms are sending representatives abroad to pick up ideas, and I do not think we shall go backward."

The Commission convened at 10 o'clock, Delegate Wilcox giving way to an urgent appeal of George Davis for five minutes' talk. Others in waiting were W. O. Smith, Kalaokalani and Kalaokalani opio, Curtis P. Iaukea, Emil Ney, W. L. Haywood, Isaac Noar, N. W. Holl and Mrs. Kaahana Kawaihohu, the two last named being connected with a land case, Judge Frear, L. A. Thurston, A. S. Humphreys, A. C. Gehr, Mr. Silliman, Samuel Parker, Judge Dickey.

George Davis stated that last June he went to Maui as Deputy Attorney General where Judge Kalua was presiding. The judge was unable to charge or administer the oath to the grand jury. At his request Davis attended to these matters and made up other charges. The local government was cognizant of the man's incompetence. Judge Kalua was first appointed by Governor Dole and his cabinet and later by President McKinley. Mr. Davis declined to make statements concerning Judge Kalua's habits, but cited him as "incompetent and corrupt."

When the appointments to the Supreme bench were made, two were appointed for whom there stood a record of ever having tried a case in any court. These were Chief Justice Frear and Associate Justice Perry, both first appointed by the Republic. Every judge appointed in those days was from Hartwell's office. He himself was the first departure and had W. O. Smith been in the country at the time, the witness did not think he would have been appointed. He qualified his charge against Justice Frear as a man of considerable general competence. Judge Perry was never engaged in litigation before his appointment.

Witness wished to see the Organic Act amended so as to limit the number of judges for this circuit to two. His opinion was first contrary to this, owing to the state of the docket. The court should be divided into civil and criminal classes so that both could sit at the same time. The salaries of the two district judges should be at least $4,000, owing to the range of their jurisdiction. He criticized various laws now in vogue. He cited that he had been fined and imprisoned during his law career. Fortunately he had a good friend, now dead, Senator Cushman Davis, whom he appealed with a resultant letter to the Attorney General and a promise of investigation. The witness had not pressed the matter further. He urged that the Senate should closely scrutinize all bench appointments.

Questioned as to the method of filling vacancies witness opined that S. B. Dole, Judge Hartwell and W. O. Smith had abetted the continuance of Judge Perry and wished to interfere with unanimous jury verdicts and also to make bench appointments for life. On temporary filling of vacancies, the calling in of a member of the bar should be repealed by a change in the Organic Act. A man for example charged with murder or a case involving thousands of dollars was liable to be judged by a man called in without an oath and frequently without a conscience.

Senator Mitchell requested the witness to refrain from argument. Davis asked for a change of administration as the present one had been in office too long for the peace of the territory. W. O. Smith, as amicus curiae, asked Mr. Davis whether he knew Judge Kalua was corrupt. Witness stated that he had been so informed, and was convinced. Mr. Smith asked if he had not last week agreed with the Bar Association's memorial and if the appointment of Judge De Bolt had not something to do with his change of mind. Mr. Davis said it had something to do with it, but not all. On re-

Colonel Cornwell says: "I predicted this move in the executive committee some days ago to Colonel McCarthy after I have received proof of the bad faith the Home Rulers were keeping with us in the matter of nominations on the other islands. I think the Democratic party will be a free lance after the meeting we are to hold this evening. We do not care to be thrown down twice, especially after the Home Rulers came to us for fusion in the first place. We did not seek them. I do not think any Democratic names will go before their convention today."

"Wilcox has shown himself incapable of controlling his own party and after Senator Blackburn sees the story of the fusion, I do not think the Home Rule party will have much support forthcoming from the Democratic party. I am not in favor of reconsideration. We will meet tonight to settle the matter. The issue is practically finished and fusion to all intents and purposes dead."

A number of native Republicans have expressed their opinion that with fusion broken all the native Democratic vote would go to the support of Prince Kuhio.

Section he thought that legislation could be amended and like some of his friends, he had changed his mind in the last two days. As the law exists today he thought three judges necessary.

Senator Mitchell stated that he had advised Judge Kalua of the charges against him and that the Commission would give him an opportunity to be heard. W. O. Smith stated that Judge Kalua could not be here until Friday, that he was an educated Hawaiian, graduating from the highest schools and had acted acceptably as circuit judge, few of his opinions being overruled. He admitted that the judge had personal habits which did not, he thought, effect his judicial record. Corruption charges had been only general and he thought in fairness some one should speak for him. Why had he not been impeached.

Senator Mitchell then read the specific charges signed by J. L. Coke, A. N. Kopekai and G. B. Robertson. Davis chuckled here and attempted to say something about "New friend Smith," but was stopped by Senator Mitchell. These charges included the Woods case and charged Judge Kalua with malfeasance and gross intoxication on the bench. W. O. Smith was asked as to his knowledge of these matters. Senator Foster here joined the Commission after George Davis' five minutes has lasted to forty-five. W. O. Smith asked if a copy of the charges had been sent to Judge Kalua. Senator Foster stated that the charges were only filed yesterday. Senator Burton stated that these charges should be filed with the Department of Justice and that the Commission was not the body to specifically take up the matter. He appreciated Mr. Smith's appearance in Kalua's behalf.

George Davis tilted on the question of a lawyer filling a vacancy on the bench. Senator Mitchell stated that, should the Commission not hear from Judge Kalua a copy of the charges would be sent to him. George Davis commenced to get rather warm and pointed his remarks too forcibly for the satisfaction of the Commission which intervened.

Chief Justice Frear made a statement concerning the appointment of members of the bar to fill vacancies on the bench. He thought the system had many objectionable phases, but wondered if there was any better alternative. "Conditions were more normal now than they had been in times past when the chief justice had been ill for a year and he himself absent on official business on the Hawaiian Commission under appointment from President McKinley. The witness then went into the history of the entrance of the provision in question into the constitution. This was in 1892 and was amended in 1896 to admit substitutes being called when two members of the bench were disqualified. This was seldom used. Asked whether he thought the phrase-

The Treasurer Leaves Town

WM. H. WRIGHT MISSING

Supposed To Have Departed on the Alameda, Without Purchasing a Ticket—His Action a Surprise.

Treasurer W. H. Wright is missing.

Search is being made for him on behalf of the Governmental departments, but it is almost certain he left today by the Alameda. In fact if evidence which would usually be accepted without question is believed, it is certain he left on the Alameda. He was not booked. He had no ticket. He did not go up the gang plank, but through the port. He is gone.

He has not been at his office today.

Secretary Cooper was informed of the matter before 2 o'clock. He immediately consulted with the Attorney General who at that time knew nothing about it. Governor Dole was informed and search for Wright in the possibility that he may not have gone on the steamer was at once instituted.

The government officials while reticent in speaking of the matter, clearly were convinced the Treasurer had gone.

The report spread. As early as 1 o'clock definite statements that he had gone were made by men who would not make them without good ground. It produced a sensation at the Capitol.

At his residence on Emma street at two-thirty this afternoon, Mrs. Wright stated that Mr. Wright left home at the usual hour this morning, not saying anything that would give her the impression that he was going elsewhere than down to the office. He had not come home to lunch as usual, but she was expecting him momentarily. Mrs. Wright came quickly to the door as the hack drove up and exhibited some slight signs of agitation.

Wright is supposed to have boarded the Alameda about 11:30 a. m. about an hour and a half before she sailed for San Francisco. Ordinarily his presence at the Oceanic wharf would have occasioned little comment as today was sailing day and the hurry and rush of dispatching the vessel, does not give people much of an opportunity of observing visitors to the wharf. The circumstances of Wright's first gaining entrance to the wharf and then boarding the vessel were such however, as to attract the attention of several people who happened to be on the Oceanic wharf at the time. Wright's manner was very odd too and his actions served to arouse the suspicions of those who saw him go aboard the boat.

Wright first tried to go from the Inter-island wharf onto the Oceanic wharf. There was a watchman stationed at the gate which separates the two wharves. Evidently this watchman refused to allow Wright to pass, for Wright was seen to stop trying to pass the gate onto the Oceanic wharf, and is reported to have asked for Captain Clarke the Oceanic wharf superintendent. Captain Clarke is reported to have come up and given the order which permitted Wright to pass. Wright then went toward the Alameda.

Instead of going to the regular passenger gangway which was midships, Wright was seen to walk up the freight gangway leading into the after port hold of the vessel where the heavy freight and refrigerator stuff is loaded. No body stopped him from going aboard the vessel and he was watched until he got on the steamer and disappeared.

There could be no doubt but the man was Wright. The persons who watched him are well acquainted with the treasurer and knowing Wright and the position which he occupied, the watchers became suspicious at once. It was thought odd that Wright should go aboard the vessel in such an underhanded fashion. No one but stevedores and persons connected with the vessel ordinarily use the freight gang way, and it was naturally thought strange that Wright should have chosen that means of boarding the vessel instead of using the passenger gangway. In addition to this circumstance, Wright carried his hat over the right side of his head, to a noticeable extent. This was not his usual habit and it struck those who noticed the act as being exactly what a person who was trying to avoid recognition would do.

No meeting of the Executive Council, was held today. The governor was at his office for a short time. Treasurer Wright was not at his office during the day.

The entire circumstances of the incident struck the watcher as so very odd that he became suspicious at once and surmised that perhaps Wright might have boarded the vessel for the purpose of getting surreptitiously away from Honolulu. In order to make sure that his suspicion was correct, a native was placed on watch on the Oceanic wharf to see if Wright returned to the wharf. This watchman remained within ten yards of the vessel until the boat departed and he reported that Wright did not, so far as he could see, leave the steamship.

So far as can be learned Wright wore an ordinary gray sack suit of clothes, when he boarded the vessel. He carried no luggage or parcels.

Additional color was given the suspicion that Wright was trying to stow-away by the appearance of several members of the police department aboard the vessel about half an hour before she left the wharf. Evidently the officers were not aware of Wright's disappearance or had been apprised of his possible departure for they did not take him off the vessel. Captain Flint went out with the vessel and returned in the pilot boat but he returned alone with no Wright with him. The officer said that he knew nothing about the disappearance of Wright and had merely gone out to make the trip as usual as there were some people aboard whom he desired to see.

Captain Clarke denied the report that he had passed Wright aboard the steam ship or that Wright had applied to him to be passed. Captain Clarke however stated that he had seen Wright on the wharf this morning previous to the departure of the Alameda and had bade the time of day to him. No other conversation was held however between them. Captain Clarke says that he does not recall the exact time when he saw Wright on the wharf. It was in the morning some time before the departure of the vessel, but he did not think it of sufficient consequence to take out his watch to note the exact time of the meeting.

Island captains do not take very kindly to the suggestion of having the Water Front lighted extensively at night. They are not adverse to the general proposition for they appreciate the necessity of affording some sort of warning to "Poor Drunken Jack" against falling into the harbor after dark, but they insist that some discretion should be used in the manner of lighting the harbor.

Practically all of the steamers from the other islands enter the harbor early in the morning and if the water front be illuminated with electric lights, it will make navigation for those vessels very dangerous. As the lights are placed at the present time, they are very confusing to masters and often it is very difficult to pick up the red and green lights with the aid of which the masters bring their boats into the harbor.

It is suggested that if the additional lights are installed, the shades be placed on the sea side store to prevent the reflection blinding the island captains. On more than one occasion, captains have found themselves considerably out of their position, owing to the confusion resulting from being partially blinded by glare from numerous electric lights along the front.

KUHIO ON HAWAII.

Secretary Atkinson received the following message from Kohala last night:

"Governor Baker, Paris and Desha stamping Hawaii; all now with Prince in Hanalei; Waipio last night; heart to heart talks with Home Rulers done lots of good; crowds assembled along the route to Laupahoehoe; everything satisfactory."

PULLED HIS QUEUE.

J. Doniz was tried this morning by Judge Wilcox on a charge of assault and battery on Kong Chin. It appears that the windows of the Chinaman's store were broken and the Chinese accused Doniz of doing the damage. Doniz had nothing whatever to do with the thing. The Chinese began to swear at Doniz and a row ensued in which the Chinese was knocked down and his queue pulled. The defendant was discharged.

CAPT. GIBBONS ALL RIGHT.

Advices received from Captain Charles Gibbons the commander of the British barque Fannie Kerr which was abandoned at sea last May, state that the insurance due him on his effects destroyed aboard that vessel had been paid. He had reached London and was to go to San Francisco where he would probably be given command of another vessel.

The Home Rule convention to nominate legislative candidates for the Fourth and Fifth Districts, Island of Oahu, was slow in getting together this morning. Indeed for a time there seemed to be doubt whether there would be a convention at all. Wilcox and Kalaokalani were apparently riveted to the session of the Senatorial Commission in progress at the same time and apparently paid no attention to the matter or form of the convention. Wilcox has not been absent from a single session of the Commission's sittings.

Jesse P. Makainai, vice-president of the executive committee however decided that there should be a convention at the time called. To such of the delegates as came to headquarters before 10 o'clock this morning, he announced that the convention would be held at Waverley Hall on Bethel street at 10 o'clock.

Makainai instructed the delegates before the convention met, that the candidates for senators from this island would be nominated first, at the general assembly of the delegates at Waverley hall and that afterwards the delegates to the convention would divide up, those from the fourth district meeting in Waverley Hall to nominate candidates for Representatives from that district and the delegates from the Fifth District meeting at the party headquarters to nominate candidates from that district.

The delegates began to assemble at Waverley Hall soon after 10 o'clock and by half past ten nearly all of the 87 delegates composing the convention were in their seats. At 10:30 o'clock Kalaokalani sent down word to vice-president Makainai that he was engaged before the Senatorial Commission and would be so engaged for half an hour and directing that the convention await his arrival. This was announced by Makainai to those assembled and was acquiesced in without question.

But after a while when Kalaokalani still did not come, some of the delegates began to be impatient and there were proposals made to go ahead with the work of the convention without waiting for Kalaokalani. Finally this impatience reached a point where Anna offered a resolution for a committee of three to wait on Kalaokalani and ask him to send word at what time he would be able to come to the convention.
