ANNEXATION CLUB.

Large Organization Meeting at the Drill Shed Last Night.

The call for a meeting to organize an Annexation Club was responded to last night by a crowd that filled the large drill shed. It is estimated that 700 or 800 people were present.
Mr. Theo. F. Lansing, member of the Advisory Council, was chairman, opening the meeting with appropriate remarks.
Mr. F. M. Hatch and Mr. J. W. Jones were elected as temporary President and Secretary, respectively. They were later elected to serve permanently, as well as the following:
Vice-Presidents—W. C. Wilder, Dr. J. S. McGrew, A. S. Hartwell, Prof. Scott, R. W. Wilcox, J. A. Kennedy.
Treasurer—Mr. T. F. Lansing.
Executive Committee—Messrs. F. B. McStocker, C. T. Wilder, L. C. Ables, Geo. McLeod, W. H. Hoogs, T. Murray and Geo. C. Stratemyer.
Enrollment Committee—Messrs. J. S. Martin, W. B. Oleson, G. W. Smith, Chas. Hall and A. W. Keech.
Messrs. J. H. Fisher, W. C. Wilder, Jr., and E. O. White were the committee on organization who presented the list of officers.
Messrs. J. A. Magoon, Arch. Sinclair and William P. Tilden, as a committee for the purpose, submitted a constitution and bylaws, which were adopted. It provides for the organization of similar clubs throughout the country.
Speeches were delivered by Prof. M. M. Scott, General Hartwell, Messrs. R. W. Wilcox, W. C. Wilder, W. B. Oleson, H. N. Castle, Dr. J. S. McGrew, A. Young, Chas. Notley, F. M. Hatch, John Emmelhut, Hugh Gunn, and J. K. Iosepa. The speeches were received with great enthusiasm. A letter was read from Mr. J. M. Vivas, assuring the meeting that the whole Portuguese colony was for annexation.
The roll of supporters of annexation was announced to contain 1019 names.
Their Full Force.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—
It is always well to know the strength of the enemy. The meeting in favor of annexation carries with it a clear lesson. The last census gives for this town a total male population of 9722 (not including Chinese and Japanese nor Polyneians). Out of these 4494 are natives, 1257 half-breed, 1250 foreigners born here and 2721 foreigners. The meeting proclaimed the enrollment of 1019 names only in favor of annexation. This may be taken as about the full force of the annexationists, that is to say less than one-half of the foreigners and only a little more than one-tenth of the whole male population, and don't you forget the figures! Moreover, out of this full force, how many would vote differently on a secret ballot, when not afraid of losing their bread and butter by manifesting their opinion. STATISTICIAN.

S. S. Australia.

The steamer Australia, H. C. Houdlette, commander, sailed from San Francisco March 15, 1893, at 2 p. m., with 49 cabin and 43 steerage passengers, and 38 sacks mail. Encountered remarkably fine weather throughout the voyage. Arrived at Honolulu March 22d at 9 a. m.

LATE FOREIGN NEWS.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 15.

[Per S. S. Australia.]

THE HAWAIIAN QUESTION.

A COMMISSION OF INVESTIGATION.
President Cleveland's administration is sending a commission to the Hawaiian Islands, to investigate the whole question of annexation. Ex-Congressman Blount of Georgia, who was chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs in last Congress, is to be the head of the commission. It is believed that Admiral Brown and either General Schofield or Captain Howison of the navy will be Blount's colleagues.
Mrs. Blount will accompany her husband.

The Chronicle of yesterday says there is little doubt that the revenue cutter Richard Rush, then being hurriedly prepared for sea, is to take the commission to Honolulu.

To-day's Daily Report has a report, however, that arrangements have been made to have the Pacific Mail S. S. Rio de Janeiro, leaving for China on the 23d, call at Honolulu. In this way the commission could reach the islands a week earlier than by the next steamer for Australia.

The proposition to send a United States commission to the islands and take a vote of the people is looked upon with favor by Mr. Davies. He is reported as saying: "Of 14,000 votes on the islands, 10,000 are averse to annexation, and I don't see, under the circumstances, how the United States can take such a step."

Dr. Smith, Hawaiian Minister, does not favor the commission. He thinks the information furnished by Minister Stevens should be as valuable to this administration as to the last. A native government, he said, was simply impossible henceforth in the face of all that had occurred. He could not see what Kaulani, "the poor child," wanted. She could not assume the throne, for her aunt had not yet abdicated.

MINISTER STEVENS DENOUNCED.
Under the heading, "A Case for Recall," the New York World has the following article:

"Minister Stevens is running the affairs of Hawaii with a high hand. An editor has been arrested under his protectorate for criticizing the provisional Government, which is sustained by an armed force of American marines."

"It would be well for our State Department to put a bit in the mouth of this champing and foaming charger as soon as possible. The latest despatches report him as asserting that the sentiment in this country is 'practically unanimous in favor of annexation,' and that the change in Administration will not check the movement."

"Meanwhile it will be well for the Administration to consider upon what principle of international law Mr. Stevens acted when he declared 'a protectorate' over the islands and had the United States flag hoisted over the public buildings of their capital city. There is not a sentence in any writer on international law, from Grotius to the present day, that justifies such conduct; and whatever may have been the ambition of Mr. Harrison and Minister Stevens to establish a new code, it is not likely that Mr. Cleveland will undertake to complete their self-appointed task."

"The principle of justice is universal, and the humblest nation is entitled to the protection it should afford, as well as the greatest. This business of bullying small and weak powers should find no toleration among a brave and powerful people. To sustain Mr. Stevens and ratify the present treaty would be to sanction filibustering and conspiracy by American Ministers."

THE TREATY WITHDRAWN.
President Cleveland on the 9th sent to the Senate a message withdrawing the Hawaiian treaty which has been pending before the Senate.

The message was short, simply requesting the Senate to transmit to the Executive the proposed treaty with Hawaii. The message was received without comment on the floor of the Senate.

It had been expected that Cleveland would take some steps in the matter before long, but it was not expected that he would so quickly undo the work of his predecessor.

The Republican Senators regard this action as in line with the course pursued by Cleveland in withdrawing the Nicaraguan treaty sent to the Senate by Arthur in the closing days of his Administration. The Democratic Senators look upon the Act from a twofold point of view, some taking the ground that it shows Cleveland is against annexation or American domination of any sort in the Hawaiian Islands, while others held that he will send in another treaty more to his liking.

It was given out several days ago that the new Administration would not act in the Hawaiian matter until more was known as to the situation, but it was supposed that matters would be left as they were until that the Senate would, in the meantime, postpone action on the treaty.

The withdrawal of the treaty takes the matter out of the hands of the Senate.

The Commissioners of the Provisional Government are greatly dejected over the condition of things. When they reached Washington they were led to believe that their proposal of annexation would be quickly accepted. Now they are forced to confess that the action of the United States, even if it be annexation, will be delayed far beyond the time that they had calculated on.

KAULANI ARRIVES AT THE CAPITAL.
Princess Kaulani and party arrived at Washington on the 8th. They repaired to apartments prepared for them at the Arlington Hotel. Mr. Davies did not know how long they would stay. Their want of official standing was a difficulty.

Friends of annexation feared Cleveland would take a wild whim in his head and do something bold and aggressive that will be calculated to knock annexation into a cocked hat. It need surprise no one, a despatch says, if Kaulani's girlish plea will enlist his sympathy and he orders that the Queen be reinstated on the throne.

President and Mrs. Cleveland accorded a special reception to Princess Kaulani on the 13th. Mr. and Mrs. Theo. H. Davies, their daughter and a lady friend accompanied the Princess. The call was entirely of a social nature and lasted probably a quarter of an hour. The visitors were charmed with the cordiality of their reception. Princess Kaulani subsequently said Mrs. Cleveland was the only woman she ever fell in love with.

Messrs. Davies and Neumann called on Secretary Gresham later in the day.

ALLEGED CONCESSION BY NEUMANN.
Paul Neumann is reported as saying he believed the treaty would be annulled by the Senate and ratified.

"How," he was asked, "will the sugar bounty be eliminated?"
"Why, the sugar bounty is not included," answered Mr. Neumann. "On behalf of the Queen I shall make no opposition to the treaty in case she is permitted to retain the crown lands, which I claim are her property."

UNITED STATES.

The Maryland Court of Appeals has decided that the single-tax system is unconstitutional, inasmuch as it conflicts with the bill of rights, which provides that all classes of property are subject to taxation.

A. P. Sturtevant, a wealthy cotton manufacturer, died at Norwich, Conn., on the 14th.

Cleveland and Cabinet have decided it would be unwise to call the new Congress immediately.

THAT PARTY OF CONGRESSMEN TO VISIT HAWAII.

Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms Felix McCloskey of the national House of Representatives is in New York to complete traffic arrangements for a party which proposes to visit Hawaii in May. In this party, Mr. McCloskey said, would be seven United States Senators and seven Congressmen, who have the trip in view simply for sightseeing and pleasure.

CAPITAL OF CALIFORNIA CHANGED.

A resolution in favor of changing the State capital from Sacramento to San Jose was rushed through both houses of the California Legislature. This action was taken in retaliation for an article in the Sacramento Bee, which questioned the value of the work done at the session just closing, as well as commented on the frisky lives led by some of the members while in the city.

GREAT FIRE IN BOSTON.

One of the most destructive fires in the history of Boston broke out at 4 p. m., March 10. Before it was got under control, three hours later, it had burned over a quarter of a square, reducing to ashes several magnificent new buildings recently completed on the territory burned over less than three and a half years ago. The flames started at the corner of Essex and Lincoln streets. At least three lives were lost in the fire, and twenty to thirty injured, many of them being firemen. The loss is placed at $4,500,000.

EUROPE.

Sandgate, England, was wrecked by an earthquake the night of the 4th. The site of the town sank several feet. Two hundred houses were destroyed. No lives were lost.

"Mr. Paine's Railroad."

A BULLETIN representative saw the manager of the Tramway Co. in reference to an alleged dismissal of an employee mentioned in this morning's Advertiser. Mr. Paine did not intend to notice the tattle of dismissed men "padded" and dished up to suit those predisposed to annexation bait; but a visit to Mr. Paine and investigation by an Advertiser man might satisfy his curiosity as to where and how and when the "annexation" part of the business crept in.

A concert will be given Saturday evening next, 25th inst., at Kawaiahao church, in aid of Kawaiahao Female Seminary, at which besides local talent the Kamehameha Glee Club and Kawaiahao Seminary pupils will take part.

"The people of this vicinity insist on having Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and do not want any other," says John V. Bishop, of Portland Mills, Indiana. That is right. They know it to be superior to any other for colds and as a preventive and cure for croup, and why should they not insist upon having it. 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers. "August Flower"

The Hon. J. W. Fennimore is the Sheriff of Kent Co., Del., and lives at Dover, the County Seat and Capital of the State. The sheriff is a gentleman fifty-nine years of age, and this is what he says: "I have used your August Flower for several years in my family and for my own use, and found it does me more good than any other remedy. I have been troubled with what I call Sick Headache. A pain comes in the back part of my head first, and then soon a general headache until I become sick and vomit. At times, too, I have a fullness after eating, a pressure after eating at the pit of the stomach, and sourness, when food seemed to rise up in my throat and mouth. When I feel this coming on if I take a little August Flower it relieves me, and is the best remedy I have ever taken for it. For this reason I take it and recommend it to others as a great remedy for Dyspepsia, &c."

SCRIVEN'S

Patent Elastic Seam Drawers!

We want to call the attention of our patrons to a novelty which, from the favor it has been received with, we believe has come to stay and become an indispensable article of gent's furnishing. A glance at the cut above will show at once the superiority of goods made in this manner over those heretofore in vogue.

SCRIVEN'S PATENT ELASTIC SEAM DRAWERS are provided with an improvement consisting of an ELASTIC INSERTION at the inner and outer seams, which gives elasticity in movement and comfort in fit. The drawers are cut in figure outlines and afford the wearer all the advantages of knit goods, while retaining the superior comfort of woven fabric.

THE PATENT ELASTIC SEAM, which contains NO RUBBER, retains its springiness and wears longer than the other portion of the garment. It makes the drawers conform to the position of the wearer and avoids any strain, no matter what attitude the body assumes.

It will also be found that these PATENT ELASTIC SEAM DRAWERS are equally well adapted to all athletic positions and allow the greatest freedom and ease of motion. In the position assumed in the cut, not the least tension is produced on the main portion of the goods, while the elastic seams allow the transformation of the figure as seen in the position, which would be impossible in others without producing great strain on the goods and friction upon the person.

We have now a complete stock of these goods in all sizes, and can recommend those made of the material known as "JEAN" to be the coolest and best adapted for those persons who do not care to wear woolen fabrics.

They say that there is "nothing new under the sun," but the fellow who said that was all wrong. He forgot "Gent's Furnishings," they're always making something new in that line.

The latest yet, we have just received samples of, from the manufacturers. It consists of Gauze, Balbriggan, or Silk Under Garments with WOOL skillfully woven into the breast and back to protect the most vital parts of the body from cold or chill. To the many people who cannot wear all wool goods on account of the irritation sometimes felt, these goods will be a great boon, as, while they will have the advantage of wearing cotton fabric, the lungs and back will have a nice warm covering of wool. From the many sentiments of approval we have heard regarding these goods we believe them to be a good thing for our climate, and have placed our orders for a full stock, which will be on sale in about two months.

To any person desiring to see the samples which we have we will be pleased to show them.

Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism; but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert, of New Brunswick, Ill.: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am all right to-day; and would insist on every one who is afflicted with that terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers. Three volleys were fired by detachment of the guard under Captain Ziegler. Representatives of the two English dailies and of other papers attended the funeral.

MARSHAL ASHLEY RESIGNS.

Sheriff E. G. Hitchcock of Hawaii Patiently Waiting for His Shoes.

The Advertiser yesterday heralded the probable appointment of E. G. Hitchcock, Sheriff of Hawaii, as Marshal of the Hawaiian Islands, in place of W. G. Ashley. That paper stated that Marshal Ashley had not given satisfaction, which was only true as regarded the hungry squad and the clique who want to rule or ruin inside their own faction as much as in larger affairs. The Attorney-General told a BULLETIN reporter yesterday that Mr. Hitchcock could have the office if he would accept it.

Marshal Ashley has concluded, evidently, that the preservation of peace and the prevention of crime is enough care on one man, without having to carry on a contest day after day against meddlers and mudslingers. His resignation is ready for the Attorney-General. Marshal Ashley, in answer to a BULLETIN reporter, said he took the office only as a temporary matter, and against the wishes of the Oahu Railway and Land Co.'s directors. In the absence of Mr. Dillingham his services are needed by the corporation. He is satisfied that the experience and capacity of Mr. Hitchcock well qualify that gentleman for the position.

MORE SHOOTING.

An Enraged Brother Arrives by the Steamer Australia.

He Takes a Shot at His Sister's Abductor—

Both Men Hiding from the Police.

A little before 12 o'clock noon to-day a pistol shot was heard at a house on the Ewa side of Alakea street, near King street. Two men and a woman immediately afterward rushed out on the street. The men disappeared, while the woman took refuge in Johnson's shirt store on King street. She was arrested as a witness and taken to the Deputy Marshal's office in the Station.

Police captains H. Juen and Schlemmer went to the house to look for the men and investigate the matter generally. A BULLETIN reporter accompanied the officers. The house is the next to the corner of King street, in rear of Johnson's store. It is a small cottage of rooms to let occupied by Mrs. Munro. The first thing noticed by the officers was a bullet hole through the glass door of a front bedroom on the King street side. Turning round they discovered the indentation made by a bullet on the base of the lattice screen on the veranda close to the entrance. Another glance at the bullet lying on a small hat stand underneath where the shot struck. A man's hat was lying on the stand, which was recognized by the officers as that of Connors, a man whom the police have had under their eyes for some weeks.

The officers rapped for admission at the doors on all sides of the cottage without receiving any response. They peered under the house without seeing anything living. As they came back to the front from the rear they met Mrs. Munro standing on the veranda with her hat on, having just returned from a call on a neighbor. The good woman was shocked when shown the bullet marks, and said she had heard of trouble and hastened home.

Mrs. Munro said that the couple occupying the room where the shooting took place had come to her house the first of the month. They had been doing their own cooking. The woman habitually referred to the man as her "dear husband." The landlady said she had different times tried to obtain some personal account of them from the woman, but the man always compelled his partner to keep quiet on that subject. Their rent had all been paid except $2.50 now due.

The man known as Connors arrived here from the Australia on her last previous trip. Next day he applied for work at the Aloha Gallery, giving the name of Joseph Connors. He was given room in the gallery to establish a tintype department. Connors introduced a young woman as his wife, whom he called "Lily." The couple appeared to be very happy, joking and saying sweet things to each other, regardless of the presence of other people.

After a while gossip began to throw suspicion on the relations of the couple toward each other. It was whispered around that they were elopers. Connors, as he called himself, when the matter was broached to him, airily replied, "Let them talk; they'll find out what I am soon enough." The couple's finances falling low, the man began taking names to start a dancing school.

By the Australia this morning there arrived Thomas Finnigan, a painter by trade, who worked his way down on the steamer. He was not ashore long until it was rumored that he brought trouble with him for the tintype man, whose real name is Joseph R. O'Connor. It became known that Finnigan was a brother of the woman living with O'Connor, and that somebody was likely to get hurt when they met. San Francisco papers received by the same steamer contain the first chapter of the sensation. O'Connor's real wife, "a sassy little woman," had haunted the officers of the Australia for information about the tintype man. They had no difficulty in identifying the photograph she showed them as that of the man who had traveled with them to Honolulu. O'Connor had been keeping company with Kittie Finnigan since he became acquainted with her in the holidays. He posed before her parents as a single man.

Mr. A. W. Bolster of the Aloha Gallery went to his place this forenoon to warn O'Connor out of the job, as he didn't want any trouble about his gallery. O'Connor wasn't there, however. Finnigan met his sister walking up King street toward her rooms about 11 o'clock. She was in company with Taylor, whose record has been given in this paper lately, as a man who had been here on an eloping tour some years ago, and returned lately as a stow-away on the Australia.

Finnigan burst out crying as he faced his sister. When he had recovered some self-control, he ejaculated, "Kate!" The girl wept and trembled, only saying, "I am very then kissed each other, after which the brother and sister, accompanied by Taylor, walked toward O'Connor's lodging. Mr. Bolster had come up to the party at the evening interview, and the girl evidently fearing trouble asked him to go along with them. This Bolster declined doing, not caring to be mixed up in the broil.

Miss Finnigan was accompanied to the station by Johnson, "the shirt man," who cautioned her not to say anything. Johnson also called out Mr. V. V. Ashford in passing his office, and the gentleman went to the station as counsel for the girl. There being nobody else from whom to gain the facts of the shooting, Kittie's silence left the matter in a hazy aspect. It is probable, however, that Finnigan was with his sister in the bedroom, and opened fire on O'Connor whenever he appeared. The direction of the bullet shows the pistol was fired by a tall man standing up with his back to the bed. Whether O'Connor was inside or outside at the moment cannot be said. If he was inside the range was but a yard, and the aim never intended to be deadly. If he was outside it looks like popping at the man on sight without warning.

Up to our going to press neither Finnigan nor O'Connor had been found by the police. Finnigan is said to have been seen by several people, looking oblivious to the fact that he is wanted.

Obituary.

Word has been received of the death of Mr. R. B. Rickard, which occurred at his home, Honolulu, Hawaii, on the 16th inst. The late Mr. Rickard has resided in the islands since 1868. He was in the 75th year of his age, and was a native of Cornwall, England. He leaves a widow, three sons, two daughters and a great circle of grandchildren to mourn his loss. One of his sons is Mr. W. H. Rickard, who was a member of the Legislature of 1890. To-day's mail brings news of the death of Mr. Adolph Aschheim at San Francisco. He left Honolulu last year in poor health. A stroke of apoplexy was the immediate cause of his death. Mr. Aschheim was a member of the firm of M. S. Grinbaum & Co., and a bright young business man. He was born at Womgowitz, Germany, on September 29, 1847.

Robert Andrew Macfie of Dreghorn died at Dreghorn Castle on February 16. He was over 81 years of age. Mr. Macfie represented the Leith Burghs in Parliament twenty years ago. He was a devoted churchman and enthusiastic in foreign mission work. The deceased was father of Mr. R. A. Macfie, Jr., formerly manager of Kilaua plantation, Kauai, and now in Porto Rico. Mr. J. W. Macfie, eldest son of the lamented gentleman, visited the islands twelve years ago.

Emphatic Contradiction.

The BULLETIN is requested to state, on the basis of authority, that the whole story in the Advertiser about the Japanese Prince on board the warship Naniwa and the Princess Kaulani, as to his matrimonial intentions toward her in coming here, is unwarranted, unjustifiable and malicious. The Prince is a married man whose wife is living in Japan.

Persons who are subject to attacks of bilious colic can almost invariably tell by their feelings, when to expect an attack. If Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is taken as soon as these symptoms appear, they can ward off the disease. SAVED FROM THE SEA.

Second Boat of the Lady Lampon Picked Up Occupants Arrive at San Francisco Same Day as Captain Peterson.

[S. F. Examiner, March 9th.]

Captain Peterson of the wrecked bark Lady Lampon arrived in San Francisco with his wife by the Australia on March 8th, and four hours later First Mate Muller and the four men, composing the second boat's crew, fears for whose safety have been entertained ever since the disaster was reported, sailed in through the Golden Gate, sound and well, on the schooner Martha W. Tuft.

The schooner came from Apia, Samoa, and picked up the cockleshell of a boat with its wretched crew on the morning of February 12th, after they had been sixteen days from the wreck. All hands were well and hearty in spite of their fortnight and over of hardship and suffering, and the first questions they asked were concerning the fate of Captain Peterson and the Lampon's contingent that took to his boat. When Mate Muller was informed of their safety all hands set up a joyful shout.

THOUGHT THEY WERE LOST.

"We thought sure they were lost," said Muller, "for we barely kept aloft during half of our 1500 miles in the yawl."

By Muller's story it will be seen that he had much better luck than the Captain, for he was out twelve days less and was only 160 miles from Honolulu when the Tuft picked him up.

"We left the wreck in company," said Muller, "and remained close to the other boat until midnight of the second day. Then Captain Peterson and I agreed to make the best of our way to Honolulu independently, and parted company—for good and all we thought. The first three days after leaving the Captain we had fresh, fair winds from the south and east, and we went along like a racer. It rained some on the second day after leaving the wreck and we all got wet through. Our biscuit was in a barrel and we managed to keep it dry by spreading a piece of canvas over it, and the water we caught in the boat we used for drinking in order to save as much as possible.

A WEEK OF CALM FOLLOWED BY GALES.

"On the fourth day the wind died away and for a week we had only light airs and calms, and made but little headway. We had wind enough and to spare after that. Our biscuit was in a barrel and we managed to keep it dry by spreading a piece of canvas over it, and the water we caught in the boat we used for drinking in order to save as much as possible.

"By daylight the weather moderated, and we took in the drag and set the mainsail and stood on our course again. There was still a nasty sea running, and several times the boat nearly broached to, but we caught her in time or she would have capsized.

"We got breakfast at 8 o'clock and then sat down for another long day, but were most pleasantly disappointed.

"About 10:30 o'clock Martin yelled: 'There's a sail!' The words almost set us crazy, and at first we could not believe it. We soon caught sight of the speck of canvas, however, and made out that it belonged to a schooner that was steering a course nearly parallel with ours.

"One of the men snatched the piece of canvas from the top of the bread barrel and began to wave it, and everybody followed suit with shirts, coats or anything handy in hopes of attracting the attention of the schooner's crew. Soon after she altered her course and in a very short time was close to us.

Captain Stokkoby ordered his men to hoist our boat on deck, and the cook to make coffee for us. Then he turned all hands out to let us lie down in their bunks. We had had little sleep while in the boat as there was not room to lie down, and besides we were constantly wet to the skin and shivering with cold.

GAVE UP THEIR BEDS.

"The mate of the vessel took me into the cabin and after I had drunk a hot cup of coffee and swallowed a glass of brandy I turned into his bunk and took the longest sleep I ever had in my life. The others were cared for by the sailors, and Captain Stokkoby and his crew did all they could to make us comfortable.

"We still had a considerable quantity of canned meat and fruit in the boat when we were picked up, as we were very careful of our supply and did not use more than we had to. I had my sextant, and when I could get a sight of the sun at noon could tell what latitude we were in, but when it came to longitude I had to compute our position by dead reckoning, as I had no chronometer. This of course made it rather risky laying a course, but on inquiring the position after we got on board the schooner I found that I was not very far out. It is all over now and I am glad of it."

Mate Muller says the men were as cheerful as could be during the entire trip and not one of them was heard to grovel or complain at the fearful position in which fortune had placed them.

The boat in which the five men made their long and dangerous voyage is a ship's yawl, less than fifteen feet long and about four and a half feet wide, rigged with a mainsail and jib.

"Soy" said the tough young man. "Weed-it!" responded the waiter. "Look at de said in my plate. W'y don't yer dig yer taters 'fore yer bile 'em!"—Indianapolis Journal.

An order for ten plows in one day from one plantation is an indication of the direction of the wind in the plow trade. The Hendry Breaker is in the nine hole for big work, and for ordinary plain every day plowing, the Hendry Rice Plow has no equal. They have floated on the crest of a popular wave since their introduction with no danger of an under-tow carrying them back.

On some plantations the managers have a riding plow in operation, but it is not all land that is suitable for this plow, it is good on level stretches but not on up-hill and down-dale places. The Gazelle three-wheeler is considered the best of these, best because of its many good qualities and because we sell them. The plow is hung from and lifted by two cranks, which move together, and to both of which the beam is securely attached, one being in front and the other at the rear of the beam. The action of the lifting lever is to squarely raise or lower the entire plow bottom. It does away with that nicety of adjustment at the clevis necessary on other riding plows and so makes the Gazelle specially adapted to inexperienced plowmen. This construction allows the Gazelle to open a furrow either flat or on an angle. As the plow lifts six inches from the ground it is high enough to clear all obstructions when on the road. No exertion is necessary to start the plow; by merely loosening the lever and starting the team the plow will enter the ground to any required depth, when it may be locked in position by the lever.

In constructing this plow the manufacturers spare no expense in the quality of the materials used, and for a riding plow its makeup stamps it as the best that ever came to the Islands. We have only a few of them and offer them cheap because we wish to devote our plow space to the Hendry brands of agricultural implements.

If you have ever had broken thumb nails from opening a pocket knife you are probably as willing to avoid the annoyance and disagreeable feeling as we are to provide you with the means of doing so. There is only one way to keep your nails perfect and that by getting one of the Patent Knives in which the blades open by simply touching a spring. We've sold ten dozen of them to fastidious people. If you belong to that set you'll want one.

The approach of spring kindles a desire in people to paint their houses and fences, dress them up, as it were, for Easter. Strange to relate we have everything necessary to put your place in good shape, and by the way the Californians, and we take our styles from that State, now paint their houses in one color and without any contrasting shades in the trimmings. The effect is at once beautiful and catchy.

OLD TIMES REVIVED.

Presentation of a Silver Trumpet to C. E. Williams by Hook & Ladder Company.

Last night a testimonial of a rare nature was tendered to Mr. C. E. Williams, the oldest veteran of the volunteer Fire Department. Mr. Williams joined Protection Hook & Ladder Company in 1857, soon after the first reorganization of the Honolulu Fire Department. He was soon after elected delegate from that company to the Board of Representatives. After serving faithfully in that capacity for several years, in which he was one of the most influential members of the Board, Mr. Williams was elected Second Assistant Engineer of the Department. At the next annual election he was promoted to be First Assistant Engineer. His next promotion was to the top of the ladder, he being elected Chief Engineer three years in succession. Two years his nomination was unanimous, and another year there were only three members to dissent from his nomination. His election for a fourth term was only prevented by his declining of the office. Mr. Williams remained an active fireman until his departure for San Francisco some years ago, when he was placed on the honorary roll of his company. Since then he has always been living here kept up his keen interest in the welfare of the Department.

In the early days of Mr. Williams' connection with the Department, hand engines were in use and muscle had to do the work done by steam to-day. For many years Mr. Williams ran with the machine at every fire that occurred while he was in town. One time he was badly injured and had a narrow escape from being killed. There was a collision between the engine and his company's truck as both rushed out together from the Bell Tower. Mr. Williams was caught between the vehicles and pinned there for several minutes until a score of men had pulled the trucks apart. He received a severe blow in the hip from a shaft, which laid him up for some time.

When he was Chief Engineer Mr. Williams gave a banquet to the whole brigade at his house on the plains. Dr. Hutchinson, Minister of the Interior, other officials, and prominent residents were among the guests. The band of the Austrian warship Donau was in attendance. Mr. John A. Hassinger, the present Chief Clerk of the Interior Department, who is also a veteran fireman and ex-Chief Engineer, acted as caterer and master of ceremonies. When all were seated around the festive board, and before the feasting began Mr. Hassinger called on Dr. Hutchinson to perform a little ceremony. The Minister addressed Chief Engineer Williams in terms complimentary of his services as head of the Department, on whose behalf he then presented him with a massive gold medal set with diamonds. The medal was suitably inscribed on both the obverse and reverse. It was studded with 36 diamonds, and was worth hundreds of dollars. This beautiful memento Mr. Williams now has carefully preserved, as one of his most precious household treasures, at his residence in California.

Among the adornments of Hook & Ladder Co.'s hall was a heavy silver trumpet, enclosed in an upright glass and koa wood case. When the volunteer Fire Department was disbanded a few weeks ago, to give place to a paid department, each company had to dispose of its private effects. Hook & Ladder Co., on the recommendation of a committee on the disposal of the property, decided to present their gallant veteran member with the trumpet above described as a souvenir of his most honorable career as a member of the Department. Last night, after the sale of other effects, was fixed for the time of presentation.

By the kindness of the Board of Fire Commissioners, Fire Police hall was placed at the disposal of the committee. Mr. Geo. Houghtaling, successor in the company of his father—an old-time comrade of Mr. Williams—as caterer had a fine turkey collation spread in the hall. Mr. Williams was invited to the seat of honor at the table, supported on the right by D. Logan, delegate of the company, and on the left by G. C. Kenyon, chairman of committee, while Henry Kaia, foreman, occupied the vice chair. Other officers and members of the committee formed the rest of the party. Before falling to with knives and forks, the health of the guest of the evening was drunk. At the close of the feast Delegate Logan with a few remarks presented the silver trumpet to Mr. Williams. In accepting the gift the veteran fire chief gave some highly interesting reminiscences of the early life of the volunteer Fire Department. He remarked with feeling on the fact that he was the sole survivor in the company of the pioneers of the volunteer Fire Department. Later he said that if ever volunteers were again wanted for fire protection, and that company re-entered active service, it would give him great pleasure to present them with the trumpet again.

The history of the trumpet makes its presentation to Mr. Williams peculiarly appropriate. He was one of the contributors to the fund for buying it for presentation to the company more than a quarter of a century ago, and the case enclosing it was made at the time in his own cabinet-making shop.

Eruption in Kau.

On Wednesday, March 15, there was a slight volcanic eruption on Kahuku ranch, Kau, Hawaii. It occurred in the lava flow of 1888, a mile below the house of Col. S. Norris, owner of the ranch. An immense volume of smoke and steam issued from the break, but there was no emission of lava. The eruption lasted only for a day.

The Shirt Maker's Revenge.

Hold your orders for Johnson is coming. The shirt maker is on the way. Look out for his whiskers for they are leaking. Till you hear what he has to say.

Respect to Johnson the bluffer justly paid. And noble shirt maker honored his job lots shade. But whence this being? that a name so mean. Should join with Johnson the shirt man, on a tomb to be seen.

This Johnson would better far proclaim. To future ages humble his job lots name. Johnson and shirt maker had been well paid. The city collector and the city bard.

Now import all your so called shirt makers. To take my honest living away if you can. I came to these Islands to work like a man. Here will I stay in spite of your teeth. For all kinds of shirt will I make to look neat.

"LAST BUT NOT LEAST."

I do all the shirt cutting that is done at my place of business and in case the shirts don't give entire satisfaction I will alter them, make new shirts or refund the money. All shirts that I make will be kept in repair for 2 years free of charge.

A. L. JOHNSON,

The American Shirt Maker.

The strongest recommendation that any article can have is the endorsement of the mothers of the town. When the mothers recommend it you may know that that article has more than ordinary merit. Here is what the Centerville, South Dakota, Citizen says editorially of an article sold in their town: "From personal experience we can say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has broken up bad colds for our children. We are acquainted with many mothers in Centerville who would not be without it in the house for a good many times its cost, and are recommending it every day." 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers. The following choice bit of word painting occurs in Hawthorne's Marble Faun: "Women be they of what earthly rank they may, however gifted with intellect or genius, or endowed with awful beauty, have always some little handicraft ready to fill the tiny gap of every vacant moment. A needle is familiar to the fingers of them all. A queen, no doubt, plies it on occasion; the woman poet can use it as adroitly as her pen; the woman's eye, that has discovered a new star, turns from its glory to sew the polished little instrument gleaming along the hem of her kerchief, or to darn a casual fray in her dress. And they have greatly the advantage of us in this respect. The slender thread of silk or cotton keeps them united with the small, familiar, gentle interests of life, the continually operating influences of which do so much for the health of the character, and carry off what would otherwise be a dangerous accumulation of morbid sensibility. A vast deal of human sympathy runs along this electric line, stretching from the throne to the wicker chair of the humblest seamstress, and keeping high and low in a species of communion with their kindred beings." Housewives, while you ply the needle, have you ever reflected on the vicissitudes of life? See to it that your husbands provide for the future welfare of their families by at once applying for a Policy in the FORTABLE LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY of the United States. No more suitable gift could be offered to you.
