WILL BEAUTIFY BY TREE PLANTING

Improvement Association Seeking For a General System.

KAIMUKI AND PALOLO READY FOR MACADAM

RESIDENTS ENTHUSIASTIC OVER SCHEME OF MAKING IMPROVEMENTS BOTH PUBLIC AND PRIVATE.

The Kaimuki, Palolo and Waiakae Improvement Association has perfect organization, has an enthusiastic and determined membership, and proposes to carry on a campaign of general improvement which will soon change the appearance of things in that district. The meeting yesterday afternoon was well attended. By-laws were adopted and the scope of the organization was well covered in preliminary suggestions of work to be done.

A prominent member of the Association said today to a Bulletin reporter: "We have succeeded in enlisting nearly every resident of the three districts and want to get them all in. We want suggestions from all sources and would jump at a good idea whether it came from a resident and member or from some one on the other side of town."

"Our first purpose will be to plan a harmonious system of tree planting. In the course of time we hope to make that district the finest on the island so far as the tree question is concerned. We therefore wish to work together along the lines of a comprehensive plan. On this point we especially solicit suggestions from any source."

"The idea, so far as it has matured, is to plant trees first along the Waiakae road and then take up the avenues and streets that branch from the main road. Most of the members favor tall, straight trees for the main road. On the side roads, shade and rich foliage will be sought after. Ironwood and silver oak will probably be chosen for the main road. A question that we have not settled yet is whether trees should be planted on the line or five feet back from the street."

The proper officials will be seen and urged to expedite the widening and straightening of Waiakae road. The government will be asked to macadamize it at the earliest possible date. The members of our association are ready to put down three-quarters of a mile of curbing, the minute we get the word that the work will be carried through. Mr. Minton stated yesterday that curbing could be put in for 20 cents a linear foot. Mr. Mamachado offered to pay 25 per cent. more than this to any one that would put down curbing in front of his place."

"Mr. Cooke has planted a large number of trees on open lots which will be available for transplanting. We are out to beautify our part of the country and we promise to surprise the public with a showing of what united effort will do."

HOME RULERS WRESTLE OVER DEMOCRATS

The Home Rulers of the Fourth named the following ticket for the House this afternoon: David Nottley, S. M. Kamakahi, Sam Paahou, W. S. Makekoi, Henry Meheuli and J. K. Kaohi.

The Home Rule committee of the 4th District at Home Rule headquarters this forenoon to name a representative ticket for their District. A great amount of time was taken up with the preliminaries, the report of the Committee on Resolutions not being ready to submit until 1 o'clock this afternoon.

When the convention came to order, the slate was supposed to be solid and that nothing would arise to prevent the transaction of all the business before noon. But there was a hitch.

The slate as made up by numerous caucuses and conferences during the past few days was as follows: David Nottley, S. M. Kamakahi, Sam Paahou, W. S. Makekoi, Joseph Aea and Naha.

The two latter were nominated for the House on the Democratic ticket and the scheme to place them on the Home Rule ticket was agreeable to most of the Home Rule Delegates. The Home Rulers, however, exacted a promise from the twain that they should appear at the Home Rule convention today and subscribe to the Home Rule platform and promise to support the Home Rule ticket.

The convention waited in vain for their coming. At 11:30 a resolution was introduced endorsing them. It was promptly referred to the Committee on Resolutions. By 12 o'clock this committee had a unanimous report ready, recommending that the convention do not endorse the two Democrats.

At noon the convention adjourned until 1 o'clock.

After an hour's debate the committee's report was adopted substituting the names of Meheuli and Kaohi for Aea and Naha.

SPENCER FINED

James Spencer this morning in the Police Court pleaded guilty to a charge of gross cheat and was fined $50 and costs. Spencer formerly was employed by the Harrison Mutual Burial Association, of which Undertaker Townsend is the local manager. He was discharged about five months ago.

Since then Spencer has victimized a number of people, mostly Hawaiian women, with bogus certificates. He stole certificates from his friends, erased their names and sold the certificates to other people, placing the name of the purchaser on the place where the former owner's name had been.

INCENDIARY PRISONER

The steamer Mauna Loa brought as a prisoner from Kau one Peter Kahuna, who is alleged to have been one of the incendiaries who put fire to the Naalehu mill trash house a short time ago. He has been committed to the Circuit Court for trial.

CABLE IS EXEMPT FROM TAXATION

Tax Appeal Court Files Nine Decisions.

ASSESSOR HOLT IS UPHOLD IN EIGHT CASES

Big Discrepancies Between Assessments And Returns Do Not Convince Court.

The Tax Appeal Court filed nine decisions today. In every case sustaining the Assessor except in the case of the Cable Company. In that case the court holds the cable at sea not to be in the taxation district as defined by law.

Commercial Pacific Cable Company, assessed at $42,800.

The decision states: The property taxed is a cable in the bed of the ocean running from shore, three miles out to sea. The court does not find that this comes within the district outlined by law for taxation.

Under the general rule, statutes levying taxes must be clear and in every case of doubt the taxpayer and not the government must receive the benefit of the doubt. The court rules that the property in question was not taxable.

Theo. H. Davies & Co., leasehold on Kaahumanu street, assessed at $11,000, reduced by agreement to $7,500, returned as of no value. Court fixed the amount at $7,000.

Estate of Theo. H. Davies, leasehold at Kapiolani Park, assessed at $1000; no return. Assessor sustained.

Estate of Emma Kalelelanani, land at Waikiki; assessed at $15,000, returned at $5000. Court fixed assessment at $13,000.

Aiton & Robinson, as an enterprise for profit; assessed at $300,000, returned at $245,584.98. Assessor sustained.

H. F. Wichman & Co., assessed as an enterprise for profit, at $125,000, returned at $82,552.22. Assessor sustained.

J. S. Emerson, land on Spencer street, assessed at $6000, returned at $4,468; lessors interest in land on Hotel street, assessed at $1000, returned at $3120. Assessor sustained in each assessment.

H. F. Wichman, land in Nuuanu valley, assessed at $2500, improvements $500, returned at $2500. Assessor sustained.

Antonio Perry, land on Kawelo street, assessed at $4,000, returned at $3000. Assessor sustained.

IAUKEA SUCCESSFUL

Officers of the Mauna Loa report that Curtis Iaukea, the Democratic candidate for Delegate to Congress, is meeting with considerable success in Kona and has won a number of converts. Several Democratic precinct clubs have been organized in Kona.

At an executive committee meeting of the Hilo Cottillion Club, held last Thursday afternoon, it was decided to hold the next dance to be given on Friday evening, October 7th, at the commodious pavilion which E. N. Holmes erected adjoining his home in Pauoa. Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, who are members, kindly tendered to the club the use of the pavilion for that occasion. The names of J. D. Kennedy and E. H. Moses were presented for membership and are to be voted upon at a general meeting to be held at the Board of Trade rooms next Monday afternoon, at 4 o'clock.

FIGHTING NEAR MUKDEN

Let Uncle Sam Erect Federal Building And Choose The Site

"We must recognize and realize the necessity of speedily urging Congress to begin reimbursing Hawaii for the unusually large amount, in proportion to its population, as compared with other States and Territories, which this Territory annually gives to the National Government," said Governor Carter this morning.

"This afternoon, at my request, I will be called upon by Mr. Tenney of the Chamber of Commerce and Mr. George Smith of the Merchants' Association. 'Give us the building and you select the site,' is what we should say to Congress. 'I wish to learn from Messrs. Tenney and Smith what is being done toward agitating the Federal building proposition. I hope the people generally will recognize the need of getting Congress to appropriate liberally for Hawaii. We must impress upon Congress the needs of our Territory. It is most necessary that Congress should awake to the call for the development of Hawaii.'

Speaking of his letter to Secretary of War Taft, a few weeks ago, in reference to the Department making a project of Honolulu harbor, with appropriations for needed improvements in view, Governor Carter this morning stated that the Merchants' Association sent forward a similar communication about the same time.

CALLS AT MIDWAY ON HER RETURN VOYAGE

BRINGS NINE MECHANICS BACK FROM MIDWAY—MET SEVERAL VESSELS IN NORTH-ERN WATERS.

The U. S. Cruiser Buffalo arrived from Midway Island this morning and was docked at the Naval Wharf No. 1 at about 7 o'clock. The Buffalo returns from an extended cruise in the North Pacific. When she arrived in Alaskan waters, where she was sent to look after the United States interests in the seal fisheries, the sealing season was closed. As a consequence she did not remain there very long. The Buffalo left San Francisco, August 30 and went straight to Dutch Harbor, where she arrived September 4. Here she met the U. S. revenue cutter McCullough, the Coast and Geodetic Survey steamer McArthur and the British gunboat Shearwater. The Shearwater is well known in this port. She called here on her round trip to the South Seas a couple of years ago. The Buffalo left Dutch Harbor September 10.

CARTER REFUSES A LAND EXCHANGE

Kaipapau Valley Will Go to Highest Bidder.

ARRANGEMENT TO PAY CASTLE FOR STREET STRIPS

Unfinished business—business begun during the last administration, is now occupying the attention of the Executive. There are many matters, particularly land affairs, which have remained long at loose ends and which are inherited by the present dispensation. Governor Carter, having familiarized himself with the facts after due investigation and consultation with the Land Commissioner and others, has brought to an end the more or less ancient Kaipapau valley land tangle. Kaipapau is on the windward side of this island. Originally there was a land exchange proposition, when Dole was Governor. J. B. Castle was to get the Kaipapau valley in exchange for certain Waikiki and Port Street property needed by the Government for thoroughfare improvements. Negotiations were instituted in October of 1902 and hung on for some time. The land at Waikiki and that near Fort Street, wanted for street widening, was valued at something over three thousand dollars. When the Kaipapau valley was surveyed it was described as containing some eleven hundred acres, but as being chiefly made up of precipitous sides with a little winding ribbon of a stream, with occasional pockets, below. The exchange proposition was referred to the Board of Agriculture and Forestry which, after examination, declared that the upper portions should be reserved for forests. A line was then drawn to mark off the forest preserves, leaving but 325 acres, of which

ORIENTAL FRUIT TRADE

ENTOMOLOGIST CRAW TO DRAW UP REGULATIONS

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE AND FORESTRY RECEIVES EXPERT SUGGESTIONS—ACTION TAKEN.

Alexander Craw, superintendent of entomology for the Board of Agriculture and Forestry, submitted the following report to the Commissioners at yesterday afternoon's meeting at the Experiment Station. The report was duly filed and the Board voted to instruct Mr. Craw to draw up regulations in relation to the Oriental and Inter-Island fruit trade, as he suggests, and submit them to the Committee on Regulations before the next meeting.

Gentlemen:—The question of the advisability of your Board drafting regulations to prevent the introduction into the Territory of the serious fruit fly pests that are known to exist in China, Japan, Eastern Pacific ports and other countries, was submitted to me at your last meeting and in reply I beg to report:

While it may appear arbitrary, the total exclusion of fruits from the above countries is unquestionably the safest way to prevent the introduction of such pests into the Hawaiian Islands.

Under Act 44 of the Territory of Hawaii, your Board has ample power to make rules and regulations covering this most important question.

Fruit flies belong to the Dipterous order of insects and are amongst the most prolific and rapid breeders and the most disgusting pests that horticulturists and agriculturists have to contend against in countries where they have gained a foothold. Take, for instance, the introduced melon-cucumber fly that has completely put a stop for several years past to the cultivation, or rather production, of muskmelons on these islands.

In Queensland and Western Australia they can hardly raise fruit on account of fruit flies. In Cape Colony, South Africa, fruit trees have to be covered with mosquito bar netting to protect the fruit from such flies. This makes the cultivation of fruit an expensive business, even with the Government purchasing the netting as they do in Cape Colony, selling it to the orchardists at actual cost. From the above facts, it will be seen that the most drastic measures you may take to guard against such pests will be none too severe.

I desire to lay before you the advisability of drawing up regulations covering the importation and disinfection or fumigation, if deemed necessary, of trees or plants in inter-island traffic.

My attention has recently been called to this by the introduction of the "Olinde beetles" (Aramigus fulleri) into Oahu from Maui, where it was unfortunately introduced from the mainland a few years ago, as I have been informed. This beetle is a serious pest, cutting the leaves of trees and plants much in the same manner as the "Japanese beetle" (Adoretus umbrinus) and in the larval form, it is more destructive, as it burrows into the roots of various fruits and plants, causing the death of the same. Lemon and orange trees are especially subject to their attack and would be a check to the profitable production of those fruits, should their cultivation be undertaken in a practical manner on these islands. I fear that it will now be a difficult task to check this pest and it could have been kept out with a little care. This could also have been done in preventing the spread of the "Japanese beetles" to the other islands.

Probably all the serious pests found upon cultivated plants have been introduced by the aid of man and the only hope of overcoming such pests is the method you are now pursuing of ascertaining where their native home is and sending experts there to search for and introduce their natural checks. After a pest is once introduced this is really the only method by which the destructive ones can be held in check or subdued.

The old adage of "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" has been verified in the work done in California, where no new pests have been established within the past twelve years.

There is a marked improvement in the quality and freedom from insect pests and diseases of fruits and vegetables brought from the mainland. Several lots have been destroyed and others returned, and that has evidently had a good effect.

Out of a cargo of 4,955 packages of fruits and vegetables brought in on the last trip of the S. S. Alameda were several lots—40 boxes of nectarines, manifested as plums. Those were infested with "peach worms," the larvae of Anasela lineatella. Those were returned to the shipper. Sealy citrus fruits have also been destroyed, or returned. Our people pay good prices and should have the best to be had.

On September 26th the S. S. Mongolia arrived from China and Japan and brought another importation of eight boxes of pears, infested with the larvae of the Chinese fruit moth. Boxes and contents were promptly destroyed by fire.

We are making preparations for a vigorous campaign with fungus against the "Japanese beetle" during the rainy season. The propagation of beneficial insects will also be attended to.

REPUBLICAN GUNS

TONIGHT

AT HALEIWA

F. J. Church has taken a hand in the Republican campaign and will show where his heart is in the preparations at Haleiwa hotel tonight on the occasion of the reception to Delegate Kuhio and the campaigning Senators. Under the direction of Mr. Church and the Republican leaders in Wailua, the Republican rally in that precinct tonight will be a big affair. The manager of the Haleiwa hotel has arranged for the speakers to make their addresses from the hotel larder. Two orchestras have been requisitioned and a torchlight parade will precede the forensic display.

The Senatorial party, led by Delegate Kuhio, will arrive at Wailua this evening and the big rally will close their first campaign on the other side. J. M. Dowsett, E. F. Bishop and John C. Lane, Republican candidates for the Senate, will make speeches.

The Senatorial party will arrive in Honolulu tomorrow morning and to-morrow night they will all speak at Aala Park.

KOEBELE HEARD FROM

From Cairns, Queensland, Hawaiian Superintendent of Entomology A. Koebele writes as follows to the local Board of Agriculture:

Dear Sir: We are shipping today in order to catch the Sonoma at Sydney another parcel of beneficial insects, full details of which have been sent to the entomologist (Mr. Kircaldy). Most of these are to be used against the cane hopper, but one box contains other beneficial insects and these have been marked to be delivered to Mr. Craw, to whom I am writing concerning them. I regret that it is not possible to send insects via Brisbane from Cairns on the Canadian liners as the weekly coast boat just fails to connect with these. Consequently the parcel of which I had advised you as being sent by the last of those boats will not arrive as I have already cabled you. As Mr. Perkins has resigned his position under the Board of Agriculture and Forestry and consequently will no longer be under the pay of the government, it may be well to inform you that our joint expenses amount to about $415 per month.

We shall utilize the Canadian liners again as soon as we get further south as we shall then have train connection with these.

Charley's Aunt Is One Long Laugh

"Enough to make a cat laugh," describes "Charley's Aunt." This lively comedy is a continuous succession of roaring situations and, as presented last evening at the Opera House for the benefit of the Hawaii Yacht Club, under the able direction of Allan Dunn, kept hundreds delighted and amused until the curtain shut off the view of the clever actors.

Ladies first! Mrs. E. M. Boyd and Miss Gladys Fisher as Kitty Verdun and Amy Spettigue, the loves of two anxious but bashful Oxford boys, were daintily attractive in manner and becomingly arrayed. Miss Gertrude P. Hall, as the "real" Charley's Aunt, conducted her impersonation with the graceful dignity demanded by the part.

Harry D. Couzens makes an entertaining Oxford solicitor and M. H. Webb as the Colonel who first seeks the supposed riches of the "emergency" aunt and eventually wins the heart of the genuine article, creates many a laugh.

W. Lawrence Warren and A. S. Brown, as the Oxford undergraduates who find love's path most tantalizing for a time, do their share in distributing fun. P. J. Harwood is an amusing "scout."

Allan Dunn, the mock Charley's Aunt, made a decided hit. His accent is perfect and his entire work is good. Tomorrow evening there will be another opportunity to enjoy the best amateur production seen here for a long time.

Kaali's orchestra made music between laughing spells and Kaali rendered a solo in the third act.

Charley's Aunt is one long laugh.

Punchbowl Slopes

RESOUND WITH

Republicanism

The Republican meetings in the Fourth District are uniformly far above the ordinary this year in point of enthusiasm and attendance. Campaigners who have marked every year since annexation say that the meetings this year are better in every way than they have ever been. The voters are wide awake and are eager to hear all sides of every question and phase of the campaign.

The Republican meeting last night at the corner of Punchbowl and Lunaloa streets was a notch or two better than any that had gone before. The audience was made up of a preponderance of Portuguese and Hawaiian voters and that they are interested in the questions of the day was shown by the fact that they listened with enthusiastic attention to ten speeches, covering nearly four hours. The Hawaiian orchestra played spirited music at the intervals between the speeches.

Among the speakers who were heard last night for the first time were Col. Sam Parker, Mr. Camara and Mr. Castro. These, as well as all the other speakers, advocates a straight Republican ballot, with no scratches either in the Fourth or Fifth.

The other speakers were: W. W. Harris, Wm. Aylett, Carlos Long, Frank Andrade, Lilikalani, Jack Lucas, E. W. Quinn, Sam Kamaloipili and Ed Towse.

Sam Parker was not listed to speak, but he went to the meeting and was called on by the crowd. Mr. Parker said that the duty of Republicans is to support the ticket as given to the people by the primaries and the conventions. If the men who have been nominated are elected and then prove to be worthless, it will be time enough then to kick them out of the party. Mr. Parker referred to the duty of good citizens to ally themselves with some party and stick by its standard. He told of his own failure of election to Congress in 1900; of the President having asked him if he would accept the Governorship of Hawaii and of his having said he would. "Even then I did not reach the office of Governor, but I am still a good and loyal Republican."

He spoke for the re-election of Delegate Kuhio. He told some of his own experiences in getting measures through Congress. He said the effort to get from Congress the Kohala ditch franchise was begun five years ago. It was supported by many able men and yet Congress was very slow to act. Kuhio, he said, had been able to introduce a large number of bills at his first session. A second term would give him a chance to work them through.

The necessity for the election of a Republican majority to the Legislature has never been greater than it is this year. The majority cannot be secured by split ticket voting that aids Home Rule, elects their candidates and re-views the remainder now left of that party.

Land officials are doing a public service in rounding up the homesteads whose purchasers have not complied with the residence laws. Homestead laws fail completely and make public land purchases largely speculative affairs when the residence clause is not enforced.

There is no doubt that Honolulu wants that Federal building and would be willing to let Congress select the site so we get the building. It is doubtful, however, if Congress will take all the responsibility. Probably the majority will be willing to abide by the site selected by some representative of the Treasury Department. Even he must secure aids to his conclusions through local recommendations.

DISLOYAL REPUBLICANS AID HOME RULERS.

Opponents of Wm. Aylett and Carlos Long, candidates on the Republican Fourth District ticket are urging that Democrats shall be elected in their place because these men are not personally satisfactory to a small factional circle. One is condemned because he earns his living as a hack driver, not withstanding he has already served two terms in the Legislature and has staunchly supported Republican measures. Aylett from the outset of American party organization has been one of the most active factors in allaying the prejudices left over from the revolutionary period and creating a better feeling toward Americanism and support of American principles among the Hawaiian Royalists. He is not a college graduate but he represents a hard-working honest element.

When Aylett first announced his allegiance to the Republican party in the days when Wilcox and his Home Rule doctrines were rampant he was hailed as a notable acquisition to the party ranks. He was one of the barriers against the strict racial divisions in politics which Wilcox preached.

Is he to be kicked out and thrown down now, held up by the Home Rule remnant as a sample of how factional elements of the community treat those who have worked for cooperation among all classes and the overthrow of prejudice in the electorate?

In the heat of a legislative discussion Aylett said in speaking of a matter under discussion, "If that is Republicanism, then I am a Home Ruler."

Isn't this identical with the attitude of some of his Republican associates who cast their votes for a Home Rule Speaker? Aylett is no Home Ruler and never has been.

Long is one of the Hawaiians who completed his studies abroad. He did what the intelligent men of this community admire, and regrets are general that more do not do likewise. The only charge that can be trumped up against him is the supposition that he appeals to business associates, Ashford and Colburn, for advice. Long's record in the Legislature is diametrically opposed to this supposition. An issue is point is his attitude toward the county law which Colburn openly opposes. Long has stood firmly with his party. No doubt the opposition now offered is in consequence of his steadfast party loyalty on this score and personal independence in his relations with this business associate.

The whole situation in the Fourth resolves itself into a question of whether the Republicans of the District will allow themselves to be wheedled into taking up an inverted Wilcox cry—talk Republicanism and vote for Democrats and Home Rulers—or accept true Republican principle which gives fair representation for all elements and carries out a broad doctrine of loyalty to principle. Disloyalty to any candidate in the Fourth District by Republican voters means defeat of the whole and victory, not for Democratic candidates but for Home Rulers, whose followers "always vote straight." As was stated editorially by the Advertiser in 1902, "To cut the ticket means the offering of a weak spot for the attacks of the enemy, and he who fails of entire fidelity now weakens his party just as a deserting soldier gives the foe an opportunity."

Promotion of a divided ticket will not elect Campbell or Hutchins, the Democratic candidates selected by the knifers. Nor will such a policy strengthen the special favorites named on the Republican ticket. It will weaken them and they know it.

Taxpayers of average wit in this Territory know that their interests are safe in the hands of the Republican party. They will not follow the childish folly of wasting their vote by a ballot that will destroy the Republican party and place Home Ruleism in power again.

SHAW'S RESPONSIBILITY.

The full statement of the Candidate Shaw case is very interesting. It appears that the theft for which he served a sentence and in consequence of which it became necessary for him to secure restoration to civil rights, occurred while he was a youth. It also appears that the necessities for appeal on his part for the restoration of his civil rights was brought to his attention by a member of his precinct, a Republican voter whom the people would naturally expect would raise immediate objections to his candidacy.

Certainly a word from Attorney Judd, whom Shaw says acted as his advisor, at the primaries or during the convention would have caused Shaw to withdraw or at least given the convention an opportunity to deliberate on the question.

It is apparent, however, that the serious character of the incident did not occur to Mr. Judd any more than it did to Shaw. As regards the charge that Shaw deceived the convention, he is either as much misled against as sinning, or the charge must go further and include those who knew of the candidate's status and did not counsel against his candidacy or oppose his nomination.

The Bulletin does not believe a man should be hounded to death for a youthful error, particularly when he has shown that he can rise above the waywardness of former days. Mr. Shaw must realize, however, that this incident in his career is not a proper ornament with which to before the people for election to legislative honors. Had he appreciated or those connected with his restoration to civil rights realized the natural effect of this incident, it is safe to say he would not have sought the nomination. Under the circumstances, it must be apparent to him that withdrawal from the ticket is the proper course.

Sham Battle Draws Crowds Of Hiloites

Hilo, Sept. 27.—Fully five hundred people filled the grand stand at Hilo Park Sunday afternoon to witness the sham battle by members of Company D, National Guard. The movements were remarkably well executed and the soldier boys were at all times well under command by Captain Fetter and Lieutenant Ludloff, who commanded the opposing forces. Promptly at 2 o'clock the boom of a cannon gave notice of attack on the main body of the company, which were bivouaced on the open field in front of the spacious amphitheatre.

The bugle sounded the alarm and a reconnoitering party under Sergeant Easton made a sortie in the direction of the ambuscaders. Not knowing the strength of the force, Captain Fetter led a Kuropatkin retreat without the loss of a single man.

The Japanese under Commander Ludloff then advanced with their field pieces to the abandoned position of the fleeing army. Here they converted a board fence into breastworks and held the fortifications against the repeated attacks of larger force. Captain Fetter then divided his command into three detachments, and in the face of an inflaming fire scaled the ramparts of Laloang and captured the enemy's ammunition and guns, which had been dismantled before the arrival of the Russians. Altogether it was a very successful exhibition, and the shelter tent drill was exceptionally good, the entire company going into temporary camp in two minutes.

This was followed by an exciting ball game between the "O. K." Union Specials and the "Black Diamonds" of the Railroad. The crowd was enthusiastic and evenly divided in its partiality to one side or the other. Easton and Tevis of Beamer's team assisted the railroad boys and Kekuewa helped the Union to defeat. Medeiros in the pitcher's box for the Union played a good game, and Jack Williams and Spaulding on the firing line for the railroad team did some good work.

The Union seemed to lose their nerve, and the only run made was one in the fifth on an error by the second baseman. The score is as follows:
Union Specials . . . 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Hilo Railroad . . . 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0—1
The score in the second game was as follows:
1 2 3 4 5 6 7
Moehane0 2 3 5 1 0—14
Ponohawai1 0 2 0 2 3—10

The Buffalo has on board 754 souls all told. Part of her crew are landmen who were being trained on the ship in Alaskan waters. On the arrival of the Buffalo at San Francisco they will be transferred on board the battleship Ohio.

The Buffalo began coaling early this morning, her hand cheering the hands at their work by lively music. The cruiser will take on board only about 250 tons, as she has a good supply left in her bunkers. She will probably remain in this port for about a week or ten days. From here she will go to San Francisco, where she will take on board a fresh batch of landmen for training. She will then probably start for New York either by way of the Suez Canal or around the Horn.

Woman Accuses Police Informer

The police last night made a roundup of Porto Ricans at Iwilei, the Vineyard street camp and on River street, securing nine men and three women, all of whom appeared before Judge Lindsay this morning charged with vagrancy. The three ladies were sentenced to three months' imprisonment each. Before she was convicted, one of them gave Frank Silva, a spy for the police, a good shot which made the fellow wince.

Silva had just testified that he was in the employ of the police.

"How is it?" asked the lady, "that you came to my house and collect money almost every day?"

The informer hastened to deny that he had ever used his influence as a spy in such a manner.

"You know you have gotten many a dollar out of my pocket!" said the defendant, contemptuously. The unsavory revelation was not further discussed and the defendant was sent to jail for three months.

Of the nine male defendants, four were reprimanded and discharged, one had his case continued until tomorrow, one was sentenced to one month's imprisonment and three to one year's imprisonment. The latter three were hardened characters who have been in jail several times.

MURDER TRIAL ON

The trial of Hayashida for the murder at Waiolua last May of a fellow Japanese, Saito, proceeded this forenoon in Judge Gear's Court. A keawe stick, said to be one of the weapons with which defendant is alleged to have beaten Saito to death, was placed on exhibition. A similar cudgel is supposed to have been broken over deceased's head.

WANTS $5,000 FOR SERVICES.

H. J. Johnson's suit against Lee Toma & Co. is now on before a jury in Judge Robinson's court. Johnson sues for remuneration for services performed. Lee Toma & Co. had a large supply of cigars from the Orient upon which the customs authorities assessed $18,000 duty. Lee Toma & Co., it is said, were about to send them back, protesting against the duty. Johnson was sought for advice and he advised against returning the cigars, as they were from Manila and should come in free of duty. Johnson proved to be right and Lee Toma & Co. were saved the cigars without duty. Now Johnson wants $5,000 for services. Lorin Andrews and W. S. Fleming appear for Johnson and R. W. Breckons for defense.

DOOLEY will discuss the Labor Problem in Saturday's BULLETIN.

tember 12 for Nikolsky, a port in the Kommandersky Islands. On her way she met the U. S. Gunboat Petrel and the U. S. Naval collier Saturn. She arrived at Nikolsky September 1 and remained there three days, leaving for Midway Islands September 20.

On her voyage from Nikolsky to Midway the Buffalo met with very stormy weather. A heavy swell pursued her throughout the passage. Huge combes kept breaking over her stern and swept along the curving deck the whole length of the ship. The Buffalo, however, showed herself to be an excellent sea boat and no damage was done.

The Buffalo arrived at Midway September 25 at noon. She remained there only a few hours, leaving for Honolulu on the evening of the same day. A landing was effected at Midway by means of boats. Everything was found to be well with the little colony of cable people and marines. Among the mechanics working for Milliken Brothers, the New York firm which has contracted to erect the five new cable station buildings, ill health prevailed. The men complained that they could not stand doing hard manual labor in that climate and that they were sick. Nine of them came back from Midway on board the Buffalo. They will go in her to San Francisco. The loss of these workmen added to the number of them which returned from Midway in the Iroquois leaves but a small force on the island to carry on the labor and the completion of the cable buildings will necessarily be delayed.

The list of officers of the Buffalo is as follows:

Captain W. H. Everett, Lieutenant Commander T. D. Griffin, Lieutenant L. Shane, Lieutenant C. B. Morgan, Lieutenant R. E. Coontz, Ensign O. W. Fowler, Midshipman C. C. Moses, P. A. Surgeon D. B. Kennedy, Gunner J. T. Roach, Gunner 2 E. Kellenger, Gunner 1 C. Newman, Warrant Machinist J. H. Vickery, Warrant Machinist J. E. Venable, Pay Clerk C. Hreyer.

160 acres were under lease to Castle, to take into account in an exchange.

Governor Carter does not much believe in exchanging and this morning it was decided that there would be no exchange, but that the 325 acres, Castle agreeing to cancel his lease of the 160 acres, should be put up at public auction, with the right to develop water.

With the idea of making the best of a bad bargain, Castle will offer the up-set price, one thousand dollars, and probably erect a cottage and establish an ideal mountain retreat, fencing off the property.

The method of remunerating Castle for the Waikiki and Fort street property taken for street improvements was determined this morning. The Waikiki piece is secured by purchase and, if Castle is able to bid in Kalapaua at the upset price, he will turn over the Fort street lot to the Government for what it cost him. Should opposing bidders run up the Kalapaua valley property, Castle feels that he should receive a fair value for the Fort street piece.

This matter has been on the hook since Carter became Governor. Now it is out of the way. Other land messes await clearing up.

"This will probably put us back a year in the matter of our hoped-for harbor improvements."

"As an alternative we can make our own project and place the matter in the hands of our Delegate to Congress who can urge it upon the Rivers and Harbors Committee, finally getting Congress to authorize the War Department to make a project of its own."

SPLITTING THE TICKET

WHAT MAUI REPUBLICANS SAY OF KNIFING TACTICS

MERELY AN AID TO THE ENEMIES OF TERRITORIAL PROGRESS.
SPLIT TICKETS MEAN
PARTY DEFEAT.

The Independent Home Rule attitude of the Advertiser is meeting with the same condemnation among Republicans of the outside islands that is very generally expressed by the Republicans of Oahu.

The section of the Maui News edited by the Republican workers of Maui has some very pointed comment on this score. Under the title "Our Candidate," it says:

The P. C. Advertiser seems to be very much dissatisfied with the making of some of the Oahu Republican candidates for the lower House, especially with those from the Fifth District. We are personally acquainted with the majority of those candidates, James Shaw, Sol. Mahelona, Sol. Kaleiopo, Chas. Broad and Oscar Cox. By reputation we have been told that the sixth candidate, Thos. Kalawala, is a bright, intelligent Hawaiian, and his district is not only proud of him, but are almost unanimous in his favor. The first five candidates we have personally known for years and we can therefore vouch for their fitness as legislators. It may be because they were all Hawaiians that they are regarded with a certain degree of disfavor in some quarters. The Maui Republican ticket for the House of Representatives is composed entirely of bright, intelligent, progressive, and capable young Hawaiians, and Maui, Molokai and Lanai are proud of their choice. No one here raises the race question. Many of the whites were urged to run, but all of them to a man declined the honor. Now would it have been wise for the Maui District Convention which sat at Lahaina the early part of this month to nominate only three Hawaiians on the ticket, and leave the other three to be chosen by Home Rulers and Democrats because Maui, Molokai, Lanai, and Kahoolawe could not induce three white men to run on the ticket? You will all with one acclaim say: That would have been the height of folly!

And so say we. Now it seems to us that some of the outer precincts of the Fifth District on Oahu were similarly situated, and the next wisest thing to do was to put up the next best available man. The aim of the Republican party is, first and foremost, to return all Republicans to the Legislature. The idea of picking out the so-called best man from each party is impolitic, foolish nonsense, and equivalent to throwing away your voting privilege. For no matter how good a man may be on the opposite ticket, it would be his policy when elected to vote against all good Republican measures, because the Republican party would then be humiliated in both Houses, and his particular political creed will rise in the estimation of the voters. The same is true of the so-called first class material, if any, on the opposite ticket on Maui.

These will do their utmost to block in the Legislature all good Republican measures, as it would be in their best interests to pass Home Rule measures—County Bill, etc., for they received their main support from the Home Rulers, whom only they hope to satisfy at all times; and those Republicans who intend to cast a split ballot will surely reap a whirlwind of nothingness, and the whole Republican party will suffer from such impolitic, foolishness, and disastrous course. Are there any who will be so foolish as to split their ballot? Impossible! God forbid. Republicans are all intelligent.

FLOODS RAVAGE LEEWARD HAWAII

The officers of the steamer Mauna

Loa, which arrived from Hawaii ports

this morning, report that the districts of Kona and Kai have been ravaged by tremendous rains and accompanying floods during last week. No lives were lost or even endangered but considerable damage was done to roads and private property.

In Kona a cloudburst took place in the Hualalai mountain range on Thursday of last week. This range of mountains runs through the northern part of North Kona district. The waters flowed in great volumes down the mountain slopes and inundated the regions of Holoula and Kainaliu. A quarter of a mile of the Holoula road was washed away and completely de-moldished. At Kainaliu the force of the water was so great that at one place a small stable and a buggy, belonging to a man named Aoki, were washed along for about a hundred feet and finally deposited in a ditch. At both Holoula and Kainaliu fruit trees, stone fences, sheds and similar objects were washed away or damaged. It is reported that several acres of coffee trees were destroyed.

At Kau, Jupiter Pluvius was also much in evidence. On Wednesday of last week it began to rain very heavily, four inches of rain falling in five hours.

On Thursday and Friday the rains continued and on Saturday the waters came down with added force.

The officers of the Mauna Loa say that as the steamer passed along the coast of the district it resembled exactly the famous Hamakua coast with gigantic waterfalls, where tremendous volumes of water rush over the cliffs into the sea. This is a sight which is but extremely seldom seen at Kau.

The floods which were caused by the tremendous rains were especially bad at the region about Kaunaloa, towards the extreme south point of the island.

It is reported that no less than nine feet of water stood over the Kaunaloa flat.

SHORT STORY FOR EVENING HOURS

PROMOTION OF PRIVATE JONES

When they mustered Private Jones, I. Y., out of the service he was covered with glory and scars. Otherwise he had little to show for his experiences as a soldier.

He had blistered at Durban, his teeth had chattered in the rain which swamped the Veldt, and when he and his fellows with a rousing cheer drove the enemy away from the blockhouse a bullet whose billet was "Jones, I. Y." had found its destination, and the young volunteer lay many parched hours under a pitiless sky before the stretcher-bearers found him where he fell.

When they did pick him up most of Private Jones' life had oozed through a hole in his right breast, and it seemed hardly worth while to carry what remained of it to the big tent which served as a field hospital.

But out of a sense of duty they bore him in, perfunctorily, for at each new step the stretcher men suspected they were lugging "a dead un." As for Jones, his pleasure had not been consulted. He had said just one word when they found him—"water"—and after that he faintly quivered and gently, and lay quite still and white.

Now the leak in Private Jones' side had moistened much soil with rich blood, and had very nearly done for poor Private Jones, but the whole pharmacopoeia holds no remedy for gunshot wounds quite equal to youth, and when it comes to doctors the best in all the profession is Doctor Hope.

These two pulled Jones around. After some burning weeks they bundled him roughly aboard an overcrowded transport, on which he got precious little rest, but was fit for an invalid to eat, and put his ashore at Southampton.

Only the constitution of a draught horse could have survived this double infliction but Jones shut his teeth tight and stood it as best he could. He seemed even to pick up a bit.

The truth is that the hope which had drawn its bow across the thrilled strings of his eager heart was the hope that in the dear home land Private Jones would see Mary Farrell.

He thought of her soft voice and the hair-bearing touch of her dear lips—if more, these could be his to know once more, just once, why then he could die happy. It wouldn't matter so much—at least to him.

How Mary would feel about it he never paused to think. The fever had him most of the time, you know, and fever and calm thinking are not close bed fellows.

The big minute hand of the big clock in the hospital dragged slowly around the Roman dial many weary times before Private Jones parted company with delirium and pain. Perhaps this battle against odds might have been sooner won had not youth fought alone.

Hope became a deserter early in the action, for Mary did not come. When in his sane moments Private Jones realized her neglect his heart grew bitter within his bosom and rosy life looked gray as ashes.

He obeyed his nurses sullenly, and once his feeble hands tore off the bandages of his wound. After that they watched him closely, which was quite foolish, for when one doesn't care to live it is well to let him die. The bees and the ants and humble savage people understand these things much better than we.

However, one sunshiny day he changed his mind, and determined to get well for spite. He would grow strong; he would arise and walk. The faithless fair one he would hunt and he would haunt his unconcern in her chagrined face. There were other girls—and he was a hero, was he not?

There came a morning in September when Jones, I. Y., was bade to go and return no more. In addition to a "Heaven bless you" they gave him an honorable discharge, his fare to the distant village, which had been his home, and certain few and stinky sovereigns which didn't aggregate a penny a drop for the blood he had shed.

He was pale and not too strong, so that a stout stick stood him in high stead, but the brilliant sky and the glorious salted air wooed him, and he said good-by to his cot and his comrades, his doctor and his nurses, without a pang, albeit one of the latter dropped an unguent jar behind a furtive apron after young Private Jones had pressed her hand in parting.

So Jones went home. At any rate he lived it home. It was where he had lived as a boy and young man, where he had gone to school and learned his trade, where his only kindred slept well in the little graveyard beyond the chestnut grove in the lap of the hill.

There Mary lived, too. He drew a long breath as he thought of Mary. Queer, wasn't it? Not Mary alone, but all his old friends had failed to write

Many women are denied the happiness of children through derangement of the generative organs. Mrs. Beyer advises women to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered with stomach complaint for years. I got so bad that I could not carry my children but five months, then would have a miscarriage. The last time I became pregnant, my husband got me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the first bottle I was relieved of the sickness of stomach, and began to feel better in every way. I continued its use and was enabled to carry my baby to maturity. I now have a nice baby girl, and can work better than I ever could before. I am like a new woman."—MRS. FRANK BEYER, 22 S. Second St., Meriden, Conn.

Another case which proves that no other medicine in the world accomplishes the same results as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was married for five years and gave birth to two premature children. After that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it changed me from a weak, nervous woman to a strong, happy and healthy wife within seven months. Within two years a lovely little girl was born, who is the pride and joy of my household. If every woman who is cured feels as grateful and happy as I do, you must have a host of friends, for every day I bless you for the light, health and happiness Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought to my home. Sincerely yours, Mrs. M. P. WHARRY, Flat 31, The Norman, Milwaukee, Wis."

Actual sterility in woman is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile let her write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., whose advice is given free to all would-be and expectant mothers.

to him while he lay so long in the hospital. No one had cared.

Not even Millford, the farmer, for whom he had worked ever since he could bridge a horse.

Not even Pete Kellar, the friend of his bosom, the only fellow in all Glenhaven who participated in the secret that pretty Mary Farrell had promised to wed sturdy John Jones, when this latter came home from the war.

Well, he would soon know what it all meant. Then he could determine what to do. If Mary had married or was "keeping company" with some one else, never should she see the wound she had left upon his breast.

He would be the gayest of the gay—the most care-free daredevil who ever came home from smelling gunpowder and tasting of lead.

As the village hero he might even do better than Mary. There were other fish in the sea. Well, no, not quite like Mary. To his inner consciousness he would hardly admit this slander, whatever proud teasing of the head he might wear upon his sleeve.

There was only one Mary, after all. He could whip the fellow who would venture to hold a different view.

Even the crawling train which carried Private Jones over the last part of his journey did not stop at the Glenhaven station, except upon signal, or to let off passengers.

Therefore, when the puffing locomotive stopped on this shining morning the station-master came to his door in curiosity, shading his eyes with his hand.

When he saw Private Jones, I. Y.,

Sisal Is Improving Says Terry's Report

Improved conditions in the sisal industry are reported by Assistant Entomologist F. W. Terry, who yesterday filed the following with the Board of Agriculture and Forestry:

Gentlemen:—Owing to the report which has been circulated as to the unsatisfactory condition of the sisal on Sisal Plantation, I accompanied Mr. Thurston to that district on the 10th inst. in order to investigate the matter; and found conditions somewhat better than when visited last April. The distribution of the internal fungus, causing a yellowish and later a brown discoloration of the apical third of the leaf, was very limited, and certainly showed no signs of spreading.

The effects of mealy-bug attack is very evident on some of the older plants, but the more mature insects are very scarce, apparently having been destroyed through some agency, either insect or climatic. Very young mealy-bugs are numerous locally, but I think that the lady-bug, Cryptolaemus montezumae and its larvae will increase accordingly with the food supply, and prevent any serious increase of the pest.

At present the larvae of the beetle are rather scarce. Several plants of various ages were observed to be looking very limp and shriveled, but upon examination no cause could be determined; the plant-tissue appearing perfectly healthy. The cause is no doubt the shallowness of soil and consequent drought. In support of this theory it was observed that the adjoining weeds were also stunted in growth.

Generally speaking, the stock looks very healthy and promising; and the number of young plants ready for transference, far exceeds the available area. At yesterday's Board meeting Entomologist Craw stated that he would propagate an insect to destroy pests attacking sisal. While the pest does not affect the quality of the fiber, it injures the vigor of the plant.

Republicans Busy In Fifth District

The Fifth District was waked up by the Republican campaigners last night. Nearly six hundred people attended the Republican meeting held in the Eighth Precinct. The precinct leaders had made every arrangement to insure the success of the meeting. Music was furnished by a Hawaiian orchestra. S. C. Dwight presided. The meeting did not close until after 11 o'clock.

The speakers were Samuel Kama, San Paulo, Solomon Kalepou, Henry C. Vida, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kekaha, Joe Kalama, A. P. Paalekahi, Solomon Mahelona, Chas. Broad, Pulehu, Moses Kamakoa and Bernard Kelekolio, the Boy Orator.

SO WAS HE.

Richard Harding Davis was attending in New York a performance of his farce, "The Dictator," says the Chicago Chronicle, when a young man nearly entered into conversation with him.

The young man proved to be entertaining. He was tall and strong, and he had been, he said, in every part of the world. Princes, dukes, rajahs, sultans, and even kings, were numbered among his friends.

At the end of the performance he shook Mr. Davis heartily by the hand. "I hope," he said, "that we may meet again. I am Richard Harding Davis."

"Are you?" said Mr. Davis laughing. "So am I."

Books, Bookish People and Things

We get no good by being ungenerous even to a book. E. B. Browning.

"Brigham's Destroying Angel, Being the Life, Confession and Startling Disclosures of the Notorious Bill Hickman." With explanatory notes by J. H. Brader; cloth, 5 x 7 in., 221pp., illustrated; Shepard Pub. Co., Salt Lake City.

Bill Hickman was the "Danite Chief" of Brigham Young and in that capacity did the murderous deeds recounted in this book. It was to carry out the Prophet's "atonement" doctrine, but each no doubt worked under cover of excuse.—Young as Prophet and Hickman as Zealot.

The book, then, is made up of fighting, murdering and every evil deed; it would be inexcusable except as an account of actual conditions which we need to remember. The system was a fungus and grew, like its kind, out of the worst elements; there will be other varieties and new growth here and there again so long as human nature is what it is.

The lower phases of it are shown in individuals as in systems, and men are found to employ "instruments" to carry out their designs, whether they be to further money interests or to satisfy a personal grudge. Wherever there is a class that may be bought or hired to do those deeds, men will be found to make use of them.

The law is evaded by the methods employed. A quickly discerning instrument understands a wink or a flip to mean "do this man up" or to do his property, or mutilate his life or what not.

Of course these measures are the very lowest and come from men utterly degraded, but such men live in all parts of the world, and the only way to detect them is an occasional "traitor," or the use of an efficient detective system like that of the Pinkertons.

Paul Elder & Co., San Francisco, announce "Yosemite Legends," a rendering by Miss Bertha H. Smith of the Indian Legends, six in number, that enrich the associations of Yosemite Valley. The myths are told in a style refreshingly simple and in harmony with the standards of the Indian character. Miss Smith has happily retained the original Indian names, the titles being Yosemite: Po-hono; Hum-moo; Py-we-ack; To-tock-ah-nu-lah and Tis-ack; Kom-pai-palsea.

The volume is to be made notable by a series of thirteen full page illustrations, beautifully printed in color tones, together with a series of marginal, text, and end-paper decorations, also printed in two colors, from designs by Miss Florence Lundborg. Miss Lundborg's illustrations, the result of a long season's work, while illustrative of the text, also interpret the grandeur of the valley with a strength that entirely removes them from the type of landmark sketches.

The conception and execution of the volume promise to be sufficiently distinctive to insure its interest to all lovers of the Yosemite and to earn for it a prominent place among the holiday books of the year.

As a foreword in Dr. Mitchell's novel, "Circumstance," published in 1900, we find: "On a hilltop of an island endeared to me by many memories, the ocean wind has permanently bent pine, fir and spruce. Here and there a single tree remains upright—stanchly refusing to record the effect of circumstance on character."

MOSQUITO WAR

WHAT A RURAL COMMUNITY CAN DO.

Mr. Walter C. Ross.

Any rural community can rid itself of mosquitoes and their capacity for disseminating malaria, providing it is free to act along the well known lines which have been adopted for accomplishing this purpose.

My personal experience is limited to an area on Sateen Island, containing about two square miles, ranging from Arrochar to New Dorp, and from tide water to the top of the hills lying about one mile back from the shore and rising to an elevation of 400 feet.

All the watershed of this area finds its way to the sea through New Creek, which with several branches wanders through the low land between the hills and tide water, and is bordered by marshes formed by overflowing of the creek at high tides. The higher levels are composed of serpentine hills whose characteristic undulations cause numerous storm water ponds in pockets, the natural drainage of which is imperfect.

The conditions of this locality favor the breeding of mosquitoes; the salt and brackish water varieties breeding in the salt marshes of the lower lands approaching the beach, while many fresh water varieties breed in the high land ponds.

In the spring of 1898, a purse was raised among the principal residents, and an oil wagon with pumps and hose secured. Men were trained to handle the oil spraying outfit, while others were employed to cut drains from the hilltop ponds. The work was prosecuted diligently during all of one season and some 25 or more ponds were treated with oil about once a month. The ponds were finally drained.

The oil treatment was successful in killing the mosquito larvae, but the practical limitation was found there, as elsewhere, in getting the oil onto some of the ponds, where the mechanical operation was impeded by boggy shores, bushes, weeds, and undergrowth, while in other cases it was difficult to keep the oil on the surface of exposed ponds where it could be blown ashore by winds.

Altogether, the results on the higher levels, both of oil treatment and drainage, were eminently successful. In certain regions, which were so infested with mosquitoes that one could scarcely walk through them, the pest was so completely removed that scarce a mosquito could be found. The oil was a temporary expedient, the drainage a permanent one.

The great difficulty, however, was found in the marsh areas bordering New Creek behind the beaches. There the areas were too large for the proper application of oil, and though it was industriously applied the frequent tides carried it away. There were also large areas which could not be reached by any appliances at hand.

The prevailing winds would blow a sufficient supply of mosquitoes from these marshy areas to the nearby residence districts to reduce the apparent value of the successful work done on the highlands. During the remainder of the season in question, the only mosquitoes found in abundance were those known to breed in brackish water.

It became obvious through the experience gained on this area that the true remedy lay in dyking the mouth of New Creek just above the beach line, and with flood gates lower the water level in the marshes behind the beach to practically the level of mean low tide. Such dykes are, of course, common in other countries, and some of the dykes built by the early Hollanders on Staten Island are still in service.

Arrangements were being slowly and with great difficulty perfected to accomplish this dyking of New Creek when Richmond County became the Borough of Richmond in Greater New York. The processes of administration changed, resulting in new conditions which have since held this work in suspense.

It is hoped and intended, however, that it shall proceed at an early date, and when done it will offer an exceptional opportunity to show what can be done in a community of sufficient size to demonstrate the effectiveness of methods, and for reasons which are obvious, upon observation of the area it can be done for a nominal expense as compared with the cost in many other situations.

This rural community has done enough by private subscription to show what needs be done to effectually accomplish the desired end—the complete remedy being one which can now be handled only through municipal action.

If the City of New York will through its proper departments and at a nominal expense of a few thousand dollars do that which only the city can do, the neighboring rural community will further show what can be done to complete the operation.

I have no hesitation in saying that the results will be such that other neighboring communities will rapidly follow with similar protection, even though it entails greater expense. What has heretofore seemed a more or less mysterious operation will soon become common practice. Common practice will quickly become a matter of course, and the mosquito as a pest or as a germ carrying insect will cease to exist. Address before Mosquito Extermination Convention.

DIGGING THE CANAL

PREPARATIONS NOW GOING ON TO CLEAN THE STRIP

MAY CHANGE WHOLE SCHEME OF CONSTRUCTION AND CUT OUT LOCK SYSTEM—REPORT PROGRESS.

Washington, Sept. 18.—Carl E. Grunsky of the Isthmian Canal Commission returned to Washington today from Panama. He gave a most encouraging report of the progress of the work on the canal and other matters, such as the sanitation of Colon and Panama and the canal zone.

"The Panama canal zone is as healthy as an part of the United States," was one of Mr. Grunsky's statements. "There has been only one case of yellow fever in a long time at Panama, and we will surely clean out the mosquitoes, which cause malaria and fever. Drainage operations are going on rapidly, and the water works and sewer system of Panama City will soon be installed."

"People ask when big operations will begin on the canal itself. These will begin just as soon as we can determine what the surface level of the canal will be. The last Commission's report recommended a surface level of eighty-five or ninety feet above sea level, with big locks for controlling the water. Within two weeks after we took hold of the job we sent engineers to the route to determine whether or not this surface level could be reduced. If we can get a sea-level canal without great expense we would like to do it. If not, we want as low a level as we can get. It will be one of sixty feet that would be much better than a ninety-foot canal. Four engineer parties are now at work on this question. One party is at Colon, where the Atlantic harbor will be located; one at Balboa dam site, one at Gatun and one at Gamboa. When these parties have completed their calculations and we have arrived at a definite conclusion work will begin."

"There are now at work about 600 laborers on the big Culebra cut. This is at the continental divide, which will have to be cut through in any event, and the laborers might as well keep on shoveling and blasting while we are determining the canal plans. The principal canal digging, however, will be by machinery. In fact, there will be so little manual labor that the question of labor supply does not bother us at all. It will be a year, in any event, before much labor is needed. We have not given any attention at all to the question of Chinese or other cheap labor. I do not think the Pacific Coast will be able to compete with the East in furnishing supplies for canal work, except in lumber. San Francisco might, perhaps, get a contract for furnishing sewer pipe. We are hurrying the work of building houses for employees and otherwise clearing the way for active construction."
