HAWAII TO MAKE A STRIKING SHOW AT ALASKA-YUKON

A Model of the Group in Relief Maps, Floating in a Miniature Sea, to Be the Central Feature of the Exhibit.

A novel exhibit for Hawaii at the Alaska-Yukon Exposition is planned by the commission appointed by Governor Frear to have charge of the matter. The central feature of the exhibit is to be a series of relief maps of the group resting in a cement tank of water so arranged as to show the several islands in the relative size and direction from each other and their relative distances apart. The plan is to give as realistic an idea of the location and relation of the islands as possible. The bottom of the tank is to be colored blue, so as to give a blue tinge to the water, which is to be kept in slight agitation all the time to represent the agitation of the sea. Toy vessels are to be on the water. The relief maps are to be colored so as to show the various kinds of agriculture carried on. The sugar plantations, the ranches, and the coffee and pineapple regions will all be marked.

This exhibit will occupy a central place in the Hawaii building at the exposition. It will be so built with a substantial railing around it that visitors can lean on the railing while looking at the relief maps. The names of the several islands will be so placed that there will be neither difficulty nor mistake in determining them. Pearl Harbor, with all the plans for its improvement, will be shown, and it is probable that the principal streams in the islands will be realistically represented by water flowing in the courses. It is even possible that Kilauea may be represented in action.

In an adjoining room fitted up for the bioscope, moving pictures of scenes in Hawaii will be shown, with explanatory lectures. These moving pictures will probably include Bonine's moving pictures of Kilauea.

Lloyd Childs and Superintendent Babbitt were busy all day yesterday in preparing plans for the interior of the building, its decoration and the arrangement of the exhibits. These plans it was necessary to prepare and get off to Washington by the Alameda, or, in default of them arriving as early as by that steamer, the government would have proceeded to plan the interior of the building, as it had already done the exterior.

With this realistic representation of the islands floating in a blue sea as the central feature of the exhibit of the Territory, and adding to it other features harmonious with this idea, but striking in themselves, it is believed that an effective display can be made such as will attract attention to the exhibit and to the islands. It is intended in these maps to show as far as may be possible the geological formation as well as the topography of the islands. There will be coral reefs shown by means of coral sand, and there will be some real coral to show exactly how coral reefs are built up.

The maps are to be made by Dean W. T. Pope of the College of Hawaii.

SPELLBINDERS TO WINDWARD

The Republican Candidates to Start Out Tomorrow In Autos.

Tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock a procession of automobiles will start from Republican headquarters on Fort street and proceed to Kaneohe on the initial island tour of the Republican candidates-at-large. In the automobiles will be about twenty-two of the Republican nominees, headed by John Lane, candidate for Mayor, and including George Kaen, the gambler aspirant for the House on the same ticket.

At a meeting of the candidates-at-large at Republican headquarters last evening a fair representation of the candidates was present. Harry von Holt presided with John Lane at his elbow. It was finally decided to make the island tour by way of the Pali, going first to Kaneohe, then on to Kahana, then through the Hauula district to Laie where a meeting will be held Thursday evening.

On Friday the party will proceed to Waialua and hold another big meeting, and the next morning some candidates will leave by train for Wainane and remain there to await the coming of others who will leave Waialua in the autos and proceed to Ewa by way of Wahiawa and Pearl City, going to Wainane from Ewa by train. After the meeting at Wainane during the day-time the entire party will go to Ewa on the afternoon train, hold a meeting there that night, and return to Honolulu by moonlight in the autos.

Jim Quinn, candidate for supervisor, has proffered the use of his big machine and Edgar Henriques and Norman Watkins will make use of their autos, and one other is yet to be procured. The candidates who are to leave are John C. Lane, John Wise, James Bicknell, D. Kalauakalani, John Cathcart, Harry von Holt, William Ahia, Andrew Cox, William A. Kane, Daniel Logan, James C. Quinn, Norman Watkins, Edgar Henriques, John Hughes, E. W. Quinn, the candidates of the Fifth District for representatives, and Rev. Stephen Desha.

The party travel in light marching order, very little baggage, despite the appeal of candidate Dan Logan to take along a suit of pajamas. However, as the party remains in the country two nights, the order may be posted permitting pajamas, combs, hair brushes and safety razors to be carried along. Dan said he could get along without the razor.

Posters will be sent ahead and notices given by telephone that the Republican delegation is coming, and the little Hauula railroad running between Kahana and Kahuku, may be used to carry excursionists to Laie on Thursday evening to get the voters of the district together.

NO WIRELESS GAVE FROM THE FLEET

Inquiry of Captain Moses, U. S. N., at the Naval Station last evening as to whether wireless information had reached here from the Pacific fleet as to its approach to this port, resulted in the statement that nothing whatever had been heard from Admiral Swinburne, and Captain Moses smilingly added, "The secret is yet a secret."

Better be sure than sorry; register today and be on time.

FATHER ULRICH TO START HOME TODAY

Father Ulrich of the Catholic mission, who went to Germany several months ago for special eye treatment, will leave Antwerp today for Honolulu, his eyesight very much improved. He will be accompanied by Father James and three new priests who will be sent to various stations in the islands. Two of them have been in England for some time.

Father Joseph is soon to return to Honolulu and with him will come several sisters who will take charge of the new orphanage in Kalihi valley.

FOR MEDICAL INSPECTION

Superintendent William Babbitt Issues Valuable Pamphlet.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Babbitt has just had published in pamphlet form a number of papers on the subject of medical inspection of schools. The pamphlet is entitled "Hawaii's Need of Medical Inspection in Schools."

The object of it is to spread as widely as possible information on a subject which is pressing upon the attention of public school officials everywhere, and which in a number of states has been met by adequate legislation and action.

The pamphlet contains Mr. Babbitt's paper on the subject read before the Social Science Club some time ago setting forth the objects to be attained by the examination proposed, and the probabilities of success so far as experience here and elsewhere throws light on the subject. His object is to show the advantage and benefit, not to the public alone but to the individual.

In addition there is a paper on the necessity for the examination of the eyes, nose, ears and throat of school children, by Dr. William C. Rogers. Dr. J. M. Whitney contributes a paper on the care of children's teeth. Dr. James R. Judd contributes a paper on tuberculosis among school children in Honolulu. Dr. L. E. Cofer writes from the quarantine standpoint.

The Massachusetts law on the subject is given as indicating the method adopted in a progressive commonwealth to meet the situation. The rules for inspection in the New York City schools are also given.

COLORADO'S SILVER SERVICE

SAN FRANCISCO, October 6.—The silver service for the cruiser Colorado was formally presented by the authorities of that State today.

The Denver Post of August 4 describes the silver service as follows:

It takes more than a silver punch bowl to express Colorado's appreciation of the honor of having a mighty cruiser named for her.

Colorado is the first State to give a complete dinner set to the vessel which takes her name.

Although it took considerable time to accumulate the funds for an appropriate gift to the Colorado, the silver service is so handsome that it will long be the talk of the country. The last Legislature appropriated $4000, by popular subscription $900 was raised, and The Post made up the deficit, so that the bid of $5000 by Syman Brothers could be covered.

Less than two months ago the contract was awarded after competitive bids had been submitted. The cruiser committee is composed of former Governor Jesse McDonald, former Governor Alva Adams, Meyer Friedman, John McDonough, Henry Russell Ray and Governor H. A. Buechel.

This committee will go to San Francisco, where, August 22, the formal presentation will be made.

The set which Colorado will present to the cruiser is in the old Paul Revere pattern. For simplicity and elegance

ELECTION LAWS WITH NOTES

Valuable Manual on the Subject Prepared by Secretary Mott-Smith.

There is a great demand among politicians, officials of election and others interested in the election for copies of the election laws compiled and annotated by Secretary Mott-Smith. This is a pamphlet of forty-four pages, carefully indexed, which contains all the statute law, congressional and legislative, bearing on the subject of elections in this Territory. In addition, every court decision by courts within this Territory bearing in any way on the subject is cited in connection with the sections to which they relate, and, in addition, much matter of information is included in the notes.

In the arrangement of the work the provisions of the Organic Act bearing on elections are given, arranged according to a rational sequence of subjects. Next are given the provisions of the Revised Laws. These include chapters six and eight. Then are given the provisions of the County Act which in any way relate to elections, and following this the provisions of the City and County Act on the same subject.

To the preparation of this work Secretary Mott-Smith gave a great deal of time and very careful and painstaking examination of every subject connected with it.

The compilation was designed especially to aid officers of election, and all who have anything to do with elections, who have examined it, have found it extremely convenient for reference and valuable as an authority.

WORK OF FRAMING OFFICIAL BALLOT

Secretary Mott-Smith was engaged yesterday in drafting the form of the tickets to be used at the coming elections. The last Legislature made a number of amendments to the election law affecting the form of the ticket, and the Supreme Court, in its decision in the contested election case of Brown against Lauke, made, perhaps, more. Secretary Mott-Smith's effort will be to make the ticket in its form conform completely to the law as declared by the Legislature and by the Supreme Court, and at the same time be as thoroughly and easily intelligible to the voter as can be. One of the features of the ballot this year will be that the line marking off the squares within which the voter must put his mark will be a very heavy one, making the squares conspicuous. On the ballot two years ago this line was not very heavy, and the results indicated that many voters, perhaps with defective eyesight, failed to notice the line and did not always get their marks within the required spaces.

TENEMENT BUILDERS TEST ORDINANCE

An effort is being made to prevent the erection of the Japanese tenement camp on Piikoi street, opposite the Kaahumanu School, and injunction proceedings brought by Col. C. J. McCarthy compelled Muranaka and Yamana to appear in the police court yesterday morning. E. C. Peters defends the Japanese camp-builders, and the trial of the case will be in the nature of a test of County Ordinance No. 11, recently passed by the Board of Supervisors and intended to prevent the erection of camps in certain districts or within a certain number of feet of a schoolhouse. The case was continued until today, when argument will be presented by both sides.

NOT ANOTHER STEP.

Pat got on the rear of a crowded street car and was obliged to steady himself against the door. "Move up," shouted the conductor at every street, as more passengers were taken on. Pat moved up a step each time, but at the next stop he got mad and he yelled back at the conductor: "Bedad, I paid to ride. Do you expect me to walk all the way home?"

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a break-down, as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same; the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in such cases is increased vitality—VITALITY.

VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY

to throw off these morbid feelings, and experience proves that as night succeeds the day this may be more certain secured by a course of THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY THERAPION No. 3 than by any other known combination. So surely as it is taken in accordance with the printed directions accompanying it, will the shattered health be restored.

THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE

This wonderful medicine is purely vegetable and innocuous, is agreeable to the taste, suitable for all constitutions and conditions, in either sex; and it is difficult to imagine a case of disease or derangement, whose main features are those of debility, that will not be speedily and permanently benefited by this never-failing recuperative essence, which is destined to cast into oblivion everything that had preceded it for this wide-spread and numerous class of human ailments.

meeting will be held in Kakaako near the junction of South and Queen streets. A number of candidates will be on hand to deliver addresses. A Hawaiian quintet has been engaged and there will be plenty of music interspersed with the discussion of issues.

Bicknell Is Sure.

James Bicknell, candidate for auditor on the Republican ticket, feels certain of his election over Anderson, the Democratic nominee. The outer districts went strong for him last election and the one before that, and he has no reason to think there will be much of a change of sentiment toward him outside of Honolulu. He expects to do most of his campaigning in Honolulu.

Almost Six Thousand.

Five thousand eight hundred and some odd voters had registered up to 8 o'clock last evening. This is considerably short of the registration two years ago. The board closes its books at 8 p. m. Friday night of this week and very little time is left to eleven-hour voters to get their names down. The board has three sittings a day, as follows: 8 to 10 a. m., 12 noon to 1 p. m. and 4 to 8 p. m.

Laukea Expects Help.

Sheriff Laukea, independent candidate for reelection to the office he now occupies, expects to get at least 1500 votes from church people. He says there are several thousand persons who go to church on Sunday and not to the baseball games and he expects to get the majority of the votes of the former class.

Talked to Stevedores.

While the steamships Columbian, Santa Maria, Alameda and Lurline and bark R. P. Rithet were bunched at the wharves in the Ewa end of the harbor yesterday, a Hawaiian stevedore on the Columbian took advantage of the noon-hour lull to make a speech from the top of a boiler lashed on the freighter's upper deck. From there he commanded a view of all the other steamer decks and his voice was powerful enough to be heard distinctly on the Hackfeld wharf. He was a Laborer and made a humorous appeal to the stevedores to come in strong for the candidates of the double-headed party. The white steamer employees listened to the harangue with considerable interest.

The Vote for Mayor.

Achi has it figured out nicely and knows just how and by what number of votes he can defeat Fern and Lane in the Fifth District, and in addition knows just what majority Lane needs in the Fourth District to win out at all. This is the way the Laborite chieftain has worked out the problem: If Lane does not get 500 majority in the Fourth District he is beaten. In the Fifth District he needs many votes above the average, to offset any possible defection under that 500 in the Fourth. In this case Achi believes he can beat the combined vote of Fern and Lane in the Fifth.

Achi says his followers will vote for Cathcart solidly. If they do not, then Cathcart will be beaten. The same authority has it that the Republicans are not going to support Cathcart, but intend to throw their support to Long, but the same crowd that votes for Long will vote for Jarrett for Sheriff.

Rival Meetings.

Two political meetings were held at the Vineyard street camp on Monday evening, or, rather, there was but one real meeting, and Achi claims this for the Laborites. The Laborite-Home Rule faction met at the camp with Achi and several spellbinders and they harangued the crowd. Candidate Fern of the Democratic party and some others also started a meeting nearby, but according to Achi there was no Democratic meeting, that he and the rest of the Home Rulers held the crowd and finally Fern went away. In spite of Fern's linguistic ability, and particularly his ability to speak Portuguese, which amuses the crowds, Achi says that Fern was not a magnet at Camp No. 2.

Laborers is Their Name.

A two-headed political party has bothered the leaders of the Laborite and Home Rule parties, and there appeared to be a lack of cohesion even in the two names which would mean anything to the followers of the two parties. Yesterday one of the leaders solved the problem and offered the combination name of "Laborers." One way thought it ought to be "Labrulas," but this was rejected because it sounded too much like "Zebrulas." However, "Laborers" or "Labrulas" seems to be the choice for the party name.

Mass Meeting October 24.

Delegate Kalaniana'ole left for Hawaii yesterday in the Mauna Kea and will campaign for a couple of weeks. He was accompanied by Judge Mahulu. Mr. Atkinson, who planned to go with the party, was unable to do so. Prince Kuhio will follow McAndless and talk Republican doctrine to counteract the Democratic brand of politics turned loose by the Bourbon candidate for delegate to Congress. Rev. Stephen Desha of Hilo remains here to attend to some private business and will therefore be a frequent speaker at Republican meetings. On October 24 a mass meeting of Republicans will be held at the Orpheum and the list of speakers will shortly be announced.

Soap-Box Politics Begins.

The Bethel street soap-box politics has begun, the first speaker taking the rostrum yesterday noon. This was Albert Kauwe, a Democrat. A small crowd hung around the four corners, willing and idle listeners. Every day at noon until the end of the campaign the Bethel street corner will be a popular political rendezvous. The custom of former years, that of having speakers of different parties follow in equal rotation, will be observed.

October 9 is the last day for registering. The nearer the end the more crowded will be the office. Be wise and register today.

NOT MANY AT SOCCER RALLY

Dr. Hand Proposes a Good Practise Scheme—Roller to Speak Tonight.

Could not be called a large and enthusiastic crowd of soccer players who responded to Dr. Hand's request to all Y. M. C. A. players to turn up at a meeting in the Association rooms last night, but those few who were there were live ones of the first water, and it looks very good for the future of soccer here.

The object of this meeting was to get members of the Y. M. C. A. who play the game together to practise before the league opens the season officially, irrespective of what teams they play for. The idea is not to develop a Y. M. C. A. team by any means, but to give everybody who plays the game and belongs to the institution a chance to get fit in the most intelligent way possible, namely, by playing the game.

Dr. Hand's idea was to form three teams, who would play a series of six games, every Saturday, which would just about bring them to the official season. The winning team would be banqueted by the Association.

The way the teams would be selected would be to divide the players up into positions, full-backs, half-backs and forwards, and then let the captain of each team draw players by lot. This would result in an even distribution of the players and probably very even teams.

This idea was applauded by those present, and so the doctor appointed a committee of three men to hustle round and see all the players, ask them if they liked the idea and get them to turn out.

These players will be taken from every team in town, but no attempt will be made to get them away from their own teams. The Y. M. C. A. will rely entirely on those players who have represented the Association heretofore and new material that has come in since then.

With regard to a ground, Dr. Hand and some other players will take a look at the Boys' Field ground on Liliha street, see what condition it is in and what must be done to make it properly fit for soccer and then what arrangements can be made to hire it for the use of the soccer players. The result of all this he will report to the league at the meeting which is to be held next Friday night.

Dr. Roller, who will leave for the Coast on Sunday, will address the Y. M. C. A. tonight and tell something of how he brought himself to his present magnificent physical development and give one of his own pleasant talks on athletics generally.

SEA WRENS GO
CRITICS TALKS

The tenth order for sea wrens came in early yesterday morning and was followed by confirmations from those who had already promised to come in. All that the committee is now waiting for is word from the other islands as to how many are coming in, and, as soon as they hear from those who have expressed an interest in the boats, the combined order will be sent back to the factory.

Anybody who wishes information or to put an order in downtown may do so by seeing Ray Rietow at 207 Judd building. Judging by the interest displayed and the number of people who have been into this office to look at the plans, there will be nearer twenty parts ordered than ten. If this is the case, the manufacturers will possibly make further reduction in the price.

There was plenty of talk round town yesterday with regard to the Yacht Club's plans for the disposition of the yacht Hawaii, and the plan met with general approval, although there was some criticism, principally by those who have no interest in the yacht. These dissatisfied ones sniffed and said that it would be a good thing for the Yacht Club, but when asked for a better solution of the difficulty, they were dumb.

Here are two of the suggestions that were offered. One was to number each share in the yacht—that is, each $5 subscription, so that a man who donated $5 would get one chance, or $100 twenty chances, and so on. Shake all the numbers up in a hat and then draw one. The man holding that number to take the yacht and the $3000 debt with it.

Another one was to put a caretaker aboard at $30 a month and turn over the boat for use to anybody who would volunteer to pay that $30 each month until the next race. There were plenty of others, but these two are, if possible, the least impracticable of the lot. Comment, of course, is unnecessary.

THE SONG OF THE SLEEPY SOCCERITES.

Fifty-seven postcards
To fifty-seven men,
Each properly directed,
And setting forth just when
A meeting of the players
Of soccer there would be,
To get together and arrange—
Some practise teams, say three.

Dozing, we're merely dozing—
You couldn't call our slumber very deep;
Dozing, yes, that's it, dozing—
We're half awake and only half asleep.

The evening of the meeting Arrived, as meetings will;
Three men had parties on that night,
Another one was ill.
Within the room sat Dr. Hand,
And just eleven more;
They thought they heard a player speak,
But it was just a snore.

Dreaming, we're sweetly
dreaming, Dreaming of the games we used to play;
Dreaming, you bet we're
dreaming,
So kindly do not wake us up today.

So Dr. Hand decided
He'd hunt the dustman down,
And stop him making sleepy
The players of this town.
He hustled up three live ones,
And told them to go out
And wake those soccer players,
So soon we'll hear them shout:

Waking, of course, we're waking;
We may have been to sleep,
but, just the same,
At last we're waking, yes, really waking—We'll all turn out to play the grand old game.

JACK DENSHAM.

OLYMPICS WILL MAKE SIDE BET

More kiddies in the field. Here is another team that has championship aspirations and wants to meet all comers. How is this for the right kind of talk?

"Editor Advertiser.—Please announce through your columns our deft to play any kiddlet team playing at Atkinson Park, in a game of baseball. The Ocean Views, the Bulletins, Stars, Giants, or any other small team, the game to be played next Sunday at 1:30 p. m., if the field is ours. We should like to make a side bet of $2.—Leon Sterling, captain Olympic team."

You are all right Olympics; you ought to get the game easily enough with side bet and all.

REILLY SIGNS UP WITH LEAHY

Weight Question Is Settled Satisfactorily to All the Parties Concerned.

After the usual talk and argument about weight, Joe Leahy and Charlie Reilly were finally signed up yesterday to box fifteen rounds in the Orpheum on Saturday, October 17. For a time it looked as though the weight question was going to be a serious difficulty, but Leahy gave in to Reilly, and it was finally decided that they should weigh in at 131 pounds at five o'clock on the afternoon of the bout.

The reason of this is not very apparent until one considers Reilly's championship possibilities. If he is ever to become the lightweight champion of the world, or anywhere near it, he must be at his very best at 133 pounds when he enters the ring.

At present he is slightly lighter than that. He is at just the right age for gaining weight intelligently and, from his point of view, he is perfectly right in refusing to make 128 pounds any more. There is no doubt that he could make 128 pounds easily enough if he cared to, but being the first-come and having made a reputation here, Reilly is undoubtedly the drawing card, and so can make his own terms to a great extent.

Weighting at that notch at five o'clock means that Reilly will be just about 133 pounds when he enters the ring. This will add interest to the go, for Reilly will be sized up with a very classy boxer, and should he fail to make a very good showing, or even put Leahy away, we may conclude that he will not rise to the championship ranks for some time at any rate.

If, on the other hand, Reilly can put it all over Leahy at that weight, he will have a right to go back to the Coast and demand attention from the big promoters. A few main preliminaries will follow, and then a real main event. That is the way champions are made, especially if they have some well-known manager back of them to boost all the time and act the prolific press agent.

The same may be said for Leahy and Leahy. The same may be said for Leahy and three little boxers who comes out ahead and defeats the other two decisively will have a right and a chance to go back to the Coast and make a splurge. It is specially true of boxers that they are never without honor save in their own country. Although all these boys are admired as being very clever on the Coast, after a trip to Honolulu and a good record here, they will command infinitely more attention from the promoters than if they had stayed by the Golden Gate all the time.

Leahy has wanted very much to go to Fort Shafter, but decided that the other location was better, as it is right in town and will give the fans what they claim as a right, the chance to see him work.

Yesterday morning he was out on the road, but did no work in the afternoon, as he has not yet found a sparring partner. It is expected that he will have a full staff by this afternoon and will probably do his first indoor work on the Orpheum stage today.

Leahy states that this climate is ideal for training. "I found," said he, "after my run this morning that I felt fine. One perspires so easily and freely that it seems to take away some of the effort, and I came in feeling quite refreshed. Another grand thing about the climate here is that it is comfortably warm at night, and a fellow doesn't take chances of getting a horrible cold if he goes out of the house without putting on a lot of extra underclothing, like in San Francisco or Los Angeles."

Reilly has already started work at the marine camp. He will not do any hard work for several days on account of being quite fit after his little seance of last Saturday night, and he is taking no chances of going stale.

FOOTBALLERS MAKE SCHEDULE

The intercollegiate football schedule has been arranged, and both Kamehameha and St. Louis are unrepresented. The only two teams of different institutions are the Punahou and the High School, and they have made up a schedule of six dates by putting out two teams each.

The first eleven will meet on November 7, 14 and 21, and the second teams will try conclusions on the day previous in each case, November 6, 13 and 20. The ground on which each game will be played is not yet decided on, but it is expected that all games will be played on the new Alexander field, as this is a truly ideal place for football, and Makiki park, where the High School has been practising, is anything but that.

Both institutions have a long list of aspirants out for gridiron honors, and there will be no trouble about getting two good elevens in both cases. The High School boys are out on Makiki park every afternoon, and are rapidly rounding into good shape. Out at Oahu College the footballers are using the old campus for practise, so as to leave the new turf on Alexander field a chance to take good root before the games are played.

LEAHY HAS MEDAL FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Joe Leahy has a medal which he wears as a watch-fob, of which he is justly proud. The medal bears the figure of a boxer standing in offensive pose, and underneath is inscribed, "Olympic Club Tournament, San Francisco, 1903," showing that Joe won the amateur championship in his class for that year.

This medal, combined with Leahy's record, is a hard combination to beat, and they go to show that we are going to see a really classy boy when he steps into the ring. The following is his record:

Willie Edwards, w., 4 rds.; Dick Cullen, d., 4 rds.; Jack Bowles, k., 3 rds.; Jack Bowles, k., 1 rd.; Dick Murray, w., 4 rds.; Jack O'Brien, w., 4 rds.; Willie Edwards, k., 2 rds.; Joe Carroll, w., 4 rds.; Geo. Kolb, k., 2 rds.; Danny Sullivan, k., 3 rds.; Willie Conroy, w., 10 rds.; Paul Martin, d., 8 rds.; Jack McFadden, d., 6 rds.; Frankie Edwards, d., 4 rds.; Young Duffy, k., 5 rds.; Joe Kelly, w., 6 rds.; Dick Cullen, d., 4 rds.; Willie O'Neil, w., 4 rds.; Frankie Edwards, d., 4 rds.; Dick Wheeler, k., 7 rds.; Ed Derby, w., 10 rds.; Joe Rodgers, k., 5 rds.; Alex. McDonald, k., 3 rds.; Johnny Murphy, d., 4 rds.; Dick Cullen, w., 6 rds.; and last, but by no means least, Chas. Reilly, d., 4 rds.

FAREWELL FOR PIERRE BARON

Pete Baron, who will leave for Seattle with Dr. Roller next Sunday, was bidden farewell by the Diamond Head Athletic Club at the regular monthly meeting last night. The grand old athlete made a short speech, in which he thanked the boys for their kindly interest in him and told of his future prospects and what he expects his principal, Dr. Roller, to do.

The club took up the matter of soccer and Carl Oss was elected manager of the Diamond Head team and appointed a committee of one to rustle up players and get them out to practise.

By general acclamation Dr. Roller was elected an honorary member of the club, and the meeting broke up with a general and very deep feeling of regret that the two great athletes are about to leave Honolulu.

C. A. C. S. WILL HOLD MEETING TOMORROW

The Chinese Athletic Club has put back its regular monthly meeting one day. Instead of meeting next Friday, as previously arranged, they will meet tomorrow at the Chinese Y. M. C. A. hall at 7:30 p. m. All members of the club are requested to be present, as there are matters of importance to be discussed.

Now that the C. A. C. S. have hewed their way to the top of the Riverside League, they have made up their minds to stay there, and every member and well-wisher of the team is anxious that they should get the most practise possible.

A MORNING PAPER.

WALTER G. SMITH - - - - - EDITOR

WEDNESDAY : : : : : OCTOBER 7

One of the most gratifying things about the Republican local campaign is the character and personnel of the committee in charge. Politics is now done on a higher plane than it was wont to be, and while idealism in regard to a non-personal campaign, where the one great issue is that of honest and competent men in office, may be too subtle an elixir for human nature's daily food, it is something to have gained a committee that has ideals above booze, beer and buncombe.

NOT A POLITICAL QUESTION.

The debate over government by commission has been chiefly academic, and, as such, has had educational value, but it is a mistake to think that the subject is political, and, therefore, one which may be affected by public opinion here. One might argue week in and week out, prove the case for it or against it as a question of civil polity, and not bring results. That is because government by commission, if it comes, will be the result of military necessity. It will not be left to the decision of our parties, our Legislature, or our courts; but will be dealt with at Washington as part of the national problem of defence in these waters.

An insular war base consists of something more than forts, guns, ammunition, ships, dockyards and a garrison. In the first place, the military and naval plant having been built and manned, it must be made self-supporting as to food, so that it may withstand a blockade. This implies that the Federal power must so far control the public land as to make sure that it will be available for raising food and forage. Health conditions can not be left to the caprice of legislatures which may have neither the money nor the disposition to perfect them. The Federal power must look after sanitation, street cleaning and drainage. Roads and bridges leading to strategic points must be made to bear the weight of artillery in rapid transit; and left to itself, the Island of Oahu, as is the case with Bermuda, could not afford to build and maintain such highways. At all war bases it is the custom to make use of a constabulary rather than a police, and to be able, at all times, to commandeer the resources of a waterfront, to control the water supply of cities and towns, to supervise the fire department and to keep it at the highest state of efficiency. Military policy would not permit these utilities to depend, for their support, upon the result of elections or the personnel of elective civil office. The army chief of the war base should have the final word or the base could not be deemed effective in the highest and best sense. He would be in absolute control during war; in times of peace he would naturally, as in the Philippines, work with a commission, which would relieve him of the problems of civil administration, and, by order of the President, work with him along prescribed and definite lines. There would be no room for friction between the two sets of Federal authority; but such friction could hardly be avoided as between Federal, Territorial, county and municipal systems, each with its own point of view.

There are many of our people, wise and discerning citizens, who would rather work out the problem of self-government here than to seek a pro-consular guarantee. Other wise and discerning men prefer the fixed stability of Federal rule; but neither party, as we believe, will affect a situation which depends upon the war policy of the government.

JOURNALISM IN TURKEY.

One of the first results of the bloodless revolution in Turkey was a constitutional guarantee of the freedom of the press. Before that time the empire had journals of the day, but they were so closely censored as to be of the most limited utility, both as newspapers and as organs of public thought. The government could not be criticized, an illness of the Sultan could not be mentioned, and both domestic and foreign policies were under the ban. There was a tabu on religious, military and official news and upon the doings of higher society. Ninety-eight words were forbidden to see print, liberty, freedom, fatherland, revolution, tyranny, despot and patriotism being among them. Poetry was outlawed because of the possibility of hidden meanings.

As soon as the constitution was granted, newspapers sprang up on all sides. The leading daily of Constantinople, which had a circulation of 5000, began to issue 40,000 copies. All the print paper in the capital was used up and Vienna was drawn upon for more. In one day permits were issued for sixty newspapers. Prices per copy of the established ones doubled, trebled, and went further. Indeed, the leading newspaper of Constantinople was sold at Scutari for forty times its published retail price, so hungry were the Turks to hear it speak for itself and for them without a censorship between. The character of the new journals may be judged by their names, Liberty, Justice, Straight-Road, Soldier.

If the free press of Turkey is let alone, it will change the face of society in the Ottoman Empire, as it has done elsewhere. The Turk is not beyond complete civilization. He is, individually speaking, a man of honor, a gentleman, a fine fellow to know. All he needs is to catch the full spirit of the age he lives in, and that will be the end of his fanaticism, his repression of women, and the other defects of habit, which are more the result of hereditary usage than of any vital fault in the character of the Turk himself. With the aid of the Christian mission and his own printing press he will find a path to the King's highway.

Despite the progress made in air navigation, Thomas A. Edison says that the problem is still unsolved. He has little faith in the aeroplane or the balloon, both of which depend too much on the operator. Where inventor Wright made his machine fly, the next man would smash it for want of Wright's peculiar skill. Mr. Edison thinks the aeroplane and dirigible will be improved, but looks for an application different from either in the successful airship. The sky-flyer of the future, Mr. Edison says, will be lifted by a mechanism something like a spiral. It will have the ability to rise without first giving it forward momentum, and it will not imitate closely the flight of birds. "With the helical lifting appliance, proved propellers and device for maintaining balance in the air, the future airship will fly into the teeth of the wind, will rise to heights where favorable currents may be found, or skim the surface of the earth. Yes, navigation of the air will surely come. It is simply a question of applying mechanical knowledge in a new way."

From August 26 up to the latest mail advices, New England and New York have been in the grip of a drouth, the most severe since 1881. Water in the smaller lakes is receding at the rate of one inch a day, and wells have run dry. Lake Champlain is lower than it has been in twenty-seven years, and steamers no longer touch at St. Alban's bay. Vermont mills, which depend on water power, have shut down. Cattle are suffering for forage, and this affects the milk supply. A Boston dispatch of September 25 said that smoke from the burning forests of Maine, Canada, and northern New York had been hanging over New England, recalling the famous "yellow days of 1881," when the sun was obscured for weeks.

They did not kill the fatted calf when ex-Senator Burton of Kansas went over to the Democracy. A Topeka special to the Kansas City Journal says: "So far there has been no great demand on the Democratic managers for speeches by ex-Senator J. R. Burton. Only one request has come into headquarters since Burton tendered his services to the Democrats, and that was really an inquiry when Burton was going to take the stump. It came from the Democratic manager of Cloud county."

The Star, which ridiculed the straight ticket two years ago, may be pardoned for enthusiasm over it now. A ticket which includes one of its editors and the foreman of its composing room can not be anything short of a saint's rest.

No, it is not political dirty linen that is hanging across the streets. It's bunting, which shows that the fleet has not outworn its welcome, whatever may be said of the wear on the flags.

If anybody can recall a political prediction of Achi's which came out whole in the wash, he can have free space in the Advertiser to tell about it.

Looking at both the style and the type, one suspects Roe of Waikiki of writing the editorials in one of the evening papers.

The last man that any community will stand by, whatever his cause, is a man with the meddler's itch.

MORTUARY RECORD FOR PAST SEPTEMBER

The report of D. P. Lawrence, Registrar of Vital Statistics, for the month of September has just been issued. It shows that the number of deaths in Honolulu during the month was 77. Of these 52 were deaths of males and 25 of females. There were 6 American; 3 British; 5 Chinese; 36 Hawaiian; 16 Japanese; 10 Portuguese, and 1 of another nationality. Of the deaths 2 were of non-residents. There were 80 births reported and 61 marriages. In September, 1907, there were only 55 deaths.

Pulmonary consumption shared honors with pneumonia as a cause of death during September, each being credited with eight. Meningitis claimed four victims and diseases of the nervous system in all 19. From febrile or zymotic diseases there were 4 deaths; diarrheal 3; dietetic 2; constitutional 12; developmental 2; circulatory 7, including what seems to be a new disease or a newly described one, Basedow's disease; respiratory system 12; digestive system 8; urinary system 5; and by accident and violence 2.

RIVAL SOCIALS.

Central Union Sunday school will hold a novel social event Friday evening. At a meeting of the executive committee and teachers last night, arrangements were completed to hold three rival socials. The city has been divided into three divisions. Division I, which includes all students that live east of Piikoi street, will meet in the new parish house. Division II, the students living between Piikoi and Punchbowl streets, will hold their social in the junior Sunday school room. Division III, the students living west of Punchbowl street, will occupy the senior Sunday school room.

Three committees were appointed to look after entertainment and refreshments for their respective divisions.

One of the main purposes of these rival socials is to arouse interest in the three-month campaign for new students.

The captains will be appointed and the plan of campaign for their divisions will be announced. The whole affair promises to be of unusual interest.

CHINESE CERTIFICATES.

Secretary Mott-Smith, who has been very busy of late examining Chinese applying for certificates of Hawaiian birth so that they might qualify to register as voters, will not act on any further applications from Chinese for Hawaiian birth certificates while such may be secured from the Immigration Department. He acted on the applications made at the present time because Inspector Brown is in other parts of the Territory in this work and those applying at the time could not secure their certificates from him in time to register for this election.

Register today before it is too late.

THE IDEAL LIGHT

The advent of the Tungsten lamp marks the beginning of a new era in artificial lighting. For years experimenters have persistently endeavored to improve the efficiency of electric lamps—that is, to make a lamp that would give more light for the same or less power. The secret lies in the filament, or burner, which radiates the light. How to get a filament at once hard, dense and capable of withstanding high temperature has been the question.

This has at last been secured by the use of Tungsten metal for the filament. Tungsten is a metal found in combination with various metals in several ores, and is extremely hard and brittle. Owing to its high operating temperature, a light of pure white, comparable to sunlight, is secured, and these lamps will instantly appeal to all lamp users seeking a BETTER LIGHT.

The factories manufacturing Tungsten lamps are unable to fill their orders so unprecedented has been the demand. On orders placed months ago we have received a few hundred lamps. Enough to at least demonstrate the superiority of the Tungsten lamps.

STEAMSHIP DEVELOPMENT

The Transportation Committee on the Opening Prospects.

Speaking yesterday to an Advertiser man of the proposed branching out of the Matson Company's service, the secretary of the Territorial Transportation Committee said:

"I have had a talk with Captain Matson and with Mr. Tenney. I believe they hold the solution to some of our most important transportation problems.

"It is to be regretted that Captain Matson will not be in Honolulu next week to meet Percy Hunter, who represents the Australasian tourists. The addition of a passenger service to Seattle should be brought about; it is needed locally, and it would also make it quite possible for Australians and Canadians crossing the Pacific to stop over conveniently in Hawaii for more than a day and less than a month. A triangular service from Seattle to Hawaii (with the inter-island cruise now in eluded in the Matson trips) and on to San Francisco, or vice versa, should prove an allurements to those who annually run across the American continent. With the Hilo Redondo service also in commission, a triangular cruise from Seattle, San Francisco or Los Angeles becomes a possibility, and at lower rates than have ever before been offered in this part of the Pacific; and these cruises include a stopover at Kilauea, Haleakela, Oahu and possibly Maui. With the public taken in as a third partner in the Matson Company, Hawaii must, it seems to me, quickly achieve her inevitable destiny of becoming the playground of the American people, with the hills about Honolulu dotted with beautiful villas, the distant valleys tilled by white small farmers, the waters flecked with private yachts, and the other islands studded with real hotels, and lower inter-island rates compelled by public demand and opinion.

"The Territorial Transportation Committee is busy preparing its data to put before the delegate from Australia, who is expected to arrive here next week on the Korea.

"Full information as to the home hotels of Honolulu and the cruising possibilities, with Hawaii as a central point, will be published in picturesque form to accompany him for distribution in Australasia.

"The cruises already arranged for by the Matson Company are likely to be made a part and parcel of a combination of steamship and local hotel joint rates.

"For instance, the Matson Company offers a $122.50 cruise from San Francisco back to San Francisco via Honolulu, Maui and Hilo, with stopovers at each point, or vice versa. Its $125 cruise adds a return to Honolulu from Hilo and thence to San Francisco. The home hotels offer rates to cruisers of from $1.50 to $2.50 per day, so that the purchaser of cruising tickets in New York, Chicago, or San Francisco can tell at a glance just what his Hawaiian cruise will cost him.

"A thirty-day cruise from San Francisco back to that point, for instance, including fifteen days on the water and fifteen days ashore, would cost, if stop-is made at the Young hotels, $197.50 up; if at the home hotels, for about $150 up. If the trip to Haleakela is taken, $20 to $25 should be added, including stay of two or three days at Maui hotels. If the visit to Kilauea is included, and a day spent at the pit, there will be an extra expense of $10, including a day at the Volcano House.

With the completion of the Volcano railway in the near future, however, and the erection of the new popular priced hotel, this rate will in all probability be cut in half, so that a thirty-day cruise of the Hawaiian Islands, with visits to Haleakela and Kilauea, and a week in Honolulu, need not cost the tourist more than $175, and as much more as he cares to spend. This places Hawaii on a footing with Fiji, Samoa and the Society Islands, which,
by the way, enjoy five-dollar-a-day cruise rates, that are likely now to be looped up with the Hawaiian cruise. It is hoped, and expected, that when Australia and Hawaii get down to joint tourist promotion work that it will become the thing for tourists to stop off at Honolulu for regular Hawaiian cruises, which are planned to make a part of the Pacific travel itinerary. Even those who are bound for Japan, going by the northern route, and return, will have the offer of a five-dollar-a-day cruise rate, embracing a tour of Australia, a cruise among the Hawaiian Islands, and return to Canada from the Paradise of the Pacific, or vice versa.

"From Sydney and Melbourne there is a regular round-trip excursion to Ceylon, the distance being farther than to Hawaii. With a regular advertised excursion to and among the Hawaiian Islands, Hawaii should become a popular place for Australians to visit, and it is planned to arrange for this.

"Frank Clark is arranging now for annual round-the-world cruises, on 20,000-ton Atlantic greyhounds, that carry 750 first-class passengers each.
The Transportation Committee is in correspondence and hopes to arrange for a reasonably lengthy stop of these vessels in Hawaiian waters.

"The eyes of the traveling public are, it seems, at last turning with serious interest toward the Pacific, and Hawaii should wake up a bit and make it convenient for the 'stopover' to see all her glories. A little energy and the thing is done, and some of the 'stop-overs' at least will stick and join the ever-growing 'don't-want-to-get-away' colony. Success to the Matson Company in its plans for bringing the American to Hawaii, and let us also welcome the Australian."

October 9 is the last day for registering. The nearer the end the more crowded will be the office. Be wise and register today.

ARSON IS CHARGE
AGAINST KIMURA

In the police court yesterday there were one or two cases of some general interest, one dealing with the curio sellers and their rights to sell on Sunday. At the instance of Curio Dealer Rietow, other dealers, including John Ehinger, Mrs. Taylor and Mr. Steiner, were arrested on penal summonses.

They were charged with violating the Sunday law by selling curios and other stock on the Sabbath.

Their attorney argued that the charge was not specific and in naming John Doe persons, or American sailors, as the one's who made purchases on Sundays, and therefore the complaint was defective. The case was submitted and the judge took it under advisement for a few days.

The charge of highway robbery preferred against H. Leslie was not pressed, the evidence showing that he should have been charged with assault and battery. Leslie was arrested sometime ago for allegedly holding up a Chinese near Moiliili. The Chinaman declared that the young man forcibly took something of value from him. The young man was caught by several Chinese who responded to the Chinaman's calls for help.

This morning C. Piper, the young man caught by detective Medeiros and the school police of Kaimanani School, for making a nuisance of himself in the presence of school girls, will come up for trial. Piper has been identified by a large number of school girls as the fellow who annoyed them on many occasions.

Kimura, the Japanese arrested for attempting to burn the house of Mrs.
Luther Wilcox at Diamond Head, has been charged with arson, and will appear for trial today.

Mana, a special police officer, who has been on special duty in the Sheriff's office, has resigned, as he will go on the stump during the campaign.

Albert Kauwe, formerly a turnkey who resigned on September 20, made his first appearance yesterday on the famous Bethel street box-platform and made a long speech in favor of the Democratic ticket.

NEW AUTOMOBILE RATES.

The Auto Livery will from this date reduce all automobile work 25 per cent.

hau St., Wylie St., or Kamehameha Schools, 50c. Calling or shopping, $3.00 per hour. Continuous driving, $5.00 for first hour, $4.00 for second, $3.00 for third. Around Island, $40.00.

675 square feet. The deed to it was filed for record yesterday with the Registrar of Conveyances. The price paid was $337.50.

Hawaii's Destiny

Dr. Scudder in the Friend.

The Honorable Francis B. Loomis, formerly Assistant Secretary of State, and now United States Commissioner to the Tokio Exposition, stopped over one week recently on his way to Japan. In an address before the local Chamber of Commerce he said, "You may have to erect here something in the nature of a great free port." The editor of The Friend attracted by this prophetic utterance as well as by other important points made by the distinguished guest sought and obtained an interview. No visitor to Hawaii, with anything like Mr. Loomis' broad comprehension of the possibilities of these islands and of their value, not only to America but to humanity, has been encountered by the writer. To have such an influential friend possessing his clear view of the treatment due Hawaii by the Union is a matter of the highest importance to this Territory. The outcome of this interview has confirmed us in our estimate of the manifest destiny of this mid-sea Paradise. In sketching it no claim is made that it represents Mr. Loomis' point of view. In these days no public man should be interpreted except through written or carefully dictated statements intended by him for the eye of the people. If this policy were followed there would be fewer candidates for Ananias clubs. It should be added, however, that without Mr. Loomis' free port suggestion and the stimulus of his conversation some of the details in this outlook for our Territory would not have been so clear cut.

A World and Not a National Asset.
Before these islands were annexed they had become a free meeting place for people of all nations and races. Russia, France and England—and by rumor Japan—all sought to annex them but they were providentially reserved for the United States. The opening of the Panama Canal will place them at the intersection of the world's greatest water routes. Enlightened policy dictates that they be not selfishly exploited by America for her own ends, but that Hawaii's location be justified by enabling her to function normally as half way hostel to the Pacific commerce of all the nations—a common minister to the whole world. To guarantee such a free and generous use of these islands by the world, they must be so strongly fortified with no power or group of powers would ever think of attempting to take them from the United States. Here Hawaii and the Panama Canal stand on the same footing. It is inconceivable that our nation will not safeguard the control of the canal. In this respect both of these strategic points will constitute the most sacred guarantees of world peace. But our nation is already pledged to administer the canal for the benefit of the world. Any selfish money-making use of that waterway would be a crime against mankind. The same holds equally of this Territory, nay even with more force, because Hawaii cost the Union not one cent. After the firm establishment of World Peace and the disarmament of the nations, Gibraltar and naval bases will fortunately become historic memories, but just now our nation is committed to the policy of becoming so mightily armed that war with it will be the last possible idea thinkable by other powers. Hawaii's impregnability is as essential to this policy as that of the Panama Canal. This secured let the ships of the world be encouraged to resort here by the most liberal policy possible.

Hawaii Should be Maintained as the World's Great Inter-Racial Experiment Station.
It is no accident that has brought the most diverse race-strains together upon these islands. Climate and a native people of peculiarly hospitable disposition have united to give a brotherly welcome and to blend into a kindly social system where ostracisms seem impossible races that elsewhere appear to be mutually exclusive and bitterly antagonistic. There is no place on earth where the experiment of racial amalgamation can be so successfully worked as Hawaii. The dominant human races are here intermarrying and living side by side in a fairly brotherly fashion. It would be the height of folly to interfere with this fortunate experiment. The climate of Hawaii has proved beyond question that temperate zone whites can live here generation after generation, do strenuous outdoor or indoor work and not lose fiber or deteriorate. The yellow race doubtless can do the same. The Polynesians who preceded these were a remarkably fine type of undeveloped human. Let be and see what the outcome prove. The world needs to know what such an experiment will yield. It will never have a better chance to find out under conditions so ideal. America is daring enough to try all sorts of social and political experiments. It should have sufficient nerve to run this one.

Abolish Racial Exclusion Laws.
This does not mean that quarantine regulations be remitted or that physically, mentally or morally diseased persons be suffered to come here. It does, however, demand that all anti-Asiatic immigration laws be made not to apply to Hawaii. America does not need these islands for any of her surplus population. Her people have plenty of land for themselves for generations. It is inconceivable that any number of her farmers will leave their home farms and come this way. America for Americans may be a defensible proposition, but not Hawaii for America. Hawaii for the world sounds better and is better.
For Hawaii has certain advantages to offer to the world. Its climate fits it to be the home of millions of all races who need just what it can give. The next twenty-five years will see thousands of families resorting hither to erect homes—families that have acquired or inherited means enough to guarantee their support, and whose health demands or whose physical constitution renders attractive Hawaii's peculiar balm. They will acquire land and give themselves to the cultivation of the products which these islands will excel in growing. A generous policy of welcome will bring hither such representatives from all races and will attract the labor required. A very interesting social development will result. It will not be exactly like anything else on earth. It may be as immeasurably superior to much elsewhere as Hawaii's treatment of the Asiatic outclasses that of San Francisco.

Give All Civilizations Free Play.
We are fond of boasting of the superiority of our Anglo-Saxon civilization. Yet mainland Americans especially along the Pacific Coast cherish a haunting fear that if the civilization of Asia be given half a chance it will make short shift of its nobler competitor. Now in this day of evolutionary science either the boast or the fear is an idle superstition. If Anglo-Saxon civilization is the higher it will prevail. If it can not best the civilization of Asia the sooner it goes to the wall the better, for there is no more inexorable truth in the universe than that which dooms the less fit to extinction. Fortunately Hawaii can laugh in its sleeve both at the cocksureness of the Anglo-Saxon's boast and at his craven fear. We know that we have something which the new noble world civilization must possess that Asia lacks and conversely that the Far East owns certain traits, which though minus quantities in America, are bound to survive and enrich the coming cosmic race.

Where in the world is there a better spot on which to try out this contest between West and East? Call it not a contest, however, but a fascinating experiment in which the unworthy elements of both may be sunk out of sight and only lasting values remain. Better let the process go forward in these quiet blissful isles and let the whole world look on and get wise.

Hawaii's Unique Religious Problem.
The Christian conquest of these islands will always constitute the most charming chapter in church history. When it was concluded, sectarianism threatened to complicate the situation by the entrance of other churches, Roman and English. Meantime the Chinese was drifting in with his cult, next the Mormon came and on his heels the Buddhist from Japan followed hard until numerically he dominated the situation. Latterly Korean spiritists—a handful of Hindus and at least one Mohammedan have joined the religious orchestra. All play on in quite an ideal fashion. The leading Christians of the Islands, proud of their missionary ancestry, head with rare impartiality subscription lists to build temples sacred to Buddha, fane white with Shinto paper emblems, Mormon tabernacles, Episcopal cathedrals, Salvation barracks, Catholic churches and their own well beloved meeting houses. The peripatetic New Thought, Christian Science, Theosophy, Plymouth Brotherhood, Holy Drollery, Apostolic Church come and go with delightful irregularity. All are here and all are welcome. Let Gamaliel's benediction rest upon them while the world awaits the product. We Christians certainly do not fear the issue.

Make Hawaii a Free Port.
That is the advice of Mr. Loomis. We say Amen. Save a moderate tariff for revenue for the benefit of our public schools, abolish all custom house dues. To safeguard the interests of the native Hawaiians keep alcoholic liquors and opium out. Throw open Hawaii to the ships of all nations by excepting these islands from the provisions of the coastwise shipping laws. Suffer men and goods to be transported anywhere in any vessel. It will not harm American interests. When two such far-seeing statesmen as James K. Garfield and Francis B. Loomis independently reach the same conclusion it behooves the nation to heed their counsel. The vital question is, Ought the United States, having taken over these islands, to deny their inhabitants the right of free travel? That Hawaii is of inestimable strategic value to the Union has now become a world axiom. No one doubts it. Let the great nation then be fair to its dependency, realize that laws made for mainland traffic where land transportation renders any regulation of coastwise shipping a matter of general indifference work serious injustice to an island community, and accord to Hawaii full liberty of transportation. The present policy is sure to fasten upon this Territory the most hideous possible of all trust tyrannies—monopolistic control of the movement of men and goods.

Build Here a Great Pacific University.
Mutual understanding always makes for peace. In Hawaii where East and West meet, the ideal conditions exist for mutual interpretation. This is the God ordained center for an educational institution whose spirit shall be both occidental and oriental, teaching the languages of Asia and America with professors drawn from the Pacific nations and students from all the virile races which front the ocean of the future. Already in the Mid-Pacific Institute we have the appeal to Asia and its beginning response. If that institution be adequately endowed it is sure to draw hundreds of students from the great continent. It is inconceivable that this school with its high ideals, its fine location and its splendid buildings shall not soon receive the financial recognition demanded by its large outlook. In Oahu College, Kamehameha, Mid-Pacific Institute and Mr. Bryan's new Pacific School for Research a foundation is guaranteed upon which a noble university can be superimposed, worthy of its central situation. No more fitting location for the assembling of many of the great scientific congresses of the twentieth century can be conceived. Nothing is needed but vision incarnated through the large generosity of men of wealth to realize these possibilities.

Christian Church's Strategic Base.
Buddhism, in this Territory forgets its lethargy and becomes vital with missionary zeal. Mormons shed their views here. The Roman Church seems less Roman and more Catholic. The Anglicans preach union and the old-time missionary Presbyterianism has grown into a real Union Church, welcoming members of all denominations and creeds and building up a true interracial Christianity. These form ideal conditions, and here no pains should be spared to keep out the narrow sectarian spirit. Fortunately, social work in Hawaii was not forced upon the church, but was inaugurated by it. The leading settlement on the Islands—Palama—is unique among the institutions of its kind anywhere. Modern Christianity flourishes here. Bigotries do not grow well in our atmosphere. The Church of Jesus Christ has a chance to do things in Hawaii impossible elsewhere. Mainland Christians recognizing this should rally with their generous support and give to Asia an overwhelming impression of the power of their faith on this soil, where East first meets West.

During certain seasons of the year one-third of the cabin passenger list of the larger transpacific liners is made up of missionaries. The attractions of this quiet voyage through calm seas grow greater every year. It can not be long before the missionary societies will recognize the importance of making Hawaii their chief base. We shall soon have a combined missionary sanatorium, inspiration center and forum for religious congresses in Honolulu. Here the great themes of world evangelization will be debated amid an environment the most favorable on earth for their consideration. A very little effort in promoting this would soon see its fruition. More and more we may expect to welcome among us families from the mainland seeking the genial, moral and spiritual atmosphere of such an aggressive Christian community. Hawaii's past history and present character as well as her central location justify and demand a destiny thus world-wide.

ANSWER IN THE WAILUKU CASE

Territory Denies Encroachment on Sugar Company Rights.

Answers were filed yesterday on behalf of Superintendent of Public Works Marston Campbell and Superintendent of the Wailuku Waterworks, W. E. Bal, in the suit of the Wailuku Sugar Company against these two and the Territory, to enjoin the use of water from the Wailuku and Iao valley streams by the Wailuku Waterworks. The answers admit much of the uncontroverted matter contained in the bill, but they deny the charge of encroachment on the water rights of the plantation, but insist that the intake pipe now is of exactly the same size as it was at the time the waterworks were first established, and that everything that has been done by the waterworks has been done with the full knowledge of the plantation people and without any protest on their part until lately. In Superintendent Campbell's answer the following is alleged: "And this defendant says that said Wailuku and Kahului Waterworks were erected and is maintained solely for the purpose of distributing water to owners of land and persons living within the ahupuaa of Wailuku; that said Wailuku stream or river and all streams of water in said Iao valley and the water therein running, except such as is now running in watercourses which individuals have made for their own use, is free to all owners of land and people in said ahupuaa of Wailuku."

The answer closes with a denial that the sugar company has been injured, but alleges that it has reaped substantial benefits from the Wailuku waterworks because since its establishment many ditches which led water to land having a right to the water have been closed up and abandoned so that not so much water is diverted from the stream as was formerly the case and hence the plantation has more than it formerly had.

A Cane Contract Suit.

G. Imo has brought suit in the Circuit Court against the Hutchinson Sugar Plantation Company for $5000 damages. In his petition he sets out that he and his partner who has since assigned his interest to him, made a contract for the cultivation of seven-acre and a half of cane land, the plantation, however, was to cut, transport and grind the cane. It is alleged that the cane was ready to be cut and ground in February of which fact the plantation had notice, but instead of cutting and grinding it then it was not cut and ground until November by which time it had been ravaged by the rats and had otherwise so deteriorated as to be practically worthless. When the company finally did cut and grind the cane, it is alleged, that it failed and has ever since refused to make an accounting to the plaintiff.

Before Judge Robinson.

Andrew Yee, the Korean who burglarized James T. Taylor's house a short time ago, pleaded guilty before Judge Robinson yesterday and was sentenced to a year's imprisonment. He stole about $70 worth of property most of which, including a collection of Hawaiian coins, was recovered.

The appeal of Lucia from a $25 fine in the district court was dismissed. So was the appeal of S. Paulo Sr., who was also fined by Judge Andrade.

The case of David Keyes charged with stealing a moving picture machine from Father Valentin was continued for two weeks.

Pedro Rodriguez, who once achieved fame by robbing General Miles when that soldier was in Honolulu, was found guilty of assault by a jury and was sentenced to a fine of $50 and $18 costs by Judge Robinson.

The Contempt Case.

John Kapale, through his attorney C. H. McBride, yesterday waived all formalities and appeared to answer the charge of contempt of court before Judge Dole. The testimony of United States Marshal Hendry was taken as to the issuance of the subpoena, and of Deputy Marshal Harry Holt of its service. Deputy United States Attorney W. T. Rawlins testified that he was in the Marshal's office when Kapale was brought in on a bench warrant and talked with him, and that Kapale gave as the only reason why he did not answer the subpoena that he did not think his testimony could be of any service.

The further hearing of the case was continued until Thursday morning.

In the Divorce Realm.

Judge Lindsay yesterday granted a decree of divorce to Lucy Kamannu from Robert Kamannu on the ground of non-support.

In the divorce suit of Kameyo Kawamoto against Shojiro Kawamoto a plea to the jurisdiction was filed on behalf of the libelee by his attorneys W. T. Rawlins and C. H. McBride. These attorneys appeared specially for this purpose. It is stated in the plea that the libel shows that the libellant has been in the Territory only a year and a half while the Organic Act requires residence of two years to give jurisdiction.

Exceptions Filed.

In the suit of W. J. Lowrie vs. H. P. Baldwin and others, the defendants yesterday filed their bill of exceptions to the judgment of Judge De Bolt taxing their costs. The exceptions are on appeal. The point to be decided is whether in this case the statute applies which provides that in a judgment for the defendant in an assumption case, the defendant is to be allowed costs by way of attorney's fees, equal to two per cent of the amount claimed. If the appellants win it will soak W. J. Lowrie for something like $40,000.

Objections Filed.

In the suit of William Henry, as High Sheriff, against Walter Shields, T. H. Davies & Co., Ah Ping and the

THE ANA MALIA MAUNA KEA CASE

Supreme Court to Pass on the Procedure Under Segregation.

In the Supreme Court the case of Ana Malia Mauna Kea has been submitted on briefs. This is a case involving the method of procedure under the segregation laws. The statute provides that a suspect may nominate an examining physician and the Board of Health another. If they can not agree, then they shall select a third, and the decision of any two of these shall control.

In the present case Ana Malia Mauna Kea nominated Dr. Atcherley, and the Board of Health, Dr. McDonald. Dr. Atcherley pronounced the woman a leper, but refused to say that she was capable of spreading the disease. He refused, however, to join in the selection of a third physician. The woman was therefore asked to nominate another physician and she nominated Dr. McLennan. A new examination was thereupon made by Dr. McLennan and Dr. McDonald. Dr. McLennan not being certain that the woman was a leper a third physician was chosen, Dr. Sinclair. Another examination was made and all three physicians joined in the finding that the woman was a leper.

The present proceeding is by habeas corpus to secure the woman's release on the ground that the proceedings were irregular and not conformable to law in that it is claimed the nomination of Dr. McLennan was irregular and all subsequent proceedings consequently so.

In the brief which was prepared by Acting Attorney General Whitney the ground is taken that even if the proceedings are irregular the woman can not be released because the question of whether she is a leper or not is not an open one, that being the decision of all the physicians who examined her and being admitted by the pleadings.

The brief takes the position that a person convicted of crime can not secure release by habeas corpus by proving himself innocent of the crime, but only by showing irregularity in the conviction. In the present case, however, the woman would undoubtedly be entitled to her liberty if she could show that she is not a leper. Therefore being admitted a leper she can not be released merely by showing irregularity in the proceedings, if there was irregularity, the whole purpose of the proceeding being to determine whether or not leprosy exists.

DEFENDANT DENIES ANY TRUST CAPACITY

The answer of Lena Grace Rosewars to the bill of complaint of Alexander Lazarus, against herself and Maria C. Andrade, was filed yesterday afternoon. In the bill Lazarus sought to have the defendants declared trustees of certain property real and personal which he had conveyed to Lena Grace Rosewars, by way of trust and confidence for his use, as he alleges.

The answer denies any such trust or confidence, and alleges that the conveyances to her were bona fide conveyances for valuable consideration, free from any trust. Some of the conveyances grew out of the fact, it is alleged, that Lazarus' wife was suing him for divorce and that negotiations were in progress between them as to alimony that should be allowed if a decree were granted. Mrs. Lazarus, it is stated, insisted on cash, and at least a thousand dollars of it, and it was to raise this money that the property was conveyed.

RIGHT OF WAY GRANTED.

A grant of perpetual right of way from the Oahu Sugar Company to the Oahu Railway & Land Company was filed for record yesterday with Recorder Merriam. The document is a long one and grants the right of way over the Oahu Sugar Company lands for the Wahiawa branch of the Oahu railway.

Kapahulu Plantation Company, to determine the ownership of certain sugar levied on by way of attachment, objections yesterday were filed by Shields and T. H. Davies to the allowance of exceptions, on the ground that none were taken on the trial of the case.

Will Take an Appeal.

United States Attorney Breckons is preparing to appeal from Judge Dole's decision holding that a conviction or acquittal under the Territorial statute is a bar to a further prosecution for the same offence under the Edmunds' Act. The appeal will be to the Circuit Court of appeals for the Ninth Circuit.

Wants a Registered Title.

The petition of Arvilla Scott McWayne for a registered title to land on Anapuni street was filed in the land court yesterday. The land for which a registered title is asked is about 8227 square feet and is valued, with the improvements on it, at about $2200.

Estate of James A. Low.

In the matter of the estate of James A. Low, Judge Lindsay yesterday appointed Lillie B. Matson, sister of the decedent, administrator of the estate, under bond of $85,000. The bond was filed with a surety company as surety.

Hastings Estate.

Judge Lindsay yesterday appointed the Bishop Trust Company administrator of the estate of the late Asa Hastings.

The China Shop's Excuse for Existence

Fifty years ago the crockery business in the U. S. was of small importance. Every general store gave it a wee little corner.

Families who could afford fancy china were few and those who cared for it fewer still. Plain white was the prevailing table ware and art pottery was heresay to the majority.

Today every woman wants to know all about the china and pottery she buys; where it is made and who makes it. It amounts to a passion with her.

There are hundreds of makes and brands.

It requires intelligent sales people to explain the details. You can't expect children to know about these things. They don't.

We are still doing business at the old stand.

FLEET CONCERT AT THE YOUNG HOTEL

Herr Berger has prepared and will give a splendid band concert at the Young Hotel roof garden this evening providing the fleet arrives in time. After the band concert is over an impromptu dance will take place, which the general public is most cordially invited to attend.

In case the fleet does not come in Wednesday, the band concert and dance will take place Thursday night at the Young Hotel roof garden at 7:30 o'clock.

AT THE GYPSY CAMP.

There's to be a gay old time in this town on Tuesday night, everyone and his uncle being especially invited. If you stay at home on the night of Tuesday, October the thirteenth, you will be sure to see a ghost, so you had better come where the crowd is, and be merry with the rest. Don't let the large crowd frighten you; there is always room for more, especially at a Gypsy camp, where the pot boils merrily, and if you cross the palm of who sees beyond, all sorts of good news awaits you, but you must cross it with silver. A nickel would be a disturbing element. You are welcome to wander at will all over the place. The music of the band will keep your heart beating to one of Herr Berger's melodies.

The other attractions are many but, if you wish to know about them you must come to the Moana Hotel on the night of October thirteenth. Admission free.

The readings will be continued on Thursday and Friday at the same time and place. All are invited to attend. The readings will last a half an hour.

HEAVY MAIL TO THE COAST.

The Postoffice reports a heavy mail to the Coast today by the Alameda, on account of the large amount of steamer time-table postcards being sent to friends on the mainland.

Hours for registering: 8 to 10 a. m., 12 m. to 1 p. m., 5 to 7 p. m. Fail not at your peril.

A meeting of the heads of booths of the Gypsy Encampment will be held at the Moana Hotel this (Wednesday) morning at 10 o'clock. The presence of each head is desired as the matter of decoration and position is to be finally outlined.
