

THE FLEET MAY NOT COME HERE TILL SPRING

The following cable received by Admiral Cowles now makes it appear probable that the contemplated cruise of the Pacific fleet will be postponed at least until the first of December and very possibly until next spring: "Hawaiian cruise postponed until after target practice. Date indefinite. (Signed) 'THOMAS.'" Target practice begins November 15, and Admiral Cowles thinks it is very likely that after target practice the fleet will be still further delayed. The vessels will certainly not sail until four or five days after target practice is finished. The Admiral says he would not feel at all surprised to be advised that the fleet will postpone its cruise to Hawaiian waters until early spring. The fleet was originally scheduled to sail September 15, the date of sailing was then postponed to October 1, and now, due no doubt to the fact that the President will be in San Francisco October 14, the sailing has been still further delayed, as indicated by the cable just received.

SPANISH REVOLUTION HINDERS CAMPBELL'S WORK

That a widespread revolutionary movement in Spain might be the cause of serious loss to the Territory, is the opinion of Dr. Victor S. Clark, executive of the Board of Immigration, Labor and Statistics. "It brings home strongly," said the doctor, "the wisdom of extending our field in search of labor. The unsettled conditions due to a revolution might quite conceivably be the cause of the loss of a charter of a vessel, besides a great amount of valuable time and work." The Portuguese revolution is far enough in the past to not seriously affect the recruiting of emigrants of this nationality—in fact, there is a possibility that the work is now in a measure expedited as a result of the trouble. Dr. Clark states, however, that in case the trouble in Spain becomes widespread, it will doubtless be difficult to do much work in recruiting, and in case the revolutionists should be successful it would be still a longer time before the people became convinced that a change of form of government is not a short cut to the millennium. Until they realize this, recruiting of laborers would probably not be very successful.

SCREENING LAW PAU BUT A "KEEP OFF FLIES LAW" WILL PASS

The meat and fish screening ordinance, which has been long awaited, will now, probably never make its appearance, the health committee of the Board of Supervisors having decided that the screening law is not practical. Supervisor McClellan of the health committee, is working on an ordinance to provide simply that the keepers of the market stalls see that flies do not get to their meat and fish, leaving it to the eaters to decide how they shall keep the flies away, and Hanawaki Kruger, chairman of the committee, declares himself in favor of the plan. The screening farce at the fishmarket is worse than ever. There are still screens at all the stalls which the Board of Health recently forced to procure screens, but they are unused. There is considerable amusement over the proposition that the Board of Health had power to order the screens secured but no power to enforce their use. May Use Fans. "The ordinance that will be passed," said Supervisor Kruger, "will probably provide simply that the dealers must keep flies off their meat and fish. They can use screens if they want, or electric fans, or anything else. The dealers say that the fish doesn't keep in the screens, but is spoiled in a few hours."

SAYS HONOLULU AND HILO WANT $20,000 WIRE-WALK OVER KILAUEA

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8.—One of the nerviest feats that has ever been attempted by a professional wire-walker will be the one that Ben Beno, a local vaudeville performer, will try to walk across a wire over the crater of the Kilauea volcano, in Hawaii, on next Thanksgiving Day. Beno has a guarantee of $20,000 from the cities of Honolulu and Hilo if he accomplishes the feat. The wire will be stretched 400 feet above the mouth of the crater and will be 1200 feet from one end to the other.

It has been only a matter of a year since the volcano over which Beno will walk was active and is filled with poisonous gases, and for that reason the task will be a hazardous one.

Before leaving San Francisco for Honolulu, Beno will interview the directors of the Panama-Pacific exposition with the idea of inducing them to allow him to attempt the feat of walking across the Golden Gate. It is Beno's idea to have a wire stretched from one side of the Golden Gate to the other. The height is no object.

Among the dangerous performances that Beno has actually accomplished is walking across the Willamette river on a tight wire; over the Montmorency Falls, at Quebec, Canada, and across the Sacramento river. He has been in the wire-walking profession for twenty years, having joined the Barnum and Bailey circus when eight years old, and has had during that time many narrow escapes from breaking his neck. If he successfully crosses the crater of the Kilauea volcano, and the Golden Gate in 1915, he will retire from that hazardous occupation before the hand of fate cuts him down, as it has many others who have spent their lives in defying death.

WOLTER KEEPS LAND. Judge Robinson granted a nonsuit in the ejectment case of Leialoha, Lakapalili Bush and John F. Colburn against E. H. F. Wolter for a piece of land between 600 and 700 square feet at Queen and Maunakea streets.

PROMINENT WITNESSES. In the Celtic Chief salvage case before U. S. Judge Clemons, the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Co., one of the libellants, yesterday called John M. Dowsett as a witness. Today Captain John R. Macaulay, a port pilot, was on the stand.

MARSHAL ELLIOTT TO FOLLOW SMITH WITH THE EXHIBITS

As matters stood yesterday there was liability of a hitch in the proceedings after the arrival of Norman B. Smith, arrested in San Francisco under indictment for opium smuggling here, owing to the retention by the federal authorities there of the exhibits found with the prisoner upon his capture. Such a situation was involved in the following cablegram received by Marshal E. R. Hendry from Marshal Elliott of the California district yesterday: "Deputy Towle and guard with Smith on Honolulu due there 26th. Exhibits here."

With the exhibits reposing in a safe 2100 miles away, there would naturally have been some difficulty in making out whatever case might be planned against Smith and (or) any confederates he may have here in the opium smuggling industry. But the exhibits will be forthcoming in good season, thanks to the energy of the federal authorities in Honolulu. Marshal Hendry, on receiving the foregoing message from Marshal Elliott, promptly cabled a request to forward the exhibits. Early this forenoon he received the following reply from Elliott: "Wilhelmina leaves 27th. When is the trial? Issue subpoena for me; hold same." So the preliminary examination of Smith before the commissioner will be delayed only a week for the arrival of Marshal Elliott with the exhibits.

Must Be Important. It looks as if the federal officials in San Francisco perceive something valuable in the exhibits for use at that end of the line in running the ringsters to earth. Otherwise it is hard to account for their retention of the exhibits in the first place and then sending the marshal himself to keep his eye on them in the second place.

From what can be picked up, in the way of straws indicating the set of the wind, it will depend a good deal on the attitude Norman B. Smith chooses to take here toward the prosecution, whether he will be marked for soaking to the limit or for being leniently dealt with as a witness for Uncle Sam. If he makes himself the submissive goat to save his accomplices, there are chances that he will fail in this purpose and have to take all the medicine that is coming to himself besides.

There is little known on the outside regarding Smith's intimate connections while here on the two occasions he visited Honolulu this summer. He is supposed to have run a good deal with American-Hawaiian steamship people. Thereby may hang a narrative with unfortunate ending for a number of persons.

AN AUTOMOBILE DAMAGE SUIT WHEN SUGAR WAS OVER EIGHT CENTS

Judge Whitney today tried without a jury the suit of William A. Marsh against William Savidge for $1325 damages on account of injuries and loss caused by collision of defendant's automobile with plaintiff's motorcycle at Alakea and Queen streets. Biting appeared for plaintiff and Andrade for defendant. The court promised to file a decision within a few days.

GETTING SEEDS FOR USE HERE

By yesterday's mail a letter was received from S. T. Starratt, the Los Angeles marketing expert, who is expected here about the first of October to take up the development of diversified agriculture in Hawaii, under the auspices of the Department of Immigration, Labor and Statistics, advising that he is making arrangements for securing an ample supply of seed such as will probably be needed in inaugurating the work.

THE BISHOP TRUST. Job Batchelor's report as master on the sixteenth annual account of the Charles R. Bishop trust was approved by Judge Robinson, a master's fee of $100 being allowed.

BOY WITNESS RATTLED. In the Kabuku murder trial, wherein a Korean's life is in jeopardy for the death of a fellow-countryman, one of the recesses taken this morning was to enable a five-year-old boy witness to get over a rattled condition. The trial will take another day or two.

The Board of Immigration received a letter yesterday from its special agent A. J. Campbell, who has charge the recruiting to laborers in Portugal and Spain, advising that the situation looked favorable. He had not been on the ground, at date of writing, however, to be able to say anything very definite regarding the possible results of his efforts.

CAPTAIN TRIPP REPLIES WARMLY TO THE HARBOR COMMISSIONERS

Captain Tripp asserts that the harbor commissioners don't know what they are talking about, and that if they would investigate conditions more thoroughly before jumping at conclusions, their opinions would be different.

He states that none of them came to him relative to the congested condition on the Hackfeld wharf; that if they had, he could very easily have explained the circumstances to make it clear to any but a befogged and prejudiced mind.

According to the Captain, the agent for the Harrison line asked for wharf reservation some forty days after the Crown of Castle left Liverpool for this port, and the makal side of the wharf was assigned for use of this steamer at least three or four weeks before the Lurline left

DIVORCE FOR INTemperance. Judge Robinson granted a divorce to Annie Kalua against Sam Kalua for habitual intemperance.

In the divorce suit of Abbie Fern against John K. Fern, the order to show cause directed to the libellee was continued until tomorrow.

SEVEN YEARS INTENDANT. George Gillilan Guild, a native of Edinburgh, Scotland, has filed a petition for naturalization in the federal court clerk's office. His declaration of intention necessarily antecedent was made as long ago as 1904 in the superior court of California at San Francisco. Mr. Guild is the well known paper dealer here.

GUNBOAT HERE FROM SAMOA

A salute of thirteen guns, answered with seven by the naval station's saluting battery, announced the arrival from Pago Pago, Samoa, this morning at eight o'clock of the U. S. gunboat Annapolis.

Captain Hayes, well known in this port, and who passed through here some time ago in command of the Princeton, is commanding the Annapolis, which he is taking to Mare Island. The Annapolis went to Pago Pago in May, 1907, and has been stationed there since that time. She was recently relieved by the Princeton.

The Annapolis will remain in this port for a week or so, and will then proceed to San Francisco, and go out of commission for a thorough overhauling at Mare Island Navy Yard.

Kukui Leaves Tonight.

The lightship tender Kukui will leave for Kahului tonight to replace a buoy which has again broken loose on Spartan Shoal. This buoy is causing a great deal of trouble, as it was only a month ago that the Kukui had to go there to supply the buoy with a new cable. It is said that it is very hard to remedy the difficulty, as it is anchored in deep water and the coral ledges will soon saw through any cable supplied.

The Coastwise Law.

Collector Stackable is not positive that the coastwise law relative to only American vessels carrying passengers and freight between the mainland and Hawaii should be repealed. There is much to be said on both sides.

The Collector said this morning that usually everybody can get accommodations to the Coast, if not too impatient, as there are always some who cancel their reservations at the last moment.

As to through passengers laying over at Honolulu, the law says that they may do so for a "reasonable length of time." When the question first came up, the Collector asked Washington for an interpretation of the law.

the expression and he was told to use his own judgment in the matter. Thirty days is the time allowed now, unless some very good reason, such as illness, is given for a further extension. In such cases the time has been extended beyond the usual thirty days. In one case the period was periodically extended to two years.

However, the law imposing a fine of $200 for each passenger first went into effect during the gold rush to Alaska, before Hawaii could be affected by it and, of course, Congress in considering the law did not have in mind its ever applying to Hawaii. At one time the law was made applicable to the Philippines. Later it was suspended until 1909, and this suspension has since been extended.

It would appear that this suspension act might be made to include Hawaii, without serious damage to anybody and to the everlasting benefit of these islands.

Lurline Will Go to Railroad Wharf. The Lurline will complete discharging her cargo today and will then be moved again—this time to the railroad wharf.

The American-Hawaiian freighter Arizonan is due to arrive here September 27 from Salina Cruz, via Sound ports.

Lurline Moved.

The Lurline moved over from the Hackfeld wharf to the Matson wharf at an early hour this morning, for the purpose of completing the discharge of her cargo. It was found by the local agents that there was not sufficient room on the Hackfeld wharf on which to place the cargo of the Lurline, as a large part of the wharf is occupied by freight from the Crown of Castle, which the drays have been unable to cope with.

Crown of Castle Sails Direct.

The Crown of Castle will sail this afternoon at 5 o'clock direct for San Francisco, thus changing her original program, which was to sail from here for San Pedro. Her cargo for San Pedro will be transhipped at San Francisco to a coasting vessel bound for San Pedro.

This change in her itinerary has been made in order that she may keep up with her regular schedule, as, on account of heavy weather after leaving the Straits, she arrived at this port three days overdue.

The local agent for the Crown line, Fred L. Waldron, states that the Crown of Galacia will be dispatched from Liverpool for Vancouver via Honolulu on September 30, and at intervals of eight weeks thereafter other ships will be sent out by this line for Honolulu, thus establishing a regular service between Honolulu and Liverpool.

The Crown of Castle will take a large cargo shipment of canned pineapples for London and Liverpool.

CONVICT LABOR IN MINES.

The discussion of the Alabama system of hiring out convicts to work in coal mines has brought out a new proposition to the effect that, instead of leasing the men to the coal companies, the State should itself lease a large coal mine, in which the convicts could be employed directly under the supervision of State officers. It does not appear that this plan will remove the objections which have been raised against the working of the men in the mines. It is not charged that the companies ill-treat the men, and the main argument has been that they are put into a hazardous occupation without their own consent. Many of them are unfamiliar with mining, which largely increases the risk. The plan would simply shift the responsibility from the coal companies employing the men to the officers appointed by the State.—Engineering and Mining Journal.

RECORD LENGTH BASEBALL GAMES

The game at Sacramento comes within two innings of being the longest professional baseball game on record. The record of the longest game ever played is said to be a thirty-inning contest at Cleveland on July 4, 1907, by two amateur teams. The Sacramento-Portland game yesterday is entitled to be called the longest game ever played on the Coast, because the twenty-four-inning game at Oakland between the Seals and Oaks was broken up in the last inning, when two men were out, while the Sacramento game went the full twenty-four innings. The record of long games follows:

Twenty-Six Innings.
May 31, 1909—Bloomington 2, Decatur 1.

Twenty-Five Innings.
July 18, 1891—Fargo 0, Grand Forks 0.

June 8, 1909, at Oakland—San Francisco 3, Oakland 0.
September 10, 1911, at Sacramento—Portland 1, Sacramento 1.
September 1, 1906—Athletics 4, Boston 1.

Twenty-Three Innings.
May 29, 1907—Oklahoma City 2,

Twenty-Two Innings.

THE VICTORY OF WELLS OVER ATTELL

According to the cable, Matt Wells won the decision in the ten-round go which took place in New York last night with Abe Attell.

It was Attell's first appearance in the ring for many months, he having been on the shelf for a long time nursing a broken arm or shoulder.

In last night's bout Wells was allowed to weigh 135 pounds at 5 o'clock, while the little Hebrew would hardly have scaled more than 126 pounds.

In view of the excellent form that the English lightweight champion has been showing in the states, Attell was certainly the biggest kind of a chance in giving such a pile of weight to an undeniably good man. Probably he needed the money, also, he may have underestimated Wells.

Wells's successive defeats of "Knock Out" Brown and the featherweight champion puts him right in line to meet Ad Wolgast and Packey McFarland. Indeed, it would appear that Wolgast will have to defeat Wells before being able to lay claim to the world's championship title.

Freddy Welsh was conceded the championship of Great Britain a year or so ago, but last spring was defeated for the title at the National Sporting Club by Matt Wells. This naturally brought a new champion into the field, as far as Great Britain was concerned, and until Wolgast defeats the recognized champion of that country he cannot well claim the championship of the world.

WONDERFUL RECORD WAS A FAKE

PORTLAND, Or., September 9.—Under date of September 2, 1911, Forrest Smithson, the noted hurdler, wrote a letter to James E. Sullivan, secretary of the American Athletic Union, in which he flatly declares that the record of 9 3-5 seconds for the 100-yard dash credited to Dan Kelly and alleged to have been made at Spokane on June 23, 1906, was a pre-arranged fake.

The record has long been questioned. It was not allowed by the American Athletic Union until an investigation extending over six months was made. Recently the officials of the American Athletic Union decided to revoke the former action allowing the record pending the outcome of another investigation.

In his letter to Secretary Sullivan, Smithson gives particulars of the alleged "frame-up" and names Jack King of Portland, Ed Murphy, the noted Stanford athlete, and "Dad" Trine, an old-time trainer of athletes, now dead, as being informed of the alleged fake. Smithson declares that King advised him of the frame-up several days before the race. King was one of the first to bring the attention of the American Athletic Union officials to the questionable time credited to Kelly.

Smithson states as his reason for again presenting the details to Secretary Sullivan that his conscience has bothered him ever since the alleged record was made.

A REMARKABLE TENNIS PLAYER

Chronicle: Melville Long, who returned from the East the first of the week, had considerable to say regarding the ability of William A. Larned, the national tennis champion. Larned, according to Long is the greatest player the world ever saw. He has nothing on McLoughlin in the matter of strokes, but his steadiness and experience carry him through his matches.

Asked as to Larned's style, Long had the following to say: "Larned is a wonder. You know he is no longer a young player. He has been at the game nineteen years now and in that time he has perfected every stroke known to the game. In addition he is a great general. He has all of McLoughlin's strokes, but he knows how to use them to better advantage."

"Right at the start of the season Larned outgeneraled all of us by not taking part in the minor tournaments. We figured that it would be good practice to take in these minor championship events and when it came time for the Newport we were about all in. When I lost to Nat Niles at Newport I did not care much when I went into the match whether I won or not."

THE CRICKET CHAMPIONSHIPS

Local Britishers will be interested to hear that Warwickshire looks to have a very good chance of being the champion country, as far as cricket is concerned, this year.

On August 26 Surrey had just defeated Kent at the Oval by nine runs. Hulsh, the Kent wicket-keeper, accomplished a great performance by having a hand in the dismissal of ten batsmen in the two Surrey innings.

The defeat of Kent had the effect of placing Warwickshire at the head of the county championship table, a position from which it would have been difficult for Kent to dislodge them.

Their only remaining fixture was with Northants, and if they won that match outright the championship was theirs, and even a drawn game, provided they gained a lead on the first innings, would have sufficed to keep them on top unless Kent came successfully through both their remaining fixtures. These were against

WAR AND DEGENERACY.

Vice Admiral von Ablefeld, a retired naval officer of Germany has written an article on "World Peace" which concludes as follows:

"According to natural laws only the weaker and inferior will and must go down. That this is so is salutary from the point of view of the perfection of the human race, and who the weaker is can be determined only by war, never by a court of arbitration. People who are well acquainted with the African hunting grounds assure us that game thrives best when it grows up with beasts of prey. As soon, however, as otherwise man kills off the predatory animals for the sake of peace, the high-class game also disappears.

"In this case, too, nature teaches that fighting ennobles while peace leads to degeneration. Our view is, therefore, expressed in a few words. Comprehensive world courts of arbitration are an absolute impossibility; if they were possible they would not give us world peace, and if they gave us world peace it would be a misfortune for the perfection of the human race."

Why should courts of peace between nations degenerate the collective man any more than courts of peace between people have degenerated the individual man? Since trial by ordeal and trial by brute strength were abolished, the common man has improved morally, intellectually and even physically. Might not a similar state of civilization between nations bring like results? Did Japan degenerate during the 250 years of peace which preceded her successful wars with China and Russia?

It is a hideous travesty on logic that men and nations improve in stamina in proportion to the facility with which they return to the barbarism from which they rose. Surely the man of the twentieth century is an improvement in all that makes a man admirable over his hairy progenitor of the Stone Age. What was the Englishman of Arthur's time as compared with the Englishman of today in manly qualities? He may have swung a battle ax but he was a slave of lords and kings. When the fight came he slunk into armor. He feared ghosts and omens. The courage of the aviator or of the man in the submarine he did not possess, and of moral courage he had but an inkling. A better Englishman stands today and a better English nation; and England in the prime of her strength has prevented more wars than she has fought and is doing what she can for arbitration.

The men who win the victories of peace are not degenerates, but nations that are in decay can look back to their ages of organized bloodshed and robbery and find the cause. The decadent nations of Europe are the ones that had the most dazzling military careers in ages past; and they date their decline from their long wars, which killed off their hardy youth.

WAIKIKI FLATS FOR BARRACKS.

We have received a letter from a Federal official here suggesting that the military barracks be built on the low-lying lands at Waikiki, the government condemning a large enough tract for the purpose, inclusive of drill grounds, thus reclaiming an area which is now insanitary and making good use of it.

It would be well for Honolulu and the health of the garrison if something of the sort were done, thus solving two problems at once. A waterfront location for the barracks would be much exposed and would lack drill area, but the great marsh of Kaikiki, drained and filled up, would be sheltered by tree growth and give the military all the room it could need now and in future and an assurance, which the men in the forts now lack because of the open swamp, of hygienic surroundings.

The expense need not be so very large. A Pinkham drainage canal could traverse the whole tract, letting in the tide and the stuff excavated would go to raise the general level of the tract. Sooner or later something of this kind must be done to abate the mosquito pest. The latter, here as in Panama, is a Federal proposition rather than a local one, or quite as much Federal as local, so why not consider it in connection with the army post?

The navy could also make good use of a drainage canal as a lurking place for destroyers.

TRADE WITH PORTLAND.

Portland is well-placed for interchange of products with Hawaii, for Oregon produces what the isles in the tropics lack and Hawaii can supply tropical fruits which will be welcome in Oregon. The movement for direct steamship connection should be encouraged.—Portland Oregonian.

So it should. Hawaii was ready some years ago when Portland sent a representative of her Chamber of Commerce here to spy out the trade. He went back full of enthusiasm and made his report, which must have gathered fungus by this time in its musty pigeonhole. From that time on Portland made no sign.

It costs money to establish a steamship line, but if Portland is ready to talk business Honolulu will meet her half way. This place is not satisfied to have but one American coast outlet for its $14,000,000 trade in products. It would like to do a freight and passenger business with Los Angeles, Portland and Seattle, but there must be reciprocity in providing trade facilities. Is Portland ready to act? Is Los Angeles? Is Seattle? First come, first served!

The committal to an asylum for the insane of Father Sherman, son of the late General Sherman, recalls the fact that the latter was accused of being crazy soon after the outbreak of the Civil War. He had said that an army of 200,000 men would be needed for military purposes which, as the authorities then thought, could be accomplished by a much smaller force. General Sherman had a high-strung nervous system and was given to startling statements and views, but in military matters, as in the case referred to, his judgment was true. Still, eccentricity in the father may readily take a graver form in the son.

One easy way to relieve the pressure on the schools, providing a separate place for the children of Kaimuki and Palolo valley, would be for the department to hire the old Aliiolani college buildings for use until the Kaimuki structure is ready. The smaller building would serve 150 children; both buildings 400. The Star is informed that the property could be leased at a reasonable figure.

If they really didn't hit anything in the mortar practice yesterday they might have done so if the target had been as big as a hostile battleship and the Navajo had towed it at an even pace of seven miles an hour.

People who own warehouses on the waterfront and cover them with signs should look out sharp. The billboard bogie man may get them if they don't.

Nuuanu can't have all the roadmakers. A lot of them are on King street removing the ruffled piecrust that was laid on that thoroughfare two years ago.

Confession may be good for Norman B. Smith's soul but we are not so certain about the other fellows'.

Amama must wonder what he is a supervisor for if he can't get in on the joy rides.

Now that Laurier has had his campaign let's all take a look at Taft's.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

Words fail me when I try to tell how much I owe to Dr. Hatch. Because of him I'm sound and well, I've thrown away my staff and crutch. This humble tribute must suffice—it is the best that I can spring; I always read his good advice.

WOODS HUTCHINSON vice, and then I do the other thing. If he suggests that oatmeal mash will drive away my pain and ache, I go down town and blow my cash for wienerwurst and hamburger steak. "Iced tea," he wrote, "will make you frail, it's full of poisons rank and vile." So now I drink it by the pail, and I can whip a crocodile. "Three baths a day," the doctor cried, "will make you feel like him of Gath." He printed that last Whitsuntide, since which I haven't had a bath. I cherish everything he writes, and save it up for useful ends; I paste it in a book at nights, to pass around among my friends. The doctor's wisdom is condensed, and it will save those ailing friends, if they'll do all he warns against, and sidestep all he recommends.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

SUPERVISOR DWIGHT—I wished this morning that I had a kodak with me, so that I might have snapped one of our market inspectors slumbering in a chair. There was plenty of time.

SECRETARY MOTT-SMITH—Do you know what a "full house" is? Well that's the hand I hold now—three kings and two queens. Can you beat it?

L. L. McCANDLESS—I have not seen that anybody has denied that the Herring sewage system was intended to serve a Honolulu population of 100,000. I was in the legislature at the time and I know that that was what was promised.

JOHN SMITH—I saw a crew of Japanese fishermen this morning "freshening" up their catch of iced fish by deluging them with buckets of water dipped from Nuuanu stream. The water was very muddy, and the fact that this stream is practically an open sewer, should not improve the quality of the fish in the opinion of the fastidious persons.

MARSTON CAMPBELL—Our investigation of the flow of sewers in the city is bringing to light some startling conditions. A report just received shows that at 4:15 o'clock yesterday morning a sewer on Liliha street, which serves 1900 individuals, was flowing at the rate of 320,000 gallons per day, or at the rate of nearly 170 gallons for every man, woman and child using it. At this hour in the morning it is safe to say that practically all of this flow was pure waste from defective or open water fixtures. We are investigating to find the source. But it will never be possible to stop waste of water by means of inspections; while with meters the waste will stop itself automatically.

G. G. SCHWEIZER—I doubt if the fleet gets here at all this year. Target practice and maneuvers off Santa Barbara will probably be the excuse for cutting out Hawaii. It is true that these waters might offer all necessary facilities for the maneuvers, but California isn't going to let those ships get away if she can help it—and we have just had an example of the pull she seems to exert. Besides our people don't seem to think it is worth while to make even an effort. During the practice the ships come to anchor nightly, and shore leave is allowed on Saturdays and Sundays. It is a big thing from a business standpoint, to have a few war vessels about.

C. W. ASHFORD—It would be a boon, and a protection to the school children who change cars at Alakea and King streets, having come from the Waikiki direction, if the Rapid Transit Company would stop its cars after rounding the corner from King street, into Alakea. I noticed this morning several very tiny tots running through the slush and the numerous traffic at the corner, to the car running up Alakea street, where it stood at some distance from the corner, on King street. It was only the Providence that is said to protect children and fools that saved them from accident and injury. The exposure of such small children to such a risk is unnecessary, and unreasonable.

The duck is a toothsome fowl, roasted or boiled, or served with green peas or apple sauce. Honolulu is a paradise for ducks and in and around our fair city they are raised by the thousand. And yet how seldom the restaurant feeder who sees "Roast Young Island Duck—35c" on the bill-of-fare and orders the same gets duck as is duck. Instead he is, as a rule, served with a portion of skin and bone which would cause any self-respecting dog to turn tail in disgust. A local man ordering duck for dinner in a local eating-house yesterday was confronted with a dispiriting section of what looked like fried sparrow. Calling the Oriental waiter, he told him in unequivocal terms that he had ordered duck not mynah bird. The waiter was equal to the occasion for he said: "Everyone kick this kind duck today. Chinaman play fun boss. Boss order duck, Chinaman send mynah bird. Cook he speak boss not belong proper duck. Boss say 'no pilikia, cook 'em, no one tell difference.' So cook he cook 'em. Me very sorry, maybe proper duck tomorrow."

The guest thanked the waiter for his candid explanation and told him that as far as he was concerned, tomorrow would never come.

There may be a dearth of lady boxers in Honolulu but we notice that when ever there is a function all the girls are there with the gloves.

The real reason why a barrel of beer is like a boxing contest is that it frequently results in a draw.

Mr. A. Spooner, a tourist, who arrived by the last boat, suffered a paralytic stroke yesterday afternoon at the corner of Hotel and Port streets, and is now lying in the hospital in a precarious condition. From the little information obtainable (for Mr. Spooner is still unconscious) it was learned that the poor gentleman is a Missourian who, having a short vacation at his disposal and having heard of the charm and beauty of the flower girls of Honolulu, decided to come to Hawaii expressly to see them. But his constitution was weak and the shock caused by the sight of the bunch of moth-eaten crones peddling posies in place of the expected bevy of ravishing maidens was too much for him and he fell to the sidewalk paralyzed. For latest bulletins as to Mr. Spooner's condition see the fourth edition, containing, in addition, all the latest sporting news.

Notes from the Social Whirl: The many friends of Percy Snobington, that lucky young gentleman who made $20,000 in a deal in sugar stocks last month, will regret to learn that since his good fortune he has been stricken with cheepguyant-see, a form of blindness. This malady, which is quite prevalent among fortonate people, causes those afflicted to be unable to recognize old friends who do not happen to be well endowed with worldly goods.

SUGAR'S RISE AND AVAILABLE SUPPLY

SAN FRANCISCO, September 7.—Another increase in the price of sugar was announced yesterday, when the price here was raised from $6.25 to $6.50, following advances in the Eastern and London markets, said to be caused by the threatened shortage in the beet sugar crop of Europe, where the growing crop is reported to have been damaged by continued droughts.

Consequent to this cause the raw sugar price in New York has been advanced from $3.86 to $5.56 recently, followed by advances here in the price of refined sugar.

With a plentiful supply of sugar coming from Hawaii and raised here in the beet fields, the West must pay dear for its sugar because the European crop is reported short. While the sugar men admit that the supply west of the Mississippi is abundant, they claim that were the price not advanced to meet the raise in the East and Europe the supply would be quickly sold on Eastern orders with the same result of high cost for sugar here.

While it is stated that the California canners will not suffer generally, as they had contracted for their sugar before it reached $5, there has always been a limitation on the manufacture of jellies and preserved fruits here owing to the high cost of sugar.

With a constantly increasing per capita consumption of sugar, and the fact that only one-fifth of the demand in this country is met by production within the (continental) United States, the prediction has been made that the price would advance.

The increase in the per capita consumption of sugar in the United States has been as follows: 1870, 22.73 pounds; 1880, 39.46 pounds; 1890, 50.44 pounds; 1900, 75.1 pounds; 1910, 79.30 pounds.

Big Increase in Consumption.
During this forty-year period the total consumption of the United States has increased from 1,000,000,000 to 7,000,000,000 pounds in round numbers, of which latter figure a little over

1,000,000,000 pounds is beet sugar produced within the United States, the total production in all countries being at the present time about 50 per cent beet and 50 per cent cane sugar.

Theoretically the price of sugar in the United States is determined by the cost of European sugar landed in New York, and the cost of the Cuban crop. But when the price in Europe advances to a point where it will pay European importers to buy Cuban sugar in spite of the preferential duty, then the price in the United States is determined exclusively on the cost of the sugar imported from Europe, which is necessary to complete the supply in this country.

The sources of supply in 1910 are shown by the following table, the figures given being in pounds:
Domestic cane ..... 750,400,000
Domestic beet ..... 1,024,938,000
Porto Rican ..... 569,039,881
Hawaiian ..... 1,110,594,445
Philippine ..... 175,869,739
Cuba ..... 3,500,000,000
Other foreign ..... 400,000,000
The United States is thus dependent on foreign importations for one-half of its sugar supply, with the only relief in sight that promised from the beet sugar fields, the production of which has been rapidly increased since 1902.

The first sugar beet factory built in California was put up in 1888. At that time the total production of beet sugar in the country was about 1,000,000 pounds. Up to 1901 it had increased slowly until the figures were 172,164,160 pounds. Since that year the increase has been at the approximate rate of 100,000,000 pounds a year, with a total increase of 1200 per cent in ten years, as compared with an increase of 10 per cent in the production of cane sugar in the country, the area of which is limited to the Gulf coast of Louisiana and a part of Texas, while beet sugar is grown in twenty-four states. The possibilities of expansion of this industry appear to be the only hope of the country to supply its own sugar demand, for which it is spending at present $1,000,000 a day.

pany of San Francisco, fine granulated sugar is quoted at $6.05 as against $5.55 for last year at this time. These same figures apply to coarse granulated and fruit granulated sugars. In the price list it is explained that the prices are for Pacific Coast jobbers and manufacturers, including Alaska.

When questioned, the local jobbers gave as a reason for the increase in price the shortage in foreign lands followed by a heavy call for American sugar. But they are somewhat in the dark as to the real reason for the shortage over the waters.

From all sections of the United States comes word of sugar famines or increases in price. And the same condition extends to Canada and extends to England and Germany. This, in brief, means that the civilized world is affected and that sugar is bound to go higher in price than ever before in its history.

The present prices quoted are by far higher than for years past. There appears to be no remedy in view, and it is feared that the famine may drag on during the entire winter season.

California is feeling the raise without exposing an unusually sensitive part of the anatomy to the feel, for the price has taken an aviation by leaps and bounds that sixty or more points in price have been gained this year over last year.

And the raise in prices does not have to be figured on a year basis, for it is gaining on an average of ten points a week, and the end is not yet. In fact, yesterday saw a ten-point raise over the day previous, and before night another ten points may be added to the present top price.

Under the prices quoted to the trade by the Western Sugar Refining Com-

20,000 TONS CATCH 5.75c.

The American-Hawaiian steamer Massachusetts has arrived East, about seventy-one days from Honolulu. She has between 11,000 and 12,000 tons of sugar, which will get the price of 5.75 cents.

Alexander & Baldwin, Ltd., is also advised that the A.H. steamer Georgian, from the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, arrived this morning. The Georgian has part of the Mexican's cargo, about 8000 tons.

These arrivals mean 20,000 tons of sugar at 5.75 cents.
Sugar was selling in New York, according to mail advices, at 4.86c for January delivery.

TARIFF CHANGES NOT IMMINENT

In his latest special letter, dated New York, September 9, Henry Clews notes more cheering conditions in grain and cotton crops and the iron trade. That Mr. Clews regards apprehensions relative to the tariff uncalled for at present is evident from the following remarks:

"With the adjournment of Congress there is a welcome cessation of the agitations and investigations which have so long harassed the business world. Congress will not reassemble for another three months, during which period we shall have a rest from useless and irritating political meddling. There are signs of a reaction in the latter respect. Politicians in some sections of the country are awakening to the fact that the driving of capital into hiding by persistent attacks throttles enterprise and thus augments trade depression and the number of unemployed. Capital is necessary to the quickening of industry, and it would not be surprising if some of the States took the lead in moderating present unduly repressive legislation, especially in the South and Far West. When Congress opens there will of course be much talk about the tariff. The fact that it is the best available political asset makes that discussion inevitable. It is not likely, however, that there will be any serious readjustment of the tariff until after the next presidential election. In all probability the tariff will be the burning issue in the coming gubernatorial campaign. There will be much talk and little action."

An improvement in stocks is discussed by Mr. Clews in part as follows:

"The change of sentiment on the stock exchange was possibly somewhat accentuated by covering of a rather extended short interest. Prices had shown a very heavy decline, from 10 to 20 points, and it was apparent that this shrinkage discounted all known drawbacks. In addition there was a feeling that pessimism had been overdone and that at least a moderate reaction was fully due. Such views had been expressed in these advices for the past two or three weeks and recent events proved the accuracy of those conclusions. The market is still two-sided and favorable to moderate fluctuations in either direction. On every decline there has been conspicuous buying, especially of the better class of stocks, which are being quietly absorbed by shrewd investors on every concession."

SUGAR FAMINE

Oakland Enquirer: Heavy demands in foreign countries, particularly Europe, for American sugar, due to a shortage of production, has resulted in a scarcity of that commodity in various sections of the United States and an accompanying raise in prices.

California is feeling the raise without exposing an unusually sensitive part of the anatomy to the feel, for the price has taken an aviation by leaps and bounds that sixty or more points in price have been gained this year over last year.

And the raise in prices does not have to be figured on a year basis, for it is gaining on an average of ten points a week, and the end is not yet. In fact, yesterday saw a ten-point raise over the day previous, and before night another ten points may be added to the present top price.

Under the prices quoted to the trade by the Western Sugar Refining Com-

HONOLULU CONSOLIDATED—The Honolulu Consolidated has about completed the installation of the largest plant in the country for the extraction of gasoline from natural gas. It is made up of eight 80 horsepower Bessemer compressors. The amount of natural gas which can be handled in one day by this plant is 4,000,000 cubic feet. The quantity of gasoline which can be taken from 1000 cubic feet of gas varies from five quarts to two gallons. Using the lesser figure, this plant has a daily capacity of 5000 gallons of gasoline. The process of extraction reduces the volume of gas about 20 per cent and the residue is almost as valuable for fuel as was the gas as it came from the well.

The importance of the natural gas deposits in the Buena Vista Hills is coming more and more to the attention of operators. The gas, which has in the past been wasted, is now turned to use, both for transportation to nearby cities, which are now lighted by natural gas, and for the purpose of supplying gasoline by extraction.

OVER THE TEACUPS.

By Lady Gay.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wood of Philadelphia and their daughter, Miss Dorothy Wood, who are stopping at the Seaside Hotel, are planning to stay another month in the islands. These visitors who have brought their seven-seated touring car with them are enjoying the delights of Honolulu and the surrounding country and are being extensively entertained by their local friends.

Miss Ethel Spalding has returned to town after having spent the week-end at Schofield Barracks, Leilehua, as the guest of Miss Millikin.

Major and Mrs. Wooten entertained at an elaborate dinner party last evening at their artistic quarters at Fort de Russy, when covers were arranged for ten. The dinner table was tastefully arrayed with pink chrysanthemums and asparagus plumosis, which issued from a quaint oriental basket on the center of a real lace cloth. Silver and pink shaded candelabra encircled the floral basket, and the guest cards were of the same delicate tint, in the design of rustic maidens.

Those present were Admiral and Mrs. Walter Cleveland Cowles, Brigadier-General and Mrs. Montgomery Macomb, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Francis Dillingham, Miss Clay, Lieutenant Vaughn of Fort Ruger and Major and Mrs. Wooten.

S. F. Call: Miss Aloe Louise Marr has sailed for the Hawaiian Islands, where upon her arrival her marriage with John Young will be solemnized. The wedding will take place in Honolulu. For the present the young couple will live there, later planning to go to Hilo to establish their permanent home. Young is connected with the government in the construction of the breakwater in the harbor of Honolulu, and is well known among the island folk. Miss Marr is the daughter of a pioneer family of East Oakland. She claims a large number of friends in the bay cities, who will be interested in her approaching marriage.

S. F. News Letter: Mrs. Eleanor Hyde-Smith sailed for Honolulu on Wednesday of this week, where she will remain for several months as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Harold Dillingham. The Walter Dillinghams are planning to spend part of the winter in San Francisco, where they will be cordially received. It is said that Walter Dillingham has set a number of nursery rhymes to the crooning, plaintive native airs, and they are as catchy as the famous Hoola-Hoola college song which the young student originally improvised to a Hula-Hula melody in his Freshman days. Now the Hoola-Hoola song is sung from coast to coast, and this year the Glee Club of the University of California carried it over to Paris.

S. F. Call: Miss Meta McCartney entertained at tea Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Edward L. Holmes, who recently returned from a long visit to her sister, Mrs. James Wilder, in Honolulu. About fifty friends of the guest of honor, who was before her marriage Miss Elsie Harnden of this city, were present.

Gardner of 515 El Centro street, soon leaves for San Francisco, where she will sail for Honolulu September 2. She will take the trip with friends and will remain a year. Mr. D. Z. Gardner will accompany her to San Francisco. She was given an informal "500" party at her home recently by her sister, Miss Bessie Gardner, at which many of her friends were present to wish her a pleasant journey and a safe return. The living room and diningroom were decorated with Shasta daisies and roses. Those present were the Misses Bess Gardner, Alva Gardner, Olive Crafter, Lill Wendling, Hazel McClure and Laura Hoffman and Messrs. Maurice Gifford, Carleton Gilbert, Welford Seay, Hubert Crippen, Frank Ruddock and Mr. Doland Mulford, of Camden, N. J.

San Francisco Call: Miss Florence Butler will leave in a few weeks for Honolulu, where she will be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Rudolph Buckley, for seven or eight months. Since her return from abroad Miss Butler has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Alla Ayers, in this city, who also returned a few months ago from an extended stay in Europe.

Examiner: Miss Meta McCartney entertained half a hundred friends yesterday afternoon in compliance to Mrs. Edward L. Holmes, who has just returned from Honolulu. Mrs. Holmes was formerly Miss Elsie Harnden, an Alameda belle.

KIPLING'S VIEW OF RECIPROCITY

MONTREAL, Sept. 7.—Rudyard Kipling is the latest recruit to anti-reciprocity. The Montreal Star got a letter from the author by cable today and printed it this afternoon. This is it in part:

"I do not understand how 9,000,000 people can enter into such arrangements as are proposed with 90,000,000 strangers on an open frontier of 4000 miles and at the same time preserve their national integrity.

"It is her own soul that Canada risks today. Once that soul is pawned for any consideration, Canada must inevitably conform to commercial, legal, financial, social and ethical standards which will be imposed upon her by the sheer admitted weight of the United States.

"If these proposals had been made a generation ago, or if the dominion were today poor, depressed and without hope, one would, perhaps, understand their being discussed; but Canada is none of these things.

"Why, then, when she has made herself what she is, should she throw the enormous gifts of her inheritance and her future into the hands of a people who, by their haste and waste, have so dissipated their own resources that even before national middle age they are driven to seek virgin fields for cheaper food and living?

Of course you visited Carlsbad in your tour abroad! Frank of its nineteen mineral cups per day, and the incomparable beauty of its scenery!

Did you ever hear the story of its original discovery, a legend as picturesque as its fern-clad hills and dales and majestic mountains which sentinel-like guard and encompass it?

The pretty little tale runs thus: One very still morning, when the heart of the primeval forest wrapped in mystic silence lay as secluded as a sanctuary, the intense peace was sharply broken by the clear call of a hunting horn, and a moment later the snapping and crunching of fallen leaves and twigs as the satin mount of the Kaiser Karl IV suddenly broke through the undergrowth for the open country. His pack of hounds, eager for the chase, heedlessly pushed on, baying in glee as the emperor, struck by the beauty of the new country, reined in on the pinnacle overlooking a velvet valley and which disclosed to view an inspiring panorama in the sacred silence of the morning.

Mossy grey boulders and tall peaks like cathedral spires were veiled by a pearly mist.

The pack on scent hurried itself down over unfamiliar crags and crests, the stag giving chase through virgin forests.

The emperor and his party of henchmen were discoursing in surprise over the mystery of the curling clouds of white steam which rose gracefully up over the tree tops, wondering whether they portended a rookery, the haunt of bandits, or peaceful villagers, when a cry of pain rent the air, and, paying no more heed to the landscape, the emperor drew them all clattering down to the scene of the disaster.

Looking up finally from their hasty and perilous descent, they found themselves in a cave shut in on every side by tall trees which exhaled perfumes of spicy fragrance and which held as a secret the "Sprudel," jutting skywards, to an imposing height, whose scalding water had fallen on one of the hounds.

Since then Carlsbad has taken first rank as the most famous spa in the Old World, and a migration of humanity occurs annually from all quarters of the compass to the delightful and romantic Tepl Valley, there to seek health, rest and recreation.

Few there are who have loitered on the continent who do not recall with a thrill of reminiscence the majesty of the surrounding scenery and the exquisite beauty of the baths.

The "Sprudel," so primitive and ineffectual in its originality, now plays in a structure of imposing proportions.

Its hot crystals splash into a basin of carved Italian marble. The exterior of the "Kolonnade," of white stone surmounted by marble spires, turrets and minarets, is rivaled by an interior of white marble statuary, conservatory, lounges of palms and rustic seats and hanging vines.

Above, the hills and vales of heavy verdure are bisected by lovers' walks and lanes which lead for many miles beneath the witchery of interlacing trees of delicate tracery and intricate design, halting its wayfarers at each unexpected turn with quaint historical chapels and significant landmarks.

Such is Carlsbad, the Old World's sanatorium, which traveling society is usually compelled to visit to enable it to continue its tour among the other beauty spots of heart-appelling interest on their tour abroad.

Such is Carlsbad, first discovered in its modest seclusion by Kaiser Karl IV on his morning hunt, who, fortunately for posterity, "viewed the mist and missed the view!"

SOCIAL NEWS OF THE DAY.

Misses Julia and Lydia McStocker were charming hostesses from four to six yesterday afternoon at their home on Lunaliilo street when they entertained at a "Dolly Shower" in honor of Miss Ysabelle Cooper, the bride-elect of Lieutenant James M. Pine of the U. S. revenue cutter Thetis.

The drawingroom and lanai of the beautiful home was resplendent with an arrangement of palms, hanging baskets and snowy asters, which were very effective. The afternoon was informal, all the guests being intimate friends and for the greater part members of the bridal party. The hostesses and their guests sewed and chatted on the lanai and refreshments were served.

The feature of the occasion was the presentation on a tray of the dainty gift to the honoree, the package disguised in pale pink tissue paper and huge pink satin bow, containing luncheon sets of hand-made dollies, the work of friends.

Those present were Miss Ysabelle Cooper, Miss Irene Cooper, Miss Alice Cooper, Mrs. L. D. Gregg, Miss Helen North, Miss Florence Hoffman, Miss Kathryn Stephens, Miss Bertha Koepke, Miss Ethel Spalding and Miss Julia McStocker.

Mrs. J. K. Brown Jr., who has been planning a trip to the East, leaves tomorrow in the China to visit friends and relatives in Cleveland, Ohio. Mrs. Brown will be away for the winter.

Quite a number of society folk who have been spending the winter in California are expected home in the next Wilhelmmina from San Francisco.

Among these are Mrs. James A. Kennedy, and Miss Jessie Kennedy, who have been staying at the Palace Hotel for the past two months, and Mrs. E. D. Tenney, who with Miss Wilhelmmina Tenney, has been motoring in Lake County, later stopping at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. Mrs. Helen Noonan, who had also been included in the party, returned with Master Vernon Tenney at the opening of school.

Letters from Miss Helen Brown, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Brown are filled with delightful experiences among her relatives in the East. Miss Brown, who has been at Indian River, Mich., for the past two months is at present the guest of her maternal grandmother, Mrs. O'Hara of Columbus, Ohio.

The summer session of the College of Hawaii has been largely attended by a number of society maids and matrons, who have made quite a fad of taking up various courses, including French, German, Domestic Science, Art and Literature, Short Stories and the Science and Art of Weaving. Among those who have been spending their summer mornings at the college are Mrs. A. N. Campbell, Mrs. George Kluegel, Mrs. Marston Campbell, Mrs. Roderick O. Matheson, Miss Alice Cooper, Mrs. Augustus E. Murphy, Mrs. William Montrose Graham and Mrs. Gignoux.

The students of Punahou are anticipating with pleasure the annual dance which is given during September of each year by the Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores in honor of the Freshmen of the new term. The dance is scheduled for the latter part of the month and will be given at Pauahi Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Watson and their daughter Miss Virginia will leave in the Wilhelmmina on October 11 for Washington, D. C., where they will spend the winter.

WORK OF HARBOR COMMISSIONERS

The Board of Harbor Commissioners, at its meeting yesterday afternoon, finally approved the rules and regulations for the handling of freight on the various government wharves of the local harbor. The ordinance will be duly advertised and will go into effect in thirty days.

Several changes were inserted into the rules at yesterday's meeting, the principal one being that the time limits for removing freights from wharves shall not apply to freights, either foreign or domestic, which show by their original bills of lading are for transshipment. Otherwise the regulations remain practically unchanged. Foreign freights, in cargoes of under 2500 tons, are to have forty-eight hours, and over 2500 tons seventy-two hours' time for removal from wharves. Domestic freights are given from three to six days, based on cargoes of from 2000 to 4000 tons. As reported previously, the Oahu Railway will adopt these same rules for regulating the handling of freight on its wharves.

The board yesterday spent some time in making a personal inspection of the wharves, and from what the members says, they feel thoroughly justified in standing pat on the matter of letting Captain Tripp out as wharf master and engaging another man. As to W. R. Foster, who takes the job on the first of the month, one member of the board stated that the new wharfmaster will have to make good or get out. "It's efficiency that is wanted, and if Captain Foster can't measure up to the mark, he will have to make way for some one who can."

The board criticized the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company for loading freight directly from wagons into the ships' holds. This method saves handling for the company, but congests traffic on the wharves.

The bid of George Marshall of $7950 for furnishing and laying a hardwood block pavement on the new Richards street wharf was accepted. Other bidders were: Concrete Construction Company, $8695; Honolulu Construction and Draying Company, $8800; L. M. Whitehouse, $8395.

Catton, Neill & Co. were awarded a contract for furnishing mooring bits at $48 and $36 each for the two sizes desired.

The commission adopted a resolution favoring giving the board control of all Territorial land bordering on the waterfront. Leases are expiring on a number of such pieces of property, and the board feels that it should have the disposal of them in the future.

erty, and the board feels that it should have the disposal of them in the future.

J. A. Gilman, representing the Warren Bithulthie Paving Company, yesterday withdrew his offer to lay a piece of specimen pavement on the Hackfeld wharf. He appeared before the Board of Harbor Commissioners and stated that he had received word from the head of his firm advising that bithulthie would not serve well on wharves, which must sway more or less from the impact of ships.

WITHINGTON WRITES A POEM

Wakefield (Mass.) Daily Item: The convention of "ad men" which is taking place in Boston this week has attracted much attention and interest from men engaged in other than the advertising business. While the delegates of the convention and the national advertising managers are discussing their problems, comments and suggestions are being offered from the interested onlookers, among whom is Leonard Withington of this town.

Mr. Withington is employed by the Forbes Lithograph Company of Chelsea, and his keenness in other than printing lines has been shown. His criticisms at some of the town meetings have demonstrated good spirit, and have marked him as an energetic citizen of Wakefield.

During the weeks of preparation for the exposition, "The World in Boston," Mr. Withington was efficient as a teacher of one of the classes, and his talk on Burma, which he gave at the Baptist church, proved him a good lecturer.

At present Mr. Withington has been interesting himself in the "ad" convention, and a few lines of rhyme written by him have been printed by the Forbes copy department.

The verses are clever and should easily solve all questions and difficulties that are being forwarded. They are as follows:

Letting Our Light Shine.

The men who kept their virtues hid beneath some locked and bolted lid, O, where are they? In every age we search on History's golden page but find them not. They are, I ween, the flowers that bloom and blush unseen? Their minds were pure, their actions fine, their lamps beneath their bushels shine. Such work is all but lost, I say, for covered lamps don't light the way. Just look at what old Cheops did, the man who built the Pyramid. He thought it over for awhile, then

Morning Cable Report

PEKING, China September 21.—Advice received in this city by the imperial authorities and the legations indicate that the fighting in and around Chingtu, capital of the province of Szechuen, has been severe since the last dispatches have been received, at which time all was quiet, so far as battles were concerned.

Stories of sanguinary fights around the city reached here yesterday and it is asserted that 200 of the insurgents have already been killed in the battles which are going on about the walls.

While no word has been given out as to the casualties among the garrison of 1600 regular troops in Chingtu, it is probable that the losses have been heavy in comparison with the numbers of the defenders.

In spite of the loss of the insurgents the news is that the city is closely besieged and that the foreigners there are bottled up with little hope of getting away until rescued.

Just how many foreigners remain in Chingtu and how many escaped to Chungking is not known, although reports have it that a number of refugees are in the latter city, where they were taken under escort before the former city was finally besieged.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Sept. 21.—Rev. Father Thos. E. Sherman, son of General Sherman, has been sent to the insane asylum.

LOS ANGELES, September 21.—An investigation into the alleged pipe line discrimination by the Standard and Associated oil companies, has been started here by the Interstate commerce commission.

MARQUETTE, Michigan, September 21.—President Taft arrived in this city yesterday and devoted his address almost entirely to the question of arbitration treaties.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, September 21.—Rewards have been offered for the capture and conviction of the robbers who looted the New Westminster Bank, a branch of the Bank of Montreal, of $315,000. The reward amounts to $32,000.

STOCKTON, Cal., September 21.—An Italian laborer in this city has been discovered suffering with bubonic plague. Every precaution has been taken for checking a spread of the disease.

NEW YORK, September 21.—Wells won the decision over Attell in their match fight last evening.

bought a lot beside the Nile and started into adventure by piling limestone to the skies. Did he succeed? You bet he won. His fame will last till Time is done. He gets in History's books today free space for which we couldn't pay. And so from History's musty page we glean a lesson for this age. In simple words it reads this wise, "reduce the goods—and advertise." Pay cash and ask for Green Stamps (they are free) and call at the show-rooms and see the new goods.

Business Care Brings Nervous Wear

The petty cares of business life wear away nervous strength, and this applies as much to the clerk at the desk as to the manager in his luxurious office. A thousand little details of duty requiring attention exhaust the nervous energy and cause one to fret over trifling things that would not receive a second thought under conditions of perfect health.

Nervous fretful persons of either sex are usually poorly nourished and in all such cases the surest and quickest permanent relief is to be had by the use of which first quickens the appetite and aids the digestion and enriches the blood, thus providing the tired nerves with the nourishment they need. This condition banishes the wakefulness that so many nervous people suffer from and permits them to enjoy sound restful sleep. Get Stearns' Wine of Cod Liver Extract at your druggists—and be sure you get STEARNS'—the genuine.

Plans for adding from one to three or four new rooms, as may be needed, to the various city schools, in order to accommodate the overflow of pupils applying for instruction, have been about worked out by Superintendent Pope of the Department of Public Instruction. The Waikiki school will have temporary enlargement through the leasing of a small church building nearby. Negotiations are also on to secure a lease of an old hospital building near the Kalaupapa school as a temporary annex. Central Grammar school is to have three additional rooms added, and Kaunakakai school is to get the same number. When these additions are completed, Professor Pope believes that the children of the Honolulu school population will be taken care of in fairly comfortable manner.

POLICE COURT

In the police court this morning H. Ramos, charged with assault with a weapon, waived examination and was committed for trial. This is the recent Mollili cutting case.

H. Francis, charged with assault and battery on a member of the Hawaiian band named Gomes, was discharged. The trouble occurred at the Opera House on the night when Dr. David Starr Jordan was delivering a lecture on peace. Gomes was anything but peaceful. He upset a wing on the stage, snored so that he could be heard in the house and crowned his indiscretions by yelling "Shut up, you make too much noise," while the eminent lecturer was nodding forth.

Then it was that Caretaker and Stage Guardian Francis grabbed Gomes by the nape of the neck and threw him out of the theater into the street causing injuries which resulted in this case.

The court held that Francis was lawfully executing his duty as stage manager when he ejected the disturber.

Choy Young Soon was sent to jail for six months on a charge of embezzlement. He was given a sewing machine to repair and sold same and kept the proceeds for his own use. He was also given sentences of three months each for gross cheat. He represented himself as agent for the Singer Sewing Machine Co. and collected a number of instalments due on machines.

was going to be a congestion at the Hackfeld wharf, due to the arrival of the Lurline, he suggested to the local agents of the Matson line that they dock the Lurline at the Oceanic wharf. This suggestion was not received graciously, and they persisted in their demand to be allowed to dock the Lurline at Hackfeld wharf. This was finally done.

However, says the captain, when the office men of the Matson people had a visual demonstration of the futility of endeavoring to overcome a law of nature—to try to make two things occupy the same space at once—they appealed to the harbor master to be allowed to move the Lurline to the Oceanic wharf, as first suggested by him. In the meantime the Hyades had left the Matson wharf, and Captain Tripp asked them why they did not move her to their own wharf. This apparently had not occurred to them, and they gladly accepted the suggestion. The Lurline was moved there this morning.

As to the charge that the dock has been overloaded to a breaking point with fertilizer, the captain says that this is not true; that the rule is that sugar can be stacked seven bags in a tier and rice eight bags; that it takes three bags of sugar to fill the space and equal the weight of one bag of fertilizer, and that the fertilizer has not been excessively concentrated in weight in any one place on the dock. Moreover, he asserts that the Matson people themselves are the most flagrant violators of the rule, and that they totally disregard it.

PACIFIC OPIUM

Customs Duncan McKinlay on the opium situation.

It is understood that the conference resulted in the understanding that the customs inspectors should continue as they have been doing in making vigorous efforts to discover contraband opium on board trans-Pacific vessels and those from Mexican ports, while the work of striking at the men engaged in the traffic will devolve upon the special treasury agents and some of the best men in the government secret service who are to be sent here to take a hand in the game.

Skilled Sleuths Arrive.

While it is known that the operations of the United States Secret Service move in a mysterious way, without heralding their arrival, it is said that several of the most skilled operatives have come here within the last week and have reported to Harry Moffitt, operative in charge of the San Francisco office, for special detail on the opium ring.

Operatives are now in Hongkong and Honolulu working on the opium situation. In Hongkong the United States Secret Service men are assisting the officials and detectives of Great Britain and China.

It was through the work of one of Chief Wilkie's men that the tip was received which disclosed the whereabouts of $40,000 worth of opium on the Japanese liner America Maru a few months ago.

A similar tip has been received by special treasury agents and customs officials here that there is even a larger amount of contraband opium on board the steamer Korea, which is due to arrive here early Friday morning.

Through authority from the Treasury Department local customs officials have been authorized to hire such launches and other craft that may be found necessary to go to sea and follow the trans-Pacific liners into port to see that the opium is not thrown overboard and floated as they near the harbor, only to be picked up by confederates who are on the lookout outside the heads.

STILL ANOTHER SEWER PROBLEM

A delegation representing the Mid-Pacific Institute called this morning on Superintendent Marston Campbell, of the Board of Public Works, and upon President Pratt, of the Board of Health, with reference to the sanitary situation at the Institute. The party consisted of Rev. F. W. Damm, R. H. Trent, A. M. Merrill, and Willard E. Brown. This afternoon the same delegation will attend the meeting of the Board of Health.

The Institute wants a sewer connection, and there being no sewer to connect to, it wants a sewer laid up Manoa Valley for the purpose. The Territorial authorities had about decided that Manoa will have to get along without this sewer for perhaps another year, or even longer, for the reason that the Health Department considers the congested districts of Palama and Iwilei have a first claim on the $75,000 available from the recent bond issue. This because the health of the general community is believed to be more endangered through lack of sewerage in these districts, than through a similar lack in Manoa.

The Mid-Pacific people have an unpleasant problem on their hands. Two cesspools provided for taking care of the sewage from the schools have proved utterly inadequate, owing to the impervious nature of the soil. The Board of Health has notified the Institute that the nuisance of these overflowing holes must be abated and has suggested a septic tank. But the directors of the Institute do not particularly favor this idea, and have signified their willingness to spend the money which a septic tank would cost toward laying a permanent sewer. This might possibly amount to $3,000 or $4,000, it is understood, while the total cost of the sewer has been estimated roughly at from $8,000 to $10,000.

The Institute people also argue that unless the sewer is built, the College of Hawaii, now building just above the valley, will be in equally bad fix, and will but increase the present pollution of lower Manoa stream and the Waikiki flats.

WAIMANALO CUTTING SCRAPE.

A cutting scrape occurred at Waimanalo plantation this morning between two Japanese who got into a dispute over money matters.

One of them drew a knife and stabbed the other six or seven times.

The news was telephoned to the police station here with the request that a doctor be sent over at once.

Sheriff Jarrett and Dr. Moore went over about 10:30 in the police auto. The assailant of the wounded man is said to have run away.

The license commissioners will meet tomorrow afternoon at half-past three in the throne room at the Capitol.

AUSTRALIA TRAINING AN ARMY FOR FIRST TIME, IN FEAR OF JAPANESE OR GERMAN ATTACK

(Correspondence Chicago Daily News.) SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 17.—July must be memorable in the history of Australia for the taking of the first step toward the realization of an army properly trained and accoutred to defend our shores. We have talked about it for years; we threw away the independence of our individual states and we combined in a federal government with that main object in view, and at last it has come about. From one end of Australia to the other has been heard, for the first time, the tramp of a citizen army on which we are to rely in future for our defense. Attracted by the novelty of the event, crowds gathered in every city and town to witness the initial drill, and the same impression was created throughout Australia—that our citizen army was a veritable broken reed since it consisted entirely of youths.

There seems to be a general feeling that the compulsory training of a citizen army is a step in the right direction. There are many difficulties to be encountered, especially in out-of-the-way districts where the population is located at wide intervals, but the dangers that await an unarmed Australia are so formidable that these difficulties must be faced, the experiment must be made, and the people must be taught to realize that their very existence depends on an effective system of defense.

Germany and Japan.

For there is no mistaking the fact that the tremendous energy displayed by Germany of late years in the creation of a dreadnought fleet is a direct menace to British trade; that at any moment Great Britain may be engaged in a struggle for life in the North sea; that if the declaration of London is adopted, the commerce of Australia might be frightfully harassed and that, in the event of a British defeat, we would be immediately attacked.

Nor is Germany the only enemy to be feared. In these southern seas there is a little brown race whose navy in the Pacific is supreme; whose bravery, intelligence and sagacity are beyond dispute, and whose ambition it has long been to find some favored spot where the teeming millions of Japan might settle down. They have made a home for themselves in Manchuria and Korea; Honolulu, a stepping stone between America, Australia

(Special Correspondence of The Star.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The fifteen-million-dollar steamship company which is planning to build vessels for the Atlantic and Pacific coast trade, in view of the prospective opening of the Panama Canal, is figuring on a favorable contract to carry the mails, which is now done by foreign steamers, which the Postoffice Department is unable to force to comply with its regulations.

Another drawback which the United States mails suffer is the lack of fast steamers in the coastwise trade, and on account of this much of the mail for South American ports has to be sent to Liverpool and from there by fast English steamers to their destination. With the new steamship line in operation it is expected that the mails will be about one week faster between this country and South American ports than at present.

"In advertising for bids for the carrying of mail through the Panama Canal, Postmaster General Hitchcock stipulates that the ships carrying the mails shall make at least one stop on the Atlantic coast and one stop on the Pacific Coast. This is done to help the commerce of the country.

Combine With Railroads.

"The Pacific mail steamship lines, which are controlled by the railroads, do not make stops on the Pacific coast in the United States after leaving port. This is done, a congressional investigating committee was recently informed, to discourage the shipping of freight on the steamers in preference to the railroads.

"According to statistics, the amount of freight carried by the transcontinental railroads is about 3,000,000 tons a year, and it is increasing about 10 per cent a year. On this basis it is estimated that in 1913, when the Panama Canal is completed, the tonnage of freight carried across the continent by railroads will be about 4,200,000. The rate on dry goods and clothing is about $67 a ton.

Fruit Trade Large.

"The principal freight carried from the extreme Pacific coast consists mainly of fruits. It is estimated that during the past year 40,000 carloads of oranges and lemons were carried from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast. The rate on this commodity is $1.15 a hundredweight.

"The new steamship line will cut the rates about one-third and will, it is said, greatly reduce the cost of food-stuffs."

Bernard N. Baker, the head of the new company, at one time president of the Atlantic Transport Company, will make a tour of the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and the great lakes, explaining the steamship line to the chambers of commerce and other business associations. The company is expected to have steamships running on regular schedule about July, 1913.

INSURGENT FIGURES A TAFT DEFEAT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 7.—President Taft, if renominated, is sure of only 122 votes in the electoral college and may get enough additional to bring his string up to only 204, according to the figures given out today by a well known member of the progressive republican organization, which is already opposing the renomination of President Taft. For the time being the table maker refuses to let his name be used with the table, but it can be stated that the table is based on reports received by the progressive organization and represents the best judgment of those progressives who have seen them.

Under the title of "sure republican" President Taft should be the republican nominee for president, if given the electoral votes of Idaho, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Mexico, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Washington and Wyoming only, a total of 122. Republican states called "doubtful," include California, Delaware, Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota and Wisconsin, having 81 electoral votes. These added to the republican "sure" votes would give President Taft 204 electoral votes if he carried them all.

The democrats "sure" votes total 163 and include the south and Nevada, States which went democratic last year are listed by themselves, with their 165 votes; the inference being that they will stay democratic if President Taft is renominated. In this column are Connecticut, Indiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Montana, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Missouri, West Virginia and Colorado. These added to the democratic sure votes would give the democratic candidate 328 electoral votes.

ARMY AND NAVY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The problem surrounding the disappearance of the long lost Captain Arthur James Matthews, senior captain of the United States Marine Corps, son of the late Rear Admiral Edward O. Matthews, constituting one of the deepest mysteries of the Navy Department, is believed to have been solved by the finding of a suicide's body at San Pablo, near Jacksonville, Fla.

Acting Secretary of the Navy Winthrop today received a report from the secret service agents of the Department of Justice, who had worked on the case ever since the officer disappeared from the Mare Island navy yard, where he commanded the naval prison. The report tends to show that a man living under the name of Captain J. H. Pond, who took his own life at San Pablo several weeks ago, was in reality none other than Matthews.

Little Doubt Remains.

The identification is not yet regarded as absolutely conclusive, but officials of the Navy Department were so deeply impressed with the findings of the Department of Justice agents that they said little doubt remained that the body was that of the missing officer. Winthrop telegraphed later today to Captain Matthews' mother in California advising her of the finding of the boy with indications that it was that of her son.

Captain Matthews disappeared from the Mare Island yard February 3 last. He had been granted a leave of absence for three days, and when he failed to appear upon its expiration, a world-wide search for the officer was instituted. It was believed that the officer's mind had been affected by the death of his father and that he was wandering about, or had taken his life.

Enlisted in Mexico.

Only during the last few weeks was a tangible clue caught and this indicated that the young officer had been through a series of adventures fit for the theme of a melodrama. He wrote a detailed letter to a brother officer in the Philippines declaring that shortly after his disappearance he had crossed the border and enlisted in the army of Mexican revolutionists. When the rebellion was over he returned to this country and said he intended going to Florida, where he would end it all. The recipient sent the letter to the secretary of the navy.

With this clue, the sleuths turned their attention toward Florida and soon found trace of a Captain Pond whom they suspected of being the missing marine officer. Articles of clothing of the suicide are now on the way to Washington for further identification.

Captain Matthews soon would have

SWIMMING ACROSS FROM DOVER

DEAL, England, September 6.—After a lapse of thirty-six years Captain Matthew Webb's feat of swimming the English channel was duplicated today by William T. Burgess a native of Yorkshire, but now a naturalized Frenchman. It was Burgess' sixteenth attempt, he having first essayed the task in 1904.

Burgess started from South Foreland, Dover, at 11:15 Tuesday morning. He landed at Le Chatelet, a little village two miles east of Cape Gris Nez, at 9:50 o'clock this morning, accomplishing the passage in 22 hours and 35 minutes. A motor boat accompanied the swimmer.

Captain Webb swam from Dover to Calais on August 24-25, 1875. His time was 21 3/4 hours.

It is estimated that Burgess, owing to the zigzag course he was compelled to take because of the baffling tides, covered sixty miles in crossing the twenty-mile channel.

Throughout the trip Burgess was favored by a calm sea, but a strong tide was running, and a severe strain was put on the swimmer to get past the Goodwin sands. Twice he was attacked by sickness and several times was only held to his task by the strongest will power and the encouraging words of the men in the boat.

Speaking of his great achievement he said:

"In the time the swim occupied I should have been able to cross the channel twice but for the adverse currents. Against those I had a terrible fight and again came within an ace of failing. When approaching Cape Gris Nez the strong outward set of the current forced me to alter my course three times. I was held up for some time, but when I rounded the corner I found slack water, and then I knew that I was assured of success. "It was just in the slack of the tide that I got in. If I had not managed it then, I might have missed it and drifted to Calais. It took three full tides and two part tides to carry me over.

"I was severely stung several times by jellyfish, and while in midchannel, after a sick spell, I felt heartbroken. For a while I was almost delirious, but my pulse began to sing, and this gave me fresh courage to persevere."

For the trip across the channel Burgess was well greased. He wore a pair of goggles and a rubber bathing cap. Soon after the start the wind freshened, and the swimmer had a nasty experience in a lumpy sea. The water penetrated his goggles and first affected the right eye, though finally both eyes became inflamed. Altogether, said Burgess, he never before had suffered so much from salt water.

The swimmer ate some chocolate.

BIG GUN PRACTICE AS SEEN FROM THE OCEAN; GENERAL RESULTS WERE NOT VERY SATISFACTORY

A whirring, whistling sound, rapidly changing to resemble stage thunder; then a clattering as of corrugated iron sheets, a whiz and a sizzling splash; a patch of dark blue water suddenly becoming white and then a nil green, slowly returning to its original indigo color—this is all the observers on the tug Navajo yesterday afternoon could see or hear as each shot was fired at the target from the new mortar battery at Fort Ruger. The noise of the explosion as the shots left the batteries could not be heard on the tug.

The Navajo left her berth for what is known as the "seventh one" at of range of those ugly sounding projectiles. The tug then put on a little steam and went forward just slowly enough to keep taut the cable towing the target and to keep the target dead astern.

The Range Shots.

The third shot was reported as going about 145 yards over and the fourth landed about ninety yards over the target.

The four shots for range at the practically stationary target having been fired, Captain Babson of the Navajo the target while the tug hove to. The first shot fell about 120 yards short. The result was wig-wagged to the lookout on Diamond Head, and during the delay that ensued, on account of the tide and wind, tug and target drifted around in a circle, tending to come in line with the battery, and the distance between them was also somewhat shortened; the result being that the second trial shot for range came rather uncomfortably close to the target, though only fifty yards short of the target, and it was suggested by some of the observers that it was time to go back to good old Honolulu and out of range of those ugly sounding projectiles. The tug then put on a little steam and went forward just slowly enough to keep taut the cable towing the target and to keep the target dead astern.

The third shot was reported as going about 145 yards over and the fourth landed about ninety yards over the target.

Too Close to the Tug.

PROGRESS OF THE FRENCH AND GERMAN MOROCCAN DISCUSSION

PARIS, Sept. 11.—France's reply to Germany's counter proposals in the Moroccan negotiations have been written and will be laid before the French cabinet tomorrow for approval. The task of drawing up the reply proved simpler than at first expected, doubtless because the German demands were such as could not be accepted by France.

It is said that the reply, while written in a spirit of conciliation, is absolutely firm with regard to the position France has assumed concerning questions of principle, from which France will not depart a hair's breadth.

The premier's energetic and businesslike manner of proceeding has had a good effect. It is regarded as another proof of the absolute unanimity and firmness of the government as to its policy and as a manifestation of the government's desire to do its utmost to shorten the period of uncertainty which is having such prejudicial effect on the markets of the world. It also removes any possibility of charges that France by delay assisted in bringing about further financial distress in Germany.

French Opinion United.

The broad outlines of Germany's proposals have been communicated to the public because the government believes the people have a right to know at this period of tension what is doing. Foreign Minister Deselves has also indicated in a semi-official note that France's reply would be a refusal to accept Germany's condition. In this French opinion appears to be wholly united and prepared for any contingency.

One point of view in official quarters is that Germany's financial situation, which is expected to reach a climax by the end of September, may tend to moderate Germany's demands.

Germany Seeks Guarantees.

BERLIN, September 11.—Emperor William, before starting yesterday for the scene of the army maneuvers, had a conference of two hours with the German minister of foreign affairs, Herr Kiderlen-Waechter.

Today the Lokai Anzeiger, in what is evidently an inspired article, emphasizes that Germany does not demand any special rights whatever in Morocco, but seeks mainly guarantees from France against a monopolization of public works, mining and trading rights, and against certain practices in the customs administration—guarantees that, would benefit all countries equally.

The only subject requiring a special arrangement between Germany and France, the paper says, would be a treaty ceding territorial indemnity. All other points would be covered by an amendment to the Algiers agreement, providing the other signatories would accept the German proposal to commission France to take over a pro-

DANGEROUS SITUATION IN MEXICO

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Dr. L. S. the country was fraught with many serious difficulties and dangers. The disappearance of a strong government Pan-American conference at Rio Janeiro, reached New York today on the steamship Morro Castle. He spent several months in Mexico, studying the new conditions there, and while he paid tribute today to the firmness with which President de la Barra, supported by Madero, had met the rebellious attitude of the local revolutionary leaders, he said that every patriotic Mexican will breathe more freely when the elections are over. He continued:

"In the present anomalous political situation the great danger is the possibility of a break between de la Barra and Madero. "The day I left Vera Cruz the new regime had just passed through the most serious crisis since the downfall of General Diaz. The pacification of

WANTS TO OPEN THE COAL LANDS

By J. A. BRECKONS.

(Special Correspondence of The Star.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Declaring that the present prices fixed by the Interior Department on western coal lands under the new per-ton basis, a plan which contemplates the sale of these lands at prices reaching as high as $400 an acre, will actually "prohibit development, create a monopoly in the mines now in operation, and thus materially advance the price of coal to the consumer in a country having millions of acres of coal lands," our national policy with regard to public coal lands is made the subject of an interesting discussion by Congressman Mondell of Wyoming, in a belated issue of the Congressional Record. That the present policy must place an added burden on consumers of western coal, either by forcing them to pay a greater price for it from operators compelled to meet the government's demands in purchasing coal lands, or from present operators virtually given a monopoly of the business because of the prohibitive prices confronting would-be operators in new fields, and therefore presenting a complete reversal of our government policy, is the contention of the former chairman of the committee on public lands.

Mr. Mondell, in his recent letter to Secretary Fisher on this subject, called attention to the fact that this policy of prohibitive coal land prices, which proposes a grievous burden on the people and constitutes an entire reversal of our governmental policy, has never been approved by congress or formally endorsed by any branch of our government. It has simply grown out of the activities of a single bureau of the Interior Department, he asserts. The net results of this policy, Mr. Mondell declares, has been to absolutely prohibit the opening of new mines in the Rocky Mountain region, and to increase the price of coal to the consumer from fifty cents to $1 a ton. To prove the prohibition now existing on western coal lands, the total sales since 1907, when the first classified lands were sold, are quoted. Two forty-acre tracts have been sold at $180 per acre, and eighty acres at $135 per acre, under this policy, and these lands were essential to the extension of developed mines. Another tract was sold at $75 per acre, and these, with the exception of a forty-acre tract sold at $65 per acre, constitute the entire acreage of coal lands sold above $50 an acre.

It is conceded that eventually some of the coal lands now held at exorbitant prices by the government will be sold, at least to developed mines, that must otherwise close down. But the people will of necessity be compelled to pay an added price for the coal taken from such mines. Herein will be a material and physical demonstration of a government fostering and encouraging the very monopoly it professes to oppose. Leaving out of consideration the question of Alaskan coal, Mr. Mondell thus speaks of a policy affecting our public land states and territories:

"I have been favorable to the continuation of the policy of the sale of coal land, not necessarily at the minimum prices fixed by law, but at some reasonable price high enough to prevent the purchase of coal land for speculation or with a view of controlling coal fields, yet not so high as to establish all the evils of monopoly through governmental action. There are many arguments in favor of gradually disposing of public coal lands under proper restrictions. It has been our almost invariable policy since the foundation of this government, and our temporary departure from the policy in the case of the lead mines was disastrous.

"Under this policy with regard to coal lands, with perhaps a partial exception in the case of the anthracite mines, there has been no combination, so far as I am informed, among coal operators to raise prices. If there has, it has not been successful, for competition has resulted in uniformly low prices for coal at the mines.

"The history of our marvelous development under the stimulus of private ownership is a most forceful argument in favor of the continuation of such a policy, while the countless problems which will necessarily present themselves, including conflict of state and national police control and regulation may legally or wisely become a permanent landlord within the states; the extent to which the federal government is justified in considering, as a source of federal revenue, the products of public lands; as to what effect permanent federal landlordism shall have upon the few western states where such policy can alone be established; are all matters which may well make us pause before entering upon the new, untried and altogether revolutionary system of permanent government landlordism."

FIGHTING THE NEW MODES OF WARFARE.

Since the new types of air craft have made their appearance and the world has been depicting new methods of warfare, the inventors have been busily engaged in trying to produce some device that would counteract all the new ideas of aerial attacks on the naval or land forces of any country.

The Krupps of Germany have been the means of placing various types of very destructive implements of war before the world; but their newest device is an aerial torpedo which promises to make aerial attacks very hazardous, if not impossible.

It is a self-propelling contrivance that is so constructed that it consists of two distinct parts, one in which the slow powder is contained and the other containing the high explosive bomb, with a very sensitive percussion, which will not be released for action until the projectile is at full speed. The releasing of the percussion will enable the aeronaut to start the projectile without danger to himself or his air craft, and a certain speed will unlock the delicate percussion, which will be exploded if it strikes as much as a soft gasbag in the air.

The explosive bomb is so powerful it will destroy anything near it, and there is absolute certainty that any airship will not be able to escape.

The projectile can be thrown from the land as well as from an airship, and the device is so designed that aim is certain from any angle, and the distance can be increased or diminished, making it one of the most formidable projectiles yet invented.

The propelling device is arranged in a system of tubes, and is started by either an explosive of a minor character or electricity.

The device is of Swedish origin, and patents are being taken out in several of the leading countries, among which is the United States.

With such an implement of modern warfare it may be useless for people to attempt aerial attacks.

been promoted to the rank of major. Previous to his disappearance he had had an unblemished record in the marine corps, having served during the Spanish war and in the Philippines. He was born in New York thirty-one years ago and was appointed to the marine corps from Rhode Island April 18, 1898.

Short in Accounts.

Following the mysterious disappearance of Captain Matthews last February it developed at Mare Island that he was short $3100 in his accounts. Matthews was warden of the naval prison at Mare Island.

He disappeared while on a forty-eight-hour leave of absence, but the cloak of official secrecy kept his short-ages hidden until three days after his disappearance. As warden at Mare Island he was not only responsible for the funds of the prison, but took charge of any money prisoners had on entering.

The estimates place the thefts from the mess at $1900 and from the prisoners' fund at $1200. It was reported after the disappearance of Matthews that overtures were made by his relatives to make good the amount said to have been stolen.

Chaplain Matthews was transferred to Mare Island November 18, 1909.

New German Gun.

BERLIN, September 9.—Some interesting experiments have recently been carried out by the German military authorities at Döberitz with a new type of siege gun constructed by Krupp.

Its most remarkable feature is its projectile, which consists of a round bomb of great diameter loaded with a very powerful explosive mixture.

The bomb is of far greater diameter than the bore of the gun which throws it, and is provided with a long stick-like tail which is loaded into the barrel of the gun, its lower end, which is enlarged to a wad or piston-like form, resting on the gun-charge at the bottom of the barrel.

On being fired, the trailing stick-like tail serves to keep the bomb in its proper direction of flight, and only detaches itself and falls to earth after a certain distance has been covered, leaving the bomb to pursue its course alone.

Rugby in the Navy.

Chronicle: Rugby football in the United States navy instead of the former intercollegiate gridiron game is the latest announcement that has added to the stronghold of the game now played by all of the schools and colleges in California and Nevada. The marine corps of the navy yard at Mare Island has decided to adopt the Rugby style of football as a substitute for the old American game, which has always been so popular in the various branches of the government service. The news that the marines had decided to play Rugby reached here yesterday when it was learned that a coach for this style of football was being sought by the athletic authorities of the navy yard.

Lieutenant E. C. Long, athletic officer of the marine corps, is looking after the interests of Uncle Sam's athletes and anticipates a season of three months for the marine team. The decision of the marine corps to play Rugby is the initial attempt at the new game on the part of a navy team and marks another step in the elimination of the old college game.

For the purposes of the navy teams Rugby is considered more appropriate in view of the fact that it is played all over the world. A knowledge of the game will permit of international matches during the stay of an American fleet in foreign waters. It is likely that the Mare Island squad will seek games with the local clubs during the present season.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—With all of the features of real warfare except the spilling of blood, six companies of the Coast Artillery Corps and the men of the Fifth Infantry, National Guard, engaged in battle practice in the Marin county hills yesterday.

For an hour the hills rattled with the spiteful crack of many rifles, and in the end an undecided battle was fought in the defense of the Sausalito against the army of the "Blues" detailed to play the part of hostile troops.

Crack marksmen from several of the companies made high scores on the rifle range, and today the championship of all companies engaged in the maneuvers will be determined.

The "Blues" included Company D of San Rafael and Company H of Hayward, commanded by Major Francis. Colonel George Schastey of the Coast Artillery Corps commanded the "Browns," the forces of the defense.

For the purposes of the mimic battle it was assumed that the "Blues" had landed at Eureka, had marched down the coast and had just had an engagement with a detachment of the Browns at West Berkeley. The "Blues" were "reported" to have crossed the bay and landed near Tiburon.

Col. Schastey ordered his men to move toward El Campo, eight miles from Sausalito, five miles from Tiburon.

The defense sent out scouts and the Signal Corps, under Captain T. F. Sullivan, marched at the head of the vanguard. The signal men, stringing field telephone and telegraph wires as they advanced, were able to keep in constant communication with the main party, under Major Lund.

The Blues, under Major Francis, fortified a position upon a hill near California City on the Marin shore and were soon discovered by the Brown scouts.

Advancing to the attack the Browns took advantage of every possible cover. The Blues had selected a hill before which there is little brush, but where the advance found many large boulders for their protection.

As the position was approached a constant fire was kept up and finally the Blues were driven away, all except a small party, strongly fortified behind boulders, in a clump of trees. These were dislodged only with the greatest difficulty.

The engagement began at 2:15 and lasted until 3:30. There was no decision. In the late afternoon all of the forces marched to El Campo for the night.

The only blood spilled during the day was that of Private W. F. Ott, an artilleryman who ran foul of a bayonet and received a cut upon the knee. The wound was slight. Ott was handed over to the Hospital Corps and went home in an automobile. The maneuvers will continue today.

Salutes Chinese Warship.

NEW YORK, September 11.—"The protector of the sea" steamed slowly up the Hudson river today, flying astern a long yellow pennant with a rampant dragon of deep blue, while a brass band played a ragtime air that had not been heard in New York for five years. The visitor was the Chinese cruiser Hai Chi, the first Chinese warship that ever entered American waters.

As the sea fighter passed through the Narrows this morning the guns at Fort Wadsworth sounded the national salute and America's latest and greatest Dreadnought, the Utah, whose 21,000 tons made the 4300-ton visitor look like a launch, also saluted. The cruiser dipped her yellow pennant in response.

Chinatown's foremost citizens, aboard a launch, swarmed over her sides as the Hai Chi came to rest. None of the delegates from Chinatown wore a queue. Officers, likewise without queues and loaded down with gold lace and wearing creaseless patent leather boots, welcomed the visitors aboard. Rear-Admiral Ching Pis Kwang wore a modest blue uniform and a white duck cap. Most of the officers spoke good English.

An aid of Rear-Admiral Lutze, commandant of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and Commander Cooper visited the vessel to welcome the foreigners. Later, the Chinese Admiral went to the navy yard to pay his respects to Admiral Lutze. He went through the yard and inspected the warships New York and Florida, now nearing completion. On Thursday Rear-Admiral Ching will go to Beverly to pay his respects to President Taft.

Tonight a detachment of the Chinese jackies on shore leave attracted much attention in the city and business was rushing in Chinatown. The immigration restrictions against the landing of Chinese were forgotten for the occasion.

Lieutenant Shipp's Wedding.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—The wedding of Miss Anna Weller and Lieutenant Earl Shipp, United States Navy, took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weller, on Pacific avenue.

Only relatives and intimate friends were present, but the house had been elaborately decorated for the event. In the drawing-room, where the ceremony took place, there was an arbor of tiger lilies and white dypsothila, while in the hall baskets of pink hydrangea were used. The diningroom, where the bride's table was set, was decorated entirely in pink sweet peas.

The pink color scheme was carried out in bridesmaids' costumes. Miss Ida Sonntag, a maid of honor, wore pink satin embroidered in silver, and the two bridesmaids, Miss Eliza McMullin and Miss Katherine McAdam, were in pink chiffon embroidered in seed pearls and silver. They carried bouquets of tiger lilies tied with pink tulle. The bridal robe of white satin was veiled with rare old point applique that is an heirloom in the family, and her lace veil was held by a coronet of lilies of the valley.

Lieutenant Ross Culp of the Navy was best man and the ushers were Lieutenant Gaylord Church and Ensign Mayfield.

Mrs. Weller, mother of the bride, wore a costume of royal blue satin, with an overdress of gold gauze embroidered in blue. Mrs. John McMullin, grandmother of the bride, who was one of the grand dames of society a generation ago, wore a handsome robe of black Chantilly lace.

Following the ceremony supper was served at small tables, except the bride's table, where, besides the wedding party, were seated Mrs. Douglas Fry, Miss Ethel Shorb, Miss Anna Peters, Miss May Colburn, Lieutenant Ord, U. S. A., Ensign Symington, William Lieb and John McMullin. The young couple will visit relatives in Chicago and New York before going to their new home at Annapolis.

Largest Warships Yet.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The arrival here of the new American dreadnought Utah, to join her sister ship, the dreadnought Florida, now nearing completion at the Brooklyn navy yard, again sets the scales in motion of the relative position of our American sea fighters as compared with the navies of the other great powers.

While naval experts concede that Great Britain has the largest aggregate of fighting ships, with Germany and the United States in a close race for second place, yet it is equally conceded by these experts that the two new American dreadnoughts now here outrank in size and strength anything afloat in the British and German navies at the present time. The British naval monsters, Lion and Orion, will exceed in tonnage and strength the American ships, but neither of these Leviathans is as yet in service. Germany also has a number of monster dreadnoughts, but they are in course of construction, and the largest German ship afloat is still less in tonnage and efficiency than the two sister American dreadnoughts, Utah and Florida, now here for the first time.

The American ships have a displacement of 22,000 tons as against the original dreadnought of 18,000 tons. They also take the lead over the Delaware and North Dakota, 20,000 tons each, which have heretofore held the lead of big gun ships in the American navy. The two new American dreadnoughts, besides leading the ships of all the great powers in point of size, also bring Germany and the United States nearer together for second place among naval powers.

Among naval experts the original dreadnought has become the accepted unit of fighting efficiency. Counting the dreadnought as a unit of 100, the American battleship Delaware and her sister ship, North Dakota, have a ratio of efficiency of 110 each, while the Florida and Utah have a ratio of 125 each. These ratios for American dreadnought ships aggregate 670, as against an aggregate of about 700 for Germany. So that Germany and the United States are separated by only a few points for position of second place among naval powers, based on the dreadnought as the unit of fighting strength. However, on ships below the dreadnought unit, naval experts maintain that the scales are turned in favor of the United States as second in rank among the naval powers.

Coincident with the arrival of these two leaders among dreadnoughts of the great powers, the keel was laid yesterday of the super-dreadnought New York, 27,000 tons, which outranks in tonnage anything thus far built or underway in England or Germany. The largest British ships under construction are those of the King George class, 25,000 tons, and the largest of the new German ships building are 23,000 tons. The British designers are planning the Queen Mary of 29,000 tons, but she is not yet actually under way.

The New York represents the largest war ships now being built and the Utah and Florida the largest in the service of any of the great powers.

A RESTFUL PLACE.

Of all the hotels in Hawaii none affords the rest and comfort found at Haleiwa. The management takes a personal interest in the guests and enters to the wishes with the result that they have what they wish. The vegetables are from the hotel garden free from contamination and the fish are taken from the sea within a stone throw of the hotel. The beach is unexcelled in all of the islands and the surrounding country has scenery that appeals to all lovers of nature. As a whole the Haleiwa Hotel offers attractions not to be found elsewhere and to the tired brain worker there is no hotel in the islands as suitable.

TRAINING ARMY

and Japan, is overrun with them; they are even said to have invaded New Caledonia—peacefully, of course—in order to be as near Australia as they can; and, if we are to credit the reports of drovers who have just come from the spot, they are rapidly securing a foothold in the northern territory in spite of our restrictive laws.

First Step Costs.

Face to face with such dangers, both from the north and south, the magnitude of which people in Australia scarcely realize or they would not be so apathetic as they are, it behooves us to make some genuine effort to submit to some real self-sacrifice if we wish to preserve this great heritage for ourselves and our children. It is something to have adopted the compulsory system and to have organized an army of youths, but this is not enough, and now that the people generally have been brought to perceive, by the practical experience of witnessing the drill in the streets, how inefficient an army it would be if put to the test, it will be a comparatively easy matter to extend the period of service and to include the adults in the scheme as well as the boys. Not till this is done can we be said to have made anything like an adequate effort to guard our native shores.

Naval Epoch Begun.

The launching of the battleship New Zealand at Glasgow the other day in the presence of 8000 people was rightly termed by Lord Plunkett, ex-governor of New Zealand, a "new epoch in naval history," since it is the first time that the overseas dominions have contributed a warship to the British fleet, and it will ever be a tribute to the imperial spirit of New Zealand that it set the example in that respect which we in Australia were only too glad to follow. And the spirit which animates us all, both in England and throughout the empire, was happily voiced by Lady Ward as she cut the cord releasing the vessel: "May she never be called upon to engage in battle, but if it be otherwise, I pray that victory may be hers!"

We are not anxious to fight, we want to be at peace with all the world and to carry on our great mission of insuring liberty and justice to all the peoples under our sway, but to do that the empire, of which we form a part, must be ready at any moment to meet the enemy wherever he may appear, whether it be Germany or Japan. Both New Zealand and Australia have set the rest of the empire an example in that respect, and the sooner we make that example more worthy of imitation by extending the period of compulsory military training the better will be our chance of defending our shores when the moment of danger comes.

GUN PRACTICE

was directed to proceed on his course at a speed of seven knots, and it was expected by those on the tug that the ten shots to be fired at the moving target would come in rapid succession. However, after the first was fired, a long delay ensued, and it was thought that some accident had happened to one of the mortars, but it was probably occasioned by the tug cutting a straight line and getting out of the zone. It may be explained here that the zones of fire are circular, having as their centers the battery and their radii one, two, three thousand feet or more, the seventh zone being the arc of a circle, having seven thousand yards as its radius.

After a delay of some twenty minutes the forts began firing again, and the remaining nine shots came in rapid succession, and the mortar practice at the Fort Ruger batteries was over until another twelve months have rolled around.

Only Two Hits.

Of the four shots at the stationary target, which are not allowed to be counted as a record, two could be counted as hits, but of the other ten for official record, only one came close enough to the target to be called a "hit." This was the last shot, and it was reported to come within a zone of twenty-seven yards from the target.

Results Not Satisfactory.

The result, therefore, of yesterday's practice was far from satisfactory, as it was hoped to make at least 50 per cent of hits. Captain C. A. Clark, district artillery engineer and range observer, stated that the poor showing made may have been due to the fact that the men manning the batteries were not thoroughly trained, and that with further experience better results could be obtained.

Captain Clark, as range observer on the tug, was assisted by four or five men of the ordnance department. Some of these attempted to take pictures of the projectiles as they struck, and others used some very crude looking wooden instruments to assist in estimating the distance from the target at which each shot struck the water.

Those on the tug experienced great difficulty in reading the signals from Diamond Head, as immediately back of the summit heavy mists and clouds hung, affording a poor background to distinguish the signal flag. This was one reason for many of the delays. It would appear that a platform constructed part way down the side of the Head would be a better position to signal from, as then the cliff would always afford an unchanging background.

Cost About $5000.

The cost of each shot fired yesterday was approximately $360, bringing the total expense of the afternoon's sport up to about $5000, but as only two days for target practice are allowed every twelve months, there is no danger of the government's becoming financially embarrassed on this score.

MOROCCAN DISCUSSION.

tectorate of Morocco, along with the obligations involved to maintain order.

Dutch Man Defenses.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 11.—Owing to the alarming war news arising from the prolonged Franco-German negotiations over Morocco, the Dutch government is making full preparations to resist all possible interference with the neutrality of the Netherlands.

The Dutch fortifications along the German frontier have been occupied by strong garrisons and the coast defenses have been fully manned.

The government is buying provisions to keep the men and horses for six months at prices four or five times higher than normal and is ordering large quantities of rice from the colonies.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—While England naturally has been greatly interested in the Moroccan negotiations, there has been no excitement over them except for a few days following the arrival of a German gunboat at Agadir. The varying optimism and pessimism of the continental reports left Englishmen unmoved.

In official circles, however, an anxious view of the question is taken and this view has not been changed by the receipt of the summary of the German reply to the French proposals telegraphed here. It is true, diplomats point out, that Germany appears to agree in principle to the establishment of a French protectorate in Morocco. She, however, makes such reservations as amount almost to a withdrawal from the agreement.

"France," said a high official today, "is prepared to give Germany every guarantee that she will receive equality of treatment with other nations, but it is impossible for France to give economic advantages now asked."

While no one professes to believe that war is probable, there is no doubt of Great Britain's readiness therefore. Today the admiralty placed orders for 20,000 tons of coal at Cardiff. The coal is being rushed to Scotland, off the coast of which the home fleet now is exercising.

DANGEROUS SITUATION.

of the revolutionary leaders in the State of Morelos, Emiliano Zapata, refused to obey the order of the government to disband his forces. The prompt dispatch of a large force of government troops and the announcement by Madero that these revolutionary forces must be disbanded without delay prevented a serious conflict, which for a time seemed imminent. Had the government failed to disband this force of revolutionists the situation throughout the Republic would soon have become intolerable.

"The promptness with which order was restored in Morelos will serve as a lesson to revolutionary leaders throughout the country who may be tempted to play the part of local tyrants."

"The immediate future depends in a large measure on the continuance of close cooperation between President de la Barra and Francisco Madero. If this should continue unbroken it is likely that the presidential elections in October will not only be orderly, but will also register the popular will. Every patriotic Mexican will breathe more easily when the election is over and the new president installed."

"Pending the elections business interests throughout the Republic are suffering severely. Even those who have entire confidence in the future of the country are unwilling to undertake any new enterprise until after the government has shown its ability to maintain order during the elections."

"Conditions at the present time are abnormal. The patriotic devotion of President de la Barra is carrying the country through a period more critical in many respects than the struggle for independence in 1390 or the conflict for the maintenance of national supremacy brought about by French intervention in the sixties."

SWIMMING.

which made him sick, and he consulted with the pilot as to the advisability of continuing. Being informed that conditions were more promising he decided to go on, although feeling badly.

The next flood tide sent him right back toward England and over the dreadful ridge shoal, where he noticed the chill of shallow water. The swimmer, Weldmann, dived in and accompanied Burgess from nine o'clock until after midnight. Burgess took hot milk, grapes and chocolate at half-hour intervals.

At 4:20 o'clock in the morning Burgess complained of getting weak and lightheaded. He said he could see mirages and had a fit of the blues, and if the boys did not sing to him he should soon "chuck it."
