Has money vanished?

DPS won't talk about $26,000

By Nick Legaspi and David Hughes
© 1987 Marianas Variety

Remember the $26,000 that alleged Yakuza boss Hideo Shiragami left behind when he was murdered last February? No one wants to say if it's still locked up under police custody or not.

The Variety has been receiving anonymous telephone calls that the money, which was turned over to the Department of Public Safety for safekeeping while Shiragami's murderers were being tried, is missing. DPS officials refused to either confirm nor deny these reports. Public Safety Director Edward Manibusan refused to allow independent observers to take a look at the money, which allegedly has been kept inside an evidence room. That room is the responsibility of detective Alfred Pangelinan, who is now at the hospital because of gunshot wounds.

Assistant Attorney General Ray Buso, who prosecuted Shiragami's murderers, said in an interview Tuesday that Shiragami's money was illegal if it was not reported to customs authorities when it was brought into the Commonwealth. He said it could be forfeited in favor of the Commonwealth.

"We're working with the Department of Public Safety for the forfeiture of the money," Major Pete P. Reyes, CNMI customs chief, said in an interview Thursday. "We have also asked the United States Customs Service to assist us."

Reyes said that the U.S. Currency Act requires travelers coming into the CNMI to report any negotiable instrument (currency or checks) to the local customs if the total amount is $10,000 or more.

Reyes recalled that Shiragami arrived here with four other men and the money could have been split into five to be exempted from the reporting requirement.

After Shiragami was strangled and beaten to death police investigators came to the customs office at the Saipan International Airport to look into the records about the money the Japanese brought in. They

Grand jury will probe land deal

By Nick Legaspi

Although the deliberations of a federal grand jury are required to be kept secret, information of at least one case has risen into the light of disclosure. A recent deal which allowed a members of the CNMI government to lease prime public lands for a hotel will be investigated by the upcoming grand jury.

A. All correspondence (including telexes, memos, notes, etc.) with officials or employees of AIBIC International Corporation.

B. Resolutions Approving/Authorizing lease.

C. Recordings and transcriptions of minutes of all meetings regarding subject lease.

D. Appraisals of leased land.

E. All bid packages for the leased land.

F. Complete legal description of the leased land.

G. Lease

List of what the Grand Jury wants to see

Negotiations for lease of public land between AIBIC International Corp. and the Marianas Public Land Corp. were suspended as a result of a subpoena served by the United States District Court, this was learned from an MPLC official Thursday.

"We are in a moot situation right now," William Concepcion, MPLC's chief planner, said in an interview.

The District Court subpoenaed all documents pertaining to the lease of public land to AIBIC Corp. a joint venture between Japanese investors and a local government official. The subpoena, which was received by MPLC Nov. 23, listed the following records that must be submitted to the federal grand jury not later than Dec. 16. These include: all correspondence with officials or employees of AIBIC, resolutions approving or authorizing the lease, minutes of MPLC board meetings regarding the

Auditor: Flat-rate power bills too low

By DAVID T. HUGHES
editor

A review of flat rate utility billings for commercial users sent to the governor in late October has just now been released to the press, but that "release" has strings attached. And it shows that the Commonwealth has been subsidizing many large commercial power users to the tune an annual loss of $459,000 to the Commonwealth.

Public auditor Scott Tan released the report compiled by his office early this week, but told reporters that "names couldn't be printed because it violates the Commonwealth's laws dealing with privacy."

The auditor made that determination based on a letter sent to him following the release of names on alleged overtime overpayments to Commonwealth employees. One letter from Attorney General Alex Castro castigated Tan for releasing that report in early fall.

"I just don't know what to do about this," Tan said, "So, I am

PUBLIC BATHING LOOKS BAD; NOT A GOOD IMAGE

We keep hearing it; "the garment factories are bad for the Commonwealth. . . . But, no one has presented any facts to backup these statements - just "opinion." However, an increasingly distressing set of facts is now coming forth from the health department about not only this industry - but others, as well.

This newspaper applauds the Public Health officials for the job they are doing making store owners, restaurants, groceries and manufacturing plants "clean up their act." Much useful (and embarrassing) information has been revealed in the past weeks they have made their findings public.

Good is being done.

Perhaps the inspectors need to come to work earlier and later and notice what is going on around them, especially all along Beach Road as workers get off work or prepare for their day's labor. Our newspaper has received many verbal and some written complaints about the spectacle of people bathing in public. While we tend to dismiss griping about washing in the rinse areas of Micro and other Beaches, a blind eye can not be turned when men clad only in underwear and women flitting about in towels in full public view is observed everyday.

There is nothing immoral about bathing, but like certain other private activities in which human beings engage, our culture finds it irritating and outright repugnant to find it part of our local scenery every time we drive along our main thoroughfare. The time has come for something to be done - not to the people who are doing the bathing in public, but to their employers.

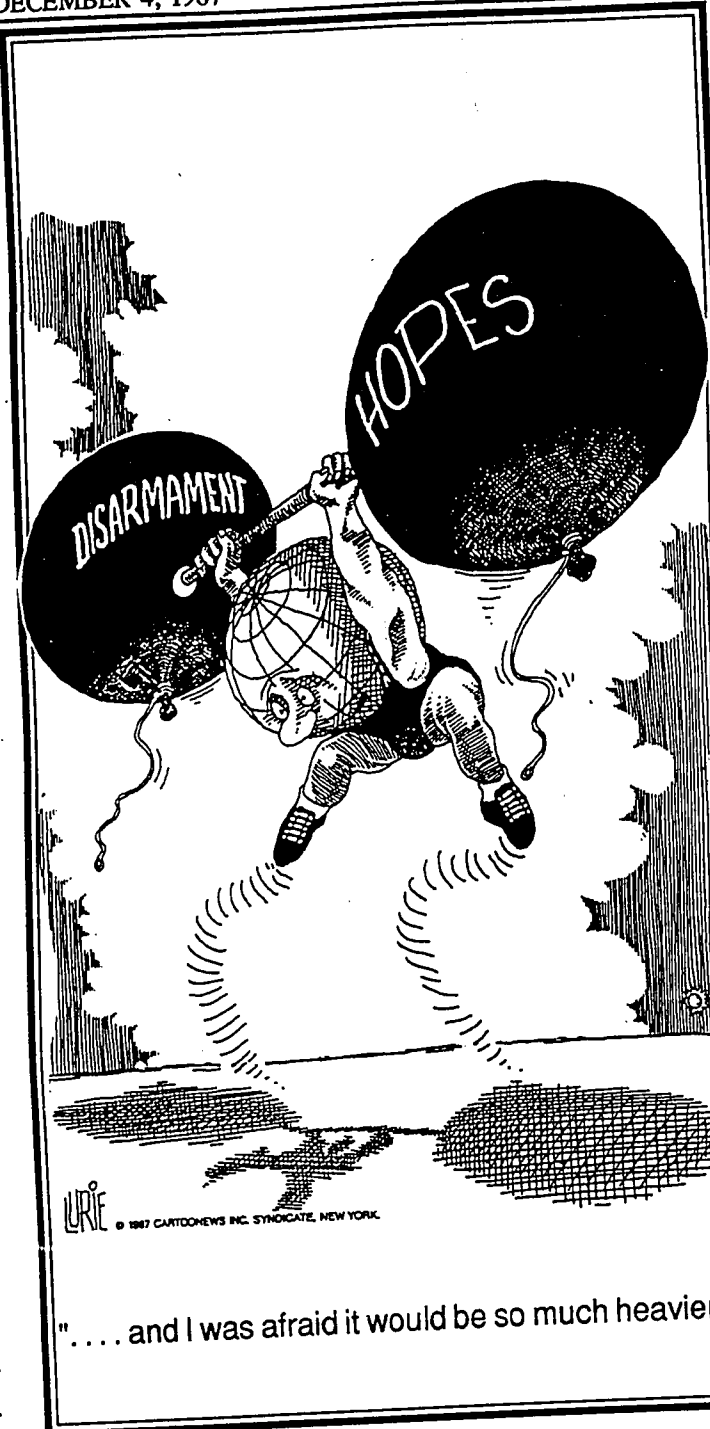

A good many of the club owners pack their employees into barracks with limited or no sanitary facilities - including flush toilets - and especially showers. Many of these club

Futaba NOT part of Hyatt

Dear Editor:
I was very distressed to read the articles in your newspaper today which were inaccurately titled, "Hyatt Warned to Cleaned Futaba". I would like to request an immediate retraction to this headline, which is both confusing to the general public and damaging to our company's image.

Let me clarify that it was not the Hyatt that was warned to clean up the Futaba Restaurant, but the independent management of Futaba. Futaba is not owned, managed or operated by the Hyatt. It simply rents space in our hotel.

I would certainly not want anyone to confuse the Futaba Restaurant's independent operations with the kind of high standards they can expect at the other fine restaurants in our hotel.

AG sticks up for DPS silent treatment to public

Dear Editor:
In view of the recent misunderstanding by the Marianas Variety over non-disclosure by the Department of Public Safety and Attorney General's Office of information in ongoing criminal investigations, our office believes it important to point out the pragmatic and ethical considerations involved.

There are a number of important reasons why premature disclosure can seriously damage the chances of bringing the guilty person(s) to justice. For one, exposing too much information too early in an investigation runs the risk of alerting suspects, thereby providing them with time to: (a) flee the jurisdiction; (b) concoct an alibi; (c) tamper with or destroy evidence; or (d) intimidate potential witnesses.

Secondly, prematurely revealing inside information acquired during an investigation makes it difficult and perhaps impossible to verify its accuracy because the details have thus become generally known. Finally, public disclosure of possible leads and speculative theories about the crime can make it impossible to later obtain an impartial jury, and may lead to a forced dismissal of criminal charges at a later stage.

These considerations underlie the legal and ethical constraints on premature disclosure. Rule 24 of the Commonwealth Rules of Court states, in part: With respect to a pending investigation of any criminal matter, a lawyer participating in or associated with the investigation shall refrain from making any extrajudicial statement which a reasonable person would

Policy will change on letters to the editor

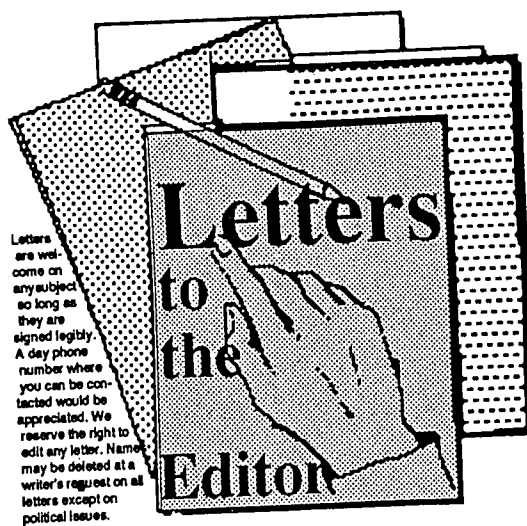

Variety editor David T. Hughes and publisher Abed Younis announced this week that a change in letters to the editor policies are being formulated.

Hughes said that he and the publisher felt that the previously-followed policy of allowing "name withheld by request" was being abused. "Previously, other newspapers have garnered the reputation of having bogus letters," the editor said. "We feel that a more conservative policy is in order."

Effective Jan. 1, 1988 the Variety will institute a policy that all letters to the editor must be hand-signed with a day telephone number so it can be verified. "We will still allow those wishing to exercise their freedom of speech to do so," Hughes said, "but if someone wants their name not printed, then we want to know why."

He said the reason would not be published, and if the editorial staff determined the reason for not signing names was not good enough, the letter would be destroyed or returned to the sender at the author's option.

"We must maintain our reputation of integrity," Hughes said. "This is one way of doing so."

EDITORIAL TOO

"Retraction" is a dirty word to most journalists

One of the things journalists hate to do is "retract" a story, or other bit of information which appeared in their publication, radio story, etc. I may have retracted something two or three times in my life, and it now looks like I will (grudgingly) have to do it again.

Last week I wrote a headline for a standard health department story about their now-weekly inspections of restaurants, stores, garment factories and the like. My headline said "Hyatt warned to clean up Futaba", the story appeared on page 15 of that issue. Now it seems I erred by saying that the Hyatt was "warned" to clean up the restaurant. NOW we find out that the restaurant is not a part of the Hyatt's corporate family. It is just a renter IN the hotel.

A very nice public relations representative hand-carried a letter from a hotel executive (see letters to the editor this week) asking for the retraction. Now, I will admit that I saw red and said "no - absolutely and positively not", but now that I have had a chance to think about it, the PR rep was right; It wasn't Hyatt's restaurant, so they shouldn't be held up to public ridicule like that.

So here it is:

RETRACTION:

A headline in last week's paper which said "Hyatt warned to clean up Futaba" was in error.

We regret any embarrassment to the hotel, its employees or others.

The newspaper regrets the error.

But, dear readers, I do have grave reservations about some other statements made by the hotels PR rep. She told me that the hotel was going to "talk to the public health department" about the story and why they weren't told about the problem until the story was published in the newspaper.

Hmmmmmm. The hotel is angry because the headline said they were "warned" to clean up and they protest the restaurant is just a client renter - not part of the hotel itself; AND they are concerned they weren't "told" about the incident by the health department.

Very interesting. . . .

I am sure the professionals just doing their jobs at the health department are not appreciated by the folks they cite. Now they know how many of us in the journalism business feel when folks we take to task protest.

To repeat what many have said to our newspaper, "Hang in there - you are doing a good job. Hold their feet to the fire." Yes, health inspectors, those who violate the law scream bloody murder when they are caught. But aren't a few cries of indignation much better than the weeping at funerals caused by death of a loved one by bad food or a disease caused by unsanitary living conditions?

Sometimes this business of attempting to keep the public informed is very frustrating. Take the instance of one public official who said that he hesitated to release a report to the press because "it contains names". This official had already received two letters from the attorney general's office saying that Castro was "disappointed" in the official's attitude.

I don't know about you folks out there, but I was under the impression that the attorney general's office was in business to look after the people's business - not the politicians. But, I examined the Commonwealth's Constitution, and it says that his office is to advise the governor and legislature.

Who represents the PEOPLE? Even politically backward states like Arkansas has a strong attorney general's office which watches the politicians. Many times laws have been passed in that state that the AG has said were unconstitutional and the lawmakers had to amend or repeal a law they passed over the AG's warnings.

Of course, it didn't always used to be that way, but after the federal officials took care of a few state officials in the 1960's and grand juries indicted lawmakers for being crooks, then things changed.

Also, in the United States, the attorney general's office is an elected position, as are sheriff's, etc. So, if someone in that office - or an employee doesn't do the job they are voted out every two years.

In Arkansas, the AG's office has served as a stepping stone to governor for many people.

But here in the Commonwealth becoming AG doesn't have any expect to be disseminated by means of public communication, that goes beyond the public record or that is not necessary to inform the public that the investigation is underway, to describe the general scope of the investigation, to obtain assistance in the apprehension of a suspect, to warn the public of any dangers, or otherwise to aid in the investigation.

Furthermore, DR 7-107(a) of the Code of Professional Responsibility for Attorneys states:

A lawyer participating in or associated with the investigation of a criminal matter shall not make or participate in making an extrajudicial statement that a reasonable person would expect to be disseminated by means of public communication and that does more than state without elaboration:

- (1) Information contained in a public record.
- (2) That the investigation is in progress.
- (3) The general scope of the investigation including a description of the offense and, if permitted by law, the identity of the victim.
- (4) A request for assistance in apprehending a suspect or assistance in other matters and the information necessary thereto.
- (5) A warning to the public of any danger.

Similar constraints on disclosure of investigative details apply to the police.

We hope that bringing these considerations to the attention of the public will result in greater understanding of the need to safeguard the investigative process. The Department of Public Safety is carrying on its investigative duties in a professional and responsible manner.

Very truly yours,

Garment factories' propaganda again

Dear Editor:

The propaganda from the garment industry over the last few weeks has been amazing. Next thing they will be telling us is that they stand for motherhood and apple pie! The statistics leave a couple of giant holes. How much does this industry gross? If it paid 48.2 million in taxes, how much did it take in? 100's of millions or even billions? I don't think they want us to know that figure.

Of the 750 "locals", how many are U.S. citizens? How many are long time Micronesians and short time Filipinos? Since 1984 what is the total amount paid to these people in hourly salaries? Is this amount less than the amount ($5.1 million) paid for shipping? Is that all the landowners received - $1.3 million for leases? Not enough.

Although it's nice for our local businesses to make this extra money, the key question is: will any local businesses go under if the garment industry disappears? Right now, it seems as if the answer is no. When the answer becomes yes, our problems

THE BOTTOM LINE

The idea that one can win playing poker machines is an illusion. This is not Reno, Vegas or Atlantic City where you can hit the million dollar progressive machines. This is a small island where people who cannot afford to throw away hard earned money report to stealing, borrowing, or selling their birthright (property) to catch that elusive dream.

I defy the owners of the machines to show me more than 10 "alien" or "tourists" using poker machines in one of the poker machine palaces. Sure, the hotel guests play the machines in the hotel. But how many of them go to all owners are not citizens of the Commonwealth or the United States and they seem to think that what was OK for employee conditions in their country should be OK here.

It's not. Immediate enforcement of health laws should be implemented against club owners, garment factories, and other employers who quarter large numbers of people in cramped and unhealthy conditions. There's nothing like putting a "CONDEMNED" sign on the door of a housing facility to make landlords (or barracks owners) to dig down and find the money to make improvements.

Most of the workers' contracts require employers to provide housing and other amenities, and if the barracks the employer uses is declared as not fit for human habitation then those workers MUST be placed somewhere else at considerable expense.

Once someone has been warned to clean things up by "x" date and they fail to comply, then criminal action should be taken against them. Perhaps huge fines and a mandatory sentence of being forced to live, eat, and bathe in their own dormitory facilities would cause employers to take a second look at their housing.

What do you think?

A late reply on our recent question on should public lands be developed

In theory, yes. In practice, no. MPLC currently operates as a secret organization and basically does what they want. Sure, they go thru some motions of holding hearings, but once they make up their mind on something, consider it done. Did the people of Saipan decide if there should be a 600 acre (that's 1 square mile, or 2% of Saipan) cattle ranch in Marpi? No matter there is now. All proposed leases should be publicly advertised for at least a month. Any lease of beach land or an area in excess of, say, 1 hectare should be approved by public vote.

Approximately 10 years ago 70% of Saipan was public land. It would be very interesting to know what the figure is today. Can you find out?

P.S.-Other possible questions.

1. Do you trust your elected and appointed officials?

2. Do you support a bottle/can deposit bill?

3. Are uncontrolled dogs a problem? Should they be eliminated?

4. Do you support zoning?

5. Do you think non-Chamorro, non-Carolinians should be allowed to own land in the CNMI?

6. Do you think Lee Holmes has both oars in the water?

7. Do you think Larry Hilblom's tray is in the upright and locked position?

Name withheld by request

Legislature likes idea of Chamorro station

The Legislature has adopted a joint resolution supporting a proposed 24-hour Chamorro program on FM based in Saipan.

Serafin Dela Cruz has filed a petition with the Federal Communications Commission for the allotment of Channel 258 to Dela Cruz' Chamorro Hit Radio in Garapan. FCC is inviting comments on the petition.

The Senate Joint Resolution introduced by Senator Joseph S. Inos was adopted by the Senate during its session Nov.18. The House adopted it Nov.25.

The resolution says "the Legislature finds the proposed project of Mr. Serafin M. Dela Cruz of great cultural significance and importance to the people of the Northern Marianas, in fact an indispensable element in our grim struggle to maintain our language and unique culture in this rapidly changing world..."

The resolution requests FCC to be favorable guided in making a ruling about the petition by the "concerns, sentiments and aspirations expressed herein by the elected representatives of the people of the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands."

An attachment to the resolution said the proposed program will be broadcast both to Guam and the Northern Marianas. Prospective audience of the proposed Chamorro language program are the 17,500 indigenous residents of the CNMI and about 48,000 Chamorros in Guam and other Micronesian cultural groups "who have developed a taste and appreciation of Chamorro cultural expression."

multiply.

One thing the garment industry has not told us about is how much power and water it uses. I bet that if there was no garment industry here, I would have 24 hours of water and power everyday. The garment industry also has not told us how much it pays for water and power. I know why. The following figures I received anonymously indicate that the 13 plants and slave quarters paid an average of $500 from the period of 31 July-31 August. One factory paid $1.10 more than mc for that month. For the remaining time this industry is here it should pay a flat rate of $50,000 each per month. Why hasn't this noble industry coughed up a few million for water and power? Why has it become local custom for new homeowners to pay for their transformers and power line? Why are there more aliens using our hospital, post office and highways than locals?

No amount of propaganda and statistics will change the three reasons why this industry must go. First, is the health hazard which is just now coming to light. It's bad enough we have to worry about AIDS and being nuked. Now we've added Tuberculosis, a disease we didn't have. Second, 350,000 Americans have lost their jobs in the garment industry in the last four years. This figure is too strong to ignore. We are part of that problem. Although we have every right to bargain hard with the Feds, we don't have the right to be part of something that screws other Americans out of their jobs. It's called "familia". Third, this industry promotes modern day slavery, which is cheap labor living like pigs. We just finished arguing about the morals of casino gambling. Do we have to debate the morals of slavery, too?

I am joyous about this flurry of gift giving by the garment industry which has taken place over the last month. No matter what else I say, I give you credit for it. Dig deeper! Charities, now is the time!

Very truly yours,

Hopwood achievers striving to meet goals

Leadership, discipline, dependability and excellence make up the criteria for selecting the Science Achievers of the First Quarter in Mrs. Julie D. Cunanan's five Science classes. The awardees are given due recognition, through special gifts and certificates.

What makes up the Science students of this quarter is the loftiness of their ideals giving way for the quality of performances that breeds the quality of young achievers. The five outstanding students selected, have one thing in common-excellence! All bear the ideals the teacher and the classmates exhorted for the whole initial part of the school year. These students proved to be hope, joy in the hearts and the promise of life, of their parents, the community and the school.

Pretty thirteener Carlene B. Reyes, daughter of Congressman-elect Juan S. Reyes and Mrs. Rita B. Reyes, defined Science as the most important subject to learn utilizing our senses of observations to living organisms and our environment. To her fellow students, she advises; "Study as hard as possible and keep this habit up and you won't regret it. In fact, it will keep your future shines bright."

The Science second period class' one and only pride, hard Sanchez, son of Mr. Romeo and Nellie Sanchez is thirteen. Science, he said, is exploration of organisms and their environment. To his fellow classmates who elected him, he relates: "I'm honored to be an achiever, without you, this wouldn't be possible. Please strive harder for excellence. I did it so there won't be any reason for you not to make next time."

Champion, popular and resourceful thirteener, George S. Concepcion of the third class, son of Mr. Jesus & Connie Concepcion described Science as a basic structure of learning. He expounds: "I feel dignified and cheered to be tagged as Science Achiever. I wish to thank all of you and please study harder. It is fun to be up there."

A serious thirteener, Carlyn Attao, daughter of Mr. Vicente Attao and Mrs. Marylee Sablan, urges her classmates that; "Science is a way to learn through observing new things in your everyday lives. Don't run away on your problem, talk it over with someone you trust and face it."

Classmates find thirteener Keobel Sakuma, a pleasant and fun to be with individual. The son of Margo Vitarelli relates; "Science is enlightening the mind to create, to conclude and to invent. Thanks to you for the confidence. I wish you luck next time."

Govt. workers given 5 % wage boosts

By Nick Legaspi
Reporter

The Senate passed a bill Tuesday to grant about 2,000 civil service employees a five-percent across-the-board salary increase.

Implementation of the proposed salary increase, if signed into law, will be in March 1988. The Legislature must also pass another bill to appropriate the $600,000 that will be needed to support the pay increase.

Senate Bill 5-123 introduced by Vice President Jose P. Mafnas had been passed by the Legislature earlier but was recalled by the Senate from the governor's office for additional changes. The new version will be transmitted to the House of Representatives for consideration.

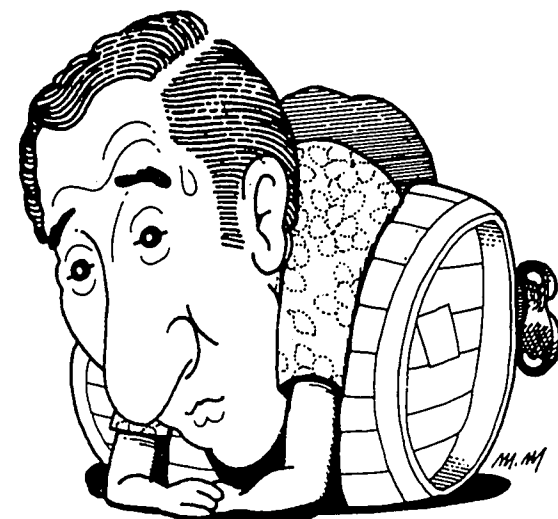

The Senate, during its session Tuesday, also passed S.B.5-129 which allows insurance companies to engage in insurance underwriting in the Commonwealth as long as they have a one-year experience in the business.

The bill introduced by Sen. Juan N. Babauta seeks to amend the existing law which requires a five-year experience before a certificate of authority is issued to insurance firms to do business in the CNMI.

The Committee on Health, Education and Welfare chaired by Babauta assured that the reduction in the experience requirement would not reduce the quality of insurance protection to local consumers. The committee said in its report that the background of the staff, shareholders and officers should be the determining factor in granting a certificate of authority to the insurance company.

Water bad

The Division of Environmental Quality analyzed samples of drinking water from the Island of Saipan this week. Water from Kagman, Tanapag, Puerto Rico, Garapan, Gualo Rai, and the airport contained excessive coliform bacteria and also contained no chlorine.

DEQ advises residents of these areas to boil their water before using it for drinking, food preparation, or freezing as a precaution against possible bacterial contamination.

Note: The Division of Environmental Quality analyzes drinking water from island public water supplies each week. DEQ will submit a drinking water report to the news media each week. Only those areas where excessive coliform bacteria are found or where there is insufficient chlorine at the time of sampling to ensure a sanitary water supply will be published.

Manila gets new name for airport

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Corazon Aquino presided at a ceremony last week at which the Manila International Airport was renamed for her husband, who was assassinated there more than four years ago.

Members of Congress, the Cabinet, foreign diplomats and members of Mrs. Aquino's family attended the celebrations marking the 55th birthday of the late Sen. Benigno Aquino.

The airport will be known as the Ninoy Aquino International Airport, using Aquino's popular nickname.

Earlier Aquino traveled to her hometown of Paniqui, 80 miles north of Manila, to unveil a monument to her husband.

Computer club may be formed on Saipan soon

A group of local computer enthusiasts are attempting to put together a club or users group to further their interests. The local effort is being spearheaded by David Hughes and Bill Michling.

Hughes said in a press release this week: "Basically, we are trying to determine if there is enough interest on the island to go through the motions for forming a computer interest group."

Michling, local manager of the Marianas Electronics retail outlet, said that some of the computer companies his concern does business with offers extensive support to users groups, and they can offer discounts on software, hardware, and other materials.

Several attempts have been made in the past to start computer clubs on the island, Michling said, but they didn't do too well because of the low number of users at that time. "Now, we have a lot of users of different types on-island," Michling said.

Both Hughes and Michling said they feel that such a club should be for all persons interested in computers - even if they don't necessarily own one. "This includes really interested young people who are in school and have access to machines there," Hughes said.

"A computer users group allows persons having problems with software, hardware, procedures or the like to meet with others who may have had the same problems in the past and found solutions," Hughes said.

The club's formation will be strictly based on interest, Hughes said. "We already have a small users group which meets for lunch every other week," he said. "But they talk mostly about telephone communications through devices called 'modems', and many can't attend because they are at work or in school," he said.

An announcement is expected later this month as to when an organizational meeting will be held. "If there is enough interest, we can set that meeting before the Christmas holidays," Hughes said. Michling and Hughes emphasized that the club, while not being "machine specific", would probably attract a lot of Apple and Macintosh users - and those using MS-DOS machines, such as IBM-type, Compaq, Epson, etc.

Anyone interested should contact Hughes at 234-9797 or Michling at 234-5424.

A meeting date will be announced.

Merchant convicted of illegal labor import

By Nick Legaspi
Reporter

A Garapan businessman was given a 90-day suspended sentence Monday for bringing foreign workers into the Commonwealth under the guise of businesswomen.

Antonio Arriola, who operates a retail store, laundromat and snack bar, was also ordered by Chief Judge Robert A. Hefner to pay within 30 days a $500-fine for each of the three counts of aiding and abetting illegal entry into the Commonwealth, for a total fine of $1,500. Arriola was also ordered to provide plane tickets to Manila for two of the women he hired from the Philippines, and to give their passports and personal belongings.

Chief prosecutor S. Jane Haggerty filed the three-count information against Arriola Oct. 16 following discovery by immigration officials that Ener V. Kurdi, Dolores Calica and Rosalinda Mateo, who arrived here Sept. 7 on business entry permits, were actually hired by Arriola to work for him.

According to testimonies presented during the trial Monday, Arriola told the women that the quickest way to enter the CNMI was through a business visa, which could later be changed into working permits. The women arrived in Saipan Sept. 7 and were given a 14-day business permit. Kurdi and Calica were taken by Arriola to the Immigration and Naturalization Office Sept. 17 to apply for a 90-day extension of the business permit. During the interview conducted by Deputy INO Chief Charles Reyes the two women admitted that they were working for Arriola as waitresses at $2.15 an hour. Reyes rejected the application for extension of the business permit.

Kurdi and Calica told the court Monday that they stayed in the barracks for Arriola's employees, and performed such tasks at the snack bar as cooking, washing dishes, cleaning and waiting on tables. Mateo, who said she was hired as domestic worker, said she worked without a day off from 6 a.m. to 1 a.m., taking care of Arriola's children, cleaning the house and the restrooms at Arriola's apartment.

Attorney Pete Atalig, Arriola's counsel, said the women, who were all educated, should have known that holders of business entry permits are not allowed to work. He also said that Arriola relied on representation from government officials who told the businessman that he could bring in workers under a business entry permit which could later be changed into working permit.

Arriola, during his testimony, named two immigration officers who told him in separate occasions about using the business entry permit to bring in workers. George Ramon, one of the officers named by Arriola, was called in as rebuttal witness. He denied Arriola's claim. Antonio Cruz, the other officer named by Arriola, was not called to the witness stand.

"I do not accept that the government led you down the wrong path," Hefner said at the end of the trial in response to Arriola's claim.

He said the women did work for Arriola and that their entry as businesswomen was no more than a ruse to get people here by

Book provides personal look at terror

By Nick Legaspi
Reporter

So many books have been written about prisoners of war, soldiers who have to fight a different war under captivity. "Horio You Next Die!" by Joseph G. Nason and Robert Lawrence Holt should draw a unique interest for the Northern Marianas because of several reasons.

Nason, a naval aviator during the Second World War, and his wife Mary Ostendorf came to Saipan in 1977 for a two-year tour as Peace Corps volunteers. Many Saipan residents, including their fellow volunteers who decided to stay after their tour still remember the couple. Nason has sent a copy of his book to Attorney Charles Novo-Gradac, also a Peace Corps volunteer, to be donated to the local library.

The Northern Marianas also played a major part in the war in the Pacific, setting of Nason's book. Saipan was the scene of a bloody battle between American and Japanese troops, and Tinian was the jumping point for the bombers which delivered the atomic bombs to Japan to end the war.

Horio is the Japanese word for prisoner and Nason was one of the 63 American and Australian prisoners sent to Rabaul in the Solomon Islands whose individual and collective experiences in the Japanese camp make up "Horio You Next Die." Only seven survived until their rescue by the Australian Navy in September 1945.

Nason, flying a Douglas Dauntless, the U.S. Navy's prime dive bomber during the war, in his first mission in October 1943, was shot down. He parachuted from his burning plane and spent five days without food in the jungle before being captured by the Japanese.

He was sent to Rabaul to join 62 other American and Australian prisoners in a life of torture interrupted by brief moments of relief, a life that demanded endurance beyond human endurance and mental skills measured in terms of outwitting and outsmarting the enemy.

James Bond Stockdale, retired vice admiral, compared the unpredictability of the Japanese during the war and the "camp authority" of the North Vietnamese in the Vietnam war. Stockdale, a fighter pilot in the Vietnam war, was shot down in 1965 and was the senior naval service prisoner-of-war in Hanoi for eight years. He was tortured 15 times, in leg irons for two years, and in solitary confinement for four years.

"I'm not sure which, the unnerving uncertainty under the Japanese or drum-beat order under the North Vietnamese, inflicts more wear and tear on the mental states of prisoners," Stockdale writes in the book's foreword.

"But when it comes to prisoners' physiological systems, this powerful book drives home the point that the World War II prisoners of the Japanese in the islands saw the bottom of the barrel," Stockdale writes.

Nason, six feet and three inches high, weighed 220 pounds before he was shot down. In less than a year after capture he shrank to less than 85 pounds. Considering this and the fact that of the 22 Americans in the prison camp only half a dozen survived, "the reader will know that he has been shown the ultimate in human tenacity to hang on to comrades and to life itself in the pursuit of a patriotic cause."

Nason, with his wife, had visited Japan and revisited Rabaul, which looked nothing like the Rabaul of his prison days. The bitterness is gone, but the memories remain. "Forget? Forget? Forget the courage of Warren, Miller, Lanphier, Todd and all the others? Forget those who stood bravely in the face of evil? Forget those who endured wounds, beatings, disease and starvation without whimpering and who exemplified the virtues which were held high in those idealistic days?" Nason asks.

Garapan Elem. getting "ornamental"

Weason of Santa Claus without making ornaments, (at least one or two) to place on the Christmas tree. That's just what the students from Garapan Elementary did. Every year Governor Pedro P. Tenorio asks Northern Marianas school children to participate in making the decorations for the Commonwealth tree located in Washington, D.C. The Council for Arts and Culture and the Department of Education cooperate in giving out the contest requirements and timeline to principals and teachers in the schools. Deadlines are announced and the finished creations are collected. All are carefully wrapped, packaged and mailed. Forty pieces may be entered. The ornaments will hang on the CNMI tree inside individual protective see-through containers. Themes are different; in 1985 it was "Liberty", 1986, "Peace", and the 1987 theme is "Blessing".

Bank of Hawaii recently named Betty Anne Dela Cruz as teller of the month for October 1988. The award is based on cash record, attendance, and efficiency in completing transactions. Betty Anne, a 1986 graduate of Mt. Carmel High School, started with Bank of Hawaii as a part time teller upon graduation from Mt. Carmel High School.

Florentina Agulto was recently re-assigned as a Bookkeeper. Florence started with Bank of Hawaii in September 1983 as a proof operator and has held a variety of positions during her tenure with the bank including teller and consumer loan collector.

Ana Guerrero has been promoted to Operations Officer with responsibility for the interior operations of Bank of Hawaii Saipan. Ana first started with the Bank of Hawaii in 1971 and was one of the original employees when the bank first opened in 1971. Since that time, she has held various positions including Utility Clerk, Senior Clerk, and Consumer Loan Supervisor in charge of the consumer lending for Bank of Hawaii Saipan. Ana Guerrero is the first woman Operations Officer for Bank of Hawaii Saipan Branch from Saipan.

Phil Stevenson has joined Bank of Hawaii as a Japan Marketing Officer. A native of Utah, Phil has lived and worked in Japan for a number of years. Fluent in Japanese, Phil will be responsible for meeting and dealing with Japanese speaking clients. Phil and his wife, Kazuyo, are the parents of 2 children.

Senate, Rasa must pay for all goods, costs

By Nick Legaspi
Reporter

The Senate must pay Town House Department Store $7,363.98 for goods purchased in 1984 through a charge account by then President Ponciano Rasa.

This was the decision rendered by Chief Judge Robert A. Hefner following the trial Nov. 27 on the complaint filed by Jones and Guerrero, owner of Town House, against the Senate and Rasa. Hefner, in his memorandum of opinion released Tuesday, also allowed Town House to recover costs of the suit from the Senate.

Town House manager Mike Kidgell and Rasa said during the trial that Rasa opened the $10,000-charge account before the end of fiscal year 1984 under the office of the Senate president to be paid at the beginning of fiscal year 1985. There were no records presented to the court about the actual places where the goods bought under the account were delivered but Rasa and former Senate executive director Joaquin Villanueva said some of the items were used in the Senate president's official residence which Rasa did not occupy, others were used in the Senate office in Susupe and a bicycle was donated to a fund raising raffle in Tinian.

Money was appropriated under Public Law 4-22 (signed in November 1984) to pay for the Senate's outstanding liabilities in fiscal year 1984. Rasa said that whenever he inquired about the Town House account he was told by the Department of Finance that payment would be processed.

It was not. Town House then filed the civil complaint to collect payment from the Senate and from Rasa. The former Senate president did not answer the complaint and a default judgment was issued against him.

Tim Bruce, counsel for the Senate, said: "Debts in the case were illegal because there was no money for them."

He cited a law that provides that "No public office is authorized to expend funds in excess of funds available."

"Illegal or not, they ratified it," Town House counsel Mike White responded. He cited P.L. 4-22 which appropriated money for liquidation of Senate's unpaid obligations in fiscal year 1984.

Bruce, in his trial brief, also cited the nature of the goods purchased, such as a bicycle and an entertainment center, in support of the Senate position that the goods were for personal use.

Hefner, in his memorandum, said: "Even if the goods purchased were not of a type usually deemed necessary for the operation of the Senate, the Senate is still not justified in contending that Town House acted improperly in opening an account for the Senate pursuant to Rasa's request."

CNMI not asked about Munson

Solons want more input on fed judgeship

By Nick Legaspi
Reporter

The Senate adopted a joint resolution Tuesday protesting the manner of nomination of the judge for the federal District Court in the Northern Marianas.

At the same time the resolution requested that consideration of the nomination of Trust Territory High Court Judge Alex Munson to the District Court position "be immediately and indefinitely postponed until the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana

Cory vows to finish it

MANILA, Philippines (AP) President Corazon Aquino vowed to finish her term in office and said those who want to oust her will have to use democracy rather than violence.

Her comments came five days before a deadline set by the armed forces for the surrender of renegade Col. Gregorio "Gringo" Honasan and his followers. Honasan led an Aug. 28 coup attempt that left 53 people dead.

"I tell my opponents, I am here to stay and finish my term in 1992," Mrs. Aquino told an international delegation of public administrators. "Whoever wants to remove me from office has to do it in a democratic way."

Mrs. Aquino's administration faces armed threats from communist and Moslem rebels as well as military mutineers, who have staged three major coup attempts since she took office Feb. 25, Islands is given the opportunity to submit its own recommendation for such position...

The resolution, which will be transmitted to the House of Representatives for concurrence, was in response to earlier reports that District Court Judge Alfred Laureta's term is due to expire next year and that Munson had been nominated to succeed Laureta.

The resolution points out that the District Court here is the first court to deliberate on questions involving the Covenant and is also the appellate court for cases appealed from the Commonwealth Trial Court. The resolution says that the CNMI "should always be officially consulted regarding its views and comments on any and all nominees to such position..."

Senator Juan N. Babauta, author of the resolution, sent a note to the Variety Wednesday explaining his position. "One thing I want to make perfectly clear is that this resolution is not aimed against Munson," he said. "In fact, I do not know Mr. Munson at all. The purpose of the resolution is to involve the CNMI in the selection process of the next Federal District Court judge by consulting with our top officials. Perhaps to solicit any input or recommendation from the CNMI."

"I know that the appointment is entirely up to the President of the United States with the advice and consent of the Senate, but we should at least be consulted and be asked for our input, Babauta added.

Hawaiian dancers coming

The Commonwealth will be receiving special visitors, soon. Arriving early in the month of December is a Hawaiian Dance Halau from Molokai. December 6th, Sunday they are holding a dance workshop and clinic for interested island dance groups from 1:00 to 3:00 in the afternoon at the Commonwealth Convention Center. That same evening, December 6th at 6:30 p.m. the CNMI Jaycees are presenting a performance by the well known group, also in the Commonwealth Convention Center. The next day, Monday December 7th, the Halau will be performing for students in the morning at Mt. Carmel School and after lunch at Hopwood Junior High School.

Career day success

On Thursday, Nov. 5, Marianas High School sponsored a career day to help students learn more about the employment opportunities available here on Saipan.

Forty-Three speakers were invited to attend and present information about their respective career fields. A few didn't make it, but 38 were on hand to talk with the students. Their jobs ranged from airline and automobile businesses to the construction industry and insurance underwriting.

Student reaction to Career Day was enthusiastic. Alisa Goodwill attended the Commonwealth Court presentation. She commented, "This is the first year that I enjoyed Career Day. Judge Villagomez was interesting and funny. He talked to us about the CNMI judicial system and how it works. It really gave me some ideas and inspired me on the career". Anne Marie Buccat reported that she was "somewhat dismayed or disappointed to see that the career of my first choice was not the one I had been assigned to on Career Day. But I did learn something from the speakers." Lisa Marcham went to the presentation by the Attorney General. "It is a very exciting career," she said. "It gave me a lot of ideas to think about. By the end of the presentation all of my questions were answered. Mr. Alex Castro explained what each employee in his office does. I feel that Career Day has helped me a lot."

Mrs. Frances Sablan, our senior class counselor, reports that there will be another career day coming up in January. It will be an all day activity, coordinated by the MHS Student Council. The students will have the opportunity to attend a number of different presentations pertaining to the career field, or fields, in which they are interested. This arrangement will help make sure that students have the opportunity to attend the presentations they most prefer.

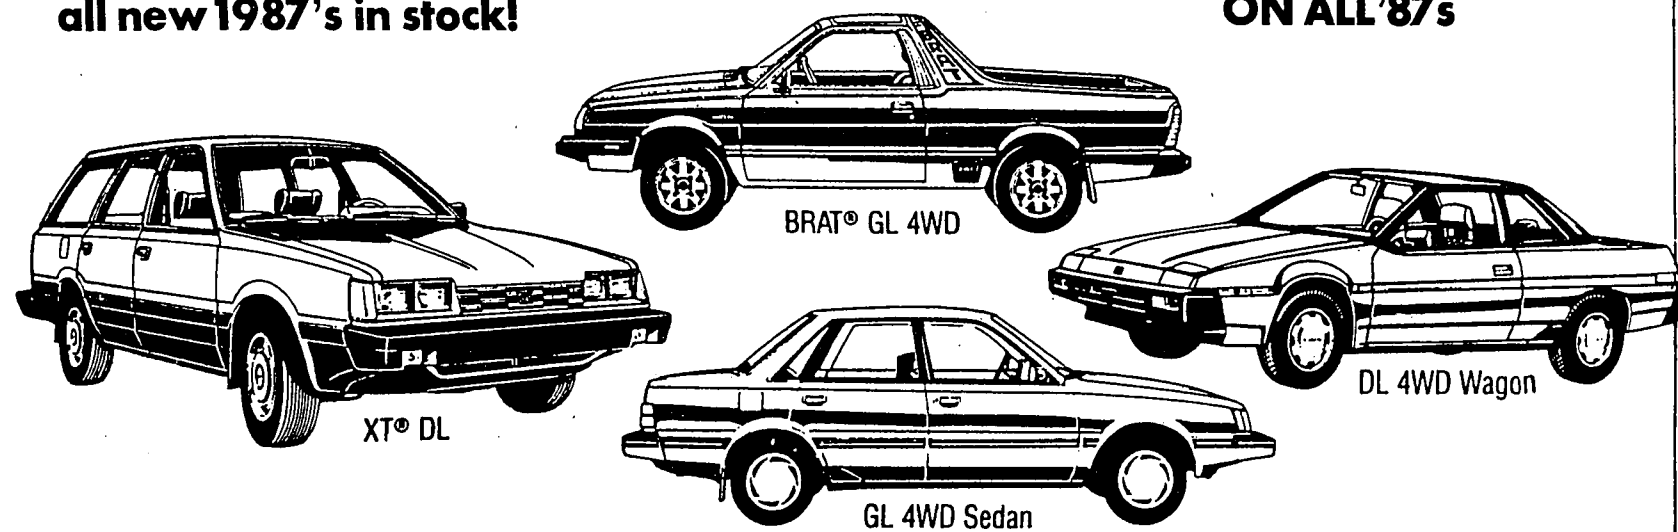

Mrs. Sablan said that the school would like to extend special thanks to Governor Pedro P. Tenorio for recognizing the importance of Career Week and for proclaiming the CNMI Career Development Week, Nov. 1-7, 1987. She also expressed thanks to Mr. Conrad Reyes, State Occupational Information Coordinating Committee Director, Dr. John Romisher, Saipan Rotary Club Vocational Services Committee Chairman, and Mr. Atanacio Taitinglong, CNMI Vocational Education Coordinator, for initiating the concept of TEAM work between agen-lease and the lease agreement itself.

Guerrero denies PDN story; Any wrongdoing MPLC records wanted by jury

Concepcion said the AIBIC project had so far been the only transaction the records of which were subpoenaed by the federal court.

"There is no lease," Concepcion said during the interview.

He explained that AIBIC, represented by Ramon S. Guerrero, Governor Pedro P. Tenorio's special assistant for administration, was the only bidder left when the deadline for submission of bids for the four-hectare public land in the old Coast Guard site came up.

AIBIC proposed to lease the 40,827 square meters of public land at $3.84 per square meter and attached a five-year advance lease payment of $783,000 in support of its proposal. AIBIC plans to build a 350-room hotel and 17 cottages at an estimated cost of $43 million.

MPLC approved the proposal. Concepcion said during the interview that the bid package for the land gave MPLC and the winning bidder 30 days to come up with a lease agreement. An appraisal of the current land value was also required.

He said negotiations for the lease, and even the appraisal of the land could not be done now because there are no records on which negotiations could be based.

Concepcion said all the bid proposals submitted by AIBIC and other companies, as well as plans were given to the District Court. A handwritten note to the attachment to the subpoena says that Richard Morris, special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, received the records Nov. 23, the same date the subpoena was served.

"I welcome the investigation by the grand jury or the FBI," Guerrero said in a separate interview Thursday.

He explained that he was not an investor in the corporation or a member of the AIBIC board of directors. "My only participation is being their representative here," he said.

Asked about a previous statement about resigning from government to into the AIBIC project Guerrero said: "They asked me if I would like to oversee construction of the hotel. It's a salary type of job."

Guerrero denied during the interview that he said he was upset about the investigation, as reported by the Pacific Daily News in its Dec. 2 issue. He said he was not interviewed by PDN bureau chief Victoria King who was only listening to a conversation Tuesday between Guerrero and Public Information Officer Frank Rosario.

Rosario, in a separate interview Thursday, confirmed the conversation.

"I stand by my story," King said when asked for comment Thursday. But, she admitted that she did not directly interview Guerrero and he did not tell her directly say that he was upset about the federal investigation. She said she was with Rosario in the latter's office when Guerrero came in "obviously upset" and talking with Rosario in Chamorro.

King said she understands Chamorro. She said she did not take down notes or tell him the incident was going to be the subject of a story.

U.S. Attorney George Proctor said earlier this week that he could neither confirm or deny that MPLC was under scrutiny.

Records at the Attorney General's office show that AIBIC International Corp. received its local corporate charter May 22 this year. The corporation is authorized to issue up to 400,000 shares at $1 per share.

Actual shares subscribed and paid up are 40,000 shares for a total investment of $40,000.

Investors include Yuji Aikawa, with 13,334 shares, who is also AIBIC's president; Natural Resources Director Nicolas Guerrero and AIBIC vice president with 13,333 shares; and Sitoshi Takeuchi, secretary-treasurer, with 13,333 shares.

In another development, Chief Judge Robert Hefner dismissed Wednesday MPLC's complaint seeking termination of the lease of public land in Marpi to Kan Pacific, which operates the hotel and golf course complex in Marpi.

MPLC issued a termination letter against Kan Pacific last year for failure to build cottages and other facilities as provided in the lease agreement. The company refused and MPLC went to court to enforce the termination action.

Hefner dismissed MPLC's complaint with prejudice, which means MPLC could not revive the case based on the same grounds as the original case.

Nina kills 500 in worst RP Typhoon loss

MANILA, Philippines (AP) —

At least 500 people were killed when giant waves churned up by typhoon Nina smashed coastal towns and villages on southern Luzon island's Sorsogon province, the provincial governor told reporters Saturday.

Officials said scores of people were missing, more than 1,000 were injured and hundred of thousands were homeless after the typhoon struck late Wednesday night.

day night.

Provincial Gov. Raul Lee addressed local journalists who flew to his province, 235 miles southeast of Manila, aboard a military helicopter.

"The stench of death and formalin was all over the town," said a Filipino reporter, speaking from the city of Sorsogon, the capital of Sorsogon province. "People were burying their dead, many without coffins and without the usual blessing of a priest."

Bodies continued to wash ashore Saturday, the reporters said.

The waves and winds of up to 128 mph knocked down bridges, power and communications lines in Luzon's Bicol region and several islands to the south before the typhoon moved out to the South China Sea on Thursday.

In Manila, officials said final damage figures are incomplete.

AG, friends spend night of terror after boat capsizes

By Nick Legaspi
Reporter

Attorney General Alexandro C. Castro and two other men spent 17 hours in the water after their boat sank on Thanksgiving Day, police said Nov. 27.

Sgt. Lino Tenorio, police spokesman, said Castro, 42, and his brother-in-law, Masasinge Arurang, 43, were picked up by the Emerald I on its way to a diving trip at about 9:30 a.m. Nov. 27. Their companion, Mobil Oil Micronesia's local manager John Temengil, 39, was able to swim to the beach at the back of Diamond Hotel at about 10 a.m. on the same day.

Arurang, a teacher at the Marianas High School, and Temengil, were taken to the Commonwealth Health Center but were released after a check up. Castro, who went into shock after being rescued, was admitted into the intensive care unit for observation. CHC spokesman Bruce Lloyd said Castro was moved to the regular ward the next day and was released Sunday.

The three men left in the morning on Nov. 26 aboard Castro's 18-footer, twin-engine boat on a fishing trip between Saipan and Tinian. When they failed to come before nightfall Francisco Uludong notified the police.

Public Safety Director Edward Manibusan directed the search the same night with a chartered Freedom Air plane. There was no sighting. The next morning police chartered the Blue Pacific helicopter for a second search of the water between Saipan and Tinian and up to Banzai Cliff.

Arurang and Temengil told police that they were about three to four miles southwest of Saipan at about 3 p.m. when the boat, which was taking in too much water, sank. They said they tried swimming toward Tinian but the current was carrying them away from that island so they changed direction and headed toward Saipan.

At about 6 p.m. Temengil got separated from his companies in the dark. Castro, who was holding on to a floating device, and Arurang, were found by the Emerald I which immediately radioed the police. About 30 minutes later, Temengil, who came out of the water at Diamond Hotel, called the police.

found out the money was not reported.

Reyes said his office was taking the position that the money was brought in as a whole amount, and therefore subject to forfeiture.

He said he wanted the U.S. Customs to be involved because it is authorized to confiscate the money and give it to local enforcement agencies. Reyes said we could use it to buy uniforms and anything we need.

The CNMI Customs Division is also authorized to confiscate the money, he said, but it has to turn it over to the treasury.

Buso said Shiragami's money was turned over to DPS as part of the evidence in the murder case.

DPS Director Edward Manibusan said in a separate interview Tuesday that his department will keep the money until it is disposed of by the court. He said the money and other evidence were kept in an evidence room at the DPS building in Susupe.

Buso said the government has not filed any motion in court to forfeit the money. A lawyer who was contacted by Shiragami's common-law wife after the murder for a possible claim on the money said his office withdrew from representing her when the lawyer was hired by one of the suspects in the murder.

Manibusan said he could not confirm or deny whether the money was still inside the DPS evidence room. He also declined to allow the Variety to take a look inside the room.

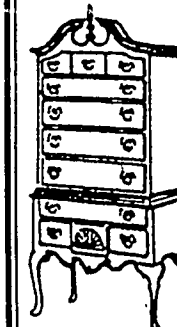

Other police officers interviewed said the only person authorized to open or go inside the evidence room was Det. Alfred Pangelinan, who is now in the hospital because of gunshot wounds.

Flat-Rate a loser

going to give you the report and ask that you not print any names until the AG's opinion can be further clarified."

That report shows that hundreds of thousands of dollars have been lost - and are continuing to be lost - because the Department of Public Works had not installed meters at many commercial buildings, including some radio stations, shopping centers, and other high-user locations.

Tan also said that he felt the business concerns and individuals named in the report were "innocent bystanders, and I have grave concern about releasing their names myself."

The report, dated Oct. 22, said that a follow-up of the March 18, 1985 Survey Report of Utility Charges "... clearly indicated that charging commercial customers based on flat rates did not approximate the charges which should have been made based on actual usage." Tan's report said that "Overall, this practice has cost the CNMI government hundreds of thousands of dollars in revenue."

Expanding that statement, Tan said that the review shows the Commonwealth lost $155,000 from only 11 commercial users, and "will continue to do so, because the Commonwealth Utilities Company (actually the report used CUC in error throughout - Department of Public Works was in charge of Utilities until Oct. 1) has failed to take corrective action."

"In fact, the problem has become magnified in that since the survey was conducted, additional power users have 'tapped' into the power supply and are being billed at flat rate (also)."

The report made to governor Tenorio said that one reason for the flat rate continuance was because of limited manpower and meters to convert the whole island. "CUC (DPW) has had operational operational problems with the reading and maintaining of the current meters," the report said. But, a newly inked contract with Lyonnais Marianas America for management assistance and the projected purchase of $2,500 meters will help.

"We recognize the magnitude of the endeavor," Tan's report said, but he suggested that "certain commercial users be considered top priority" when meters are available.

Information for the report and review of the 1985 survey "showed that the major cause of revenue losses is the underbilling of flat-rate power consumers. The new report was done to see if changes had been made and what new recommendations could be made to help the arterial bleeding of money from the power company.

Corrective action has only been taken against nine of 20 reported cases in the 1985 report, Tan said in his report. This caused an estimated annual loss on these 20 accounts alone of $155,000 - or 34 percent of the commercial underbillings reported in the 1985 survey.

Several large shopping centers were identified as being on flat rate. Name can't be released. Shopping center paid a flat-rate of $2,304 per month while other metered shopping centers such as Carmen Safeway pays a lot more. Safeway pays $10,391; Townhouse Payless pays $8,217 and Joeten at Susupe $4,827.

One international radio broadcasting station only pays $12 monthly; another pays $90 on flat rates, but the report said that KSAI is metered and pays $14,500 per month. "This appears unreasonable when taking into account the fact that name can't be released operates 24 hours a day," the report said.

The Public auditor's report said that the CUC "should reassess the flat rates for these commercial users would impact the losses in continuing the billing to commercial users on a flat rate basis."

Another recommendation is that CUC update the power rates which have remained unchanged since June 1, 1982. "Factors such as oil prices, capital costs, and consumer demand need to be analyzed to develop power rates which are based on actual costs," the report says.

Finally, the public auditor's report recommends that a two-tiered electric rate structure should be implemented. Now, residential and commercial users pay the same rate. "It is not equitable in that the general public is bearing some of the burden caused by the commercial user; power outages as a result of increased usage and the costs associated with the accelerated speed at which equipment is worn down."

The report says that "CUC needs to take action now. The flat rate billing system contributes to negative environmental impact and operational losses of CUC. ... flat rates do not encourage conservation and do not approximate actual usage. ..."

Some of the businesses named in the October report include:

An international shortwave radio station, is billed a flat rate power cost of $12. The public auditor figures estimate their bill should be $3,582 per month - or an annual loss to the Commonwealth of $42,840.

A local rock quarry, is flat rate billed $60 per month, but should be closer to $2,160 - a loss of $25,200 per year to the power company.

An industrial company, has four accounts billed a total of $186 per month. Audits estimate their power bill should be $1,635 - a loss of $17,388 per year to the CUC.

A local motel, is charged $253 per month for power, and the public auditor's office says they should be paying closer to $1,584 per month - an annual loss of $15,972.

Their flat rate was dropped from $470.47 in 1985 to $253.33 in 1987. "However, 1985 assessment showed that flat rate assessment should have been increased to $1,583.61," the audit report said of this individual account.

A satellite communication station, is billed $225 per month, but they should have been paying $1,384 - a loss of $13,908.

A laundromat is billed $217, but estimates show their power bill should be $952 per month - or a loss of $8,820 per year.

A restaurant and market are billed a total of $110 per month, but auditors say they should pay about $807 - another loss of $8,365 per year.

A fish market and laundromat pays $207 flat rate; but should be billed $856 - a loss of $7,788 per year.

One local ship labor company's shop facility pays only $5 per month - but should be paying $448 - $5,316 in lost revenue to the CUC.

A local distributing company pays $402 for flat rate billing, but their estimated bill is $756 - a net loss of $4,248.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO CNMI RETAILERS

Blaze destroys Chalan Kanoa home this week

By Nick Legaspi
Reporter

Fire of still undetermined origin destroyed a wooden house in Chalan Kanoa Wednesday, according to the Department of Public Safety.

Sergeant Lino Tenorio, DPS spokesman, said in an interview Wednesday that Lt. Antonio Acosta reported the incident at about 1:04 p.m. Fire trucks were sent to the scene.

Nobody was in the house when the fire started. Nobody also knows who owns the building. Neighbors said it was occupied by some Filipinos.

Tenorio said that one of the residents in the area identified as Ferrial Testi first saw smoke coming out of the tin-roofed building.

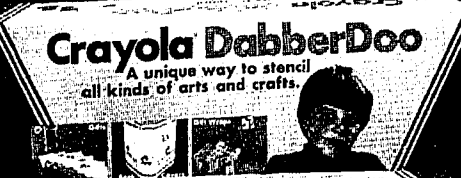

The amount of damage was not available.

Meanwhile, two officers of the California Highway Patrol are coming to Saipan shortly to train local officers in traffic accident investigation, drunk driving investigation, public relations and taking pictures of accident scenes.

Officer Tom Campbell, 46, has been with CHP for 20 years and is now the public relations officer in Santa Barbara where he is responsible for all specialized public awareness programs.

Campbell is also an avid scuba diver and professional underwater photographer. He has been diving for 30 years, six of which were spent as a military diver assigned to the elite United States Navy Seal Team.

Officer Donald W. Clotworthy, 29, has been involved in 3,000 traffic accident investigations during his five years with the CHP. During that time he also made a total of 300 drunk driving arrests.

Size of govt. is concern for Rep. Torres: "Gray area"

By Nick Legaspi
Reporter

Representative Juan S. Torres has expressed concern over the increase in the number of government employees which he said was a gray area in the proposed executive branch budget for fiscal year 1988.

House Bill 5-201 or the proposed appropriations act for fiscal year 1988 for the executive branch authorizes a total of 2,612 full time employees. This represents an increase in the number of employees of 244 from the 2,368 full time employees authorized under the fiscal year 1987 budget.

Torres said during the House session Nov. 25 that the second multi-year funding agreement signed by the CNMI and the United States in 1985 requires the Commonwealth to make every effort to reduce the size of government operations. He noted that the agreement had been incorporated into U.S. law.

Jeff Schorr, field representative of the Department of the Interior in the CNMI, said in an interview Monday that the same area came up during a meeting last April in Washington between DOI officials and a CNMI delegation. Schorr said he was not aware of any official notice of concern from DOI to the CNMI about the rising number of government employees here.

Asked whether the department was monitoring compliance with the agreement's provisions regarding the reduction of the size of government, Schorr said "Yes, we're monitoring it but not on the sense of specific dates."

The proposed budget for fiscal year 1988, which was passed by the House but was changed by the Senate four times, has been referred to a conference committee. Senate and House representatives in the committee will try to come out with a mutually acceptable version of the proposed appropriations act.

Get the Point?

thing to do with serving the people. It's who you know.

I am not saying that Mr. Castro is a bad AG by any means. I was very impressed with the way he stood up to the House Committee during the corruption hearings. But, somewhere, sometime this secretive attitude that pervades this Commonwealth's government is going to have to stop.

My public official friend said that the privacy law forbids the releasing of names involved in possible wrong-doing.

Why?

We also became involved in a loud discussion about the strings that are tied to monies given to the Commonwealth for various projects by the U.S. government. He said the U.S. can't force any revelation about who gets the money - and if they do, they are violating the Commonwealth's law.

Yes folks, all the secrecy in government and their concern about invading people's privacy gets very tiring. Perhaps if the people of the Philippines had been more curious about where the billions in U.S. money was going during the Marcos regime, they would have a better life today.

Until next week, I want to say that I share public health's concerns about the sinking level of immunization of children on the island. PLEASE take your children to the health center for their DPT shots. It only takes a few minutes to make sure your child will be protected against whooping cough, diphtheria and other childhood diseases.

Isn't your child's life worth putting up with inconvenience for a few minutes?

night, never close poker machine arcades. Not many, if any. Gambling is a disease. people say, if you take away the poker machines, players will find some other way to spend their money. Possibly. But making access to these games of chance so easy does not help. I've also heard that you cannot legislate morality. I don't want to, but people who are not sophisticated enough to understand that the odds are against them should be denied access. If they want to waste their money, contribute to the general fund.

Thomas Camacho helps Arts Council celebrate fine week

The images of artists celebrating National Arts Week and shown in participating banks were visually interesting and colorful. Artists created their pieces in a variety of mediums then brought them to the CNMI Arts Council to help promote the Arts during that November week. Thomas Camacho contributed large framed color photographs of local subjects for showing in the Bank of Guam. With Tom's work, Charlotte Downs displayed a self portrait and Saipan views done in pen and ink, pastel, watercolor, and color pencil. In the new First Savings and Loan of Susupe, Mr. Camacho also displayed color photographs with prints done by Keith Gum and some of his students. Inside the Bank of Guam, Garapan branch, there were three intricate thread needlepoint works of different fish done by Arsenia Gallardo and a flower watercolor by Debbie Winkfield. In the Bank of Saipan, Rose Jung displayed poetry, collages, and pen and ink drawings done by three of her students at Marianas High School. She also had ocean photographs with poems of her own to show in the same bank with two Saipan photographs by John Sandelius.

This yearly activity gives artists a public place and time for the people of Saipan to view new work they have created. Artists who contributed work for this display may pick up their pieces from the Arts Council Office, 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, after the Thanksgiving holiday.

circumventing the law.

Hefner agreed with Atalig that the offense does not deserve a prison term the first time around but he said the message should be sent out because so many people have been coming to the CNMI under one status or another. Haggerty recommended 10 days in jail and $100 fine for each count. Hefner decided on a 90-day sentence, suspended for one year, and a fine of $500 for each count. He said he would like to award restitution, as Haggerty requested, to cover the wages that the women should have received but a previous decision by another judge ruled it out.

Judge Ramon G. Villagomez, ruling on small claims complaints filed by the three women, awarded Kurdi $730, Calica $330 and Mateo $330 for emotional distress and damages.

Villagomez said Arriola, who had been in business for some time and had experience and knowledge in applicable laws and procedures for hiring nonresident workers, made false representation to the women to bring them here.

In denying claims for wages Villagomez said the women were not legal employees of Arriola and therefore had no legal basis to claim any wage under any legal employment contract.

Started last year at the high school Survey helps MHS students work

By Anne Marie Buccat

Remember the student questionnaire we answered last year? It was a survey given to the entire MHS student body last school year, 1986-87. Well, the results have been tabulated and interpreted, and the information is available to students and their parents.

The purpose of the survey was to obtain students' opinions about their school. Our responses to the questions were important in evaluating how to better our school. They pointed out its strengths and weaknesses. This information was needed for accreditation purposes.

The survey was completed by about 86.1% of last year's students, or a total of 735 out of the 854 enrolled. Tabulating the responses took a lot of work. The data was taken to the ADP office on Capitol Hill, and a program was written specifically for the purpose of the tabulation.

The tabulated results from the survey were interpreted and incorporated into a student self-study report. This self-study report was written by a student committee made up of 8 or 9 students, with members from each class (12th, 11th, and 10th). It took the student committee about 3 weeks in February, working each day during lunch hour, two write up the report. The report will be one of the chapters in our School Report, which must be submitted to the Western Association of Schools and Colleges as part of our accreditation bid.

The Student Report is divided into 5 major categories. They include how the students felt about (1) the purpose of the school, (2) the instructional program, (3) the counseling program, (4) the student activities program, and (5) our student-teacher-parent-community relations.

Mr. Winkfield is the faculty chairperson of the Student Committee. He explained that "the survey helped pinpoint the strengths and weaknesses of MHS." He added, "It has been suggested by the Associate Superintendent for Instruction that we continue to give the survey every two years for our own self-study, not just for accreditation purposes."

Overall, the results of the survey show that our school is good, but needs further improvement. Suggestions included hiring clerical assistants for the counselors so that they may concentrate on counseling. Students also felt that we need more college preparatory courses and better facilities for our cafeteria and rest rooms. A need for more instructional materials was noted as well.

The intention of the survey was not to blame the school for its weaknesses, but to help us look into what parts of the instructional program and other school operations need improvement. Its intention is to provide constructive criticism.

To make the results of the student survey known to the students and parents, two presentations were conducted during the past month.

On November 20th, the survey results were discussed at an assembly of the junior and sophomore classes. Earlier in the month, on November 10th, a brief summary of the survey results was presented to the parents at a PTA meeting. The parents were very interested and receptive to the information provided. Finally, to make our incoming sophomores more aware of the survey, it was administered to them by 10th grade English instructor Rose Jung during the week of Nov. 23rd-25th.

Wet floors can mean being sued for 100 grand damages

By Nick Legaspi
Reporter

Everyone take note: Make sure your floors are not slippery or face the risk of court suits.

A $100,000-complaint was filed at the Commonwealth Trial Court Monday by a woman who alleged that she suffered a knee injury when she slipped on the floor of the Department of Community and Cultural Affairs office at Lower Base.

Agnes T. Cabrera, in her complaint, said she visited the DCCA office at about 8:30 a.m. last Jan. 5. "At such time herein, there were food materials covering the floor of the defendant's office which caused the floor to be slippery," Cabrera alleged.

"As a direct and proximate result of defendant's negligence in neglecting to keep its premises floor safe and clean, plaintiff slipped and fell to the floor, fracturing her left knee patellar ligament," she alleged.

Cabrera said in her complaint that DCCA should have known the dangerous condition existing on the floor of its office.

She asked for general damages of $100,000 and special damages the amount of which to be according to proof and costs of the suit.

Thank You

CNMI officials concerned about deaths

At least three deaths and the hospital admission of some 60 children for apparent "whooping cough" on Pohnpei during November, has sparked concern that the killer disease could strike unvaccinated children in the CNMI.

Department of Health and Environmental Services Director Dr. Jose T. Villagomez said that the figures reported by Federated States of Micronesia health officials are at epidemic levels.

While whooping cough or pertussis is totally preventable with the initial three shot series and a booster before the youngster is sent to pre-school, parents here have been neglecting this important obligation to their children, Dr. Villagomez said, noting that the immunization series also protects against diphtheria and tetanus.

The level of immunization in the CNMI has declined from 93% in 1984 to the present 80%. World Health Organization standards are currently 85% for what are generally known as "third world" or less developed countries.

While many countries in our region might be described as underdeveloped, the CNMI is certainly not. "It's embarrassing when so many of us have two cars in our garage that we can't seem to find the time to protect our children from a potential death threat," Dr. Villagomez said, noting that the immunization series is available every weekday afternoon through public health clinics at the commonwealth Health Center on Saipan and the Rota and Tinian dispensaries. In response to the current situation, all CNMI medical facilities will also have the vaccination available during special hours on Saturday mornings.

Special hours for shots will be available at CHC soon

Parents on Saipan, Tinian and Rota will be able to have their children immunized against the present threat of whooping cough or pertussis during special hours starting this Saturday at the Commonwealth Health Center and the dispensaries on Rota and Tinian.

The vaccinations are currently given during regular hours every weekday afternoon at all CNMI health facilities.

Parents should bring shot records for their youngsters, to insure that the DPT immunization, which also protects against tetanus and diphtheria, is properly recorded.

REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL

RFP NO. 8707
November 18, 1987

The Commonwealth Utilities Corporation (CUC) is soliciting proposals from qualified utilities companies for an operation and management (O&M) contract for the Commonwealth Power System.

The Commonwealth Power System consist of the following:

1. Saipan Power Generation and Distribution System.
2. Tinian Power Generation and Distribution System.
3. Rota Power Generation and Distribution System.

Proposer will be responsible for the complete operation and management of the power system in Saipan, Tinian and Rota including the supply of fuel and lubrication, metering, meter readings, billings, and collection. Proposer is to include in the proposal recommendations for retention, utilization and training of existing personnel. Current number of personnel in each island's power system are as follows:

	Saipan	Tinian	Rota
Distribution	14	3	5
Generation	35	6	8

Additional staffing requirements will be determined by proposer. Planning for power system and expansion will also be the responsibility of the proposer subject to the review and approval of CUC.

CUC will retain ownership of the power system. Proposer will develop and recommend rate structure indicative of cost recovery for the review and approval of CUC. Contract amount will be paid strictly from power revenue.

Proposers are urged to conduct on-site visit and familiarization of the power system in each islands.

The contract will be for a period of three (3) years. Proposal for a period longer than three (3) years may be considered.

The factors for evaluating proposals will include the following: annual operation and maintenance cost, experience in similar or identical projects, innovative proposal for contract fee payment, merits of proposal concerning employment and/or utilization of existing personnel and management personnel assign to perform contract.

The proposals shall be submitted to the Office of the Procurement and Supply, Government of the Northern Mariana Islands, Lower Base, Saipan, CM 96950 by 2:00 p.m. local time on December 21, 1987. A pre-proposal conference will be held at the CUC's Conference Room, Lower Base, Saipan, CM at 2:00 p.m. local time on December 04, 1987.

CUC reserves the right to reject any or all proposals for any reason and to waive any defects in said proposals, or any of them, if in its sole opinion to do so would be in its interest. All proposals shall become the property of CUC.

All inquiries shall be directed to Mr. Pedro Sasamoto, Executive Director of CUC at telephone numbers: (670) 322-4313/4314/4315.

INITIAL CUMULATIVE PUBLIC NOTICE
PUBLIC ASSISTANCE

Notification is hereby given to the public of the intent of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) to provide assistance to local governments and Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, to restore facilities located in the wetlands or in the base floodplain (also known as the 100-year floodplain) or for critical actions within the 500-year floodplain. These facilities were damaged in the recent major disaster declared as a result of Typhoon Lynn which occurred October 18-19, 1987. This assistance is granted under the authority of Public law 93-288 as amended, the President's Disaster Relief Act of 1974.

These facilities may include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. Non-emergency debris clearance.
2. Non-emergency repair to protective flood control and protection coastal facilities, including drainage systems, reservoirs and channels.
3. Damage to roads, including streets, culverts and bridges.
4. Damage to water control facilities, pipes and distribution systems.
5. Damage to public buildings and related equipment.
6. Damage to public utilities, including sewage treatment plants and sewers, and electrical power distribution systems.
7. Damage to private, non-profit facilities (hospitals, educational centers, emergency and custodial care services, etc.).
8. Damage to parks and other recreational facilities.

FEMA intends to provide assistance for the restoration of the facilities described above to their pre-disaster condition and in compliance with current codes and standards, except that certain measures to mitigate the effects of future flooding may be incorporated into the restoration work. The restoration of these facilities may have adverse effects upon the floodplain or wetland or be vulnerable to damage by flooding.

The President's Executive Order 11988, Floodplain Management, and Executive Order 11990, Protection of Wetlands, require that all federal actions in or affecting the base floodplain or wetland areas be reviewed for opportunities to relocate out of the floodplain or wetland to minimize future damage from flooding. The facilities where there is no opportunity to relocate out of the floodplain, FEMA is required to under-take a detailed review to determine what measures can be taken to minimize harm to the facility and to minimize harm to the floodplain or wet-land. An evaluation of social, economic, historical, environmental, legal and safety considerations will also be made.

The public is invited to participate in the process of identifying alternatives and analyzing their impacts. Persons interested in submitting comments may obtain information about these actions and their locations at the Office of the FEMA Disaster Recovery Manager at the Nauru Building, Susupe, Post Office Box 2150, Saipan, Marianas 96950. Comments about specific projects and the application of the Executive Orders should be submitted in writing to Robert L. Vickers, Regional Director, FEMA Region IX, Building 105, Presidio of San Francisco, CA 94129.

Rasa and Senate lose

He said P.L. 4-22 gave the Senate president expending authority for Senate funds. "The Senate, in giving the Senate president expending authority, effectively appointed him the agent for that purpose," Hefner said.

"Since former Senate President Rasa was acting as a designated agent of the Senate when he expended Senate money at Town House, the Senate, not an innocent vendor, must pay the charges on the account," he said.

In response to Bruce's question on why he chose to have a default judgment against him, Rasa said: "I think the people of the Northern Marianas understood what I have been through...I wasn't born here... I was politically maneuvered."

"In the history of my life in the Northern Marianas everybody watched me like a dog," he said. After the trial he told reporters that he should have said "like a hawk."

White said after the trial that if the Senate did not pay the obligation promptly he would file suit in the District Court against the Senate for depriving Town House of its civil rights. He said he expects payment within 30 days.

Possible career direction

Teacher aides take courses

DOE - Eleven teacher-aides from Garapan, Oleai, W.S. Reyes, and Marianas High have been taking an introduction to teaching course entitled "Exploring Education as a Career" at the high school since Sept. 9, the first day of school, according to Marianas High teacher Noel Taisacan, instructor of the course.

Also taking the course are six Marianas High seniors, Taisacan said, adding that the course will continue up to the end of this school year. "We meet everyday except on the days that we have awkward schedules at the schools," he noted.

"The teacher-aides take off from their schools in the afternoon, and come to the high school everyday to take this course," Taisacan said. "I am really proud of them because they are doing well in this course in addition to the hard work that they do in preparing their lessons at the schools."

He said the course is required by the Education Department for the teacher-aides to take. "It is an introduction to teaching course, which will greatly benefit the participants."

The teacher-aides are Merced Muna, Connie Aldan, Tonie Baza, Eleanor Tudela, Connie Itibus, John Rabauliman, Moli Santos, Jacinta Itibus, Fred Pua, Frank Aldan, and Annie Kapileo. The students include Susan Riva, Eleanor Aldan, Maria Olmos, Connie Manglona, and Michelle Castrol.

A 1985 graduate of the University of Guam with a B.A. Degree in History, Taisacan is in his third year of teaching at the high school. He is currently working on a M.A. Degree in Educational Administration and Supervision.

Korea hot air spot

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) - A growing number of airlines are considering starting service to South Korea to cash in on the 1988 Seoul Olympics, officials said Wednesday.

The Transport Ministry said it has held talks with several airlines that want to start service to South Korea, including British Airways, Air Canada and Hong Kong-based Dragon Air, said the officials, who declined to be named.

All Nippon Airways of Japan, Gulf Air of the United Arab Emirates and Air India are conducting studies on servicing Seoul, the officials said.

Delta Airlines of the United States is scheduled to begin flying three flights a week to South Korea next month. Northwest Airlines and United Airlines already fly to South Korea.

Conference now set for Dec. 16-18

The Second Annual Youth Conference that was originally planned for August 3-6, 1987 is now scheduled to be held on December 16-18, 1987 at the CNMI Convention Center on Capitol Hill.

The conference is jointly sponsored by the Catholic Social Services, Criminal Justice Planning Agency, Department of Education, Department of Community and Cultural Affairs, and Grace Christian Academy.

Participants for the conference will include students from Hopwood Junior High, Marianas High School, Mt. Carmel, Rota High School and Tinian Junior and High School. Non-students will also be participated.

The Committee has begun soliciting funds to make this conference possible. Donations may be mailed to: Catholic Social Services P.O. Box 745, Saipan, CM 96950.

Arts Council will show tapes of last arts festival

In 1986, the Council obtained a copy of the official video tapes of the last Pacific Arts Festival in Tahiti. The videos, which document the CNMI performances as well as those of the other participating states and nations, have been shown in schools and to community groups.

Plans are being developed, with Saipan Cable TV, to broadcast the tapes as an eight-part mini-series during the coming year, to promote the beginning of fund-raising efforts for the next Pacific Festival, scheduled for 1988 in Townsville, Australia.

Planning began this year for the CNMI participation in the 1988 festival. The Council, which coordinates the local participation, has established a festival task force and has identified the theme of the traditional local wedding ceremony as a potential focal point around which to build its performance for the coming festival.

In preparing for the festival, the Council hopes to be able to utilize the resources of several local and regional groups including the CNMI Aging Program, the Northern Marianas Music Society, the Guam Council for Arts and Humanities, and the Consortium for Pacific Arts and Cultures.

He said P.L. 4-22 gave the Senate president expending authority for Senate funds. "The Senate, in giving the Senate president expending authority, effectively appointed him the agent for that purpose," Hefner said.

"Since former Senate President Rasa was acting as a designated agent of the Senate when he expended Senate money at Town House, the Senate, not an innocent vendor, must pay the charges on the account," he said.

In response to Bruce's question on why he chose to have a default judgment against him, Rasa said: "I think the people of the Northern Marianas understood what I have been through...I wasn't born here... I was politically maneuvered."

"In the history of my life in the Northern Marianas everybody watched me like a dog," he said. After the trial he told reporters that he should have said "like a hawk."

White said after the trial that if the Senate did not pay the obligation promptly he would file suit in the District Court against the Senate for depriving Town House of its civil rights. He said he expects payment within 30 days.

Possible career direction

Teacher aides take courses

DOE - Eleven teacher-aides from Garapan, Oleai, W.S. Reyes, and Marianas High have been taking an introduction to teaching course entitled "Exploring Education as a Career" at the high school since Sept. 9, the first day of school, according to Marianas High teacher Noel Taisacan, instructor of the course.

Also taking the course are six Marianas High seniors, Taisacan said, adding that the course will continue up to the end of this school year. "We meet everyday except on the days that we have awkward schedules at the schools," he noted.

"The teacher-aides take off from their schools in the afternoon, and come to the high school everyday to take this course," Taisacan said. "I am really proud of them because they are doing well in this course in addition to the hard work that they do in preparing their lessons at the schools."

He said the course is required by the Education Department for the teacher-aides to take. "It is an introduction to teaching course, which will greatly benefit the participants."

The teacher-aides are Merced Muna, Connie Aldan, Tonie Baza, Eleanor Tudela, Connie Iñibus, John Rabauliman, Moli Santos, Jacinta Iñibus, Fred Pua, Frank Aldan, and Annie Kapileo. The students include Susan Riva, Eleanor Aldan, Maria Olmos, Connie Manglona, and Michelle Castrol.

A 1985 graduate of the University of Guam with a B.A. Degree in History, Taisacan is in his third year of teaching at the high school. He is currently working on a M.A. Degree in Educational Administration and Supervision.

Playoffs narrow field for next rounds

By Nick Legaspi
Reporter

Four out of eight teams vying for the Marpac-Ambros Basketball Conference title lost that opportunity during Sunday's elimination games.

Santos Eagle Snack downed Mary's King Cobra, 78-57 while RB Ambros nipped Valdez Spuds Mackenzie in overtime play, 75-74.

The Eagles and RB Ambros will contest the Ambros

Division title in a best-of-three encounter starting Dec. 6. Rivals for the Marpac Division title are the Basic Busch and Agbanlog Bud Light. Basic defeated Micro-Phil Budweiser, 100-88 during Sunday's elimination games. Agbanlog trounced RGG Michelob, 82-73 for the chance to fight for the division crown.

Winners in the division games will meet in another best-of-three set for the conference title.

During Sunday's events, RB Ambros and Valdez Spuds ended regular time at 67 all. Officials granted a five-minute extension to break the tie which barely enabled RB Ambros to get away from the Spuds.

King Caoleng of RGG Michelob put in 30 points for the highest individual scoring record Sunday. Tim Paez of Basic followed with 28 points, Nomer Gamboa of RB Ambros with 23 points, Tony Navarro of Agbanlog and Dong Cruz of Valdez Spuds with 22 points each, Lee Avila of Santos Eagles with 21 points and Danny Dizon of Mary's King Cobra with 18 points.

Mt. Tapochau run draws field of top runners this year

By Michael Newman

Dave Fiore and Julia Newman dominated the running scene on Saipan last weekend by capturing first place in their divisions in the Second Annual Mt. Tapochau Hill Climb. Fiore, a visiting physician, finished the Thanksgiving Morning event with the record time of 35 minutes and 56 seconds, beating last year's winning time by almost two minutes. Newman, first woman finisher beat her previous winning time by almost three minutes, finishing in 51:38.

Also turning in fine performances were swimmer Michael Villagomez, first finisher in the Young Men's division and Jerry Facey, first Master's runner across the line.

Fiore's competition in the event was expected to come from South Pacific Games participant Lino Fritz. Unfortunately, Fritz overslept his alarm and arrived at the starting line a few minutes late. However, Fritz gamely started the race anyway and managed to finish sixth overall.

The next running event on Saipan will be the Island Long Saipan Relay to be held on December 26th. This 14.2 mile event is open to five person teams. For more information contact Wolf Mojica at telephone number 234-8091.

Millard donations help athletes over the top for games

By Nick Legaspi
Reporter

The Millard-sponsored fund-raising scheme has succeeded in raising enough money to send 59 Northern Marianas athletes and officials to the South Pacific Games in New Caledonia, this was learned Wednesday from Bill Sakovich, president of the Northern Marianas Amateur Sports Association.

The Millard Family Foundation represented by Barbara M. Logan pledged to contribute a dollar for every dollar that is donated to the SPG fund after the SPG raffle raised only half of the $80,000 needed to send the CNMI delegation to New Caledonia. About $37,000 was still needed when the second fund-raising project was started.

Sakovich said half of the amount was raised through contributions from individual and corporate donors and by the athletes who initiated their own fund-raising activities. The Millard Family Foundation donated an equal amount to reach the $80,000 goal.

Sakovich said the delegation is due to depart at 4 a.m. Sunday to Guam where they will join the Guam delegation on a five-hour chartered flight to Noumea, New Caledonia.

The SPG will start Dec. 8 with a parade of the participating delegations. CNMI athletes and officials will wear Hawaiian printed shirts donated by Saipan Manufacturers, Inc.

The CNMI will participate in 10 events: swimming, hobie cat, cycling, men's basketball, women's volleyball, athletics, shooting, tennis, golf and windsurfing.

They are expected back on Dec. 20.

Variety employee Eddie Manibusan is also participating in the games as a member of the basketball team. He will also be shooting pictures of some events, including the lead-off parade and other spectacles expected to be a part of the games in new Caledonia.
