The Crippled Wharf at Maalaea Bay Is Said to Have Been Destroyed.

(By Wireless Telegraph.)

KAHULUI, August 16.—2:10 p. m.—Antone De Rego, of the Half Way House, reports that the new wharf at McGregor's Landing has been damaged and the wharf at Maalaea bay destroyed by a tidal wave. The water rose to a height of twelve feet. Kahului harbor was not affected.

[A message was sent to Lahaina for further particulars, with the following result:]

LAHAINA CONFIRMS NEWS.

LAHAINA, August 16.—The wharf-keeper at McGregor's Landing says the tidal wave occurred last night. The water rose about twelve feet. No particular damage was done there. The wharf-keeper at Maalaea is a Japanese who cannot speak English. The sea is very rough at Kihei and McGregor's. It is calm at Lahaina.

[Engineer Howland said last evening that the wharf at Maalaea bay was in bad shape while that at McGregor's Landing was in fine condition.]

NOT BIG GUNS NOW BUT AN INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

A Japanese Paper Wants One Called So That Complaints Against the Honolulu Police May Be Properly Adjudicated.

The Hawaiian Japanese Daily Chronicle, which wanted war a week ago is now willing to settle its latest case with Sheriff Brown by arbitration. Following is its proposition:

We learned that our Acting Consul Matsubara has sent an official complaint first to the County Sheriff, Mr. Brown, and second to the Governor, in regard to Komori's false imprisonment.

We heartily approve of his intention in trying to protect the right of his countrymen. We understood that our Consuls generally hibernate themselves in the interior of the official building elevated themselves above we common people, and believe themselves, that they have done what they ought to have done by hustling their staffs in arranging the census register or reports from the plantation coolies; therefore, it attracted our attention very much as a very wonderful event to hear that he had opened conference with a foreign government by sending an official complaint.

The fact that the police force imprisoned one Komori for nineteen days without having any charge preferred, it is said, there may be something mixed up in this matter, and it may not be good for Komori to be so much excited, and there also is some arguments concerning the rights of the County Sheriff, whether he can keep a person in jail over 48 hours without trial or not.

Let us put this legal point aside and let the specialist study it. From the point of view of common sense and see if he thinks it was a fault or illegal action of the police force, and if it is, a case of false imprisonment, Komori or his friends should examine the matter and let the court decide who is to blame. But we very much doubt if it is proper that the Acting Consul should interfere in this matter and bring it to the international conference to demand an indemnity or damages.

If Komori was falsely imprisoned by the police he should start suit for false imprisonment and damages against Sheriff Brown or his prosecutor. He need not bother the Acting Consul to know what the police have to say or wait for an answer from the Governor.

However this matter has already been taken up by the Acting Consul who has sent an official complaint to the Governor, so in case we fail to obtain a satisfactory answer, as we usually do, we must appeal the matter to our Ambassador plenipotentiary at Washington, in order of succession, and to hold the honor of the nation, to open international conference.

Has our Acting Consul such deter-

DEATH OF S. F. LESLIE

Well-Known Policeman Succumbs to Typhoid.

The death of Captain Samuel F. Leslie occurred at the Queens hospital last night, shortly before 7 o'clock. His friends had been prepared for the sad news, as for the past two days his condition had been most serious, but the sad intelligence of the taking away of the popular young man, in the best of health only a few days ago, will come as a shock nevertheless.

The illness which has resulted fatally was typhoid fever, the deceased having been taken to the hospital on Saturday, the 4th inst. There he battled with the disease, aided by the best of medical attention, despite which he began to sink some days ago. For the past two days his father, a resident of Kona, Hawaii, had been with him and his mother was to come over on Saturday.

Captain Leslie was one of the best known men in Honolulu, having been prominent in baseball and athletic circles for years. He was a graduate of Kamehameha and became associated with the police force ten years ago. Joining as a member of the mounted police, he worked his way to the top and has ever been most popular among his comrades on the force.

At the time of his death he was 33 years old.

The body is now lying at William's undertaking parlors, guarded by a detachment of his late comrades. The funeral will take place on Sunday, allowing time for his mother to arrive on the Kinau. The funeral will be attended by the members of the force and the officials among whom he worked.

THE INDIAN DOCTOR IS UNDER ARREST

"Dr." Wallach, the purveyor of the Indian remedies and the professed curer of leprosy, was arrested last night by Chester A. Doyle, who has had him under surveillance for the past year at the instance of the Department of Health. The charge against him will be made this morning and will probably be that of practicing medicine without the necessary legal qualifications.

Wallach has been warned many times during the past year and a half that he could not practice medicine here without going through the regular course. His request that he be allowed to practice with his remedies on some of the patients at the Settlement was refused, and the trial of his mixtures turned down unless their component parts and preparation were told as an evidence that they contained something of a curative nature.

"So far as leprosy cures are concerned," said L. E. Pinkham, last night, in relation to the arrest of Wallach, "we have them offered to us very frequently, but in almost every instance by people who have never seen a leper and would not know one if they had. Usually these are secret preparations and we are wanted to use them as experimental work."

TRAGEDY IN CHINATOWN

Suicide and Attempted Murder Last Night.

Attempted murder, followed by the suicide of Chee Sai Tong, the would-be homicide, took place in Chinatown last night shortly after seven o'clock. The dead man was the assistant manager of Wing Wo Tai, a prominent Chinese firm, and his intended victim is Kan Chee Kin, whose escape was an extremely narrow one.

Chee Sai Tong, who lived in a cottage at the head of Desha lane, the scene of the tragedy, had been sick for some weeks and had completed arrangements to return to China on the next steamship for the Orient. Kan Chee Kin and another Chinaman were at his house, smoking opium in an adjoining room. Kan Chee got up to go out and had just reached the door when Chee Sai Tong ran from his sick room and fired at him, the bullet ploughing through the fleshy part of the neck and knocking him down.

The shooter then returned to his own room, lay down on the bed, arranging the Chinese block pillow under his head and shot himself through the heart, the front of his coat being burned with the flash from the powder.

The third Chinaman immediately notified the police, who took the wounded man to the Queen's Hospital and the dead body to the morgue, where it was viewed by a coroner's jury, Deputy Sheriff Kalakiela in charge.

No motive can be found for the attempt at murder, although two sealed letters, found on the table in the dead man's room, may throw some light on the matter when they are opened and translated today. Beside the suicide's body was found the revolver used, a 38-caliber Ivers & Johnson's, with two empty shells in the cylinder.

A statement will be obtained today from Kan Chee Kin, whose condition, as reported from the hospital is not at all serious. This statement and the letters found will be produced at the inquest tonight, a translation of them being obtained at the Chinese Consulate.

In anticipation of further developments in the case, other than those which appear on the surface, a representative of the Attorney General's department is working on the investigation.

BETTER TAKE IN YOUR WASHING

"There are strong indications of a heavy rainstorm," said Weather Observer Stockman last evening. "The barometer indicates it. Things have been getting unsettled for a few days past and I should not be surprised to see a downpour. It may be that atmospheric pressure caused the tidal wave on Maui."

RAILROADS ASSISTING

Hawaii Advertisements Getting a Wide Circulation.

The meeting of the Hawaii Promotion Committee yesterday afternoon engaged in a general discussion of the tourist and trade possibilities of the Territory with the Northwestern States via Portland, W. A. Mears, the representative of the Portland Chamber of Commerce being present. Mr. Mears instanced a number of lines in which there was a steady market in Portland for Hawaiian products, referring more particularly to sisal and bananas.

At the meeting were Messrs. McCandless and Spalding, reappointed as representatives of the Chamber of Commerce; F. L. Waldron and H. P. Wood. The question of the term of office of the Merchants' Association representatives and that of F. C. Smith came up but was laid over until after the next meeting of the Merchants' Association. Mr. McCandless and Mr. Spalding resumed their positions of chairman and treasurer respectively.

WORKING TWO CONTINENTS.

The report presented by the secretary, dealt with the distribution of promotion literature for Hawaii by publicity agents throughout the Western States and in the Orient. This report follows:

Honolulu, August 16, 1906.
Chairman and Members of the Hawaii Promotion Committee.

Gentlemen: By the last steamer Mr. Edgar Johnson, Secretary of the Southern California Editorial Association, wrote that he had booked several editors for the trip to Hawaii since sending out his last circular letter. Among them Managing Editor Brundige of the Los Angeles Express, and a representative of the Los Angeles Times. We are now assured of a thoroughly representative party well equipped with photographers and cartoonists. Including members and their wives there will probably be sixty in the excursion. By the Alameda, due tomorrow, we should receive additional information and I would respectfully suggest that a meeting of the Editors' Reception and Entertainment Committee be called as soon as it can be conveniently arranged.

A letter from Mrs. Weatherred states that she is already booking names for the Western Tours Company's special excursion to Hawaii in February next. She plans to have her party here in time for the 22nd of February celebration.

Miss Whitlock, our Los Angeles agent, writes that she is arranging to give the Hawaiian exhibit more space in her rooms. She also writes encouragingly of winter prospects.

I am pleased to report that we have succeeded in interesting the publicity department of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, (to be held at Seattle June 6th to September 30th, 1909), in Hawaii and they promise to do all they can to exploit the beauty of our islands and the attractions offered by a trip to Honolulu in the pamphlets and leaflets they send out advertising the exposition.

We are in receipt of letters from different Railway Companies saying that where possible they will place in their limited trains some special notices we forwarded, asking parties interested in Hawaii to send in their addresses for folders, etc.

Mr. T. D. McKay writes from Hongkong that our new folders have been well distributed all over the Orient and that he believes we will get good results from them.

Regarding the distribution of our folders on the Pacific Coast, the present service covers Portland, Tacoma, Oakland, San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego. Spokane is being investigated and will also be included if it is found that there is a reliable Folder Company operating in that city.

Word comes from the Hydrographic Office at Washington that our special chart of the Pacific Ocean, showing the strategical position occupied by Hawaii and giving tracks for full powered steam vessels with distances from Honolulu to some thirty-four of the leading ports, will soon be completed. A number of these will be backed and mounted and will undoubtedly prove of great value in calling attention to Hawaii's commanding position with reference to the great trade routes across the Pacific.

I have been requested to call the attention of the committee to the condition of the vacant lots in the rear of E. O. Hall & Son, Hawaiian Trust Company and Pacific Hardware Company buildings. It would be a great improvement if the Atkinson parking system could be applied to these premises, which are so centrally situated.

Respectfully submitted,
H. P. WOOD,
Secretary.

USEFUL MRS. WEATHERRED

Referring to the work being done on the mainland for Hawaii by Mrs. E. T. Weatherred, Mr. Mears said that the committee was fortunate in having such a person to assist them. She was energetic in her work and is a woman who has the entree of all society on the Pacific coast and is personally acquainted with most of the prominent people of the United States.

Apropos of the enthusiasm shown by Mrs. Weatherred toward Hawaii, Mr. Mears added that he himself came as the representative of one city but feared that he would return as the representative of another.

A communication respecting a special number of the Honolulu Times, to be issued next month, was tabled, the members expressing the idea that they should support this individually in preference to acting as a committee.

A letter from the manager of the Royal Hawaiian Hotel regarding a reception to the members of the Southern California editorial association was also tabled, to be brought up at the joint committee meeting to be held on Monday afternoon at 3:30, at which the editors of the Honolulu papers will be present.

In addition Mr. Spalding gave some other interesting figures, showing that since May 14, 1903, when the Promotion Committee was first organized, some $50,000 had been expended in all. During the term of the present committee, their income had come from the following sources: Wharf tax, through the Chamber of Commerce, $10,500; balance of the Washington delegation fund, $2997, and from private subscriptions, $7600.

The British government has demanded that effective steps be taken to suppress the pirates on the Canton delta. A severe fight there between a fleet of five junks being towed to Canton and the pirates took place on July 20, the pirates being beaten off.

CALLED BY SUN FLASH

Amateur Heliography Is Used to Summon a Witness.

Heliography was put to clever use yesterday, without an elaborate apparatus for operating it either. A cue may be found in the incident for private signaling where other means of communication are not convenient which may on occasions save hours and dollars. If a mirror is not at hand a tin pan—which will serve nearly as well—may be available.

W. A. Bowen had been under subpoena for a case in court some days, but as yet had not been called to the witness stand. It was a handicap on all his movements, which prevented his going anywhere beyond an easy call into court. He wanted to go up Tantalus with his family Wednesday afternoon but was afraid of the penalty for contempt of court. In this state of affairs he consulted Castle & Withington, attorneys for the Waialua Agricultural Co., a party in the Dreier-Holt foreclosure suit for which he was to testify.

"You go to Tantalus, Mr. Bowen," said W. L. Castle, a clerk in Castle & Withington's law office, "and if you are wanted tomorrow in court I will flash a mirror in the office window at 10 o'clock. You be on the lookout for the signal then and if you don't see it you will be safe in taking the mountain air for the day."

Mr. Bowen adopted the suggestion. He did happen to be wanted in court yesterday morning. Mr. Castle flashed the mirrow in the window—the office being in the Cartwright building at the foot of Bethel street, from which a clear view of Tantalus is had. Mr. Bowen was on the lookout for it. He saw the flash and, girding up himself, was soon flying down the mountain in his carriage. The signaling range covered is something like five miles.

ADAMS GOT RIGHT OUT

Governor Considering Man for His Place.

The Advertiser's call on the Adams matter was followed by his resignation a few hours after this paper came out yesterday morning. And the trouble is now over his successor who must be appointed by the Governor. Among the men interested there is a strong desire to have Sam. Dwight, or some other good man from the Fifth, get the place. It was said yesterday afternoon that the Governor leans toward Walter Dillingham of the Fourth, for the place but not so hard that he may not bend backward and sign the commission of Dwight.

Senator John Lane, the acknowledged leader of the Fifth, was quite outspoken on the matter yesterday after Adams resignation was received. "Adams was from the Fifth," he remarked, "and we should have his successor from the same district. Why should he be from the Fourth when that district is already represented? I do not believe the Fourth wants the place nor do I believe that the Governor, no matter how highly he may regard Mr. Dillingham, will name him on this occasion. The Fifth is entitled to more than some people are willing to grant and in the selection of candidates for the Senate this year it must not be forgotten that it is our turn to have the full representation; we want two and the Fourth is to have one. I think, too, that we are entitled to the deputy sheriff. The sheriff will be Brown from the Fourth and we will name the man from the Fifth for his deputy."

THE COUNTY CHAIRMAN.

The matter of a chairman for the county convention does not seem to interest this leader; he is satisfied to go to the territorial convention and let some one else look after the chairmanship of the county affair. At least that is what he thinks, and says, now but he may change.

The first resignation from Adams did not come as a bolt from the blue to many persons here. Some day ago it was definitely settled that he would not return here this year, but the matter of resignation was not thought of, probably, by Mr. Adams. His first resignation, taking effect September was hardly the thing needed because it would hold up the appointment of a successor for two weeks. He was notified of this yesterday morning and he wired a resignation to take effect immediately. And this, with the first one received, was handed to the Governor. In order that there should be satisfaction to the people and harmony in the ranks of the party he met Supervisors Smith and Lucas at his office at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The names of several desirable men were discussed but nothing definite was settled, and, it is said, will not be until today. It is rumored that Geo. W. Smith was quite favorable to Dillingham regardless of the fact that he is from the Fourth precinct and Adams was from the Fifth. He has some influence upon the Governor but whether or not it is sufficient to throw the selection is doubtful. The Governor will be guided largely by his personal estimate of the men whose names have been presented. It is thought that Dillingham will be elected from his district in the election in November and that the nomination is a sure thing. That being the case the men most concerned see no reason why he should be selected for the short term, an act which might effect his election when the time comes around. It is believed, also, that there might be a cry of color line if the haole was taken in preference to the Hawaiian when it is purely a matter of the choice by one man. There is a feeling among some of the men in the Fifth that Fernandez would be acceptable but the majority is favorable to Dwight.

RIGHT OF APPOINTMENT.

Secretary Atkinson takes issue with anyone who would take the right of appointing from the road supervisor. In speaking of the matter he said, "It is all nonsense to say that he should not have the right to select his men. He knows better than the members of the county committee, or any one, who does the best work and who is best to put to work. The trouble with some people is that they look more to the political results than to the efficiency of the men. I do not believe in mixing politics with roads and for that reason I favor the selection of lunas and laborers by the road supervisors."

And the Secretary believed that he really meant what he said.

Fred Waterhouse seemed to be greatly interested in the selection of a successor to Adams. And he was positive in declaring the claims of the Fifth to the vacancy." I have no particular choice; let the man be a good one and one who will work in harmony with the other supervisors. The Fifth is entitled to the place for while Adams was supervisor at large he was from the Fifth district and that district is entitled to the honor of having his successor. And Jackie Lucas was just as positive. He did not hesitate to say that the Governor would undoubtedly treat the Fifth fairly and that the choice would be Dwight.

There has been a hitch in concluding the purchase of the Hobron Drug Co. by Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd. R. W. Shingle of the Henry Waterhouse Trust Co., Ltd., was in charge of the deal but left for the mainland in the Korea before the papers were signed. It is believed that Mr. Hobron has been urged by friends not to sell out if there was yet time to retrace his steps.

DURAO'S HARD WORK FOR PORTUGUESE IMMIGRANTS

"The success of Mr. Stackable in securing Portuguese in the Azores is most gratifying," said a prominent Portuguese yesterday, "but I am afraid the credit does not all belong to the Immigration Board. You may remember the time the Kohala plantation secured laborers from the New England States about five years ago. That mission was performed by a Portuguese, Joseph Durao, now in the employ of the Board of Health.

"At that time he was in the service of the Hawaiian Board as a sort of missionary. Kohala wanted laborers and there were a number of Portuguese in Massachusetts and other New England states who were not particularly satisfied with their lot. Durao accepted the mission and made two trips and was successful both times. When the Portuguese went to work their pay was put up to twenty-four and twenty-nine dollars a month. I do not remember that Durao lost a single immigrant on the way out on either trip. But his connection with the plantations rather galled some of the opponents to the industry and they mixed religion with greed when they spoke of Durao so that his sensitive nature forced him to give up the religious side and seek a position in the Board of Health where he has been ever since.

"When the Board of Immigration started Durao saw there was going to be a labor shortage and knew the Portuguese would be acceptable to the planters. He began a correspondence with some men in Portugal who were connected directly with the matter of emigrants. He learned through this correspondence that an effort was being made to send a lot of Portuguese to Argentine but his presentation of the Hawaiian conditions stirred the people to action and Argentine was dropped. When it was decided that Secretary Atkinson should go to the Azores Durao wrote to his correspondents and requested them to extend every courtesy to the secretary at the same time they were to keep an eye open for suitable persons who would be likely to come over. The reply to that letter was highly satisfactory. From Lisbon, Funchal and Puenta Del Galda, in Saint Michaels, Durao learned that the Portuguese would come out. As early as April last it was announced over there in a Portuguese paper that there was a steamer expected to take the people who wanted to go to the 'Sandwich Islands.'

"You will gather from this that when Mr. Stackable arrived in St. Michaels, or wherever he stopped, that he found his work all cut out for him and everything is over but getting aboard. He is now in London making a steamer charter and the people should be here within a few months. There will be no way of finding out how many will come until they get aboard the steamer. If the plantations will use care in the treatment of these immigrants there will be no trouble met in securing all that is needed in the future. If the people have a grievance and write back to their friends it will put a stop to more coming."

ALAMEDA DAY
CONCERT AND DANCE

Better music than that which will be the feature of the "Alameda Day" concert and dance at the Royal Hawaiian hotel this evening, could not be secured, as the program below will indicate. The series of concerts, during dinner and dances afterward, has grown steadily in popularity and that of tonight promises to be the equal of any of its predecessors. The name of Mme. Alapai does not appear on the program as that distinguished vocalist is now taking a well-earned vocation after her concert tour on the island of Kauai. Men's voices alone will be heard but the program shows such a wide range of selections that not one moment will be dull.

The program is as follows:

March—"Fish Market" ..... Nape
Selection—"Sweet Lei Mamo"...Kuelo

Because of four cases of serious illness in the Orphanage, Miss Beard was not able to leave the institution before the close of the fiscal year, and do her usual soliciting, by which she would have been able to close the year out of debt. But the time has now come when it is necessary to provide for this indebtedness and also for running expenses for the new year. This report is submitted to you with the request that you assist in this provision, and show it to others who may be likely to join with you in the good work.

Furniture at Your Own Price

The old established furniture house of J. HOPP & CO., the store in the Young Building, which recently bought the stock of furniture which belonged to the Porter Furniture Co. which is retiring from business, will place on sale at J. HOPP & CO.'S stores this morning, the entire stock of Porter's at prices which have never been placed on furniture here before.

J. HOPP & CO. carry on their own account a large stock of furniture and they have no room for Porter's stock, so they will almost give away the latter. Bring your money with you and the price will be less than you expect to pay.

Closing Out the Stock

The Porter Furniture Co. had a stock which included some high grade goods. We will "murder" these. We have a new lot of new furniture due to arrive here and must put Porter's stock out of the way.

mination and compulation? The secret of diplomacy is not to write official letters regardlessly, but is to associate with foreigners in a friendly manner and make them admire him, and then, whenever anything happened should not provoke them, in the matter, but try best to settle it while he is smiling, by talk. The foreigners are also human-beings, they are nothing but animals with passions the same as we have. So when we come to a misunderstanding we talk the matter face to face until we come to a good and satisfactory understanding.

But if he begins the conference in such a manner, both sides of the case will not be known, and the result will only cause difficulties, and he may throw himself into similar trouble as Mr. Miki Saito did once in his protest against the Board of Medical Examiners. When the Board of Medical Examiners made such a law as to examining physicians in the English language only, Consul Saito, instead of calling on the commissioners to talk over the matter in diplomatic way, sent an official protest to the Governor in order to suppress these commissioners by trying to obtain an action from the Governor on the matter. It failed and only made the commissioners mad and Mr. Saito's protest was buried in the hands of Governor Carter and we heard nothing more about it.

This case now is a different one and the Consul taking advantage of the difficulties between Governor Carter and County Sheriff Brown may have better results. Still the Governor has no power to interfere with any action of the County Sheriff but can only bring the matter into the supervisor's meeting for an investigation.

Therefore if the supervisors acknowledge that what Brown has done is proper and lawful, then what will our Consul do in this matter? If it concerned a private person we might laugh in case he lost, but it can not be so for Consul. For the honor of his country he must take it up on appeal to the international conference.

Now Mr. Matsubara, have you the determination to do so, if necessary, and legal knowledge enough to win the case in the International Conference, and be able to receive an indemnity? This is what we want to know from our Acting Consul.

We understand that Mr. Matsubara held back in Douse's case and let it pass in silence. Though we do not know whether he was sober when he took up this little matter like false imprisonment case or not, yet it has been presented to the Governor as his official letter, under the good name of His Imperial Japanese Majesty's Consulate, he must accomplish his first intention to show them the dignity of our country. This is why we want to know what his intentions are and at the same time wish him to do his best, for the honor and dignity of his beloved country.

TIDAL WAVES.

Tidal waves have now and then occurred on these islands but there are no traditions of any great ones—no waves of cataclysmic force and destructiveness. Two have been reported in the group within a year, one at Hilo, which reached a height of twelve feet and did no particular harm and one yesterday on the Maui coast of the same height and of similar impotency, save in damage to wharves.

The main reason for our safety from the inrush of such mountainous waves as swept the coast of Peru in 1868, is the vent afforded by the active volcano on the big island. That automatic valve carries off the gases and steam which, otherwise, might cause explosions in the bed of the sea. Such explosions would almost inevitably send a gigantic billow ashore. Our sea-bottom keeps pretty steady on the whole, any geological faults in it having probably succumbed, eons ago, to the enormous pressure of the ocean. While not insurably safe, of course,—for nobody is on any coast—Hawaii has no special reason to expect anything like a sea-convulsion.

While the cause of the twelve-foot rise on the Maui coast is beyond our knowing, the local weather bureau suggests that it may have been due to atmospheric pressure, which is now very strong. Some tidal waves originate that way at a long distance from the point of contact with a shore; the principle being like that of pressing one part of the surface of water in a pan with the open palm and causing the fluid to slop over at the rim. Strong as barometric pressure has been here during the last day or two—and it now gives sign of coming elemental disturbance, possibly heavy rains—it may have been far heavier a hundred miles or so at sea.

THE EXECUTIVE SESSION POLICY.

If the Honolulu press should ignore the Chamber of Commerce and its policies for a few weeks, even the silurians in that remarkable body would probably come to their senses. While declaring that the business of the board of trustees, by which the Chamber in its waking hours is managed, would be best promoted by the absence of the members of the press, the representatives of the Chamber have trod upon each other's heels to secure the co-operation of the local dailies in most of their public undertakings. We presume they want to keep on doing so; yet, at the same time, we find a resolution pending to transact the business of the Chamber in secret.

Such a resolution could not or would not be adopted by any Chamber of Commerce on the mainland of the United States. It is essentially and peculiarly Hawaiian. Time was when even the public's most intimate official business in Honolulu was transacted behind closed doors; when public records were kept with the sanctity of private ledgers, and when more important news of Honolulu was found in the coast papers than in the local press. Thanks to the modern spirit of Hawaii the press has been able, year by year since 1893, to bore a little further through the mass of stupid insular conservatism here and let in the light upon acts and policies which the people who are most affected by them desire and have the right to understand. But the task is not yet finished. The Chamber of Commerce is still in the way like a paleozoic boulder. Perhaps the press would do well to bore in another angle after this and leave the Chamber off to one side, where, if the newspapers desired, it would soon be as completely forgotten by the public as the weather report of last Saturday.

DEGREES AND TITLES.

The universities of first rank are now very sparing in the bestowal of the degree of doctor of divinity, Yale having granted but one such degree last year and Harvard but two. It is an example that ought not to be lost on the general run of good colleges, for past extravagance in the matter of D. D.'s has brought the title to a rather low estate in the Protestant community. In the Roman Catholic world the doctorate means an unusual and impressive type of scholarship. One rarely meets a Roman Catholic D. D., and the title is not to be presupposed of a bishop nor always of a cardinal; but that American town is poor indeed which does not boast of one Protestant minister to whom the term reverend doctor is applied. Often the degree is won on mere grounds of right-living and zealous service to good causes; rarely indeed as the result of original thinking upon great themes. Perhaps so stern a restriction ought not to be expected in fields where original research is not always safe from the barbed arrow of the heresy-hunter; nor in mines where fresh leads were long ago exhausted. There is really nothing new under the sun of theology, though there are some ingenious new applications of old truths, for which a minister naturally expects recognition and usually gets it in the form of a D. D.

Probably America has more doctors of divinity than all the rest of the world; perhaps the Eastern seaboard alone could establish such a claim. The reason may hark back to the curious passion for titles which was not extinguished in the American breast by our secession from kings. Denied titles of nobility, lord bishoprics and the like, we make the greatest possible use of the minor titles we have and distribute them to each other with an unsparing hand. Apart from those whose style is clerical, there are probably one million honorables in the United States, fifty thousand generals, three hundred thousand colonels, two million captains and at least fifteen millions of secret society knights, excellencies, chief-rulers, potentates, kings, sovereigns, nobles, chancellors, high priests, grand orators, most-worshipfuls and presidents. We are indeed a titled people, despite our stern democracy of faith, and in time may ask no odds of effete and pompous monarchies in the way of handles to our names. Some day they may be as common among us as queues among Chinamen.

Matt Heffernan and twenty-nine more have concluded to drive the Chinese and Japanese out of Hawaii and met to organize for that purpose last night. It was a momentous gathering and at one time it looked as if the leading spirits would get into a row over the Japanese that worked for them. As nothing was said as to where the members usually ate and where they bought their hats, shirts and shoes, the end was peaceful; but it is expected that there will be trouble for the poor Asiatics as soon as the club gets the usual draft from Gompers and collects from the local candidates.

Automobiles are running too fast in the streets of this city, especially at night. The ordinance regulating them appears to be a dead letter.

From 12,000 to 15,000 quarts of soda water per day are drunk in Honolulu. That is another proof of the Weather Bureau's dry air proposition.

If the lost ten tribes are in the farthest north, Wellman will know the pole, when he gets to it, by the three golden balls hung at the peak.

Uncle Joe Cannon has knocked out too many appropriations to stand in with the delegates who name the candidate for President.

The Kellogg report is expected to fall on either Howland or Patterson this morning with a dam thud.

SAN FRANCISCO'S HARD TIME WITH INSURANCE

The Examiner says:

"The Transatlantic Fire Insurance Company denies liability upon the ground that the losses arose from an overwhelming catastrophe, due to a visitation of Providence, for indemnity against the consequences of which the policy never was intended to provide and does not provide. Moreover, the attitude of the reinsuring companies at home compels the Transatlantic to assume this position."

Another foreign insurance corporation has refused to meet its obligations in San Francisco, and the Transatlantic of Hamburg, Germany, is classed among the welchers. It has earned its right to the opprobrious term, for without any earthquake clause in its policies to fall back upon, issuing, in fact, the New York standard form in common use on the Pacific Coast, this company takes advantage of the fact that it has not one dollar of assets in the United States to say to its policy holders: "We won't pay you. Come to Germany and sue us if you will."

ISSUE DEFY TO POLICY HOLDERS.

The long expected letter from Hamburg arrived late yesterday afternoon, and the statement quoted was given out by the company in the evening. It means that at least $4,000,000 of insurance claims are denied payment, it being left to the loss claimants either to sue the company in the local courts and demand that the courts of Germany shall recognize the judgments obtained or to proceed to Germany, in the first instance, and test the justice of the judicial tribunals of the Fatherland. In either case the way must be long and costly, even if by the organization of a policy holders' corporation it will be possible to distribute the legal expenses per capita among the loss claimants.

The Transatlantic is an old established corporation. Its Pacific Coast agency in San Francisco has existed upwards of thirty years, and all its obligations here were met so promptly and its customers treated with such old-fashioned courtesy that it was not at all difficult for its agents to write business. As a result when the catastrophe of last April descended upon San Francisco the Transatlantic was recorded among the companies most seriously hurt. It was regarded as doubtful that the assets would be sufficient to pay claims dollar for dollar without an assessment upon the stock. But that the Transatlantic would attempt to evade its responsibilities by denying liability was not even dreamed of.

It was a shock, then, to the then Pacific Coast agent, V. C. Driffield, when shortly after the conflagration he received a communication from his home office in Hamburg to the effect that as the conflagration had been caused by an irresistible calamity, such as in marine insurance is described as the "act of God," the directors assured the company was not liable. Agent Driffield at once consulted the company's attorney here, W. S. Goodfellow, who advised the directors that their position was untenable and that the company must pay its losses. The company paid no attention to this counsel, but sent out a representative from Hamburg, Dr. Goessler. To the advices of Attorney Goodfellow and Agent Driffield, Dr. Goessler added his own, as soon as he had realized the situation; but still the home office refused to acquiesce. Then came cabled instructions to the agent to close all business on the Coast. Driffield resigned and G. Harold Ward reigned in his stead in the company's offices, while Dr. Goessler occupied his time in sending fruitless letters and cablegrams to Europe.

Finally came a dispatch from Hamburg stating that a communication was on its way to San Francisco per registered mail. This letter was anxiously awaited. It came late, but it came, and the gist of it lies in the statement issued.

BRITISH COMPANIES QUIBBLE.

After keeping their policy holders in suspense for fourteen weeks, during which period they declined to make any statement whatever, the Commercial Union, Palatine, Alliance and Norwich Union, commonly known as the British "earthquake" companies, yesterday issued a manifesto purporting to define their position.

An official statement was sent forth from the offices of the companies' Attorney, T. C. Van Ness. It appears in full extent, as an advertisement, elsewhere, in these columns.

The gist of it is that while the companies are satisfied, both from the opinion of their legal adviser and the investigation made by their representatives sent out from London for the purpose, they do not owe their policy holders a dollar, they will, nevertheless, recognize a number of claims.

It is a statement drawn by an attorney, with all an attorney's skill, but it states some definite points. The companies recognize that there are cases in which there is no question as to their legal liability, and these they offer to pay in full upon adjustment. But in all cases, and they enumerate several in which they perceive an opportunity to make their earthquake exemption provisions stick, they won't pay anything.

In a word, they will pay just what they realize they would otherwise be forced to pay, and no more. They will trace fires back to their origin and they will take into account conditions as they were in various sections of the city, both as to earthquake damage and lack of water supply, but where they are compelled to recognize a genuine fire loss as such, they will not contest the claim.

The statement is authorized by E. Roger Owen, general manager of the Commercial Union and Palatine Douglas Owen, secretary of the Alliance, and W. P. Abel, foreign superintendent of the Norwich Union.

A VISIT TO HAWAII

By Lady Lawson in Black and White.

In no part of the world does the traveler receive a warmer welcome than in peaceful, ocean-girt Honolulu, the capital of the Hawaiian Islands, where he is greeted with a genuine aloha (the universal word of salutation), treated with generous hospitality during his stay, and begarlanded on departure, according to the pretty Hawaiian custom, with charming wreaths of strung flowers, called in the vernacular "leis."

The climate is ideal, and one lives the year round in the open air upon the broad lanais (verandas) enjoying tropical vegetation and sunshine without tropical heat. It is a serpentless Eden, for there is not a single snake in the entire islands, and the mere rumor of one in the cargo of a ship in harbor recently was sufficient to raise a riot. The old island life is fast disappearing before the leavening strides of business-like American civilization, but the landscape and the people remain, a generous, hospitable race, with handsome brown faces and kindly hearts. They are first cousins to the Maoris, and their language is so much akin that when some Hawaiians lately visited New Zealand they readily understood the Maori dialect.

Soon after arrival in Honolulu, the haole (white man or foreigner) is initiated into the mysteries of a luau, or open-air native feast: a banquet eaten without plates, knives or forks, the finger-bowls consisting of cocoanut shells, and the napkins of fern leaves. Duly decorated with red carnation leis, the guests gathered round the festive board, which in this case resolved itself into a long mat spread upon the ground and covered with bright flowers and leaves. Upon this were placed numerous calabashes of koa wood, containing delicacies dear to the Hawaiian palate, such as poi—a paste made from taro, the principal vegetable of the natives—raw squid (dried octopus), shark fins, breadfruit dumplings, edible seaweed and tropical fruits. Then various mysterious packages of fish and fowl, wrapped in ti leaves, were brought forth from the stone-lined pit or underground oven, heated by charcoal, where they had simmered for the previous twelve hours, and, last of all, there was placed before us a sucking-pig (hoolua) roasted whole—the piece de resistance of the feast!

Hawaiian musicians meanwhile discoursed sweet music, playing strange dreamy melodies whose plaintive harmonies haunted us for many a day; and native girls, wearing wreaths of red lehua flowers twined in the hair and garlanded about the neck, performed the famous hula dance, their lithe forms swinging and swaying with graceful undulatory movements, as they advanced and retreated with arms extended, their brown skins glistening in the moonlight.

Moonlight bathing parties are most popular at Waikiki Beach, the fashionable suburb of Honolulu, and nowhere is ocean bathing more perfectly enjoyed all the year round than inside the coral reef there, additional excitement being lent to the ordinary "dip" by riding on surf-boards. The skilled Hawaiian takes his surf-board out to the place where the reef breaks the swells into rollers, and, catching the impetus of the topmost one, he rides on its crest, stretched at full length, or even standing erect upon it. Ordinary visitors pay five dollars for a surf-canoe, and find it sufficiently exhilarating to ride out to the roaring surf, where the oncoming wave lifts the stern of the canoe, and sends it spinning shoreward in a cloud of driving mist, while the surf roars beneath, and the spray from the breakers dashes upon the drenched and breathless occupants.

A visit to a sugar plantation is another pleasant experience in Hawaii, and one never tires of driving round the estate in the rare pure air, between tall green canes with their "tassels waving on the lea" and broad leaves rustling in the breeze. The canes are cut and brought to the crushing mill by "flumes," or wooden aqueducts, in which they are floated down for several miles before being transferred to trucks.

The mill machinery is tended entirely by Japanese, and while staying on the plantation I heard a great deal about the difficulties of the labor question.

Hawaii is essentially a brown man's country, for few white men of any race can work in the fields or make successful farmers in the tropics, and it is a matter of regret that America does not encourage the Japanese and Chinese to settle freely with their wives and children, and become in time good American citizens. At present "families" are discouraged by the Federal Government, and males preponderate among the immigrants, so that the Japanese try to make as much money as they can and return to their own country as quickly as possible. During this present year (1906), "Uncle Sam" has imported 600 Molokans (Russians) into Hawaii as laborers, but those who know best say that this experiment is foredoomed to failure. One thing is certain: that if the Japanese born in the islands become a permanent population eager to claim its citizenship, the fear of future political domination by a single nationality will become a reality, for out of a total population of about 154,000 in Hawaii, more than 65,000 are Japanese!

An interesting personality in Honolulu is Queen Liliuokalani, who lives in a handsome house with beautiful grounds, left to her by her husband. She received me most kindly, and constantly referred to her visit to England during the Jubilee celebrations in 1887, when she accompanied her sister-in-law, Queen Emma, who was treated with special distinction as a reigning sovereign by Her Majesty Queen Victoria. This seems to have been the event of her life, and she described minutely several acts of courtesy shown to her personally by the King (then Prince of Wales) and the late Duke of Edinburgh. Liliuokalani's rooms are decorated chiefly with immense kahilis, the sign of royalty in Hawaii, resembling giant bottle-brushes mounted on polished wood inlaid with pearl or ivory.

A GRACEFUL REBUKE.

Dr. Omori, professor of seismology at the University of Tokio, told one day in San Francisco during his study of the earthquake there an interesting anecdote about a graceful rebuke.

"The favorite horse of the Chinese Emperor Tsi," said Dr. Omori, died through negligence on the part of the royal master of the horse. The Emperor was so enraged at this that he drew his sword, and would have run the careless functionary through the body.

"But the learned mandarin, Yent-Se, struck up the Emperor's sword, saying:

"'Sire, this man has not yet been formally accused of any crime. He deserves to die, but his accusation should come first. It is the law.'

"'Well,' said the Emperor, 'tell me what he has done.'

"'Listen, you rogue,' said the mandarin, turning to the trembling master of the horse, 'listen to a catalogue of your heinous offences. In the first place you have allowed a horse to perish that his majesty had intrusted to your care. In the second place, it is on your account that the Emperor became so exasperated that he was actually on the point of disgracing himself in all his people's eyes by killing a man for the sake of a horse.'

"'Enough,' said the Emperor, appreciating the rebuke. 'Let him go. He is pardoned.'"

Thousands of Women

ARE MADE WELL AND STRONG

Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Rests Upon the Fact that it Really Does Make Sick Women Well.

Thousands upon thousands of American women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Their letters are on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office, and prove this statement to be a fact and not a mere boast.

Overshadowing indeed is the success of this great medicine, and compared with it all other medicines and treatment for women are experiments.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished such widespread results for good?

Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work for a quarter of a century?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has even approached its success is plainly and positively because there is no other medicine in the world so good for women's ills.

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of womankind is not because it is a stimulant—not because it is a palliative, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and reconstructor ever discovered to act directly upon the female system, positively CURING disease and displacements and restoring health and vigor.

Marvelous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures and physicians who have recognized the virtue in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are fair enough to give credit where it is due. If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ills, as they know by experience that it will effect a cure.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating (or flatulence), weakness, displacements, inflammation, ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Anyway write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. It's free and always helpful.

WHAT IT WILL DO.

A woman buys a sewing machine for what it will do; not as an article of furniture. A man carries a watch to tell him the time; not as an investment of surplus capital. The same principle when one is ill. We want the medicine or the treatment which will relieve and cure. The friend in need must be a friend indeed, something, or somebody, with a reputation. There should be no guesswork in treating disease. People have the right to know what a medicine is, and what it will do, before they take it. It must have behind it an open record of benefit to others for the same diseases, a series of cures that proves its merit and inspires confidence. It is because it has such a record that WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION is bought and used without hesitation or doubt. Its Good Name is the solid basis for the faith the people have in it; and a good name has to be earned by good deeds. It does what you have a right to expect it to do. It is palatable as honey and contains all the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites and the Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. In Scrofula, Anemia, Nervous and General Debility, Influenza and Wasting Complaints, it is to be thoroughly relied upon. Doctor J. L. Carrick says: "I have had remarkable success with it in the treatment of Consumption, Chronic Bronchitis, Catarrh and Scrofulous Affections. It is of special value in nervous prostration and depraved nutrition; it stimulates the appetite and the digestion, promotes assimilation, and enters directly into the circulation with the food. I consider it a marvelous success in medicine." Every dose effective. "You cannot be disappointed in it." Sold by chemists throughout the world.

Valuable Book Free

Ask me to send you sealed, free, a book just completed, which will inspire any man to be bigger, stronger, younger (if he is old), and more manly than he ever felt. I am a builder of men.

I can take any weak, puny man and make him feel like a Sandow. Of course, I can't make a Hercules of a man who was never intended by nature to be strong and husky. I don't mean that.

But I can take a man who started with a fair constitution and before it got fully developed began tearing it down. That fellow is weak-nerved, slow, poky, lacking in vim, ambition and self-confidence. I can make a man of him in three months so that his own friends won't know him.

I want you to read this book and learn the truth about my arguments. If you are not as vigorous as you would like to be, if you have rheumatic pains, weak kidneys, loss of vitality, prostatic troubles, nervous spells, or any ailment of that kind that unmans you, it would assure your future happiness if you would look into this method of mine. Don't delay it; your best days are slipping by. If you want this book I send it closely sealed free if you inclose this Ad.

SULLIVAN CONCEDES

Offers to Box Welch at 149 Pounds Ringside.

Dick Sullivan stated last night that he was willing to make another weight concession to "Spider" Welch and stood ready to sign articles for a match in which he would weigh 149 ringside.

Welch has been insisting that Sullivan make 147 pounds ringside. Two pounds now separates the boys in their match-making wrangle and it is practically certain that Welch will agree to Sullivan's latest proposition.

Welch's record is as follows:

CRICKET TO BE LIVELY

Tomorrow will see a cricket match played at Makiki which should be brimful of interest. The opposing teams will represent born in the United Kingdom and those who first saw the light of day in other climes.

The Britons will rely upon the services of such strong men as: Bob Anderson, Stanley Beardmore, J. L. Cockburn, R. A. Jordan, J. R. M. Maclean, W. Simpson, J. C. McGill, B. F. Beardmore, Rev. Canon Ault, A. J. Clunie, H. L. Herbert, F. Holmes, C. P. Morse, J. McConnell, Ray Jones, W. Jamieson, W. L. Stanley, J. V. Stevenson.

The noble Remainder will call upon the following cricketers to uphold their cause:: A. St. C. Piianaia, Tom Gill, W. Brown, S. Catt, J. Grosse, B. Grosse, D. L. Withington, L. Withington, F. Withington, W. M. Cooper and H. Bailey, R. G. Moore, B. Melanphy, J. A. Rath.

Of course others may be chosen to play but the above-mentioned will constitute the mainstay of the teams.

The cricket season will continue until into November, closing about two months after baseball is pau. The knights of the wicket hope to receive the support of some of the baseballers after the league games are over, and will make an effort to permanently interest them in the Britishers' national game.

WANT AND NEED.

There's a big difference between what a baby wants and what he needs. Deny him the one, give him the other. Most babies need Scott's Emulsion—it's the right thing for a baby. It contains a lot of strength-building qualities that their food may not contain. After a while they get to want it. Why? Because it makes them comfortable. Those dimples and round cheeks mean health and ease. Scott's Emulsion makes children easy; keeps them so, too.

WHY NOT GO A-FISHING?

Good Sport Obtainable Here With Hook and Line.

There are few pleasanter ways of spending a day than off Waikiki, with line and hook. Plenty of fish are to be caught and their variety is surprising.

As a rule, one does not have to go outside the reef, but when the wind is kicking up a surf the canoe must be headed beyond the coral barrier if sport is to be enjoyed.

Rod and line fishing may be prosecuted with advantage inside the reef, but in the deeper water beyond, hand-lining produces the best results.

A reel on the rod renders the sport more enjoyable, especially when light tackle is used, but plenty of fun can be had with a bamboo pole. A much heavier weight is necessary when angling outside than when operating inside the reef, where a cork-float will be found useful for detecting bites.

The hand-line should be made of any strong plaited material and must be as thin as is consistent with strength to haul up a four-pounder. The hook, a No. 9, should be attached to a gut leader. In this lies the secret of successful sea-fishing. Fish will bite a hundred per cent. better when the hook is presented to them on gut than when it is tied onto the line.

Live shrimps make the best bait. The only trouble with them is that they won't stay on the hook, being removed with every bite. A small piece of the tentacle of a squid, which is glistening white when the skin is peeled off, will tempt the fish and will stay on until it works its way into some piscine gullet.

A Canadian canoe will answer very well inside the reef. A couple of fishermen can cruise about in such a craft from Waikiki clear into the harbor and drop their lines into likely spots by the way. When a good bed of weed is struck, biting will continue vigorously for half an hour or more.

For fishing in deep water a native canoe, manned by a couple of natives, must be obtained. When a likely fishing-ground is located, the canoe is anchored and the hand-lines dropped over the side, the bait being held a foot from the bottom. If there are any fish about, it won't be long before they commence biting. Immediately a bite is felt the line is jerked with a quick turn of the wrist and if a fish be hooked, it is hauled hand-over-hand to the surface and into the boat.

Fishing in this manner, an angler may land from twenty to fifty fish, ranging from a few ounces to a couple of pounds in weight, in a couple of hours' time. Included in the catch are likely to be moana, opelu, hinalea, lae, maomao, aawa, hinalea nukiwi, pilikoa, poopaa, hinalea luwahine and kupopo.

The canoe is kept moving from place to place, the presence of fish being detected by a wooden box with a glass bottom, through which one can plainly see all that is moving, in several fathoms of water.

When baiting with shrimps, it is well to bite off the head and bait with the rest of the body. The head should then be chewed up and spit into the water; this attracts the fish and keeps them in the proximity of the hook.

It is advisable to start out equipped with plenty of hooks, gut leaders, lead and an ample supply of line. Big fish are likely to carry away the tackle and it is almost certain to become snagged several times in the coral which bestrews the bottom.

While fishing off-shore it is a common thing to have turtle, large and small, come to the surface within a few yards of the canoe and remain there sunning themselves. If there is a harpoon or fish-spear aboard the chances are that someone will be enjoying some excellent soup before very long.

After a busy week in the heated city there is no better form of recreation for the lover of a little fishing than a few hours in a canoe off Waikiki. He will forget his troubles, get his lungs filled to capacity limit with ozone, and his face and neck healthily tanned. When the lines have been rolled up for the day and the catch reviewed and counted, the fisherman will go home with a bag of some of the best food the sea has to offer and the appetite of a bear wherewith to enjoy the fruits of his fishing.

Manager Church, of the Seaside Hotel, is himself an enthusiastic fisherman, and will gladly put devotees of the hook and line in the way of enjoying some excellent sport.

'TISER BOYS WIN AGAIN

The victorious Advertiser baseball nine continued their string of victories by defeating the Stars on Wednesday morning, by the score of 8 to 3. The game was umpired by Manuel Botelho.

The Stars put a poor excuse for a nine in the field, the players delaying the game every few minutes in order to wrangle with the umpire.

The Advertisers now occupy second place in the Newsboys' League.

Score by innings:

H. Bush struck out 7 men against View's 2, and Alameda's 3.

"Peanuts" Hogan weighed in with a two-base-hit and View batted out a dandy home-run. Taharta kept tally of the game.

SEINE FISHING
Paradise of the Pacific.

In Hawaii the large seines used on the beach average 250 feet in length with bag seven feet deep, and mesh of half an inch. The wings average four feet in depth and have a mesh of one inch. They are usually made from No. 9 to No. 8 cotton twine. On Maui seines 150 feet long, eight to twelve feet deep, with an inch and a quarter mesh, are used. They have no bag, and several of them are often laced together and used as one net. They are usually hauled up on the shore. At Pearl Lochs the Chinese use a purse seine 50 fathoms long and 20 fathoms deep, with a mesh of one inch in the center and one and a half inches in the wings. The bottom of the net has rings, with a rope running through them. After the fish are surrounded the lower line is pulled up by the fishermen. The bottom comes up together, thus forming a bag or purse on each side, and this is pulled until the fish are all in a small bag on each side of the boat, whence they are dipped out by means of small scoop nets. The bait seines average from 10 to 60 yards in length, with a half inch mesh or less. They are generally used by all classes of line fishermen in securing their bait. No. 3 cotton twine is used in the manufacture of these seines.

Gill nets are a popular form of catching fish. They are either set or hauled, rarely, if ever, drifted. When set they are stretched, at high tide, across the shallow openings in the reef. As the tide goes out the fish rush for the openings and become enmeshed in the net. The fishermen are on the seaward side of the net and pass to and fro, removing the fish as fast as caught. The fishing is carried on at night and the nets are of varying lengths and depths, according to locality.

Gill nets are also used at times along the beaches on the leeward side of the Islands, where the surf is not heavy, the same as seines. Two men take hold of one end of a long net and wade from the shore in a straight line for a considerable distance. The land end of the net is held by a man on the beach. After they have gone out a sufficient distance the two men make a big sweep to one side and then pull their end of the net to shore a short distance from the other man. The net is than carefully drawn in, like a hawl-seine, until it comes out on the beach, fish and all. These nets are usually 20 fathoms in length, 9 feet deep, with 2-inch mesh, and are fitted with leads and corks. Several of them are usually joined together. No boats are employed in this mode of fishing.

BASEBALL IN AUSTRALIA

On Sunday, August 5, 57 runs were scored in two baseball games at Aala Park. This was considered a probable record, but the Sydney Herald publishes an account of a game which knocks the local figures into a cocked hat. Appended is the clipping:

Paddington v. Leichhardt.—Played on the Leichhardt Oval, and won by the local team by an innings and 46 runs. Mr. J. Charlesworth umpired. Scores:

Leichhardt—1, 17, 7, 6, 1, 0, 9, 17—58.
Paddington—0, 3, 6, 0, 2, 0, 0, 1, 0—12.

Leichhardt: E. Jansen 7, W. J. T. Finneran 6, F. Meares 7, J. Dannatt 6, E. P. Woolcott 8, W. Jones 5, A. J. Stephens 6, Kelsey 7, G. Stephens 6—58.

Paddington: Rogers 1, H. Caswell 1, A. Sharpe 0, W. King 3, Jackson 1, S. Cohen 1, F. Bamford 2, M'Intyre 2, E. Fletcher 1—12.

"Won by an innings and 46 runs," is distinctly good. The cricket reporter was evidently detailed on the game and got in his deadly work.

WILL GOLF AT HALEIWA

Another of the interesting golf tournaments for the White Rock golf trophy will take place on Sunday next at Haleiwa. These tourneys always produce good sport and the coming one promises to be no exception.

The competitions for the cup take place alternately in Honolulu and at Waialua, the trophy going to the player who first wins a tournament on each of the three courses.

The tournaments at Waialua are always well entered for, the day out of town and the change of air forming strong inducements to play golf on the Haleiwa links.

The entry list for Sunday contains the names of the best exponents of the game in the Territory. Prince Kuhio has entered and it will be interesting to note if his play has benefited from the practice received on the Washington course.

The list of entries is as follows:

A. Mahaulu, D. W. Anderson, J. Kalanianaole, Austin White, P. J. Harwood, E. O. White, Q. H. Berrey, J. McInerny, W. Woon, F. Halstead, F. Smith, C. J. Hutchins, H. R. Grant, J. S. Orme, O. Mayall, St. C. Bidgood, W. H. Hoogs, Jr., Dr. C. B. High, R. H. P. Lishman, R. Anderson, F. W. Klebahn, Dan Campbell, H. Giffard, John Evans, C. T. Wilder.

CRABBING IS GOOD SPORT

Crab-fishing, at Kalihi and Moanalua, is receiving a good deal of attention these days from both haoles and natives and good catches have of late been the rule.

The crabber procures a barrel-hoop and covers it with inch-mesh netting. Line is tied at four places round the hoop, joining the main line. At the junction a piece of meat is fastened.

The net is thrown into the water and pulled up every minute or so. The crabs on losing their hold on the bait drop into the net from which they are easily taken out by hand and placed in a sack.

The time to fish for crabs is just when the tide is making. On the first of the flood the crabs come shoreward by the thousands over the mud flats, devouring greedily anything that comes in their path. Toward high-water time they won't take hold of the bait at all and on the ebb nothing is doing for the patient fisherman.

The crabs are very fat as a rule and as an article of diet are greatly prized by the natives and Orientals, who fish for them day after day. It is not an unusual thing to see a crabber operating from one to a dozen nets when the crustaceans are moving freely.

The native fisherman often wades out and fishes with a piece of meat tied to a string in one hand and a net with a handle in the other. The crab will cling to the bait until it reaches the surface and is then easily netted.

Half a sack of crabs is not an unusual bag for a good day.

FOR SELF PROTECTION

Labor Club Outlines Its Principles and Aims.

"We are not banded together to drive out the Japanese and Chinese," said President Matt. Heffernan in his opening speech at the Citizens' Labor Club last night, "but we are bound to protect ourselves and if it comes to a question of them driving us out or our driving them out, it will be the white men who will stay."

Thus did the president of the new club lay bare the underlying principle of the organization, and his remarks were enthusiastically received by the thirty odd members of the club gathered in their room in the Waverley block.

"We are gathered together as American citizens to protect ourselves and our rights as American citizens," continued Mr. Heffernan. "We have nothing against the Chinese and Japs as people, but they are not citizens. We believe that men put into public offices by the votes of the citizens should employ only citizens in all their private and public work. We are here to keep the Asiatics from running us out of our own country.

"A white man should employ a white man. We don't want to take the bread and butter away from the Asiatic, but we are not going to let him take our share. We are going to endorse those men for election that will only employ citizens in public and private."

There were a number of other burning addresses along the same lines, Dinny Fox, H. Gorman and Larry Dee taking an active part. Prominent among the laborers were Dick Sullivan, Jack McFadden and Spider Welch, it being suggested that Sullivan take up the collection, as being the one who could probably collect the most.

Larry Dee said that the club was just the proper thing. White men, among whom he included the Hawaiians and all other citizens, should stick together. Blood was thicker than water. He had been in business for years and had never seen the town so quiet as it was just now. It was getting so that a white man couldn't run a saloon any more because the yellow men had taken the business. Any citizen who refused to sign the club's roll was unworthy of the proud privilege of being an American citizen.

H. Gorman wanted to know where all the Hawaiians and Portuguese were. It was for them as well as the Americans that the club was formed.

The only Hawaiian present suggested that there had been no notice in the Hawaiian papers, and it was thereupon resolved to give notice of the next meeting in the native and Portuguese press.

R. Wagner wanted to call the attention of the club to the fact that E. P. Low, of Hilo, was a candidate there and was employing Japanese here. He thought that the Hilo voters ought to know.

It was resolved to wait until after the conventions and then pick out the candidates they wanted and endorse them. Someone in the back asked what party they were going to pick their candidates out of. He just wanted to know, but no attention was paid to the question.

The only avowed candidate present was Jim Quinn, who avowed repentance for having any Orientals in his employ. Whereupon the club volunteered to fill their places with citizens, an offer which Mr. Quinn professed his delight at, at the same time warning Larry Dee not to employ any more Japanese himself.

Another meeting of the club will be held next week.

KALAUPAPA PEOPLE BEHAVED NOBLY

Particulars of the burning of St. Francis church at Kalaupapa were received by the Board of Health from Superintendent J. D. McVeigh yesterday. Fire was discovered in the rear of the church at 5:40 p. m. Sunday. Within five minutes the whole building was in flames.

Mr. McVeigh, seeing no hope of saving the beautiful edifice, organized a bucket brigade to save the store, the visitors' house and other structures in danger. Several times the store, warehouse and visitors' house took fire, but through the heroic exertions of the people all were saved with only slight damage. The Superintendent pays a high tribute to the work of the people, men and women, saying it would be a credit to any fire department. He knows what he is talking about, too, having for years been one of the foremen in the old Honolulu volunteer fire department.

As a slight recognition of the people's services on this occasion, a luau with other rewards will be tendered to them.

An interesting case was up before Judge Whitney yesterday afternoon, which has more behind it than will probably be brought out at the trial, which was adjourned until Tuesday. The case is one against C. D. Pringle for using bad language, the alleged offense taking place on a Rapid Transit car at Pawaa junction. Pringle is an ex-employe of the company and there were a host of Rapid Transit men at the police station yesterday to give evidence and watch developments, including Manager Ballentyne and the company's attorney, D. L. Withington.

BLAZE UP THE VALLEY

Jap Lantana Burners Start Extensive Fire.

An extensive brush fire illuminated the sky last night, the conflagration being on the slopes of Waolani, a well-known hill up Nuuanu valley.

The fire was burning all the afternoon and by 7 p. m. had apparently attained serious dimensions. For some time during the evening a gang of men under Captain Sam Johnson fought the flames which were extinguished before midnight. A brisk breeze fanned the fire and augmented the firemen's labors.

The blaze was started by some Japanese who have been burning brush on the site of the new Country Club.

Waolani is covered with a dense growth of lantana and guava. The former is dead and dry from the effects of the blight and in it the fire finds ready fuel.

There is a magnificent tropical forest back of the burned-off hill, which extends clear to the Pali. Luckily the wind last night was blowing in an opposite direction a circumstance which probably saved this splendid growth of timber from destruction.

On Waolani is a house owned by the Bishop Estate and used as a vacation residence by the teachers of Kamehameha. This structure barely escaped being burned.

It appears that the clearers of the Country Club grounds started an experimental fire on Wednesday but it was found almost impossible to get the fire to go. No difficulty in this respect seems to have been experienced yesterday.

The fact that the fire did not spread further than it did is due to the sending of some Portuguese employed by the government nursery to the top of the hill, whose hard work prevented the flames from reaching the other side.

When darkness came the size of the fire prompted Mrs. Dr. W. Hoffmann and J. R. Galt to report the matter to someone in authority in town. Superintendent of Public Works Holloway was at Waipio and Head Forester Hosmer could not be found.

In despair Galt telephoned to Capt. Sam Johnson who said that the fire-quenching was a territorial matter. No territorial official being in touch, Johnson took the initiative and soon had a score men of Co. F, of the National Guard, in readiness to go to the scene of the blaze.

These men made the ascent of Puunui, armed with bill-hooks and some of them carrying lanterns. It was a long, hard climb in the dark to the top of the ridge but it was quickly accomplished. A rough trail led thence to Waolani.

Surveyor C. V. E. Dove who has been laying out the Country Club grounds, said last night that there was no danger of the fire spreading to any alarming degree. Trails here and there would have checked its progress.

"The Portuguese have stamped out the fire in the gap just where we wanted it burn," said Dove.

"It would be a mighty good thing for the public to know just where to find a territorial official in a case like this," said J. R. Galt, last night. "It seemed to be impossible to get hold of a single person in authority when the fire was blazing merrily away."

LIP-READING IN COURT

Dreier-Holt Mortgage--Divorce Suit for Cruelty.

Judge Robinson was engaged all yesterday in the further hearing of the foreclosure suit of August Dreier vs. John D. Holt. E. C. Peters, W. L. Stanley, D. L. Withington and E. M. Watson, the attorneys engaged, found difficulty at 4 p. m. in agreeing on a time for resuming. They all had important engagements at different times. At length 9 a. m. today was fixed.

An interesting feature of the hearing was the lip-reading of Henry Smith, chief clerk of the Judiciary, while on the stand testifying of facts to him familiar from having been for some time the trustee of the R. W. Holt estate. Mr. Smith is very hard of hearing, but it was remarkable how he caught questions from the lip motions of Mr. Peters, who repeated the interrogations of the other attorneys, besides putting his own, to the witness. Mr. Smith is his father-in-law. Mr. Peters would speak in an ordinary tone but with great precision of mouth action and seldom failed to have his words caught on first intention. One of the exceptions was when Mr. Smith mistook "date" for "debt," but he was soon put right.

FOR EXTREME CRUELTY.

Attorney S. F. Chillingworth has filed a divorce suit for Sarah Alapai against John Alapai. The cause alleged is extreme cruelty. Mrs. Alapai in her complaint says she was married to Libelee in 1896 and that six children were born to them, of whom there survive two of fourteen and a half and two years of age respectively. They went to live at Puunui, where she had bought land with her own money, and he treated her with great brutality so that she was compelled to leave their home and live apart from him.

COURT NOTES.

F. Klamp and W. Pfotenhauer, executors of the will of Johanna Wicke, have filed their final account balancing at $677.90. An inventory shows the value of the estate to be $10,400, of which $10,000 represents a house and lot on Alakea street.

Respondents in the suit of August Humburg vs. John C. Searle and others are granted five days from August 16 in which to answer.

Order for publication of summons has been made in the divorce case of Ida B. Allasen vs. Edward O. Allasen by Judge Robinson.

With the man they captured two stills, one of which was about as big as any ever seized in these islands, also some liquor. # SHERIFFS BUTT HEADS

Conflict of Jurisdiction Under Attachment Statute.

F. Iwata's store is under attachment in four different suits against the proprietor for debt. In serving the attachments there has been a conflict of jurisdiction between the high sheriff and the county sheriff. Perhaps it may also prove, if there be money to make a test, that there has been a conflict between the county sheriff and the statute of attachments.

So far as priority of attachment goes, though, the county sheriff has the advantage. Yet this may not matter, for it is said that there are goods in the store of value greater than the combined attachment debt.

In the meantime Iwata himself is supposed to have skipped to the mainland and taken between $2000 and $3000 cash with him. There were $5 in the safe and $7 in the cash register when the first creditor to pounce upon the assets effected an entry. Iwata's account in a local bank is "bust," however, as a check thereon has been dishonored.

Iwata used to run the Kibi Shoten on Hotel street near the river. Last February he opened a candy store, with bakery and restaurant, in the premises formerly occupied by S. Ozaki. Lately E. M. Watson, on behalf of H. May & Co., brought a suit against him for goods sold and delivered. An attachment before judgment was issued.

An hour after this attachment was served on Iwata the same policeman as did the first—Charlie Clark—served two other attachments on him in suits brought by S. Ozaki, for whom Thayer & Hemenway are the attorneys, on account respectively of rent and fixtures.

Clark is an officer under County Sheriff Brown and, having served the three attachments as stated, he locked up the establishment and turned the keys over to Brown. The cases came to trial last Monday, when judgments amounting to a little over $300 against Iwata were rendered.

Next came the clash of jurisdictions. Wednesday morning another attachment was brought against Iwata on behalf of Sugamoto, the defendant's cook, for wages amounting to $170. J. D. Avery, a district court practitioner and a clerk in H. E. Highton's law office, is the attorney in this case.

When Avery drew up the papers he found that the new attachment law, passed in 1905 and approved ten days after the County Act, says that "the sheriff" shall make attachments and that for the purposes of the act the term "sheriff" shall mean "the high sheriff or his deputy" and, in cases of attachment from the district court, "any police officer." It does not appear, on the face of the statute, as if the county sheriff has anything to do with it.

Therefore Avery concluded that it was safer to have the high sheriff serve Sugamoto's attachment. When High Sheriff Henry proceeded to do so he found the place locked up, with the keys in the hands of the county sheriff. He saw County Sheriff Brown about the matter, who readily handed over the keys to him to enable him to serve the process.

Forthwith, however, Brown would appear to have repented of his magnanimity, for he straightway sent officer Van Giesen to Iwata's place to demand the keys back from Henry. The high sheriff told Van that when he had taken an inventory he would surrender possession of the premises to the county sheriff. Van Giesen duly reported this message to his chief, who immediately dispatched two policemen to the scene with orders to put the high sheriff out and use force if necessary.

When the brace of Brown's officers arrived Henry had departed, but Deputy High Sheriff Sea was found taking the inventory. Sea was as game as his chief, declining to leave until his duty was completed. He finished the inventory and then left the store in charge of the two county policemen.

Now a guard of two officers is maintained on the premises, a precaution that the county sheriff did not take in the first instance. So the matter stands. Whether its outcome will be a settlement of the intent of the law of attachments, relative to sheriffs, remains to be seen.

has greatly increased our capacity to handle a growing real estate business with the same promptness and care that made us friends when our business was smaller—and still we don't have to leave any part of it to inexperienced help. A mainland correspondent with large interests in Honolulu writes: "I am happy to say "that I am getting better "returns from my property since "I placed it in your hands than "at any other time after I left "the Islands three years ago." We can take a few more agencies and give the same kind of service.

SEEKING MORE HEIAU DATA

Mr. T. G. Thrum hopes to set out on another heiau search on this island the early part of next week, leaving perhaps on Tuesday for Waianae, to locate and investigate the principal ancient temples of that district, and gather such data relative thereto as may be obtainable at this late date, then pass on beyond Waimea to revisit for further examination the famous heiau of Oahu, "Puu o Mahuka," situate on the Pupukea tract overlooking the Waimea valley, probably the largest still in existence on all the islands.

At the week's end he will join Mrs. Thrum at Haleiwa, where, during a few days sojourn, another effort will be made to complete the list of Waialua's oldtime temples, some names of which are yet lacking.

Mrs. Popham is still a resident of Mexico, but at the time of the Herald notice was visiting a younger son in New York. Everybody here knows Captain Parker, master of the steamer Claudine, if he is the man.

MARINE

All fears for the big oil steamship Lansing, which had been out from Monterey for this port since the 5th inst., were allayed last night, when she was reported shortly after 8 o'clock. She did not enter the harbor but lay outside, and will dock this morning.

The arrival of this vessel has been looked forward to as she is the largest oil carrier on the Pacific and is making her maiden voyage in these waters, having only recently been brought around the Horn and fitted up for this trade. Her captain is Captain Herriman, well known in Honolulu.

The oil ship Marion Chilcott, which finished discharging her oil and distillate cargo yesterday, was to have been held here for the arrival of the Lansing, but may now sail today.

LONG PASSAGES.

The two big sailing vessels from Manila, the Arthur Sewall and the Wm. P. Frye, are making exceptionally long passages, having been each out over sixty days. As this is not the season for calms along the route they would naturally take the other explanation for the delay in reaching here is that they may have been caught in a typhoon and partially dismasted.

Both are strong ships, officered by those who know the Pacific through long experience, and as they are practically together most of the shipping experts incline to the belief that head winds and calms are the reasons for the delay. Each of the vessels carries a thousand tons of coal for the navy yard here and will load with sugar after discharging.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The steamer Iwalani returned empty from Waimea yesterday morning. Purser Spalding reports the following sugar on Kauai: K. S. M., 3850; (W.), 23000; M. A. K., 3950; G. R., 450; K. P., 4800; H. M., 20,336; L. P., 2759, and Kealia, 5779.

The second large shipment of the product of the Dole pineapple cannery will be made next week, the trains on the Wahiawa branch bringing in many cases of the fruit on each trip. The initial large shipment from the cannery went forward on the last American-Hawaiian steamship.
