SUGAR MEN ELECT H. P. BALDWIN PRESIDENT

Hawaiian Planters
After a Successful Year
In Annual Session

PRESIDENT SWANZY DELIVERS ADDRESS

President F. M. Swanzy was in the chair when the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association opened its twenty-fifth annual meeting at 10 o'clock this morning in the Planters' rooms in the Judd building. Some half hundred sugar promoters and plantation managers were present. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Assistant Secretary R. D. Meade and were approved.

President Swanzy addressed the gathering, in part, as follows:

A Successful Year.

"We are met together again after a year which has been quite a successful one from a financial point of view, and the season has dealt kindly with our plantations on the whole, resulting in the production of over 426,000 tons of sugar, which, though not the largest crop ever produced on these islands, is close to it. The ravages of the leaf-hopper are responsible for a smaller yield than we had hoped for during the planting of the crop just harvested, and cane diseases of one kind or another have left their mark on the output which would, but for these drawbacks, have exceeded that of previous years.

Parasites' Good Work.

"It is, however, satisfactory to note the wonderful effect which is being wrought on the leaf-hopper by the parasites discovered and collected in Australia and Fiji by those accomplished entomologists, Messrs. Koebele and Perkins, and there would appear to be good reason to hope that, though we may never be altogether rid of the leaf-hopper, its depredations will at all events be so materially lessened that they will no longer make serious inroads on our crops.

Pathological Division.

"You were told last year of the intention to establish a Pathological Division of our Experiment Station, necessitated by the development of disease in our cane. I have the pleasure to inform you that this division has now been fully organized and equipped.

"The Agricultural Division, under the able direction of Mr. Eckart, has been doing great things in several directions, notably in the raising of new seedling varieties of cane, many of which will doubtless prove of great value in the future.

"I must not neglect an expression of appreciation of the valuable aid which has been rendered to this association by the chairman of the experiment station committee, Mr. W. M. Giffard. This gentleman has always taken a deep interest in the station, especially in recent years, and the thanks of this Association are due to him for the great amount of time and attention he has so unselfishly devoted to its successful establishment and development.

Price of Sugar.

"At the opening of our meeting of a year ago I had the pleasure to announce to you the telegraphic quotation of 4.65 cents for centrifugals in New York. I wish I could convey like glad tidings to you on this occasion, but the change which has come over the sugar market in the course of twelve months is so great that I do not care to even mention today's price. We must of course expect such 'ups and downs,' but with a world's crop estimated at 11,500,000 tons, it looks more like 'downs' than 'ups' for quite a time yet. It is with the purpose of helping our industry to face with equanimity these painful drops in value that this Association is directing its efforts to killing off destructive insects, hindering the spread of disease, creating new varieties of cane, seeking for improvements in methods of cultivation and manufacture, and generally assisting in the production of good yields of sound, rich cane and the economical transformation of its juice into bagged sugar.

"This Association has also in its care many other matters of the first importance, some of which though not directly connected with the raising of cane or manufacture of sugar, are none the less essential not only to the sugar industry but to the general welfare of these islands. It goes, then, without saying that the unflinching cooperation of all the members of this Association with its board of trustees is essential to the success of the Association's efforts, and in soliciting a continuance of that cooperation so heartily given in the past I do so with the firm conviction that no possible aid or support will at any time be withheld when it is sought.

BALDWIN ELECTED TO BE PLANTERS' PRESIDENT

Shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon the planters, in annual session, resumed their sittings, the trustees having, at 1:30, held an executive session.

President Swanzy asked the secretary to announce the result of the executive session of trustees.

R. D. Mead stated that the following had been elected officers:

H. P. Baldwin, president.

Geo. H. Robertson, vice president.

W. O. Smith, secretary and treasurer.

E. F. Bishop, auditor.

Retiring President Swanzy, declaring that Mr. Baldwin was the best man for the presidency, resigned the chair to that gentleman.

F. A. Schaefer moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Swanzy for his able and energetic work during the year, as president. This was unanimously carried.

Mr. Swanzy said, modestly, that he was not aware that he had done any better than any of his predecessors.

In taking the chair Mr. Baldwin said that, according to his legislative experiences, the man who talked the most was put in the chair, to keep him quiet.

A resolution, expressing the sympathy of the Association for the widow and family and business connections of the late H. A. Isenberg, was adopted.

President Baldwin then drew attention to the report and year book of the Experiment Station committee of the H. S. P. Ass'n. for the year ending September 30, 1905, copies of which exhaustive work were on hand for distribution, comprehensively illustrated and well gotten up, reflecting great credit on the Experiment Station staff.

Reports of committees were then proceeded with, machinery receiving first attention.

Sixty Day Lapse Law
Decides De Bolt
Is Unconstitutional

IMPORTANT DECISION MAY RELIEVE CALENDAR

Judge De Bolt this morning rendered an important decision, holding that the new act drawn by the legislature of 1905 to the effect that no jury trial in any civil action shall be commenced after the first sixty days of a term have elapsed without the consent of both parties, was unconstitutional.

The question was brought up in the case of Pratt vs. Hee Chan, a suit for taxes. Deputy Attorney General Prosser represented the plaintiff and C. W. Ashford the defendant. Ashford declined to have the case go to trial, as he has done in all the cases of the kind in which he is interested, basing his refusal on the new law. Prosser, on the other hand, held that this act was unconstitutional on the grounds that the subject of the act was not expressed in the title as is provided in the Organic Act. Judge De Bolt upheld him in this view and ordered that the trial of the case be proceeded with. No defense was offered and judgment was accordingly rendered against the defendant for the amount involved, $529. The defense will appeal the case to the Supreme Court, which will thus decide on the legality of the act.

Judge De Bolt explained his decision as follows:

"This law, Act 37 of the session Laws of 1905, purports to amend section 1646 of the Revised Laws. However, if we read it we see that it is simply a copy of this law, merely adding the following: 'And further provided that no jury trial, in any civil action, shall be commenced at any term of said Circuit Court for the First Circuit after sixty days of such term have elapsed, unless by the consent of all parties to such action, in the form of a written stipulation, duly filed, or of an oral stipulation, made in open court, and duly entered upon the number. Notwithstanding, etc.'"

"I held that this statute as far as this action was concerned was unconstitutional on the grounds that section 45 of the Organic Act provides that each law shall embrace but one subject, which shall be embraced in the title. You see the title reads as follows: 'To amend section 1646 of the Revised Laws of Hawaii relating to terms of Circuit Courts.' This says of trials or jury trials or lapses of sixty days."

Judge De Bolt's decision will tend towards relieving, to some extent at least, the deplorable condition of the civil calendar. Owing to the term lapse question the Circuit Court could not start trying cases before late in the term and as soon as the sixty days had elapsed some attorneys refused to go on with their cases, while their opponents and the court, who wanted to go ahead with them, were rendered powerless to do so as long as the statute referred to above was effective.

"The following resolution was read by Dr. C. B. Wood at the meeting of the Hawaiian Territorial Medical Society this afternoon and will be acted upon favorably:

Whereas, the government has now under construction in Nuuanu valley, above Luakaha, a large reservoir, to be used when completed for the storage of surface water which is designated, in the form of a written stipulation, duly filed, or of an oral stipulation, made in open court, and duly entered upon the number. Notwithstanding, etc.'"

GOVERNOR RETURNS
FROM VISIT TO LANAI

Governor Carter returned at 6 o'clock this morning from his first visit to Lanai. The Iroquois, Captain Niblack, left there last night, bringing the executive officer home today.

Owing to the shortage of water recently many sheep, horses and cattle have died. The lack of rainfall caused much loss to Charles Gay of Lanai and in addition to there not being any water for the animals to drink it hindered the growth of the feed supply on the range.

The Governor left here Friday. He visited many parts of the island, riding horseback about the place. Governor Carter was the guest of Mr. Gay.

TO BE HANCON VIII.

Christiania, Nov. 18. — Prince Charles of Denmark, sovereign-elect of Norway, has notified the Storting that he will assume the title of Hancan VIII. The coronation will occur in July.

The first King Hancan, who came to the throne after the death of Harold in 933 A. D. restored the popular rights which had been taken away by his father, Earl Hancan, King Harold's old lieutenant. The people flocked to him from all sides. Hancan's reign was successful. The landowners were freed from the burdens and vassalage of Harold's days, although some of the least oppressive taxes appear to have been continued. In one respect Hancan was not in accord with his subjects. He tried to introduce Christianity and in this attempt failed. On the whole, Norway enjoyed under Hancan, internal peace.

Filtered City Water And Other Live Matters Urged By Physicians HAWAIIAN DOCTORS' ANNUAL MEETING

Filtration of the Honolulu water supply is immediately necessary, a millionaire is needed to come forward with an endowment for the Leahi Hospital and wet-nursing, under conditions existing in this Territory, should not be tolerated.

Hawaiian physicians, in convention assembled, are of the opinion above expressed.

The fourteenth annual meeting of the Hawaiian Medical Society opened at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the makai ball room of the Alexander Young building roof garden, and the doctors suggested many things for the benefit of the community. In addition to urging the filtration of the city water, financial assistance for the Leahi Hospital and mother's, or condensed milk as next best, for babies, it was suggested that the assistance of the Bar Association be secured in working for legislation to eliminate the rough spots from this enlightened country's present method of handling persons suspected of being insane and to open the eyes of justice in cases where those guilty of horrid crimes play or plead insanity to keep from swinging on the gallows.

Lunacy Commission.
Dr. Francis R. Day declared that the handling of the insane should not be left to the police. There should be a Commission of Lunacy.

During the meeting a member of the Society informed President J. T. McDonald that Dr. Peterson, Superintendent of the Insane Asylum, had prepared a paper which he was willing to present. Dr. Peterson said it was nothing extraordinary. He had chosen for his subject one of the first cases to come under his observation as superintendent of the asylum.

He told of a crazy truck driver who believed himself to be General Washington, and how his home was visited, how the patient was arrested and what hardships he had to endure because of his insanity.

Treatment of Insane.
It was then that Dr. Day arose to denounce the present treatment of the insane, their arrest, public vehicle transportation, imprisonment and trial, all of which but aggravated the ailment. Such conditions put one in mind of ancient days when persons insane were presumed to be possessed of demons and were accordingly treated in an inhuman manner.

With Dr. Day's sentiments Dr. C. B. Cooper thoroughly agreed. He was acquainted with the case of which Dr. Peterson had spoken. He had nothing to say in the way of criticizing the police for the manner in which they handled the insane, but he wished to condemn the accommodations given the sick of mind.

Dr. Cooper said the insane were given but the same consideration as drunken folks, were placed in the same kind of a cell and given a prison mattress, and this before it was discovered whether or not they were to be sent to the asylum.

Drs. Day and Cooper, in their remarks regarding the insane, were heartily endorsed by Dr. C. B. Wood, who went further and suggested including in the work for legislation the cases of criminals who pleaded insanity merely to escape the just consequences of their crimes.

Poor Court System.

Dr. Wood described the present system in the courts of determining whether or not a man was insane. It was, of course, a serious thing to take a man's life or his liberty, but the present method was a farce. An act done by a man who is sane may be a crime, while the same act committed by another man who is insane is not a crime. It rests with the jury; the accused is placed under arrest and put into prison like a criminal, whether he be a criminal or an insane person.

He is then taken before the court, where expert witnesses are called, supposedly to testify whether the man is sane or insane. But these experts are given no opportunity to examine the man as to mental condition; they are given no opportunity of ascertaining whether or not the man is sane. These experts are not even allowed to examine the witnesses upon whose testimony the great hypothetical question is based. The hypothetical question is constructed by a man of law and not a man of medicine and experts are called to answer this so-called hypothetical question about a man of straw that perhaps never existed. Then the jury must decide.

Ask Lawyers to Help.

Dr. J. T. McDonald, president of the Society, opened the convention with an entertaining talk on beneficent bacteria, speaking in part as follows:

Beneficent Bacteria.

"It is a serious thing to blast the good name of a family, or to unjustly malign a character, but as a profession we stand arraigned today for that very crime. For the past twenty years we have been persistent in ferreting out the cause of disease, in hunting down the criminals and the mischief-makers in the microscopical world and when found, in speaking and writing evil things about them. All of this has attracted the attention of the intelligent and reading laity, so that it has come to pass the very name of bacteria, germs, microbes, microorganisms or whatnot has become the very synonym of danger, disease and death.

"People boil their drinking water and drive the air out of it, rendering it insipid; they boil their milk and impair its digestibility all for the sake of killing the germs; they have had the wicked bacteria and their devil's work dinned into their ears so incessantly by us physicians, that many sensitive people live in a constant dread.

Nature's Scavengers.

"The subject of the beneficent bacteria is so vast, in so many ways do bacteria contribute to our well being, that one scarcely knows where to particularize, but attention may first be called to their work as nature's scavengers. It is to be remembered that no other form of organic life on earth, either vegetable or animal, is so prevalent or universally distributed the world over as are bacteria. We find them everywhere, the dust of the street is laden with them, they are in the soil and in the air, all bodies of water, the ocean, rivers, ponds, lakes and reservoirs contain them although ordinarily in an almost dormant condition. Their enormous capacity for rapid growth and multiplication is held in check through want of one or more of the very essential conditions of their well being, among which may be mentioned, food, moisture, a proper temperature, etc. Although regarded as belonging to the vegetable kingdom, while plants gather their own food, so to speak, from soil and air, and animals derive theirs primarily from plant life, bacteria differ from plants on the one hand and animals on the other, in that they must have their food ready made, or, in other words, they must derive it from the higher and more complex compounds of animal and vegetable formation. The instant life is extinct in an animal or a plant the bacteria stand ready to seize upon it as their legitimate prey. Here then, universally distributed in nature is a gigantic power dormant but potential, awaiting only an environment of the favorable conditions of food, moisture and temperature to awaken it into the liveliest activity."

Tropical Medicine School.

Dr. E. S. Goodhue was to have read a paper, favoring a school of tropical medicine in this city, on the plan of such institutions in London and some other big cities. Dr. Goodhue was not present and Dr. Cooper read a portion of the paper. Dr. Goodhue declares that many tropical and important diseases, of little or no interest to the United States before the war with Spain, have become intimately associated with the nation. Exceptional opportunities were offered in this Territory, with its large representation of races, Doctors Sinclair, Cofer and Goodhue were appointed a committee to consider the proposition and report at the next annual gathering.

Filtration Saves Life.

"Instances of the life-saving efficiency of filtration can be multiplied indefinitely, but those already cited prove the point I wish to make, namely, that wherever filters have been installed the deaths from enteric diseases have been reduced enormously.

"Let us glance, now, at the typhoid conditions in Honolulu.

"I have gone over the Board of Health records for the past nine years, from January, 1896, to December, 1904, and for comparison's sake have tabulated, averaged and charted the findings to correspond with those from other cities.

Dr. W. E. Taylor delivered a most valuable and technical address on diseases of the windpipe or trachea.

An evening session was held at 8 o'clock. Numerous ladies were included in the crowd which attended.

The paper of the day, in point of general importance and immediate interest, was that read by Dr. Day, and drew attention to the great importance of filtering water, as a prevention against fevers. Dr. Day's paper was in part as follows:

Demand Pure Water.

"Every citizen should demand as more important than any other measure for the preservation of health, a pure water supply, one about which there can be no possible suspicion.

"The press can do no greater service than to urge the necessity of filtration in season and out of season until it is accomplished.

"The filtration of water has long since passed the experimental stage. It is one of the fundamental facts of sanitary science.

"Every city that has adopted it has had the satisfaction of reducing typhoid fever and other enteric diseases to a negligible quantity.

Berlin's experience.

For instance, Berlin from 1843 to 1853 before using filtered water, averaged about one death annually to every one thousand inhabitants; from 1851 to 1891, after using filtered water, this average was reduced to one death to every twenty thousand; which is to say that about 950 lives are saved annually!

"Hamburg, from 1857 to 1893, averaged one death annually to every six thousand five hundred of the inhabitants. From 1894 to 1900, since using filtered water, the average has been one death to twenty-three thousand, a reduction of 72 per cent!

"Hamburg's experience during the cholera epidemic of 1892 was most instructive.

"The cities of Hamburg and Altona are practically one, being separated by imaginary boundaries that a stranger could not locate. In 1892 Asiatic cholera broke out in Hamburg with exceeding severity, the reported cases having been 17,929, with a death list of 8905. The disease marched up to the invisible boundary and there stopped, confining itself almost exclusively to Hamburg. In one street which for a long way forms the boundary, there was cholera on the Hamburg side, whereas the Altona side was practically exempt.

Detectable Difference.

"There was one detectable difference, and only one, between the conditions obtaining in these adjacent cities — they had different water services. Hamburg took raw water from the polluted River Elbe; Altona used the same river water, still more polluted by the Hamburg sewage, but carefully purified it by sand filtration.

"Even more instructive is Philadelphia's experience with typhoid fever this year, where only a portion of the city is supplied with filtered water.

"The number of cases of typhoid fever in the whole city, with a population of 1,491,247, from January 1 to April 28, 1905, was 2489. In West Philadelphia, with a population of 41,424, using filtered water, the number of cases during the same period was 6, or as 1 to 11.

"But why multiply instances? Medical literature is full of them.

Filtration Saves Life.

"Instances of the life-saving efficiency of filtration can be multiplied indefinitely, but those already cited prove the point I wish to make, namely, that wherever filters have been installed the deaths from enteric diseases have been reduced enormously.

"Let us glance, now, at the typhoid conditions in Honolulu.

"I have gone over the Board of Health records for the past nine years, from January, 1896, to December, 1904, and for comparison's sake have tabulated, averaged and charted the findings to correspond with those from other cities.

THE POWER OF SUGAR

Sometimes outsiders who look on at the brief sessions of the sugar planters of Hawaii wonder if these gentlemen stop to think of the tremendous power they exert on the future as well as the present progress of Hawaii.

World markets have a great influence on the prosperity of the islands, but of far more importance is the ability of these plantation men to meet conditions as they arise from year to year. If sugar prices are low, Hawaii's success depends on the capacity of the managers to combine practice and theory, and apply science with such good effect that the islands shall find the burden less difficult to bear. If prices are high, it is anticipated that the managers will apply their science and common sense with equal determination in order that a full measure of the profits shall be obtained for all concerned.

The dollars and cents of the proposition is what attracts first attention. It is what retains a manager in his position or makes an opening for a successor. It is uppermost in the minds of the majority. But it is not all.

Sugar planters of Hawaii are day by day determining the character of the population of the islands. They are shaping the future of Hawaii, politically and morally. The standard of future citizenship rests largely with them. It is inevitable, because the labor of any country developing under natural conditions furnishes the basis for the controlling citizenship of future days. The predominating industry shapes the destiny of the community, though secondary interests may from time to time rise up to act as an alleged heaven to revolutionize the whole loaf. It may be a sin to discourage the small leaveners, but unless the predominant influence takes an active part in whatever changes are sought to be brought about, the revolutionary movements of the smaller factors are more or less speedily swamped.

Taken as a whole these men of Hawaii who have so much depending upon them have done very well. They are the greatest sugar cane raisers of the world. Cuba or any other section may have a more productive soil, or more friendly climate, but its producers have not succeeded in getting so much sugar to the acre or equaling the percentage of extraction after the cane is harvested. If any instance can be cited to prove this statement not absolutely correct, it will be found that such outsiders have got their inspiration from Hawaii.

Since the mechanical and the scientific side of their duties has been so well cared for by these leaders of industry it is not probable they will be less successful in practicing civic duties. It is easier no doubt to deal with the labor problem by figuring men as so much material. This can be done successfully for a time, but in the long run the majority power of the men employed in any great industry exercises a controlling power for good or evil in the community and finally upon and within the industry itself. Unfortunately it is impossible to strew chemicals among laborers and make them bring forth more abundantly of toil. Dealing with the laborers is a far bigger problem than soil or the machinery. The full result of today's act may not be realized until the end of a generation. Then it is too late to correct if correction be desirable.

When the leaders of the sugar industry discuss mechanical and scientific topics they are dealing with problems of today. When they discuss labor, they are determining the civic influence that will be in full swing a few years hence, influences that will come back to aid or distress, build up or destroy. One thing is certain—the crop raised is usually determined by the seed sown.

The sugar men of Hawaii have it just as completely in their hands to forecast the future electorate of the Territory as they have to establish the character of the cane they will harvest next year. They may make errors in their estimates of what is best. The people, however, know that they are always at work with infinite pains on all phases of the issues they must decide for the future of Hawaii. It is also known that selfish interest demands the best if philanthropy should not inspire.

HAWAIIAN PLANTERS

Death of Mr. Isenberg.

"By the untimely and, in all its circumstances, particularly sad death of Mr. H. Alexander Isenberg, this Association has sustained a grievous loss. In the deliberations of your Board of Trustees, and in the general meetings of the Association of which he was but recently the President, expressions of his opinion were listened to with invariable attention, and his great interest in the Association's work was intelligent and continuous. The Board of Trustees has, I am sure, voiced the sentiments of the entire Hawaiian Planters' Association in its resolutions of sympathy with the family and relatives of Mr. Isenberg and the house of H. Hackfeld & Co., Ltd., but it is none the less appropriate that on this occasion and in this company of Association members further reference should be made to an event which has deprived this community of one who was so generally popular and so highly regarded, and whose absence from among us we sincerely deplore."

Secretary's Report.

R. D. Mende, upon the call of the chair, then read the report of the Secretary of the Association, in part, as follows:

Labor matters have been and are among the most important subjects for consideration by the Association. In the month of May, 1905, the islands were visited by Dr. C. P. Neill, United States Commissioner of Labor; Victor H. Clarke, his assistant, and F. B. Sargent, Commissioner General of Immigration; Hon. W. P. Hepburn, member of Congress from Iowa, paid the Islands an extended visit and the celebrated Taft party was also here for one day. The trustees had the pleasure of meeting and discussing labor matters with Messrs. Neill, Clarke and Sargent, and with Colonel Hepburn.

White Labor Campaign.

All these gentlemen without exception urged upon us the great desirability and advisability of endeavoring to obtain white labor for the plantations; they suggested that an agent of the recently organized Board of Immigration be sent to New York and also to European countries to investigate, and, if possible, to obtain laborers from there.

The Board of Immigration also had meetings with Mr. Sargent, and, following his suggestions, addressed a letter to the "Planters' Association" requesting detailed information as to the number of white laborers that could be employed upon plantations, and the inducements that the plantations were prepared to offer to such laborers.

The matter was taken up by a special committee of the Board of Trustees and a circular letter sent to each plantation company, setting forth the condition of labor affairs and requesting replies to questions therein submitted.

Investigating Labor.

A number of the plantations made favorable replies and the Board of Immigration was informed that a total of 350 families of white agricultural laborers could find immediate employment.

This matter is being vigorously pressed by the Board of Immigration, its superintendent now being in the East investigating the matter of obtaining laborers.

The Experiment Station has submitted a statement showing the yields of the various islands for the crops of 1904 and 1905, also yields of the irrigated and unirrigated plantations, which are as follows:

YIELDS BY ISLANDS.
Oahu—	Year.	Yield per Acre Lbs.

	1905	13,107

TOTAL YIELDS.

Year.	Yield per Acre Lbs.
1904	8,965
1905	8,955
IRRIGATED PLANTATIONS.
1904	11,142
1905	12,156
UNIRRIGATED PLANTATIONS.
1904	5,202
1905	5,625

The total tonnage shown in this statement is a little at variance with the figures printed in the crop return, but this variance is accounted for by the fact that the plantations, in reporting their tonnage to the experiment station, return the total amount produced for the crop, while in reporting to the secretary of the Association they return the amount produced for the year ending September 30, 1905.

The total out-turn was considerably in excess of what was originally expected, due very largely to the exceedingly favorable season preceding and during the harvesting of the crop. Obtained Good Prices.

It was very fortunate indeed that the harvesting was enabled to proceed rapidly as the planters were thereby enabled to ship sugar early in the season, and obtained the very good prices then prevailing.

The crop of 1905-1906 is estimated at about 385,000 tons.

The plan adopted at the meeting of two years ago of having the reports printed before the meeting, has been carried out so far as possible this year but some of the committees have failed to hand in a report at all. It would seem that matters relating to fortification, cultivation and irrigation are handled throughout the year by the Experiment Station and there is very little left for committees to report upon.

The Experiment Station has been enlarged very considerably during the past year, and the scope of the work increased materially; the report from the committee this year will be of great interest.

Great credit is due to the staff at the station for the work which they have done, and also to the Experiment Station committee and especially to its chairman for the manner in which the work has been systematized and carried on.

In March of 1905, Mr. H. A. Isenberg, on account of his contemplated absence, resigned as a member of the Board of Trustees, and Mr. W. Protenhauer was elected in his place.

Estimating Yields.

H. P. Baldwin thought that in estimating yields per acre, there should be uniformity in the method of deduction of portions of land not actually in cane. Some rule should be adopted in this connection; either all waste portions, roads, ditches, etc., should be cut out of estimates of yield per acre by all plantations, or certain agreed portions should be included.

The trustees of the Association were re-elected, with the exception that W. Protenhauer takes the place of H. A. Isenberg, deceased.

President Swanzy announced that the rest of the day would be taken up with the reading of committee reports.

Survey Starts On Extension

The first actual work to be done on the Waikawa extension of the Oahu Railway & Land Company was started today. A corps of civil engineers and Japanese workmen left Honolulu this morning for Waipahu and shortly after their arrival began operations. Their camp will be at Waipahu.

The surveyors are under the supervision of C. H. Kluegel, who will make a survey of the ten miles of country to be covered by this new railroad. The Japanese will be put to work clearing underbrush from the right of way as soon as the surveyors have staked out. The gang of workmen will be gradually enlarged as the work progresses.

From now until July things will be lively between Waipahu and Waikawa, although as yet contracts for the grading and other jobs have not been let. This, however, will be accomplished as soon as the surveyors have finished their estimates and arranged figures for the contracting parties to go by.

An understanding between the railroad company and the pineapple plantation owners is to the effect that the branch road will be under operation by July 1st, a little more than seven months from the present time. To fail all this agreement—and railroads usually do—will keep the surveyors hustling from now on. After the contractors get to work at the grading followed by the laying of the rails, everything will be hastened as much as possible.

Some rough country will be passed through probably by this additional mileage to the railroad. However, the engineers anticipate no trouble, and they figure that the branch will be completed within the allotted time.

KAUAI TERM TIED UP BY JURY LAW QUESTION

Judge Kepoikal of the Maui Circuit Court returned yesterday from Kauai, where he heard the case of McBryde vs. Gay & Robinson, an action to quiet title, involving 67 acres of land and important water rights, in which Judge Hardy was disqualified. Judge Kepoikal brings the news that the present term of the Kauai Circuit Court, which began Nov. 8, was adjourned sine die last Friday. The trouble which caused the adjournment was that the question was raised regarding the legality of the drawing of the juries. The juries, trial and grand both, were drawn under the new 1905 law instead of under the old law.

The question was originally raised before Judge Hardy by Judge Perry, who challenged the array of both the grand and the petit juries on the grounds that the jury law of 1905, according to the recently rendered decision by the Supreme Court in the matter, was not effective until the end of this year, and that the juries of the present term should be drawn under the old law. At that time Judge Hardy overruled Perry's objections, holding that the decision did not apply to his term. It seems now that Judge Hardy has changed his mind. At least this question has caused his court to be adjourned sine die, and the work of his term will be tied up until the Supreme Court renders a decision in the matter in a criminal case involving this question, which has been appealed to it.

no probability that the request will be

LENA'S OFFICERS WEAR AMERICAN CLOTHES

Officers of the Russian cruiser Lena now in port have become Americanized during their stay of more than a year in San Francisco. A number of them were about town yesterday and every one wore American clothes cut in the latest fashion.

Many of the sailors spent the day on shore yesterday taking in the sights in all parts of town. They wore their white uniforms and generally went in groups of from two, three to a dozen. They attended the band concert in the afternoon at Maake Island, took car rides and seemed to enjoy themselves in great shape.

Some of the officers had kodaks and went around town taking pictures of the capital building and numerous other structures and places of interest. Music seemed to be particularly attractive to the officers and to the men of the crew as well. When passing a house where a piano was going on or in fact any kind of music it would draw their thoughts and in many instances they stopped in numbers and listened to the refrains.

Backache, "The Blues"

Both Symptoms of Organic Derangement in Women—Thousands of Sufferers Find Relief.

How often do we hear women say: "It seems as though my back would break," or "Don't speak to me, I am all out of sorts?" These significant remarks prove that the system requires attention.

Backache and "the blues" are direct symptoms of an inward trouble which will sooner or later declare itself. It may be caused by diseased kidneys or some uterine derangement. Nature requires assistance and at once, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the ablest specialists agree that it is the most universally successful remedy for woman's ills known to medicine.

The following letters from Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. Cotrely are among the many thousands which Mrs. Pinkham has received this year from those whom she has relieved.

Surely such testimony is convincing. Mrs. J. C. Holmes, of Larimore, North Dakota, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "I have suffered everything with backache and womb trouble—I let the trouble run on until my system was in such a condition that I was unable to be about, and then it was I commenced to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If I had only known how much suffering I would have saved, I should have taken it months sooner—for a few weeks' treatment made me well and strong. My backache and headaches are all gone and I suffer no pain at my menstrual periods, whereas before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered intense pain."

Mrs. Emma Cotrely, 109 East 12th Street, New York City, writes:

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's ills.

Remember, every woman is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about her symptoms she does not understand. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass., her advice is free and cheerfully given to every ailing woman who asks for it. ## MERRIAM QUESTIONS COURT'S JURISDICTION

The Attorney General's Department representing Registrar Merriam, against whom a mandamus was brought through U. S. District Attorney Brochman for the purpose of having Merriam record a map of the Waterhouse property at Waihi, which was condemned by the United States for fortification purposes, has filed a plea to the jurisdiction of the United States District Court to issue the mandamus only to add its own judgments.

In this plea Merriam says that the Court ought not to have or take cognizance of said cause for the reason following, that is to say: "That it appears from the petition of the United States of America herein that the said writ so issued is an original writ, and not necessary or ancillary to the exercise by this court of its jurisdiction by statute made and provided."

RUBBER IN PUNA

Hilo, Nov. 16.—The cultivation of rubber on this island has been, in a measure, "in the air," until now Roderick Ross has demonstrated the adaptability of Puna soil to the cultivation of rubber trees of the ceara family.

Some years ago Mr. Ross purchased a thousand acres and planted them on the Crane plantation about a mile from his dwelling. For some reason the seed did not all germinate and only 200 sprouted. As time passed several grew to a height of several feet. A few of these were to be transplanted but Japanese laborers made a mistake in pulling out a few strong ones.

He was seven years ago and photographs of the trees shown by Mr. Ross illustrate some excellent specimens. One of these he tapped a short time ago, the first tap, by the way, with the result that four ounces of a fine quality of rubber was obtained. This particular tree has a girth of thirty-six inches and has a strong, healthy growth. The sample of rubber shown would not doubt be vastly improved if the modern methods of treating the sap were at hand.

In Ceylon the trees are tapped every month during eight months in the year and at the present price of rubber, 50¢ a pound in London, the returns are highly satisfactory. The trees may be planted twenty feet apart, though there is one on the Ross place that has a spread of eighty feet. The trees may be tapped any time after four years from planting and they furnish slips for planting a grove if it is desired. It is the intention of Mr. Ross to plant more of the cuttings and extend the operations if the plan has the endorsement of Mr. Crane. He says Puna has good soil for rubber trees for they will grow almost anywhere.—Herald.

The Chicken as a Pet

To one fond of birds, the pleasures of chicken raising are most seductive. The chicken in its youth is perhaps a trifle ethereal in its lines of beauty, but as it grows into a buxom hen it takes to itself a comeliness which we admire—when cooked.

To become a chicken farmer you need a back yard, an old barrel, a roll of wire netting. We have the netting as well as about everything else in the line of Poultry Sundries.

JAPS CHASE PORTUGUESE

M. J. Freitas, a Portuguese boy, was arrested Saturday night by Captain Sam Leslie and charged with larceny in the second degree. The youth entered a Japanese store on Nuuanu street and in the course of his shopping, incidentally, it is alleged, slipped a belt under his own belt. The eagle-eyed storekeeper saw him and made a grab for him, but the youth was gone, fleeing down the street. The cry of their was raised and Japanese flocked from every corner and joined in the chase. Freitas was finally caught but there was no belt on his person. It was found along the street, where the merchant claims he had thrown it.

Prisoner Attempts To Escape

Grant Snow, an incorrigible negro criminal, who is at present serving a term at the Oahu jail of 15 years on a sentence for burglary, last night made a desperate and almost successful attempt to break from his cell and regain his freedom. Snow was locked in a cell facing the Iwilei road on the Waikiki side of the prison. Between him and the road was only a wall, an old one made of coral.

Snow was locked up in his cell yesterday at 5 p. m. At about 5 o'clock this morning, when he was taken out again, the guards found that he had spent the night in trying to burrow through the wall, which separated him from his liberty. He had managed to make a large hole, big enough for his body to pass through, through nine inches of the wall, which is altogether fourteen inches thick.

The mysterious part of the affair is that the tool, which Snow must have employed, could not be found in his cell or on the road outside of it. The work done by Snow shows that he must have had some kind of a tool. High Sheriff Henry believes that some confederate passed Snow the tool through the grated window in the wall facing the road.

Snow is known as a desperate character. He once previously broke from jail but was re-captured. On one occasion he made an assault on High Sheriff Henry in the presence of the prison inspectors. Henry dodged and returned Snow a good swing on the eye, but did not otherwise punish him. Snow will be given a sojourn in the dark cell for his performance last night.

ACTING RUSSIAN CONSUL

than any other port, and naturally, according to the Consul pro tem, the captain would come here instead of going to any other port. And more especially as the ship was short on fuel which was of a very inferior grade.

The Lena arrived here with hardly any coal aboard. In endeavoring to buck the headwinds and heavy seas encountered much of the 2000 tons which she left San Francisco with were burned even before Captain Ginter started in this direction. She has a good supply of meats and other edibles aboard and it is not necessary that a great deal be purchased here.

It has been rumored about town that a mutiny was smoldering aboard and that is one reason why the Russian ship came here. Mr. Pfotenbauer denied that there had been any trouble on the boat. He said he heard nothing whatever from the captain about a mutiny. Neither did he learn anything about the alleged hanging of several sailors after leaving Mare Island. Mr. Pfotenbauer looked upon the latter matter as newspaper talk and the first he heard of it was from Honolulu papers.

PASSENGERS DEPARTED.

Per stmr. Moana, for the Colonies Nov. 18.—Foister Hunt, R. A. Churton, J. R. Robinson, E. Gray.

Ah Chew, a Chinaman, was locked up Saturday on a charge of larceny in the second degree. He was found in the room of a Japanese living on River street. He had entered the room by means of a skeleton key. A small amount of junk was found on his person. The Japanese collared the Chinese and took him to the police station. The usual Monday morning drunks were before Judge Whitney today. Most of them were fined $3.
