Celebrate Anniversary

Baldwins Observe Thirty-ninth Wedding Day.

On Saturday, April the fourth all of the children of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Baldwin who reside on the island of Maui together with the younger generation assembled at the Spreckelsville residence of Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin for a family reunion.

The occasion for the reunion was the thirty-ninth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin which was Monday April the fifth.

Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin have spent practically all of their lives on the island of Maui and probably enjoy a greater circle of friends than any couple on the island.

Ruin Came With American Rule.

Washington, March 15.—That Porto Rico was governed better under Spanish rule than under American administration, that the Spanish-American war and the consequent occupation of the island by the United States has ruined the coffee industry, the most important in the island, and that the executive council, composed largely of Americans, is responsible entirely for the present crisis, were the declarations made last night by Luis Munoz Rivera, chairman of the Commission now here. The Commission was appointed by the House of Delegates to lay before President Taft. Congress and the American people the reasons for the existing conditions in the island, and to ask for concessions from this country, both in regard to the form of government for the island and on the tariff proposition.

Commissioner Rivera claimed that all the Porto Ricans ask for is justice, and that the Americans are not giving them this. He said that the House of Delegates has been made practically a nonentity by the executive council, corresponding to the upper house, and that the upper body refused to listen to the House of Delegates in the recent extraordinary session of the Porto Rican Congress. Commissioner Larrinaga, delegate from Porto Rico to Congress, will endeavor today to arrange for an interview for the Commission with President Taft.

In regard to the tariff on coffee he declared that as a result of the American occupation of the island the price of the article had dropped from $35 to $9 a 100 pounds, all its foreign markets having been taken away as a result of the American tariff laws.

Concert and Fair.

There will be a Concert and Fair at the Alexander House next Saturday, April 17th. Doors open at 7:30 p. m. Lovers of good music should not miss this chance. There will be stacks of candy, all "home made" and delicious. There will be Fancy Articles, pretty and well-made at reasonable prices. There will be delicious ice-cream. The real thing. There will be grabs for everybody. If you don't believe it come and see for yourself.

Americas Railroads

Some Things of Interest Relative to Routes.

Seven railroad routes, all of them passing through sections of the continent full of scenic and historic interest, are at the selection of those who visit the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. The same routes are in force on all these lines, together with agreements by which one may go out over one line and back over another, still getting the advantage of the low rates.

Taking the roads in their geographical order, from north to south, the Canadian Pacific is considered first. It is a scenic route of rare beauty from the time one leaves Halifax, Nova Scotia, or intermediate points, until Seattle is reached. It traverses the beautiful lake regions of Canada, skirts the precipitous shore of Lake Superior, crosses the great plains of Western Canada, and winds for hours through the Rocky mountains and the Cascades until it finally reaches the beautiful Puget Sound country. No route in America surpasses it in scenic attractions, views of lake and river, mountain and valley, forest and plain. A line to St. Paul is its United States connection.

The Great Northern is also full of scenic interest. From St. Paul to Seattle, an ever changing scene is presented to the observer, growing more beautiful and interesting as the mountain regions are approached. Skirting rapid rivers and climbing through mountain passes, the road saves its most beautiful scenery until the end, when it emerges upon Puget Sound, at Everett, Washington, and continues for thirty miles along the beach, to Seattle, the beautiful expanse of the Sound with the pinnacled Olympics in the distance, being ever in view.

Scenery along the Northern Pacific is practically the same as on the Great Northern, the two lines practically paralleling each other. Both pass through the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, and Washington. The famous "bad land" of the Dakotas are a unique feature and far famed Yellowstone Park marks a delightful and readily taken "stop-over."

The Burlington Line takes to the Northern Pacific tracks at Billings, Mont. and enters Seattle by that route. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul is pushing construction on its transcontinental line, which will be operating into Seattle before the end of the exposition period, paralleling the Northern Pacific.

The Harriman lines care for the traffic of the South and Southwest, the Union Pacific reaching Seattle via Denver and Portland, running through the magnificent scenery of the central section of the far West.

Although not surpassing the northern routes in scenery, the Southern Pacific passes through a country of more historic interest; California and the Southwest. From the time one leaves San Francisco until the East is reached, the road is passing points famous in the history of the continent, the fame of many dating back to the old days of Spanish occupation in the eighteenth century.

Improved service will be instituted on all these lines for the heavy traffic this summer.

Supervisors Meeting

Transact County Business In Short Order.

The County Supervisors met in their board rooms Wednesday and after the reading of the minutes of the last meeting which probably were the longest minutes on record, the board proceeded to the conduct of routine business.

Supervisor Pogue stated that he had received a wireless from Supervisor Meyer in which he said that he had been unable to take the steamer for the reason that the steamer would not send a boat ashore on account of the rough sea.

T. D. Davies & Co. wrote to the board that they had sent a safe to T. T. Meyer and one to W. P. Haia and one to George Groves for the safe keeping of the county funds for the payroll.

Several letters were received from Governor Frear in regard to the park site.

R. C. Searle wrote the board that he believed a bridge should be built across Honokohau stream, and stated that he had nearly lost his life there. He offered to haul all material for the use of the bridge free of charge in case the county built a bridge there.

Land Commissioner Pratt wrote the board that he was negotiating for a piece of land near Wailuku to be used for a public park.

Chief Clerk Woodward wrote the board that a certified copy of the acts of the board must be sent under seal of the county before that body could receive the same. The County Clerk stated that he had sent such a certificate. The matter under consideration was resolutions sent the legislature relative to bills then before the House in which the County of Maui is particularly interested.

T. M. Church wrote the board that he had sent an order for a Simplex road grader for the use of the County of Maui.

T. H. Davies & Co. wrote the board that they had sent for the five hundred feet of hose ordered of them by the board for the fire department.

J. H. Mahoe of Molokai wrote the board a communication in Hawaiian. It was not translated as the members all understand Hawaiian. It was filed.

A communication was received from the Kahului Store in which they quoted prices on certain goods, carried.

Road overseer Groves wrote the board that he had all kinds of a kick coming on account of there being no telephone as yet put in for the use of one of his road lunas. The Chairman stated that the phone had been placed in the house of the road luna the evening previous to the meeting.

D. T. Fleming wrote the board asking the county to contribute toward the expense of keeping a veterinary here on the island.

H. A. Baldwin wrote the board that he believed it better for the board to decide on one road at Omaopie and improve that than to keep up two roads as it is partially doing at the present time.

H. R. Hitchcock wrote the board asking for the return of his certified check that accompanied his bid for road work. The same was ordered returned to him.

Doctor Dinegar resigned as examiner of applicants for chauffeurs' licenses and also resigned as a special officer of the police department. His resignation was accepted as examiner of applicants for licenses and the Clerk was instructed to so notify

Clean Sport Or None

A Baseball Enthusiast Takes Proper Stand.

Wailuku, April 9th, 1909.
Editor 'MAUI NEWS':—

During the past week or two many remarks and criticisms have been passed along the line in Baseball circles concerning the actions of certain individuals with reference to baseball matters. These remarks have worked up to such a pitch that unless the atmosphere is cleared, baseball on Maui would not be the clean, healthy sport that good baseball fans would want to witness. Yesterday James Hattie, Secretary & Treasurer of the Kahului Baseball Team approached me on the subject of clean baseball, and all of the phases of the question were thoroughly gone into. I am now satisfied that, after the explanations, our baseball games are going to be conducted in a fair manner, and no advantages will be taken of each other. Probably the respective teams forming the present league have been criticized for the actions of some of the individual players. As far as I am concerned, I would say that unless baseball is played in a clean, sportsmanlike manner, I shall withdraw entirely from the game. I also have the assurance of Mr. Hattie that the Kahului team would cooperate with us in the promotion of the great American game. Dr. St. Sure, manager of the Healanis, also tells me that he will tolerate nothing but clean sport. With these assurances I feel certain that the public will be accorded good games.

I must confess that I felt rather disappointed in the prospects but the frank manner in which Mr. Hattie made his statements to me, will just simply stimulate my interest in the game all the more.

Thanking you for the space accorded, I am,
Yours for clean sports,

J. GARCIA,
Manager and Capt. Morning Stars Baseball Team.

him, but that his resignation as a special officer should be made to the Sheriff.

A special invitation was issued to the public to be present Thursday evening to consider the park site matter.

In pursuance to an invitation to the public to be present and express its views on the matter of selecting a site for park for Wailuku a matter that has been done time and again first one way and then another a fairly large number of persons were present and expressed themselves on the matter.

At this meeting those present were practically a unite for the old site and diametrically opposed to the unanimous choice of the new site that was chosen at the last meeting. What the next meeting will do remains to be seen.

Attorney J. M. Vivas offered a motion leaving the matter of the selection of the site to the Board of Supervisors. Kahookale was the only one present who voted against the motion.

S. Decker stated that he had intended to make application for the Polipoli lands but that Pratt had told him that the land had already been leased to the Wailuku Sugar Company. Mr. Kelihoi stated that

The Next War. It is not at all improbable that the next great struggle of arms will be a second war between Japan and Russia. While Russia was defeated in her recent conflict with Japan, she cannot afford to stay whipped and everything points to the fact that the statesmen of each country fully realize that a conflict is inevitable.

There is probably no one in the territory so well informed on conditions in the far east as Walter G. Smith, the able editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser. In a recent issue of that paper he says editorially:

The news that Russia is double tracking the Siberian railway to Harbin coupled with that of an enormous grant to the army, bears out the intelligent opinion in Eastern Asia that Russia means to again try conclusions with Japan. That the Tokio government thus believes is indicated by the large sums it has spent and is spending on war equipment, aloft and ashore. Since the peace of Portsmouth the Japanese arsenals and drydocks have been tremendously busy; the army has been greatly improved and increased and the navy is getting its share of Dreadnoughts. Many American newspapers and many public men aside from alarmists of the Hobson type, have thought that Japan was preparing to fight the United States—a conclusion this journal, for one, has respected. Japan is not looking for new wars and new enemies; but she means to maintain herself as the guiding power of Eastern Asia and to be ready for any force which Russia may gather for the recovery of lost ground. Hence the clamor of martial preparation.

It is clearly seen by the statesmen of Japan, than whom there are no more sagacious and well-informed publicists anywhere, that Russia cannot afford to stay whipped. She is now out of the list of first-class powers. She is a more or less negligible quantity. Her navy ranks very low; her army has lost prestige; her diplomacy "lest I dare not, wait upon I would, like the cat in the adage." One could see Russia's hand falter in the treatment of the recent Balkan affair, in a sphere where her highest touch was wont to move things. Yet she is a vast country with an enormous population; her credit is good for war loans; if she should merely strip her churches of their portable wealth her treasury would contain a greater sum than is represented by the national debt of Japan, huge as that has grown. Russia has made herself believe that her failures in operations during the war of 1905 was due to the single trackage of the Siberian railroad; and that, with the way clear to dispatch and feed a million men she could overwhelm the Japanese with numbers. Pressing her forward is the natural ambition to become once more a first-class military power, to regain the respect and excite the fears of Europe; and with all her actual and potential strength, she sees no reason why she should not succeed. That she will make the attempt no student of foreign affairs can doubt.

In such a war, the question of China's attitude would be significant in the last degree. China is building up military and naval strength under Japanese tutelage; but her enormous wealth and credit counts for even more. Should she ally herself with the Japanese, making common cause against white aggression in the regions of her present and former sway, it would behoove Russia to move cautiously and to get, if possible, a powerful European ally. The play for primacy at Peking between the Japanese and Russians is going to prove a far more exciting drama than the ancient intrigue at Cabul between the Russians and the British; and it will be, unless all signs fail, the imperial prologue to a far more swelling theme.

Baseball. The baseball season is about to begin and it seems under conditions that are not as favorable to a successful season as might be hoped for. During the past week there was evidence of much ill feeling and bitter accusations were made against members of the league, and it would seem that much of it was the result of work of a man by the name of Correa and one by the name of Kealoha.

From the best information that we have on the subject it would seem that the two men were imported by the Kahului boys for the purpose of having them play with them during the season.

Whether they got work or otherwise, we do not know, but they were soon in Wailuku and were given work here and were provided for. It was not long before some of the Kahului boys were giving them money to enable them to exist as the say they believed the case to be. The Kahului boys soon had them in Kahului after they had both signed up with the Star team and of course the latter were sore.

While some of the Kahului boys were congratulating themselves on their good luck, one of the men skipped for Honolulu after announcing that if the Star team would pay his fare back that he would play with the latter team. At this juncture the boys on both sides discovered that they were being worked, and changed their attitude toward their friends. It seems to us that differences of this class should not occur. Nor do we approve of any baseball player doing anything to take away a player of an opposing team after the season has begun.

We do not profess to understand the latest rules of playing the national game, but we do hold that common decency dictates that an opposing team shall receive a square deal and no interference with its members.

After listening to arguments on the subject by players on both sides, we are convinced that there must be limitations put on the importation of players for the simple reason that if one side can import the best players in the territory and the other for financial reason cannot, then it is certain that the team of imported players will win and there cannot be any possibility of the other teams winning and consequently they will not take any interest in the games nor play ball worth seeing. There must be at least a remote possibility of winning the game for each opposing team or there will not be ball worth seeing.

The public pays for the games and has a right to demand reasonably equal opponents. If it is otherwise there will be no gate receipts. We must have clean sport and decent dealing or there will be no support of the ball games.

Leal Finds Much Booty

Douglas and Birmingham Property Recovered.

Honolulu, April 6.—According to Chief of Detectives Leal practically all the articles stolen from various residences in this city by Peter Nawai and his gang, will be recovered. The larger part of the articles have already been found and now it remains for the police to hunt up the girls with whom the young crook has been traveling and get from them the presents he made them of stolen articles.

The word was taken up this morning and a visit was paid to the Punchbowl district which brought good returns. Among other articles which were given up by a couple of Hawaiian girls of Nawai's acquaintance were two gold chains, a gold mounted fountain pen and a handsome Chinese jade ring, which had all been taken from the Douglas residence. Practically everything stolen from the Douglasses has been recovered by Leal.

Yesterday morning Leal was busy in visiting several places where Nawai confessed he had buried stolen property. A good deal of the Birmingham property was recovered buried in a small tract of cane land off upper Emma street and in this collection was a diamond ring and a pair of valuable opera glasses belonging to Mrs. Douglas.

No arrests have yet been made of the receivers of the stolen property but this afternoon or tomorrow may bring developments. The articles stolen by Nawai were sold for a very small part of their value or given away, but he did such a wholesale business that he was able to dress in the height of fashion, which was one of the things which caused attention to be attracted to him and finally resulted in his arrest.

Iwilei Man Five Years

Heavy Sentences for Iwilei and Wife of Iwilei.

Honolulu, April 5.—Iwilei, who for many years was the chief of the immoral characters of Iwilei, was sentenced to five years in jail, to pay a fine of $1000 and the costs of court by Judge Dole this morning. His wife Chise, who was also concerned in the same business was sentenced to four years in jail and to pay a $500 fine and the costs. The heavy sentence came as a surprise to both, for they expected that, owing to information which they had given through which evidence against other defendants in the Japanese slavery cases was obtained, they would be let off easily.

Iwilei and his wife were the two leaders in the gang which made a business of importing women to this city from Japan for immoral purposes and which has been so effectively broken up through the efforts of United States District Attorney Breckons. For some time it appeared as though it would be impossible to obtain enough evidence to convict, but Breckons, by spending day and night on the trail, worked up his cases and has obtained several convictions of which these two are the most important.

A Hawaiian named Piliwale has been arrested on a charge of arson in the second degree in setting fire to a house at Kawainui, which he claims to own, after quarreling with a woman who occupied it. He ejected her and the place was subsequently burned down.—Herald.

Yale Alumni Hails Taft as Plain 'Egg.'

New York, March 19.—With songs of the football field and the boat race course, with a deafening cheer and a rousing chorus of "Here's to good old Yale, drink her down," President Taft was greeted tonight as the first Yale President of the United States by more than 1,500 graduates of the university. The graduates came from all over the country. They ranged from silvery-haired old men whose degrees bear the date of '53, down to the youths who left their alma mater only last June.

The dinner was served at the Waldorf-Astoria. The immense ballroom was decorated with a lavish wealth of flowers. From the ceilings countless chains of pink bloom fell in graceful loops.

The balcony guards and the side walls were entwined with roses. The speaker's table, at which President Taft sat with President Hadley of Yale and other distinguished graduates, was enopied with artificial representations of the elms of old Yale. Back of the table was a huge drop curtain bearing a painting of the old brick row, which was a reality in President Taft's student days, but which is now mostly a memory.

In front of the curtain and back of the speakers was a replica of the old Yale fence. The representation of the old barrier was complete down to the last detail. Many of the initials, including the "W. H. T." of Mr. Taft, and the "A. T. H." of President Hadley were faithfully reproduced.

An orchestra played Yale anthems throughout the evening and the singing of the rollicking songs was led by a glee club of thirty-two graduates seated at a center table.

President Taft was probably the happiest man at the dinner which was given entirely in his honor. He was not hailed as President, however, but as "Bill"—the salutation which punctuated the cheering as he entered.

The only set speeches of the evening were made by President Taft and President Hadley. The latter spoke first, responding to the toast "Neath the Elms," while the former, speaking entirely extemporaneously, had for his subject, For God, for Country and for Yale.

There were other informal speakers. Among the guests at the dinner were Henry W. Taft and Horace D. Taft, brothers of the President.

Society Queen Ends Life After Gay Ball.

Washington, March 25.—Mrs. Pierre Lorillard, wife of the tobacco magnate and millionaire, and a leader in exclusive New York and Washington society, was found dead in a bathroom of her sumptuous home at 2030 Hillyer place, near the fashionable Dupont circle, shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. Gas was flowing from an open jet in the apartment.

Despite the insistence of Pierre Lorillard and other relatives and acquaintances of the family that her death was the result of an accident, District Coroner J. Ramsey Nevitt, as a result of his investigation and an autopsy this afternoon, declared officially that Mrs. Lorillard was a suicide. Servants said she died from heart failure.

She was 49 years old and, it is said, was weary with the gay whirl of society and face to face, as she believed, with years of physical suffering.

The tragedy has plunged social Washington into mourning. Mrs. Lorillard was one of the leading spirits in that exclusive younger set here which includes such widely known families as the Longworths, the Belmonts, the Laraz Andersons, the Bellman Winthrops and the A. P. Gardners. She was a bosom friend of the Baroness Moncheur, wife of the Belgian minister, at whose home she was entertained at dinner on Sunday evening.

Hunting the Uau on the Island of Molokai.

In the Pacific Commercial Advertiser:

Although the Uau is to be seen at the proper seasons on the channels between the various islands of the group, and had for generations been hunted by the Hawaiians for food, not to mention its having long ago been made to figure in a very popular legend of the natives, it has continued to remain one of the rarest of the Hawaiian birds in museum collections.

Up to the present, save for an immature specimen in the Bishop Museum that was collected by Mr. Henshaw on the beach at Hilo, in 1900, the species has been known only from a skin "from the Sandwich Islands" in the U. S. National Museum (No. 61,259), collected by Mr. V. Knudsen, and a second specimen taken by him on Kauai, now in the British Museum. It is, therefore, with considerable satisfaction that I report on a fine series of adult skins which I secured on Molokai during the month of June.

On April 26, while at the residence of Mr. John Walker, in Pelekunu valley, I was shown, in a cabinet of curiosities, a roughly mounted specimen of the Uau. The bird had been collected by Mrs. Walker three or four years before the time of my visit, one morning, asleep in the long grass on the hills back of the village, and not far from Mrs. Walker's house. The specimen was kindly given to me for examination. The following morning, at an early hour, I heard a solitary bird calling from high up on the cliffs near the village where I had spent the night. I at once made an effort among the natives to organize an Uau hunt. They all agreed that it was not the proper season for securing birds, saying that it would be useless to make the severe climb up the mountain to where the birds' nests were. Some weeks later, they assured me, Uau would be much more plentiful. As it is impossible to find the birds' burrows without specially trained dogs, which only the natives have, I was forced to give up the project for the time being.

My next meeting with the Uau was on May 9. I was on a two-day camping trip on the Kaunohua trail, which leads down the pali into Pelekunu valley. The object of the trip was to spend a late evening and early morning in that locality, in the hope of hearing the call, and, if possible, secure specimens of the Uau, since the bird, in former times, frequented that section. On the way down, at about a 3,500 foot level, I found the bill, wings, feet and some loose feathers of an Uau that had been killed and eaten by some animal, presumably a mongoose, not more than the day before. That night I went into camp beside the trail in a drizzling rain. The camp was not an elaborate affair, simply a few icie vines and ferns piled on a narrow shelf on the pali, the ledge being scarcely wide enough to lie on. The face of the pali was almost perpendicular for hundreds of feet above and below me. In fact, it was so steep that it was necessary, as a precaution, to drive stakes along the lower side of my bed to prevent the possibility of its slipping off the edge and my rolling off during the night.

Shortly after dark I began to hear the strange, weird cry of these petrels, as they sailed about the cliffs, evidently attracted by, and much exercised over, my campfire. All night long—long after the fires had died out—they could be heard calling here and there about my "swallow nest" camp. A long drawn out Uau-u, suggesting the wail of a lonesome cat, would be answered by Uau-ka-ka-ka-ka, a note just petrel enough to be recognized as such, yet combining such a number of other suggestive sounds, as to render it both indescribable and unforgettable. Though they frequently flew close to me, there was so much heavy fog that it was useless to shoot in the dark, besides it would have been almost impossible to have secured a bird from the precipice below me if it had been killed by a chance shot. The experiences of the night, however, were enough to assure me that the petrels were about in sufficient numbers to warrant an effort to secure specimens, when I could manage the undertaking.

For the next few days following my Pelekunu experience with the birds, I was camped at Halawa and Moanui. At the former place, although far from any habitation and in a rugged country, I did not hear nor see a single Uau. At Moanui, on the other hand, they were seen each evening at dusk flying over the head-lands close down beside the sea. Three specimens were taken June 5 and 6. It is rather curious that all the birds seen flew along the coast toward the east, against the wind, while later on, on the windward side of the island, the birds were seen to return to their rookeries from all directions. A possible explanation would be that the birds prefer to follow along coast line to their nesting places on the opposite side of the island, rather than to take the more direct route over the mountains through the fogs.

A favorable opportunity for visiting the nesting colonies of the Uau did not come until June 14, when I made a trip down into Wailau—the valley lying east of Pelekunu—for that special purpose. On the way over the pali from Mapulehu, about half way down the Wailau trail, a half-eaten carcass of one of these birds was found, under similar conditions to the one noted from Pelekunu valley.

At Wailau village I rallied a party of these experienced native bird catchers, with their Uau dogs, for a day's hunt on the almost vertical cliffs of Oloukui. For there, well down towards the sea end of this great pyramid-shaped mountain, at an elevation between 3500 and 4000 feet, a colony of these birds have reared their young each season for generations. Each year, during the summer months, the natives of the valley have formed hunting parties and have preyed upon the colony in search of the young Uau, which are regarded as an especial delicacy by all Hawaiians.

Our start was an early and auspicious one. My men were each provided with a bag which was held on the back, suspended from the shoulders, in approved native fashion. Save for my collecting gun, we were without firearms and unencumbered. The day was bright, with occasional showers—just sufficient to keep every leaf in the moss-grown forest soaked and dripping. Only the most hardy and venturesome natives ever attempt this climb. For four hours we struggled up the steep ascent, cutting the trail through the tangled undergrowth, helping each other up the cliffs where footholds were wanting, pulling ourselves up by our hands here, slipping back there, passing the dogs over the dangerous places, encouraging them over the hard ones, panting, wringing wet, and all but exhausted, we at last reached the top where the crest of the ridge slopes down a few hundred feet before it pitches off for a perpendicular drop to the floor of the beautiful balloon-shaped valley, two or three thousand feet below. The crest of the ridge, here as elsewhere, is overgrown with the usual jungle of vines, ferns and trees which hide the steep, broken—often dangerous—irregularities of the rocks which it covers.

For the next six hours we ranged over the mountain side, each of us following as best he could, some one of the dogs. Over the cliffs and down the valleys they ran in every direction, sniffing here, digging there, until finally on locating a bird they would bark for help.

Digging out an Uau is not the easy and pleasant task one might imagine. As a rule they make their burrows under the spreading surface roots of trees—sometimes going back under them several feet from the mouth of the burrow. Occasionally they select a crevice in the broken rock or underneath a boulder that is overgrown with roots and vines, so as to resemble, in its essential features, the site just described. Rarely—almost never—are they found nesting on the surface of the ground, even though it be covered with vines and undergrowth. Having located the burrow and opened it up for a distance, it is often then difficult to find the bird, for the holes are usually natural ones that follow the roots in various directions, and at most are only appropriated by the bird and modified to its use. But once the hand touches the bird there is no further doubt concerning its whereabouts, for on being disturbed they bite with their hooked, pincer-like bills, and kick and scratch with their feet most savagely. Once the bird is in hand it is easily despatched by the native hunter in a neat and efficient manner. The forefinger is violently forced down the bird's throat. It is then slightly bent at the first joint so as to catch the heart and lungs, which are given a slight twist and sharp pull, with the result that the bird dies instantly, with scarcely a struggle.

One can, with practise, imitate the Uau's call very closely. This ruse was continually resorted to by the natives. Their efforts would occasionally be answered by some unwary bird, thus disclosing its whereabouts, but as a rule they failed to respond. Earlier in the season, during the actual mating, the call is more generally given and answered by the birds throughout the day, but by the time of our visit the birds were mated and sitting together in the burrows. On several occasions two birds were pulled from the same burrow. Later on, I was informed, when the single glossy white egg is laid, it is a common occurrence to find one or the other parent bird sleeping outside the burrow, while its mate sits on the nest within.

July is given as the time when the egg is laid. The young in the downy stage, are always taken in late September and October. October 10 is the day usually selected by the natives as the most favorable time for collecting the downy young. These are commonly pulled from the holes by means of a stick which is split at one end. The split end is twisted into the down of the bird and in this manner it is easily pulled forth. But the adults must be captured and dragged out by the hand. As has been said, the young birds are especially prized as food. In former times they were reserved for the chiefs alone, being taboo to the common people.

As a result of the day's expedition, twenty-one Uau were taken, eighteen of which were made into skins. Compared with former years, this was a very unsatisfactory bag. In June, 1906, the same men, with the same dogs, and with much less effort, secured sixty-three birds. The cause in the decrease in numbers was not far to seek. Along the trail, as we ascended Oloukui, we found the remains of three birds that had been killed and eaten by mongoose. It was a common thing when following the dogs, to have them lead us to deserted burrows, the occupants of which had been devoured but a few feet from their homes. In one hole we found a female mongoose with a flourishing family of five little ones, that had taken possession of an Uau burrow after its occupant had been killed. From the foregoing data, when taken in connection with the wide distribution of the mongoose in the group, it seems certain that the Uau is doomed to rapid extermination.

Kaniho Introduces Foolish Amendment.

Honolulu, April 2.—From the Advertiser we clip the following:

Representative Kaniho is willing to let Mr. Carnegie spend money here for a library, providing all the books shall be translated into Hawaiian—making two books where there is one now in the Public Library—and imposing that rule upon books that are to come. The first task under this system will be to render the 20,000 volumes of the Public Library into Hawaiian and publish the translations, beginning possibly with the Century Dictionary and the Encyclopedia Britannica; after which the newer purchases of books may be dealt with.

The project as outlined by Mr. Kaniho seems quite as feasible as most of the legislative propositions which have come from his quarter. The only obstacle would seem to be the cash expense; for time, there is plenty of it, which is fortunate, considering the part posterity must play in the completion of the job.

The figures of outlay in trying to make good with Mr. Kaniho's proposition are highly interesting. In translating Hawaiian the official speed is one page of the average book per day at $5. A book of 365 pages could, therefore, be rendered into Hawaiian for the modest sum of $1825. The reprinting of the volume would amount to, say, $500 more, making a total of $2325, which everybody will concede is quite reasonable. The duplication of twenty thousand volumes at this rate would cost only $46,500,000; a sum which might look large if it were not to be divided among so many years. Assuming that twenty of Kaniho's ambitious countrymen should be set at work on translation and should turn out an equal number of books a year, 200 volumes would be ready in ten years, 2000 in 100 years, and the whole 20,000 in 1000 years. This would so divide the $46,500,000 the job would cost, that it could be scarcely felt by the taxpayers.

Chinese Spy Trails Dr. Sun Yat Sen In Japan.

The life of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the Hawaiian-Chinese who is head of the revolutionary party which hopes to overturn the Manchu dynasty in China, is being sought in Japan, where the doctor has his headquarters at present. A short time ago Dr. Sun's mother, wife and children left Honolulu to join the famous revolutionist in Japan, as they seldom saw him except on his infrequent visits to Hawaii.

No one knows just where Dr. Sun conceals himself in Japan, but the following account from a Tokio paper shows that the Chinese government is anxious to learn his whereabouts, and is commencing to ferret the revolutionist out. On March 15, a man, apparently a Japanese, called at a certain hotel at Nagoya and inquired about Dr. Sun. He made several calls and finally demanded to be shown into the doctor's room. When he found that the doctor was really not there the man called at several other hotels, especially where Chinese students were quartered. Finally he said he would return to Tokio. This occurrence was reported to the police and officers searched for the mysterious querist but were unable to locate him.

It was afterwards ascertained that the stranger was not a Japanese but a Chinese spy trying to find Dr. Sun. It is said that Dr. Sun was at Nagoya before that and stopped at the Zeniya hotel, but at the time the spy called he was not there, and was not even in Nagoya. It was ascertained at this hotel that Dr. Sun had been there in the company of a Chinese military student, but that shortly after learning of the visit of the spy, the military student departed hurriedly.

Coopers Guilty of Killing Carmac

Nashville, (Tenn.), March 20.—

Guilty of murder in the second degree, with twenty years' imprisonment as the penalty was the verdict of the jury this morning in the case against Colonel Duncan, B. Cooper and his son, Robin Cooper, charged with the murder of former United States Senator F. W. Carmack.

The jury yesterday acquitted Sohn Sharp, a co-defendant. Immediately the defense moved to set aside the verdict because of the verdict of disagreement of yesterday and asked the court to declare it a mistrial. Judge Hart will listen to arguments on this motion later. He then fixed the defendants' bonds at $25,000 each.

There was a rush to sign the bonds on the part of the wealthy citizens of Nashville. In all nearly a million and a half dollars was represented on the bonds. In vain the clerk protested that more than enough sureties has signed, but the invariable answer was "We want to put our names on that bond, too." When there was no more room for names at the foot of the document, the new bondsmen indorsed it across the face until it was difficult to decipher the signatures.

Colonel Cooper and his son retired to the home of Judge J. C. Bradford to-night.

The defendants took the verdict coolly—almost without emotion. Mrs. Burch and Mrs. Wilson, the young daughters of Colonel Cooper, aside from tearful eyes, restrained their emotion gamely. Mrs. Burch sat with her arm around her brother Robin's shoulder, and Mrs. Wilson was at her father's right.

The jurors were tired looking and disheveled, and when the court thanked and dismissed them the entire twelve sprang from their seats as one man and hurriedly left the courtroom.

After the court had dismissed the jury Judge Anderson of the defense was on his feet, exclaiming:

"Your Honor, we move the case be declared a mistrial, because of the verdict of yesterday. We contend that yesterday's verdict was the only one, and that it acquitted John Sharp and declared a disagreement on the other defendants. We also ask that the defendants be admitted to bond."

"The verdict of the jury makes it a bailable case," was the court's retort. "Hence I will fix the bond of each defendant at $25,000 unless there be some objection."

Lot of Horrid Men Pretend Intoxication.

New York, March 21.—According to Mrs. Currie Nation, who came back to us from Europe aboard the Baltic to-day, she never saw such a saturnalia of drunkenness as confronted her on that vessel.

And, according to the still chuckling under-officers of the Baltic, what Mrs. Nation saw was not real drunkenness at all, but just a series of sham orgies imposed upon her wrathful vision by a coterie of perfectly sober practical jokers who were her fellow voyagers in the second cabin.

"It has been awful aboard this pestilential ship," said Mrs. Nation. "There have been drunken men constantly before me."

The under-officers said that Mrs. Nation would catch the unholy rollers by their coat lapels, stand them all up together against the wall and lecture them loudly and angrily. Later each told her that she had converted him to temperance.

Dr. Sun was educated at Iolani College, Honolulu, a school conducted in former years by Bishop Willis of the Anglican church, and now conducted by Bishop Restarick of the Episcopal church.

CHARLESTON, April 3.—Two earthquake shocks were felt here yesterday.

A Stranger's View of Life in Hawaii-Nei.

Birds are everywhere in Hawaii. Their music fills the quivering air. One wonders why we do not all live in this paradise, where life seems to stretch out before one in a long, languid dream of delight. Suddenly through your dreaming comes a rude awakening. The Hawaiian mosquito, the one flaw in the gem, the only thorn in the garden, has called to make your acquaintance and bid you welcome to his domain.

The houses, with their broad verandas filled with palms and flowers, and furnished with tables, chairs, hammocks and grass rugs, are a paradise to the weary traveler. It is here that the Honolulu people enjoy their glorious climate.

The lawns, thick and velvety as a carpet, were kept in perfect order by the yardboys, for experienced servants—Chinese, Japanese and Portuguese—can always be had. In fact, the servant problem causes no worry to the housewife, who has but little anxiety in this land of plenty.

Everybody seems to take life easily. The offices close very early, and no one seems to know what care is. The sugar barons, their capital ones rightly invested, draw their dividends, and the rest of life is required to spend them.

We stop at the home of our friend, a bungalow that is the picture of comfort. One end of the veranda is used as a sun parlor, sheltered by windows and screens, for what they call cold days—60 degrees above zero.

Numerous rooms connect with this, the dining-room being a veranda at the other end of the house and the kitchen a separate building, though connected by a roofed veranda. The guest chambers are cottages by themselves.

The bath is hewn out of solid stone, with a shower above. Servants are provided for in quarters apart from the house. The whole, in fact, greatly reminds one of an old Southern plantation home with modern improvements.

Just in front of the house, spreading its great limbs at least sixty feet in diameter, is a great monkeypod tree, and under its protecting branches the children, and older ones, too, enjoy the swings and hammocks in an atmosphere which lulls to sleep. As we sit here at midnight, dressed in thinnest of summer clothing, with never a wrap, watching the moon rise out of the sea, we understand why the Hawaiian so loves his Islands.—World's Work.

At the Union Church last Sunday evening eight new members were received into the Church. Three came on reaffirmation of their faith and five by letter from the Central Union Church of Honolulu and the Makawao Union Church. The Church was beautifully decorated with palms.

Rev. Tanaka, the Japanese minister of the Christian church for Japanese informs us that the Wailuku Sugar Company has contributed three hundred dollars toward building a church for the Japanese. The members of the church have contributed three hundred and seventy-five dollars and Mr. Wilcox of Kona gave a large sum. The building will soon be erected but more funds are needed.

Citizen George Washington Lockington of Hilo did his best to welcome the English cruisers to the Big Island city. He had no British flags, but hoisted a couple of Hawaiian flags to the breeze, as they were half British. Frank Metcalf personally hoisted the English ensign over the house of T. H. Davis & Co., while the Hotel Demosthenes and Firemen's Hall flung out the Stars and Stripes.

Mr. R. K. Bonine, who has made his name famous as the maker and exhibitor of the best of moving picture slides has made an appointment for three nights at the Knights of Pythias in Wailuku for April 19th, 20th and 21st. The exhibit of each night will be different from the other nights, and he will bring with him some of his world famous slides.

As Mr. Bonine will leave soon for the Seattle exposition, Maui people are especially fortunate to secure him this time. Watch the Maui News for second notice.

Baseball players met on Monday evening last in Hilo, when all the teams paid their ten-dollar fees for the season, three senior and three junior clubs. The arrangement of a schedule was postponed till Monday next. There were four nominations for umpire—Baird, Cool, Cressman and Dr. Colville—the election to take place next Monday. It is said that a plot is being formed to elect Cool, as the players want to get even for what, they claim, were certain iniquitous decisions last season. H. B. Ma was elected scorer and groundkeeper, and the ground will be rolled and put in condition as soon as the weather will permit. For the opening day the players are discussing an idea to give their lady patronesses in the grandstand some ice cream and cake.—Hawaii Herald.

House Gives Banzai For Japanese Hero.

Honolulu, April 5.—Referring in glowing terms to the record of the Japanese admiral now a visitor here, and welcoming him and his squadron to this outpost of the United States, the House of Representatives of the Legislature of Hawaii this morning delivered itself of a resolution such as has never been equalled in this Territory, for its unique character.

The House of Representatives goes on record as complimenting a

Commits

Suicide

Eugene Blackburn Takes His Own Life.

A young man by the name of Eugene Blackburn committed suicide in Kahului on Sunday evening by shooting himself through the head.

A coroner's inquest was held and the jury found that death was due to a gun shot wound which was self inflicted.

During the evening some unpleasant words passed between himself and his wife but before retiring all was agreeable. Shortly after getting into bed he said to his wife that he would get up. He went at once where he had an American bull dog revolver and lying down by the side of the bed he placed the revolver to his temple and fired a shot through his brain. Death followed instantly.

Blackburn was of a morbid disposition and had attempted his life on two previous occasions.

It is reported that he was not enjoying good health and this may have had much to do with his rash act.

He leaves a wife and two small children.

The funeral was held in Wailuku the following evening.

Members of Company I acted as pall bearers as he was a member of that company.

A foreign naval celebrity who was at the right hand of the famous Togo when the Japanese crushed the Russians in the decisive sea fight between the rising Orient and semi-barbaric Europe. It is probably the first instance in the history of the United States, by half a Legislature, the Senate not being asked to join, memorialized a visiting friendly foreigner in the unusual terms employed in the resolution given in full hereafter whether the Senate will introduce and pass a like resolution remains to be seen.

Speaker Holstein, it is understood is the inspirer of the resolution which was introduced by Representative J. H. Coney and reads as follows:

Resolved that we, the members of the House of Representatives of the Legislature of Hawaii, voicing the sentiments of the people at large, hereby extend to Admiral Ijishi, to his officers and to his men, our hearty, "aloha" and welcome to these islands the outpost of the United States of America.

Resolved that we esteem it an honor and a privilege to entertain the man who stood at the right hand of the illustrious Togo in the greatest naval battle of all times, in command of the flagship of the victorious fleet; and that we feel especially gratified in recalling the fact that the hero of said memorable day was himself a visitor in Honolulu years ago.

Resolved that we regard the presence in this port of His Imperial Japanese Majesty's training squadron, composed as it is, of two magnificent prizes, as bearing eloquent testimony to the powers and enterprise of a great and progressive nation, and as an auspicious event which will tend to still further cement the bonds of friendly relations which have ever linked this country to the Empire of Japan.

Resolved that we confidently anticipate a continued brilliant career for our distinguished visitor, Admiral Ijishi and sincerely hope that health and happiness may ever attend him as well as his gallant officers and men.

Resolved, that a suitable engrossed and illuminated copy of these resolutions be prepared and presented to Admiral Ijishi through the medium of His Imperial Majesty's Consul General for the Territory of Hawaii.—Nippon Banzai.

The "Nippon Banzai" is a part of the resolution. It is understood that the resolution was not made "joint" to include the Senate, for the reason that the Senate is slow in acting on House matters.

Leal Wins New Laurels

Captures Desperate Character In Kahului.

Chief of Detectives Joe Leal of Honolulu has added new laurels to his record on this island, and has already proven beyond a doubt that he is the man who should have been at the head of the detective force from the time that Chief A. P. Taylor resigned.

On Tuesday evening he arrived and at once secured the co-operation of Captain Charles Lake and officers H. Enos, J. Pestano and Manuel Sequeira of Kahului. They proceeded at once to the Fong Sue where a search was made for E. Harris, the deperado, who is badly wanted in Honolulu for his assault on Parker, another colored man, by shooting him while the two were in a drunken row.

Chief Leal found his man and arrested him. Harris denied his identity, but as he was personally known to Leal this of course did not go with the detective, and he brought his man to Wailuku and placed him in jail.

On Monday Leal got word that Harris was stowed away on the Fong Sue, and as the ship has already sailed for Kahului Leal at once took the steamer for Maui.

As blood poison has already set in on Parker, it may be that Harris may have to answer for a much more serious charge than is now facing him.

Harris is an old time offender, and has been in the toils times innumerable. He is especially noted for being handy with a gun and with a razor. He was dishonorably discharged from the Iroquois some time ago for being an all round bad character.

He is said to threatened to blow off the head any man who attempted to arrest him.

School Exhibit

Was a Revelation to Those Who Saw it.

The school exhibit on display at the Wailuku school on Tuesday of this week was the finest display of its kind ever exhibited in the territory.

There were outline maps that would have done credit to any institution of learning, wall paper designs, bead work of artistic designs samples of cutting, fitting and sewing of both plain and fancy work, drawn, work, of articles useful and ornamental, beautiful designs of raffia work manuscripts, bamboo and lauhala work and numerous other kinds of work done that merited attention and called forth praises from every visitor.

The schools which sent in exhibits were Waihee, Honokohau, Honokowai, Lahaina, Lahainaluna, Lahaina Catholic, Olowalu, Ulupalakua, Kaupo, Hana, Nahiku, Halehaku, Hamakua, Maunaloa Seminary, Kaupakalua, Makawao, Paia, Paia Kindergarten, Kealahou, Keokea, Wailuku, Kaluaaha, Halawa, Wailua.

The exhibit of each school was a credit to the pupils and teachers and it would be a most difficult task to decide to which should be given the most credit.

The work was all all right except some samples of turning from Kaluaaha school by a pupil of the second grade. The wood work sent in included a card receiver on a stand, mallets, and calashes and other difficult pieces of turning. There were those at the exhibit who

Co-Operation Is Slogan

Plenty of Chance for Farmer, Says Expert.

Honolulu, April 6.—Doctor E. V. Wilcox delivered a most interesting address yesterday afternoon before a gathering of representative men, who are interested in diversified agriculture. The Doctor took for his theme "Cooperative Marketing and his lecture showed the deep interest he takes in farm products of all kinds.

"There are plenty of opportunities for diverse farming in these islands, and what is wanted is a co-operative association which will attend to the grading and marketing of various farm products. On the mainland the stand made by the wheat farmers has been of the greatest benefit to them. These men had to fight the huge Grain Trust, and well they did it, too. Even the transportation companies tried to kill the association, and refused to handle the wheat grown by the members. Still, in the long run, the cooperative people won out, and received a better price for their crops. And the consumer had not to pay more for his loaf, either; it was the middleman who suffered.

"The same thing occurred with the woolgrowers; they established their own mills and handled their own fleeces. The consequence was that a first-class woolen suit would be made up by them and sold for about $14; the same suit would at least cost $35 or $40 in New York. And even at the low price of $14 the cooperative concern was able to show a profit of 30 per cent.

"In this country there are several different kinds of crops and fruits which are not worked up as they should be. Bananas, alligator pears, grapefruit, cotton, rubber, coffee, etc. should be better known on the mainland than they are—that is, the Hawaiian variety. What is wanted is a man in every center on the mainland who would be in the employ of the Hawaiian Cooperative Association, and who would be able to give all information regarding Hawaiian products. There are thousands of coffee dealers in the United States who have never heard of the Hawaiian article.

"Another thing is that all the products that are shipped from these islands should be marked 'Hawaii.' The grading should be uniform, and of the best; one or two inferior shipments could spoil the market for a long time. Let all the producers get together and draw up a cast-iron agreement to market only a first class pack. The foundation of a business must be good, and the quality kept up for all the time. The standard must be the same, and it is just here that the association would be of the greatest benefit. All complaints would come back to the association, and the individual packer could then be dealt with."

Mr. Higgins made a few remarks about the pineapple industry, and gave some interesting figures. He stated that fresh pines could be delivered in Chicago for $65 per ton. The average selling price there is $100, and this showed a good profit for the grower. One shipment that Mr. Higgins accompanied brought $155 per ton, but that was exceptional; the Florida crop was pau, and consequently pines were scarce.

Mr. Morgan suggested that a committee of five be appointed to consider the matter of forming the co-operative association, and this idea will be carried out. Mr. Morgan said he was much in favor of the movement, and that he would help it all in his power.

doubted the ability of any second grade child being able to turn out work of that class without assistance.

The exhibit was packed Wednesday morning and shipped to Honolulu where the best samples will be selected and sent to Seattle where it will delight the eyes of thousands of visitors during the fair.

To Celebrate Easter Season

Kaahumanu Church to Hold Special Easter Service.

Kaahumanu Church, Wailuku is making careful preparation to celebrate the Easter season. The Church will be decorated for the occasion under an efficient committee of which Mrs. Captain Bai is chairman, and Mrs. W. E. Saffery and Mrs. John Nua other members. The music committee will have for its chairman, Mr. W. E. Saffery. A special musical program has been arranged. Rev. Mr. Dodge will preach the sermon. In the services he will be assisted by Rev. L. B. Kaumeheui, who has been invited by the Church to become copastor with Rev. Mr. Dodge.

During the last two years Rev. R. B. Dodge has been preaching at the Kaahumanu Church and at the Waikapu Church, and by giving his services has been able to completely clear these two churches of debt. The debt at Kaahumanu of $515.00 has been wiped out, and a large sum besides has been raised to pay the current expenses of the Church, and especially the heavy expense incurred last year during the convention season of the Island Churches.

In the last few months the congregations have been rapidly increasing in size, and the whole work of the Church is in better condition than for a long time. The coming of new families has helped the Church very much.

At the Lahaina Association meeting, and by the hearty expression of both the Kaahumanu and Waikapu Churches, Rev. Mr. Kaumeheui of Hana has been asked to become copastor with Rev. Mr. Dodge of these two Churches. Mr. Kaumeheui will preach alternate Sundays at Kaahumanu and at Waikapu. Alternate Sundays Mr. Dodge will preach.

Rev. Lincoln Benjamin Kaumeheui was born in Pana, Hawaii, July 22nd, 1875. His family shortly afterwards moved to Kealia, Kauai, and here Mr. Kaumeheui received his early school training. After leaving school for three years he was mail carrier, and then in 1895 married Miss Annie Peleihonani. About this same time Mr. Kaumeheui attended the North Pacific Theological institute under Rev. John Leidingham, from which he graduated in 1903. He began work as a pastor at Hana the same year. His call to Wailuku will be a most fortunate circumstance for Central Maui Church work, as he is a good preacher and has a good voice for singing.

Representative Pardo's bill to turn the business of the Bureau of Conveyances to the several counties is dead.

the lease was made subject to a clause under which the government could at any time take over the same for homestead or public purposes.

The Chairman stated that the Board had received a communication from the Clerk of the Circuit Court informing the Board of action taken by the grand jury in the matter of selling fish on the public streets in an unsanitary manner. He asked for an expression of opinion of those present as to the best manner of improving the conditions under which fish may be sold in Wailuku and in Lahaina.

Harry Mossman finally moved that the Supervisors establish a fish market in Wailuku and one in Lahaina and establish rules for the same.

A committee consisting of Pogue, Lyons and Kaubi were appointed to devise ways and means for the carrying out of the intent and purposes of the resolution.

Another of Waiwaiolos bills came up for consideration. It is House Bill No. 153 which seeks to change the boundaries of the Districts of Maui.

Those present did not seem to take very kindly to the measure.

On Friday morning County Attorney James L. Coke appeared before the Board and spoke strongly against the employment of aliens on the construction of a light house keeper's cottage at Hana. As a result the following resolution was introduced by W. P. Haia and unanimously carried.

Be it Resolved by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Maui, Territory of Hawaii,

That this Board is strongly in favor of the employment of citizen labor only where the same may be had, on all United States Government work within the Territory of Hawaii, and this Board regrets that alien labor exclusively is now being employed in the erection of the lighthouse keeper's cottage at Kauwili, Hana, Maui, to the exclusion of American citizen laborers at that place who are competent, needy and anxious to have employment upon said work.

That a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the office of the United States authorities at Honolulu having charge of said work, and to the Governor of the Territory of Hawaii, and to the Delegate from the Territory of Hawaii at Washington, D. C.

Notice of Power of Attorney.

Notice is hereby given that, during my absence from the Territory of Hawaii, Lai Hong of Wailuku, County of Maui, will act as my Attorney in fact.
