THE

Daily Bulletin

Pledged to neither Sect nor Party,
But established for the benefit of all.

THURSDAY, JUNE 13, 1889.

An interesting article from the London Railway Press appears elsewhere. The term "native" in places is liable to mislead readers abroad: "local" would have been more precise.

"Never say die," would seem to be the motto of De Lesseps' backers in the Panama Canal. They are sending out a commission, according to the latest news, to investigate the status of the ditch with a view to resumption of operations.

Complaint is heard that some public school teachers close their schools without leave at 11 o'clock on the days of steamer departures for San Francisco. Apart from the matter of time lost, such action is not a good example to the pupils.

The BULLETIN never complimented the Advertiser on being a purist—posing as such was the soft impeachment, and to this our contemporary pleads guilty. It is a generally accepted truism that attitudinizing is a characteristic mark of the "cad" genus.

It is suggested to us that a very good variation from the customary celebration of the Fourth of July would be by means of a regatta. With the recent accessions to the yacht fleet there ought to be the finest sailing races ever had here. The rowing fraternity has a number of well-trained crews, that would doubtless be supplemented by the British warship Esplanade. The King's birthday regattas have been comparative failures the past few years, owing in great part to inclement weather prevailing on the day. If the aquatic knights agree to have a regatta on the Fourth, there is no doubt they can make one to be remembered.

The BULLETIN's proposition to the Advertiser was not a bet. Our statement contradicted by the latter paper is backed by evidence that would be acceptable in a court of law. The Advertiser's contradiction was only instigated by a contemptible desire to discredit a contemporary. In declining to make good its contradiction or else withdraw it, the Advertiser proves itself to be destitute of honorable principle. If the five dollars is a stumbling block to its immaculate cloth, then we undertake to stake an humble apology on the issue instead. This gives the Advertiser one more chance to show that it is controlled by gentlemen.

The Advertiser ought at least to be modest, in view of its "bad break" regarding the Wandering Minstrel. When its own files contained the whole story, including the Marine Court's complete exoneration of Capt. Walker, the second-hand attack on that gentleman is difficult of excuse. Capt. Walker is himself within an hour's ride of Honolulu and it would have been only decent to have asked him for his side of the story. Instead, however, of humbly apologizing to Capt. Walker, our contemporary adds insult to injury by lauding the mate, Cameron, whom the former denounced as having proved traitorous to him, taking side with the outlaw Jorgensen, on the desert island.

THE EX-AMBASSADOR.

Mr. John E. Bush has a bombastic letter in the Advertiser, attacking the BULLETIN for certain remarks by "Galileo" upon the writer's new native paper. While as to the political phase of the controversy Mr. Bush may be left to our special Saturday contributor, his implied accusation of want of journalistic courtesy against this paper calls for a word. The BULLETIN was ahead of the paper praised by Mr. Bush in that regard, both in point of time and in cordiality, in extending a welcome to Ka Oiaio. That fact, however, did not imply immunity at our hands for the new comer in the arena, provided its course was afterwards deemed objectionable. Mr. Bush is simply pleading the baby act and evincing luxurious freshness in the newspaper business by his exhibition of grandiose irritability in the columns of a third paper.

WAS THERE BLAME?

The San Francisco Call devotes two columns to an investigation of Admiral Kimberly's conduct in keeping the squadron in Apia harbor in the face of unmistakable premonitions of the hurricane. Interviews with returned naval officers and experienced mariners are given, which support the theory that the American Admiral would have taken his ships to sea but that he felt it to be his duty to remain in the harbor as long as the Germans would. It is stated as a fact that Admiral Kimberly signalled to the Captain of the Olga that his ground tackle would not hold in a hurricane, only to receive the reply, in effect, that he might leave but the German warships should remain. This was twenty-four hours before the hurricane and it is assumed that the Admiral decided it to be his duty to hold on while the Germans did. Some of those interviewed looking at the matter in the same light justify Kimberly's decision, and there will be many people of the same mind. Whether this theory of the Admiral's conduct is correct or not, there are other considerations that ought to modify judgment thereupon. It is not merely not certain but it is very doubtful if the vessels, had they sought the open sea, would have lived in the fearful storm. Foundering far from land there would have been none left to tell the tale instead of the majority being saved as was the case with the stranding in harbor. It is only about two years since the British gunboat Wasp was, supposedly, caught in a typhoon in the open sea off China never to be heard of more. Again, there was no telling in advance of the degree or duration of the hurricane. The warships endured it all of a night, while the beach was strewn with wrecks of merchant vessels, and hopes of moderation in the tempest were entertained at morning which, however, were dashed by its revival with only increased fury. The fact that the British warship Calypso stayed in the harbor until the last resort, although her mission there was not to "watch the Germans," may be against the foregoing theory, that it should be mentioned, is not by any means a new one, but was one of the first explanations of the general catastrophe heard uttered in Honolulu on the arrival of the intelligence. If the theory is correct there is an element of heroism in Admiral Kimberly's determination to stand by his specified duty, such as every nation expects to find in its defenders on either sea or land. Since, however, the Admiral, notwithstanding the waiver of the Navy Department in that regard, has requested a full investigation of his conduct, criticism thereof is for the present premature.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.

The newly-instituted tramways in Honolulu, which were constructed under the auspices of Messrs. Skinner and Co., of London, are likely to prove a brilliant success and pay the shareholders of the Company a large dividend. It has been found that the lower native element, as well as the Chinese and Japanese elements in the population of the Hawaiian capital, has risen beyond all expectation to the bait of "cheap fares and rapid and comfortable methods of locomotion. The missionaries have, to their credit, done much to civilize the subjects of the royal race of the Kamehamehas, but the crowning mercy will be trams and railways.

Owing to the success of the Honolulu Tramway, the eyes of native capitalists have been opened to the merits of another scheme—the "Oahu Railway and Land Company." The objects of this company are, to make a railway from Honolulu to Pearl River, or, as it is sometimes called, Pearl Harbor, an inlet of the ocean, about fifteen miles from Honolulu, and to colonize and exploit the land on each side the track of the railway, as well as a beautiful stretch of country on the northern shore of Pearl River, where the United States Government has procured the right of establishing a coal depot, if not a naval arsenal. The capital of the new company is $140,000. The company proposes to issue $60,000 7 per cent. bonds, secured as a first charge or mortgage upon the entire property. The grant from the Hawaiian Legislature has been obtained, and, according to our latest advices, the bonds have already been fully subscribed for. The promoter of the scheme is Mr. B. F. Dillingham; he has devoted much time and expense to the realization of the project; his labors are now rewarded with an almost unlooked for success.

In 1886 Mr. Dillingham was in London and offered the undertaking to British capitalists, who, as usual, were busy running after great financial names and great "pulls" in foreign investments, not destined to prove anything like so remunerative. With their usual ignorance of the waggings of the world their notions of the Sandwich Islands were probably derived from "Cook's Voyages." Honolulu, the capital of the kingdom of Hawaii, has now a population of 25,000, and its commercial and political importance is hourly increasing. The sugar industry of the islands is well known to those in the trade from the one fact alone that whereas the average yield of cane sugar lands in the rest of the world is about 1½ tons to the acre, the plantations in Hawaii yield 4, 5 and even 6 tons to the acre. The quantity of rice and paddy now grown in the Ewa district, to be tapped by the new "Oahu Steam Railroad," equals 6,000 tons per annum, and can be enormously increased by improved means of communication. The passenger traffic of the proposed railway will be fed by the rice growers in the Ewa district, independently of the population of Honolulu, many of whom will, in course of time, make the shores of the Pearl River their permanent place of resort. The building of villa residences forms part of Mr. Dillingham's scheme, which it appears has been enthusiastically taken up by native capitalists. A similar and equally ominous effort of "native capital" was referred to in this journal long since in reference to the "Pobladora" Railway Company in Buenos Ayres. British capitalists can no longer hope for the easy-going monopoly they have enjoyed in the world's commerce, but they can make the acquaintance of Mr. Stanford and other caterers of political geography, and they can watch the experiments now making in their own country in electric motive power, and be ready to apply their knowledge remuneratively in distant lands without waiting to be dunned and perhaps eventually forestalled.—[London Railway Press, March 15.]

ORIENTAL ITEMS.

Admiral Belknap, U. S. N., received a cablegram on May 8th from the Secretary of Navy to suspend the sale of the Monocacy, and to have her re-surveyed to ascertain if she is worthy of repair for service on the Asiatic Station.

The North China Daily News notes that the shape of the Chinese nautical flag is now altered. Instead of being triangular it is square. The men-of-war were the first to use the new flag and now the merchant steamers have it.

The Atsuta Temple, in Owari District, Japan, is to be created an Imperial shrine. It is said that the Emperor intends to subscribe $10,000 and the Empress and Empress Dowager $500 each to the Temple fund.

The Emperor of Japan has presented to the family of the late Mr. Hida, who was killed at Fudjida Station, $3,000. The Empress and Empress Dowager have each forwarded a subscription of $500.

The police stopped Rev. T. S. Tyng, an American Episcopal missionary, from preaching at Takeomachi, Japan. The Japan Gazette complains of this action, in view of the fact that a European Buddhist is allowed to stump the country from end to end.

Count Saigo has given a dejeuner to Rear-Admiral Belknap, U. S. N., and officers of the flagship Omaha and Monocacy.

Mr. Omiwa, a rich merchant of Osaka, and others have applied to the Osaka City Government asking for permission to lay an electric tramway between M'eda and Namba.

Ants, Mice, Moths &amp; Roaches In Pianos!

IN this country, especially where Ants, Mice, Moths and Roaches infest your Pianos to the destruction of the same, and the annoyance of all called upon to use them, it would be well to place your instruments in Mr. J. W. YARNLEY'S care, who will effectively clear them of all destructive insects, and, cleanse the strings and tuning pins from rust. See to this before it is too late!

Let Mr. YARNLEY tune your Pianos and keep them in tune. Many Pianos suffer greatly and become worthless for need of intelligent and more frequent attention in regard to the above.

Orders received at the office of the Hawaiian News Co., Merchant street, will be promptly attended to.

RECEPTIONS AT THE PALACE.

Her Majesty the Queen received yesterday at 11 o'clock at Iolani Palace Mrs. H. A. P. Carter, wife of His Excellency the Hawaiian Minister at Washington. The following were received by Her Majesty at the same time: Mrs. A. F. Judd, Mrs. Chas. L. Carter, Misses Francis I., Agnes and C. J. Carter, and John S. Pratt, M. D.

His Majesty the King and the Highnesses Princess Kawananakoa and Kalaianakole were present during the reception. Mr. J. W. Robertson, H. M.'s Vice-Chamberlain, presented the visitors to the Queen. Mrs. J. W. Robertson was in attendance upon Her Majesty.

At noon His Majesty the King received His Excellency George W. Merrill, U. S. Minister Resident, who presented the following autograph letter from President Harrison:—

BENJAMIN HARRISON, President of the United States of America, To His Majesty KALAKAUA, King of the Sandwich Islands, Great and Good Friend:—

I have received your letter of April 16, 1889, expressing on behalf of the Government and people of Hawaii, their sincere condolence with the Government and people of the United States in the terrible calamity which has lately fallen upon them in the disaster at Samoa, when so many valuable lives of officers and seamen of the United States were lost.

I have been deeply moved by the warmth of the expressions of sorrow and sympathy so vouchsafed, and offer you in return the grateful acknowledgments of the American people who, I am sure, heartily appreciate the spirit which animated your feeling tribute and future hope.

Your Good Friend,
By the President,
JAMES G. BLAINE,
Secretary of State,
Washington, May 17, 1889.

His Excellency Mr. Merrill was presented on this occasion by His Ex. Jona. Austin, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

At 11 o'clock this morning the Rev. W. D. and Mrs. Westervelt were received by the King.

THE DAVIS ROBBERY.

Owing to pressure on our space yesterday a very brief notice of the robbery at Mr. M. Davis' store on Tuesday was given. In rear of the store is a small room which has been undergoing repairs at the hands of Mr. Ouderkerk, the builder. The latter employed Frank Davis to assist him, but warned the proprietor of the store to keep a sharp lookout on Frank as he bore a bad character. It was only because Mr. Ouderkerk could not get another man that he employed Davis.

When the proprietor of the store with his wife returned home from the races they found the goods in the store scattered in every direction. Upon examination there was missed balbriggan drawers, socks and undershirts, boots, jewelry, silk handkerchiefs, two pistols, knives, half a box of cigarettes, and other articles too numerous to mention. There is a very narrow door leading from the foundry lane to the rear of the store, fastened inside by a wooden catch. This was easily pushed up by the thief. A pane of glass was out in the window of the room where Mr. Ouderkerk was at work. This gave anyone easy access to the room. From this room a door leads into the store. It was locked by Mr. Davis when he went away, but the thief used a couple of chisels which were lying around with other tools and pried the door open. The marks of the chisel are plainly to be seen. Frank Davis was seen going in and out of the premises by some of the employees of the foundry, but as he had been working there several days this fact disarmed any suspicion in their minds.

Captain Larsen arrested Frank Davis on Wednesday morning as the latter was going to work. Frank pleaded ignorance of the whole affair. He was locked up at the Station House and the case will come up to-morrow. Captain Larsen searched the room of the woman Davis lives with and there found some of the stolen silk handkerchiefs and cigarettes.

The BULLETIN extends its thanks to Mr. C. O. Berger, Secretary of the Hawaiian Jockey Club, for favors extended to its representative on the eleventh of June.

The combined concert at Emma Square this evening by the Royal Hawaiian and St. Louis' College bands will be a rare treat and sure to attract a large audience.

Not a single copy of last evening's BULLETIN is left, though extra ones were printed. The very complete account of the races will appear in the Weekly Summary issued next Tuesday.

It is reported that the members of the new Kamehameha Rifle Association are buying up all the rifles in use during the so-called revolution in 1887. They pay $7 for a rifle and belt, but for $8 one hundred rounds of ammunition are thrown in.

Some police ought to be stationed in the grounds of St. Andrew's Cathedral this evening during the band concert, as it is the rule of a gang of young hoodlums to plant themselves in the porch of St. Andrew's Priory and the Sunday school room, and behave themselves in a very unruly manner.

Late Foreign News.

At Houston, Texas, last month, Professor St. Clair, the aeronaut, in attempting to give his "leap from the clouds" at the fair ground park, lost his grip on the parachute and fell 300 feet to the earth. Nearly every bone in his body was broken.

A Paris despatch of June 3 says: That American enterprise has taken hold of the Nicaragua Canal, promising immediate commencement of work on that formidable rival to the Aspinwall ditch, has not escaped the notice of those hangers-on of the Bourse who are financially interested in De Lesseps' schemes. The news of the departure of workmen for Nicaragua was regarded, it must be confessed, in the light of a piece of "bluffing," but the announcement of the impending withdrawal of the dredgers from Colon, to be sent to the new scene of activity has thoroughly aroused the stockholders in the Panama concern.

To-day a great meeting of all those interested was held. Over 400 stockholders and brokers were present and plans for the rehabilitation of the canal corporation were discussed. The friends of De Lesseps were greatly in the majority and through their efforts it was decided to send a commission to Panama at once to inspect the canal works. The French have by no means lost heart in their enterprise.

The Cronin murder in Chicago is still a mystery. [Our previous news item regarding this case was in error in stating that Cronin had given evidence at the Parnell inquiry. The suspicion was that he was killed by the Clan na Gael for fear of his divulging information he possessed, he having been a warm Irish Nationalist but opposed to criminal methods. The latest news discredits this suspicion.—Ed.]

There is severe drouth in Venezuela. The American Consul Plummer writes that water for his household costs 80 cents a day with 30 cents additional for hauling it. Poor people have to drink brackish water, in consequence of which yellow fever is extending into the mountains for the first time on record.

There are 300,000 bags of coffee awaiting shipment, which cannot be moved till the waters rise. A cloudburst near Coburg, Canada, destroyed property worth $500,000. Inmates of houses were rescued in boats.

The Pacific Coast Eight Hour League has been formed in San Francisco at a convention of the Federated Trades.

Earl Zetland is to be the new Viceroy of Ireland.

Advices have reached the Italian Embassy in Berlin that the Pope's health is seriously affected. Dr. Ceccarelli, the Pope's chief physician, is reported as saying that His Holiness may die at any moment. Premier Crispien is credited with a design to occupy the Vatican in the event of the convocation of Cardinals meeting abroad.

About the only concession reported to have been made by the Americans in the Samoan conference, is agreeing to let Great Britain appoint the first resident judge of the foreign community. In official circles in Berlin it is surmised that, as Chief Justice Coleridge will have the power to appoint the Judge, the known personal relations of the Chief Justice with America had something to do with the American Commissioners' concession. The German public are said to be impatient at the delay in the United States Government sending forward acceptance of the treaty. It is believed the German desire is to have the conference and its issues buried as early as possible.

A HEAVY SENTENCE.

Four Chinamen were up in the Police Court this morning charged with having opium in possession. They were arrested in a room in the Chinese Theatre by Capt. Larsen and three native police officers, along with a lot of paraphernalia used for smoking the drug. The haul included two full tins of opium, one half full, eight or nine empty ones, pipes, scales, lamps, etc. One of the men, Ah Sing, who looks like an inveterate opium smoker, pleaded guilty, Ah Hin not guilty, while the other two were discharged. Ah Hin, after the evidence for the prosecution was in, made a statement, in which he said that he was asleep in the room at the time the raid was made, and was awakened by the noise the police made. He denied placing a tin of opium on the window sill with the intention of throwing it away, and called as witnesses the two Chinese who were discharged. When placed on the stand they both stated emphatically that Ah Hin did have the half full tin in his hand.

Judge Foster, in giving sentence, remarked that the Government had said he had been too easy with opium possessors and smokers. They (the Government) were determined to break up the traffic and he must impose more severe penalties. His Honor then fined Ah Sing and Ah Hin each $100 with six months' imprisonment at hard labor.

CHANGE OF SAILING TIME.

The sailing of the barkentine W. H. Dimond has been postponed until ten o'clock to-morrow morning, the mail closing at the Post Office at 9 o'clock. The Consuelo also leaves to-morrow at noon and will carry a mail which closes at 11 o'clock.

THE CRUISER CHARLESTON.

She Encounters a Heavy Storm on Her Trial Trip.

The U. S. cruiser Charleston arrived at Santa Barbara on her trial trip about 5:30 p. m., on Tuesday, May 8th, making under easy steam during the last portion of the trip a little more than fourteen knots per hour. The cruiser left Mission rock, San Francisco bay, at 5:48 o'clock that morning under a cloudless sky. The scene presented on the deck of the cruiser was in sharp contrast to the smart appearance of an American man-of-war in commission. She had pig-iron bars in sufficient number to represent the weight of the powerful guns. The brass railings and mountings lacked polish, while a great portion of the wood and metal work was covered with tarpaulins for protection. On the berth deck sleeping accommodation had been improvised for those on board. Apart from these features, which had no bearings upon the working capacity of the cruiser, she was in readiness to attempt the duty assigned her of developing 7,000 horsepower by her two compound engines for four consecutive hours, a more severe test, it is claimed, than any to which ships of war are usually subjected in making a test of power and speed. The cruiser was in command of Captain Charles M. Goodall. The official inspection board of United States naval officers consisted of Commodore A. E. K. Benham, Commander Henry Glass, Naval Constructor Joseph Feaster, Lieutenant E. F. Quiltnough and Chief Engineer R. L. Harris. Naval Constructor Fernald, who supervised the building of the Charleston; the inspecting corps of engineers consisting of Chief Engineers F. J. Hoffman and E. T. Warburton, Assistant Engineers J. N. Hollis, G. W. McElroy, J. M. Pickrell, C. W. Disson, T. W. Kinkaid, W. S. Smith and H. L. Leonard; representatives of the Union Iron Works, and several naval officers in a semi-official capacity, were also on board.

After her compasses had been satisfactorily adjusted, the Charleston at 8 o'clock headed down the bay, the Union Jack flying at the fore, while the American ensign was hoisted aft. A strong southwest wind had been blowing, and the rolling waves on the bar, capped with white, gave full notice that the cruiser was to receive a rough baptism. The engines had been gauged to forty revolutions, which served to press the ship steadily forward into the sea, which was coming almost directly head on, the waves rising higher and coming with increasing violence, besides breaking forward.

The water began to come over the starboard side of the main deck. The cruiser held steadily on, rolling very little, but dipping down sharply after rising on a big wave, lifting her stern high in the air, and during the roughest portion of the passage both screws at various stages were completely out of the water. This rough passage occupied nearly an hour. Her head being turned toward the south, she finally rode out to sea, and the naval officers were free to say that the Charleston had behaved handsomely, and that the test had been a severe one in the matter of her staunchness. Constructor Fernald remarked that in ten years' service he would probably not encounter a rougher sea or be subjected to a severer test as to her structural sea-going qualities.

From 10 o'clock until 1 o'clock in the afternoon the engines were allowed to exhibit little more power, and the cruiser's progress indicated an even speed of eleven knots. When off Santa Cruz the engines were slowed down on account of a slight tendency to heating shown by the cross-head of one of the high-pressure cylinders and were finally stopped to put a shin under the cross-head to relieve the tendency. The engines were again started at 6 o'clock in the afternoon, and were run steadily to Santa Barbara, at a gradual increase of speed, without showing further heating.

The engineer's report shows that in the run from San Francisco to Santa Barbara not a journal or pin showed heat, the engines had run smoothly and without a jar, and, with the one exception noted, to the entire satisfaction of the contractors and government engineer. The air-pump vacuum remained steadily at 27 inches during the run. During the four hours' run from off Point Bench to Point Conception, ending at 3 o'clock, the speed of the cruiser averaged 13 3-10 knots an hour. From Point Conception to Santa Barbara the engines were maintained at a steadily-increasing speed, and the cruiser exhibited a maximum speed at 14 12-100 knots during the last stage of the run to the latter port.

AN INTERESTING LETTER FROM A VETERAN.

AS this is Jubilee year it tends to make one look back and think of the flight of time, and in this way I am reminded that I am one of the veterans in the sale of your valuable and successful medicine. I have sold it from the very first, and have sent it into every country in England and many parts of Scotland. Well do I remember the first circular you sent out some nine or ten years ago. You had come to England from America to introduce Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and I was struck by a paragraph in which you used these words:—"Being a stranger in a strange land, I do not wish the people to feel that I want to take the least advantage over them. I feel that I have a remedy that will cure disease, and I have so much confidence in it that I authorize my agents to refund the money if people should say that they have not benefited by its use." I felt at once that you would never say that unless the medicine had merit, and I applied for the agency, a step which I now look back upon with pride and satisfaction.

Ever since that time I have found it by far the best remedy for Indigestion and Dyspepsia I have met with, and I have sold thousands of bottles. It has never failed in any case where there were any of the following symptoms:—Nervous or sick headache, sourness of the stomach, rising of the food after eating, a sense of fullness and heaviness, dizziness, bad breath, slime and mucus on the gums and teeth, constipation, and yellowness of the eyes and skin, dull and sleepy sensations, ringing in the ears, heartburn, loss of appetite, and, in short, wherever there are signs that the systems is clogged, and the blood is out of order. Upon repeated inquiries, covering a great variety of ailments, my customers have always answered, "I am better," or "I am perfectly well." What I have seldom or never seen before in the case of any medicine is that people tell each other of its virtues, and those who have been cured say to the suffering:—"Go and get Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, it will make you well." Out of the hundreds of cures I will name one or two that happen to come into my mind.

Two old gentlemen, whose names they would not like me to give you, had been martyrs to Indigestion and Dyspepsia for many years. They had tried all kinds of medicine without relief. One of them was so bad he could not bear a glass of ale. Both were advised to use the Syrup and both recovered, and were as hale and hearty as men in the prime of life.

A remarkable case is that of a house painter named Jeffries, who lived at Penhurst, in Kent. His business obliged him to expose himself a great deal to wind and weather, and he was seized with rheumatism, and his joints soon swelled up with dropsy, and were very stiff and painful. Nothing that the doctors could do seemed to reach the seat of the trouble. It so crippled him that he could do hardly any work, and for the whole of the winter of 1878 and '79, he had to give up and take to his bed. He had been afflicted in this sorry way for three years, and was getting worn out and discouraged. Besides, he had spent over £13 for what he called "doctor's stuff" without the least benefit. In the Spring he heard of what Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup has done for others and bought a 2s. 6d. bottle of me. In a few days he sent me word he was much better—before he had finished the bottle. He then sent to me for a 4s. 6d. bottle, and as I was going that way I carried it down to him myself. On getting to his house what was my astonishment and surprise to find him out in the garden weeding an onion bed. I could hardly believe my own eyes, and said:—"You ought not to be out here, man, it may be the death of you, after being laid up all winter with rheumatism and dropsy." His reply was:—"There is no danger. The weather is fine, and Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup has done for me in a few days what the doctors could not do in three years. I think I shall get well now." He kept on with the Syrup, and in three weeks he was at work again, and has had no return of the trouble for now nearly ten years. Any medicine that can do this should be known all over the world.

Yours faithfully, (Signed) RUPERT GRAHAM, Of Graham & Son, Holloway House, Sunbury, Middlesex, June 25th, 1887.

The above wonderful cure of Rheumatism was the result of the remarkable power of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup to cleanse the blood of the poisonous humours that arise from Indigestion and Dyspepsia. Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup is for sale by all chemists and medicine vendors, and by the proprietors, A. J. White, Limited, 35, Farringdon Road, London, Eng. Jan. 13-88-2
