NOT A RIPPLE RUFFLES CALM

Meeting of the Supervisors Proves Peaceful and Quiet.

There wasn't a ripple on the surface of the supervisory waters last night; not a breath of the wind of discontent ruffled their placid calm; there was no heated oratory, no torrid breeze. No excited Supervisor called another honorable member to account for anything. Everything was peace and harmony and dull routine. There was not even any discussion worth mentioning, except at the very last, when the plea of two Palolo homesteaders for the expenditure of a little public money for the construction of a road into their valley aroused a few comments by the Mayor and Supervisor Quinn. The dairy ordinance was not discussed at all. In fact, nobody appeared to be in the mood for discussion. The absence of Supervisor Aylett was noticeable.

Rebuked and Turned Down.

The Ways and Means Committee, in a report to the Board, and adopted by that body without comment, administers a mild rebuff to the Commissioners of Public Instruction and turns them down in the matter of furnishing supplies for the schools. The report is as follows:

Your Committee on Ways and Means begs to report on two matters referred to us:

1. Contracts have been awarded for supplying school furniture as follows: To Wall, Nichols Co., Ltd., 125 Chandler desks with Boston lifting lids, and quarter revolving chairs, for McKin-

VANDALS DEFACE PALI MEMORIAL

Tablet Erected to Perpetuate Great Battle Is Being Ruined.

Vandals have started to deface the Kamehameha memorial tablet, erected at Nuuanu Pali by the Daughters of Hawaii, and unveiled but a short time ago. Some persons, lacking any apparent sense of decency, have scratched their names in the tablet with sharp rocks, and in other ways endeavored to deface the memorial as much as possible.

The memorial tablet reposes in the back of a niche, cut in the solid rock at the Pali, and considerable money was expended in providing the memorial. The niche serves not only as a remembrance of the battle of Nuuanu Pali, but is also a delightful rest spot for visitors who wish to sit and admire the superb grandeur of the Pali while sheltered from the wind.

People are highly incensed at the utter wantonness of the vandals, and if any of the offenders can be identified, it will probably go hard with them.

INTER-ISLAND STOCK REACHES HIGH FIGURE

Inter-Island Steam Navigation stock yesterday sold at 111, the highest figure that has been reached since the stock dividend was declared some months ago. A block of ten shares was all that there was in sight even at that figure.

Pioneer, which day before yesterday was rather sluggish at 182.50, yesterday was in demand at 185, and thirty-five shares changed hands at that price. There was comparatively little trading on the 'Change, but almost without exception prices continued strong.

PROF. DENING TO BE ARRESTED

Is Wanted as Witness at September Term of Court.

Professor Walter Denning, the learned scholar and student of the Japanese language, who was brought to Honolulu from Sensu, Japan, to act as special translator for the prosecution in the various trials arising out of the Japanese plantation strike, is to be arrested.

A statement to this startling effect was made yesterday afternoon by Attorney J. Lightfoot who is conducting the defense in the conspiracy trial and who represents all the other Japanese arrested as the result of strike incidents. But this does not mean that Professor Denning has committed any crime or has in any way offended against the laws of the United States or the Territory of Hawaii. It means that Mr. Lightfoot is merely taking steps to prevent the Professor's return to Japan on the steamer leaving here August 24.

Professor Denning, as stated before, was brought here by the prosecution, which has promised to remunerate him for his time and services to the extent of $2000, one thousand of which was added to the original sum promised in order to hold him here a few weeks longer. But Mr. Lightfoot sprang a surprise on the prosecution by subpoenaing Professor Denning to be present at the September term of court, at which one of the strike trials are set to take place. He also announces that he intends to issue a subpoena for Professor Denning to be present at the October term of the United States District Court, at which the trial of some of the Japanese is scheduled to take place.

Professor Denning has arranged to leave on August 24 for Japan, or if he cannot get away by that time, at least to go on the steamer sailing August 30. Mr. Lightfoot will make that claim to the court and ask for a warrant of arrest to hold the Professor and that he be put under bonds to insure his appearance when he is needed.

Whether Mr. Lightfoot will be able to hold Professor Denning in this way is a question for the court to decide. It is claimed by the Attorney General that if the defense retains him here as an expert, it will have to pay him an expert's fee or it cannot keep him. But if he wants him as anything but an expert witness, the case will be different and he will have a right to request that the Professor be put under bonds to appear at the September term of court.

Meantime, Professor Denning is placed in an awkward position. His school in Japan is to open on September 12 and it is essential that he be there. But if he is ordered to be here in court in September, he has no recourse.

SCHWERIN WILL ADDRESS CHAMBER.

R. P. Schwerin will address the Chamber of Commerce some day next week. Yesterday Secretary Wood called upon the Pacific Mail magnate and secured his promise to give a talk before the chamber.

CONVENT SOON IN NEW HOME

The Building Will Be Formally Opened a Month From Today.

One month from today the new convent of the Sisters of the Sacred Hearts at Kaimuki will be formally opened. Work on the structure is being rushed along, and within the next three weeks, everything will be ready for the installation of the furniture and other equipment.

The new convent building, which was erected at a cost of something over $55,000, is one of the finest, if not actually the finest, school buildings in the Territory. It is entirely of reinforced concrete, wholly fireproof, is fitted with the latest type of modern sanitary plumbing, and is as attractive as skill and money could make it. It was designed by Architect H. L. Kerr of this city.

The erection of the convent was made possible by the donation of $10,000 by the late August Dreier. For some time the Sisters had been planning to erect a new building, but it was not until they received the Dreier bequest that they saw their way clear toward undertaking the work.

The building, which is 140 by 110 feet in size, is located in the center of a 4-acre lot in Kaimuki. The property cost $2800 and is beautifully situated. It comprises an entire city block. It is estimated that the furnishings will cost at least $5000 more, so the total cost of the plant will be about $82,000.

The building is two stories in height, with a 12-foot basement. As but four feet of the basement is underground, this floor is almost as desirable as any. The building is erected on three sides of a courtyard, with broad lanais giving access to the different rooms. The

SOUP KITCHEN STILL ACTIVE

Seven Hundred Japanese Are Being Fed There
Daily.

The free soup kitchen of the Higher Wage Association is still in operation, on an average of 700 persons being fed there daily. Many of these found no jobs awaiting them when they went back to the plantations, so there was nothing left for them but to return to this city.

Many of those who have not been able to get work on the plantations which they left, will go to the other islands the first of the week. This will cut the patronage of the soup kitchens down somewhat, but meals will still be served to the wives of the workers, or to those who are not able to leave.

TOURIST TRADE STILL GROWING

Hotels Report Great Increase of Business Over Last Year.

The steady increase in tourist trade during the past year has more than fulfilled the expectations of the Promotion Committee, and there is every indication that it would have been even greater but for the very poor transportation facilities. As it is, last year's statistics look very puny compared with this year's showing.

The management of the Moana Hotel reports that there are now eighty guests there, whereas there were but eight at this time last year. Private hotels, which a year ago were but sparsely filled, now have goodly numbers, and many of them are taxed to their capacity.

Prophecies to the contrary notwithstanding, there has been little or no falling off in tourist activity during the summer months, and the applications for information at Promotion Committee headquarters have been considerably more numerous than is usual during the busiest part of the winter season.

Every mail from the Coast brings requests for information regarding Hawaii, and the inability to secure steamship accommodations is all apparently that keeps people from flocking here in even greater numbers. The following letter, which arrived by the last mail, is but a specimen of what Secretary Wood is receiving:

"Britt, Iowa, July 30, 1909.

"H. P. Wood, Secretary, Honolulu, Hawaii.

"Dear Sir: Kindly send me your illustrated folder. I wish to spend a couple of months there this winter and would like to make some small investment."

"I saw your representative at Buffalo in 1900 at Pan-American Exposition."

FOUND HUMAN HAND COATED WITH CORAL

While A. G. Derse, a practicing attorney of Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, was walking along the beach in the Kakaako district the other day he picked up a piece of coral of peculiar formation. Closer examination disclosed a human hand, petrified and covered in part with coral. The little finger, it is the left hand, is missing and may have been broken off by action of the waves in forcing it against the lava or coral. All of the bones in the hand and the two bones in the forearm are plainly shown. It is in a remarkably good state. Curio dealers express the opinion that the member has been in the water for a half century gathering the coating which covers the upper portion of it.

TANTALUS MAY HAVE HOTEL

Building Project Is Boosted by the Hawaii Promotion Committee.

There will be a hotel on Tantalus if the Promotion Committee can accomplish its desires. At yesterday afternoon's meeting of the committee, the matter was brought up for discussion and it was decided to see what can be done toward securing the establishment of a thoroughly first-class hostelry in Honolulu's beautiful highland district.

Secretary Wood announced that he had conferred with Superintendent of Public Works Marston Campbell in regard to the matter, and he read a letter from Campbell, stating that suitable government land is available, though it will have to be put up at auction if desired.

Wood announced that he had requested Architect Duisenberg to prepare tentative plans, a sketch, and estimate of cost for a hotel such as would be most suitable. He expects to have the data to present to the Promotion Committee in the near future.

The Promotion Committee has been considering the matter for some time, but until now there has been so much other business requiring the attention of the committee that no definite action has been possible. The matter will be pushed along vigorously from now on.

A resolution prepared by J. L. McLean, granting Secretary Wood three months' leave of absence with full pay, was presented. It was explained that Wood contemplates touring the Orient, and will visit the leading civic organizations of China and Japan, with the view to cementing closer relationship between them and the local civic bodies.

It was explained that Wood will defray all of his own expenses. The resolution met with hearty approval.

At the last meeting of the trustees of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Wood was granted a like leave of absence from his duties with that body.

Mr. Wood explained that, before starting, he will have everything in working order, so that promotion work will not suffer in any way by his absence.

The Secretary's Letter.

Honolulu, August 12, 1909.
Chairman and Members of the Hawaii Promotion Committee.

Gentlemen: Travel to Hawaii still keeps up in a most satisfactory manner with the outlook for a record breaking winter travel brightening right along.

The following letter gives the latest information concerning the proposed Elks and Knights of Columbus Excursions:

"San Francisco, Aug. 5, 1909.
"My Dear Mr. Wood: As you probably are aware we are working on the Salt Lake Lodge of Elks for an island trip during the month of January. We are also in negotiation with a committee for a similar excursion trip account Knights of Columbus. The latter gentlemen now think that the month of May is the more desirable one to visit the islands. This feature I am not thoroughly informed on and wish you would drop me a line stating periods best adapted, taking into consideration weather conditions, crops, etc.

"With both of these parties we propose to make a lump sum charge for the steamer Queen to leave San Francisco sailing direct to Hilo, thence to Honolulu. Our charge does not include lightage of passengers between ship and shore at Hilo and Honolulu, neither does it include the volcano trip from Hilo. I wish to know what

Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Columbus, Ohio.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during a change of life. My doctor told me it was good, and since taking it I feel so much better that I can do all my work again. I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fine remedy for all woman's troubles, and I never forget to tell my friends what it has done for me."
—Mrs. E. HANSON, 304 East Long St., Columbus, Ohio.

Another Woman Helped.
Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength, and proved worth mountains of gold to me. For the sake of other suffering women I am willing you should publish my letter."—Mrs. CHARLES BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

charge is made for the volcano trip from Hilo, figuring at least 200 in each party. How many can be accommodated at the Volcano hotel? How long a trip is it? How much time is consumed? If it is necessary to split up parties into relays can two relays be handled each day? For instance, one party to go to the volcano leaving Hilo in the morning and after their return another party to be taken over, the latter to remain at the hotel overnight. State also what facilities there are for lightage between ship and shore both at Hilo and Honolulu, also what charge is made for these shore trips.

"In each case we have stated to the parties that they may live aboard the ship entirely if it is their desire to do so. I would like in this connection to have you state what hotel rates they may expect for those desiring to live ashore at Honolulu.

"The above outlines the principal features I wish covered and hope you will anticipate any other information that will be valuable to enable us to state to the committee intelligently conditions in all possible directions.

"I will feel obliged for a reply at your early convenience.

"Very truly yours,
C. D. DUNNAN,
"G. P. A., Pacific Coast S. S. Co."

Our agent at Los Angeles, Mrs. Frances K. Headlee, writes under date of August 3, in part as follows:

"The attendance at lecture today was fully one hundred and fifty. Several, during the past week, have said they expect to spend next winter in the islands. Some three or four here, during past week, will leave for the islands within a month. One teacher, a Miss Hans, will leave on the Korea on the 5th. I am sending her to you as she has only eleven days there. I made out itinerary for her. I believe we are going to have the greatest tourist season this winter that the islands ever have had for every one is interested.

"When you send literature again, please send the different island folders with itineraries. The literature is going fast—more than thirty copies of 'Hawaii, Its Agriculture Possibilities' being taken at the close of the lecture today and none of them were handed out; I simply called attention to them during the talk.

"I have made arrangements for Hawaii literature at Alexandria Hotel, Examiner office and other places, so I need plenty of the new blue folders and also other kinds. I am sending out this week about forty letters to clubs and societies asking for a place on their programs for the coming season and several are already arranged. I sent ten or twelve photographs to a Mr. Boothby who is now in Denver and of whom I spoke to you while there in Honolulu. He is preparing an article on Hawaii for a magazine and while I did not have all the pictures he wished, I think he can do nicely with those I sent; however, I told him to write you if he wanted others. I have read some of his writings and he writes well.

"I have (as I wrote in my last letter) three lectures arranged and will have a fourth ready the last of this week but can not arrange any more until other slides come.

"I am delighted to see how the plan of the course of lectures is taking, and how people come back to hear all of them. 'Hawaii, Old and New' is very popular. I will put more time on 'Life in Hawaii'; as there are no lectures on Saturday during August and September (the Chamber closes at noon that day), I can only have the five until Oct. 1, anyway. That one I will make the most finished as there are greater opportunities with that than some of the others. But each one will have its strong points.

"I have laid aside duplicates of slides enough to make up a set of sixty for Mr. Super or Mr. Wadman, or others wishing them occasionally. Within the present month I will have plans complete for decoration of booth here and will submit the same to you."

The following letter from a prominent physician of New Haven, Connecticut, we received by the Korea yesterday, in answer to our circular letter to physicians:

"I was very glad to receive your letter of June 30 with reference to the climate of Hawaii and its desirability as a health and vacation resort. I should fancy it was just the place that many of us have been looking for. Will you please tell me definitely how the prices for board and room per week range and also what prices are charged for passage from San Francisco."

Concerning our 1910 Floral Parade Poster, Mr. Harry Mest writes that he hopes to have the work out by the end of this month.

The following items of interest occur in a letter just received from Mr. Will J. Cooper bearing date of July 24:

"We were fortunate enough to be able to entertain informally some one hundred and fifty members of the National Editorial Association last Thursday evening. They have been in session here during the week but their time was so taken up that it required some lively hustling to get hold of them. However, thanks to your work in the past, a letter of yours which was read before the convention, some effective boosting by the indomitable ble Mrs. Weathered, and my own efforts, all of which were received with favor and paved the way, were able to side-track a reception and dance and so get our innings.

"We showed our motion pictures and afterwards fed the crowd with pineapple and they left us in a very agreeable frame of mind. I think it was very good missionary work which can be followed up to advantage.

"During the week there have also been conventions of medical associations of a number of states of the Northwest and I have met some of the delegates. J. J. Taylor, M.D., of 4105 Walnut street, Philadelphia, Pa., an editor of a medical journal in that city, tells me that the American Medical Association will meet next June in St. Louis, and that in all probability the following year in Los Angeles. He tells me that the prospect of an excursion to Hawaii at that time will have a good deal of weight with the delegates.

"The Bonine transparencies got here in good shape. None were broken, except three of the smaller pictures which were cracked slightly near the corners, which however, has not damaged them at all for our purpose. They have just been put in the windows and attract much attention. All of our people are much pleased with the pictures especially with the surfing views which none of us had seen. They are certainly fine."

I have found it necessary to secure extra assistance in addressing envelopes and mailing folders during the past few days but by the end of this month we will have concluded our special mail campaigns for next winter's travel and the regular office force will be able to take care of the work. During September, we will again round up the different Excursion Bureaus and Steamship and Railway Offices the world over, renewing supplies of folders, maps, etc.

I am pleased to be able to report that on each steamer leaving Honolulu there may be found one or more passengers who find it convenient to carry with them a good supply of our folders for distribution during their travels. This is a great help to us in our work and can not fail to bring results.

The fifth edition of "Hawaii, a Primer" is now coming from the press. While we are well supplied with advertising matter for the present, we shall need at least 100,000 copies of our general folder and 50,000 copies of the Primer early next year, as well as another edition of "Agriculture in Hawaii."

Respectfully submitted,
H. P. WOOD,
Secretary.

THE SOUP KITCHEN IS STILL ACTIVE

providing of course that the supplies hold out.

The source of the food supplies that are being handed out is causing some speculation. The principal Japanese merchants of the city have placed the seal of their disapproval upon the whole strike business, and supposedly have cut off any assistance that they may have been rendering. Since the conference with the delegates from the other islands, it is not considered at all probable that outside assistance is coming in.

No more men have returned from Aiea and Waipahu, and it is understood that they are settled now. Editor Soga of the Nippon Jiji, the Higher Wage organ, stated yesterday that, as far as he knows, no more men are leaving the plantations, nor will any more leave.

BOXERS CAN'T AFFORD TO LOSE

Too Much at Stake for the Middleweights to Take Chances.

By H. M. Ayres.

As the date of the twenty-rounds contest between Jack Cordell and Dick Sullivan approaches, the voice of the knocker, growing ever louder and more blatant, is heard in the land.

The first time these two boxers met Mr. Knocker had it all doped out that Sullivan was to win, he was going to remain here while his opponent was going away, so of course Sullivan would win. The contest resulted in a draw.

The second match was made and the whole Knocker tribe raucously proclaimed that the fight was fixed, that Sullivan was to win and that a betting hui stood prepared to back Honolulu Dick for as much money as was produced in support of Cordell.

The men elashed and for fifteen rounds fought like tigers, the verdict being a draw.

Then the third contest was arranged, this time over a twenty-round route. Every fight fan in the Territory welcomed the news of the match and even Mr. Knocker joined in the general acclaim which greeted the signing of articles for a bout which would indisputably decide on whose brow the laurels of the middleweight championship should rest.

Now, however, the Knocker tribe are getting busy again and with a look of great sapience on their faces suggest that Sullivan is going to win, for the reason, forsooth, that he has just embarked in business and cannot afford to lose.

Did you ever hear such fatuous argument? Coming down to cases there isn't sufficient inducement for either of the men to "fix" the fight, even were either so disposed.

Take Cordell for instance. He is a boxer pure and simple. His bread and butter is earned with his gloved fists. His reputation is his meal ticket. His career in the ring has been a long and honorable one and he aspires to still greater honors than have so far fallen to his share, considerable though the latter have been. A victory over Dick Sullivan will mean that Cordell will have one of the top-notchers of the middleweight division on his return to the Coast. It is rumored, moreover, that Cordell intends to return here during the visit of the fleet and challenge any boxer aboard the cruisers, meeting two men in the same ring on one night. If Cordell loses to Sullivan the kibosh will have been put on what looks to be a remunerative proposition for Cordell. No, it is unreasonable to suppose for a minute that the conqueror of Kid Herman, Jack Clifford, Charlie Seiger, Eddie Santry and Jack Dougherty, would throw a fight to Dick Sullivan, especially in a town where the aggregate wagers on a contest usually fall far short of five hundred dollars.

Now let us consider Sullivan. Dick has just gone into business for himself. It is a business which receives a large share of its patronage from the sporting section, transient and resident, of the community. As long as Sullivan keeps on winning there will be plenty of friends and admirers to drop in at his place, shake hands with the champion, and, incidentally, spend a little money.

Let Sullivan taste the bitters of defeat, however, and all this is changed. The world has little use for a loser and Honolulu is no exception to this rule. Nothing succeeds like success and nothing is shunned like failure. If Sullivan is counted out he had better abandon his role of boniface and go into the real estate or insurance business. Otherwise he will be so lonesome in his resort that he is apt to go crazy for want of company.

Here's the proposition: The two boxers are fighting for something more than the winning and losing end of the purse. Their means of livelihood is at stake. Neither can afford to lose and there isn't enough money in sight for either to do either in the ring than his level best.

If ever a fight was going to be decided on its merits it is this one, and if a doubting Thomas approaches you with a tale of suspicion and of woe, you are at liberty to refer him to the foregoing and then ask him what he thinks about it.

The boxers did gentle work yesterday and both seemed to be as fit as the proverbial fiddle. The arrangements at the Star Theater have about been completed and a number of improvements have been made.

The present indications are that the house will be the largest of any heretofore in this country. Seats are now on sale at Fitzpatrick's cigar store.

Corporal Davis, captain of the Marine team, is no longer corporal. He is now a sergeant. If his work in the corps is anything like his work at left field he sure ought to have a commission. Davis has proved himself to be one of the most energetic baseball workers. He gets his men out for practice and is a dandy at the signal work.

The four teams that will appear at the park on Sunday are practicing their heads off. The Boers have to play the Japs and the Half-wets are up against the Dragonets. Last Sunday's games have raised enthusiasm to such a pitch that all the players are out and some of them will have to work hard to hold their positions. There are many youngsters trying to get in.

TENNIS PLAYERS START FOR MAUI

Claudine Will Carry Honolulu Racquet-Wielders to Valley Isle.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock the tennis players will clamber aboard the good ship Claudine, Captain Bennett in charge, and will sail away for Maui, that hospitable island where they are all good sportsmen and their only intent is all for the delight of visitors.

As already announced, Mr. Gee will represent the Advertiser and will wireless the result of the games and write a story for Monday morning issue after he returns.

The Maunese tennis players have a strong aggregation. They put it all over the Oahu racquet men last year and there seems to be some danger that they will repeat the dose. Their team will be wonderfully strengthened by the addition of Seabury, who has arrived from the Coast and will leave on the Mauna Loa for McGregor's landing at noon today.

It is going to be a hard trip for the local players. They leave at 5 o'clock and reach Kahului at the mystic hour of somewhere between dawn and darkness. If they have slept well they will have been lucky, for the rolling of the steamer and the many stops at other ports when the raucous voice of the first mate yelling to his crew to "Lay on that tayeke!" and "Get some busy-busy now!" pops through the swinging curtains of sleep like a mosquito through a silk stocking.

Drop-lidded, but happy for the grand welcome that always comes to those who go to Maui, the tennis players will be put on a train at Kahului and hustled up to Punne where they will find bath and breakfast at the club. Then a rest and time to smoke the after breakfast pipe.

After that the strenuous bizarr will begin. The grandstand and all the space-round the courts will be filled with a glittering array of charming femininity with a sprinkling of mere men things. Soon after midday a halt will be called for lunch. A dozen courteous volunteers will chase all over the grounds with sandwiches and lemonade, sake and ice cream and cups of steaming coffee.

By that time most of the games will have been played. But there will be one or two games to be played off. The entire results will be figured up, the total wireless to the Advertiser by Mr. Gee and the call will go out for the special train to Kahului.

All the visitors who want to go will then go down to Kahului to watch the baseball game between the All-Maui and All-Hawaii teams. A return to Punne by another special train and then the big luau and dance in the ballroom of the clubhouse.

The Mikahala will leave Kahului at midnight and all the visitors will be taken down in another special train from Punne. The Mikahala will arrive here some time Sunday morning and a bunch of sleepy but happy tennis players will disembark to tell just how good a time the Maunese gave them.

The following is the list of players on both sides. The first named in each case represent Honolulu:

F. E. Steere and C. R. Hemenway vs. Wm. Lougher and Wm. Walsh; A. R. Cunha and W. L. Warren vs. Mr. Myers and A. M. Nowell; R. A. Cooke and F. C. Atherton vs. A. W. Collins and W. E. Foster; Capt. Low and D. W. Anderson vs. C. D. Lindsay and Rev. E. B. Turner; C. G. Bockus and John Waterhouse vs. J. Mellor and F. B. Rosecrans; J. J. Page and S. M. Ballou vs. F. F. Baldwin and J. B. Thompson.

MAUI CRICKET ARRANGEMENTS

There was a meeting of the Honolulu Cricket club yesterday afternoon, at which final details for the trip to Maui were discussed. The following names were listed as having been booked: Bob Anderson, C. P. Morse, R. A. Jordan, J. C. McGill, D. L. Withington, H. B. Bailey, H. M. Ayres, R. J. Buckley, J. N. Denham, J. H. Fiddes, C. F. Maxwell, F. B. Withington, S. Beardmore and W. L. Stanley. There are several others who will probably be able to get away.

The cricketers will leave here on the Mauna Kea at noon on Tuesday, August 24. They will be met at McGregor's landing by the Maunese and taken to Kahului where they will be housed for the night and properly fed. On Wednesday, August 25, the cricket match will be played. In the evening there will be a dinner and general good time and the bunch will return on the Claudine, which will be held over until the dinner is brought to a proper conclusion. There will be a special round-trip fare for the cricketers of $9 each. There will be absolutely no other expense connected with the trip.

There will be a special practice game on Saturday, August 21, between the Maui team and the rest of the club. It is hoped that the other players will show some enthusiasm and turn out for the game so that the Maui team may not have to go away entirely unpractised.

Hong Chack, who does the long catch stunt, has been talked about very much since last Sunday's game. Such really nifty work as his is making the C. A. C. get there. If the latter team had better signaling it would do much better.

Athletic Park Notes

Gibson, the Marine pitcher who stood up for nineteen innings last Sunday, has pitched twenty games here during the last few months, he lost only five of them and pitched one seventeen-inning game which was lost by his side, but not by him.

So far as can be found in the records, George Clark's record of twenty-eight innings pitched in one day is the limit. There have been twenty-four innings twirled by one man in one day, but search fails to show anything better. Not only twenty-eight innings pitched but only five hits made of him during the entire time. Is that going some?

Augie Dreier, first-baseman for the Japs, is making a great name in that position. He has not made an error since the Athletic park opened. He will be there on the big Eastern league diamonds one of these days if they ever give him a chance.

Gaw, the Marine shortstop, has handled some fierce daisy-croppers since the opening of the Oahu league series. With a few venial errors he has sure taken the heat off the ball on several very notable occasions. Gaw is said to have fingers made of asbestos, otherwise they would certainly get burned off when he brickwalls some of those humming birds. (For explanation see De Brian de Boru Finnegan in the Saturday Evening Post.)

Webster Junior is out of his place at second base for the J. A. C. He ought to be out in left field where he belongs. He has made some unfortunate errors in the infield but would never drop a hot fly if he were put out on left field.

The Oahu league had a meeting last night and did what it ought to have done long ago, boosted the salary of official scorer Nigel Jackson. Nige works hard and is the most enthusiastic and conscientious scorer in town.

Next week the batting averages of the teams that have appeared in the present series will be figured out by official scorer Nigel Jackson and published in these columns.

AMUSEMENTS

Boots and Saddles.

The Yellowstone park picture drew a crowd to the Park theater last night and Manager Congdon totals the number of persons who have seen it during the four days run at 4000—enough to warrant its being shelved for a few days to allow another to take its place. For tonight and the rest of the week "Boots and Saddles" will take its place, and the public will have an opportunity to witness a bit of Western border life, with Indians, soldiers, pretty girls, and all the rest that goes to make up life on the border. There is a good deal of life in this picture, including a realistic fight between renegade Indians and the troops, and the capture of a bad lieutenant, and the restoration to rank of a man who was unjustly treated. It will be a change and one which the audience will no doubt appreciate. More and more the people are realizing that the Park theater is free from the objectionable in moving pictures, and the place is reaping a harvest in consequence. The cool spot is inviting to ladies who do not wish to deprive their escorts of the pleasure of smoking, because the place is not enclosed and the odor of tobacco is not noticeable. King Lear will be shown tonight and Mr. Carlisle and the Melnotte sisters will appear in new numbers.

Orpheum New Bill.

Another crowded house greeted the Oro company at the Orpheum last night, and showed its pleasure at the performance by frequent and hearty applause. The artists have caught the Honolulu idea of humor and are passing out bunches of mirth-provoking business every night. Miss Moswan is showing her versatility by playing boy parts to the satisfaction of the patrons of the theater. The pictures shown last night were new and very satisfactory in every way, and the after piece drew roars of laughter. The engagement of this company is drawing to a close and if there is any one in town who has not seen the performances he should not delay going.

Last Appearance of the Actophone at the Gem.

This latest ingenious device in the moving picture world, which has found such favor with the public wherever it has been exhibited, will appear for three more nights only at the Gem, being under contract to show at Hilo and other places in the Territory. Those who have not seen and enjoyed the excellent productions or do not see them will miss the chance of a lifetime to be confronted by and hear the greatest living artists of the world. The management has culled from its immense repertoire the choicest scenes and acts, and will produce them during these three farewell nights. Bumper houses should reward the efforts of Manager Kubey.

ALCOHOL IS A PRESERVATIVE.

Alcohol is recognized the world over as the proper, most efficient and wholesome preserver of medicinal compounds, and while some journalists try to alarm the world by the cry that patent "medicines contain more alcohol than beer," they neglect to state that proprietary medicines are taken in doses from a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful, while beer is a beverage that is consumed in quantities from a glass to several quarts a day.

LYNNA E. PINKHAM'S Vegetable Compound contains only 18% alcohol, simply enough to preserve the roots and herbs from which it is made, and may be relied upon by every woman in the land as a reliable, honest and sure remedy for the ills peculiar to her sex.

THE Pacific Commercial Advertiser

A MORNING PAPER.

WALTER G. SMITH

EDITOR

FRIDAY : : : : : AUGUST 13

THE BULLETIN CRUSADE.

People who are taking the trouble to read the legal briefs which pass for editorial in the Bulletin must have learned that the main object of these astonishing papers is to prejudice the conspiracy jury against those who criticize the methods of the prosecution. The special effort is to find enemies of the Advertiser on the jury and get them to disregard the law and the evidence, if need be, and vote contrary to what they are asked to believe are the wishes of the paper. A few days ago great stress was laid on the charge that the editor of the Advertiser is unfriendly to Hawaiians, of whom the conspiracy jury has several; and since then every possible change has been rung upon that libel. Yesterday the editorial pettifoggers went out of their way to say—and say without a visible blush—that Mr. Smith means to strike off, from the next jury list—over which he has neither control nor influence—the names of all Hawaiians so that progress could be made toward government by commission. Even Lawyer Straus would shrink from a trick like that. No rarer and more impudent pettifogging was ever done in a police court here; it even outdoes the record of the Bulletin itself. It is the baldest kind of legal demagoguery, and, what is more, it is a confession that unless an issue personal to Mr. Smith can be imposed upon the jury, to take the place of the abandoned personal attacks on Mr. Lightfoot, the conspiracy cases are gone. Verily, the prosecution has once more lost its head; and the ethics it chooses to act by are those which, if it would cool down, would strike it as detestably as they do everyone else. What a howl would come from the eager fee-seekers who are using the Bulletin as a catpaw, if the Advertiser should try and impair their influence with the jury by raising the racial issues born of the drumhead court martial of 1895. But there need be no alarm on that score. The Advertiser is not in that sort of business. All it seeks is a fair trial of the conspiracy cases, without bulldozing, without rowdy abuse, without persecution or the color line, and without press interference. Happily, that position is sustained by the business houses, which do not want their Japanese customers needlessly alienated, and by the planters themselves, many of whom are frank to say that the attempt to prejudice the court through a newspaper is "another bad break." We feel safe in adding that every discerning man in Honolulu, not under fee, is anxious that the ugly feeling left among the strikers shall not be made ungovernable by a denial of a fair trial to their indicted leaders. There is no desire to drop the conspiracy cases; and there is none to railroad anybody to jail. The strike is over, and while justice must be done, it should be approached in a way not to make matters worse but to bring on an early and unimpaired peace.

CLASSIFICATION OF PUBLIC LANDS.

According to George Otis Smith, director of the U. S. Geological Survey, the necessity for classifying the public lands is not a recent discovery. The earliest land legislation in this country both contemplated differences in the quality and character of the public lands and planned for descriptions based on field examination. Yet even the honest administration of the land laws has ever been subject to criticism arising from the fact that no adequate provision was made for land classification.

A period of national awakening to the worth of the public domain followed the close of the Civil War and another epoch of realization by the nation of the true source of its wealth and prosperity has just opened, while both the legislative and executive branches of the Federal government are awake to the fact that exact knowledge is essential to the proper utilization of our country's great resource of land. The earlier propaganda bore fruit in the creation of a scientific bureau, among whose functions was the classification of the public land, but this specific duty was subordinated to the more general task of determining the natural resources of the public domain. The duty of classifying the remaining unentered public lands is now definitely accepted by the United States Geological Survey, and the opportunity earlier neglected has for several years been vigorously improved. The Survey is heartily cooperating with the General Land Office to the end that the best disposition of the land may be secured, and it should be noted that no small part of the data utilized in this work represents the fruitage of the Survey's earlier general investigations.

Utilization is the keynote of the present public land policy, and by utilization is meant not that kind of local development that is promoted by the "land-skinner," but rather a development whose plan weighs national needs and calculates future demands and whose accomplishments will serve our country's development in the next century as well as in the present decade. Utilization is opposed to both nonuse and waste.

A notable example of land classification in aid of proposed legislation is afforded by the Acts of March and October, 1888, wherein Congress directed that an irrigation survey should be made by the Geological Survey and that the reservoir sites and irrigable lands designated as a result should be reserved pending further legislation. The legislation of 1888 was itself the logical outcome of Major Powell's 1879 report on the arid lands and his subsequent work as Director of the Geological Survey, and the law that eventually resulted from the work thus authorized in 1888 was the Reclamation Act of 1902, through the operation of which the West is coming into its own as the garden of the nation.

Hydrographic and topographic surveys which are now in progress under instructions of the Secretary of the Interior, have as their purpose the collection of information that may be presented to Congress in aid of legislation looking toward the best utilization of the water powers on the public domain. Reports on the mineral or nonmineral character of coal, oil and phosphate lands, of which the Survey has made actual field examination, are now being transmitted to the General Land Office. Another line of activity is the segregation of nonirrigable lands under the terms of the "enlarged homestead act" of the present year. The existence of Survey data, whereby, within the few months since the passage of this law, the Secretary of the Interior has been able to designate 162,000,000 acres, is, in itself, a forceful argument for an adequate land classification.

The classification and valuation of coal land is a special phase of public land work to which the Geological Survey is giving increased attention. The geologic investigations of the last three field seasons have not only furnished a knowledge of the quantity and quality of the coal on the public domain, but have rendered possible the present policy of obtaining coal prices for coal lands. The General Land Office now depends on the Geological Survey to furnish detailed valuations for every 40-acre tract of coal land that is placed on the market. In the two and a half months following the adoption of the revised scheme of valuation the reports to the General Land Office released to agricultural entry approximately 2,500,000 acres in Colorado, Wyoming, and Montana, and placed selling prices on nearly 400,000 acres of coal land with an aggregate valuation of over $15,000,000. The price of government coal land is now determined on the basis of estimated tonnage, the unit rate varying with the quality of the coal from one-half cent to three cents a ton for coal deposits within fifteen miles of a railroad. These prices average less than one-tenth the usual royalty paid in the West. Yet this conservative valuation will more than double the average price of public coal lands. In exceptional cases the price based on tonnage represents a fifteenfold increase over the old minimum price. It is conceded that this policy of basing the price on the quantity and quality of the article sold will not encourage purchase by speculators, but it is maintained that the government valuation will not impede the disposition of the coal deposits for purposes of utilization. The real development of the West will be promoted, not retarded. The increased valuation of the millions of acres of public coal land must result in increased contributions to the reclamation fund and greater possibilities for local utilization of the agricultural lands through irrigation.

A principle that is winning increased recognition in land legislation is that of relative worth. The present coal land law expresses this principle by giving gold, silver and copper deposits priority over the coal, and the coal, in turn, preference over agricultural values. These distinctions necessitate land classification based on adequate field examination. Wherever the different values can be separated, that separation, by appropriate legislation, is at once the easiest and best solution of the problem, and the first step in this direction was taken in March of this year in the passage of the Mondell Act, whereby the homeseeker may secure all for which he makes entry—all that he swears he is getting—while the coal beneath his tillable land is reserved to the nation for future disposal.

The ideal land classification is that based on field examination, scientific and detailed enough to include every natural resource; the ideal land legislation is that which fully recognizes the principle of relative worth; and the ideal land administration is that which will assure the reservation or the disposition of the land for its highest use.

UP THE OTHER TREE.

The learned barrister who is trying the conspiracy case in the Bulletin, turns to the Advertiser and, quoting its statement that many citizens object to the methods of the prosecution, asks severely what it has been doing "to call attention to this dangerous state of things?"

Considering what this journal has said under that head for days past, and how many columns of rejoinder have been extorted by it from the Bulletin, the question seems to be a bit superfluous. Indeed, the apposite remarks of the Advertiser have become the barrister's stock in trade; and that they were voiced none too soon may be judged by the revelations of the Bulletin itself in its issue of August 7: "We have heard from SO MANY QUARTERS of a hostile undercurrent in this community against the strike prosecutions," says that paper, "that we commence to wonder whether or not Honolulu is going to get a copperhead reputation?" The Advertiser simply referred to the feeling of "many citizens," while the Bulletin thought the case bad enough to indict the whole community. We had not regarded it as so extreme, but are willing to accept the larger view if it suits the exigency better.

Considering what the Bulletin has admitted, it is hardly required of us to point out that the Advertiser's milder presentation of the same state of facts did not necessarily describe the side, as the worried and rather desperate barrister in the editorial chair suggests, which has enlisted this paper's private sympathies.

To those Americans who have watched the gradual transformation of a hard-headed Yankee editor and former Ohio schoolmaster into a stiffened aristocrat with a seasoned taste for ceremony and a vast respect for birth and title, the news of the retirement of Whitelaw Reid from the United States embassy in London can come none too soon. It is said of Mr. Reid that he has "conquered England," but the sad truth is that England has conquered him. The state in which he lives at one of the ducal houses of London, the entertainments by which he outshines royalty and the union with which his employe, the London correspondent of the Tribune, describes the lordly life he leads and recites the names of his titled guests, makes the plain people of America feel that their embassy at the Court of St. James is lacking in the spirit which such a representative of a great democracy ought to show.

Nobody gets more excited over a law case than the man whose interest is stimulated by a fee. It then becomes an axis on which the world is supposed to revolve, and people who don't think so are not only blind to a law of nature but may well be suspected of covert villainy.

It must add to the anguish of the copperhead to find himself exposed by a woodenhead.

We mourn the loss of the old-fashioned mother who was always certain that her first-born would become President of the United States.

G. A. R. RESOLUTIONS.

Honolulu, T. H., August 10, 1909.
Headquarters Geo. W. De Long Post,
No. 45, Department of California and Nevada, G. A. R.

Whereas, It has seemed good to our Supreme Commander to remove from our ranks a comrade who had, by his uniform kindly disposition, endeared himself to us all, and also by his strict adherence and devotion to what he believed to be the duty of a good comrade and a good citizen has left us an example worthy of our emulation; therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of our esteemed comrade, Robert Nelson, the Post sustains the loss of a comrade and brother whose cheerful and refined companionship, wise counsel, and patient charity toward the weak, marked him as one who was prompted by the higher aims and purposes of life.

And while we, his surviving comrades, feel that we have sustained a loss, we do not forget those in the home land, those who were near and dear to him, and whose right it is to mourn for the beloved brother who did not return; be it also

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Post, and a copy be forwarded to his immediate relatives.

MARINE

The safe arrival of the schooner Prosper at Redondo, in charge of Captain Treanor, has been the subject of pleasurable comment along the waterfront. It was expected that Captain Treanor might have to get rid of his deck load when he was well out sight of land. Luckily the weather was smooth and there was no need for this.

Healy Is a Favorite.

Captain Healy, of the U. S. transport Sheridan, is a great favorite in Honolulu and he was welcomed by a crowd of smiling friends when the vessel docked alongside the Matson wharf yesterday at noon. A bunch of invitations were showered at him and the smiling sea-dog had to take a long deep think before he could segregate them and find out which ones to accept.

Almy Within His Rights.

John Effinger, proprietor of the Guide, the old established waterfront daily, recently preferred charges against Admiral Almy in Washington, on account of the latter running an opposition paper, the Pathfinder. The Washington authorities looked into the matter and decided that Mr. Effinger's charges were unfounded.

Mr. Effinger charged that Mr. Almy was using his official position as United States Shipping Commissioner, to make money on the side and to drive the Guide out of business. In reply to these charges the acting secretary at Washington stated that he had looked into the matter and decided that Mr. Almy was quite within his rights and would be quite ready to supply information to the Guide or to any other paper. Mr. Effinger has dropped the subject.

Artillery on Sheridan.

The U. S. transport Sheridan arrived at noon yesterday and docked at the Matson wharf. She will leave for the Orient tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. On the transport came two companies of coast artillery for this port. They are the 105th and 159th companies, and are under command of Major John N. Cree, C. A. C., U. S. Army.

The artillery boys will be stationed at Fort Ruger and the greater part of their camp equipment was brought with them. Everything is ready at fort and they will move in to their new quarters without delay.

There are several prominent military officers on the Sheridan, bound for Manila. Lieutenant Colonel J. B. Ballinger, superintendent of the army transport service in San Francisco,

The Sheridan brought quite a little freight for the Engineers. There are rock-crushers, steam rollers and other machinery for use in the fortification work. Altogether there is more than 700 tons of freight. A special tackle has been rigged on the vessel for unloading this heavy freight.

Shipping Notes.

The rumor that the Florence Ward would go to Guam is unfounded.

The Manchuria left Yokohama for Honolulu yesterday.

The Hyades was due last night but was not sighted at the time of going to press.

The Mauna Loa leaves for Maui at noon today and the Claudine at 5 p. m. The former touches at McGregor's landing and the latter at Kahului.

Honolulu wing of the main floor contains the Sisters' refectory, pupils' refectory, and community room. The center portion contains the offices of the principal and four parlors. The other wing contains the assembly hall and class rooms. The rooms in this wing can all be thrown in together.

The center part of the upper floor is given over to the dormitory. This great room overlooks Palolo valley, and is particularly bright and attractive. The wing toward Honolulu contains the infirmary for the Sisters and the chapel.

The chapel is one of the features of the building. It will accommodate 200 persons and is remarkably attractive. The altar, which is of stucco, was made by the De Prato company of Chicago, and is now on its way here. The Bishop has given two statues, while Father Valentin has raised the money to purchase two more. They represent the Sacred Hearts, the Immaculate Conception and St. Joseph.

The communion rail is one of the most attractive features of the chapel, and was selected with especial care.

Adjoining the chapel is the vestry. The other wing of the building is given over to classrooms. These are all very light and are supplied with ample ventilation. The dormitory for the Sisters is in back of that occupied by the pupils.

The basement is divided into music-practice rooms, a large playroom for wet weather, bathrooms and laundry. There are fifteen bath tubs, in addition to showers.

All of the sleeping apartments and dormitories are provided with private baths, and every modern convenience has been included in the general equipment.

The convent will be presided over by eleven Sisters of the Order of the Sacred Hearts. Sister Constantine will act as principal. There will be accommodations for two hundred pupils, as well as a number of day pupils. Applications have already been received on a large scale.

This year the Sisters celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their arrival in Hawaii, and the half century point marks a distinct epoch in their work here. Though the old convent has frequently been remodeled, the site which it occupies is the site of the original school founded by the Sisters on their arrival here. Thus the change to Kaiunui is the first move which the Sisters have made.

The Bishop has taken an active interest in the new convent, and has visited it almost daily. Many of the valuable points incorporated in the building are the results of his suggestions.

DATE FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DINNER SET

The Chamber of Commerce dinner to the Congressional junketing party will be given on Monday, September 6, unless that date shall conflict with some of the other plans made for the entertainment of the visitors. The question will be submitted to Delegate Kalaniana'ole, in whose hands the arrangements have been placed, and should he approve of the date chosen the invitations will be sent out.

The Hawaiian Dredging Company gets the contract for filling in the Waikiki duck ponds. The announcement was made yesterday that the local firm had put in the successful bid and will do the work.

The contract price is $3 1-2 cents per cubic yard, which means that the entire job will cost Uncle Sam something like $45,200.

Work will begin about the middle of September.

Mr. Sheba's condition is now thoroughly satisfactory, though he had a very narrow escape from death.

FENNELL AFTER PICNIC PARTY

Beer at Twelve Glasses for a Dollar May Cause Some Pilikia.

License Inspector Fennell has started a private crusade against gay and festive picnickers who dispense spirituous liquor without first going through the formality of securing a license. One Portuguese society has already fallen under the ban, and some of the members will have to explain in court how it all came about.

The society in question gave a picnic down on the peninsula on July 31 and, according to Fennell, booze flowed like unto water. In fact, so freely did it flow, that on the return trip some of the party are alleged to have become rather unruly and it is claimed that the ears of the O. R. & L. Company suffered no little disfiguration in consequence.

The matter came to the attention of Fennell, who at once started an investigation. He is very jealous of the dignity of the law, and when he found that beer tickets, each good for one drink, had been sold at the rate of twelve for $1, he began to take notice. The notice-taking, says he, resulted in the discovery that the picnickers had maintained a very husky blind pig.

In consequence of all this, complaints were last night sworn to against one Gonsalva, a wagon driver for the Paragon Market, and a young man named Cambra who drives for the People's Express. There are four separate charges against each of the men, and Fennell says that he has witnesses to substantiate all of his allegations.

Both of these cases will be prosecuted to the bitter end, as Fennell is determined that these organizations shall learn that they have to obey the liquor laws just the same as any one else.

Sampan License Case.

Monatolani, a Japanese sampan skipper was arrested on a charge of fishing without a license. The authorities have had a bit of trouble collecting the fishing boat licenses, and have concluded to make an example of an offender or two. The case may prove interesting before it is disposed of.

It seems that the Japanese Fisheries, Ltd., has some doubts concerning the constitutionality of the law taxing sampans. According to the police, the attorney for the fishing company has announced that an appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court, should Monatolani be found guilty, in order to test the validity of the law.

Celebrated Too Freely.

A few soldier men from the Sheridan celebrated not wisely but too well last night and fell into the hands of the police. As the transport is so soon to sail, the men proved something of an embarrassment and were booked with a big question mark after each name. They will probably be returned to the transport when it sails today.

2. A communication from the Department of Public Instruction, dated July 19, 1909, informs the Board of Supervisors that, "at a meeting of the Commissioners of Public Instruction, held July 12, 1909, a resolution was passed requesting the several counties to furnish requisition blanks to the principals of schools in their counties and asking the principals to make requisitions to the counties direct for supplies to be furnished by them and to forward copies of such requisitions to the Commission of Public Instruction of their county."

On this resolution, so communicated, we wish to report:

That the word "supplies" is too comprehensive, as the Department of Education has been granted $13,000 a year for "supplies" and cognate objects, in one item, showing that the Legislature did not intend that the counties were to furnish ordinary school supplies.

Moreover, the education office sells school supplies for cash, the proceeds going into the Territorial Treasury, and it would be impossible for the counties to take over this traffic without specific legislation.

What the Legislature transferred to the City and County of Honolulu of the powers of the Board of Education is contained in the following provisions of Act 101 of the Session Laws of 1909: "To build, rebuild, equip, maintain and regulate * * * schoolhouses * * * It shall be the duty of the Board to provide for the maintenance and repair of all existing schoolhouses other than the Normal School and the Boys' and Girls' Industrial Schools."

There are here the power to "build" and the duty to "provide for the maintenance and repair" of schoolhouses.

It does not require a legal opinion to see, therefore, that any school supplies which the city and county is obliged to furnish must be confined to such articles as may be necessary to keep the schoolhouses in habitable and sanitary condition, such as brooms, buckets, mops, etc.

While it is quite legitimate no doubt for the city and county also to attend to the care of school grounds, it is really not obligatory under the law just quoted, yet your committee, having funds available for that purpose, and the Committee on Roads, Bridges, Parks, Garbage, and Public Improvements cooperating on the principle that school grounds ought to be treated as parks, work has been undertaken and materials have been furnished for placing school premises in condition presentable to the public eye.

As the resolution of the Board of Commissioners of Public Instruction has already proved misleading, as shown by the requisitions already received from school principals, which include ordinary schoolroom supplies, and even material for lacemaking, your committee would recommend that no blank requisitions be furnished to principals excepting for such implements and utensils as may be required for keeping schoolhouses and grounds in good condition.

The appropriation for the Department of Education referred to will be found in Act 150 of the Session Laws of 1909, making appropriations for current expenses for the biennial period ending June 30, 1911, the item being on page 198, Laws of 1909, and reading: "Industrial training, school supplies, books, libraries, and lacemaking, $26,000.00."

If this item is inadequate for its purposes, that is not a matter for the Board of Supervisors. This Board has voted an amount for maintenance and repairs of schoolhouses proportionately of equal liberality with the appropriation for that purpose, which the Department of Education had for the same purpose from the Legislature of 1907, for the past Territorial fiscal period. The Legislature has asked no more from the city and county than what is being done for the schools by this Board.

MEMBERS' TERMS EXPIRE SOON

New Promotion Committee Must Be Named Early Next Month.

Coincident with the termination of this month, the terms of office of the members of the Promotion Committee expire. At that time the Merchants' Association and the Chamber of Commerce will be called upon to name anew the men who are to have charge of the work of boosting Hawaii during the next twelvemonth.

Two of the members of the Promotion Committee are named by the Chamber of Commerce, two are named by the Merchants' Association, and the fifth member is named by the other four. The membership at present is:

For the Chamber of Commerce: W. H. Hoogs and William A. Bowen; for the Merchants' Association: G. Fred Bush and R. H. Trent; member at large: J. L. McLean. Mr. Bowen is chairman.

In all probability all of the members of the committee will be reappointed. Their work has been most successful, and the members have labored together with remarkable unanimity. Though the work takes up considerable time, probably all of the present members would agree to serve again.

Army and Navy News

The nucleus of the big coast artillery garrison, that will ultimately be located here, arrived at noon yesterday on the U. S. Army transport Sheridan. The troops consist of the 105th and the 129th companies of the Coast Artillery Corps, and are under the command of Major John N. Cree, Coast Artillery Corps. There are 214 men in the command. The 105th company is commanded by Captain James K. Poule while the 129th company is commanded by Captain George R. Turner.

These troops will man the mortar battery at Fort Ruger and probably will remain here for a long tour of duty. The men are a particularly smart looking lot, and the crossed cannon ornaments with the projectile, quickly made a hit with the townspeople.

Infantry and cavalry are well known here and no longer attract any attention, but the brilliant red facings of the gunners quickly attracted the eye and the arriving soldier men were the center of attraction at Matson wharf yesterday. The gunners brought a large amount of baggage with them, and for several hours after docking yesterday afternoon, officers and men were pretty busy superintending the unloading of the stores from the big ship.

The largest unit of organization in the Coast Artillery Corps is the company, and battalions are organized only provisionally to correspond to local requirements. Until the completion of the rifle batteries on Waikiki beach, there will probably be no increase in the Coast Artillery garrison, as two companies are ample to handle the Fort Ruger mortars.

Several of the officers brought motor cars with them, and the amount of furniture unloaded from the transport indicates that they are expecting a long stay.

Discipline at Annapolis.

As in all schools, various infractions of regulations in the performance of youthful pranks are not uncommon at the United States naval academy at Annapolis, but there are two offenses which are there regarded, not only by the authorities, but by the midshipmen themselves, as heinous and unpardonable. These are lying and "gouging," the latter consisting of taking unfair advantage, or cheating, upon an examination.

The discipline at the academy is strict, as becomes a military school, and the authorities are energetic in enforcing the regulations. Every offender against the rules is punished by being given demerits, or extra duties, or deprived of his leave, or even put in confinement upon the prison ship Santee, but for lying or gouging, dismissal is the sole penalty.

Unlike the other offenses, these two are generally left by the authorities to the midshipmen themselves for detection and disposition. If a midshipman lies, his schoolmates, even his classmates, are the first to arraign him. A class meeting is called, the accused put on trial before his companions, and, if found guilty, he is told to resign. If he refuses, he is reported to the superintendent and his dismissal quickly follows. A good many youthful peccadilloes are tolerated and even condoned by the midshipmen, but lying and gouging never.

For lesser offenses, bordering upon deception, and for other unmanly, ungentlemanly conduct not falling strictly under the written code, the midshipmen inflict another penalty, which is extremely galling and often unendurable. This is "coventry." It means that the man sentenced to it is not spoken to, except officially, by any other midshipman during the period of coventry, save his room mate, who is permitted to talk to him. This form of ostracism is usually dreaded more than any form of official punishment, and its victim generally resigns and disappears.

Discipline is strict at Annapolis, but in no item is it more strictly enforced than by the midshipmen themselves in the matters of lying and gouging, items which affect the honor of the naval service. Happily they are extremely rare.

To Complete Oahu Forts.

There has been final action on the annual estimates for the military establishment, says the Army and Navy Register. Everything in the way of provision for new construction has been omitted from the year's recommendation. The policy of elimination has extended so far that the estimates as pronounced for the next fiscal year are confined principally to the means of completing projects of coast defense already begun in the Hawaiian Islands and the Philippines. Those who are interested in the work of providing adequate coast defenses at home and in the insular possessions will be keenly disappointed at this decision, especially as it has always been considered that those who have had charge of the fortification appropriations at the Capitol have always exercised prudence in the allotments for this purpose.

Oil Station for Honolulu.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—Tentative plans have been prepared by the Bureau of Navigation for the establishment of fuel oil depots. These plans will be sent to the general board of the Navy tomorrow for review and approval, or perchance for revision.

It is the purpose, in a general way, to have liquid fuel stored wherever there is now a coaling station. This would result in establishing such liquid fuel depots at Puget Sound, San Francisco and San Diego on the Pacific Coast, and also at Honolulu, Guam and probably at Cavite or Manila.

Eventually there will be oil ships, just as there are now colliers. In fact, the plans have been prepared for converting two coal barges into oil barges. It is intended to ask Congress for funds to build ships to carry liquid fuel. These ships, of course, would obtain their supply from the shore stations, to be established. While these plans are all tentative and subject to changes by the general board, the general policy of having oil stations and ships will doubtless be adhered to. This policy is but a necessary result of using oil for fuel.

The plans for improvements to the coaling stations are also subject to the approval of the general board. At California City the work to be done this year consists largely of making open storage with cement flooring and a few bunkers. There will also be a great crane about 200 feet long for the quick and economical handling of coal. By making its capacity 90,000 to 100,000 tons the Navy Department will have at California City a plant bigger than that on Puget Sound, which has a capacity of 75,000 tons. The quantity of oil to be stored at California City has not yet been decided on.

TOMMY LUCAS AT SEATTLE.

Seattle Times.—Thomas R. Lucas, a native of San Francisco, but for forty-eight years a resident of the Hawaiian Islands, who is registered at the Nelson Hotel, says that reports of Japanese aggression in the islands have been greatly exaggerated.

"The whole trouble," said Mr. Lucas, "was due to the pernicious activity of two Japanese mixed-blood brothers. Their father was an Englishman and the boys were educated in England, where they got an idea of trades unionism without clearly understanding the basic principles underlying labor organizations. They tried to apply these principles in Hawaii, but they didn't know how, as a result of which all they have succeeded in doing is to promote the doctrine of discontent among the Japanese laborers, who greatly predominate in the islands."

"There is more alarm over alleged Japanese designs upon the islands in the United States than there is among the people of the group."

Mr. Lucas, who is associated with his brothers in the Honolulu Steam Planting Mill Company, of Oahu, Hawaii, says that the commerce of the islands is developing rapidly. The export business from the islands now totals $50,000,000 annually.

A furnished cottage is wanted for two or three months. See classified ads.

TOO MUCH ATCHERLEY WOULD WORRY COURT

Deputy Attorney General Lorrin Andrews yesterday finished writing his supplementary brief in the Atcherley case, and it will be filed with the clerk of the Supreme Court this morning. The brief is intended to refute the contention of Attorney Harrison, for Dr. Atcherley, that the doctor is illegally restrained from making a personal appeal for release from the asylum. Mr. Andrews contends that if such an appeal were allowed, Dr. and Mrs. Atcherley could keep the courts and the lunacy commission busy by making a new appeal every day.

In order to raise the 30,000 kronen still necessary for the Johann Strauss memorial, to be erected in Vienna, a series of performances will be given at the Theatre an der Wien, where nearly all the Waltz King's operas were performed for the first time. Members of the operatic companies and the various musical organizations of that city have volunteered their services, and the best seats for the first performance, which will be "The Gypsy Baron," have already been subscribed for. In commenting on the assured success a Vienna paper says that visiting Americans have been the most liberal subscribers.

Loose Fitting
B.V.D.

Coat Cut Undershirts
and Knee Length Drawers

besides being the coolest Summer under garments, are the most economical.

One suit of B.V.D.'s will outlast three suits of the old style tight fitting garments, because B.V.D.'s do not chafe or bind the wearer; chafing and binding was out any garment.

Every B.V.D. garment is made of a light, durable woven material, that gives the maximum of wear.

Every B.V.D. garment is correctly cut, accurately stitched, and identified only by this Red Woven Label.

DOES ANYBODY WANT A CONGRESSMAN?

Does anybody want a Congressman? If he does, there is a chance of getting one—not a certainty, but a chance. The entertainment committee who are making arrangements for the visit of the Congressional party that is to arrive here on the 30th of this month has come to the conclusion that perhaps some of the visitors would enjoy themselves better as the guests of some of the hospitable homes of Honolulu than at the hotels, and they have decided to suggest the idea to the people of the city.

There is no doubt as to the response they will receive and the only thing that is troubling the committee is that there will not be enough Congressmen to go around. Some of the visitors, also, may prefer to stop at the hotels, where they will be a little more free to do as they please. But it is not improbable that many of them, especially those who are accompanied by their wives, would appreciate being asked to be the guests of Honoluluans and would be glad to accept such invitations. A number of the Congressmen are well known here, both by reputation and personally, and some of them were members of the Congressional party that visited Hawaii last two years ago.

If anyone wants a Congressman, the entertainment committee suggests that he communicate the fact either to Chief Clerk R. O. Matheson or to the executive committee of the entertainment committee.

The hearing in the matter of the injunction asked by the Oahu Railway &amp; Land Company against James Armstrong and L. L. McCandless, was begun before Judge Robinson yesterday afternoon. The plaintiff asks the court to issue a permanent injunction, restraining the defendants from maintaining a dam on the premises of the plaintiff at Ewa, and from carrying water under and across Lehua avenue for irrigation purposes.

PLANTER SPALDING WILL BUILD PORTLAND SKYSCRAPER

Borrows Half a Million Dollars at Five Per Cent to Construct a Twelve-Story Steel-Frame Building.

Portland (Oregon) Spectator.—The loan recently closed by Colonel Z. S. Spalding from the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, for $500,000, at 5 per cent. interest, is, perhaps, the largest ever made in Portland for building purposes. The money is to be used by Colonel Spalding in the erection of his new skyscraper at the northwest corner of Third and Washington streets, which is to be a twelve-story steel-frame class A building. This loan was negotiated directly with the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, through W. L. Boise, the local attorney, and shows unmistakably the faith of both Colonel Spalding and the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company in Portland real estate.

And, by the way, Colonel Spalding's investments in Portland are rather noteworthy. In 1890 he made to the late R. S. Perkins a loan of $150,000 on the old Perkins Hotel and other real estate. In 1897, because of the panic, he had to foreclose his mortgage, and bid in the property covered thereby, although he did not want it, at about $205,000. In fact, he was quite distressed that no one else would bid on the property the amount due him. He still practically owns all the property covered by his original mortgage; it has paid him large interest since he acquired it, and is well worth $800,000. Having been at first forced to become an owner of Portland real estate, on a recent visit he was so well pleased with the result that he decided to acquire more of it. He therefore purchased the old Ladd corner at Third and Washington streets, and when he has finished his skyscraper thereon, it will represent an additional investment of nearly a million dollars.

Colonel Spalding has had an interesting career. During the rebellion he was a colonel in the Union Army; just after the close of the war he was sent by President Lincoln to Honolulu as a secret agent of the United States to watch the progress of international affairs in Hawaii for this country. Shortly after that he was made United States Consul to the Hawaiian Islands, and became a very close friend of King Kamehameha. When his term of office expired, the King proposed to Colonel Spalding that they go into partnership in a sugar plantation, which they did. Afterward the Colonel purchased the King's interest in the plantation, and has since conducted it himself. It is one of the largest in the Islands, employs an army of men, and has made Colonel Spalding a multimillionaire.

As to the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company and its faith in Portland, I also have an interesting story. The company is one of the largest—if not the largest—mortgage loaners in the world. Of its $250,000,000 assets, by far the greater part is invested in first mortgage loans on real estate; the company maintains mortgage loan representatives in all the principal cities of the United States. In May of this year, when George C. Markham, president of the company, was in Portland, looking over the city with a view to making future loans, he said to his representatives that there was no city in the United States that he would rather make loans in than Portland, Oregon, for her future was assured; Portland was sustained by annual staple production, and there could not be a better foundation upon which to build a city.

In addition to the loan to Colonel Spalding, the Northwestern has also agreed to make another loan on Portland real estate for $450,000, and many others for smaller amounts. This company has regularly been lending money in Portland since 1894, has never had to foreclose a mortgage, and has never had a default in interest, although its loans have aggregated millions of dollars.

MORE CHANGES IN THE POSTAL RATES

"It is hereby ordered, the Postal Administration of Germany having concurred therein, that, commencing on the first of August, 1909, the rate of postage applicable to letters mailed in Hawaii for delivery in Germany shall be two cents an ounce or fraction thereof.

Notice is also given that commencing on the same date the postage rate applicable to letters mailed in Germany addressed for delivery in Hawaii will be ten pfennigs for each twenty grams or fraction of twenty grams. Letters unpaid, or short paid will be dispatched to destination but double the amount of deficient postage, calculated at the rates indicated, will be collectible of addressees upon the delivery of unpaid or short paid letters.

(Signed) F. H. HITCHCOCK, Postmaster General."

TRANSPARENCIES FOR HAWAIIAN BUILDING

Seattle.—The Hawaiian commission yesterday received from Honolulu twelve photographic transparencies which will be installed in various windows of the Hawaiian building. The transparencies are four feet square and each contains many views of Hawaiian scenery and life. The photographs were made by R. K. Bonine, of Honolulu, who is credited with being one of the foremost outdoor photographers in the Islands. Among the views are surf-riding at the famous Waikiki beach at Honolulu. Will Cooper, representing the Hawaiian promotion bureau, declares that they are the best he has ever seen.

HAWAII AT THE FAIR.

Seattle.—Equally realistic is the Hawaiian display. There is a wealth of photographs, moving pictures and panoramic views—so much so, as the program indicates, that they are alternated. These practically take in everything of note in the Islands. The volcanoes are seen in action, and very vivid indeed is the representation. Beauty spots and noted landmarks are shown in great profusion, and the people are shown at their amusements and on their promenades through the principal thoroughfares, thus enabling one to see at a glance the habits and costumes of the islanders of all nationalities. The lecturers, Augustus F. Knudsen, Lloyd Childs, special agent, and W. J. Cooper, know their subject, not only like a book, but better, and they put into it a personal touch that enhances the natural attractiveness of such a subject so well illustrated.

The current number of "Prometheus"—Berlin—contains a letter from Africa in which the writer describes a fish which is known to the natives as the fahaka. It makes its appearance in the Nile at high water time. The creature might properly be named a balloon fish. Its whole body, with the exception of a part of the under side, is covered with a thick layer of a jelly-like substance. On the uncovered part there are many sharp prongs. When attacked the fish rises to the surface, inhales air until its body assumes almost a globular form, then turns upon its back, leaving the protecting prongs upward in the water. "Fish and man alike know how sharp these are and what painful wounds they can inflict, and they give balloon fish a wide berth."

CONSPIRACY TRIAL NEAR ITS END

Defense Will Probably Close Its Case
Today.

It was a calm, peaceful and good natured crowd that surrounded special officer Scoville and officer Wills at Wai-pahu on the twelfth of June, the time of the alleged riot—according to the testimony given yesterday morning by Miauchi, one of the witnesses for the defense in the conspiracy trial and one of the men arrested by the authorities for complicity in the Waipahu riot.

Miauchi was a very assured witness.
He was confident that nothing was done at Waipahu that could possibly be construed as riot. No sticks and stones were thrown, no threats were made, the officers were not imprisoned in the headquarters of the Waipahu Higher Wage Association. Officer Wills was not told he had better go back to Honolulu or he would be killed. Nothing of that kind occurred. There was just a calm, peaceful, good-natured crowd present.

If any fault could be found with Miauchi's testimony, it is that he was too ready a witness; he was too self-assured, too ready with his answers.
His testimony was entirely too favorable to the case of the defense.

Special Prosecutor Kinney appeared yesterday to have taken a hint from experience and advice and his attacks on the personal character of attorney Lightfoot were so infrequent as to be practically negligible. Some one has it seems, dropped a bug in his ear—to use an ancient expression—and he has concluded that personal attacks on the attorney who is opposing him are not liable to influence the jury to bring in a verdict of guilty. The fact, that seemed for a time to have been lost sight of, that the verdict of the jury is supposed to be governed by the law and the evidence rather than by any considerations of the personal characteristics and character of the attorneys who are trying the case, has apparently been remembered once more, and the court session of yesterday was on the whole so calm and peaceful as to be almost uninteresting.

Lightfoot's objections still continue to be overruled with monotonous regularity. Without expressing any suspicion that Judge De Bolt is not strictly within the law in his rulings, as of course he is, the regularity with which he rules against the defense is perhaps liable to influence the jury. This is all the more the case in that the prosecution, having no appeal in case it loses, has no reason for objecting so often, and none at all for taking exceptions when such objections as are made are overruled. Lightfoot's multitudinous objections and exceptions are, of course, in large part to form the basis of an appeal on exceptions in case of a possible verdict against his client, a contingency of which he is not at all apprehensive.

The cross-examination of Editor Soga was resumed when court convened in the morning, and continued along the same lines as on the day before, with practically the same results: Soga denied that anything he had said or written was intended to be taken in the sense of advocating or countenancing physical violence.

Kinney Calls Lightfoot.

When Kinney finished with the witness, Lightfoot took him again for redirect examination. Lightfoot had dared Kinney to put into evidence the indictment of Soga as a disorderly person, which was returned by the grand jury several months ago. Kinney took the dare and read the indictment to the jury.

When Lightfoot began his redirect examination of the witness, he gave him a copy of the indictment and questioned him on the meaning of the extracts from the Nippon Jiji, upon which the indictment is based.

The testimony was largely along the line of the meaning conveyed to the Japanese mind by the extravagant language used in the articles. Lightfoot read the extract in which occurs the prophecy, that "torrents of iron fists will descend upon your heads." Kinney interrupted to claim that Lightfoot had left something out.

Lightfoot Not Guilty.

"I don't do these things, Mr. Kinney," responded Lightfoot. "I leave that for the prosecution. I don't play at your game."

Kinney insisted that Lightfoot had not read all of the sentence and its context, referring back to a sentence that preceded the one the attorney for the defense had read.

"I would sooner break stones on the road than practice law in that way, Mr.
Kinney," retorted Lightfoot. "I don't follow the example of the prosecution and read half a sentence and leave the other half unread."

Judge De Bolt called the attorneys to order and the witness replied to the question asked him. He said the sentence did not mean that iron fists would actually descend on the head of Sheba, but that it was the Hawaii Shingo that was referred to.

Lightfoot read another extract from the indictment, in which the grand jury accused Soga of having written, "Oh, how I wish to resort to violence." He showed Soga the original and asked him if anything of that nature appeared in it. Soga replied in the negative. The sentence as in the original, he said, was, "Ah, what shall we do, then?"

Several other extracts of the same general character were shown Soga, and in each instance he said that the language used was figurative and not intended to be taken literally. The Japanese papers, he said, abound in such figurative language. He insisted that at no time had he ever counseled physical violence.

The second cross-examination of the witness failed to bring out anything of importance. Soga was then excused and Miauchi called to the stand by the defense.

Tells of the Riot.

Miauchi was treasurer of the Wai-pahu Higher Wage Association and was one of the men arrested at Waipahu on the night of June 12 for alleged complicity in the riot that occurred there.
He is a large man, for a Japanese, and has a deep bass voice, so he afforded a decided contrast to Soga, his predecessor on the stand, who is a little, slender man with a high, weak voice.
Miauchi was working on the plantation as a cane cutter before the strike took place.

Lightfoot examined him as to the alleged riot. According to the testimony of the witness, there was no riot. He said he was just going downstairs in the hotel to get a cup of coffee when he heard a shot fired and ran to see what was the matter. He found Mr.
Scoville and officer Wills in the midst of a crowd, each with a grasp on the collar or arm of a Japanese whom they had arrested. Miauchi is the man who is accused of having broken through the crowd, rushed up in front of Mr.
Scoville and throwing open his coat, told him, "Shoot, shoot, suppose we make! Plenty more Japanese."

But Miauchi denied doing anything of the kind. He even claimed that he had no coat on, having left that article of apparel at the hotel. He admitted having said to Mr. Scoville, "Japanese pistol no makau all right," but that was all at the time. Later, when, as he said, Mr. Scoville expressed the desire to talk to him, he led the way to the office of the Higher Wage Association, saying "Office come, talker talk all right." And Scoville and Wills, with their prisoner, followed him into the room. They were not forced in or pushed in by the crowd, but went freely, the crowd opening up a passage for them as they went. Thirty or forty Japanese did follow them as far as the door, but Miauchi said he went back and told them to go home or go to the theater and listen to the speeches that were to be made, and they went.

The witness denied emphatically that he or anyone else ordered the officers to sit down, or engaged in conversation with them at all, except that once Hata did come in and advise officer
Wills to go back to Honolulu.

Got His Coffee.

Miauchi said that he got hungry and went back to the hotel to get that cup of coffee that he had forgotten to drink, and that when he returned, everybody except two or three Japanese had gone. Later he was arrested at the hotel, and with six other Japanese brought to Honolulu and lodged in jail.

On cross-examination the witness was asked whether or not he presided at the Waipahu meeting at which sycophants were selected. He said he did not. He was present at the meeting but was called away before the voting for sycophants began. From hearsay, however, he knew how it was done. Each Japanese wrote on a slip of paper the names of those whom he thought should be branded as sycophants, together with the reasons for so believing, and these slips were examined by the officers of the association, who were the final arbiters in the matter.

Miauchi was still on the stand when the court took its adjournment for the day, but his cross-examination appeared to be nearly its close. Lightfoot states that he expects to close his de-

WISCONSIN FARMER ON PICTURESQUE HONOLULU

A Wisconsin farmer writes as follows concerning one of the Hawaiian Gazette Company's publications:

"Picturesque Honolulu was a delight and treat to me. It was a revelation also. Here, in the North, with leafless trees, snow and ice, where human existence in the blizzard periods is simply hibernation, the contrast between surrounding conditions and those of your flower-decked islands and sunny seas is very sharp and vivid. I found much pleasure in scanning the rich tropical foliage in the fine halftone illustrations, and I was amazed at the high standard of civilization, culture and refinement which the letter press made clear."

"A little reflection, however, showed me that the importance of the islands as a midsea station would bring them much which we could never come in contact with in our hermit lives in the bleak woods and hills of Wisconsin. Environment must have a strong effect on the character and nature of people, and I imagine we of the North must seem strangely cold and distant to people of warmer countries, where the blood flows free and fast the year round. Even the reading of your newspaper brings with it an atmosphere, a sensation which is like the touch of a new world, a world of light, warmth and love."

This correspondent also says that in his isolated home he feels the lack of wireless telegraphy and aerial navigation.

MORIMOTO ACQUITTED IN FEDERAL COURT

Contrary to the expectations, not only of Attorney Bittling but also of the prosecuting attorney, Judge Woodruff yesterday morning denied the motion of the defense for a directed verdict. This, however, made no difference in the final result, the jury yesterday afternoon finding for the defendant. On the other hand, this did not make a great deal of difference to the prosecution, except for the time and energy lost, for Morimoto was rearrested on another charge as soon as he left the building, and will have to stand trial again.

In denying the motion for a directed verdict, Judge Woodruff went fully into the law of the case. Mr. Bittling won his verdict from the jury by a hard fight, for the evidence against his client was very strong and was effectively presented by Deputy United States Attorney Rawlins.

SMUGGLING CASE WAS POSTPONED

Dal Perkins, Master-at-arms on board the cruiser St. Louis, for whose arrest on the charge of smuggling, a warrant has been issued, did not appear before the court yesterday. Wednesday afternoon Captain Gleaves wrote a letter to Marshal Hendry stating that he had been asked by Secretary Mott-Smith to accompany him on a trip around the island, which would probably take all day, and he asked the case of the Master-at-arms go over until this morning. The request was granted.

INFANTILE CHOLERA.

Any unusual looseness of a child's bowels during the hot weather should be a warning to mothers. Infantile cholera may develop in a few hours, and prompt action should be taken to avoid it. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, followed by a dose of castor oil, will check the disease in its incipency, and all danger may be avoided. For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaii.
