Rev. Clark's New Year Greeting

VERSES FOR THE NEW YEAR SENT TO THE MEMBERS OF HIS FLOCK IN MICHIGAN.

Even before the local police authorities took Rev. W. D. Clark into custody information and warning of the fellow had been received in Honolulu. During his pastorate back in Michigan, he issued a Christmas and New Year's greeting from "The Pastor." It consisted of a little four-page brochure, with the portrait of The Pastor on the front page. In it was the following verse, apparently the work of The Pastor:

A WISH.
I wish you a Merry Christmas And a New Year happy and true, Forgetting the wrong of the year that is gone
And wishing you well for the new.
A page of pure white we turn over,
The old one is all stained with sin; Guard well the new leaf, that an un-blighted sheaf,
For the Master this year may be brought in.

The mistakes of the year have been many,
The heartaches have been not a few;
But may Jesus come in with the New Year again,
As we enter its portals a-new.

FEDERAL VISITORS INSPECT SCHOOLS

INTERESTING PROGRAM FOR TO-DAY BEING CARRIED OUT—
DRIVING ABOUT IN TALLYHOES

Most of today is being spent by the Congressional party in an inspection of the more important of the public and private schools of Honolulu. A start was made in front of the Promotion Committee's rooms on Hotel street about 9:30 o'clock, and it will probably be 3:30 or 4 o'clock before the round of the various institutions has been made. The members are being driven about in two big six-horse tallyhoes, and are being piloted by Superintendent Babbitt of the Department of Public Instruction. Unnecessary delays and interruption of the routine work of the various schools were prevented by a courier who preceded the party and announced the approach in time to give each school time to be in readiness.

The first school visited was Kailihua, the visitors being driven first past the old building where the children were gathered in front and gave a formal salute. This part of the program was very prettily carried out. The comparison of the old building, which is one of the oldest school buildings in use in the Territory, with the

Plans For The Island Trip Of Our Guests

THEY WILL TAKE THE CLAU-DINE AND MEXICAN TOMORROW EVENING FOR KAHULUI.

Plans for the outside trips of the Congressional party have been completed. The bulk of the party will leave Honolulu by the steamer Claudine tomorrow night at 8 o'clock for Kahului. Twelve of the women of the party will leave about 5 p. m. on the S. S. Mexican for the same port. The crowds will land at Kahului early Wednesday morning and then the Maui committee will take charge of their entertainment.

On Saturday at 1 p. m. the party will leave by the Claudine for Napoos, stopping at Keane if necessary. The crowd will reach Napoos Sunday morning, and then drive back to Kailua by land, the steamer going around to Kailua to meet them. There will be entertainments by the local committee of Hawaii and in the afternoon of Sunday the party will again take the Claudine for Hilo, arriving there early Monday morning.

The party will be in charge of the Hilo entertainment committee until Friday at 10 a. m., when they will take the steamer Kinoo back to Honolulu.

CONGRESSIONAL PARTY DELIGHTED WITH KAUAI TRIP

VISIT TO GARDEN ISLAND AROUSES GREAT ENTHUSIASM AMONG VISITORS—WARM WELCOME GIVEN BY CITIZENS AT EVERY POINT—BIG LUAU AND RECEPTION AT LIHUE A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR—FEW SICK ON TRIP OVER.

It is doubtful if any of the members of the Congressional party who made the trip to Kauai on Friday night, returning here Sunday morning, ever enjoyed an excursion of any kind, in any place more fully from beginning to end than they did on this occasion. Everybody was unanimous in declaring the trip "perfectly delightful," and among the ladies of the party, for whom it had been predicted by some that the trip would prove too strenuous, the utmost enthusiasm prevailed. "I just wouldn't have missed that experience for anything," was the first thing one of the ladies declared on coming down the gang-way about 5 o'clock yesterday morning, and all the others enthusiastically echoed the sentiment. A number of the Congressmen whose wives had been persuaded to remain behind on account of the report that it was likely to be a hard trip and nothing to see worth the pains of the journey, expressed much regret that their better halves had been denied the pleasure they had experienced.

SECRETARY OF WAR TO COME TO HONOLULU

HE WILL BE ASKED TO PASS UPON THE MERITS OF DISPUTE OVER SITE FOR REAR RANGE BEACON—HE WILL ALSO BE ASKED TO HAVE THE UNITED STATES DEED BACK CERTAIN PROPERTY TO THE TERRITORY.

Secretary of War Taft, the official traveling pacifier of the Administration, will arrive here in September, and when he reaches Honolulu it will be to take up some very important matters connected with this Territory. The Secretary will be en route to the Philippine Islands, so this stay in Honolulu is not apt to be of a very extended character.

However, while he is in the Hawaiian Islands, he will take the time to consider some matter of vital interest to Hawaii. One of the most important will be the consideration of the fortifications and the necessity for the prompt construction of the navy yard at Pearl Harbor. The construction of this yard will be followed by the abandonment of the local naval wharves and station in all probability. This valuable harbor improvement and the naval tract will, in such event, be returned to the Territory.

But in addition to the transfer of this property, some other important matters in which the Territory is more immediately concerned, will be presented to Secretary Taft. Superintendent of Public Works Holloway stated this morning that the dispute over the site for the rear range beacon for the entrance of the Honolulu harbor would be submitted to Taft for possible settlement. At the present time the Territorial official and Capt. Otwell, the army engineering officer, are hopelessly divided over the site. Although no end of correspondence and negotiations have ensued, no conclusion has been reached. Neither side will concede, so it has about been determined to leave the settlement of this matter to Secretary Taft.

In addition to this matter the advisability of the United States Government transferring to the Territory certain tracts of land that the Federal government does not need will be presented for his consideration.

The drill shed site and building will also be referred to him. The Territorial officials feel that this property is not needed by the United States Government, and it could well be decided back to the Territory. Efforts to secure favorable action in his regard by Secretary Taft will be made by Superintendent Holloway.

Undoubtedly Secretary Taft will stop at Honolulu on his return from Manila. He will then, no doubt, be in a position to live some indication of his intentions, relative to the disputes between the Territory and the United States Government.

THE BENCH AND BAR HONOR GEAR'S MEMORY

CIRCUIT, SUPREME AND UNITED STATES COURTS ADJOURNED
THIS MORNING OUT OF RESPECT TO MEMORY—BAR ASSOCIATION APPOINTS COMMITTEE TO DRAFT RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT—SUPREME COURT WILL HEAR THEM TOMORROW.

Bench and Bar united this morning to do honor to the memory of the late jurist, George D. Gear who died yesterday afternoon. The utmost sorrow was manifested among the professional men who had formerly been associated in one way or another, with the deceased.

There was a meeting in Judge Lindsay's court room, where Judges De Bort Lindsay and Robinson of the first circuit were present, together with a number of attorneys, members of the Bar Association and court attaches and court officials.

United States Commissioner George A. Davis spoke as follows:

"May it please the court, I rise with feelings of sadness to move the adjournment of this court out of respect to the memory of the late Judge Gear, who occupied a position on this bench and a leading position at the bar of the Territory. This is neither the time nor place to eulogize the qualities of this man, and he certainly had a strong legal mind, and personal qualities that endeared him to the members of the bar throughout the territory, and it is with feelings in which I know Your Honors share, of sadness that I speak of the strong character that has passed away in an unknown land, and his many qualities commend him to all who came in contact with him."

Davis expressed well the sentiments of those present. None felt as if they cared at that time, to speak of the memory of the departed attorney. An adjournment of the courts was ordered until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Those present were Frank E. Thompson, S. M. Ballou, George A. Davis,

The Program For Congressmen are of those who did not go.

The truth is that in this community there is a morbid dread of travelling between the Islands, which is responsible for the fact that there are scores and scores of people living in Honolulu, and who have lived here for years, who have never been to any of the other Islands. Many tourists come here and travel much more extensively in the group than some of our kamaainas.

As the Star stated the other day, the members of the visiting party who carry out the whole itinerary as it is planned, will have a far better idea of the geography, topography, and physical conditions of these Islands than many of our own citizens who have lived here for years, or perhaps throughout their lives.

An Important Meeting

opportunities and possibilities of the newly authorized college of Agriculture.

The Farmers' Institute has stood ever since its organization for the advancement of agriculture in this Territory, not merely, nor principally as a gainful occupation, but as one of the most important institutions and influences in building up not merely wealth but commonwealth. The Farmer's Institute has through its meetings, its publications, and the information and sentiments it has disseminated, had a marked influence in creating in this community a realization of the importance of Agriculture in its broader and more scientific aspects. To the Farmers' Institute is due in no small degree the sentiment which has been created here during the past few years that the most important product of this or any other state or territory is men; that there can be no general prosperity where the development of a sturdy citizenship is not one of the prime cares of the community.

The establishment of an Agricultural College is, or may be, another step along the direction which the Farmers' Institute has pointed out. An Agricultural College, if it is to be worthy of its possibilities and its name must provide something more than a clinic where students are taught the commercially best means of particular material processes. It must deal with agriculture in its relation to state making as well as in its relation to money making. The students who go forth from its instruction must have something more than a mere means of livelihood; they must have a broader outlook on life. The college must deal not alone with the chemistry of fertilizers, the analysis of soil, and the physiology of plants, but with the humanities. The relation of all these things and of the entire subject of which they are processes, to the welfare of the community in its broadest aspects, must be considered.

It is therefore extremely fitting that such a meeting should be held under such auspices. And because the establishment of an Agricultural College is of such importance, the meeting ought to command the interest and attention of the community generally.

The Passing Of Judge Gear

"Whether the constitution followed the flag" or not, he took a prominent part. He was at times at variance with the more conservative sentiment of the community. But on the bench his record was a good one, and since then he has been concerned in much litigation that at the time attracted public attention.

As a lawyer he was well grounded in the principles of the common law which relate to personal liberty, and in his insistence on these rights in a number of cases, he attained much local distinction.

In spite of the fierce political battles in which he engaged, he retained a wide circle of friends, and his death will be greatly regretted.

Important Historical Work

light on either the history of that war or of the individuals who took part in it, and the part that they played. In this work the Library of Congress is doing much that is valuable. Very recently it has published a volume to be known as "Naval Records of the American Revolution."

The manuscript records on the Navy of the American Revolution are so few in number and so widely scattered that no connected list or calendar exists. It is a matter of great difficulty to trace individual service under such conditions. As the naval records in the Library of Congress are the largest and most important collection on this subject, this work has been prepared by Charles Henry Lincoln, of the Division of Manuscripts. It comprises the letters prepared by the Marine Committee of Congress, 1776-1780, reports on naval matters, and petitions and memorials of naval officers and seamen, laid before the Continental Congress; and a full list of the bonds executed by Letters of Marque or privateers, filed with the Secretary of Congress. These bonds give a description of the ship and her armament, the names of the owners of the vessels, the leading officer or officers, the bondsmen and the witnesses, thus furnishing as full a statement of the vessel and the conditions under which she sailed as is now available. The calendar will thus, more nearly than any other available document, indicate the important sources for the Naval history of the Revolution.

The volume contains more than 520 pages. To those who are interested either in such matters in general, or in searching for particular records, the work will doubtless prove invaluable.

What the Library of Congress is doing in this particular instance, it is doing in other similar directions—making available the rich stores

In this work of the Library of Congress, there may be a suggestion of possible value to the Archives commission. In the Archives of Hawaii is an immense amount of matter of much historical value. Its historical value is not always apparent on its face. As the archives are now being arranged they will be as readily available for general use as it is possible for such matters to be, where their safety and preservation are the first consideration. If they could be published in cheap but available form, their value would be greatly increased. Indeed it is believed that the Archives Commission or some members of it have in contemplation some such plan when conditions are such as to seem to make it available.

The name of the Whangho, the vessel that has just been wrecked on the bar at the mouth of the Columbia river, sounds like it might have been taken from one of Mark Twain's stories.

The action of the New York State Central Committee in defeating Governor Odell's resolution endorsing Governor Hughes for President will probably not worry Hughes. If the country really wants Hughes it will take him whether he has the endorsement of the party machine in his state or not. In fact the suggestion would find much credence that the resolution was offered for the very purpose of having it defeated.

The enthusiasm created by the birth of the Prince of the Asturias seems to have taken the form of outbreaks against the Carlists. Perhaps the baby prince may prove the strongest bulwark the Spanish throne could have.

CONGRESSIONAL PARTY DELIGHTED

although the channel was a little rough, none of the passenger on the Kinau suffered severely from sea sickness in either direction, and the great majority escaped without any illness at all. Not one was sufficiently sick not to enjoy almost everything connected with the journey.

Almost without exception the trip was novel in every way to the party.
The beautiful views of the mountainous Island of Kauai as seen from shipboard with the exquisite coloring and blending of lights and shadows, and changing cloud effects, delighted the aesthetic faculties of the visitors, as did also more intimate acquaintance with the Island after the landing had been made.

From first to last there was novelty in every step of the trip, and as a result no one thing paled in interest.

Most of the party were tired when they reached Honolulu, but their interest and enthusiasm remained unabated.

The Kinau did not get away from the Inter-Island wharf on Friday night until about 10 o'clock, and it was midnight before the high spirits of the crowd were exhausted, and the members had sought their state rooms.

During the trip over the island, the party was accompanied by Senator Knudsen and Representatives Silva and Coney, of the Kauai delegation in the last Legislature, and they were met at Lihue, by Representative Charles A.
Rice another member; and no pains were spared by these gentlemen to have their guests enjoy themselves in every manner within their power while on the island. The other members of the legislature, as well as other persons in the committee who accompanied the party, ably seconded these gentlemen in their efforts.

Most of the party were up on Saturday shortly after six o'clock and were out on deck enjoying the fresh air of a perfect Hawaiian morning and the beautiful panorama of the mountains and shore of the northeast coast of Kauai. Everybody was in the best of spirits.

Hanalei was reached about 7:30 o'clock and shortly after 8, everybody had been landed on the splendid beach at the entrance of the valley, where they were given a warm welcome by the people of the neighborhood, and were then escorted to the summer home of A. S. Wilcox, where Mr. and Mrs.
Wilcox, Misses Wilcox and a number of other residents of Lihue, who had driven across the island the day before as well as many citizens from miles around the valley, joined in extending greetings. Fragrant leis of mokiama were placed about their necks by a number of beautiful girls, and soon afterwards the whole party was seated at a long table spread on the spacious lanai and served with a most tempting breakfast. Everything, from the extensive variety of fruits served, to the mullet fresh caught from the sea, the delicious beefsteak, and the fragrant coffee, were Hawaiian products, and to say that they were enjoyed would be putting it mildly.

During the meal a glee club and chorus of women's voices delighted the visitors with beautifully rendered Hawa-ian songs, and the enthusiastic applause, the appreciation with which the music was received.

At the conclusion of the breakfast Mr. Wilcox in a short address again assured his distinguished guests of the appreciation which was felt in their visit, not only by himself, but by the entire population of the Garden Island as well.

Congressman Hamilton, responded to the address of welcome, in a short speech in which he expressed the thanks of himself and colleagues, and complimented their entertainers in glowing terms.

In anticipation of their coming Mr.
Wilcox had had his handsome place handsomely decorated with flags, flowers and green foliage. Over the entrance the happy word "Aloha" was outlined in colored leaves.

After the breakfast but a brief time was spent at Hanalei, in which however Delegate Kuhio delivered an address in Hawaiian to the group of native residents gathered on the lawn, and Representative Fitzgerald of Brooklyn N. Y. and Representative Webb, of North Carolina, were introduced as Democratic curiosities, they being the only members of that party in the delegation. Mr. Fitzgerald made a speech and was enthusiastically applauded by the Home Rulers in the crowd who seemed to be in the majority.

By 10 o'clock the party was all on board the Kinau once more and with parting "aloha" ringing in their ears from their entertainers on the beach, the journey around to Elelele was continued. From a scenic standpoint, this portion of the trip was probably the most impressive of all. The vessel steamed as close in as possible under the tremendous and fantastically shaped cliffs known as Napali, and the Congressional party was treated to a view that escapes most tourists, and even residents of the Territory, for the reason that vessels only pass on this side of the island on special occasions.

Besides being much impressed by the west coast of the island and the members were much interested in bits of old time tradition and superstition which has always attached to this part of the island, which were told them by Hawaiians in the party. The many legends which have been handed down from earliest times, which have doubtless been occasioned by the awe inspired in the native mind by the inaccessibility and awful grandeur of the region, have greatly enriched the folk lore of the Territory.

Past the famous "barking sands" on the south coast of the island, and the broad acres of sugar lands of the Gay plantation, the Kinau steamed with her interested passengers, who made short shift of luncheon in order that they might not miss any of the superb views until Elelele was reached about 1:30 o'clock. The arrival at this point was about half an hour earlier than the residents had been given to expect, but everything was in readiness for their reception and they were given a most cordial welcome. Fruits and food drinks were served, and within half an hour the party had boarded a train made up of sugar cars which had been covered with awnings and fitted with seats and gaily decorated with foliage and bunting, and was steaming away through the great stretch of sugar lands comprising the McBryde plantation on the plantation railroad. This ride of ten miles to Koloa was one of the most memorable of the trip, the views from the train being very fine, while the road itself, from the masterly manner of its construction and the engineering difficulties which had been surmounted in its construction, appealed strongly to many of the visitors.
Through this part of the trip the party was in charge of a reception committee headed by Supervisor W. D. Mc-Bryde.

At Koloa the party found carriages awaiting them, and in a few minutes they were whirling away over a fine but dusty road for another ten miles to Lihue. Before leaving Koloa the party was driven to the beautiful home of J. K. Farley, where a brief reception was held and more refreshments served.
As in other places passed through, the grounds and residence of the Farley home were handsomely decorated, and the visitors were showered with expressions of the sincerest good will.

Lihue was reached about 5 o'clock, and the party was driven at once to the home of W. H. Rice where they were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Rice and other citizens of the place, and were then given an hour in which to remove some of the remarkable red soil of Kauai which they had accumulated in the form of dust on the drive. Collars and linen had been soiled by dust but no one heeded it and everybody declared the drive one of the most pleasant experiences of the day. Much fun was furnished the other members of the party by General Keifer, whose venerable white beard had changed to a ruddy auburn, and which he was unable to entirely restore to its normal color by the use of soap and water. The General seemed proud of his changed appearance, and talked of taking home a good supply of Kauai dust for future use.

The luau served at the Rice home was the big event of the trip, and to say that it was enjoyed would be putting the facts in their very mildest form. It was the first entertainment of the kind that any of the party had experienced and it was a delightful novelty. Every thing served was in regular luau style, only a few modifications being made in the manner of serving. The menu was a most elaborate one and contained in great variety the best of the food products of the Territory. While most of the dishes were entirely new to the visitors, everybody was anxious to try everything set before them, with the result that few of them had dined so well, or enjoyed a meal so thoroughly in many a day.

At the close of the luau a brief speech was made in Hawaiian by Mr.
Rice the genial host, which was interpreted by Senator W. O. Smith.
General Keifer responded to the kind welcome extended by Mr. Rice, in a brief address in which he paid high compliment to the Hawaiian people in general and the Kauai citizens in particular praise to the beauty, grace and that the delegation would never forget their visit to the Garden Island, and that their reception would always remain a pleasant memory. He paid particular praise to the beauty, grace and hospitality of the Hawaiian women he had met, and other members of the party applauded their heartiest approval.

The formal general reception of the day by the people of Kauai took place about 8 o'clock at the public hall of Lihue. Here the delegation met several hundred of the Garden Island's people, who, impressed by every word and action the sincere pleasure and appreciation which they took in the visit.

The hall had been beautifully decorated for the occasion and a band stationed on the lawn played splendid music at intervals during the evening.
Other music in the form of typical Hawa-ian songs rendered by quartettes of young ladies and men, also much pleased the members. In fact the music in various forms which greeted them at every point in their trip was a never failing source of delight, and the comparisons invariably made with music of similar occasions on the mainland, was not at all complimentary to the musical ability of the people of the States. To those of the Hawaiians who have not been to the coast, this praise may have seemed to have been highly colored by a desire to please, on the part of the visitors, but its sincerity was recognized and appreciated by those who have had the opportunity of comparing the musical talents of the two sections.

The address of welcome was given by Joseph Opili, on behalf of the citizens of Lihue and of Kauai in general, and was responded to by Representative Fitzgerald. Mr. Fitzgerald in a brief address eloquently thanked the people of Kauai and of Lihue for the warm welcome which had been accorded them.
The impression made on his mind and he voiced the sentiments of his colleagues as well—he said had been lasting. That Hawaii is a part and parcel of the American, everyone has known in a mechanical sort of way, but to them who have been entertained as the Territory's guests, the bond between the islands and the mainland must ever be a very real thing, and one which will never permit anything concerning the island to be considered lightly or without the most sympathetic understanding. He concluded his address by expressing for himself and the rest of the party, his sincerest and most heartfelt aloha.

Representative Hamilton called Prince Kuhio's name, and a storm of applause greeted it, and as the popular Delegate to Congress mounted the platform and again as he was leaving it, the hall rang with the chorus "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," sung with a zest that left no doubt that the Prince is popular in Washington.

The Prince's address was in Hawa-ian, and greatly pleased his listeners.
He explained that the Washington delegation had been invited to Hawaii in order that they might see for themselves the beauties of the Paradise of the Pacific, and at the same time learn that its people are good Americans, and by meeting them learn to understand their needs and appreciate their difficulties which will come up in one form or the other in the future.

Representative C. A. Rice, the Territorial Financier and leader of the lower House of the last Legislature, was called upon and made a very short address in which he expressed the hope which was only too evident in fact, that the visitors had had a good time, and would continue to have during the remainder of their visit. He also trusted that Kauai would not be forgotten and the visitors had as much pleasure out of their visit as the citizens of Kauai had had in entertaining them.

Secretary Atkinson was called upon, and the few appropriate remarks made by him met with the enthusiastic applause and he was like Kuhio, honored with the "Jolly Good Fellow" song.

In spite of the fact that the party without exception had eaten almost beyond their capacity at the luau a short time before, they were served with wines and punches, and sherberts and creams, and cakes and some found room for more.

A few minutes of dancing by some of the young people, after the formal reception, and the party hurried to another plantation train and left Lihue about 10 o'clock decorated with leis and followed by the alohas of their entertainers, to board the Kinau at Hana-maulu, whither the vessel had preceded after the party had left it at Elelele.
Although the water was a little rough the boarding was effected without great difficulty, and the happy but tired party were soon in their berths, and the staunch little vessel, speeding once more toward Honolulu.

ANCIENT MARINER CRUSHES MUTINY

CAPTAIN LARSEN OF SHIP MARI-ON CHILCOTT STANDS OFF SAIL-ORS MAD WITH DRINK.

Captain Larsen of the ship Marion Chilcott has a belaying-pin handy for any drunken sailor or other man who goes aboard with the impression that he may run the ship as he likes.

On Friday night last several of the crew returned to the ship more or less excited by liquor. One man in particular undertook to call the captain a long list of horrible names, none of which were true and all of which were violations of the rules of politeness.

In addition to the insults, the sailor ventured to lay hands on the master of the vessel, remarking that if it was not for the skipper's age he would shove his head down his throat.

Captain Larsen, some three score years of age, stepped to the side and lovingly fingered a belaying pin.

"Belay that foul chin music or I'll belay you," said Larsen, in effect.
The sailor, nevertheless, approached and moved to strike the captain, whereupon the master tapped him a smart rap on the headpiece with the pin and the sailorman took a tumble.

Others were following in the wake of the trouble-maker, but the undaunted captain gathered another belaying-pin in his left hand, and double armed, sailed into the crazed bunch of mutineers, right and left.

"You have raised a bruise on my head, that's evidence," cried one coward. "Here's another to keep it company," chuckled the skipper, laying a ridel mark alongside the first scar:
"Want any more?"

Alone and unarmed, although assistance arrived after it was all over, Captain Larsen held the ship against half a dozen joughs half mad with drink.

The men were arrested and taken to jail but later released, the Sailors' Union taking up the matter with a view to dealing with the mutineers, if so they prove to be, in a manner in which they are not likely soon to forget.

CAPTAIN MAX SCHLEMMER BUYS LUKA FOR LAYSAN ISLE TRADE

FREIGHT RATES SO HIGH THAT KING OF LAYSAN IS FORCED TO PURCHASE.

Max Schlemmer, King of Laysan Island, has purchased the schooner Luka from Allen & Robinson.

During the summer months she will be run in the guano carrying business between Laysan Island and this port.
During the winter she will engage in coastwise traffic in these waters.

Within a week the Luka will be ready to sail for Laysan. Captain Mansfield will go master of her and her passengers will include King Max, his brother-in-law and perhaps another.

The Misses Mary and Otilie Schlemmer, who accompanied their father from Laysan in the U. S. gunboat Annapolis will not return in the Luka.
Miss Mary Schlemmer takes up musical studies on the mainland and Miss Otilie Schlemmer goes to school in this city. Miss Gertrude Schlemmer also being in Honolulu.

Captain Schlemmer said today that it was on account of freight rates being altogether too high that he concluded to buy his own vessel. Over three hundred tons of guano are awaiting shipment on Laysan.

League Season Opens

Punahou Defeated Diamond Heads.

Punahou.....9 1 0 1 2 0 1 0-5 Diamond Head.....1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-1

The second game of the league baseball played at the park was a much better game than the first. Both the pitchers were new men and both made good. The Diamond Heads appeared in new uniforms of red and white and although they were defeated they are a good team and are by no means last in the race for championship.

In the beginning of the sixth inning the Punahou substituted Ed. Desha for his brother David. The Heads who must have expected this immediately entered a written protest on the ground that he had already played with the Diamond Heads.

Punahou—D. Desha, lf; J. Desha, 2b; Ringland, c; J. Williams, p; A. Williams, ss; L. King, 3b; A. Kila, cf; Hannah, rf; McCarrison, lb.
Diamond Heads—Olmos, cf; Fernandez, ss; Davis, 3b; S. Chillingworth, rf; Leslie, lb; Meyer, c; W. Chillingworth, p; Van Vliet, 2b; Clark, cf.

The first to bat were the Punahou, leading off with D. Desha, who swung three times and died at first. J. Desha struck out to short and was put out at first. Ringland went out at first on assist by pitcher.

Olmos for the Diamond Heads reached first on a past ball by King and stole second and third. Fernandez bunted Olmos home scoring their only run of the game.

J. Williams flew out to short. On a muff by Leslie A. Williams gained first and stole second. King went out at first. Kila struck over third to left for a two-bagger sending in A. Williams.
Hannah struck out.

In their second inning the Diamonds failed to reach first.

The third found a lemon for both sides.

In the fourth J. Williams started the ball to rolling, reaching first on a muff by Davis. King reached first on pitcher's error moving the other men up one, making full bases. Chillingworth allowed Kila to walk, scoring J. Williams. Hannah and McCarrison came up with great expectations and bases full, but they were both imitation windmills.

Nothing doing for the Diamonds.

In the fifth, after D. Desha failed to connect, Jack received four balls and walked to first. Ringland's was too hot for the pitcher and a muff by second put him on the second bag. J. Williams brought in J. Desha by a hit to center. A. Williams struck to third reaching first, but Ringland died in attempting to reach home. King brought J. Williams in on a slap to center.

The only other eventful inning of the game was the eighth. After McCarr-ison fanned, Ed. Desha struck a hot one out to left, getting him two bays. He reached third on Jack's bunt and home on King's hit to short. This finished the game for in the next inning neither scored.

QUARRELED WITH WIFE 7,282 TIMES

RATHER THAN INCREASE UN-PLEASANTNESS RADERMACHER
MAY HAVE DISAPPEARED.

Chief of Detectives A. P. Taylor Friday afternoon broke open the trunk of L. R. Radermacher, supposed to be of Los Angeles, who has been missing six or seven weeks, having last been heard of at the Occidental Hotel where he left his effects.

The impression is, with the police, that Radermacher committed suicide.
This impression is drawn from the papers found in the missing man's effects. Letters showed that Rader-macher had domestic troubles continually, that he had quarrelled with his wife 7,282 times; he sued him for divorce in Los Angeles and obtained a restraining order from the Superior Court to prevent him from taking $5-000 which he had obtained from the sale of his grocery business. Other letters seemed to indicate that he was in a despondent frame of mind. His wife reproached him for leaving her without any money.

The address of Radermacher's Los Angeles attorney was also found in the trunk and a will leaving everything to his wife. Taylor has written this attorney to see if he knows anything of his client.

Radermacher may have killed himself while despondent or he may have done the disappearance act with intent to cut himself off from the possibility of increasing the number of quarrels with his wife.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

"Mrs. Temple's Telegram" is the title of the annual play to be given by the seniors of the High School on June 1.

The scene is laid in Mayfair, a fashionable section of London. The story is of an erring husband who tries to slip into the house about two in the morning and is held up by his wife. He makes the same old excuses and finally says that he was at a dinner party given by a friend, Mr. Brown, and lost the last car. He finds next day that she has telegraphed the fictitious Mr.
Brown, and asks his friend, Fuller to impersonate the gentleman. During the scene with Mrs. Temple which follows a real Mrs. Brown turns up with the telegram to her husband and asks for an explanation. Various complications follow with humorous endings.

Miss Ray Bell plays the title role of Mrs. Temple while Prof. Blanchard is the wayward Mr. Temple. The other characters are:
Dorothy, a sister of Mrs. Temple
..... Lydia Wagner
Mrs. Fuller Florence Crozier
Mrs. Brown Agnes Cassidy
Fuller Bert Lightfoot
Capt. Sharp, Dorothy's sweetheart.....
..... Sam Wright
Mr. Brown Dan King
Butler Arthur Lando

The play, which has been played in New York with great success is being staged and managed by Gus Murphy. It will be given at the Opera House and the tickets will be on sale at Wall, Nichols Co., on and after May 25.

MEN ADMIRE

a pretty face, a good figure, but sooner or later learn that the healthy, happy, contented woman is most of all to be admired.

Women troubled with fainting spells, irregularities, nervous irritability, headache, the "blues," and those dreadful dragging sensations, cannot hope to be happy or popular, and advancement in either home, business or social life is impossible.

The cause of these troubles, however, yields quickly to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs. It acts at once upon the organs affected and the nerve centers, dispelling effectually all those distressing symptoms. No other medicine in the country has received such unqualified

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Miss Emma Runtzler, of 631 State St., Schenectady, N. Y., writes—"For a long time I was troubled with a weakness which seemed to drain all my strength away. I had dull headaches, was nervous, irritable, and all worn out. Changing to read one of your advertisements of a case similar to mine cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I decided to try it and I cannot express my gratitude for the benefit received. I am entirely well and feel like a new person."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most successful remedy for all forms of Female Complaints, Weak Back, Falling and

JUDGE GEAR DIED SUNDAY

NEVER REGAINED CONSCIOUSNESS—CEREBRAL MENINGITIS WAS CAUSE OF DEATH.

Judge George D. Gear died at the Queen's Hospital yesterday afternoon at 1:10 o'clock. There were present at his bedside, his wife, his brother A. V. Gear and a number of intimate friends. The sick man never regained consciousness from the time the attack was first observed by his wife early Saturday morning. Cerebral meningitis was the cause of death but it was not until a post mortem examination had been made, that this fact was determined, the illness being diagnosed at various times as ptomaine poisoning and diabetes.

On Friday afternoon Judge Gear did not appear to be very well. He complained at his home, that he had a severe headache. He retired and about 3 o'clock Saturday morning, Mrs. Gear noticed that he seemed to be suffering pain. She tried unsuccessfully, to arouse him and then summoned Dr. Herbert. The physician diagnosed the case as an attack of ptomaine poisoning supposed to have been caused by eating salmon at a restaurant and applied restoratives but the patient did not regain consciousness. Judge Gear continued unconscious and finally, it was decided to remove him to the Queen's Hospital and perform an operation. This was decided upon after consultations by Drs. Herbert, Wayson, Wood, Walters, Judd, Rogers and Osmer.

On Saturday night, the police patrol wagon was sent to the Kaimuki residence of Judge Gear and removed the patient to the hospital. Diabetes was supposed at this time, to be the nature of the sickness. Dr. Wood performed the operation. The patient did not improve and at 11 o'clock yesterday morning the physicians announced that they had no hope of the patient recovering. Saline injections were given the unconscious man, in the hope that he would regain consciousness but he did not rally to this extent, passing away at 1:10 p. m. A post mortem examination was then held, showing that death had been due to cerebral meningitis caused by an abscess behind the ear, for which Judge Gear had undergone an operation about six weeks before.

Judge Gear was 39 years of age at the time of his death. He was born at Quincy, Plumas county, California, on March 21, 1868. His education was received in the state of Ohio, but he returned to California and studied law in the office of his father, H. L. Gear of San Francisco. In 1892, the younger Gear was admitted to practice by the Supreme Court of California, the examination being taken in Los Angeles. He at once began practicing law with his father. He assisted his father for some years in law reporting, the elder Gear being a recognized authority on text law book writing. "Landlord and Tenant," is one of his best works.

In 1894, George Gear went to Guatemala where he remained two years, after which he came to Honolulu and located. He was recognized as one of the ablest attorneys of the Territory and has participated in some of the most important island litigation. He was appointed Judge of the first circuit by President McKinley succeeding R. D. Sullivan. Upon the expiration of his term on March 3, 1905, Judge Gear resumed private practice. One of his most notable legal triumphs was his successful defence of Commander Lucien Young, U. S. N., on the occasion of the court martial of Young, over the fatal explosion on the gunboat Bennington at San Diego.

Gear had an especially keen, alert legal mind. One of his strongest points was the discovery of flaws in the statutes and in this way, his influence helped most materially, to cause needed revisions of our laws. A history of the points raised by him while on the bench and while practicing law, would be a valuable work in showing the application of the American laws here and their points of variance with the former Hawaiian statutes.

Gear was a member of the Republican party and had added that organization in many ways, both as an orator and an adviser, but he declined to accept any nomination. As a speaker he was very witty.

Gear was a man of much personal charm. He was affable and companionable to an unusual degree. His friends, he numbered not only among those whom he had personally aided but among the men who had been his opponents, politically as well as professionally. The expressions of sorrow over his death have been universal.

Judge Gear was for many years a member of the Masonic order and held the thirty-second degree. He was a member of the Scottish Rite and also of the Mystic Shrine. He also was a charter member of the local lodge of Elks and a member of the Knights of Pythias. Judge Gear left the following relatives, his widow, Mrs. George D. Gear, of this city; two brothers, A.

V. Gear of this city and Louis Gear of Oakland; his sister, Mrs. Emily Spencer of Granville, Ohio, and his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Gear of San Francisco.

Last night delegations from the Masons, Knights of Pythias and Elks held a watch over the remains of their former member at the undertaking parlors of H. H. Williams on Fort street. The remains can be viewed by friends of the late jurist after 2 o'clock this afternoon at Williams' undertaking parlors. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Masonic Temple. Services will also be held at the Nuuanu cemetery. The remains will be incinerated.

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Professor Scott, on Tuesday morning, gave to the pupils of the High School an interesting spelling test. The words given were those which were found to be mis-spelled most often on Harvard examinations. On correction the result was found to be an average 88 per cent for the four classes. Following is a list of the words: chief, decision, different, describe, disappear, disappoint, exaggerate, finally, goddess, grammar, independent, infinite, insistent, intellectual, led, literary, pamphlet, possess, prejudice, privilege, profession, receive, rhythm, sentence, separate, surprise, villain.

Miss Lydia Wagner a member of the Junior class, has been working in the office of the Board of Education this week. Miss Wagner was in the commercial department and is a good example of the stenographers the High School turns out.

Calls Roosevelt A Tornado

Baron Robert de Doblhoff, who has painted the portrait of the strenuous President of the United States which is destined to hang on the walls of the Temple of Peace at The Hague, is a distinguished Austrian artist. He was commissioned to do this work by the Countess Brodinsky and the Paris Society of Peace Friends, joint donors of the portrait. Baron de Doblhoff said after painting the portrait:

"No one familiar with the career of your President would be surprised to find a man of great energy, but I did not expect to meet a veritable whirlwind of activity. He is as restless as a grasshopper—never still for a moment. Yet withal one cannot be in the company of this great man for even so little a time and not be the better for the experience."
