SOUTHERN MAN NAMED COLLECTOR

Malcolm Franklin of Mississippi to Succeed Stackable in Customs Office

CONCEDED WILL BE CONFIRMED BY SENATE

Factional Fights Among Democrats Held to Have Caused Selection of Mainlander

Malcolm Argyle Franklin, Southern Democrat, will succeed E. R. Stackable, summarily removed, as collector of customs for the district of Hawaii. Franklin was nominated today by President Wilson and it is conceded here that the senate will confirm him, whether or not a fight is made by Stackable's friends in congress.

First news of the appointment was received by the Star-Bulletin early this morning in two messages from Washington.

An Associated Press dispatch by Federal Wireless, says: "President nominates Malcolm Argyle Franklin of Columbus, Mississippi, collector of customs Hawaii."

The Star-Bulletin's Washington correspondent, C. S. Albert, sent the following by special cable: "Malcolm Argyle Franklin, Mississippi, was nominated this afternoon for collector of customs. He is backed by Senator Williams and has been the leader of the race from the beginning."

Delegate Kuhio later in the morning received from his secretary, Jack Deha, the following cablegram: "Malcolm Franklin nominated collector of port."

The Star-Bulletin conveyed the news to a number of local Democratic leaders, but though most of them commented curiously and bitterly upon the appointment of "another mainlander," none wished to speak for publication.

Neither Col. C. J. McCarthy nor E. G. Dulsenberg, regarded as the leading local candidates for the office, made any comment upon the news that their hopes had been dashed to the ground.

In political circles generally the appointment is regarded as another proof that the executive and factional fights of local Democracy have discredited the present secretary of the treasury and that another evidence is given of the intention of the president to name mainlanders for offices here on which the party is badly divided.

Franklin's Backing.
Mr. Franklin is a life-long resident of Columbus, Mississippi, a personal friend of Attorney A. S. Humphreys and has been strongly backed not only by Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, but also by the entire congressional delegations of Mississippi and Alabama. Furthermore, said Judge Humphreys today, he had the most cordial personal backing of T. Watt Gregory, the noted Texas lawyer. Gregory stands high with the administration, having at one time been considered certain of the attorney-generalship, but declining it, it is said. He is now engaged as leading counsel for the United States in the New Haven railroad case before the interstate commerce commission. He is one of Wilson's advisers and very strong politically throughout the South.

Judge Humphreys said today that some months ago he advised Franklin to get into the race. Franklin and he were schoolmates in Columbus many years ago. The Franklin family has been resident in that town for nearly a century. Franklin himself is unmarried and about 40 years old. He was educated in law and admitted to the bar, but after practicing for a short while went into mercantile business. He has served two terms in the Mississippi senate and is still a member of that body. He is said to be a felicitous speaker. The photograph published by the Star-Bulletin today was sent to Judge Humphreys some time ago.

Judge Humphreys said today that Mr. Franklin's selection was urged very strongly in numerous letters sent from Hawaii. "These letters were sent to answer the statement that a local man should be named," he said.

Street Car Beats Push Car.
A Japanese cart laden with candy, popcorn and other dainties, was partially wrecked this morning while being moved along King street, an electric car colliding with the smaller vehicle. No blame is attached to the motorman of the car, No. 51, which figured in the accident. The Japanese push cart was uninjured.

A declaration of intention was filed in the office of the clerk of the federal court yesterday by Manuel Rodriguez, a carpenter, who was born at Funchal, island of Madeira, on October 22, 1871. Rodriguez wants to become an American citizen.

NO INTER-CLUB SWIMMING TESTS WILL BE HELD

Hui Nalu Votes $1,000 More to Send Team to Coast—He-alanis Not Satisfied

Healanis and Hui Nalu swimmers will not meet in elimination trials at the navy ship tomorrow morning, to pick a representative Hawaiian team for the San Francisco meet. Although this plan was agreed to by both organizations, the Hui Nalu at a meeting held last night voted an additional $1,000, to send their relay team instead, the understanding being that the Healanis send three men, making eight swimmers in all from Hawaii.

However, the Healanis have not given club sanction to this plan, which is not in accordance with the agreement between the two clubs entered into Thursday night, which provided a way to determine the very best team that Hawaii could produce. The club is willing to pay its proportion of the expenses of sending a representative team to the coast, irrespective of whether it has one or three men on it, but members have expressed themselves as opposed to spending the same amount to get three men on the team, if the Hawaii relay team is to be broken up, and one which does not stand as good a chance of winning substituted.

Irrespective of Hui Nalu arrangements, the Healanis will hold their trials tomorrow morning, just as planned, according to statements made this afternoon.

It was decided recently to hold trials at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to pick the team for the coast trip. D. P. Kahanamoku and George Cunha of the Hui Nalu and Healanis club, respectively, were awarded places but the other two or three places were to be decided by merit. From recent races it looked as though Kahanamoku might be the only Hui Nalu to make the team, but the luck might break against either club so that the team could be composed of one Hui Nalu and three Healanis, or the exact opposite. Neither club could then compete for the trophy in the club relay event, but Hawaii as a whole could enter with its best team.

From the Hui Nalu, D. P. Kahanamoku and Clarence Lane have been definitely chosen. The three other men will probably be chosen from the following quintette of speed merchants: R. Holstein, L. Kaupiko, Mark Bertelmann, Hile Boyd, Fredrick Wilhelm. Trials will be held at Waikiki Monday, and if there are any other Hui Nalus who think they have a chance to win a place they will be given the opportunity.

Frank Kruger, Harold Kruger, Walter Grace and Lawrence Cunha are the two most likely candidates for the two vacant places on the Healanis team.

Swimming fans are deploring the misunderstanding, just when the makeup of the team promised to be decided strictly on merit. President W. T. Rawlins of the Hui Nalu thinks that the Healanis are getting a better deal, under the new arrangement, as they are sure of three representatives, but the Healanis seem to be considering the races more from an all-Hawaii than a club standpoint, and the whole matter is still more or less in the air.

The annual meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be held next Monday afternoon, June 15, at half past three o'clock at the residence of Mr. H. Hugo, Metcalf street, beyond Wilder avenue. Visiting daughters and members of Aloha Chapter are invited to attend. An auto will meet the cars at Manoa junction from three to half past three o'clock.

'M'CARN-M'BRIDE DECISION UP TO JURY'—LINDSAY

Special Assistant to Present All Facts He Can Gather to Federal Grand Jury

SAYS THAT BODY MUST FIX THE RESPONSIBILITY

Deputy Marshal Sherwood is Back from Hilo With Witnesses to Be Called

In a statement to the Star-Bulletin this morning, Alexander Lindsay, Jr., special assistant to the attorney-general with power to investigate the McCarn-McBride affair, declared that, during the hearing of the case which is scheduled to begin Monday morning, he will do nothing more than present his findings in the matter and then leave it to the federal grand jury to decide whether it was McCarn or McBride upon which the alleged assault was committed.

"What facts I have thus far been able to collect will be presented to the jury," he said. "That is all that I am instructed to do, and the jury must then decide upon which man the blame is to be placed."

Mr. Lindsay further stated that he has received two communications from Washington regarding the investigation. The first, he says, was a cablegram asking him if he would take up the duty, and the second, a cablegram appointing him special assistant to the attorney-general. It was learned late yesterday afternoon that Mr. Lindsay's instructions for his carrying on the investigation were contained in the following cablegram, received by him June 6:

"You are hereby appointed special assistant to the attorney-general and empowered to conduct and prosecute all proper proceedings before grand juries or the courts in respect to matters relating to or growing out of recent assault by one McBride upon United States attorney in federal building. Your compensation will be determined by the attorney-general upon completion of the service. Before entering upon your duties execute and mail to me the statutory oath."

The cablegram was signed by J. C. McElroy, attorney-general of the United States. On the same day Mr. Lindsay received this message: "The following cablegram was received in Honolulu addressed to Federal Judges Sanford B. Dole and Charles F. Clements:

"I have cabled Alexander Lindsay, Jr. appointment as special assistant to the attorney-general to conduct all necessary proceedings connected with assault upon McCarn."

"The cablegram notifying me of my appointment contained the only instructions I have had from Washington," said Mr. Lindsay.

Everything now is in readiness for the commencement of the hearing before the federal grand jury Monday morning. Deputy Marshal David Sherwood returned from Hilo this morning with five residents of the Crescent City who have been called to give testimony in the case. Other witnesses are to be called from Honolulu.

DR. MARSHALL PROMOTED TO STATION IN EAST

Passed Assistant Surgeon E. R. Marshall, of the U. S. public health service, is soon to leave Honolulu, after four years' duty here. The news is contained in the following cablegram from Washington: "MARSHALL, Honolulu. Believed, promoted Providence, Rhode Island, take charge quarantine marine hospital and immigration." The change is in the nature of a promotion, as Dr. Marshall will have charge of an important station. Dr. E. E. Trotter, in charge of the local office, is very sorry to lose Dr. Marshall from his staff.

WEAVER HOLDS SHERIFF'S ACT WAS NOT LEGAL

But Rose Says He Will Stand Pat on Appointments in Police Department

Deputy District Attorney Weaver. In an opinion rendered to Auditor James Bicknell today, holds that Sheriff Rose's recent police department appointments were illegally made.

Sheriff Rose is going to "stand pat" on those appointments. That's the situation today. Sheriff Rose says: "I will continue to stand by the appointments made by me in taking office as sheriff of the city and county of Honolulu, despite the opinion now before me from Deputy City and County Attorney Weaver. Further than this I can only say that I will endeavor to protect the officers whom I have either promoted or appointed to positions in the police department."

Sheriff Rose again took occasion to refer to section 7 of act 51 of the session laws of 1913, his interpretation of which leads him to believe he has been acting within the letter of the law in the selection of men to fill the position of a police captain sergeant and bond or warrant clerk.

Deputy Weaver's opinion says: Opinion No. 110.—Summary: Act 51 of the Session Laws of 1913, and the Rules and Regulations of the Honolulu Civil Service Commission for 1914 construed.

Appointments and promotions under Rules V and VI. Appointments.—The appointment of a person, not in the employ of the police department, to a position in the department, without complying with Rule V. of the Honolulu civil service commission, is without authority of law.

This rule provides that the sheriff shall appoint a person from an eligible list submitted by the commission. The city has no power to employ or to receive into its service a person appointed to the police department in violation of this rule.

BRITONS BIG SURPRISE IN POLO—BEAT U. S. BY SCORE OF 8½ TO 3

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

MEADOWBROOK, N. Y., June 13.—The British polo team, challengers for the international trophy, won the first game of the series here today with ease, the score being 8½ goals to 3. The challengers out-rode, out-generalized and out-hit the Americans, and their mounts are noticeably better.

The greatest excitement prevailed before and during the game and a large sum of money changed hands on the result. The showing made by the Englishmen since their arrival here has been so good that the early season confidence in the American team's supremacy oozed away. The breaking up of the Meadowbrook combination, the "big four" of American polo, that brought the international trophy back in 1909, and defended it successfully in 1911 and 1913, proved an even greater blow than was at first supposed. Although three members of the old combination are still on the team, the loss of Captain Whitney and the radical change of positions played havoc with the team's playing efficiency.

The American team, with Captain Harry Payne Whitney out, is composed of Rene La Montaigne, No. 1; J. M. Waterbury, captain and No. 2; Devaux Millburn, No. 3; Lawrence Waterbury, back. This is an all round shift from the invincible "Big Four" combination, which placed Whitney at 3, and Millburn at back.

The makeup of the English team is not given in the press dispatches, but probably includes Captain Tompkinson, Captain Barrett, Captain Cheape and J. A. Traill.

BUTTE MAYOR IN ROLE OF PEACE- MAKER A FAILURE

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

Mayor Curran made an address to the mob from the window of a building, attempting to pacify the angry men, but his efforts only turned their anger against himself and he was hurled through the window. The union offices were wrecked and the latest election ballots were destroyed.

LINER RAMMED BUT GOOD LUCK AVERTS DEATHS

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 13.—What might have been a terrible ocean accident has luckily turned out to be without loss of life so far as is known. The liner Pretoria early this morning ran into and badly rammed the liner New York 400 miles east of Ambrose lightship. A dense fog caused the collision. A hole 32 feet long and 12 feet high was torn on the port side of the New York but luckily it was above the water line and the steamer had no trouble in keeping afloat. None was killed and there was no panic.

PASSENGERS ARE HEAVY MAIL DUE HUSBAND TAKEN MAROONED AT LAHAINA IN LINER VENTURA FROM DEPARTING LINER

A series of swells that rolled mountain high from the Pacific, breaking over the reef-protected entrance to the little harbor at Lahaina, Maui, proved a source of grave danger to the handling of ship's boats, at the time the inter-island steamer Mauna Kea called there for the purpose of landing passengers, mails and freight.

The attempt was soon abandoned, after the narrow escape of a boat in which a number of sailors entrusted with the mail had figured. The Mauna Kea's searchlight was played constantly upon the little craft that rolled about the dark green water like a cork.

After trying several times to send a boat to the Lahaina wharf, a conference between the officers of the vessel resulted in the transfer of mail and passengers from the Mauna Kea to the Claudine.

Today another attempt will be made to get a shore boat from either the Claudine or the Mikahala to Lahaina. In that event one of these vessels will pick up the travelers now marooned at the weather-bound port.

The Mauna Kea returned to Honolulu this morning with a small list of passengers and a cargo including one auto, 7 crates of poultry, 304 head of sheep, a quantity of sundries, fruits, vegetables and 10 cords of wood.

Purser Phillips reports rough weather in crossing the channel. The schooner Muriel now at Mahukona will be dispatched for the coast on Sunday taking 16,000 sacks of sugar.

The steamer Niihau and Kalahele were alongside the Matson liner Wilhelmina while the Mauna Kea remained at Hilo. The Matson vessel is receiving a big shipment of sugar, destined for the coast. The steamer Maui was passed at Papahou.

Screaming loudly, a Russian woman rushed from pier 7 last evening as the Japanese liner Shinyo Maru was about to sail for Japan, China and the Philippines, and, meeting Mount Police Officer Tripp near the entrance to the wharf, declared that her husband was a steerage passenger in the big vessel and in her opinion was attempting to make his get-away, leaving his wife and family of children behind.

Tugging at the mother's skirts were four children ranging from five to 18 months.

It was a sad tale of cruelty and hardship that was poured into the ear of the officer who, descending from his horse, was soon hastening along the upper gallery of the wharf. Reaching the deck of the liner, he lost no time in locating the man. The Russian had been provided with a steerage ticket to Kobe. This was taken over by the woman, following a speedy reconciliation held on the forward deck of the Shinyo.

The presence of the officer decided the matter as far as the erring husband was concerned and he gave orders that his personal effects be removed from the ship. All went ashore.

Mounted Officer Barry Sizemore made an important capture last night in W. McPherson and B. C. Lewis, colored privates from the 25th Infantry, who are alleged to have been under arrest for some days and later to have made their escape from the guards. The prisoners were returned to the military authorities at Schofield Barracks last night.

It's a far cry from Ridge Crest, North Carolina, yet an appeal has been received in this city from A. M. Watson who would seek knowledge of one Bondie Watson who, the writer says, was "four months chief of police of Honolulu." Sheriff Rose has been advised that Bondie Watson was discharged from the U. S. army on last September and then took over the entire charge of the local police force. That Bondie is "some romancer" is the opinion held by Sheriff Rose and brother officers. Watson is not known here.

VACCINATION'S 118TH BIRTHDAY.
[By Latest Mail.]

NEW YORK.—The world's first vaccination was performed 118 years ago today, when Dr. Edward Jenner, an English doctor, who had devoted 30 years to studying the subject, drew lymph from the hand of Sarah Newles, a milkmaid who had contracted cowpox, while milking cows. He applied it to the arm of an eight-year-old boy named James Phillips.

It was the beginning of the conquest of smallpox. At that time smallpox was causing one-tenth of all the deaths of the human race.

Today vaccination has made smallpox a negligible factor in the list of human ills. It has practically driven it out of existence as a scourge of nations.

Backed by the authority of law in many countries, medical science has inoculated the civilized races and made a pockmarked face a rarity today.

All United States soldiers and sailors pass through the experience. All immigrants landing on our shores must be inoculated, and many states have laws that order all school children to be vaccinated.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Civic Art lecture with slides and the Mt. Holyoke pageant pictures borrowed from the College Club, which will be given at the Territorial Normal School on Monday, June 15, at 7:30 o'clock.

Browning, First Field Artillery, and family; Mrs. Edwards, the wife of General Edwards, accompanied by her daughter and niece; Lieutenant Colonel W. W. Forsyth, Fourth Cavalry, wife and daughter; Lieutenant L. R. Fredendall, Second Infantry, and family; Miss Haywards, Miss Chesham, Miss Logan, Captain G. W. Kimball, Fourth Cavalry; Lieutenant S. McAndrews, Second Infantry, and family; Lieutenant O. J. Naylor, Fourth Cavalry; Lieutenant W. C. Potter, First Artillery, and wife; Lieutenant W. E. Pridden, First Infantry, and wife; Lieutenant B. R. Peyton, A. K. C. Palmer, First Field Artillery; Mrs. Willett and children.

The majority of the above officers are returning to duty with their regiments, from the several service schools that were recently broken up on account of the Mexican troubles.

CARNIVAL WILL GET PLENTY OF ADVERTISING

That the 1915 Mid-Pacific Carnival, of which James D. Dougherty recently was appointed director, will receive staunch support from an advertising and publicity standpoint from a large number of American and foreign steamship and railway lines and tourist agencies, is evident from the large flow of correspondence regarding the matter which now is coming into the office of the promotion committee. Following the publication in the Star-Bulletin of Mr. Dougherty's plans for the 1915 celebration, Secretary H. P. Wood of the promotion committee sent copies of the plans to prominent steamship, railway and tourist companies, and their replies tend to show that the carnival will not be lacking in outside support.

The "Hamburg" American line writes: "We beg to advise that we should be pleased to have any further information that you may have in regard to the Hawaiian Carnival season of 1915."

The Northern Pacific Railway Company says: "If you will give us a little more information in regard to dates, we shall be glad to do all that we can to assist you in securing publicity."

From the Pacific Mail Steamship Company: "I have received your letter of May 12 with advance copy of plans for the 1915 Carnival and will be glad to use the article."

W. A. WALL GOES INTO OFFICE OF CITY ENGINEER

W. A. Wall was appointed city and county engineer at a meeting of the board of supervisors at noon today. A communication was received from Mayor J. J. Fern recommending Mr. Wall for the position, following the reading of which he was appointed. There was no discussion accompanying the appointment, the vote in favor of Mr. Wall being unanimous. His salary will be $350 a month and, aside from performing the duties of county engineer, he will act as manager of the water and sewer works when that department is taken over by the city and county.

Mr. Wall, who has been a resident of the territory for many years, has had sufficient experience in engineering matters to qualify him for his new duties, say the supervisors. His last project was the survey of the Waialeale ditch for the Oahu Plantation Company. He will assume office July 1.

CONVENTION TO SETTLE PRIMARY LAW PROBLEMS

Secretary Thayer Plans to Get County Clerks into Conference About August 15

To decide on the form of the ballot to be used in the coming primary, and to thrash out several of the uncertain points of the law, W. W. Thayer, secretary of the territory, is considering the advisability of calling a convention of the county clerks.

This morning he conferred with David Kalsaukalan, Jr., city and county clerk of Honolulu, on this plan, and the latter expressed himself as strongly in favor of it. Secretary Thayer expects to call this convention for about August 15.

"By getting all the clerks together a uniform ballot can be agreed on," said Mr. Thayer this morning, "and at the same time we can agree on the interpretation to be placed on several of the difficult sections. As this is the first time an election has been held under this law, there are naturally several points that may be given different and conflicting interpretations. Such a convention as the one I plan should be a great assistance to all the clerks for this reason, and do a good deal toward carrying out the law properly and uniformly."

KEWALO FIGHT CONTINUES IN SUPREME COURT

The fight in the supreme court over the Kewalo injunction suit was resumed this morning when objections were raised to the conditions of a $20,000 bond, which J. Alfred Magoon offered to the court yesterday afternoon, and which was objected to by attorneys representing the Lord-Young Engineering Company and the territory. Chief Justice Robertson had agreed to issue an injunction prohibiting the continuance of the Kewalo reclamation work provided the appellants put up a $20,000 bond as security for any damages that may be suffered by the company as a result of the injunction.

The objection raised to the bond was that it limited the liability of Mr. Magoon to $10,000, it being contended that as a bondsman he should be jointly and severally liable for the entire amount of the undertaking. The court sustained the objection, and agreed to continue the temporary restraining order until 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, by which time the appellants are to furnish a new bond covering the objections raised to the present one. At that time an argument may be made on a motion to dismiss the appeal. Attorney Fred Milverton, for the Lord-Young Engineering Company, having filed such a motion which is based on the ground that the appeal has not been properly perfected, a cost bond not having been filed when the case was taken to the upper tribunal.

"The people of Kewalo are not suffering by reason of stopping this work," said Mr. Magoon this morning. "The land which the Lord-Young Engineering Company is supposed to fill is not now nor has it ever been in an insanitary condition. The people seem to be misinformed as to the attitude of the residents of Kewalo toward this work. They are simply objecting to being deprived of their land for a long period of time, thus preventing them from carrying on their business. The flood of sand, dirt and salt water over their property would cause irreparable injury."

Members of the Portuguese Evangelical Church Sunday school to the number of more than 300, gathered at Pearl City last Thursday afternoon to attend the annual picnic of the church. The morning and afternoon were taken up with games and various sports, and a basket luncheon was served at noon. A good time was reported by all who were present.

The motion of the inter-island Steam Navigation Company to amend its answer in the nine cases where it is a defendant in a damage suit was submitted this morning in Judge Robinson's court, without argument. All of these nine cases arise out of the damage to freight which occurred in the fire on the Mauna Kea some time ago.

The appraisers of the estate of Ching Tam Shue filed their report this morning in the circuit court. The property in the estate was valued at $8,774.72, a good part of which is represented by personal property.

No warrant should be issued for the payment of such person.

Promotions.—The promotion of three persons in the police department by the sheriff, without complying with Rule VI of the Honolulu civil service commission, is without authority of law.

This rule provides for promotion of persons from the same department, and for competitive examinations, etc. This follows the power given in sections 4 and 7 of the Session Laws of 1913.

The city has no power to employ or to receive into its service such a person.

No warrant should be issued for the payment of such employee.

Letter to James Bicknell, Esq., city and county auditor:

Dear Sir:—Your letter of June 12, 1914, received, with enclosures including resolutions 1 and 2 of the Honolulu civil service commission, passed June 10, 1914. These resolutions state that on June 3, 1914, the sheriff appointed Mr. J. S. Kakaia to the office of clerk to the deputy sheriff, and promoted Mr. J. K. Kane to be chief clerk to the deputy sheriff, Mr. Daniel Kamahu from sergeant, to be captain of police, and Mr. J. J. Enright from patrolman to be sergeant of police.

The appointments were not made from any eligible list submitted by the Honolulu civil service commission, as required by Rule VI, under authority of section 2 of act 51 of the Session Laws of 1913.

The promotions were not based upon competitive examinations as required by Rule VI. Section 7 of act 51 of the Session Laws of 1913 provides that, when vacancies in existing positions occur, which can with advantage to the department be filled by the promotion of persons in the service who have proved their fitness therefor, they shall be filled by the promotion of such persons. In all other cases, vacancies shall be filled and all promotions made from the list of persons who have previously passed the examination required by the rules and regulations with the approval of the commission.

Section 2 provides that no person shall be appointed to any position without the approval of the commission in accordance with its rules and regulations.

Section 4 provides that all appointments and promotions shall be in accordance with the rules and regulations. You request an opinion as to your duty to draw warrants for the payment of these persons claiming to hold positions in the city and county of Honolulu.

I have considered the facts and I am of the opinion that persons occupying positions to which they are appointed or promoted by the sheriff in the manner described above, are not employees of the city and county.

The city has no power to employ or to receive into its employ such persons.

PAIR OF SHOES MAY BE CLUE IN DEATH MYSTERY

The ownership of a pair of tan shoes found outside the door leading to the apartment occupied by Helen Furutani, a Japanese pineapple planter of Wahiawa, who was found dead in a vineyard street lodging house with two bullet wounds in his body at 10:30 last night, is a matter that is occupying the attention of Captain of Detectives Arthur McDuffie and his men today.

Deputy Sheriff Julius Asch was called last evening to take charge of the dead man whose body had been discovered in the room by other lodgers. A blood-stained mat arrested the attention of the lodgers and, peering over a transom, they noted the body propped up against the wall and apparently lifeless.

Deputy Sheriff Asch found that life had been extinct for a number of hours. Death was caused by two bullets from a .32-caliber revolver, found at the side of the man. One bullet entered the neck and the other penetrated the abdomen.

To the astonishment of the officers, the deputy sheriff recovered $292 in gold and silver coin from the clothing of the man.

The money was in a small sack found in a pocket of his trousers hanging on the wall.

Investigation has developed that the Japanese had called at Honolulu for the purpose of conferring with several friends. The shoes that were placed against the door are said to have been several sizes too small for the dead man. Why they were placed there is at present a mystery that baffles the efforts of the police.

Deputy Sheriff Asch has called a coroner's jury to investigate the case at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

An arrival from windward Kaula this morning, the inter-island steamer Likiep, brought 3900 sacks of sugar, 392 sacks of rice, 106 sacks of spuds, and 49 packages of sundries. The vessel met with a moderate sea and a northeast wind.

Dr. W. C. Hobby will resume his course of lectures at the Y. M. C. A. next Thursday evening.

Therefore, you are not authorized by law to draw warrants in their favor. My reason for such conclusion I state more fully below.

When a person's name does not appear on the eligible list provided for in Rule VI, he is not eligible to an original appointment.

The appointment must be made in accordance with Rule VI, requiring the sheriff to notify the commission of any vacancy to be filled in his department and of the appointment of such person from the eligible list. If he is not on the eligible list he is not an employee of the city and county.

Act 51 of the Session Laws of 1913, section 2, provides that no person shall hold or be appointed to any position in the department without the approval of the commission in accordance with its rules and regulations.

Section 4 of the same act requires the appointment or promotion of any employee in the department to be in conformity with the rules and regulations.

The promotion of the chief clerk was not made in conformity with section 4 of act 51 of the Session Laws of 1913, because it was not made in accordance with Rule VI of the rules and regulations of the Honolulu civil service commission.

In regard to the promotion of the various employees, section 7 is to be read with regard to sections 2, 3 and 4.

Section 7 provides that, vacancies occurring in existing positions, which can with advantage to the department be filled by the promotion of persons in the service who have proved their fitness therefor, shall be filled by the promotion of such persons. This section is a mandatory requirement of the territorial law. It may not be disobeyed either by the commission or by the appointing officer. However, this section provides that there must be promotions according to these rules of persons in the service who have proved their fitness.

The act leaves to the commission the further power to decide how these persons shall be selected.

The commission has made Rule VI, regulating promotions, under the authority given it in Section 4.

It is clear that the commission is acting within its power.

Had the commission omitted to make any rules governing promotions, then Section 7 might be construed to require the sheriff to promote officers or employees without consulting the commission, but the commission having directed him how to carry on these promotions, the sheriff must comply with Rule VI, if the promotions are to be held valid or are to be recognized by the auditor.

The rules made by the Civil Service Commission have the power and force of law, and are binding upon all appointing officers.

1 Dillon on Municipal Corporations (4th ed.) Sec. 399.

The city cannot employ or receive into its service a person not eligible under the law.

1 Dillon on Municipal Corporations (4th ed.) Sec. 401.

I am of the opinion that both the appointments and promotions made are without authority of law, and that the employees so named are not in the employ of the city and county of Honolulu.

This is unfortunate for the persons named. This department sees no recourse, but to give an opinion as promptly as possible after the facts have been brought to its attention.

Respectfully submitted,
(Signed) P. L. Weaver,
First Deputy City and County Attorney.

HAWAII FRUITS AND NUTS MUCH IN DEMAND NOW

That Hawaiian kukui nuts and papayas are in urgent demand by southern and eastern firms for medicinal and other purposes, is the information which has been received by the Promotion Committee through letters from New York City and Louisville, Kentucky. One of the letters, that referring to the kukui nut, is from a hydroscopic survey bureau in New York, and the one relating to papayas is from a distributing agency in the South.

The New York communication reads as follows:

"I would thank you to give me as much information as may be at your disposal regarding kukui nuts. I would like to have about 300 pounds as a sample and should be pleased to receive a quotation F. O. B. New York for this sample shipment and also for larger quantities. If I am correctly informed, your agricultural experiment station has investigated the utility of the nut so that it is now known under which conditions best results may be obtained."

Regarding papayas, the following letter has been received:

"Kindly advise us whether any of the produce of the carica papaya tree (tropical pawpaw) is exported from any part of the Hawaiian Islands to the United States. The only product that we know about is commercial papain, a crude drug, which is a brownish gummy substance looking like coarse bran or irregular granules of gum arabic. There may be other products of this tree prepared for the market, and if so we would like to know what they are, but in the meantime we would greatly appreciate it if you will give us what information you can as to the exportation of papain from the Hawaiian Islands; how it is prepared; names of firms who are in position to sell us the untreated papain, the ruling market price, etc., and what it costs to deliver it to the nearest United States port."

CORPORAL APPARENTLY "DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED"—NOW WOUNDED

Corporal George Barnes of the 159th company, Coast Artillery, stationed at Fort Ruger, was shot in the left shoulder, and left thumb yesterday morning when preparing to leave with his company for the ceremony of presentation of the Knox trophy. The wound was from his own rifle and with a service cartridge. The wound in the shoulder is serious as regards the future usefulness of his arm, but his life is not in danger.

His company commander, Captain Edward Carpenter, expressed the opinion that the injury was a case of "didn't know it was loaded." The soldier had been on guard at the post the day before and it was thought that all ammunition that had been issued to the guard for its tour had been turned in on relief from that duty. Therefore, how the corporal happened to have possession of this service cartridge is puzzling the post authorities.

A board of officers has been convened by the post commander to make inquiry and report the result of the investigation. This is in accordance with regulations, in order that pensionable status in case of permanent disability may be determined.

Corporal Barnes was taken to the department hospital for surgical treatment immediately after the accident, it is said. He is reported as progressing favorably towards recovery from shock.

The maid of honor was Miss Amelia Nagel, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were Misses Margaret Nagel and Adeline Hatch. Following a wedding supper the young couple departed for San Francisco, where they will sail for Honolulu for an extended honeymoon.

The bride is a young woman of rare accomplishments and is the center of a large circle of friends. Captain Hatch, whose steamers ply between San Francisco and Vallejo, is the son of the late Captain Z. J. Hatch.

VICTIMS OF REVELL HAVE $105 OF $500

At a meeting yesterday of the victims of young Walter Revell's fraudulent check passing, it was decided to apply the $105 found on him when arrested in part payment of the $500 put up by merchants on the government's stipulation to pay the expense of bringing Revell back from the coast last December.

The amount of the bad checks was only $250, and Revell did not receive even that much, as he drew only a part of the face amounts in some cases. It was not for the recovery of the money that the merchants had him brought back and prosecuted, but for the purpose of making an example of him to deter others from confidence operations.

Revell is about completing his term of six months on one of five charges of passing false checks, to which he was sentenced on his plea of guilty to all the charges on January 5, the court suspending sentence on the remainder.

AGAINST THE FISH-MARKET SALOONS

Politics is made up in just about equal parts of comprehension and sympathy. No man ought to go into politics who doesn't comprehend the task he is going to attack. He may comprehend it so completely that it daunts him, that he doubts whether his own spirit is stout enough and his own mind able enough to attempt its great undertakings, but unless he comprehend it he ought not to enter it.

After he has comprehended it there should come into his mind those profound impulses of sympathy which connect him with the rest of mankind, for politics is a business of interpretation, and no man is fit for it who does not see and seek more than their own advantage and interest.—Woodrow Wilson.

WEIGH ALL THE CIRCUMSTANCES

Whatever may be the idea in Washington as to the line to be taken in the McCarn-McBride case, the only possible course that will meet any approval here is a full investigation of all the facts, all the circumstances.

It is not sufficient to confine the investigation to an inquiry as to whether or not District Attorney McCarn was assaulted by Attorney Claudius H. McBride in the hall of the federal court.

This is a case where not only the truth and nothing but the truth but also the whole truth is wanted.

Just why Special Assistant Lindsay's eabled instructions are worded as they are is a matter of doubt, though it is hard not to believe that the attorney-general has been led by reports from Honolulu, presumably reports on behalf of Mr. McCarn, to order the investigation along the line of a probe into an "assault by McBride." That severity has surrounded the cablegrams which have been flying back and forth between Washington and Honolulu lends all the more activity to persistent rumors that Attorney-general McReynolds was asked by McCarn's friends to have the investigation conducted along such a line. In this they were palpably within their rights if they believed McBride the aggressor.

It is unfortunate that the exact wording of Special Assistant Lindsay's instructions, as well as the exact wording of the cablegram to the federal judges, has been withheld at the instance of the latter. The Star-Bulletin understands that District Attorney McCarn has been quite willing that the contents of the various cablegrams be made public. And, as always, when a matter of public interest is veiled in secrecy, rumor has magnified the significance of the information.

The matter is to be presented to the federal grand jury next Monday. The Star-Bulletin does not believe in trying cases of this kind either in its news or editorial columns, but it does believe that in fairness to both sides the public is entitled to know exactly what are the issues that involve on the one hand an official in a position of high trust and responsibility, and on the other, a member of the territorial bar. As to fixing the blame, that is plainly the duty of the grand jury and this paper will withhold comment until the facts are developed.

In the development of those facts, it is essential that the grand jury weigh all the circumstances, and not in the narrowest interpretation of an "assault upon McCarn."

LESSONS IN PRECAUTION NEEDED

A recent auto accident in which a little girl lost her life suggests that the public schools might well take up systematic courses of instruction in precaution to insure safety.

Every man or woman who has driven an auto on the streets of Honolulu will bear witness to the extraordinary lack of precaution on the part of children old enough to know better. This lack of precaution can be due to nothing else but heedlessness, for children are not usually reckless in the sense of inviting danger. Boys of a certain age may in the spirit of daring put themselves in dangerous positions, but it is not a general childish trait.

To change this heedlessness into prudence is a task for the teacher. It should be quite as important for a small boy or girl to preserve life and limb as to learn to read or write.

Peace always seems near Mexico just before Gen. Villa and the Feds get into another bloody engagement.

The Democrats of Hawaii are beginning to realize that division of forces means subtraction of jobs.

Mr. George W. Paty of the Anti-Saloon League is sending out the following in postal card-form:

To the License Commissioners:

"Whereas there is a movement on foot to eliminate the liquor traffic in the neighborhood of the Fish Market, owing to many complaints on the part of the Public, the undersigned desires to protest against the renewal of any license in that neighborhood."

The objections to these fish-market saloons has been voiced in the press many times within the past few weeks. Up to date not an answer has been made to the arguments against these saloons. The reason is that the arguments are unanswerable—the principle is right.

There ought to be a thousand of these cards signed before the license board meets to consider applications for renewals. That is on June 17.

NATIONAL PROGRESSIVE STAND

An Associated Press dispatch from Oyster Bay says:

OYSTER BAY (N. Y.), May 28.—The program of the Progressive Party in the campaign this fall, as outlined thus far, is understood to be as follows:

First—No amalgamation with the Republican Party, as such.

Second—Fusion tickets in cases in which candidates who accept the policies of the Progressive Party are nominated, where the naming of two candidates of this description would split the liberal vote.

Third—Insistence on policies rather than party names, and an endeavor to consolidate in every state the voters who approve of the principles of the Progressive Party.

Fourth—In New York State the probable endorsement of the Republican candidate for governor, provided he is a man personally acceptable to the Progressives, and is willing to approve their platform unequivocally.

While Colonel Roosevelt declined to commit himself tonight on this program it was learned from an excellent source that the Progressive leaders had virtually decided to adopt tentatively the foregoing plan of action.

There is nothing in this that would prevent the Progressives in Hawaii from supporting a sound candidate on another ticket.

WE REGRET TO LOSE HIM.

Honolulu will be sorry to lose Dr. Edward R. Marshall of the U. S. Public Health Service, who has been ordered to Providence, Rhode Island. He has made many friends here and though his promotion is a well-deserved one, Honolulu will regret that he is going. During the campaign against the mosquito, at a time when there was some excitement over the possibility of yellow fever getting a hold here, Dr. Marshall was placed in charge of the field work and gave very effective service. He has taken a deep personal interest in Honolulu's problems of sanitation and his papers on this line have been a distinct contribution to public knowledge.

THAT LATEST APPOINTMENT.

What do the Democrats of Hawaii think of their political policy now?

A mainland fills the United States district attorney's office. A mainland fills the Honolulu postmastership. As soon as the senate can act, a mainland will fill the collectorship of customs.

The fact that a man is sent here from the mainland does not make him personally objectionable. But the fact that Democratic factionalism and disruption in Hawaii have so far brought Democratic politics here into disrepute as to prevent the appointment of local men for responsible positions makes the situation objectionable. Democratic factionalism is hurting the reputation of all Hawaii. Republican factionalism did the same three or four years ago, but never to such a deplorable extent as now.

Still there are doubtless good Democrats in Kentucky, North Carolina, Texas, Georgia, Florida and Alabama, not to speak of Missouri. The possibilities are by no means exhausted with McCarn of Tennessee, Young of South Carolina and Franklin of Mississippi.

Senator Williams is beginning to occupy the position with regard to Hawaiian patronage that used to be held by the senator from Wyoming.

McCarn and McBride here and McReynolds and McAdoo at Washington are furnishing most of the summer's news.

One way to disperse the Solid South is to move half of it over into Hawaii.

Mississippi is also among these present.

Old Doc's Talk

POLITICAL PREFERMENT

My son, political preferment today, develops capabilities, and every president in our country at least, depends upon a combination of circumstances and events beyond the control of any one man. A man may, so to say, set his cap for the presidency, and get it or not; most likely not.

Mr. Cleveland by force of innate qualities and happy circumstances which he certainly could not have foreseen or regulated, was carried into the presidential chair.

Mr. Roosevelt, my boy, with a knowledge of inside politics, and a long-headedness quite surprising in a man of impulse, played for the chair and won it. He saw the importance of wise moves when he made his charge at San Juan Hill, my boy, and this was the real beginning of his political luck, but his second charge at Mr. Taft was not successful, my son; it ruined Mr. Roosevelt's career.

He couldn't stand plain American citizenship, my lad; he hadn't the qualities necessary for a good, law-abiding, loyal, honest, everyday citizen of the United States. And, my boy, the best way to deserve the presidency is to fit yourself not for that office but the duties of a common American citizen.

It is a fortunate thing in a democracy that most of its intelligent citizens of education, judgment and experience in affairs, have what will fit them to be president, if such a fate should await them. The assumption of the responsibilities of the office develops capabilities, and every president in our country at least, depends upon a combination of circumstances and events beyond the control of any one man. A man may, so to say, set his cap for the presidency, and get it or not; most likely not.

How short lived were Admiral Dewey's presidential possibilities, though with what acclaim the people shouted his name!

What little effect eloquence, catching phrases, bids for a popular vote based upon unsound reasoning have, we see in the failures of Mr. Bryan. Washington couldn't help, being president—his selection was the logical outcome of the events of the day.

He was caught in the cog-wheel of history. Yes, my son, he was "first in peace, first in war and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

John Adams needed no office to advertise his fitness, and the same may be said of John Quincy Adams. Jefferson cast his office in the shadow. How disassociated is Lincoln's greatness from the incident of his election? And rare old Ben, how fortunate for us that his time and mind were not disturbed by the worries of an election!

My son, qualify for good citizenship in all its duties, and you will make a good president when you are called upon to assume that important office.

E. S. GOODHUE.

WHAT NEED FOR A THIRD PARTY.

Honolulu, June 9, 1914.
Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

Sir: In the Commercial Advertiser of June 5th, Mr. A. L. C. Atkinson notes that Mr. P. G. Jones takes us to task for establishing a branch of the Progressive party in the Territory of Hawaii. The writer will so Mr. P. G. Jones one better, and say that there is no place in the whole United States for the Progressive party. The Progressive party can do nothing but harm in the future as it has in the past, as the party started from a few erratic soreheads that the public had had enough of for the time being, and as the party cannot hope to do anything useful or helpful in national affairs in the next 30 years, as none of the other parties that started up in the United States in years past have been successful in national affairs with the possible exception of the present head of the nation, who has shown himself to be the rankest kind of a Socialist, and he would not be at the head of the nation today, if it had not been for the butting in of the soreheads, that called themselves the Progressive party. And the whole United States would not be crying hard times as they are today.

And, my dear people, these hard times are only fairly starting in, for as sure as the regressive party keeps on recruiting or filling their ranks from the Republican party, just so sure will the Democratic party keep in power. And as sure as they are kept in power, just so sure will we have hard times, should it be for the next twelve years.

"Jack" says that it has always been a puzzle to him why a few citizens of Hawaii attempt to hold themselves aloof from our great commonwealth. He certainly must be speaking for and of the Progressive party, as they certainly are in the minority and they are holding themselves aloof from the good old Republican party that has brought more prosperity to the American nation, and continuous prosperity in the past 50 years than was ever dreamed of; and the only exceptions to these prosperous times have been when the Democratic party has been in power (but was put there by the other little parties splitting up the Republican vote) and has forced upon the American people a lot of childish theories that every successful business man in the United States knows are wrong and were discarded years ago.

And now comes along a lot of failures in business (if they ever were in business) and pass a lot of laws compelling the successful man to follow and compelling him to reduce wages or everyone working for him, and in a number of cases putting the man himself out of business and thereby losing the savings of a lifetime.

And of course you know that when you haven't any business or anything to lose, it is quite easy to make laws for the other fellow.

The good old Republican party has advanced for the benefit of the many, and if anyone has anything to suggest let him bring it forward, instead of starting a new party that they can't possibly get any benefit from in the next 30 years, if ever, but is sure to keep the destructive Democratic party in power.

There can be no doubt about the special privilege curse in the past, but it is passing, and it only needs a few little touches here and there and it will pass on forever, and I assure you that without the assistance of the Progressive party, the Democratic party cannot ruin the industries of Hawaii, or any part of the United States.

A REPUBLICAN.

THE SALOON AT LEILEHUA.

Honolulu, June 10, 1914.
Editor Honolulu Star-Bulletin:

Sir:—In the article on the "Volcano House" at Leilehua, June 9, the writer states he can't see why any people of a community should complain of a saloon near a military reservation when the authority for its establishment was granted to relieve those same people of a pain induced through an apparent vision of those (old drunken soldiers) on our streets. No. The citizens of Honolulu don't want the drunken soldiers or drunken civilians on our streets, nor do they want drunken soldiers or drunken civilians at Leilehua. He states that in 1899 a body of women persuaded Congress to remove beer from the army canteen with the result that enlisted men have been dissatisfied ever since. Why did this band of women ask Congress to remove the temptation for drink from the soldiers? Because many of them had sons in the army and knew what a temptation it would be for their own sons away from home and the influence of family ties. Perhaps some of them had experienced the unhappy results of strong drink in their own homes. Do not think for a minute it was because they wished to deprive you of pleasure or to force you to do something just to gratify a whim of theirs. They pleaded not for themselves but for you, as only a mother who loves her son can plead. The writer intimates that because it is out of the city and we do not come in actual contact with the men while they are intoxicated we should not worry. If we did not care for the men themselves this theory would be all right, but we do care for we know that men in the army are

GRAND JURY ABSOLVES
QUINN AND CLEMENT

The territorial grand jury brought in a partial report late yesterday afternoon after investigating the cases of Chauffeurs D. R. Clement and Thomas J. Quinn, both of whom recently figured in fatal auto accidents. The jury found no indictment against either of the men.

Clement has been under arrest since his accident, which occurred a few days ago at Twilley lane. Judge Robinson, to whom the jury made its report, ordered his arrest. Quinn was not put under arrest.

CO-OPERATION AND THE DRAMA

In Berlin, the high cost of art has been combated for 20 years, and with triumph. There one may see opera, Shakespeare, modern drama, even farces, produced for their own sakes, as works of art, at astonishingly low prices. By joining one of the theater societies, at the cost of a shilling, one may go to the theater at regular intervals from September 1 to June 30, and see the best acting and producing in the capital, and enjoy the greatest possible variety of dramatic fare, for prices ranging between two shillings and six pence. Two theaters are already controlled by these organized audiences, and a third, to hold 2000 persons, is under construction. The three societies, together embracing over 100,000 citizens, that have created this union of art and people, are the Free Folk stage, the New Free Folk stage and the Schiller theater. In 1890 an author named Bruno Wille published in the Socialist paper of Berlin the following call to arms: "The theater has been conquered by capitalism, and the taste of the masses corrupted by economic conditions; but poets such as Tolstoy and Dostoevsky, Zola and Ibsen, have found a response to their striving in the working class of Berlin. Though the public performance of revolutionary plays is usually frowned by commercialism, which wants nothing, but boresome success, or by the censorship of the police, yet closed societies, like the 'Free Stage' have brought to production many a piece of marked tendencies. Since admission to the 'Free Stage' is too costly for members of the proletariat, I suggest that 'Free Folk-stage' be presently founded." This suggestion was widely approved, and the society established. Each month on a Sunday afternoon, it saw a Socialist play in one or another hired theater, performed often for love by artists working on weeks days in the commercial houses. Such economy was practiced without serious loss to art, that the average price of a seat was more than a shilling. Hostility from the police was, of course, experienced, and to this was added internal dissension, which ended only with the resignation and withdrawal of Dr. Wille. The society still exists, but has grown little and been totally eclipsed by its successor, the New Free Folk-stage.—T. P.'s Weekly.

DEATHS

BALDWIN.—In Honolulu, June 11, 1914, Mrs. Lena Baldwin, wife of H. J. Baldwin, a native of Michigan, aged 46 years, 1 month and 11 days.

Musicals Next Wednesday.

Next Wednesday evening, June 16, at a quarter after eight, Mrs. A. G. M. Robertson is giving a musicale at the new church located on Willet avenue, Punahou. A very interesting program is planned for the evening, and considerable interest is being expressed in the affair.

Friends Mourn Elkyer's Death.

Friends in Honolulu of Philip Elkyer, who was drowned at Kaeau, Puna, Hawaii, Thursday, while on a surveying trip, have notified his parents, who reside in Omaha, Neb., of his death, and it is expected that instructions shortly will be received regarding the disposal of the remains. The deceased had been in the Hawaiian islands for several months, and had a wide circle of acquaintances.

MRS. HOWLAND IN FINE VOICE AT OPERA HOUSE

Prima Donna Gives Concert
That Is Worth While—Other Artists Deserve Praise

A small but enthusiastic audience enjoyed a very excellent musical program last evening at the Opera house when Mrs. Bessie Abbott Howland made her first public appearance in Honolulu. The prima donna was in excellent voice and it is certainly to be regretted that a larger majority of the musical public of Honolulu did not take advantage of this opportunity to hear one of the finest singers who have been here in some time.

Mrs. Howland has a voice of rare texture and sweetness as well as of extraordinary range and strength, and it was equally exquisite in the little songs of MacDermid and Cadman as in the bigger compositions of Verdi and Puccini. Cadman's "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water" was a perfect gem of the purest quality and could not have been improved upon. "The Moon Drops Low," by the same composer, "Ah, Fols' Lull" from Verdi's "La Traviata," "Summer" by Ronald Alliston's "Song of Thanksgiving" and "Un bel di" from Puccini's famous "Madame Butterfly" offered splendid opportunities to show the wonderful power of her voice and the difficult technique of which she is master. For her final appearance she rendered Reichardt's exquisite ballad, "In the Time of Roses," which she sang with her arms full of American Beauty roses; Wells' "Spring," and last, Tosti's "Good-bye," which was a very appropriate as well as beautiful ending to her program as Mrs. Howland is leaving for New York in a few days. A profusion of lovely floral offerings was passed over the footlights after each number on the program.

Mr. John Gifford assisted Mrs. Howland, giving for his first number two selections by Frank Lieh, "Adagio" and "Gondoliera," which were delightfully rendered by this talented young musician. His interpretation of Kreisler's "Liebesleid" was also enthusiastically applauded.

Mrs. L. Tenney Peck accompanied for Mr. Gifford in her usual pleasing manner, while Mrs. Florence Boocoo Johnson assisted Mrs. Howland. In the latter's final numbers Mr. Gifford performed the violin obligato.

ENJOYABLE PICNIC GIVEN

Mr. Oscar McCorriston was host at a most enjoyable picnic last Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. H. M. Whitney at Kalahele. A delicious luncheon was served during which the guests were favored with delightful Hawaiian music. Later in the afternoon swimming was enjoyed, completing the pleasure of a very happy day.

Those present were the Misses Rose Herbert, Ruth McChesney, Helen McLean, Mary Lucas, Eva McCorriston, Ednel Carter, Alice McCarthy, Abbie Lucas, Dorothy Podmore, Beatrice White, Dave McCorriston, Ruth Soper, Ester White, Hattie Lucas, Pauline Schaefer, Virginia McCarthy, Margaret Center, Violet Lucas, Gertrude McCorriston, Pischell, Ruth Anderson, Marion Chapin, Beth Woods, Fanny Hoogs, Alice Hoogs, Buchanan, Jessie Kennedy, Margaret McCarthy, Hazel Buckland, Isabelle McCorriston, Marjorie Gilman, Laura Atherton, Helen Spalding, Violet Atherton, Pearl McCarthy, Messrs. MR. AND MRS. HUNN
ENTERTAIN AT OUTRIGGER

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hunn entertained informally on Friday afternoon at the Outrigger Club in honor of Mr. and Mrs. James Schaeffer and Miss Ruth Schaeffer of Berkeley. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in the surf, after which refreshments were served on the club lanai.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunn's guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Schaeffer, Miss Ruth Schaeffer, Mr. P. O'Hara and Mr. Robke of Berkeley, Mrs. W. S. White, Mrs. W. B. Thomas, Mrs. W. F. Gaynor, Miss Louise McCarthy and Miss Catharine Chace.

MARITAL TROUBLES AIDED.

Marital troubles were aided in federal court circles this morning when Santiago Granado, a Mexican, appeared before United States Commissioner George Davis in answer to a statutory charge. Granado was arrested late yesterday afternoon upon charges preferred by James Kamano, who alleges that the Mexican ran away with his wife. Following a brief investigation, during which Granado, Kamano and two of the latter's children gave testimony, Commissioner Davis ordered Granado bound over to the October term of the federal court, fixing his bail at $250. Granado is an old offender, having done time in Oahu prison on several occasions.

Fire in the Jacob Haisch agricultural implement plant at Gabaki, Ill., the other day caused a loss of about $300,000. There was no insurance.

NEW PROMOTION COMMITTEE NOW READY FOR WORK

With the re-election of H. P. Wood as secretary and the appointment of Ed Towse as vice-chairman, the members of the new Promotion Committee, recently named by the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu and headed by Emil A. Berndt as chairman, completed their organization at a meeting yesterday afternoon and are now in readiness to begin their first year's work. The members of the new committee are Emil Berndt, John Effinger, Z. K. Myers, Ed Towse and J. D. McInerney. George G. Guild and Albert Waterhouse, members of the former promotion body, were present at the meeting.

The principal business of the meeting consisted of the reading of communications and the exchange of opinion among the members regarding policies which should be adopted by the new committee. A report by Albert Waterhouse, appointing a committee of one to induce the supervisors to provide examinations in English and local geography for hack and automobile drivers before granting them licenses, was accepted. A local law firm now is drafting an ordinance along these lines, and following its completion the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu will present it to the supervisors and urge its passage. Secretary H. P. Wood presented his first report to the new committee, in which he outlined the present financial condition of the organization. Meetings of the Promotion Committee will be held each Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the rooms of the committee, Bishop street.

LAM LIP AND M'CARN ARE JUDICIAL EQUALS

Arguing that as Judge Robinson had allowed United States District Attorney Jeff McCarn to go on his own recognizance, with an indictment for assault with a deadly weapon against him, he should likewise so release Henry Lam Yip charged with a similar offense, and not require bond, Attorney S. E. Chillingworth caused a laugh in the circuit court yesterday.

Without commenting on the validity of the argument Judge Robinson agreed to allow the prisoner to go without bail until Monday, when he will appear to plead to the indictment.

Morning on CHARGE

There was a comparatively active business done between boards since yesterday's exchange session. Hawaiian Commercial was strong at 25.75 with sales of 50 and 15 shares, and is now 26 bid and 1/2 more asked. McBryde made substantial gains in sales of 20 shares at 1/2 point advance, and 100 and 20 shares further advanced 1/4 to 3/4. Ewa advanced 1/4 point to 17.50 for 45 shares, and Olaa 1/4 to 1.75 for 10 shares. Hawaiian Sugar fell off a point in a sale of 25 shares at 25, but on the board recovered 1/2 point in a sale of 10 shares. Oahu was steady at 14.50 for 15 shares, advancing 1/4 point on the board for 25 shares. Alexander & Baldwin showed a drop of 20 points from last sale, some time ago, in sales of 5 and 6 shares at 150. At the session Onomea went from 19.87 1/2 for 5 to 19.75 for 5 shares, the closing price being 1/4 point below last sale quotation. Brewery gained 1/2 point in a sale of 5 shares at 17.50.

GERMANY'S SOUTH AFRICAN DIAMOND FIELDS

The "Exhibition of German Precious Stones and Metals," which has been arranged in the corridors of the Prussian upper chamber in aid of a charity, is drawing attention to the enormous progress that the diamond output of German Southwest Africa is making. Thanks to the splendid mechanical appliances now installed there, the daily output has risen to about 1 kilogram of diamonds, which makes rather more than 30,000 stones with a total value of from 200,000 to 220,000 marks. Since July, 1908, when the first diamonds were discovered at Luderitzbucht, until the end of last year, the total output has amounted to 4,500,000 carats, with a value of nearly 140,000,000 marks. Of this total, stones to the value of 54,000,000 marks were found last year. The net profits of the companies devoted to the exploitation of the diamond fields in German Africa amount altogether to 31,000,000 marks. The extent to which the administration of the colonies is interested in this industry is clearly shown by the declaration made at the last sitting of the budget commission in the Reichstag. Whereas it was only anticipated that the colony would be able to contribute to the empire to the extent of 6,000,000 marks, the result of the find in a new diamond field near Pomona has increased this contribution to 16,000,000 marks. It is anticipated that the yield will be a far greater one in the immediate future and also that higher prices will be realized. A specialty of the diamond fields of German Southwest Africa is a green and blue aquamarine of the first water, and also a new gem discovered here of a yellow greenish color, resembling old Moselle, and having a special brilliancy. The name of "Heliodor" has been given to this new gem, which is scientifically of great interest as it has been proved to contain radioactive properties. —Continental Correspondence.

just the same as the civilians. The fact that they wear khaki suits does not change the man for better or for worse. I have found as good men among those enlisted in the army as I ever met anywhere. I have invited them to my home and enjoyed their comradeship, and it is what a man is, not the fact that he is a soldier or a civilian, an officer or a private, that makes him worthy of our confidence and friendship. No man with self respect cares to associate with a drunkard or an ignorant, egotistical man; the ability to make other people respect you is in your hands. Do it. The saloon won't help you.

The fact that Mr. Kimball was good enough to find a place on the outskirts of the camp more than 20 miles from the city and that the Oahu Railroad & Land Company were willing to assist by leasing their property to help pacify the civilians, does not alter the fact that it is about as difficult to find a good place to locate a saloon, as it is to find a good place on one's body to locate a boil, and they are both rather painful in their results. The only difference is they say a boil sometimes clears the system and the saloon, whether at Schofield or in Honolulu, has the opposite effect. Do not think the temperance people are opposing the saloon at Schofield because it mainly affects the soldiers. This is not true. They are just as much opposed to saloons in town for the civilians as at Schofield for the soldiers. In what other business in the world would it take an armed guard to preserve order (furnished by the U. S.), and in what other business would it be thought necessary to have a subway under the track that these men might safely cross the track? This subway is a bluff and the words "only entrance" are not true, as more than half of the men go through the fence. The writer states that he does not deny the statement that some of the drunken soldiers are lying around near the subway or on the brink of the "volcano," but it is no worse for a soldier to be drunk than for a civilian, and that most men learn their bad habits, if they have any, before they joined the army. I believe this to be true, and that the training of the army is, in many cases, beneficial, but there are many men in the service who never drank or patronized the saloon, and if it can be proven, and I am sure it can, that the saloon at Leilehua or in Honolulu causes one man in a year to become a drunkard it is sufficient reason why it should not exist.

Can the pleasures of the social class or the profits to the saloonkeeper be a sufficient excuse for the granting of a license which shall be the means of ruining a man, body and soul? I was told by the manager of the place that he did not drink liquor, and why? Because he knew it would prevent him from giving the business his best attention. I appeal to you, boys of the United States army, if it is not good for the saloonkeeper to drink is it good enough for you? Do you realize that more men have been killed by rum than in all the wars? To say nothing of the desolate homes, the starving children. And have not the two murders committed by drunken soldiers during the past year and as many more committed by drunken civilians caused you to pause and think for a minute? And the victims of the saloon who died because they did not have the will power to resist the temptations of strong drink went not down to the honored graves of those who died in the defence of their flag and country but to a dishonored drunkard's grave of misery and shame.

And all through the curse of liquor. Is it worth while? Do you wonder that we butt in and protest against it? I license out at Schofield even if it is out of sight. The writer seems to think that no one wants the soldier and that they want to deprive him of many rights of the civilians. This is not true.

If you intend to continue as a soldier make it your study to be the best soldier in the army, mentally, morally, physically, and if you intend to go into civil life again let yourself for that, choose your course and work for it; if it is a home and family, make yourself worthy of it. It may be hard but it is worth while. Ask yourself honestly, and if you doubt yourself ask some one whom you can trust—"Is the saloon a help or a hindrance?"

I don't believe there is a man in the army or anywhere else who would be proud to see his son drinking in a saloon. Then why encourage that which you know does more harm than good?

The statement that the civilian does not care for the flag or the men of the army who support it is absolutely false. We all respect the flag and the men who uphold it, but it certainly does not create a respect for the nation who would accept money from such a source of revenue as the liquor traffic. Nor does it create respect for the soldier sworn to protect his flag and country to see him so under the influence of liquor that he cannot care for himself much less for his country and its flag.

The manager of the Leilehua Volcano told the soldiers the other evening "We pay for your uniforms and salaries through the money received from internal revenue for liquor tax." If he will carefully investigate he will find it to be a fact that every dollar received by the United States for liquor tax costs the government two dollars to care for the finished product of the saloon. This is not a temperance lecture or kick against the defenders of our flag, and if Clifford Kimball or any other saloonkeeper cared one half as much for the flag or the honor of our country as those who would close the saloons they would not be in the business.

The President's Message to Americans Who do Their Duty

PRESIDENT WILSON had no formal address prepared for the ceremonies held on May 11 at the Brooklyn navy yard for the men killed at Vera Cruz. Secretary Daniels read to him the names of the nineteen American dead in whose honor the services were held. The President's reply was delivered with slow impressiveness. His voice was low and fervent and his face was grave.

THE PRESIDENT SAID:

"Mr. Secretary, I know that the feelings which characterize all who stand about me and the whole nation at this hour are not feelings which can be suitably expressed in terms of attempted oratory or eloquence. They are things too deep for ordinary speech. For my own part, I have a singular mixture of feelings. The feeling that is uppermost is one of profound grief that these lads should have had to go to their death.

"And yet there is mixed with that grief a profound pride that they should have gone as they did, and if I may say it, out of my heart, a touch of envy of those who were permitted so quietly, so nobly, to do their duty.

"Have you thought of it, men? Here is the roster of the navy, the list of the men—officers and enlisted men and marines—and suddenly there swim nineteen stars out of the list, men who have suddenly gone into the arms of memory, where we shall always see their names shine; not because they called on us to admire them, but because they served us without asking any questions, and in the performance of a duty which is laid on us as well as on them.

"Duty is not an uncommon thing, gentlemen. Men are performing it in the ordinary walks of life all around us, all the time, and they are making great sacrifices to perform it. What gives men like these peculiar distinction is not merely that they did their duty, but that their duty had nothing to do with them or with their own personal and peculiar interests.

"They did not give their lives for themselves; they gave their lives for us because we called on them as a nation to perform an unexpected duty.

"That is the way in which men grow distinguished; and that is the only way—by serving somebody else than themselves.

"And what greater thing could you serve than a nation such as this we love and are proud of?"

"Are you sorry for these lads? Are you sorry for the way they went? Remembered? Does it not quicken your pulses to think of the list of them? I hope to God none of you may join the list, but if you do, you will join an immortal company.

"So, while you are profoundly sorrowful, and while there goes out of our hearts a very deep affectionate sympathy for the friends and relatives of these lads—who for the rest of their lives shall mourn them, though with a touch of pride—we know how we do not go away from this occasion cast down, but with our heads lifted and our eyes on the future of this country, with absolute confidence of how it will be worked out; not only the more vague future of this country, but the immediate future.

"We have gone down to Mexico to serve mankind, if we can find out the way. We do not want to fight the Mexicans; we want to serve the Mexicans if we can. Because we know how we would like to be freed and how we would like to be served if there were friends standing by ready to serve us.

"A war of aggression is not a war in which it is a proud thing to die, but a war of service is a thing in which it is a proud thing to die. Notice that these men were of our blood—men of our American blood, which is not drawn from any one country; which is not drawn from any one stock, which is not drawn from any one language of the modern world; but free men everywhere have sent their sons and their brothers and their daughters to this country in order to make that great compounded nation which consists of all the sturdy elements and of all the best elements of the whole globe.

"I listened again to this list with a profound interest, at the mixture of the names for the names bear the marks of the several national stocks from which these men came. But they are not Irishmen, or Germans, or Hebrews or Frenchmen any more. They were not when they went to Vera Cruz; they were Americans, every one of them, and were no different in their Americanism because of the stock from which they came. Therefore, they were in a peculiar sense of our blood and they proved it by showing they were of our spirit; that no matter what their derivation, no matter where their people came from, they thought and wished and did the things that were American and the flag under which they served was a flag in which all the blood of mankind is united to make a free nation.

"War, gentlemen, is only a sort of dramatic representation, a sort of dramatic symbol of a thousand forms of duty. I never went into battle, I never was under fire, but I fancy that there are some things just as hard to do as to go under fire. I fancy it is just as hard to do your duty when men are sneering at you as when they are shooting at you. When they shoot at you, they can only take your natural life; when they sneer at you, they can wound your heart. And men who are brave enough, steadfast enough, steady in their principles enough to go about their duty with regard to their fellow men, no matter whether there are hisses or cheers—men who can do what Rudyard Kipling in one of his poems wrote: 'Think about it, but don't let it show. Meet with triumph and disaster And treat those two imposters just the same.'—these are men of whom a nation may be proud.

"Morally speaking, disaster and triumph are imposters. The cheers of the moment are not what a man ought to think about, but the quiet of his conscience and of the conscience of mankind. So when I look at you I feel as if I also, and we all, were enlisted men of the service, but enlisted to serve the country, no matter what may come, what though we may waste our lives in the arduous endeavor. We are expected to put the utmost energy of every power that we have into the service of our fellow-men, never sparing ourselves, not condescending to think of what is going to happen to ourselves, but ready, if need be, to go to the utter length of complete self-sacrifice.

"As I stand and look at you today and think of those spirits that have gone from us, I know that the road is clearer for the future. These boys have shown us the way, and it is easier to walk on it because they have gone before and shown us how.

"May God grant to all of us that vision of patriotic service which here, in solemnity and grief and pride, is borne in on our heart and conscience."

CONSIDERABLE BUSINESS BEFORE THE SUPERVISORS

Among other matters of board business, Supervisor Pacheco today asked that the board defer action on the new water and sewer ordinance, saying that he has a matter of importance in connection with it which he wishes to bring before a caucus. A communication was received from Mrs. Sanford B. Dole, president of the Humane Society, asking that the board continue its assistance of that organization. The communication was referred to the ways and means committee. Bill 81, amending traffic ordinance 36, and providing that fire engines, ambulances, mail carts and other vehicles be given the right of way on all streets when on urgent trips passed third reading. Bids for the paving and curbing of Iolani street were referred to the roads committee.

Supervisor Petrie's request that the board appropriate $3000 for the repair of roads on the other side of the island, was complied with. Mr. Petrie pointed out that, after a personal investigation of the bridges at Hauula and Kahana, he found them to be in very bad condition. Mayor Fern announced that next Wednesday he will visit the schools on the other side of the island in company with Henry W. Kinney, superintendent of public instruction.

WHY CAN'T A SOLDIER WEAR SOMETHING OTHER THAN KHAKI OFF DUTY ??? — BY HAP

SOLDIER'S LOSS OF ARM IS STILL UNIQUE MYSTERY

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
FORT SHAFTER, June 12.—The latest developments in the mysterious case of the soldier who was brought to the hospital on the evening of the 24 instant with a badly mutilated arm, that necessitated amputation by the surgeons, seem to point to the solution of the accident or injury as having been incurred by the man having been struck by a railroad train when walking along the Oahu railway track near a point where the Kalihi wagon road crosses. Private William L. McKinsey, Company G, 2d Infantry, the man in question, represented to the board of officers appointed to investigate the circumstances that he had gone out for a walk on the evening of the 24 and had turned up the tracks from the road crossing when almost immediately he stumbled into a hole, or an opening in the tracks; and, while endeavoring to extricate himself from the place where he had fallen, put up his left hand to grasp the rail and pull himself up. While his hand and arm were in that position a train that had not been observed by the soldier rushed by bound for Honolulu, and practically severed his hand from his arm at a point just above the wrist. McKinsey claims that the whole affair occurred in half a minute of time and that after being struck by the wheels of the train he lay there for some time when, reviving in part, he made his way back to the wagon road and shortly thereafter caught sight of an automobile. He waved his uninjured arm to the occupants of the machine and thus attracted attention to his condition. The people in the machine proved to be a Japanese and his wife and they immediately assisted McKinsey into their car and, upon the soldier making it understood that he was from Fort Shafter, drove with him to the department hospital where Captain Schlanser of the hospital staff performed the operation.

There remains some doubt in the minds of the investigators as to the means whereby McKinsey received his injury since the surgeons have stated to the board that the appearance of the crushed arm when the patient was received was not entirely that of a member that had been under the wheels of a railway train, but rather that of an arm that had been crushed under a lighter weight with possibly an automobile as the damaging cause. The arm was badly crushed, it is true, but there was scarcely any cutting effect to be seen. McKinsey is still in no condition to go with the board and point out the locality where he claims the accident took place, but will later be taken to the ground.

Meanwhile the Japanese chauffeur has been located and will be interviewed by the board. This Japanese, with what seems to have been unusual solicitude on the part of a passer-by when an injured man has been encountered, called at the hospital on Wednesday morning to make inquiry as to his late passenger's condition and gave Captain Mount his card with his address. It appears that he had left a card with the night attendant at the hospital upon the occasion of bringing the injured soldier in for attention and it also appears that at that time at least one witness will state that the Japanese was understood to say that his machine had struck the man and hurt him.

The Japanese speaks English but indifferently and it is possible that the hospital attendant misunderstood his attempt at explanation. McKinsey is regarded as being a man of but limited intelligence and that fact coupled with the shock of the accident and surgical operation following may have thrown him clear off balance. At all events he has made at least two statements that may not be reconciled one with the other as to the cause of his injury.

The two soldiers who figured in the first account of the case seem now to have had no connection with it.

Fort Shafter Notes

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
FORT SHAFTER, June 12.—Lieutenant William C. Rose has, under general orders No. 12, headquarters, 2nd Infantry, dated June 9, been appointed battalion quartermaster and commissary, 2nd Infantry, and by the same order has been assigned to the 2nd battalion of the regiment.

The details that have been working under the superintendence of the Signal Corps experts installing the new telephone system for Fort Shafter have about completed the laying of the underground cables and have commenced on the wiring of the various quarters and barracks.

It is expected that about six weeks time will see the whole system completed and in operation as it is intended that no part of the plant shall be opened up for service until the whole is ready for use.

The service to be given the post under the new installation will be of more than 75 telephones, of which 48 will be located in the cantonment and the remainder in the post proper, including the department hospital.

Private Huff, of Company F, 2nd Infantry, whose reputation as a clog dancer was firmly established at a contest conducted at one of the Honolulu theaters during the late Carnival when he won first place over all comers, was one of the performers at a smoker at the Pacific Club on Wednesday night and scored a big success before the club members and their guests with a wonderful variety of steps and variations in his specialty. Huff's work is that of a finished performer and ranks well up even when compared with the highest class shown on the vaudeville stage.

A board of officers consisting of Lieut.-colonels B. W. Atkinson, 2nd Infantry, Frederick P. Reynolds, medical department, and B. F. Cheatham, Q. M. Corps, were in session at this post during the past week to take under consideration the plans and sites for the location of the barracks and quarters of the proposed addition to the permanent post equipment of buildings.

Lieuts. J. W. McAndrews and I. F. Fredericks, accompanied by their families, are expected to join the regiment by the transport due from San Francisco Sunday. The two officers have been on detached service for the last several months at the Signal School at Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

Upon the recommendation of the commanding officer, Company A, 2nd Infantry, Lance Corporal Harry R. Brown of that company was appointed corporal on the 11th instant by regimental orders, taking the vacancy in the company caused by the reduction of Corporal Turley.

HONOLULU GIRL IS VICTIM OF MISTAKE

Miss M. Williams, daughter of J. J. Williams of this city, a passenger in the Oceanic liner Sierra which sailed last Saturday and arrived at San Francisco yesterday morning, is reported to have been the victim of a decidedly unpleasant experience and subjected to much inconvenience at the coast city through a mistake in identity upon the part of officers. Miss Williams was taken for a Miss Frazer, who had been ordered detained at the instance of Circuit Judge Whitney. The Frazer girl was not found on board, although the San Francisco police were first inclined to take Miss Williams into custody, until her identity was thoroughly established by fellow passengers in the Sierra. The other girl's mother here believed her daughter had been enticed away.

It is difficult to account for the bright remarks of some children after hearing their parents talk.

Resolutions were adopted to the effect that each member of the club will be required to add to their automobile equipment one broom which will be used to clear the highway of all articles that are injurious to tires; such as glass, wire tin cans, etc. The resolutions adopted at the meeting require all members to stop their machine long enough to clear the road of such obstacles whenever they are encountered. It is hoped that the "Broom and Glass Club" will expand so as to include all the owners of automobiles on the island of Oahu.

Private Albert Wilson, Company A, 25th Infantry, who was tried during the month of May by a general court martial, for an assault with intent to kill has been sentenced to serve a term of seven years, and the United States penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, has been designated as the place for his confinement. The crime for which Private Wilson was tried was committed against Private Thomas F. Williams, Company A, 25th Infantry, on May 12, and resulted from a quarrel over some money which Wilson claimed Williams owed him.

SOBS AND FAINTS IN JOY WHEN GIVEN HER CHILD

The strain of legal proceedings, in which custody of her child was at stake, proved too much for Mrs. Terry Roberts yesterday afternoon. While her attorney made a strong and successful fight before Judge Whitney on the woman's petition for letters of guardianship of her child, Mrs. Roberts wept audibly. And when the judge agreed to sign the order of guardianship, she fainted. The fight for the custody of her child, which she alleges is being cruelly treated by her husband, has been long, and up to yesterday, unsuccessful.

Rev. J. P. Erdman will speak at Kaunakapili church tomorrow night at half past seven o'clock. The music will be furnished by the church choir and one or two numbers will be rendered by the Young People's League, under the leadership of Charles E. King. The public is invited to attend the services.

New Spring styles are now ready in Hart Schaffner & Marx fine clothes

Copyright Hart Schaffner & Marx

IT'S always an event which deserves notice when a new season in men's clothes starts; especially when the clothes are such as we're showing from Hart Schaffner and Marx. Never before in the history of the clothing business have we known so fine a line of goods as these.

The models designed for young men are especially attractive. Special fabrics are chosen for these goods; patterns and colorings that are a little livelier than older men wear. The models are the work of special designers who give their attention exclusively to the creation of young men's styles.

The new tariff law makes it possible to use in ready clothes many imported weaves which have heretofore been too costly for such uses. The usual very large range of fabrics and patterns in American goods will not be less. Checks, plaids, tartans, Shepherd plaids, Glen Urquhart plaids, black-and-white, blue-and-white, soft grays, greens, browns; pencil stripes, chalk lines. You'll find what you want among them.

CALIFORNIA BALL TEAM IN PAIR OF GAMES

There's plenty doing in the baseball line today and tomorrow and everything points to another record crowd at the new Athletic Park for the two games in which the University of California team will be seen in action against local clubs.

This afternoon at 2:30 the attraction will be the Asahi and the California collegians, and although on general form the visitors figure as the stronger combination, the lack of the game may break either way. The Japanese team is an unknown quantity to the Berkeley boys, and they may be caught off their stride.

Tomorrow the recently-organized St. Louis team is slated to furnish the opposition, and this should be a red-hot contest. Barney Joy will probably be used in the box for the locals, while Griffin will take another turn in the box for California. The latter made a strong impression on local fandom in his initial game Thursday, against the Hwaikuli.

This afternoon at Fort Shafter at 1:30, the Punahou are scheduled to play the 2nd Infantry team. Some of the dyed-in-the-wool fans expect to take in both games.

CENTRAL AMERICAN ANTIQUITIES

Chan-Chan, the ruined old capital of the Chimu, is not in China, notwithstanding that the name might suggest such a location to the uninitiated. If the Chimu ever lived in Oriental lands our archaeologists have failed to discover the fact. They were Americans, just as were the Incas, whose traditions traced back an unbroken line of kings for a thousand years before the Spanish conquest, and whose civilization is so much better known to us; and once upon a time these same Chimu were formidable rivals in all the arts of war and peace of the Incas. They dwelt along the shores of Peru, as did the Incas on the high Andes, and like the Carthaginians of old were a seafaring people.

"Mystery abounds in pre-Columbian America," writes Walter Vernier in the Monthly Bulletin of the Pan American Union, "and the farther modern research penetrates into the ancient civilizations of Mexico, Central America and the west coast of South America the more the mystery of their origin seems to deepen. Among the problems presented to archaeology and anthropology none, perhaps, is more fascinating than that of the Chimu people of Peru. What we read of these dwellers of the north coast of the land made famous by the Incas is contained in casual references by the early Spanish chroniclers; what we see of their civilization consists of stupendous ruins near the modern town of Trujillo."

The ruined temples and palace walls of this ancient city, richly ornamented in bas-relief, the fine irrigation works, the mounds containing the sepulchers of once powerful rulers, all indicate that the ancient Chimu were worthy rivals of the "children of the sun," who finally conquered them.

The Incas, so tradition says, came from the south to settle the region once occupied by an ancient race of cyclopean builders. The Chimu of the coast are said to have come from the north on a flotilla of rafts, and savants are not agreed as to the time of their invasion. Some think there is evidence of two earlier civilizations, others that everything points to a relatively short occupancy of the valleys, extending over only a few centuries prior to the advent of the Spaniards. Racially the Chimu, in common with nearly all the Pacific coast peoples of South America north of Chile, present the characteristics found among a large portion of the ancient and modern inhabitants of Central America and Mexican territory distinct from the highland type of the Inca conquerors.

"Zeb" Terry Signed by Los Angeles Club

"ZEB" TERRY.

"Zeb" Terry, who captained the Stanford baseball team last year when it invaded the islands and played a series of games against local clubs, has fulfilled the predictions made by his friends and jumped into a good berth in professional baseball. It is generally believed that he will make good from the start.

Terry has been signed by the Los Angeles Coast League team to play short, and Manager Frank Dillon considers that he has put one over on the other pilots by securing the fast Cardinal player. Terry played four seasons with Stanford, and after his junior year was approached by several baseball managers with propositions to play the game after he graduated.

GOLF GOSSIP

There is one notable indication of the higher position occupied by the professional golfer of nowadays compared to a generation or so back. Worthily men their forefathers in the profession were without question, and splendid instructors of the game as well as exponents of it; but it is to be doubted if many of them could write their own names, whereas, it is by no means uncommon to find exceptional literary merit among the modern professionals, not a few of whom have won well-deserved distinction as writers about golf as well as exponents and teachers of it.

It is said that much of the higher standing of the modern professional is due to J. H. Taylor, and certainly one meets some of the finest of men and best of sportsmen among the professionals. "J. H." himself is as ready with his tongue when it comes to a witty speech as any one, and "Josh," his brother professional, has written some of the cleverest golf articles I have ever come across. Vardon, Braid, Taylor, Duncan, Ray and many others have won fame as writers of golf books, and one of the contributors to the ever increasing library of golfing literature is the popular Arnold Massy, who has given to the world in his own tongue and inimitable way his ideas of the royal and ancient game. This volume has lately been translated into English, by A. R. Allinson, and is published by Methuen & Co., Ltd., London, at 2s. 6d. net.

Open Champion Writes Book. In the review of this book in Ladies Golf, Robert H. K. Browning says editorially: "An open champion's ideas on the game are always interesting, none the less so when the champion in question enjoys the unique distinction of being the only overseas player who has ever won the British open. Yet I confess that Mr. Allinson's translation of 'Le Golf,' which was published in Paris three years ago, is not so interesting as the original. There was a fascination in 'le terre de depart' and 'la pelouse d'arrivee' which the tee and the green fail to bring out and to fizzle a shot seems a commonplace thing to do after playing round with an author who has told me that 'mes croissances sont detraquees.' On the other hand, many a golfer who is anxious to know something of Massy's ideas will be glad to have the chance of reading this translation, who would never have taken the trouble to read through the original."

In several respects Massy departs distinctly from the advice of most golf writers. He does not look with disfavor on the fairly high tee. He sees no particular advantage to be obtained from the overlapping grip—which he himself does not use—and he considers that it is bound to be more fatiguing than the two V grip without interlocking, not to mention the intimate contact of the hands is apt to inconvenience players whose

GUNBOAT SMITH IN ENGLAND FOR CARPENTIER GO

[By Latest Mail]
NEW YORK.—Gunboat Smith has arrived in England, where he will fight Carpentier before Burge's club for one of the best purses ever offered in London.

When they see the Gunner, both British and French sportsmen will probably bet their money on Carpentier. The Gunner is no Jeffries in appearance. He isn't bulky or wide-shouldered. In fact, he's rather narrow and light in appearance. He's of the sinewy type and doesn't show any sign of fighting strength until he strips for action in the ring.

For this reason Americans visiting the English club will probably be able to clean up quite a little money in the betting. For unless the French champion is really the wonder they think him in his own country, he'll have less than an even chance with Jim Buckley's battler.

Frenchman is Clever. Carpentier is undeniably clever. And he can hit. He put Joe Jeannette down for a nine-second count in the first round of their twenty-round fight, and he pops other heavyweights down and out with ease. He tears in McGovern fashion and slams away furiously from start to finish. But the man who tears into Gunboat Smith is likely to have the surprise of his existence and to know nothing about it until he wakes up an hour later. In this country they don't tear into the Gunner, as a rule.

It is hardly conceivable that a 20-year-old youngster weighting several pounds less than Smith can give the Gunner much trouble.

"Cleverness is of no use against a man who hits like Smith," says Tommy Murphy. "He can knock you down with a blow on the shoulder. I boxed with him once in training, just to help him get speed. The Gunner didn't mean to hurt me, so he hit me on top of the head, where he thought my skull was thick enough to stand a fair punch. He didn't hurt my head, but he drove down so hard that he almost flattened my insteps. I'd have been flat-footed in two days if I'd gone on boxing with him. Cleverness doesn't go against a man with the Gunner's punch."

Count on Punch. That is what Buckley counts upon in Smith's coming fight with Carpentier. No matter how clever the French champion may be, the Gunner needs only land a couple of such punches as drove Romby Wells headlong to the floor, and the victory will be in his grasp.

Of course, the Frenchmen won't think so. If they are right, Carpentier is without doubt the coming heavy-weight champion of the world.

Automobiles may be as expensive as wires, but one can trade his old auto in on a new one every two or three years.

Medici collars and high frills of net that fall away at the front of the Grouse are seen on the blouses from Paris.

Hands get very warm when playing. And he advises players to disregard the wind and play straight for the hole. "It must be a mighty tempestuous breeze," he says, "to make a ball swerve as much as two or three yards out of its proper course." His rules for the obtaining of a good drive will also bear quotation: "(1) Keep the head still as you draw the club back, and let your body pivot round the hips. (2) Do not lean back after striking the ball, but a little forward instead. (3) In drawing back the club take care your left wrist turns inward and not outward."

Frenchmen Best Putters. The French players are notoriously better putters than our own men, and Massy's observations on play on the green are not the less interesting on that account. He tells us of a sixth sense—the putting sense. If we obey it, without troubling our heads about anything else, we putt well. Apart from this, however, Massy is forced to admit that there is no golden rule in putting; still, there are certain general points which ought to be obeyed. The body should be kept perfectly still; it is really the wrists and forearms only that make the stroke. The feet should be pretty close to each other, and the ball almost in a line with the right heel. The ball should be clearly and properly struck with a short, sharp tap, anything like a push being eschewed. The book is excellently produced, and the photographs and diagrams—some of the latter very original and instructive—are exceedingly good.

Ouimet Upholding His Reputation As Phenomenal Medal Play Golfer

OUIMET WATCHING HILTON HOLE OUT...

No matter what the outcome of the British open golf championship, now in progress, the golfing reputation of the American open champion, Francis Ouimet, will be greatly enhanced abroad. Ouimet gave British critics a glimpse of the form that enabled him to beat Vardon and Ray at twelfth in a field that includes all the amateurs in the qualifying round yesterday, and tied for twelfth place. One hundred quality for the two days of championship play, and to be twelfth in a field that includes all the world's best golfers is a splendid record. The low score was 150 and Ouimet's card was only 154.

Ouimet made a very indifferent showing in the British amateur championship last month, but he seemed to find his stride soon after that event, and won the French championship with ease. He has been severely criticised by golfing authorities in this country for taking active part in the match play previous to the big British championships. The young star was badly beaten by Harold Hilton in a seventy-four hole match for the famous gold cup. This of course tended to shake his confidence and make him worry over his showing in the championships. Travers, on the other hand, stayed at Sandwich and continued to practice with the wooden clubs.

ALAS, POOR IRELAND!

The sun was shining bright on the Stadium that day. The King was there, the Queen was there, when the words were given "Play."

All nashuns had assembled their best brawn and muscle, too. From the shores of the Atlantic to the plains at Timbuctoo. There was white men, there was black men, there was Indians be the score. There was athletes claimin' countries, that you never heard before. If you'll give me close attention, acushla machree. I'll tell ye how they all won but the Irish, d'ye see.

In the hundred-metre hurdles the struggle was intense. It was Murphy, Slavin, Donahue in that order to the finish. And back at them came Korwin and Sullivan and Breen, McSorley and McNulty, McFeiridge and Mulqueen. Shtrung out behind was Hullivan and Hinessey and O'Toole. Part of the bunch was Scotland men, while some owned Johnny Bull. They wound up as they started, and the thing that puzzles me, is why the English flag went up at the stadium d'ye see.

The Irishies for the hammer throw wuz Clancy, Cook and Shay. And Sheridan took a hand in, and also Jawn O'Dea. The former signed from Paris, while the others came from Spain. Such a battle, bechune giants, well, we'll never see again. There was Dooley from St. Petersburg, and Pat McSwat from Greece, Aid Cassidy from Norway, a liftinist av police. The latter battle the others be a rod or two or three— That's how poor Ireland lost the day at the stadium, d'ye see.

The pole vault was a hummer. It brought out some nimble min. There was Hagerty from Dinmark; from Australia Mike O'Flynn; From far off Asia Minor came McCormick and Kehoe; Siberia sint O'Loughlin, and O'Loughlin wasn't slow. Sweden was there wld Horrigan, and from Cairo on the Nile A "coon" named Brian Casey, that topped the bar in style. The "gabur" won the contest, for he lepped just like a flea— Devil a mark did Ireland get at the stadium, d'ye see.

The Marathon called out the greatest runners iver known. Muldoon and Quirk and Savage, O'Brien and Malone; All thim from South Americay; Alaska sint Devine. While Germany responded wld Con Corcoran from the Rhine, From Italy came Dorando (his true name, Doran, Dan), But Hayes from Coney Island was the wan that led the van. The shtraps and shtripes were hoisted to tell av victohree. But the dear old harp and sunburst niver fluttered, d'ye see.

WAILUA BIKE RIDERS THINK THAT HONOLULU CYCLERS SHOULD HELP

The Wailua cyclists, who came in from the country to compete in the Kamehameha Day races at Kapiolani park and carried off most of the honors, believe that they have a just grievance against the alleged management of the meet, and are a mighty sore bunch of boys in consequence. A representative of the Wailua bike riders called at the Star-Bulletin office this morning and stated that none of the prizes advertised as being up for competition had materialized. They do not care so much for the money value of the prizes, but feel that they have been shabbily treated by J. Guerrero, who promoted the meeting.

Under the circumstances they think that Honolulu cyclists should give their support to a Wailua-Honolulu bike race. In former years this has proved a big sporting feature of the year, and in the opinion of the Wailua boys it should be revived in the near future.

"BAB" SMALL BREAKS COAST PLUNGE RECORD

"Bab" Small, who won the 50-yard swimming race here last February, equaling the world's record for that distance, added another feather to his record cap recently in San Francisco by breaking the coast record in the plunge for distance, minute time limit. The mark was made during the preliminaries of the plunge for distance of the open swimming meet to be held by the Olympic Club. Small accomplished 72 feet 2 inches. The former record was held by Fred Clough and was an even 60 feet. This was the first time that Small ever competed in the event.

Small plunged 68 feet 1½ inches on his first attempt and broke the old record again later. The other three and distances to qualify for the finals Friday follow: E. F. Quass, O. C., 62 feet 9 inches; Frank Morse, O. C., 55 feet; Fred A. Brown, Barbarians, 58 feet 8 inches. Fifteen men competed in the event.

ARGABRITE, FORMER STANFORD PLAYER, TO PLAY FOR PUNAHOU

Captain Henshaw and Manager Castle of the Punahou, who are always on the look out for talent to strengthen the Puns, consider that they have landed a record fish in the person of Argabrite, the Stanford University outfielder, who played here with that team last year. Argabrite has left college, and he will arrive in Honolulu on the 23rd. This is the day that the Punahou go up against California, and figuring that the former Cardinal star will jump at the chance to go against Stanford's hereditary enemy, the Puns will have a uniform all ready for Argabrite to jump into. He will be a big addition to the team.

NO HILO GAME FOR U. C. BALL AGGREGATION

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

HILO, June 12.—Three baseball games with the crack All-Chinese aggregation from Honolulu may be staged at Hilo on July 2, 3 and 4 for the delectation of the local fans. The feature is not certain yet, though it is considered practicable by President O. T. Shipman of the city league, who has made the suggestion.

Incidentally, the University of California team now at Honolulu wants to play a game here next Thursday morning or afternoon, but the exhibition at present seems unlikely, as the visitors desire a guarantee and the chances are against that.

Jack Easton received a letter yesterday from Al. Castle, stating that the California college players want to take a trip to the volcano provided they can get at least part of their expenses paid by Hilo people for a game.

"I'm afraid we can't do anything for them, much as we would like to see them play here. We have no grounds at which an admission fee can be charged and the only way a guarantee can be raised is by subscription. The time is too short and the businessmen are not in a mood to contribute strongly to an affair of the kind just now. Besides, the game would have to be played in the middle of the week and on one of our steamer days. That is one of our busiest periods and people generally won't have time to witness it."

"I shall notify Mr. Castle that we can give no guarantee of any other inducement, though we will furnish the team to go against them if they want to come anyhow."

The Fourth of July committee is offering new sweaters to the members of the winning team as a prize for the Fourth of July game. President Shipman says that if the committee will convert the sweaters into $50 cash he believes the Chinese team of Honolulu can be persuaded to come here for a series of three games, on the afternoons of Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the last game to be played on the Fourth. Some additional funds will have to be raised, and he considers that possible, and he also thinks the Inter-island may be induced to grant a $15 round trip fare to the Honolulu boys for the occasion.

If the Chinese come, Hilo fans know they will see a first-class brand of the national game. Whether the committee will consent to the suggested cashing of its prizes for the feature remains to be determined.

BOXING BOOM HITS ENGLAND VERY HARD

SOME of the would-be reformers in California who are talking about trying to kill the boxing game in that state might do well to ponder over the following article, written by a very prominent English magazine writer and also a man high in government circles and with connections in the house of parliament. "Boxing has gripped the British public as it has never done before. The frequent defeats of British boxers by Americans and Frenchmen has aroused the fighting spirit of the nation and everybody is longing for a real champion to appear, one that we can really depend upon to uphold the national honor. The interest taken in the game is really remarkable. Even clergymen in some parts are taking pains to impart a love of the sport in the local boys. Fortunately for the old English pastime it has the support of the greatest in the land—judges, rulers of the army and navy and the premier colleges and universities uniting in singing its praises. A movement is on foot to induce the universities to grant a full blue for boxing, an honor so far accorded only to rowing, cricket, football and hockey. The blue at Oxford and Cambridge universities is equivalent to the 'H' and 'Y' letters granted at Harvard and Yale, but is far more appreciated in England. A blue at one of the two premier-English universities is treasured by an athlete to his dying day, and many of our great political leaders, judges and governors refer to the days when they won their blues at Oxford or Cambridge. If the honor is granted it will boost the game still more and will obtain even greater favor among the official circles. The petition is signed by the late Lord Roberts and many leading officials."

DWIGHT OF THE HEALANIS LEADS INDOOR LEAGUE

The batting averages for the Y. M. C. A. Senior Indoor Baseball League that have just been completed by Scorer A. E. Larimer show that Geo. Dwight, of the Healanis, leads for the season with an average of .600. His teammate Trask is second with .514. Gilliland of the Triangles finished third, his mark being .448.

Phillips is high average man for the P. B. C. team with Gomes only six points behind. Cannon of the Healanis scored the most runs during the season, 19. Trask made 17, C. Tinker 15, Gomes and Keefe 14. R. Tinker and Dwight each crossed the plate thirteen times.

GOVERNOR BACKS 'BABY BONDS' FUNDING PLAN

Would Issue $500,000 of Securities in Small Denominations for Investors

Carrying out the policy that the small investors in the territory should be given an opportunity to buy territorial bonds, Governor Pinkham has addressed a letter to Treasurer Conkling asking that in his communication to President Wilson for permission to make the loan $500,000 be specified as the amount of bonds to be issued in small denominations. Of this amount $300,000 will be in $100 denominations; $200,000 in $500. The entire issue is set at $1,430,000, the balance to be in the regular $1000 denominations.

Speaking of the "baby bonds," the governor said in this letter to Treasurer Conkling:

"Such issues will enable persons, particularly citizens of the territory, to invest in the soundest and most conservative securities offering in the territory and one eagerly sought on the mainland. This opportunity has heretofore been closed to the small investor, as the $1000 denomination only has been issued.

"The application will cover the full amount of the bonds authorized yet unissued.

"The whole issue was appropriated by the legislature, but at the present time reasonable conservatism indicates not all the bonds should be sold but certain amounts should be held in reserve."

As it is not planned to issue all of the $1,430,000 bonds, the governor has prepared a schedule of the "territorial items for prompt issue," and county items and "deferred items." The total under head of territorial improvements amounts to $737,589, $663,589 being for wharf and harbor improvements. Honolulu out of this amount is allowed $479,189, Hilo $134,000, Hilo wharf approach $24,400, and Kauai $26,000. The only territorial building mentioned in this connection is the territorial prison, for the building of which $74,000 is specified.

Under the head of county items $7,200 is indicated for the Hilo water works, and $2,181.79 for school buildings on Maui. The deferred territorial items embrace water and harbor improvements, and provide: $7,500 for Kaneohe, $12,500 for Kailua, $2,500 for Keauhou, $2,000 for Pukoo and $150,000 for Lahaina; the miscellaneous, $21,500 for road to Lahainaluna, $628.84 for Kapiolani park and $35,000 for Lahaina swamp. This makes the total of deferred territorial items $231,628.84; the deferred county items are $241,497.26. The deferred items are the ones that will be "held in reserve."

"Several of the items provided for by the legislature are desirable but are not necessary. And in view of the financial condition of the territory I think these items can be very well set aside for a time."

"ALIAS JIMMY VALENTINE" DRAWS LARGE AUDIENCES

Capacity audiences have greeted "Alias Jimmy" Valentine at the Bijou theater by the Players' All-Star Company. A brilliant success is being scored by this clever company in a wonderfully interesting melodramatic piece. The character of Jimmy is one of the best on the stage, and in the hands of George Webb it is presented in perfect manner, earning lavish applause. And Jimmy had every member of each audience hoping for him to make good after he had turned over a new leaf and become an employee of a bank after years in the profession of safe cracking. It's a great show. Jimmy is a lovable character and in his struggles to gain a high place in society and win the love of the girl who makes his release from prison possible, he has the sympathy of the audience from the start. Jimmy is first introduced as a world-famous safe-cracker. Following his pardon he reforms and leads two of his partners along the new route with him. The big dramatic situation of the piece is in the fourth act, when Jimmy goes back to his old trade of opening a safe to save the life of his sweetheart's sister. The play is elaborately and carefully staged. Tonight will be the last performance of this play.

HAWAIIAN BOARD NAMES LOCATION OF ITS NEW HOME

Donation from Mary Castle Trust of Former Seminary Site is Finally Accepted

From the three choice sites which have been in view for the past few months, the Hawaiian Board of Missions yesterday afternoon accepted from the Mary Castle Trust its donation of the old Kawaiahao Seminary site on King street as the location for its proposed new headquarters. The property has a frontage of 150 feet on King street and runs through to Hotel street, being situated just Ewa of the Y. W. C. A. Homestead. The land is one of the most valuable pieces of property in that neighborhood, having been estimated to be worth $100,000.

The proposition of the erection of permanent headquarters for the Hawaiian Board of Missions has been under consideration for some time by those who have been closely affiliated with its work in these islands. At a recent meeting it was suggested that a handsome structure be erected which would serve not only as the board's headquarters, but as a monument to its work. The board also is considering the erection of a memorial to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the coming of the early missionary families to Hawaii. The Centenary will be observed in 1921 and will be an elaborate affair.

YOUNG BABIES BARRED FROM PARCEL POST

Babies of tender years are barred from the parcel post, according to a ruling made by the second assistant postmaster general. There has been much speculation as to what could be sent by parcel post, and all sorts of stories have been told about the transmission of unusual articles through the mail. Until yesterday the direct proposition whether human beings could be sent through the mails remained undecided. Under the decision of the post office department there will be "nothing doing" if attempts are made to send human beings by parcel post.

The postmaster of Stratford, Okla., G. W. Merrill, has sent the department the following letter:

"J. B. Denton, of this place, asks if he can have a child, two years of age, sent by parcel post from Twin Falls, Idaho, to this place. Finding nothing in the parcel post regulations covering such a case, I am referring him to the department."

When this letter reached the office of the second assistant postmaster general it caused a mild sensation. The officials had never been asked to pass upon the question, and there was a hurried reference to the parcel post regulations. It was found that the postmaster at Stratford was right. There was nothing in the parcel post regulations covering such a case. Gen. Stewart, the second assistant, was appealed to, and, after deliberating, he decided that all human beings and live animals are barred from the mails. There is just one exception made—the queen bee will be passed. This is the only living thing, according to the ruling of the post office department, that can enjoy the privileges of the parcel post.—Washington Star.

BOY SCOUTS ON MAUI SHOWING MUCH INTEREST

That Dr. Ian McLaren, physical director and business manager of Alexander House gymnasium, is "making things hum" in the Boy Scout line on Maui is the word that has come here from the Valley Isle. Maui people in Honolulu this week say that the Boy Scout movement is growing well and that the Valley Isle ought to have a commissioner of its own.

One of the recommendations to Scout Commissioner James A. Wilder is for a separate organization on Maui, so organized that each town has an individual strength and jurisdiction subject, of course, to the scout commissioner of the island.

San Francisco papers received today confirm Mr. Lutted's wireless dispatch of June 1 that the Lakeview No. 2 gusher was producing 110,000 barrels of oil daily. A private cablegram received yesterday states that the price of stock is $1 a share, or double the price at which the treasury stock had been held.

BIBLES SENT RESIDENTS OF GILBERT ISLES

Translation into Gilbertese
Text Labor of the Late
Dr. Hiram Bingham

Those Honolulu people who hold the late Dr. Hiram Bingham in loving memory will be interested to know that 1000 Bibles in the Gilbertese text have just been sent out from the Bible house in New York on a voyage of 15,000 miles to the Gilbert Islands, via Sydney, and Ocean Island. The preparation of this text was the labor of the distinguished missionary translator's life, and these volumes form part of the eighth edition in this language which has been printed by the American Bible Society.

In the bindery at the Bible house poison was worked into the covers of these books to discourage insect foes; the books in parcels of 20 were soldered up in tin to guard against wetting by waves or weather, and these tin cases were again encased in 50 stout boxes as armor against rough handling by the stowaways of many races.

Some 40 of these boxes will be reshipped from Ocean Island to other islands of the Gilbert group by Richard Grenfell of Australia. Its great wealth of phosphate makes this dot of an island a most strategic distributing center and the steamers that carry away the fertilizing phosphate will also carry these Bibles to be the seed of a spiritual harvest. Thus Doctor Bingham's notable achievement in the translation of the scriptures will become known all over this group of islands and his sphere of influence will become correspondingly enlarged.

TWO SPEAKERS AT METHODIST SUNDAY

SHERWOOD EDDY, NOTED LEADER, LOCAL VISITOR

Asia Y. M. C. A. Secretary Points Out Great Future for Far East

G. Sherwood Eddy, general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association of all Asia, stopped in Honolulu for a few hours yesterday on a route to the Orient after several months spent on the mainland. His stay in Honolulu was taken up with sightseeing about the city in company with Mrs. Eddy, and at noon he addressed a large gathering of members of the local association in the lobby.

Mr. Eddy is a world figure in Christian leadership, and graduated from Yale university in 1891. He went to India shortly after finishing his theological course in Union and Princeton, where, for 15 years, he worked among the students of the India Empire. Three years ago he was called by the international committee to become general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association of all Asia.

Mr. Eddy was engaged with Dr. John R. Mott, well-known in Honolulu, in conducting meetings for students throughout Asia during the past year. The student audience averaged in Japan 800 a night, in India 1000 a night and in China 2000 a night in the 14 cities of that great Republic. The government of China opened its colleges to Mr. Eddy in the city of Peking and arranged Mr. Eddy's meetings in the capital city. He visited Pootchow at the invitation of the 13 presidents of the government colleges there. The parliament in that city adjourned and invited him to address the members.

Mr. Eddy spoke yesterday in a very interesting manner regarding the great advance which Christianity has made in Asia during the past several years, laying special stress on its strides in China.

"China has seen the conversion of more students and officials during the past year than during the first 100 years of the efforts of the missionaries and teachers," he said.

Wireless messages have been received in Germany from the Cape of Good Hope, 9000 miles distant, clearly and distinctly.

LARGER SPACE FOR JAPANESE Y.M.C.A. URGED

Work Now Necessitates More Ample Quarters—Directors to Meet Monday

The Japanese Y. M. C. A. board directors will meet Monday to discuss the matter of a new location for the association for next year. For some months those interested in the work of the association have felt that the one room on Smith street was no longer enough for the growing work. For some time past the secretaries have been searching for a desirable location. Recently a number of rooms on King street have been offered for rent. At the meeting of the board the question of the desirability of the location and means of raising additional funds will be discussed. The American advisory committee, which is composed of Richard Cooke, F. C. A. erton and C. B. Ripley, will also meet in the week to discuss means of securing funds to assist the Japanese work.

The proposed move is in harmony with the recommendation of Galen Fisher, national secretary of Japan who recently made a study of the needs of the Japanese work.

Fisher reported that unless additional rooms could be secured the work could not be expected to make progress necessary.

The bishop concludes his letter by saying: "I shall never forget my visit and the very reception that was given me by the brethren of all denominations and all races I found there."

CHIEF

COMMENCEMENTS have been the order of the last couple of weeks, and this means cessation of studies and routine on the part of the young people, and the enjoyment of the jolly and more informal pleasures in which vacations always abound. Keek-and-parties have been many; the merriest kinds of picnics, swimming and surfing parties and informal dances have kept the younger set busy, but they are the sort of thing which burst into existence on the spur of the moment and are marked by a conspicuous lack of gilt-edged invitations, dress suits and the like. It is just the carefree holiday spirit which mixed with the vitality and vivacity of youth, inspires the young people to an intensive pursuit of pleasure which sweeps the older and more sedate members of society along with them; and as a result, the country homes are blooming and gay with noise and laughter, while the shutters are closed on many of the town houses where we are in the habit of seeing the flux and influx of social life.

Mrs. Howland's Concert.
Mrs. Beattie Abbott Howland gave a charming concert last evening with the assistance of Mr. John Gifford, the young violinist. The program was excellent and enthusiastically applauded by an appreciative audience. From Catman's exquisite little songs through Verdi, Rossini, Alliston and Puccini, the clear, pure qualities of her tones were lovely. Reichardt's "In the Time of Roses" and her final number Tosti's "Good-bye" were very, very beautiful indeed.

Mrs. Howland's voice is truly wonderful and besides this there is another great factor which enters into her success and that is her magnetic and charming personality. Last night she looked very beautiful in a draped creation of ivory beaded satin and lace, and was most gracious in her reception of the loads of beautiful flowers passed up to her over the footlights.

Mrs. Florence Bosco Johnson and Mrs. L. Tenney Peck were the accompanists of the evening. A number of popular belles of the younger set acted as ushers, among whom were the Misses Mary von Holt, Margaret Center, Ruth Anderson, Thelma Murphy, Pauline Schaefer, Helen McLean, Hazel Buckland, Mary Lucas and Violet McKee.

Mrs. Bush's Dance.
Mrs. G. F. Bush was hostess at a delightful young people's dance on Friday evening in honor of Miss Florence Ballou, who is to leave for the coast in the near future. The decorations were all in red and white representing the colors of the senior class at Punahou of which Miss Ballou is a member. Red African daisies and lovely white lilies were used, relieved by a profusion of maidenhair fern. The affair was a great success and a very happy time was enjoyed by all. Those present were the Misses Florence Ballou, Charlotte Blake, Dorothy Walker, Lillian McChesney, Mildred Chapin, Gladys Halstead, Gertrude Ripley, Carol Reed, Florence White, Ruth Farrington, Frances Farrington, Katie Singlehurst, Doris Noble, Gertrude Blake, Helen Church, Louise Effinger, Florence Davis, Ruth Stacker, Electa Williams, Clemence Gifford, Sybil Carter, Ruth Leybolt, Bessie Leybolt, Louise Girvin, Dorothy Winter, Cleo Case, Dorothy Hoops, Stella Hoops, Geraldine Berg, Messrs. Company "D" Dance.
On Wednesday evening, Company "D" held its big dance at the Armory, where a pleasant evening was enjoyed by the large number who attended the ball. The great hall was artistically decorated with potted plants and ferns, which made an effective background for the bright scene.

Boxes encircled the big dance floor and these had been previously reserved for the following: Her Majesty Queen Liliuokalani, Governor L. E. Pinkham, General William H. Carter, General Clarence Edwards, Admiral C. B. T. Moore, Colonel Jones, Captain Walter V. Kolb, Mr. R. F. Wichman, Mr. Stanley Kennedy, Mr. Riley H. Allen, Mr. R. O. Matheson, Mr. Merle Johnson, Mr. F. J. Lowrey, Mr. E. D. Tenney, Mrs. Alexander

Mrs. Gunn's Dancing Recital.
Mrs. Mary Gunn brought her season's dancing classes to a close on Thursday evening with a splendid recital of fancy and ball-room dances by her pupils at Phoenix Hall. Before an admiring audience of relatives and friends, the children, from the tiniest tots up to those of the advanced class, went through the intricate steps of the minuet, folk dances and other fancy dances, with a grace and ease that was remarkable. The costumes were works of art. The brilliant colors of the peasant garb in the folk dances, the beautiful little satin colonial suits of the state minuet, the Spanish, Russian Cosack, Japanese and costumes of every kind all added to the brilliancy and gaiety of the scene.

One of the most popular numbers on the program was the dance of the "Wild Birds," by Louise Drew, Kinau Wilder, Lydia Bodrero and Peggy Wilder. The four little girls were gowned all in white with head-dresses of soft white feathers and they flew lightly about the stage in a truly birdlike manner. At the end of the program this number was repeated by special request. Another dance which received enthusiastic applause was the "hesitation" by tiny Thelma Howard and Edward Grossman. The two little babies did look so diminutive on the stage that their performance seemed quite wonderful. The clever Aflague sisters danced in their usual expert manner, and every other number was excellent.

The evening's program was as follows:

Grief Dance; Ace of Diamonds; Tyrolean Waltz; Gertrude Garrida, Edward Grossman; Strandsak; Infant Class; Mandarin Dance; Lucy Aflague, Adeline Aflague; Parasol Dance; Margaret Campbell, Pauline Young; Wild Birds; Louise Drew, Lydia Bodrero, Kinau Wilder, Peggy Wilder; Rope Dance; Mapuana Peters, Adeline Aflague; Minuet—Edward Grossman, Jack Bodrero, Jack Waterhouse, Archie Young, Sybil Hocking, Sonny Peters, Jack Walker, Logan Shepherd, Thelma Howard, Elsa Peters, Elizabeth Waterhouse, Alice Campbell, Nelson Young, Pauline Young, Helen Campbell, Patti Waterhouse, Helen Mott-Smith, Mabelita Mead; Rose Dance—Margaret Campbell, Suealston McDonald, Vesta Quinn, Ninona Jones, Margaret Sayres, Helen Mott-Smith, Catherine Weight, Catherine DePreest, Juliet Carpenter, Hilda Watkins, Catherine Benner; Song—"Million Dollar Doll"; waltz—"Nights of Gladness"; Adeline Aflague, Lucy Aflague; Mountain March; Advanced Class; Butterfly Hesitation, Maurice Hesitation; Thelma Howard, Edward Grossman; Russian Cossack; Advanced Class; Lucy Aflague, Adeline Aflague; Tarentella; One-Step; Hesitation, Gursky; by the Advanced Class.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne's Party.
Mr. and Mrs. Will Wayne entertained a number of their friends last Monday evening in celebration of their wedding anniversary. The entire scheme of the entertainment was appropriate to the occasion. The invitations had been sent out on kua wood carts, the supper was served on wooden plates and the favors were also all of wood. Cards were enjoyed during the earlier part of the evening, while the Hawaiian quintette favored the guests with the sweetest of melodies. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Ruhmland, Mr. and Mrs. Henri Dumont, Mrs. Mary Frances Krouse, Mrs. Sophie Cressaty, Mrs. Mary Davis, Mrs. Marie Bollah, Major Ernest V. Smith, Capt. Birthday Party.
Each year the children of the Henry and Dorothy Castle Memorial Free Kindergarten celebrate on the tenth of June, the birthday of little Dorothy Castle, and on Wednesday afternoon the annual party took place. There was nothing solemn or sad connected with this little party but it was filled with the happiest sort of associations with the other little girl. The children were told about Dorothy, and how "Grandmother Castle" built the kindergarten, so little children could be happy. Usually this celebration has been limited to the family only but this year, besides the family, were invited the mothers of the children, and a number of lovers of little children.

The decorations were really exquisite. Green boughs massed together, covered the ceiling from which swung graceful hanging baskets filled with bright golden snow. There were eight tables, each of which was artistically decorated in a different color, flower, intermingled with sprays of maiden hair fern. In the center of each table was a beautiful birthday cake with glowing candles, while pink and white candy and generous dishes of ice cream also graced the board.

Mrs. Eliza Cates, Howard, played, charmingly for the children, while one of her pupils, little Miss Maizo Pickle, danced the "Hummer" to the extreme delight of the children.

Taken altogether it was a very sweet and happy little affair which fairly radiated the joyous spirit of the child whose memory they were celebrating which is expressed in their little song:

Oh, everyone who comes to us,
On Dorothy's birthday,
Remember well that little girl,
Who loved to sing and play.

Wrenne Timberlake's Success.
The many friends in Honolulu of Major and Mrs. Edward J. Timberlake will be delighted to hear of the splendid success which has attended their son in his recent mastering of the rigid entrance examinations to West Point. When these popular people left the shores of Hawaii they had no end of parties given in their honor, and their departure was a great loss to local society. I am sure we all rejoice in their present happiness and hope for a continuance of Wrenne's success. The following clipping was taken from a Nashville paper:
News has reached relatives and friends in Nashville of the success of Mr. Edward Wrenne Timberlake in passing the West Point examinations recently in Washington City.

Young Mr. Timberlake is the son of Maj. Edward J. Timberlake and Mrs. Augusta Wrenne Timberlake, both of Tennessee. Mrs. Timberlake is the daughter of Mr. M. J. C. Wrenne of this city and the family has been living in Honolulu, in the Hawaiian Islands, where Maj. Timberlake was for three years on duty at Ft. Ruger, but now at West Point.

The success of their son is a matter of much satisfaction, especially in view of the fact that his father is an army man who has risen to a splendid position in the service.

The young son has been most ambitious to enter West Point, and after the presidential nomination was received he gave himself most earnestly to mastering the rigid examinations, which he has just so successfully done. He will report at West Point June 10.

Mr. Timberlake is a magnificent specimen of young manhood, being six feet two in height, and of splendid physique. He will make an ideal soldier, having been born in and spent his entire life in an army post. He is perfectly trained, even before entering the service. Friends of the family are deeply interested in his success. He is a very young man and possessed of unusual qualities. There were 30 applicants trying for the examination and Mr. Timberlake was one of the six successful.

Possible Visitors.

The following clipping regarding the plans of Mr. and Mrs. Neville Castle hints at the possibility of a visit of these popular society people to Honolulu as the guests of Princess Kawannakoa.

Mrs. Henry and Mr. Castle are contemplating a continued honeymoon that will take them to Honolulu. Princess David Kawannakoa, who is one of Mrs. Henry's most devoted friends, is very eager to entertain her at her hospitable home in the islands. The invitation is so tempting that Mrs. Henry and Mr. Castle are seriously thinking of accepting.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Mrs. McAdoo's Trouseau.

The following are descriptions of several of the beautiful gowns in the trouseau of Mrs. William G. McAdoo, wife of the secretary of the treasury, and daughter of President and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, and will undoubtedly be of interest:

One very handsome evening gown was of rose and silver. The bodice was of rose-colored satin, ending in points at the shoulders. It was made in a surplice effect, and was edged with silver braid in the armholes, with a pink rose and bud posed over the left shoulder. The flowing sleeves were of silver shadow lace.
The skirt was of rose pink satin d'amoire veiled, with a tulle of silver lace, from which fell a ruffle of rose tulle. The silver lace lengthened into a panel in the front and into a slight train in the back.

A beautiful afternoon frock was of ciel blue peau de faille. The waist was of the silk veiled in net of the same color, with bands of silver embroidery across the front. Around the neck and down the front, ending at the waist line, was a band of peau de faille, finished with a single natural rose bouquet. The collar was Japanese in effect. The net sleeves were gathered at the elbow with silver thread, making a soft ruffle. On each side of the soft-folded girdle was embroidered a silver motif. The skirt was of the flat puff style, with tulle effect at the back. The front was simply draped in long lines, cut bias and a trifle fuller at the sides, with a slight slit at the edge of the skirt.

A Watteau blue moire was also much admired by those to whom Mrs. McAdoo showed her trouseau. The bodice was covered with blue tulle, with a band of cream lace showing through. At the back two moire peau de faille straps with a picot edge crossed one another. A blue net frill with picot edge finished the neck. The net sleeves were gathered at the elbow into long frills. A blue moire girdle fastened at the back with a bow, and a Strau buckle set in silver and with a blue stone in the center. The skirt was a long tunic of blue net over the invisible Watteau of blue moire peau de faille. The bottom of the skirt was scalloped. The back of the net tunic fell in fold, veiled with transparent draperies.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Luncheon.

Mrs. Byron O. Clark, Mrs. Thrum, Mrs. George A. Brown, Miss Mabel Armstrong, and Miss Sallie Collins were the guests of Mrs. I. M. Alexander at her luncheon on Tuesday afternoon.

Fort Shafter Bridge Club.

Capt. and Mrs. Joseph C. Kay entertained the Fort Shafter Bridge Club on last Wednesday evening. After an hour or more of spirited bidding, the first prize was won by Mrs. Chas. S. Lincoln while Lieut. Clement H. Wright captured the second prize. Delicious refreshments were then served.

Those present were Capt. and Mrs. Charles S. Lincoln, Capt. and Mrs.

George S. Gibbs, Capt. and Mrs. B. H. Watkins, Lieut. and Mrs. C. H. Wright, Lieut. and Mrs. Ira Longenecker, Lieut. and Mrs. Walter H. Johnson, Lieut. and Mrs. Alfred J. Booth and Capt. and Mrs. Kay.

Miss Yates to Depart.

Miss Yates, who for the past several weeks has been the house guest of General and Mrs. William H. Carter, has recently spent some time at Schofield Barracks, returning to town on Wednesday evening. Miss Yates will leave on Sunday's transport for Manila, where she expects to join her father, Col. Arthur W. Yates.

Mrs. Barnes Complimented.

Mrs. L. J. Warren entertained a number of her friends very informally on Tuesday afternoon to say "good-bye" to Mrs. K. B. Barnes, who left for China on Friday. The ladies brought their sewing bags and spent a very pleasant as well as industrious afternoon.

Mrs. Hyde-Smith's Dinner.

Mrs. Hyde-Smith was hostess at a delightful dinner on Tuesday evening. The table was beautifully decorated with a centerpiece of lovely pink roses and maiden hair fern. Among those present were Capt. and Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Alexander G. Hawes, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, Mrs. Baldwin Wood, Capt. George Steunenberg and others.

Mrs. Alexander's Luncheon.

Mrs. I. M. Alexander was hostess at luncheon on Monday at her home in Manoa Valley. Fansies and maiden hair fern formed a pretty centerpiece for the table, at which covers were placed for Mrs. L. C. Ables, Mrs. Thurston, Mrs. K. B. Reldford, Mrs. E. E. Steere, Miss Sallie Collins and Mrs. Alexander.

Mrs. Harris' Luncheon.

Mrs. A. J. Harris, wife of Captain Harris of Fort Shafter, entertained at a most enjoyable little luncheon last Sunday afternoon. The table was prettily decorated with flowers and ferns. Covers were laid for Mrs. Homer N. Preston, Mrs. Joseph C. Kay, Mrs. Benjamin H. Watkins and Mrs. Harris.

MRS. LYON'S ACHES AND PAINS

Have All Gone Since Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Terre Hill, Pa. "Kindly permit me to give you my testimonial in favor of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I first began taking it I was suffering from female troubles for some time and had almost all kinds of aches—pains in lower part of back and in sides, and pressing down pains. I could not sleep and had no appetite. Since I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the aches and pains are all gone and I feel like a new woman. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—Mrs.
AUGUSTUS LYON, Terre Hill, Pa.

It is true that nature and a woman's work has produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known. From the roots and herbs of the field, Lydia E. Pinkham, forty years ago, gave to womankind a remedy for their peculiar ills which has proved more efficacious than any other combination of drugs ever compounded, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recognized from coast to coast as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health—many of them openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and in some cases that it has saved them from surgical operations.

FT. SHAFTER SOCIETY

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

PORT SHAFER. June 13.—Mrs.
Marcus D. Cronin, wife of Major Cronin, 24th Infantry, with station in the Philippine Islands, was a guest of Colonel and Mrs. Benjamin Walker Atkinson during the day and overnight while the transport was in port.
Last Saturday, Mrs. Cronin was enroute for an extended visit with her parents, Colonel and Mrs. J. W. Hannay, whose residence is in Southern California, where Colonel Hannay has lived since his retirement some years ago.

A pleasant little reunion of some of the ladies of the 2d Infantry was the meeting at Tait's in San Francisco of Mrs. Franklin P. Jackson, Mrs. Ernest V. Smith and Mrs. Peter E. Marquart on a recent afternoon, where all had come for tea. With Mrs. Marquart were Mrs. Herndon Sharp and Mrs.
Mitchell, Mrs. Clement H. Wright's sister, who is well known in the regiment. Mrs. Marquart, so long in the 2d, now has quarters at the Presidio while Major Marquart's regiment, the 12th Infantry, is absent on the border of Mexico and has had Mrs. Sharp with her as a guest for a time. Mrs.
Mitchell's husband is also in the 12th and has permanent station at the Presidio.

Mrs. Ernest V. Smith and her daughter left San Francisco on the 5th for the East, where they will be absent on a round of visits until the end of the summer, returning to California in time for the opening of the Castilleja school, where the daughter has been at school for the past two years. They will make a stop at the Grand Canyon on their way East and then go on to Kansas City for a brief stay, and while there expect to run up to Fort Leavenworth and visit Mrs. Geo. E. Kump for a few days, afterwards continuing their journey to Mrs. Smith's brother's country place in Northern Alabama, where the remainder of the summer will be spent.

Cot. Francis H. French visited Maj.
Williams' battalion in camp on Thursday and accompanied a part of the command on an extended trip up the slopes of the Koolau range in one of the numerous trips of terrain study.
After his return to camp on Thursday evening Colonel French was seized with a form of indigestion and was quite sick until after his return to the post on Friday. He came in in General Edwards' car and was sent on to Shafter at once, where he obtained relief and is now fortunately quite recovered from his indisposition.

The garrison hop on Friday evening was fairly well attended. About 40 guests and members of the garrison were in attendance. Those seen from without the post were Lieutenant and Mrs. Swan from Fort Ruger, Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Matthews and Miss Mc-Stocker, Miss Elizabeth Hughes and Lieutenant Cook, commanding the mine planter, Armistead. The hops are delightfully informal and as they close at 11:30, form a very delightful way of spending an evening for the garrison people and their friends.

Captain and Mrs. Paul B. Malone of the 2d Infantry celebrated the 20th anniversary of their wedding on the 12th. For the occasion Captain Malone came in from the field where his company now is and returned to his camp on Saturday. Capt. and Mrs.
Malone are anxiously awaiting the arrival of their daughter, Miss Gertrude Malone, who comes for a vacation visit from Vassar by the transport due Sunday morning.

Cot. and Mrs. Francis H. French gave a dinner preceding the hop last night. Their guests were Capt. and Mrs. W. T. Hannum, Lieut. and Mrs. L.
O. Mathews, Lieut. and Mrs. Frederick
F. Black and Lieut. and Mrs. F. A.
Cooke. Unfortunately Colonel French's indisposition prevented the host and hostess from accompanying their dinner guests to the hop.

Mrs. B. H. Watkins, Mrs. H. N. Preston and Mrs. J. C. Kay of the garrison spent Friday at the camp of the 3rd battalion of the 2d Infantry near Lucas' ranch. They went and returned from the camp as guests of Miss Helen Alexander in her motor.

Maj. E. V. Smith and Lieut. W. C.
Rose attended the dinner and smoker of the Pacific Club in Honolulu on Wednesday evening. Major Smith was the guest of Lieut. F. P. Jackson and Lieutenant Rose that of Paymaster Willets of the navy.

Lieut. and Mrs. Ira Longenecker, 2d Infantry, entertained informally at dinner on Thursday evening. Their guests were several of the "camp widows" and included Mrs. B. H. Watkins, Mrs. J. C. Kay and Mrs. Homer N. Preston.

The Wednesday evening bridge club of the post met with Capt. and Mrs.
J. C. Kay, 2d Infantry, this past week.

SCHOFIELD SOCIETY

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, June 11.
—On Tuesday of last week, Captain and Mrs. Deems were hosts at a delightful dinner given for Colonel and Mrs. Sturgis and Captain and Mrs.
Apple. The table color scheme of white and green was attractively carried out in the candle shades and dainty white flowers that formed the centerpiece.

Captain and Mrs. Mason, on Friday, gave a "despedida" dinner in honor of Mrs. Apple, who was among those sailing for home on the Sheridan Sunday morning. Miss Ellis, Lieut. Bow-ley, Captain Apple and Capt. and Mrs.
Mason completed the party.

The Haleiwa hotel was the scene of another moonlight dance given for the service people. These are always greatly enjoyed, and well attended by the Schofield people. As usual there were some dinners given at the hotel early in the evening. Captain and Mrs. Fair were hosts at one very attractive one of 35 covers. Two tables set on the lanai placed the company, the decoration on one a long bank of vivid red hibiscus with its accompanying green leaves, while on the other a centerpiece of yellow coropeas lent the true cavalry atmosphere. The guests were Colonel Mc-Gunnegle, Colonel and Mrs. Kennon, Colonel and Mrs. Beach, Captain and Mrs. O'Shea, Miss Holcomb, Capt. and Mrs. Coleman, Captain and Mrs. Hopkins, Captain and Mrs. Short, Captain and Mrs. Parker, Captain and Mrs.
Chitty, Captain and Mrs. Holbrook, Captain and Mrs. Winans, Capt. and Mrs. Fechet, Captain and Mrs. King, Major and Mrs. Harrison, Lieut. and Mrs. Cheney, and Lieut. and Mrs. Gardenhire.

Miss Hortense Short, whose birthday occurred on Saturday, enjoyed a delightful surprise at Haleiwa when a party of young friends announced to her that they had been invited to her "birthday party." Mrs. Short originated the idea and succeeded in keeping the secret until the party had gathered and the table been revealed. A beautiful birthday cake, wreathed with garlands of perfect little pink candy roses, formed the centerpiece of the round table. A dozen silver candlesticks with dainty pink shades, with quantities of the lovely pink hibiscus, which was scattered over the cloth, characterized the dinner with the color most appropriate to youth and girlhood. The merry party included
Miss Hortense Short, Miss Katherine
Whitman, Miss Ruth Harrison, Miss
Betty Case, Miss Helen Alexander,
Miss Yates and Miss Smith and Lieut.
Ellis, McCulloch, Campanole, Enyart, Maxwell, and Dr. Kennedy and Dr.
Johnson.

Miss Charlotte Reichmann was the complimented guest at the auction party given by Mrs. Hunt Wednesday afternoon. Those playing were Miss Reichmann, Mesdames Gose, Mapes, Reichmann, Willard, Naylor, McAfee,
Beard, King, Nicholls, Hunt, and Miss Pratt. Dainty Japanese salad bowls were the prizes. A bouquet of lovely roses was presented to Miss Reich-mann at the close of the afternoon.

Thursday afternoon an informal little party of four enjoyed a beach picnic and swim at Haleiwa. The Misses Hopkins and Ellis, Lieutenant Deshon and Dr. Kennedy composed the party.

Lieut. and Mrs. Donaldson entertained at dinner Friday last for Colonel and Mrs. Beach, Captain and Mrs.
O'Shea and Miss Holcomb.

TO PUT ON FLESH AND INCREASE WEIGHT

A Physician's Advice.

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective.
They absorb just enough of the food their eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful flesh building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week.

FLAG DAY WILL BE OBSERVED BY HONOLULU ELKS

Anniversary of Adoption of Standard Will be Commemorated With Program

In observance of the anniversary of the adoption of the flag the grand Lodge of Elks has ordered every lodge to observe the day and Honolulu Lodge, No. 616, B. P. O. E., has arranged an interesting program to be given at the opera house at 3:30 P. M.
Sunday, June 14, 1914. The public is cordially invited and, with the exception of a few officials, there have been no written invitations issued.

The history of the American flag began with the landing of the Mayflower in 1620. The first colonial flag was known as the "king's colors," combining the red and white crosses of England and Scotland upon an inner field of blue. In 1797 the colonists selected a red flag as their ensign having in the upper corner the green symbol of a pine tree on a white field.
This banner was in popular favor for many years and is thought to have been carried by the Americans in the battle of Bunker Hill.

In response to the demand for a banner more representative of the aims and ideals of the new country, on June 14, 1777, 137 years ago, Congress declared the national flag to be 13 stripes, seven red and six white, with 13 stars in a circle on a blue field. George Washington, acting as committee man, submitted the design of the flag to Betsy Ross and it was upon her suggestion that the stars were made of five points as in France instead of six points as in England.

HEAVY SILK HOSIERY "LOADED"

To get the best wear out of silk stockings, they should be put right on and worn, not laid away for any length of time, according to the expert advice given by a buyer of hosiery in one of the large stores. When questioned in regard to this statement, he said that much of the silk hosiery on the market is "loaded," as it is called, with dye which makes it appear as a heavier silk and the goods are taken more readily by the customers, but the dye rots the silk if laid away.

Experts know that a pure silk stocking is very thin, but an inexperienced person thinks there is not enough silk in it to make it wear well, when the fact is that it will outwear the stocking which is made of the same amount of silk but is "loaded." Making of this adulterated hosiery appears to be the fault neither of the buyers nor of the manufacturers, but of the customers who think they will be purchasing a better article if it is heavier, and this is the best process which has been discovered for supplying the weight demanded.

Some pure silk hosiery is sold, but not in such large quantities as the grade that has been made heavier by adulteration.

Black dye is said to be particularly injurious to fabrics and it is a well-known fact that black gloves should not be laid next to white or colored gloves because of the injury which may be done by the black dye.

Nature never discounts the debt we owe.

In Business Circles--News and Review

HIDALGO SAID TO BE CERTAIN LOSS TO HAWAII

With a deficit of one and one-half million dollars, the property involved being valued at three and one-half millions, it is the opinion of one of the best posted men in Hidalgo affairs that the Hawaii shareholders might as well call their investment of nearly $900,000 in the Mexican estates involved lost money.

It is believed by this authority, who does not desire to be quoted personally, that reorganization on a basis equitable to all concerned would be next to impossible in view of the fact that more than 3000 shareholders scattered over the United States and foreign countries must be consulted in the matter. Moreover, the demands made by the manipulators on the coast and in Mexico, by late mail and cable, are so confusing and inconsistent that it is difficult, if not impracticable, to size up the actual situation.

Possibly, however, the meeting of the local shareholders on Monday afternoon may decide to carry out the policy advised by counsel, which has been approved by the investigating committee, to assign the shares to one person, who should then proceed to Mexico and take such action as counsel in that country may advise.

Although the ultimatum regarding foreclosure will fall due on June 30 next, it was pointed out by one of the committee this morning that foreclosure proceedings must take considerable time before culminating in sale, so that there is still a chance of averting the loss of the property interests if the shareholders decide that it is worth while putting more money into the venture.

Besides the circular of May 20, to which reference was made in a late issue, there was a message of May 27, in which $9,000 pesos Mexican was begged to save the rubber property, the writer saying this "ought to be done, irrespective of what is being done with regard to the coffee properties." In the lengthy circular of May 30 the following impertinent plea was uttered: "The management does not think that the shareholders, even under the present deplorable conditions in Mexico, would wish to see their rubber properties worth $3,500,000 lost under foreclosure for a small amount like $45,000." Again, "This money must be paid or it will be impossible to conserve your property."

On top of these clamors for ducts of comparatively trivial amounts came the cable demand of June 3 for 30,000 pesos by June 15 and 50,000 pesos by June 30, to save the rubber, also $210,000 by June 30, to save the coffee properties. It all looks to local shareholders as if the game were not to rescue the estates from total loss but to get hold of a little more good money of Hawaii for the benefit of the pockets of the manipulators.

The following is the financial showing of the companies made in the May 30 circular: Expenditures: $5,635,574.77. Receipts: From shares, $5,052,975.84; coffee produce, $1,023,046.64; commission charged shareholders in paying dividends, $173,248.77; harvest assigned (Zacapa No. 1), $2,221.24; sundry receipts, $146.07. Total, $4,231,632.68. Deficit, $1,401,942.11.

LAKEVIEW NO. 2 GUSHER WORKS IN CONCERT WITH MOON

A Bakersfield, Cal., dispatch about the Lakeview No. 2 oil gusher says: "Developments last night in the well of Lakeview No. 2 at Maricopa, 47 miles from here, proved it the most sensational gusher ever brought in on the west side, its flow last night being twice greater than the famous Lakeview gusher. Yesterday afternoon the well caved in, shutting off the flow and forming a crater 50 feet wide.

"The flow stopped only temporarily, and soon began to bubble up until the crater was filled with oil, forming a small lake. The well rose higher and higher as the moon rose, and soon after the moon had reached its height, shot a column of oil 250 feet in the air, forming a smoke column. Pieces of

SECURITIES IN MEXICO SHOW HEAVY LOSSES

A full list of the comparative prices of Mexican securities now and two years ago would show an aggregate loss of many millions. When the bulk of the Mexican securities were purchased the country had for a long time been in a settled and prosperous state. Whatever may be said about ex-President Diaz's dictatorship, he accomplished a great deal for Mexico, and his iron rule coincided with national credit and commercial progress. Before the revolution took place by which he was overthrown, the republic could have commanded financial assistance to almost any extent it wanted. That disastrous event upset every one's calculations. Except for the fact that all Ibero-American states seem to have revolutionism in their blood, there was nothing in Mexican conditions to put investors specially on their guard. Trust companies and others may, therefore, absolve themselves of having acted as every one would have acted on the information then obtainable. Nor is there any need, black though the outlook is, to assume that these losses are irreparable. It takes little, where there is a large bear account, to make the market turn round and put prices up as rapidly as they have been put down. This will not happen until some guarantee of peace and permanent order is forthcoming. It is a somewhat negative comfort, but it is a comfort nevertheless, to know that prices cannot go very much lower. There is an irreducible minimum even in the case of defaulting states of far lower standing than Mexico, and Mexico's natural wealth and great possibilities will always encourage speculative investors to discover the silver lining to the cloud. Much of the damage already done, and still to be done, to holders of bonds and shares cannot be repaired; from the check given to trade it will take the country time to recover; but nothing is more certain than that some time or other—it may be sooner or it may be later—the pendulum will swing over, and Mexican securities will present an agreeable contrast to their disreputable condition today.—London Times.

With this crop ending come reduced estimates. Messrs. Guma-Meyer coming down to 2,508,000 tons and Mr. Himely to 2,529,000 tons. "We have not changed our estimate, based on private returns, from 2,500,000 tons since February, and appear to have been somewhat fortunate in this respect. We are now enabled to give a fair forecast of supplies and melting requirements for remainder of year, from which it appears quite possible that a portion of the exports made from the Cuba crop to Europe may still be required to come to the United States late in the campaign, and if so, it must necessarily be at or about the European values. It is notable that while the United Kingdom has been supplying its need of cane sugar at the Cuban party basis, the demand for beet sugar at the Hamburg basis has decreased to the extent of an accumulation of stocks in Germany and Austria of 100,000 tons above last year at this time. The efforts making now by the holders of this excess stock to dispose of it is no doubt the principal cause of the reaction now noted in European quotations, notwithstanding the strong advice from the United States and Cuba. Sellers' disposition in this respect may prevent further foreign demand for Cuba sugar, and in our estimates herewith we have cut down such export to about 50,000 tons, against 168,417 tons after June 1st last year. In connection with the large buying by refiners, there has been a large trade in future shipments, for account of operators, for the advance. These purchases include July and August and up to 2½ c. & c. in cost (3.51c duty paid), for the latter shipment. A comment here is suggestive as to whether our advance has not proceeded far enough at least for the present. Offers to sell Cuba Centrifuagals for delivery here from the United Kingdom (sugar now there) are on the market at 2 7/16 c. & l., equal to, say, 3.45c per lb., duty paid, against June values here of 3.35c per lb. European beet quotations, in sympathy with our market, rose from 9s. 6½d., reacting at close to 9s. 7½d. Futures for August remain unchanged at 9s. 4d., after ¼d. advance in the meantime. Crop indications are favorable. We refer to our world crop estimates herewith, in which several changes are made. India's report is important as increasing its consumption of Javan. At the close the rise seems to have run its course for the moment under certain influences and conditions noted herewith.

NATOMAS BONDS ON NEW FOOTING BY REFINANCING

Natomas Consolidated bonds, which are quoted on the Honolulu stock exchange list at 89 last sale, are given a new status by a refinancing scheme in London. Following are some of the particulars of the scheme, which was apparently about to be consummated, from the San Francisco Chronicle of late date:

"The plans provide for the formation of two new companies—one American and one English. The American company will have the following capitalization:

First mortgage, 6 p. c. b'ds $13,500,000

Non-cumulative 6 p. c. pf'd. shares 7,250,000

Common shares 6,250,000

"The amount of common shares is not important, as the entire issue will be held by the English company, but under California law the stock issues must at least equal the bonds authorized.

"There will also be $3,000,000 five-year notes secured by $4,500,000 6 per cent bonds and reclamation district bonds amounting to somewhat less than $1,000,000.

"The present first-mortgage bonds of Natomas Consolidated, of which there are $15,000,000 outstanding or reserved for prior liens, will receive 60 per cent in the first mortgage bonds of the new American company and 40 per cent in the preferred shares of the same company. This will amount to $6,000,000 of preferred stock.

"The second mortgage bonds of Natomas, of which there are $2,500,000 outstanding, will receive 50 per cent in preferred shares of the American company and 50 per cent in ordinary shares of the English company, amounting to $1,250,000 of each.

"The common stock of Natomas, of which there is somewhat more than $16,000,000 outstanding, will receive 6 per cent in ordinary shares of the English company, amounting to $960,000. The second mortgage bonds and the stock of Natomas, on these ratios, will consume $2,070,000 of the shares of the English company. The original plan provided that there should be distributed to the underwriting syndicate $1,500,000 bonus stock. If this has been adhered to this issue outstanding would be raised to about $3,500,000. The amount of stock to be authorized by the English company has not been announced.

"Inasmuch as the English bondholders have agreed to this plan, the reorganization committee will have a working nucleus in the beginning of $3,000,000 bonds. With only $2,500,000 American bonds, which can be obtained from inside interests, the plan will start with more than 50 per cent of the issue committed."

There are no new developments today in the Hidalgo problem. From what can be learned from members of the investigating committee, the question of what policy to pursue will be left to the meeting of the local shareholders on Monday.

In the Realm of the Feminine

Piquant Caps, Bewitching Negligees, a Fetching Frock and a Chic Collar - - - - -

ACCORDING to your point of view, breakfasting in bed is a luxury, a habit or a passion. If you are an inveterate of course it is a passion. If you are a fashionable woman, it is a habit. And if you are one of the women who rise before it is a luxury, you would give about anything to enjoy it.

That is why you avidly consume novels between the intervals of clearing away the dishes, making the beds and sweeping and dusting—novels in which the heroine is propped up in bed, a coy cat perched upon her melodramatic locks and a nifty negligee wrapped about her person, erstwhile she consumes a slight repast of grapefruit, fragrant coffee, eggs done to a turn, with possibly a delicious marmalade to top off with. It satisfies the instinct of make believe. You live for a space in that fascinating land away from the infernal grind of your workaday life with a heroine whose heart is breaking for a hundred dollars' worth of lace. A breakfast jacket, a cap, a negligee, though you may set your own breakfast, set your own husband and a hungry brood of children, there is no earthly reason why you should not do it in a nifty wash jacket and a coquettish cap to match. In the illustration are two negligees which could be adapted to the pretty flax, cotton materials which the shops are showing. So garbed, milady of the world life could be as dainty and free as a butterfly as a milady who is served by a perfectly good maid—possibly more so since that simple cap and negligee would be enveloped by the dainty glamour of service.

is made of pale blue chiffon with garnitures of cream lace, pink chiffon flowers and tassels. A blue chiffon cap trimmed with pink roses matches the jacket. While we will imagine that a blue chiffon skirt appropriately trimmed with an accordion plucked flounce of cream colored lace headed by a wreath of pink rosebuds is worn with it all of which makes a tout ensemble worthy of any boudoir or breakfast table.

The jacket and cap at the right of the illustration are made of delicate handkerchief linen, hand embroidered and further ornamented with an insertion of Irish crochet. Any ambitious girl or woman who is handy with her needle could possess one of these handsome sets.

Here is the new type of neck tying that has come into fashion with the spring. Its distinguishing characteristic is the sheer organdie from which it is fashioned, that is firm enough to stand alone without the troublesome wires. The high flare, the low front, the width and length of the affair, make it not only fashionable, but useful, in covering a plain frock or of snap fasteners. The addition of a frilling of the net makes this a very becoming neck fling.

Some form of white lingerie frock is indispensable for milady's summer outfit. No matter what the material may chance to be, by hook or by crook the frock must be achieved.

The gown pictured here was cunningly fashioned of three materials, which is rather an art if the gown is not to look botched. Embroidery, venise lace and bermuda pink silk

Filmy Lace Again Favorite of Dame Fashion - - -

ONCE more there seems good reason to hope that lace may speedily come into its own again, for on many of the Paris evening gowns, flounces, scarfs and draped tunics of lace play a prominent part. In one model the chief charm lies in the graceful and becoming way in which it is draped with two broad scarfs of the alencon lace. The skirt is of pale pink crepe de chine, closely plaited at the waist, and there is an underbodice of pink chiffon to match, completely covered by the ends of the lace scarf, which cross the figure like a figu back and front and which are arranged also to form a short basque below a very narrow waist belt composed of pink satin ribbon. The two ends of lace then pass over the shoulders in the form of sleeves and cross each other at the back, coming around afterward in the front, where they are just lightly caught together across the palls of pink crepe de chine.

As a good idea for utilizing these broad lace scarfs, so often given as wedding presents and not always adaptable as a skirt trimming, this effective design is worth remembering. It might also solve the problem as to the best way in which to arrange heirloom scarfs of lace, which are sometimes very difficult to drape satisfactorily, when it is out of the question naturally that such precious fabrics should be cut in any way or even sewed together more than is absolutely necessary.

Fascinating tea gowns may be successfully arranged with long coats of lace, which can be worn with complete undergarments in soft silk, satin or crepe de chine. These coats are useful alike in white and black, as well as in various shades of ecru, and when they are chosen in lace of a sufficiently substantial kind they can be made to do duty for several seasons and can be worn in turn over tea gowns of various kinds. Some of the most effective of these coats are bordered with a finger width of dark fur or of marabou, a distinctive touch which brings them up to date and adds not a little to their attractive appearance.

SIMPLE DAYS OF THE POT AU FEU
It is quite uncertain if the best sort of dinner is not the frizzling brown caldron placed over a huge open fire—the pot au feu, as you sometimes see it in French cottages—a delicious soup into which a frugal housewife has plunged whatever unwanted fragments may give flavor to the whole.

Many times in Dutch pictures by masters of light and darkness, you see this caldron steaming in the sight of thoughtful children, who wait for the tender morsels, plate in hand, while into the deep shadowy room the fire throws its glimmer and lights upon the neat table and upon the rows of plates ranged along a wall.

Simple days, when the middle or trading classes contented themselves with a dinner of one course! But it had to be a good course. That is the point.

COLORED LAYER SANDWICHES

The sandwich always carries with it a flavor of festivity. Recollections of our childhood days are intimately associated with sandwiches; we carried them to our Sunday school picnics; we took them in our lunch pails; we had them for our parties, and our very first party dress was marked by our first party dress sandwich.

The possibilities of the sandwich as an edible and as a decoration have hardly been realized, says Mothers' Magazine. Despite all of the interesting variations upon this useful article, the tendency is still, too much, to see a reliable ham, tongue and chicken. The hostess who wants to have an unusual little party ought to take advantage of the edible possibilities of the sandwich.

First of all, the square loaf will be found to lend itself much better than the round loaf to the decorative scheme. Square loaves can be cut into cubes, into triangles, long thin slices, narrow finger lengths and all sorts of patterns. If butter is to be used, cream it before spreading. Have a very sharp knife, and cut the bread on a board so that you can press the knife firmly down at the edge of the slice, and thus prevent ragged places. Crusts are more easily cut off after the sandwich is made.

If the sandwiches must be made some time before they are used, wrap each one in a paper napkin and set them away in a cool, dark place. When they are left over until the next day, toast them just as they are, and you will have still another variation. Crisp crackers make good sandwiches.

Colored layer sandwiches are very artistic. Make them by alternating white and brown bread, and filling in with foods which have bright and attractive colors. Hard boiled eggs, tomatoes, green peppers, lettuce, plums and chopped parsley all contribute to the variation of color in sandwiches.

Very pretty effects can be obtained by placing sandwiches upon beds of very crisp white lettuce leaves or upon curly fresh parsley. Nasturtium leaves laid around a plate of graham bread sandwiches give an unusual bit of color, particularly if a few of the blossoms are added.

The unusual sandwich is often the result of necessity or experiment, and is almost invariably the most decorative one.

Mint Sandwiches—Thin cream cheese with a little cream, and spread slices of homemade bread with it. Slightly bruised, very fresh young leaves of mint should be put between the slices.

Nasturtium Sandwiches—Season cream cheese with salt and red pepper, and thin with a few drops of lemon juice. Spread on very thin slices of bread over which you have sprinkled fresh nasturtium buds.

Date Sandwiches—Chop dates and English walnuts coarsely. Spread bread with soft cream cheese, sprinkle the nut and date mixture over each layer and press the slices together firmly.

Fig and Nut Sandwiches—Butter slices of white bread generously, and make a filling of chopped figs and nuts, spreading it between slices.

Olive and Roquefort Cheese Sandwiches—Chop olives and mix with Roquefort cheese, salt and paprika. Soften with just a drop of cider vinegar and spread on thin slices of rye bread.

GARMENTS GETTING LIGHTER

Since the demand for sheer, lightweight materials started several seasons ago, there have appeared many innovations in the weaving of fabrics. This idea in thin novelties has entered the field of raincoats, and the newest style is said to be made from autoair, which is almost transparent, resembling mica. It is so thin that the dress or suit underneath may be seen through it, even the texture or pattern of the material, and this is made in plain colors.

Eight ounces is said to be the weight of a new silk gossamer raincoat which has recently appeared, and this will do much toward remedying the dislike which many people express for garments to be worn on rainy days.

The new fabrics are very different from the heavy, bulky goods of a few years ago. Considering the style of the dainty chiffons and sheer materials worn by women at the present time, one could scarcely imagine the ludicrous effect that would be the result if worn with the old-style underwear. Women have learned that warmth is not gained by heavy-weight materials, as evidenced by the "warmth without weight" materials, which have gained such popularity the last few seasons. When these were shown for clothings they sprang into favor at once, and the weavers gather. Fold in the flour, flavor to taste, add pinch of salt, and bake in a moderate oven.

WAFFLES

2 eggs beaten well, yolks and whites separately. Mix 1 teaspoon of soda and a little salt in buttermilk, which adds one pint flour, making a batter about as thick as strained honey. Beat into this batter the yolks, 1 dessert spoonful of melted lard, lastly the frothed whites. Have the waffle iron hot, grease well, and pour into them from a pitcher, the waffle mixture. They should cook quickly and should be thin and crisp enough to be eaten from the fingers.

PLAIN GINGER BREAD

1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup molasses, 1 teaspoonful cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoonful cloves, 2 1/2 cups flour, 2 teaspoonfuls of soda dissolved in water. Fold in the flour, flavor to taste, add pinch of salt, and bake in a moderate oven.

To make the most of the opportunities offered for success in salesmanship the demands are many. Every time a customer shows sufficient interest in the merchandise to approach the counter there is the possibility of making a sale, but it requires education, knowledge of the goods carried, training, tact, a pleasant manner, carefulness in dress and courtesy, which is always one of the most satisfactory sale. The entire stock of merchandise and oftentimes the fortunes of many persons are entrusted to the salespeople, and, unless they sell the goods, financial embarrassment results.

Those who place this high value on salesmanship say that it answers the definition given for "profession" by the dictionary. This says that a profession is "the calling or occupation which one professes to understand and to follow; vocation; specifically, a vocation in which a professional knowledge or learning is used by its practical application to the affairs of others, either in advising, guiding or teaching them, or in serving their interests or welfare in the practice of an art founded on it."

As in the usual professions, a regular course is provided in many of the cities for those who enter the stores, and much of the practical education is received after one begins the work in the school of experience, but the time is past for all education on the subject to be gained in the latter way. Competition is found in every line of work, and it appears to such an extent in the selling of merchandise that every one who wants to have found that they are so much more comfortable than materials previously used that the tendency is for an increased demand in all lines of women's wear for garments sheer and light.

SALESMANSHIP A PROFESSION

Salesmanship has come to be placed by many people among the professions and it may be interesting to know that it is as classed by those who know just what the work is, the possibilities which it holds for advancement, improvement and development.

WOMAN POKER EXPERT FINED BY THE POLICE

HANFORD, May 25.—Alleged to be known to the police of all the Western coast cities as a most proficient poker player, Miss Florence Handley, pretty and accomplished, formerly of London, was arrested here early today while engaged in a poker game with J. T. Singleton and James McGraw.

Miss Handley, upon being taken to the City Recorder's Court, immediately pleaded guilty, hoping to obscure her identity. She escaped with a light fine, but before leaving the court confessed her real identity to city officials.

ASPARAGUS ON KAUAI PROMISES GREAT INDUSTRY

News from Lihue Tells of Development of New Line of "Small Farming"

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence] LIHUE, Kauai, June 9.—An enterprise that promises exceptionally fine results on Kauai is the asparagus plantation at Wailua that A. D. Hills, the manager of the Lihue Ice & Electric Power Company, is developing. The industry is only in its infancy as yet, of course, but the prospects for the growth of a stable and remunerative business are very encouraging.

Mr. Hills was induced to try the experiment of raising this succulent vegetable for the general market by the success of his own private plantings in his home garden at Malama, where he has been raising, principally, the "Palmetto" variety, with very good results. There he has kept his home table supplied, for a number of years, with choice asparagus, and has proved that the plant can be grown to perfection on Kauai.

Adjoining the large coconut forest known as the "Riverside Grove," on the banks of the Wailua river, six miles from Lihue, is a small area of fertile swamp lands where Mr. Hills has been conducting his experiments in asparagus culture for over a year, with gratifying results.

First Plantings in April. The first plantings were made in April of last year, with beginning of only a few beds, but at the present time there are over forty beds planted, covering an area of somewhat more than an acre, and the first crop was cut last April. The old plants were cut back on a section of the plantation, as is the custom in growing asparagus, and a heavy mulch of rice hulls, sandy loam, dead leaves, etc., piled over them. Through this mulch the rapidly growing tender sprouts shoot up in three or four days to a size suitable for the table.

This first cutting was taken off about the middle of the month, and now over fifty pounds per week are being cut of the product from the six to ten rows which are kept cut back. Cuttings are made every day, now, and Mr. Hills is finding no difficulty in disposing of all he can raise, at 15 cents per pound, on Kauai—where the demand—now that the residents of the island are finding that the delicious home-grown product can be delivered at their very doors by the ice company's trucks, is rapidly increasing—and is of course, at present far ahead of the supply.

To supply this increasing demand, Mr. Hills is enlarging his area of plantings, and expects to the present rate of progress to have the whole seven acres of available land in the immediate vicinity planted, by the end of the year. As this is the only truck farm where asparagus is raised for the market on the island until his output is much larger than it is now.

Good Market Sure. When the time for expansion comes, he will undoubtedly be able to find a good market in Honolulu—where the domestic asparagus business is not yet of sufficient importance to find a place in the market reports, for his cuttings; and there is no question about finding a ready sale for the product on the coast, at fancy prices, as soon as it becomes available in large quantities.

In California the season begins about the middle of May, and lasts for only six or eight weeks, so that with the cutting being done at Wailua three times per week throughout the whole year, advantage can without doubt be taken of the fancy prices to be obtained there for the tender shoots, at certain periods of the year. On the coast, the prices of asparagus ranges, during the season from 15 cents to 25 cents per pound, and at other times is of course considerably higher—when all that is eaten must be raised in hot-houses or imported from the tropics.

Mr. Hills has had a number of in-

With the improved methods and scientific preparation that Mr. Hills is enforcing in his "experimental stations," there appears to be no reason to doubt that he has introduced a valuable addition to the noteworthy successes of the farming industry on Kauai.

Cuttings All the Year Around.

Cuttings will be made nearly every day, the whole year through, and deliveries are now made on Kauai three times per week, by means of the Lihue Ice & Electric Power Company's auto trucks.

Experiments in asparagus culture have been made on a limited scale before, in private gardens on the island, but, owing to the inexperience of the gardeners in such culture, never with very marked success. The methods now being put into operation by Mr. Hills, aided by the quality of the soil at Wailua, have evidently been responsible for the great success of the present experiments. The first grade cuttings now being made from the plantation average half an inch or more in diameter, and the tender tops are from five to six inches long. The quality of the succulent shoots is steadily improving as the plants grow older.

Success With Strawberries.

Small Farmer Hills has also made several other successful experiments in agriculture on this island. Adjoining his asparagus beds are four or five beds of tender and crisp celery, and near his home at Malama, he has started a wholesale experiment in strawberry cultivation; where, by introducing the best imported plants and giving careful cultivation, he has succeeded in teaching his Japanese gardeners to make a successful and—though small as yet, a profitable business of strawberry raising.

These strawberries are as fine in appearance and flavor as any on the coast, and the peddler who carries them around to the homes in Lihue, beyond which his business has not extended as yet, has no difficulty in disposing of all the fruit he can raise, at 25 cents per quart, and makes from

INSURANCE MAP EXPERT POINTS TO REAL DANGERS IN HONOLULU

Bartlett Cooper, After Year's Work, Tells of Conditions in Congested Districts

"If a fire were to break out and escape the control of the department in that section of Honolulu north of Nuuanu street and east of Pauahi street, and if a strong wind from the mountains should be blowing at the time, it would sweep the city to the harbor line and no power on earth could stop it. It is unfortunate that the city and county of Honolulu has allowed to be constructed the existing class of frame buildings, as their presence is ever a menace to the valuable properties located and now under course of construction in the main business section of this city."

In a recent interview with the Star-Bulletin, Bartlett Cooper, an insurance surveyor who has spent the last year in Honolulu and who is now completing a detailed map of the business and residence sections of the city in the interest of a New York map manufacturing concern with which he is associated, made the foregoing statement based on exhaustive investigations carried out in connection with his work.

Mr. Cooper is not a critic; he has no criticism to make of the condition of the congested districts of Honolulu as he has found them. That is not his work. During his stay here, however, in which time he has covered every nook and cranny of Honolulu from Fort Shafter to Kapiolani Park and from the waterfront up into the valleys, he has become especially impressed with the fact that in Honolulu's great blocks of frame buildings lies the city's one great enemy when the matter of fire is taken into consideration.

Has Been at Work Here a Year.

Mr. Cooper is a representative of the Sanborn Map Company of New York City, a concern which has manufactured maps for insurance companies in all parts of the United States during the past 45 years. Maps which are considered by these companies as being official. He came here a year ago this month, in company with his family, and expects to complete his local field work by the first of next month. Following the completion of his work here Mr. Cooper will visit Hilo and seven or eight of the smaller towns in various parts of the territory. When finished, he will furnish his company with what will perhaps be the most complete set of insurance maps of Hawaii ever prepared.

In pointing out the use to which such maps are put, Mr. Cooper explained that, when completed, they are sent to the company's office in San Francisco, where they are carefully looked over. They then are forwarded to the manufacturing plant in New York, where they are drafted and lithographed on stone, being colored in accordance with the type of construction of each building. For instance, in a certain block, there may be several frame and a number of brick or concrete structures. Coloring these with yellow, red and blue respectively, the insurance man consulting them is able to gain at a glance any information needed in regard to the material used in the construction of any building in any part of the city. Aside from this, the maps contain considerable data to inform the insurer of the hazard, habitation and fire protection in each block. Insurance companies have come to realize that it is impossible for them to carry on their work without the use of such maps.

The construction of just such a map has kept Mr. Cooper in Honolulu for a year. From Fort Shafter to Kapiolani Park and the waterfront, taking in Kaimuki and Maunaloa, every section of Honolulu has been covered and more than 120 maps, each representing a portion of Honolulu and vicinity, have been completed. Each block has been surveyed; every inch of distance has been marked off with a tape and every building, shack and shed has been included in the final lay-out. It has been a matter of a house-to-house, block-to-block undertaking, and the says that fully one-third of the city work has been tedious. Mr. Cooper was measured by him with the use of a tape measure.

Difficult in Congested District.

"It was in the congested district of Honolulu that I experienced the most difficulty," he said. "The streets I found to be irregular, and the houses set in almost any position, regardless of alignment. The work has been pleasant, but I am glad to say that I am almost through."

"No doubt the residents of Honolulu were somewhat surprised at my going from house to house, measuring here and there, and asking a lot of questions. I guess that I was taken for a mosquito or health-inspector more than once. In every place I went I found the people to be courteous and obliging, and I had no trouble in getting the information I desired. My work necessarily makes me a trespasser on other people's property, but you have got to go in and get it to secure results. If the people come out, I tell them what I am doing, but so far I have heard no complaints."

Frame Buildings a Menace.

"The location of the frame building sections of Honolulu occupied by the Originals is such as to make the sections a constant menace to the business portion of the city. A fire in one of these districts, should it be allowed to gain a headway, and should a wind be blowing from the mountains, would prove disastrous to central Honolulu. The frame dwellings would burn like tinder and the wind would cause the fire to spread across the business district, and nothing could stop it. If these sections of the city lay nearer the sea, conditions would not be as bad. I have found very few congested districts on the mainland which are as bad as those in Honolulu. For instance, take that district bounded by River, Hotel, Nuuanu and School streets, and also the one bounded by Liliha and King streets and running to Ala Park. The latter is not quite as bad as the others from the fact that Ala Park and the Nuuanu stream would break a fire spreading into the business district. Again, take the block bounded by River, Beretania, Nuuanu and Kukui streets; a single block, with four openings, and containing nearly 150 tenements, stores and dwellings, the majority of which structures are frame. One unfortunate thing which I noticed is the absence of fire hydrants within this block and others of its type.

"If conditions were right, no power on earth could stop a fire in this portion of the city."

MOUNT LASSEN IS ONCE MORE BELCHING SMOKE

REDDING, Cal., June 13.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—A column of black smoke, twenty-five hundred feet in height, shot forth from the new crater on Mount Lassen yesterday. This is the fourth eruption within the past several days. So far the activity has not been accompanied by flames.

tion of the city should it once gain a headway. Since I have been here, the local fire department has done good work in putting out a number of small fires in the center of these sections. Quick work by the fire department is necessary at all times in these sections.

Congested District Unsafe.

"Regarding fire protection in Honolulu, I believe that the residence district is unusually safe because of the large size of yards and the distances which the houses are apart. But in the congested district the sooner the frame buildings are replaced by ones of brick or concrete, so much the better will it be for the city, as it will mean much less hazard."

"I like Honolulu, and the year which I spent here has been a pleasant one. The climate is fine and the swimming is the best in the world. I have found that Hawaii is not as hot as I expected it would be. During the latter part of this year I expect to be in certain sections of the United States, where the snow is two feet deep, and when the thermometer registers below zero I will think of Hawaii."

CAPT. GRIFFITHS IS CONFESSED EMBEZZLER

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Captain Joseph H. Griffiths on trial before a courtmartial at the Presidio here for appropriating government funds to aid him in speculations in timber lands, took the stand in his own behalf yesterday. He admitted taking the government funds, claiming that his sole purpose was to protect his friends who had invested with him from ruin. This money, he claimed, was all spent in his timber enterprises.

It was shown by depositions introduced at the trial that Griffiths had dealings with the Holbrook Timber Company, which called upon him to pay $800,000 for some timber lands. Griffiths was unable to pay.

He was unable to meet the terms of the agreement, which called for a first payment of $65,000. One of the agents of the company, it is understood, was E. B. McFarland, who was said to manage the general offices at Goose Island, Oregon.

The concert and dance given by the Chinese Athletic Union last Wednesday night at Phoenix hall is generally voted one of the most successful social affairs ever given by an organization of the kind. A combined concert program and dance proved a big drawing card, and financially also the entertainment was successful. The affair was a benefit for the Chinese hall team.

THIRTY MILLION SURPLUS IN TREASURY DEPT.

Income Tax Claimed to Have Fallen Far Short of Estimate

WASHINGTON, June 13.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—There will be in the neighborhood of thirty million dollars more in the treasury at the end of the present fiscal year than will be required to operate the government.

This condition was made known here yesterday with announcement by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo that the estimated income for the fiscal year will exceed the ordinary expenses of the government by about thirty million dollars.

The income tax returns, which were estimated to be a source of much income, it is stated, will fall far below anticipation. However, the customs revenue will be twenty-one million dollars more than estimated.

PURSER OF S. S. KOREA IS A BENEDICT TODAY

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—It was announced here yesterday that George Petrocelli, purser on the Pacific Mail steamer Korea, is engaged to marry Miss Ruby Leber, daughter of the American consul at Tapachula, Mexico. The wedding is to take place today. Mr. Petrocelli has been with the Pacific Mail for some time and is well known here as well as in Honolulu and the Orient.
