The following certificate which was procured from the United States Brewers' Academy for the purpose of ascertaining the good quality of the "Budweiser Beer"

brewed by the FRED. MILLER

BREWING CO., Milwaukee, Wis.,

explains itself:

New York, April 9, 1892.

FRED. MILLER BREWING CO.,

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

GENTLEMEN: The sample of beer which we examined for you contains in 100

parts:

Per cent.

Alcohol, 3.41

Extract, 5.45

Sugar, 1.32

Dextrin, 2.68

Albuminoids, 0.36

Lactic Acid, 0.10

Mineral Substances, 0.14

Hop Extract, etc., 0.81

According to this analysis, we beg to state that in our opinion, the Beer has been well brewed, well fermented and well stored. It has a good life and shows good keeping qualities. The Beer has a good and nice round taste, and we can safely recommend it as a wholesome beverage. Yours respectfully,

UNITED STATES BREWERS' ACADEMY,

per M. Schwarz.

In addition to the fact that this

Beer contains remarkably little alcohol, we beg to say that it is brewed of genuine hops and the very best Wisconsin barley, known as "Scotch Fife," and the water is taken from the celebrated Wawatosa mineral springs well known throughout the Northwest; in fact it is the only Milwaukee Beer brewed with mineral spring water.

FROM HANALEI TO HAENA.

[Written for the P. C. ADVERTISER.]

By ranges of verdure clad hills,

And stretches of grass covered plain,

Where long streaming ribbons of rills

Kept full by the ripples of rain

Drip afar from the forested keeps,

Like smoke down the face of the range;

Where the bloom on the tapestried

steeps

Is unweaved by the winter of change.

Swiftly riding o'er grass covered leas,

On the edge of an emerald strand;

By the margin of amethyst seas,

With fringes of shingle and sand

Where ridges are barren and bare,

Save where cacti and lauhalaas

gloom;

And abroad on the hot summer air;

Shedding wealth of the rarest perfume.

So on to a slow running stream

Where flowers clamber over the bank;

By the mouth of a vale—like a dream;

Where the sedges grow serried and rank,

Where the waters run silent and dark

In the channel with never a ford;

Where the scow seemed as old as the ark,

And a dusky-browed charon was lord.

In the valley the living green fires

Burned bright in the tropical noon;

With the sheen of the luminous

spires

Mirrored back by the gleaming lagoon.

Riding on to the mouths of the caves

We dismount by the hazardous

steeps,

Where the roar of the turbulent waves

Ringeth loud in the cavern's deeps.

Old traditions and stories are told,

How in absence of life-giving rains,

Two strangers in ages of old,

Seeking water to moisten the plains,

Dug the caves in the face of the hills,

And that after long cycles of toil,

Sent abroad the sweet rivers and rills

To gladden the sun-parched soil.

Triple caves pierce the heart of the

steeps,

And the daylight doth never illumine

The dark and inscrutable deeps

And the paths of ineffable gloom.

In one of them kings of Kauai

Who have gone to the ultimate

shore,

In the heart of the dark mountain lie

And a dragon keeps guard at the door.

And the legend relates that a pile

Of the cloaks and the helmets of

gold

Lie buried afar in the isle,

That could never be purchased for

gold.

In another, beneath the dark dome,

Neither eddy or ripple of rill,

Only gelid green patches of foam

On a pool lying stagnant and still.

Then we enter and stand with amaze

By the pallid green face of the pond;

In the third one, and strive in the haze

To pierce through the darkness behind

Where the waters in blackness of night

Sullen roll through the rifts in the cave,

And the natives, with torches alight,

Row us out on the Stygian wave.

In a moment we slip with our bark

Where the daylight gives place to the gloom.

From the torches' Gehenna like

glare

On the walls of the cavern around

Throw shadows that startle and sear.

Shadows thrown by the ruddy-red glow

O'er the half-naked powers that flit,

Are unearthly and weird, and they seem

Like ghouls from the bottomless pit.

Inspirations of woe and of fear

All our speech and our senses number;

A word never spoken of cheer,

For the rowed and the rowers are dumb.

But we thankfully came to halt

Where shallal no further might sail;

Turned back through the dim-lighted

vault,

And fled from the spirits of bale,

That seemed always around and near;

And came back to the sun-lighted

shore

With impressions of terror and fear,

That are part of our lives evermore.

Be just and fear not;
Let all the ends thou aim'st at be
Thy Country's, thy God's, and Truth's.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 14, 1893.

THE business community is entitled to a voice in the management of affairs, and it has the power to make its rights respected. The appointment of Cabinets which are an affront to the commercial interests of the whole country may bring a momentary success, but not one which can last. It is unfortunate for the Sovereign that her advisers should lead her into a course which must hasten the downfall of the Hawaiian Monarchy.

THE prorogation of the Legislature has been set for noon to-day. It is stated that a new Want-of-Confidence resolution will be brought in this morning, but it is doubtful whether it will receive much support, though very few men in the Legislature, and none outside of it, feel any confidence in the Ministry. The difficulty is that the Legislature itself is as little deserving of confidence as the Cabinet. The balance of power is held by a group of bribe takers, and the result is that the men of honor, intelligence and standing, of whom there are happily not a few, are condemned to vote in the minority. The capacity of the Hawaiians for self government has been put to a crucial test during the last days, and the outcome is not encouraging to the friends of the native race.

AN INSULT TO COMMON SENSE.

The hopes which were entertained yesterday, that, in spite of the disgraceful way in which the late Cabinet was removed one fairly suitable would be appointed in its place—hopes which found expression in the columns of this journal,—have been grievously disappointed, and a Ministry has been commissioned which does not possess, because it does not deserve, the respect of any section of the community.

The late Cabinet was removed, as every one knows, by a combination of opium smugglers, disappointed office seekers, intriguing office holders and haole haters, aided by the powerful influence of the Court and the Police Department, and the free use of bribery. The Cabinet which has sprung from such sources is a monstrosity worthy of its parentage. Some of its constituent members are lacking in ability, while others have more ground than ever Cassio had, to bewail the loss of a certain something which money cannot buy. The Finance Office is placed in the charge of a gentleman who does not know enough about accounts to keep those of a poi shop, while the Attorney-General, the only man in the Cabinet who has any capacity, has forfeited by his political course every claim to confidence. We have nothing to say against "genial Sam"—it is a Hawaiian tradition that brains are not needed in the Foreign Office—but the man who is to bring the country through the present crisis must have something to trade in besides a good-natured smile. As to the gentleman who sits in the seat of the Minister of the Interior—perhaps the less said the better. It is sometimes charity to be silent.

from a cheap white-wash to a fine all-bristle paint or varnish Brush.

We also have a new lot of Carriage Gloss Paint, and your buggy will need touching up when the weather gets settled.

Galvanized Iron Padlocks are much better to use out of doors than the ordinary japd. iron locks. Our new lot has just been opened.

Gentlemen who have themselves know how important it is to have a good strop, and we are selling a new style Strop, which several of our customers say beats anything ever brought here. This strop is purchased by the Commissary-General, U. S. A. for use throughout the entire army of the United States, and is supplied to the entire corps of Cadets at the Military Academy, West Point. Try one of these strops and you will never use any other.

The patent Clothes Rack we sell is just the thing to use this wet weather. You can set it up before the stove in a moment, dry out the clothes you got wet in that last shower, and in another moment you can fold up your rack and stand it up behind the door.

Garden Trowels we have been out of some weeks, but the last steamer brought us a new lot, also Pointing Trowels, Diagon Saws, Butchers' Spring Balances, assorted Tailors' Chalk, Brown & Sharp Horse Clippers.

We now have a new lot of steel and brass, long spout Locomotive Oilers, the last lot having all been sold the day they were received.

A new lot of Binoculars and Field Glasses, you will find well worth looking through. We have them all prices; also yacht and pocket Compasses, Maximum and Minimum Thermometers.

Brush Door Mats, just the thing for this season of the year.

We are almost out of those Linen Lariats, but have several dozen already invoiced which we expect on the next steamer.

We will have a Gil Net on the next steamer 1000 ft. long by 9 ft high. This one is sold to arrived but we can take your order for any size net. We lately sold a large net which paid for its entire cost in two hauls. Who says fishing don't pay? We have just received a new lot of fine Linen Gilling Cord for repairing nets.

Hall's Cane Knives, plain or hooked are useful at this time of year, as the cane must be cut. This brand of knives is made especially for this market, and lasts twice as long as many of the lighter made knives of poor metal.

Don't forget that our stock of Lubricating Oils is very large and varied. Anything from pure Strained Spermin to Carbox Oil in barrel, case, or gallon, or bottle lots. Our stock of SHIP CHANDLERY has been added to quite extensively of late and is now the largest and most complete in these Islands.

Work equal to the best at San Francisco prices at the GAZETTE Office.

January, 1893.

Do you want the wheels of your buggy, brake or dray to run smoothly this year? Of course you do, you ain't in love with a hot box and a wheel that won't go round. Just try a bottle of Climax Axle Oil and see how it works. It is far better than castor oil, which is generally used, and is sold for just half the price. This oil has been well tried here and no one once using it will go back to castor or axle grease. We can sell it to you by the bottle, gallon or 5-gallon tin. If you still prefer castor oil or axle grease we have them both in any quantity.

We have just added 51 doz. Paint Brushes to our stock, and can now furnish you any kind

A QUESTION OF HEALTH

By last steamer our stock of Dr. Jaeger's Underwear for men has been replenished.

We are now prepared to fit any one be he a dude or heavy-weight.

You've been suffering long enough from that horrid cold; you've spent a small fortune for patent medicines and doctors' advice for that chronic rheumatism. Let us prescribe for you, we know what ails you. You're wearing underwear of dead vegetable fiber, no wonder you're sick.

Let us advise you to make a change. You should wear under garments of pure animal wool. Nature so intended it, but you've been running contrary to nature until at last, she has broken down. Do you wonder at it? Let us tell you something: Animal wool is the material devised by nature for animal covering and possesses, as the simplest experiments will prove the valuable quality of not attracting or retaining the noxious mal-odorous matters, which the animal body exhales. Moreover being a slow conductor of heat animal wool does not chill even when damp. Some friend will perhaps tell you that woolen under clothing is too hot for this climate. Don't be misled. That all-wool clothing protects the body from chill is intelligible to every one, but it is a common error to suppose that such clothing is hot in summer. Heat is felt to be oppressive when the natural action of the pores is hampered and the exhalation cannot escape.

If the covering is impervious there is a strong desire to throw everything off from the stifled skin; but the wearer of porous woolen covering through which the skin can breathe is no more oppressed by it than is a cricketer by his flannels, which every athlete knows to be the coolest, safest, most comfortable wear for violent exercise in hot weather.

If you value your health, don't delay, but encase your body in garments of pure animal wool as made by Dr. Jaeger, and for sale by

M. MCINERNEY.

Captain M. White of the schooner Maid of Orleans, which arrived recently after a stormy passage of forty days from Butaritari, Gilbert Islands, brings the latest information regarding King Tebeurima and his subjects, who were, figuratively speaking, taken prisoners by Captain Davis of the cruiser Royalist when he hoisted the British flag on the islands some months ago. According to the captain, the entire native population is greatly disturbed over the situation, the King don't know what to do and the British sovereignty has caused fear and trembling in every direction. Work on the coral wharf is suspended and trade, in a measure, is paralyzed. "King Tebeurima was on board my vessel for three days before we sailed," said the captain, "and he all but went down on his knees to beg me to try and intercede in his behalf with the American Government. He is badly worried and continually harps on the idea that this Government ought to take him under its protecting wing. The changes that have taken place bewilder him and all his former stability is gone. He knows that there is a yoke around his neck, but how to get it off he has no idea."—S. F. Chronicle.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Skating carnival to-night.

The band will play three new selections at the concert this afternoon.

Call at the store of H. E. McIntyre & Bro. and see a photograph of the dwarf cocoon.

Hon. H. P. Baldwin left for Makawili by the steamer James Makee on Thursday evening.

This morning at 10 o'clock the stockholders of C. Brewer & Co. will hold a quarterly meeting.

The Board of Dental Examiners will hold a meeting on next Saturday afternoon at the Health Office.

The Alameda may be expected to return from San Francisco to-morrow. She will bring six days' later news.

The U. S. S. Boston is expected to return from Hilo to-day, where she journeyed to have target practice.

The Road Board advertises for tenders for supplies. The list can be found in the By Authority column.

The event for to-day will be the prorogation of the Legislature. It will take place at noon in the House.

Owing to the continued illness of Mrs. Wodehouse, the band will play at Thomas Square this afternoon.

It was rumored about the House yesterday that the Queen had vetoed both the Lottery Bill and the Registration Act.

Hon. R. D. Walbridge has left for his home on Maui. He has evidently had enough of the present lottery legislature.

Their Lordships the Bishops of Honolulu and Panopolis were passengers yesterday by the Kinai, for Lahaina and Hilo respectively.

The skating masquerade will take place this evening at the Armory on Beretania street. Seats will be provided for spectators; admission 25 cents.

This morning at 10 o'clock at his salesrooms, Jas. F. Morgan will hold a miscellaneous sale. Lumber, sash, furniture, brakes and harness will be sold.

There will be a practice game of football at the old Makiki grounds this afternoon. A match game will likely come off within a month between a town team and the Punahou team.

H. S. Tregloan & Son, tailors, have made great reductions in the price of fine clothing. They make trousers to order from $6.50, and suits can be had for $22.50. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

The matting in the legislative hall was taken up yesterday and last evening those walnut desks made of redwood were removed also, so everything is in readiness for the farewell exercises to-day.

"Got it in the neck" applies to Reps. Bush, Wilcox and Nawaiki. The promise to Bush was something like this: "Now you wait awhile and Cornwell will resign in your favor." And the band played Louisiana Lottery, No. 6727.

It is understood that the Myrtle Boat Club has challenged the Healan Boat Club for a six-oared sliding-seat boat race to decide the championship which the latter now holds, and it remains to be seen what the Healanis will do about it.

Several of the native members of the Legislature will leave for their homes, each with about $2000 in his clothes. Considering the fact that the salary is but $250 for the session, it will take a good scholar to figure out how they saved $2000.

Nine creditors of G. K. Norton have proved claims to the amount of $2019. Judge Frear has appointed E. A. Jones assignee under a bond of $1000. The principal creditors are Lewers & Cooke, whose claim amounts to $1527.62.

Under the new Judiciary Act a new form will be carried out by the Police Station. Hereafter when a person wants to have another arrested, the injured one swears to a complaint and as soon as possible the defendant is notified to appear in court the following day. If he does not turn up, a bench warrant is issued for his arrest.

An order has been issued summoning Jno. M. Kaneakua to appear before the Supreme Court and show cause why he should not be disbarred for sharp practice. The order was issued by Attorney-General Brown. C. L. Carter for application. Mr. Kaneakua was the native lawyer who issued a bogus subpoena summoning Rep. Kapahu to appear before Circuit Judge Whiting.

The Tourists' Guide for the Hawaiian Islands can be had at this office. This handy book is invaluable for strangers visiting this country. It contains descriptive matter pertaining to the different islands with handsome illustrations and maps. No tourist should be without the guide as it will save them a lot of bother and questions.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Interesting Exercises and Entertainment Last Night.

Pacific Rebeckah Lodge, No. 1, I. O. O. F., invited the members of their brother lodges and their families to be present at the installation of the new officers of the lodge. The invitation was heartily accepted, and last night, when the exercises were held, Excelsior Hall was well filled with friends and brothers to witness the installation.

The new officers were installed by C. J. Fishel, P.C.P., D.D.G.S., assisted by Messrs. J. J. Lecker, P.D.D.G.S., Petrie, Burnheimer and H. H. Williams, all of whom acted as grand officers.

The following are the new officers of the Lodge:

Mrs. F. M. Burnheimer, N.G.

Mrs. F. M. Nicolls, V.G.

Miss L. Adler, Secretary.

Miss M. White, Treasurer.

Mrs. C. Williams, Warden.

Mrs. A. Petrie, Conductor.

Mr. A. Petrie, I.O.G.

Mr. E. F. Burnheimer, R.S.N.G.

Miss E. Plummer, L.S.N.G.

Mrs. A. E. Pratt, L.S.V.G.

Mr. J. W. Pritchard, L.S.V.G.

Rev. Alex. Mackintosh, Chaplain.

After the installation exercises were over Mr. Fishel made an appropriate address, which was received with favor. The Rev. Alex. Mackintosh was then called upon, and in response delivered an address which was both interesting and humorous. His remarks were punctuated with laughter and applause.

A literary and musical programme was then carried out, in which the lady members of the Lodge and friends participated.

Everybody present had a most pleasant evening, and Rebeckah Lodge can add another successful entertainment to their long list.

DON'T LIKE THEM.

The Ministry Will Not Have Plain Sailing.

Messrs. Cornwell and his colleagues are now known as the "Lottery Cabinet," and to make matters worse their life as such promises to be very stormy.

A very lively meeting of the native members was held last evening at Palama to make arrangements to fire the new Ministers. The firing out process is to take place this morning in the House, and judging from the feeling that has been aroused in the breasts of several statesmen who have been left, the existence of the new Cabinet is to be a very short one.

Just what the Legislature is to gain by turning out the Cabinet remains to be seen, as there is some doubt as to the question about the prorogation. If the House is dismissed to-day at noon, and the Cabinet is turned out in the meantime, the Queen can reappoint them.

In the minds of some, it is probable that the law-makers will propose to have the prorogation deferred.

Concessions From Hawaii.

PORTLAND, Dec. 28.—General Manager W. E. Simpson of the Puget Sound, Portland and Hawaiian Traffic Company, has returned from a visit of two months to Honolulu enthusiastic over the establishment of the new channel of trade for Portland and the Northwest. Complete arrangements have been made for the running of a line of steamers and they will be in full operation within a few weeks. C. Brewer & Co., one of the largest mercantile firms in Honolulu have been appointed as the Hawaiian agents. The Hawaiian Government has granted a subsidy of $500 for each monthly round trip. Mr. Simpson also secured other encouraging concessions from the Government and business men. He secured a contract from Commissioner of the Interior Wilcox for the remission of all port charges, lighthouse dues and wharfage charges, together with full and exclusive use of wharves, warehouses and coaling stations.

The Time to Buy.

The present stringent times has caused the local merchants to consider how to bring business. There is but one way, and H. S. Tregloan & Son, the tailors, have struck it. Advertise your goods, and then sell the same at low prices, is the keynote. For instance, you can get a suit of clothes made up in the best style at the very moderate cost of $22.50. A pair of trousers for $6.50 is just like finding them. You can get these at Tregloan's.

Skating Carnival.

The skating masquerade at the Armory promises to be a very interesting affair. The grand march will commence at 8 o'clock and quite a number of skaters will be in line all of whom will be in costume. The idea of giving a skating carnival is a good one and considering the fact that no other amusement event will take place this evening the Armory ought to be crowded. The admission price will be 25 cents.

WHARF AND WAVE.

DIAMOND HEAD, Jan. 13.—9 P.M.: Weather, hazy; wind, fresh N. E.

The barkentine S. N. Castle sailed yesterday morning for San Francisco with over 13,000 bags sugar.

The barkentine Planter will be docked next week to unload her cargo of lumber.

The steamer C. R. Bishop will leave next Monday for Kahuku.

The U. S. cruiser Boston is due this morning from Hilo.

The schooner Robert Lewers will finish unloading lumber next Monday.

It is expected that the steamer Kinai will bring ten thousand bags of sugar next week.

Admiral Gherardi has sailed to the U. S. Navy Department that his fleet, consisting of the Baltimore, Charleston, San Francisco and Yorktown, had sailed from Valparaiso on their voyage around the Horn to New York to participate in the Columbian naval review. Their next stop will be Montevideo, Uruguay.

The City of Paris of the Inman Line has been beaten by the Etruria of the Cunard Line in an eastern voyage across the Atlantic. This is a surprise to seamen and engineers. The Etruria is a single-propeller steamer, while the City of Paris, the fastest of all Atlantic steamers heretofore tested, has double propellers. The gain of twin propellers is doubtful in the sense of speed, for the boilers supply the working power, and one propeller and one shaft may do the work as long as they hold out. But, from the point of view of safety, the twin shafts and twin propellers are advantageous to an immense degree.—Am. Ex.

A NEW CABINET.

Some New Ministers for the Public to Swallow.

Yesterday morning when President Walker called the House to order it was discovered that about ten members were present, so the President adjourned things until the afternoon at 2 o'clock. It was a noticeable fact that in the morning there were no "haole" members present, and various reports were circulated for their non-attendance.

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock a small number of native members were in their seats and additions kept constantly arriving until the Secretary counted noses and found about twenty-four honorables present. While all this was going on no "haole" members made their appearance, and it looked like the House would have to be adjourned again; but in some manner a story was circulated in the lobby that a message would soon arrive from the Palace, so everybody waited until it arrived. Nobody knew just what the nature of the message was until nearly 3 o'clock, when the Secretary read a document announcing that Her Majesty had appointed a new Cabinet, the members of which had arrived and were standing by the desks usually assigned to Cabinet Ministers. It was Samuel Parker, Foreign Affairs; W. H. Cornwell, Finance; J. F. Colburn, Interior; and A. P. Peterson, Attorney-General.

The natives received the new Cabinet with cheers, but the business men about town were not so enthusiastic, as some of the opinions expressed yesterday regarding the new Ministers would not look nice in print.

SOME OF THE CABINETS.

The Legislature which will be prorogued to-day will always be remembered by the many bad bills it has passed, and by the number of Cabinets which have been presented and fired in turn. With the Cabinet above mentioned there have been five in all:

THE WIDEMANN CABINET.

Attorney-General—W. A. Whiting.
Interior—C. N. Spencer.
Finance—H. A. Widemann.
Foreign Affairs—Samuel Parker.

THE MACFARLANE CABINET.

Attorney-General—P. Neumann.
Interior—C. T. Gulick.
Finance—E. C. Macfarlane.
Foreign Affairs—Samuel Parker.

THE CORNWELL CABINET.

Attorney-General—Chas. Creigh.
Interior—C. T. Gulick.
Finance—W. H. Cornwell.
Foreign Affairs—Joseph Nawahi.

THE WILCOX CABINET.

Attorney-General—Cecil Brown.
Interior—G. N. Wilcox.
Finance—P. C. Jones.
Foreign Affairs—M. P. Robinson.

Panama Canal Scandal.

The Panama Canal scandal has about run its course in France and the Republic is still unshaken. The Orleanists and Bonapartists have failed to shake the Government, and the excitement, after several days' hard experience, is silder than ever.

Clemenceau and Devoulant fought a bloodless duel on the 22d ult. The meeting was precipitated by the Canal scandal.

It has transpired that only about one-third of the money spent on the Panama Canal went into actual construction work; the balance was spent in subsidizing others. One of the leading New York papers was paid over $100,000 to favor the Canal as against the Nicaragua scheme.

Ribot, Premier of France, refused to fight a duel with Andrieux, leader of the Royalists. The challenge grew out of the Panama Canal scandal.

The Government of the United States of Colombia has announced that it will grant no extension of time to the Panama Canal company.

Andrieux has been arrested by the French Government for treason. He is a leading Royalist.

Public Concert.

The Royal Hawaiian Military Band (under the direction of Professor H. Berger) will give a public concert at the Thomas Square this (Saturday) afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The following is the programme:

1. Overture—"The Armourer," Lortie.
2. March—"Aida," new, Verdi.
3. Ballad—"Evening," Beethoven.
4. Selection—"Jerusalem," Verdi.
5. Fantasia—"The Troubadour," new, Liebert.
6. Finale—"Rienzi," new, Wagner.

SAMOA AND FIJI.

(From our Traveling Correspondent.)

I left Honolulu in October on the Alameda, bound for Apia, but on my arrival there I found the country bordering on rebellion so decided to keep on to Fiji. Apia is one of the prettiest garden spots on earth. I wonder why people with plenty of money and time do not extend their excursion trips to the Samoan group. The views in and around Apia are more grand than your famous Pali near Honolulu, with its sky-scraping mountains and forests.

Compared with Honolulu or Apia, the village of Suva is nowhere. The weather is very warm here. I am told that the heat equals 120 degrees in the shade, though the thermometer does not indicate it. It rains very hard and frequently, and the heat appears to be a steam from the ground and the rotting vegetation on it. One's clothing feels damp all day, and foreigners—men and women—of whom there are very few, look as though they had fever and chills or jaundice. There are very few horses, and no hacks or express teams for work. The natives do all the carrying on their backs or the best way they can handle it.

These natives are a fine specimen of the human race, some of them being fully 7 feet high, and many of them over 6 feet. The English missionaries did wonders in early days, and are still doing a great deal in civilizing and improving them. I am told, however, that cannibalism is still practiced to some extent in the mountains of Fiji, and that if they catch a white man on his tramps in some of the outer districts they will take him and roast him. Should he happen to be too lean, they will keep him in confinement, and stall-feed him till he is considered in good order.

The natives have very large canoes, some of them over one hundred feet in length. I used to think that Mr. H. F. Bertleman, at his cottage near Diamond Head, had the boss canoe, but these Fiji canoes throw his all into the shade, and are splendid specimens of native work.

Coolies from India are worked on the plantations, on the five-year contract system. They get about $7.50 a month, and do task work mostly, that is, a certain stent is given them each day. The coolie women are a queer-looking people, and very fond of jewelry. Ornaments of every kind of jewelry are seen hanging from their ears, noses, necks, fingers, and with gilt rings on their toes.

As I said before, there are very few horses here. Most of the wealthy people ride in a small wagon, like an American brake, with a pole to it, and drawn by two or three natives—two at the pole and one behind pushing. To a stranger, it is amusing to see them racing (Flora Temple fashion) on the boulevard, known as the "Victoria Parade."

THE LEGISLATURE.

One Hundred and Seventieth Day.

The House met at 9 A. M. Roll call, 10 members present. There being no quorum at 9:55 A. M., the President declared the House adjourned until 2 P. M.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House re-assembled at 2 P. M.; 16 members present.

At 2:45 P. M. a message from Her Majesty was received announcing that it had pleased her to appoint the following Cabinet:

Minister of Foreign Affairs—Hon. Samuel Parker.
Minister of Interior—J. F. Colburn.
Minister of Finance—W. H. Cornwell.

Attorney-General—A. P. Peterson. With the new Cabinet there was a quorum, and the minutes were read and approved.

Rep. White moved the House adjourn.

Rep. Bush asked if the Cabinet had any bills to announce.

Minister Cornwell said he had pleased Her Majesty to sign the bill licensing the distilling of liquors and the bill to amend the Judiciary Act.

At 2:55 the House adjourned.

THE NEW CABLE SHIP.

The Wonderful and Strange

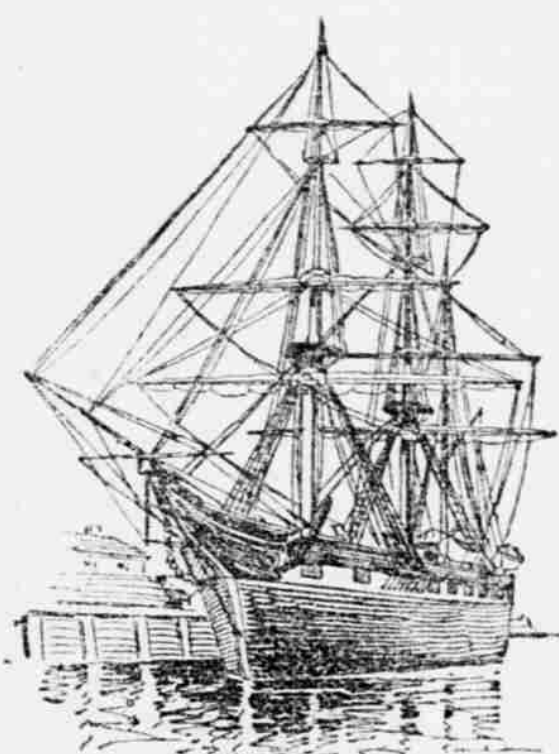

In Our Midst!

LIVELY TIMES ARE COMING

A Total Wave is Predicted.

Read On.

Our Special artist has not been idle, as may be known by the following cut which is a gem in its way:

THE BARK PROGRESS.

This is the bark Progress. It is the bark that will bring the cable to Hawaii, and Progress is what we all want. There cannot be any progress unless you buy your hosiery from Fishel.

A girl will wear hose with a hole in the heel, but ducks like rainy weather, and Fishel's bargains are the talk of the town.

What's the matter with the anchor? FISHEL has an anchor in low prices and steady sales. He don't sell anchors, but peanuts should be roasted before eaten.

Why does an anchor resemble an old tomato can? Because it don't. Buy toys of FISHEL. Goats like tomato cans, and hard times melt away when bargains are offered. FISHEL has 'em—not tomato cans, but bargains.

Now we have a cunning little fellow who is waiting for Christmas. He has a bald headed doll, and papa is going to see FISHEL about some new toys. FISHEL is the man for these times. He doesn't want the earth by any means, but will sell everything in his store for Kalakaua Dollars. Horner's money won't go.

Lot 2.—Is a right of way from the Sand Hill Road to said vineyard, containing an area of 37-100 of an acre. Both of these lots 1 and 2 were conveyed to August Jean by deed of Henry Cornwell, dated May 19, 1877, of record in Liber 49, on page 461 in the Registry of Deeds.

Lot 3.—Is a house lot containing an area of 17-100 of an acre, being a portion of L. C. A. 5373, R. P. 2461 to Eli, and conveyed to August Jean by deed of Henry Cornwell above described. There is a valuable dwelling house on this lot.

Lot 4.—Is a portion of apana 2 of L. C. A. 3339, R. P. 6251 to Nappa containing an area of 15-100 of an acre, and conveyed to August Jean by deed of Nappa dated June 11, 1877, of record in Liber 49, on page 492.

Lot 5.—Is apana 4 of L. C. A. 2532, R. P. 5315 to Kamakahanohano containing an area of 53-100 of an acre, and conveyed to August Jean by deed of Henry Tallant, dated September 4, 1834, of record in Liber 91, on page 192.

Lots 1, 3 and 4 alljoin each other, and Lot 2 (being the right of way) leads to said lots 1, 3 and 4.

The sale will be subject to confirmation of the Supreme Court. Terms of sale are cash payable in United States Gold Coin and deeds will be at the expense of purchasers.

For further particulars, apply to HENRY SMITH, Special Guardian and Commissioner to sell lands of August Jean.

TENNYSON.

"Sunset and evening star,
And one clear call for me;
And may there be no moaning of the bar,
When I put out to sea."
There was no moaning of the bar,
Oh, singer, lost from sight,
When out beyond our evening star,
Death drifted thee to light.
Black was the pilot at the helm;
Dark gloomed the hinter shore,
But never wave could overwhelm,
The land that gleamed before.
Beyond these voices there is peace!
Life fills thy cup today!
From pain and weariness succour
They find who pass this way!
Oh, laureled at the head and feet!
We cannot call thee dead!
Our hearts repeat thy music sweet,
And we are comforted.
—Margaret E. Sangster in Harper's Bazar.

A FAMILY FEUD.

Those two rival families repeated on a small scale the discords of the Montagues and Capulets, only, with due regard to the civilization of the times, instead of spilling blood, they spilled money. Instead of dead relatives, there had been many lawsuits, long and entangled; they went to law for spite, for resentment, for anger; they kept at law with that obstinate delight in litigation which is one of the joys of provincial life. As usual it was a question of trifles—a stream of water that had taken a wrong direction; an unruly goat that had leaped from the field of one into the field of the other; some obscure and stupid potatoes which, spreading themselves underground, had disregarded the boundaries.

Upon this showered legal documents. The lawyers toiled to write in that style of the last relic of barbarous invasions; judgments were multiplied; lawsuits grew complicated. The two advocates rubbed their hands for joy, and from the aspect of things were sure of transmitting, as a valuable inheritance, those quarrels to their sons. How the enmity between Pasquali and the Dericca families had been caused could not be clearly learned; affirmation varied on one and the other side. But it was a deep and declared enmity.

Being neighbors in town and in the country they frequently met, looking askance at each other; the women heard mass in two different churches; if the Dericca girls wore blue gowns the Pasquali girls at once put on pink ones; in the municipal council the Pasquali were always conservative and the Dericca, naturally, radical; that which one did the other would not do for a thousand scudi; where one went the other did not appear. And then gossip, evil speaking, complaints, eagerness for scandal, malignity in short, all that outfit of pleasing things which take place in provincial towns between two rival families. On the top of this Carlo, the eldest son of the Pasquali, and Maria, the second daughter of the Dericca, thought it best to fall in love with each other.

Love in a small town has not much variety. Usually it begins in childhood, continues amid games of blindman's bluff, is apt to manifest itself in social dancing parties and round games and is always ratified by the parish priest and the mayor. These loves are recognized, superintended, established, registered in the household comings and goings; protected by grumbling grandfathers and by priestly uncles; loves without nerves, without tears, without tendernesses and fancies; something extremely calm and slow—the crystallization of love. But Carlo Pasquali had had the incomparable fortune to pass, once, a fortnight at Naples, which made him look with scorn upon provincial customs; and Maria Dericca at night, by feeble lamp, had wept over the hapless heroines of Mastriani, and had envied them in their fantastic passions; therefore for these two was required an exceptional love. First it was a furtive glance; a softly murmured word, yet heard with singular perception by her who should hear it; a carnation pink fallen from a balcony by reason of the wind of course; a sudden pallor of his, a sudden blush of hers; then, by the armed intervention of a rogue of a fifteen-year-old girl who came with a flatiron to smooth Maria's linen and the course of true love at the same time—a note and a brief reply; a little letter, a long letter, and finally those voluminous epistles of eight or ten sheets of note paper which mark the highest point of the folly of love.

Alas! The joy of the young people was brief, and sorrow rapidly arrived to destroy it. They were seen, spied, the news reached their respective fathers, and all the thunderbolts of paternal wrath, imbibed by eleven lawsuits, fell upon the heads of the poor lovers. The balcony windows were closed, the bolts were fastened on the terrace doors, the carnation pinks on the bush were counted, walks were forbidden, or at least made without previous notice, the hour of going to mass varied each Sunday—but those two continued to love each other.

Rebuffs, exhortations, prohibitions, difficulties availed only to inflame their love. At night, in the winter, Maria arose, dressed herself, wrapped herself in a shawl, and in slippers, with bated breath, trembling for fear, descended the stairs to a window of the first floor; the young friend was in the street, leaning against the wall. So they talked for two or three hours without caring for cold, the rain or the loss of sleep; they talked without seeing each other, from a distance of five meters of altitude, becoming silent at every sound of a passer, then cautiously resuming their discourse, with the continual fear that Maria's parents might arouse and find her in that aerial colloquy.

But what did it all matter to them? They had within their hearts sunshine, light, springtime, courage, enthusiasm. If the king had come they would not have moved. Instead, the brother of Maria, one night when he could not sleep, arose from his bed and found the door ajar, went down the stairs, heard a murmur, and caught his sister in the act. He unceremoniously barred the shutters in the face of Carlo, gave Maria a resounding box on the ear, and brought her to her room. Next morning the small window on the first floor was walled up.

Oh, all ye faithful lovers, who grieve amid the pains of thwarted love, imagine the despair of those two! Their letters were no longer legible, for tears blotched the words; rows of exclamation points, that looked like Prussian soldiers under arms, followed the daily imprecations against fortune, destiny, fate and other impersonal beings incapable of resenting them: a thousand fantastic plans were created and then rejected. Carlo would have liked to elope with Maria, but his father allowed him no money, and it would have been difficult to put together the nine lire and fifty centesimi for two tickets for the journey to Naples; they thought for a moment of suicide, but found that it would not solve the difficulty. Then, in the long run, their love became systematic, the imprecations were always the same, and they could not go to their beds without having "poured forth upon the faithful paper the fullness of their grief."

In the town nothing was talked of but their unshakable love and their torments; they were the objects of general interest; if a Neapolitan arrived, the townsfolk took him to see the ruins of the amphitheater, and related the case of Carlo and Maria. Therefore the young people, flattered in their amour propre, assumed the behavior fitting to the circumstances—Maria was always pale, with a melancholy air, never smiling, always talking to her girl friends about her joyless days, refusing to amuse herself, content to resemble in all respects one of Mastriani's heroines.

Carlo took lonely walks, was always deeply depressed; at balls, he never moved out of a corner, content that they murmured around him, "Poor young man; that unfortunate love affair saddens his life!" In society, at small festivities, in visits, with the unwavering monotony of the province, the discourse always returned upon the subject of the two lovers. Carlo and Maria bore with dignity the burden of their popularity.

Finally, after I don't know how many years—four or five, it seems to me—of this continual struggle, of daily weeping, of long, long love maintained alive by dissensions, the aspect of things changed. There was a worthy person—there still are such—who with many efforts of eloquence persuaded the parents that by the lawsuits they were losing property and much of it, as witness the two advocates who had grown rich at the expense of their clients; that these two young people were pining and would go into a decline because of that thwarted love; the houses were side by side and the estates contiguous; Christ forgave, and they must forgive if they wished to find forgiveness. He said so much and so many other persons, moved by the example, interposed that the questions came to a compromise which had as its first chapter the marriage of Carlo and Maria.

Here, surely, every one will suppose that the young people were greatly consoled, and will suppose truly—but my obligation as a sincere story teller constrains me to say that in their first free colloquy reigned a great embarrassment. They were accustomed to see each other at a distance by stealth; to speak from a first floor window down to the street in the darkness, disguising or smothering their voices; they found themselves quite different, perhaps a little ridiculous; they had no subjects of conversation, they were often silent, hastening in their thoughts the hour when they should quit each other.

There were no more imprecations and tears to be mingled with the ink; they no longer wrote to each other. Everything was free, smooth, easy for their affection; they were not obliged to think of subtleties by which to evade the vigilance of their elders; they took no more pleasure in murmuring a few words in secret; they made no more daring projects for the future. They would be married peacefully, without obstacles, like so many other silly couples. The townsfolk no longer took thought of them; the wonder and the comments on the marriage once over, Carlo and Maria no longer awoke attention, were no longer talked about; their behavior was noted no more; they ceased to be pointed out as an example of fidelity. Now all eyes were fixed on the eyes of the pretor, who was accused of too great partiality for the vice attorney—a serious piece of business.

The two lovers felt themselves forsaken—a great coolness arose between them. Carlo found that the virtues of his fiancée, those virtues which shone in her letters, were dimmed by the atmosphere of home. Maria frequently thought that Carlo was rather commonplace in his tastes, and to that end, with a stupid marriage, so tempestuous a love was unworthy a reader of Mastriani. A few lively remarks passed between them in regard to "illusions contradicted by the reality," about "mirages," "optical delusions" and similar pin pricks; a quarrel ensued, then two, then they became a daily occurrence. One evening Maria said with an irritated tone:

"Carlo, let us leave it off."
"Let us," he replied without hesitation.
And the next day he set off on a journey for the improvement of his mind. Maria went to Naples, to the house of a cousin, to fish for a heroic husband. The families had a new falling out; Maria's father had an opening made for a window which overlooked his neighbor's courtyard; the latter, in order to annoy him, built a dove cote of which the doves ran about everywhere; immediately there was a summons, a second, a third, the lawsuits began again, and this time, the advocates said, smiling, without hope of any compromise.—Translated from the Italian of Matilde Serao by E. Cavazza for Short Stories.

Wholesale Deer Killing in the Northwest.
Parties who have been out hunting in the country between the headwaters of the forks of the Santiam bring back accounts of a wholesale destruction of deer in that region by Indians. Bands of Warm Spring and Klickitat Indians, numbering from 150 to 200, get permission about July 1 to come over into the Willamette valley to pick up deer and leave their reservations. They come in over the Santiam wagon road and make a camp at Indian prairie, and then organize a grand roundup of deer. They surround a vast tract of country on their ponies, which they ride through a country that a white man can hardly get through on foot, and drive the deer toward a common center, and slaughter them by hundreds, killing bucks, fawns and does indiscriminately, drying the choice parts of the meat for winter supplies. It is stated that in the region about the headwaters of the various forks of the Santiam, Indians have this season slaughtered over 1,000 deer.—Portland Oregonian.

GO AHEAD!

There is only one way to do anything; and that is the right way; it is the best way, AND IN THE END THE CHEAPEST. With the New Year, I inaugurate a new departure in my business, viz:

The Optical Business

Having first perfected myself by a study of the eye and its need; and further by a scientific study in the use of the latest and most approved instruments for the testing of the eye; I am ready to fit your eyes with proper Glasses, correcting ALL ERRORS OF REFRACTION, whether simply NEAR or FAR sight, or the more complicated SIMPLE or COMPOUND ASTIGMATISM from which so many patients suffer, and which few Opticians TREAT.

I feel that the public will appreciate the above announcement as it has been a felt want here for years.

My intention is to give Optics a large share of my attention, and each case separately conscientious time and study, so that the wearing of Glasses will do what they are intended for, relieve the strain, and not to tire the eye.

Please bear in mind that there is NO CHARGE for testing the eye, and that my prices for all Glasses are the same as in the States.

CHICAGO EXPOSITION.

An Interesting Letter From the Scene of the World's Fair.

(From our special correspondent.)

Since I last wrote you things have assumed shape in a more positive form. Many of the buildings are completed and dedicated. Even now there are immense crowds of sight-seers and visitors to the Exposition grounds, especially on Sundays.

Aside from the attractiveness of the buildings in general, Horticultural Hall especially is a fine sight, with its magnificent display of tropical foliage and flowers. The Esplanade village is a very great attraction to curiosity seekers, as it is an exact reproduction of Arctic life, with the exception of there being no icebergs or Polar bears. Two babies were born in the colony since their arrival, one of which has died.

As to the question of Sunday opening, a word here will not be out of place. I quote as follows from the Chicago Mail: "Abner Taylor is discouraged over the outlook for Sunday opening. He has begun questioning the Senators at Washington, and finds strong opposition to any such movement. The Chicago Congressmen will hold a conference this week, and will mark out a plan of action. Nothing but the hardest kind of work will secure the passage of a bill repealing the Sunday closing clause. The members of Congress know little or nothing of the strength of the opposition to the Sunday closing, and thus far no systematic effort has been made to enlighten them. If Chicago wants the Exposition opened on Sunday she had better make her desires known at Washington."

Among the many notices of amusements not specially connected with the Exposition, the Passion Play is noticeable. As to the advisability of reproducing the Passion Play in Chicago during the Exposition, I quote the following from the Christian Union: "The Passion Play of Ober-Ammergau, it is announced, is likely to be given at the World's Fair. Report in Chicago Inter-Ocean, says that an amphitheatre is to be erected to a canvas large enough to seat 5000 or 10,000 people. Scenery will represent the mountains which nature has furnished as background at Ober-Ammergau. Josef Mayer is to come across the water to represent the Christ. It will be easy to import the actors; but not the audiences and the latter determine the spirit of a performance. The project has reached, it is said, that state of advancement where but the final word remains to be said to make it effectual. This is to come from the people of the United States. If serious objection is raised, the idea of course will be abandoned. We trust this objection will be raised in a most vigorous and emphatic protest."

In the Electrical department astounding results as to the many uses and appliances will be shown; its effects on plants and animals and different forms of life. Reference has recently been made as to the effect of the electric light on plants, especially those at the Winter Palace at St. Petersburg, where there is a noted collection of ornamental plants, especially fine palms, grown for the decoration of the banquet halls of the palace. The illumination of a room for a single night caused the leaves to turn yellow, dry up, and drop off. The days in St. Petersburg are almost sunless, and the sudden change from this dim light to the blinding glare of the electric lights is more than the plants can bear; plants that are partly shaded escape injury to their foliage. The telephone, a telegraphic device invented by Langdon Davis, of London—also the submarine telegraph; train telegraphy system of Mr. Lucius J. Phelps, are to be exhibited.

In the United States alone the lines of telegraph have a total of 807,380 miles of wire—enough to encircle the world thirty-two times. France has 241,800 miles, Germany 186,733 miles, Great Britain and Ireland 183,502 miles, Russia 172,360 miles. As to the extent of the telephone in 1890 in this country, there were 757 exchanges, 471 branch offices, 192,610 miles of land wire, 603 miles of submarine cables, 156,780 circuits and 185,003 subscribers. Exchange connections daily in the United States, 1,240,147 or a total per year of 400,000,000, the company received for rental in 1889 $2,657,361. The Bell Telephone Co. and its subsidiary companies represent about $80,000,000 of capital.

A word right here for Thomas A. Edison. He will astonish the world by the exhibit he will make in 1893. I have two or three things to show, said he recently, which I think will both please and surprise the visitors to the electrical department of the Exposition, which by the way I am fully convinced will be a great success. Two of these are not yet ready to be described, the third is so nearly perfected that I do not hesitate to say something about it. I hope to be able by the invention to throw upon a canvas a perfect picture of anybody and reproduce his words. Thus should Patti be singing somewhere this invention will put her full length picture upon the canvas so perfectly, as to enable one to distinguish every feature and expression of her face, see all her actions and listen to the entrancing melody of her peerless voice. This invention will be called the Kinetograph. The first half of the word signifies motion, and the last write, and both together mean, the portrayal of motion.

Aside from Edison's will be shown the general method of operating electric railways, telegraph a name given to a system devised for the transportation of goods and passengers for overhead suspended cars driven by electric motors; police and fire alarm systems, capital punishment by electricity, electric pinnace, wooden, driven by electricity, recently launched in England; also an electric awakener, an ordinary alarm clock with electric attachment which includes in circuits one of the rollers at the bottom of the legs of the bed at the hour arrives at which the sleeper has to set the alarm, his weight closes the circuit and the bell rings and continues to ring until the sleeper gets off the bed; also many improvements on the present system of phoning, recording and return message or self-registering phone, patent of H. C. Adams of Honolulu and Chicago, U. S. A.

The Woman's Columbian Laundry Co. is doubly deserving of prominent mention, for women only; men can only participate through "the ladies that own them." It will benefit both the community in general, and women in particular, by employing women exclusively and instructing them in the best methods of laundry work, paying them the best wages possible and giving them certificates of proficiency when they become thoroughly skilled. Each share is of the nominal value of $10 and was sold at par, so that it has an authorized capital of $300,000. The President of the same is Mrs. Sarah Wilder Pratt, member of the Woman's Club of Chicago.

We are having seasonable weather. Just now occasional falls of snow; not bothered much with flies, if you see one and it goes out of the window it comes back with both of its knees frozen and icicles on its feet unless it wears Jaegers' underwear and top boots.

The souvenir coins are at last here in Chicago. The coin shows on the obverse side the profile of Columbus. The reverse side shows the carved Santa Maria in full sail, and underneath the two hemispheres. The inscription reads, "World's Columbian Exposition, 1892," the inscription on the obverse reads, "Columbian Souvenir Half-Dollar, 1892." H. C. A. Chicago, Dec. 19, 1892.

FROM KOHALA.

Superstitious Hawaiians Fear the Loss of Their Children.

(From an Occasional Correspondent.)

Here is a district with five sugar plantations, ten houses of worship within a distance of seven miles, besides the one at Mahukona, two Government and one private English schools of over 100 pupils each, one seminary, a railroad, two ports of entry, and the "handsomest chimney in the Kingdom," all on the side of Hawaii nearest the metropolis, yet having, it is believed, the poorest mail and steamer service in the Kingdom.

No matter how urgent a case may be, there's no communicating with Honolulu by any regular service excepting once in ten days.

Better to be sure than was the condition forty years ago, but not as good as five years ago, and not entirely satisfactory.

As rather marked evidence of the decided vitality of Hawaiian superstitions, may be mentioned the fact that natives were inquiring with credulous concern a few days ago about a certain report that three haole men and one kanaka were touring the island in quest of children to bury under the foundation of the New Masonic Temple and that three children had already been secretly seized in Hamakua for that purpose.

It would appear from some sources of information that notices had been posted in the district warning Hawaiians to keep their children within doors after sundown.

The churches of North and West Kohala celebrated their New Year's Day by having a grand Sunday School union at the stone church, where there was said to have been some amusing attempts to dramatize Scriptural historical incidents. Eight hundred people were in attendance. After services, quite a number of the older natives, many of whom have not seen Father Bond for months and perhaps years, called at the house of their aged ex-pastor with the hope of being permitted to see him. A hand to hand greeting was impossible in his poor state of his health, but for the purpose of gratifying them, he was lifted to a chair at the window, and many were the expressions of sympathy which greeted him there.

The Place to Grow Bananas.

The country most extensively cultivated for the growth of bananas, and which for the past three months has so distinguished itself by the unusual quality and fine development of its products, is situated in the Republic of Colombia, Bocas del Toro being now the shipping center and principal attraction for planters and merchants engaged in the industry.

There are at the present time, taken at a rough estimate, not less than 18,000 acres of land devoted entirely to the cultivation of bananas, from which can be shipped weekly 30,000 bunches, all averaging 250 bananas to each bunch. These are termed "whole bunches"—besides which about 25,000 bunches of a smaller size, averaging 200 bananas each (which are termed halves) still remain uncut, and at the expiration of another week attain their full size, when they also are ready for shipment.

At the lapse of the same length of time perhaps twice the quantity of bunches are ready to be cut, and so on from week to week, month to month, and year to year. New plantations are continually starting up, taking ten months from the time the "suckers," or plants, are first put into the ground to the time they commence to yield.—Cor. New Orleans Picayune.

ARE MUSTACHES ORNAMENTS?

A Young Woman Writer Discourses on an Important Part of Man.

Why do young men take such pride in their mustaches? It is, I suppose, because they think a mustache is ornamental. Is it? Why do men have clean shaven lips when they could grow mustaches? And why do men wear half a dozen straggling hairs when they ought to have them shaved off? Why will men continue to spend hours every day in training the hair on their upper lip, when it doesn't make them look any more handsome, when it is annoying to their sweethearts by scratching their cheeks, when it prevents a cigar being smoked more than half through, and when it shows a horrid propensity for getting mixed up with the food?

I don't think mustaches are ornamental. The ideal mustache has yet to be invented. It must not draggle, nor be used as a shield to hide one's bad teeth, nor be fierce. And oh, it must not be waxed or leaded! What do men say of women who use grease? When you are enjoying a spoon don't you think it takes all the romance out of the thing by having a nasty, cosmetized piece of hair edge its way against your lips? And isn't it exasperating when your lover leads his mustache and never tells you? You go home with your face like a metropolitan extension map, and feel very uncomfortable when father and mother say there have been a lot of smuts about, for your face has got quite dirty.

No, mustaches are neither useful nor ornamental. Were I a man and capable of growing a most luxuriant mustache I would cut it off. A clean shaven man looks much the nicest. Girls like a beardless face. They are content to know that whiskers and all the rest could be there if they were wanted. You see, a man with a mustache is generally a bit of a fop, and girls don't like fops. If a man doesn't keep it trimmed it gets straggling and ragged; if he does keep it trimmed then he appears conceited. He is eternally twisting it this way, giving it a curl that way, stroking it and patting it, until he loses all character for manliness.

Now, a clean shaven man seems to be dignified. Women love dignity. Why is it they are always so fond of curates—especially high church—and actors? Simply because they shave. Women want in men a smooth, clear cut face—not with a great bunch of hair stuck out under the nose. Whoever heard of the Greeks having mustaches? Whoever saw a statue of a Greek god with a mustache unless he were an old god and wore a beard as well?

Mustaches are not ornamental, because they rarely suit the face, because they are a protuberance and hide the outline of the mouth, and because, with a mustache, a man is frightened to laugh, as it disarranges it. Only a few women care for them. Men think all women do. That is a mistake.—"A Fair Critic" in London Tit-Bits.

An Old Rosebush.

As long ago as the year 822 Hildeheim is mentioned in history. In that year we are told Louis the Pious, Charlemagne's son and successor, made it the seat of the bishopric intended by his father to be established at the neighboring town of Elze. Less than a century before Charlemagne had brought the heathen Saxons into subjection and Christianity was yet new in the land. Gunther, the first bishop, had been canon at the cathedral at Reims. Three years after his elevation to the new episcopal see he consecrated the first chapel, naming it in honor of the Virgin Mary. The chapel is supposed to have occupied the site under the present cathedral, where the crypt of the new church is built.

A pretty rosebush that now clings to the outer wall of the cathedral choir is said by tradition to have grown there since the days of Louis the Pious himself. In the twelfth century, when the choir and crypt were being enlarged, a protecting hollow wall was built around the rosebush, in order that the vine might continue to grow about the building when the new wall had been completed. A bit of the old arching may be seen behind the altar in the crypt. This is the present voucher for the great age of the rosebush, and it must be admitted that many traditions repose upon a less solid foundation.—Architectural Record.

Eating Shoe Hash.

In London a century ago it was no uncommon practice on the part of the "fast men" to drink bumpers to the health of a lady out of her shoe. The Earl of Cork, in an amusing paper in The Connoisseur, relates an incident of this kind, and to carry the compliment still further he states that the shoe was ordered to be dressed and served up for supper.

The cook set himself seriously to work upon it. He pulled the upper part (which was of fine damask) into fine shreds and tossed it up into a ragout, minced the sole, cut the wooden heel into thin slices, fried them in butter and placed them round the dish for garnish. The company testified their affection for the lady by eating heartily of this exquisite imprudence.

The Color of the Eyes.

A famous optician has discovered that women have a larger proportion of brown eyes than men. If in parents the mother has brown eyes and the father blue the chances are eighty-eight to twelve that the girls of the family will be brown eyed, the percentage in favor of the boys having blue eyes being seventy-two to twenty-eight. If the parents have eyes of like color the chances in favor of the children, both male and female, having eyes of the same color is ninety-two to eight.—Exchange.

Ammonia Colors Hair.

A few drops of ammonia added to pre-oxidized hair is what gives the beautiful golden color to hair. Without the ammonia one or two applications of the bleach to brown hair imparts a reddish bronze tint to it.—New York Journal.
