EXERCISES AT OAHU

Vera May Damon Got the Great Prize of the Year.

The large assembly room of the Charles R. Bishop Hall at Oahu College last night was filled with the relatives and friends of the members of the of 1908, at their commencement exercises, listening with a great deal stake. Each rider is entitled to one of pleasure to the valedictory addresses of the class orators, the three splendid musical numbers contributed by memhers of the college and to the address $50; second prize, $15. Entrance fee, to the class by the Rev. J. W. Wad-

Miss Irene Blowers Aiken graphically described the wonders and glories of Haleakala, relating some of the interesting legends connected with that natural wonder of her own island.

The valedictory address was deliver- ドイカトラティアティアティアティアティアティアティアティアティアティアティアティアティア ed by Miss Phoebe Clara Kamaka Heen, after she had concluded an interesting description of the early fishing industry of Hawaii in the days be- 2 fore the Japanese had crowded the 3 Hawaiians off the fishing grounds and when the Chinese had not leaseholds of all the ponds.

The address to the class by Mr. Wadman, the father of one of the graduating pupils, was an inspiring one, based | 3, on the words: "Character enshrined % in love endureth forever." The speaker 3 dwelt on the point that a well-defined | ambition was necessary for success, then discussed the question of what might constitute success. To know and to have were good, to do was better, but to be was best, the highest form of achievement.

The presentation of the class gift to the college was made by Soren Edward Hannestad, in a neat address. The present, which consisted of a series six pictures, Alexander's "Evolu-

RECENT HAPPENINGS IN HILO TOWN

(Hilo Tribune.)

Rev. H. P. Judd, the newly appointed superintendent of Sunday School Missions in Hawaii, arrived by the Claudine Sunday. In the morning he spoke at Foreign church and in the evening at Walakea. Mr. Judd went to the Volcano Monday and will return to Hilo in time for the first session of the association. He is accompanied by his

The Rev. W. H. Bliss, principal of the Iolani school, Honolulu, is in Hilo, staying at the Rectory on Walanuenue street with the Rev. W. H. Fenton-Smith. Mr. Bliss is here in the interests of Iolani school for boys and the Priory for girls. Anyone desiring to give their children good schooling and board at a moderate sum should call and see him. Mr. Bliss will be here until Friday morning when he will] leave for Honokaa, Waimea and Kohala in the interests of his schools.

D. Lycurgus of Honolulu, Hilo, and the Volcano House, has received recently a very scholarly work written by his uncle, I. N. Protopapa, head of the "Gymnasium" at Messenia in south western Greece. It is a work dealing with the historical development of Monotheism in the various nations and theological systems of the world, and its culmination in Christianity. It is written in Modern Greek, and will probably be translated by the author into French for general circulation in Europe.

Professor and Mrs. Levi Lyman will leave Hilo soon to take a vacation for a year on the mainland. Their vacation however, will be rather in the nature of a change of work than a cessa. tion from work, as both Mr. and Mrs. Lyman have made arrangements to live at Hampton the famous institution founded by General Armstrong, where they will carefully study the methods of instruction and system of school management which are so successfully carried out there. Upon their return to Hilo they will be able to adapt these methods to their work

W. W. Hall, one of Honolulu's most week in Hilo and at the Volcano House, Mr. Hall unlike most Honoluluites, life imprisonment, was good enough to admit that it doesn't rain in Hilo all the time, and even noticed the dust which whirls up Waianuenue street nearly every day as a visible refutation of an account falsehood.

Jared G. Smith, formerly at the head of the Department of Agriculture, but who resigned his position to take the management of a tobacco plantation to be started in Kona, has no doubt of the success of this new Hawaiian industry. Specimens of this product have been quoted by Eastern experts as worth a dollar a pound. The plantation in question will be located on land leased from the Bishop Estate, at an elevation of about 1100 feet. Two crops per year being held by Mr. Smith and half a dozen others. As fine samples of tobacco as any ever produced in Hawaii, have, according to Mr. Smith, been the Olaa road, and he believes that the

SUNDAY ADVERTISER

WALTER G. SMITH -JUNE 28 SUNDAY

A HALF-WHITE PROBLEM.

What shall be done with the educated half-white girl? She has been welllooked after, has taught school or is teaching it, and has aspirations for a happy marriage and a well-regulated home. But she is not in demand for a wife among people whom she wants to marry,

A minister told me this-a good man, who carries a greater burden of anxiety for souls than he ever frames in words. "I have girls of this kind in my church," he said; "nice girls, who are earning their $2 per day and more, teaching school. Their chance of marriage lies mainly between young Hawaiian men who are of trifling promise-the sort that are coming up as politicians-or dollar-a-day native laborers. A girl of this sort who drops $2 a day to wed $1 a day and bring up children to share it, is doomed to a life of misery, want, and, perhaps, degradation. To marry a young native politician is to be worse off. Since annexation there have been few mixed marriages, and a respectable white husband for a native or half-white girl is much harder to get than formerly. So what is our educated half-white girl to do? Face a toilsome spinsterhood? It is against her nature."

The problem is not an easy one. It might be quickly solved if the young Hawaiian man would take up land and seriously cultivate it and build a home which an educated wife of his own blood would adorn. But the young Hawaiian wants a political job or a soft snap of some kind, and such dubious prizes are too few to go a tenth of the way around. He is ceasing to be a sailor, he is letting the Asiatics have his ancestral fisheries and taro lands, he will have as little as possible to do with plantations, and in nine cases out of ten, if he acquires a homestead, his purpose is to sell it to the first comer and return to that ends his story. And it reveals the secret of race suicide of which the census, two years hence, bears promise of astounding revelations.

But to return to the educated half-white girl. Intelligent, handsome, selfsupporting, and with a desire to preserve her self-respect, with the natural human love of domesticity, what is to be her fate? Can it be that she would be better off if education had not lifted her above her former station to the threshold of a heaven she can not hope to attain? God forbid!

Kapiolani Park needs more money with which to redeem its waste land and to was worth all it cost-which was nothing. build an aviary and a zoo. All these projects are worth while, and who should take an interest in them if not the men who are wresting immense fortunes there was neither eulogy, sermon nor song, and that there was absolutely no from island soil?

A Profitable Omen

From the Japan Times.

In a remote, untrodden region of Ikeda, Sesshu province, there lies an exnews has now spread that this forest is being visited daily and nightly by thousands of religious-souled men and women, and that hundreds of them even pass the whole night in it. A correspondent of the Osaka Mainichi paid a visit to the woods to inquire into the affair. On February 23, so runs the story, a powerful shower of dark-colored rain fell in torrents and shook the earth to its foundations. Towards night, amidst the downpour a majestic dragon, the imag-No sooner did the awful beast hide itself behind the gathering clouds than the ing for the widow. rain stopped and the diamonds in the sky showed themselves in all their glory. On the very same night one Sadajiro Shinoki dreamed a sacred dream in which the deified snake appeared in holy apparel, and said that he had this day succeeded in ascending to the heavens and that in order to sanctify the forest that of other civilized communities. which had been his temporary abode he had endowed it with a special healing virtue for all diseases. Invalids visiting the forest should be infallibly made whole. Thus the dragon disappeared. The news spread from mouth to mouth the campaign is likely to see, put himself squarely on the side of moral voting till all the neighboring towns knew it. All sorts of invalids, even healthy men began to assail the forest with many greedy prayers. Some sit up all night through in the thickets, while others stay days with provisions. Many people come from as far as Kobe and Osaka. All through the forest are scattered various offerings and the offertory box was filled with a great quantity of coppers. Thanks to this phenomenal influx of pilgrims the local shops and stores are placed in the most prosperous condition. In one part of the forest is a spring where a small stream of water is constantly welling up. Visitors will come hither to drink Rogers, and young Theodore Roosevelt planted the seeds of civil service rethereof, and wash their hands and bodies therein, and fill their bottles with it to take home, devoutly believing that the water has a purifying and curative of the boss and hireling, the grafter and job-chaser, and I can well imagine how property. Never mind if it is a little stained with mud; they prize it better heartily he went into the recent fight of Secretary Taft against Boss Cox of than costly wine. The police reared a hedge round the spring from sanitary the Ohio Republican machine. High as Mr. Garfield's opinion was of Governor considerations, but it was soon smashed. Lately a fresh rumor has been started Frear it must have mounted apace when he heard that brave deliverance at to the effect that the dragon has returned to the forest. This only served to increase the daily influx of visitors. Over ten yen is daily offered to the dragon by thousands of superstitious persons, while in kind rice alone is offered to a quantity exceeding one to. The local police are exerting their utmost to disillusion the misguided, but such is the force of superstition that all their efforts have proved futile. Sadajiro, who is the owner of the forest, is regarded by the police with no small amount of suspicion; but he is said to have promised that all the money received through the offertory box should be given for charity purposes.

The Secret of Sex.

Is there any law which determines whether boys or girls shall be born? The a statistical study, reaches the conclusion that a boy is born when the father is the weaker of the two parents and a girl when the mother is the weaker. He declares that by a law of nature the child resembles the weaker and not the stronger of its parents.

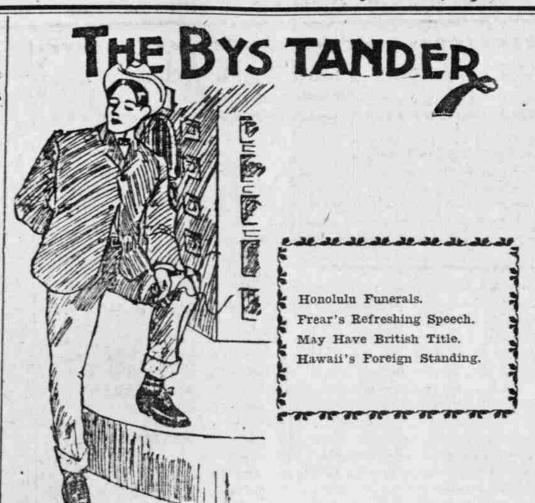

He points out that in all countries, with mathematical regularity, 105 or 106 girls are born to every 100 boys. There is only one condition under which this proportion is modified-after a great war. In the same way, among the barbarous races of Africa and Oceania, which are constantly at war, the births show an overwhelming preponderance of boys. This, he states, proves the law, for the best and strongest men are sent to the front or killed, and the weakest remain behind or survive. The purpose of Nature is to maintain the balance, and to replace the weaker individual with another of the same sex before he or

Thus, when an old man marries a young wife it is a well-known fact that more boys than girls are born to such union. The opposite is the case when the wife is much older than the husband. Sadler has collected the following statistics: For 1000 girls born there are born 865 boys when the father is vounger than the mother, 948 boys when the father is of the same age as the mother, 1037 boys when the father is one to six years older than the other, 1267 boys when the father is six to eleven years older than the mother, 1474 boys when the father is eleven to sixteen years older than the mother.

Dr. Romme asserts that there are practically no instances where the strength of both parents is equal. Worry, a passing illness, mental depression, or, indeed, they lay hidden and obscure, and did humanity a service by rescuing them from riage should be encouraged, any slight trouble is sufficient to turn the scale and cause a temporary and relative weakness in one or other. To illustrate his theory Dr. Romme cites examples among living sovereigns,

The Kaiser, he says, had five sons in succession, while the Empress of Russia, on the other hand, has had four daughters in succession born to her. "In my career," he concludes, "I have not met with a single instance which transgressed the rule above formulated."

The severe simplicity of Grover Cleveland's funeral reminds me that Honolulu has the gaudiest and most ill-bred funerals of any city in the United States. Elsewhere there are no plumes and netted horses and brass bands - State funerals excepted-while here no man may have been of so little importance in town for a good time. Here he loafs his life away, cheerfully but vitally, and life as to escape pomp and circumstance at his obsequies. Mind, my condemnation is not sweeping. There are people here, as elsewhere, of the finest mortuary taste; but there are many more, alas! who organize funerals on the plan

Not long ago a Portuguese boy died-one of very palpable youth, a clerk, think; certainly not an official. The religious ceremonies over him were magnificent. His cortege passed my window and was sufficient to honor the memory of an admiral at least. The band led, playing a dirge; a carriage followed with the clergy; then came a splendid hearse, drawn by four horses trapped in white, Sugar is bringing great returns, and the opportunity to use some of them the vehicle itself majestically plumed; then more carriages; then the members for the public good was never better. There is plenty of chance for men of the hui to which the deceased belonged, wearing white gloves and arm crepe, whose fortunes are growing apace to build memorials of usefulness which will provided by the mourning family. The casket was of rosewood and broadcloth benefit others and keep their names from oblivion. Honolulu needs two or three and there were what the papers call "floral tributes." I wondered how the more small parks; Oahu College could make excellent use of an endowment to survivors of the family could afford all this, and found, on inquiry, that the meet some of its running expenses; this city needs a larger and finer library; whole sum of the boy's life insurance had gone to pay for this ostentatious the projected children's hospital awaits a beneficiary; an endowed theater would mourning. Of course, there was the usual "card of thanks" in the papers, make it possible for Honolulu to have the best things in music and the drama; which, to my mind, was the only item in the general sum of vulgarity which

Much of the blame for the barbaric exhibition made here is due to certain undertakers. They are very much on the make-not all of them, but some. When a weeping woman comes to one of the predatory class and asks him to bury her husband, he suggests something costly and splendid in the funeral line. "It is the last thing you can ever do for him," he says unctuously, "and surely you ought to do your best." In the end a bill is run up which will keep tensive, bushy bamboo jungle which had scarcely been explored. Remarkable the widow poor for three years. It is a bill for sheer ostentation; a bill for incurring ridicule; a bill four or five times larger than a simple and respectful funeral would cost.

I know of one case where an undertaker refused to bury a native in the simple, inexpensive way the widow preferred, because he belonged to a hui which had guaranteed the money for a funeral and something for the widow. The undertaker by embalming and storing the body until a Sunday came when inary king of beast kind, was seen ascending toward the firmament of heaven. the hui could parade, got the entire sum which the hui had voted, leaving noth-

By Charles L. Rhodes,

In the matter of dividends, Ossa has been piled on Pelion this week. Six plantations have declared increased monthly dividends, and a seventh has deelared its first dividend for a number of years,

Though most of these increases have been foreshadowed in this column, the official announcements bunched this week gave a sense of opulence to the stock market that has not been felt before for a long time. And yet at that there has been no advance in quotations. As a matter of fact, there has been a shading off in some, and among them such a standard commodity as Ewa stock. "If you'll tell me the reason, you'll be a wonder," said one stock broker; 'I don't know."

"A while ago the reason why there were no larger transactions in stocks," said a banker, "was alleged to be that the banks were not lending money. Now that they are lending money the transactions still do not multiply." The following are the Stock Exchange transactions of the week:

Mixed Marriage Again

Apparently attracted by the recent discussion of the question of mixed marriage in our columns, a representative of the Hochi Shimbun seems to have interviewed Prof. Baelz on the subject and as a result that journal has published the views of the learned Doctor, a translation of which we give below.

The professor is made to begin by remarking that twenty years ago be was opposed to mixed marriage, but that since then he has become a convert. Proeeding, he is made to say: "Today my wife is a Japanese and at this very moment she is passing a happy life in Germany. During my long residence in Japan I have had opportunities to examine Eurasian children and I have reasons to strongly oppose the view that they are subject to physical and mental defects. It goes without saying that there is a difference between the case of a foreign woman marrying a Japanese man and that of a Japanese woman marrying a foreigner. For there is happiness for one to rise to a higher plane from a lower level, while the reverse will produce a reverse result. Some people say that a Japanese woman married to a foreigner and taken abroad will suffer from homesickness. But take my wife, for example. She may have felt lonesome and missed warmth of feeling for some little time after her arrival in Europe when her surroundings were strange to her. But as she became accustomed to the environment this has changed and she is now enjoying her life with full measure of happiness. The Japan Times contends that the mixed marriage is an unqualified impossibility (or infeasibility). I regret this for the sake of the Japanese; because what will be thought in America when the public there learns of such contention by a journal which is looked upon as a semi-official organ? It is giving Americans an opportunity to cry 'There, the Japanese will never assimilate with the Americans; it proves that there can be no racial union between Japan and America!' Everybody has a right to think as he pleases; but it cannot be regarded as over-wise to venture an argument that only adds

With all respect to the eminent Doctor we (the Japan Times) regret to see that he has failed to grasp our position, supposing he is correctly reported by the Hochi. He speaks, for instance, of the "unqualified impossibility" of mixed marriage as being a part of our contention. But such a statement could not fame, greatness, love are my vassals, proceed from our pen, as indeed we have said nothing like or even near it in our articles; for the simple reason that, parties willing, nothing on the earth will prevent a foreigner and a Japanese from getting married with each other. With us it is all a question of how such a marriage will result. In all serioustry to kill your troubles with wine ness it is very agreeable to learn that the Doctor finds his union with one of and sin: rise and follow me, I am cur race such a happy success. Nor do we doubt that there are other foreigners who are sharing the similar blessing as Dr. Baelz. Indeed we have reasons to henor, women and pleasure. He will believe that those who have taken part in the present discussion in support of conquer every foe save death. Rise, mixed marriage are persons who speak from their personal experience and in that respect we will have to doff our hat and bow to them. For all that we cannot wholly dispel the doubt that theirs will be the experience of most of others who will venture on a mixed marriage. We doubt if the average and thought alone makes every man Westerner can think and feel about things Japanese as the advocates of mixed marriage who, if we are not mistaken, are all men who have spent a good part of their life in Japan. While things go on smoothly all will be well. It is only when differences arise that international wedlock will become more unbearable than a co-national marriage. The unpleasantness then will not stop at being a The similarity between these is too marked to be merely accidental, or any. matter merely between the husband and wife, but will develop into international thing else than conscious assimilation. Dr. Baelz seems to fear that our distrust in mixed marriage will produce a bad impression in America. But what will be the result of one unhappy mar-"Watch your opportunity." But Ingalls did more than Gigliotti, who got his riage between a Japanese and an American? We have seen that in spite of extremely cordial relations now existing between England and France, a suggestion of alliance has been disapproved by thinking men on both sides. Those and rememberable. The lines have inspired many and given courage to not a who can appreciate that delicate difference between an entente cordiale and an alliance, will also see that there need be no hurry in preaching mixed marriage.

A FAIR EXCHANGE. Large sums of money are no doubt realized from simple speculation, but the great fortunes are derived from legitimate and hone-t business-where the goods furnished are worth the price they bring. Certain famous business men have accumulated their millions wholly in this way. The five plantations which have increased their dividends are: Onomes, from 11/2 to 2 per cent a month, commencing July 5, and continuing till further notice; Honomu, from 11/2 to 2 per cent., commencing July 5, and continuing the remainder of the year; Pepeekeo, from 1 per cent. a month to 2 per cent. a month, commencing July 15, and to be continued for the remainder of the year; Haiku, from 1 per cent, a month to 11/2 per cent, beginning July 1; Paia, from 1 per cent. a month to 11/2 per cent., payable July 1; Pioneer Mill, from 1 per cent, a month to 2 per cent, a month, beginning July 1, Koloa, one of the oldest plantations in the Islands, but which has not paid dividends for some time, has declared a 5 per cent. dividend, payable June 30. Koloa has for some time been rehabilitating itself, increasing its nereage of land and its water supply, as well as greatly improving its mechanical facilities, and is now in much better physical condition than it has probably ever been before.

An addition to the stock list of the local exchange is the Hutchinson plantation, which has long been listed on the Coast. The stock, which pays 5 per cent, now in dividends, is quoted at $18,50.

One of the features of the week has been the large transactions in Olan bonds. These to the amount of $35,000 changed hands Friday at $92, an advance of a dollar over the last sale. These bonds came from the Coast, where they had been held, and there now remains only one block of these bonds held on the Coast, it is stated on the highest authority. The purchase here of these bonds shows both the fact that there is money here to take them up at ruling prices and that there is confidence in the property they represent.

Outside of stock market transactions and conditions, the visit and the strenuous touring of Secretary of the Interior Garfield is the matter of most absorbing interest. The tour of Hawaii and Mani was made practically according to schedule in the early part of the week and the last days of the week before, and the tour of Kauai yesterday. Between the tours, Secretary Garfield conferred with the officers of the Planters' Association at much length, and with the representatives of other interests, and besides this spent the better part of a day at Pearl Harbor. The Secretary leaves tomorrow morning by the cruiser St. Louis, expecting to arrive in San Francisco July 5.

Articles of incorporation of the East Mani Irrigation Company were filed with the Treasurer during the week. This is not a new enterprise in the sense of a proposal to undertake something that has not been done before. It is a new corporation, formed to purchase and own the water rights, rights-of-way, irrigating ditches and flumes, now owned by Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company, Haiku Sugar Company, Paia Plantation Company, and of the Maui Agricultural Company, where those are different from those of Haiku and Paia. By this arrangement the entire water supply and irrigation systems of these organizations are consolidated into one ownership. It is in line with the tendency existing on the mainland to separate the ownership of the water from the ownership of the land subservient to it. The capital stock of the new corporation is $10,000, with the privilege of increasing it very materially if such increase is needed. The ownership of the stock is in the same hands as the ownership of the water and irrigating rights were,

The Commercial Club's "booster" dinner on Thursday evening was an effort to get business men together for the good of the whole community. There were some interesting speeches made, and the affair was a success.

The annual reports of the various Territorial departments are due for transmission to the Secretary of the Interior June 30, and departmental officers are pushing forward the work on these,

THE KALAUPAPA LIGHT.

Work on the lighthouse at Kalaupapa is proceeding. So also is the work Daughter's home, home to the heart of her father, home to his care and at Pearl Harbor. The eight mortars for the Diamond Head battery are now protection and anxious love. Oh, if he could only stand between her and all all on the site, but there yet remains some heavy pieces of the emplacement to come here before the guns can be installed.

COLONIAL PROMOTION. The Marama, from the colonies, brought letters from a number of the Australian colonies in re the matter of the furtherance of a combined effort to advance the tourist business of the Islands of the Pacific. It now looks as though something in this line might yet be accomplished. GLANDERS IN CALIFORNIA.

Because of the prevalence of glanders in California, the Board of Agriculture and Forestry has decided that all horse stock coming from the Coast shall undergo a twenty-one day quarantine after arriving here.

The first pineapples fumigated before shipment under the new regulation permitting fumigation here, were found, on arrival at San Francisco, not to have been perfectly fumigated, and the entomological division of the Board of Agriculture and Forestry has issued a circular giving explicit instructions and arging thorough fumigation.

PLANTATION BOND ISSUE.

A deed to secure a refunding issue of a million-dollar issue of bonds, made by the Honolulu Plantation in favor of the Mercantile Trust Company of San Francisco has been filed with the Territorial Registrar of Conveyances. This deed covers the existing outstanding bonded indebtedness of the plantation, which had originally issued $1,250,000, due in five annual payments of $250,000 each, the first one on February 1 last. This payment was met and the deed now filed deals with the remaining $1,000,000. Under the new agreement the repayment of this amount for the redemption of the bonds will be at the rate of $104,000 a year, the first payment to be made on February 1, 1910. The interest on the bonds remains the same, 6 per cent.

Society, in looking forward to the coming of the Atlantic fleet, has overlooked the fact that three representatives of the Navy have been with us, the battleships Maine and Alabama and the cruiser St. Louis, the latter still in the harbor. WHY AUTOS INJURE PEOPLE AND THINGS.

If you want to find the cause of antomobile accidents just take hold of the steering-wheel of a buzz cart and go one block through the business section of our city. The first thing that you will notice will be a fellow darting across the street in front of the machine. You slap on the brakes and drag about $4 worth of rubber off your rear wheels. Does he not turn and thank you? He does not, but he says a few things that tarnish your lamps. A laundry wagon or a milk cart shoots across the street from an alley, the horses on a gallop, without the driver looking to the right or left.

Then there is the fellow who is always looking at the high buildings and always chooses the middle of the street. You blow your horn and he hands you a bunch of talk that curls up the leaves on the trees for scaring

The little boys who play ball in the street and the two ladies who hold a pink tea conversation in the middle of the street are the hardest objects to dodge.

The messenger boys on bicycles who try to nick the front wheels; the chickens that iusist on parading the streets, and the dogs that have a desire to bite off the valve caps help some.

Not one driver out of fifty is careless, and that one usually smears his last breath on a telephone pole. It is usually the carelessness of people who forget that they own a pair of optics apiece that makes the trouble.

The Aloha Athletic Club, of which Harry Klemme is the president, has practically arranged its card for July 3 and 4. The entertainment promises to be of a very high order and as popular prices will prevail, a crowded houses should witness the boxing on both nights. The Aloha Athletic Club has been formed to promote clean sport and to foster the manly art among the natives, in the hope of eventually producing a champion from among their ranks. The bouts will be held in the large lot on the Ewa side of Richard street near Queen street. A 22-foot ring has been constructed and 750 chairs installed. The comfort and convenience of the public will be attended to in every particular,

The arena is a spacious one, being roomy and well lighted. It is the intention of the club to give a program of boxing and wrestling every night when the fleet is in port and to have monthly entertainments from now on. On Friday and Saturday nights next there will be houts of four, six and ten-rounds' duration.

On Friday evening the four-round go will be between Joe Vierra and Kid Borges.

The six-round argument on the opening night will probably be furnished by Oakley and Richardson, both of Fort Shafter.

The main event on Friday will be a ten-round go between Soldier Platt and Kahaulello (The Wild Swan). The card on Saturday will be ushered in with a four-round go between Jos

I didn't know any too much then. In those days a married woman couldn't make a valid contract. Her wages, if she had any, belonged to her husband. It sometimes happened then, as it happens now, that in the doctrine of chances the gray mare was the better horse of the two. A woman found herself married to a worthless bushand. Children came and she had to support them, sometimes with her needle, sometimes with the wash tub. "Though that woman couldn't make a contract, though she couldn't be held in law for a cent, she could always get credit everywhere on her simple word, and her worthless husband couldn't get himself trusted for a quid of tobacco. MADAME ARRAL

Will Return Here Next Year to Spend Some Weeks on a Vacation.

Madame Arral, the world-famous prima donna, is enchanted with Honolulu and has expressed an intention of returning to the islands next summer to spend some time here. This announcement and the accompanying praise of the natural beauties of Honolulu were made yesterday afternoon to a representative of the Advertiser, to whom the French singer talked about herself and her plans, the interview taking place in her music-room. Evidences of travel were everywhere, curios from China and Java, Samoa and the Fiji Islands, and on the table a huge press-book from Australia containing a faithful account of Madame's tour in that country.

A petite woman, vivacious, like all Frenchwomen, black hair and eyes, with a peculiar habit of tilting her head on one side like a bird when interested, Madame Arral in her prettilyaccented English gave an interesting account of her life and travels.

"You know, Monsieur, I believe that artistes must be born, like poets. When I am very, very little, I have my little theater of paper with a little piano and all the fittings of a theater. My brother made it for me and I was always much more interested in that than in my dolls. I used them only for the audience. I have sung all my life. As a child too young to study, I would imitate my brothers and sisters, who were taking their music lessons, for the benefit of my doll audience and in my little theater. As I had sixteen brothers and sisters you can see I had many to copy.

"Allors, when I have six years I can play the piano and went with my sister to the conservatoire at Liege, although too young to be admitted to a class. I gained the first prize for singing and piano when I have ten years. The next five years I study, study, nothing but study, six, seven, ten ours a day until I finish my course at the Conservatoire, Paris, where I presence en scene and acting.

"When I make my debut as Mignon I have still my dresses short and my bonne always treat me like a child. I remember one time I receive a big doll of chocolate dressed like Mignon and as large as myself. Three years I sing at Opera Nationale and then at nearly every theater in Paris for two years more, creating many roles. See, I have the original scores here," and Madame showed three trunks filled with music, many of them showing her name in

"PLAYING THE CURED PATIENT."

Good looking young women have found in Paris a new calling, "playing the cured patient." Visitors who find time hanging hearily on their hands in a doctor's waiting room are drawn into conversation. The good looking young woman, who is evidently in the pink of health, tells the visitor how ill she was. Neuritis, rheumatism, gout, dyspepsia and vertigo were combined in her case with appendicitis and hallucination. Several physicians treated her expensively and left her worse. She went in despair to the present doctor, who cured her in three weeks. She has come today merely Peleg.-Drivin' thet new mare o' mine an' everlastingly lookin' behind to thank him. The "cured patient" charges $5 a day, but doctors find that the money is not thrown away.

A GIGANTIC WATER SYSTEM

New York Constructing One of Enormous Cost and Proportions.

(Advertiser Correspondence, Copyright by Frederic J. Haskin.)

Just now there is being conducted in New York State a gigantic engineering enterprise that is second in magnitude only to the building of the Panama Canal. It is the construction of the Catskill Water Supply which was begun a year ago in answer to New York city's cry for a solution of its big water problem, and in response to a call for 4,300,000 gallons of fresh water daily in addition to its present supply.

The work involved is so enormous as to be almost incomprehensible to the lay mind. Hundreds of miles of topographic surveys had to be made. Innumerable holes were drilled into the earth or the solid rock to determine the best and most economical locaand aqueducts. Samples of soil, sand, gravel and stone, as well as of rock from core borings, were obtained for study and analysis. All this detail involved the best efforts of eminent engineers, geologists, chemists, specialists in aeration, filtration, and reservoir making, and of experts in the mechanical work of reconstructing rallways and highways.

Villages, churches, schools, hotels, homes, railways and highways will be moved from the pathway of this giant project as the judgment of the engineers decrees, and since a land option ring has thriftily acquired the rights to most of the property subject to condemnation proceedings, the amount to be paid out of the city treasury for land damages and water rights alone will approximate $70,000,000, the total claims filed already aggregating between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000.

When completed New York's water system will be the greatest ever undertaken by any city in the world. The gathering ground for the water is 130 miles from the City Hall and 150 from the lower end of Staten Island. Four creeks, Esopus, Rondout, Schoharle and Catskill, have been levied upon as the main sources of supply. The total area of the watersheds will be over 900 square miles, and their combined resources when fully developed, will exceed 800,000,000 gallons dally. The water is to come from three great reservoirs in the Catskills, being carried in aqueducts that will dive under of each pressure tunnel and rising again will be 5,260,000, and its water con- close of a dry season, the supply the Hudson at Storm King to a depth of 700 feet or more, and come up on the other side. "In the year 1830 or thereabouts a strange thing happened in the Sandwich Islands; it was evangelized alneest in a day, and that one act of evangelization has made me a slow knocker on booze. Everybody, even the youngest kidlet now in school, knows that the Sandwich Islanders were ignorant savages and the rankest kind of idolaters. They worshipped the great shark god as the incarnation of the evil principle, because they were not like all of us fellows, good themselves. Even in this day of our boasted civilization and no free pass railroads, some men have a better idea of the devil than of God. Savages have no conception of a good god, but they worship the devil in the form of some object that is an enemy to them. Some African tribes worship poisonous snakes and serpents, necause they dread their terrible fangs more than anything they know. The Sandwich Islanders incarnated the devil in a shark because it was their most destructive enemy. This worship was not such as the Speaker of the House and our present day Christians offer to their God; it was a propitation-to keep their fractious god in as good humor as possible and make him be ready and reasonably easy with them. In their hearts they hated him. They acted just as many of our people do-two-faced. While they offered oblations with their voices and hands they had a dagger up their sleeves. They simply waited a good chance to give him the double cross. "There is no variation from the rule

JUDGE PARSONS OF HILO ON NATURALIZATION

JESTILODINY E

By inadvertence Judge Parsons' name was omitted from the list of the celebration, Kakaako, on Sunday afterspeakers who welcomed Secretary Gar- noon at 2 o'clock. Following is the field and his escort to Hilo. Judge program: Parsons spoke on the subject of naturalization. Among other things he said: 'Thus far, on this island, the franchise has often been unwisely exercised. Campaign arguments against inefficiency have found little sympathy in a portion of the electorate, and it is doubtful if well substantiated charges of malfeasance in office would arouse a sentiment sufficiently widespread to assure the defeat for reelection of the official against whom the charges were

"It is not unreasonable to believe that the Grand Jury has been a strong deterrent force. Removed from politics and selected as it is from the most intelligent of our citizens, it has an influence upon local affairs out of all proportion to its powers.

"The outlook is hopeful. The Hawaiian leaders have shown a quick apprestanding of their duties and a willingness to perform them even when such performance has involved unpopularestraint and devotion to principle civilization. Much is to be hoped from their inuffence, from education, and much also is to be hoped from the naturalization of allens.
