J. T. WATERHOUSE

There is always an opportunity to pick up bargains in a Department Store like ours because there are so many odds and ends that have to be got rid of in order to make room for new goods. We are constantly bringing out into the sunlight pieces that attract the eye of the buyer. Sometimes there are pieces that do not meet ready purchasers. Those are the things which have to be cut in two in price.

Our stock of Haviland ware has been culled over so often that it does not present as handsome appearance now as it will when the new goods arrive. Plenty of the old stock left for those who want odd bits at a quarter off regular prices. The patterns are right if the prices are what you need to fill up your set or to use in serving a course dinner.

Asparagus Dishes, Mustard Caps, Toast Racks, After Dinner Coffees, Mush Sets and Plates. White Haviland best quality cheaper than you ever saw it. Our patterns are all "stock." We sell you a single piece or a full set.

JAS. CAMPBELL ROBBED

THE MILLIONAIRE'S FIGHT FOR FREEDOM.

Shot At, Beaten, Robbed, Bound, Gagged and a Captive in Mrs. Dunton's Cottage.

On the afternoon of Monday, August 2d, James Campbell, the well-known capitalist of this city, left his wife at the Occidental Hotel, promising to return soon. He was in the company of a stranger who was known by sight to some of the hotel employees. Tickets had already been secured for the passage of the couple to Honolulu by the steamer which sailed Tuesday morning. Campbell did not return, and his wife had the tickets canceled and called in a private detective.

At 9 o'clock Wednesday night Campbell returned to the Occidental, apparently exhausted and slightly scratched about the face. Captain Lees was promptly summoned, and after a brief conference he and Campbell went in a hack to the cottage, 4109 California street, near Third avenue, where Campbell said he had been held a prisoner for more than forty-eight hours by two men who had robbed him of $305 in coin and tried to coerce him into signing an order of some kind calling for the payment of $20,000. The leader of the affair, he said, was Oliver W. Winthrop and the other man he stated was masked during part of the two days and nights of his captivity. According to Campbell's story a shot was fired at him by the masked man during the struggle which opened his strange experience. On Wednesday evening he says he was released by the second man and escorted by him to the Geary street cars, Winthrop having already flown. Winthrop was tried last year for the murder by poison of Mrs. Jennie Mathews in Laurel Hill Cemetery, of which he was assistant superintendent, and was acquitted.

It appears that Winthrop picked up an acquaintance with Campbell at the Hotel Vandome, San Jose, where Campbell had been to place his daughters at school. He returned to San Francisco on Monday and after luncheon was joined by Winthrop in the office of the Occidental hotel. Winthrop persuaded him to go and see his sick wife and try and induce her to go to Honolulu on the same steamer. They boarded a streetcar on Sacramento street, and Campbell became somewhat uneasy at the distance he was taken and made some remark to Winthrop about it.

Winthrop replied that his house was only a few blocks further. They alighted from the car at Third avenue and walked to California street. Winthrop led the way to the cottage at 4109 California street and the two entered the front room. Winthrop opened a commonplace conversation.

Suddenly, Campbell says, a masked man rushed into the room and pointing a revolver at Campbell's head ordered him to throw up his hands. Campbell says he leaped at his assailant and felled him to the floor.

The man was dazed, almost stunned, but leveling his revolver again at Campbell fired. The millionaire says the bullet grazed his temple and passed through his hat into the wall. Campbell sprang at the man again, but before he could reach him he was knocked down by Winthrop, who struck him over the head with some heavy instrument.

The two men then pounced on Campbell and bound, handcuffed and gagged him. They lifted him from the floor to a bed and strapped him to it. His feet and hands were tied to the four corners of

NEW NAME AND NEW TICKET.

INDIANAPOLIS, August 7. — The provisional national committee of the gold Democrats met in this city today. As a result of that conference the new party which will be organized will be known as the National Democratic party. Its organizers call those supporting the Chicago platform and ticket the Populist—Democratic party. The national convention of the National Democratic party will be held at Indianapolis the first week in September.

There was entire unanimity in the conference on the selection of the name of the National Democratic party. The provisional national committee also decided to call a convention and nominate another national ticket. Some of the Eastern and Southern members opposed a third ticket at first, but when they were told in the Middle States party fealty was so regarded that many Democrats would not vote unless there was a third ticket, then all objections from the East and South were withdrawn and the decision to hold a convention was unanimous.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH

PROCEEDINGS AT THE POSTPONED MEETING YESTERDAY.

Mormon Elders Allowed to Visit the Leper Settlement—Vaccination in the Public Schools.

At the postponed meeting of the Board of Health yesterday afternoon, the weekly report of Dr. Monsarrat under the Act to Mitigate was read and approved.

Dr. Emerson called attention to certain cattle he had seen in Manoa valley whose appearance suggested tuberculosis. Dr. Monsarrat said he had noticed the same thing and was satisfied the disease existed. He had sent for a supply of tuberculin and would make the necessary tests on its arrival.

Inspector Keliipio reported the receipt and examination of 41,750 fish at the market for the week.

Dr. Sloggett was granted a license to practice medicine, having passed the necessary examinations.

Superintendent Meyer of the Leper Settlement was authorized to make a slight increase in the pay of certain of his employees engaged in the distribution of supplies, and Elders Fisher and Jenkins of the Mormon church were granted permission to visit the settlement.

Dr. Alvarez presented a report of his experiments with vaccine virus, and Dr. Monsarrat offered the suggestion that after a calf has produced virus it should be slaughtered to determine whether it was healthy or not.

Insurance to the amount of $5000 on the store and stock of merchandise at Kalaupapa was ordered renewed.

Eleven persons were ordered discharged from the Insane Asylum upon certificates from Dr. Herbert.

Report from Mrs. Macfarlane, treasurer of the Kapiolani Maternity Home, was read and approved. The pro rata of the appropriation due the Home was ordered paid.

President Smith reported that suit had been brought against him by Mrs. Mary E. Foster for damages accruing from closing a ditch running through her Nuuanu street property.

The vaccination question coming up again it was ordered that a notice relating to the gratuitous vaccination of adults be published and that a lady physician at a limited salary be employed to examine the girls in the public schools.

CHINESE GIRL IN TROUBLE

JAILED FOR NO OFFENSE SHE ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

Alleged False Swearing of Her Lover the Cause of Her Predicament—Benevolent Ladies.

A half-Chinese girl, who came here on the last trip of the Mariposa and was arrested yesterday and held at the police station while her case was being investigated, attempted to commit suicide in her cell by choking herself with a silk handkerchief. She was discovered by the night clerk, who cut the handkerchief with a knife and sent for Dr. Emerson, who succeeded in bringing the girl round in a short time.

A warrant was issued this morning for the arrest of Ah Chu, an actor who came down by the Mariposa, on the charge of perjury. He swore that Miss Tie was his wife. The lady admits that, while she was not married to him, she had taken a fancy to him in the Chinese theater at San Francisco. When they arrived here Ah Chu stated to the Customs officials that they had been married eleven months, that he was 36 years old and she 20. Also, that they were married by a Chinese preacher in San Francisco.

The facts according to Miss Tie's statement are that she was brought down to the steamer at San Francisco by a white lady, and put in charge of the steward to bring her to Honolulu. She did not have anything to do with Ah Chu until her arrival here.

Bonds under the six months' residence permit system were given by Ah Chu, who had obtained a permit for himself through the Chinese Consulate at San Francisco. The woman had no permit but was possessed of the necessary fifty dollars to allow her to land.

Ng Chan of the Tong On Jan Co., who are agents of the Chinese theater, gave a bond to produce Miss Tie whenever she might be wanted. Yesterday they surrendered their bond, saying they would not be responsible for the woman any longer, but would deliver her up to the Customs authorities. These in turn notified the Marshal, who took her in charge, but the Customs officials had no idea of her being arrested.

Miss Tie was, however, placed in a cell in the station by a policeman, and it was terror at her situation that drove the harassed woman into the attempt to commit suicide. She was notified this morning by Deputy Collector McStocker that she need not be alarmed, as no harm would be done to her. Several white ladies have taken her case in hand and will do what they can to make her comfortable. She will not be sent away for some time. When she is deported, arrangements have been made so that she will not be sent back to China.

Miss Tie is a handsome-looking woman and dresses in European style.

The Three Georges.

In its "news in a nutshell," the Star Linotype produces the following, to get at the kernel of which a nutcracker might be needed: "George Ross says that when he be-George Harris will make the trip George Harrie will make the trip around Oahu on the Kaena once a week. Both young men report a fine time." They couldn't do otherwise.

Seattle is fast becoming a great city. One thing which makes it famous is Seattle beer, which you find at the Criterion. A good thing always makes its mark. This is one of the best things on earth.

DECLINE OF CHURCH-GOING.

Observations on the Subject by an English Parson.

By request the following is reprinted in the BULLETIN from the pages of Public Opinion:

Writing to the editor of the St. James's Gazette, the Rev. H. C. Shuttleworth says: "Will you admit a word on this matter from a parson? I think the decline of church-going among us is an obvious and unquestionable fact; and I am inclined to ascribe it, among other minor causes, to two main reasons: (1) The general change of views in regard to Sunday observance; (2) the difference observable in the modern parson as compared with the cleric of an older type. As to (1), I do not at all regret the decay of the Sabbatarian idea of Sunday—an idea which finds no support in the New Testament nor in the writings and practice of the first Christians, or of the general body of the Church, or of the English and German Reformers. The true idea of Sunday is that it is at once a day of rest and a day of worship; and by a very natural reaction the former aspect is now being asserted to the prejudice of the latter, as in the past the latter was maintained without proportionate regard to the former. The pendulum will probably swing back again in due course; let us hope, not too far this time. But public worship—the recognition of the solidarity of mankind in God, as distinct from the individual acknowledgment of Him in private prayer—will always be a necessity to believers, and cannot be neglected, from the Christian point of view, without personal and social loss. In regard to (2), I do not share the opinion of your evening contemporary the Westminster, that the modern parson is not loved. He is very far from being either personally or officially unpopular. But he does not read. Too often he does not think. The laity do both. Naturally they do not care to listen to a preacher who does neither. If the clergy of the last century neglected their parishes for their books, those of our time, speaking generally, neglect their books for their parishes, and spend their time in what they call active parochial work, which is commonly mere parish fuss. No sensible layman nowadays expects that his parish priest shall be a great scholar. But he does expect, and rightly, that he shall be a cultured man—at the very least, to the same extent as the people to whom he has to speak. Where the parson is so, he will seldom, if ever, lack a congregation. Where he is not so, let him try a little regular reading and thinking as a remedy for the decline of church-going."

Pabst Is Its Name.

Climate of every variety exerts a different influence on the desires of mankind for a stimulant. In colder zones beverages of great alcoholic strength are used to a very much larger degree than in the tropics. Beer is best suited to our climate and none found in the market is better than that bearing the brand of "PABST, MILWAUKEE." It is brewed from the best of malt and hops and is a great thirst quencher and invigorator and stimulates the nerves and muscles. At the Royal, Cosmopolitan and Pacific saloons it may be found, cold and pure. Interchangeable checks are issued which may be used at any of the three resorts.

IMPROVING TRADE.

There is a remarkably cheerful tone pervading the financial article of the Foreign and Colonial Importer and British Trade Review, London, of latest date to hand. It represents trade as continuing to expand and the demand for money to increase. The improvement in trade is chiefly due to the great prosperity of the East and also of the Continent. India is having more new railways built than at any one time previously. In this connection the article says, "How inadequate has been the railway mileage in India in the past may be gathered from the fact that the United States, with a population only about one-fourth of that of India, has a railway mileage approximately four times as great." With the expansion of trade there is also noted cheapness of money, for which some of the causes are given. For instance, eleven and a half million dollars of the Government's floating debt was paid the other day, setting in circulation that large amount from the custody of the Bank of England. There was a tightness for a week, when money had to be borrowed from the same bank at two per cent, owing to monthly settlements for June and the issue of a large number of new companies. Dividends paid on the funds early in July, however, eased the money market. As an indication that money is expected to remain abnormally cheap for a long time to come, the Review mentions the placing of a million of treasury bills by the Government, in renewal of a similar amount falling due, at twelve months at a rate of about 1 1/2 per cent. That is to say, buyers of bills are willing to place money for a whole year at under three-quarters per cent. The expansion in trade and the cheapness of money in the world's chief market give promise of better times universally, modified by local conditions in different countries. Hawaii, also, ought not to have long to wait for the success of its refunding scheme.

RELIGION IN JAPAN.

One of That Nationality Disputes Certain Statements.

In re the editorial entitled "Japan War and Religion" in the Advertiser of yesterday morning, the BULLETIN has received a communication from one of the most influential Japanese business men of Honolulu, in which he denies all of the statements made in the morning paper. In Japan, he says, in substance, the percentage of the inhabitants who have embraced Christianity is so very small as to be insignificant. "No one, practically, of the more intelligent class," says he, "have in any way thrown aside the tenets of Buddhism. The recruits are from among the lowest orders; the coolie element." These men he asserts, pretend to embrace the more modern religion from purely mercenary motives. They are no more Christians at heart than before they heard of the Christ.

The one reason, he maintains, why Christianity is not well received in Dai Nippon, is because of the vast number of profligates who use that religion as a cloak to conceal their present and to excuse their past misdeeds. There can be no question of reformation amongst this class. They do not and never did desire to reform. By a pretense of conversion from the older faiths an opportunity is given them to secure an English education for a merely nominal sum. Monetary advantages are arrived at and in various ways the hypocritical convert obtains what he sought when he claimed or confessed conversion.

The gentleman is a man of undoubted business and social integrity, and is in direct touch with members of the Imperial Japanese ministry. Having given the matter much study and having a very extensive knowledge of his own country his statements are without doubt based upon fact. The correspondent speaks further of the misleading reports sent to the Home Board by missionaries, deploring such action and at the same time expresses a deep sympathy for the wearisome efforts made by them and which have proven fruitless. Commercial interests and a desire to advance in various ways, caused by the knowledge gained from the foreign mercantile class, are the causes of Japan's forward movement. Religion, he says, has had nothing whatever to do with it.

MILLIONS AT AUCTION.

Sale of Northern Pacific Property at Seattle.

A dispatch of August 3 from Seattle reports one of the series of sales at auction, in different places, of the property of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. The sales are preliminary to the reorganization of the corporation into the Northern Pacific Railway Company. Thus far all the sales have been confirmed by the Federal Court.

The report states that Special Master Carey, who conducted the sale, said that he would first offer for sale any tract of land on which any bidder wished to bid separately. It required some nerve to volunteer to bid against the great corporation whose representative was avowedly present to bid in the property, but a man was there with the requisite courage, if not cash, and he came forward promptly with the request that a half section of track about two miles from Issaquah be put up separately. He gave his name as Fred Rice Rowell, who offered $1000.

"Fifteen hundred," came in a quiet voice, and all eyes were turned to a man in plain surtout and brown derby, whom many for the first time identified as President Winter. The bids went by swift leaps till Rowell, nerved apparently for a last desperate effort, said "Eleven thousand."

"Fifteen thousand," said Mr. Winter as quietly as bidding for forfeits at a pawn party. The leap was too great for Rowell. He collapsed, and was heard from no more. The total amount bid for all the lands in this district was $1,710,000.

When you are down on your luck and feel as if the world was cold, hard and dreary, just step into the Criterion saloon and put a rose-colored tint on everything by imbibing a glass of Seattle beer.

Timely Topics

"YOUR HOUSE IS ON FIRE."

This may be the warning cry to you some night. Whether it refers to your store, factory, mill, office, or residence, it means that all of your valuable account books, securities, deeds, insurance policies, notes, receipts, mortgages, etc., will be destroyed if not protected by a fire-proof safe. Can you afford to run this hazardous risk? The loss of an insurance policy alone in nine cases out of ten would cause you endless trouble and expense in going to law to secure a settlement, and then your chances of coming to a satisfactory adjustment with the insurance company would indeed be very slim. It is a duty that you owe to your business, to your family and to yourself to protect these things against both fire and thieves. That old tin box or drawer in which you have been in the habit of keeping your papers, would be of no service whatever in case of fire.

A VICTOR safe will last you a life-time, and it is the best investment that any business man can make. You make no mistake in buying a Victor. Out of forty thousand safes manufactured and shipped by this company, upwards of four hundred have already gone through very severe fires and not one has ever yet failed to preserve its contents when put to a test.

We have thousands of testimonials from prominent people as to the merits of these VICTOR safes. We offer a recent one as a sample

Greenville, N. C., Feb. 26th, 1896.

The Victor Safe and Lock Co., Cin., O.

GENTLEMEN:—I am pleased to say the Victor safe you sold me some five or six years ago, preserved intact all of its contents in the late fire in Greenville, on the 16th inst. The safe stood at a point in my office in the Opera House Block, that must have been one of the hottest parts in the great conflagration. It contained papers and other things of value. When it was taken out of the ruins and opened some twelve hours after the fire, everything in it was found to be safely preserved and in good condition. I cheerfully make this statement of facts in recognition of the valuable service rendered me by your safe, and you are at liberty to make such use of it as you may see proper.

Yours truly, THOS. J. JARVIS.

Thos. J. Jarvis was Governor of North Carolina for six consecutive years; was U. S. Minister to Brazil for four years and served one year as U. S. Senator from North Carolina after the death of Senator Vance.

We have these safes on hand in four sizes which we retail at $50, $75, $112.50 and $137.50. The Victor Safe Company also make a specialty of vaults and doors, for which we will quote prices.

The piano polish prepared by Merten & Co. is something new. It is the best and cheapest yet. We have it in 8 oz. bottles at 25 cents.

Every effort is being made by us to keep this work at home, and if a strict adherence to San Francisco prices, combined with good clean work is any inducement to place orders here, we will get all your work from now on.

Bear in mind that we are not trying to meet the cut rates of Eastern Department stores for inferior work; but are doing good work, using the very best of material, and adhering closely to ruling rates in San Francisco.

Nor is the work confined to Cards alone, but Wedding and Society Stationery, Business Cards, Announcements, Bill Heads for Professional men, Embossing, and the general run of work coming under that head, have the same careful attention.

W.W. DIMOND'S

We've said something, once or twice, about the beauties of the dining table when properly dressed with appropriate china and glassware. Everything depends upon the quality and artistic design.

You have had China news galore now for glassware. You've lived half your life with the impression that cut glass is too high priced an article for you to possess. You are wrong. We are selling to-day genuine cut glass salt cellars, individual, in different designs, for two bits each; they've sold in other stores in Honolulu as high as $2. It's the way we buy. We have, also, sets consisting of a tray, one pepper and one salt, silver tops $2. You never heard of them being sold anywhere for less than $10. You never saw them before in Honolulu. Our stock goes from these small pieces to the heavier and larger dishes which sell at $150.

In cheap tumblers we offer a thoroughly finished article at 50 cents a dozen and in case you might wish to use them for preserve glasses, we throw in a tin top for each. We have an engraved decanter, holds a quart, 35 cents, a pressed glass pickle or olive dish for 10 cents, a berry set, 7 pieces, 75 cents.

The average man does not know how much glass is used in the household. We do, and we have 150 patterns of glasses to select from. In lamp chimneys we have all sorts. No. 1 A, three for a quarter; No. 2 A, ten cents each.

JAS. CAMPBELL ROBBED.

the bed and a chain was passed over his body and fastened to staples driven in the floor. Captain Lees, in his investigation afterwards, found the evidence of this. Cords were passed around Campbell's body and drawn so tight that he could not move.

For twelve hours Campbell was kept in this position, the gag being in his mouth all the time. On Tuesday morning the gag was removed, with the caution that he would be killed if he made any noise. He was told that he would have to sign a check or order for $20,000 before he would be released. He was shown a document, which they asked him to sign, and he was also ordered to write a note to his wife asking her to cash the check and to give the money to the bearer without asking any questions.

Campbell says he refused to even read the paper, telling his captors that he did not care what they did to him. He said he was an old man and did not have a great while to live anyway, and that they could kill him before he would submit to such an outrage. He did not care much for $20,000, he said, but he would not be blackmailed or robbed. His captors replied that they would keep him strapped to the bed as he was until he did sign the paper.

Tuesday passed with no change in the situation. Either Winthrop or the young masked man guarded Campbell constantly. They offered him drink and food, and announced their willingness to give him anything he wanted, but he refused everything for fear that they intended to poison him. He was given every attention, but was kept strapped to the bed all the time, and no opportunity for escape was allowed.

When Campbell was first seized and thrown on the bed Winthrop took $305 in coin from his pockets and kept it. The younger man, as far as Campbell knows, did not get any of this money.

Wednesday night about 8 o'clock, after turning out the gas and darkening the house the younger man unbound Campbell and went out of the house with him by the back way to California street. He took off his mask but pulled his collar about his face. As it was dark Campbell could not see his features.

The man walked with Campbell several blocks along Third avenue almost to the Geary-street car line. When a car came in sight the man handed Campbell a nickel and told him he was free. Campbell lost no time in getting to his hotel.

Campbell was taken before the grand jury on the following Friday and told his story of the affair. That body promptly indicted Winthrop and "John Doe," the identity of the second man being unknown. Winthrop was seen on Monday night and again on Wednesday. On the last occasion he had shaved off his moustache. Although every detective in the city has been looking for the two men they had not been found when the steamer left.

IWAKAMI,
Hotel Street, Robinson Block

The cabman crouched low. A gust of wind set the fir trees whispering, and a shutter slammed far away in the house. "Guess I'll get out of this," he muttered, rising. But he did not go, for the figure that stood in the candlelight had turned its back to the window and was digging among the bricks, ripping and scratching like a leopard, while his long shadow clawed on the ceiling above him.

"Thief!" said the cabman, between his teeth, pressing his ear to the broken panes. "There is treasure hidden there—perhaps gold, perhaps—" Just then the man inside gave a joyful grunt.

He lifted an iron box from the hole he had been digging. There was no key in the lock, but at his touch the cover flew open, and out poured the contents—blue, green and gold, like a glittering rush of water broken beneath the sun.

The cabby's heart stopped beating. "Diamonds!" he cried softly. Then he grasped at the window ledge, for the creature gave a howl of anguish.

"Good God, they give no light!" And the echoes chattered back, "No light! No light!"

There was a long silence. The huddle on the floor rocked to and fro, his face buried in his thin hands.

The moon had sunk and the sky was clear as dark glass. A cock crowed somewhere in the east. At that sound the wretched figure raised its head. Opposite him was a door with a fan-shaped transom over it, and as he looked it grew gray and then rose. Some one was coming; now even the cabman could hear the light creak of steps. Nearer they came, nearer. The door opened, and a little figure peeped into the room—the little figure of a woman, shriveled and very old.

The man by the fireplace sprang up. As the woman's eyes met that ghastly face she gave a cry. "Judas!" she screamed, "Judas!" Then she tottered and slid in a heap at his feet. He kicked at her, but she only lay there, gibbering: "What do you want? What do you want?"

At last he answered her. "It was black; it choked me—it was so dark—oh, so dark! I have come back for the light they promised me. They said I should find it here; that without it my soul will be blind—blind! Do you hear me? Help me find it! As you were my wife, help me find it!"

The woman crawled to her knees, her eyes raised to his, and the terrified cabman, watching through the window, saw that the kerchief folded across her bosom was bright as if a lamp glowed behind it.

The other man saw it, too, and his white claws shot out, burying themselves in her breast. When he had finished, he held in his stained and dripping hands the woman's heart. It quivered, like the bruised human thing it was, but the light shining from it never wavered, lighting the hollow of the man's hand and the hollow of the great room, his face and his loose, white lips smiling widely, and the pit of his throat, that was black as the gate of hell; lighting, too, the tumbled, trampled body and the star dust of spilled diamonds.

He paused an instant, he whose name was that of the dead, then he turned and bounded toward the window. There was a smash of glass, and the cabman felt those smeared fingers at his own neck.

"Now take me back where I came from. Be quick, or else—" He did not finish his threat.

The cabby gave a sick gulp, as if his throat were full of paste; then he was dragged over the ground and flung into the seat of his cab. The creature sprang after him, grinding him against the dashboard with its bony knees, where the poor cabby clung, frantic with terror, as they fled, pounded, flew down the road.

When the cabman opened his eyes again, there was a great burst of sunshine. Above his head shone the heavens, deep as the core of a sapphire, and far away he could see the blue haze of the city streaked with gray plumes of smoke. In the grass lay his shattered cab, and high over his head, its pearly summit seeming plunged in the eternal azure, rose a marble shaft. On it were carved these words: "To Judas Withers. Erected by his loving wife."

The letters were of gold, but the morning sun had touched them into words of fire.—Julie Closson Kenly in San Francisco Argonaut.

PURIFINE

Is the disinfectant that the world is talking about. In the United States its merits are becoming known. The people are using it. Purifine possesses many points in its favor over other preparations. It is odorless, and in employing it as a disinfecting agent, does not create another odor as offensive as that which it subdues. Non-poisonous too. That's an advantage—children will meddle; servants misunderstand; then there's trouble. Some one is poisoned.

Those who use it speak its praise in convincing language. Here's one from the Department of Medicine in the University of Michigan.

"We use Purifine and find it very good for deodorizing sinks and boxes, etc., and for washing sponges used about subjects for dissection. W. A. CAMPBELL, Demonstrator of Anatomy."

There seems to be some blight affecting the bloom of the beautiful Punciana Regia this season, for of all the trees in the city but few have blossoms enough to attract attention. The one on Hotel street next to the Arlington is a notable exception, and in consequence is a source of wonder and delight to visitors who have never before seen this tree in bloom. King Bros. have made several excellent sketches in oil and water colors of this subject, which are meeting with ready sale.

LATEST FOREIGN NEWS.

Two German officers drilling Chinese soldiers at Shanghai fought a duel with swords, and having slightly wounded each other made up over a round of drinks.

DECISIVE DEFEAT OF MATABELE.

CAPE TOWN, August 7.—Details have been received here of a decisive victory won on Wednesday by 700 British troops composing Colonel Plummer's column over a native force estimated at 5000 to 7000. The latter fought desperately and bravely charged within a few yards of the British rapid-fire guns. About 500 Matabele warriors were slain during the engagement, which lasted for several hours.

The loss of the British includes Major Kershaw, Lieutenant Harvey, four sergeants and about thirty soldiers killed, and six officers, several non-commissioned officers and about fifty men wounded.

The Matabele and their allies were commanded by Big Chiefs Sokombeo and Umlugulu, and were divided into five impi or regiments, each of over 1000 men, well supplied with arms and ammunition.

The guns and war rockets played upon the natives as long as they were within range, but the main loss of the enemy was inflicted while they were bravely charging, almost up to the muzzles of the British pieces. The bravery of the natives earned the admiration of the British, but their shooting was of the worst possible description.

During the first rush upon the Beresford kopje, Captain Llewellyn personally saved the Maxim gun by some smart saber and revolver work. At one time he was completely alone, the natives having driven back the gunners and being almost in possession of the pieces. The Captain's determined stand, however, enabled the British to regain the gun, and he was helped out of his difficulties.

The defeat of the natives will undoubtedly have considerable effect, as the impi defeated are among the best trained of the rebel forces. It is believed, however, that a further advance of the British forces must be made and another defeat inflicted upon the natives before terms of peace will be considered by either side. A number of friendly natives, serving with the British, deserted to the enemy during the night. The engagement lasted about six hours.

General Carrington is understood to be preparing to drive the enemy eastward toward the upper part of the country, where another fight may occur before the backbone of the uprising is finally broken.
