

PEERS WOULD AMEND HOME RULE BILL

House of Lords Passes to Second Reading Measure Intended to Give Opposing Counties in Ireland Opportunity to Remain Out of New Government for Period of Six Years.

LONDON, July 7.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—By a vote of 273 to 10 the house of lords yesterday passed through second reading the bill to amend the Irish Home Rule Bill. The measure is a compromise on the measure which recently passed the house of commons for the third time. It indicates that the government intends to be more liberal with the Unionists, or Ulsterites, than was at first inferred by the opponents of home rule.

Poll Can Be Demanded.
This refers to a provision of the first clause which says that if within three months after the date of the passing of the act a petition is presented to the lord lieutenant from any county in Ulster demanding a poll with reference to the question of temporary exclusion from operation of the act and the lord lieutenant is satisfied that the petition is signed by not less than one-tenth of the parliamentary electors in that county he shall cause a poll to be taken. The question is to be submitted to the electors in the following form: "Are you in favor of exclusion from the operation of the Government of Ireland Act, 1914, for a period of six years?"

While Mr. Lloyd George was declaring that this week's bill in the House of Lords would embody the Prime Minister's standing offer of county option to Ulster, Sir Edward Carson, in Lancashire, was saying that if it did he would once more describe it as an hypocritical sham and his party would prevent its becoming law.

Let It Be Vetted.
"In the near future, therefore," says the Daily Chronicle, "the government will be confronted with the alternative of either widening county option or letting it be vetoed by the House of Lords. The government's right course then will be to let it be vetoed."

"The fact is," continues the Chronicle, "that scarcely anybody in Ireland wants exclusion. The Carsonites never wanted it except as a cry through which they could defeat Home Rule. Ever since it was definitely offered them in conjunction with the certainty of Home Rule for the rest of Ireland, their one care has been to find excuses for not accepting it. For these reasons we shall shed no tears when the House of Lords tumbles the possibilities of exclusion to the ground. The country will then take note that exclusion has been fairly offered and its rejection is due to those who pretend to want it."

Hopeless Impasse.
Sir Henry Lucy, a prominent Liberal of long parliamentary experience, whose relations with the ministers is often intimate, writing in the Observer, says the Irish question has drifted into what looks like a hopeless impasse. Ulster still insists upon the absolute and final exclusion of the province from the bill. This, Mr. Asquith cannot and will not grant. A remarkable Nationalist volunteer organization which exists prevents it, he says. Moreover, Sir Henry says a considerable influential section of the ministerialists in the commons would turn and rend the government if they thus mutilated the fundamental principle of home rule, namely, the ultimate unity of Ireland under a parliament in Dublin.

MEXICANS POLL LIGHT VOTE AT ELECTION

NATION REFUSES TO AID SALEM SUFFERERS

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—The house of representatives today refused to make the appropriation of $200,000 recommended by President Wilson for the relief of the Salem, Massachusetts, fire sufferers. The reason given for this action was that the state was simply able to care for the victims of the Salem disaster.

FOUR ROYAL COLONELS.

LONDON, June 22.—Four royal ladies have become colonels in the British army. These appointments, the first of the kind ever made, were announced last night as the novel feature of the King's birthday honors. Queen Mary becomes colonel-in-chief of the Eighteenth Hussars; Queen Alexandra is made colonel-in-chief of both cavalry and infantry, her regiments being the Nineteenth Hussars and the Yorkshire Regiment. The Princess Royal is appointed to the Seventh Dragoon Guards, and Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll, to the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders.

PRESIDENT WOULD FREE FILIPINOS

Wilson and House Leaders Agree on Plan to Give Independence to Brown Brothers.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—President Wilson and the leaders of the house of representatives have agreed upon a measure that will substantially give self-government to the Philippine Islands. It is believed to be along the lines of the Jones Bill.

According to the proposed measure the Philippine commission would be abolished, while an elective senate would be created, with the right of management of foreign affairs reserved to the United States.

There is considerable speculation in official circles as to the exact time at which independence will be granted to the possessions farthest south, as no time is set in the contemplated bill.

PREDICTS FAILURE OF NEGOTIATIONS

London Daily Graphic Thinks President Wilson Is Unreasonable.

LONDON, June 22.—Failure of the Niagara Falls peace conference is predicted in the London Daily Graphic in an editorial today, which says the A. B. C. mediators' efforts "must fail if President Wilson persists in the extraordinary demand he put forward on Friday, which today we are told is his ultimatum."

"The scheme of Mexican pacification, so laboriously drafted by the mediators, and accepted by General Huerta, must appeal to every reasonable being by its scrupulous fairness, as well as by its political sagacity, but President Wilson has resolved to reject it in favor of his demand that Huerta shall yield unconditionally to a rebel President."

"This demand is not only unfair, but it is also exceedingly unwise. General Huerta also seems, throughout, to have pursued a most conciliatory course and can scarcely be expected to adhere to it, seeing that he is well able to defend himself, and that he must now carry with him the sympathy of the whole Latin-American world."

"That being so, war will continue and the United States must inevitably be drawn into it, however much President Wilson may hope to continue his policy of watchful waiting."

MILWAUKEE REPORTED TOWING SUBMARINES

Two of the four submarines of the F-group which are to be stationed permanently at Honolulu will arrive here in tow of the cruiser Milwaukee, according to the Tacoma Ledger. The Milwaukee sailed from Seattle July 2 with the Oregon and Washington naval militia on board, and was expected to reach this port by July 10, but if the vessel is towing two submarines she probably will not arrive until two or three days later. The article in the Ledger, published June 24, says:

According to advices received here yesterday, the Milwaukee, on the cruise to Honolulu, will probably tow two submarines of the F-group on the 2000-mile voyage. Towing bridges are now being manufactured at the Mare Island navy yard to be used in taking the submarines across the Pacific. They will be taken two at a time by the Milwaukee, and it is expected they will be ready by the time for the cruise to begin.

In 1895 at the age of twenty-two she caused something of a social stir by announcing her independence and breaking away from family ties. ## JOHNSON OPPOSES PARDON FOR RUEF

Governor of California Thinks Committed Grifter Should Not Be Extended Special Clemency.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Abe Ruef, it is believed, will serve at least half of his sentence of ten years at San Quentin prison. Governor Hiram Johnson, in an authorized interview, published here this morning, goes on record as being strongly opposed to the pardoning of the one-time political leader who was convicted of bribing supervisors of San Francisco in relation to the granting of electric franchises and other municipal privileges following the fire and earthquake at San Francisco.

Ruef has made repeated efforts to be released on parole. At the last meeting of the prison commissioners his application was one of nearly one hundred that were refused consideration. Ruef was not given the privilege of appearing before the board to present argument in support of his plea for clemency. This plea was published without consent of the warden, and for this breach of the rules Ruef has since been denied his former prison privileges.

Despite the refusal of the board to grant Ruef a hearing, a movement was under way to have the action reconsidered. Governor Johnson, who aided in the prosecution and conviction of Ruef, in his statement today says:

"I do not believe that Ruef should be paroled at this time. I shall insist that he be treated the same as an ordinary prisoner."

WOMAN IS SEEKING PERMIT TO OPERATE PUBLIC AUTOMOBILE

Honolulu is to have a woman chauffeur. Beside the fact that the officer to whom the woman made application for a permit to drive a rent machine felt at the time as if some one had hit him in his wind, the great problem has been what to call the feminine driver—a chauffeur, chauffeurette, chauffeuse or chauffeuse.

Mrs. Daniel McGregor on Friday of last week applied to Hack Inspector George H. Holt for a license to drive a rent automobile. She is the first woman to make such an application here, and this fact bothered Holt to such an extent that he immediately took counsel with Sheriff Charles H. Rose, the latter consulting all the law books in his office and having half a mind to pass the buck up to the city attorney's department.

As far as Rose can figure it out there seems no law against a woman driving an automobile for hire, "since this is the age of the 'New Woman,'" said the sheriff yesterday.

"This is the first time I have had it brought to my knowledge that a woman is an applicant for such a license in Honolulu," said Sheriff Rose. "While the application is unique, there seems to me no reason why Mrs. McGregor should not be given the permit she seeks, provided she can qualify otherwise."

DIAMOND MERCHANTS FACE CHARGES OF SMUGGLING

NEW YORK, July 7.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Herman Dietz, a diamond merchant, together with his son, were indicted here yesterday by the United States grand jury on eleven counts as participants in an alleged conspiracy to smuggle diamonds into the United States. It is estimated that a half million dollars' worth of diamonds were smuggled from Canada into the United States during the years 1911 and 1912 as a result of the conspiracy.

ALLEGED ROBBER TO BE GIVEN HEARING

John Carr, who is charged with robbery, will appear in the police court this morning for arraignment. He is alleged to have stolen eleven dollars from Joe Rosa, a friend who made the rounds of the town with him last Saturday night.

Carr was arrested shortly after he is alleged to have hit Rosa on the head with a stone. When Rosa came to his senses he wended his way to the police station and told his story.

Carr, who is a member of Company G, Second Infantry, according to the police, is detained at the police headquarters, as no bail has been forthcoming.

HINDUS LOSE FIGHT TO SECURE LANDING IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

VICTORIA, British Columbia, July 7.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—The court of appeal handed down a decision yesterday dismissing the appeal filed by a large number of Hindus, ruling them as aliens and upholding the validity of the stop taken by the British Columbia immigration officials in refusing them permission to land. The Hindus are under guard aboard the steamer Koga-mata Maru, anchored in the stream near here.

MOHENO IS SUCCEEDED BY MINISTER ALCOGER

CITY OF MEXICO, July 7.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Ignacio Alcofer, minister of the interior, was today appointed by President Huerta as minister of commerce and industry to succeed Querado Moheno. Alcofer will carry both portfolios. Moheno's resignation followed the publication of charges that he had granted valuable concessions to American interests. He denied these charges, giving poor health as the reason for his withdrawal from Huerta's cabinet.

AUTOMOBILE COLLIDES WITH A MOTORCYCLE

Henry de la Nux was taken to the Queen's Hospital yesterday afternoon, suffering from a sprained foot and painful bruises on his right leg. The injuries were sustained when an automobile, driven by C. H. Ursell, collided with the motorcycle that De la Nux was riding. The motorcycleist was thrown to the ground.

Ursell was coming down Kamehameha street when the automobile approached, coming along King street. The auto struck the motorcycle as it turned into King street. Motorcycle Officer W. K. Chilton is investigating the affair, and Ursell will be called upon to explain tomorrow.

ACCUSATIONS ADMITTED BY MIEHLSTEIN

Building and Plumbing Inspector Offers Unique Defense to Charges of Alleged Graft Preferred by Pacheco; Supervisors Ponder, Then Defer Action for Twenty-Four Hours.

Without any attempt at evasion, Building and Plumbing Inspector Miehlestein, with one exception, last night boldly admitted all of the charges of alleged graft which Supervisor Pacheco has brought against him. There was a large crowd present at the meeting of the supervisors, for it was anticipated by many that Miehlestein would attempt to evade the accusation that he has used a public office for private gain. In this, however, they were disappointed, for Miehlestein's building and plumbing inspector not only admitted that he secured all the fees and side profits within his reach, that he superintended and passed on work done by his relatives, but that he was justified in doing so because the city that employs him has no right to regulate his private business affairs.

Supervisors Surprised.
Apparently even the supervisors were surprised at this line of defense, for they took no action and deferred a decision until this evening. At that time it will be definitely decided whether the alleged offenses of the building and plumbing inspector are to be condoned or whether the office he holds, the affairs of which have been so much before the public of late, shall be swept clean.

Even Supervisor Pacheco last night would not venture an opinion as to what the final outcome shall be.

Ah Leong Star Witness.
Ah Leong was the star witness at the meeting.

Ah Leong told of all the transactions he had with the building and plumbing inspector. He stated that in October or November last year he was told by the board of health officials that he must put his meat market in a sanitary condition.

Ah Leong spoke to his regular plumber, M. Santos, and the latter said that he best scheme would be to have plans drawn up by some one. Miehlestein's name was suggested as the best man for the job.

"I saw Mr. Miehlestein," said Ah Leong, "and asked him to come and speak with C. Q. Hop, the treasurer of the market company. Miehlestein and I saw C. Q. Hop. Miehlestein agreed to do the work of drawing up the plans for a charge of four and one-half per cent of the cost of the job."

"Later on we all went to Judge Humphreys' office, and the four and one-half per cent rate was then agreed to. Still later, Miehlestein was asked to take hold of the supervision of the work, and he said he would do so for an extra three per cent charge. That made seven and one-half per cent for the whole business. That was satisfactory to me and also C. Q. Hop."

Miehlestein After More Money.
"Some time later, Miehlestein said that he wanted two dollars a day more. I said we could not pay it, and Miehlestein replied that no work would be done on the job. Miehlestein said: 'I want the two dollars for seeing people and ordering the material. If you don't pay me I'll do nothing.'"

Continuing, Ah Leong stated that his company would not pay the extra money as it was thought to be too much. "Time after time, Ah Leong told the same story and was again rebuffed by Miehlestein, stuck to the same tale. Ah Leong was the only witness called, but an affidavit signed by W. H. Stewart, one-time manager of the Honolulu Electric Company, was placed in evidence. It stated that Miehlestein had bought fans from the concern and had asked for a commission which was refused. Peters objected to the affidavit going in as evidence.

Miehlestein's Explanation.
Miehlestein, after the prosecution had closed its case, spoke in his own behalf. He admitted the charges made by Ah Leong except as to the two-dollar per day charge. He declared that Ah Leong wanted him to keep the time of the workmen on the job, look after the material needed and keep books. He stated that he told Ah Leong that he would do so for two dollars a day.

Miehlestein also stated that all he had received from the Chinese for seven months' work was one hundred dollars. He declared that, instead of the two dollars a day, the lump sum of seventy-five dollars was offered him over and above the seven and one-half per cent.

Supervisor Walter wanted to know if Miehlestein was paid seven and one-half per cent for the supervision of the plumbing work at the market, and for which duty of supervision Miehlestein was paid by the county. Miehlestein denied that he received or was to receive any commission on the plumbing work.

"That came within my jurisdiction as plumbing inspector for the county and I did not ask for it," he said.

Walter asked the inspector if he had (Continued on Page Three)

SWIMMERS OF HAWAII ARE DEFEATED ON COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—(Associated Press by Federal Wire)—Hawaii went down to defeat before the crack athletes of the mainland in the swimming races at Suto Baths yesterday. Illinois carried off first honors. Coast and American records went glimmering and a new pace was set for the Honolulu swimmers. One of the largest crowds seen at Suto Baths in a long time witnessed the exciting event, every event of which was marked by a grueling struggle for first honors.
 One of the big surprises of the day was the defeat of Duke Kahanaokoku by V. Rietzel in the fifty-yard event, Kahanaokoku coming second by a scant few inches, Bob Small, Kahanaokoku's former conqueror and keen rival, finishing third, just a few inches behind the doctory champion from the Islands. It was a great race, the three swimmers racing nearly shoulder to shoulder throughout the course. Kahanaokoku and Small bumped during the race and this probably had some effect on the final result. The course was covered in twenty-four and one-fifth seconds.

The only first honors for Hawaii were taken by Lane in the juvenile race over the fifty-yard course, "Sunby" Kruger was second, Malcolm of the Olympics finishing third. Twelve young swimmers entered in this event, which was closely contested.

Hawaii Well Represented.
 Hawaii was well represented at the meeting. A number of those who were here to take part in the ground-breaking exercises for Hawaii's building at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, joined with the Coast sojourners from the Islands in cheering for the plucky swimmers from the mid-Pacific metropolis. They proved good roosters, too, the close and exciting finishes of every event in which the island boys took part affording ample opportunity for the cheering which marked each race.

Kahanaokoku did not make as good a showing as had been expected. His friends and supporters claim that he was not in condition to enter the events, having been exhausted as a result of the qualification races held Saturday.

New Record for 440 Yards.
 Langer, the long distance man, swam a remarkable race in the 440 yards, and he was paced for most of the way by Heber. The latter covered three hundred yards in very fast time, with Langer right on his heels. Wilhelm of Honolulu stuck to his men well, and for a time appeared to have a good chance. However, at the half-way mark Heber, Langer and P. McGilivray pulled away from the Honolulu representative, and a ding-dong race ensued to the 400-yard post. There Langer drew away and sprinted for the line, which he crossed thirty feet ahead of McGilivray. The time was five minutes twenty-two and one-fifth seconds, which is a world's tank record for the distance.

In the half-mile Langer again showed his quality, and he won easily from P. McGilivray. Wilhelm was third, a long way behind, and Duke Kahanaokoku did not start in the race. Malcolm of the Olympics took the novice race, over fifty yards, from a field of ten. A. Cuhua swam into second place and gave the winner a hard tussle for the honors. The whole ten swimmers were fairly close together at the finish.

Breast Stroke Record.
 The 200 yards breast stroke race, brought out six competitors, and they swam well together for one hundred yards. Then McDermott, who is a very powerful swimmer, forged ahead and crossed the line ahead of Sudman, and won in the record time of 2 minutes 49.4-5 seconds. McGilivray was third.

"REDS" TO BURY DEAD COMRADE

New York Anarchists Prepare for Funeral of Bombmaker Who Was Killed.

NEW YORK, July 6.—(Associated Press by Federal Wire)—Evidence was discovered yesterday which shows that Arthur Cohen used the rooms in the basement where himself and three others were killed by a bomb explosion Saturday, for preparing inflammatory literature and manufacturing explosive devices.
 Cohen was prominent in I. W. W. circles. The funeral is to be held under the auspices of militant anarchistic societies of New York.
 Doctor Robert Blue Reports New Orleans Situation as Satisfactory.

NEW ORLEANS, July 6.—(Associated Press by Federal Wire)—Unremitting war against the bubonic plague was urged by the ministers of New Orleans from their pulpits yesterday.
 Dr. Robert Blue, sent here by the federal government to direct the campaign against the disease, reported that the situation is now satisfactory to him and that precautionary measures against a spread of the malady are well in force.
 A force of professional rat catchers, now en route here from San Francisco, are expected to arrive during the middle of the week to aid in the work of exterminating the rats infesting the city.

Supporters of Republican Candidate for Delegate Will Hold Precinct Meetings.

It is confidently expected that the personnel of the Charles A. Rice Campaign Committee will be completed this week, the officers of which are: F. T. Waterhouse, chairman; Albert Horner, secretary-treasurer; and A. L. McKaye, assistant secretary. Pleasant headquarters have been opened in Room 25 of the Alexander Young Hotel, and a sign has been placed outside the headquarters fronting on Bishop street, near King, bearing the legend, "Headquarters—Charles A. Rice—for Delegate to Congress."
 Meetings of the committee are held every day at noon. Plans for the campaign, already well under way, are now perfected. Considering the extremely short time which has elapsed since Senator Rice made the official announcement of his willingness to stand as a candidate for Delegate to Congress, a surprising public sentiment in his behalf has developed.
 This evening there will be a meeting of the supporters of Charles A. Rice in the fourth precinct of the fifth district, at the corner of Wilder avenue and Punahoa street. A number of speakers will be present, and it is expected that a precinct committee will be appointed to take charge of the campaign in the fourth precinct and whom things up until the last ballot has been cast next November, as well as at the primary election on September 12 next.
 Another meeting this evening will be in the second precinct of the fourth district. This will be in the vacant store in Moiliili, near the old Moiliili church. It is believed that there will be an excellent attendance in this precinct meeting when one or more committees will probably be appointed to look after the interests of Senator Rice there. All those interested in the candidacy of Senator Rice are invited to be present.

Other meetings in other precincts will be held during the week and already so many citizens of all classes have expressed preference for Senator Rice that there appears to be no question as to the success of their meetings.

DINGLEY HAS FIGHTING CHANCE FOR RECOVERY

TACOMA, Washington, July 6.—(Associated Press by Federal Wire)—Bert Dingley of Los Angeles, who was injured when his automobile was wrecked in the Mountain Fiesta marathon here Saturday in a precarious condition. It was reported by his physicians last night that he has only a fighting chance for recovery.

Three hundred yards course, was the final event and proved a most exciting event. Four teams started. Representatives of the Illinois, Healan, Hui Nalu and Olympic clubs met, and the excitement ran high from pistol shot to pistol shot. Illinois won with Healan second, Hui Nalu third and Olympic fourth. The American record for the distance was broken, when the Illinois men finished in the remarkably fast time of 2 mins. 44.3-5 seconds.

Results in Full.

The full results of yesterday's races were as follows:
 Fifty yards—dash, final—Rietzel, first; Duke Kahanaokoku, second; Small, third. Time, 24.1-5 seconds.
 440 yards—Langer, first; P. McGilivray, second; Wilhelm, third. Time, 5 min. 22.1-5 seconds.

 Novice race—Malcolm, first; A. Cuhua, second.
 Relay race—Illinois, first; Healan, second; Hui Nalu, third; Olympic, fourth. Time, 2 min. 44.3-5 seconds.

KAHANAOKOKU WINS BOTH RACES

Broke Last Year's A. A. U. Record in Two Twenty and Defeated Man Who Made It—In Hundred Yards Came Within One-Fifth Second of His World's Record—Cuhua Third in the Hundred.

(Associated Press by Federal Wire.)
 SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—(Special to The Advertiser)—Before the eyes of thousands of people, as many as could conveniently pack the Suto Baths, Duke Kahanaokoku yesterday again made good his title as the premier swimmer of the nation in the fifty-yard of the final held at the great swimming meet under the auspices of the American Amateur Union.
 The lanky, bronze-hued Hawaiian buman fish was at his best, and in the two races he entered there was at no time any question but that he was the best swimmer of the day. Although pressed by competitors almost his equal, Kahanaokoku was at no time in danger of defeat. His victories were cheered to the echo by hundreds of Hawaiians and friends of Hawaii, who rooted for Duke and the other Honoluluans. Thousands of others swelled the din of applause.

Won Hundred Yards.
 The first race in which Kahanaokoku competed yesterday was the 100-yard sprint, in which he finished first in fifty-four and four-fifths seconds, this being the time he has made on several occasions over this distance. He won this race yesterday without apparent effort, and had been closer pressed it is believed that he would have broken his old record. This time was just one-fifth of a second slower than the world's record.

Rathiel, of the Illinois Swimming Club of Chicago, finished second, beating out George Cuhua, of the Healan Club of Honolulu, by a very small margin. Cuhua was given third place. Before the race Cuhua was considered Kahanaokoku's most formidable rival, and Rathiel's performance in finishing second was a surprise which was not looked for or anticipated.

American Championship.
 In the 220-yard race Duke Kahanaokoku earned another notable victory, swimming away from the field and finishing first in two minutes, twenty-six and four-fifths seconds. The Healan Club of Honolulu, by a very small margin, was easily the master of the situation in this race and proved his mastery in water navigation by the ease with which he won the race.

McGilivray, of the Illinois Swimming Club of Chicago, finished second, and Ernie Smith, of the Olympic Club of New Orleans, came in third. The race at the second and third men was a pretty one, owing to the closeness of the finish. For a time it seemed as if McGilivray and Smith would finish in a dead heat.

Kahanaokoku's performance in this race was a truly marvelous one. He smashed McGilivray's A. A. U. record, which the latter made last year at Pittsburgh, of two minutes and twenty-nine seconds, by two and one-fifth seconds, and came within one and two-fifths seconds of equalling Daniels' world record, made some time ago.

Other Races Today.
 There were no other races yesterday in which Hui Nalu or Healan swimmers competed. The fifty-yard and other distance races will be held today, and followers here of water sports are looking forward to these with keen anticipation.

Dolly Mings a Winner.

In the fifty-yard women's swimming race, held yesterday, Dolly Mings of Los Angeles finished first in thirty-three and two-fifths seconds; Margaret Braek was second, and Dolly Meyers came in third. The race was very interesting and was the occasion for a great ovation as Dolly Mings crossed under the finishing wire.

HAUKU HOMESTEADERS WOULD BUILD CANNEY

The homesteaders of the Hauku district are again trying to get together on the matter of a cooperative cannery—or, to be more correct, are endeavoring to find means of financing such a plant, for there is not much difference of opinion at present upon the desirability of some such plan, says the Maui News.

The meeting, which was to have been held last Saturday evening, was postponed on account of rain to Friday evening of this week. At this meeting it was expected that a new form of constitution would be adopted and various changes made in the bylaws.

Curtiss Pilots Transatlantic Flyer With One Motor, Carrying 1500 Pounds

HAMMONDSPORE, New York, July 6.—(Associated Press by Federal Wire)—With Glenn Curtiss as pilot, the Rodman-Wanamaker transatlantic aeroplane, made another successful flight at this place yesterday. With only one motor in operation, the big air rose easily, carrying a weight of fifteen hundred pounds. After keeping his machine at an altitude of several hundred feet for a considerable period Curtiss, who is a master of the machine the building of which he has directed, glided gracefully to earth.

M'CARN DEFENDS HIMSELF AT HOME

Federal District Attorney Confronts His Argument in Nashville Newspaper.

Resuming the argument of his case through the press of his home city, United States District Attorney M'Carn of Honolulu, in a long article published in the Nashville Banner of Nashville, Tennessee, of June 17, declares that he has been completely vindicated of the charges made against him by "petty criminals" and the "large interests that feel they would rest better if I were not in this Territory." His letter and the full text of the decision of the supreme court in the proceeding in which he was charged with malpractice and unprofessional conduct are printed in full in the Banner, under the heading "Jeff M'Carn Justified." His letter follows:

Honolulu, T. H., June 2, 1914.
 The Nashville Banner, Nashville, Tennessee—Gentlemen: I noticed a reference in a recent issue of your paper to an effort that had been made here to have me disbarred, and in view of the fact that your information was obtained from one of the unfriendly papers here, I was done an injustice by the publication. One would infer from the newspaper report that while the attorney general of this Territory had dismissed the charges that had been made against me as unfounded, yet his opinion did not entirely clear me of at least negligence in the matter.

"I know that you are disposed to treat me with the utmost fairness, and to give me a little more than my share of your space in order to protect me from the assaults that are being made upon me here. I, therefore, ask that you immediately publish the opinion of the Supreme Court of this Territory in this case. The truth is I have been assaulted from every angle—not only from the petty criminals but by the large interests that feel they would rest better if I were not in this territory. Their assaults, however, have been made upon me indirectly, but none the less forcefully. A former Judge of the Supreme Court has been for weeks maintained in Washington for the purpose of procuring my removal. He has not yet succeeded. Disbarment proceedings were brought against me two or three months ago by a disreputable friend of the criminal element. The attorney general of this territory is somewhat under the influence of my political enemies and while he dismissed the charges, his report to the Supreme Court was couched in such language as I considered offensive. While he found me not guilty of any willful or malicious misconduct, he faulted me by his opinion that I should have been more careful. I thereupon moved the Supreme Court to strike his report from the files and make a thorough and complete investigation of all the facts to ascertain whether or not I had been guilty of either improper conduct or negligent conduct. The Supreme Court examined the entire record and while refusing to strike his report from the files, because they held that would leave the record incomplete, a reading of the opinion of that court will show that I was not only vindicated but my course approved by the Supreme Court.

"This is only one of the many assaults that have been made upon me, and I hope to be able to get through all of them with equal success. The opinion of the Supreme Court which I would ask you to publish is herewith enclosed. Thanking you for your courtesy in this matter, I am, respectfully,
 "JEFF M'CARN."

CHECK PASSER CAUGHT BY SHERIFF CROWELL

Sheriff Crowell, who went to Hawaii in search of Fred L. Smith, after failing to locate him in Honolulu, wirelessly on Wednesday that his mission had been successful. Smith, as he gave his name at the First National Bank, where he passed a bogus check for $25, is the man who also posed as "Senator Warren's son" at Lahaina, in an effort to get another check cashed. Smith is wanted by the Honolulu Police and the Kona county of the Big Island. He is expected back with him today.
 It has been learned that under another name Smith worked for a time for the Lord Young Company in Honolulu. It is believed that he is a professional crook and has been hiding in the Islands.

The bank was largely interested in running Smith down, and was prepared to have continued the search on the mainland had it been necessary.

2500 WITNESS RACES AT KAHULUI

Twenty-eighth Annual Fourth of July Celebration and Race Meet on Valley Island Proves Success—Close Finishes Mark Trotting Event—Oahu and Other Islands Well Represented.

(Special to The Advertiser.)
 WAIALUKU, Maui, July 6.—(Associated Press by Federal Wire)—The annual Fourth of July celebration and race meet of the Maui Tackling Association held Saturday at Kahului, Kahului, was the best in the last two years, though the attendance was not as large as in former years. Nevertheless, about 2500 enthusiasts yelled themselves hoarse at the race meet. The merit of the meet came in a fast track—the dust being laid by an early morning rain—a splendid card of two harness and six running events and the many shaking and driving finishes. It is estimated that at least 200 visitors from Oahu and other outside islands were present.

Principal interest centered about the free-for-all trot and pace in which the old rivals, McPherson's Denervo and Hollinger's Welcome Boy, hooked up. Race followers sat without equivocation that the first heat of this event was the best heat ever paced on the course.

The two wheelers raced twice around the track like a team, hah to hah, Denervo moving his nose under the wire in the lead by less than a length. The mile was rolled off in the remarkably fast time of 2:12.3-5, which established a new track record, the former mark being 2:15, also held by Denervo.

The second heat Carey again sent Denervo out in front but Gibson drove hard in the luck stretch and made up the distance. Again they hooked up like a team and daylight could not be seen between the two horses until Gibson sent Welcome Boy under the wire a length to the goal in a terrific drive down the stretch.

Welcome Boy's Game Finish.
 In the third Denervo was out again in front and took the pole from Welcome Boy at the first turn. Welcome Boy, however, showed plenty of heart, closing up the gap and hanging on to the lead until the first lap in front of the grandstand. Carey was whipping hard and the fast pace threw Welcome Boy off his feet, but Gibson steadied him with about six lengths showing before the back stretch was entered. Here came the brilliant drive of the day when Gibson urged Welcome Boy and wheeled past Denervo on the far stretch turn. This terrific drive fired Denervo's Welcome Boy, who under the wire traveling easily, Carey pulled by Denervo and wheeled at the wire.

In the fourth heat Gibson sent Welcome Boy out to win and the big gelding responded with a wonderful exhibition of staying qualities. Denervo hung on until the seven-eighths and then quit, Carey pulling up at the stable and Welcome Boy finishing second. It is estimated that $5000 changed hands as the result of the wagering on this event.

 Both Maui Boy and El Oro also carried heavy loads of money in the 2:15 class pace and trot. This also was a sensational event. Maui was naturally the favorite, but the Hawaii entry had many admirers. In the first heat Patterson sent Maui out at a fast clip and took El Oro off his feet. The black horse broke his neck and was narrowly escaped being outside the dug. Maui's backers generally believed that if Patterson had driven out in the first lap that El Oro would have been shut out.
 In the second heat Maui was still unable to steady El Oro and the black horse came trailing Maui under the wire on a rim.

In the third heat Maui left his feet on the first turn and El Oro shot into the lead and was never headed. Maui broke repeatedly and Patterson was compelled to run him a full eighth to get inside the flag. In the fourth heat El Oro was as steady as a clock, Maui could not be kept on his feet and was distanced.

*****
 Umpqua Proves Surprise.
 A big upset of dope came in the free-for-all running race when L. D. Warren's Umpqua, Cal Leonard up, romped under the wire two good lengths ahead of Lacey's Harvester, the big favorite in the betting. Leonard sent Umpqua into the lead on the first turn and was never headed. This event provided the only unpleasant feature of the day. Harvester was a bad steer and the field was at the post for nearly half an hour.

GOOD SHOWING MADE BY HAMAKUPOKO SCHOOL

The first year of the Maui Central High School, located at Hamakupo, which has just ended, is generally conceded to have been most successful in every way. The attendance has been good and has been made up from pupils living all the way from Waialua to Haliu, many of whom go to and fro by train daily, says the Maui News.
 Interesting closing exercises were held on last Friday, and announcement was then made of the high average students for the different grades. These are—second year high school, Herbert Wells; first year high school, Gustave Rose; eighth grade, Irene Wells, seventh grade, Scott Nicol; sixth grade, Ruth Lindsay; fifth grade, Norman Wells.

The following were present every day for the entire school year, Dorothy Lindsay, Douglas Wells, Eliza, both Lindsay, Irene Wells, Ruth Lindsay.
 The following were absent but one day through the year: Herbert Wells, Walter Murdoch, Norman Wells, Martha Aiken.

The program, which was made up of songs, recitations and essays, was taken part in by the following pupils: Doris Hair, Irene Wells, Savannah Boyum, Olive Villiers, Rita Rosencranz, Dorothy Lindsay, Alice Walker, Herbert Wells, Sanford Walker, Richard Loggatt, Martha Aiken and Elizabeth Lindsay.

After the races the crowd thronged to the ball park and saw a fast game between the All-Stars team and the Maui All-Stars, the soldiers winning by the score of 10 to 2. Lawson was in great form and the Maunians could not solve his delivery. The game was good until the eighth, when darkness came on and the soldiers fell on the Maui pitcher with a vengeance. At night there was a largely attended dance in the armory at Waialua. Both the towns were decorated with flags and bunting and every automobile was draped in red, white and blue. The officials in charge of the races were as follows:

President—W. E. Robinson.
 Vice President—H. A. Wadsworth.
 Secretary and Treasurer—W. F. Crockett.

TUESDAY JULY 7

THE IMMEDIATE FUTURE IN MEXICO.

In sizing up the Mexican situation, the June 27th issue of The Outlook hits the nail on the head, in the following words:

In its management of the Mexican problem the administration has been dealing in theories insufficiently corrected by the facts.

The country must be prepared to do in Mexico, in perhaps a different way but in the same spirit, what it has done in Cuba and the Philippines.

We cannot see any prospect of a common understanding between the United States and those whom Huerta represents.

We cannot see any prospect of a successful government independently established and maintained by the uneducated and brutalized population which Villa represents.

In some way, and at some time, the United States must assume direct responsibility for the institution of order and liberty in Mexico.

If the task is now postponed, it will arise again, with perhaps new complexities and greater dangers.

Gregory Mason, The Outlook correspondent at Niagara, says that the Constitutionalists call the conclave that is progressing there "Mediation without Representation." The correspondent suggests that a better title is "Mediation without Information." He sees no hope of success at Niagara. "The whole atmosphere of the conference has been one of mystery, speculation and uncertainty. The news that has been coming from Niagara has been ninety per cent mere rumor."

He states that the administration knows that nothing further can be accomplished, and is now simply using "mediation as a means of gaining time while the Constitutionalists finish Huerta." This attitude is realized by the A. B. C. Delegates, who resent it, feeling that the United States government is not acting in good faith. The result is that not only is the Mexican muddle being indefinitely prolonged; but the benefit of securing the friendly feeling of the A. B. C. countries is being lost as well.

Verily the cause of peace and humanity needs a strong and consistent man endowed with a little sanctified common sense.

AFTER THE DIPLOMA.

Even at the risk of seeming to be dismally pessimistic, we feel impelled to suggest to the young man with a diploma that getting a degree and getting a job are not exactly synonymous. There are a good many young men with diplomas these days, and most of them are bound to discover this fact for themselves. They will not credit it, either, until they have. They come out of college with a feeling of self-confidence, a reverential bearing toward advice and a fine mental disdain for it, and, to go with the rest of the truth, with an abiding conviction that the world has been eagerly waiting for them. They are young, and it is natural for them to feel as they do and to act as they do. It is a part of the glorious optimism of youth, and admirable. But there are going to be some disappointments. We are sorry to have to say so, but some dreams are going to be shattered, some illusions are going to be lost, and, incidentally, some financial calculations are going to be upset. Success in getting a diploma is not the same as success in getting a salary. And it is just barely possible that the modest little runabout that was to be bought this fall may have to wait until next spring.

In the opinion of the Indianapolis News, the world is not waiting, hand on purse, to pay the college graduate what the college graduate thinks he ought to be worth. And the college graduate thinks he ought to be worth a good deal because he has been for three or four years in an environment that has fostered this idea. He has been, at the most impressionable period, most deeply impressed with the value of a college education. It is valuable, too, but the world has had a lot of college education heaped upon it in the last fifty years or so, and it is not paying remarkably high for it merely as education. It wants special and pre-eminent ability; and it is looking for it, but, somehow, perversely enough it refuses to take it for granted. Before it pays for ability it wants to be sure it is getting it. And it wants more than a diploma to satisfy it that its kind of ability is for sale.

Ideas will be readjusted, however, and before the summer is over, ideals and practise will effect the usual compromise. There will be shocks and disappointment and disillusionment, but youth will succeed in absorbing them, and clouds will pass as clouds have a custom of doing. But, in the inevitable interim of confusion, when illusions are smashing and confidence is shaking, it may be a little encouraging to remember that success depends on the man and not on the diploma. America never put more of its theory and practise of democracy into a single phrase than it crowded into the slang expression, "It's up to you." And so it is. And it is a fact, too, that there is substantial truth in the academic idealism that money, as much as it is not everything.

THE INCOME TAX LEAK.

According to Secretary McAdoo returns from the personal income tax are $23,000,000 below his estimate. He seems at a loss to account for so big a discrepancy and says that "many liable to the income tax have failed to make returns, and many have made inaccurate returns." He intimates that the treasury department will go after these delinquents.

But if McAdoo has read the voluminous regulations for collecting the income tax which the treasury department has issued he must know that not only "many" but practically all of the returns made of income in 1913 were inaccurate. Accuracy was impossible under the many conflicting interpretations of the law given out by the Internal Revenue Bureau. The muddle into which the bureau got itself interpreting the law probably discouraged most taxpayers. They knew that whatever they did they would fall foul of some regulation or interpretation, and undoubtedly many of them decided to take chances with the simplest and vaguest possible form of statement. The attempt to collect the tax for 1913 was a grotesque experiment. It was entirely the treasury's fault if the law was not taken seriously by persons liable under it.

Moreover, while the law and the regulations exhibit much ingenuity in pursuing the man with a salary or with bond coupons or other sources of revenue easily collected on at the source, they give the widest latitude to taxpayers declaring profits from business. The personal declaration for taxpayers of this class is so lacking in detail as to be little more than a rough statement of income on honor, all the debts being left to the discretion of the payer. The laxity with which the business man is treated is in striking contrast with the severity shown toward salaried workers and bond owners. Yet it is evident that the chief return from an income tax must come from the business class.

If Mr. McAdoo is curious to know where the $23,000,000 went to he needs only to read over the form of statement which he has issued for possessors of incomes between $3000 and $20,000 not taxable at the source.

THE FAILURE OF MEDIATION.

Many mainland observers see in all the changing moves on the Mexican chessboard only the ultimate stale mate, with nothing left for the United States but to upset the whole diplomatic game and march the Army to the City of Mexico, there to set up a provisional government and make the Mexicans be good. The San Francisco Argonaut is among these, in its issue of June 27, saying:

"The one fact in the situation clear to the eye of common sense is that Mexico can not now pacify herself, since the one man who might have dominated the situation has been broken by the policy of the Washington government. The men now at the front of affairs do not want peace. They are professional fighters; their propensity is for war; their interest lies in continuance of chaotic conditions. If peace is to come to Mexico before a time of universal exhaustion, it must be imposed from without—that is, by alien authority. Practically the United States is the one power competent for the work. Even the United States can not now do it by any means short of positive intervention." It would be idle now to talk about what might have been done. The practical issue relates to what may be done. If today there were judgment, resolution, and plain common sense in control of the Washington government, our forces would march from Vera Cruz and from El Paso to the City of Mexico. We should take possession of the Mexican government and give the law of peace alike to Huertistas, Carranzistas, and Villistas. We should, if there should develop a disposition anywhere to resist us, treat the resisters with a strong hand. We should pacify Mexico by the forces of moral repression, if possible, by armed power if necessary. Then we should set about the business of reorganizing the country, precisely as we did in the case of Cuba, much as England has done in the case of Egypt. This is the only practicable, the only possible course. It is not what anybody would like. Probably it is not within the competency of those who have control of affairs at Washington. But, unpleasant task as it is, difficult as it is, it is what we shall have to do in the end. It is not an agreeable reflection that we may have to wait until the present weak and whimsical regime at Washington shall be succeeded by one of more judgment and more strength; and it is not a pleasant reflection that in the interim Mexico may have to welter in the blood and chaos of savage, remorseless, and purposeless contention."

PROGRESSIVISM AND THE SUGAR INDUSTRY.

Louisiana Democrats are naturally sore at the treatment they have received at the hands of the Wilson Administration. They supported Mr. Wilson upon the belief, if not the assurance, that his election would not turn out harmful to the sugar industry of the State. They subscribed liberally to the election fund and the State was carried by a large majority to the Baltimore ticket. Then, with all the conscience-satisfying platitudes necessary, the President told the Louisianans that if they had any idea he would not insist upon free sugar he was sorry for them, sorry that they could have so misled themselves, just as he replied to the words of Harry Irwin of Hilo, who was one of the ones to whom the President in pre-election days gave the impression that he would not press legislation ruinous to the sugar industry of Hawaii.

Mr. Irwin is now one of the ones who thinks it "unpolitic" to point out the presidential mistakes of the past lest presidential irritation take the form of stubbornness and Hawaii be made to suffer further for its disinclination to kiss the rod, but the Louisianans are going after the Administration. They are going to hit back, and the question in the State now is whether to go the logical limit and turn Republican, or go half way and be Bull Moose.

Discussing this phase of the situation, the Washington Star gives some advice to Louisiana that is equally applicable to Hawaii and the desire of a local few to lead a Progressive movement. The Star says:

"Now, the Bull Moose party does not, as the Republican party does, stand distinctly for protection. It indorses protection, but subordinates the issue to the trust issue, and what Mr. Roosevelt calls 'social justice.' A Bull Moose triumph would mean protection as an incident. If the Republicans regain full control their leading purpose will be a revision of the Underwood law along confessed protection lines, and sugar, both because of the protection it needs and revenue the government needs, will be restored to the dutiable list. The Louisiana industry will again flourish."

Moreover, the next house will be either Democratic or Republican. Under no conceivable circumstances can the Bull Moosers control it. As the prospect now is, they will have fewer representatives in that house than they have in the present one. The drift throughout the country, wherever the protection issue is strong, is from the Bull Moose to the Republican party.

But, with these facts perfectly plain, these Louisiana Democrats, with protection their one object and their principal industry on the eve of destruction for want of it, are turning for assistance to a quarter where nothing is in sight. Wonderful politics! And worthy of those who helped into office the author of their woes. What would Samuel H. McEnery say if alive? He voted for the Payne law because it provided a duty on sugar.

WHAT CAN WE DO FOR THE ARMY?

Honolulu has rather a puzzling problem on its hands. Within its boundaries it has the largest number of soldiers to be found anywhere in the United States.

Honolulu is glad they are here. It wants to be friendly. It hears with a feeling bordering on dismay, that the soldiers are dissatisfied here; that they feel that the local people do not appreciate them, and that they want to get away and never come back.

What can be done about it? Honolulu has a reputation for hospitality. It has a sub-conscious feeling that this reputation is at stake, and yet it hardly knows how to meet the situation.

When the United States was represented here by a cruiser or two, before annexation, there was no difficulty in getting and keeping in close personal contact and acquaintance with the whole ship's company. Those were in the "good old days" when everybody knew everybody else by their first name and what they did for a living.

Those days are past, even for the oldtimers. The people of Honolulu, even the best informed of them, do not know by sight, ten per cent of the people whom they meet on the street, even those who are permanent residents here.

How much more difficult is it to meet and get on to terms of friendly intimacy with thousands who are sojourning but a short time; and who live, chiefly, at points well out from the center of town.

And yet—sad yet—the fact unhappily remains, that the soldiers do not feel at home; that they are restless and uncomfortable, and Honolulu is in danger of becoming a synonym, in the military dictionary, for indifference and dreary monotony.

What can be done about it? With a sincere desire to help the situation and do what can be done to make the army more comfortable, happy and contented while duty holds it in Hawaii, The Advertiser invites discussion of the subject, and suggestions both from laymen and the army—privates as well as officers.

Let us hear from you. "Out of a multitude of counsellors cometh wisdom."

Supervisor Pacheco is to be congratulated on the manly stand he took for civic decency in the Mielstein matter and for the completeness with which he has proven his charges. Whether this will mean Mielstein's summary dismissal or not is a question, as much more is required to oust an official in Honolulu than simply proving his incompetency and dishonesty. That Mielstein ought to be fired goes without saying; that he will be fired depends upon the "political influence" he and his friends have. Pacheco may feel satisfied, however, that he has done his duty.

The old soldiers are leaving Oahu so fast that the transports can not carry them. This is an Army development that is by no means to the advantage of Honolulu nor to the colonial army of Hawaii.

THE SITUATION IN IRELAND.

While there was a halt during June in the progress of the Irish Home Rule Bill toward the statute book, it made its third appearance before the house of lords on June 30 and was rejected with its usual overwhelming majority, thereby bringing the famous Parliamentary Act into play for its first truly revolutionary part in British history.

Under terms of this act Mr. Asquith, the prime minister who is father of the present Home Rule scheme, will now present the bill to the King for his signature, and with this it will become law. Unionist leaders have denounced this action as "coercing the King," but no one in Great Britain doubts that the royal assent will be given. So far as coercion is concerned, no one knows what are King George's personal views, but the Liberals profess to believe that at heart he is one of themselves.

After the bill itself the lords will be called upon to consider the Amending Act which will be introduced as a government measure. The present prospect is that the Amending Act will contain only Mr. Asquith's first olive branch of six years' exclusion from the Dublin government for these countries of Ireland which choose it by a referendum.

With Home Rule pending Ireland remains remarkably free from the fierce enmities and riotous bloodshed which have been the order of the day during former home rule crises. This tranquility is not due to the strong hand of the British government, but on the contrary to the Irish people themselves who have taken control of affairs into their own hands.

The Viceroy of Ireland, Lord Aberdeen, the Right Honorable Augustine Birrell, the literary celebrity who is chief secretary for Ireland and the Irish office in London, are mere spectators of events. While they look on seemingly helpless, the real power in Ireland is passing into the hands of two armed bodies which have no official status, and which exist in defiance of the law. These armies are the Ulster Volunteers, composed of Ulster Protestants which have been forming for more than a year and a half, and the National Volunteers who have been enlisted only a few months and who have a very strong organization in Belfast itself, and in other parts of Ulster, as well as in the Catholic counties of the south.

There has been a startling growth of the Nationalist Volunteers during the last few weeks. It is not an arm of the Nationalist political party, for its leaders are the most radical home rulers who are opposed to any scheme for the exclusion of Ulster from the projected Irish government. Instead of enmity toward the Ulster Protestants it shows a wish for an understanding with them on a platform for the control of Irish affairs by Irishmen.

If reports from Belfast are true the Nationalist members of parliament have become alarmed by the power of the army, and are trying to gain control by swamping it with enlistments from the membership of the Order of Hibernians.

While the Ulster Volunteers, with more than a year's training, form a very efficient military force estimated at 80,000 armed men, their home rule imitators are yet a comparatively crude body. The Covenanters of Ulster have modern rifles with bayonets, a fair supply of ammunition, and few galling guns; their drill and signalling methods are thorough and up to date and even the regular army admires the swiftness with which they can be mobilized as displayed when they took charge of a good part of Ulster and distributed several thousand guns from the filibustering ship "Fanny" before the government realized what was happening. The drill of the Home Rulers is yet that of amateurs by comparison, but they are working hard, with many Irishmen who have been non-commissioned officers in British regiments as their trainers. Their chief want is money, while the Covenanters have the richest province in Ireland behind them, and large subscriptions from English sympathizers.

Half the young men of Belfast are giving up their nights to drilling and Sundays to reviews and speech-making. The two factions keep strictly to their own sections but when detachments of opposing forces meet they exchange salutes with all the formalities of hostile armies during a truce.

The common saying is that only a spark is needed for a terrible explosion. The very possibilities of lighting a spark amid such a powder factory compel the leaders to sobriety and caution.

"HOME" AND "ADDRESS."

We had long wondered why Jeff McCarn gave the local press the go-by in the matter of interviews and reserved all his expressions of opinion for the Nashville publications. To us this had looked like going a long way from home for printer's ink, but a careful reading of Who's Who for 1915, just out, explains it all. Mr. McCarn's home is still in Nashville, Tennessee. Honolulu is only his address. The biography with which Mr. McCarn has supplied the publishers of Who's Who gives some other interesting items about the Nashville whose temporary address is Honolulu. We give it here in full:

OVERLOADED SHIP HELD FOR ORDERS

Transport's Life-Saving Equipment Will Not Permit of Carrying Local Passengers.

Already crowded to the limit of her life-saving equipment the United States army transport Sherman, which arrived yesterday morning from the Philippines and was scheduled to resume her voyage to San Francisco at five o'clock last evening, was held here until today to await a reply to a cablegram sent to the War Department asking instructions as to what should be done with 250 military passengers at Honolulu who were entitled to transportation to the Coast on the vessel. Quartermaster's Agent Wickersham said there would be room on the ship for the passengers from Honolulu but that regulations would not permit of carrying them.

If the Department authorizes the clearing of the steamer in violation of the Government's laws forbidding ships carrying passengers to exceed the capacity of the life-saving appliances on board the transport will leave port at ten o'clock this morning with the 250 from Honolulu in addition to more than 1100 from the Philippines, a total of about fourteen hundred passengers and besides the members of her crew.

May Mean Long Wait.

If the Washington authorities adhere to the law the officers and enlisted men from the Hawaiian Department, some of whom have waited two or three weeks to avail themselves of the privilege granted them by the government of traveling on its transports at a nominal rate of fare will be obliged to wait at least another month or purchase transportation on privately owned steamers at five or six times the cost.

Long before the hour set for the sailing of the Sherman pier No. 7 was crowded with officers and discharged soldiers who sought passage on the vessel and dray after dray, piled high with their baggage, rolled onto the deck, unloaded and went away, leaving the trunks, bundles and boxes to be hoisted aboard the ship.

When the military authorities here learned that the steamer could not accommodate more than thirty-five more persons on account of the lack of life boats and rafts an order was issued excluding the Honolulu passengers from the ship—a disappointed and disgusted lot. Most of the men bore the inconveniences of the situation in patience and good humor, but not so with some.

Express Their Disgust.

"Seems to me that after we have served Uncle Sam from three to seven years, some of the time in most disagreeable places, he might at least provide means of transporting us to our homes, which he promised to do," said one who wore a corporal's stripes. "The Washington officials can't truthfully say that present conditions are exceptional or could not be anticipated for every transport that has passed Honolulu this year bound for the mainland has been crowded like a cattle ship or a black-bird, and they know this as well as we do."

"Know it? Of course they do," interrupted another soldier. "Why, months ago, and several times since, officers have recommended that a transport be assigned to the Honolulu Sea Frontier from Honolulu to the Coast were allowed to go aboard the vessel for the night. Lieut. Col. B. Frank Chentham, department quartermaster, who sent the message, said last night that he expected the war department would permit the issuance of transportation to the Honolulu soldiers, but he did not believe a reply to his cablegram would be received until this morning."

On the voyage from Manila to Honolulu H. C. Wickersham, an employee of the insular government of the Philippines, who was returning to the Coast after a long term of service in the Islands, died on the Sherman. His body was embalmed and will be taken to San Francisco.

Still Await Reply.

As no reply to the cablegram sent to Washington had been received up to five o'clock yesterday evening the enlisted men who had applied for transportation from Honolulu to the Coast were allowed to go aboard the vessel for the night. Lieut. Col. B. Frank Chentham, department quartermaster, who sent the message, said last night that he expected the war department would permit the issuance of transportation to the Honolulu soldiers, but he did not believe a reply to his cablegram would be received until this morning.

On the voyage from Manila to Honolulu H. C. Wickersham, an employee of the insular government of the Philippines, who was returning to the Coast after a long term of service in the Islands, died on the Sherman. His body was embalmed and will be taken to San Francisco.

While the transport was en route from this port to Manila Frank Carter, an employee of the ship, fell from the spar deck to a deck below and sustained a fracture of the skull which caused his death.

When the Sherman arrives at San Francisco she will go out of commission while new and additional life-saving equipment is being installed on her. Her crew will be transferred to the Thomas, which will take her place in the transport schedule.

JAPAN THANKS CAPTAIN FOR SAVING FISHERMEN

For rescuing fourteen Japanese fishermen in four different parts of the Inland Sea during a recent typhoon Capt. Emory Rice of the Pacific Mail liner Mongolia has received the thanks of the Japanese government, according to the Manila Cable News. Arriving at the Philippine port Captain Rice said the Inland Sea was strewn with wreckage after the typhoon and the fishermen he saved were found clinging to pieces of debris and hoisted aboard.

HUERTA TO GIVE WAY FOR LASCURAIN AND WILL MOVE TO PARIS AND SAFETY

Elections Today Expected to Make Little Material Betterment in Conditions—Constitutionalists Will Recognize No Anti-Maderistas.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Unofficial advices from the City of Mexico foreshadow the early retirement of President Huerta from the internal government of Mexico and predict his removal to Paris. His going will be given a guise of dignity, however, from the fact that he will be delegated to occupy his old position, held under President Madero, of chief of staff of the Mexican army, but he will be sent to a foreign post.

Elections Today.

Today the postponed general elections for the presidency are to be held, and while the balloting will be a farce it will nevertheless open a way for the retirement of Huerta with some degree of dignity. The man slated to succeed Huerta in the presidency is Senor Pedro Lascurain, who was secretary of the cabinet under the administration of President Madero. He is said to be Huerta's choice for the position.

The other candidates to appear today for election to the presidency are thought to be General Velasquez and General Pena.

No Material Change.

Little hope is expressed here that the result of today's elections will have any material effect upon the general situation. The Constitutionalists, while radically split between Carranza, Villa and Zapata, are agreed on the overthrow of the anti-Maderistas at the City of Mexico and the elections will not hold back the advance upon the capital, soon to be resumed.

MINISTER WILLIAMS WAS TOO WILLING

Now He Must Come Home from Athens—Brigadier General Evans to Be Reprimanded.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—George Fred Williams, American minister to Greece, is to be recalled by the President because of undiplomatic actions and an unwarranted interference into international affairs outside the duties of his office. Such is the charge in the President's request to Minister Williams to forward his resignation to the state department.

Minister Williams some weeks ago offered himself as a mediator between the Greeks, Turks and Albanians, in the Albanian troubles, extending his services gratuitously and without authorization of the state department. This interference was resented by the German diplomats in the Balkans and complaint was made to Berlin, being transmitted to Washington. The state department disavowed the actions of its minister.

The American representatives at Athens, resenting the rebuke, then gave out a series of interviews in the Athenian press, criticizing the attitude taken by the Powers in the Albanian crisis, making it again necessary for the state department to explain that the utterances of Minister Williams did not represent America's official views.

The climax came yesterday when the request for Mr. Williams' resignation was cabled to Athens.

BRIGADIER THOUGHT OUT LOUD, ALSO

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Brig. Gen. Robert K. Evans is to be privately reprimanded by the President in consequence of remarks made by him in the course of a banquet speech in New York, when General Evans discussed the Mexican situation and other foreign policies of the administration, making severe criticisms of the "watchful waiting" policy and being "indiscreet" in other instances.

NEW YORK, July 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Three dead, many injured and a large tenement house rent and practically destroyed were the results of a terrific explosion in Harlem yesterday. One of the dead is Arthur Aaron, a well-known leader of the Industrial Workers of the World, and the police suspect that the bombs which killed him and wrecked the building had been taken into the building by the I. W. W. man. The upper stories of the tenement received the worst effects of the blast. There was tremendous excitement in the quarter following the explosion.

LONDON, July 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Two British championships were won by Americans yesterday in the track meet here. W. W. Oler Jr., of the New York Athletic Club, won the high jump, with a height of six feet, two and two-fifths inches to his credit. His teammate from the New York Athletic Club, Homer Baker, carried off the first honors in the half-mile run, covering the distance in one minute, fifty-four and two-fifths seconds.

ON HISTORIC TABLE IN HISTORIC SQUARE THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Standing upon the historic table upon which the Declaration of Independence was penned, President Wilson delivered the oration in the Fourth of July patriotic exercises here yesterday. The scene of the program was Independence Square. The President's address was a magnificent tribute to the memory of the patriots of Revolutionary days. He made no reference to pending political issues nor to matters of present-day foreign affairs.

COOPER DRIVES HIS STUTZ TO VICTORY

TACOMA, July 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Earl Cooper, driving a Stutz car, won the Tacoma Festa marathon yesterday on the Tacoma track, driving away from a large field in a sensational race. Bert Dingley, while taking one of the turns, met with a serious accident, his car overturning. He is seriously injured and may die.

OFFICIAL ORDER IS ISSUED TO M'GUNEGLE

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—The official order removing Colonel McGunegle from command of Schofield Barracks and of the First Infantry and ordering him to the mainland to take command of Fort McDowell was issued yesterday from the war department.

LYONS, France, July 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—Lautenschlager, the German chauffeur, driving a German entry in the international Grand Prix, the premier automobile race of Europe, came in winner yesterday, having driven his car over the course of four hundred and sixty-seven and six-tenths miles in seven hours, one minute and eighteen seconds.

HENLEY, July 5.—(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)—The Harvard eight carried the Crimson to victory over a foreign crew yesterday in the finals for the famous Grand Challenge Cup, defeating the other American eight in the finals, the Union Boat Club of Boston, by a length and a quarter. The time for Harvard was seven minutes and twenty seconds. This is the first time an American crew has secured this premier rowing trophy of England.

In the Harvard boat were L. S. Chandler, stroke; E. W. Sonney, 7; K. B. Parson, 6; C. D. Schall, 5; R. Harwood, 4; H. A. Murray, 3; W. T. Gardner, 2; Q. Reynolds, bow, and L. M. Sargent, cox.

Diamond Sculls Go Abroad. Giuseppe Sinigaglia, the crack Italian oarsman, won the famous Diamond Sculls, outrowing C. M. Stuart of Trinity Hall, Cambridge, and finishing alone. Stuart strove so hard to maintain the lead which he had gained early in the race that at the mile he became exhausted and had to be taken aboard the umpire's launch.

READY TO RUN FOR TREASURERSHIP

D. L. Conkling, Though Far Away, Will Be a Candidate at Primaries.

(From Sunday Advertiser.) Territorial Treasurer Conkling, whose resignation has been requested by Governor Pinkham, to take effect after Mr. Conkling has carried out a most important piece of financing—the placing of a million and a half dollars' worth of territorial bonds on the New York market—will be a candidate at the September primaries for the Republican nomination for city treasurer.

Mr. Conkling is now on his way to Washington and New York on his important official mission, but before sailing last week authorized The Advertiser to make public the announcement of his candidacy. He will run as a straight Republican, on the Republican platform as laid down by the conventions, and his own platform will be "Efficiency and Business."

Record a Public One.

"I do not believe that it is necessary for me to make any personal opinions regarding the work of the city treasurer," said Mr. Conkling, on the eve of sailing. "I have been in public and semi-public positions for a number of years now and the voters of Oahu know pretty well where I stand and what may be expected of me should they care to place me in the city treasurer's office. I believe that the duty of an elected official is to devote the same careful attention to his official duties as he would to his own private business. I believe he should be economical with public funds entrusted to him. I believe he should serve the public which pays him, and I cannot see where a city treasurer has any particular business to try and run his office as a sort of political headquarters. His first duty is to do his work properly and as economically and efficiently as possible."

In Hands of Friends.

Mr. Conkling will not, in all probability, take any personal part in the primary campaign. It is doubtful if he will be back in Honolulu even in time to vote. He certainly will not if staying in New York will mean any better figure for the bonds he has to sell for the Territory. Just at present he is attending strictly to the business he is being paid to do for the public and is leaving his candidacy in the hands of voters.

A Kamaaina.

The territorial treasurer has been, as he says, before the public of Honolulu for a long number of years. He came from his native State, California, when a boy. He entered the employment of the Inter-Island Steamship Company and as purser of the Mauna Loa was a familiar and popular figure along the waterfront. He left the Inter-Island to become a reporter for The Advertiser, later being engaged in the business office of the Bulletin. At that time he handled the circulation of the afternoon paper and became known to all the Honolulu newsmen of the time. These boys are now all voters, and they remember Conkling.

Appointed by Carter.

From the newspaper office he went into the government service, being chief clerk of the Territory under Governor Carter. When Governor Frear was appointed and needed a territorial treasurer, he turned to Conkling, who had made an excellent record as chief clerk. As territorial treasurer Mr. Conkling has served since his resignation being called for recently by Governor Pinkham because of political pressure brought upon him to clear the way for a Democratic appointment. "I asked for Mr. Conkling's resignation with sincere regret," said the Governor at the time.

The opinion expressed among those politically wise to whom the matter of Mr. Conkling's candidacy has been broached is that it is very probable that he will be elected at the September primaries, he being the type of candidate that the voters of all parties will probably support. Should this turn out to be prophecy it will establish a new record in Hawaii of a man being nominated and elected while outside of the Territory and taking no personal part in the fight.

Others in Field.

There will be opposition, nevertheless, as M. H. Drummond has announced his intention of going after the nomination on the Democratic ticket, while John C. Anderson this morning makes formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination. Mr. Anderson's announcement is short, being:

Announcement.

"To the Voters of the City and County of Honolulu: I hereby wish to announce my candidacy for the office of City and County Treasurer. I am a tenderfoot in Hawaii, but I am getting to the subject of my address, 'Our National Trinity.' Before getting down to his subject, however, the speaker called for three cheers for the flag, the President, the Governor and the Army and Navy, which were given with considerable vim and energy.

Doctor Ferguson easily obtained the attention of his audience. He has a peculiarity of speaking to the point, with a snap which seems to throw every word direct at his audience. During his address applause was frequent. Before concluding he suggested that a cable message be sent to the President today, the suggestion being accepted and the message forwarded by the Chamber of Commerce of Honolulu.

The final number of the program was the rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the Kamehameha School choir, the band and the audience. After which the audience dispersed, with the thanks of the presiding officer.

(From Sunday Advertiser.)

"Hawaii is not a channel house of savage superstitions and customs, not a fetish of Oriental cults, not an insular possession to be civilized by colonial policies and held in abeyance and obedience by Army and Navy, not merely an outpost for the protection of the mainland States, but Hawaii is a Territory of the United States of America, the only Territory of a mighty Republic with every inch of its soil American, every institution and officer American, every citizen American to his finger tips," said Dr. W. P. Ferguson yesterday with the opening words of his patriotic address at the Capitol gathering in commemoration of the 138th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

Two Thousand Hear Address.

Two thousand people attended the Fourth of July exercises on the Capitol grounds yesterday morning, which were ably presided over by former Governor George R. Carter. Among those who occupied seats on the bandstand, which was fittingly decorated with patriotic bunting, were Governor Pinkham, Admiral C. T. Moore and his aide, Lieut. Ellis Lano, Charles A. Cottrill, collector of internal revenue; Dr. W. P. Ferguson, president of Mills Institute, orator of the day; Rev. John W. Wadman, Allan Herbert, Dr. C. B. Cooper, Dr. Samuel D. Barnes and a few others, in addition to wives and women relatives of some of those mentioned.

The program of the day opened with the rendition of patriotic airs by the Hawaiian Band, under the leadership of Capt. Henry Berger. The invocation was pronounced by Rev. John W. Wadman. Presiding Officer George R. Carter made a few introductory remarks, in which he said that it was fitting that here at the Crossroads of the Pacific, the greatest ocean of our globe, where three-fifths of the commerce of the world is now being carried on, the people of Honolulu should pause in the enjoyment of the day and pay tribute to the leaders and forefathers of the great republic the world has yet seen. We are assembled here today to celebrate the 138th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, which was promulgated in that little building at Philadelphia, which is now known as Independence Hall, and "Liberty Hall."

Remember that the war of independence began in New England, but other sections did not consider it serious until their territory became a part of the battleground. We, who are here today are privileged to join with the rest of the 100,000,000 American citizens to celebrate our independence."

Students' Chorus. Following Mr. Carter's remarks "America" was sung by sixty-five students of the Kamehameha School for Boys, under the leadership of Geo. A. Anderson. As the chorus reached the last stanza the presiding officer asked the audience to rise and join in the chorus which was done.

Mr. Carter next introduced Charles A. Cottrill, as one of "the big men in this community, holding a federal position, who has made good." Mr. Cottrill recited the Declaration of Independence. He was in very good voice and every word of the recitation was easily heard by the big audience.

Cheers for the Flag.

The next number on the program being the address of the day, Mr. Carter introduced Dr. W. P. Ferguson, who had been selected as the orator for the occasion.

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Fellow Citizens," said the speaker, "I will read the first page of my address, because I am a tenderfoot in Hawaii, but I am getting to the subject of my address, 'Our National Trinity.' Before getting down to his subject, however, the speaker called for three cheers for the flag, the President, the Governor and the Army and Navy, which were given with considerable vim and energy.

By Rev. Jas. W. Wadman.

Almighty God, creator of all things, upholder of all forms, God of all nations, Our Fathers' God! We lift up our hearts and voices to Thee on this day in grateful praise. We thank Thee for the birth of our nation, the history of our Republic, the government of our people, the institutions established, schools founded and the homes which we have built. We praise Thee for the faith of our fathers, their brave struggles and far-reaching victories. We adore Thee for the day which proudly and peacefully waves over us the flag of freedom, freedom of political control, freedom of religious belief. We thank Thee for our commercial and industrial prosperity with the measure of peace now prevailing throughout the land. While other peoples today are burdened and distressed on account of war and famine and debt, we, as a nation, are blessed beyond measure, with food and raiment and plenty. We render Thee devout praise for all the blessings which grow out of our homes and schools and churches. "Bless the Lord, Oh my soul, and all that is within bless and praise his holy name."

Today, we fervently pray that thy rich blessing may continue to rest upon our beloved nation. Bless our President, our Legislators and judges and preachers and teachers and leaders. God bless our press and courts and churches. We pray also for our Army and Navy. Have us, we beseech Thee, from the ravages of war and look graciously down upon the great mass of our brothers and sisters, the home-builders, who in the sweat of their brows earn their daily food. Bless, we pray also, the strangers within our gates, those who come in great numbers from the east and the west, seeking a dwelling among us because of a larger liberty and a wider opportunity which our beloved land affords. Remove from our hearts all race prejudices and fill us with a spirit of real brotherhood.

And now, Our Father, as we are gathered here on this beautiful spot, with so many historical associations and stirring memories, we pray Thy blessing upon our Territory, our Governor, his advisors, upon all our institutions whose purposes are the uplifting of the people of Hawaii, in that righteousness which is the Life of the Land. Overturn and destroy, we beseech thee, all the powers of evil and forces of sin. May we as a people delight ourselves in the Law of the Lord and in His law may we meditate day and night. And to thy name, do we give all the praise now and forever more.

AMEN.

"Our National Trinity."

Doctor Ferguson prefaced his address by the following tribute to Hawaii: "Hawaii is not a channel house of savage superstitions and customs, not a fetish of Oriental cults, not an insular possession to be civilized by colonial policies and held in abeyance and obedience by Army and Navy, not merely an outpost for the protection of the mainland States, but Hawaii is a Territory of the United States of America, the only Territory of a mighty Republic with every inch of its soil American, every institution and officer American, every citizen American to his finger tips. And though the government at Washington but little understands the dignity and destiny of Hawaii, though our American people do not as yet appreciate our attractions and our resources, yet Hawaii today, sheltering itself as an adopted child under the folds of the Stars and Stripes, rejoices with the grown-up children who enjoy Statehood in the magnificent history that has been recorded since July 4, 1776.

Mixed, but Loyal.

"Hawaii, with its mixed but loyal population of two hundred thousand; Hawaii, with its sugar, rice, taro, coffee, pineapples and other fruits; Hawaii, with its railroads, steamship lines, industries, stores, professions, schools, churches and multiplied agencies working out the highest and truest good and representing the best there is in democracy; Hawaii, with its towering mountains, its kaleidoscopic rainbows, its sunny air, its seas with no tears in them, and seas with no fears in them; Hawaii, the home of industry, intelligence and benevolence; Hawaii, the western boundary of our great nation, the New England which gave Americanism to this Territory; aloha to the North and the mighty West, and with them salutes Old Glory and swears it will never be torn down by domestic rebel or foreign foe, nor will its luster grow dim as the ages pass.

Stirring Sentences.

Throughout his address Dr. Ferguson stirred his hearers by such statements as these: "Since the Spanish-American War our national boundaries are from the peep of dawn to the dusk of doom." "That American is a heretic who believes that the fathers tied us to an unalterable constitution since they provided for its Amendment; but that American is not only a heretic, but a traitor, who seeks to undermine the Constitution and in the falling of the debris throws dust in the eyes of the people to blind them to what is going on." "If taxation without representation led the colonies to revolt, then taxation without representation should lead Hawaii to a united effort to secure Statehood." "Pessimism is paralysis while optimism means energy; chaos in politics and stagnation in business should not stum our energies nor blur our vision. America is sound at heart and her mighty people will work and wait, sweat and hope till a new era of better politics and sounder business shall dawn. We are saved by hope and must not listen to the croakings of pessimism."

EVANGELISTS TO MEET ON MAUI TO MEET ON PANAMA CANAL

Ninety-Second Annual Conference to Be Held at Wailuku, With Rev. Charles M. Sheldon as Leading Speaker—Church Choirs Will Compete for Musical Honors.

With delegates from various parts of the Territory in attendance, the ninety-second annual conference of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association will take place at Wailuku, Maui, for a week, commencing on Wednesday.

The program throughout is one of exceptional interest, embracing features of great religious and educational value. Rev. Chas. M. Sheldon, D. D., of Topeka, Kansas, will deliver the opening address. Capt. C. J. W. Scott, chaplain, Twenty-fifth Infantry, U. S. A.; Dr. W. P. Ferguson, president of Mills School; Rev. J. W. Wadman, D. D., of the Anti-Saloon League; Dr. Ian MacLaren, Boy Scout commissioner for Maui; Professor Barros, lecturer of the Anti-Tuberculosis League under the board of health, and Mr. Robley of the Y. M. C. A. are among others who will speak.

Prominent in the daily discussions will be Rev. A. A. Eberhart, Rev. John F. Cowan of Kohala, Rev. A. S. Baker of Kona, Rev. Stephen L. Decha, Theodore Richards, Rev. J. L. Hopwood, Rev. O. H. Gulick, Rev. Akakio Akana, Rev. H. K. Poeppel and Rev. H. H. Harris.

In the report of the Rev. W. Brewster Oleson, corresponding secretary, a comprehensive idea of the scope of the work of the Hawaiian Board during the past year may be gained. The report will be read in both English and Hawaiian.

Music Contest.

The inter-Jeland music contest is expected to be a strong feature of this year's gathering. As most of the members of the Molekai chorus will be detained at home by the work of the grand jury, it is probable that Molekai will not enter the competition. Maui, Kauai and Oahu are said to have strong aggregations, and each is confident of carrying off the banner.

Honolulu delegates, leaving by the Mauna Kea Railway morning train, will arrive at Wailuku in time for an organ recital that evening at the Wailuku Union Church. Rev. Rowland B. Dody, the pastor, assisted by Mrs. Dodge, will be the official host of the 1914 meeting.

Brought in Alleged Highway Robber an Hour After Crime Was Committed.

In the capture yesterday morning, shortly after three o'clock, of John Carr, a private in Company G, Second Infantry, who is booked at the police station to answer to a charge of highway robbery, Captain of Police Dan Kamahu executed as clever a piece of detective work as has been done by the local police force for some time.

According to Captain Kamahu, Joe Costa, with his week's wages in his pockets, started in early Friday evening to celebrate the nation's birthday. In the course of his revels he met John Carr. Feeling patriotic, he took Carr under his wing and the couple visited several third parlors in and about Honolulu. Costa went so far in his hospitality as to purchase several cakes of highly scented soap, which he divided with his guest. The pair then went to the Iwilei district, and after passing several hours there started back to the city on foot. When near the Levers and Cooke lumber yard on the Iwilei road, Costa claims that Carr struck him on the back of the head with a heavy stone and while unconscious robbed him of his purse, containing eleven dollars.

When Costa regained consciousness he went to the police station and reported the case. Captain Kamahu, in charge of the early watch, immediately notified all foot and mounted police to be on the lookout for Carr and to bring in all persons on the street who could not give a proper account of themselves. After throwing out the police dragnet, Captain Kamahu went on a quiet searching party of his own. At Puhaka, shortly after three o'clock, he saw a tawny with a soldier within driving toward Keliki.

Finding Carr in the taxi, Captain Kamahu took him to the police station for investigation. Costa, the victim of the holdup, had remained at the police station, and when Carr was brought in identified him as the man he had extended lavish hospitality to early in the evening and who later assaulted and robbed him. When searched, Carr had upon his person Costa's purse, containing the eleven dollars, and two cakes of the highly scented soap that Costa had purchased for the robbery on the Iwilei road and the arrest by Captain Kamahu there was less than an hour and a half.

Carr will probably be turned over to the military authorities for trial.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR FAMILY.

When you fail to provide your family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at this season of the year, you are neglecting them, as bowel complaint is sure to be prevalent, and it is too dangerous a malady to be trifled with. This is especially true if there are children in the family. A dose or two of this remedy will place the trouble within control and perhaps save a life, or at least a doctor's bill. Completion of Big Ditch Place This Territory in Direct Touch with Outside World—Will Stimulate These Islands to Quicker Activity in Opinion of Noted Maritime Authority.

When America built the Panama Canal she discovered the western half of her own continent, shifted the dividing line of commerce thousands of miles westward and revised the trade route of the globe, says Svetozar Tchorjoff, noted maritime authority, in an article recently published in Munsey's Magazine on the "Panama Canal and Its Relation to the World of the Future." Practically every nation on the globe, in Mr. Tchorjoff's opinion, will feel the quickening influence of general commercial expansion that inevitably will follow the opening of the waterway, but he believes that by virtue of its geographical location America herself will be the chief beneficiary.

Honolulu on Trade Route.

Referring in turn to the probable effect upon Hawaii of the shifting of old trade routes and the development of new ones, Mr. Tchorjoff says:

"Hawaii will be stirred to quicker life by the new conditions. The first census of the Islands after annexation showed a population of 89,990. Twenty years later, in 1910, there were 191,909 people in the Island group, a large proportion of whom were Japanese settlers. With Honolulu a port of call on the great circle route to and from the Orient, Hawaii will be enabled to play an increasingly important part in the commerce of the Pacific and to attract a large white population."

Map Defines Routes.

On a two-page map illustrating the writer's article are shown the comparative distances between various commercial centers of the world by way of the Panama and the old Magellan routes. This map, not only clearly shows the logic of Hawaii's claims as the present "Crossroads of the Pacific," but emphasizes the additional advantages that are certain to accrue to her as the mid-ocean port on the most direct route from Panama to the Orient. The lengths of the various routes radiating from the Pacific coast to the canal are indicated as Mr. Tchorjoff's map, are as follows, the figures representing nautical miles:

Panama to Honolulu, 4665 miles.
Honolulu to Yokohama, 3445 miles.
Panama to Yokohama via Honolulu, 8110 miles.
Panama to San Francisco, 3277 miles.
San Francisco to Yokohama, 4535 miles.
Panama to Yokohama via San Francisco, 7812 miles.
Panama to Manila via Honolulu, 9478 miles.

China Important Factor.

"The shortening of the route between Yokohama and New York by 3768 miles, and New Orleans and Hongkong by nearly 2000 miles," says the writer, "suggests an interesting prospect of development. China, with its population of 400,000,000, is the great commercial and industrial factor of the future. The total imports of the Chinese provinces, as shown by the latest available trade balance sheet, amounted to $315,000,000. What the millions of China can accomplish in the way of commercial activity is foreshadowed plainly by the fact that Japan, with only one-eighth of China's population, has a purchasing power almost as great as that of China, as represented by an import budget of $300,000,000."

More Commerce for All.

Next to the United States, Mr. Tchorjoff thinks, Great Britain will profit most by the opening of the canal, and Germany will be next. In lesser degree, yet materially, all the other commercial nations of Europe will gain by the shortening of the route between their markets in various parts of the world.

BUTTE MAYOR STRABBED BY AGITATOR

Chief Executive of Montana. Metropolitan Refuses to Sanction Deportation of Michigan Editor and Is Attacked—Lying Wounded on Floor, He Shoots Assailant—Another Chapter Added to Labor War.

BUTTE, Montana, July 4.—(Associated Press by Federal Wire)—The mayor of Butte City is in a serious condition and a miner lies dangerously wounded today, the result of an attempt to murder the city's chief executive last night.

Erie Lantela, a miner, one of the hundreds who have renounced the Western Federation of Miners, entered the office of Mayor Duncan yesterday and demanded that the mayor agree to the deportation of Editor Hancock, representing a Finnish paper published in Michigan. Hancock upholds the Western Federation of Miners and came here to urge the miners to remain loyal to that organization.

This led to near rioting. Mayor Duncan ordered the police to protect the demands of the mining miners to deport the Federation supporter.

In his conference with Lantela yesterday, Mayor Duncan reiterated his opinion that Hancock could not be legally deported. Lantela then attacked Mayor Duncan, stabbing him three times. As Duncan fell he pulled a revolver and shot Lantela in the abdomen. There is hope for the recovery of both men.

SAYS GERMANS ARE AFTER CANAL, TOO

Nicaraguan Minister Springs Sensation in Senate Committee Hearing.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Attempts by German interests to obtain the United States for rights to construct an interoceanic canal across Nicaragua were revealed today to the senate foreign relations committee by Nicaraguan Minister Chamorro. The minister said Germans had argued that the $2,000,000 offered by the United States for canal rights and other concessions was not enough.

Brown Brothers and Seligman & Co. of New York, bankers, alleged to be prominent figures in the control of the Nicaraguan National bank and the Nicaraguan railway, were asked to bring in all papers bearing on these questions. Charles A. Conant of New York and Ernest H. Wauds, said to be the financial agent of the Nicaraguan republic, also were invited. Their testimony may have some effect on the proposed treaty by which the United States would pay Nicaragua $5,000,000, establish a protectorate and guarantee fair elections in return for rights to construct an interoceanic canal, establish naval bases and other concessions.

Minister Chamorro told the committee that sentiment in his country was overwhelmingly in favor of the treaty. Senator Charles Dwyer, the Nicaraguan minister of finance, will appear before the committee Thursday to make additional arguments for the treaty.

CHAMORRO CHARGES SURPRISE

Senator Chamorro's statement was received with surprise and led to much speculation among members of the committee after he left the capital. Some members understood him to mean that Germany had officially approached the Nicaraguan government, and the minister's difficulty in speaking English prevented his statement from being entirely clear.

It was recalled tonight that no nation could expect to build a canal across Nicaragua to rival that at Panama without expending hundreds of millions of dollars, and the opinion was expressed that Germany hardly would be likely to engage in such an enterprise. That private banking institutions, no matter how rich, should seriously contemplate such an undertaking when there is some question as to whether the canal across Panama even will pay, was regarded as extremely doubtful.

NOTED STATESMAN DIES IN ENGLAND

J. Chamberlain, Reformer and Opponent of Home Rule, Succumbs to Paralysis.

LONDON, July 4.—(Associated Press by Federal Wire)—After an illness of seven years, the patient sufferer from a stroke of paralysis which cut him down in the midst of one of his most strenuous campaigns, Joseph Chamberlain, one of Great Britain's most brilliant and aggressive statesmen, died yesterday at the age of seventy-eight. The end came when the paralysis extended to his heart.

The Right Honorable Joseph Chamberlain, pioneer exponent of tariff reform for Great Britain and bitter opponent of Home Rule, had represented Birmingham in Parliament for thirty-eight years, with brief intermissions. It was in 1896, during his fight for a protective tariff, with preferences favoring the British colonies, that he was first stricken. Since that day he had been an invalid, a pathetic outlook on the political game, attended always by his devoted wife, the daughter of W. C. Endicott, of Massachusetts, Secretary of War during the Cleveland administration.

FIRST ELECTED IN 1876

Chamberlain entered Parliament in 1876, being elected as a Liberal with opposition. In less than four years he was a cabinet minister, entering Gladstone's government in 1880 as President of the Board of Trade, and in less than a decade he held on popular opinion was almost as great as Gladstone's.

SPLIT UNIONIST PARTY

Just before his sixty-seventh birthday Chamberlain launched his scheme of fiscal reform, which partly succeeded in splitting the Unionist Party. It was in May and at Birmingham that he announced his new policy, and finding in September that his party was not ready for so radical a change, he resigned to devote himself to popularizing his theories. He fought, but his party wavered and went down to defeat in the election of 1906. The one bright spot for the Unionist Party, during those dark days, was Birmingham and vicinity, where Chamberlain carried his candidates to victory.

SULLIVAN SAYS THAT HE WAS "STUNG"

Corner Lifted on Some of Inside Deals of Retail Liquor Business of Honolulu at Meeting of License Commission—Kiley Relates His Troubles with Scully—Lynch Will Be Allowed to Transfer His Permit.

(From Saturday Advertiser.)
A corner was lifted on some of the inside deals of the liquor business in Honolulu at the meeting of the board of license commissioners yesterday, showing to what an extent the retail business is controlled and manipulated by the wholesalers. Not a great deal was brought out, but sufficient to give a general hint of what is going on beneath the calm surface. One of the witnesses who gave up a table of inside information was Dick Sullivan, in a fashion, who appeared in the form of a victim of Messrs. Bartlett and Waterman, who are the Honolulu brewers. In the words of Mr. Sullivan, they "stung" him for four thousand dollars.

"I got stung, all right, by those fellows," said Sullivan, "but I know more now than I did then. I got my own lawyer now."

KILEY RELATES HIS TROUBLES

Another edifying diversion was afforded the license commissioners by the recounting of the details of a fight between Jack Scully, proprietor of the Waikiki Inn, and Fred Kiley, a discharged bartender. Kiley was in a very happy frame of mind when he told how Scully had threatened to kill him and had finally landed on the side of his head with a flower vase. Scully explained that Kiley had been doing what he could of late to give the Inn a bad name, in the hope that he, Scully, might lose his license and that he, Kiley, might fall heir to it.

BITTERNESS UNANIMOUS

It is a terrible thing to see such unanimity and bitter resentment against the actions of our own country. It is evident that the United States is waiting for the Constitutionalists to reach the City of Mexico, and if the old Madero crowd comes back into power, with the United States squarely behind them, there will be something for Uncle Sam to do. My late letters from the capital say that everything is quiet there, but it is the quiet of the graveyard. Shops are closed and half-grown school boys are being impressed into the army to fight the Gringos.

LYNCH MAKES DISCOVERY

Then, after having paid in to the brewery some $15,000, Lynch suggested to Bartlett that it was about time to check up and have the $7000 mortgages cancelled. Bartlett surprised and showed Lynch the paper he had signed, which stated that Bartlett was a two-thirds owner of the business. According to Bartlett, the $15,000 Lynch had paid was simply Bartlett's share of the profits, and none of it applied on the mortgages. The paper also stating that Lynch was to have a one-third interest in the business. Lynch then found himself in the position of having paid $15,000 to Bartlett and having nothing whatever to show for it, not even an interest in his own saloon.

He repudiated the agreement, says the affidavit, and took the matter to his lawyer, Loren Andrews. Andrews made a demand for a cancellation of the brewery mortgage, which was on record, threatening to take the matter into court. The mortgage, cancelled, was sent to him promptly. The Bartlett mortgage he also demanded cancelled, inasmuch as he had paid it. He knew nothing about any supposed claim of Waterman's until recently, but he repudiated that also. He claims that he is the sole owner of the Pacific Saloon business and the sole owner of the license.

Mr. Olson argued against this and the title of Dick Sullivan to his business came up, the claim being made that Sullivan owned no more of the Pacific he had sold than Waterman claimed Lynch owned after he had bought it. Sullivan was then called before the commission.

Sullivan entered into an involved explanation of his business relations with the brewers, Bartlett and Waterman, denying that he had not been the sole proprietor of the Pacific he had not now the sole proprietor.

AMERICANS BITTER OVER U. S. POLICY

Paul Hudson Says Many in Vera Cruz Threaten to Forswear Allegiance.

KANSAS CITY, June 18.—American refugees in Vera Cruz, men and women who have left every earthly possession to the mercy of predatory bands of outlaws in the interior of Mexico, are very angry at President Wilson and Secretary Bryan's foreign policy, according to a letter from Paul Hudson, editor of the Mexican Herald, received by his mother, Mrs. J. K. Hudson, here. The army and navy also chafe under the restraint, he writes. A few excerpts from the letter follow:

I am writing about the Hamburg American liner Ypiranga, trying to get at the bottom of the inexplicable movements of foreign ships in these waters. I think, perhaps, the German viewpoint might help.

Americans here are simply raging with mortification and humiliation because we have been made so ridiculous in the eyes of Europe as well as Mexico. Huerta is still resigning every day, according to rumor, as he has been for a year, and every time there is a new scare about Villa marching on the capital we have a new influx of refugees, Mexicans as well as other nationalities.

ALL DREAD VILLA

They all dread Villa much more than they do Huerta. Of course, the army and navy are absolutely silent on the situation, but it is evident that they chafe under the knowledge that arms are being imported that may be turned against them. The opinion is often expressed here that the United States is in grave danger of bringing about complications with Germany and Japan by its foreign policy.

It is nothing short of criminal to have placed this small force of United States troops here and to keep them where they may at any hour be called upon to take the offensive against a forewarned and constantly augmenting enemy. Nothing seems so cheap as American lives. You can't imagine how strong the feeling has grown. Americans are frequently heard to say that if Washington backs out of this without accomplishing anything, toward bettering the awful conditions in Mexico they will change their nationality.

BITTERNESS UNANIMOUS

It is a terrible thing to see such unanimity and bitter resentment against the actions of our own country. It is evident that the United States is waiting for the Constitutionalists to reach the City of Mexico, and if the old Madero crowd comes back into power, with the United States squarely behind them, there will be something for Uncle Sam to do.

My late letters from the capital say that everything is quiet there, but it is the quiet of the graveyard. Shops are closed and half-grown school boys are being impressed into the army to fight the Gringos.

Mr. Hudson left the City of Mexico soon after the American invasion, and is now publishing the Herald as Vera Cruz. His mother lives at the Greystone Apartments on Hunter avenue.

THE PRAISE CONTINUES

Everywhere We Hear Good Reports of Dean's Backache Kidney Pills.

Every section of the United States resounds with praise of Dean's Backache Kidney Pills. Thirty thousand persons are giving testimony in their own newspapers. "Sincerity of witness is the best proof of the merit of Dean's." Read the following cases:

Mrs. William McGregor, 711 Liffert St., Pendleton, Oregon, says: "I was troubled more or less all my life by weakness of the kidneys. My hands and feet swelled and sometimes my whole body bloated. There was a steady pain in the small of my back and sides, and when doing my work it was hard for me to straighten after stooping. When I did stoop, sharp twinges shot through my back and sides. Dizzy spells and headaches were common, and I couldn't rest well. In the morning I felt all tired out. It would be hard to describe the misery I went through. I tried many remedies and spent a great deal of money for doctors' treatment, but got no relief. Finally I saw Dean's Backache Kidney Pills advertised, and the first box I used helped me. Continued use cured the aches and pain in my back and regulated the action of my kidneys. Dean's Backache Kidney Pills gave me a complete and permanent cure, and I am now in good health. I am glad to confirm all I have said about Dean's Backache Kidney Pills, when I have publicly endorsed them before."

Dean's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box (six boxes $2.50), or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Honolulu, wholesale agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

Remember the name, Dean's, and take no substitute.

SHIPOWNER CRITICISES MEASUREMENTS FOR CANAL

Robert Dollar, American shipowner who for the sake of economy operates most of his vessels under the British flag, has expressed doubts about the measurement system upon which Panama Canal tolls will be based, and maintains that the rules, if enforced as a present laid down, will seriously affect the lumber trade of the Coast. Under Panama rules deckloads will be charged for, and he points out that the Sues does not charge for this sort of cargo. He believes that Panama traffic will suffer from the higher cost involved in certain classes of vessels which must find the older routes, though longer, less costly than the new waterway.

One of Mr. Dollar's big steamers, the Robert Dollar, is now at Gona Bay, Vancouver Island, emptying a large cargo of lumber which is to go for Panama, and she has just been measured under canal rules, which give her a larger tonnage than the other vessels. The respective measurements of the Robert Dollar are:
