BOARDS.

A correspondent draws attention to the formation of the boards in connection with the government departments. He advocates "decentralization, or division of duties and responsibilities," and further says "if the boards must be composed of men in cabinet positions, what need can there be for those boards at all?"

This is a subject that may well be considered by the Legislature. Until the reign of the present Premier there was no such monopoly of Boards as exists to-day. Mr. Gibson likes to be the controlling spirit, consequently gentlemen better qualified, than the Premier, to serve on boards have been dismissed, or have felt called upon to resign knowing that their services were valueless and unappreciated. On the Board of Health are two ministers, neither of whom has had the education or training necessary to qualify him to fill such a position. It is the same in the case of the Board of Education. What practical knowledge or experience in educational matters is possessed either by the Minister of Foreign Affairs or by the Minister of Finance?

The Board of Health should, we think, be composed of at least two medical men, one good business man, the superintendent of public works, or, better still, a scientific engineer and perhaps the Minister under whom the law has placed the supervision of sanitary affairs. A Board of Education would be still more difficult to fill. It requires men who are conversant with all the details and routine of school life, who are qualified to judge of the attainments of their inspectors and teachers who have the more difficult and useful work to perform. A Board of Immigration requires the services of capable business men, men who would lay aside any consideration of what might be to their personal advantage in order to promote the present and future welfare of the country.

It would not be an easy matter to find the requisite men, yet we think they could be found if they were assured that their opinions and recommendations would be considered and not invariably disregarded. Any change almost would be an improvement upon the system now in vogue where we have one man seeking for infinite power. Let the boards meet regularly, and let the members be paid, if necessary, for their services.

DECENTRALIZATION.

MR. EDITOR:—It is not because I am possessed of a new or an original idea that I trouble you, but because I consider an old idea which has many times found utterance in Honolulu newspapers is worthy of being kept alive.

I would preface my remarks by disclaiming any motive other than a sincere and patriotic desire to see established and perpetuated in this country of my adoption, a pure, an efficient, and a strong government. I am not a seeker after office either for myself or my friends, nor do I share in the belief that those now in authority are the most corrupt, the most inefficient, and the most bungling set of men ever appointed to govern. I am a poor, obscure man, known only to a few and knowing only a few. But this is my adopted home and the native home of those most dear to me on earth, and we expect it to be our permanent home. Therefore, I feel that concern for the welfare of the country which self-interest naturally inspires, and would exercise my unit of strength in promoting good government, rather than in striving to weaken and destroy.

The idea with which I started out is this, that a little decentralization would tend to strengthen and render more efficient the government of this country. I am not fully prepared to admit that the same measure of decentralization that has been adopted with success in some other countries could be introduced here with the same success. District Councils and local Road Boards, for instance, which have worked with great satisfaction elsewhere, might not be practicable with us; for the reason that it would be difficult to find competent men in the country districts willing to serve in such bodies. But right here in the capital, the decentralizing idea might be carried out to a greater extent than hitherto, to the advantage of the government and with beneficial results to the country.

As it is, and as it has been, His Majesty's Ministers, or at least some of them, have more duties to attend to than they can properly perform. No doubt, some people will smile at this statement; for I have frequently heard it said that one minister is sufficient for this little country, and that there is not enough work to keep one employed half his time. Men who talk so are inexperienced. Let them try, and they will tell another tale. If the Ministers attend faithfully and thoroughly to the duties properly pertaining to their ministerial functions, their time and their capabilities will be fully engrossed.

Yet it is the custom here to put those Ministers in responsible positions on subordinate boards. Thus, at the present time, the Minister of Foreign Relations is President of two boards and Member of another. The Minister of the Interior is President of one board and Member of another. The Minister of Finance is Member of one board. This is placing in ministerial hands too much work and on ministerial shoulders too much responsibility, outside of ministerial functions. If the duties of ministers are such as to require their entire thought and attention, it is too much to expect those gentlemen to do board duty also.

The decentralization, or division of duties and responsibilities, which I advocate, exists in name, but not in reality. I see no advantage in this arrangement. If the boards must be composed of men in cabinet positions, what need can there be for those boards at all? Why not the duties appertaining thereto be discharged by ministers in their ministerial capacities? I cannot perceive how boards so constituted can in any way lighten the work of government or add to its efficiency.

Decentralization, to be beneficial, must be real as well as nominal. The various boards, although subordinate to the General Government, should be independent thereof, in the sense of being composed of men not in the cabinet. Each board should consist of, say, five intelligent and capable men, no one man to serve on more than one board. This arrangement would divide the labor and responsibility of government, enhance its efficiency, leave ministers free to give their undivided attention to great questions of national import, and be in keeping with the most advanced and progressive policies of other countries.

PATRIOT.

The new recruits of the Mounted Police force are progressing rapidly with their drill. On Thursday evening, when Lieutenant Smythe went his usual nightly round of inspection, he found nearly all his boys drawn up in their room, at ten o'clock, practising their carbine drill into the mysteries of which they had only been initiated in the morning. This shows that the boys are anxious to learn and it must have been very gratifying to their instructor.

EARLY CLOSING.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—In your to-day's paper is a letter signed "A Clerk" in which the writer brought forward the necessity and apparent feasibility of early closing on a Saturday. The business transacted on Saturday afternoons is generally small (leaving apart steamer days) and I think that it would be a good plan to adopt a regular hour for closing on a Saturday afternoon. For my part if the motion be seconded by the different leading firms of the city, I will be most happy to render and give my boys a half day's pleasure. A Boss.

LOCAL & GENERAL NEWS.

The sail boat was sold yesterday for $84.
The regular cash sale of Messrs.
Lyons & Levey takes place to-day.
Messrs. Lyons & Levey will sell 50 barrels of salmon at Brewer's wharf on Monday.
Mr. Henry Waterhouse will conduct the Gospel Temperance Meeting to-night at the Bethel Vestry.
GOVERNMENT officers, botanists and married men will find something interesting on the fourth page.

The tenders for building the new Government offices close on Wednesday, 5th March. The mistake in the date was originally made by the Advertiser and carefully copied by the Gazette.

In passing down Fort street this morning we were much pleased with the handsome line of Gent's Fine Shoe Wear in the window of M. Mc-Inerny. Every one ought to see them.
649 3t.

The Alameda will take over 2,000 tons of freight to-day for the Coast.
The following additional passengers were booked yesterday: Miss Andrews, Mrs. Millard, Captain J. W.
Fisher.

The limit of time for claims to be filed with the Police Justice of Honolulu, for damages which may be caused by the proposed widening of Merchant street, is extended until further notice.

SOME alterations have been made at the jail, the windows being now carefully protected by shutters.
How much longer is the jail to remain without a Governor, and how many of the recently escaped prisoners have been recaptured?

One of the nicest residences on the plains is offered for sale. It is situated on Beretania street, between Piikoi and Victoria, contains six good rooms besides outhouses and stables, and has a nice lot of ground tastefully laid out.

Although Williams was not successful in securing a photograph of Hanlan, he availed himself of the opportunity on Monday to secure a true and correct copy of the Alameda and the O. S. S. Co's wharf.
Copies can be obtained to-day.

There will be a Concert on Monday evening, at Emma Square.

The Temple of Fashion in Campbell's block is now open with a good stock of gentlemen's clothing.

Twenty-two persons are to be received to membership in Fort Street Church to-morrow morning. The ordinances of adult and infant baptism, and the Lord's Supper will be administered. In the evening, by special request, Mr. Cruzan will preach a sermon on "Miracles."

The Honolulu Iron Works Company is now offering B. B. refined bar iron, ordinary sizes, at 4 1/2 cents per pound, with special rates to purchasers of more than 700 tons. The company also has galvanized piping, from 1/2 inch to 2 inch, and steam piping, from 1/2 inch to 7 inches diameter, at very low rates.

The return international lawn tennis match was played on Thursday afternoon. Each side won a set, the third being in favor of the Irish who, all through the game, seemed to be far superior to the Hawaiians.
Mr. Cairns is considered the best player that has ever visited the islands.

My dear, have you seen those Picture frames and Cornices they make at King Bros., they are just too utterly too too, and so very cheap. I asked them how they could afford to make them for the prices they asked and they told me it was because they were in an out of the way place, their rent was very cheap, and they did their own labor. 647 1w 3

The third number of the Hawaiian Monthly is to hand and maintains its high standard. It contains, among other articles, a second paper on State Education, a paper by Judge McCully on Farms and Farming in this Kingdom, a review of the elections, comment on Mr. W. O.
Smith's paper on Prisons and Prison Discipline and a continuation of the story of the Five Dollar Gold Piece.

Mr. Crowley yesterday invaded the Foreign Office to interview the editor of the Advertiser concerning the publication of the letter from Mr.
Squires. There was almost a repetition of the celebrated chair trick in the presence of the Minister of Foreign Affairs and two worthy doctors.
Mr. Crowley was promised room for a reply which will be more interesting than the effusion of Mr. Z. Y.
Squires.

RECEPTION OF REAR ADMIRAL HUGHES

His Honor the Chief Justice and Mrs. Judd gave a reception last evening, at their residence on Nu-anu Avenue, to Rear Admiral Hughes, Captain Carpenter and the other officers of the U. S. S. Hartford.
Several hundred ladies and gentlemen were present, the house and grounds being thronged for about two hours. A concert was given by the band of the U. S. S. Hartford and the Royal Hawaiian Band, the latter commencing with the Tannhauser March, Bellario overture and Nabucco selection. The visitors' band then played Donizetti's The Favorite, and a fantasia The Dancer's Dream.

The second part of the concert was by the combined bands and included the following selections: Bocaccio, Southern Breeze, Modern Times,
Recollection of the War, The Star Spangled Banner and Hawaii Ponoi.
The bands played in the pavilion in the grounds, that of the Hartford numbering only about fifteen players, as against our twenty-five. The house was prettily decorated, and the host and hostess succeeded in providing a very pleasant entertainment for their numerous friends, the last of whom sorrowfully departed before midnight. His Majesty was present accompanied by Colonel C.
H. Judd.

EMMA SQUARE CONCERT.

The Band will play in Emma Square, this afternoon, at 4:30. The following is the programme:
March—Railroad.....Oser
Overture—Bellario.....Donizetti
Chorus—Tannhauser.....Wagner
Selection—Great Casimir.....Lecocq
Waltz—The Source.....Waldteufel
Polka—Red and Black.....Coote

HAS A MARRIED MAN ANY RIGHTS?
"I say," said a friend the other day, "you are an old hand at it. I only got married the other day and don't understand much about the business. But has a married man any rights left when he once assumes the hymeneal responsibilities?"

"Rights? Yes, just lots of them. He has a right to pay all the bills of the—"
"Stop! I mean this. Let me give you an instance. Every box, drawer and port-manteau, and in fact every available receptacle of every description, is stuffed full of my wife's property, and when I want to put away a few collars and cuffs—" "Hold hard! I know what you mean. If your bedrooms were 300 feet long and lined from the floor to the ceiling with drawers, and you wanted to put away a couple of shirts you couldn't find a nook that wasn't full of hairpins, tufts of frizzes, pads, scent boxes, powder puffs, gloves, rings, and things. Wrap your things in an old newspaper and hide the parcel under the bed, and then you can find it."

He smiled and passed on, a wiser, if not a betterman.—
Chicago Tribune.

OFFICE SEEKERS.

A number of politicians, all of whom were seeking offices under the Government, were seated on the tavern porch talking, when an old toper, named Jake D—, came up to them. Now, the said Jake is a person who is very loquacious when "cornered" but exactly the opposite when sober. At the present time, being tight, he said if the company had no objections he would tell them a story. They told him to fire away, whereupon he spoke as follows:—A certain king—don't recollect his name—had a philosopher, upon whose judgment he always depended. Now it so happened that, one day, the king took it into his head to go hunting, and after summoning his nobles, and making all the necessary preparations, he summoned his philosopher, and asked if it would be rain. The philosopher told him it would not, and he and his nobles departed. While journeying along, they met a countryman mounted upon a donkey; he advised them to return, "for," said he, "it's certainly will rain." They smiled contemptuously upon him, and passed on. Before they went many miles, however, they had reason to regret not having taken the rustic's advice, as a heavy shower came on, they were drenched to the skin. When they returned to the palace, the king reprimanded the philosopher for telling him it would be clear when it was not. "I met a countryman," said he, "and he knows a great deal more than you, for he told me it would rain, whereas you told me it would not." The king then gave the philosopher his walking papers, and sent for the countryman, who soon made his appearance. "Tell me," said the king, "how you knew it would be rain." "I didn't know," said the rustic; "my donkey told me." "And how, pray, did he tell you?" the king asked, in great astonishment. "By pricking up his ears, your majesty." The king now sent the countryman away. Procuring the donkey, he placed him in the office the philosopher had filled. "And here," observed Jake, looking very wise, "here is where the king made the great mistake." "How so?" inquired his auditors. "Why, ever since that time," said Jack with a grin on his phiz, "every donkey wants an office!"

AMONGST THE GUMS AND TURPENTINES.

During a recent excursion of one of our artists along that portion of the Northern railway route lying between Gosford and Lake Macquarie, he was astonished at the wealth of timber which will become marketable when the railway is opened to this city. We are importing large quantities of lumber every week, though there is comparatively near us growing timber equal to any in the world. At Gillaby Gillaby, forests of Gum trees or Eucalyptus may be seen towering as high as 200 feet, and of as much as 15 feet diameter, without a branch for 50 or 60 feet. The Turpentine trees are equally remarkable in appearance, as it would be difficult to find a crooked trunk within hundreds of yards of any one point. The latter trees have not yet been sufficiently appreciated, though several years ago the late Captain Shoober announced the fact that it is the only indigenous timber we have possessing the merit of being impervious to the attacks of the teredo navalis. This he proved most conclusively, and latterly almost every new wharf constructed in and about Sydney stands on turpentine piles. When means of transportation by rail becomes available, those who are fortunate enough to have land timbered with this invaluable tree will have reason to congratulate themselves upon their good fortune.—
