POLITICIANS ARE HAVING BUSY DAY

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION TO BE OPENED TOMORROW MORNING IN THE ORPHEUM-KALEIOPU FOR TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN AND HARRIS FOR PERMANENT CHAIRMAN—HOT FIGHT OVER 4TH DISTRICT SUPERVISORSHIPS IS IN PROGRESS.

Charles Hustace, Jr., chairman of the Republican County Committee, will call the Republican convention to order tomorrow morning. A. S. Kaleiopu, of the Fifth District, will probably be chosen temporary chairman. D. Kalauokalani, Jr., will be temporary and permanent secretary. W. W. Harris, of the Fourth District, will be the permanent chairman, according to present plans. Ell Crawford is slated for interpreter.

Twenty-three voting booths have been provided, the biggest precinct in the island having 23 delegates, so that in every case the precinct delegates can vote all at once. They will have printed ballots and vote secretly. All the candidates before the general convention will be voted for at once.

It is expected that the first ballot will nominate A. M. Brown for sheriff, W. W. Harris for supervisor-at-large, D. Kalauokalani, Jr., for County clerk, James Bicknell for auditor, F. T. P. Waterhouse for treasurer and probably J. W. Cathcart for County attorney and some if not all of the three leading senatorial candidates, W. O. Smith, C. F. Chillingworth and L. L. McCandless. Then the fights will begin.

The Republican County convention opens tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the Orpheum. It will furnish something new in the way of party conventions. No one is to know who breaks pledges, who obeys the orders of bosses, or what secret combinations which have been quietly worked up during the past few days, are carried out. But those with their ears to the ground can easily discover the signs of some combinations which will surprise several aspirants for nominations.

The convention, according to agreements so far, is to have a sort of Australian ballot system of voting for nominations. Old American politicians declare that in long experience they have never heard of this kind of a game before. Rules are being adopted whereby it is intended that the votes of delegates in the convention shall be as carefully kept secret as the votes of citizens at the polls are supposed to be, and this is declared to be an innovation that would be regarded as a very startling proposition anywhere else on American soil. It is due to the "peculiar conditions," the leaders responsible for it say.

"The reason for secrecy of the ballot at the polls," said a leader who opposes the plan, "is in order that the votes of the rabble may not be bought or coerced. It is a disgrace to the Republican party of Oahu to assume that delegates to its convention need any secrecy."

The withdrawal of Crabbe yesterday from the fight for supervisor is variously given as an aid to Dillingham or an aid to A. V. Gear, or Jim Quinn. It narrows the contest for the two Fourth District supervisorships down to these and Charles Hustace, Jr., who was supposed to have been promised one of the places. But there is going to be some pledge-breaking in the convention tomorrow, and it is impossible to predict the winners. Gear supporters have been very busy since the formal announcement of his candidacy. As near as can be figured, from the work of runners, all four are sure of nomination. But the vote is to be secret, and two will be "dumped."

Long is regarded as likely to be put out of the County Attorney fight, since his letter asking support because of his race. It is much resented by Hawaiians as well as whites, and was probably one of the worst political breaks of the year. The friends of Cathcart were made happy by it, and compare it as a piece of boomerang politics to the letter which Carter recently wrote opposing to A. M. Brown. The Fourth District supervisorship fight, which is the biggest fight before the convention now, depends largely on whether the convention adopts the rule of requiring all candidates to be personally present to take a pledge that they will support the ticket. Such a rule would shut out Walter Dillingham, who is in San Francisco, but who has given a pledge.

The sentiment today appeared to be against the rule, and it is reported that the Brown forces are making a Dillingham fight. As a substitute for the rule, one proposal is that the convention require that all the men nomi-

CAUSE OF MILK SICKNESS

DUNCAN AND MYHRE DISCOVER SOURCE OF TROUBLE AND MATTER IS REMEDIED.

The cause of the milk sickness in upper Beretania district and the Insane asylum has probably been discovered by Food Commissioner Duncan and H. Myhre, inspector of milk, and a remedy has been already applied. By tomorrow the milk being supplied in the district will be safe again, in the opinion of the officers. The trouble was due, it is believed, to ptomaines, developed as a result of certain cows wading in a stagnant pool and thus gathering bacteria which got into their milk.

The bacteria has not been positively developed, and is, in fact one which has never been isolated. But recent investigations on the mainland have demonstrated its presence, and work is now under way in Washington, says Dr. Duncan, towards its discovery. Examinations of milk so far develop no chemical poison or added matter of any kind, and therefore confirm the bacteria theory.

"In a recent case in California and another one in Philadelphia," said Duncan, "it was found that cows by wading in dirty pools deep enough so that the water reached their udders, gathered up a sort of bacteria which infected the milk. The bacteria in question has not been discovered yet, but scientific experiments are being made. In the case in Honolulu, we have found that several of the cows which furnish milk for the district where the sickness occurred, were wading in such a pool. This doubtless affected their milk, and only persons who got the milk of these cows were affected, and then only when the milk was taken for drinking. Persons who used it in tea or coffee did not suffer.

"The trouble has probably been going on for some time. The milk from the dairy is not all mixed together, so that only families happening to get milk from a perhaps one cow would have trouble. The dry weather has made the pool worse, hence the recent increased outbreak.

"I have made some analyses, but find nothing in the way of a chemical poison in the samples of milk drunk by the persons who became sick. I feel confident that the bacteria referred to, is the cause of the trouble.

"Remedies were applied immediately when we called attention to the matter. The point has been fenced and as a further precaution some great improvements are to be made in the dairy."

MORE PUMPS FOR WRECKED SHERIDAN

BUFORD IN FROM SEATTLE—WILL CARRY SHERIDAN'S PASSENGERS TO FRISCO.

With more pumps for the wrecked Sheridan the transport Buford arrived this morning from Seattle. She made port about 10 o'clock. She brought one Worthington pump weighing 9000 pounds and three 18-inch horizontal steam-driven wrecking pumps, together with the necessary pipes and gears for using them.

The Buford is not to assist in pulling on the Sheridan but is to return within a few days to San Francisco with the freight baggage and passengers from the wrecked Sheridan.

Captain Humphrey, the depot quartermaster, stated this morning that fully two weeks and possibly longer would be required in which to prepare the appliances for hauling on the wrecked transport. Today the diver was to have made an inspection of the outside of the Sheridan for the purpose of ascertaining the character and extent of her damages. It is quite probable that the diver will endeavor to blast away the rock or coral reef on which the Sheridan rests, so as to facilitate her being floated. This matter is being considered however.

The work about the Sheridan for the next few days will be preliminary. Over 100 barrels of cement were brought by the Thomas yesterday for the purpose of being used in making repairs of a temporary character to the bottom of the wrecked craft. The U. S. S. Iroquois and Manning will probably be used in connection with floating the Sheridan although it is not desired to pull on her too hard as the bottom may be ripped out of the craft.

Practically all of the wrecking gear brought by the Thomas yesterday has been discharged on the naval wharf or else into the hold of the steamer Iwalani or on to one of the naval scows. The Iwalani will depart this afternoon for the scene of the wreck. All of the divers and riggers with the exception of Supervising Engineer Donnelly remained at the wreck last night and were at work there today. The gear is being moved by the Iwalani as fast as possible. The Iwalani is now flying the transport flag.

The Thomas is scheduled to sail for Guam and Manila at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

NOT FOR LUCAS

Jack Lucas this morning emphatically stated that he was not out for the senate or any other office. He says he has not given any reason for such a statement to be made.

The Final Plan For Manchuria

LAST ANCHOR LAID TODAY—BLASTED THE STERN FREE OF OBSTRUCTIONS.

The tug Elen returned at 1:25 o'clock this afternoon from the Manchuria wreck. The last kedge anchor was laid this morning by the Elen and the final work of getting the gear rigged to haul on the Manchuria is nearly at an end. The exact time to start the pulling has not yet been determined.

According to one report it is proposed to pull for fifteen hours by means of the present scheme and if that scheme fails to float the Manchuria, a new system will be rigged. Two weeks' time will be required in which to get the new method rigged up however.

Seven anchors have been lost. There are now 14 in place to which there are lines and chains or cables. The work of raising those anchors and chain will be quite a nice contract for some interest, for they are valuable belongings.

Estimates of the cost on floating the Manchuria, if of course, she be floated, are being made. The wreck of the vessel will cost the insurance and the Pacific Mail Companies a pretty sum. It is likely that the cost will run over $250,000 and possibly run to half a million.

The blasting has cleared away about 50 feet of obstruction about the stern of the vessel. According to the information brought by the Elen the intention is to stow the stern out of the cradle and around toward Rabbit Island holding the bow down with cargo and water. When the boat gets in the proper position she will be further lightened and final efforts be made to draw her into deep water.

INFORMED ON HIMSELF

CHINESE ON THE STEAMER IWALANI GOT AFOUL OF CUSTOMS INSPECTORS.

There was a seizure of cigars made on one of the transport fleet by the customs inspectors yesterday. Eight boxes constituted the seizure, and the occurrence is regarded as a joke by the people on the water front.

The seizure was made aboard the steamer Iwalani which is now under charter to the transport service in connection with the wrecked Sheridan. A Chinese employee aboard the Iwalani informed one of the customs inspectors that there were dutiable cigars aboard the steamer Iwalani. A search of the vessel was made, with the permission of Captain Pittz, and the only thing of the kind that was to be found consisted of eight boxes of cigars all belonging to the Chinese who had given the information.

There Was No Earthquake September 3

HILO WAS LEFT IN PEACE ON THAT DAY—NO EVIDENCE THAT FISH WERE SCALDED.

(Special to The Star.) HILO, September 3.—Considerable amusement, not unmixed with indignation, has been caused in Hilo by the publication in the Advertiser of Tuesday September 4, of a story of an earthquake which is alleged to have occurred here on Monday September 3 at 6:40 a. m. The yarn went on to say that shortly afterwards hundreds of dead fish were strung along the beach. The fish were apparently scalded by a submarine eruption off Keaukaha.

There was no earthquake at all on the morning of September 3.

On Tuesday August 28, a week before there was a very slight shock so slight that most people did not notice it at all, and it was after this that the phenomenon of the "scalded fish" was observed. There was nothing to prove that the fish really had been scalded, except that they had a sort of whitish film over them and this might have been due to partial decomposition. Your correspondent saw hundreds of them.

At 3:15 a. m. of Tuesday, September 4,—at just about the time that the Advertiser's fake story was going into circulation,—there was, however quite a sharp shock which awakened people but did no damage.

The accredited correspondent of the wireless, in answer to a query, writes: "In answer to your inquiry as to whether I was the author of the wireless message published in the Advertiser of the 4th inst, in reference to the earthquake in Hilo on the morning of the 3rd inst, I beg to advise you that I have had nothing whatever to do with the sending of this message."

The inference drawn here is that the Advertiser gets its wireless messages by freight.

HORSE AND CARRIAGE BACK INTO THE SEA

PETER BARON TO THE RESCUE—
SAVED HORSE AND LATER
LIFE OF A BOY.

Hackman of the Stockyard Stables came very near losing his hack and steed yesterday in the neighborhood of Young Brothers on the water front. Only the presence of mind of Peter Baron, better known as the Human Cork, saved the horse and made it possible that the carriage be saved.

The hackman was driving Dr. Wall and after reaching the end of the made land below Young Brothers establishment he attempted to turn. The horse shied and the driver cut him with the whip. The horse then began to back and backed right over the wall and into the sea. The hackman and the doctor jumped and were safe. Mr. Baron who lives not far from where the accident took place ran over and jumping into the water he cut the horse free and then swam around the filled land leading the horse until he got him out. The carriage was then hoisted out with much difficulty. Aside from being damp the rig was not injured.

Mr. Baron also distinguished himself at the Healan boat house in the afternoon. A small boy got in over his depth and in trying to swim to safety he became frightened and then tired. Peter went to the rescue as fast as his powerful arms would take him and he brought the boy safely to shore. This is said to have been the sixth life that Mr. Baron has saved during the past three years.

EXCURSION TO WRECKED BOAT

Regardless of the fact that both the "Manchuria" and "Sheridan" still occupy exalted positions on unrelenting reefs and also that most people are directing their attentions this way, the other wreck, that of the "Lead Pipe Cinch," that will be peacefully on an unknown island at the Opera House this evening, will supply a good deal to talk about in theatrical circles. You want to know all about it, and "Ship Ahoy" this evening will furnish all the details of this important topic. A big time is anticipated, and if all indications prove true, a most satisfactory final rehearsal, and a big rush for seats, this newest wreck, from which the Artole Opera Company will embark, ought to be the subject of much worth-while interest.

Tonight's the night at the Opera House, and Wall, Nichols Co., have the sale of seats in hand. Drop in and get your accommodations for a trip to the wrecked schooner and "Ship Ahoy."

RELIGIOUS CONVENTION.

The conference committee of the Oahu Young People's Union of Christian Endeavor and Epworth Leagues has decided to hold its quarterly convention next Friday evening, September 21, at 7:15, at Central Union church. The speakers selected will be Dr. George Heber Jones and Mr. Paul Super, the new secretary of the local Y. M. C. A. President Peter E. Toah and Secretary Wong Hin of the Union are now making preparation for this convention. The committee has also decided to admit the Korean Christian Endeavors into the Union. As this will be the first public appearance of Mr. Super, many young people of the city will be expected to be at the convention.

TREASURER SUSTAINED.

Treasurer Campbell was upheld yesterday afternoon in the Agour arbitration case of John De Souza. The arbitrators, Frank Andrade, A. Hocking and C. R. Hemenway, were unanimous in the following finding: "It was decided that the Treasurer was right in refusing the license on the ground that at the time of filing the application for the license the applicant did not have the written consent of a majority of the property-holders within a thousand feet of the proposed location; and, further that before the refusal was actually made there was on file in the office of the Treasurer a protest signed by a majority of the registered voters in the precinct where the applicant proposed to establish his business."

EDITORS AT LUAAU.

The following wireless was received yesterday from Secretary Wood of the Promotion Committee who is at Hilo with the Editorial Association:
HILO, Sept. 12.—Arrangements are being made by the Board of Trade to entertain the California editors. In the evening they will be treated to a grand luau and ball at the armory. A large number of guests have been invited.

INFANT MORTALITY.

The attention of the Town Council at Johannesburg, Transvaal, was last year directed to the fact that out of eighty-four infants, who died in December, forty-four of them had died of dysentery. An investigation with a view of tracing the source of the disease was authorized. Under the best of conditions attacks of dysentery are very prevalent among children in warm weather, but in a large majority of cases the lives of the little ones can be saved by the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This remedy always brings prompt relief, and has never been known to fail. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.

THE LEONARD IS BEST

Leonard Cleanable Refrigerators are built with eight walls, each wall as follows: Outside is wood, then dead air space, then a layer of parchment sheathing, then a layer of mineral wool then a waterproof sheathing and finally the inside zinc wall. Air cannot possibly pass through these barriers and the air within is dry and pure. The doors are airtight.

The ice is protected from outside heat and cannot melt rapidly. Take a match and leave it in the Leonard all night, then strike it. This is the test for dampness. Very few refrigerators can stand it. The Leonard is dry and keeps food pure and fresh.

The Leonard Cleanable Refrigerator is easiest in the world to clean. The inside parts are made to be removed and you can get into every corner. The circulation of air is founded on the latest scientific principles.

It is economical because it saves ice and is strongly constructed. We guarantee satisfaction in every one we sell.

Building Commissioner Bartzen is somewhat vociferous in his methods, but he is right about the billboard monstrosity. The billboard is not only an eyesore but it is a menace to life and limb. It will have to go eventually, though its maintainers may delay the consummation by "testing" the law which calls for its extermination. The billboard nuisance is, of course, based upon property rights; otherwise it could not have persisted as long as it has. But property rights constitute the basis of most other nuisances, too, and other nuisances have been abated—some of them. The billboard, therefore, is not invulnerable.—Chicago Chronicle.

Dark Lantern Politics

The manipulators of the Republican convention tomorrow, seem to be getting everything ready to carry out secret combinations and trades. All things are prepared to cover up treachery, and avoid detection in any skulduggery that may be necessary to carry out whatever secret deals have been made. The expressed wishes of the party through the primaries, under the arrangements now made, can be passed up like a white chip, and no trail be left as to who violated promises or instructions.

No wonder the various candidates who are not in on the deal are at sea regarding their chances. And even those who think they are in on the deal are not sure. What with voting booths and secret ballot, everything is prepared for the benefit of the stilleto wielders, and the dark lantern operators.

All that the party is to know is the results. How those results are secured, no one is to know, who isn't to be one of the beneficiaries of the scheme.

There is nothing in this that augurs well for the party. Secret politics and secrecy in political conventions, are not American ideas. It may be that what the party needs just such an exhibition of anti-American ideas and methods as seems about to be given, to wake it up to its duty and responsibility.

Of course, the methods of the assassin and the burglar sometimes overreach themselves. There isn't always honor among thieves. With so much care bestowed on making treachery safe, it may be that some will prove false to the traitors and manipulators themselves. Who knows?

Wouldn't it be a surprise if those who planned all this were given the double cross?

About The Hibernia Bank

The cable announcement of a run on the Hibernia Savings Bank of San Francisco and the statement that $30,000,000 are available to meet it with, makes the somewhat unique organization of that bank and of some other San Francisco savings banks, interesting. San Francisco has always been a self-sufficient, initiative and daring town. It had to be. On the western borders of the continent, separated by a long sea voyage and a longer and more perilous land voyage from the rest of the country, San Francisco had to be self-sufficient, self-contained, self-reliant, and take her own initiative. As a result San Francisco, and California developed a literature of her own, political ideas of her own, a banking system, and a railroad system of her own, and an individuality of her own.

Not only did she develop a banking system of her own, but she developed a savings bank system of her own, and that system is both curious and interesting. To the average mind the idea of a savings bank is an institution formed by a number of benevolent minded, staid, conservative citizens, of irreproachable character, who put their capital together to start the bank with, and are willing to invest it in this business expecting only a moderate return, because of the good the bank will do in the cultivation of habits of frugality and carefulness in the community. The idea prevails that a larger capital in proportion to deposits and business done, is necessary in a savings bank as compared with a commercial bank, on account of the additional safety demanded in this class of institutions.

How far from the basic principles of savings banking this is, is abundantly proved by the career of the Hibernia Savings bank, the German Savings and Loan Society and one or two others of the very large and very firmly established savings banks in San Francisco. The origin and experience of these banks proves that in savings banks, rightly conducted, there is no need of capital other than that of the depositors themselves, and therefore no need to divert a part of the profits arising from the operations of the bank with the depositors' money to pay dividends on capital that isn't needed.

The Hibernia Savings Bank, as the German Savings and Loan Society, started as purely mutual banks,—as purely mutual as a building and loan society. There was no capital stock and no stockholders, as such. The only capital of the bank was the deposits made by the depositors, and the depositors alone participated in the profits. As soon as depositors had made deposits, there was money to loan, and not sooner, and the officers of the bank were involved in no duty except to conduct the affairs of the institution with honesty, fidelity and ability. The Hibernia Bank was a success from the start. Its depositors furnished all the capital the concern used, and received all the profits the concern made. It secured large numbers of depositors, and as can readily be seen a thousand depositors with an average of a hundred dollars each on deposit would provide $100,000 which is quite a working capital for a savings bank to start with.

This purely mutual system was followed for many years and the Hibernia Savings Bank grew to be a large, powerful and profitable institution, under that system, just as one or two others in San Francisco did and have continued. But after a time some of the men in control of the Hibernia, saw an opportunity to work what would now be called, a turn in high finance. Depositors were receiving all the profits of the business which was often the equivalent of two or three times the ordinary rate of interest allowed on savings deposits. This seemed to the schemers unnecessary good fortune to mere depositors when they had money they would like to invest so profitably. So the plan was proposed of capitalizing the deposits. The necessary legal processes were gone through, and the plan was carried at a meeting of the depositors at which most of the depositors present were present by proxy, and probably only a small proportion knew really what was to be done. But what was to be done was this: The necessary resolution was put through authorizing the creation of a capital stock equal to the amount of the deposits. Every depositor was privileged to transfer his deposit into capital stock and receive a certificate of stock for it. But in case he did not so transfer it within a certain time, then the capital stock that he might have secured could be subscribed by some other depositor. The result was that a very large proportion of the depositors neither knew or appreciated what the change meant and so did not take advantage of it, and thus the bulk of the stock was secured by those who put through the scheme. The bank from that time has been on a very different basis from that on which it started. It has now long been a bank controlled by its stockholders, in which the depositors get just such rates of interest as the bank is obliged to pay in order to get and keep business, while the remainder of the profits go to the stockholders, who, while they paid dollar for dollar for their stock did not invest until the bank was a well established and profitable concern.

The Southern California Editorial party ought to be here tomorrow to see the greatest political wonder of the country—a Republican party convention adopting a secret ballot so that the traitors won't be found out.

Regatta Day is a peculiarly and appropriately Hawaiian holiday.

There is material among the candidates for a very good County and legislative ticket. The question is will the convention tomorrow be able with the secret manipulations that are going on, to make good selections?

There is more alarm felt over the quality of milk the supply just now, than there is over the quality of the drink supply dispensed over the bars of the town. That's one thing about your toper, he never raises a row over the quality.

WASHINGTON EXCURSION.
In all probability there will be a business men's excursion from the State of Washington to his place during the winter. Miss Florence Heavren, who was on the party of "Oregon Girls" who visited Honolulu some time ago, is working up the scheme which is said to be coming along nicely. She is an earnest worker for promotion of these islands. The visit of the business men, while it is social in nature, will probably have a business end also.

TO HAUL ON MANCHURIA THIS WEEK

PRECISE DATE HAS NOT BEEN DEFINITELY DETERMINED—MAY NOT BE BEFORE SATURDAY.

The exact time for commencing the big pull on the wrecked Manchuria has not been selected. It may be at high tide large, tomorrow at 1.21 p. m. or high tide small at 1.03 a. m. At the office of H. Hackfeld and Company, it was stated this morning that the indications at the present time were that the pull would not be commenced before Saturday. High tide large on that day occurs at 2 p. m. and high tide small at 1.45 a. m.

While no report has been received this morning on the subject, it is thought that all of the kedge anchors have been put into place. There are fourteen anchors in all, varying from 3 1/2 to 7 tons each. This means that there will be seven lines running from the ship to a similar number of anchors. An extra anchor is attached to each of the largest anchors in order to back up the anchor and increase the holding power when the haul begins with the winches of the vessel.

The work of getting the lines fast to the anchors and attending to other details of this part of the work as well as getting lines from the U. S. S. Iroquois and revenue cutter Manning to the Manchuria, has caused the delay in starting to haul on the ship. The intention is to haul the vessel toward the port beam as it is thought deep water lies in that direction closer than astern of her. The angle at which the hauling will be done is about 40 degrees or possibly even less.

The ship will probably not be lightened to less than 20 feet draft. The work of moving her outwards is a very ticklish proposition and Captain Metcalf has to guard against the danger of the vessel toppling over on her side.

The pulling will be done by the cable S. S. Restorer, Cutter Manning and naval tug Iroquois. The tug Fearless may be sent over to stand by to aid the vessel in event of her being floated.

The work of jettisoning the coal has been in progress for three days past. Three hundred men are now engaged in this work. One hundred and fifty Japanese stevedores were sent to the vessel yesterday to aid in this work. The water necessary to lighten her to about 20 feet will be pumped out tonight or tomorrow in time to bring her to the desired mark when the hauling begins.

The principal reliance is, of course to be placed on her own winches. As each swell comes in and the vessel rises the winches will lighten on the lines leading to the anchors and every inch gained will be held, so long of course, as the lines hold.

Blasting of the reef about the stern of the vessel was begun yesterday. Charges of dynamite being set off. Three charges were set off yesterday and four this morning. No report of the result of the blasting has been received at the local agency. The intention was to remove obstructions about her stern. She has to be lifted out of her present cradle in the reef and sand. The vessel will have, it is thought to be hauled her length, about 600 feet before she will be afloat. She will not be drawn exactly broadside out but will be pulled at an angle with most of the power toward the port stern.

How long a time will be required from the moment that the hauling is begun, before the vessel either slides into deeper water, topples over or the experiment proves a failure is uncertain. Even Captain Metcalf says that this feature of the case is problematical. It may be a day or it may be weeks before she is floated. The sea has been quite rough the last few days. It is possible that if this condition prevails it will assist the work of getting her out of her cradle toward the deep water. Some of the kedge anchors are about 2,500 feet from the vessel and strong lines are run to these from the ship.

Captain Metcalf is not expected to come to the city before the first trial is made with the vessel. E. B. McClanahan the attorney who has had charge of the office work for H. Hackfeld and Company will go to Waimanalo this afternoon. F. W. Klebahn of H. Hackfeld and Company, who has handled the outside part of the work for the agency, will probably depart tomorrow for the vessel. Naturally there is the keenest desire on the part of the public to witness the floating of the vessel or, in any event, to see the operations whatever may be the result. It is highly probable that quite a large crowd may go to Waimanalo as soon as it be positively known when the hauling is to commence.

It was reported this morning that the vessel had been floated shortly after 9 o'clock but the report proved to be an error.

MAUI COUNTY CONVENTION

PRESENT COUNTY OFFICIALS NOMINATED BY ACCLAMATION—PORTUGUESE GET RECOGNITION

KAHULUI, Maui, September 12.—The Republican County convention for the County of Maui was held at Wailuku yesterday in the Knights of Pythias hall, with a full attendance of all delegates either in person or by proxy, and of the latter there were very few, most of the delegates being present in person.

The delegates gathered at 9 a. m. and from that time up to 11 a. m. caucuses were strictly in order, as several of the Districts had local disputes to settle before going into Convention. On Molokai Mr. Tolleson was a rival of Theodore Meyers for the nomination of Supervisor, and the dispute over the same was quite bitter. It was finally settled by Tolleson agreeing to withdraw and accept the position of Road Supervisor of Molokai. N. Omsted of Hana was a candidate in that District for the Supervisors against W. P. Hala, but the Hana delegates decided in favor of Hala by a vote of 11 to 8. Several other district delegates caucused on the question of representatives, so that there need be no hitch in the conduct of the convention, and at 11 o'clock all was in readiness for the Convention, and at that hour H. P. Baldwin as chairman of the old executive committee called the convention to order. Mr. Baldwin was immediately elected temporary chairman and S. Kellinor temporary secretary. Messrs. D. C. Lindsay, M. H. Reuter, W. Henning, Joe Freitas and Joel Nakaleka were appointed a committee on credentials and a recess was taken while they were examining the credentials and making up their report. The committee reported in about ten minutes, that the credentials of all delegates present were in order, and upon the secretary calling the roll all delegates were found to be present, a few by proxy.

The chair then appointed as a committee on permanent organization, Messrs. T. M. Church, J. D. McVeigh, R. A. Wadsworth, H. P. Baldwin, A. N. Hayeselden, T. T. Meyers and W. P. Hala, and a recess of about half an hour was taken to allow the committee to prepare its report.

Thus the Legislative ticket from this Representative District is: For Senator, Hon. W. J. Coe. For Representatives—Hon. Philip Pahe, M. P. Waiwalo, J. K. Kapo, John Kalua, Joel Nakaleka and Antonio Gomes.

The nominations for County Officers were then taken up and all of the present County Officers were renominated by acclamation, the mention of each name bringing forth much applause. Before the nomination for County Clerk was made the Convention went into executive session for about half an hour over a minor point, but upon reassembling the nomination was quickly made, the final result being as follows:

For Sheriff—W. E. Saffery. For Treasurer—L. M. Baldwin. For Auditor—Charles Wilcox. For County Attorney—D. H. Case. For Clerk—W. E. Kase.

The convention then proceeded with the nomination of District Officers, beginning with Lahaina.

The Lahaina delegates announced as their unanimous choice, Wm. Henning for Supervisor and C. W. Lindsay for Deputy Sheriff, which nominations were made by acclamation.

Makawao District were also unanimous for T. M. Church for Supervisor and Edgar Morton for Deputy Sheriff, the convention ratifying them by acclamation.

Hana Delegates were united upon F. Wittrock for Deputy Sheriff, who was nominated by acclamation, but they were divided upon the Supervisors, Hon. W. P. Hala and N. Omsted being placed in nomination. The Chair deciding that the delegates must decide the matter amongst themselves, a vote was taken resulting in all for Hala and 8 for Omsted. Hon. W. P. Hala thus receiving the nomination.

Molokai delegates were united upon the Supervisors, their candidate, Theo. T. Meyer, being nominated by acclamation, but for Deputy Sheriff the names of J. H. Mahoe and Eugene Duvauchelle were put up. Upon a vote of the delegates being polled, Mahoe received 7 and Duvauchelle 3.

By motion of the defeated parties the nominations of W. P. Hala for Supervisor and J. H. Mahoe for Deputy Sheriff of Molokai were made unanimous.

An executive committee of seven were elected to have full charge of all business in connection with the coming campaign, the said committee being as follows: H. P. Baldwin, chairman and treasurer; R. A. Wadsworth, secretary; H. A. Baldwin, J. D. McVeigh, Guy C. Goodness, W. Henning and D. H. Kauloku.

The plan of campaign was left to the executive committee, but it was decided to open up the campaign on September 27.

PLEASING FEATURE OF REGATTA DAY

YACHT RACES WILL BE IN ORDER—NEARLY ALL OF LOCAL YACHTS ARE ENTERED.

One of the most pleasing features of the coming Regatta Day program will be the yacht races between the yachts of the Hawaii Yacht Club. Nearly all of the yachts belonging to the club have entered and close finishes are in order.

The yachts are divided into two classes, the first and second. The yachts are to be classed according to their size and the amount of all that they carry. Although the yachts entered are nearly all of them members of the Yacht club, yet the affair is not one by the Club, but the races will come under the auspices of the Regatta Committee.

The course will start in the harbor from the judges' boat and will be out and around the outside buoy, then to Pearl Harbor, outside buoy, and return, entering the harbor and passing the judges' boat.

The yachts entered are as follows: First class—Kamehameha, Kapolei, Gladys, La Paloma, Helene, Spray and Hawaii. Second class—Malolo, Skip, Dash, Columbia, Irish, Maggie, Myrtle, Deference and Aloha.

The judge of the race will be L. de L. Ward. The starter and in charge of the yachts will be George Turner.

BOAT CREWS ARE READY TO RACE

ALL THE CREWS ARE ON EDGE FOR THE COMING RACES—LAUNCH FOR THE JUDGES.

Today the last pull over the course will be made by the boat crews who are going into Saturday's sport. Trained to a minute, eager for the starting shot both the Myrtles and the Heulants await the moment of victory.

It is bound to be a hard struggle and one into which every ounce of blood on the part of both of the crews will be thrown. There will be nothing of a fake in the contest for water sports of that calibre have never been known in these waters.

Both of the crews were out last night and went over the course. Tonight the same will take place but tomorrow will be a day of rest and Saturday morning the race will be entered upon by crews that are fresh and snappy.

Both of the boat clubs will be decorated and in their refreshments will be served to all of the friends of the crews. The judges will have a boat for themselves which will keep watch of the races.

The eleventh celebration of Regatta Day will probably be as fully successful as it has been in the past.

A KAMAAINA OFF TO MAORI LAND

ANDREW DEMPSTER, OF KAUALAFTER TEN YEARS' ABSENCE, GOES BACK TO NEW ZEALAND.

LIHUE, September 10.—To all those traveling on Kauai and more especially those who put up at the Fairview Hotel, Lihue, it will be a regret to hear that Mr. Andrew Dempster is about to leave the community. He had become as much a part of the place as Hoary Head, Waiakaloa and the Waitua Falls and the place will hardly seem the old one to its customers with his genial face away from the table or the group on the veranda.

Mr. Dempster came up to Kauai from New Zealand about ten years ago. He had no intention of staying, but came to see a relation of his staying here, Mr. A. Garvie, who at the time was at Makaweli. He was so charmed with the scenery and climate of Lihue that he decided to stay on for a while, and the while got to be ten years.

During the whole period he has been living at the Fairview Hotel and has been a source of pleasure and information to the guests.

His brother-in-law will pass through Honolulu next week on a trip to New Zealand and this decided Mr. Dempster to leave his old stamping and once more look up old friends and acquaintances at the antipodes. He may stay there or perhaps go to Japan, a country for which he has a sincere admiration, or he may return to old Scotland. Who can tell? At least Mr. Dempster does not know.

His very many friends who appreciate his unflinching kindness hate to see him go, but if the decision is irrevocable, wish him a pleasant voyage and welcome back, if he should feel unable to resist Hawaii's attraction.

M'ILVAIN IS MAKING GOOD

LARGE CROWD OF SPORTS WATCH HIM WORK—SULLIVAN IN GOOD SHAPE.

Before a large crowd of admirers McIlvain the middle weight champion of the Philippines went through his training stunts over the Palace Saloon yesterday afternoon. The room was crowded with fight fans who went to see what the big fellow could do with the mitts. They were not disappointed. What he can do is not so small. He is a good man and will no doubt put up a great fight with Honolulu Dick next Saturday evening.

McIlvain has as a sparring partner one Parker who is a big black coon about the size of Silva of local fame. He is a willing lad and went through the mill with McIlvain as though he enjoyed it. He would make a first class man to put in some prelim with a 150 man.

Sullivan says that the row will not hurt him and that he will fight the fight of his life on Saturday night. He knows that McIlvain is a good man and he is not taking any chances.

The fight looks much better to all of the fans than it did at first. The reason for the whole matter lies in the fact that McIlvain is making good and that it will not be the stand up and get your money easy like.

Sullivan has been on the road and he occasionally boxes a few rounds. There will be something going Saturday night alright.

CONDITIONS IN VALPARAISO

EARTHQUAKE WAS SO SEVERE MEN COULD NOT STAND ON FEET.

VALPARAISO, (Chile), August 23.—Some of the business houses reopened here today for the first time since the earthquake. Telegraphic and telephonic communication with Santiago has been re-established. The city is still under martial law. Traffic ceases at 6 o'clock in the evening. Everybody is compelled to take some part in the work of restoring normal conditions.

One of the greatest difficulties encountered by the authorities is the interment of the bodies recovered from the ruins, as all the cemeteries were destroyed. At the various temporary morgues heaps of coffins have been accumulated, awaiting the designation of their place of burial. The work of recovering the bodies is being pushed to the utmost in order to avoid an epidemic, in fear of which many families are leaving the city.

Twenty robbers and three incendiaries have been shot and their bodies exposed bearing the words "For a robber."

Survivors of the earthquake say that during the shocks it was impossible to stand erect without support.

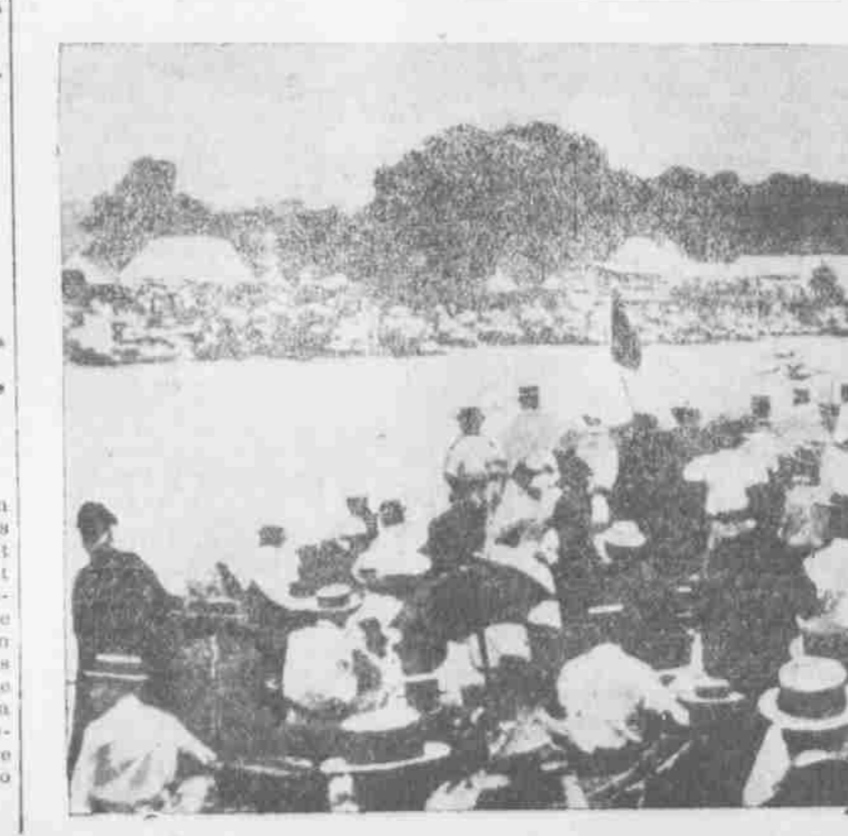

clates his unflinching kindness hate to see him go, but if the decision is irrevocable, wish him a pleasant voyage and welcome back, if he should feel unable to resist Hawaii's attraction.

SECRET BALLOT AND VOTING BOOTHS

THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION MAKES NEW DEPARTURE IN THE MATTER OF VOTING.

Fourth and Fifth district delegates to the Republican county convention caucused yesterday afternoon, to receive a report of the noon caucus by subcommittees. A plan of organization of the convention was tentatively agreed upon. It was decided that the permanent chairman should be a Fourth District man, while the Fifth will have temporary chairman. Committees were agreed upon to be appointed as follows: One from each precinct of the Fourth, and from the Fifth District on the old basis of eleven precincts, one from each precinct with the exception of the Seventh and Eleventh Precincts, which should be combined and the two thus combined furnish but one committeeman for each committee.

As to the method of convention voting the following was adopted: "That it is the sense of this caucus that the convention to meet on Friday adopt a method of a secret ballot, the convention as a whole nominating all candidates for which the convention as a whole should nominate; that the nominations of Representatives from the Fourth and Fifth Districts to be on a separate ballot; that the nominations for Supervisors and Deputy Sheriff for the district of Honolulu be on a separate ballot; and that the Supervisors and Deputy Sheriffs nominated by the districts of Koolau-poko and Koolauloa, Waialua and Waianae, and Ewa, be announced to the convention after the caucus of the delegates from those districts, and, further that necessary voting booths be provided."

It was agreed "that the nominations for all offices be made at one time and that the names be placed on the ballot as provided for in the Harris motion. "That the order of offices appearing on the ballot at large should be: Senators, Supervisor-at-Large, County Sheriff, County Clerk, County Attorney, County Treasurer and County Auditor. "That the ballots should be uniform in size and color. "That the form of ballot should be set up in a printing office under the supervision of Harris and Fernandez, and when nominations are closed the printers to be notified by the officials of the convention as to what names have been added to or taken from the form first furnished by the special committee (the first form to contain names of all advertised republican candidates.)

"Five tellers to be appointed, being two from the Fourth and two from the Fifth and the secretary. "Speeches to be limited to five minutes in convention."

It was further agreed that an exception should be made in behalf of W. T. Rawlins, as far as the rule requiring personal attendance at the convention is concerned. Rawlins is ill at home and will not be able to attend, but will send his written pledge to support the ticket according to the party rule. Rawlins is a candidate for representative.

The following order of business was agreed upon: "First—The election of a temporary chairman, secretary and interpreter. The same to be elected from the Fifth District. "Second—Appointment of a committee on credentials. "Third—Report of the committee on credentials. "Fourth—Election of a permanent chairman, secretary and interpreter. The same to be chosen from the Fourth District. "Following is the appointment of standing committees, to wit: On rules, platform and resolutions."

ROBBERS RANSACK CAMERON HOUSE

THEY ENTERED THE PLACE WHILE THE FAMILY WAS AWAY. SECURED CONSIDERABLE LOOT.

The Beretania street residence of Mrs. Captain Cameron, was robbed recently. Mrs. Cameron and daughters have been staying at the beach. A neighbor has been looking after the chickens at their Beretania street residence. She went to the yard and happened to notice one of the doors open. She supposed that the Camerons had returned to the house and called to them. But no reply came. She entered the house and found evidence that the place had been ransacked. It is not known to what extent the place was robbed. It is significant that the robbery occurred after the soldiers from the wrecked transport Sheridan were landed at Honolulu and quartered nearby.

Among the articles missing is a valuable pair of marine glasses which were presented to the late pilot some years ago.

HIS PRIVATE APARTMENTS. "Mister," whined the tattered tramp as he halted at the gate, "can't you give me a lift in the world? You broke up my home."

The old farmer dropped his ax in astonishment. "Broke up your home?" he gasped. "I never saw you before in my life. How did I break up your home?"

"Why, I had been sleeping in that old barrel back of the barn for two weeks and you just broke it up for firewood."

HOW STUDENTS AT STANFORD

A LARGE NUMBER IN ATTENDANCE—CHANGES IN BUILDING PLANS.

(Special Correspondence.) STANFORD UNIVERSITY, August 30.—Stanford University reopened for the work of the new year on August 28. Although every effort was made during the summer to repair the damage done by the earthquake on April 18, this has not yet been fully accomplished owing to a strike of the union workmen in the early part of this month. The declaration of the university for the open shop at that time induced the union carpenters, stone masons, plasterers, painters, riggers and structural steel workers to stop working for a period of two months, at the end of which time they returned. Since then over 300 men have been steadily engaged upon the restoration, so that a few more weeks will see the buildings which will be needed during the year, in good condition.

There may be some important changes in the future structural plans of the university, and certain it is that there will be a departure in the manner of constructing the new buildings. It is rumored that the new gymnasium and the new library will be lower buildings than those destroyed were, that they will be constructed so as to resist future possible earthquakes, and that they may cover a greater ground area. The memorial church will be rebuilt in as nearly the old form as possible, and will be a far more substantial structure than formerly. It is expected that this will take three years. Such of the costly mosaics and windows as were injured will be replaced. The massive memorial arch will be torn down to the base and will probably not, if at all, be rebuilt for years. Every building has been carefully examined by two separate boards of engineers and wherever there are any signs of defects they are being remedied. Important in their scope have been the resignation of C. E. Hodges, long the resident architect, and the severing of the McGilvray Stone Company of its connection with the university. The Colusa Stone and Granite Company has taken up the work of the latter.

The fact that a larger number of students than were expected have returned to college has caused a general good feeling. In commenting upon this editorially the daily college paper says: "The large number of returning students clearly demonstrates that the spirit of Stanford has been strengthened rather than broken by the disaster of last April. For the past week, the vicinity has been filled with Stanford men and women who arrived days earlier than usual in their eagerness to return. Calamity and misfortune have shown that the Stanford Spirit of which we boasted was a reality. We needed but the opportunity to demonstrate this loyalty."

"In spite of unfortunate delays and setbacks during the summer months, the work of reconstruction is now well under way and will go forward without intermission. Perhaps to those of us who knew the University before the disaster a feeling of loss will at times dim the goal that lies ahead and the noise of singing be mingled with the noise of weeping. Yet this feeling will serve only to intensify our enthusiasm. The present is no time for the doubter and pessimist. It is not the season to lament a vanished past, but to prepare for the certain future. There is no real reason for discouragement. With the return of an overwhelming majority of the old students, and with indications of a Freshman class larger than that of last year, with our magnificent resources, with the skill and energy of those who are engaged in the work of repairing and rebuilding, we can see no reason for feelings other than those of hope and confidence."

Hawaii has this year again sent some more students to Stanford in the persons of Harry White, a graduate of the High School, who is taking up Civil Engineering, and Stanley Ashford and Adolph Schnack, both graduates of Oahu College, who are taking up electrical engineering and chemistry, respectively.

A. D. Larnach is back for his third and last year of law work. He, together with his wife and son, spent the summer in Salta Cruz.

T. E. Robinson, formerly of the Kamehameha Schools, also takes up his last year of law. He spent the summer in Los Angeles where he was admitted to the bar in July. Mr. Robinson and Mr. Larnach have both received appointments as librarians in the law department.

Another former Honolulu man in the law department is W. Galbraith, Jr., who spent the summer in Mexico.

F. Schnack begins his law course this year.

E. N. Smith has been appointed to a position on the Daily Palo Alto, the college daily. He worked for a part of the summer upon the university buildings.

The Misses E. Pearce, N. Craig and L. Wells have returned from vacations in the Islands and are continuing work in their respective departments, Latin, English and physiology.

Miss E. Peterson resumes her work in the English department, and Miss Haley in history. Both these young ladies have had an enjoyable summer at Pacific Grove where they attended the Stanford summer session for a part of the time.

C. Peterson is in the department of geology and mining. He has just returned from the mines in the interior where he was engaged with a surveying party.

H. Pratt is taking up chemistry. He was employed for the greater part of

IN MEMORY OF COMMODORE BARRY

HIBERNIANS OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY OF DEATH OF "FATHER OF THE AMERICAN NAVY."

One hundred and three years ago today, in Philadelphia, Commodore John Barry, the "Father of the American Navy," passed away, and on tomorrow (Friday) evening, Division No. 1 and the Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H., will gather in C. B. U. hall with their friends to properly commemorate the event. A good programme, including songs, recitations, orchestra numbers and some excellent instrumental solos, will be presented, to be followed by refreshments and a social time. As will be seen by the following sketch, Barry is a man who deserves a place in the affection of everyone who enjoys the blessings of American freedom.

The following account of Commodore Barry's record is taken from the "Army and Navy Journal":

"The following account of John Barry was given by Dr. John G. Coyle, in an address on the subject of 'The Claims of Commodore Barry to the Title of the Father of the American Navy':

"John Barry was born in Wexford, Ireland, in 1733, and came to America in command of a schooner from the east Indies in 1766. Thereafter he made Philadelphia his home.

"When the Revolution began, John Barry offered his services to the Colonies. Congress, the then government, saw the necessity for naval defense and purchased two vessels, named the Lexington and the Reprisal, and directed them to be fitted out as privateers. The captains appointed were John Barry of the Lexington and Wickes of the Reprisal. The commissions were issued by the properly qualified authority, the Marine Committee of the Continental Congress, on Dec. 7, 1775.

On the same day Paul Jones was appointed a lieutenant, but was not assigned to any ship. The first vessel ready for sea was the Lexington and, under John Barry as captain, she left Cape May on March 31, 1776. On April 7th, John Barry in the Lexington attacked the British sloop, Edward, and captured her after a battle lasting one hour and a half. He returned to Philadelphia on April 11, 1776.

"Thus John Barry, Irishman and Catholic, was the first officer appointed to the command of the first vessel owned by the United States of America, the Lexington, which vessel was named for the first battle of the Revolution, and in this vessel fought the first sea fight, under the authority of Congress, capturing their first naval prize for the navy of the United States. "Barry captured more prizes than any other command in the navy. He commanded the fine ship Edgemoor, named for Lord Edgemoor, a British peer, who resigned his army commission rather than fight against the Americans, whose cause his conscience told him to be just. He also commanded the Raleigh, and in this vessel fought a nine-hour sea duel off the coast of Maine, escaping with his men when his vessel was nearly annihilated.

"When Philadelphia was on the verge of capture by the British troops, Barry raised a company of volunteers and crossed the Delaware with Washington on that memorable Christmas of 1776, taking part in the battles of Princeton and Trenton. He served for several months in Washington's army. When Philadelphia was finally captured, Lord Howe offered Barry the sum of $75,000 and the command of the finest vessel in the British navy to desert the American cause. Barry spurned the bribe indignantly, asserting that all the gold of England could not tempt him to fire one shot against the emblem of liberty. While the British held Philadelphia, Barry took twenty-seven men in four rowboats one night, stole past the city with muffled oars, was discovered by the sentries, pursued and fired upon, but escaped to the lower river, where he attacked and burned two British vessels, seized an immense amount of supplies and attempted to steal the schooner Alert. He was pursued by the entire fleet and forced to abandon the vessel, but saved the supplies, which he sent to Washington's starving army at Valley Forge, winning the grateful thanks of Washington and the army.

"In the ship Alliance he fought a great battle on May 28, 1781. In the fight against two British ships, the Atlanta and the Trepassy, Barry was badly wounded and compelled to go below decks. While below the officer in command wished to surrender, because the Alliance was hard pressed. But the bleeding Barry leaped from the surgeon's table and declared that he would go on deck and fight the ship himself. He did, and the two British ships surrendered.

"Barry took no pay during the Revolution, merely having his share of the prize moneys. He fought the first and last sea fights of the Revolution, the last against the Sybille in 1782. After the Revolution he again resumed his merchant service. As a citizen he forced two recalcitrant assembliesmen of Pennsylvania to take their seats and make the necessary quorum which voted to adopt the new United States Constitution.

"While George Washington was president, the French-American war was brewing and the necessity of a navy became apparent. President George Washington issued commission number 1, in the navy of the United States, under its present form of government, to Captain John Barry, making Barry ranking officer of the United States Navy. Thus in a double sense Barry is the Father of the American Navy. He was the first officer appointed in the Revolution, fought the first sea fight under the authority of Congress and took the first prize. He was the first officer appointed under our present Constitution, by our first President, holding commission number 1, commanding the first ship of our Navy, named fittingly enough, the United States.

"He died in Philadelphia in 1802, with the rites of the Catholic church, in the arms of his wife, and is buried in St. Mary's churchyard in that city. He gave freedom to his slaves and an annuity to the poor school of the parish. "A monument of him is in Fairmount Park and his portrait hangs in Independence Hall, Philadelphia. Congress has this session authorized an appropriation of $50,000 to erect a statue of him in Washington, voted by the preceding Congress."

inated shall file with the party executive committee their endorsement of the ticket and platform, and pledge to work for it. Any candidate failing to file such a pledge is to be taken off the ticket, according to this plan, and the executive committee is to be authorized to fill the vacancy.

It is predicted that if the rules requiring personal presence is defeated, Dillingham will be nominated. In any event he has the 19 votes of the Second of the Fourth, instructed for him. The scrap in this event will be among Hustace, Gear and Quinn. Efforts were made yesterday and today to get a new man into the contest, and strong persuasions were used on James F. Morgan to get him to enter, but he absolutely refused. Other men are being looked for today, by those who oppose Gear and Quinn and want Hustace and Dillingham or some other man.

"The proposition to run Gear simply means that Democrat Moore will be elected," said one Fourth District man who is looking for a dark horse, "for Gear cannot carry the Fourth."

The Brown machine is apparently working for Gear but there is much division over him in the Fourth. If he gets the nomination it is likely to be with the aid of the Fifth machine and may be at the expense of shutting out Dillingham.

The position of John Hughes has become one of considerable difficulty in view of the rule prohibiting candidates from being members of any other political organization than the Republican party. Hughes is a member of the Civic Federation executive committee, and will have to resign, it is claimed, or get out of the fight for representation.

It is reported that the Lane crowd will try to repeat the slap at Carter which was given at the Waikuku convention. If the attempt is made, it is also reported, there will be some fun. Opponents of such action intend to carry the matter on to the floor of the convention and force a roll call putting everyone on record.

There will be many caucusses tonight. In the Fourth a number will be devoted to the supervisorship proposition, and to efforts to put Dillingham through or buck the rising Gear machine. In the Fifth the senatorships are much discussed. Some caucusses held have indicated that the district would go for McCandless, W. O. Smith and Chillingworth, though considerable fighting over McCandless is being done. W. B. Hoogs is the rival of Chillingworth.

John Hughes believes his chances for nomination to the House of Representatives from the Fourth district are very good. He says he expects the nomination and as for platforms the platform adopted by the convention will be his.

Change of Names In Boat Crew

THE TROUBLE OVER DICK SULLIVAN IS PAU—PHILIP F. CORNYN WILL ROW.

The name of Dick Sullivan has been withdrawn from the Heanani Freshman crew and that of Philip F. Cornyn substituted. However there will be no change of man.

According to the rules a man may not row under an assumed name so Sullivan is obliged to drop his fighting name and take his own which is Philip F. Cornyn.

The Regatta Committee met last evening and decided that Sullivan might row if he so wanted. No protest was entered and even if one had been the committee would not have considered it for there is nothing in the rules covering the day, wherein professionalism is barred. Sullivan may row but is forced to accept his own name in order to come under the rules of the day.

Sullivan does not enjoy being in the limelight nearly as much as some people suppose. He has expressed regret that he was entered as the center of a row.

And so Sullivan will row. He will pull No. 4 in the Heanani Freshman crew, but the name that appears on the program will be Philip F. Cornyn.

Says The Answer Is Wrong

HOLT MINORS OBJECT TO THE ACTION OF THEIR GUARDIAN AD LITEM.

Smith and Lewis this morning filed in the circuit court a motion to strike out the answer of E. A. Douthitt as guardian ad litem of the Holt minors, with protests of the minors against the answer, claiming that it fails to protect their interests and make admissions damaging to their cause. The suit is an action to construe the old Holt will and Douthitt's answer was filed as guardian of Valentine S. Holt, Walter E. Holt, Hmelia Holt, Helene A. Holt, Irene N. Holt and J. R. Holt.

The motion to strike out the answer is based on the following grounds, supported by an affidavit of Helen A. Cushing, guardian of the minors:

"That said answer interposes no defense whatever to the petitioners' bill and alleges matters that are prejudicial to the interests of said minors;

"That said answer admits all of the allegations of petitioners' bill, which said admissions are distinctly against the rights and interests of the said minors;"

The affidavit says that Douthitt has not consulted with the minors or their guardian and that his answer is prejudicial to their interests.
