Edings Refuses To Have Case Reopened

Court Finds Kealokaa Knew Facts When Suit Was Settled—Will Appeal To Supreme Court

After hearing testimony on the petition to reopen the case of J. W. Ambrose vs. Kealokaa, Judge Edings last Saturday denied the motion. E. R. Bevins, attorney for Kealokaa, noted exceptions and states his intention of carrying the case to the supreme court.

The case is the one settled by agreement out of court, and which the defendant now claims was settled by Eugene Murphy, his then attorney, without his knowledge of the true facts in the matter. W. O. Smith, a witness in the case on Saturday, who had had a part in the settlement, the Bishop Estate being interested in the matter, testified that Kealokaa was informed of the basis of settlement, and had agreed to it at the time.

Plan For New High School Abandoned For Present

That the building of a new high school building from privately subscribed funds, has been abandoned or at least indefinitely deferred, is indicated by the call for tenders made this week for the construction of a new three-room teachers cottage for the government school at Hamakua-poko. The building of this cottage had been abandoned because it was expected that the present high school building would be used for the purpose.

It is stated that the supervisors at their last meeting, were informed that the proposed donation of a new high school building cannot now be depended upon. Hence the call for bids for the teachers' cottage which has long been badly needed.

Auto Thieves Tried To Run Car Over Sea Cliff

Hilo, Feb. 19—With the intention of winding up their joy ride by driving the stolen automobile over a pall in the sea, five young men of Kona, last Wednesday, were forced to abandon their attempt because the machine became stalled near the edge of the cliff, where it was deserted.

The car was stolen from the garage, where it was kept, by five young men, four of them Hawaiians and one Filipino. The car was the property of Okomoto, a Japanese, who used it in the rent business in West Hawaii, with headquarters at Hilo.

When the automobile was missed the police under Sheriff Sam Pua, quickly rounded up four of the alleged auto bandits, all of them Hawaiians, and they are now in the Kailua jail. They are Kaale, Amina, Kollo and George Kaae. They are being held for the grand jury under charges of burglary in the first degree.

FINED FOR CARELESS DRIVING

T. Fujinaka, driver of an auto-truck, who collided with Isama Morioka, a pedestrian, at Kahului, several weeks ago, with the result that the latter was sent to the hospital for repairs, was fined $25 in police court on Tuesday, on charge of furious and heedless driving. The accident happened, it appears, when Fujinaka attempted to take the steering wheel from another Japanese who was learning to drive.

CHAMBER CONSIDERING LEGISLATION

The Maui chamber of commerce is holding a special meeting this afternoon for the purpose of considering such matters of proposed legislation as affect Maui, and as may be suggested for passage by the present legislature. The chamber will possibly consider endorsing some of the various measures advocated by the Republican county platform adopted last week.

TWO HURT BY DYNAMITE

Kika Matsugi and Sakia Kichigoru, two tunnel men employed by the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Company, were badly injured last week, when a charge of dynamite exploded prematurely. Matsugi was hurt about the head and face, and may lose an eye, while Kichigoru was badly bruised on the back and left side. Both will recover, but will be in the hospital for several weeks.

CHARMING VISITOR LEAVES

Miss Elizabeth Peters, of Portland, Ore., who for the past several months has been the charming guest of Mrs. R. B. Walker, of Kihel, will leave this week for her home. A very pleasant little party was given at the Walker home last Friday evening in her honor. Miss Peters has made many friends on Maui who contemplate her departure with sincere regret.

We Beg Your Pardon!

We think it was Mutt who, in the kindness and simplicity of his heart, smote Jeff on his bald spot with a base-ball bat in an endeavor to kill a mosquito.

And—
With like good intentions it was the Wailuku fire-department that at six o'clock this morning smashed a window in the Maui News' shop, and put out the fire that had just been purposely lighted under the metal pot of our linotype, with a stream from the chemical engine.

But, like Mutt and Jeff, we only sustained a black eye, which will have entirely disappeared by our next appearance. We take this opportunity of expressing our thanks to the vigilant members of the fire-department for their zeal in our behalf, even if we didn't have a fire, and at the same time we crave the indulgence of our subscribers for any evidences of the black eye which we may be unable to conceal in this issue.

Joy-Rides Cause Youth's Downfall

Embezzles And Forges In Effort To Keep Up Rapid Pace—Let Off With Fine But Can't Raise It

Ernest G. Hammer, book-keeper for the past year of the Hugh Howell Engineering Company, pleaded guilty in the Wailuku District court on Wednesday, of embezzlement of $96.50. He was fined $125, which he was unable to raise, and as a consequence he is serving time in the county jail. Hammer cashed a check of the Maui Agricultural Company to his employers and appropriated the proceeds to his own use, and it was on this charge that he was arrested last Saturday.

Besides this, however, he is said to have taken between $300 and $400 more by juggling the Company's payroll and by forging workmen's names to pay checks. He was able to make good all but about $200 by surrendering some stock which he had purchased and an automobile which he had bought on installments of $50 per month.

It is possible that he will be tried on charge of forgery. The forged checks to aggregate of nearly $200, were cashed by the Pioneer Store.

Hammer is about twenty-five years of age, and is a German subject. He was a soldier in the cavalry branch of the U. S. army, but bought his discharge. He was an employee of Hackfeld & Company before coming to Maui. Inability to spread his $75 salary to cover $45 board, $50 automobile installments, joy-rides, good clothes, etc., were the cause of his present plights. When the bold attempt caused comment some time ago, he explained that he had received a legacy.

Monday's Meeting May Decide About Next Fair

Whether or not Maui will hold a county fair again next fall, is a matter that will probably be definitely determined next Monday afternoon. Notices of the meeting to be held at the Wailuku Town Hall, at two o'clock were sent out this week to members of the general committee of the last fair, which is in process of closing up its work. A general invitation is also extended to the Maui public to attend the meeting.

At the meeting it was pretty definitely decided to hold a fair in 1917, despite the fact that many business men who had borne the brunt of the last fair felt that it should be deferred till 1918. Since then, however, the leaders among the livestock raisers, who had been most insistent that no postponement be considered, have changed their minds, and it is understood will now recommend that Maui throw her energy towards helping make the proposed territorial fair, to be held in Honolulu, a big success.

DEATH OF KAMAANA

Mrs. Modesta Marks Mendes, an old and well-known resident of Puunene, died last Monday, February 19, at the home of her daughter. The funeral was largely attended, the procession being led by the Puunene band. Interment was in the Puunene Catholic cemetery.

The deceased was born in St. George, Madeira, on February 13, 1862, and was therefore just past 55 years of age at the time of her death. She is survived by nine children—John, Manuel, and Frank Marks, of Wailuku; Joe Marks, of Kahului; Antonio and Domingo Marks, Mrs. Joe K. Robello, Mrs. Chas. Ah Muck Sang, and Mrs. Joe Correa, of Puunene.

Propose Part-Time Apprentice Schools

Alexander House Settlement Hopes Legislature May Act On Matter—Employers Ready To Co-Operate

Deciding to postpone action until after the legislature has had a chance to consider the matter, the directors of the Alexander House Settlement, at a meeting held last Friday, disposed of a proposition of Head Worker L. R. Mathews for the establishment of a trade school in connection with the institution. There was much interest manifested in the matter, however, and if nothing is done by the legislature towards having this need handled by the public school department, it is entirely probable that it will be again taken up by the Settlement.

Mr. Mathews idea is for a part-time school for boys who are learning trades. He had already found a willingness on the part of many business concerns to co-operate with such a school, he stated. The directors were generally favorable to the suggestion, but believe that the department of public instruction should meet the need through its present organization of the public schools.

Mr. Mathews stated that in Honolulu the Y. M. C. A. has for a year or more been conducting a school for apprentices on a half-time basis, the boys working in their various shops and studying in the school in relays. The school work is made extremely practical, but aims to start a boy in such way that he will be able to make the most of himself in his chosen occupation. The Y. M. C. A., however, does not believe it should do this work, it was stated, but does believe that the public school system should be broadened to include it.

Maui Banks May Give Up Federal Charters

For the purpose of considering the proposition of reorganizing the First National Bank of Wailuku, the First National Bank of Paia, and the Lahaina National Bank by surrendering their federal charters and incorporating as a single bank under the laws of the territory, a meeting of the shareholders of the several institutions has been called for March 31. C. D. Lufkin, manager of the three banks, stated this morning that there are certain advantages to be gained by the proposed step, among which will be permission to lend money on real estate security. The territory will be the gainer, he further stated, in the matter of taxes.

Alexander House Girls Celebrate At Beach

Fifteen girls, members of the "H. W. Club," an organization of the older girls in the Alexander House Settlement, hiked to the Settlement's beach house in Kahului on Washington's Birthday, taking their lunch and spending the day. Mrs. Winifred Weddick was chaperone. A second party was held there in the evening when members of the Settlement staff and friends went down for supper.

This beach house, which is a comparatively new feature of the Settlement, is becoming more popular. Inquiries have been received as to who may use it. Any of the Settlement's friends may have the use of this building upon application at Mr. Mathews' office. The building is equipped with dressing and shower rooms and a small kitchen where meals may be prepared.

MAUI GIRLS HONORED

The following interesting article shows how keenly alive our girls are to be selected for honorary positions in their colleges:

"Maui Girls Named By Class at Mills.

"Two Maui girls were named by members of the sophomore class at Mills College to serve as officers of the 1918 organizations. Miss Cleo Case of Wailuku, Maui, was named to the secretaryship of the class and Miss Mabel Wilcox, also of Wailuku, was elected sergeant-at-arms. Others elected to official positions were president, Miss Ellen Eason of Pasadena; vice-president, Miss Marjorie Dinmore, Marysville; treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Treat Thompson, Modesto."

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Tam Yau, of Makawao have announced the engagement of their daughter Ethel to Mr. A. K. Jim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ah Hoy of Wailuku. Both Miss Tam Yau and Mr. Jim are widely known and popular young people of Maui, Mr. Jim being one of the book-keepers of the First National Bank of Wailuku. The wedding will occur some time in March.

Several Injured In Bad Auto Accident

Paia Man Has Arm Broken—Cameron Says Was Blinded By Other Machine

Jack Hackett, a boiler-maker employed by the Maui Agricultural Company, is in the hospital nursing a broken arm, five others are suffering from divers minor cuts and bruises, and an automobile is in the shop in badly wrecked condition, as a result of collision with an electric light pole about midnight, Wednesday night. The accident happened at the turn in the road just below the Wailuku depot.

Those in the party were—F. B. Cameron, of Paia, owner and driver of the car, William Mangel, George Lindsay, Chas. Murasky, and Tom Walker, and Hackett. They claim that an approaching machine without dimmers on the lights, so blinded Cameron that he could not see to keep the machine in the road. The car struck the pole side on, with such force that the pole was broken. The remarkable feature of the affair, according to the police, is that no one was killed.

The police state that a thorough investigation will be instituted to fix the blame for the accident.

Big Island Wants Home For Girls Who Need It

Hilo, February 17—Following a busy session of the Juvenile Court this morning Judge C. K. Quinn spoke emphatically in support of a proposition that the Hilo Boarding School establish an annex for the education of girls. Judge Quinn stated that this was one of the necessities which Hilo will sometime have to face, not, he said, an industrial school, but one where a girl will have at least something of the same chance along practical lines in education that the boys of the Territory now have here at this splendid school.

Judge Quinn has already taken up the matter with Mrs. Levi Lyman who was once a teacher in the Kamehameha Girls' School, in Honolulu, and has also had a wide experience in the Hilo Boarding School. He made the suggestion for the girls' annex and Mrs. Lyman is reported to have been much impressed with the idea and will be one of the advocates of such an addition to the educational facilities for girls here.

It is probably that the Board of Trade of Hilo will take up the matter and it is possible that some action will be taken by its legislative committee in seeking at least partial support in this matter.

KONA WEATHER BAD FOR FISHING

The James Jump party and others who have been trying the angling on the Kihel side recently, have not had much success owing to the continued southerly weather. Jump returned to Honolulu the latter part of last week in his fishing launch, Sea Scout. He did succeed in taking a number of fine ulua, one of which weighed 52 pounds, and won for him the ulua cup for the first ulua of the season over 50 pounds in weight.

MAUI VISITOR COMPLIMENTED

Mrs. D. B. Murdock of Maui and Mrs. Fred Dickson of San Francisco were the guests of honor at a tea given by Mrs. John Guld yesterday afternoon. The dining room was like a spring garden with its large basket filled with sweet peas, forget-me-nots and violets. The reception hall and lanai were very effective with quantities of golden coreopsis and baskets of feathery green ferns.

Mrs. Erdman Baldwin poured tea. Mrs. Wallace Farrington poured coffee. Mrs. Ray Allen and Mrs. Dorothy Guld greeted the guests and Miss Frances Farrington, Miss Hildred Church and Miss Helen Church helped in the comfort and attention to all. About 60 friends called during the afternoon.—Star-Bulletin.

Valley Isle Theater Sold At Forced Sale For $2750

On a foreclosure of mortgage sale, held in front of the Wailuku court house at noon last Monday, the Valley Isle Theater was sold to Mrs. Ned Nicholas at her bid of $2750. The purchaser, by terms of the sale, also assumes payment of back rent amounting to $35. It is understood that the theater is to be refinished and opened shortly under the management of Weller & Vasconsellos.

The only other bidders on the property were J. Garcia and C. D. Lufkin. The sale was made to satisfy claims of the First National Bank of Wailuku against the property. Mrs. Nicholas and Guy S. Goodness are the owners of the land on which the theater stands, and held by the corporation under lease.

PRACTICAL SCHOOLING vs. EDUCATION

The plan of trade schools, discussed by the directors of the Alexander House Settlement, last week, is one which deserves the serious consideration of everyone interested in the boys of the territory or the future welfare of the Islands. The proposal of Head Worker Mathews that the Settlement undertake such a school in co-operation with various industrial concerns in the community is good. The suggestion that the public school department should enlarge its scope so as to effectually provide for this need, is better.

It is understood that the matter will probably be brought to the attention of the legislature in its consideration of school matters. The Y. M. C. A., in Honolulu, which has for the past year been very successfully conducting a trade school, is said to be an earnest advocate of this work being made a part of the public school system, and its experience should have much weight.

There should be no question as to where the duty belongs. The only question is—Do we need such schools? The very evident fact that the youth of the Islands are not getting the best equipment for life at the present time, that our school system is antiquated, and that the present administration has shown itself to be smugly self-satisfied with things as they are, should indicate an affirmative answer to this question.

Hawaii is not alone backward in matters educational, for the whole United States has long been in the same rut. Development has been largely in matter of detail and not on basic principles. Some of our big cities, notable in congested eastern centers of population, are now making a notable struggle to make the schools meet the real every-day needs of the people. They are getting away from the idea that inasmuch as every boy born in the United States is a prospective president, all boys should be educated towards that end. It works all right for the ones that do become president, but is a little hard on those who have to earn a living in some less exalted occupation.

Without shutting the door of opportunity to anyone's receiving any kind of an education he may wish or be capable of making use of, Hawaii should bend her energies towards offering also a scheme of training that will best enable every one of her polyglot inhabitants to make a decent living and, to the extent of his or her inherent ability, to help elevate the social plane of the Territory. Hawaii has often boasted of her advancement along educational lines. Let us be sure that we are able to make good that boast.

ARE WE OVERLOOKING SOMETHING?

The onion growing experiment in the Kuiaha homestead district, described in our news columns of this issue, is of more than passing significance. If Hawaii can grow high grade onions when none of the rest of the United States can, why shouldn't she be doing it? Southern Texas became noted for its onions some ten or fifteen years ago, and some healthy fortunes were made, and are still being made, by growers of this humble vegetable in that district. Later Southern California got into the game, and now it is a race every year between the two sections to be first on the market with a new crop.

But Hawaii doesn't have to compete with these mainland growers, because, if she can grow onions at all, she can mature them well ahead of any part of the continental United States; and by that same token always unload at top prices.

But this is only an example of the kind of general farming that should be extremely practical for this territory. For example, there is a period of several months every spring when the Coast markets are bare of sweet potatoes, and when five cents or more per pound has been netted on experimental shipments. Why should not Hawaii be supplying this need in a careful and systematic way? There might be even a good market for new white spuds in the early spring, which we could supply. And at the same time it might still remain more profitable for us to import our own main potato crop, as at present, than to attempt to grow it.

Truck farming is a big industry in Florida and Southern California, where it is a long-chance gamble every year to beat the frost. If the grower wins, his profits are great; but he loses probably oftener than he wins. Here in the Islands we probably have it too easy. Also we have cheap transportation compared with long-haul freight and express charges which the far south trucker must pay, which we don't appreciate.

The big trouble is not that these things just outlined cannot be done, but that they cannot be successfully done by individuals, unless on a large scale. If real co-operation can be developed in growing, grading, packing and marketing; or if some individual or corporation will take the matter up on business like lines, and on sufficiently large a scale, there is no insuperable reason why it should not be equally as profitable in Hawaii as any place in the world.

Oahu's overweening importance, so pompously set forth by the Advertiser for the benefit of the incoming legislature, should make a deep impression. Her weight of responsibility for army and navy, tourist, and citizen resident, not to speak of all the rest of the Islands, were something truly awesome to contemplate. And the tragedy of it is that nobody cares!

The teachers in the Maui public schools have asked the Department for permission to ask the legislature for more pay. Presumably the Department has already granted them permission to eat, and sleep, and take a limited amount of physical exercise—outside of school hours.

Some folks seem to think it helps their cause to tell and to hear all the discreditable things possible, not only of their enemy but of their enemy's family connections as far back as tradition runneth.

HILO POINTS THE WAY

Hilo's experience with concrete roads is such that she wants more of them. The supervisors last week adopted a resolution calling upon the territory to use concrete instead of macadam in building the main road through the new Waiakea homestead tract. If concrete roads are what they said to be—that is, good for a generation or more of service with no maintenance cost, Hilo business men are no doubt wise. Suppose the cost to be two, or even three times the cost of plain macadam. If they last proportionately as long, and have no maintenance cost they will be cheap in the end. Maui might well consider this kind of construction. It is on really permanent work such as this that bonding may be considered with equanimity.

Our Island Contemporaries

One Result of Germany's System

"I do not regard my citizenship document as a mere scrap of paper and I am not going to tear it up. I stand by the United States, and always will," says George Roenitz, who has been dismissed from the U. S. naval service here after nine years of work.

The international situation has caused Roenitz' discharge but he is not therefore turning against his adopted country. He is a German American who spells it without the hyphen and who does not hesitate in choosing between the Kaiser and Uncle Sam.

It was pointed out in these columns a few days ago that the pernicious activities of German spies, agents and plotters in the United States had put a cloud of suspicion on German-Americans everywhere. Perfectly innocent men must suffer because there is some remote connection of blood, business connection or friendship with Germany or Germans.

Injustice will be done, but the root of the injustice is not in the United States, but in Germany and the intrigues which the attitude of the German government has encouraged.

Naval stations and military posts must take the most stringent precautions. The plots of the German agents in the United States make it necessary.

Because there are von Papens and Boy-eds, Bopps, Fays and von Brinkens, there will inevitably be Roenitzes—victims of the system of espionage and conspiracy which is part and parcel of Germany's scheme of government campaign and conquest.—Star-Bulletin.

While whooping it up for the visit of the congressional party this spring—at a cost of mere $40,000—why not a few moves on behalf of the federal school survey?

This will cost trifle in comparison with the visit of the congressmen, and its results will be far greater, in proportion to the money spent. The U. S. bureau of education will send three or four high-class educators and trained investigators here to make an authoritative survey of the school systems in the islands, and thus formulate recommendations for future improvement.

Two or three legislators are ready to introduce a resolution indorsing the survey. The invitation to the U. S. bureau must come from the school heads here. It should be sent in the next few weeks.—Star-Bulletin.

Kauai objects to the Territory spending any money for roads on the other islands, because she will get no benefit therefrom. Kauai is perfectly willing however to have the Territory and Uncle Sam also, spend money on Kauai for wharves and lighthouses and breakwaters and judges and other things which are of little or no value to any one but the people of Kauai. Kauai wants to get a little more of the "community spirit." She reminds us of the man who prayed—"Oh Lord! Bless me and my wife; my son John and his wife; us four and no more!" Wake up Kauai, and remember that you are a part of the Territory of Hawaii and not an independent empire.—Advertiser.

Kamahani, an Hawaiian aged 80 years who lived with the Moku family, took a notion to go for a canoe ride. He got a boat at Neve and rowed towards Hamakua. Nothing more has been heard of him; some believe that he has perished. Officer Mersberg was sent in to search the beach at Honoeup and Laupahoehoe, the big gulches east of Awini, last Sunday but he returned without finding traces of the lost man.—Kohala Midget.

Congressional Party Invited

The following cable has been received from Delegate Kuhio relative to the visit of a congressional party this spring:

"Arrangements made; invitations out. Party leaving Great Northern, San Pedro, March 24. Have legislature take immediate action. Cable me. Consult Chillingworth, Holstein. Will cable number when ascertained."

The legislature is expected to appropriate $40,000 for the trip, as asked for by the delegate. The party will reach Hilo March 29.

Convicts Start Mutiny

For leading a riot among the convicts at the Keomoku convict camp near Waimea, Hawaii and which culminated in a blood-thirsty attack on the guards, four Koreans, Kim Bori, Choy Chang, Young, Moon Young Sik and Dyeon Kur Dock, are in solitary confinement at Oahu prison. The men were brought to Honolulu on the steamer Mauna Kea last Saturday by High Sheriff Jarrett in person.

Wants Finger Print System

High Sheriff Jarrett states that he will ask the Legislature to pass a bill providing for the employment of finger prints of criminals as a means of identification. The method is now in general use in American cities. The bill will carry an appropriation sufficient to bring an expert here to instruct the police force in the method of using the system.

Guardmen May Get Pay From Territory

It is believed that Governor Pinkham is preparing to ask the legislature to provide funds for paying faithful members of the national guard who were prevented from getting pay for the past 6 months from the federal government on account of company attendance being too low.

E. W. Sutton, for five years a member of the law firm of Smith, Warren & Sutton, assumes the positions of vice-president and manager of Bishop Trust Company, Ltd., succeeding Willard E. Brown, resigned.

Mr. Brown remains treasurer and a member of the board of directors of the company and retains his financial interests. He retires from active management planning to spend much of his time on the mainland with Mrs. Brown where their son and daughter are attending college.

The steamer Great Northern will not continue on the Coast-Hawaii run, during the coming summer. Definite announcement has been made to this effect. The last trip from Honolulu will be on May 11.

His Privilege

The magistrate looked severely at the small, red-faced man who had been summoned before him, and who returned his gaze without flinching.

"So you kicked your landlord downstairs?" queried the magistrate. "Did you imagine that was within the right of a tenant?"

"I'll bring my lease in and show it to you," said the little man, growing redder, "and I'll wager you'll agree with me that anything they've forgotten to prohibit in that lease I had a right to do the very first chance I got." —Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Onions Now Are In Class Of Luxuries

Potatoes Also Wealth Producers For Farmers—Eggs More Plentiful—Kula Should Grow Different Pea

Eggs are gradually getting cheaper. Producers who received fancy prices all through the winter to private trade should not expect to get rid of surplus eggs now when eggs are plentiful at the same prices.

There are more strawberries in the market this year than ever before and most of them are of superior varieties. The best of these of these berries are being grown at Wahiawa and Kanaohe. Some of the growers are making the mistake of handling berries to open. They should be picked from the plants into the container in which they are marketed, and never touched again. Another thing that growers should guard against, is facing the packages, that is, putting all the best berries on the top layer and the poorer berries in the bottom. The grower may be able to fool a customer once, but it will be at his own expense in the end. Strawberries sell best in one pound split baskets.

There are no Maui Red Beans in the market, and very few Island small whites or Calicoa. The Kula dried peas are not selling well, due to the fact that they are hard to cook. Another variety should be grown.

Potatoes and onions are in great demand, and will be, until the new crops are harvested on the mainland. Any farmer who has either of these crops should take good care to get them marketed before importations from the mainland crops arrive. The bids on onions for the Army contract for March were as high as 16c a pound, and the lowest on potatoes was more than 5 1/2c. It is easy to see that the ordinary consumer will not be able to pay the retail prices based on these figures.

Pork is gradually advancing in price, as well as mutton, and beef is none too plentiful at present prices. All feeders of livestock and poultry will be glad to note the drop in the prices of food.

Onions May Bring Over $3000 An Acre

Haiku Co-Operative Association Has Experiment That Promises Big Profits—War Prices Responsible

Six hundred crates of onions per acre, each crate containing 50 pounds, means a yield of 30,000 pounds. If sold at 10 cents per pound, the result is $3000 gross per acre.

This is the kind of figuring that members of the Haiku Co-operative Association are indulging in these days as they look at their acre and a quarter patch of beautiful tear-starters which lack only some six weeks of maturity.

The onion patch is an experiment, but at present it is a most promising one. Moreover the calculations as above given are not at all extravagant. Bermuda onions in Texas and southern California often yield much more than six hundred crates to the acre, though they probably never fetched ten cents a pound.

The onions are planted on the land of W. L. Wells, who is the manager of the homestead company. They have been planted and cultivated under direction of H. L. Sauer, another member, who has had much experience with onions in California and elsewhere.

Posterity Should Help Build Haleakala Road

"Maui could well afford to borrow money to build a road to the top of Haleakala. That would surely be a case where posterity could not complain at being asked to bear part of the burden for public improvements."

This was the declaration of Hon. W. O. Smith, who came over from Honolulu last Saturday on a short business trip. Long a resident of Maui, Mr. Smith still maintains his interest in Maui affairs, though he ceased to be a resident of the county many years ago.

FAILURE OF TENNIS CHAMPIONS TO COME DICAPPOINTS

Much disappointment was caused among Maui enthusiasts over the failure of the crack quintet of mainland champions to come to Maui last Sunday. It had been definitely arranged for some exhibition matches on the Puunene courts, but several days of bad weather in Honolulu so upset the tournament schedule being played there that the Maui trip was impossible.

Useless Equipment For National Guard

Maui Companies Get Wagons And Harness For Which They Have No Need—Might Use Autos

Twenty-seven army wagons for the 3rd Infantry, N. G. H., with harness and fittings complete, are piled up in the Kahului Railroad yards awaiting until the local quartermaster's department can find some place to store them. There are no horses or mules to pull the wagons, and the regiment is declared to have less use for the equipment than the cat with two tails.

Nobody made requisition for the wagons, but they are evidently a piece of pie of some contractor, and they were shipped here as part of the equipment. They cannot be sold, and they cannot be shipped back, and although they will probably never be used they must be stored away somewhere to go to rust and rot.

It is understood that the consensus of opinion among army officers is that the day of the army wagon is past for any part of the country. Auto trucks have taken their place, and the army mule is gone for ever. In any event it is quite certain that the Maui national guard will never make use of her allotment of the old prairie schooners.

Health Board After Porto Rican Itch

How An Annoying And Sometimes Serious Contagion Is Combated—School Children Affected

Systematizing health work in the schools has been a prominent feature of board of health activities during this fiscal period and has brought to light a number of features requiring attention which were previously more or less ignored because of circumstances. Additional funds and additional staff have made possible a great deal of new work that has borne fine results even in the short period in which it has been in effect.

Thus for instance the board of health has secured figures concerning what has been called an insignificant disease, known as Porto Rican Itch which is common in the schools. A good many of the centers of the trouble have been located and special efforts made to control it with excellent results.

Porto Rican Itch is a disease caused by a small insect which lodges under the skin and which is extremely contagious. In spite of the insignificance of the ailment when it first starts, it has serious consequences if not treated and sometimes leaves scars as does a modified smallpox. It is not necessarily a disease of filth, but its spread is helped by conditions where bathing facilities are poor.

The insect causing the trouble is not partial to baths and personal cleanliness and the proper medication wipes it out in a short time. It is usually confined to places where people sleep in crowded quarters such as jails, boarding schools and barracks but will go any place where similar conditions permit.

It usually commences between the fingers and spreads up the arms, being noted on all exposed surfaces except the faces. The itching caused by it increases at a change of temperature, when the insects commence to move about under the skin and set up an irritation. Scratching follows and results in ugly scars, eczema or even in some cases blood poisoning.

The proper washing of all clothes coming in contact with the body an avoidance of persons who have the itch or who are exposed to it will soon relieve any victim. There is a nurse or a doctor available in almost every school in the territory to whom any school child should be taken upon contracting the itch, more particularly as under the law no child can attend school who has it and who is not under treatment.

The board of health recently found Porto Rican Itch so serious in the schools of a certain district that a special nurse had to be detailed to attend them with immediate and successful results.

Maui May Supply Hogs For Honolulu Feeders

Percy M. Pond, the well-known Honolulu business man who, among a multitude of other interests is the owner of a big hog feeding plant on Oahu, has been trying to interest Maui swine breeders in supplying him with young pigs as feeders. The matter has had the attention of the Maui Swine Breeders' Association, and it is possible that some of the Maui raisers will go into this work. It is understood that as high as 14 cents per pound is being offered for good feeders.

Because of the necessity of taking on a part of her sugar cargo at Hilo, the Matson steamer Manoa will be a day late in arriving at Kahului, not being due until tomorrow. The Manoa sailed direct for Hilo from Honolulu on Thursday evening, and will finish loading there tonight. It is not expected that she will get away from Kahului before Monday morning. The Manoa has 1807 tons of miscellaneous freight for Maui consignees.

DELIGHTFUL DANCE AT PUUNENE

The second quarterly dance of the Puunene Athletic Club given at the Puunene club house last Saturday night, was one of the most successful dances ever given by this popular organization. Music was furnished by Mary Hoffman's orchestra.

An October Argument

There are compensations in all things. When women get the suffrage they won't want to be moving all the time, for fear of losing their votes.—Puck.
