Do you want Consumption?

We are sure you do not. Nobody wants it. But it comes to many thousands every year. It comes to those who have had coughs and colds until the throat is raw, and the lining membrane of the lungs is inflamed. Stop your cough when it first appears, and you remove the great danger of future trouble.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

stops coughs of all kinds. It does so because it is a soothing and healing remedy of great power. This makes it the greatest preventive to consumption. It is not a question of many bottles and large doses. A few drops will often make a complete cure. Don't neglect your cough; you cannot afford to run the risk. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will soothe your raw throat and quiet your inflamed lungs.

THREE MORE TROOPSHIPS ARRIVE

They Are Met at Sea With Band Music and Cheers.

The President Reviews Colorado Troops—Great Success of Yesterday's Program—Good Time for Thousands of Boys in Blue Today.

About an hour after the signals was given for the three transports off Waimanalo yesterday evening, a great crowd assembled at the wharf of the tug Eleu to see the reception party go out to meet the ships. With the soldiers' air, the boys lives on the Pacific Mail wharf, and the large gang cooling the steamer China, it may be imagined there was a bit of a jam of humanity in that quarter.

The party that went on board was composed as follows: Adjutant General J. H. Soper, Colonel J. H. Fisher, Lieut. Col. Geo. F. McLeod, Major C. J. McCarthy, Capt. J. W. Pratt, Capt. Bergstrom, Capt. Camara, Lieut. Klemme, Fetter, Ros, Gonsalves, Costa, Evansen and Kekumano, of the National Guard of Hawaii; Capt. Braden, G. A. R. veteran, and these members of the citizens' executive and reception committee: Geo. W. Smith, chairman "One Hundred," Senator J. A. McCandless, Representatives S. W. Kani, Vice Speaker of the House, Gear, Kabaulelio, Kano, Pogue and Richards; Dr. Howard, S. M. Kani, J. A. Kennedy, J. A. Gilman, B. H. Wright, D. Logan, Merle Johnson, E. A. Elliott, T. P. Saverin, S. F. Thomas and Harry Evans, water front police officer.

Captain Hibbs was at his post in command of the tug. Engineer Farnsworth was down ahead of the party, and the safety valve was breathing long before the steamer swung out. Captain Berger had the band at good strength, after playing all day, on board the boat.

Captains Schaefer, Ashley and Smith went out in the military barge to tender, on behalf of Colonel Fisher, the courtesies of the N. G. H. Officers' Club to the United States army and navy officers with the expedition. It was learned afterward that the officers' committee grew tired waiting for the transports to poke their noses around Diamond Head and pulled for home. They could not be blamed, as the tug had to weather the Head before meeting the transports.

It was after dark before the Eleu headed out the channel, but it was a more than early start then. The tug was "off Jim Sherwood's," as the bearings were stated, before she sighted the faint gleams of two main-head lights, and a little later three, far off in the opening of the Molokai channel. With good caution the pathfinder of the flotilla was giving the heads a wide berth.

After sighting the vessels the Eleu turned back and threw a line to the pilot boat laboring out through the swell. A second burning of blue light by Pilot Macculay was answered by the ships, and then the tug sped on to deliver her welcome.

Brighter and brighter grew the lights aloft and then the reds and greens on the forward quarters. Then a change of bearing brought the magnificent broadside illuminations of the floating garrisons into play. It was a gorgeous spectacle. Pleading accessories to the scene were the Southern Cross and the crescent moon sinking toward the rim of the vast Pacific.

The Zealandia and Colon came along abreast of each other, the former being to landward, and the Senator marked the apex of a triangle some distance to the rear.

The Eleu steamed in between the two ships ahead. As she rounded the bow of the Colon, the steamers having slowed down to stop, her presence was described by the soldiers on board. They roared a cheer. It was echoed across the waves from the Zealandia, but was the Hawaiian band lifted up its notes. The "Star Spangled Banner" was the first tune, and as one American air after another was played ringing cheers from the ships shattered the stillness of a smooth sea.

Band music came from the Zealandia when the Hawaiian band took its first rest, and later a band on board the Senator alternated with Captain Berger's. From one ship to another the tug cruised, and it was nothing but music, cheers and counter cheers until after ten o'clock.

Before that time the Colon had moved forward and anchored in the roadstead near the harbor entrance. The Senator put her searchlight in operation, adding much to the diversion, but, upon a request conveyed by the Eleu from Captain Dowdell, this was stopped as it interfered with the Zealandia's getting her bearings to enter port. She steamed slowly in about 10:30 and docked at the Oahu wharf, her old berth. The tug followed her and the band gave a parting rally before turning into her own berth.

The Pennsylvanians in the Zealandia have a peculiar "tiger"—a regular tiger growl—as an appendix to their cheers. It made the town party rock with laughter. To give back as good they shouted the Hawaiian phrase, "Wela ka hao." This puzzled the Quaker stateries, but they laughed and cheered, without knowing that the salutation meant, on a true translation, "We are hat stuff."

Someone sang out from the Zealandia to ask what was the news from Dewey. The answer that there was none was supplemented by the annexation news that the expedition barely missed in San Francisco. This was greeted with the most vociferous cheering of the whole meeting.

The Colon and the Senator both came into the harbor early this morning.

Fired a Cartridge.

There was a bang on the Executive building grounds just after the feast yesterday. People thought it was the first shot of a salute to General Greene, and waited in vain for the next. It was soon known all around that the shot was from a galling gun without hurting anyone. A party of American officers had been inspecting the weapon, when one of them raised the cartridge case. This most have made a cartridge drop into the firing chamber, for when one of a second party coming along gave the crank a turn the thing went off. Fortunately the muzzle of the piece was depressed and the bullet went into the ground. Otherwise it might have shot somebody or several.

Information Office.

General Merritt is to have a bureau of information in the Philippines. Major J. F. Bell will be in charge of the office. He is a lieutenant of the Seventh United States cavalry, with the rank of Major of Volunteers. Henry D. Woolfe, with the Second expedition now here, is Spanish secretary to General Merritt for this particular service. It will be the work of the bureau to ascertain information of all matter relative to the government of the islands—the police and judicial systems, the topography of the country, etc. Also the strength of both the Spanish and insurgent forces will be investigated by the bureau for campaign purposes. Mr. Woolfe is not now a newspaper man, but was on the staff of the New York Herald. As such his work in the Chilean war field was exceptionally brilliant, his dispatches being usually the first news received by the United States Government. Harper's Weekly noticed his success in South America.

Uncle Sam's Post Office.

Frank W. Vaille, assistant superintendent of the United States railway mail service, is with the Second expedition. With him are Messrs. Kelly and Conway. The mission of the trio is to establish a post office of the United States at Manila.

Colorado Troops Reviewed.

Colonel Hale, commanding the Colorado regiment, while the feast was in progress kindly tendered President Dole a review of his command. The offer being accepted, the time for the event was fixed for five o'clock. In the meantime the companies marched to the China to procure their arms.

Word having spread quicker than the average speed of Honolulu gossip, there was a vast crowd gathered in the grounds for the sight. A dense crush, largely of ladies and children, occupied the verandas of the Executive building. Standard cameras and kodaks by the dozen were pointed every which way to catch the animating scenes.

President Dole stood on the front steps near the bottom to review the troops on the march past. Upon his immediate right were Ministers H. E. Cooper and W. O. Smith, Lieut. Col. Geo. F. McLeod, Major J. W. Jones of the 1st Battalion and Capt. J. M. Camara of Co. C. Upon his left stood Col. J. H. Fisher, commanding the 1st Regiment; Adj. Gen. J. H. Soper, Major G. C. Potter and Major C. P. Iauka, aides to the President, and Major C. J. McCarthy of the 2nd Battalion. Other officers at and near the reviewing stand were: Capt. J. W. Pratt, President's staff; Capt. J. Schaefer, regimental adjutant; Capt. C. B. Cooper, regimental surgeon; Capt. R. P. Myers, surgeon 2nd Battalion; Capt. W. G.

These officers of the National Guard of Hawaii in their dress uniforms made a rather brilliant group.

The Colorado troops, headed by the Hawaiian band, marched from the Waikiki side and, passing the reviewing stand with presented arms, moved out by the Richards street gate. They marched with the easy swing and precision of regulars, and every company was applauded as it came along. When the magnificent silk colors of the regiment were being carried past the building, the crowd cheered again and again, and there was a perfect snowstorm of handkerchiefs in the air, accompanied by a hail of clapping hands.

This review will be long remembered as one of the prettiest incidents in the visit of Manila expeditions to Honolulu.

Lieut. Crowe is in command of 78 men of the Utah Light Artillery on board the Zealandia.

The Pennsylvania troops consist of 34 officers and 666 men.

Some Red Cross Officers.

Dr. Crosby, in the Colon, is chief surgeon of this expedition. Dr. Stroub, captain, is assistant surgeon, U. S. A. Dr. Clayton is surgeon with the companies of the 18th regulars in the China. Dr. Kemble is head surgeon with the First Colorado Volunteers in the China.

Notes.

A U. S. army sergeant, when conducted to the top of the clock tower on the Judiciary building, after uttering his admiration for the view, asked if there were any volcanoes in operation to be seen.

Decorations of merchant vessels in port are very fine. The social clubs in town are entertaining right royally.

Don Riley, the war correspondent on the Senator, went to Denver to take Mr. Shingle's position when the latter came to Honolulu.

Boys on board the China were given shore leave today.

Football and baseball between the Pennsylvania and Nebraska regiment teams at Makiki, 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Donald M. Riley of the Omaha World-Herald accompanies the Nebraska regiment as special war correspondent; he also represents the Toronto Globe, and London (Canada) Free Press.

The S. S. Senator is a new boat built by the Union Iron Works of San Francisco and finished this year. She made two trips to Seattle and this is her third trip. She is commanded by Capt. J. B. Patterson.

Frank Tidball of Newcastle Penn. is regimental clerk of the 10th Penn. on board the Zealandia.

With the Pennsylvania troops is a mascot called "Boots." He is a diminutive youngster of fourteen who was picked up by the regiment at Pittsburg. The men have provided him with a uniform and he is the pet of the ship. Day before yesterday "Boots" fell down a hatch and broke his arm. His occupation is that of boot to Manila.

On the Zealandia this morning not a man reported at sick call. There is not now a single sick man aboard the vessel.

The Zealandia signaled and stopped the Peru last Monday and the latter boat took several bags of soldiers mail for the States.

There are more soldiers at table in the first relay today than there were altogether yesterday.

Both chambers of the Legislature are filled with boys in blue writing to the folks at home. The Government supplies stationary and postage.

Secretary George Manson and Senator Rice are working like beavers attending to the mail of the boys in blue.

The soldiers hardly think it is in earnest when told they do not need to stamp their letters.

Everything is working with perfect smoothness and order at the feast to the soldiers today. Another feather for Capt. Ashley's cap.

The ladies are working in complete touch with the system devised to regulate the banquet. Their activity is unlimited as their fact is charming.

Captain Berger and the band serve a treat to themselves when these receptions are over. They are working day and night and today give up their weekly holiday. And what would it all be without the band?

Royal makes the food pure, wholesome and delicious.

IN WAR OVER THE SEA

HEROIC DEEDS OF AMERICAN SAILORS ON FOREIGN SOIL.

No Time Wasted in Diplomacy Nor in Waiting For Home Orders—How Veterans Rodgers Punished Defiant Koreans—Hot Shot For Japanese Jingoos.

[Copyright, 1898, by American Press Association. Book rights reserved.]

MARTIAL tradition counts for more than might be supposed at first blush. Self confidence backed by audacity means half the battle, and it will be long before true American sailors forget that the Yankee navy has always got the best of it in the long run and always fought splendid battles. They go in to win as becomes men who have sworn to keep bright the laurels won by Paul Jones and Perry, by Hull and Stewart, by Cushing and Farragut. When our saucy ships of war and their jolly crews went roaming the far away oceans of the orient in search of Confederate privateers, people at first looked for word by every packet of some startling encounter in an odd quarter of the globe, maybe another Shannon or Chesapeake or Bonhomme Richard affair. After a wait that made one skeptical as to the prowess of our crews, the good tidings came. The ship went to the bottom under the guns of the Kearsarge. But our roaming ship had not been idle meanwhile. A companion ship to the Kearsarge, the Wyoming, sailed for Asiatic seas in 1867 to take care of any commerce destroyer that might worry our merchants in those waters.

The Wyoming didn't get a shot at a privateer during a four years' cruise, but made up for it by emptying great guns into a nest of yellow pirates. The first news of the battle here described appeared in the American papers just when half of our divided people were hurrahing over Vicksburg and Gettysburg and mourning over Chickamauga, with the other half reverently doing the same thing. So it is to be doubted whether any number of Americans whose memory goes back to war days remembers at all how the gallant tars of the Wyoming upheld the flag in the waters of Japan July 16, 1863.

In 1862 the treaty between the Liberals of Japan and foreign nations opening the ports of the island to the world was abrogated by the national party and the emperor. All foreigners except the American minister, Mr. Pruyn, had left Tokyo by the spring of 1863. In May the American legation building in Tokyo was burned by incendiaries, and when our minister, Mr. Pruyn, asked the council of Tokyo to protect him he was curtly advised to get out of the country. He went to Yokohama, the sole refuge then for foreigners. June 24 was the day fixed for closing the ports. The Wyoming was ordered to protect the Americans, and many were quartered in her cabins.

On the 25th of June the American merchantman Pembroke was fired upon in the straits of Simonsaki by two Japanese vessels, a bark and a brig, that had been put aloft expressly to make war on the "barbarians," as all foreigners were called. The attacking vessels belonged to Prince Chisoan, a jingo leader of the Japs, who didn't relish outside interference with his corrupt sway. When the news of the insult to our flag reached Yokohama on July 10, Captain Macdougall of the Wyoming was ordered to enter the balliwick of the haughty Chisoan, flying the United States colors, and read the prince and his vassals a lesson from the mouths of American cannon.

The cruiser sailed at once and on rounding a point in the strait at daylight on the 16th sighted a row of frowning batteries, with a brig and a bark lying under their guns. An iron steamer mounting four guns commanded the channel. The Wyoming carried four thirty-twos and two 11 inch Dahlgrens. On the Japanese vessels were 20 guns, all told, chiefly twenty-fours. As the Wyoming sailed past the shore batteries opened heavily. The answer was several rousing American broadsides. When

CAPTAIN DAVID STOCKTON MACDOUGALL, U. S. N.

The Wyoming got within range, the bark and brig joined in the firing. With all his guns on both sides the ship belching sheets of flame, Captain Macdougall steered the Wyoming between the steamer and the bark and brig, cutting into them all with hull shots. On reaching the end of the course the Wyoming turned and sailed back. When she got through, the iron steamer was wrecked, the bark sinking and the brig disabled for action. Captain Macdougall then tossed a few shells into the town of Simonsaki and gave the batteries a parting salute.

The action lasted one hour and ten minutes. About 30 shells struck the Wyoming. Of her crew four were killed and six wounded. Six of the victims were native Americans and three were Irishmen. Captain Macdougall had the true Yankee spirit of daring and originality. He was in his prime and had been trained under the heroes of 1812. For years after the visit of the Wyoming to the strait of Simonsaki the inhabitants had but one expression to recall the event. It was, "Oh, those great guns!" In Japanese history the affair is known as "the first deed of arms in Japan."

The Hermit Nation, which caused the broil between Japan and China, has also had her thrashing at the hands of Uncle Sam's sailors. It took place in 1871 and was administered as a punishment for a barbarous outrage on the American flag, the capture and destruction of the trading vessel General Sherman, followed by the massacre in cold blood of all the officers and crew. When captured, the ill starved ship was sailing in Ping Yang river under the flag of this nation. Diplomatic parley ended as usual in the authorities shirking the responsibility. The matter rested until Captain John Rodgers, a war hero and the son of a gallant commander in the war of 1812, took command of the Asiatic squadron. That was late in 1870.

Rodgers' orders were to make a show of force in Korean waters to help bring about a treaty for the protection of American seamen. His fleet of six vessels entered the river Han, accompanied by the United States minister to China, Mr. F. F. Low. Deputations went on board the flagship and stated that the Koreans wished to be let alone and would have no dealings with foreigners. They were told that the fleet wished merely to survey the river. At the end of a week Rodgers sent the warships Monocacy and Palos, preceded by launches, up the river to carry out the survey.

The launches which led the surveying flotilla were lightly manned by armed sailors, and each carried a boat bowitzer. They steamed ahead of the ships, and at a certain bend in the river near which the Koreans had a strong fort they were fired upon by at least a score of guns. The fire was ineffectual because the guns could not be shifted as the targets moved on up the river.

The Property owned by Samuel Parker situated on King street, adjoining residence of J. S. Walker, Esq. The Buildings are being put in good order and repair. For full particulars, apply at the office of CECIL BROWN, Merchant street. June 17, 1898. 841 1w

ADMIRAL JOHN RODGERS, U. S. N.

The Monocacy and Palos then ran up and shelled the Koreans out of their works. When the ships returned to the rendezvous, Rodgers wanted to take speedy vengeance for the insult to the flag, although not a life had been taken by the Koreans. At the request of Mr. Low he waited ten days for an apology.

Having no sign from the Koreans at the end of the time, Admiral Rodgers dispatched the same vessels and launches, re-enforced by 750 marines, to the scene of the outrage. As the ships and boats moved up the river the bands played the popular sailor airs of America, the crews alternately singing and cheering. The marines landed on the mud flat, where the water then stood waist deep, and at the same time the ships opened on the forts.

In the way of the land force there was a line of works well manned, but the Koreans in them did not stand for attack. The commander of this force, Admiral Kimberly (retired), pushed on up the height, his men dragging along a 12 pounder Dahlgren gun, which was planted before a fort. Night coming on, he threw out pickets and bivouacked his men to await the dawn of day. Early next morning the ships opened on the second line, and the marines charged directly upon the works.

At long range the Koreans were poor marksmen, but when the marines leaped the parapets they found them good fighters in a melee. Lieutenant McKee, the American leader, was shot and then speared to death. Great slaughter followed and 243 dead Koreans were buried from the main citadel alone. This fort and its walls and ditches showed the terrible effect of the vigorous shelling from the Monocacy's guns which had preceded the land attack. Bodies mangled by exploding shells lay scattered in the ditches and pits and over the parade ground in the center of the fort. The commander in chief had killed himself in chagrin at the loss of his stronghold and was found in the river below the forts with his throat cut. Among the wounded and dead, appar-entry dead, his haggard, uncovered face being turned to the sun, lay the second in command. When he was lifted by the marines for burial, he could no longer sham death with safety and set a yell which was unmistakably that of a live man. A bad wound in the thigh caused some of the symptoms which helped on the ruse.

The capture of this work decided the fight. Hoisting the stars and stripes, the marines christened it Fort Palos. The attack came none too soon, for the ten days of grace had been passed by the Koreans in preparations for war. Soldiers were marching to the river to repeat upon Rodgers' feet the General Sherman massacre. GEORGE L. KILMER.

MONADNOCK'S TRIP.

She is Expected to Make Good Record for Sea-Going Power.

Washington, June 6.—The Navy Department gave orders today that the double-turreted monitor, Monadnock, now at Mare Island, Cal., should be made ready to sail for Manila within ten days, and the necessary orders were hurriedly telegraphed.

The Navy Department will immediately procure another merchant ship to accompany the Monadnock on her 6000-mile voyage.
The Monadnock is a powerful, double-turreted monitor, with main screws and 3000 horse-power engines. She is able to make twelve and a half knots an hour easily. Built on the general lines of the Amphitrite, she has better engines and more power than that monitor. She carries four 10 inch guns in two turrets, besides two 4 inch rapidfire guns in a casement and a numerous secondary battery.
Her coal capacity is 250 tons in bunkers and almost as much more in a towage room can be found on the decks. Consequently, the Monadnock has the ability to make a longer cruise than the Monterey without replenishing her coal supply, yet her capacity is still too small to permit her to make the passage from Honolulu to the Philippines unaided. With these two monitors, Admiral Dewey will be fully able to take care of himself, even should the much talked of Cadiz fleet, under Camara, attack him in Manila harbor.

The monitors at their maximum draw only fourteen and a half feet of water, or ten feet less than the Spanish battleship Pelayo, and therefore would be able to pick their position in the shallow water where the Spanish battle-ships could not possibly reach them, and hammer away at the latter to their content, presenting themselves so small a mark as to render it very difficult for the Spanish gunners to reply effectively.

There is no doubt entertained of the Monadnock's seaworthiness, for before being constructed at the Mare Island Navy Yard, she made the entire voyage from the Delaware clear around the Horn to San Francisco, a voyage longer, really, than that made by the Oregon.

FRIDAY, JUNE 24, 1898.

Talk of Dewey going to Cadiz has now taken the place of the reports of the Cadiz fleet starting out to crush the American Manila fleet.

The first test of the popularity of the war policy in the United States was in the Oregon state election held the first of the month. Of late years Oregon has been classed as pretty safely within the fusion democrat - populist fold.

Unless events force the issue it seems hardly probable that declaration of an Anglo-American alliance will be hurried. That the ill feeling between the British and Americans is being wiped out of existence is quite apparent as the obliteration of lines between the North and South.

SPAIN HER OWN ENEMY.

Now the report comes from Sampson that the Spanish have been guilty of mutilating the bodies of Americans killed on Cuban shores. If Spain had gone to work at the very outset to set the whole civilized world against her, no better course could have been taken than what is now being followed.

ish soldiers have evidently dropped back to the old system. Ill treatment of prisoners and all kinds of trickery would be accepted as simply some of the horrors of war, even a fight in which "no quarter" was the cry could be overlooked, but nothing so fires the heart of humanity as the mutilation of the dead - poor fellows who have given their lives in a square stand up fight.

Nothing will do more to influence the American people to cry "no quarter" when Spain makes her plea for peace which she must make eventually. Taken as a whole Americans are generous victors, but once their hearts became fired by inhuman atrocities, they will not stop till they have come as close as possible to wiping the Spanish off the face of the map.

THE NEBRASKA BOYS.

Only Pleasant Words Come from the Transport Senator.

The 1st Regiment Nebraska Volunteers twelve companies are on board the S S Senator.

Colonel Jno P Bratt is in command his staff is as follows: Lieut Col Geo Colton, Lieut Lee Forby Adjt, Maj Jno M Stotsenberg, Maj F Maiford, Surgeon Maj Snyder, Chaplain Mailley.

The company commanders are Captains Holdeman Co A, Oary Co B, Hollingsworth Co C, Herpolheimer Co D, Zrlinger Co E, Vickers Co F, Williams Co G, Eager Co H, Stockham Co I, Kilien Co K, Taylor Co L, Wilson Co M.

The Nebraska troops on the Senator report that during the first two or three days out there was considerable sea sickness. The only sad incident of the voyage was the death of Sergeant Geo. Gettes Co. C. of Beatrice Neb. which occurred Tuesday, June 21st from a complication of lung and brain trouble.

He was buried at sea with due military honors which were very impressive and will be a memorable event to all members of the regiment.

On leaving the fleet June 20th General Greene of the flagship China appointed the S. S. Senator as the flagship for the remainder of the trip to Honolulu and appointed Col. Bratt, the genial commander of the Nebraskans as commander of the fleet.

The men of the Nebraska regiment consist of the most intelligent class of volunteers which have been mustered into the United States service and the Colonel has been very highly complimented upon the appearance, efficiency and gentlemanly conduct of his men. The men are well satisfied with their treatment on board and are greatly indebted to Chief Steward Hume for his generosity and kindness in donating delicacies to sick men and others.

The men also highly appreciate the untiring efforts in their behalf of Major Stotsenberg, 6th United States Cavalry, whose long experience proves of the greatest value to them.

Captain Taylor, Co. L, the "crack" Thurston Rifles Co. which won the national prize at Memphis, Tenn., two years ago is the pet officer of the regiment on account of his efforts in providing the men with frequent batches of fresh grub.

The 1st Nebraska Regiment band is a fine organization of talent. It is one of the best in the United States service and intended to treat the people of Honolulu to a concert had there been time enough. Lieutenant Richards, director of the band, regrets the lack of opportunity to show the qualifications of his players.

SPANISH GUNNERY WEAK

Example Given by Fight With Peru in 1866.

Spaniards Did Not Seem to Have Capacity for Looking After Their Ships Properly—Cases of Wanton Destruction.

A chapter from modern Spanish history, which was overshadowed in this country by events of greater importance, but which serves to give some indication of what Spanish gunnery was a few years ago, is worth retelling now says S. F. Chronicle.

Spain had a grievance against Peru in 1866, because some of her subjects had been maltreated there, and she sent a squadron of seven vessels, mounting twenty-one guns, to punish the Peruvians. Peru had no navy at that time, but her neighbor, Chile, came to her aid, with three vessels—the Esmeralda, carrying forty-two smoothbores; the Victoria, a small one-gun monitor, and the Loa, a diminutive Merrimac, plated with iron and mounting two 68-pounders. A writer in the Army and Navy, Journal describes the affair:

"The Esmeralda," he says, "met the Spanish gunboat Cavadango (three guns), and captured her in twenty minutes, without the loss of a man. The Spaniards fired only three shots. They had two men killed and fourteen wounded. The loss of the Cavadango, followed by the capture of an armored launch, so chagrined the Spanish Admiral, Pareja, that he blew out his brains in his cabin.

"Admiral Nunez, who succeeded Pareja, then gallantly assailed the defenseless Valparaiso, where not a single gun was mounted, except a few saluting pieces. Not a shot was fired from the town, and the inhabitants promptly evacuated it. This Spanish Admiral, in spite of the protests of the foreign men-of-war in the harbor, threw from 2000 to 3000 shells into it from his fleet of six vessels. The Spanish gunnery was so wretched that little damage was done, except by fire, which destroyed $10,000,000 worth of neutral goods. It was a most wanton piece of barbarity, for if the Spaniards had had a landing force they could have taken the town without firing a shot.

"The gallant Nunez next assaulted the city of Callao, which taught him the difference between an open town and one that was adequately defended. In four or five hours the Spanish squadron was badly used up, and was glad to crawl back to Spain as best it could in its crippled condition. The Villa de Madrid, fifty-six guns, got a shot in her steam chest and was towed out of action. The Berenguela, thirty-six guns, had a hole twenty feet square knocked into her near the water line by an exploding shell, and crawled out of range to repair damages.

"The ammunition in two Spanish vessels gave out after a two hours' fight, and they had to retire, one of them having been twice on fire in the neighborhood of the magazine. This left two vessels, the ironclad Numancia and the Almanza. Two hours later these two vessels ceased their fire and withdrew, the Chileans firing at them until they were beyond range. The Spanish loss is not exactly known, but it supposed to have been about 200. Commander Rogers, United States Navy, estimated the loss of the Chileans at eighty, though others give a large number. No serious damage was done to either ships or forts by the fire beyond that named. The Spaniards then withdrew discomfited from the Pacific being short of stores an ammunition, and with their vessels foul for want of docking. They had established a base at the Chincha islands, but had no facilities for repairs."

Right at Your Door!

Every summer many of our people visit at the various springs throughout the United States in search of lost health. Owing to the heavy expense incurred by time consumed in making these journeys, many are compelled to remain at home in consequence.

Bartlett

After careful study and thorough investigation as to the most effective waters for the ailments most common to our people, we find that BARTLETT SPRINGS WATER is by far superior to all others. Many prominent residents of Hawaii have visited the springs and all alike agree that it has no equal in curative qualities.

Springs

The leading physicians of California prescribe it, many consider it indispensable. For stomach and kidney troubles it is especially recommended. Call and receive a circular containing testimonials of people who are well and favorably known.

For more than fifty years has PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER stood the test against all remedies prepared to eradicate pain, and today stands at the head of the list among the medicines that are so essential to keep at hand in the home.

It is not a new fangle remedy nor do the proprietors lay claim to any wonderful revelation of the ingredients that enter into the manufacture of this ever popular remedy.

It is perfectly harmless, you need have no fear of becoming habitually inclined to its use.

For Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, Colds, and all painful affections, a few doses will certainly give relief. You cannot afford to be without a bottle in the house.

Your forefathers used it and found it beneficial.

Why experiment with some remedy that is new and its effect on the system unknown?

It has many rivals but no equal.

The new 35c. size contains over double the quantity of the 25c. size.

Frein, Great Barrington, Mass, formerly professor of Greek and mathematic at Punahou, is the successful contestant for the University Fellowship in the Romanic Languages department of the Johns Hopkins university, of Baltimore. These fellowships are awarded for scholarly attainments as independent investigators in the several departments of literature and science, and are of the value of $500 in each. Mr. Frein's paper was on The Phonetic Development of the Tonic Vowels in the Patois of Pleigne.

Protect the Trees.

In Minnesota a bounty of $2.50 will be paid to each citizen who plants an acre of trees. Ten acres a year is the limit on which any one man can collect. The growing scarcity of timber has become alarming and has led to the adoption of this measure to encourage forest planting. And other States might profit by this example. California has already made a move in this direction, by establishing forest reservations. Now if the Government will see to the enforcement of the regulations made for the protection of this timber land all will be well. No State can afford to see her lands completely denuded of timber. —The Ojai, Nordhoff, California.

Swollen Glands, Scrofula Sores, Hip Disease, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions Tell the Story—Dreadful Consequences of Impure Blood.

Certainly scrofula, if anything, may be called the advertisement of foul blood. It is the scourge of the world—offensive, painful, debilitating, stubborn. Outward applications do not cure. Emollients may palliate, they cannot abolish the evil. There is one sure way out, and that is to eliminate the taint from the blood. For this purpose Hood's Sarsaparilla is absolutely without an equal.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for scrofulous humor and impure blood and am now almost entirely cured of the eruptions with which I have been afflicted for the past year. My face, chest and back were badly broken out." FRED B. ORDWAY, Woodstock, Vt.

Zealandia Claims Speed—Mauna Loa with Kona and Kau Budget — S. G. Wilder Sails for 'Frisco—Kellipio's Report.

A total of 47,613 fish was received at the public market last week, 21,754 being mullet. Maunaloa furnished 8986, Koolau 7796, Wai kiki 7172 and large quantities came from Waipio, Moana [the ocean], Mokuo and Waianae.

The barkentine S. G. Wilder sailed for San Francisco this afternoon with 17,804 bags of sugar, 2,034,609 pounds valued at $61,038 and all shipped by FA Schaefer & Co for account of Honokaa and Waimaa plantations and Pacific Sugar Mill.

The troop ship Zealandia is at her old berth at Oceania dock taking on 300 tons of coal, and the Colon and Senator will each take on the same amount at Pacific Mail dock. The 2nd and 3rd officers of the Zealandia are now men and Purser Thomas McCombe was left behind as a freight clerk on the company's dock in San Francisco. Steward Seeley is acting caterer for the officer's mess on board.

Garden Isle Shipping.

The steamer W G Hall docked at Fort street wharf at 4 o'clock this morning, two days ahead of schedule time, with a full load of sugar from Makaweli for the ship George Curtis. Purser Max Alroy reports fine weather all along the Kauai coast. The steamer Mikahala was loading sugar at Waimea and the Keaouon discharging freight at Haemaoula yesterday. The Mikahala should arrive in this port Sunday morning. The following sugar is awaiting shipment on Kauai: K kaha 5000, V Kaud en 800, Ke-lia 9500, Makaweli 11,000 and Gay & Robinson 1600. The W G Hall goes on the Marine Railway as soon as discharged and will take the Mauna Loa's Hawaii route next week while that steamer is laid up for general repairs.

Waialeale Ashore at Kahuku.

News came from Kahuku this morning that the steamer Waialeale while lying at the Laie anchorage dragged her anchors during a heavy squall at 6 o'clock and went ashore on the beach. She is not injured so far as known. The tug Eleu was dispatched immediately for Laie and will reach there at 3 o'clock. At high tide the tug will attach her hawsers and it is thought will tow the Waialeale off with but slight damage. The Waialeale sailed from this port yesterday afternoon with 75 tons of coal for Kahuku. Part of her cargo was discharged at the time of the accident.

Review Today.

There will be another review of U. S. troops tendered to President Dole at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Zealandia Makai Loa.

The word brought by the China that the Zealandia delayed the other troop ships on the way from San Francisco is emphatically denied by the officers of the latter troop ship. The Zealandia was in excellent trim all the way, barring the slight accident to her steering gear and could have kept up to the China without any trouble. She was kept back by a signal from the flagship to remain with the Colon and Senator.

Mauna Loa Arrives.

The Mauna Loa from Kona and Kau ports arrived at noon today with a lot of passengers, 11,582 bags of Kau sugar and 27 head of cattle. Awaiting shipment at Panalau is 300 bags of sugar, at Honuapo 200, at Honok a 5000 and at Kakaibae 3000. The Kauai was passed at Lahaina and will arrive in this port tomorrow morning with 4100 bags of Pioneer sugar. A smooth sea and no rain was reported along the leeward Hawaii coast. The mill at Lahaina has closed down for one week.

Zealandia is Alright.

Officers of the Zealandia are very much put out over the reports circulated concerning that ship's steaming capacity. The steamer came down in good trim and stories of break downs are stamped as fakes.
