General Pershing Urges Legion To Aid Preparedness

Former Commander of Overseas Forces Welcomes Foch and Other Former Army Heads During War.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1.—General Pershing addressed the American Legion convention today extending the legion's welcome to Marshal Foch of France, generalissimo of the Allied Forces in the late war, who arrived last night and to General Armando Diaz, commander of the Italian army, Baron Jacques of Belgium and Earl Beatty of England.

The former American Overseas commander urged the legion to continue its efforts to bring into being a force "representative of the people in which in any future wars they will escape the results of unpreparedness from which you suffered. He predicted that great good would result and the chances of war be materially lessened as result of the conference to be held in Washington, opening on Armistice Day.

Yesterday Vice-president Coolidge was chief speaker and touched especially on the subject of relief for the incapacitated. Speaking of the coming conference he said in part:

Coolidge Speaks
"In recognition to his solemn obligation to you and to your countrymen of effecting an economic peace, he has called conference of certain great powers to assemble in Washington soon. It proposes to search for a solution of the problems arising from the convergence of many different nations in the Pacific ocean and to provide by mutual agreement for a limitation of armaments. It promises relief at home and a better understanding abroad."

The annual report of National Adjutant Lemuel Bolles was presented. It dealt largely with the conditions of wide spread unemployment in the United States and recommended a stimulation of public works and a more rigorous exclusion of aliens as palliative measures.

Ovations Extended
Tremendous was the ovation given by the American Legion to its wartime commanders, Foch and Pershing, a welcome fit for the heroes of a great and victorious war.

Speaking in response to General Pershing's welcome, Marshal Foch praised American efficiency and effectiveness in raising and equipping an army for the World War, the speed in sending it to France and the valor it showed once it was there and in battle. He reviewed American exploits from the beginning in the training camps to the final victorious campaign in Argonne and said, in part: "More than 75,000 of your countrymen are buried in the soil of France. May they sleep in peace as your French brothers in arms watch over them. The glory is to you who survived them and you may well be proud of your part. As for me, the great hope of my life will be that to have guided along the road to victory in 1918 an American army was to guide an army that will become truly the grand army."

After the speeches the convention took an adjournment until tomorrow. The first national convention of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion opened its sessions this morning. Generals Beatty and Jacques addressed them.

AMENDMENT WITHDRAWN
(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The senate finance committee has withdrawn the proposed amendment to the Tax Bill which would exempt corporations engaged in foreign trade from payment of taxes on income derived from business in China. It announced that the Dyer Bill, passed by the house and now before the senate accomplishes the same result.

Plans For Observing Armistice Day Drag

No plans for public observance of Armistice Day, a week from next Friday, in Central Maui have been advanced and in Lahaina such plans as have been suggested have not been definitely accepted. In Central Maui there appears to be no organization with the initiative to put forward a public celebration. Governor Farrington has issued a proclamation calling special attention to a prior proclamation issued by President Harding and calling on the people of Hawaii gratefully to acknowledge the devotion of fully who save their lives to the country's cause, for the display of the national flag and for two minutes of general silent prayer at noon of that day.

Maui's American legion membership is scattered widely through the island and difficult to get together which makes taking of initiative by that organization difficult, leaders of it say. And so the matter is allowed to rest.

Rev. George H. DeKay, acting on the suggestion that the Sunday before Armistice Day, next Sunday, be one of universal observance and of special significance in connection with the last great war and limitation of armaments plans, has offered to arrange a special service for the legion in Kahului next Sunday with speakers whom the legion may select, but no acceptance of his proposal has been heard.

There will be no session of the Chamber of Commerce long enough before the holiday to admit of that organization taking the initiative for proper observance so it would appear likely that suspension of business, display of the flag and two minutes of silent prayer at noon will be about all that Central Maui will unite, also on the anniversary of the ending of the World's greatest war.

County Library To Perform Work That Library Hawaii Did

Maui County Free Library plans to improve the service which the Library of Hawaii has been rendering to various communities on this island through the establishment of more branches or distributing points than the Territorial institution has had. This is the reply that Miss Marion Morse, the Maui librarian, makes to fears that have been expressed that change and that the County institution will be only a community affair.

Before the Maui County Library began to function the Library of Hawaii had sent out books to individuals, to certain distributing points and to various of the schools as in former years. Those books constitute a "permanent" loan to the Maui County Free Library and will be sent in to the county institution instead of going back to Honolulu and will be redistributed, with additions made and being made to the local library to various branches that are to be established, one in each of the more important communities so far—as adult fiction goes and through the schools where the works are for children's reading.

Plans Worked Out
Miss Morse has been giving considerable study and attention to the subject and has pretty definite general plans laid out but has been saved the necessity of immediate action by the fact that the Library of Hawaii sent out the Maui allotment before her arrival in the Islands and they have not yet begun to come in to her.

It is planned so far as may be to use the organization for distribution that was built up by the Library of Hawaii to continue work. In some instances more central locations may be secured and the element of convenience to readers will enter into calculations. As in the past boxes of books will be sent to distributing points and further it is designed, as far as can be done, to respect the requests for books that may be sent in. The fact that a reader resides in Lahaina or Hana, Haiku or Kula will not prevent him or her from getting an book in the library as readily as could a Wailuku reader. He or she can put a request in through the nearest branch and that request will be forwarded as speedily as can be arranged, according to the number of prior requests, at the central library in Wailuku.

In the handling of children's books for the schools the same general arrangements of sending boxes to each school desiring the service will be continued, the only change being that Wailuku instead of Honolulu is the distributing point and that the new library will be ready to supply the needs of a large number of the schools.

Service has been delayed through the delay that arose in securing the necessary alterations to the library building now in progress. That also necessitated a delay in ordering shelving and library equipment. It has now become possible to ascertain just what is most urgently required and bids are to be called for, probably within a week to be opened about a month later. Meantime the

Action By Congress Seen As Necessary To Save Territory

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
HONOLULU, Nov. 1.—Prompt action by congress is necessary to save Hawaii, says V. S. McClatchy, publisher of the Sacramento Bee and of a string of newspapers in the Orient, here as a delegate to the World's Press Congress, in a statement published here today. Mr. McClatchy has visited the island a number of times previously but has not had the opportunities for careful study of conditions and problems that was afforded him on his present visit.

Conditions differ widely and radically here from those encountered on the mainland, McClatchy says in his statement, and it may be proper and necessary to adopt policies in the islands which would be improper and unnecessary for the mainland.

Class prejudice and class interest should not be permitted to block the adoption of policies and measures necessary to maintain American and white control of the territory and added "no solution of the problem suggests itself to me as more desirable and more practicable than the requests submitted to congress by the emergency labor commission."

The Press Congress is holding its final session today and among the subjects under consideration is a further resolution thanking the people of Hawaii for the entertainment which has been afforded the delegates and their families during their visit to the islands.

Plot To Establish Moslem Sovereignty By Moros Reported

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 25.—(Associated Press Mail)—Hauling down the American flag, hoisting the Turkish flag in its place and driving out all Americans and Christian Filipinos were parts of an alleged plot by certain Moor datus in Lanao province, Island of Mindanao, according to a communication received today by the director of non-Christian tribes, whose headquarters is in Manila.

Alaoya Alonto, who signs himself "Sultan of Raman," makes the charge and the communication is signed by 25 other sultans, 24 datus, ten rajahs, one haji and more than three score other Moros, who are followers of Mohammedanism.

"We Moros are trying to do all we can in learning from our Christian Filipino brothers, except the eating of pigs, which is forbidden by our religion, for we know now that they are far better than we are," writes the Sultan of Raman. "The agreement of Datu Amal Manabland with Datu Amal Binaning to do foolishness caused the death of the latter. We, the young datus of Lanao, will be very glad if all those old datus are killed as they are hindering the progress of our province as well as the whole Philippines. The aim of their agreement was not only to drive out the Christian Filipinos but also the Americans, because they want the Turkish flag to be raised all over Lanao and the Turks to take the place of Americans and Christian Filipinos."

The Sultan says the young datus desire that compulsory attendance of public schools should be enforced in Lanao province, notwithstanding the opposition of the old datus who fear that the public school teaching will alternate their girls from the Mohammedan faith.

Tiflis Under Soviet Rule Differs Much From In Former Days

TIFLIS, Oct. 14.—(By a Staff Correspondent of The Associated Press)—This city under Soviet rule bears many resemblances to another city of unique beauty, Budapest, Hungary when that gay place of opera and fine streets and houses and handsome people was favored by a Soviet, under the ardent Bela Kun, in the spring and summer of 1919. Before that time both were wealthy and well-cared for, despite a long and disastrous war. Business was fairly brisk, shops were filled with expensive articles, with all that the heart desired in adornment.

Sadness Supplants Joy
When the correspondent saw this city of Tiflis two years ago, its magnificent Georgian Club, a huge municipal resort open to rich and poor, was the scene of unbounded gaiety. Here public hospitality was handed out broadly to all strangers. Its little theater was filled with good dancers and actors and singers.

Now, until the opera reopens, it is the sole place of amusement, except the movies. It is attended by red soldiers, its gardens filled by faded street beauties of the other sex, while those bourgeoisie who have been unable to flee hold forth in a modest little restaurant downstairs called the Cafe de Paris. Its manager is the former proud owner of the Hotel Orient. He is a Frenchman.

"People do strange things in the name of liberty," is his summing-up of the situation. As a matter of fact, they like this new liberty so well that both poor and rich would like to get away from it.

In Tiflis, some things are better ordered than they were in Soviet Budapest. There is food to be had, good food, and at not impossible prices. There the comparison ends. The street cars are not running, for lack of oil or something. Anyway, people might just as well walk, as they have no special reason for getting anywhere quickly.

Rich Furnishings Pawned
The homes of Tiflis, once so vast and elegant in their hospitality, are still outwardly handsome but the interiors are different. Most have been requisitioned and divided, with their furniture slowly finding its way to the pawnshops. One man, formerly prominent as a politician, has had all of his fine residence taken from him and each time he finds a furnished room, it is requisitioned at the order of some old enemy, until now he has been made to move eight times.

There is still enough clothes left from the old days so that nobody appears shabby. Of work for a living there is little or none. "The only civilizing influence left is the Near East Relief. There the correspondent met a woman looking for work. She was from Riga and had lived 15 years teaching languages in Tiflis. (But now she had no one to whom to give lessons or who could pay for them. Work under the Soviet was of no use, she said, because it paid only 20,000 rubles a month, the price of a few pounds of bread.

She was now engaged in selling food and clothing in the markets on commission but the profit was so little and courageous as she appeared to be, she begged with tears in her eyes for any kind of a place, sewing, scrubbing floors—"anything." What would happen when winter came she dared not think, like many thousands of others.

Each Island To Have Thousand Game Birds

One thousand game birds to each of the counties of the territory and a large number of rainbow and black spotted trout will be the contribution of the Hawaiian fish and game commission to the resources of the islands according to H. L. Kelly, head of the commission as quoted in the Star-Bulletin.

Kelly recently returned from a six weeks' trip to the mainland, during which he visited the game commissions of Oregon and California and interviewed United States commissioners. The Oregon commission, of which Kelly was a member several years ago, presented him with 24 choice ring-necked pheasants for the territory and promised him 10,000 black spotted trout eggs for next spring.

Large Reserve
The new reserve at Makapuu, given to the territory by the government, will aid materially in the development of fish and game, Kelly believes. It comprises 353 acres, of which about 100 are taken up by two ponds. These ponds will be given over to experimental work and the propagation feeding and raising of fish, and the remainder of the reserve to pens for game birds and cultivation of land for feed for the fish and birds. Kelly expects each pen to produce 1000 birds after two years.

Plans for the care of birds call for a separate pen for each county, the expense to be met by the counties individually. Honolulu and Kauai counties have already made arrangements for the cost, and Kelly expects that Maui and Hawaii will soon do the same. The commission is to do the work in connection with the care of the birds.

Eventually Kelly hopes to establish a game reserve on each island, but the expense would be too great for present resources, he says. The only money available for the work now is the income from hunting licenses and this would not pay for separate reserves. Hence the plan to centralize reserves for all the counties until a larger sum becomes available.

Stock Kauai Streams
Kauai streams and pools will be stocked with fish first, Kelly reports, because they are better adapted to trout. Some streams there are alive with trout even now, he says. Streams on the other islands will be stocked as soon as the commission discovers which ones will support the life of the trout.

In addition to the 10,000 black spotted trout eggs which are to come from Oregon, Kelly has been promised 75,000 rainbow eggs from the United States bureau of fisheries. The black spotted trout are better fighters than the rainbows, he says, and he believes that they will thrive as well in Hawaiian waters.

Unionizing Forbidden In West Virginia By Federal Court Order

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 1.—Further efforts towards unionizing the coal fields of West Virginia were restrained by a temporary injunction order issued today by Federal Judge Anderson.

In granting the temporary restraining order the court did not deny the right of labor to organize but held that in the particular instance before it the efforts in West Virginia appeared to be in the nature of a conspiracy with the mine operators to throttle competition by the non-union mine operators.

The order prohibits the continuation of use of the "check-off" system whereby operators have been deducting union dues from the wages of employees.

GRAIN PRICES DROP

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Grain prices took a severe tumble in the trading today carrying wheat and oats down to new low levels for the year. Wheat sold down to 1.06 1/2 as compared with 1.12 1/2 at yesterday's close.

Estimates of the world's crop at $8,000,000 bushels more than last year discouraged holders who threw their stocks on the market and precipitated the rapid declines.

Harvey Boasts America Hates Not Fears War

A Ambassador to Britain Says Washington Conference is More Than Challenge to League of Nations.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
LONDON, Nov. 1.—America does not fear war, she simply hates it. Her long coast line is not the menace to her safety that some think for her real strength lies behind that coast line. She needs no further territory than she has within her borders and could comfortably house three times the population which she has, were some of the pertinent remarks made by Ambassador Harvey speaking at the annual dinner of the Pilgrims' Society last night.

Referring to the coming conference to be held in Washington the ambassador said the conference is more than a challenge to the league of nations on the Monroe Doctrine, it will test the capacity of the governments of the world participating to satisfy the universal longing for peace.

Continuing, Harvey said: "I cannot permit to pass the opportunity to acknowledge the generous way Premier Lloyd George has accorded his whole hearted support to the President's proposal. Never can I forget that Sunday early when I took the George seated beneath the trees at his country home. He asked quietly, 'What is it' and I drew a cablegram from my pocket and held it to him to read. It was a message from Hughes announcing the intention to call the conference and asking if Britain would approve."

"In a flash, the premier was on his feet and he almost shouted the words 'we accept gladly and gratefully and will do anything in our power to make the conference a success.'"

"America does not fear war, she simply hates it. Her long coast line is amply protected. Some of her most splendid cities appear tempting targets, but that is a trivial circumstance, it is a matter of casual observation that she rebuild the great city of New York every 30 years. And behind that coast line lies the real America, with 24,000,000 men registered, all capable of bearing arms to pronounce such a country unconquered and unconquerable."

"But the security of the United States is not in physical strength alone. Her moral position is most important. She will never seek territory by conquest and would not even accept it as a gift. Within her borders lies unoccupied land capable of housing treble the population she now has."

"Well indeed, may she rest content to be the friend of all nations and so far as her people are aware, without an enemy."

Ambassador Harvey's speech is given great prominence in the London papers this morning and several appreciative editorials were published.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Secretary of the Navy Denby, Admiral R. E. Condit, chief of naval operations, and other naval experts of the United States conferred today with the American delegates to the Washington conference which began next week.

It is generally understood that the problem of limitations of naval armaments will be the most difficult of solution at the conference as it includes the question of naval bases, particularly those in prospect in the Pacific ocean, and the status of merchant marine vessels as potential naval forces.

Closing Hours Come In Southard Trial

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
TWIN FALLS, Nov. 1.—Most of today's session in the Southard trial was spent in cleaning up odds and ends of the testimony that has been adduced by both sides.

Mrs. Southard, the defendant, was recalled for further cross examination by the prosecution and suffered from "loss of memory." Most of the questions propounded to her she answered with denials but in other instances her reply was that she did not remember.

T. W. Pottier was also called by the prosecution. He is an insurance agent and gave testimony as to an application for $5000 made by C. D. McWhirter, one of the defendants former husbands made in the presence of the defendant, an incident of which Mrs. Southard said she had no remembrance.

SPORTS

Football Proves Welcome Sport and Comes to Remain

Paia Wins First Game Before Fine Saturday Afternoon Crowd; Greater Weight Makes Line Break.

Paia 14, Wailuku nothing was the score.

"They're off! Hold 'em boys," "Hit that line," "Get him, dump him;" Such were some of the cries that echoed and re-echoed over the Wailuku Athletic grounds Saturday afternoon as Paia and Wailuku met to match their skill at that nerve-racking, red blooded game of football.

It was a wonderful showing those boys made, most of whom were novices at the sport, in their initial appearance with the pig skin. From the whistle almost to the final down it was anybody's game, a battle of wits and muscle that kept all fans that filled the stands and packed the side lines, on their toes. Impartial they were in rooting, first it was Paia, then a cry for Wailuku and a cheer would rise and swell in their throats to be heard over town.

A seething, tumbling mass of jersey and khaki clad warriors, the maroon and the blue awaying back and forth over the field as the line gave or held. A whistle blew and sharp and clear above the cheers could be heard the signals as Coleman or Ting watched their wits to deceive the defense. Perhaps a pause, then a red or blue clad figure would leap with the speed of a bullet, charging straight against a compact line which seemed to resist all efforts and held as a stone wall.

For the first half of the game it was useless to attempt to find a hole, both teams holding their ground with that determination and doggedness that it known in all of Maui's sporting aggregations.

Paia's Weight Counts

It was in the third quarter that Paia's weight began to count, heavier than the local boys by an average of at least 20 lbs to a man, quarter back Coleman changed the tactics of his team. In a series of line bucks, through center and through guard they started on a march down the field, hold as they would Wailuku's line could not stop such men as "Tiny" Miller and others almost as heavy. Time and time again their charges counted for a first down, others only a few yards, but the consistent drive, drive, drive, finally placed the ball on Wailuku's six yard line from where McCluskey went straight through center for the first touchdown of the game. Shortly afterward McCluskey placed the ball squarely between the posts on the kick.

Following the touchdown Wailuku kicked off to Paia's 30 yard line. Sousa received the ball and advanced it 15 yards, on the first play Coleman went through center for another gain of ten. Here the whistle blew ending the third quarter. Score, Paia 7; Wailuku 0.

When the whistle started them again Paia held the ball on the 50 yard line but was penalized 5 yards on the first scrimmage for being offside. A series of line bucks failed to net yardage and on the last down Paia punted for 39 yards, Wailuku running it back 5' and placing it on their own 70 yard line. Two attempted end runs failed to advance Captain Pogue's men and he punted 20 yards Paia returning the ball half that distance. Chartrand, carrying the ball for Paia went through tackle for 20 yards, Wailuku receiving a penalty of 15 yards for rough treatment which placed the ball on their 10 yard line, Coleman twice hit the line, his second rush taking the ball over the goal, McCluskey, again receiving the honors on the kick. Final score Paia 14; Wailuku, 0.

Wailuku Misses Chance

Wailuku's only chance to score a touchdown came immediately after the opening of the second half, Paia had kicked off to the 20 yard line; Wailuku received the ball and ran it back 10 before downed. A forward pass, Ting to Frank Bal, the right end netted 25 yards, Pogue then took the pig skin around right end for another 10. Another successful pass placed the ball on the 5 yard line, but here two line bucks and an end run resulted in Wailuku being thrown back for a loss of 4 yards. Ting attempted another forward pass to the left end but failed to complete it, the ball going to Paia on their own 10 yard line from where they started their successful drive down the field.

Now that the game has been given a start and a fair trial there appears no doubt that it will prove popular on Maui, a 14-0 score, while it sounds like a tremendous defeat is a really very good score in a football game. Paia won but Wailuku is not out of the playing; for the coming week will see many new aspirants approaching coach Ting with the desire to play in the game from which heavier material for the line should be easy to obtain, and as the weaker line was the prominent factor in Saturday's defeat it would not be surprising to see the Wailuku team turn the tables on the coming Sunday.

Both teams are well worthy of commendation for the manner in which they played the game; there was but one penalty for unnecessarily rough treatment and that one purely unintentional. It was a great game, clean and sportsman like and judging by the attendance it received the sport will no doubt be a go.

Ragged Fielding Costs Wacs Game

Puunene Does Not Have to Hit Cockett in Order to Take First Leg in Championship Baseball Series.

Score one for the Huskies in the Championship series for Sunday afternoon brought victory to Puunene over the Wacs in the first of the best two out of three series for the baseball championship of Maui.

Tim Cockett, pitching for the Wacs deserved the credit of a victory, but the ragged support given him by his team mates was responsible for defeat. The Wacs pitcher walked but one man, struck out eight, and allowed but 5 hits, only one of which counted for an extra base. On the other hand three errors by both L. Cockett playing at first, and Wm. Cummings at second gave the Huskies 4 runs without the aid of a safe hit.

August, twirling for Puunene allowed but 5 hits also, but walked 7, struck out but one, and was credited with three wild pitches.

Huskies Score Early

The first run came over in the first with the H. C. & S'villes at bat. Joe Silva walked, took second when Shim was safe on L. Cockett's error, was advanced to third on an error by Wm. Cummings, and scored on L. Cockett's second blunder.

In the second inning they put over two more, Enos safe on Wm. Cummings error, took second when Freitas was safe at first, both runners advancing on August's out, Enos scoring a moment later when Wm. Cummings erred for his third time and Freitas advancing to third. Freitas scored when Shim was again safe on L. Cockett's error. The fifth saw Puunenes last and winning run, Shim safe on error by L. Cockett, Haake sacrificed, Shim taking second and a moment later stole third, scoring when Bal was safe at first.

How Wacs Scored

Wailuku scored once in the third Wm. Cummings walked, stole second and scored on Silva's safe hit. In the fifth Rego, replacing Silva at left field was hit by the pitcher, L. Cockett singled, Wells Cummings singled scoring Rego, then an error by Masachi scored Cockett.

Another Football Team For Maui is Considered

Interest in football is so keen, it appears to have awakened the desire of many more of the young men on Maui to participate in the grand old game, with the result that George Murray of Puunene is scurrying around endeavoring to find sufficient material for a team which he proposes to be the "All Whites." He has already secured the promise of eight or nine men all of whom have had more or less experience in the game and some of whom are stars of college gridirons. Should this team materialize it will undoubtedly help to further the interest in football by providing the competition necessary to sports, and which is the only apparent lacking quality in the game here today.

Circuit of World In Air In Seventeen Days Is Dream of Parisians

PARIS, Oct. 4.—(Associated Press Mail)—At the great airway congress now being organized in Paris in conjunction with the autumn Aereo Show, an effort is to be made to join up missing links in the world airchain.

Should this be accomplished a rush round the world by air in 48 hours and at a cost of about £680 will be one of the possibilities of the future. Airway experts are now ready to specify the machines and map out the route.

Leaving London at 8 a. m., on Monday, they say Constantinople could be reached at 4 a. m., on Tuesday and Cairo the same day.

Then with a berth booked on an air Leviathan, Sydney, Australia, would be reached at 10 a. m., the following Tuesday.

After this, taking the Pacific in another great air voyage, they figure that the passenger would arrive at San Francisco at 4 p. m., on Saturday.

The next stage would be the Trans-American route to New York which would be reached at 10 p. m., on Monday to take another air liner to London where it would arrive at 8 a. m., on Thursday.

The distance covered would be 27,000 miles in the space of 17 days. This would put Jules Verne's 80 days trip sadly in the shade.

But this is as yet a dream of the future.

Birth Rate In Paris Increases Since War

PARIS, Oct. 4.—(Associated Press Press Mail)—Though Paris is yet dealing with a housing crisis, the residents seem determined that the existing homes shall be well filled if one may judge by the steadily increasing birthrate. The records show many more marriages and births than before the war and also a reduction in the infant mortality in the crowded areas of the city.

There were 31,885 births in Paris during the first six months of 1921 as compared with 24,309 in the same period of 1913 and 27,906 in the first half of 1920.

The number of marriages in all of 1913 was only 31,616 while last year there were 53,829 and there have been 26,282 weddings in the first half of 1921.

Parisians are well pleased with the prospect for the next census.

FOR BAGASSE FURNACES

Johns-Manville refractory cement number 26 is the cement for use when re-setting firebrick in a bagasse furnace. Number 26 withstands temperatures up to 2600 degrees and is admirably suited to the duties it has to perform in this type of furnace. For oil burners the Johns-Manville number 31 cement is needed for it is not affected by heat until 3100 degrees Fahrenheit is reached. Use of these cements practically guarantees no firebox trouble next year. Orders should be placed immediately to insure prompt delivery.

Real Scouting

This was the remark made by Scoutmaster Langa of Troop No. 6 Makawao when he visited Lahaina last Thursday night. Say, you ought to have seen those scouts lined up in the armory going through their life-saving-exercises. It was a busy scene with all on their toes and more than anxious to pass tests. This is the troop that is going to lead the bunch. Watch them.

Paia

The best showing for some time was made last Friday night. Seventeen scouts present and all doing something. Committeeman Brown was again on deck and sure is interested in scouting. He is a good example for some of the other committeemen. How about it?

Committeemen

It is quite noticeable that the attendance of committeemen at troop meetings is a thing—well, you get me. It certainly sounds fine to hear the scout scribe read from his minutes of the previous minutes. Committeeman B—was present at the meeting and gave the scouts an intensely interesting talk on—etc.

Patrol Leaders

We are going to have a meeting of Patrol Leaders at the Beach house sometime within the next two weeks. This means a week end camp and it is going to be a hum-dinger. We will talk over the problems of the troop and make special programs to cover a period of at least a month.

This is only the beginning as we feel that the patrol idea is the backbone of the troop. How are the patrols in your troop functioning?

Test Examiners

All scouts wishing to pass first aid swimming, tracking, cooking, compass, signalling, 14 mile hike, map reading and drawing, judging, nature study, trees, birds, animals, astronomy must first get in touch with the commissioner. None but specially accredited examiners can give these tests.

Deputy Commissioners

Mr. Weisblatt is now the deputy commissioner for Wailuku, Puunene, Kahului and Spreckelsville. Look for him to drop in on you in the near future. We have a man in sight for Paia, Makawao, Haiku and Hamakua—poko his name will be in the scout column in the near future. This is going to be a big help to the commissioner as it will relieve him from the strain of attending meetings every night in the week and leave more time for tests etc.

Woman Is Imprisoned When She Refused to Become Soviet's Spy

TIFLIS, Soviet Georgia, Sept. 28—(By a Staff Correspondent of The Associated Press)—What happens to the foreigner locked up as a political suspect even under the supposedly mild rule of this Soviet, may be judged from the case of Mrs. Liana Edwards, the Russian wife of James Edwards, of Youngstown, O., who has just been released through the efforts of the Dutch consul, representing United States interests here.

Mrs. Edwards had a perfectly good passport, obtained as the wife of James Edwards, whom she married here 16 months ago while he was an offer of the Near East Relief. He went away on business, so he told her and has not since returned.

When Georgia passed again into the hands of Moscow last March, after several years as an independent republic, she fled with many others to Batum but there decided to remain and take her chances.

She worked for a time as translator of English under the new Soviet and then in August was arrested by the secret police, charged with being a foreign spy and was offered money to go to Constantinople and work for the Soviet. This she refused and so she was sent here and imprisoned.

In prison most of her clothes were taken away, ostensibly to be burned during the cholera epidemic and those she had on fumigated. She was not given a bed but told to sleep on the floor. Her food, so she related later, consisted of a pound of bad bread per day, with hot water in the morning and thin soup at night. She scrubbed floors during the day. Also, each day she was told she would be shot as a bourgeois.

What aroused the special hate and attention of the Bolsheviks was her maiden name of Romanov. She states that her mother was an American, Liana Davenport, and that she was born in Taskent, where her father was governor general. Because of the name Romanov she was suspected of being related to the family of the late Czar.

She gave her last possessions of jewels as a bribe to a released woman prisoner and got word to the Dutch Consul who after various demands, secured her release. For her safety, she was removed to the now unoccupied American Consulate and food is being provided by the Near East Relief.

Agriculture

(By J. F. O'Brien)

Soil improvement: leaf mold and compost made from rotted stalks, weeds, sods, etc., are very valuable because they are composed largely of humus from decayed vegetable matter. They also contain from 1-2 of one to 4 percent of nitrogen and small quantities of phosphoric acid and potash. By their use the soil is made more porous, mellow and forable, capillary attraction is stimulated, atmosphere oxygen is admitted to the soil, the soil is made easier to cultivate and less liable to puddle and form clods. In a climate such as we have in Hawaii, with much sunshine, etc., the humus becomes rapidly depleted from the soil and as we have already learned that humus provides food for the beneficial bacteria, we should make every effort to keep up the supply.

Tillage

Pulverization of the soil is one of the prime objects of tillage, soil from lying dormant or idle for months is liable to become packed and hard and unsuitable for a seed bed or the growth of plants. This pulverization liberates plant food and makes it available for the plants to feed upon. The soil grains are mixed with manure, plant roots, and humus. Weed plants and seeds are destroyed and turned into humus. The sun dries out the upturned furrow slices and makes it possible for the air to enter. It sweetens the soil and destroys insects. Without sufficient air in the soil seeds cannot sprout or plants grow. Without air there could be no decay of animal or vegetable matter and therefore no humus. Air also causes chemical changes making unavailable plant food more available, as the tillage increases the amount of soil surface exposed to the air the quantity of film water is increased. It is from this film water the plant roots absorb the moisture for plant growth. After the crop is planted the surface soil is stirred with implements of tillage such as hoes and cultivators in order to form a mulch or layer of loose soil on top. This mulch prevents an excessive loss of moisture. A certain kind of harmful bacteria, called denitrifying bacteria exists in the soil and cause available nitrogen compounds to become unavailable. They work only where air is absent. The ideal surface is one that is crumbly, not dusty. A well tilled soil is more mellow and forable than one that is not well tilled and a mellow soil, is a good crop producing soil. Good judgment is necessary to decide when to cultivate because if the soil is too wet tillage operations will injure it, making it lumpy and hard. Tillage is necessary in order to destroy weeds. Weeds are expensive boarders, greedy eaters, excessive drinkers, and poor payers. They steal the crop food. If allowed to grow they will soon reduce if not entirely destroy the crop. The remedy is to destroy them by tillage. Cultivating and hoeing will keep them down during the crop period. A harrowing between plowing and planting the crop will destroy most of the weed seeds that blow in and have started to grow. It is therefore better practice to let the land rest for a week between plowing and planting to give the weed seeds a chance to start, and then destroy them by a good harrowing before planting the crop.

Plowing

Plowing is the first important work necessary to prepare the seed bed. It is the basis of all other tilling operations, no other work can be substituted for plowing. If the plowing is poor the crop will be poor. No after work will make up for poor plowing. The most favorable season, the best soil, the finest seed, amount to little unless the plowing is well done. And not only so but the plowing influences the future crops. One bad plowing may injure soil so much that it will take several good ones to correct it.

Depth to Plow

This should be regulated by the natural depth of the surface soil. A good rule is to plow a litter shallower than the subsoil, say within an inch if the soil is shallow, or two inches if deep. If the surface soil is

Antone Do Rego and County Row About Passenger License

Once again Antone do Rego is in controversy with county officials, this time over a license for carrying stage passengers. In the magistrate's court yesterday he was fined $6 and costs but he says he will appeal.

Stating his side of the case Rego says that last year he had a license to carry 12 passengers and this year he asked for a license to carry six, alleging that with the mail, he could not well carry more. He was told he could have a license for 12 but not for six, he says, and refuses to pay the larger sum. He admits that with no mail in the stage he could carry 20 but says he often has as many as 20 sacks of mail which leaves no room for more than half a dozen passengers.

"If I take a license for six and they find I carry more, let them arrest me then," says Rego. "I contend I have a right to a license for such number of passengers as I may ask." A. do Rego, Jr. was given a suspended sentence for 3 months for not having secured a permanent chauffeur's license in place of the temporary one he has had.

shallow and it is necessary to break up the subsoil, the proper method is to run a subsoil plow fater the breaking plow. This will loosen up the subsoil without bringing it to the surface.

Width to Plow

This is regulated by the depth. An old rule is to make the furrow two or three inches wider than it is deep, more modern methods is to make the furrows as wide as possible and still have the furrow slice well turned. The wider the furrow, the less the cost of plowing.

Discing

The disk harrow should be run over the field after plowing. The disks should almost straight and run lengthwise of the furrow in the same direction in which the plowing was done. This will fill sub-surface spaces which are the cause of a "bad stand" or a stunted growth, because the roots below are exposed.

Harrowing

Is for putting the field in a smooth and well finished condition for seeding. The soil must be in a forable or crumbly condition. The soil should never be harrowed to the depth it was plowed as by doing so the turned under sod and weeds will be brought to the surface.

Dragging, is for leveling, smoothing, and compacting the soil. It is effective in pulverizing fields after the harrow.

Rolling is good to crush clods and pack down a seed bed. The soil must be in a crumbly state. If the soil is wet rolling is injurious.

FRIDAY : : : : NOVEMBER 1, 1921

A NOTABLE SUCCESS.

By its success in averting the threatened general railroad strike with its attendant paralysis of the manufacturing industries of the country and the suffering for food and fuel which must have resulted to the whole people had the strike been conducted as originally planned, the railroad labor board has justified its creation. The whole nation breathed a sigh of relief last week when the news was flashed over the land that the leaders of the "Big Five" had yielded to the pressure that was brought to bear upon them and had issued orders rescinding the call for the walk out that was to have come Sunday.

The board has shown a firm hand with the roads as well as with their employes and has informed the executives that it is useless to ask for authority to make further reductions in wage scales as it would take months before hearings could be held and a decision rendered owing to many questions already pending that demand action in turn. The ultimatum is that both sides must submit their controversies and contentions to the board, await turn in the hearings thereof and for decisions thereon, and that meantime the transportation of the country must go on as usual. Thus only can an incalculable amount of injury to industry and inconvenience and suffering to the people of the nation be avoided.

Without going into the merits of the case, the contentions of the railroad executives or the operatives, it is evident that a strike by five of the unions, without the support of the other labor organizations would have been foredoomed to failure at the present time and under existing conditions. There are millions of unemployed from whom could have been drawn an army amply large enough to replace the half million that were directly affected by the strike orders. Had they been able to swing 2,000,000 railroad employes in line for a walkout, it might have been a different matter, but original plans to do that had miscarried.

An unsuccessful strike would have injured organized labor irreparably and at the same time have precipitated social unrest such as the nation has never known. Thus the board has benefitted organized labor as well as industry through its achievement. When the public is inconvenienced, a large proportion of the people think only of their inconvenience and do not go into the rights and wrongs of the parties to the controversy. Under such circumstances the proposed strike could not and would not have had universal sympathy.

The country had a taste of government operation of the railroads during the war and did not like its flavor. Americans have become used to a transportation service such as no other nation offers and will not be satisfied for long with anything that falls short of that standard. A strike which might precipitate government operation again, would not be popular and with that end in view would not have the sympathy of more than a small minority of the people. During the war the nation had a taste of too much governmental control. It was patient only through its patriotism and it is ready for a large amount of decentralization of authority at the present time.

The country as a whole, the labor organizations and the railroads all are to be congratulated on the achievement of the railroad labor board.

MAUI AS AN EXAMPLE.

In the days of long ago years before there was a prohibition amendment to the constitution and while temperance lecturers wandered through the land, the speakers would bring up to the platform and point to some "terrible example" of the effects of intemperance. It must have been a mighty unpleasant experience for the unfortunates that were thus placed in the limelight of scornful pity but there are two kinds of examples and to be held up as a shining example of success and achievement titulates one's vanity and magnifies one's self respect. So it is that Maui has the opportunity from time to time to look furtively into the mirror and see if she really is all that friendly critics paint her and has to put into the background a feeling of smug satisfaction and try to appear utterly unconcerned.

In a sense Maui is the good little girl of the family or the school in Hawaii nei. "See how Maui achieves, learn to cultivate her splendid spirit," is the whisper that comes from Oahu and the Big Island or perhaps Kauai. "Maui has the best county government to be found, emulate the example of her officials," the "da's" of other counties are warned. But most frequently it is Maui's Fair that is heard from and so it was that once again the Valley Isle was held out for inspection and praise in the editorial columns of the Star-Bulletin in dealing with the subject of "The Next Territorial Fair" when the editor said in part:

The plans look toward a territorial fair next year, and in spite of the "dull times," a fair should be undertaken. Maui county proved that "dull times" do not form a sufficient argument against carrying out a community enterprise. What Maui county did, with population, transportation and commercial resources much smaller and much less varied than Honolulu's, can be done here.

It may not be possible to complete the permanent buildings soon, but it is possible to get far enough along to hold a successful fair.

JAPANESE ASSIMILATION.

In Hawaii there are some who will take exception to the assertions of V. S. McClatchey before the Rotary Club in Honolulu and still more who are not ready to accept his views that it is impossible for Hawaii or any part of the United States to assimilate the descendants of Japanese parents and that the attempt is suicidal. He says it can only be done in individual cases but there have been enough of such individual cases found in Hawaii, those who differ with the publisher

THE OPTIMISTIC PESSIMIST

A resolution has passed the Senate that the constitution of the United States with all amendments hereto and citations thereof be printed and 1,500 additional copies be distributed among the senators. Thus is another slander refuted. Members of the august senate do want to learn something about their country. Truly, it's never too late to learn.

Money may go further now than it did a year ago as is claimed but it is staggering and groggy before it gets to the next pay day.

About the only redeeming features about the noise made by a motor cycle are that it gets out of hearing so quickly and it seems so good when one hears it no longer. It has the advantage over jazz music in that it ends more quickly and more abruptly.

One thing mainland people have to rejoice in is that the shoe dealer has to buy coal and the coal dealer has to buy shoes. Each finds out how it feels to be gouged.

It is asserted that a Chicago woman secured a divorce because her husband wouldn't give her a nickel. She should have exemplary alimony awarded. Any woman so modest in her demands is either a jewel or fit for the lunatic asylum. Moral, sure there is. Ask for five dollars and take what is obtainable. Hubby thinks he's getting off cheap that way.

Vests are to be cut lower says a fashion note in a Honolulu paper. Hardly in Hawaii, we should think, where waistcoats are so seldom worn since one cannot take something from nothing.

The Nashville Tennessean says "The United States is a dry land surrounded by three miles of dry water." Not so dry, as yet, however.

Short sentences may be useful in making one's meaning clear to children in the schools but long sentences are more readily comprehended in explaining the Volstead act in courts of law.

The Brooklyn Eagle remarks that the blue law machine is not a self starter, it has to be cranked. And then it doesn't run steadily.

The loud talker is like some motor cars operated with the muffler cut out, he makes a general nuisance of himself and gets there no faster.

will say, to warrant a continuance of the effort here. They will further insist that the experiment cannot have been carried far enough forward in two or three generations as to warrant such broad and sweeping assertions as those attributed to Mr. McClatchey. His attitude is essentially that of California today.

It must be acknowledged that the task of assimilating the Japanese and their descendants is a difficult one and that Mr. McClatchey has pointed out some of the chief difficulties in his talk. Japan's claim that the children of its citizens, no matter where born, are subject to the sovereignty of Japan is a difficulty which may in time precipitate grievous troubles between the United States and Nippon, may even lead to war, but there is always the possibility that through diplomatic negotiations and treaties, there may come a relinquishment. Up to the present the United States has not cared greatly whether or no such children are subjects to the Mikado or not, though the importance of the dual status has had recognition in this territory.

Again the Japanese are "Clannish" as Mr. McClatchey charges but there may be found good reason for such "clannishness" on their part from the attitude of white Americans. The Japanese born are incapable of citizenship under our constitution and laws, the Americans themselves erect the barriers, and those barriers are felt by the children and the grandchildren of the aliens in turn, just as, but to a less extent, they are felt by the original immigrants.

Religious differences may be in time removed, present day prejudices, except as to color and racial appearance may be broken down. Nothing is achieved without difficulty and it may still be that the two races or their descendants may live side by side in harmony. The wireless was "impossible" but was achieved. Heavier than air flying machines were "impossible" but prevail over the lighter than air type and a score, a hundred and more "impossibilities" that have become realities might be quoted. Therefore Mr. McClatchey may be premature in saying the effort to Americanize the descendants of Japanese is doomed to failure and even though the experiment is costly in money, Hawaii is hardly yet ready to give up the task she has undertaken and is laboring upon.

In some sections it is always the fashion to hammer the plantations, never to praise ever to criticize and blame and now comes New Freedom blaming the sugar industry "for seeking to make Hawaii believe that times are hard" and insisting that the industry can make profits and pay dividends now because such was possible in past years when the price of sugar was still lower. The rice industry is about the only one that has the support of that publication.

It is asserted that more than 90 per cent of what we pay for taxes goes for war or armament or the costs of past wars. Costs of the past have to be borne but the future it is—well it's up to the other fellow to start limiting his armament. As the political platforms say "we view it with suspicion."

From time to time some criticism against the board of supervisors is voiced that can almost invariably be traced to a person or persons who were not at the meeting where action was taken nor at previous meetings in which the subject matter which led to the action was discussed.

It is still early but there is no dearth of possibilities for delegate and the picture shifts in a kaleidoscopic manner. Holstein, Wise, Lane, Louissen, Shingle, McCandless, Coke, McCarthy, shift back and forth, now eclipsing one and now another.

One thing after another. Here the fair is only just over and Christmas is only eight weeks away.

Too Much Government Impression of Russia

MOSCOW, Oct. 1.—(By a Staff Correspondent of The Associated Press).—Government everywhere, nothing but government!

Such is the impression that a foreigner who has known Moscow of old gets in entering the Bolshevik capital today.

All the hotels are government committed headquarters. The same is true of department stores, office buildings, clubs, cafes and larger private houses. All theaters are government theaters.

Queues of Russians and foreigners are waiting in the streets before most larger buildings for permits to buy railway tickets or perform some ordinary transaction such as a New Yorker would dispose of over the telephone in five minutes.

The motor cars are all government cars and are monopolized by government employes. The street cars are run by the government and government employes, especially workmen, have first call on the few cars which run chiefly at times when workmen are going to or from work. Other folks may take the few carriages which ply the main streets for hire at prices beyond the reach of ordinary government salaries.

Railway trains are few and seem to be crowded largely with government employes and soldiers. Passenger trains far exceed freight trains on all lines and every coach has a red soldier or two to keep people from massing on the trains at stations.

Factories which are in operation are run by the government and work chiefly on government supplies, such as railway repairs, motor repairs, airplane repairs and other army supplies.

The Kremlin, formerly the ecclesiastical center for Russia and the historic shrine about which the Romanoff traditions centers, is all government. Its churches are closed. Red army soldiers occupy the barracks of the old imperial army and prominent Bolshevik officials occupy the quarters formerly given over to Church officials and other dignitaries of the Romanoff regime.

Hospitals and orphanages and schools are run by the government. The government payrolls are filled to overflowing with employes who want the government food ration and in consequence there seems to be an excess of personnel in Moscow institutions as well as the provinces.

Million Farms Plan Urged In Australia

SYDNEY, Aug. 25.—(Associated Press Mail).—A body known as "The Million Farms Committee" has been formed in Sydney for the purposes of furthering Sir Joseph Carruther's scheme to settle 1,000,000 families from Great Britain on available fertile lands in Australia.

Sir Joseph is at present stumping the country in behalf of a fund of $150,000,000 to carry out the plan. Contribution for several thousands of dollars have already been obtained in Sydney, while other men of affairs have undertaken to provide the land, homes and stock for given numbers of families as soon as they reach Australia.

Billion Dollar Bank For World Financing Proposed

(ASSOCIATED PRESS) WARSAW, Oct. 27.—Frank A. Vanderlip, the American banker, has presented to President Pilsudski a plan for a "Bank of the United States and Europe." He proposes that the bank shall be capitalized at a billion dollars and finance trade on the dollar basis. It would be governed by a board of nine trustees of whom five would be Americans. Vanderlip left for Berlin today.

Russia Will Acknowledge Old Debts But Redeeming Difficult

(ASSOCIATED PRESS) COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Oct. 27.—Russia acknowledges her debts but doesn't know how to pay them. Despatches from Reval quote Maximun Livinoff, chief of the Soviet legations abroad, as saying: "We have informed England and France that the Soviet government is ready to acknowledge the debt of Imperial Russia of the days before the Revolution to foreign capitalists but it is necessary to confer as to ways and means for the redeeming of the securities which represent such debts."

Italy Has No Trouble Finding Work For All

ROME, Sept. 7.—(Associated Press Mail).—While the United States seems to be in a crisis of unemployment with the number of unoccupied persons amounting to millions, Italy, which is generally an overcrowded labor market, had but 388,744 this summer.

At the same time, there are a great many sporadic labor crises in various parts of the country and, from time to time, whole industries seem to close their doors at a moment's notice. The metallurgical industries of Turin have faced crisis after crisis but manage to tide them over. The textile industries of Northern Italy, too, have had their periods of slackness. The workers recently accepted a reduction of 15 percent in their wages.

At Trieste, there is much unemployment. A reduction of 20 percent in wages was accepted by the workmen so that orders could be obtained. The workmen were told that by next July there would be gradual reductions until the total would reach 50 percent.

Failed To Find Will So Suffers For Theft

SENLIS, France, Sept. 13.—(Associated Press Mail).—Three hundred yards from the monument which marks the furthest southern advance of the German army in France, in the woods near here, Anatole Demuy, a pensioned railroad worker, while strolling after lunch, stumbled upon the body of a man, whose right hand still held a revolver.

Demuy lost no time in going thro' the dead man's pockets and appropriating 3,500 francs, some National Defence Bonds and other papers among which, a will and last testament.

Noticing his exaggerated expenditures and failing to obtain any information from her husband as to the hidden source of his sudden wealth, Demuy's wife reported him to the police. He was arrested and upon threat of being charged with theft, directed the police to the spot where the body was found.

A gendarme opened the will. The first article read: "I am friendless, without family, I leave all the money, person finding my body, after deducting the expenses of a modest funeral." Demuy had failed to read the will. He will be arraigned on a charge of theft.

New Drug Plants Are Found Amazon Basin

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—(Associated Press Mail).—New drug plants and species of insects have been discovered in the Amazon river basin by the Mulford biological exploration party, according to word received at the Columbia University School of Pharmacy, from the head of the expedition, Dr. H. H. Rusby. Curious forms of reptiles and birds have also been encountered, in addition to botanical specimens of great scientific value.

Dr. Rusby, who is 64 years old, reported that his expedition was proceeding by rafts down the Bopi river, after spending three weeks in the vicinity of Canamina and Espia, at the head of navigation of this waterway. Richer vegetation was encountered as the expedition penetrated into the little-known regions of the interior of Bolivia.

All members of the party were reported in good health and Dr. Rusby said that most satisfactory results had been obtained, notwithstanding irritating delays and difficulty in obtaining reliable information or dependable assistants.

Business Feels Cold, Grey Dawn of Morning After

(ASSOCIATED PRESS) ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 28.—Charles M. Schwab, speaking at the annual convention of the National Paint, Oil and Varnish, Makers Association here last evening said: "We have been on a great business spree and now we are in 'the cold, grey dawn of the morning,' but this business depression will place us on firmer ground and in surer position for the future. We are on the eve of the greatest development of our history."

NEGRO RUNS AMUCK

The suspect took refuge and barricaded himself in a house where he resisted capture. He was killed when the fire department was called, fired the house in which he had taken refuge and drove him forth.

POULTRY JUDGES TELL OF FINE DISPLAY MAUI MADE

By H. L. Chung, Agronomist, U. S. Experiment Station and Harold Fisher, Proprietor Fisher Poultry Farm.

Under the auspices of the Maui county fair management, the fourth poultry fair was held October 13 to 15, inclusive, in conjunction with the fourth Maui county fair. It was not only the best poultry show held on Maui, but perhaps the best ever staged in the Territory.

What impressed the visitors upon entering the livestock pavilion, where the chickens were housed, was the manner in which the birds were caged for the poultry committee used strictly up-to-date coops for the single trip and pen entries, thus making the entire exhibit very uniform and pleasing to the spectators' eyes.

As for the birds entered for the prizes in this particular poultry show no criticisms can be made either by the judges or visitors as far as poultry is concerned.

In the White Leghorn breed, H. A. Dye had but little trouble in capturing the blue ribbon from an entry by Paul Lada in the aged cock class. Mr. Dye's bird won on excellency of carriage, head points and symmetry.

Sparks' Cockerel Wins

For the cockerel class it remains for W. A. Sparks to be thankful to Y. Ting for persuading him to enter a White Leghorn cockerel which he thought would not have a chance to win a tenth place. At any rate, the male bird in question not only carried away the blue ribbon for the class for which he was entered, but he captured for the owner the silver cup offered for the best male of the Mediterranean breed. The second cockerel owned by Dye was a trifle underdeveloped at the time of competition.

White Leghorn pullets were few and far between. F. Y. Lee had but little trouble in taking first honor with a well-shaped bird showing lots of quality.

In the pen class the competition was exceptionally keen. It was a race between an imported and an island bred pen. Every bird in these two pens possessed lots of quality in every detail. The island-bred pen, owned by W. A. Sparks, was placed over the imported pen primarily for the elegant type of females and the finished cockerel with a wonderful head, good back and well-carried tail with broad lesser sickle feathers. One hen in this winning pen took the first prize for the best female in the entire show. There was one pen in the imported pen that ran a close second for the same honor. A pen entered by Kewalo farm of Honolulu was third with imported birds, but a very promising pen for the next poultry show.

Minorcas, R. I. Reds, Scarce

There was a decided absence of Black Minorcas and Rhode Island Reds in this year's show. A mammoth Black Minorca of the Pape family entered by Kewalo farm was first. In the pen class no awards were made by the judges for the first or second. However, the lone entry made by M. A. Deas was tagged with a third prize.

Yasue earned a white ribbon for his Rhode Island Red cock which he sent to the fair to help make the poultry show a success. Kewalo farm was awarded the blue ribbon for the best pen of the same breed.

As to Barred Rocks, there was a fine aggregation of them. So plentiful were the birds of this breed that the section occupied by these fowls was called the "Barred Rock Alley." Every bird in this class had some special merits of its own. The judges will admit without reservation that it was the most difficult task in the entire judging to pick out the three best individuals for the different entries.

Lindsay Takes Ribbons

James Lindsay, the "E. B. Thompson of Maui," started the poultry show committee by taking the blue ribbons for the best cock, best pen in the dark class, best pen of the light, and won special premiums and silver cups for the best Hawaiian bred male cockerel in the American class, best barred and shape male and best live capons. All these blue ribbon winners had good excellent rock type and with distinct barring. The judges take this occasion to congratulate Mr. Lindsay for his wonderful display of these barred rocks.

F. Y. Lee was Lindsay's closest competitor, having captured the first place for the best hen in both the dark and light class and second for the best cock, best cockerel and pullet in the light entry.

Foster Robinson snatched all laurels from Lindsay this year on cockerels by winning first and second place. Mr. Robinson exhibited an exceptional quartet of barred rock females. Had he used little discretion by using the first prize cockerel as mate to these four females in the pen entry he would have captured the first honor and the silver cup for good measure from Lindsay. The best Hawaiian bred female was found in the Robinson pen.

Wyandottes to the Front

The Wyandottes are coming to the front again, judging by the numerous entries in the poultry show ring. Heine English, the coming "J. S. Martin of Maui," had his own way about prize winning with the White Wyandottes. No matter how the judges will place the awards, he was sure that he will get first, second and third prizes. The first cockerel was an exceptionally good bird. In fact the competition was so keen between the two cockerels that the judges had to look for minor defects and blemishes to decide the winner.

The pen entry of White Wyandottes was very good. The Hawaiian bred entry won over the imported pen decidedly for better Wyandotte type and uniformity.

In the Silverfaced Wyandotte entry there was only one cockerel entered. He was a very good specimen, showing very distinct lacings for a Hawaiian bred fowl. The best shaped female was found in one of the Silver Wyandotte females. She possessed the shape that is almost ideal. Mr. Houchens should be proud to be the owner of this female.

Two entries were made under the Asiatic class with Light Brahmas. First prize was awarded to Sato and third prize to M. A. Deas.

Garcia Shows Silkies

In the novelty entry J. Garcia exhibited a trio of Silkies. These fowls were in excellent condition and perhaps they were one of the attraction of the poultry show. F. Y. Lee had four bantams in the show coops and they were the children's favorites.

The turkeys were scarce this year. White Hollands and Bronzes were the two breeds representing the Thanksgiving fowl. Dr. Fitzgerald won the blue ribbon and silver cup for the best and heaviest bird.

Duck entries were light, being represented by Pekins, Indian Runners and Moscovies. Honors for these three breeds of waterfowls went to F. Y. Lee, J. P. Cockett, and Wailuku Hotel.

A fine display of pigeons was found on the ewa bench of the poultry show. Pigeons of every description and colors were found there. The silver cup offered by Home Insurance for the best pair was won by J. M. Feiteira.

As a concluding remark to the above poultry show, too much credit cannot be given Mr. Ting, chairman of the show, and his able corps of helpers for the way the entire exhibit was benched. It was a 100 per cent show with the genuine Maui spirit of co-operation behind it.

Lurline's Appearance Will Be Changed

Honolulu will rub its eyes the next time the Matson steamer Lurline comes into port from San Francisco, for she may be mistaken for her sister ship, the Manoa, reports the Advertiser.

Plans for the alterations to be made on the Lurline, which are now under way at San Francisco, show a vessel from which the deep deck wells fore and aft have been eliminated by the addition of long promenade decks, while the old "cheese box on the raft" cabin section just amidships will no longer appear isolated from the remainder of the steamer.

Although the alterations are extensive and will cost a large sum and give only 17 additional accommodations for passengers, the company's desire in changing the appearance of the vessel was mainly to modernize her and put her in a class with the Manoa, which is regarded as one of the most comfortable passenger steamers in the Pacific.

The dining room, now running fore and aft, will occupy the space form side to side and will have 12 family tables for four persons at each, and one table for 12 persons. This makes her similar to the Manoa. The pantry will be amidships, aft of the dining room, and the galley is farther back. On this deck there are 18 staterooms.

On the promenade deck will be the social hall, in the forward end, running from side to side of the ship. On this deck will be four suits and a smoking room in the after end. The doctor and stewardess have their staterooms on this deck.

On the bridge are the quarters of the captain and officers, including also two staterooms for passengers, with the wireless operators, and there are connecting bath.

In all there will be 67 berths. She formerly had 51 berths. The alteration work was to be finished within three months. Meanwhile the freighter Manulani, which has accommodations for passengers, is taking the Lurline's run from San Francisco to Honolulu via Seattle.

READING, Pa., Oct. 10.—(Associated Press Mail).—It is not generally known that Pennsylvania has a tea crop indigenous to the Blue Mountain region near here and which largely supplants the use of the Oriental tea in several counties of this section. The crop is now being gathered and tons of the tea are being picked and dried for winter use.

The soil, where this little known product of the Keystone state grows, is rocky but there is plenty of moisture. The plant closely resembles Chinese tea. The leaves are long and slender and of a deep green color. The beverage, prepared from the dried leaves in the same manner that ordinary tea is brewed, is said to be mildly stimulating and rich in medicinal properties.

MAUI TWENTY YEARS AGO

(From Maui News of Oct. 19, 1901.)

(From Maui News of Nov. 1, 1901.) It is the unexpected which generally happens. In the midst of our financial gloom the prospect for a better price for sugar and a protective duty on coffee are becoming apparent in the near future and good times are ahead for us next year. This is a stimulant equal to the big crop of sugar for the coming season.

There are 468 voters in the Wailuku district and only three booths so it will take fast work to get all the ballots in.

There will be a practice game of polo at Sunnyside this afternoon.

Another football game between the Morning Stars and Wailuku will be played tomorrow.

Inter-Island Denies Report of Steamer To Be Added To Fleet

Denial of the report that was sent out from Honolulu last week to the effect that the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company will have and put on the Honolulu-Lahaina-Hilo run a 3,000 ton steamer, was given in the Honolulu Star-Bulletin by Stanley Kennedy, operating manager of the company.

Mr. Kennedy is quoted as having said that consideration of general plans for a new vessel has been under way, but no definite action of any nature has been taken. It is possible that after more detailed information as to the structure of the proposed vessel and its cost has been received, the Inter-Island Company may order the boat. At present this has not been done, however.

Island travelers are disappointed by the denial for they have long hoped for adequate provisions for their comfort in traveling the most frequented island run. The speed reported for the proposed new vessel would have shortened the time between Honolulu and Lahaina fully a third, besides adding much to comfort.

Other reports received in Honolulu encourage the hope the Kilauaea will soon be back on the Kahului run. Such reports come from the mainland and say that two gangs of workmen are employed in making repairs and alterations on the Inter-Island steamer Mauna Kea at San Francisco, and the work is progressing so rapidly that the steamer will probably be turned out of the ship yard early next week.

She will be loaded with cargo and may arrive here about November 15. This is the first time in about 15 years that the Mauna Kea has been overhauled in a ship building yard and it is expected she will return to the Honolulu-Hilo run a finer ship than ever.

Two comfortable rooms have been added to an upper deck.

Italian Restaurants Put Taxes In Pockets

ROME, Oct. 3.—(Associated Press Mail)—Americans who have paid the Italian luxury tax demanded in the so-called deluxe restaurants of Rome will be chagrined to learn that four of those restaurants which draw large numbers of visitors from overseas did not turn that tax money into the Italian treasury at all but simply put it in the restaurant cash drawer.

The restaurants which have just been discovered by the Italian police as collecting this money from the public under the guise of a national tax have all been brought to account for the illegal manipulation of accounts and have been fined 1,000,000 lire by the Italian Finance department. The Umberto restaurant paid the highest fine which aggregated 556,800 lire. The Castello del Cesari paid 78,191 lire; the Regina, 391,800 and the Taverna Russia 23,900 lire. (At normal exchange 1,000,000 lire would be equivalent to about $200,000; at current rates to about $40,000).

The waiters of these restaurants would present the bill to the customers adding on ten percent for the luxury tax. No record was kept of the ten percent on the bill and accordingly no return was made to the Italian Finance department. When the authorities discovered the ruse they took the books of these restaurants and placed a fine amounting to the discrepancies.

Japanese Language School Is Closed

While on his visit to Maui, during the county fair, Vaughan MacCaughy superintendent of public instruction, served notice to the plantation authorities at Puunene, ordering the closing of the Japanese language school at Camp 1. Mr. MacCaughy's action was taken on the finding of the grounds surrounding the school to be in an unsanitary condition, the school building walls covered with chalk marks and writings, and the poor condition of the school equipment.

T. Sone, the principal of the school is now hard at work cleaning up and placing the entire school in a better condition, prior to the re-opening which is expected soon.

More Porto Rican Labor—A second contingent of Porto Rican immigrants for service on the sugar plantations, will probably arrive here about November 7 on the Matson liner Buckeye State, as the liner called at Ponce, Porto Rico a few days ago. She left that port, according to advices received yesterday by Castle & Cooke, agents, on October 21.

Some concerns think it economy to send orders to Honolulu or to the mainland when they could be filled as well or better at home. They figure they save a few cents on the dollar by doing so and grasp at the nickel in sight.

BUT

Every dollar spent with Maui concerns passes from hand to hand, in wages, to the store, to the bank and out again into circulation, back to the concern that sent it out, again to be sent forth on its rounds. The profits accruing from the dollar kept in home circulation are many times larger than the small saving in the dollar sent away.

Requires Immigrants To Bring Women Along

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 25—(Associated Press Mail)—An immigration bill which imposes a condition that each male immigrant into the Philippine Islands shall be accompanied by at least one woman between the ages of 18 and 35, is being prepared by Senator Pedro Guevara of Manila, for introduction in the legislature which meets the middle of October. The purpose of the bill, according to the author, "is to increase the population of the Philippine Islands by at least 50,000,000 as rapidly as possible, in order to make the islands withstand both physically and intellectually, the race for human supremacy." The bill would require an immigrant to become a citizen of the Philippines after having been a resident here four years. "A country to be able to compete successfully with the other nations of the world," said Senator Guevara, "must have the power of numerical strength. Intellectual leadership and direction are necessary but they must be backed by a multiplicity of human reserve. In peace or in war, the strength of numbers is paramount. What we need today most in the Philippines is a big population, at least as big as the 50,000,000 which Japan proper has. We only have 10,000,000 inhabitants and at the present rate of increase, through the natural process alone, it will take at least 150 years to reach the 50,000,000 mark. In order to make the increase of the population more rapid, I am making it a condition for the entrance of any male immigrant in the Philippines the bringing with him of at least one woman, between the ages of 18 and 35. "I know I am incurring the displeasure of the labor element of the islands by advocating immigration. The laborers say they can not compete with Chinese or Japanese laborers as their standard of living is lower, but the laborers should look at the immigration question with greater vision and patriotism."

Small Boys Quick to Seize Chance to Make All Noise They Want

Mothers who missed dish pans, tin pails or other kitchen ware of tin may secure unwilling information of the whereabouts by careful and persistent inquiry from the young hopefuls of the family, if such missing articles have not been seen since last Friday night. It is probable the missing tin were served as an improvised snare drum for the football rally parade. Pandemonium reigned on Main street, Friday night, especially from Church to Market street, and the bedlam noises circled around the block bounded by Market, Wells, Church and Main streets and eddied down Wells street to the ball park where the bonfire and rally were held. Essentially it was an evening of fun for the small boy and he was in evidence to ear and to eye alike. Response to the call for a football rally was spontaneous and long before the hour set marching bands of boys were gravitating towards Wailuku ball park. The bands grew in numbers and the sounds increased in volume. In the park there was a large crowd that sang and danced around the fire. They had come to be heard rather than to listen and Leland C. Lewis who told of the purposes of the affair and the promise for football had some difficulty in making himself heard except to those who were close up. However, it was a jolly affair and the youngsters thoroughly enjoyed it while the oldsters shared the enjoyment in seeing and hearing the fun the others were having.

Courting in Schools of Leyte Forbidden

TACLOBAN, Province of Leyte, P. I., Sept. 25—(Associated Press Mail)—Love making in the schools of Tacloban, capital of the province of Leyte, has been made unlawful by the municipal council. The purpose of the ordinance, according to officials, is to stop courting in the schools not only between the pupils, but between the teachers and pupils, who it is asserted have neglected their duties. The penalty for violation of the ordinance is a fine of from $2.50 to $100, and in case the fine is unpaid the defendant must suffer imprisonment until the fine is worked out at the rate of fifty cents a day. The ordinance reads: "Section 1. It shall be illegal for all males to court, make love to, or maintain amorous relations with, or solicit love from any woman who studies, is studying or attends any school, private or public, established within the jurisdiction of this municipality, either directly or indirectly, in any form and under any pretext. "Section 2. It likewise shall be illegal for any male or female teacher, within the jurisdiction of this municipality, to maintain with scandal, amorous relations during the performance of his or her duties." Another section provides that lawful marriage of the person accused or convicted of the violation of section one of the ordinance, with the offended party, will constitute exemption from criminal responsibility.

Farming in England Is Losing Venture

LONDON, Oct. 5—(Associated Press Mail)—S. F. Edge, the well-known motorist whose scientific farming in Sussex have given him almost equal rank as an agriculturist, says that under present conditions farming in England does not pay. He has offered to turn over to a committee of his farm workers farms worth £20,000 and, leaving their management entirely in their hands, see if they can make them pay. "This year," he says, "the average farmer lost money. Faced by a falling market he has had to pay wages out of capital. Thus graziers have been losing from £10 to £15 per head of stock. Actually this year it pays me better to feed my stock on wheat than to sell the wheat. After keeping his sheep for two years, the farmer gets a shilling a pound for the mutton which the butcher sells for 2s 8d a pound, making his 150 percent profit in a week. On most farming land I can today only trace a profit on pigs. "With prices of farm produce falling so fast that the cost of production is more than the price for which the animals or crops can sell, the farmer is faced with this situation: Unless he can reduce production costs, either he must give up farming—while he has still something left—or go bankrupt. "To reduce costs he must reduce wages or reduce the number of his employees. But even such reductions will not allow him to remain in business unless all his employees are in earnest that he shall succeed. Unless one and all agricultural workers are prepared to give of their best agriculture generally will fail, and that quickly. Until everybody on a farm regards a bad time-keeper as a thief, we shall never attain efficiency."

Lane is Possible—John Lane, former mayor of Honolulu is being prominently mentioned in the capital city for the Republican nomination for delegate. Month's Rainfall—In Wailuku the rainfall for the month of October has been 1.13 inches, the greater part occurring in the first half of the month.

Brighton Is Called Wickedest of Towns

BRIGHTON, Eng., Oct. 5—(Associated Press Mail)—This popular city by the sea, where thousands of Londoners are wont to spend their week-ends, is declared by the Rev. Dr. Downes, a prominent Wesleyan minister, to be the "fastest town in the world." By that he means the wickedest. "Brighton," he says, "is full of slaves of sensualism. Babes are being nursed in the cradle of immorality and vice. Conscience is here waiting in darkness for earnest Christian work." The Rev. J. Dixon, another Wesleyan minister, backed him up in his denunciation of the immorality of Brighton. "There's not a town in England in greater need of Methodism," he said. "No where else can you see such a display of the vagaries and follies of fashion."

Resignation Reported—Persistent rumors in Hilo say that Alvah Scott, manager of the Hilo Sugar Company has resigned to take a position in Honolulu with C. Brewer & Co. Louissen Mentioned—Abe Louissen, the "Hawaii Coffee King" is mentioned on the Big Island as a candidate for the Republican nomination for delegate to congress.
