"Flu" Epidemic Bad In Lahaina District

Paia Also Has Some Cases—Many School Children In West Maui Victims—Few Public Gatherings—Disease Not Very Severe

Maui has the "flu." The doctors say it is the same thing that has visited Maui almost yearly in the past and has been called "grip," "dengue," "colds," etc., but there is little doubt that it is the same thing that Honolulu folk are throwing fits over under name of Spanish Influenza.

Up to the present time the two centers of epidemic on Maui are Lahaina and Paia-Hamakuapoko districts.

Lahaina Hard Hit

Lahaina has several hundred cases of the disease. About 150 children of the public schools have been out of school during the past two weeks on account of the illness. The Lahaina hospital is overflowing with patients, as are also two Japanese hospitals. In several instances the malady is reported to have developed a mild type of pneumonia.

A trained nurse arrived from Honolulu this week to help out at the Lahaina hospital, and Dr. St. Sure, of Wailuku has temporarily taken up his abode in Lahaina to help Dr. Burt cope with the situation.

The people of Lahaina district are pretty well exercised over the situation, and attendance at moving picture shows, or other gatherings in west Maui has almost ceased.

Paia Afflicted

Wailuku, Kahului and Puunene are thus far quite free from the epidemic, but Paia and Hamakuapoko have a number of cases.

The disease does not appear to be particularly severe in type. Physicians urge that people report even cases of "colds" in order that precautions may be taken to prevent spread of the epidemic in possibly more severe form.

Didn't Call For Bids So Had To Buy Property

School Superintendent Kinney has approved plan of the county to purchase the land on which the Camp 1 school cottage stands, together with the cottage itself, from the H. C. & S. Co., and the matter will probably be put through in a few days.

This is the way the legal difficulty of paying the sugar company for building a $2000 cottage has been overcome.

When the cottage was destroyed by fire about a year ago, D. C. Lindsay, school commissioner for Maui, and Chairman Kalama, of the board of supervisors saw the necessity of getting a new cottage built as soon as possible, and therefore made arrangements with the H. C. & S. Co., to rebuild the cottage as quickly as possible, the agreement being that the job should be done at cost.

When it came to paying for the work, however it was discovered that the law prohibits the doing of work amounting to over $1000 without calling for tenders, and complying with other conditions as regards citizen labor, etc. Then it was discovered that the county had never acquired title to the land on which the cottage stood, so the plan of buying the land, cottage and all suggested itself. As there is no law to prevent such a transaction, this, as at first stated, is the way the matter will be settled. Incidentally the county fathers claim to have saved about $1000 over the cost of the first cottage.

Baby Wandering In Cane Field Restored To Home

The 6-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lorenz, of Puunene Camp 7, got tired of the activities of the Alexander House Kindergarten, last Monday morning, and accordingly started out on his own hook to go home. He was later found in a cane field about 2 miles from Wailuku in direction of Waikapu, by Luna Manuel Jardine.

The youngster could not give his name or where he lived, and he was accordingly turned over to the police, who several hours later managed to find out who the child was and to restore him to his home.

The little fellow's escape from falling in a ditch or becoming hopelessly lost in growing cane, is considered a matter of pure luck. The boy had been left at the kindergarten by his older brother and sisters while they went on to school.

Sampan Captain Is Crushed Under Boat

Fatal Accident On Kahoolawe When Wave Throws Boat Upon Beach—Was Well Liked Native Sailor Of Eben Low's Fleet

Caught beneath the gunwale of a small row-boat when a big wave overturned it and tossed it upon the beach of Kahoolawe, about 6 o'clock last Saturday evening, Keonini Kimokeo, captain of the sampan Heela Maru, was so badly crushed that he died of his injuries about 8 o'clock the following Monday morning.

Kimokeo, though but 26 years of age, was one of the most valued employees of the Oahu Shipping Co., of which Eben Low is superintendent. He had brought his vessel with a load of supplies for Low and Angus McPhee from Honolulu, and at the time of the accident had just rowed ashore in the tender to land the Japanese engineer. He was turning the boat to put back to the sampan, after landing his passenger, when the wave, caught the boat broad-side, tossing it upon the beach upside down, with the boatman under it. The sea was not rough at the time.

The engineer, who witnessed the accident, raised the boat and the injured man was able to crawl out. He was taken in charge by Mr. and Mrs. McPhee who happened to be there at the time, though he did not appear to be very badly hurt. He refused to be taken over to Maui where he could have medical assistance. On Sunday his condition seemed better, but he became rapidly worse that night and died the following morning.

Word was sent to Sheriff Crowell, who made the trip to Kahoolawe with Dr. Osmer, the latter performing an autopsy which showed that the man had suffered a ruptured liver besides other internal injuries, which even with immediate surgical attention would have probably proved fatal. The unfortunate man lived in Honolulu. He was unmarried.

Lieuts. Peacock Both Safe And Recovering

Frank W. Peacock, of Puunene, received good news this week in a letter from his sister in England, to effect that his two brothers in the army are both recovering nicely from injuries they had received.

Lieut. Jack Peacock, of the Australian forces, who was shot in the hip and captured by the Germans a few weeks before peace was declared, is now in Liege, Belgium, and is recovering from shock, is also better. He has been decorated by the King a second time for gallantry.

The news has been a big relief to Mr. Peacock and his wife who have suffered much anxiety during the uncertainty concerning both boys.

HARVEY RAYMOND HOME FROM NAVY

Harvey Raymond, son of Dr. J. H. Raymond, of Ulupalakua, returned home this week from the Coast where he was recently discharged from the Mare Island Naval Training station, following the close of the war. Harvey joined the navy at Pearl Harbor and had just completed his training course and was under orders to start east to join one of Uncle Sams destroyers in the Atlantic, when the signing of the armistice changed all plans.

He wore his uniform when he returned and looks as though the experience had agreed with him. It is understood that he will resume his position as manager on his father's ranch.

MISS HATTIE K. KAPAKU

Miss Hattie K. Kapaku of Honokohau, Maui, died at 2:30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon at the home of friends she was visiting in Waiakamilo road, and was buried yesterday afternoon in Nuuanu Cemetery. She was a victim of pneumonia and was sick three weeks. Miss Kapaku was a student, native of Maui, and 16 years old. She came to Honolulu with her father, David Kapaku of Honokohau, Maui, to visit friends in the city, two months ago.—Advertiser.

Word comes from Hilo that the women of that burg are taking time by the forelock and are busy making influenza masks against the coming of the "flu" which they seem certain will come. The disease has not reached there in epidemic form.

Maui's Tax Rate Is Lower Than Expected

Will Yield $242,400 For Local Current Expenses—Total Of $703,000 To Be Raised From County—Maui's Rate 1.74 Percent

Maui's tax rate for the present year has been fixed by Territorial Treasurer Delbert E. Metzger, at 1.74 percent, or $17.40 per $1000 property valuation. This against 1.50 percent of last year. Even with this advance Maui's rate remains considerably lower than that of any of the other islands. The supervisors, last month, figured that the new rate should be about 1.80 percent.

Treasurer Metzger, in announcing the new rate, mentions the fact that this is based on the net assessed valuation of real and personal property in Maui county for the year 1918, this value being $40,401,676, about $3,000,000 less than 1917.

A total of $703,087.52 is to be raised in Maui county from this tax levy, which amount is to be distributed as follows:

For County Use
1. Current expenses 3% of 1% assessed value	$242,410.06
2. For permanent improvements, % of 1%	161,606.70
For Schools
3. New buildings, additions improvements, repairs and maintenance, janitors, etc., furniture and fixtures, new grounds	61,000.00
4. Teachers' salaries, 17.60% of Territorial requirement	164,849.79
5. General school fund	19,319.52

Territory
6. Interest on sinking fund, on $612,464.08 of territorial bonds allotted to Maui for county use, interest	23,989.70
Sinking Fund	14,461.75
7. Assessing and collecting taxes in Maui county	15,450.00

The total net assessed value of property in the Territory for 1918 was $229,595,448, not including the real and personal property that is used in connection with the business of transmitting intelligence by electricity or otherwise, or transporting passengers, mail or freight from one island to another or to vessels at sea or to other islands; this property being taxed separately for the sole benefit of the Territory.

The tax rate for Oahu for this year will be 1.83 the rate for Hawaii 1.83, and the rate for Kauai 1.788.

Mr. McCubbin will be on the ground then and will have general charge of putting it up. The arrangement for the services of Mr. McCubbin is an amicable one between Pioneer Mill Co., and Catton, Neill Co.—Star-Bulletin.

More Typhoid Cases Reported From Hana

Dr. Pratt Arrives To Take Charge Of Situation—Fear That Ditch System May Become Infected In Central Maui

Dr. J. H. B. Pratt, former president of the board of health, now a member of the U. S. public health service, at Honolulu, and who is recognized as one of the foremost sanitarians in the Territory, arrived on Maui on Wednesday night and proceeded overland on Thursday for the Hana district to take charge of the work of controlling the typhoid fever epidemic at Kipahulu.

Dr. Pratt was sent to Maui following reports made by Dr. Wayson, of the health department, who visited Kipahulu last week, that the sanitary conditions over there are "pretty rotten." Action was also helped along by representations made by Theo. H. Davies & Co., and by other plantation interests in Honolulu acting on reports of their manager on Maui.

The danger that the typhoid fever germs may be carried to central Maui by persons coming from the infected district, or that the big main ditches which head in the Hana districts may become contaminated, and thus bring the disease to other parts of the island, has been the inspiration which has resulted in various urgent protests being made to Honolulu and which seems finally to have stirred the board of health to action.

Dr. George Broadrup, government physician at Hana, states that in all there have been about 30 cases of the disease, covering a period of several months. Two cases were reported only last Friday. Up to this week he had been working alone in the district as far as medical assistance went.

Dr. Wayson is reported to have recommended that a district nurse be appointed to keep in touch with things in Kipahulu and to educate the people in protecting themselves and helping to stamp the disease out. Up to the present the Board has not acted upon this suggestion. It is understood that the Honolulu office is trying to persuade the county authorities to supply the nurse.

Maui Boy Decorated By King For Valor

William Hussey, Of Lahaina, Fighting With Canadians Since 1914, Wounded Three Times—In Hospital At Present

Another Maui boy has distinguished himself as a soldier in France. Wounded three times and still in a hospital in England, he has recently been decorated by King George for distinguished service and exceptional valor.

The young hero is William K. Hussey, of Lahaina, a nephew of Thomas Hussey, head carpenter of the Pioneer Mill Co. He was one of the first from the Islands to respond to the call of humanity, leaving the Islands a few months after the great war began in 1914 and joining a Canadian regiment. Since that time he was constantly with the fighting forces up to the end of the war, except during the intervals when wounds confined him to hospital wards.

Friends have just learned something of this young hero's exploits, but still know little of the details by which he won recognition as one of the bravest of the brave. He was in the great battle of the Somme where he was first wounded in a charge by a splinter of shrapnel in his thigh. Recovering from this injury, he was in time to get into the terrible fighting of Vimy Ridge where he got a bullet through the right breast. After a weary time in the hospital he was again able to take his place on the firing line. It was in the fighting during the last big drive that he was for a third time wounded, this time in the shoulder. From this he has not yet recovered and has, temporarily at least, lost the use of the fingers of his right hand.

Young Hussey is but 22 years of age. He had worked for some time for the Pioneer Mill Co., as carpenter's helper before the war. He is island born, his home originally being in Kohala where his parents still live. It is expected that he will be coming back to Maui within a short time.

Wyoming Women Having Done Their Duties Retire

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 14—(By Associated Press.)—Wyoming women having filled the breach in the absence of husbands, fathers and brothers during the war, will surrender their places as fast as the men return to take them. A majority of Wyoming women workers accepted unusual employment from a patriotic sense of duty, a few from necessity, and others because of the opportunity offered to make good wages. These were for the most part women whose husbands had entered the service, or young girls. Railroads were the largest employers of women, the local Union Pacific shops and storehouse having at one time 175 female employees. This force has dwindled to 75.

"One man is worth three women" said a railroad shop foreman. "Women work well enough, and did all we expected of them, but they can't stand hard labor; they are sick too much, and do not seem to attach enough responsibility to their work." The other chief source of female employment in Wyoming is in banks. Here they render good service, according to their employers. Cashiers however, said: "They complain if required to work overtime to correct a balance sheet, and stay home, regardless of their responsibilities. This, of course refers to the new women employees; we have seen some thoroughly dependent and qualified we would not replace with men." Another banker found it necessary to put three girls on bookkeeping work two men formerly had done.

Average scales for women in Wyoming approximated 35 cents per hour.

CORDOVA, Alaska, Dec. 30—(By Mail.)—(By Associated Press.)—Cordova now has been placed under rigid quarantine as the result of the first cases of Spanish influenza having been reported in this city in the last few days. Schools and public gatherings have been forbidden and travel put under the ban except on a clean bill of health from the city physician.

Volunteers have been called for to remove the postoffice to another building so that the present quarters may be equipped as an emergency hospital for influenza cases. Should the disease continue to spread, it was said the wearing of masks would be made compulsory.

Would Have Territory Do Insurance Business

The Maui industrial accident board at its meeting on Tuesday, discussed in an informal way the matter of providing compensation for injured workmen, and decided to again recommend to the legislature the creation of an insurance fund by the territory to provide compensation insurance for employers instead of leaving this in the hands of insurance corporations as at present.

The success of this plan of providing insurance in Ohio, where the state exercises a monopoly over this class of insurance, was cited as an example of the successful application of the theory of state insurance. The Maui board has twice before in its reports, recommended that the territory provide compensation insurance.

Changed in Transit
One of the methods of communicating from one officer to another in the trenches is to give the message to one of the privates and tell him to "pass the word along" the line until it reaches its destination, viz., the officer at the other end. The following story will show how a serious message can be distorted on its journey from mouth to mouth:
Lieutenant A., in charge of one end of the British line, told the private in front to "pass the word along" to Lieutenant B: "We are going to advance. Can you send us reinforcements?"

When Lieutenant B. received the message it was like this: "We are going to a dance. Can you send us three and four-pence?"—Strand Magazine.

"Yes," replied Bill. "I missed the train last year."—Tit-Bits.

New Federal Income Tax Will Hit Hard

How Different Incomes Will Be Affected—Salaried Men Will Pay Three To Four Times What They Did Last Year

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 18.—(By Associated Press.)—In working out for the first time several concrete examples as to the extent to which corporations and individuals will be called upon to help meet the war expenditures by payment of taxes on income and profits of the calendar year 1918 under the terms of the new revenue law about to be enacted, Collector of Internal Revenue Justus S. Wardell today said that he had not heretofore fully realized the unprecedented scope of the taxes about to be collected to bring in the $6,000,000,000 contemplated by the framers of the bill.

Total Internal Revenue collections in 1917, for the entire country, reported at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1918, amounted to $3,694,703,000, of which $2,539,000 came from income and excess profits and $855,619,000 from a multitude of miscellaneous sources.

Under the terms of the Senate bill, the married man or head of a family has a $2,000 exemption. A single person has an exemption of $1,000 only. For each dependent child a married man gets an exemption of $200.

The normal tax is 6% on the first $4,000 of income above exemption. For a married man with no children, the rate is therefore 6% on any amount in excess of $2,000 and not in excess of $6,000. It is 12% in excess of $6,000.

In the case of a single person whose exemption is $1,000, the tax on an income of $2,000 would be $60, as against $20 under the law of 1917; on an income of $3,000 he pays $120, as against $40 in 1917 and on an income of $5,000 he pays $240 as against $80 in 1917.

Income up to $5,000 is exempt from surtax. On income in excess of $5,000 and not in excess of $6,000, the rate is 1%. The rate then advances 1% for each additional $2,000 up to $10,000, so that it runs 2% from $6,000 to $8,000; 5% from $8,000 to $10,000, and so on. Above $10,000 the advance are irregular but climb rapidly.

Tabulations made today with a net income Wardell's office showed that a person with a net income of $1,500,000 will have to give up $1,088,000 to the government while a taxpayer with net income amounting to $1,000,000 will be called upon to relinquish $703,030. The man with an income of $500,000 will be liable to a tax of $223,030, net incomes of $300,000 and $200,000 respectively will pay $173,030 and $101,030.

"Partnerships are not to be taxed," Collector Wardell said, "but individual partners pay tax on all partnership profits according to their shares, as well as on incomes from other sources."

"A new classification is made of Personal Service Corporations. The stockholders of such are taxed on their distributive shares of the net profits in the same manner as partners are taxed. Severe penalties are provided where stockholders permit profits to accumulate beyond legitimate requirements instead of being divided."

"For the normal income tax on corporations there is proposed a flat rate of 12 percent on the net income remaining after deducting the war-excess profit tax to be computed on business with an invested capital, plus a specific exemption allowed and the rate was 2 percent, 4 per cent, or 6 percent."

"For the war-excess profits tax computation there is proposed a formula which will require extended explanation to make it clear to the average reader."

Bowdish Will Not Go To France For Y. M. C. A.

The Rev. A. Craig Bowdish, pastor of the Makawao Union Church, who for the past six months has been under contract with the national Y. M. C. A., to go to France as a worker, has been released from his agreement. In a letter which he received yesterday Mr. Bowdish was advised that owing to the ending of hostilities in Europe, the Y. M. C. A., has found available a large number of men already there, who are available for carrying on the work, thus obviating the necessity of sending any more across.

Mr. Bowdish had made his full preparations to leave, but was delayed on account of slowness in the state department in getting his passport in order. The end of the war naturally changed the situation very materially, so that his services are no longer needed.

Tickets for the Selinsky Quintet Concert which will be given in the Kahului Theater on Thursday evening, January 30th are being sold by the members of the Maui Music Club. They can also be procured from the Maui Book Store, Wailuku, and the Kahului Theater.

The reserved seat tickets selling for $1.50 can be exchanged at any time now for regular reserve seat theater tickets. The 75 cent tickets are for general admission.—Adv.

SKAGWAY, Alaska, Dec. 20.—(By Mail.)—(By Associated Press.)—Women are conducting four of Skagway's largest business concerns. War and war work has drawn a large number of Skagway men to the south.

A Skagway restaurant and hotel, known by hundreds of tourists who have passed through here, is being conducted by a woman. Her sisters in trade are managing clothing stores, two of them handling men's furnishings.

"A new comparison of the 1917 tax liability with the proposed application of a few corporations of like capital and income will however, give something of an idea of the scope of the new law."

"Last year, the concern with a capital of $1,250,000 and a net profit of $275,000, with a pre-war capital averaging $1,000,000 and with a net profit average of $2,000,000 paid (including the 2 and 4 percent tax) a total tax of $97,817.50. Under the proposed law the tax will be $182,448 about double the tax of last year and about 50 percent of the net income."

"A concern with $100,000 capital and $25,000 net income, with pre-war capital of $80,000, average income $10,000, paid $4,884 under the old act, while the new act imposes a tax of $12,616 were it not for a provision which limits tax on smaller corporations and allows it to deduct slightly, thus reducing the tax to $10,768."

"Again, a corporation with a capital of $90,000, income $10,000, and another with a capital of $25,000 with the same income and no pre-war experience, under the law with an 8 percent exemption, the larger concern paid no excess profits tax whatever, being subject only to the 6 percent rate, at which the tax would be only $600, while the concern with only $25,000 paid on excess profits tax of $2,387.50 and the 6 percent tax, $456.75, or a total of $2,844.25."

The smaller corporation's liability, computed on the regular schedule under the new law, would be $3,600, were it not provided that the tax shall in no case be more than 20 percent of the amount of the net income in excess of the specific exemption of $3000, whenever such income is not in excess of $20,000. This would reduce this tax to $2,900 (30 percent of $7,000) adding this new income tax, (12 percent in excess of exemption of $2,000) $708, makes the total tax $2,808, which is less amount than paid in 1917."

Coming Of Selinskys A Treat To Music Lovers

Judging from all reports of the concerts given by the Selinsky quintet in Honolulu, a rare treat awaits the music lovers of Maui at the opportunity given them to hear these talented performers next week. The Maui Music Club, a local organization of ladies has interested itself in seeing that enough tickets were sold to meet the necessary guarantee asked by the Philharmonic Society of Honolulu under whose auspices the quintet is making its public appearances. The seats at the Kahului Lyceum are being taken up very fast, and there is no doubt that a large and appreciative audience will greet these visitors.

The quintet consists of Miss Masson, pianist; Miss Rebecca Clarke, viola soloist; Miss May Mukle, violin solo; Mrs. A. B. Ingalls, second violin and Max Selinsky, violin soloist.

Of their work together the Honolulu Advertiser says: "The Beethoven quartet in C minor was the finest example of ensemble playing Honolulu has ever heard. A hum of admiration swept over the assembly as the Scherzo came to an abrupt end, followed by an enthusiastic burst of applause. Each movement showed the admirable precision and delicate unity and perfection which these artists are attaining with continued work together."

Miss Mukle, who is an English-woman and received her entire musical education in London, has toured all over the European continent, Australia and South Africa with the greatest success and is spoken of by leading critics as "being in the front rank of living cellists." Miss Clarke has been associated with Miss Mukle for many years and is a "serious artist of the highest order." Miss Masson, the pianist is of Australian birth and is a graduate of Marshall Hall Conservatorium. She has also spent some time in Paris studying and doing concert work but since the war has been at the head of the piano department in Mme Melba's conservatory.

"The popularity of these artists increases with each performance; coming to Honolulu strangers, they now have hosts of friends and admirers who praise their work unstintingly and adore their personal amiability."

BOARD OF HEALTH INEFFICIENCY

A striking argument for county control of local matters is seen right now in the handling (or rather neglect) of the typhoid fever epidemic at Kipahulu. This outbreak probably started last August. It was not until last week that the territorial board of health got aroused sufficiently to send an expert to look over the ground.

In the meantime some 30 cases had occurred in the community. It seems more than probable that the health department would still be deaf and blind to the matter had not the physicians of central Maui and Maui citizens generally become alarmed and voiced protests that could not be ignored.

This week, for the first time, the board has sent an expert sanitarian from Honolulu to take charge of the situation. This followed the report by Dr. Wayson, of the board, who looked into the situation last week, that conditions in the Hana district "are rotten".

But even this action was not taken on the health board's own initiative. A number of strong letters had first to be written by business men of central Maui to their business agents in Honolulu, and representation made of the situation through them. This got action, but it is a strange way for a community to be compelled to protect itself from an epidemic.

If Dr. Wayson's report that Hana district is rotten from a standpoint of sanitation, whose fault is it?

The territory has had absolute control right along. If it did not know conditions before, no one is responsible but the health department. It should have known.

The defense will undoubtedly be made that a government physician has been constantly on the job and that the situation was always "well in hand". Admitting that Hana has had a physician a part of the time, the health department is not justified in expecting him to cope with an epidemic of any sort alone. Dr. Broadrup, the present physician at Hana, undoubtedly has his hands full in handling the ordinary ills of a community extending from Kaupo to Keanae, without having to worry about a dangerous infectious disease. Besides this he is new in the islands and doubtless handicapped in a measure by lack of knowledge of local conditions. In spite of all this, it seems that he has rendered invaluable service in searching out and caring for the typhoid cases as well as attending to his usual duties; and all this entirely unassisted.

It might also be stated in this connection, that a physician is not necessarily a sanitarian. The Hana job is undoubtedly one for a sanitary expert.

The plain facts are that when the first cases of typhoid fever were reported from Kipahulu, months ago, an investigation should have been made immediately to locate, if possible its origin, and to guard against its spread. The fact that nothing of this sort was done until the public of central Maui, miles away, became aroused, points to negligence or indifference somewhere.

This is not exceptional. Rather it is the rule that the board of health, instead of zealously guarding against epidemics, has to be prodded into action by public indignation whenever danger threatens.

Some half dozen years ago central Maui was visited with a small-pox outbreak, and when the territorial health department, which should have directed the campaign, got around to it, it was only to say that everything possible had already been done.

The several thousand dollars of quarantine and other costs in that instance were paid locally and not by the department which draws for its maintenance a big lot of Maui money yearly, practically all of which is expended in Honolulu.

It is hard to see where Maui has ever gotten value received from the territorial health department. Local public opinion can always get action in matters of emergency while the cumbersome Honolulu bureau is getting the sleep out of its eyes.

A territorial health department is necessary, but in a much restricted form. It should hold a relationship to the counties similar to the relationship between the federal public health service and the states of the union. It should handle inter-island quarantine matters, gather vital statistics, supervise territorial asylums and leprosy stations, and have control of food and drug adulteration investigation.

It should be a department of experts, to which the counties might turn for advice; but to give it the powers of an old-time territorial department of the days before county government, is farcical. The day of centralized government in Hawaii is pau.

REMEMBER!

How quickly we forget!

Only yesterday that long-range gun opened fire on Paris and we teared the Hun had won. A few hours later the Germans swept through the battered lines with victory at their finger tips.

Then Chateau Thierry leaped to an undying page in history when America raced to meet that roaring tide of death singing "The Yanks are Coming." Followed the beginning of the Yank offensive that was to roll on and on to St. Mihiel, the Argonne Forest, Sedan and turn the German flag to white.

Now we're discussing peace. Our troops are coming home. The edge of our enthusiasm is wearing off a little, the hurrahing is dying out all too quickly and business and dollars are getting up steam.

Those tragic days at the Marne are beginning to seem pretty far away. The thrills we had in the war news are becoming a bit hazy. We read an interview with the cocky, pouter pigeon slayer of Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt who wants to come to America and we realize that truly the war is over.

But we must not forget. Let us keep before us the deeds of our men who have put deeper color into the red of the flag, a new brilliance in the starry field and a purer white that betokens a hope for world peace. We must freshen our minds with memories of American service and sacrifice. We dare not forget.

Our service is not ended. Our job is not finished. In the memory of the deeds of the valorous Yanks, subscribing our part of the Victory Loan becomes rather a pleasure than a stern duty and in the meantime let us help hold their victories by holding our Liberty Bonds.—Anonymous.

"We have room for but one language here, and that is the English language, for we intend to see that the crucible turns our people out as Americans of American nationality and not as dwellers in a polyglot boarding house; and we have room for but one soul loyalty, and that is loyalty to the American people."—Theodore Roosevelt.

AN IMPORTANT WORK NEGLECTED

Every little while a kamaaina of Maui starts on the Long Journey, leaving behind perhaps, a few bits of disconnected record in written form of his life journey, in form of letters—or other document. More often he leaves nothing at all of this sort, but carries with him as a sealed book all the memories of a lifetime.

Even in the instances where diaries or other form of record have been left, these often are neglected or even unthinkingly destroyed by those into whose charge they fall; and all because there is no person or persons whose duty or pleasure it is to play the part of historian to the Island of Maui.

Maui should have a historical society of some kind. It might be an independent organization of persons but it would seem more feasible to make it a branch of some existing organization such as the Maui County Fair and Racing Association, or the Maui Library Association. A few persons, interested in this kind of thing, should not only find much pleasure in gathering and preserving in orderly form the records of the past, but could have the added satisfaction of knowing that they were performing a very definite and valuable service—one that would be appreciated not only by the present generation, but more and more by succeeding generations.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS AND CITIZENSHIP

Judge Vaughan's contention that Japanese who have served as soldiers in the United States army are entitled to American citizenship, if other alien soldiers are, is the right idea, whatever may be the interpretation of the law by the higher courts.

A man who was considered qualified to wear the uniform of a United States soldier should also be qualified to exercise the duties of an American citizen, or else all the exalted things they tell an American soldier about himself is plain bunk and nothing else.

The fact that, if Judge Vaughan is sustained, Hawaii may find herself with a surplus of citizens and voters of the Japanese race, has no bearing on the matter from a national viewpoint. Our possible embarrassment should not prevent the nation from doing justice.

It might even be that Hawaii would have to go out of business as a territory and be governed from Washington through some form of commission. That also would be our misfortune and not a matter of much moment to the United States as a whole. Our citizens of whatever race might have to go to the mainland if they desired to exercise their franchise privileges, just as the citizens of the District of Columbia have to change their residence if their itch to cast a ballot becomes too strong.

The president of the territorial board of health, who has been away from his job for the past several months, is reported to be on his way home with a large consignment of automobiles for his automobile business. It does seem that Hawaii's territorial departments should be of sufficient importance to justify a good man's full time. If the salary of $4500 per year is not sufficient to purchase this, the coming legislature should take steps to rectify the matter. It is humiliating to the people of the territory to see one of its most important departments handled as a side issue to a private enterprise.

If the women of Hawaii do not get the right to vote at the hands of the coming legislature it will be pretty good evidence on the face of it that they are not very keen for the ballot. The Congress has put the matter up to the legislature. Governor McCarthy has gone strongly on record as favoring woman suffrage. So the legislature is now the only bar and if the women really do want the ballot they shouldn't have much trouble in dealing with the 45 mere men who hold the gift in their hands.

In digging up at this time the questionable claims of the Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Company for an extension of its franchise, L. A. Thurston has doubtless rendered a distinct public service, because there is now not much likelihood that the corporation will be able to slip anything across while nobody is looking. This was attempted once and mighty nearly succeeded. The matter is doubtless on the slate to come up at the next legislative session, but if Honolulu gets the worst of it she will have only herself to blame.

Andrew Getz will henceforth heed the vehicle act which prohibits letting a muffler on an auto "go wild." He paid a fine of $5 in police court.

But this happened in Honolulu—NOT Wailuku.

Better Salaries For Teachers

Editor Maui News:

The following is a copy of a reply to a circular letter received on Maui just prior to the Lahainaluna teachers' convention from the Hilo Teachers' Association in regard to action on increase of teachers salaries in the Territory—

Maui, Jan. 6, 1919.

Mr. Eugene Capellas,
Sect. Hilo Teachers' Association,
Hakalau.

Dear Sir:

You undoubtedly are aware that Maui "has gone one better" than Hilo in regard to teachers' salary resolutions. It is evident that it would be most advantageous for territorial teachers if the pedagogues of Hawaii would endorse either the Oahu resolution for a 33 1/2 per cent flat raise "or the Maui resolution for a 50 per cent increase without any distinction—preferably the latter.

Maui's resolution to the legislature has caused a smile here and there as though it were incongruous for some reason,—yet upon consideration it's rather difficult to discover the incongruity.

Sugar plantations both on Maui and Hawaii are declaring a 50 per cent bonus payable monthly for their lunas and higher officers who are of like classification with our teachers and who without the proposed bonus are in receipt of good salaries.

To go farther afield—Maui road laborers have had increases in daily wage from $1.50 to $2—and now to $2.50 per diem—a 66 2/3 per cent increase on the $1.50. The pay of the United States army was increased from $15 to $30 per month—a 100 per cent increase, and yet no one snarled except those directly benefited—because the "world" fully realized the tremendous increase in the cost of daily "bread and butter".

So it is that when compassion is made Maui's request doesn't seem so "incompetent, irrelevant, or immaterial,"—especially as it is generally admitted that teachers everywhere are underpaid and also when consideration is taken of the high valuation placed upon schools recently in asking them to help maintain the morale of the country at home during war-times. Teachers have been continually called upon by the authorities to instruct in food conservation, thrift, finance, charity, self-denial, patriotism, Americanism.

To do all this successfully men and women of high class and attainment are necessary.

Dollar—silk cannot as a rule be purchased in the market for half a dollar,—nor can first-rate teachers be obtained at half-rate salaries for long,—not in sufficient numbers in times like these.

But what about the "ways and means,"—the financial aspect of the matter? Sugar planters of Hawaii have often been called the most progressive of their kind in the world. They recently have recognized the necessity of a 50 per cent or greater raise in the pay of their employees and from the time of monarchy to the present both legislators and planters have supported Hawaiian schools most liberally and can always be depended upon "to go the limit."

Sugar "pays the bulk of taxes in Hawaii nei.

Yours respectfully,

MAUI TEACHER.

Appeal To Red Cross Workers

To the Editor, Maui News,

Will you please place the following notice in some conspicuous part of your paper:

"Maui Branch, A. R. C. has promised to send Hawaiian Chapter during months of January and February—

666 Suits Pajamas (completed.)
219 Underdrawers (completed.)
200 Laundry Bags (completed.)

These Red Cross supplies are to help toward equipping hospitals maintained in Vladivostok for the care of wounded Russians, and prisoners who are arriving in a fearful condition on trains which are being sent to Vladivostok.

Will the ladies of Maui, who have been so eager and willing to help in Red Cross work, please help to complete this allotment? It means steady work for two months but after this allotment is finished the work is expected to slacken."

Yours truly,

EVEN tires made side by side in the same factory differ in mileage enormously. If you get a "lucky tire" it may run between 5,000 and 10,000 miles. The next may fail under 1,000.

Not so with Miller. By riding tires of "human variables" 99 in 100 wear practically uniform under like conditions. Today less than one per cent ever call for adjustment. Tens

Children that receive the major portion of their education in the Japanese language, and are submitted only perfunctorily to so much instruction in English-speaking schools as the law compels, will never become real American citizens even if they are made eligible for naturalization.—Star-Bulletin.

The Market For School

What can be done with a school lunch is being most effectively shown by the Kapaa school, as described in another column. One of the surprises of the incident child welfare investigation has been the fact, that a very large proportion of the children in our public schools are under fed. They come to school hungry in the morning, they stay hungry all day.

One of the blessed things that a good school lunch can do for these children is to give them one good meal a day, not so much perhaps in quantity as in quality. In these days of high prices it seems incredible that a good lunch can be given for five cents—but it can. And we understand that a much better one could be given, if the products of the school gardens could be diverted into these lunches. At present it seems that these products go to the individual boys raising them, who very largely don't know what to do with them, because they don't know how to prepare them or haven't the means of doing so.

Oriental children don't know what to do with haole vegetables. Hand them over to the domestic science kitchen, and they will turn them into toothsome dainties that will be a blessing to the whole school.—Kauai Garden Island.

On Suppression Of News

Men who suppress news of epidemics of diseases that wipe out thousands of people in a very short time are nothing more or less than butchers. Nothing can excuse the preventing of the real news being given out. As to the island of Hawaii and the people thereof, there has been shown by the Oahu health authorities a lack of decency that has allowed of the dread Spanish influenza gaining a foothold on the Kohala end of this island. Nothing can excuse the negligence of the officials in Honolulu and every death that occurs on the island of Hawaii from the flu can be laid at the door of the officials who, for some reason or another, suppressed the news of the outbreak at Waipahu and Ewa, at first, and in the city of Honolulu, later on.—Hawaii Herald.

Would Punish For Obeying Law

If, as is reported, there is actually a movement on foot to prevent the election of H. L. Holstein as speaker of the house of representatives because he has said he will introduce a reapportionment bill, any members of the legislature back of such a conspiracy should be impeached. They are seeking to punish Mr. Holstein for attempting to obey the law which they boldly declare their intention of breaking. The fact that the Organic Act fails to provide a penalty for such law breaking is the only thing that keeps them from being tried and sentenced. A chicken thief or a chef-a manager is much less dangerous to the community than a legislator who defies the law and announces his intention of punishing another member who tries to obey it.—Advertiser.

Oil Land Royalties Reduce Wyoming Taxes

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 14—(By Associated Press.)—The state of Wyoming may soon be relieved from the necessity of levying state taxes for administrative purposes as indicated by the annual reports filed with Governor Houx covering operations of the state offices for the past year. Greatly increased royalties from oil production on state lands, increased rentals on grazing and agricultural lands owned by the state and added interest in mineral development on state owned lands have brought the receipts of the state land office almost to the two million dollar mark. A balance above the total administrative expense of all state officials, will result from the past year's transactions with indications of continued increases for the future. Receipts from oil royalties for the current year went above the half million dollar mark, the greater portion of which goes to the maintenance of the state university and the balance to the state school fund. State oil royalties have grown from $19,000 in 1912 to the present figures. The state land office shows gross receipts for the biennium of $1,933,628.76 as against $1,090,000 for the preceding term. The increase is due to higher rentals received from the state grazing and agricultural lands, for the last two years have enabled the state to set aside the sum of $783,665 for current school expenses and to invest $508,972, the income only of this latter sum to be used. The income from the common school lands for the biennium amounted to $10.85 for each child of school age. The state of Wyoming this year received as interest of funds deposited under the state depository law, the sum of $61,000, while its revenues from permanent investment of state land funds totalled $132,869.

Judgment Day

WILLIAM HOHENZOLLERN, for half a decade the civilized nations of the world have been struggling in blood and tears with your duped and deluded people, that you, self-styled the Hun and known to us as the colossal criminal of the centuries, together with all you stand for might be brought to justice. You now draw near to the tribunal of outraged righteousness, and in a short time your Judgment Day will dawn. Lest your memory be too conveniently short, and having willingly forgotten what the world cannot, you anticipate a mercy that you have never shown, permit yourself to be reminded of the counts civilization holds against you.

On August 2, 1914, you marched your cruel troops on to the soil of Belgium, a soil made sacred by the treaty word of your nation. In that act you soiled your personal honor and blackened the honor of your nation. YOU ARE THEREFORE A TREACHEROUS LIAR.

During the campaign waged by your general staff, the soldiers wearing your accused uniforms violated the chastity of the women and girls dwelling in the territory you occupied, and you made no protest. Your assent of silence in this matter stamps you as THE MEANEST KIND OF ADULTERER.

You have without cause taken old men, non-combatants, who had every human right to live, and stood them up against the walls of their little towns, and in the presence of those who loved them most you shot them down like dogs. YOU ARE A BLOOD-THIRSTY MURDERER.

When you entered a city of your enemy, you at once gutted every factory of its machinery and hurried the stolen goods to your stronghold beyond the Rhine. You worked mines that did not belong to you and appropriated for your use all material available. On retreat, what you could not take with you, you wantonly destroyed. YOU ARE AN UNBLUSHING THIEF.

It has been your common practice to bomb hospitals over which floated the Red Cross, and so have destroyed dying men together with those who ministered to them in mercy and love. You have sunk ships loaded with wounded and conferred the Iron Cross, supposed to be a mark of honor, upon your henchmen who accomplished such fiendish tasks. YOU ARE A DIABOLICAL MISANTHROPE.

You have found a playful pastime in shelling old cathedrals, into whose massive beauty had been wrought the soil and prayers of centuries of men. You have riddled the shrines of the Living God as though you dared even High Heaven to halt your criminal perfdy. YOU ARE A BARBAROUS ICONOCLAST.

Upon the high seas and under them have sailed your submarines, the cruel cuttle-fish of your heathen warfare, sinking without warning, and leaving no trace, neutral and belligerent vessels alike. YOU ARE A DETESTABLE PIRATE.

You have lied to your own people. You have told them that they warred against an angry world for the protection of the life of the Fatherland, when the Fatherland was attempting the life of humanity. You have called your defeats victories and your retreats strategies. You have poisoned the mind of Germany with hatred and blood-lust. YOU ARE A TYRANNICAL TRAITOR.

As Judgment Day draws near you whine and talk of mercy. Your dream of world conquest ended, your bubble of unholly ambition broken, you hope to escape retribution by urging terms of peace that will leave you unscathed. You would submit to temporary humiliation rather than have the world you have wronged avenge itself on your soil beyond the Rhine. Hands up and crying "Kamerad!" you plan to forestall justice. So at heart you are, like every other bully, A CRAVEN COWARD.

Worst of all, you have taken time and again the high and holy name of God upon your impious lips and have boasted that the Father of Mankind was your ally, you who call the Turk a friend and have draped your banners with the blood-stained banner of the Crescent. YOU ARE A BLASPHEMER AND HYPOCRITE.

Liar, adulterer, murderer, thief, misanthrope, iconoclast, pirate, traitor, coward, and blasphemer, so, William Hohenzollern, you stand self-accused, self-condemned, by your own deeds. You had der Tag. You threw the dice of destiny out of your bloody mailed fist across the table of the centuries—and you have LOST. And now you MUST PAY. Black of heart and crimson-handed, you will stand before the judgment bar of incensed and outraged humanity. You have forfeited every right to pity or mercy or forgiveness. You have sinned the unpardonable sin. Vile and impious wretch, reflect upon the enormity of your crimes! JUSTICE MUST BE DONE. And when it is accomplished, may God Almighty—if He can—have mercy on your worthless soul!—Masonic Standard.

Hilo High Given Excellent Rating

The University of California gives the Hilo High School the rank of sixth among 161 public high schools which had students in the Freshman class of 1915-16" said Prof. F. F. Jernegan yesterday, reports last Friday's Hilo Tribune.

"This report is somewhat belated," continued Prof. Jernegan, "yet carries significance, none the less. The rank referred to is based on the scholarship displayed by students attending from the respective high schools. It will be remembered, perhaps, that a similar official statement from Stanford University showed that the Hilo High School ranks fourth among 187 high schools represented in last year's Freshman class. In addition, the record of Miss Fleanor Thrum last year in the University of California was one of the highest in the Freshman class."

"There are 26 Freshmen now taking the college preparatory course, of which 3 are Americans, 11 Japanese, 5 Chinese or part Chinese, 3 Hawaiian or part Hawaiian, 3 Scotch, 1 Portuguese and 1 German."

Impeachment Of Supervisors

Whether impeachment proceedings will be instituted against the seven members of the board of supervisors of Hawaii, who were convicted Monday on charges of spending the county's money when appropriations to cover the expenditures were not available, depends upon the will of the citizens of Hawaii, according to Attorney General Harry Irwin.

The law provides, the attorney general said yesterday, that impeachment proceedings against county officials may be brought through the filing of a petition signed by any 25 qualified voters of the county. Should the citizens of the County of Hawaii decide to impeach their officers, this department will be glad to assist them in every way, the attorney general said. "I do not feel, though, that we should go out of our way to work up a petition against the convicted supervisors," he declared.

Island Soldiers Get High Praise

In a general order published by General Heard, department commander of the Hawaiian department, U. S. Army this week, in connection with the imminent mustering out of the service of the national guard troops, high praise is paid Hawaii's soldiers, General Heard said.

"The department commander wishes to thank you for your patriotism and loyalty to your country. The army of the United States is composed of every nationality, and nowhere is this so well illustrated as among the troops of this department. Notwithstanding this mixture of races, most excellent results have been achieved. It is felt that this is in no small measure due to the 100 percent Americanism of every man in this command. At this time, when you are being discharged to return to your families and businesses, the department commander wishes to thank you for your services to the government and to congratulate you upon your unselfish performance of your duty. May you be very successful in your future life, and always look back with pride upon this service in the glorious army of our country."

Jobless Ones Look To Islands For Hope

Scores of persons on the mainland are looking to Hawaii for jobs, according to Governor McCarthy who receives in every mail numerous applications from persons thrown out of employment as a result of the ending of war. Both men and women seek employment here, many requesting positions under the federal civil service over which the territorial government has no jurisdiction.

Death Of Barnard Recalls Early Days

The death of Edward Webb Barnard in Berkeley recently recalls to kamaianas of Hilo the time when he was known as the king of Laupahoehoe and was one of the well known figures of the Hamakua coast. He came to the islands nearly a half century ago from New Zealand, starting as a sugar boiler and making a vast fortune. He became proprietor of a store in Laupahoehoe 20 years ago and being one of the early settlers, became financially interested in practically everything in the town.

His business career was a curiosity. At one time he was magistrate, attorney at law, notary public, postmaster, agent for various and sundry life, fire and accident insurance companies, marriage license clerk, agent for the Volcano Stables and Transportation Company, in the days when it ran a bus around the island, proprietor of the Laupahoehoe hotel, proprietor of a wholesale liquor business, coffee factor and, old-timers yesterday thought maybe a half dozen other interests which had slipped their minds.

About 1906 or 1907 he took A. L. Moses into partnership with him in the store. Since that time Judge Barnard has spent most of his time away from the territory, while Moses has managed the business.

Governor Opposes Plan Of Counties Fixing Tax Rate

Governor C. J. McCarthy is opposed to the plan of giving boards of supervisors in the territory the right to fix the tax rate.

The governor has made this a non-issue following a consideration of a proposed bill submitted by the city attorney's department.

In explaining his reason for the opposition, Governor McCarthy stated that, in his opinion, there has been too much politics injected into the business of the various boards, and especially the ones on Oahu and Hawaii. With this political condition prevailing, he pointed out, it is virtually impossible for a man who takes his work as a supervisor seriously, and who has intentions of accomplishing things, to not become affected to some degree by the political atmosphere.

Daily Air Service Between Islands Is Plan Of Company

Daily airplane service between Oahu, Maui and Hawaii is proposed by a company now being organized in San Francisco under the title of the Inter-Island Aerial Navigation Co., Inc., by S. G. O. King, formerly of Lihue, Kauai, and associates. The promoters' agent on the island of Hawaii is Ralph P. King, deputy jailer in Hilo, stepson of Sam Parker, Jr., of Waimea, where he lived three years before coming to Hilo, the Tribune reports.

Ralph King, is a licensed aviator, holding papers from the Pacific Aero Club, which is affiliated with the Aero Club of America, the National body. He was formerly engaged in giving exhibition flights over San Francisco Bay, doing business under the title of Ralph King, Inc., but while conducting an aero ferry between San Francisco and Oakland in 1913, his motor went dead above Goat Island and he fell into the bay, smashing the hull of the flying boat.

JUST REMEMBER TO SMILE

There's a silvery pool in a summery isle,
Where the jolliest family dwells,
Oh, the jolliest sprites!
How they sparkle o' nights!
But should you peek into that clear-est of wells
My dear, just remember to smile.

For they only can climb on the sun-shiny ray
Of a happy child's innocent smile;
And if you should frown
They'd go scurrying down,
And with never a twinkle they'd stay there the while
That frown should be headed their way.

And the dear little sprites are so thankful and glad
When some merry child sends them a ray,
They all climb quickly out
And go flutt'ring about
Dripping laughter like dewdrops wherever they stray,
And gladdening hearts that are sad.

Oh, they seek out the gloomiest corners with care,
Wherever there's sorrow and pain,
And no one can sigh
When a sprite is near by;
Whenever they shake themselves showers like rain
Of happiness fall everywhere.

How long when they're out to they linger around?
Why they never go back till they see
Some little child's frown,
Then they have to go down,
There's a flash and a rustle and—
good gracious me!
There's never a sprite to be found.

So e'er you go seeking that magical isle
And the pool where the merry sprites dwell;
Or should you by chance
In that fairly pool glance,
I hope you'll have first packed your frowns away well
And are wearing your very best smile

TROOPS IN BIG BORDER CAMPS LEAVING RAPIDLY

CAMP CODY, N. M., Dec. 31.—(By Associated Press.)—Troops are leaving here for their homes at the rate of 500 a day. Wrecking crews are demolishing the temporary buildings as fast as they are vacated by the soldiers and a section of the barracks is being wrecked daily. Captain H. J. Cook, of the quartermaster corps has a force of 600 soldiers and 25 civilians at work destroying the big cantonment here. Only the mess halls, latrines, bath houses and other buildings that are necessary for the daily life of the men are being left to the last. All others wrecked and even those which are left standing are stripped of doors, windows, hardware, and fixtures.

Even the $500,000 septic tank sewer system is being wrecked. The materials are being salvaged from this system and will be available for use at some future time. Three tanks having a capacity of 200,000 gallons each have been wrecked although they were never used, having just been erected. All hospital and remount buildings are being left intact for the present.

Many farewell receptions, dinners and parties are being given by the officers and enlisted men before they leave camp. At a banquet and reception given by the headquarters trains the provost guards and military police General James R. Lindsay made a farewell address to the men of his command in these units, telling them that he had arranged to have all of them registered and assigned to some regiment or unit in order that they might not be carried on the war department records as "unassigned." He also gave a fatherly talk to the men telling them not to forget what the salute meant and to always to conduct themselves as good soldiers should. He said universal military training was sure to come and they would be in a position to explain the merits of the plan since they had experienced a modified form of that system.

AT THE THEATERS

Jack Pickford and Louise Huff in "Sandy"
 A reputation gained by writing "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and "Lovey Mary" is bound to create the impression that a story by Alice Hegon Rice will have human characters and a most likable hero and heroine. "Sandy," the five-part Paramount photoplay fashioned by Edith M. Kennedy from the novel of that name, is full of the heart interest that distinguished the other works of Mrs. Rice. Jack Pickford and Louise Huff are happily cast as a young Scotch stow-away and a Kentucky girl who is Sandy's inspiration from the day he first sees her on board the ocean liner. The author is not particularly strong on dramatic situations, and Sandy's path is not beset with sufficient difficulties to keep the spectator uncertain as to his fate.

The first view of Sandy shows him sound asleep on a dock somewhere on the other side of the Atlantic. Owning nothing but a bulldog and the clothes on his back, he gives away the dog and stows himself away in a life boat on a steamship bound for America. He is discovered and is saved from being sent back when the ship lands by Ruth Nelson, the little Kentucky girl, who gets her aunt to pay Sandy's fare.

Ricks Wilson, an ex-jockey, is also on the ship and Sandy strikes up a partnership with him. The two work their way to the town where Ruth lives and Sandy is adopted by Judge Hollis and his wife. Things come the Scotch boy's way after that. He is given a good education and treated like a son. Carter Nelson, Ruth's brother, gets mixed up in some crooked race track with Ricks Wilson, and Judge Hollis has the jockey arrested for fouling and badly injuring another rider. This act is a bit of dramatic license, but it gives Carter Nelson a chance to shoot the Judge and for Sandy to protect the brother of the girl he loves. A prettily staged wedding closes the picture, with Sandy and Ruth in the leading roles.

William S. Hart in "Shark Monroe"

It looks as though Mr. Hart has in him the material for a fine director. He is making himself as thoroughly informed as his time and opportunities will allow about details of production other than those expressed by the actor. Probably no influence is more responsible for whatever apathy and distrust the public has shown than a certain shallowness of the average director who expects to cover with adornment such weaknesses in story construction as lack of originality, faulty logic and absence of suspense. Mr. Hart gets his stories from a man who knows how to write for screen presentation and is a creative artist, though not without his faults. Sullivan makes a serious error in designating "Shark Monroe" as a man of childish simplicity, when he develops as a deep and subtle thinker in the course of events. He might better announce no characterization in advance—let it speak for itself, as well as soft pedal on "the bashful morning sun kissed the rosy cheek of dawn" in a story of character evolution midst a rude environment.

Hart's acting in this story of man's regeneration through love of a fine woman was a fault he is gradually getting rid of, that of centering revelation of thought and feeling on his impersonation alone. The play is benefited by the opportunity he gives his support, especially Katherine MacDonald.

Sessue Hayakawa in "The City Of Dim Faces"

When an infant, Jang Lung, the son of a rich Chinese merchant and a white woman, is taken from his mother, who becomes demented as the result of the shock. He is educated in a university in the East, where he meets a beautiful American girl. They fall in love, but the girl subsequently breaks their engagement when she sees the reverse side of Chinese life in the Chinese quarters in San Francisco. In revenge Jang Lung makes her a prisoner, and then sells her to a marriage broker, who later attempts to auction her off to the highest bidder. Later Jang Lung learns the secret of his birth, and rescues the girl from her shame at the price of his own life.—Adv't.

There Are Others

In one of the big base-hospitals of the Army not long ago a new librarian was set to work by the American Library Association. She was a very charming young woman, and very anxious to please all of her "customers," the some of them didn't even wish to look at a book. In her rounds she approached one of the patients and he declined to be interested in her wares. At the next cot she stopped and offered its occupant a book. "What's it about?" the patient asked.

"Oh, this is 'Bambi,'" said the librarian. "It's about a girl who married a man without his having anything to say about it."

"Hold on there," shouted the man who had declined all books. He raised himself up on his elbow and reached out his hand. "Give me that book. It's my autobiography."—Topeka State Journal.

Souvenir From The Front

Paris, September 7—During the recent American advance out of Chateau-Thierry, a Red Cross captain was looking about for suitable hospital-sites when he met an American negro soldier marching along toward Chateau-Thierry, following closely behind a German major. The negro had had transferred his pack from his own back to the back of the German officer, and had also transferred the German major's monocle to his own eye. Thus equipped, the black warrior was parading triumphantly down the road. As he passed the Red Cross captain, he called out: "I say, look heah what dis nigrah done got!"—New York Evening Post.

Better Half, Better Votes

"I told Henrietta that I was proud to see her vote just like a man," said Mr. Meekton.

"No. The choice of phrase was unfortunate. She said that if she couldn't use better judgment than a man there would have been no need of her troubling about the vote in the first place."—Sketch.

Widows And Children To Get Compensation

Accident Board Makes Awards In Several Cases—Japanese Who Lost Sight In Powder Explosion Got $2695 And Left For Japan

The industrial accident board at its meeting on Tuesday awarded to Juana Martinez and her two children, on account of the death of her husband, Marcellino Martinez, an employee of the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Co., compensation in the sum of $24.99 per month. This compensation, which is 50 percent of the wages of the deceased, is to run for 6 years unless the mother marries within that time, in which case the amount will be reduced to 30 percent of the deceased's wages, to which amount the children are entitled under the law. The children are 5 years old and 5 months old respectively. They will receive compensation until they are 16 years old, and two years longer than this in case they are then unmarried and are still dependent.

Martinez was killed about two weeks ago by being caught and crushed between cane cars on the Puunene plantation.

A Widow Compensated

The Board also awarded compensation to Toyo Tamura in sum of $21.60 per month, the same being 40 percent of her late husband's wages. She will draw this for 6 years unless she prefers to get married again in the meantime.

Her husband, Minezo Tamura, an employee of the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Co., was instantly killed last May when he came in contact with a high voltage electric wire while painting in the Puunene mill. Explosion Victim Gets Cash

The accident board approved a settlement by the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Co., with Nohara Kitano, a Japanese tunnel worker, who in July of last year was blown up by blast at Camp 1, and nearly killed. One eye was destroyed and the sight of the other is said to be nearly gone. He was but recently discharged from the hospital, and has departed for Japan with his compensation money which amounted to $2695.68.

Russian Church Is Big Aid In Driving Out The Bolsheviki

SHENKURSK, Russia, Dec. 30—(By Associated Press.)—The Russian Orthodox church is taking a leading role in the effort to rid Russia of Bolshevism and its attendant anti-religious trend. The Associated Press correspondent recently visited scores of villages along the Dwina and Vaga rivers behind the Russo-Allyed army's lines and found everywhere the church the strongest influence among the peasants against the Bolsheviki and favoring the Allies and every village has one or more splendidly built churches, regardless of the community's poverty.

In this town, far up the Vaga river near the line of the Vologda government, there are four beautiful churches and an ancient convent. Mother Raphaela, the superior in charge, received the correspondent. The mother's pale, unwrinkled, old face lighted up enthusiastically when the correspondent asked her to explain what part the church will play in Russia's regeneration when the Bolsheviki are gone.

"I have 300 nuns here," she said, "and we have gone on living through these troubled times, sometimes disturbed but always feeding the poor and learning from the peasants, who are Russia's real people, that they are still with God. And Shenskursk is like hundreds of other towns. The same holds true everywhere. Some people say that the church is losing its influence. That is not true."

Shenskursk is in the hands of the Bolsheviki for only a short time as the citizens drove out a commissioner and his wife who were sent from Moscow to organize the Bolsheviki there. During that short time the Bolsheviki made several efforts to confiscate the convent's property and once demanded a payment of 50,000 rubles.

"One day," Mother Raphaela told the correspondent "one of my nuns came to me and said the Bolsheviki were down stairs, eating the dinner we had prepared for the poor, and wanted to arrest me. I put on my robe and walked down calmly into the big dining room. Why, some of those Bolsheviki were local boys, whom I had known as children. I walked up to them and said: 'Here I am, arrest me.' But they were ashamed, and said it was all a mistake and went away. But the next morning they took the son of a priest and shot him. I don't know why."

Most of the nuns in the Shenskursk convent come from the peasant villages. There are only a few drawn from the bourgeoisie classes. Mother Raphaela, who has been a nun for 53 years is of a wealthy Petrograd family.
